Chinese Reds Push Bridgehead In Teeth Of Fierce UN Attacks

Johnson Flays Tin Producers For 'Gouging'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) Saturday accused tin producers—particularly in British Malaya—of trying "to soak" the United States with exorbitant prices. "We feel that the tin producers have been taking advantage of a desperate world situation," Johnson said. "While the times call for sacrifices, the tin mining industry has been insistent upon guarantees for the perpetuation of its most prosperous period."

Johnson heads a preparedness subcommittee of the Senate Armed Services Committee. His group recommended March 4 that the government stop buying tin through strategic metal—until suppliers quit "gouging." The committee reported that prices soared more than 150 percent during the Korean war. Buying was stopped, and prices at Singapore soon dropped from $1.75 a pound to $1.35 but the U. S. is still staying out of the market. Johnson revived the issue Saturday by releasing an exchange of letters between him and P. S. Miller, of New York vice president of the Pacific Tin Consolidated Corp. He said the only American tin producer operating in Malaya, a British crown colony and chief source of tin which must be imported by this country. Miller said he had discussed the committee report "with leading English and Chinese tin producers from Malaya" and had found no proof of charges there had been restriction of production, boosting of prices, and a failure to cooperate in the common defense against communism. He also quoted an editorial from "The Straits Times of Singapore" which said in part: "What Malaya wants, both for rubber and tin, is a reasonable prospect of a prosperous stabilized future. There is some safeguard against a collapse of prices when stockpiling ends. Malaya owes America nothing."

Hemphill County Seeks To Enter Pampa Stock Show

Representatives from Canadian and Hemphill counties will be here Monday noon for a meeting with directors of the chamber of commerce and board of city development and members of the agricultural committee. The out-of-town group will discuss the possibility of including Hemphill county in the annual spring top o' Texas Junior Livestock show, which now includes Gray, Roberts, Wheeler and Carson counties. Various committee reports will be heard at the meeting, according to Gene Fatheree, president of the local chamber. Representatives from the Celanese Corp. and Brown and Root Construction Co. will be special guests at the meeting. The regular monthly directors meeting will be held at the Palm Room instead of the Schaefer hotel to facilitate the large attendance, Fatheree said.

One-Year-Olds Are Top Polio Victims

AUSTIN (AP)—One-year-olds being the most common Texas polio victims last year, the State Health Department reported Saturday. Out of 210 Texans who died of polio in 1950, 20 were one-year-olds. Infants less than a year old and three-year-olds were the next most susceptible groups, with 17 deaths each. Polio deaths began to taper off sharply past the 30-year-old mark, the health department commented.

16th Corps Set For Active Duty

TOKYO (AP)—Reactivation of the 16th Corps, commanded by Gen. Roderick E. Allen, Palestine, Tex., was announced Saturday by the Far East command. Allen is an honor graduate of Texas A&M, which has awarded him an honorary degree of doctor of laws. He came to Japan last June. He served in general headquarters as chief of staff for Korean operations, deputy chief of staff of the UN command and deputy chief of staff of the Far East command.

Marshall Says UN Moving To Success In Korea War

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Marshall declared today "we are moving toward success" in ending Red Chinese aggression in Korea, but warned that Russia is the "real opponent" who could plunge the world into war. On the sixth day of his marathon testimony in the Senate's MacArthur hearings, he declared the Red Chinese are "losing many thousands of people with each operation."

"We are destroying them, in one sense, day by day," he said. But he declared that Russia might march against western Europe at any moment. And he stuck steadfastly to the administration thesis that the risk of provoking Russian intervention in Asia forbids the high command to follow the strategy advocated by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

MacArthur was deposed for disagreeing with the administration and publicly advocating such steps as a blockade of Red China, bombing of Manchurian bases and the use of Chiang Kai-shek's nationalist troops. The Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committee are inquiring into the whole momentous issue. Marshall took the witness chair Monday and in the past six days an estimated 200,000 words have entered the official record. He will resume Monday at 9 a.m. EST. Senator Long (D-La.) posed to Marshall the great overshadowing question whether this country and its allies could win a war with Russia if it started now. Marshall replied: "I don't want to talk about it or the record, and I would rather hesitate to talk about it off the record."

But he did say at another point that the advantage an aggressor gains by launching a surprise attack is outweighed in the long run by "a much greater disadvantage."

"It should be apparent before the world," he said, "that if they do seize this advantage, they are going to pay a terrible price, absolutely and certainly."

Long remarked that "even General MacArthur has not recommended that we attempt to actually destroy the Chinese Government; so in so far as destroying the aggressor, we were at one time attempting to destroy the North Korean government as an aggressor, but we are not trying to destroy the Chinese Communist government, as a —"

"We are trying to destroy the North Korean army, and pacify Korea," Marshall interrupted.

As for possible war with Russia, Long said: "Of course what you are hopeful of is that we will be able to prevent a war that sooner or later we will be able to work it out without any way at all — that is our real objective."

"That is correct," Marshall told him.

Marshall declared that Moscow could make the Chinese Reds call off their aggression "in a moment" if it desired — and that the Chinese couldn't fight without the direct support of the Russians.

Questioned by Senator Lodge (R-Mass), Marshall said the bulk of Red China's war material is coming from Russia.

He testified he believes the United Nations allies now are contributing an increased number of troops to the Korean fight and "I think we have good prospects for further increases."

Previous testimony has indicated the UN members have about 70,000 troops in Korea while the United States may have some 350,000 in the entire theater. But censors deleted about 80 words of Marshall's remarks after he spoke of the prospect of troop increases.

Marshall repeated that he feared the program proposed by Gen. Douglas MacArthur would risk a third world war.

But he said while a full-scale war with Russia is "a very dangerous possibility," he does not think it "is inevitable."

Infantrymen Fail To Stall Advances

TOKYO (AP)—Chinese Reds expanded a three-mile-wide bridgehead south of the Choyang River in Central Korea Saturday in the teeth of fierce allied air, ground and artillery attacks. American infantry battled six hours in a vain effort to repulse the threat to out-flank strategic Chunchon from the southeast. Then the Americans broke contact and withdrew. About 1,000 Reds speared the Communist thrust across the river with mortars and automatic weapon fire. Allied artillery hammered at an estimated division of Chinese Reds also reported south of the Choyang and east of Chunchon. Two North Korean regiments were farther east near Inje.

In the west, the Reds laboriously hauled heavy artillery into positions some 20 miles or less north of Seoul. That sector was relatively quiet Saturday.

Clouds of smoke from smudge pots and burning timbers rose over Red concentrations all along the war front. It was an old device to conceal preparations for an expected general attack.

Allied war planes darted through the smoke screen to slash at troop concentrations, pack mule trains, and heavy movements by trucks, motorcycles and oxen carts.

Allied pilots reported Communist troops spread out for miles along the North Korean hinterland.

The Reds marched about 50 yards apart to present more difficult targets for planes.

They were headed south and east from the Communist collecting points above Hwachon, 15 miles north of Chunchon.

Chunchon, now a no-man's-land eight miles south of the 38th Parallel and 45 miles northeast of Seoul, controls rail and road networks radiating through Korea's mountainous center.

There was no indication when or where the Reds would strike next. When the present buildup movement stops, a renewed Red assault may quickly follow.

The main movement behind the Red front Saturday was to the east above Chunchon. Red forces crammed convoys from Hwachon toward Yangju at the eastern tip of the big Hwachon reservoir — third largest in all Korea.

An allied officer told AP correspondent Jim Becker that the Reds appeared to be using the same tactics which preceded their April 22 offensive.

That attack was shattered in less than a week, with Red casualties estimated at 75,000 about one-fourth of the men they used.

Answer To Housing Here Is Sought

Answers to the local housing question are being sought by members of a sub-committee of the chamber of commerce housing committee, who this week are making a survey to find how many homes are under construction and how many rental units are available. A meeting of builders, contractors, lumber yard managers, supply store managers selling building materials, and anyone interested in building will be held Tuesday, May 22, in the city commission room, City Hall. Lynn Boyd, chairman of the sub-committee, explained that Pampa has a critical housing problem that must be met. Complete information on the survey will be given at the Tuesday meeting and Boyd said: "It is hoped that information from the survey will show the need for local housing and that it will be helpful to the builders and contractors in solving the housing question."

Members of the housing sub-committee are Boyd, Jake Garman, E. L. Campbell, Ben Guill and Gene Fatheree.

Says India Playing Russia Against U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Cox (D-Ga.) accused India Saturday of playing Russia against the United States in an effort to "blackmail" Congress into a free gift of 2,000,000 tons of grain. His charge was the first round in what is expected to be a no-holds-barred foreign policy debate when the grain bill comes to the House floor. After twice shelving the bill, leaders have scheduled it for a showdown test Tuesday. House members were cautious about predicting the outcome of a vote on the administration proposal for $190,000,000 in famine relief for India. Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio), Republican foreign policy spokesman in the House, said he thought some kind of a grain bill will be passed — "but how many strings are going to be tied to it is another question." Indian people were reported from New Delhi to be greatly pleased by word that Russia is sending 50,000 tons of wheat to help meet the hunger situation. Skilful Red propaganda was credited with making this sound a lot more important than the fact that the U. S. has been sending grain to India at the rate of more than 100,000 tons a month. Cox and Vorys both expressed their views to a reporter. Cox predicted the grain-aid bill would be killed, or at least changed to put the assistance on a straight loan basis with India obliged to repay in strategic materials to the extent possible. (The Russian deal is also expected to be on a barter basis.) Charging that Russia is "the dominating influence in India right now," Cox said: "India is using this situation to blackmail us into giving them what, if we don't give it to them, they say they will get it from Russia. We are simply following the old policy of appeasing everything that's Russian." Prime Minister Nehru's statement two weeks ago to the effect India would refuse grain if "political strings" were attached stirred up so much House resentment that leaders postponed consideration of the bill.

The boys and their leaders began arriving Friday afternoon. A full program, similar to the recent one at Camp Ki-O-Wah, is being carried out and includes several contests in which the boys will be graded.

Texas Allowable Up 8,889 Barrels

AUSTIN — (AP) — Average calendar day oil allowable for Texas rose 8,889 barrels last week as the number of producing wells grew to 127,549.

Allowable as of Saturday was 2,950,678 barrels, compared to 2,941,789 a week earlier. The number of wells was up 75, the railroad commission stated.

The week's drilling activity continued the highly active pattern set so far this year. It was marked with a sizeable number of dry holes.

The commission received 407 drilling applications over the week, pushing the year's total to 7,613. At this time last year only 5,833 applications had come in.

AIR FORCE

53 MIG-15 jets were destroyed, 17 probably destroyed and 103 damaged, all in air combat.

2. In accomplishing this, FEAF losses to enemy action (enemy planes and anti-aircraft and other ground fire) totaled 212 planes. U.S.A.F. personnel losses through May 4 amounted to 563.

But in the same period, the U.S. Air Force claims to have inflicted 108,000 casualties on enemy troops and to have destroyed or damaged "well over 1,000 tanks," 2,000 field guns, more than 11,000 railroad cars and 527 locomotives.

Weyland, without attempting to make statistical estimates, was a certain there has been a substantial buildup of Red air strength.

REDS

U.S. Eighth Army communique Saturday night told of Communist concentration: "Including artillery and pack trains" hit by allied air and artillery north-northwest of Uijongbu. American patrols above Uijongbu, which is 11 miles north of Seoul, reported about 200 Reds and an unknown number of artillery pieces in the area.

Patrols were active in the Popyung and Kopyong areas, 15 to 32 miles northeast of Seoul. A dozen U.S. F-86 Sabre Jets tangled briefly with 16 Russian-built MIGs some 30 miles southeast of the Yalu River boundary Saturday.

One MIG was damaged while the rest streaked for home. All of the Sabres returned without damage.

Other Fifth Air Force fighters and light bombers flew 612 sorties Saturday and claimed 400 Reds killed or wounded. The Eighth Army estimated enemy casualties Friday were 850 dead or wounded.

Korea Fight Stirs Armistice Question

WASHINGTON — (AP) — What is an armistice and who should propose it? Some thousands of words on this question have been involved in the Senate hearings on the ouster of Gen. Douglas MacArthur. But so far, no one has noted that there exists a long-established and reasonably definitive set of international group rules on the forms and manner of arriving at truces. They appear in the "Rules of Land Warfare" which most nations have used for decades as a handbook on battlefield behavior. The administration has said one of the factors considered when President Truman fired the Far East supreme commander was MacArthur's proposal to the military commander of the Communist forces for an armistice. Secretary of Defense Marshall has testified that what disturbed President Truman and the State Department was that MacArthur's proposal was made just when the government here said it was ready to come forth with its own proposal. In his testimony on Wednesday, Marshall quoted MacArthur as saying last March 24 that "I stand ready at any time to confer in the field with the commander in chief of the enemy forces in an earnest effort to find any military means whereby the realization of the political objectives of the United Nations in Korea, to which no nation may justly take exception, may be accomplished without further bloodshed."

