This matter of national defense would seem on an entirely different aspect if people could be brought to understand that the only government they need to defend themselves against is their own government, and that the only way to defend themselves against it is by continual distrust and vigilance. —Albert Jay Nech

Dope Ring Charge Is Filed Against Former Beer Baron

NEW YORK (AP)—An international dope racket charge was lodged today against Waxey Gordon, the prohibition era beer baron whom racket-busting Thomas E. Dewey sent to prison as an income tax dodger in 1933. The 63-year-old mobster, who has a police record dating back to 1905; was held with three other men in a total of $500,000 bail. U. S. Attorney Irving H. Saypol said that if Gordon is tried and convicted in a federal court in New York state he could be sent to prison for life as a fourth offender under state law. Saypol said the four prisoners had pure heroin worth $180,000 when it was sold in the underworld retail market. All four were charged with violation of the federal narcotics laws at an arraignment which lasted from 1:30 a. m. to 2:30 a. m. (EST). Waxey Gordon — born Irving Weider — was named by Saypol as "the source for the West Coast" of dope arriving here on ships from Europe and the Near East. Gordon and his three co-defendants, all New Yorkers, were seized on Manhattan's east Side last night by ten federal agents and city detectives.

Escape Reds: Riddled Plane Carries Poles To Sanctuary

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Four young Poles, one a woman, landed their bullet-riddled makeshift plane in southern Sweden today and told of a dramatic escape from Red Poland amid gunfire. They asked asylum, saying they were "fed up" with the Communist regime in their homeland. Their exploit was less than 24 hours after 12 sailors of the Polish navy staged a Baltic mutiny aboard a minesweeper and chose refuge in Sweden. The two incidents created speculation concerning a possible connection with the recent visit to Poland of Soviet Deputy Prime Minister V. M. Molotov, who warned in threatening terms against Titoist revolts. The four refugees made a perfect landing today despite riddled landing gear, at Bulltofta Airport near Malmö, and said they escaped after a gunfight with Polish military guards. They told a thrilling story of zig-zagging at 10,000 feet through the Baltic clouds to shake off a pursuing military aircraft. Once a hatch flew open and they almost fell into the sea. They were taken to a camp for political refugees. Reports from the airport said the four Poles escaped from Poznan at 3 a. m. after an exchange of fire with Polish army guards. Their plane was a makeshift affair with a Polish engine, wheels, a German Messerschmitt fuselage, a Russian fuselage and an American carburetor. At Malmö they still carried firearms. They told authorities a sub-machinegun they had used in the fight at Poznan was dropped into the Baltic.

Seek Settlement Of Armed Forces Fight

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress has been asked to settle what is described by a House member as a critical wrangle in the armed services over air support of ground troops. Rep. Cole (R-NY) proposed yesterday that the House armed services committee study the problem as soon as possible. He told the House there can be no doubt that there exists very definite inter-service antagonism and basic disagreement on the important problem of the role of tactical air support. In fact, he added, there is serious disagreement within the Air Force itself. Cole advocated the return of close air support operations to the Army. He said that in taking this command from the Army and giving it to the Air Force, Congress went too far in its armed forces unification program. This statement recalled an earlier assertion by Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee that he had in mind a revision of the workings of military unification. In close air support, aircraft use bombs, rockets and guns against the enemy immediately opposing friendly troops. Such operations require great accuracy and other specialized skills. "There can be no doubt in the mind of any person that this close air support question can never be successfully resolved until the ground commander is given full command over his airborne artillery in the same manner as he commands the use of his ground artillery," Cole declared. He claimed that in Korea Army and Marine aircraft are now providing one-half of the air strikes. Air Force figures for June, however, showed 21,000 sorties by the Air Force and Marines, 273 by the Navy and Marines. A sortie is one flight by one aircraft. Many Army men are known to favor divisional command over close air support groups. But most Air Force officers oppose such a system on the ground it would hamper the mobility of the Air Force in meeting overall battle situations as they arise.

Red General Admits Allies At Advantage

UN ADVANCE HEADQUARTERS, Korea (AP)—United Nations negotiators brought the weight of air and naval superiority to bear on deadlocked armistice negotiations at Kaesong today. The UN envoys feel these are major bargaining weapons in demanding strong, defensible ground positions north of the 38th Parallel. When negotiators used this lever in Friday's two-hour and 35 minute session, a UN spokesman said, North Korean Lt. Gen. Nam Il grudgingly admitted the superior United Nations air power had influenced Communist ground action. The chief Red delegate did not weaken his demand for a cease-fire line along the 38th Parallel. The sessions ended with the delegations still unable to agree on where to create a buffer zone. They take up the same subject for the tenth time in Saturday's session. The United Nations unquestioned air and naval might was introduced into discussions at the start of Friday's sessions, said Air Force Brig. Gen. William F. Nuckols, the allied briefing officer. Vice Adm. C. Joy Turner told General Nam II that a military armistice should maintain the approximate overall balance of military power existing when the armistice is signed. This was the first announced reference in cease-fire talks to the guarantee allies have said they would demand that the Reds do not take advantage of an armistice to reorganize the ground troops, or run in now non-existing air and naval forces. Joy was using emphasis on air and sea might to support the allied demand for an armistice along present battle lines, most of which are north of the 38th Parallel in defensible hill terrain. Allied warships are shelling targets on both coasts of North Korea daily while planes range freely over all North Korea. Withdrawal of these two arms of allied might from North Korea, under this authoritative view, should be sufficient compensation for the Reds to agree to allied ground forces remaining in the tactically favorable positions they have won in hard fighting. How impressive such an argument might be with the Communist negotiators was indicated indirectly by General Nam during Friday's session. He said, in effect: "You insist on strong defensive positions north of the 38th Parallel, deep in our territory." He repeated the statement 14 times — almost word for word. GOP Senators Seek Powerful New Agency For Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican Senators Saltonstall of Massachusetts and H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey have proposed setting up a powerful new agency to handle foreign economic and military aid. Openly bidding for "bipartisan support," they suggested yesterday that a "mutual security administration" be made a part of the foreign aid program. President Truman has asked $8,500,000 for this program in fiscal 1952 which began July 1. In his field the head of the proposed agency would have equal rank with Secretary of State Acheson and Secretary of Defense Marshall. In case of disagreement between any two of the three, appeals would be made to President Truman for final decisions. Other advocates of a separate agency have advanced the general idea as a means of keeping direction of foreign aid out of Acheson's hands. Hearings on the big aid program continued today before the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees. The House Foreign Affairs Committee has begun writing its aid bill. An additional issue was passed to the Senate group yesterday when the House passed a bill which would cut off most U. S. war supplies to Russia or her satellites. This bill sped through the House on a voice vote. It duplicates in part an earlier measure passed by both the House and Senate as part of an appropriations bill. Authored by Senator Kem (R-Mo), it directed an immediate halt in U. S. aid to nations that refused to cut off trade in war potential supplies with Iron Curtain nations. President Truman suspended action on the Kem rider for 90 days and his advisors then prepared the substitute the House passed yesterday. Kem, frequent critic of administration, said he would be perhaps the most surprised man in America if Stalin and company said come ahead and we'll be over to see you, too. His lack of optimism was pointed up by a round of sharp criticism he fired at Soviet leaders for failing to publish in Russia a resolution, already approved by Congress, expressing American friendship for the people of Russia. South Vows Revolt If Truman Runs

