

Gray County Commissioners Drop Tax Increase To Flat Ten Percent

County tax valuations will be only 10 percent over last year's valuations instead of the heavy increases proposed by the recent property valuation survey.

The action came after commissioners heard at least 25 people protest against the sharp increase in property valuations; some as high as 500 percent.

Judge Parker, said commissioners found "so many glaring inequities in the new card system while interviewing the property owners, that they decided to return to the old system this year and throw a 10 percent across-the-board valuation increase on everybody."

By 4:30 p.m. commissioners declared a recess and retired to the judge's office where they reworked and the commissioners continue the equalization study through the year at varying intervals in an effort to get the inequities worked out.

Words were heard from the start as farmers complained they were being taxed too high on land they said hadn't produced expenses for the past two years.

"We know that inequities still exist even with this across-the-board increase," Judge Parker said, "but it will have to do until we can get this card system reworked. Appraisal engineers and the county commissioners are going to work on it immediately," he added.

By noon an estimated 300 property owners — most of them farmers — were sitting in the county court room or milling about in the corridors waiting their turn to talk to commissioners.

This change will be automatic, Judge Parker told a reporter, and unless some property owners still want to protest, the plan the board of equalization will still be meeting. However, it actually won't be necessary for any of them to make a special trip to protest their original proposals because they will not be put into effect.

UN Turns Thrusts By Reds

U. S. 8th ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea — (AP) — Allied troops beat back eight Red probing attacks along the Korean front today and fought for the third successive day to drive Communist troops off high ground near the east coast.

All but one of the Red attacks were described as light. But south of Kumsong, east of their fallen Iron Triangle, Chinese forces made "a large probing attack," the Eighth Army reported. It was halted, as were three in the Yangju sector of the east central front and four northwest of Kamsong on the east coast.

The three-day battle raged southwest of Kamsong. It was still underway at 3 p.m. Tuesday (Monday midnight EST.) United Nations spokesmen described it as the fiercest fight in weeks.

UN airplanes roared through gathering clouds Tuesday and kept up their heavy pounding of Red communication lines.

The Fifth Air Force has been hitting truck and rail lines steadily with an average of 150 combat strikes a day, despite adverse weather, to keep Communists from building up their front line forces during cease-fire talks.

In the month since peace talks were first proposed, the Fifth Air Force said, it mounted 13,367 combat sorties and destroyed or damaged 24 Red planes — mostly jets. UN pilots have bombed 2,260 Red vehicles, 20 locomotives, 900 railroad cars and inflicted 4,000 casualties in that time, the Air Force said.

Tuesday's early strikes centered around Pyongyang, Red Korean capital.

F-80 Shooting Star jets swept through the early morning darkness and raised havoc with the Kang-Dong rail yards 15 miles east of Pyongyang.

Lt. Charles A. Williams of Tulsa, Okla., who led the strike, reported rails were twisted and ripped from their ties. Twenty rail cars were reported destroyed and another 20 damaged.

City opens bids for equipment on new radio system

City commissioners this morning opened three bids on police radio equipment from Motorola Radio Co., Link Radio Corp. and Radio Supply Co., of Oklahoma City, bidding with General Electric equipment.

Bids are for one 160-watt station transmitter and four mobile transmitters. Lowest bid of $2,338.86 was submitted by Link Radio Corp. Others were: Motorola, $3,313.71; Radio Supply Co., approximately $3,071. The latter bid was confused, commissioners said, because the company did not make proper allowance for trade-in due to a typographical error.

Late this morning commissioners had not awarded a contract. Under state law they need not accept the lowest bid providing other equipment is deemed better.

Derby Prizes Are Awarded Contestants

The 1951 Pampa Soap Box Derby passed into history today with the awarding of prizes to the 41 contestants at the Junior Chamber of Commerce noon luncheon held in the Palm Room, city hall.

Among top awards was the T. H. Keating trophy presented to City Champion John Langford by Roy Taylor, Jaycee president. Langford outstripped the field Sunday to win the local derby and an all-expense trip to Akron, Ohio, for the national trials through courtesy of the Pampa Daily News.

More than 50 prizes were given to derby participants by Ed Myatt, chairman of the prize committee. Darrel Maxwell, class "B" champion and runner up for the city title, was presented a bicycle. Another bicycle was given to Wilson Foley of Borger who won the consolation race Sunday. Both bicycles were presented by Frank Culbertson, owner of Culbertson Chevrolet.

Sponsors of the local derby were Culbertson Chevrolet, Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce, Pampa News and Chevrolet Division of General Motors.

Death Of Cattle Developing Into Real Ranchland Mystery

AMARILLO — (AP) — What killed 38 head of Sam Woolford's cattle? Nobody knows and loss of the heifers and calves valued at $12,000 is developing into a first rate range mystery.

In less than 24 hours the cattle died on Woolford's Sherman County ranch. The bodies were found scattered last Tuesday over a low spot in a two-section pasture where an old gas well is located.

UN Peace Delegates Facing Commie 'No'

United Nations truce negotiators return to Kaesong tomorrow for a yes or no answer from the Chinese Communists on a Korean war armistice agenda.

The Red North Korean Pyongyang radio indicated today the answer will be "No." UN delegates insist cease-fire talks omit any discussion of withdrawing foreign troops from Korea.

In an unofficial answer Pyongyang radio quoted the Communist "Korean central press" news agency: "All our people demand withdrawal of all foreign national troops from our territory."

The five Red negotiators undoubtedly have received new instructions from Peiping and Pyongyang since Saturday. On that they called for recess of talks which had bogged down over this Communist demand.

Pyongyang radio said: "At the cease-fire talks in Kaesong Americans are refusing this issue emphatically. The United States delegates propagandize that this problem has no relation with cease-fire talks."

The UN position is that the question of withdrawing troops is a political issue to be debated at a higher level after the shooting war has actually been halted.

"This stubborn attitude," the Red radio said, "means that the U. S. is aiming to retain troops in Korea outside its 23th month."

In the face of their defeat UN commander Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway and his soldiers are aiming to stay in Korea forever. This comes solely from the military purpose to obtain the monopolistic profit from inflated war industries.