What isn't quite clear is which of two forms of armistice MacArthur was proposing. The "Rules of Land Warfare" which are based on various treaties and conventions signed early in the century at The Hague and at the Geneva conferences, says this about the forms of truce: "General armistices — General armistices are of a combined political and military character. They usually precede the negotiations for peace, but may be concluded for other purposes. Due to its political importance, a general armistice is concluded by the governments concerned or by commanders in chief, and is subject to ratification by their governments in every case. General armistices are frequently arranged by diplomatic representatives." "Local armistices — a local armistice suspends operations between certain portions of the belligerents at war." A Dutch sloop carrying $18,000,000 in cash sank off Lewes, Del., in 1788, with only a few coins ever being recovered.

Five years ago — The season's largest crowd, 68,193 watched the Boston Red Sox beat the New York Yankees, 3-1 at the Yankee Stadium.

Ten years ago — Joey Archibald outpointed Harry Jeffra in a 15-round fight at Washington and was recognized by some states as the featherweight champion.

Twenty years ago — The Philadelphia Athletics led the American League for the first time this season as Lefty Grove beat the White Sox, 5-2.

ODESSA — The Odessa Bronchos rallied for two runs in the last half of the seventh inning here Friday afternoon after two were out to defeat the Amarillo Sandies, 4-3. The win gave the best two-out-of-three series to the Bronchos, and along with it the District 1-AA baseball crown.

In bi-district play the Bronchos, one of the top schoolboy teams in the state, will meet the El Paso Thomas Jefferson club to see who is going to Austin.

The longest losing streak by a minor league club occurred in 1923 and the dubious honor goes to Muskogee of the Southwestern League. Only the close of the season halted this streak at 38 straight losses.

Cooper — gone Boswell — back

Buff Gridders Prepare For Spring Intrasquad Battle

CANYON — (WTNS) — One of the most sorely-missed players in the West Texas State intrasquad football game next Thursday night in Buffalo Stadium at Canyon will be Pete Cooper, ex-Pampa Harvester and star defensive back on last season's frosh squad. Cooper, hailed as one of the most outstanding backs to enroll at West Texas in recent years, left school during the second semester to join the services.

However, Pampa fans planning to attend the free grid attraction, will see an ex-Harvester who is rated as one of the most improved linemen in the Buffalo camp. Paul Boswell, a starter on last season's frosh team, will see plenty of action from his right tackle post. The big Pampa now tips the scales at 210 pounds.

Coach Frank Kimbrough has on his hands an open and hot race for every position on next fall's starting lineup. The most nearly secured posts are held by Joe Spann, returning starter at end from Monday, and 220-pound all-conference center Bob Kelley, Bovina senior.

"Our line will be tougher than last year's," said Kimbrough this week, "but our backfield needs a lot of work. Since freshmen will be eligible for varsity competition next year, it may be entirely possible for one of them to land on the starting team."

Chief worry for Kimbrough is a man to take the place of star quarterback Gene Mayfield. Mayfield, now on the coaching staff at West Texas, is hard at work with the four varsity candidates trying to whip them into shape for the hard grind next fall. Now under strict supervision are Lonnie Rice, Dimmitt junior; Joe Means, Phillips senior; Tommy Sherrill, Sudan sophomore and Bobby Lane, Turkey sophomore.

The quarter question, as well as many more, should be given a partial answer when the two squads tangle at 8 o'clock next Thursday night.

Gold Sox Have A Win Streak Going

(By The Associated Press) Amarillo has a winning streak going. The Gold Sox from the Panhandle of Texas have won two in a row in the West Texas-New Mexico League. That may not be such a long winning streak but it is to Amarillo. They had won only three games out of 17, before starting it.

Friday night the Gold Sox made it two in a row over Clovis with a 4-1 triumph. The rain washed out Abilene at Lubbock and cut the Lamesa at Pampa game to six innings but the rain that stopped the game was a light shower compared to the flood of runs Pampa had poured across the plate before the rain. The score was 24-3.

Albuquerque defeated Borger, 10-3 to complete the schedule. Don Centrell notched his third win of the season and snapped a two game losing streak in pitching Albuquerque to its victory. Pampa bashed out 19 hits and was helped considerably by wildness and four Borger errors in the abbreviated contest.

Amarillo 011 001 020—5 11 2
Clovis 400 000 000—4 8 1
Fletcher and Mulcahy; Meyers, Borrego and Calo.
Borger 101 010 000—3 8 4
Abu. 010 332 01x—10 10 1
Cluley, Blumenthal, Perry and Secrett; Cantrell and Hinson.

Bill Henry stopped Fort Worth with four hits and George Brown's home run in the eighth inning broke a 2-2 deadlock. Oklahoma City shot ahead early, scoring five runs in the first two innings and stayed ahead the rest of the way.

Houston scored two runs after two were out in the ninth inning to lick the Oilers. Frank Shotner and Jerry Witte singled home the telling runs.

Another Brilliant Effort

(By The Associated Press) "I don't pick anybody to beat the White Sox," said how Paul Richards, manager of the Chicago White Sox, sized up the American League race opening day. So far he's right.

Chicago's freshman manager is proving he can win in the majors as well as in the minors. Richards served a brilliant minor league apprenticeship that included stops at Atlanta, Buffalo and Seattle.

A manager of the John McGraw school, the driving leader has his White Sox in the thick of the American League pennant race. Mailed as a developer of pitchers, especially in the case of Detroit's Hal Newhouse, Richards also is gaining recognition as a smart hombre when it comes to trading.

Richards was firmly behind last winter's trade that sent starting pitcher Ray Scarborough and Bill Wright to the Boston Red Sox for outfielder Al Zarillo and pitchers Joe Dobson and Dick Littlefield.

"There goes the pennant," groaned the rival American League clubs. So far, Richards has come out on top in that deal. Zarillo plugged a gap in right field and today is tied for the league lead with 18 runs batted in.

Dobson failed to impress until Friday night when he missed turning in the second no-hit no-run game of the season. Scarborough has only one victory to show and Wright has failed to crash the winner's circle, losing three decisions.

Dobson, 24-year-old righthander, pitched the Sox into a third-place tie with Cleveland by beating the Indians 12-1, before 17,138 fans at Comiskey Park.

Dobson had a no-hitter until the eighth inning when pinch-hitter Bob Avila broke the spell with a two-out double. The Indians scored in the ninth on two walks and an error on a potential double play ball.

The Sox hammered Early Wynn, Gromek and George Zuzerik for 14 hits, wrapping up the decision with a seven-run spree in the seventh off Gromek. Ed Robinson, former Indian, featured the explosion with a two-out, two-run homer. Minoos drove in two runs on three hits.

Dobson's feat was the third one-hitter of the season. Con Marcone of Washington performed the trick against Philadelphia last month and Sal Maglie of the New York Giants broke the spell in Pittsburgh last week. Cliff Chambers of Pittsburgh pitched a no-hit-no-run victory over Boston last Sunday.

Aggie Grid Staff

(By The Associated Press) COLLEGE STATION — (AP) — Texas A&M's football staff has been completed with the signing of Henry Foldberg and Paul McMurry.

Foldberg, former Dallas High School and West Point all-American, will be end coach. McMurry will be line coach.

Ray George is the new head football coach. Gil Steinke, Dalton Faircloth and James (Klepto) Holmes are others on the staff.

Foldberg played at A&M in 1941 and 1942 before entering the U. S. military academy. An end, he later played with Brooklyn and Chicago's Hornets in pro football and has been on the coaching staffs at Miami, Baylor and Purdue.

McMurry, Rio Hondo, Texas, graduated from Southern California this year. He layed guard for the Trojans for three years.

WARREN'S WARMUP

THE CONVERSATION got around to Mickey Mantle, as most clubhouse baseball conversation will these days. "Golly, he went from first to third twice the past couple of days on a bun! He sure must be fast," said somebody.

"Fast!" snorted Grover Selts. "That's nothing. I used to do it all the time. I'll guarantee you one thing, I could outrun him when I was in my prime. There's nothing to going from first to third on a bun if you got some speed."

The curtain dropped like a wet towel, though, when aging Gordon Nell said "I couldn't get myself to hit the ball easy enough so I had to stop at first base."

Among those lettering at Baylor University recently was ex-Harvester Derral Davis, who gained many starting assignments on the Bear's cage squad last winter as a sophomore.

THINGS ARE usually bad enough in the Army when you have your first sergeant cursing you out, sending you on unnecessary details such as protracted "From Here to Eternity." But when you get out of the Army, and your top-kick is right there still screaming at you in your civilian livelihood, things are really rough.

But that's the situation of Steve Lagomasino, Albuquerque Duke hurler. Steve was a member of the famous 52nd Airborne Division, and for a top sarge he had none other than the gravel-voiced umpire of the WT-NM League, Jim Welch.

THE OFFICIAL averages of the WT-NM show the following leaders in the batting department for all games through May 7: percentage, Rahmes, Abilene, 45%; runs, Murray, Amarillo, 25; hits, Rahmes and Schmidt, Abilene, 31; total bases, Howard, Amarillo, 53; doubles, Murray, 10; triples, Haley, Albuquerque, Santiago, Lamesa, and Hochstatter, Lubbock, 3; home runs, Howard, 8; stolen bases, Murray, 5; walks, Bushong, Clovis, 20; runs batted in, Howard, 25; strike outs, Sargent, Lubbock and Dobkowski, Lubbock, 11.

Pitching leaders are: percentage, Priest, Albuquerque, 1.000; games, Myers, Clovis, 8; complete games, Schmidt, Abilene and Dial, Pampa, 4; bases on balls, Pampa, 39; strike outs, Dial, Pampa, 28.

Last chance for those interested in playing softball in the industrial league being formed now is tomorrow night. A meeting is to be held in the city court room at 7:30. It's the final chance for a team to enter.

The Kiwanis Church softball program is due to get started soon. The diamonds are being re-located on the Hobart Street Park area. A lighting expert surveyed the layout last week and is drawing up plans for the layout of the diamonds and the light poles.

CAN A FELLOW run the bases faster in the normal manner from home to first and around than from home to third and in reverse? This question came up Friday night when the diamonds are being re-located on the Hobart Street Park area. A lighting expert surveyed the layout last week and is drawing up plans for the layout of the diamonds and the light poles.

Ray Moore of Southern Methodist was third with 201 and Dan Jenkins of Texas Christian wound up fourth with 304.

By TED KESTING

Every time we publish a picture of a man standing in a boat, a lot of people write and indignantly denounce such a practice, saying that you should never stand up in a boat.

These sincere people overlook a number of good reasons why there are occasions when standing in a boat is almost a necessity. Willard Crandall, our boating editor says: "Standing in a boat is something to be universally condemned, as is rocking a boat. Even with canoes there are occasions when it is not only safe but perfectly sensible to stand. Commercial fishermen often stand up in their narrow gories to pull in nets, often in rough water. The dugout canoe of the Seminole Indian in Florida rolls more easily than a birch-bark canoe. And the birch-bark canoe is less steady than today's factory - designed canoes. Still, the Seminoles stand and pole their dugouts."

"Here's angling editor Jason Lucas' opinion on the subject: "I've been in and around boats all my life and I've never heard of one nonintoxicated fisherman being drowned because of standing in a boat. Fact is, most experienced fishermen do, habitually or occasionally, stand in a boat. One may do it to stretch his legs or save turning the boat to cast behind him. There's no particular reason why he shouldn't stand — since he knows when it is safe to do so. If the boat is narrow and unstable, he probably won't stand. But the boat is wide in the beam and stable, a person of very moderate experience should be safe in standing in it."

Naturally, circumstances vary. Only a foolish person would stand in an overloaded boat, for example. But, as the Outboard Boating Club of America advises, there are even more important things to worry about — such as heeding weather signs and always stepping into a boat rather than jumping into it.

"A good boatman piloting a good boat under good conditions could seldom come to trouble by standing up in a boat," says James G. Hildebrand, publicity director of the Outboard Boating Club.

Rice Golfer Keeps SWC Championship

COLLEGE STATION — (AP) — Buddy Weaver of Rice stowed away his second Southwest Conference golf championship trophy today.

The Rice senior Friday repeated with the title in decisive fashion as he won the 72-hole tournament with 288 strokes, eight less than runner-up Wesley Ellis of Texas.

Weaver had rounds of 73-72-73-70, with the closing 70 being a competitive record for the 6,715 yard Texas A&M College course. It was one under par.

Ray Moore of Southern Methodist was third with 201 and Dan Jenkins of Texas Christian wound up fourth with 304.

