Television Just Around Heaviest Blow

Just around the corner, there is television for you -next year, that is.

It will be sometime after September when work on laying the coaxial cable along Highway 86-across the Texas Panhandle-will be started by Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. The cable is also scheduled to be completed before year's end, it was learned late yesterday from reliable SWBT sources.

The full course of the cable is also to include Oklahoma. But, the source added, the underground line is not included in the 1951 budget for the Sooners. However, it is to be in the 1952 budget for that state and will be completed sometime next year.

Although television reception is possible in the Panhandle now, installation of that cable will bring even better video reception.

Along with the coaxial cable will go four additional repeater stations between Pampa and Jericho. The cable and repeater stations' presence will also affect radio and video reception for other nearby Panhandle towns.

George Newberry, manager of the local SWBT exchange, was out of town on vacation and was not available yesterday for additional information on the WASHINGTON — (P) — "U-3" Bermuda grass, a highly successful turf grass selected at Sa-vernah, Ga., 12 years ago, can compete successfully with crabgrass in lawns, according to scientists in the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

"U.3," which is the name used by scientists to identify the grass, must have a sunny lo-cation to thrive, but its resistance to cold has resulted in good turf at locations well-outside the recognized Bermuda belt. The men who have been test-

The Sky's The Limit

Mr. Truman's lieutenants in the were originally deposited with the military department have brought in a budget calling for the expenditure of almost 61 billion dollars in the year that began July Yet it is not all that the military asks. Expenses of prosecuting the war in Korea, or of maintaining a garrison on watch a cease-fire occurs, are additional. So are expenses of keeping troops in Germany and Japan

The Kofean war, if it goes on vill cost another 7 billion dollars during the year, according to Army Secretary Pace. Beyond all of this, the administration is seeking another 8 1-2 billion in foreign economic and military aid and 4 1.2 billion for military construction in the United States and Totaled up, these outlays ag-gregate 81 billion dollars at a maximum and 74 billion dollars at a minimum, representing the cost to the groaning taxpayer of New Deal world saving. The "ordinary" expenses of the governwhich under this spendthrift administration are extraordinary enough in themselves, ran last year at the rate of almost 22 billion dollars, and Mr. Truman contemplates no reduction in the year now running.

Explaining Results of Tax Supported Schools

I want to reproduce further an article written by Frank Chodorov that appeared in Human Events, published at 1710 Rhode Island Avenue N.W. Washington 6, D.C. under the heading of "A Way of Divorcement," referring to tax supported schools. I quote:

"When the child becomes a sophomore he first learns that 'rights' are merely permissions granted to the individual by a policeman, the State. If the sophomore should ask where the State gets the 'rights' it hands out, or withdraws, he might be told that the 'rights' But, then, the question comes up where did the individual get the 'rights' in the first place? There is no answer except the unsatisfactory one that the fellow with the big club gives or withdraws 'right' at will, simply because of the club And the residual impression is that there is something divine in power.

It is a religious impression.
"A more important religious value that plagues secular education is the one we call 'natural law.' When education starts, the mother finds escape from the interminable 'why' by replying; 'that's the way it always is.' She's got to take recourse to that value acceptance after exhausting the plausible explanations, like stork brought the baby, or the chair that hurt the child is a bad chair. Later on, the teacher goes to 'the nature of things' for her final explanation; or, she might say, 'it is the will of God.' The final answer to all questions is an assumption.

"But, the college professor is not so naive. He flatly declares there is no such animal as 'natural law,' that it is just an old-fashioned myth. The fact is, says the professor, that science is uninhibited by any rules of nature. Given enough time, the scientist will figure out answers to all the unanswered questions. That, of course, is an unprovable assumption, and calls for an act of faith, in the infallibility and omniscience of science.

The rejection of the theory of 'natural law,' however, has a very important bearing on our lives, besides opening the way for a new religious idea. If, for instance, there are no 'natural laws' in eco nomics-no fixed and immutable casual onships — then what's wrong conomic planning? The all-important matter of making a living can be manipulated to bring about any results you want, and nature be damned.

"To take another example, from you cannot do anything about changing the procedure. That is, society is not an artifact. On the other hand, the planning pragmatists come up with a Morgenthau

"But, have we eliminated rewhen we reject 'natural law'? Not placed one unprovable axiom with have faith in something else, and out to be political power. Even the political power; it can do all that God is presumed to be capable of

DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

The Declaration of Independence is a wonderful document. It

short it is the Christian princigovernment, the faith with works. The Declaration is our fundamental principle of government. The Declaration came before the Constitution or any other governit is vastly superior to the Constitution in basic fundamentals.

Independents - REVOLUTION-ARY fighters - signed the Decclaration. No one else had the nerve to do so. The government (at that time British) placed a big price on the heads of anyone rash enough to defy constituted authority and stand up for RIGHTS, the rights of man. It wasn't a question of what a majority thought or whether a thing were expedient or not It was an issue of truth --- self-evident truth. It is wrong to commit murder. That's self-evident truth whether a king says it's right or a majority votes for it or not. The truth is that man has a right to be free and independent whether someone else agrees with it or not.

Originally God had laid these same axioms down in the Bible in the shape of Divine Law, which is the same as natural laws but by the same token anyone who violated them paid the penalty. It was just one of those immuttable things - and still is. When God gave men the power to "choose ye this day whom ye will serve" that was certainly giving them freedom to choose .There was no force started. Those who broke the laws were the force starters.

The Declaration of Independence modeled after Divine Law, fol-lowed the same idea. The natural law which says if you eat poison or inject it into your bloodstream the penalty is sickness or death is just as inviolatable when we apply it to social relations and declare that you can't neigh after harlots without debauching your mind and more than likely getting syphilis in your blood. BUT YOU ARE FREE TO CHOOSE. Moses of old was no fool when he advised the Israelites to steer clear of pork. Medical men of today are treating a lot of patients who are infested with incurable trichina worms because of pork eating and the most liberal of them solemnly warn you to cook that ham or bacon mighty thoroughly throwing it down your hatch.

Declaration of Independence, in effect, says that we have the right to be free and independent. If a majority votes against it or some monopoly deprives us of freedom, the truth is still there A right is a truth. It is immutable and everlasting. It never changes. It was wrong to steal the fruit bor's in Moses' day. It still is. It always has been and always will be. The fact that a majority of the American people have, through their representatives perhaps the representatives, ignoring the people's wishes) voted confiscatory taxation or in many ways robbed people who have developed or earned wealth, is neither here nor there. They still had no RIGHT to do it, to steal, by legislation, or otherwise. Instead of going along with a Divine law - violating element it seems to me that moral men should educate others to bring them into line with human rights or truth. This calls for revolutionary-mindness, the same spirit of standing for right that the early American Revolutionaries had, Revolutions need not always be violent ones. They are an education in principles. They are progressive and always on the move, just as a wheel on an auto performs a complete revolution when it turns and is likely to rust out if it STOPS revolutionizing and maintains a status quo.

Raschi had little trouble in posting his 17th triumph of the season and his 20th in 22 decisions over the A's in his career. The big righthander yielded the first run of the game in the fourth on Dave Philley's single; a walk and rookie Lou Limmer's two-out double. After that, however. Raschi blnaked the A's on two single.

A collision at home plate in the third inning cost the Athletics the services of Joe Tipton, first string catcher, for at least ten days. His left ankle was severely sprained when Jerry Coleman, Yankee shortstop, crashed into him while trying to score.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS

Im back and how . . . if you will just disregard all the statements you have sent me for what I owe you. I'll do the same . .