If Communist negotiators persist in their stand Wednesday, cease-fire talks may well break down on the day fighting in Korea ceases out its 23th month.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief UN delegate to armistice talks, flew back to his peace camp Monday night from Tokyo with two other members of the allied team. They had conferred with Ridgway.

There was no indication the UN negotiators would balk from the question of troop withdrawals on the agenda — the list of subjects to be discussed in actual armistice negotiations.

Just before the recess was declared Saturday, Joy informed the five Red generals the UN delegation was prepared to accept items already agreed upon as the complete agenda.

These subjects have not been disclosed. But it was generally believed here that they embraced such matters as:

1. A cease-fire with provisions for enforcing it.

2. Creating a 20-mile buffer zone between opposing armies.

3. Creating an international commission to police the cease-fire agreement.

4. Exchange of war prisoners.

The UN holds 163,000 Red prisoners of war. The Chinese and North Koreans are believed to hold about 10,000 allied prisoners, mostly Americans.

Admiral Joy spent Tuesday conferring with the four other UN delegates and their staff. The conferences were held in the delegates' heavily-guarded tent camp.

Iran's Oil Parley Snagged

TEHRAN, Iran — (AP) — Negotiations between President Truman's special envoy W. Averell Harriman, and Iranian officials were reported to have hit a snag today over details for ending the bitter British-Iranian feud over nationalization of oil.

The snag was not described as a deadlock. Both Harriman and members of the Iranian government's oil nationalization board still expressed "satisfaction" with progress made in the talks so far.

But after 10 hours of discussion yesterday in the bedroom of ailing Premier Mohammed Mossadeq, the Iranian cabinet still had not reached agreement on the basis for resuming negotiations with Britain.

This bond issue was called after 380 eligible voters petitioned the county commissioners for the issue and the McLean strip given $15,000, making a total of $168,700 for both fields.

This action on the part of civic leaders was the result of two factors — the extensive airport developments of the neighboring Pampa field, and the pending loss of present airfield facilities when the leases expire June 30, 1952.

These neighboring airports were considered by the counties building in the present rate of deterioration it will, in a few years, become useless, and $800,000 worth of hard-surfaced runways to deteriorate and large cracks have already appeared.

Should the field be allowed to continue its present rate of deterioration it will, in a few years, become useless, and $800,000 of federal money will have gone down the drain.

What has to be done to put the northwest site into service in the best condition and the cost of such operations will be studied in tomorrow's installment of this series.

Carry Out Ban On Gas

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Government officials say they are going ahead with an order which would restrict use of natural gas in areas which face a shortage.

Secretary of the Interior Chapman C. Pratt rather of the Petroleum Administration for Defense (PAD), an Interior Department arm, said yesterday they have not backtracked because of a House vote to curtail their power.

Before it passed its extension of the economic controls act, the House voted in a provision which would prohibit any natural gas curbs from applying in any state where a public agency exercises authority to restrict gas use.

Sunday Cool Front Lingers Here Today

The cool front which moved into this area Sunday night continued to linger today. Temperature at 10 a.m. was 73, compared with 91 on Saturday and 83 Sunday.

Since yesterday, 07 of an inch of rain has been recorded. Forecast calls for scattered thunderstorms and warmer in the Panhandle today and tomorrow.

Bulletin

PEORIA, Ill. — (AP) — State Attorney Michael A. Shore today ordered a grand jury investigation of reports the scores of two Bradley University basketball games were manipulated at the instruction of gamblers.

Shore said the games were between Bradley and Washington State played in Peoria Dec. 21, 1949, which Bradley won 67-58, and between Bradley and Oregon State, played in Peoria Dec. 7, 1950, which Bradley won 71-74.

He said he had heard reports the score manipulation consisted in "shaving" Bradley's score to less than it would have been normally.

Road Raising Contracts In September

Contracts for raising Highway 152 and 30 above known high water marks may not be let until September, State Highway Dept. District Engineer Guy Loft disclosed late yesterday.

The state has allocated almost a half million dollars to raise stretches of state and federal highways in Gray and Carson counties from three to four feet above highwater marks reached in May and June by torrential rains.

Before contracts can be awarded, plans and specifications have to be drawn and rights-of-way obtained. This will take until late August or early September. Meantime the hot, dry spell made waters recede along U. S. 60 between Pampa and White Deer bringing the road back to elevated part of the road back in view. However, it will be raised just the same.

Other sections of roadway to be raised are along State Hwy. 152, leading to Borger, and parts of the same highway leading to Wheeler.

No money has been allocated to raise State Highway 70 between Pampa and the road's junction with U. S. Hwy. 66.

Engineers this morning started survey work on rerouting part of U. S. Hwy. 60 near Cuyler Switch, five miles west of White Deer.

18 Ballots In Absentee Vote

American Syndicate Buys Panhandle Cattle Empire

MATADOR — (AP) — An American syndicate has bought the "Mule" Matador and Alamositas ranches in Texas, a cattle empire that ruled the Panhandle for decades.

Manager John Stevens of the syndicate said late last night he had received telephonic confirmation that the two big New York syndicates which have bought the acres of land — had been sold.

Earlier, it had been announced that an American syndicate had offered $18,960,000 for the Matador Land & Cattle Co., the Scottish firm that ruled the Panhandle for decades.

Lazard Brothers, a banking firm which also has offices in London and Paris, heads the syndicate which has bought the acres of land — had been sold.

Condition Of Aut. Accident Victim Is Said Improved

WHEELER (Special) — Condition of Clarence Whittenburg, 16, of Mobeetie who was injured yesterday in an auto accident, was reported improved by attendants at the Worley Hospital this morning.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Whittenburg of Mobeetie. The accident occurred three miles east of Mobeetie about 2:45 p. m. when the pickup truck was driving overturned about three times.

No one saw the accident, but a passerby came upon the scene and removed the body to a Wheel-Hospital. His condition then was considered critical and he was brought to Worley Hospital by a Kirk-Mason ambulance from Wheeler.

The boy was working for Larry Thornburg, whose pickup he was driving. Whittenburg was a freshman last year in Wheeler High School.

Dr. Stevenson received back injuries and Mrs. Stevenson suffered leg injuries.