$288,500 To Save A Few Minutes?
On May 26, voters will be called on to approve or reject a $288,500 bond issue, designed to provide improvements to Pampa Municipal Airport on E. Browning and to the McLean airstrip.

As industry becomes more and more air-minded and as airlines branch out into smaller communities, there is little doubt that an airport can be a factor in determining community growth and progress.

However, healthy growth and progress cannot be gained by making unwise decisions on questions of importance such as the airport issue. Money well spent to the best advantage and so factor that will work for the best should be overlooked.

It would be decidedly unwise if citizens are burdened with another tax on a bond issue to improve the Pampa Municipal Airport. The northwest site is a better bargain and the fact that it lies five miles further from town is of little consequence.

This latter is borne out by the fact that in 60 towns within the TWA operating area, the distance of airports from the towns averages more than eight miles.

School Superintendant rounds He Was A Socialist
Very few people realize what constitutes socialism. This fact was brought out by a letter written to Leonard Reed, president of the Foundation for Economic Education from a friend of his telling the experiences of a group of people who meet occasionally to inform themselves.

Mr. Reed writes in sending out this letter: "I became acquainted with the writer of this letter shortly after the Foundation for Economic Education was started, five years ago. According to his own admission he graduated from college with numerous socialist ideas. Later, he began to explore the freedom philosophy. He has pursued the subject ever since with vigor, intelligence and good judgment."

"The group he refers to is informal. He and his friends meet only to advance their own understanding, not to debate socialism vs. freedom, not to pass resolutions, have meetings with speakers on various occasions and their progress is astonishing."

"These folks, usually in the 25-40 age bracket, can explain the freedom philosophy. They are good!"

Here is the letter this individual wrote to Leonard Reed, president of the Foundation for Economic Education: "Dear Leonard: 'Four of the members of our evening discussion group, Jim Doyle, Jack Barkley, Sam Doxy and Joe Brown conducted a panel discussion on the subject 'Individualism' before the Lions club of our neighborhood community. About 70 were present. Jim Doyle led off by reading the first few pages of your Outlook for Freedom. He then went on to cover a few of the general aspects of the problem and he finally boiled down to a matter of individual understanding and self-responsibility. Each of the other three covered a more specific phase of the problem, one, for example, was a brief explanation of the broken window fallacy used by Henry Hazlitt. After the four had concluded their prepared remarks, the local superintendent of schools, who by the way has just been successful in securing a large federal grant for a high school because of the area having abnormal growth during war time, rose to his feet and said that if he understood the panel correctly they were saying that the government was Socialist and Communist. The room, he then went on to explain what a good American he and all the others were, being good members of the Lions, etc."

"As he said however, a man arose who carried the question further. He said he did not know but that the panel was about right and went on to explain how he had secured low-rented federal money to build some apartments and as he reflected on it he no longer thought it was right. He went on to explain that he felt they were very guilty in doing the things they had done, such as going to Washington with their hands out while at the same time trying to secure federal economy. The whole thing developed into a sort of a contest between the four, getting up to tell how guilty they were until finally Jim Doyle had to stop that. The discussion continued in the same general vein. Actually the crowd sort of took after the poor superintendent of schools and he didn't say another word. They all wanted to sign petitions and take a lot of other things, but the panel members kept bringing them back to the fact that it was the individual who had to do something himself and that it was not possible to petition someone else to do something you would not do."

"All four of the fellows thought that it was a very stimulating meeting for them as well as the audience. They all agreed to look for Freedom" which were laid on the head table for those interested were picked up and many asked for the address of your Foundation."

"I think that 'Charity' is excellent and I am enclosing our order for 500 copies. It is extremely difficult for me to comprehend how anyone can so miserably regard charity as to consider compulsory aid to fall in that category, but they certainly do. This little booklet will be my answer to them when the opportunity presents itself."

In The Interest Of Truth

By DAVID BAXTER

Our column has become a sort of sounding board for various views, one of which is the issue between certain Jewish organizations and their opponents.

Frankly, this issue is more serious and has deeper roots than the general public realizes. I doubt if many people want a wholesale, indiscriminate reign of anti-semitism to break out in this country since we all want to manage to live together in a free country in spite of our religious or racial differences.

Any issue as serious as this racial and religious one should be discussed out in the open where the public can get a look at it and form its opinions in a sane, reasonable manner.

I receive many letters either for or against certain Jewish organizations and for or against me attacking those organizations or "the Jews" generally. While I do not hold the Anti-Defamation League, sponsored by the Jewish B'nai B'rith, in high regard, I am also well-aware of the danger of inciting hatred against ALL Jews because an organization representing only a minority may have its shortcomings. Nor do I particularly enjoy seeing a few writers in the mid-west and east single out Jewish individuals who have been convicted of crimes as a pretext for smearing the whole Jewish race or religion. You can't very well hold all Protestants responsible because some Protestant bishops or preachers are communistic and you can't hang everything that Father Coughlin said or did on all Catholics. So it is with the Jews.

They are individuals—good or bad—like everyone else. If I should ever blister the Anti-Defamation League it will be on the proposition of its effects on all of us and not as a means of smearing Jews, in general.

In the case of Robert H. Williams and the League, which we discussed in this column, I felt that issues (not as yet generally publicized) were the serious when they can lead to either the commissioning or de-commissioning of officers in the armed forces. There is little doubt in my mind but what political pressure by Major Williams' opponents resulted in his losing his commission in military intelligence.

However, to present the other side, I have a letter from the Orange County chairman of the Anti-Defamation League in which he quotes the following: "In my home city, Santa Ana, the Anti-Defamation League holds its meetings as well as its indoctrination classes for Jewish children, in the temple annex."—From "Williams Intelligence Summary" Feb. 1951.

"At a meeting of the Orange County Anti-Defamation League in the Synagogue annex of 720 N. Spurgeon St. on the night of Feb. 1, 1950, a visiting district ADL official introduced Mr. Hurwitz as the agent for the county and disclosed that the ADL keeps its secret files on Orange County citizens in a small room in the back of the temple annex. This is a reflection on the Jewish citizens of Orange County, which I believe many of them resent."—From an advertisement by Robert H. Williams in Santa Ana Register of March 13, 1951.

The Orange County (Cal.) ADL chairman then writes: "Believe me, Mr. Baxter... every member of B'nai B'rith will tell you that children do not attend B'nai B'rith meetings (note Williams' substitution of 'Anti-Defamation' meetings for B'nai B'rith), that we have no indoctrination classes. The only time children attend classes is on Sunday morning when a staff of Sunday School teachers under the direction of the Rabbi have classes in Religion and Jewish History."

WASHINGTON — (NEA)—Without getting too involved in either the Truman or the anti-administration policies on what should be done about supporting the Chinese Nationalist troops in Formosa, someone in authority around here should explain what it is going to cost. This is in line with Senator Robert A. Taft's statement that the United States should do no more than it can afford.

Can the United States afford to save Chiang Kai-shek's government and armies, or can it afford not to support them fully, perhaps for an indefinite period? Aid to the South Korean government between V-J Day and the North Korean attack totaled nearly $700 million. This does not include the cost of the war, which will run at least a billion dollars a year if not more.

LOOKING SIDWAYS
By WHITNEY BOLTON
I have known a lot of people who wanted to learn to speak English, including some Americans, but I never had met one willing to risk blindness for it.

Exact amounts of 1950 Military Defense Assistance Pact aid furnished China are classified, beyond one transfer of $10 million worth of ammunition. Some $500 million worth of aid has been earmarked for the Southeast Asia area. The Chinese on Formosa may have been given upwards of $1 billion in this amount.

Another $70 million worth of such aid will be asked for next year, according to Deputy Secretary of Defense Robert A. Lovett. But this is now generally understood to be only a beginning.

Best informed guessers say that it will take up to $250 million to put the Nationalist Army in shape to defend Formosa. This will be done under the U. S. military mission headed by Major Gen. W. C. Chase.

1951 BUDGET
A rough equivalent of Nationalist budget expenses for this year is said to be 200 million U. S. dollars at present exchange rates. The National budget deficit was equal to 200 million U. S. dollars in 1949, but now said to be only one million U. S. dollars a month.

Taxes take 30 percent of the island's income. Fiscal experts say they can't be increased. Part of the government revenue is raised by lottery. The $300 million worth of gold bullion supposedly taken to Formosa is about all gone. What's left backs up issue currency.

Nationalist military manpower on Formosa is put at a maximum of 600,000. They are divided roughly into 100,000 air force, 50,000 navy, 50,000 service troops and 400,000 army. Of the army, less than 100,000 are fully equipped and ready to fight.

At the end of a year, this sliver of the budget is put at the slaughter of New York and carved her way through a wall of human discouragement until she was face to face with a man named Arch Oboler. Oboler looked at her and, more importantly, listened to her. He liked what he heard and engaged her for his radio stock company. It wasn't essential that he like what he saw since she didn't demand allure of face and form. It only demanded a voice that could say.

National Whirligig

Once each week this veteran Washington newspaper correspondent devotes his column to answering readers' questions of general interest on national and international policies and personalities. Questions may be sent direct to Ray Tucker at 6508 Hillcrest Place, Chevy Chase, Md.

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON — "Defense Secretary Marshall," writes F. M. of Binghamton, N. Y., "says that one reason why the administration opposes MacArthur's plan for a more aggressive war against Communist China is the 13 United Nations members fighting with us in Korea. He said that we might Turkey etc. — and have to go it alone even if the MacArthur strategy provoked an all-out conflict with Russia."

"Will you kindly explain what our allies would have done — or would do if they broke with us? Incidentally, how much help are they giving us in Korea?"

WEAKEST — Answer: In my opinion, and I find it to be rather generally held, this is the weakest part of the anti-MacArthur argument I have seen. It is not whether General Marshall, as a military man, really believes it, it sounds more like a position forced upon him by Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

In the first place, where would our allies in Britain, France, the Low Countries, etc. — go, if he decided to cut loose from us over this question? They don't possess the financial or military strength to create what Neurath

Evans, the resigned Labor Cabinet member, calls a "third force." Without our advances of arms and money, they could not stand up against Russia for a minute.

I doubt whether the British people, as well as the citizenry of our other associates, want to become members of Stalin's slave empire. The time has gone when London or Paris, alone or in alliance with any combination of European stations, can exercise the old balance of power that they did from 1800 until 1914. They must side with us, or fall under Communist control.

I am surprised the senatorial questioners did not pursue this point.

"TOKEN" — In answering F. M.'s second question, which has been asked by many other readers, I might note that General Marshall himself described, in a speech to the Senate, the variety of "tokens" in Webster's is "simulated," or a "sample of the real thing."

That certainly applies to the way in which U. N. members have implemented their resolution to oppose the Communist invasion of South Korea. Although I must give only round figures for reasons of security, the U. N. force consists of approximately 406,000-odd men. Less than one-third, or 40,000, consists of other nations' contributions.

EXPENDITURE — Save for the relatively small pay rolls of each nation's forces, which they bear, we are financing the "police action." We are paying for arms, transportation, food, logistical operations, hospitalization, etc.

LAPSE — Numerous readers, including a few editors, have chided me for attributing to Herbert Hoover the statement that the "United States had reached such a prosperity peak that 'two chickens in every pot' and 'two cars in every garage' had become common possessions in this country. I regret to say that I must take a plea on this lapse.

SOMEHOW, the belief has been fixed that Mr. Hoover did make these claims in the 1928 campaign. It fits in with his many speeches acclaiming what was then known as "Coolidge prosperity." But Lawrence Richey, Mr. Hoover's closest personal friend and general agent at Washington, assures me that "the chief" never indulged in such bombast.

"We have gone over all of Mr. Hoover's speeches and statements," says Larry, "and we can't find those remarks anywhere. At first we thought that Charley Michelson had pinned them on Mr. Hoover, when he was the Democrats' propaganda man. But we can't find it in any of his stuff. We don't know when or where it originated."

Success Secrets

Have you ever laughed at the unscientific way women cook? They put in a "pinch" of this, a "dash" of that, a spoonful of something else.

Eugenia Hatcher worried about it, too, but to her, it was not laughing matter. Many women falter in cooking, she thought, because they have no way of knowing what "medium thick," "fluffy," and such terms really meant.

She was working for General Foods at the time. She went to her boss and explained her idea to help women cook better and get better results with General Foods products. Her boss liked the idea, and Eugenia went to Washington, D. C. and set up the General Foods Home-maker Testing Service.

She is now boss of this new department which she thought up herself. She is happy because she has a job she likes, was able to move to Washington where her fiancé lived, and so was able to get married and not lose her job.

Her boss is happy because her work has enabled them to give better service to housewives by writing more understandable recipes. And thousands of women are happy because they have learned how to cook better.

