Trapped Americans Fight Through Chinese Barrier

Blue Skies Welcomed In Pampa; Plainview Swims

RUSHING, ROARING WATERS of Lake McClellan slowly eat away at the bottom of the spillway...

Spillway At McClellan Is Breaking Up

Blue skies and bright sunshine got a hearty welcome from Pampans today after three days of downpour...

Boiling out of Lake McClellan with terrific force, tons of water were still cascading madly over the partially broken spillway...

With the McClellan dam reported "secure," the spotlight shifted to Plainview where about 25 families were forced from their homes by high water...

SURPRISE! — Melveta Elkins was a surprised young lady yesterday when the sun finally broke through bright enough to cast a shadow after the Panhandle was drenched with record-breaking rains...

Reds Pressing Gigantic Drive Across Front

TOKYO (AP)— Trapped elements of an American division fought through massed Chinese in east-central Korea Friday as the Reds pressed a gigantic offensive on the entire front with callous disregard for the slaughter of their own men.

The thousands of Communist losses were staggering, but by sheer weight of numbers the Reds were pushing back the UN line across Korea and had gained as much as 20 miles in three days of bloody attack.

In the west, Red columns reached within 10 miles of Seoul. Fighting raged on both the eastern and northern approaches to the old South Korean capital.

Two South Korean units were badly mauled. It was the foldup of the South Koreans that exposed the right flank of the Americans. The threatened U.S. infantrymen piled up the Reds with machinegun fire.

A spectacular artillery barrage helped one unit escape the Chinese block. The big guns raged the Americans as they moved south and held the Chinese at bay.

Other elements of the American division were holding firm. It was not clear from closely censored field reports whether the hole through which the Chinese were pouring had been plugged.

Across the flaming warfront the Communists pressed forward in human sea waves despite massed artillery fire.

IFRIF'S HOW TO CATCH 'EM! — Roy Huff, east of Pampa, points to a nine to 10 inch catfish he caught under his car while driving from Amarillo to Pampa Wednesday night...

When It Rains, Pampa Finds It Really Pours

Whoever originated a salt company's slogan knew what they were saying when they phrased, "when it rains, it pours!"

For almost three days Pampa was drenched in a steady downpour, that only occasionally turned to a drizzle. Streets were filled curb-high with rushing water, and gullies became lakes.

Through all this, even with threat of a serious flood at Lake McClellan, Pampans went about business as usual. Schools held classes, local stores were operating, and of course, everyone talked about the weather!

One woman from Groom was stranded here Wednesday afternoon after driving here on business earlier in the day. Roads were impassable in virtually every direction Wednesday.

Roy Huff, 10 miles east of Pampa, tells a tall fish tale. Traveling from Amarillo to Pampa Wednesday night he drove off the road into deep water when he was unable to see highway markers.

Can anyone match that one? A man from their City Water Dept. had to "thumb it" across the country club golf course and into town after his pick-up was stranded.

And the leaders of 57 major civilian industries were called to meet today to discuss with the National Production Authority (NPA) government plans to cut their metal supplies by 30 to 35 percent below pre-Korea levels.

The proposed cuts were announced only yesterday.

The announcement was made only a few hours after President Truman appealed anew for stronger controls and defense production programs.

Service Today For Hamilton Infant

Graveside services for Lytleton Guy Hamilton, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hamilton, 418 N. West, were to be held at 11 a.m. today at Fairview Cemetery with Rev. E. Douglas Carver officiating.

The baby died Tuesday at a local hospital. Funeral services were postponed because of the weather. Other survivors are his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Lowrey, McLean, Mrs. Martha A. Noel, McLean and C. P. Hamilton, Jr., Alabaster; great grandparents, O. G. Stokely, McLean; Mrs. Nellie Brown, Pampa, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Lowrey, Potts, Ark. and C. P. Hamilton, Sr., Mangum.

Bomb Thrown At Architect's Home

JOLIET, Ill. (AP)— A bomb exploded at the home of a prominent Joliet architect today, breaking some windows in a two-block area.

Police said the bomb exploded on the porch of the eight-room home of Levon S. Cron, Joliet, who was unsuccessful candidate for Joliet mayor last April 3.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)— A vessel, smoke coming from a raging waterfront fire swept through a pier and a cargo ship on the Delaware River today.

Police said they believed one crewman was trapped aboard a blazing cargo ship, the Pineland from Leith Scotland. At least a dozen other crewmen jumped into the water as the burning vessel parted its mooring lines and drifted toward an adjoining pier. Some were taken to nearby hospitals.

Equalization Board Named:

Increase Looms In Pampa Water Rate

A 10 percent across-the-board increase in city water rates loomed yesterday afternoon shortly after the city commission elected its three-man board of equalization during an extended commission meeting.

Continuing their Tuesday session after failing to agree on a board of equalization, the commissioners yesterday named E. C. Sidwell, C. P. "Doc" Pursley, and Aubrey Steele to the equalization board. The vote was unanimous.

The city commission was in agreement too that city employees' salaries are inadequate to meet current costs of living, and the low pay is costing the municipal government valuable personnel.

City Manager Dick Pepin revealed the city lost one policeman and three firemen in one week; two pumpers also quit and the street department has lost several men.

Pepin told the commission he was considering 10 percent increases for the lowest salary brackets and smaller percentage hikes for higher bracket employees.

Some employees, including himself, would receive no increase. But the problem was finding the money to meet the salary hikes. An increase in taxes was out. That left only the water rates to work with.

The city manager estimated a 10 percent across-the-board increase in rates would bring an approximate increase of $1,600 to $1,700 revenue per month. However, Pepin added, he would not recommend an increase in the $1.50 minimum rate for private residences. That rate would remain the same.

Of the 4,632 water customers during July of last year only 609, or 13 percent, were domestic users that had minimum bills.

If the 10 percent increase is tacked to water rates, it would mean, domestically, $1.50 for the first 3,000 gallons (no increase); 44 cents for the next 5,000 gallons; 33 cents for the next 92,000 gallons; and excess at 22 cents.

The commercial rates would go up to a $2.20 minimum bill; 44 cents for the next 5,000 gallons; 33 cents for the next 92,000 gallons; and 22 cents in excess. Lawn rates would jump to $3.30 for the first 8,000 gallons; the next 15,000 at 22 cents per thousand gallons; and 15 cents per thousand in excess.

Pepin, along with City Attorney Bob Gordon, were instructed to draw up an ordinance covering the rate increase and submit it to the commission next Tuesday for consideration and changes.

U.S. Navy Gives Christmas Party

TORRANCE, Calif. (AP)— Christmas came late for 38 all-glass children at the Harbor General Hospital. The U. S. Navy played Santa Claus.

Headed by Chaplain A. L. Dominy, a detail of men representing the cruiser Juneau handed out gifts yesterday to the delighted youngsters.

The crew didn't have the opportunity last Dec. 25 to hold its traditional Christmas Party for orphans and needy children. The Juneau was engaged in the UN evacuation at Korea's Hungnam beachhead.

When the cruiser pulled into Long Beach two weeks ago, the sailors laid plans for a belated Yule celebration.

Scout Circus Is Postponed

The rains have caused another of "life's little disappointments."

Cub Scouts from Pampa and Panhandle were to have a circus tonight at the junior high school gymnasium, but the majority of the dens that were to participate are water-bound, according to the scout office.

Roads between here and Panhandle have made it impossible for the boys to make the trip and the Pampa Cub leaders think it better to postpone the event.