Highway Patrolmen Issue Warning On Out-Of-State Tags

Persons driving with out-of-state license plates were warned today by Highway Patrolmen to register in this state.

"Drivers are allowed to operate for only the length of time plates are valid," patrolmen said.

The ruling reads in part, "Establishment of domicile, business or gainful employment, is deemed residence and requires registration. There is no reciprocity to salesmen while using vehicle to transport or deliver merchandise."

The announcement is made owing to the large number of drivers in this area using out-of-state license plates when they are no longer valid.

Persons are also required to apply for Texas drivers' licenses. The examiner is in the Court House Friday, Saturday and Monday.

Rites For Admiral To Be Held Friday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adm. Forrest P. Sherman will be buried Friday afternoon (2 p. m. EST) at Arlington National Cemetery with high military honors.

In announcing this today, the Navy said the body of the former chief of naval operations will lie in state in Washington Cathedral from tomorrow afternoon until time for funeral.

Sherman died Sunday of heart attack at Naples, Italy, while on a tour of the Atlantic pact countries. A plane carrying his body left Naples today and is due here tomorrow afternoon.

The body will be taken from the airport to the cathedral on Massachusetts Avenue, about five miles from the cemetery.

Up to mid-afternoon Tuesday there was no message from Kaesong over radio-telephone circuits kept open for the Reds to communicate with the UN delegation.

U. S. Signal Corps men reported that women monitors at Kaesong reported monotonously when contacted at half hour intervals.

"I have no communication for you."

Brig. Gen. Frank A. Allen, chief of information of the UN command, said "negotiations will start again at 11 a. m. Wednesday (8 p. m. Tuesday EST), I guess."

Allied delegates plan to fly to Kaesong by helicopter as usual, if weather permits.

Allied engineers labored to repair a washed out bridge across the Linyo River by Wednesday morning in case delegates are forced to travel by jeep. A million dollars worth of bridge building machinery was jammed along the road as crews labored through the day and at night under the glare of flood lights to get the job done.

U.S. Trade With Reds May Top Last Year's

Map illustrates the fact that despite endless political conflict between us and world communism, the U. S. continues to do business with Soviet Russia and its satellites. All figures on map are from 1950. Czechoslovakia has just imprisoned William N. Oatis, U. S. newsmen, on phony espionage charges, but half of Czechoslovakia's favorable trade balance is accounted for by sales to the U. S. If present rate of sales continues, this Russian satellite will sell us 11 percent more this year than in 1950. Hungary, which imprisoned Robert Vogeler, American businessman, for 17 months, sold us more in the first quarter of 1951 than in the corresponding month the last year. Sales to Chinese Reds were halted in April of this year, but previously we had traded with the Chinese more than with any other Communist country. Russia, land of slave labor, sold Uncle Sam $6,316,000 in goods during the first quarter of 1951, an increase of nearly $1 million over the last quarter of 1950.

Says Jewelry Taken From West Coast

AMARILLO (AP) — Sheriff Paul Gaitner said jewelry taken from a couple jailed on counterfeiting charges was stolen on the West Coast.

He said yesterday he didn't know where nor from whom the two rings and diamond bracelet were taken.

Gaitner said two Los Angeles policemen, Johnny Sublett and Jack Hooper, told him the jewelry was stolen. The detectives left Amarillo Sunday after questioning Milton Simon Mermell, 45, New York City, and Mrs. Mercedes Maxine Callinicos, 33, Hollywood.

Officers said questioning indicated the couple may be connected with an international crime syndicate of alien smugglers, jewel robbers and counterfeiters.

Durant Advises Against Alarm

NEW YORK (AP) — Advice to Americans from Wil Durant, author and philosopher:

"Don't worry so much about today's alarms and prophecy of wars. You mustn't think you're any worse off than your forefathers were."

Durant, who returned on the liner Independence from an eight-month tour of Europe, diagnosed current tense world conditions as just "normal times."

He said the world situation today is "precisely a snafu—the same as it always has been."

Workers' Wages Rise During War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Earnings of factory production workers rose 15 cents in the first year of the Korean War, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today.

Weekly earnings, including overtime and other premium pay, were reported as going up to $85.44 a gain of $6.59 between June, 1950 and June, 1951.

THE GILA MURDER BY JULIUS LONG

IF you asked anyone in Coltonville what the Civic Retirement League did, you would be informed that it did whatever Laura Colton told it to do. Laura had footed 90 per cent of the bill for the Community Center building in which the League held its monthly meetings, and she underwrote all its expenses. She was its president, of course, and it was only natural that she should enjoy the privilege of a parking space right at the front of the Community Center lot. But on the night of the August meeting Laura left her special space vacant and parked at the extreme rear of the lot, where the light was bad.

This puzzled everybody including Mrs. Billings and Mrs. Morton, whom Laura invited to ride with her after the meeting. They were also puzzled by the absence of Sam, Laura's husband, who kept her pencils sharpened at the meeting. Sam always drove Laura's red sedan, too, for as people said, he was an engineer and the one thing he could do was drive. As she conducted her guests to the rear of the lot, Laura did not explain her choice of parking space, but she did touch upon the matter of Sam's unprecedented absence.

"His digestion has flared up again," Laura told Mrs. Billings and Mrs. Morton. "Poor Sam just wears himself out. I tell him just to work himself so hard, but he won't listen."

He raced on out to his front lawn, his wife following him without comprehending.

from the dim past. An extremely unpleasant association with the car door. All the while she was screaming shrilly in nightmarish terror, for she knew the nature of the horror that crunched her fingers in its vise-like grip.

Somehow she got out of the car and ran to the opposite side of the street, the thing dangling from her hand. The lights of a house drew her instinctively toward it, and she cried in supplication to its inhabitants as she swung her arm, trying with her free hand to pull the loathsome body to pull from her fingers, though she well knew that the thing never let go until the creature it had bitten was dead.

BY this time Laura was hysterical, sobbing and screaming, running at a speed that seemed incredible for a woman of 60. She crossed the boulevard, and Bob Crawford, who had heard her cries, was on his front porch as Laura reached the sidewalk. Wondering why he moved to help her as she raced toward his house, half-way across his parking lawn she seemed to stumble and fall sprawling on the ground. Bob Crawford, a calm man, maddened by trade, at first did not know what had happened to the woman. Then he saw the thing that clung to her hand. His eyes widened in horror but without more than a split-second's hesitation he reached down and tried to tear it from the bleeding fingers.