This is the way her service operates. She visits women in their own homes and watches them follow a recipe. This way, she has learned such things as how much the average housewife considers as a "pinch" or a "cupful," etc. She also tests recipes to see if they are understandable to the average housewife. Examples: One recipe called for the use of prunes. The company assumed the housewife would drain the prunes before using them. Mrs. Hatcher found that the women didn't think to drain them: she had the company add one word — "Drained" prunes — to the recipe. Another recipe said to beat egg whites for "about ten minutes" until peaks were formed. Mrs. Hatcher found that a husky housewife would beat the eggs "till peaks are formed" in 1 1/2 minutes, another — not so ambitious — in five minutes.

Keep Your Eye On KPDN

PHIL SOLBERG
More than likely you see from time to time a space in The Pampa News, set aside just to tell you about the good listening on KPDN. I don't mean the radio log this time. I mean a little space with a program note or two that runs daily also.

Last week I sorta liked the note that was there for that particular day, it read in part: "If you cannot visit the church of your choice today 'Hear' the church of your choice on KPDN. Now we at KPDN are not inviting you to attend church while in your pajamas because it might be more convenient, but we do offer a variety of church services for the shut-in and those who must be on the road for some reason Sunday. Check your radio log every Sunday for the times the church of your choice is on the air."

Today is Mother's Day, and I might mention that all of us up here except one, are very fortunate in having our mothers still with us. Ed Conway, our morning shift man on the microphone, lost his mother while serving in the armed forces in 1943.

Best Wishes to you Mothers out there, from the staff up here at KPDN. And when you wake up this morning, dress and wash the kiddies, fix breakfast, make up all the beds and pick up the house, and let's see, have I missed anything?

Well, when you are through with all that and a thousand other little things, remember Mom, it's your day. So turn on the radio and relax. When I didn't think I was going to squeeze that plug in. Seriously though Mothers, congratulations! you are doing a swell job.

Radio indeed deserves a pat on the back in the part it played last Friday in bringing the voice of a Pampa boy direct to his Mother from Japan. Through a special service now exclusive on KPDN in Pampa we carried by delayed broadcast an interview between an Air Force representative and Sgt. L. W. Ramos of 201 E. Francis. On the broadcast he wished her a hearty hello! and I could think of no better Mother's Day Present under those conditions than for that Mother to hear the voice of her son. She hadn't heard his voice since he left last July. It was aired on the 12:30 and 8:45 p. m. newscasts yesterday.

Then as an added thrill to the mother of the Sergeant, KPDN's engineer Garth Osborne made a record of the broadcast and Coy Palmer presented it to her for Mothers Day. Radio is packed with that type of thrills. Kinda put a lump in my throat too. I might add that KPDN will be carrying more of these interviews in the future. So keep a close listen.

You know? you can just about smell the bacon frying on Coy Palmer's Sunshine program every morning at 7:45. Especially of late. Reason? The broadcast is coming direct from the home of the "Sunshine Man" on 838 Lowry here in Pampa.

Puts the final touch to his homey style, don't you think? Heard Staff Breakfast lately? It's on every morning Monday thru Friday at 9:30 and here is your chance to hear your favorite program run on some of the interesting guests Kay had on last week: Boy Scouts, Hot Rod Racers, and an excellent discussion with Curtis Douglas, Pampa lawyer, on the tidelands of Texas. That is just a sample of the variety you will always get when tuning into Staff Breakfast at 9:30 every morning. "1340 on your radio dial!"

The most successful road tour in its six-year broadcasting history will be concluded by Mutual's fun-packed Cinderella program, "Queen For A Day" 10:30 a.m., daily over KPDN, when it arrives in New York City for a five-day visit May 14-18. The climax of the tour will be a gala show from Madison Square Garden, Friday, May 18, where more than 20,000 women can attend. Jack Bailey emcees.

The MBS fun-feature has been breaking all attendance records during this tour of eleven metropolitan centers begun in Chicago on April 9. From the Windy City, Jack Bailey and his crew travelled to Detroit, Indianapolis, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Philadelphia, and Boston. And on Monday, May 14, it will arrive in New York for the series of five broadcasts.

Mutual's news digester, Frank Singiser, would like to go several words farther than most Congressmen in streamlining Congressional activities. Frank, as Mutual's "Bab-O Reporter," presents five five-minute news digests every week-day. He tries to cram as many as 17 items in each program, with the result that he spends from 10 to 15 seconds on each item. But it's mighty tough to limit wordage on a news story when it involves Sen. Clyde R. Hoey's Senate investigations sub-committee of the committee on expenditures in the executive departments. "We just call his group the 'five percent investigators,'" Frank points out. "Saves a lot of time."

General MacArthur sure started a riot in the recording business. He has provoked what seems to be the most artistic hypo the music business has seen in months.

With disks on the alert for inspirations, either topical or lumatic, there was slightly less than pandemonium among them as they sought to capitalize on MacArthur's reference to "Old Soldiers Never Die" in his address to Congress.

Gene Autry was the first in line. MacArthur made his reference to the song Thursday April 19, and Autry made his recording Friday April 20 and it was shipped Monday April 23. KPDN has two versions you can request, one by Vaughn Monroe and the other by Jimmy Wakely. The one with Jim Wakely has to start with, the general's own words then comes the song.

I have to get my plug in for this week, as if I would miss it. Tuesday afternoon Garth Osborne and I are boarding a Central Airlines DC-3 for the first trip to Borger linking the two towns with big DC-3 service.

We will be trying something new at least for me, and that is making a recording on take-off and in the air of just what is happening, what we see below, talk to the pilot and some of the passengers during flight. We will attempt to catch some of the ceremonies on the ground at Borger also. A tentative time for the rebroadcast will be sometime Wednesday afternoon. Might check your radio log in this paper daily for exact time. You will find your favorite program listed there daily so don't miss your daily check of KPDN's radio log.

Awards for the week, here goes: Happiest member of staff? No certain one, we are all happy, (new studios coming up you know).

Laff of the week, Gordon Anderson of our staff locked in the radio booth at Oiler Park after his participation in "Dugout Diggins." Sorry, can't tell all the story, but just that fact alone gives me the giggles.

San Salvador Has 30-Minute Quake

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador — (AP) — San Salvador felt a 30-minute earthquake last night but the communications office, after quick calls to the 14 departments of the already-battered country, said no damage was reported.
Residents here, already frightened by quakes which last Sunday and Monday devastated a large area 65 miles east of the capital, rushed into the streets at the shocks. They said they were much stronger than the tremors felt here Sunday.
A government official yesterday estimated damage from last week-

When Rain Fails To Come To Frank Carter, He Brings Rain

By HENRY GORDON
When the rains failed to come to Frank Carter, Carter, like Mohammed, went to the rains. After a year of preparation, Carter finally rigged and started his overhead irrigating system and is now turning it into a one-year experiment. On his ranch, southeast of town, the imitation rain falls at the rate of two inches every three hours. Although still in the experimental stage, the pseudo rain has proved its worth on one 16-acre patch of alfalfa where the yield has been boosted to an approximate five tons per acre. The usual yield for non-irrigated alfalfa, farming authorities say, is three tons per acre.

To develop the system, one of the first of its kind in the Panhandle, Carter drilled a 140-foot well with a maximum output of 1,000 gallons per minute. Hitting water at 70 feet, Carter drilled on to 140 feet with 70 feet of perforation. A 150-horsepower motor is used to pull the water to the top. Running over the ranch, in a well planned design, is the open ditch through which the water flows. At any given spot along the ditch, Carter can set up his Waukesha pump. This pump performs on the same principle as that of a fire engine pump. Placing a large suction hose into the stream, the pump sucks out the water and sends it through a four-inch aluminum portable pipe line of forty foot section lengths. At the junction of each section a twin spray mechanism can be attached; the pressure from the flow rotating the spray slowly to give the ground on each side a good soaking. The 1,800 foot pipeline can cover 200 acres without moving the line. However, the sprinklers must be relocated from time to time. On a windless day — if such exists around here — the spray will reach a maximum of 60 feet on each side of the line. With the present set-up of 24 sprinklers spaced 40 feet apart, Carter can cover 4,800 square feet with "rain" away.

At one time. Although the sprayers are referred to as sprinklers, the amount of water spewed from them is far more than that from the ordinary garden sprinkler. It resembles more a spray from a small booster tank hose used by fire engines. Carter's 140 foot well pumps an average of 900 gallons per minute into the supply streams in the rambling ditch. The pump's output can be reduced to 833 gallons per minute. As he proudly surveyed the portable pipeline, Carter told Pampa News representatives, Chamber of Commerce Manager E. O. Wedgeworth and Asst. County Agent Jim Mahan, the line "weighs next to nothing — two men can pick up three sections of it and carry them it could travel half of its maximum range through the air. "We are still experimenting with the system," Carter said, "to see how much and just what it can do when pushed." Carter expects to keep the overhead irrigation system in use for the rest of the summer, and in all probability, permanently.

IT'S "RAINING." In places, on the Carter ranch southeast of Pampa. The twin sprinklers seen from the foreground to the background are shooting water over approximately 4,800 square feet of land. Carter and an observer are ducking the slowly revolving spray. (News Photo)

BELCHING 900 gallons of water a minute at the head of a man-made riverette on the Carter ranch, this pump is making it "rain" thousands of yards away on several acres of oats. Frank Carter, seated on the pipe, explains how the system works to three Pampans, left to right, Asst. County Agent Jim Mahan, Gene Fatheree, chamber of commerce president, and E. O. Wedgeworth, chamber of commerce manager. (News Photo)

PIANO TEACHER — Mrs. May Foreman Carr's talented fingers have won her acclaim as well as a comfortable living for herself and her children. In the picture above, she is looking thoughtfully at her "memory wall," on which she has pictures covering her 20 years as a piano teacher in Pampa, during which time she has organized and perfected the Pampa Piano Symphony. She has three children, Malcolm J. Carr, a professor of sociology in Sacramento, Calif., Norman Carr, Houston business man, and Mrs. O. J. Payne of Pampa. She also has eight grandchildren.

HOME DEMONSTRATION AGENT — Mrs. Mary Ann Duke, one of the busiest women in Gray County, still finds time to be a companion to her small daughter, Martha Anne. Mrs. Duke recently completed landscaping the grounds of Highland General Hospital in addition to her other duties as HD agent.

RECEPTIONIST—Her lovely smile makes a trip to the doctor more pleasant than it might otherwise be. Mrs. Hazel Jay, receptionist for Drs. Bellamy and Jones, has two daughters, Mrs. John Campbell and Miss Gloria Jay, senior at TSCW. The "apple of her eye" is tiny granddaughter, Mary Jay Campbell.

SERIOUS BUSINESS — Mrs. Minnie Barnes wasn't "kidding" when this picture was taken. She was rushing to get a stack of letters stamped and mailed for the Cochran Construction Company, where she is employed as secretary. Mrs. Barnes has two children in school, Barbara and James.

THESE IS SOMETHING so sweet about the conspiracy connected with Mother's Day. Wish there could be a way we Moms could tag along behind Pop and the children when they shop for "presents." What one is sure "Mommy will not appreciate," is JUST the gift another one "knows Mommy will adore!" It's wonderful being in the spotlight! — just once a year!

BASEBALL IS BACK in all vacant lots. We always like to see new houses going up and the lawn growing, but the children think it's a shame to ruin a perfectly good baseball diamond by building a house on top of it! The kiddies in our neighborhood have a house where a vacant lot was "meant to be!"

THAT LOVELY NEW "Contour" flatware by Towle has many women sighing that they were brides just 10 years too soon. The new silver is especially designed to fit the curves of the hand, it's light and oh, so "ultra" — BUT it's going to have to prove itself.

VACATION IS THE MAIN talk at our house these days. (Next to the end of school.) We've been going over the travel folders trying to figure where we can take the most kids for the least money. Part of the plan is in favor of "back-horsing" into the mountains. Others want to live the life of beachcombers on some seashore! Peg's aching already from the thought of riding a pack horse up a perilous mountain trail (or worse yet, BEING a pack horse). And I certainly get hysterical thinking about eating sandy food out of seashells for two weeks. When the talk of these weird expeditions gets too out-of-hand, the thought of spending a nice, cool summer at home doesn't seem bad at all.

FRIDAY, KIWANIS HONORED wives of members who observed anniversaries in May. We feel gestures like this are mighty fine. After all, in these days when divorces are all too common, a wedding anniversary is a significant and proud milestone in married life.