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP)—Southern Democrats will not accept President Truman to head the 1952 party ticket, predicts Gov. Fielding Wright of Mississippi. Wright, 1948 States Rights candidate for vice president, said the South would revolt if Truman were elected. He said he did not think the South would accept President Truman as a candidate for reelection under any conditions. "Wright made the comments last night in a telephone interview from Jackson, Miss., when he was asked to elaborate on a speech earlier in the day here. Wright forecast another southern rebellion if the national party follows its 1948 course. He said the national administration had not soft-pedaled its civil rights proposals, but that a coalition of Southern Democrats and Republicans had blocked them. He later Gov. James Byrnes of South Carolina, Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia and Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia, all Democrats, as likely leaders. Wright said, "The South is opposed to the police state the FEPC (Fair Employment Practices Commission) would set up." He added that he was retiring to private life after his term expires next January, but as a private citizen he would "accept a small part in such a southern rebellion) if called upon to do so. Eight candidates are seeking to succeed him in next Tuesday's primary in this solidly Democratic state. All are avowed States Righters.

Royal Couple Plans U. S. Visit After Tour Of Canada

LONDON (AP)—Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip have accepted an invitation to visit President Truman in Washington Oct. 25-26. Buckingham Palace said the 25-year-old heir presumptive to the British throne and her husband will stay at Blair House, President Truman's residence while the White House is under construction. The trip to Washington will follow a visit to Canada. They will sail from England Sept. 25 on the Canadian Pacific liner, Empress. The last members of the royal family to visit the United States were King George VI and Queen Elizabeth. They went there as guests of President Roosevelt in 1939, also after a Canadian tour. It was not yet known whether Elizabeth and her Navy husband plan to visit any other cities in the United States. It will be the first trip to the American continent for the royal pair. Elizabeth's only previous long-distance tour was to South Africa in 1947. "I understand her husband is supposed to get in this morning to bail her out," reported Travis county jailer Speedy Lee. The husband is Sgt. Rufus R. Evans of Biggs Air Force Base, El Paso. The two married July 23 in Las Cruces, N. M. Mrs. Evans claims a warrant officer restricted the sergeant to the base the day after the wedding to forestall a honeymoon. The 120-pound bundle of good happiness wired her husband yesterday to come to her aid. There was no immediate answer. "We wish it hadn't happened," said Col. Ben Lichty — not smiling. He said it was very embarrassing that she had been able to spend four days at the base as a WAF officer. Mrs. Evans arrived at the jet fighter training base Monday by an Air Force plane from Biggs. At Biggs yesterday it was learned she had arrived there by military aircraft also. She slipped up when she went to see Col. Lichty and asked him to help her get a waiver of college credit so she could become a WAF officer. She mentioned the flight from Biggs in an Air Force plane. Lichty had a check started on her right away. Mrs. Evans explained two reasons why she wanted to be a WAF officer. If she were a WAF officer, she said, (1), she would be able to keep her sergeant husband from being sent overseas, and (2), she could "knock the pins from under" a certain warrant officer at Las Cruces, N. M. The warrant officer restricted the sergeant to the base the day after the two were married July 23 in Las Cruces.

McMahon Proposes Congress Tour USSR

WASHINGTON (AP)—Would the Kremlin tell a congressional delegation visit the Soviet Union "to tell the Russian people about the peaceful and friendly desires" of the American people? Senator McMahon (D-Conn) would ask Moscow to lift the Iron Curtain for such a group on such a mission. And he proposes that Congress on the other hand invite Russia's high command — the 14 Politburo members — to the United States "so they could breathe the clean air of Democracy and decide for themselves whether the American people want peace or war." McMahon set forth the suggestions in a Senate speech late yesterday. He said he would like to see Congress approve resolutions endorsing both of the trips he proposed. The Connecticut senator told a reporter today he wants to discuss the matter with some of his colleagues before deciding whether to sponsor such legislation. "I tossed out an idea," he said. "Let's wait a bit and see what happens." McMahon indicated, however, that he would be perhaps the most surprised man in America if Stalin and company said come ahead and we'll be over to see you, too. His lack of optimism was pointed up by a round of sharp criticism he fired at Soviet leaders for failing to publish in Russia a resolution, already approved by Congress, expressing American friendship for the people of Russia. Firearms Disturb Area Communities

Residents of the Bell and Grandview communities are more than disturbed over violations of surrounding citizens shooting at first one way and then their property, the sheriff's department reported. During the past three years Carl Smith and Troy Maness have had stray bullets puncture the walls of their homes. Recently an oil field worker, coming in from a late shift, shot a rabbit in the front yard of Marvin Webster. Most of the shooting is done at night by men coming from work of teen-agers, Sheriff Rufe Jordan said this morning. "Most of the hunters are innocent enough as they're gun carrying intentions," Jordan added, "but these farmers don't know who these people are or what they want when they come driving around at dark shooting first one way and then their property. Especially since the two houses were hit, the people out there have become more anxious for their own safety. One of these nights some hunter is going to be shot and will have himself to blame." Jordan reported he has been getting complaints almost daily from farmers and ranchers in that vicinity on the promiscuous hunting at night on fields and near farm houses. Several times cars have stopped along the road to take pot shots at rabbits or other game, Jordan said. "Frigidate window type air conditioners — demonstrators — priced for quick sale, Bert A. Polio Cases Rise About 26 Percent

WASHINGTON (AP)—The number of new polio cases increased nearly 26 percent last week. A public health service report said yesterday there were 969 new cases during the week. This compares with 773 during the preceding week and 802 for the week ending July 14. It was the first time in 12 weeks that the weekly total has exceeded that of a corresponding period last year. Total cases reported since the seasonal low of last March number 4,393 compared to 4,842 a year ago. States showing relatively large increases were Minnesota, Kansas, North Carolina, Tennessee, Oklahoma, Texas, Colorado and California.

License Office Opening At 9 A.M.

For the next two weeks the Pampa driver's license examining hours will start at 9:30 a. m. instead of 8 a. m. Examiner Joe McLaren said yesterday he would be out of town during the next two weeks, but examiners from other stations would come to Pampa on Mondays, Fridays, and Saturdays to give examinations. However, because they have to travel from Amarillo, Borger, or other points, they would not arrive here before 9 a. m. Following McLaren's return the regular 8 a. m. opening hours will be resumed automatically. WE HEARD . . . That the last practice for the junior cowboys and cowgirls will be held at 2:30 Sunday afternoon at Recreation Park. Flag bearers in the main rodeo parade, Aug. 8, will also meet for practice.