Tentative plans are to hold the circus next Friday — if weather permits.

U.S. Ambassador Resigns Position

WASHINGTON (AP)— George A. Garrett, first U. S. ambassador to Ireland, has resigned for reasons and President Truman accepted his resignation yesterday. It is effective May 31.

Garrett is a native of Lacrosse, Wis., who had been a banker and broker here before being named to the diplomatic post in 1947, first as minister and then as ambassador.

No successor has been named as yet.

Skelly Gives Wage Boost

Skelly Oil Co. employees late yesterday afternoon won wage increases up to the 10 percent allowable set by the federal government as negotiations between the company, the Oil Workers Union and Federal Mediator Ethan A. Walker were concluded.

The prepared release given the press did not say whether the increase was retroactive or if it was scaled in accordance with various wage brackets.

After days of negotiating, representatives of the company and union finally arrived at a new working agreement. However, during the wage talks Walker had to negotiate with the union three different times to get them to call off without deadlines.

Walker said the new contract will affect employees at the Kingsmill, Schafer, Crawford, and Watkins gasoline plants, and the East policy, charged Mr. Truman had "deceived the people" with previous declaration of support for MacArthur.

MacArthur, in a statement issued in New York, said his astonishment at Mr. Truman's remarks bordered on incredulity.

He added: "It is difficult to reconcile this with my appointment by him as commander-in-chief of the United Nations command" in Korea. That was last June.

Mr. Truman also told his news conference yesterday the Republicans are trying to overthrow the foreign policy of the United States.

This brought a retort from Senator Brewster (R-Me.), a foreign relations committee member. He told a reporter "we can't overthrow it when we don't know what it is."

The President said he decided he needed a new general in the Far East when MacArthur called on Korea on March 24 to negotiate a truce, in advance of a proposed presidential peace proposal.

MacArthur replied to this, too, in a statement issued by his chief aide, Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney.

The deposed general said he had twice previously tried to obtain a cease-fire agreement, both times "without conferring with the highest authority being taken thereto."

As for the March 24 offer to the Chinese Red commander, MacArthur said:

"Such action on my part could only be regarded as supplementary to and in full support of any political move toward peace unless an agreement was in conclusion."

PHILADELPHIA (AP)— Six persons were killed and at least 21 injured today aboard two crack Pennsylvania railroad passenger trains in a rear end collision near this Philadelphia suburb.

Five bodies were removed from the wreckage of the Philadelphia night express and the Red Arrow. Another was reported located in the debris but not yet removed.

The Philadelphia Express was coming from Pittsburg, the Red Arrow from Detroit to New York.

Maj. G. A. McLaughlin, lower Merion Township police superintendent, who earlier said three bodies had been removed, said none of the dead were identified immediately.

Bryn Mawr hospital reported it had received at least 50 injured.

The extent of their injuries had not been determined.

A spokesman for the PRR said the crash occurred at 5:38 a.m. CST at a peak period of travel on one of the most heavily traveled rail lines in the East.

The spokesman said train No. 68, the Red Arrow, eastbound from Detroit to New York, smashed into the rear of train No. 36, the Philadelphia night express bound from Pittsburg.

The Philadelphia Express had stopped, possibly for a check-up on equipment.

The accident happened about five miles west of the PRR station in Bryn Mawr, a quiet residential suburb.

Truman Plans To Fire Mac A Year Ago Stir New Wrath

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Truman's statement he had considered dismissing Gen. Douglas MacArthur off and on for a year "astonished" the deposed general and stirred critics of the administration to new wrath today.

Senator Hickenlooper, Iowa Republican dissenter on official Far

East policy, charged Mr. Truman had "deceived the people" with previous declaration of support for MacArthur.

MacArthur, in a statement issued in New York, said his astonishment at Mr. Truman's remarks bordered on incredulity.

He added: "It is difficult to reconcile this with my appointment by him as commander-in-chief of the United Nations command" in Korea. That was last June.

Raging Blaze On Waterfront Sweeps Through Pier, Ship

PHILADELPHIA (AP)— A vessel, smoke coming from a raging waterfront fire swept through a pier and a cargo ship on the Delaware River today.

Police said they believed one crewman was trapped aboard a blazing cargo ship, the Pineland from Leith Scotland. At least a dozen other crewmen jumped into the water as the burning vessel parted its mooring lines and drifted toward an adjoining pier. Some were taken to nearby hospitals.

There was no immediate information whether anyone had been caught by the fast-spreading fire on the 800-foot-long Pier 46 South which juts 800 feet into the river in this busy ocean shipping port.

A general alarm summoned all downtown firefighting equipment and three fireboats to the scene as the smouldering Pineland drifted toward Pier 48 South.

The vessel was tied up to Pier 46 when the fire began. Quickly the mooring lines burned through and the Pineland began drifting.

As fireboats poured water on the vessel, smoke coming from the holds mingled with the heavy cloud of fumes from the burning pier, limiting visibility in the area to a few feet.

Firemen said there was some danger the blaze might spread to Pier 48, but they hoped to prevent that.

Edward Kelly, a 23-year-old longshoreman, said he was working on another nearby pier when he saw smoke coming from Pier 46. He and other workers ran to the blaze, saw the Pineland land drift away.

"About a dozen men jumped into the river," he said. "Some slid down ropes from the deck of the ship. We helped pull them out of the water."

Mount Sinai Hospital, closest to the fire scene, said 35 persons had been brought there, one man burned and in serious condition, the others suffering minor injuries and shock upon exposure to the chill water of the river.

OUTSTANDING 4-H BOY—John Lloyd Carruth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Carruth, is pictured with the pair of calves that he showed in this year's Top of Texas Junior Livestock show. These are typical of the calves that have in the last five years won the Pampa youth many honors. His latest achievement came Thursday when he was chosen outstanding 4-H boy of District II which includes Gray county and eight surrounding counties.

Texas Mental Hospitals Slay Overcrowded, Says Director

AUSTIN — (AP) — The state's set up the program. Cox, mental hospitals and special served. schools remain overcrowded. Terrell state hospital is one with several unable to accept of the few where there is no new patients unless an old one waiting list, he said. "We have no record here of a patient being refused admission at Terrell in the last two weeks," he reported. Terrell has a rated capacity of 2,042 patients but has admitted 2,159. The situation will be eased within the next 30 days. As patients with medical standards soon as the school year ends, suggest. Here's the rundown, giving actual admissions first and rates capacity second: Austin State Hospital — 3,255; Big Spring — 533; 471. San Antonio — 3,014; 2,060. Wichita Falls — 2,575; 2,006. ## Pampan Adds More Honors To Record In 4-H Club Work

John Lloyd Carruth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Carruth, has added another honor to his string of achievements in Gray county 4-H club work. John Lloyd, 15, has been recognized as the outstanding 4-H boy of District II in a talent contest sponsored by the Producers Grain Corp. of Amarillo and Extension Service. Purpose of the contest is to recognize outstanding work being done by 4-H club members and to interest young agricultural leaders in co-operative activities. The Pampa youth was selected from a group of nominees from District II which includes the following counties: Lipscomb, Roberts, Gray, Armstrong, Donley, Hemphill, Carson, Wheeler and Collingsworth. A seven-day educational tour for the 16 outstanding 4-H boys and girls is being planned by J. Frank Triplet, general manager of the Producers Grain Corp. Plans are for a tour, beginning August 25, which will take the talent club winners to Denver, Yellowstone National Park, Salt