PANORAMICALLY: Everybody is busy in his yard these days... noticed Victor Jamieson working outdoors late the other evening... Also saw Dr. Ashby early in the week at their new home on Christine... they bought the former Ralph Kiser home... Mrs. Myles Morgan, think it was, whisked by the other day in a pretty red top... Also spied Mrs. Bill Ragdale with her children (other day)... she has such a sweet smile... Mrs. V. E. Moore looked mighty handsome downtown last week... like her hair-cut... she had a haircut... for you know whom... Mrs. L. E. Larsen, lovely person, has a garden just full of the nicest blossoms... stop by her corner... Pert, in pretty Nicki Fraser, daughter of the Bill Frasers, is a lovely sight on a spring day... Mrs. Don Egerton is another pleasant person to meet... so is Mrs. Cameron Marsh... "Corine" of the Orehid Shop is as famous for her smile as she is for those darling earnings she wins... W. M. Castleberry has been busy getting television apparatus up!... Saw Hugh Burdette and R. M. Samples taking advantage of the spring mornings (?) and walking to work.

OPEN LETTER TO FRED WILLS, COLLEGE STUDENT: Letters from young, straight-thinking fellows like you, Fred, put this older generation to shame. We who should be guiding and directing you with much needed help on the job, somewhere along the line, see the facts in your letter published in Monday's Pampa Daily News would never have been brought out. Some years ago there was a teenage youth center here. What happened to it, Peg doesn't know. And there was a meeting not many months back to get a YMCA going here, but such a paltry few showed up at the initial meeting the idea was put aside for the "future." If, as you say, our young people are being sold liquor, and in general substituting delinquent practices for the "good clean fun" they miss, well, we agree something should be done for teenagers.

AT THIS POINT, Peg is concerned primarily with keeping her brood alive until their teenagers. Don't ever tell this one that cats have nine lives — it's kids that do. They fall out of trees, stick objects in light plugs, and in general do a dozen odd things a day that cause me to shake my head and wonder if they'll survive the next catastrophe. But somehow they do and someday they're going to be teenagers. But I won't fret any less about them. Peg will want to know where they are at 15 same as she did when they were three years old. Even at that age they're going to stay in "their own back yard"... and isn't that the way most people feel? Now the problem is DO THE YOUNG PEOPLE HERE WANT A YOUTH CENTER? If there are others like Fred Wills who disapprove of some of the activities going on now's the time for them to put it before the public. The results of juvenile delinquency can be tragic, and we say that if a youth center can save one Pampa family heartbreak, it's worth all the time and money we can put into such an effort. We'll hear more on summer recreation program soon.

MR. PEG, poor dear, has heard around town from "those that know" that Peg o' Pampa is actually a man posing as a woman! "No woman could keep a secret THAT long," his friends claim. That just proves how little they know about...

Mother Is The Breadwinner, Too

Mother's Day is a day of sentiment—a day when the small children proudly present their gifts to the young mothers—gifts upon which they have lavished loving toil or spent their small savings; a day when white-haired mothers receive expensive gifts from children close at hand, or telegraphed flowers from those far away. A day when Mother reigns supreme. But here we have a different type of mother—not so very young, but not very old, either. Mothers who have had to tuck sentiment in a very small pocket of their lives, because most of their time was spent making a living for their children. With one exception, Mrs. Duke, these women have two or more children.

A bowl of pastel spring flowers centered the serving table, and small May baskets in pastel shades filled with spring flowers centered the individual tables, which were laid with white Madeira cloths. The baskets and flowers were in pastel shades and carried out the club colors.

Mrs. C. L. McKinney, outgoing president of the club, introduced Mrs. Ralph Thomas, who installed officers for the coming year.

Mrs. Thomas said "This is the time of year that our thoughts turn to gardening, and it is the time that we are thinking about getting seeds or bulbs to plant so that we may reap a harvest of flowers or vegetables late in the year. So, too, in club work, we are planting the seeds that we may reap the harvest in our club work next year."

Officers installed were Mrs. Dow King, president; Mrs. H. P. Dosier, vice president; Mrs. F. W. Lane, secretary; Mrs. Sherman White, treasurer; Mrs. F. E. Imel, parliamentarian; Mrs. J. C. McWilliams, library chairman; Mrs. E. J. Haslam, council of clubs reporter.

Mrs. Henry Link Gives Program For Civic Culture Club

Mrs. Henry Link was in charge of the program at the meeting of the Civic Culture Club in the home of Mrs. A. C. Houchin.

Mrs. Link showed pictures of early American home furnishings and told the story of the beginning of period furniture. She advised extreme caution when buying antiques in prices, color design and craftsmanship.

The speaker said "A little learning is a dangerous thing when collecting antiques. Really old furniture has no glue or nails, but is put together with wooden pegs."

Each club member took an antique to be displayed.

Mrs. J. B. Townsend read a letter from the state chairman on legislation on the Tidelanda controversy.

Mrs. Irvin Cole presided over the business meeting and installed the following officers: Mrs. Lloyd Rinehart, president; Mrs. D. W. Coffman, vice president; Mrs. Emmett Gee, secretary; Mrs. M. M. Province Of Quebec Larger Than Texas

Texans may find it difficult to believe, but Canada's second largest province, Ontario, could fold its 412,000 odd square miles twice — and neatly — and still cover the "biggest state in the Union."

Stretching 1,000 miles from its southern boundary to Hudson Bay in the north — the same distance from its southern boundary to New Orleans — Ontario ranges from the "Banana Belt" of the Lake Erie "Sun Parlor" to the sub-arctic regions of its north-most outposts.

In matter-of-fact tones any Ontario native will tell you this vast area includes 270,000 square miles of forest and about 1,000,000 lakes — of which only 40,000 are named — providing the finest fresh water fishing in the world. They are also proud of its accessibility. More than 80 percent of Ontario's guests motor to their destination over a network of more than 10,000 miles of hard surfaced highways, and another 60,000 miles of well-maintained roads.

Ontario citizens boast that their province with its variety of attractions is an all-year vacation land. Approximately 20,000,000 visitors from the United States and other Canadian provinces who vacationed there in 1950 showed these were not idle remarks.

Ontario enjoys about 60 percent of the Canadian tourist trade, and an even greater percentage of the transient border business which comes to Canada.

Ontario is also tops in the accommodation field. There are better than 7,000 establishments catering to tourists in Ontario with sleeping accommodation in the peak season for 375,000 people.

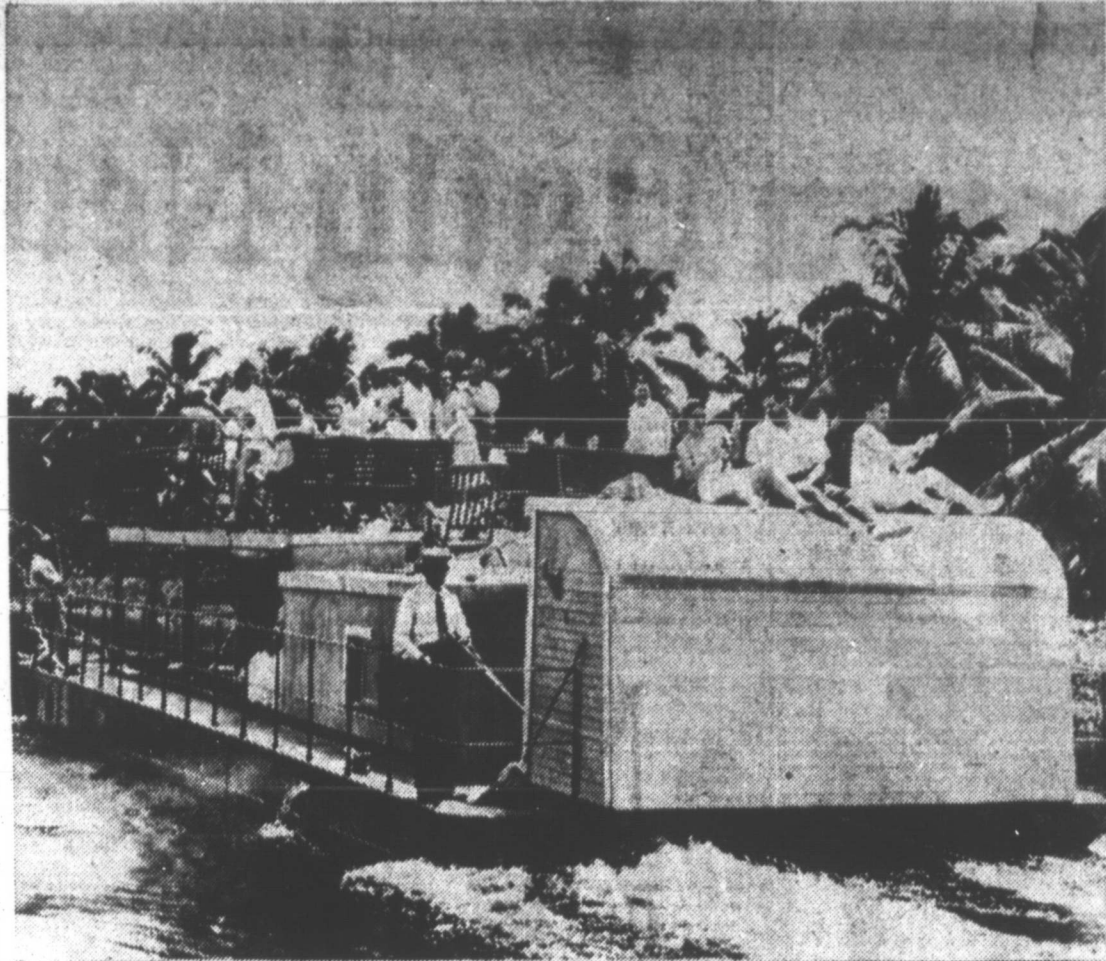

A breakdown of this figure shows that hotels, resorts and lodges can accommodate 122,500 persons; cabin and motor court establishments can service 112,000; fishing and hunting camps can cater to 38,500 while summer cottages and tourist homes can take the remaining 102,000.

You can spend as much or little as you choose for a holiday in Ontario. A family of four can have a two-week vacation at a comfortable medium-priced resort for about $250. If you want more luxurious accommodation, you can spend about $500 for the same vacation.

Of course, what the northern visitor wants after a day's activities is what he finds in Ontario — cool night air. Ontario's mean summer temperatures are about the same as San Francisco but with cooler nights.

The Ontario Dept. of Travel and Publicity, organized in 1946, maintains 15 reception centers at strategic points throughout the province to aid the traveler, and constantly inspects various establishments catering to the traveling public. Its inspectors ensure that food is wholesome, accommodation is first-class and recreation facilities are adequate.

The province is proud that 80 percent of its United States visitors are "repeaters."

STANDARD FRUIT CRUISE PASSENGERS GO FISHING IN HONDURAS — An exciting side trip that always delights guests on a Standard Fruit Caribbean cruise is the leisurely sail down the beautiful Salado River. Passengers lounge comfortably on a roomy, powerful launch enjoying the sport of fishing in the midst of tropical splendor. At the end of the trip, a picnic lunch is served on the shore of the blue Caribbean. This is just one of the recreational activities included in the ten-day cruise to Havana and Honduras offered by Standard Fruit and Steamship Company of New Orleans.

Frederic Dannay and Manfred Lee, who recently published their 25th novel under the name of Ellery Queen, are two of the most prolific writers of the day. Their total output, including books edited, anthologies, etc., will reach 70 volumes in 1951.

Denmark has the most highly organized agricultural industry in the world.

Glamour Spots Destinations Of Cruises From New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS — Every Saturday is Cruise Day in New Orleans, with Havana and Honduras as your destination and a Vaccaro Line Cruise Queen, your seagoing hotel — 10 days of glorious adventure and fun.

A 10-day Caribbean cruise is an ideal vacation for the traveler who wants a gay, cool, care-free junket on the blue waters of the Mexican Gulf and the Caribbean.

Standard Fruit and Steamship Co., New Orleans, is booking passage now for its two luxury cruise liners, the Contessa, and her sister ship, the Cefalu.

One of these fast, modern ships sails each week from America's most interesting city for 10-day cruises to Havana, where there is a two-day stopover, and then on to Ceiba, Honduras.

Before your ship sails from New Orleans you will want to visit the historic St. Louis Cathedral, wander through the gay French Quarter, dine at one of the city's famed restaurants, munch doughnuts and drink coffee at the French Market, and shop in downtown New Orleans, scene of the colorful Carnival parades of Mardi Gras.

At sea, there are activities to please each passenger. For those who want to loaf and soak up the sun, a deck chair can be quickly placed in position on the open upperdeck. Shuffleboard games are ready, and, for more active sport, there is a pingpong table with balls and paddle ready.

In Havana, the cruise passenger will want to look at the gay, romantic nightlife of the city, and, in the daytime, there are fine shops to be visited which sell handsome alligator bags, shoes and belts, and finely-sewn Co., New Orleans.

tablecloths, napkins and handkerchiefs.

Ceiba (Honduras), the next port of call, is an altogether different experience. As you sail in close to the Honduran shore, you see the thick, luxuriant jungle that climbs high up on the 6,000 foot mountain range in the background. Some of the towering peaks are obscured by low-hanging clouds.