Still Wants To Be WAF Officer: Pretty Impersonator Expects To Be Released On Bail Today

AUSTIN (AP)—Shapely Medalo, Frances Evans, who bumped military airplane rides against Army regulations and landed in jail on a charge of impersonating an officer, expected to make $1,000 bail today. "I understand her husband is supposed to get in this morning to bail her out," reported Travis county jailer Speedy Lee. The husband is Sgt. Rufus R. Evans of Biggs Air Force Base, El Paso. The two married July 23 in Las Cruces, N. M. Mrs. Evans claims a warrant officer restricted the sergeant to the base the day after the wedding to forestall a honeymoon. Commies To Use GIs For Sideshow

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—East German Communists are planning a "sideshow" of 50 American soldiers, captured in Korea, during the East Berlin world youth festival next week. British authorities reported today. The British said the 50 had presumably been "trained" to act the part of "American lovers of peace who deserted their own ranks to protest against American imperialism." Further details were not available.

New Trial Sought For Cafe Guitarist In Girl's Slaying

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP)—Cafe guitarist Henry Ford McCracken will be tried a second time Aug. 13 on a charge of slaying 10-year-old Patricia Jean Hull. McCracken lured the little girl from a Buena Park theater May 19, beat her to death in his motel cabin and buried her body in a canyon. Described during the trial by his lawyer, George Chula, as a "maven who should be committed to an institution," McCracken was devoid of expression after the jury's verdict on the murder charge was explained to him.

Wage Board Recommends Pay Increase

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Wage Stabilization board unanimously recommended today that cost of living wage increases be allowed for all workers. Board policy up to now has been to allow them for workers who are under union contracts having "escalator" clauses. Such clauses are those providing for automatic increases when the government's cost-of-living index rises. A new board regulation will be drawn up immediately if Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston approves the proposal to permit cost of living increases for all workers.

Bulletin

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army announced today the discharge of 90 U. S. Military Academy cadets for violating the "code of conduct." The Army did not disclose at once the nature of the violations. Secretary of the Army Pace said he had approved the action upon recommendations made by a special board. The board was set up by Gen. Robert M. Dufford, Army chief of staff. It was composed of Judge Leonard Hand, recently retired from the U. S. Court of Appeals in New York; Lt. Gen. Troy H. Middleton, now president of LSU, and Maj. Gen. Robert M. Dufford, retired, a former president of the West Point Graduates Association. The Army said the board's recommendation was unanimous and that it had been approved by Collins.

'Baby' Air Lift Boosting Tonnage To Defeat Reds

BERLIN (AP)—Commercial planes lifted 90 tons of Berlin export products to West Germany in the last 24 hours in an expanding effort to defeat the increased freight costs, but it was generally understood they would be met with ECA aid of counterpart funds. East Berlin's Communist press took first notice of the commercial airlift with an editorial in the Berliner Zeitung. The Zeitung said it was all "a profiteering scheme" which would be unnecessary, if West Berlin firms met Soviet demands to present certificates of origin for their products. The Communists claim that such certificates would show that most West Berlin products are manufactured from materials "smuggled out of (Soviet) East Germany." Under the present plans the city government engages the air space for the exporting firms and accepts the freight bills. No announcement had been made about payment of the increased freight costs, but it was generally understood they would be met with ECA aid of counterpart funds. Favorite Daughter Hopes She Can Lure Father From Cliff

DURANGO, Colo. (AP)—Will her father will let them get close enough to talk to him. They don't want him to use the .35-caliber pistol with which he is believed to be armed. Carmean left notes reporting that he was going into the mountains of southwestern Colorado and warning everyone to stay away. They were found Tuesday by his brother, Norman of Durango. Norman went into the country mentioned in the notes and talked across a canyon to his brother. But Millard refused Norman's pleas for him to return to Durango. After remaining until Tuesday midnight at a camp they used for gold and silver prospecting, Norman returned to Durango and reported to Sheriff Petty. They went to the campsite Wednesday. They were unsuccessful in attempting to contact Millard Carmean although when the sheriff fired his pistol in the air there was an answering shot. Petty didn't think Carmean was shooting at him and his brother. They left enough food to last until today and stayed away yesterday to give "Carmean time to think things over." The sheriff said Carmean's actions apparently are due to despondency. Relatives reported that he appeared to be despondent at times. But, his sister-in-law, Mrs. Norman Carmean, said also is "the nicest guy anyone could ever meet."

Ex-Convict Keeps Promise To Appear For Questioning

An ex-convict walked into the Gray County Sheriff's Department late yesterday afternoon for questioning and wound up behind bars, charged with the theft of a rifle from Carl Carter, near Laketon.

Sheriff Rufe Jordan said the man was traced to Dumas through his car license plates where he was jailed by Sheriff John M. Easley. Easley later released the man on his promise to come to Pampa for questioning. The man arrived here about 5:30 p. m. yesterday and after questioning by Jordan admitted taking the gun from Carter and selling it to Addington's Western Store.

Weatherman Cites Problems Involved In Making Forecast

H. C. Winborne, head of the weather station at Amarillo, yesterday explained at a Lions Club meeting the difficulties of forecasting weather.

"We are frequently misunderstood," he said. "The human mind can remember happy things and not sad. But when it comes to weather, everybody remembers misses but not hits." He added that forecasting precipitation in the Panhandle is difficult since it is not enough is known about weather movements here.

More information is being learned about storms, such as tornadoes, he explained, and proper warning has decreased considerably. For protection, one should move at right angles with the storm or lie in the southwest corner of a house.

Three Youths Held For County Thefts

Three 16-year-old boys were being held in the county jail this morning, charged with theft of county property. They are also being held for Tarrant County officials on burglary charges in Fort Worth.

The one boy, Deane Bills, who will reach his 17th birthday on Aug. 10, has already been charged in the theft of two batteries and up to 50 gallons of gasoline from a county maintenance and two spare tires, one of them new, from Douglas Reeves.

Bills and the other boys, Henry Clements and Clarence Luden, were brought to Pampa from Albany, Texas, late Wednesday by Deputy Sheriff Shirley Nichols.

Jordan said the boys will be held for Tarrant County officers, who have warrants for their arrests in a Fort Worth burglary several weeks ago. They will be returned to Fort Worth following disposition of their cases here.

expression of friendship by the American Congress, the Soviet government has committed a crime against peace," declared McMahon, chief sponsor of the resolution. "The Kremlin crowd are now self-confessed war mongers."