He realized after a few seconds that he could not pry it loose with his bare hands. He rushed back into his house, called for his wife, and tore down the basement stairs to his workbench. He found a hatchet and a chisel, and he grabbed them both and raced back up the stairs.

"What in the world's wrong with you?" his wife demanded. "Go out to that woman and don't ask questions!" He raced on out to his front lawn, his wife following him without comprehending. He found the woman lying where he had left her, the thing still attached to her hand, now covered with blood. The thing that had bitten the hand lay perfectly still until Bob chopped the first time with his hatchet. After that the thing writhed and fought futilely even after Bob had all but cut it in two. Eventually he did accomplish this but one part of the body, little more than the head, still clung to the unconscious woman's hand.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

City Slicker Beaten By Sharp Playing

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When the country's bridge experts gather Saturday in Washington, D. C., a week from today for the beginning of the national championships, a large Southern contingent will be on hand. They'll probably carry off a fair share of the honors, too, for those Southern boys and girls can play the spots off the cards.

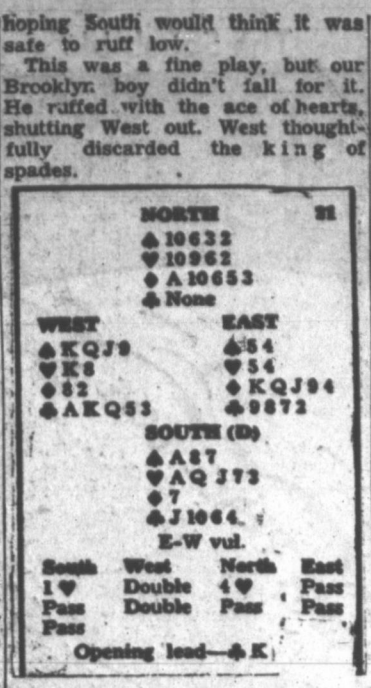

The hand shown today was played in last year's national tournament. Declarer was a city slicker from Brooklyn. The defenders were not exactly country boys, but they were from the South.

West (Herbert Gerst, of Norfolk, Va.) opened the king of clubs. Declarer ruffed in dummy, cashed the ace of diamonds, and ruffed a diamond in his hand. He next ruffed a second club in dummy, got to his hand with the ace of spades, and ruffed a third club in dummy.

He then led another diamond from dummy. East (Lt.-Col. J.T. Willis, of Rome, Ga.) casually played the king of diamonds, so fancy about the play of the Declarer next led his last club and ruffed with dummy's last trump. Then he got out of dummy with a spade, and sat back to wait for a chance to snag two more tricks with his Q-J of trumps.

West won the spade with the queen and then led the jack of spades. This gave Col. Willis the right idea. Why was his partner played the king of diamonds, so

JACOBY ON CANASTA

Take Smart Tip On Melding

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

If the opponents meld before you do, you and your partner should be aware of the advantage you may have if the right person melds for your side. Sometimes it is best if you meld; and sometimes it is best if you just play along and wait for your partner to meld.

This is not entirely a matter of luck and guesswork. There is a regular principle to follow in this situation. It is up to you to meld from your hand if your partner has a better chance than you to get the discard pile later on.

However, if you have a better chance to get the discard pile than your partner does, it is up to you to play along without melding; and it is then up to your partner to meld (if he can). Let's take an example or two in practice. Both sides need 30 points for the initial meld, and nobody melds for two or three rounds of play. Finally the player at your right picks up the discard pile (which, by this time, contains about a dozen cards) and melds four or five cards. Should you meld at your next turn, or should you wait for your partner to meld?

It is up to you to meld at once. The player at your right holds more than 20 cards, and should therefore be able to make safe discards almost indefinitely. You have a very poor chance to get the discard pile no matter what you do.

Your partner is not quite so badly off, since a normal hand is discarding to him. Therefore, let him keep his full hand; help him by melding from your own hand.

Let's try another case. Both sides need 90 points, and nobody melds for some time. Finally, the player at your right melds joker-ace-ace from his hand and makes a safe discard. Is it up to you or to your partner to make the first meld for your side?

It is up to your partner. You are now behind an eight-card hand, so you have an improved chance to get a useful discard. Your partner is behind an eleven-card hand, and is not in such a good spot to get the pile.

We'll try one more. Both sides need 90 points, and nobody melds for some time. Finally the player at your right melds three aces and three kings. Is it up to you or to your partner to meld? Neither one of you should

Japan Gardens, Some Never Seen By Outsiders, Are Open

NEW YORK — Japan's most famous gardens — some of which have never been seen by foreigners since they were first planted more than 2,000 years ago — will be opened to a group of American garden experts next October, a message from Prince Takamatsu, said today.

The Weather Bureau of the United States has 2500 observing stations in the western states. Introduced to Prince Takamatsu by Prof. Takuma Tono, of Tokyo Agricultural University, Mrs. Dutton persuaded him that the time had come to break down one more of the traditional restrictions that were already old when Commodore Perry sailed to Japan in 1853.

As a result, he gave his consent for Mrs. Dutton to take a group of American enthusiasts on visits to the private sections of the Imperial Gardens at Shinjuku. With that as a starter, Mrs. Dutton received permission to take her party to see the gardens of the foreign minister's official residence at Meguro, the Rikugien Garden at Komogome and the Korakuen Garden, all in the Tokyo area.

Prof. Tono told Mrs. Dutton that while there had been some war damage to the Tokyo region, Kyoto had been practically untouched. He advised her to include that area. Accordingly, she arranged for her guests to visit 12 famous gardens there, none of which have ever been open to the Japanese public, let alone foreign visitors. Among them are:

The Stone Garden of Ryuanji Temple, the Niijo Castle and Garden, the Old Imperial Palace Gardens. Three private gardens, owned by wealthy Japanese, are also on the Kyoto program.