Lake City and Logan, Utah. They will spend two days on the Colorado A&M campus and also visit outstanding ranches in Colorado. The trip, supervised by the Extension Service, will be made by chartered bus and the return trip will be made by a different route. The local winner has been in 4-H club work since 1945 when he first began a beef cattle project. His calves "stood near the bottom" in the Top of Texas Junior Livestock show that year, but the following year he came back to win second in the senior class and 12th in the junior class. The year 1947 was a "bad luck" year for John Lloyd. It was that year that Robert's county entered the livestock show. In 1948 the winter was hard, but his calves did better than ever before; one placed third and another seventh. Wheeler entered the show that year which stiffened the competition. He placed fifth in the senior class and 14th in the junior class in 1949. In 1950 John Lloyd had seven head of registered Hereford cows and eight head of grade calves which he purchased for commercial feeding. Active in organizing the Gray County 4-H council, John Lloyd has held every office in 4-H club work here. In 1950 the local youth was county winner in the meat animal contest, and won second place in the wheat improvement program. He has won awards in the Sears Swine program, and was one of the highest scoring members of the Gray County grass team that won second in the Amarillo contest in March of this year. He also won a watering tank for having the best pair of calves in the 4-H county show held in connection with the Top of Texas Junior Livestock show this year. In announcing the Pampa boy's honor, Gray County Agent Foster Whaley said, "He is truly an outstanding credit to 4-H club work." John Lloyd, a freshman student at Pampa High School, puts the money he earns into a college fund. He hopes to continue his beef cattle project and build up his herd because he says, "I am going to college and study animal husbandry and this experience will help me." "And experience is something every young Pampa 4-H club worker has — for there's a lot of "know-how" behind each and every honor that has come his way!" In cold weather, the automobile generator charging rate should be stepped up to offset the greater demand set by lower temperatures.

Speaker Claims Loans Doubled

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — The president of the National Savings and Loan League told the annual convention that savings in building and loan savings and loan associations have doubled in the last five years. This, he said, is evidence that individual thrift is at a high peak despite world economic and political conditions.

"Despite the defense emergency," said O. W. Boswell of Paris, Tex., "our savings business as well as our home financing business can be regarded as an all-time peak, and this trend should continue into the fourth quarter of the year at least."

Boswell said government controls on credit and building will

Medical School Gets Body of Great Ape

NEW YORK — (AP) — The embalmed body of Makoko — the lovelorn gorilla who could not swim — was to be shipped today to Harvard University's medical school for study.

The great ape's brain goes to Columbia University.

Bronx Zoo officials yesterday described the 440-pound, 14-year-old gorilla as "the finest specimen in the world."

Because a drop in the number of homes constructed "but insurance companies and other large institutional lenders of that type are withdrawing from the home financing market in many areas, so in reality, savings associations should get an increasing share of the business."

Natural Gas Tax Proposals Discussed

AUSTIN — (AP) — If you're interested in what kind of tax will oil the Texas legislature is going to pass, you've probably been puzzled about the fight over two natural gas tax proposals.

They sound alike because they both would put a pipeline levy of one cent per 1,000 cubic feet of natural gas.

But there's a world of difference in the two propositions. They are so unlike that a rural road-natural gas tax forces in the House fought practically all day yesterday for the right to tell a compromise House-Senate Committee which tax should be adopted.

They want to knock out the so-called Hull-Vick gas tax approved by the Senate. They want to substitute the Sewell gas tax.

Here's an A-B-C on the two measures:

The Senate gas tax plan, offered by Senator Kyle Vick of Waco, is based on a similar levy which Rep. H. A. (Sally) Hull of Fort Worth introduced unsuccessfully in the House last month.

It carries so many exemptions that it would apply almost exclusively to natural gas going outside the state under long-term contracts. It applies only to gas from gas wells, not to the vast amount of casinghead gas from oil wells which also enters pipelines. It would raise an estimated $6,000,000 a year, according to the state comptroller.

Rep. Jim Sewell's bill would tax all natural gas, including casinghead gas, entering pipelines. This would be true whether the gas was meant for use inside or outside of Texas. It would raise an estimated $30,000,000 a year.

Its passage is predicated on the promise that rural road backers then would accept repeal of the Colson-Briscoe act allocating $15,000,000 a year to farm-to-market road construction.

Sewell's plan would allot one-half of the $30,000,000 annual gas tax revenue to rural roads, one-fourth to city streets, and one-fourth to public schools.

House leaders of the majority bloc favoring Sewell's bill are promising to stay in Austin the rest of the year if necessary to force acceptance of their proposal.

The Senate last week rejected an amendment to the omnibus tax bill which would have put in the Sewell provisions. The vote was 20 to 10 against the amendment, and the senators say they aren't likely to change their minds.

The probable outcome is a compromise levying somewhere in the neighborhood of a flat 10 percent tax on the price of gas at the wellhead. That would not quite double the present rate.

Whatever the gas tax increase, it will be only part of the omnibus tax bill, which otherwise raises rates on numerous other items 10 percent over their present level.

The omnibus bill originated in the House and was passed by that body a month ago today. It then carried the same 10 percent increase on natural gas rates that was applied to all other items in the bill, such as playing cards, liquor, crude oil, auto sales, cement, sulphur and more than a dozen other sources of state revenue.

The Senate amended the bill drastically in three ways:

1. By freezing at the present level of $7,300,000 the amount of money which counties would receive in the future from surplus road bond assumption funds.
2. By knocking out the present ear-marking of the remainder of those surplus funds for the highway department's farm road account.
3. By inserting the Hull-Vick pipeline tax on natural gas.

House farm road forces don't like the first amendment because the road bond assumption fund increases each year and counties will continue to get more and more refund if it is not frozen.

They don't like the second amendment because they say it leaves the highway department free to spend its share of the surplus funds for general purposes instead of farm roads.

Supporters of the Hull - Vick plan oppose the Sewell bill because they don't like the idea of taxing one industry for the special purpose of building roads and streets. The Hull - Vick amendment does not ear-mark the revenue it would raise, allowing the money to enter the general revenue fund which foots most of the state's bills for all services.

May I have the rest of the day off, Mr. Wump? I just got a runner in my stocking.

Television Proves Harrowing Ordeal

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK — (AP) — So you want to be a television performer?

Okay, be one. Not me, I'd rather earn a living flapping my wings or sticking my head in a lion's mouth. Things like that don't require so much courage.

But I've learned my lesson. I've learned you don't outgrow stage fright.

Some thirty years or more ago I was given a store role in a program put on for a Parent-Teachers Assn. program at a Kansas City grammar school.

My job was to recite an eight-line poem. At the proper moment I strolled out on the stage and began:

"It isn't raining rain to me—
And suddenly my knees began to vibrate
"It's raining violets."
My brain began to pound. The faces in the audience turned into a gigantic eye that swam toward me with lightning speed. I hesitated.

"It isn't raining rain to me—
My mind reeled. My body shook.

"I-I-I — it's r-r-r-raining da-da-daff-daffodils," I quavered.

The rest of the poem forsook me utterly. I stood there in quaking misery a moment, and then walked off the stage glassy-eyed — like a sleep walker.

To this day I can't remember the rest of that poem. But I can still hear the litters of laughter from that audience.