Ashore in Ceiba, you board a waiting train that takes you on a comfortable trip through the lush, Honduran jungle to the Salado River.

There you leave the narrow-gauge train and board a modern diesel-propelled launch for the ride down the Salado River that winds through the green, impenetrable jungle.

Wild monkeys and beautiful tropical birds with plumages of incredible hues, streak through the dense jungle. Suddenly in the distance you see the sparkling blue Caribbean and magnificent, palm-fringed Salado Beach, the site of your picnic lunch.

The picnic lunch is spread on handwoven mahogany tables in a beautiful pavilion set just a few yards back from the white, frothy surf. After the lunch, you step back on the train for the return ride to your ship.

Next morning your ship is ready to sail for the last leg of your sea voyage to New Orleans. These 10 days are filled with memories of travel in exotic, romantic lands.

Full information and an illustrated folder about these cruises, can be obtained from Standard Fruit and Steamship Co., New Orleans.

Rio Grande Valley, Mexico To Form Ciudad De Los Ninos

MCCALLEN — (AP) — The people of the lower Rio Grande Valley are going to help Mexico establish a Ciudad de Los Ninos — a Boys' Town patterned after the famed boys' home at Omaha, Neb.

Father Carlos Alvarez — "Mexico's Father Flanagan" — launched his campaign for a Mexican Boys' Town after seeing the movie "Boys' Town" starring Spencer Tracy.

The Mexican counterpart will be in Villa Guadalupe, on the outskirts of Monterrey. President Miguel Aleman's wife laid the cornerstone for the first building early in February. So far about six million pesos has been raised. Two million more are needed.

Father Alvarez, a handsome young priest, was in the valley recently setting up plans for a paper drives and other plans to help finance the home.

He was accompanied here by other Monterrey civic leaders and businessmen. Committees to plan the paper drives have been named in McAllen, Mission, Edinburg, Pharr, San Juan, Alamo, Harlingen, and Brownsville.

Trucks will be sent from Monterrey to gather the paper at Valley stock piles and take it to the Mexican city where it will be sold.

The first U.S. showing of the movie "El Gran Cardenal" — the life of Cardinal Mentzeny of Hungary who was imprisoned more than a year ago by the Communists — will be shown here May 13. Proceeds will go to the Ciudad de Los Ninos. Father Alvarez said a premier of a Class A Mexican picture will be held in Monterrey, with the film stars appearing in person, to push the Boys' Town fund.

Robert O. Buzbee Named Professor At Missouri School

Robert O. Buzbee, local advertising manager of The Pampa Daily News, will leave Pampa May 20 to assume an assistant professorship at the University of Missouri school of journalism.

Buzbee will serve as instructor of advertising salesmanship classes and head the school daily's advertising department.

Graduating from University of Missouri in February, 1949, he came to Pampa the same month as an advertising salesman. He was promoted to his present post in January, 1950.

ROBERT O. BUZBEE will be located in Columbia, Mo., just off the university campus.

Loudspeaker Said Curing Bad Dreams

CINCINNATI — (AP) — Mentally ill GIs are being talked out of their "terror dreams" — by a loudspeaker and the power of suggestion.

This was reported to the American Psychiatric Assn. by a Veterans' Administration doctor who described use of a recorded "suggestion" treatment while patients sleep.

"I CAN rid myself of any symptoms, completely and in less than a minute," is the type of recitation that is repeated over and over in a monotonous tone in the otherwise quiet hospital all through the night.

"I'm not overly dependent on medicines or doctors," is another — and every once in awhile, the loudspeaker drones: "mind a blank, relaxing more."

Dr. Ernst Schmidhofer of VA's Kennedy hospital at Memphis told about it and said the treatment also included a much shorter daytime broadcast. He reported these results:

"Most patients have reported gratifying results within two to four weeks after admission. Some have stated they are able to take daytime naps for the first time in their lives. Others say sleep becomes less fitful and more refreshing."

"Terror dreams are reported as being replaced by more pleasant ones and the frequency of dreams of all sorts is allegedly reduced."

He said there were indications of a general decrease in the amount of awakening during the night — "there is less arising to smoke, to pace about restlessly."

The patients get the "sleep program" from 10 p.m. until 7 a.m. — every night in the week.

Doctor Schmidhofer, indicating such a set-up prevails in some other hospitals, said that whenever it's first introduced the patients kick to beat the band.

Nurses and aides are also indignant and incredulous, he said, adding that they sometimes tell the patients the whole thing is ridiculous.

Finally, he declared, hospital administrators and trustees put in their two cents' worth of opposition — they "nearly always express great concern that the reputation of the hospital may be placed in jeopardy."

But the doctor reported that it's his impression that average hospital stays are shortened and fewer medicines are requested and prescribed as a result of the "self help" program of suggestion.

The Outpost

By KAY FANCHER

Well, here we are again. Another week has passed and there has been a lot of activity out at the Army, so far as Headquarters Battery of the 47th Field Artillery Observation Battalion is concerned.

First of all, we might mention the fact that if they still were going to Lake McClellan this weekend. It was decided that the officers and men of Headquarters Battery should take the weekend off and try to be with their mothers. All of the men of the unit were told that if they couldn't be with their mothers for Mother's Day, they should at least try to contact them. The bivouac scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, will be carried over to the next weekend.

This has been a busy week for the unit and especially for the officers and executive personnel of the battery. This business of reorganizing from Battery "A" to Headquarters Battery means lots of work for everyone.

In spite of all of the reorganizing going on at Battery Headquarters at the present, there has still been time to cut orders for some promotions. These run all the way from private first class to sergeant first class. The lucky man who was promoted from sergeant to sergeant first class, was Lewis C. Gallimore.

Two men made the grade from corporal to sergeant. Those were Roy L. Betterson and Earl H. Wallin. One man who made sergeant went all the way from private first class to his new rank. He is George R. Plume. There are two men who made the grade from private first class to corporal, Billy R. Blue and Donald C. Reed, who are the proud possessors of an extra stripe as of May 7.

Another group that is going to be busting their buttons, are the six men who have earned one stripe, bringing them into the ranks of the Pfc's. The six men we are referring to are: Thomas G. Battreall, Bobby J. Phillips, Roy V. Garner, Billy E. Wallis, Herahel L. Williams and Billy J. Ford. I would say that this is a pretty impressive lineup of promotions for our unit.

Well, this is all the news we have to report for Headquarters Battery of this week. Would like to add however, that anyone is welcome to attend our drills and if anyone has any questions about the National Guard, the phone number out at the Army is 443 and the man to talk to, is Warrant Officer Leonard.

Forest Seedlings Distributed Hits Peak A&M Reports

COLLEGE STATION — (AP) — The Texas forest service distributed more seedlings than ever before in its history in the season just ended, the service reported.

Distributed were 17,600,000 seedlings which went to farmers and forest industries in the December, 1950, to March, 1951, season.

Newton County, with 5,441,000, led all others in trees planted by forest industries. Rusk County was the leader in farm plantings with 1,192,700.

Approximately 7,760,000 of the seventeen million seedlings were planted by farmers. This was about 2,000,000 greater than the previous season. Total of farmers using the plants this season was 1,728.

All of the seedlings were grown at the 73-acre Indian Mound nursery in Cherokee County operated by the Texas forest service, a part of the A&M college system.

Trees planted included 16 different forest and windbreak species, predominantly southern yellow pine.

The nursery expects even greater demand next year. Already sown are seed for an estimated 18,250,000 plants.

In his school days, he was widely known for sports activities which included baseball and football. After a turn at semi-pro baseball, he turned to tennis as a hobby and gave that sport up in 1948 after winning the doubles championship of the Ambassador Hotel club.

Active in the hotel business, he was president of the Hotel Greeters of America, chapter 30, and is now chairman of the board and immediate past president of the Southern California Hotel Assn.

James Alberts of Texas succeeded him in the SCHA presidency.

Parker's two sons, Jack and Arnold, served with the armed forces during World War II and are now located on the West Coast. Jack is connected with television and Arnold is a musician and motion picture actor. Both are graduates of the University of Southern California.

Arnold, who was well-known as a tennis player, often had as a doubles partner the late S. W. (Sam) Papert, former president

Pesos To Horned Toads Can Be Purchased At Sanford's

McALLEN, Texas — Do you want a real live Texas horned toad mailed to your youngsters? Or a copy of the latest issue of The Cincinnati Enquirer? Or a pocketful of pesos for your trip to Mexico?

Or Texas cowboy boots, curios, special Mexican insurance for your car, postcards, souvenirs, sombreros, serapes, box lunches, Texas lemons as big as grapefruit, road maps, Mexican baskets, famous Texas Ruby Red-blush grapefruit, Mexican candy, or just a cold bottle of coke?

You'll find these, plus hundreds of other interesting items and articles, at a most unusual store here in this Mexican gateway town—a store named Sanborn's.

It's the only establishment on the Texas-Mexican border operated exclusively for tourists, and it's quite an institution. Air-conditioned for the comfort of its customers, Sanborn's is a sort of one-stop super-station for Mexico-bound "turistas" where they can get anything from a notarized affidavit of car-ownership to a thermos bottle filled with spring water from the Ozarks.

Perhaps you came away with a tire gauge, which is a good thing to take to Mexico, because they figure air pressure by the "kilo" (kilogram: 2.2046 pounds); you can get one at Sanborn's.

Or perhaps you are a diabetic and want a special identification card printed in Spanish, because your English identification card might not do you much good in a country like Mexico, where practically everybody reads and writes only Spanish; you can get one at Sanborn's.

They sell booklets on "How to Speak English" to Mexican Laborers who swim the Rio Grande to work in the citrus groves and vegetable fields of the lush Lower Rio Grande Valley—and they sell booklets on "How to Speak Spanish" to the American tourists who make the same, although somewhat drier, river crossing in reverse.

They buy Mexican pesos from the Mexicans, and sell them to the American tourists, always at the official standard exchange rate of 8.65-to-1, less their accommodatingly-low service charge of only one percent.

Until a disastrous freeze wiped out the current citrus crop in the fabulous Lower Valley of Texas, Sanborn's did a large office business shipping one-dozen cartons of big Ruby Red-blush grapefruit to lovers of good things to eat in the North, and served fresh orange juice to tourists. But they won't be shipping grapefruit and squeezing oranges

Popular Tour To Nassau Offered By General Travel Co.

DALLAS — The popularity of Nassau as a summer resort is growing by leaps and bounds if reservations for accommodations are any indication, reports Dana Monroe, owner of the General Travel Co., Dallas and Midland.

Popular last year with an increase of 151 percent over the previous year, expectations are that travel to the beautiful Bahamas will zoom again this year.

Most popular tour offered by General Travel Co. is the seven-day "package" which sells for $233.40. This is an all-expense trip by air from Dallas and includes choice of hotels, sightseeing and shopping, breakfast and dinner.

Entertainment facilities have been accelerated to provide a wide range of glamour formerly confined to the winter season. These include night clubs, floorshows, yachting and sailing, moonlight picnics and fishing of all kinds.

again until next winter when the new crop comes on.

The only thing of its kind in the Texas Lower Valley, Sanborn's is fast becoming a "must" for tourists who take the increasingly popular McAllen route to Mexico. Even those who enter Mexico by other routes—like Laredo, El Paso or Brownsville—find it worth their while to return to the States through McAllen, where at Sanborn's they can convert what's left of their Mexican money into good old American dollars, pick up their nail, and catch up on what's been happening back home.

Famed Shrine Is Attraction In Quebec

QUEBEC, P.Q. (UPI)—Quebec Province's most famous shrine, Ste Anne de Beaupre, will be a main point of interest on vacation agendas.

Situated on the north shore of the St. Lawrence, only 23 miles from Quebec City, the shrine dates back almost three centuries and is available to tourists the year round. The basilica, new and original shrines, museum, and life-size bronze Stations of the Cross, are all located in the shrine area.

One of the feature attractions to be seen at Ste Anne is the main shrine, which contains five naves, 17 altars, and nearly 120 statues and 350 stained glass windows. Of particular religious significance in this shrine are the statue of Ste Anne, the Mother of Mary; the major relic, a part of Ste Anne's wrist bone; and, in the crypt, a "Pilgrims Information Bureau"; the body of Father Alfred Pampalon; and a chapel for the blessing of religious articles.

The original shrine, built in 1662, has been converted into a memorial chapel and contains, among other things, antique furniture and a miraculous painting. Located just outside this shrine are a mountain and the Scaff Santa, or Holy Stairs, a replica of the 23 steps ascended by Christ during his Passion, which are now in Rome.

For visitors who desire to take part in the religious services, both week-day and Sunday Masses are available, as are evening devotions complete with candle-light processions, confession, Communion and the blessing of religious articles.