The party will sail from San Francisco, October 15, aboard the S. S. President Wilson, of the American President Lines, and will return to San Francisco, on board the same ship, November 24.

Stars Are Bread And Butter For Many Hollywood Writers

By JACK QUINN
HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — "And what are your hobbies, Mr. Gable?"

Clark Gable's answer, and the replies of other stars to countless similar queries, are bread and butter for some 600 men and women who comprise the working press of Hollywood.

The world's appetite for information about movies and the activities and opinions of movie stars being what it is — virtually insatiable — Hollywood has one of the biggest news crops anywhere.

The Motion Picture Assn. of America, which keeps an up-to-date list of film-town writers, says only Washington and New York City have more newsmen.

The MPAA divides them into two groups — foreign press representatives (93) and American press representatives (113).

Let's look at the domestic correspondents first. This group includes 263 writers for newspapers and magazines. Most of the big publications and a good many of the small ones are represented here.

In addition there are ten radio newsmen, 33 from film trade journals, and 46 photographers.

The MPAA believes only about two-thirds of the 263 writers make a living at it. The other third hold jobs outside the industry and write in their spare time.

This group can be broken down into syndicated columnists and their assistants (about 40),

Wheeler Farmers See Examples Of Grass On Area Tour

WHEELER — (Special) — Wheeler county grass tour took 125 farmers to six farms in a loop west of Wheeler. Fred Waters' farm, south of Wheeler, was the first stop and there the group saw some excellent alfalfa, a good terrace system, and some patches of hairy vetch grown as a soil-building legume. Mr. Waters began growing alfalfa in 1942 and has worked it into an important crop in his diversified farm program.

The second stop at Gordon Whittener's was made to see a field of sand lovegrass and clover planted in alternating twenty-four inch rows. The planting was done in March among grain sorghum stubble and has made excellent growth.

Nig Clark's grass mixture at the third stop held species of Little Bluestem, Blue Grama, Sand Love, Clover and Sideoats Grams. Plants of each were identified for the caravans. This plot had been mowed to control the weeds.

A field of Weeping Lovegrass that had been heavily grazed was visited on the John Barr farm. He showed that cattle would eat Weeping Lovegrass if the pasture was kept at the tender year stage.

A mixture of seven grasses, Big Bluestem, Sideoat Grama, Clover, Switchgrass, Blue Grama, Sand Lovegrass and Indian Grass sown by Mark Arrington is an effort toward returning the land to the permanent pasture of former years. These are native grasses of this territory.

Jake Allen, a dairyman south of Mobeetle, has found Madrid Clover and Sand Lovegrass especially pleasing to dairy cattle. He has produced many extra gallons of milk from cows grazing this mixture.

The tour was used to demonstrate the work done by some of the farmers in the area toward returning grass crops and improving the grazing on their farms.

Fresh mushrooms and butter
from the dairy farm... simple luxury combination everyone relishes. Try them in a main dish or combined with tuna.

Grilled Mushrooms on Toast
Fresh mushrooms, butter, lemon juice, salt, pepper, nutmeg,
toast, hot buttered.

Wash mushrooms (peel if desired), remove and reserve stems.
Roll caps in melted butter. Place inside up in shallow buttered baking dish. Put 1-2 teaspoon butter in each cap, and a drop of two of lemon juice. Sprinkle with seasonings.

Broil (about three inches from heat) for 6 to 8 minutes. While broiling, the stems may be finely chopped and sauteed in butter in a covered frying pan on the top of stove.

To serve: Place caps inside up on hot buttered toast, fill with chopped cooked stems and garnish
with pot of butter.

Mushroom-Tuna Bake
(Serves 4)
One-quarter pound mushrooms,
2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, 1 1/4 teaspoon celery salt, dash garlic salt, salt and pepper to taste, 1 can (8-ounce) tuna fish, bread crumbs, 2 tablespoons grated American cheese.

Wash mushrooms, trim stems and slice. Make a cream sauce by melting butter, blending in flour gradually, then milk and seasoning. Blend sliced mushrooms and the fish into sauce.
Four into shallow buttered baking dish. Sprinkle with bread crumbs and grated cheese and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 20 minutes.

Job Hunting This Way Guarantees Results -- Of A Sort

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer
As we all know, a job is the means by which most young women maintain themselves between the end of school and the beginning of marriage.

It is true that a number of young women enter the employment pool of the nation with a starry-eyed determination to have a "career," but these still constitute an impressive minority. The vast majority use their skills to acquire funds for life's necessities until they find a young man eager to keep up a steady supply of dresses, hats, nylons and such.

In view of the fact that summer-time is job-hunting time
for thousands of new high school and college graduates, it might be appropriate to take a look at the employment situation and to consider a system, which I have just thought up, for getting and holding a job and a man. It has only one drawback.

Obviously the first problem facing most of the 1951 army of young female hopefuls is to select a job which will bring them into proximity with the largest numbers of eligible young men.
The happiest hunting grounds at the moment are, of course, in the armed services. This solution to the problem, simple as it may seem,
is the answer to all girls. There still are chances to be found in business establishments. Try to pick a spot which provides the most money for the least work,
and then slide by actually doing a little less than that.

Upon accepting employment,
the employe should see to it that she holds the whip-hand constantly. After all, the launching of a man-hunt requires her best efforts in time, thought and physical energy and any employe is presumptuous if he expects her to consider that her job comes first. This may be a little difficult to accomplish, because many employers are old-fashioned enough to think that, if they are paying good money
to get certain jobs done, the work should be accomplished on schedule.

Never tip your hand on the preliminary interview. Let the prospective employer think you are prepared to marry your job,
that you really care deeply about the quality of your work and that you're going to be heartbroken if you can't bring your talents to his office. Dress carefully and conservatively. There's time enough later to bring out whistle-provoking clothes.

Don't be discouraged if nothing exciting happens during the first couple of weeks. Use this time carefully, making friends with the other girls in the office. They may even introduce you to some interesting men, but this is unlikely. Pick out the important things to do and get that work out. You always can stick odds and ends in your desk if it interferes with time spent hanging around the water-cooler or running out for a cup of coffee.