All my life since then I have detested any occasion I had to get up in public. Well, last week I was ambushed into giving an introduction to an hour-long television drama on the Korean war presented by the Pulitzer Prize Playhouse over the ABC network.

"For days I went around the house trying to memorize my 150 words."

"The war in Korea 'has been going on for a long time," I mumbled. And then everything would go blank.

"I don't see why you're so nervous," Frances said sympathetically. "You don't mind making a fool of yourself at parties."

The day of the program came, and I still couldn't memorize my 150 simple words.

"That's all right," said the director, "just read them."

In the cast was an eight-year-old Chinese-American boy, Larry Lee, who played a Korean orphan.

"Doesn't the camera worry you?" I asked enviously.

"Naw, I like it," he said. "I'm worried about my screen credits. They say I get them at the end of this program, but I like to get them at the beginning."

This boyish aplomb shattered me completely.

The program started. I was seated at a desk waiting, looking into a camera about four feet away. Two little red lights suddenly gleamed. I was on.

And the camera eye immediately seemed to open to the size of the Grand Canyon. Sweat popped out on my forehead. My hands shook. I tried to read as fast as I could, but the 150 words seemed to be as long as "Gone With the Wind." Finally I finished. The red lights winked out, and I was off. I was too weak to get up from the desk.

The next day I came into the office and a fellow worker said: "My wife saw you on television last night."

Korean Mother Describes Life In Her War-Torn Country

HOUSTON — (AP) — The tiny Korean mother in the long black velvet skirt and pink brocade jacket repeated: "What can Americans do for us?"

"We need artificial limbs for our soldiers."

"We need clothes to wear, furnishings for our houses — sheets, towels, soap."

"We need milk for our children."

She is Mrs. Helen Chang, who's trying to run a home in Pusan with 50 persons in 11 rooms and nothing to build on from her gutted home in Seoul.

She's among the more fortunate of the Korean evacuees. In her Pusan house lives her brother-in-law, John Change, prime minister of Korea.

Mrs. Chang left Pusan last Saturday and flew here to attend the National Convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. She was treasurer of the Korean women's federation before war hit their land.

"We had four million women," she said in an interview. "In all the villages the women were organized. We can't tell our numbers now. We are reduced, and it is confusion."

Five women meet at her Pusan home almost every day to plan a program of volunteer work for their women in Pusan.

"We go to the hospitals and visit the sick. Some are nurses. "We have milk stations in many villages for the children — in schoolhouses, in the churches, in our club rooms."

"We meet the United Nations soldiers when they dock at Pusan. Last week we welcomed 1,500 Ethiopian troops. They are so tall people. Everybody is so tall." (Mrs. Chang is five feet tall).

Mrs. Chang estimated that there were 30,000 South Korean men between the ages of 19 to 25 who should be fighting but cannot be trained because of lack of equipment.

"Something was wrong with the defense minister and he is changed and everything will be better now," she said. "The new defense minister is Lee Kibung."

Everyone she knows has great confidence in Gen. Matthew B. Ridgeway, who replaced Douglas MacArthur.

"At first we were very discouraged when General MacArthur left," she said. "But then General Ridgeway came, and now it is the same — we have great confidence in him."

Mrs. Chang is going to Pittsburgh from Houston to visit her husband, John Chang, an exchange professor in fine arts at Pittsburgh University. From there she hopes to go to Dubuque, Iowa, to visit her son, Pius Chang, a student at Laroc University.

Her seven other children, the youngest of whom is eight, still are in Korea.

Civil Service Places Open

The Civil Service Commission recently announced vacancies for a traffic and transportation specialist and a clerk at entrance salaries of $3,100 to $4,600 per annum. Employment will be in various federal agencies in Texas.

A psychologist examination was announced for filling positions in various federal agencies in Washington. These entrance salaries are $3,525 and $4,600 per annum.

To qualify, applicants must pass a written test and must have had appropriate education or experience.

A need for various classes of engineers has developed at federal establishments in many sections of Texas, according to Paul H. Figg, regional director for civil service.

These vacancies will be filled as rapidly as registers of qualified eligibles are established, he said. Applications will be rated on the basis of education and experience.

Further information may be obtained from the commission's local secretary, C. W. Stowell in the post office, from civil service regional office or from national headquarters in Washington, D. C.

Texas Crude Demand Up 39,847 Barrels

AUSTIN — (AP) — Demand for Texas crude oil is a daily 39,847 barrels higher for June than it was for May, the railroad commission announced yesterday.

Crude buyers have indicated they want 2,943,059 barrels daily during June, the commission said. The daily May nomination was 2,903,212 barrels.

Next month's allowables will be set at the statewide oil and gas hearing here Thursday.

Packards are built for priceless folks...like yours!

When the folks you love are involved... you could justify the purchase of a Packard on the basis of superior safety alone.

And if you're obliged to be budget-conscious — that still needn't deprive your family of a Packard. Bear in mind that the solid quality behind Packard safety has a dollars-and-cents payoff in many ways. For example:

- Packard Thunderbolt engines give you more than trustworthy reliability that keeps you in the clear... They pay dividends with: the efficiency of America's highest-compression eights and the service-free simplicity of a design with up to 25% fewer working parts than in engines of comparable power!
- Packard's exclusive Ultramatic Drive gives you more than swift responsiveness, and complete control under all driving conditions. It pays dividends with: No gas-wasting slippage when cruising.
- Those are just a few highlights of the mechanical-life story behind the human-life story of this new 1951 Packard. They help explain why, of all the Packards built—in the last 52 years—over 50% are still in service!

Something to HOLD to

WHAT a privilege and good fortune! Something to hold to in the hour of need! Grateful women and men have called this "something" a "rock in a weary land," a place of refuge from heat and storm, a place to rest when worn and fatigued with the tasks of the day. Others have found it a lamp for their feet, a light upon the pathway a man must take, if he is to arrive at the true goal and destiny of the soul. It is a lamp by whose light we are brought into the larger brightness of One who is "The Light of the World."

It is the Book of Faith, which is "the substance of things hoped for." It gives assurance of the things not seen, but which are eternal. We depend too much on the seen things which vanish in the night and in the hour of peril. This Book brings us to God and to the Power of love and of goodness. Here is the help we must have in the hours of stress and strain, in sorrow and in temptation. If we learn to cling to the Bible and its Truth, we shall discover that the God of the Bible and of Truth will hold us, when we are no longer able ourselves to hold the Book. He who takes the proffered hand of God will discover that the Father's grip will hold us firmly when his own strength fails. We find God and He finds us; we hold on to God and He holds on to us.

TAKE the Bible then in both your hands. Cling to it in days of sunshine and of health and of busy toil. It will bless us in hours of darkness and of sickness and of age. It is as abiding as the Rock of Gibraltar, and as dependable. Hold to it! Your fathers trusted it and its God; they were not ashamed nor were they forsaken.

The Bible Should Not Be Censored

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
"God's mills grind slow but sure," wrote the poet, George Herbert, and that variously re-quoted fact was manifest in the course and destiny of the Southern Kingdom of the Jewish people, the Kingdom of Judah, and the two tribes that remained loyal to Rehoboam, when the 10 tribes revolted under Jeroboam.
That Kingdom lasted for 136 years after the Northern Kingdom fell, but it began under a king, Rehoboam, threatening to chastise his subjects with scorpions, where his father, Solomon, had chastised them with whips. It was a bad beginning, and most of its course, and its kings, continued the evil.
There is, indeed, much of bloodshed and tragedy in the historical books of the Bible, along with so much that is good and noble, that a correspondent who reads my column has suggested that for the reading of the Bible today much of the records of cruelty and bloodshed should be omitted.
It is a suggestion with which I cannot agree, though it is justified in a limited way. It is just that certain parts of the Bible are not well suited for public or family reading, and this fact has led to the compilations of selections well adapted for such use.