He added that the Red leaders "have now shown to the world that they are mortally afraid the Russian people will catch on to their deception and double-dealing. That the Russian people may learn that peace is possible whenever the Politburo wants peace."

McMahon said one of the resolutions he has in mind would formally ask the Soviet government for permission for 50 Congress members to visit Russia while we are in recess to tell the Russian people about the peaceful and friendly desires of the American people." He added: "I'd ask for permission for these members to visit every city and town within a thousand-mile radius of Moscow, and let that government refuse such permission if it dared."

A turn-down, McMahon said, would label "the spurious Soviet peace claims meaningless from now on."

Noting that the friendship resolution was sent to Nikolai Shvernik rather than Premier Stalin because Shvernik is President of the U.S.S.R. and titular head of the Red government, McMahon said: "The Kremlin crowd was made a farce and a mockery of representative government by insisting (under protocol) that communications be sent to Mrs. Shvernik, who has no more authority than the lowest peasant on a collective farm."

Turning then to what he termed "ridiculous" and "contemptuous banter," McMahon said of Shvernik: "Can the man be an impostor? Is there such an office as the President of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics? If there is, where is the man hiding? Why won't the man answer his mail? "Is there foul play here? Has Mr. Shvernik been liquidated? Has he won that famous Soviet prize... a one-way ticket to the salt mines of Siberia?"

Flood Victim Shoots Official

BONNER SPRINGS, Kas. (AP)—A 44-year-old father of 10 children, driven from his home by flood waters, has been charged with assault with intent to kill after admitting he shot a Red Cross official in an argument over bedsteads.

Sheriff Ellsworth Edwards said Raymond L. Penberton related that his family had been sleeping on springs and mattresses provided by the Red Cross after the Kaw River floods, but had no bedsteads.

Penberton said he and his wife went to see Lewis D. Ward, Red Cross director, and Ward told them they had been given all that was allowed.

His wife started to cry, Penberton told the sheriff, "so I got my gun and started shooting."

Ward, former deputy sheriff and prominent Republican politician, is in a hospital with a bullet wound near his spine.

Casey Finds Way After Well Banned

BAYTOWN — (AP) Clyde W. Casey figures he may make $25 a month in oil payments from a well drilled in his driveway.

Casey was discouraged at first about his well. After the hole was drilled and oil found, Casey found the city council banned flow tanks within 100 feet of a residence. No flow tank, no oil, no royalty.

After a long search Casey and his driller managed to lease a plot of land from the Baytown

Guard Rail Is Improved

NEW YORK — The Danish auto fence, a new type of highway guard rail, now is in use in a dozen places in the United States. The rail is concrete, shaped like the sloping back of a couch. It rests on massive concrete legs, which keep it from tipping backward.

OUT TO SETTLE BURNING QUESTION — Autos of yesterday, 1911 Standard-Dayton (left) and 1913 Stanley Steamer will race between Chicago and New York to settle a burning question of grandfather's day: Is steam power more efficient than gasoline engine?

The bottom of this couch-back is about seven inches above the ground. The top is just a little below the average passenger car tire-top. When a car hits this rail, the wheel is turned in toward the highway. The couch form leans back far enough so that the car body is not likely even to touch the rail.

Link Between State Department, Pentagon Strong Enough To Bypass Civilian Officials

This situation differs considerably from that during the preceding Korean war days of sharp policy wrangles.

Many People Involved In Carrying Out Rodeo Plans

It took many meetings of many committees to formulate the Top of Texas Rodeo, Aug. 7-11. No committee has been any less or more important than another in working out all the details of the show. From the concessions committee to the rodeo events committee, the attempt has been made to plan a better show than ever before, and work out any problems that may have confronted rodeo officials in the six previous rodeo performances here.

Cost Of Living Hurts Congressmen, Too — Resignation Of Gossett Leads Some To Think Raises Needed

WASHINGTON — (AP) — There's a new move afoot to raise the salaries of congressmen since one of them has quit in order to make some room for his wife and kids. Don't look for much to come of it, though. Members of Congress would like more take-home-pay — as who wouldn't — but they're mighty cagey about voting themselves an increase.

Reports to Hong Kong indicate Chiang's old Eighth and 28th armies retained all their arms, including a company of artillery. It is based in the Chinese southwest province, Yunnan.

Vanishing Savings And Pensions
Inflation is hitting every American family. But it is hitting hardest, according to New York Congressman Jacob Javits, those whose protection from want has been guaranteed these many years — those in the evening of life who depend upon Social Security income for the necessities of life. Despairing of government aid for them, Javits declared that the nation must be devised to save millions of senior citizens from becoming "public charges."

What a commentary on tragic fumbling by New Deal theorists, in terms of human apprehension and misery! It might be written as a tragedy of failure in three acts.

First Act: Before the New Deal, a dollar might be hard to come by, but it was a 100-cent dollar. Saved, it bought 100 cents worth of the good things of life. Frugal and industrious people saved for the future and they lived comfortably in the future when they reached it. To be sure, some people were improvident and wouldn't try to save and some, thru vicissitudes of life, couldn't save but didn't get by pretty well on their own.

Second Act: The New Deal Utopia provided freedom from old-age penalty for all the millions coming under Social Security. Government did the book-keeping, collected the funds, and insured everybody to worry about. So it seemed; so the starry-eyed Utopians assured one and all.

Third Act: Everything fine — except that inflation, forced out of bounds at last by hopelessly unsound monetary policies, spending and dollar devaluation, has shrunk the Social Security dollar — along with every other dollar — so drastically that the recipient dismally faces becoming, in Rep. Javits' phrase, a public charge.

Before the New Deal, many people had old-age security. Now nobody has it! The individual who has made payments thru the years on an insurance policy providing for annual payments in his old age of a certain number of dollars finds if he is drawing the annual payment now, that he receives the number of dollars called for, but they are worth only half as much as he had figured on. The individual who thoughtfully tried to safeguard himself from inflation by methodically putting away part of his earnings in a savings account finds that his safeguard has been more than half washed away by inflation.

Worse still, the washing away is continuing. The monthly payments will grow smaller and smaller in point of buying power.

That's how the thrifty and all who tried to protect themselves against the future have been and are being cheated by a bunch of bureaucrats who call themselves "paternalistic."

New Deal's Phony Inflation Fight
The falseness of the Truman administration's stand in regard to high prices is exposed in this single sentence: There was considerable talk in late 1948 of new government controls to keep prices down, a tremendous amount of government action and public money were directed in keeping them up.

This capsule summing up of the whole dismal farce of the New Deal's so-called anti-inflation fight is from William A. Orton's book, "The Economic Role of the State," published by the University of Chicago Press.

The author points out how the administration boosted prices by means of such devices as parity loans, subsidies, purchase and storage of commodities, mentioning many of the food items affected. "It is doubtful," he says of the innumerable farm products under government control, "whether anyone has a complete list on account of the jumble of laws, orders, and agencies, most of which act under very loose bureaucratic authority."