If you are a rank beginner,
you can afford to be a job-floater for a while. Thus, you can look over several offices in a period of two or three months in case you don't find an attractive assignment of men for after-hours dating. Whatever you do, don't really get interested in the work
you do because this might lead
you to abandon your first goal:
picking up a permanent job as homemaker.

There's only one thing wrong with the system: you're likely to get fired.

New York state produces about 26 percent of the national printing volume, leading the United States in this industry.

Plaid's Are Tops For Summer Wear

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer
NEW YORK — (NEA) — The place of plaid in fashion is assured the year around. This summer, it takes the rightful place in a wardrobe in the form of a sheer. Sheer cottons are strong hot weather favorites; in plaid they're doubly acceptable this year.

A fabric designed by Hope Skillman is used for a junior-cotton (left) that has the repeated pattern of a man's handkerchief. This is an opaque sheer in blue overlaid with brown.
Sleeves are brief, neckline is round, a narrow belt in brown carries out the feeling of the fabric design. The skirt falls in to soft, unpressed pleats.

The American designer, McKettrick, has done up dotted swiss (right) in a summer plaid for city wear. In shades of tobacco brown, it has tiny sleeves that just cap the shoulders, a narrow collar and neat front closing. A full skirt is gathered onto a trim
waist that's encircled by a brown velvet belt.

'Herbs In Cookery' Is Topic Discussed At Meeting Of Merten HD Club Members

Mrs. Mary Anne Duke gave the program on "Use of Herbs
in Cooking" at a meeting of the Merten Home Demonstration Club
in the home of Mrs. Jackson Prather, Mrs. Duke said "Cooking with herbs is a delicate matter—you don't want to taste them in the sauces. Herbs in meat are good;
especially good in meat loaf are celery, ground thyme and white pepper. This is a little different from the regular meat loaf."

Mrs. Duke suggested adding bay leaf and thyme to stew meat
as a means of improving the flavor. She also gave the following recipe for country fried steak: four 3 oz. tender sirloin steaks, one-half cup onion, sliced thin, one-half cup celery sliced
fine, two tablespoons parsley, two tablespoons fat, one and one-half cup stock or bouillon, two teaspoons herb blend A or its equivalent, marjoram savory, basil, thyme, rosemary and parsley. Pan fry the steak; saute onion and celery in fat. Cook until brown; add hot stock and herb seasoning. Pour over steaks and serve hot.

For her demonstration Mrs.
Duke made "heat the heat" salad. She gave the recipe as follows: four ounces shell maca-rioni, one-half cup cubed cooked ham (one-fourth lb.), two hard cooked eggs, diced, one-half cup diced celery, one cup cooked, cut green beans, one tablespoon tarragon vinegar, two tablespoons chili sauce or catsup, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one tablespoon sugar, one-fourth cup salad dressing.

Cook macaroni in boiling salted water until tender (about 15 minutes) and drain, rinsing in cold water. Combine macaroni, ham, eggs, celery and green beans. Add vinegar, chili sauce, salt and sugar to salad dressing.
Mix well and add to salad mixture. Toss together lightly; chill before serving.

Mrs. J. C. Steward gave several casserole recipes at the meeting, including this one for string beans: cook fresh or canned green beans and dry beans (soak
if you use lima or white navy beans). Place a layer of green beans and a layer of white beans
until the casserole is as full as
you wish. Make a white sauce
with milk and butter. Place
strips of bacon over the contents
of the casserole and bake 20 minutes at 350 degrees.

Mrs. Steward also gave a recipe for fruit cottage pudding.
In bottom of casserole place three
cups of fruit (canned or fresh).
Make plain cake recipe and pour
over fruit. If the batter is thick, thin it with the fruit juice. Alternate a layer of fruit and a layer of batter. Cook at 350 degrees for one hour.

Serve with whipped cream.
Mrs. Prather served cake and
punch. Present were members,

Pampa Women Attend School For Church Workers

Five Pampa women, Mrs. H. H.
Hahn, Mrs. A. D. Hills, Mrs.
Glenn Riltchart, Mrs. C. C. Hamill and Mrs. W. A. Bennick, returned Friday from Santa Fe, N. M., where they attended the Summer School of the Southwest, conducted by the Board of Christian Education of the Presbyterian Church in the United States. They attended the last week of the three-week school.

The representatives said the purpose of the school is to provide training for volunteer leaders and teachers in all phases of the life and work of the church.
Refreshment courses for professionally trained leaders are also offered, they stated. Emphasis on the last week was on women's work.

Mrs. Earl O'Brien, Mrs. Robert
Orr, Mrs. Frank Dial and Mrs. Roy Kay attended the first two weeks of the school, which offered practical experience under trained leaders in the field of Christian education.

Outstanding church musicians
directed a choir school for directors of local church choirs.
Representing the Pampa church
in that phase of the training was Mrs. H. A. Yoder.

The Pampa women were among the 123 Presbyterians from 11
states attending the annual leadership training conference.

and Mrs. A. E. Davis of Briscoe, served three and one-half years overseas with the U.S. Air Force
Engineer Corps during World War II.

After a wedding trip the couple will live in Borger where Mr. Davis is employed with the Southwestern Public Service Co.
Company.

Miss Evonne Hubbard, John Bernice Davis Marry In Wheeler

WHEELER — (Special) — Miss Evonne Hubbard and John Bernice Davis were united in marriage Sunday morning. The Rev.
Dorris Egger officiated at the ceremony in the First Methodist Church. Close relatives of the couple attended.

Mrs. Davis, daughter of Mrs.
Ollie V. Hubbard, was attired in a street-length dress of navy eyelet and wore a corsage of orchid carnations. She is a graduate of Wheeler High School and attended WTSC in Canyon.

American Women Recapture Lost Art -- Bread Baking

AP Newsfeatures
When New England and New York bakers walked out on strike recently homemakers all over the nation suddenly realized they had lost a skill which was part of their grandmothers' basic culinary equipment: bread-making.

As the strike threatened to spread across the country, housewives saw the neatly-wrapped loaves disappear from the grocers' shelves.

In our ancestral homes "bread
day" once ranked with wash day as a necessary evil — although the family looked forward to gorging on the fresh-baked, warm spread thick with sweet, yellow butter. But bread-making was a long, tedious operation.