Worthwhile HD Club Meets For Program, Business Session

Mrs. Roy Tinsley gave a 10-minute demonstration on "Developing Money Habits in Childhood" at a recent meeting of the Worthwhile Home Demonstration Club. The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. O. G. Smith, and was called to order by the president, Mrs. B. M. Vaught.
Roll call was answered with "My landscape improvement." "Thank you" card was read from Mrs. R. L. Vaught. Mrs. Tinsley and Mrs. R. E. Engle reported on the refinishing school which they had attended, and Mrs. Engle also gave a report on improvements made in her kitchen. She later gave a council report. All committee chairmen were asked to hand in their six-month reports.
Mrs. Mary Anne Duke, home demonstration agent, showed slides on outdoor living rooms. She said outdoor living rooms should have screening plants for privacy, and that in this area screened in or glassed-in living rooms at the side or back of the house are practical. She added "an outdoor living room should be a place for family recreation and for making family plans."
Mrs. D. L. Lunford resigned as chairman of the marketing committee and Mrs. M. L. Robinson was named to succeed her. One new member, Mrs. H. R. Kees, was welcomed into the club. Twelve members, and Mrs. Duke attended the meeting.

A Hymn Is Born

When The Roll Is Called Up Yonder

A little girl fails to answer when her name is called after all. But the next day somebody left a box of new clothes at Bessie's house. Every Sunday after that when James Black called the roll, he looked up and sort of smiled when he came to Bessie's name. But now, for the first time, she failed to answer.
As he walked home that Sunday in 1893 James Black got to thinking that maybe the next time Bessie answered to her name it would be at the great roll call. Then he got to wondering if his own name might be on the same roll.
Besides teaching Sunday School Black loved to play the piano and write poetry. He said that the words for a hymn just seemed to come to him spontaneously and he wrote them down that afternoon. That night he set them to music. Black collected his poems into a little book he called "Songs of the Soul." In the book is the three-verse poem he wrote just before a little girl named Bessie went to answer to her name.
When the trumpet of the Lord shall sound,
And time shall be no more,
And the morning breaks, eternal, bright and fair;
When the saved of earth shall gather
Over on the other shore,
And the roll is called up yonder, I'll be there.
On that bright and cloudless morning
When the dead in Christ shall rise,
And the glory of His resurrection show;

You Can Take A Job And Be A Homemaker

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer
The women who take jobs in factories or offices during the emergency are numerous. Many of them continue to serve as chief homemakers in their family circles.
This new double life can be an interesting experience for you if you remember not to take it "on the double." By putting organization into your double life, you'll be able to walk, not run, to your job each day.
Begin by getting a pencil and pad and sitting down with the family to make up a schedule to be hung in the kitchen. Be realistic about the strains of your new life. Jot down your hours of departure and arrival, the urgent and ever-present chores of shopping for food, cooking, housecleaning, washing and ironing.
When the members of your family see these tasks listed, they'll be more willing to help. Scatter your praise generously and hold back on criticism as the new plan gets under way.
A suggested checklist for your double life might include starting your day with a warm shower that will freshen you and wake you slowly. Make light, cheerful small talk at the breakfast table, avoiding topics that might cause friction.

See that your factory uniform is kept washed and pressed. Or, if it's office work you're doing, have a basic suit, possibly the two-skirt kind, and simple, washable blouses. Don't wear out old party frocks on your job, unless you've remodeled them so they're suitable. Keep your lingerie spotless by mending it every night.
Be sure that you get plenty of high-energy foods in your diet and that you keep a healthy sleeping schedule. If you stay up late one night, go to bed early the next.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE For Tiny Tois
Practical distinction is made between immortal man, made in the image and likeness of God, and the counterfeit called mortal man, in "The Lesson-Sermon entitled "Mortals and Immortals" to be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, May 30. The Golden Text, taken from John 3:6, introduces the theme. It reads, "That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit."
From the Bible will be read this verse from Psalms 100: "Know ye that the Lord he is God: it is he that hath made us, and not we ourselves; we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture." This assertion in the Christian Science textbook further emphasized the subject: "Immortal spiritual man alone represents the truth of creation" ("Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, page 283).
God is All-in-all. He has mercy upon us, and guides every event of our careers.

Hairpiece Is Not Always The Answer For Girl Graduates
By BETTY CLARKE
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor
More false hair is gathering dust in bureau drawers than at any time since Marie Antoinette's time, says New York hairdresser Victor Vito.
Mr. Vito cautions the girl graduate to think twice about the hairpiece. If it is becoming, wear one by all means, if you like. But don't rush out and buy one because you think you'll be the only one out of step. You won't.
The average girl will wear her hair a little longer, come graduation day. But how long is "longer?" Vito thinks the term is widely over-used, and not the least bit informative.
Victor's own interpretation of "a little longer" is a hairdo that keeps the hair short around the face, especially at the sides, letting it graduate to new lengths toward the back. Length of hair, says Victor, is not a fixed rule, but a matter of becomingness. The greatest difference, in actual inches will be from two inches at the sides to seven inches at the back.
The longer the hair is worn at the sides the more pronounced must be the upward curve of the front ends. Hair ends will be turned up or under whichever suits the wearer and her hair texture best. Longer back hair will serve as a perfect anchor for ribbons, bows, flowered tiaras and even chignons.
If your hair isn't a "little longer" in back, don't try to tuck it up with a chignon just to look in style. If you don't have the knack of wearing one, it will only look untidy, and if you pull your hair back tightly vesting her savings in a chignon. If it is becoming, wear one by all means, if you like. But don't rush out and buy one because you think you'll be the only one out of step. You won't.
Bangs are very much in favor and will remain so, says Victor. These can be worn straight waved on top, asymmetrical or any other way that suits your fancy. Fluffiness is another straight road to feminizing it graduate to new lengths toward the back. Length of hair, says Victor, is not a fixed rule, but a matter of becomingness. The greatest difference, in actual inches will be from two inches at the sides to seven inches at the back.

What price good news?
So often it's the price of a telephone call... and that means just a few pennies to spread the glad tidings.
Worth more? Of course. Many telephone calls are practically priceless in their value to you.
And yet the average cost, including tax, of each local telephone call—the big, important calls and the usual everyday variety—is about 2 1/4¢.
Can you think of a better bargain?

Something to HOLD to

WHAT a privilege and good fortune! Something to hold to in the hour of need! Grateful women and men have called this "something" a "rock in a weary land," a place of refuge from heat and storm, "a place to rest when worn and fatigued with the tasks of the day. Others have found it a lamp for their feet, a light upon the pathway a man must take, if he is to arrive at the true goal and destiny of the soul. It is a lamp by whose light we are brought into the larger brightness of One who is "The Light of the World."

It is the Book of Faith, which is "the substance of things hoped for." It gives assurance of the things not seen, but which are eternal. We depend too much on the seen things which vanish in the night and in the hour of peril. This Book brings us to God and to the Power of love and of goodness. Here is the help we must have in the hours of stress and strain, in sorrow and in temptation. If we learn to cling to the Bible and its Truth, we shall discover that the God of the Bible and of Truth will hold us, when we are no longer able ourselves to hold the Book. He who takes the proffered hand of God will discover that the Father's grip will hold us firmly when his own strength fails. We find God and He finds us; we hold on to God and He holds on to us.