Mr. Orton goes into many of the other socialistic activities of the Truman administration, showing its socialistic trend and the many ways in which it meddles with private enterprise and makes steadily increasing inflation inevitable.

In the face of such factual evidence of the hypocrisy of the New Dealers as is contained in Mr. Orton's book and in the many other honest analyses of bureaucratic methods, mountings and doings published in the more respectable newspapers and magazines it is hard to understand how the administration continues to pull the public leg. But the pulling goes on and on and conditions grow worse and worse.

A friend was showing a Scot around his outlying works at Sheffield. "Here's a souvenir for you, Mac," he said when the Scot was over, and handed him a pocketknife. "But," he said, "you'll have to give me a halfpenny for it, so that you can get your change." With some reluctance the Scot searched his pockets and at last produced a penny. "Here you go, Mac," he said anxiously. "Thank you," replied his friend. "I'm afraid I haven't. Mac thought for a minute. 'This is no coin, just give me another knife,' he said."

Better Jobs

By R. C. HOILES

"The Key to Peace"

Here is more from the timely book "The Key to Peace" by Clarence Manion. Under the sub-heading of "Moral Obligations" he writes: "Government cannot make men good; neither can it make them prosperous and happy. The evils in society are directly traceable to the vices of individual human beings. At its best government may simply attack the secondary manifestations of these vices. Their primary manifestations are found in the pride, covetousness, lust, envy, sloth and plain incompetency of individual people. When government goes far beyond this simple duty and deploys its forces along a broad, complicated front, under a unified command, it invariably propagates the very evil that it is designed to reduce.

"In the sweet name of 'human welfare' such a government begins to do things that would be gravely offensive if done by individual citizens. The government is urged to follow this course by people who consciously or subconsciously seek an impersonal outlet for the 'nervousness' of human weakness. An outlet in other words which will enable them to escape the moral responsibility that would be involved in their personal commission of these sins. As a consequence to this popular attitude we are assured that 'government should do for the people what the people are unable to do for themselves.' This is an extremely dangerous definition of the purpose of government. It is radically different from the purpose stated in the Declaration of Independence; nevertheless it is now widely accepted as correct.

"Here is one example of centralized governmental operation: Paul wants some of Peter's property. For moral as well as legal reasons, Paul is unable personally to accomplish this desire. Paul therefore persuades the government to act for Peter in order to provide funds with which the government pays Paul a 'subsidy.' Paul now has what he wanted. His conscience is clear and he has proceeded 'according to law.' Who could ask for more? — why, Paul, of course, and at the very next opportunity. There is nothing to stop him now except the eventual exhaustion of Peter's resources."

"That is exactly what is happening in our country to most of the American people when in each community they decide that the majority should force the minority to pay for tax supported schools, health care, and other social services. When each community believes that the majority has a right to establish a welfare state to give a subsidy to school teachers because they cannot teach well enough to be paid on a voluntary basis, then it is only natural that these youths when they become adults believe in tariffs, subsidies and special labor laws and progressive taxation and passing one law after another that are violations of the Covenants and Commandments.

The author makes this observation after commenting on taxing Peter to pay Paul: "This encourages the unfortunate impression of using the scalloped method of a blackleg we may take whatever we please to take from our neighbors store of rights and immunities. 'Big centralized government' generalizes moral principles which are common to many of man's common relationships with man. In this manner the growth and centralization of governmental power gradually destroys the sense of individual conscience and responsibility which we have seen in the mainpring of our general welfare. A 'Welfare State' is thus a contradiction of terms.

"The ultimate good of all human beings is accomplished only by the advancements of virtue in individual persons. Whereas a community of saints would require no policeman at all, no amount of government would be able to protect the general welfare of a community composed entirely without morals. Since it is thus impossible to divorce the evils of society from the sins of its individual members, it must consequently develop the general good not from 'Statute to Statute' but from 'person to person.' All of our preachments in promotion of group morality and community welfare will be ineffective so long as they are not accompanied by an improvement in personal morals."

That is exactly what this column has been trying to say in season and out of season.

The Nation's Press

BRITAIN has agreed to admit Turkey and Greece to the North Atlantic pact. Presumably that makes the arrangement satisfactory to Mr. Acheson. If the deal goes through, the name of the pact had better be changed because Turkey and Greece are a long way from the North Atlantic.

Through much of the 19th Century Britain was the protector of Greece and Turkey. In recent years Britain has handed this assignment to the United States. Taxpayers have poured hundreds of millions of dollars into the two countries to strengthen them militarily and economically.

The Turks have a treaty of mutual defense with Britain, but are far from content with the measure of protection it affords them. They live next door to Russia and to some of the Russian satellites. The Turks are a soldierly people as they have shown once again in Korea, but to fight effectively in defense of their country they must depend upon military supplies and perhaps reinforcements as well from outside. They have estimated, no doubt correctly, that the aid they can get from Britain will be a good deal less than enough and have been clamoring for a formal commitment by the United States to support them. Their admission to the North Atlantic pact is intended to satisfy this demand.

Characteristically the British in applying the proposal have put in a claim for leadership in the pact. They wish to have one of

The Powers That Be

By DAVID BAISLER

St. Paul writes in the Bible that "the powers that be are ordained of God." This has been twisted, distorted and misconstrued by every Tom, Dick and Harry to cover any and every evil they wish to justify.

First, I wish to draw attention to the fact that the Bible uses the term OF God and not BY God. An example of how this may be used would be to say that you set a power-generator in motion which manufactures electrical energy. All of the energy generated thereby is OF you but the way someone else may use that power is not BY you. By the same token, "all powers" (all of the living energy in creation) is OF a central intelligence source, whom we call God. Does the Bible not say that God creates both good and evil? There is no doubt OF whom all power derives. But if we were to falsely translate the Greek word to read "BY" then, if all good and evil were BY God, then His alone would be the responsibility for the evil that is done in this world as well as the good. The total predestinarian could shrug their shoulders fatalistically and remark, "Who am I to try to make any choice between good and evil since if I am evil BY God's will there's nothing I can do about it."

If your job is generating electric power and someone uses that power to kill a just man, the power was OF you but not BY you—not for that purpose. If another individual uses the electric for some good purpose such as heating a hospital, that power, too was OF you. In both cases the choice of its use was left up to individuals. No fatalism there.