Last year more than 1,000,000 people visited the Shrine of Ste Anne de Beaupre; 412,430 received Holy Communion, and 17,000 priests said Mass in the basilica, it was recently announced by the Redemptorist Fathers in charge of the Shrine.

70-Year-Old Is Beginning New Career

PRITCHETT, Tex. (AP)—How to start a new career at 70 has been demonstrated by John E. Garner. He is now 80, and has one of the most successful pine plantations in northeast Texas.

Garner moved to his Upshur County farm 25 years ago, and for 15 years tried to grow field crops. This was hard in the hilly, well-treed country. He tried rotating his crops, he terraced the slopes, he did everything he could think of. But it wouldn't work.

He came to the conclusion that much of his farm should never have been cleared—that it should have been left in native pine trees.

In 1940, at the age of seventy, he did his first tree planting. Unaware he could get seedlings from a state nursery, he dug up 800 wild pine seedlings in the woods and transplanted them. It was hard work, and he was not sure of himself.

Two years later, having learned he could get seedlings from the Indian Mound Nursery, he began a regular program of planting a few more trees each year. Now he has 22 acres of seedlings of various ages and sizes.

Garner wrote to the Texas Forest Service for more information about pruning, spacing and timber management. He learned to cup, rake and haul off undergrowth as a protection against forest fires. His forest floor is as clean as a garden. The trees are large enough now so that he can run livestock in the area. That will help keep down the underbrush.

"I wouldn't take $100 an acre for my pines, and they have enhanced the value of my farm in no small way," says the 80-year-old.

"I didn't start planting trees with the thought in mind of realizing any returns from them, because of my age. I was merely eager to learn what could be done with planting and to demonstrate it."

Britain Does Well To Stop Rubber Shipment To China

By DEWITT MACKENZIE, AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Spurred by pressure both at home and abroad, the British government announced that it is cutting off all rubber exports to Communist China for the balance of this year.

That is to say, Britain agrees to eschew this vastly important phase of what is in effect trade with the enemy. For Red China has joined with Bolshevik Russia in an unholy alliance to destroy the democracies. Moreover, Peiping has been branded an aggressor by the United Nations for her assault on Korea.

This step by our principal foreign ally will be received with appreciation and relief in America. And we shall do well not to indulge in holler-than-thou boasting of our own immaculate way of trade. We shouldn't forget how we continued to pour oil and iron into Japan when she obviously was on the rampage just before Pearl Harbor.

Britain's action strengthens the belief that Britain (and France) may back up America's proposal in the UN for a world-wide embargo against shipping arms, ammunition and war material to Red China and North Korea.

Of course the most effective embargo would be an all-out restriction of every form of trade. However, a few crumbs are better than no bread.

The announcement regarding the halt on rubber exports was made in the House of Commons after former Prime Minister Churchill, conservative leader, had called for an immediate stoppage of all British rubber shipments to Red China. He declared that the government's rubber policy and Britain's recognition of Communist China in 1949, were impairing Anglo-American relations. He thought that stoppage of the rubber trade would "clear the air."

Certainly Britain's action may be expected to help "clear the air." After all, nothing could be more illogical than for the democracies to lend support to a nation like Bolshevik China which is making war on the United Nations forces in Korea.

Just because rubber isn't an atomic weapon is no proof that it can't be used to help kill American and British soldiers, for it can. Rubber is a mighty important item in war.

Churchill's appraisal of the position displays the shrewd common sense for which he is famous. He emphasizes the importance of keeping Anglo-American relations on a sound level.

That strikes this columnist as putting a finger on a problem of top priority. Our two nations form the vital keystone in the structure of the democracies which are battling communism. There is nothing more important than to maintain the community of interest and of efforts.

Churchill thinks the stoppage of rubber shipments to Red China "might well be the prelude to a whole hearted agreement with the United States." Thus the British action move becomes one of more than ordinary importance.

Ground cork is still used for bottle stoppers, but the larger quantity goes into insulation for refrigerated structures; coverings for cold pipes and gaskets; and cork floor tile.

Sun Valley Exchanges Winter Blanket For Green Of Spring

SUN VALLEY, Ida. — Spring, adjacent to the pond at the heart of the village green, is here, and Sun Valley has exchanged its mantle of white for green.

Up on the loftiest mountain peaks, a frosting of snow remains, but at the middle high valley floor the Union Pacific resort already is donning its summer finery.

Golf course greens are bright with new grass, and gardeners are cutting spring flowers in the sun-drenched gardens near the Lodge.

Everywhere there is nature's annual miracle that in a brief few weeks transforms the nation's most famous snow sport-center into a mountain ranch ablaze with gay flowers and shrubs of the West.

By June 1, Sun Valley will be ready for its summer season. Focus over the warm-weather months is to be on the new "Forty-Niner" package vacation — a week's stay, including room, board and swimming for only $49.

Room rates at Challenger Inn again will start at $6 a day, and go as high as $14, and, at the Lodge, rooms also will begin at $8 and go to $40 for deluxe suites with private sundeck.

As always, guest attire at Sun Valley will be practical and informal. This is not a "dressy" resort.

Since early April, Sun Valley has been taken over by workmen who have swarmed through the resort adding new facilities for the summer and sprucing up the entire village in its annual spring checkup.

Number one addition is a new outdoor dining patio stretching the entire length of the Continental at the Challenger Inn. Shaded from the midday sun by striped awnings, the patio is designed for cool relaxation.

However, luxurious service always is available. For example, children may be kept for hours at a time at a supervised nursery — playground at no cost. Shops in the Lodge and at Challenger Inn stock clothes, gifts, drugs, flowers, books, and magazines. There is a beauty shop, a barbershop, otopathic rooms, and a complete hospital.

Sun Valley, in short, is a complete community and, dominating the lovely array of summertime, it is at its most glorious, combining big city facilities with a frontier location in the midst of the beautiful Sawtooth mountains.

KANABEKA FALLS—A group of U. S. editors, guests of the Province of Ontario, speculate on Kanabeka Falls, whose 122-foot drop is equal to 1 not a little higher than Niagara Falls. Just outside the twin cities of Fort Arthur and Fort William at the Canadian Lakehead, it is typical of the rugged beauty and power of Ontario's northland.

Cruises Promise A Carefree Vacation

In announcing its 1951 schedules and the itineraries of its two popular cruise ships — the S. S. North American and S. S. North American — The Georgian Bay Line points out that Texas planning vacation visits to states bordering our great inland seas may enjoy a full week of carefree days afloat on one of these 2200-mile Great Lakes cruises, which traverse some of the most beautiful and historic sections of the Continent.

Commencing June 16, and on each Saturday thereafter through Labor Day, the oil-fueled S. S. North American will sail from Buffalo on her "Adventure Cruise" through to Duluth and return. This itinerary includes stopovers at Cleveland and Detroit, before heading north through Lake Huron to visit colonial Mackinac Island and continuing up the beautiful St. Mary's river and over the famous Soo Locks into Lake Superior. Enroute to Duluth, visits are made to Munising and Houghton on the Superior shoreline of the Upper Peninsula. The trip ends the following Saturday morning at Buffalo.

The S. S. North American simultaneously sails each Saturday out of Chicago to Buffalo and return on its "Voyager Cruise." Its weekly itinerary includes double stopovers at Mackinac Island and goes through beautiful Georgian Bay, with its 30,000 islands, for a stop of several hours at Midland, Ontario, where the famous Martyrs Shrine is an international historic landmark. It then heads south down Lake Huron on to Detroit, Cleveland, and Buffalo. Completes its seven-day trip at Chicago the following day.

FOLLOWS HISTORIC ROUTES
The routes of each of these itineraries closely parallels those of the early adventurers and voyagers as they sought in those yesteryears for the fabled "Northwest Passage" and implanted the French tricolor over forts along all this vast part of what was then Colonial France. Much of the Upper Great Lakes still remains primitively enchanting.

Both the S. S. North American and the S. S. South American were designed and built exclusively for Great Lakes cruising. They carry no freight and are literally "floating hotels" insofar as accommodations, cuisine and social and recreational activities are concerned.

Vacationists driving north may leave their car at any of the Great Lakes' ports-of-call and enjoy seven unforgettable days afloat, free from all care and filled with enjoyment. Either ship may be boarded at Buffalo, Cleveland or Detroit for the seven-day all-expense cruise. From Detroit, a choice of the five days covering the Upper Lakes may be made. From Chicago only the "Voyager Cruise" may be taken on the North American. These two cruise ships will be the only ones making regular weekly sailings out of Great Lakes ports this season. Chorus Sings For Kiwanis
A musical program by the Woodrow Wilson School Chorus entertained Kiwanians at their luncheon meeting Friday.

Special guest and speaker was Lt. Gov. Roy Bass. Harley Bull, in charge of the program, introduced H. A. Yoder, principal of Woodrow Wilson, who announced the program. Miss Evelyn Clayton directed her chorus in six selections.

Another special number was performed by the third grade group from the school with a folk dance. They were accompanied by John Campbell, third-grade student. Accompanist for the chorus was LaVada Naylor.

This meeting was also Ladies Day at Kiwanis with nine wives of members as guests. Bass spoke on "Less Loveless Love." The things most needed in modern marriage and what would keep divorce rate down are loyalty, more leisure, more laughter, more courtesy and more pleasure in giving," he said.

Bandera Due To Secede

BANDERA, Tex. — If you get fed up with the United States in the spring, come to Bandera and secede.

The Free State of Bandera annually secedes (for three days) when spring opens the tourist season in the dude ranch country.

The three action-filled days are called the Bandera Stompede. And how they do stomp.

The 1951 Stompede was held last week end and brought more than 30,000 people swarming into this little town of 1,019 people.

The Stompede got its start in 1948 when the "Free State of Bandera" wrote two letters to President Truman asking for a National Cowboy Holiday.

President Truman, apparently not in a letter-writing mood, didn't answer them. The letters were signed by Zeke, a mythical "high constable" of Bandera.

The President's indifference got tempera riled here, and secession followed. A pair of blue jeans was chosen as the Free State's flag. Cotton Eyed Joe is the national anthem.

In Bandera during the Stompede, you can let your hair down, go western, rip, roar and snort, and generally do anything you're big enough to do. Texas' most beautiful girls enter the Bell Cow Cowbelle beauty contest, won this year by Dianne Muennink of Hondo.

Bandera's long line of gaudy, noisy night clubs and cafes are packed to overflowing as western bands grind out the best in western music. Rodeos, street parades, beard judging contests, old settlers reunions and other events intersperse Bandera's greatest attraction — the opportunity for bored tourists to blow their tops.

One of the beauty contest judges this year was Jake Trussell, a Kingsville newspaperman. He and Mrs. Trussell decided to drive across the city about 9:30 p.m. Saturday night.

"Traffic was so thick, so jammed, and the streets so full of milling people that it took us an estimated 45 minutes to an hour to drive the two-mile distance," Trussell recalled.

"About 1 a.m. Sunday morning we tried futilely to get an order of ham and eggs in Bandera. There were so many persons in every cafe that we either could not get served or, when we did get a waitress, it was the same story over and over: 'out of food until tomorrow.'"

"But the Trussells liked it. They blew their tops with the rest of them."

"I've seen my first Stompede, but it won't be my last. When the Free State of Bandera once again stompedes from the Union, in 1952, I'll be back."

Cook's Tours Of Europe In Great Demand

"Demand for travel reservations to Europe has increased steadily in the past few weeks, and may equal that of last year." This optimistic statement by Bill Lacy, manager of European Escorted Tours for Thomas Cook and Son, is reflected in Cook's new booklet, "Escorted Tours of Europe, 1951." The new booklet, just issued, contains tour itineraries and fares for 23 "Popular Tours" and 20 "Select Tours," making a total of 43 escorted jaunts around Europe this year, as compared with only 38 trips announced in a similar booklet published last year for the 1950 season.

This year's Escorted Tour booklet, Lacy pointed out, not only offers a larger number of departures than last year, but it also embraces a longer season, which started with the departure from New York, on the Queen Mary, of "Select Tour" 805 on March 30, and will end with the final departure of the season, of "Popular Tour" 723 on Sept. 18, via the Queen Elizabeth.

Other tours offer trans-Atlantic crossings on board the Ile de France, Liberté, America, and the new luxury liners, "Independence" and "Constitution" via the Mediterranean ports. Air crossings by Constellation and Stratocruiser are offered in connection with all the tours, as a service to tourists who wish to spend a minimum of time away from business or other activities.

Countries visited in Europe include Great Britain, France, Italy, Switzerland, Belgium, Holland, West Germany, Austria, Denmark, Norway and Sweden. All tours include five to eight days in Paris, and from seven to 10 days in and around London. Adequate time is allotted in these and other important cities for sightseeing, shopping, and other individual activities. The tours spend varying periods in Europe, ranging from 34 days for Tour 721, at an inclusive fare of $133.50 to 72 days in Europe for Tour 708 with inclusive fares of $192.50.