TAKE the Bible then in both your hands. Cling to it in days of sunshine and of health and of busy toil. It will bless us in hours of darkness and of sickness and of age. It is as abiding as the Rock of Gibraltar, and as dependable. Hold to it! Your fathers trusted it and its God; they were not ashamed nor were they forsaken.

YOU IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial and molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. You in the Church and the Church in you form a combination for good. Be a regular CHURCH GOER and a daily BIBLE READER.

The Bible Should Not Be Censored

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
 "God's mills grind slow but sure," wrote the poet, George Herbert, and that variously re-quoted fact was manifest in the course and destiny of the Southern Kingdom of the Jewish people, the Kingdom of Judah, and the two tribes that remained loyal to Rehoboam, when the 10 tribes revolted under Jeroboam.
 That Kingdom lasted for 136 years after the Northern Kingdom fell, but it began under a king, Rehoboam, threatening to chastise his subjects with scorpions, where his father, Solomon, had chastised them with whips. It was a bad beginning, and most of its course, and its kings, continued the evil.
 There is, indeed, much of bloodshed and tragedy in the historical books of the Bible, along with so much that is good and noble, that a correspondent who reads my column has suggested that for the reading of the Bible today much of the records of cruelty and bloodshed should be omitted.
 It is a suggestion with which I cannot agree, though it is justified in a limited way. It is obvious that certain parts of the Bible are not well suited for public or family reading, and this fact has led to the compilations of selections well adapted for such use.

Worthwhile HD Club Meets For Program, Business Session

Mrs. Roy Tinsley gave a 10-minute demonstration on "Developing Money Habits in Childhood" at a recent meeting of the Worthwhile Home Demonstration Club. The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. O. G. Smith, and was called to order by the president, Mrs. B. M. Vaught.
 Roll call was answered with "My Landscape Improvement." "Thank you" card was read from Mrs. R. L. Vaught. Mrs. Tinsley and Mrs. R. E. Engle reported on the refitting school which they had attended, and Mrs. Engle also gave a report on improvements made in her kitchen. She later gave a council report. All committee chairmen were asked to hand in their six-month reports.
 Mrs. Mary Anne Duke, home demonstration agent, showed slides on outdoor living rooms. She said outdoor living rooms should have screening plants for privacy, and that in this area screened-in or glassed-in living rooms at the side or back of the house are practical. She added "an outdoor living room should be a place for family recreation and for making family plans."
 Mrs. D. L. Lunford resigned as chairman of the marketing committee and Mrs. M. L. Robinson was named to succeed her. One new member, Mrs. H. R. Kees, was welcomed into the club. Twelve members, and Mrs. Duke attended the meeting.

When The Roll Is Called Up Yonder

A little girl fails to answer when her name is called
 James M. Black walked along the streets of his native Williamsport, Pa., with a heavy heart. Basic had never failed before to answer roll call at Sunday School. Black knew because he called the roll himself. But when Basic didn't answer that morning he called her name a second time. Still she failed to answer and he knew something was wrong. Then somebody said Basic had been suddenly taken ill and doctors held little hope for her.
 To Social Worker James Black, Basic was more than just another recruit for his Sunday School class and young peoples' society. She lived on the other side of the tracks in what was called before the war of the century "The Sawdust City." Black had found her one day sitting on the broken down steps of a broken down house. Of course she would come to Sunday School. She would be there the next Sunday. Then she looked at her ragged clothes and said maybe she couldn't come after all. But the next day somebody left a box of new clothes at Basic's house. Every Sunday after that when James Black called the roll, he looked up and sort of smiled when he came to Basic's name. But now, for the first time, she failed to answer.
 As he walked home that Sunday in 1893 James Black got to thinking that maybe the next time Basic answered to her name it would be at the great roll call. Then he got to wondering if his own name might be on the same roll.
 Besides teaching Sunday School Black loved to play the piano and write poetry. He said that the words for a hymn just seemed to come to him spontaneously and he wrote them down that afternoon. That night he set them to music. Black collected his poems into a little book he called "Songs of the Soul." In the book is the three-verse poem he wrote just before a little girl named Basic went to answer to her name. . . .
 When the trumpet of the Lord shall sound,
 and time shall be no more,
 And the morning breaks, eternal, bright and fair;
 When the saved of earth shall gather
 over on the other shore,
 And the roll is called up yonder, I'll be there.
 On that bright and cloudless morning
 when the dead to Christ shall rise,
 And the glory of His resurrection share;
 When His chosen ones shall gather to their home beyond the skies,
 And the roll is called up yonder, I'll be there.
 Let us labor for the Master
 from the dawn till setting sun,
 Let us talk of all His wondrous love and care;
 Then when all of life is over,
 and our work on earth is done,
 And the roll is called up yonder, I'll be there.

You Can Take A Job And Be A Homemaker

By ALICIA HART
 NEA Staff Writer
 The women who take jobs in factories or offices during the emergency are numerous. Many of them continue to serve as chief homemakers in their family circles.
 This new double life can be an interesting experience for you if you remember not to take it "on the double." By putting organization into your double life, you'll be able to walk, not run, to your job each day.
 Begin by getting a pencil and pad and sitting down with the family to make up a schedule to be hung in the kitchen. Be realistic about the strains of your new life. Jot down your hours of departure and arrival, the urgent and ever-present chores of shopping for food, cooking, housecleaning, washing and ironing.
 When the members of your family see these tasks listed, they'll be more willing to help. Scatter your praise generously and hold back on criticism as the new plan gets under way.
 A suggested checklist for your double life might include starting your day with a warm shower that will freshen you and wake you slowly. Make light, cheerful small talk at the breakfast table, avoiding topics that might cause friction.

 See that your factory uniform is kept washed and pressed. Or, if it's office work you're doing, have a basic suit, possibly the two-skirt kind, and simple, washable blouses. Don't wear out old party frocks on your job, unless you've remodeled them so they're suitable. Keep your lingerie spotless by sudsing it every night.
 Be sure that you get plenty of high-energy foods in your diet and that you keep a healthy sleeping schedule. If you stay up late one night, go to bed early the next.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Practical distinction is made between immortal man, made in the image and likeness of God, and the counterfeit called mortal man, in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Mortals and Immortals" to be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, May 20. The Golden Text, taken from John 3:6, introduces the theme. It reads, "That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit."
 From the Bible will be read this verse from Psalms 100: "Know ye that the Lord he is God: it is he that hath made us, and not we ourselves; we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture." This assertion in the Christian Science textbook further emphasized the subject: "Immortal spiritual man alone represents the truth of creation." ("Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, page 263).
 God is All-in-all. He has mercy upon us, and guides every event of our careers.