Today bread-making has — like most other kitchen operations — become stream-lined, faster and formalized.

Veteran home-bakers advise, however, that the beginner start with the basic white loaf.

While yeast bread is in the American tradition. And once the baker has mastered the technique of making that she can turn out breads of all colors and flavors — for all yeast breads
are merely variations of the same base.

Here is an almost fool-proof recipe for a good-tasting bread
— just in case you feel ambitious or there's an emergency calling for a return to home-made stuff
of life.

Tasty White Bread
Scald a cup of milk. Add and stir in two tablespoonsful of sugar and two teaspoonsful of salt
until the casserole is as full as
you wish. Make a white sauce
with milk and butter. Place
strips of bacon over the contents
of the casserole and bake 20 minutes at 350 degrees.

Mrs. Steward also gave a recipe for fruit cottage pudding.
In bottom of casserole place three
cups of fruit (canned or fresh).
Make plain cake recipe and pour
over fruit. If the batter is thick,
thin it with the fruit juice. Alternate a layer of fruit and a
layer of batter. Cook at 350 degrees for one hour.

Serve with whipped cream.
Mrs. Prather served cake and
punch. Present were members,
Mrs. W. E. McCracken, Mrs.

OH, OH! HE DIDN'T GET HOLD OF THAT ONE! HE LOOKED MORE LIKE HIMSELF!

YEAH! IT'S GOING INTO THAT SAND TRAP ON THE LEFT!

THAT'S THE FIRST TRAP HE'S BEEN IN TODAY, CLANCY!

WELL, IT'LL FINISH HIM! HE'LL SHOW UP NOW--HIGHER THAN A NITE!

TCH, TCH! ALMOST IN THE HOLE!

BEAUTIFUL! WHAT A RECORD!

Mutt & Jeff

JEFF, WHERE DID YOU GET THAT UMBRELLA?

IT'S A GIFT FROM SISTER!

BUT YOU AIN'T GOT A SISTER!

I KNOW--THAT'S WHAT'S ENGRAVED ON THE HANDLE!

JEFF, LET ME HOLD THE UMBRELLA! IT'LL BE BETTER!

MY HAT WAS GETTIN' WET!

MUTT, I THINK IT'S BETTER IF I HOLD THE UMBRELLA! OUR LEGS ARE GETTIN' ALL WET!

I KNOW BUT MY LEGS ARE FORTY-FIVE YEARS OLD AND MY HAT IS BRAND NEW!

Penny

HOW ABOUT A DATE TONIGHT, PIGEON?

I CAN'T TONIGHT, EDWARD. I HAVE TO BABY SIT AT SNOWDENS.

SO WHAT? WE HAD A DATE THE LAST TIME YOU SAT AT SNOWDENS, DIDN'T WE?

YES, THAT'S THE TROUBLE, EDWARD--

MRS. SNOWDEN SAID IF MY CHUBBY BOY FRIEND WITH THE VORACIOUS APPETITE CAME WITH ME AGAIN--

--SHE'D HAVE TO CLUT MY WAGES IN HALF!

Bugs Bunny

BUT, BUGS, THERE'S A WESTERN MOVIE ON TELEVISION. ANY I INVITED TH' GANG TO SEE IT?

NUTS! PETUNIA HIRED ME AS BABY-SITTER FER YOU!

I AIN'T ACTIN' AS NO NURSEMAID FER ALL YER PALS, TOO... THAT'S FINAL.

HEAD'S UP—They're draggin' out the dragon at Bayreuth, Germany, preparing for the first performance of the world-famous Wagnerian opera festival in nearly ten years. Here stagehands inspect the huge 'Siegfried' dragon to check for deterioration that might have taken place during the beast's ten-year hibernation in the warehouse.

Canadian Schoolmen Name Marilyn Witt Band Director

CANADIAN — (Special) — Canadian's first woman band director and the only one in the Pampa area was elected when the Canadian Board of Trustees met Tuesday and chose Miss Marilyn Witt to fill the position.

Miss Witt fills the vacancy created when James H. Gain, band director at Canadian four years, resigned to accept a position with Consolidated Aircraft in Fort Worth. She will teach junior high and high school chorus in addition to the band.

A graduate of Canadian High School, Miss Witt played trumpet in the band and took part in all musical activities.

She was graduated from T.S.C.W. in 1946 with a B. S. degree in instrumental instruction and a minor in history and government. She played in the college band and symphony orchestra, and was a member of a trumpet trio in 1945-1946. Miss Witt also played with The Serenaders, a swing band, 1943 through 1946.

In Rochester, Texas, in 1946-1947, she taught music in all the grades and organized the first band in the school since the war. She also organized a swing band there.

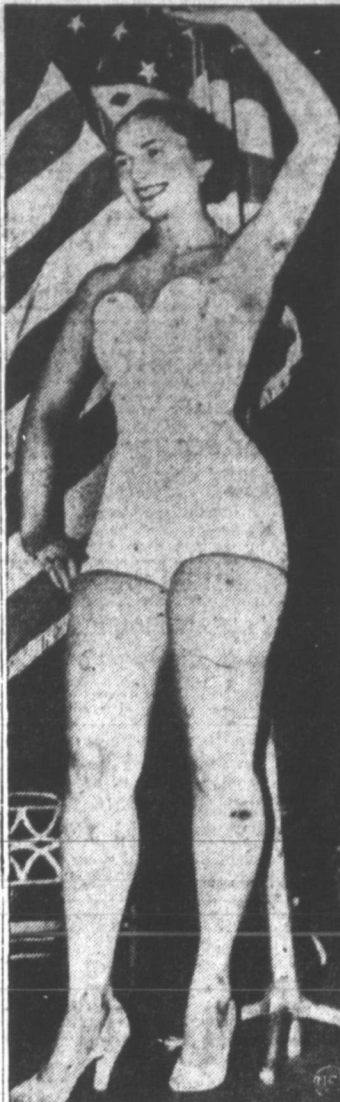

Miss Witt spent two years in Riverside, Calif., where she taught fourth grade and music in grades four through six.

She then came to Canadian and taught chorus and history in junior high and high school during 1950-1951.