"The main power, therefore, is 'ordained' of God. He ordained that there should be power and there is power. That's that. But what is a man to be SUBJECT to? Why, the HIGHER powers, that is, the power to do good, the will of God. If God is omnipotent, omnipresent and omniscient and if His attributes (which the Bible affirms) are love and justice and mercy and all of the virtues admired by the people of the South, then it stands to reason that the individual who is "in tune with the infinite"—those who love and strive to obey God—must be "in tune with the Divine standard or yardstick" which is the will of God. If God is omnipotent, omnipresent and omniscient and if His attributes (which the Bible affirms) are love and justice and mercy and all of the virtues admired by the people of the South, then it stands to reason that the individual who is "in tune with the infinite"—those who love and strive to obey God—must be "in tune with the Divine standard or yardstick" which is the will of God. A serious attempt to impose its recommendations by force on the white people of the South would cause violent commotions. Charles E. Wilson, formerly president of General Electric and now our mobilizer for war in Washington, served as chairman of the committee.

Wilson is not a Communist nor even tolerant of Communism in any of their grades and guises. The worst that may be said of him is that he is one of those well-meaning men who "made it the hard way" and are too easily brought to harness in connection with a political campaign. The ultimate ends of the Communist treason. In this case this was done by the approval of intermediate objectives which, to the unwary, seem innocent and harmless. Wendell Willkie a no-fear candidate for president in 1940, was a little correcting. There is no doubt in my mind but what Hitler and Mussolini—yes even Roosevelt—were permitted to misuse power by way of acting as a scourge, an instrument of correction, to remind a nation which would dissolve into absolute citizenry of what happens to them when they forget God and His commandments. Did not the Japanese worship the emperor, the German majority chose a "strong man" by using the name Hitler (now immortal), the Italians elected to go along with Mussolini—all to their destruction. And what did our own majority do but elevate Roosevelt and collectivists to the highest offices of the land, a sort of diety, blindly embarking upon a course of political and economic treachery? Wallace's plowing under program? Immorality which may yet prove to be our doom. We are only beginning to reap the whirlwind of our folly both domestically and internationally, of which the Korean mess is but a small example.

And yet there are people—supposedly Christians—who would seize upon one text in the Bible, "the powers that be are ordained of God," to misrepresent all this as meaning abject slavery to whoever rules and by whatever immorality such rule is maintained. It is a Christian forefather had believed that, then they would never have rebelled against their king—the king of England.

their military men command all the troops involved, including any Americans and Frenchmen who may be assigned to the theater. The force would be organized independently of Gen. Eisenhower's European command. Thus the British government could feel confident that Turkish and American strength would be employed in a fashion to protect British imperial interests in the middle east.

America already is committed by treaty to the defense of Britain, Australia and New Zealand dominions, as well as Japan and the Philippines. Now we are expected to add not only Turkey and Greece but Britain's colonies and dependencies in the world's population, is supposed to protect the whole noncommunist world against aggression.

This is all, among other things, the measure of the United Nation's failure. The collective security which U. N. was supposed to provide has been proved valueless. The charter said that all members were to make military forces available to U. N. for collective action. That didn't happen. The charter said that these forces were to be directed by a military staff subject to the direction of the security council. That didn't happen either because the Communists were the enemy

Don't Get The Wrong Idea, Harry

FAIR ENOUGH--PEGLER

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — The report of the President's committee is such a menacing attack on the rights of all citizens and on the integrity of the states, that Senator Frank P. Byrd and I, and I am sure many others in the South have made it the cause of a political revolution.

A serious attempt to impose its recommendations by force on the white people of the South would cause violent commotions. Charles E. Wilson, formerly president of General Electric and now our mobilizer for war in Washington, served as chairman of the committee.

Does the significance of this fact escape you? "It is reported that extraordinary pressure from the White House led you to accept this chairmanship. Did you decline the first invitation? Did you accept only after it was pointed out that enormous subsidies for atomic research might be switched to Westinghouse?"

These insinuations were based on firm statements made by the same intimate business associate of Wilson. Finally, the open letter noted that Wilson was about to take part in a series of broadcasts starting Feb. 10, 1948, "to carry the message of the report to the country." One Mitchell Grayson was to direct the series. Wilson then was warned that, according to public record, Grayson was a member of Unit 18, Section 30 of the Communist party in New York. Wilson nevertheless took part in these broadcasts.

OPS Amends Cafe Ruling

The regulation governing restaurant operators who sell commodities or services as well as food and beverages has been amended for clarification.

The new amendment to Ceiling Price Regulation 11, which became effective Aug. 1, requires that restaurants, establishments, which did not base separate records during the base period, to compute the food cost ratio, on or after August 1.

In the amendment, the definition of "restaurant" is reworded to make it clear that an establishment that sells food products solely for consumption off the premises is not a restaurant subject to the regulation.

East German Cycle Corps Is Organized

BERLIN (AP) — Squads of tough, hard-driving motorcycle cops are prowling the highways of East Germany. It is a new arm of the Communist police assigned for the moment to traffic control. The black-booted men, equipped with fast cycles and wearing sharp, black uniforms, look as though they could quickly be converted into an army courier service, however.

The Doctor Says

The first step in reducing is to lose weight—not just as a subject to conversation at the bridge table while munching cookies or chocolate. But a real wish to achieve a normal size and shape. A genuine desire is what is most often lacking; witness the constant search for an easy quick way to get it all over with.

What usually happens is that a fat person suddenly decides to do something about it. He starts doing rolls on the floor, goes to a massage parlor, sweats several times in a Turkish bath, or takes some diet for a couple of weeks. He or she then hopes to forget the whole matter and go on eating as before. No, to do the job requires intention, will power, stick-to-it-iveness and the knowledge of how to go about it and how much weight to lose.

National Whirligig

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — "Harry simply tried to bite off more power over more problems than Congress thinks any President of the United States has a right to chew!" That slightly irrelevant remark, which happens to be a "direct quote" from one of the leaders on Capitol Hill, explains most accurately why the 82nd session refuses to grant the White House the full amount of the economic power he says he needs to cope with the world emergency. Behind it lies the uneasy fact that such vast control over the nation's economy should not be given to any Chief Executive in time of peace.

CLIMAX — There have been too many instances in the opinion of a Congressional majority, of a tendency to make the "cold war" a pretext for extending federal controls more or less permanently into civilian fields. The suspicion of such a move was sharpened by the recent warning that the current crisis may last "for an indefinite period."

RESISTANCE — Such an inflationary outpouring of federal funds, together with defense demands on production capacities, would require a semi-permanent system of wage ceilings, material and output quotas, and many other restrictions which were not considered necessary even during World War II. The citizen would become, in

Chinese Commies Have Trouble With Part-time Soldiers

HONG KONG (AP) — Chinese Reds are having trouble with the part-time soldiers (militia) they had hoped to send on their way to the mainland for training. A dispatch from the Red main-land said "many Communist land reformers and peasant officials were killed by mutinous militia-men. The disorders at Kwailin, Nanning and Kweilin were big enough to alarm Communist provincial authorities."