Hairpiece Is Not Always The Answer For Girl Graduates

By BETTY CLARKE
 AP Newfeatures Beauty Editor
 More false hair is gathering dust in bureau drawers than at anytime since Marie Antoinette's time, says New York hairdresser Victor Vito.
 Mr. Vito cautions the girl graduate to think twice about investing her savings in a chignon. If it is becoming wear one by all means, if you like. But don't rush out and buy one because you think you'll be the only one out of step. You won't.
 The average girl will wear her hair a little longer come graduation day. But how long is "longer"? Vito thinks the term is widely over-used and not the least bit informative.
 Victor's own interpretation of "a little longer" is a hairdo that keeps the hair short around the face, especially at the sides, letting it graduate to new lengths toward the back. Length of hair, says Victor, is not a fixed rule, but a matter of becomingness. The greatest difference, in actual inches will be from two inches at the sides to seven inches at the back.
 The longer the hair is worn at the sides the more pronounced must be the upward curve of the front ends. Hair ends will be turned up or under whichever suits the wearer and her hair texture best. Longer back hair will serve as a perfect anchor for ribbons, bows, flowered tiaras and even chignons.
 If your hair isn't a "little longer" in back, don't try to fuff it up with a chignon just to look in style. If you don't have the knack of wearing one, it will only look untidy, and if you pull your hair back tightly to anchor the bun or pouf, you might just succeed in looking older, definitely not that "sweet girl graduate" look. However, if you are striving for sophistication, the chignon is the ideal way to achieve it. Top it off with a well anchored with flowers at the chignon.
 Bangs are very much in favor and will remain so, says Victor. These can be worn straight waved on top, asymmetrical or any other way that suits your fancy. Fluffiness is another straight road to femininity.
 The important thing for the young girl graduate to achieve in her coiffure is youthful simplicity.
 Korea has produced as much as $50,000,000 worth of gold in a year.

Need Great For Men Who Are Constant

Great harm can be wrought in a community like Pampa when the people lose sight of sound business and economic practices and principles and accept proposals which selfish individuals have adorned with false glitter of half-truths and distorted ideas. A stampede toward adoption of such programs or legislation based on specious reasoning can be expensive and foolish. Oftentimes cries that "the end justifies the means" or that "the need is urgent" are delirious because they are not based on facts. It is regrettable that the people will disregard what is practical and right and give their support to the ill-conceived and selfish plans. The old adage that says a wise man changes his mind, but a fool never will, is true only when there has been introduced new evidence to alter the set of facts on which judgement can be based. But when men desert a right thing to support a thing they know is wrong, simply for the sake of expediency or because they have been pressured by their "friends," we wonder by what means they can justify their actions deep in their hearts. We wonder what false rationalizing they use in explaining their vacillating and wishy-washy actions.

We are living in an era where there is a great need for men to practice constancy in their words and deeds. Not only on a national level, but here in the community of Pampa should we strive to practice intellectual honesty and to always stand ready to reject anything that will be built on the false premise that "it's expedient." We should resist the pressure created by those who have lost sight of the value and only want the thrill of running other people's lives. We need big thinkers, not big shots who turn like weather vane when a little pressure is applied.

Tank-Saving Trick Costly, Effective

WESTERN FRONT, Korea — Big tanks cost the taxpayers a lot of money — more than $100,000 apiece. Salvaging one from behind Communist lines is expensive, too. Sometimes it costs lives. The Chinese know that tanks are easy to repair and they usually try to burn them or blow them up during the darkness. Recently American artillerymen have found a pretty good remedy for this. Every few minutes, roughly 12 times an hour — they drop a single round of 155 millimeter shell over the tank, triggered by a fuse that detonates the shell as it nears the ground. The effect is to splash the tank and the area around it with hot steel every few minutes, discouraging any Chinese from getting near it. Next morning the returning tankers may find the tank's paint scratched a little bit but it usually is otherwise unharmed. The shells cost $100 each. The total cost of an all-night shoot is about $15,000 but it's still good insurance — its roughly one tenth the cost of a new tank and new tanks are hard to get these days.

Red Protection Racket Reported

Communist terrorists worked a profitable "protection racket" in the village of Jenderam in the southern part of Selangor State before it was raided by British troops and police. Secretary of Defense D. C. Waterston said the Reds collected $4,000 every month from the 1,600 inhabitants of the village. They even tacked notices to the door of each home telling dwellers how much they had to pay — or else, the secretary reported. British authorities have rounded up all the villagers and transported them to a detention camp for sorting out to find out which ones should be prosecuted for Communist collaboration.

Private Money

I want to quote further from a book called "Private Enterprise Money, a Non-Political Money System" by E. C. Riegel. I quote: "It may serve the purposes of partisan politics for the 'outs' to blame conditions upon the 'ins'. But the causes that are developing the federal government into a 'bureaucracy' are much deeper than administration policy. The political money system that began before the United States was born, and was given approval by the framers of the Constitution, is merely bearing the fruit of the parent seed and will not be altered by a change in government. Crediting the present and all past administrations and all future ones within the political money system, it must nevertheless operate adversely only to our government but to all governments. What is happening in America is happening all over the world. The political money system is forcing socialization and socialization is forcing the private enterprise system through the private money system which also offers the state its only security against ultimate public revolt. The dilemma previously mentioned confronts statesmanship everywhere. "If the government holds the money issuing power, it will either buy out the people and control them or ruin their enterprise system through inflation. If the people exert the money issuing power, they will buy the services of the government and control it. "That seems very logical. I think it brought out in history. "Freedom means freedom to manage one's self and freedom from management by others. Obviously then, the political management philosophy, so prevalent today, is a failure. It is rather, freedom, it is racing to its doom; we are in the midst of a great revolution. "If it is not then the basest profligacy to rest our aspirations upon material wealth, rather, that of nature? Could anything be more irreverent and vulgar than to entertain political promises which offer to provide for us from the credit to the gray, and we live to find we have only our being if nature were planter? Why then are we beguiled by political planning? How can we, by entertaining the paternalistic planning of the world's failures, be so depraved as to imply an absence or failure of nature's plan? We are meeting a well merited rebuke in the failure of political planning that is falling upon us, a failure from which we shall be turned in retrospect and respect for natural laws and the dignity of the individual. "This new-found dignity of the individual will restore to him the power of self. It will reduce the state to the status of a servant and denounce its pretenses of being a patron and guide. So much power has been turned to the individual that there will be little left for the state to exert. Such sovereignty of the individual will follow from the simple discovery that the money power is inherent in man and conservative when exerted by the state. "It is the state that must be controlled by the citizen through his money power; not the reverse. "All wealth is economic power. Money is simply only a form of the individual for his private guidance; and in him resides both the political and economic power. The ballot is his instrument of political power; money his instrument of economic power. The former is futile without the latter. He is a dupe, who believes that government can be both his servant and his patron, i.e., that the state can develop an economy and assist in the government itself; and he must provide for government as he provides for himself. "There is no power that can reverse this trend toward liquidation except a drastic increase in taxes; and the government, having lacked the courage to adopt this policy thus far, will of course not regard it as politically expedient in this critical stage of the war and an election year, nor will the next administration whether Democratic or Republican be super-human. Rather, the incumbent administration will continue to make many demagogic pronouncements of its faithful effort to protect the consumer and many denunciations of 'profiteers', 'black markets', 'children', 'racketeers', 'bootleggers', and this will in large measure deflect criticism from itself to defenseless tradesmen who will be the objects of the thus aroused public wrath. "Individuals in Republican administration next year, it will blame its predecessor. "The Joker In The Constitution "Let us examine the joker in our Constitution out of which grew the individualism from which we now suffer. It lies in Article I, Sec. 8, Par. 5, to wit: (The Congress shall have power) 'to coin money, regulate the value thereof, and of foreign coins.' Here the ignorance of money by the founding fathers, which still abides, is recorded. The very brevity of the provision shows that the drafters had no comprehension of the subject. The only words are literally hundreds of thousands of words have been written by Congress into monetary laws in an effort to discharge the obligation implied in the quoted words and the result is a confusion which has been accomplished. The Constitution might as well have declared that Congress shall regulate the course of the planets. "The question is true if Congress attempts to regulate the value of money. Many people are of the opinion that the above quoted section meant simply to regulate the purity of the coin issued. That is all that Congress could do. It could not do more. It could not regulate the value of money, any more than it could regulate the course of the planets. "Individuals should have the right to issue money that anybody could accept who wanted to. No individual should have the right to issue money that individuals would be compelled to accept. Competition would result in sound money. When the government makes a monopoly of money, as the author says, it uses it to enslave mankind, as it is doing today.