Miss Witt is at present attending West Texas College, working on her master's degree.

She plans to start band the week of August 27 in preparation for the Canadian Wildcats' first football game which will be played here Sept. 7 against the Amarillo Yarnigans.

Miss Witt is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Witt, of Canadian.

Corny Story Told By Canning Company

NEW YORK — (AP) — It takes only 52 kernels of seed corn per capita in the U.S. to grow the more than 2,340,000,000 pounds of corn needed each year to meet the country's nearly insatiable appetite for canned and frozen varieties of the vegetable.

This, the American Can Co. noted, is almost four times the crop of sweet corn grown for canning 50 years ago when it started in business.

There are 40 mountain peaks more than a mile high in the Great Smokies of North Carolina and Tennessee.

Wheeler Pastor Plans To Attend Conference

WHEELER — (Special) — Rev. Darris Egger of the First Methodist Church here will be one of the 25 delegates from the Northwest Texas Conference to the National Town and Country Conference at Sioux City, Iowa, July 21-25.

Rev. Hugh Daniel of Pampa will fill the pulpit in Wheeler during Rev. Egger's absence. He is a graduate of McMurry College and will enroll in Perkins College of Theology, SMU, in the fall.

Americans Great People To Give Bad Advice To Others

By HENRY McLEMORE

The most common trait of Americans, not excepting giving away money to countries who don't appreciate it, is telling the other fellow how to run his business.

The butcher can't wait to buttonhole the candlestick maker and give him the lowdown on how to improve candlesticks, and vice versa.

Turn a Pullman conductor loose with a banker and the next thing you know the conductor will be straightening out the banker on loans, and the banker will be telling the conductor how he is missing sales on drawing rooms and punching tickets the wrong way.

This goes right down the line with Americans. I would not be surprised if American beavers told squirrels how to save nuts for the winter, and American squirrels told beavers how to fell logs better and build more solid dams.

For sure, and for certain, I spend a great deal of my time giving free advice to men who are in trades I know little or nothing about.

Toots Shor must have lost many hours from his favorite sport — shooting craps under water — by listening to me tell him how to run a restaurant, or, as he calls it, a saloon.

The Kriender brothers of Club 21 undoubtedly have been forced barely to nod at good customers while I explained to them that sauce Bernaise must have a touch of tabasco sauce in it to make it parfait, which is a word that either means perfect or something that you get at a drug-store.

Heaven knows how many radio announcers have told me how to write a column. Indeed, I believe writing a column is the one business that every man, woman, and child in America considers himself capable of doing, and doing well. I consider that day lost when I do not get a letter from a teen-age youngster from some section of the country offering to do my job, or a con-

This was 1925. This was the age of the flapper. And at left, presumably, is a flapper doing her flapping on the beach. She wears the suit that was most common throughout the latter half of the 20's—the one-piece knitted suit with the strap buttoning over one shoulder. Still brief trunks under the brief skirt, too. But there is a definite tendency toward femininity—there is no doubt whatsoever that this is a girl. But there were still deards, including the Miss America of 1925, Miss Fay Lanphier. She's still wearing the loose-fitting suit and long stockings that most 1925ers had discarded. Plus a belt with a long tassel. The winsome miss at right shows off high fashion in the mid-1920's. The stylists were considered daring with this number. It had hips and waist! Let me be fooled, be advised that the model is wearing long, hip-length stockings. She's a decent girl.

Wheeler Cotton Is Reported Good

WHEELER — (Special) — agent R. J. Seigmund reports Wheeler County farmers say cotton in the area looks good. Insects. One farmer, north of Wheeler, is using one pint of D. V. Brasher of Twitty dust, ed his crop with eight pounds of 2-10-40 per acre. The county agent recommends this dust for the control of flea hoppers, plant lice and worms. A test on the Brasher cotton showed complete control of pests.

There is still enough moisture in the soil for good growth. County D. V. Brasher of Twitty dust. The Dutch introduced tea into Europe from the Orient in 1640.

VETS' CHOICE—Vying against 21 other beauties in a Philadelphia contest, 21-year-old Sarah Jane Crowell, of Butler, Pa., won the title of Miss Veterans of Foreign Wars of Pennsylvania for 1951. She is a graduate of the Pittsburgh Art School.

Minerva Hobart Is Candidate For University Queen

MADISON, Wis. — Minerva Hobart, of Pampa, a student at the University of Wisconsin, will be a candidate for queen of the summer prom, the social highlight of the UW summer season.

She was one of 16 finalists chosen from more than 50 contestants. Each living unit submits a contestant in the semifinal judging.

An all-campus election July 26 will narrow the field to six candidates. The winners will be the official court of honor at the dance. A queen will be chosen from among them the night of the prom, Aug. 3.

Meantime, the candidates will be feted at the UW Yacht club dances, interviewed on several local radio stations, and will participate in a pre-prom parade and rally.

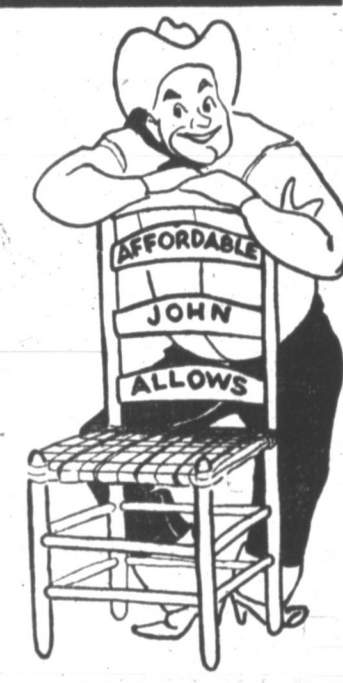

'Stay Up Late' Club Formed in Denmark

COPENHAGEN — (AP) — An international clinophobia society has been formed in Denmark. Its members, from three nations, rally around a common wish not to go to bed until the early hours of the morning.

So far the society members are less than half a dozen but they remind each other, on all suitable occasions, not to forget to stay up late.

The society president, Alfred Olsen, a Copenhagen businessman, received on his 75th birthday recently this cable from the other members.

"The International Clinophobia Society greets its honorable president cordially, prohibiting him to go to bed at all tonight."