Where the militia men prove untrustworthy, the Reds have sent in regular Army troops. Since the war started in Korea they have been short of trained troops. The dispatch said the Communist are trying to avert such revolts by providing more political training. Schools are planned at Kwailin and Nanning, and 5,000 militia men will be sent there at a time.

Defense Secretary Marshall's so-called "expeditors," consisting of weapons experts assigned to individual plants with government contracts, are said to be exceedingly helpful. If they had their way, the output of civilian goods in these factories would be reduced to a vanishing minimum.

In view of the revolutionary effect World Wars I and II had on the domestic structure, many M.C.'s fear that a third world war would lead directly to totalitarianism. But they intend to stave off that threat until it cannot be avoided, even if they have to ration Mr. Truman's diet of federal power.

The "Peace Ship"

Proudly we salute this great ship. She rules as mistress of the ocean waves. She is a formidable contender with any and all foes of the Stars and Stripes. The men who ride her decks in the interest of our nation have reason to rejoice in her equipment and prowess. She represents America's military might. She is a "Peace Ship."

On the decks of the "Mighty Mo" an American General received the surrender of Japan... announced the end of World War Two. He spoke words of lasting importance that day when he called all nations of the earth to join in promoting peace. He insisted that our chief preparation for the future must be a better state of mind... a truer way of thinking of human life as under the rule of God. He called mankind to a better "theology" and urged us to consider the will of God for all His children.

Thus ship and military official became a new witness for peace. God's way of peace is taught in your church. His way is simple. It is the way of love. Let the "Mighty Mo" be an inspiration for a united humanity, for a world of good will... may she be a symbol of Peace.

Processors Depending On Rising Wages

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK — (AP) — Bumper harvests are in prospect in many parts of the country. But food processors are counting on the rising total of personal incomes to keep sales volume high in the nation's grocery stores this winter.

Americans like to eat well. The better their incomes the more they spend, as a rule, at the grocery. Housewives swing up and down the food economy scale as their husbands' take-home pay rises or falls.

Full employment and higher wage scales, the food processors say, should take care of the new big crops, although a few see hope that abundance may mean that prices can drop nearer to the pre-Korean level.

Retail grocery sales are now reported running at a rate of about $3 billion. Even price resistance to some more expensive items hasn't cut total purchases of consumers back much this summer, spokesmen for the grocery trade say. The large retail units report volume running about seven percent above last year, largely reflecting post-Korean price rises.

Wholesale grocers, however, are having their inventory problems, similar to those in other industries, but not nearly so acute as in some. "The only burdensome inventories threatened in foods," says the American Institute of Food Distribution, "are among some canners and freezers. But analysis of the startling increase in consumer buying power emphasizes that any extreme pressure on food prices may be due to merchandising blunders."

Grocers are selling to so many more families with annual incomes over $3,000 that there has been an unexpected increase in demands for better quality foods in wider variety, the institute holds.

Federal statistics would seem to bear this out, both as to how incomes have grown and widened out through the economy, and as to how Americans spend their money in the grocery.

Ten years ago 5.8 million families had annual incomes of more than $3,000, but today 27 million families have. Even taking into account the higher prices, this still leaves a large total income to be spent at the grocery. And, also, there are 14 million more families now than in 1941 in the nation. That accounts for much of the growth in retail food store sales from $12.5 billion in 1941 to nearly $35 billion today.

Mental Patients Given Better Than Even Chance To Recover

By FRANK CAREY
WASHINGTON — (AP) — A hospital entering a mental hospital today has a better chance of getting well. That was one conclusion of a report by the council of state governments, the most comprehensive report yet made on the mental health programs of the 48 states.

For certain types of mental illness, the council reported, chances are "much better" than 50-50 for improvement or recovery.

Treatments are getting better, the council said, but it added that continuing research is needed to find even better ones.

In an effort to keep all hospitals up to date on research achievements — and help them pool their efforts to raise standards of treatment and care — the American Psychiatric Assn. (APA) has established a mental hospital service "clearing house."

Here's what the council of state governments found in its survey, in which 200 hospitals were queried and 190 replied:

In general, psychotherapy — interviews between doctor and patient — is given on an individual basis, but more than half the hospitals are using some form of "group psychotherapy." The latter sometimes takes the form of "psychodrama." That is, the patients "act out" their problems.

All but 10 hospitals reporting use "electric shock," the most commonly used of the "shock therapies," to some extent.

More than half the hospitals also use "insulin shock" to some extent. This is induced by injecting insulin in the patient.

More than half the hospitals employ "psychosurgery" on some of their patients. This specialized form of brain surgery consists in severing certain connections in the brain.

Most of the hospitals which don't use the shock treatments or psychosurgery said they would if they had adequate staffs and facilities.

Another therapy called "narcosis" — artificial prolonged sleep — is used by only 18 state mental hospitals. Many others said they would employ it if they were adequately staffed and equipped.

The council said there are indications of "a more humane and restricted use of restraints than has been the case in the past."

"Restraints" are devices like straight jackets.

Anton Karl, former pitcher for the Philadelphia Phillies and the Boston Braves, is now pitching for the New York Athletic Club team.

Scorpions Placed On 'Wanted' List

TEMPE, ARIZ. (AP) — Scorpions — deadly little insects common to the Southwest — are on the "wanted" list in Arizona.

In fact, Dr. H. L. Stahnke, director of the poisonous animals research laboratory at Arizona State College at Tempe, wants 14,000 of them, alive and kicking.

He needs their venom to start production of an anti-scorpion serum on a larger basis than it has ever been attempted here before.

"We have no serum for the state now, and will not have any until we are supplied with enough full-grown scorpions to start us in production," he said.

Stahnke, who developed a superior type of serum made by inoculating cats with scorpion poison, said his laboratory has not time or money to gather the scorpions.

He has suggested that the insects be placed in jars whenever they are found and the jars sent to him.

There are numerous types of scorpions, but only two in Arizona are considered deadly. Their sting is often fatal to small children.

Steel Fight Is Expected To Be Heated

NEW YORK — (AP) — The battle for steel is on. The oil, auto, and natural gas industries are all clamoring at once for a greater share. Numerous civilian goods industries would like more.

At stake — the industries say — is whether there'll be enough fuel oil and gas heat winter to ride out any prolonged cold spell, and keep all homes warm, all factories operating. There is even talk of possible rationing of fuel in some areas next winter.

Also at stake is whether you can put a gas burner in your new house. Oilmen say they must have more steel pipe if they are to find, refine and transport enough gasoline, home heating fuel oil, and oil for heavy industry to meet rising military and civilian demands.

The auto industry is cutting back production for lack of steel. And the number of idle workmen in Detroit continues to grow. Any lay-off there has been spread in the electrical appliance industry.

The Defense Production Administration says there just isn't enough of some kinds of steel products to go around and meet every one's full needs and desires.