According to oculists, six or seven persons in every 10 need corrective eye treatment, but only two in 10 obtain it. Rats settled in America from both the Atlantic and Pacific shores.

Don't Make Budget Too Difficult

LUEBOCK (AP) — Making out a household budget? If you are, be careful. Budgets can cause short tempers around the house. An impractical budget can discourage you forever from planning future expenditures.

Students in the foods and nutrition department of Texas Tech college here have been studying budget-making. In the belief the high cost of living may be prompting homemakers to plan budgets, the college has issued a guide:

1. The budget should not be too rigid.
2. Plan the budget for your own family; don't use someone else's financial plan.
3. Plan for unexpected costs — the bugaboo factor which often throws a budget out of kilter. This means regular contributions to an emergency fund.
4. Plan menus a week in advance. This will allow planned use of left-overs, volume buying, and most of all will allow you to estimate food costs.

The Texas Tech experts had some other suggestions: Plant a garden if possible. Plan to do some home canning and preserving—or freezing.

"A budget tailored to your family, if flexible, can be fun and workable at the same time," says the college. "It will save tempers and money."

Wheeler Firemen Join Association

WHEELER (Special) — The Wheeler Fire Department is now a member of the Panhandle Firemen and Fire Marshals Assn. At the convention held in Shamrock on Tuesday Fire Commissioner H. W. Coffman acted as spokesman of the group as it joined the association. A large percentage of the Wheeler volunteers attended the convention.

The City Council voted at their last meeting to send two firemen to the short course in fire fighting held at College Station in July. At the fire meeting Thursday, Carroll Pettit, Harvey Wright, and Chief Jack Garrison were selected to attend. Chief Garrison attended the course last year.

Lionel Barrymore's Memoirs Reveal Sentimental Person

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — That master of the growl and rumble, Lionel Barrymore, has told his memoirs and they reveal him to be as sentimental as any of us. The reminiscences have come out under the title "We Barrymores." They were told to Cameron Shipp, the sage of Glendale who also listened to Billie Burke's remembrances. The book is full of gruff, self-effacing anecdotes, as well as warm recollections of Lionel's fellow workers. This is how he discusses some of them:

John Barrymore — "My Brother's real and earnest and lifelong ambition was to be a painter. Like me, he made his bid early and failed. He even went so far, once, as to persuade Maurice (his father) to put money for lessons in the hands of the art students league; but eager as he was to learn and to escape, trapping Jack Barrymore in a classroom was like tethering a he-fawn in a cell. He broke loose in one day and escaped."

Greta Garbo — "I worked with her in 'The Temptress' in 'Carmilla,' in 'Mata Hari' and in 'Grand Hotel' without getting to know her. . . . her unpretentiousness was so extreme that it amounted almost to a malady. She appeared and disappeared as silently as a wraith. . . ."

Margaret O'Brien — "I soon realized that Margaret could perform like no youngster I or anybody else had ever seen. When she takes over, you might as well imagine yourself a design on the wallpaper. You could stand on your head and no audience would notice you."

Spencer Tracy and Lew Ayres — "Tracy is a master of the art of throwing lines away. The best lines of any author are barely audible, so casual is Spencer. The only other actor who comes anywhere near him in this department is Lew Ayres: I should ask no better entertainment than to watch a scene between these two men."

Ethel Barrymore — "In 1949 Ethel celebrated 83 years on theater and sound stage and her 70th birthday as MGM put her party on the wireless to what seemed like cosmic applause — and to me like simple justice. My sister, after all, is the champion. She has licked the only unlickable person — time himself."

Tidelands Controversy A Warning On Dictatorship

(Editor's Note: Curtis Douglas, prominent Pampa attorney, has studied the controversy between the federal government, the states and oilmen who have leases from the states for submerged lands. Douglas sees the fight is going deeper than a decision on which power shall have jurisdiction. Rather, it is a fight now to determine the status of state sovereignty. Here is presented in three installments, his views as presented to Pampa oilmen recently.)

The Supreme Court in the California case decided that the State of California did not have title to its tidelands, thereby nullifying and repealing law that had existed, been reiterated and acted upon without even serious question throughout the life of the nation. After the California case came the Texas case against Texas and Louisiana.

The opinions by the Supreme Court was the same against the State of Louisiana and the same against Texas, notwithstanding the fact that the latter states was once a Republic and by special treaty arrangement was annexed to the United States with the solemn treaty obligation on the part of the United States that it would recognize the State of Texas' right to its public domain.

To my way of thinking the facts and conclusions stated in the Supreme Court's opinions in these three cases are, indeed, not a logical legal opinion based upon reason, but are a new type of legislation enacted not by our legislative branch of the government, but by the judicial, and has every earmark of outright confiscation; if this decision is followed to its logical conclusion, constitutional guaranty for the protection of property rights in general are of no avail when the covetous eye of the executive department of our federal government falls upon a particular property.

Listen to what the court said in this opinion. "The crucial question on the merits is not merely who owns the bare legal title to the lands under the marginal sea. The United States here asserts rights to two capacities transcending those of a mere property owner. In one capacity, it asserts the right and responsibility to exercise whatever power and dominion are necessary to protect this country against dangers to the security and tranquility of its people incident to the fact that the United States is located immediately adjacent to the ocean. The government also appears in its capacity as a member of the family of nations. In that capacity it is responsible for conducting proper exercise of these constitutional responsibilities required that it have power, unencumbered by state commitments always to determine what agreements will be made concerning the control and use of the marginal sea and the land under it. ... In the light of the foregoing, our question is whether the state or the federal government has the 'paramount right' and power to determine in the first instance when, how and by what agency foreign or domestic, the oil and other resources of the soil of the marginal sea known or hereafter discovered may be exploited."

This is a disturbing opinion because it pronounces a dangerous doctrine, namely that the government's decision was based on two rights, that of national defense and the conduct of international affairs, and the Court said that the United States in asserting such rights in two capacities transcended the rights of a mere property owner. California, Texas nor Louisiana, nor any other state, since the beginning has ever questioned the United States government's control of the navigable waters and everything pertaining thereto that could affect the government's use thereof for purposes of commerce, national defense, or any other right or authority of the federal government.

From the beginning of the operation for the production of oil in Tideland water lands every location for an oil derrick or other structure was submitted to and approved by the federal government before same was constructed. On the other hand, this paramount control that the Supreme because in preserving this principle in our government, I see only hope in avoiding a government of socialism and dictatorship.

The movement for States' Rights is not a political party. It is simply a few million Americans dedicated to returning this government to the basic American principles of states' rights, constitutional government and individual freedom.

Those Americans who believe in this principle refuse to go along under any circumstances with either of the two major political parties when these does not change. Political expediency has no effect upon it. It stands as the symbol and foundation of basic constitutional government regardless of either political minds, fringe minorities or the election or defeat of politicians.

Rig Activity Takes Jump

DALLAS — A total of 2509 rotary rigs were active in oil fields of the United States and Canada for the week of May 7, according to a report to American Assn. of Oilwell Drilling Contractors by Hughes Tool Co. This total compares with 2492 reported operating a week ago 2465 a month ago and with 2129 in comparable month of 1950.

FORT WORTH LADY LOSES 20 POUNDS

"I like Barconate very much. It has done wonders for me," writes Mrs. T. V. Pace, Route 5, Box 150, Fort Worth, Texas. "When I commenced to take Barconate, I weighed 148. I had high blood pressure. I have now taken four bottles and lost 20 pounds, do not have high blood pressure, sleep and feel fine. It is a wonderful medicine."

Many people have reported amazing results with this home recipe. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drugist and ask for 4 ounces of liquid Barconate. Add four level teaspoons of lemon juice and 12 ounces of canned grapefruit juice. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regulate slender, more graceful curves, if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic, from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back.

Activity Increases In Panhandle Area

Activity quickened somewhat in the Panhandle field last week as operators increased new locations to 18 compared to the 13 reported the week ended May 8. Completions were boosted also, largely due to nine new gassers. A total of 17 completions were filed with the railroad commission compared to seven reported the preceding week. Of the 17 wells finalized, five were oilers, nine gassers and three were dry holes.

Superior Oil Co. filed intent to deepen on the No. 1 W. T. Howard "A", wildcat in Oldham County. Hooper and Duke carried the hole below 6,000 feet. Total increased oil potential was 328 barrels, the same as reported the previous seven-day period while gas potentials totalled 27,181 MCF.

It's a Fireball Engine!

Here's Where the Pounds Pay Off

No other car provides all this:

CITIZENS BANK & TRUST CO.
"A Friendly Bank With Friendly Service"
Temporary Quarters - 106 N. Russell

First thing that people notice when they take over a Buick is the sure-footed stance this fine automobile has on the road.

You head into a curve and hold firm and true. You travel a turnpike without sway or wander.

While your wheels may dance when you hit a stretch of washboard gravel—your car holds its level course.

A lot of things account for this beautifully poised performance, but it starts with stalwart structure and ample weight—plenty of pounds where pounds are needed.

Please don't get us wrong. This isn't "deadweight." Though a Buick like the one pictured here tips the scales at more than two tons, it's as nimble as an antelope at play.

It has a generous hoodful of valve-in-head Fireball power—packing a powerful punch of velvet velocity.

It comes with the smooth magic of Dynaflow Drive*—a lightness of steering that's gently responsive to a lady's hand—a front-end geometry that's pure genius—the finest brakes ever put on a Buick.

And every wheel rides on shock-eating coil springs that are carefree and trouble-free for the life of your car.

You'll also find—by a few moments of simple arithmetic—that the pounds in this bounteous beauty pay off in another way. On a cents-per-pound basis, it will cost less to buy than anything else near its weight and power and size.

Why not visit us real soon—like the first thing tomorrow—and let us show you why you and your budget will both be happy with this Buick?

Astrology Is Controversial But Horoscope Fad Hits Here

By WANDA CAMPBELL
 It's a curious thing.

Once astrology was accepted by the wisest and most influential people of ancient times — kings, philosophers, generals and statesmen.
 Now astrology, said to be the oldest science in existence, is in an age of controversy.
 It's no longer accepted in many regions, but in some states the "horoscope fad" is in full swing, and the fire is spreading. It's hit Pampa.

In local book stands it was learned that the daily astrology guides are very popular reading. An amazing number of people tuck the guides in hip pockets or inside shopping bags, and it seems that, though the majority do not believe what they read, they still possess just a curious urge to "see what the stars say."

People have an undeniable wish to look into the future. Everyone's groping for the answer to his problems. Not so, the astrologers of Babylon. They were interested in what was in store for the nation rather than the individual.

The wisdom of Chaldean astrologers spread to Greece and to the Western World and to the Orient before the Christian era. At first just horoscopes of royal families were read, but now they are open to everyone.

One of the foremost authors of astrology books is Evangeline Adams who is always very careful to point out that horoscopes do not teach fatality. A horoscope does not pronounce sentence — it just gives warning.

"Remember that chemists were once thought of as black magicians," one local astrologist said, "and though people think astrology is groundless they are gradually realizing that it's the most exact of all sciences."

They claim that imperfections of a geological record may mislead a geologist, error in analysis may stump the chemist but the astrologer takes data from observations which interests of astronomy and navigation require to be absolutely faultless!

This science also claims assistance in diagnosing disease. Some years ago physicians put aside prejudice and like the physicians of olden times, took advantage of the findings of astrology.

Not so today. One prominent local doctor said such doctors were before our time, but he explained that many people will not come for operations unless the "sign is right."

"Many of my patients read horoscopes," he said, "and I make it a point never to laugh at a person's belief."

He recalled performing five operations — all "in the right sign" — but three of those five had post-operative hemorrhage. Before that he had not had a hemorrhage in a year.

Another man who is under the sign of water is supposed to be in conflict with his wife, who is under the fire sign. They have been happily married for many years, though they should have never "got along" according to the stars.

One man glancing over his daily horoscope in a news stand found that he was in the wrong profession — after several years in another business.

In California many persons have their own astrologists and attend night classes on the subject. And some local people read the signs of the stars and keep horoscopes.

Though the horoscope just gives a pattern to follow, sometimes predictions are given. The Truman-MacArthur clash was predicted and other astrological accuracies go back farther than any science, it is said.

Had we lived in the 16th Century we would all read the astrological publications which were endorsed by kings.

But today we have a choice of SEEING STARS?—Mrs. James Scarberry, 1325 Christine, looks at just a few of the some 20 different horoscope magazines that are reportedly "very popular" with many Pampa people. Astrology is Mrs. Scarberry's hobby and she has sold several articles to various monthly astrological magazines. (News Photo)