The worst of the shortage, however, may be over much sooner than was first feared. Steelmen say production is increasing at such a rate—thanks to a record expansion program—that there will be plenty of steel for all in the first part of next year. Some have even predicted a surplus next year.

The next three months, though, will see real pinch, although steelmen think that from October on they'll be producing enough steel so that civilian goods industries may get larger quotas than this summer — but still not as much as they'd like.

Oilmen are clamoring for more steel pipe for which are made the pipes they need for their own record expansion program. Defense officials, however, say that less than 2.5 million tons will be available during the last quarter of the year, and that demand for it exceeds 10 million tons. The oil and natural gas industries were allocated 1.5 million tons of steel of all types, including plate, this quarter. The Petroleum Administration for Defense is in a hassle with the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Assn. over PAD's proposal to limit the supply of natural gas to new homes and new large-scale industrial users. The manufacturers say that would cut off 500,000 new homes and ruin their industry.

PAD says there isn't enough steel to put in the new pipes needed to carry the gas from Texas. It adds that last winter gas shortages closed some steel mills — and this winter all the steel that can be made is urgently needed.

"I can't see any increase in steel allocations for the automobile industry at this time," Labor Secretary Tobin told automakers in Detroit.

Ruth O'Daniel

Reds Accuse U.S. General

MOSCOW — (AP) — Pravda has accused U.S. Maj. Gen. John W. O'Daniel of spying for the United States when he was military attaché to the embassy here.

O'Daniel and his wife Ruth came here in 1948 and left last summer. He wrote in the April 28 issue of Collier's magazine which formed the basis of Pravda's attack.

In the article, critical of Russia, O'Daniel said: "But for all its advertised glory, Moscow first impressed me, and still does, as a vast slum."

(He said Russia's capital was an overcrowded city where the consumer finds little to consume. The writer said he had to hire a woman "whose primary duty was to wait out the interminable queues before the food stores to do the shopping.")

Pravda singled out the general's wife for attack, too. The Communist newspaper said: "She sniffed through all the food stores and critically commented on women's skirts and blouses." "They spied together," the newspaper added.

Postal Receipts Show Gain Here

A total gain of $3677.50 in this year over 1950 is shown in the third quarter of the calendar year at the Pampa Post Office, according to officials.

In July, 1950, postal receipts totaled $12,202.13, compared to the past month with $12,207.32, a gain of $5.19.

"Labor in Detroit faces a far greater future unemployment problem, a continuing problem, than it is now experiencing," Tobin added.

That was bad news for the thousands of workers laid off in the auto industry as it trims production to meet the reduced steel quotas which went into effect this month. Tobin estimated 70,000 are idle in Detroit now.

With only 2,480,000 tons of plate steel to pass around in the fourth quarter, the Defense Production Administration estimates major demands as follows: 240,000 tons for the armed services; 275,000 tons for construction of plants; 230,000 tons for heavy electric power equipment; 40,000 tons for building electric power plants; 101,000 tons for shipbuilding and 750,000 tons for the petroleum industry, including refineries and pipelines.

The scramble for that steel will not be hot this summer.

Department Says Better Crop Output Needed To Feed U.S.

By OVID A. MARTIN
WASHINGTON — (AP) — If you are worrying about whether the country can raise enough food for its growing population, the advice of the Agriculture Department is "stop it."

The department says some people have been "taking too seriously" a number of recently published stories predicting a hungry America.

It's true the U. S. population is increasing at the rate of 2,000,000 a year — or more than the combined populations of Vermont, Delaware, Wyoming, Montana and Idaho.

Furthermore, never has the foreign demand for American food been so large as in the past ten years. And no appreciable let-up in this demand is in sight.

Yet, the department says, there is room for vast expansion in farm production. Virtually none of this expansion can come from new crop land. Little or none is available.

It can come, the agency says, from better use of land already in production.

The department estimates that by using known scientific farming practices, farmers can raise 40 to 50 percent more wheat, corn and oats on land already used for these crops.

In the case of wheat, that means the country could feed a population more than twice its present size if it shipped none abroad. At present levels of export, it could feed around 70 percent more persons at home.

In the case of corn and oats, estimated possible increases in production would mean sharply larger supplies of meat, dairy and poultry products. These grains are the backbone of livestock production.

The department figures there are even greater possibilities of increasing production of pasture and hay — also important raw material for livestock products. It says livestock feed fields from pastures and hay could be increased from 60 to 70 percent.

Yields of potatoes and other vegetable crops from acreage now used it says, could be boosted 20 to 30 percent.

The department says the most important way to boost food output is by gradually building up the soil through conservation practices.

Chinese Armies Said On The Move

TAIPEH, Formosa — (AP) — The National Defense Ministry has reported elements of four Red Chinese armies (corps) are moving toward Yunnan province, recently invaded from Burma by Nationalist General Li Mi.

The armies were identified as the 13th, 14th, 15th and 16th. Their total strength is estimated here at 100,000 men, but how many men are being sent to Yunnan is not known.

The defense ministry spokesman said part of the 15th Army is in Korea now.

The four armies belong to the command of the Gen. Chen Keng. He is deputy commander of the Chinese Second Field Army, which has an overall strength of 250,000 men.

China Union Press, a small Nationalist news agency, said the 13th, 14th and 15th armies had been transferred suddenly from the Yunnan-Indochina border area. The 16th, it said, was en route from Kweichow province, which flanks Yunnan on the northeast.

China Union Press claimed the movement of the first three armies had eased the Red threat to Indochina.

The defense ministry spokesman emphasized that Li Mi right now is capable of nothing more than guerrilla warfare against the Reds.

Old Timers Will Meet At Miami

MIAMI — (Special) — The third annual Old-Timers' Reunion will be held here Saturday, according to Judge Woody Pond, chairman of arrangements.

Mrs. Mattie Shackleton will be in charge of registering visitors. Among the guests expected are Judge Marvin Jones, Washington, D. C., and Judge Henry Bishop, Amarillo.

Other committee members assisting with registration are Mr. and Mrs. Leo Paris, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Mathers, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lard and J. V. Coffey.

Fourteen committees have been appointed to handle arrangements of the reunion. A basket lunch will be held on the Red Seitz ranch, north of town, and an open invitation has been extended to area residents, Judge Pond said.

At 2 p.m. a crew calling contest will be held with $100 going to first place winner in the men's division.

Orphans Have 300 Mothers

LEVITTOWN, N.Y. — (AP) — The 120 boys of far-away St. Anthony's Orphanage in famine ridden India aren't orphans any more — they now have 301 friendly foster-mothers.

Three hundred housewives members of the Rosary Confraternity of St. Bernard's Roman Catholic Church in this postwar suburban community, "adopted" the youngsters in response to an appeal for aid from the director of the orphanage in Alleppey India. Each housewife will buy an extra package of food on her weekly shopping tour. The food will be collected and shipped to the orphanage once a month.