Another Fade-Away

Iron Fist Hits MacFadden

BY DAVID BAXTER

I have a letter from Rev. Lawrence Reilly of the Lutheran Research Society, dated that 83-year-old Bernard MacFadden is under indictment for mail fraud. Funny I hadn't read anything about it in the papers. What goes here? Reilly says "MacFadden has had the audacity to use the name of the Lutheran Research Society to support his scheme. He is a man of nature? Could anything be more irreverent and vulgar than to entertain political promises which offer to provide for us from the credit to the gray, and we live to find we have only our being if nature were planter? When the government makes a monopoly of money, as the author says, it uses it to enslave mankind, as it is doing today.

MacFadden is in need of a little moral support in this business, and it is suggested that interested citizens write to square-dealing U.S. Senator William Langer, Washington, D.C., asking an honest investigation and fair dealing in the MacFadden case. Langer is a member of the Senate post office committee. Personally, I think he's one of the best senators we have in Washington. Bill hails from North Dakota where, as a former governor, unscrupulous characters tried to frame him, so he's had a lot of experience. He has certainly taken up a lot of unpopular cases and fought them through once he became convinced that he was in the right. Bill Langer is a "maverick," that is, a strong independent, with a mind of his own. That's why you haven't seen the G.O.P. booming for President. He can't always be depended upon to go along and follow the party line, right or wrong. He wears no man's collar. He certainly should be the very man to give the MacFadden business a thorough and fair investigation. Bernard MacFadden, even at 83, should be able to give a good account of himself. Not so long ago I read one of his articles about Paul G. Hoffman, an Indiana Republican and an outstanding industrialist. ECA was almost a sacrosanct institution on Capitol Hill. Hoffman got whatever he asked in most instances. But now that President Truman wants ECA's activities eventually shifted to the State Department, Congress is looking at the organization with a cold and fishy eye. The current study is actually the first close-up examination of ECA's personnel and machinery. Preliminary findings convince many members that ECA should be transformed into a separate and independent agency rather than placed under Dean Acheson's or any other executive department. ELABORATE — Ironically, the two countries where the worst overstaffing was discovered are a muddled way and Greece. Although admitted world war against Communist aggression, their small areas and populations led Appropriations committee members to ask searching questions on the need for such elaborate units there. Although Korea has been a fighting ground since last June, ECA has 106 various kinds of representatives on this barren peninsula. Even if Korea were still the "land of the morning calm," the men on Capitol Hill cannot understand why so many of them, with salaries ranging from $13,500 down to $4,300, were needed there. In view of the 250 assigned to European headquarters, the Korean total seems out of balance. SPECIALISTS — The official definition of the 196 experts' work and assignments also aroused Congressional curiosity. Here, for instance, are the kinds of specialists the United States still has in this war-torn and primitive land: An animal pathologist, a bank examiner, a telephone engineer, a fishing boat construction specialist, three "use auditors," an industrial health and safety consultant, a tax adviser, a statistician and editor, a vessel operations specialist. There are other American agents, commissioned to teach the Koreans how to raise everything from babies to rice. PRIZE — But the prize ECA offers for political employables is Greece. This tiny Balkan country has 125 ECA workers, or half the total on duty at general European headquarters. As against this number, there are only 41 in England and 46 in Italy, a key and strategic Mediterranean peninsula. Among the ECA representatives in Greece are three web-drilling specialists, two information specialists and a "project analyst." Many of the American agents in Greece are not ECA countries did not realize they were "specialists" until they read their commissions, signed by President Harry S. Truman. Although the Civil Service Commission was not permitted to pass upon ECA's 900-odd employees overseas, all except clerical help, which consists largely of foreigners hired abroad, are to be cleared by Democratic National Chairman Boyle. STANDARDS — The most important political decision reached by Republican strategists at Tulsa, at National Headquarters here, and on Capitol Hill — is to

Mac On Crusade to Get Better Break For Big City Flowers

By HENRY McLEMORE

Hand me down my white charger, I'm off on another crusade. This time it is for the establishment of a Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Flowers in New York City. This town is no place in which to raise flowers, any more than a boiler factory is suitable for choir practice, or Macy's window for spooning and sparking. Every New Yorker has a roof and on most of the roofs this time of year, New Yorkers are brooding flowers and shrubs in an effort to make them grow whether they want to or not. Most New Yorkers come from parts of the country where flowers in bloom are part of the spring picture, and they are going to have flowers in bloom in New York, in la, or break their own and the flowers' necks in the attempt. Out of my apartment windows I can see half a dozen rooftops where sadistic New Yorkers spend most of their leisure day, light hours treating plants with the ruthlessness of a Simon Legree. It may be my imagination, but in the past week I would swear I have heard a box of baby nasturtiums cry "Help! Help!" as some blooded flower lover grabbed them by their tiny ears and barked, "You're in the big city, now, see, and you gotta make good. Get growing." Oh, I tell you it tears at your heart to wake up at night and listen to a bed of petunias sobbing their double ruffles out from loneliness, high above New York's noisy streets. I believe if they knew how to use a telephone they'd dial operator and ask for a cop. New York dirt is plentiful and rich, to be sure, but there is one drawback to it insofar as flowers are concerned: most of it is in the air or on the citizens. I doubt that the alluvial soil of the Mississippi Delta is any richer than that which floats over Manhattan 24 hours a day,

FAIR ENOUGH — BEGLER

By WESTBROOK BEGLER

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — I find information and charm in a little tract published by the Desert Inn, a luxurious hotel and elite gambling hell, which is run in the name of Wilbur Clark, who was a bellhop a little more than 20 years ago and in 1929 was turned down for a job at the Adams Hotel in Phoenix. Clark has several partners including Thomas McGinty, of Cleveland, whom you met in these dispatches a few days ago when he was doing your duty toward your intelligence. Clark probably will overstretch and go bust because even now he is talking nonsense about an 18-hole golf course stretching away from an apartment in a stucco building called the Palazzo di Firenze, which was furnished with hand-carved tables and chairs done to order in Florence. I see Boca Raton and other grandiose follies at Saratoga and Pasadena, Pa., and I remember that the darling gentlemen who put them together, sparing no extravagance, were Wilbur Clark's almost to the life.

Today at lunch I saw a reminiscent face across the crowded executive session in a spare chair to chat with Joe Smoot, who has been building horse tracks since not long after the grand opening at Saratoga. Smoot built Hialeah at Miami and later, Gulfstream, on the coast. Now he is working on a new one in Vegas, which hasn't enough facilities for gambling, what with his casinos as close together as cards in a deck, and so must have a horse-yard. We looked about us at the pleasant and use auditors, an industrial health and safety consultant, a tax adviser, a statistician and editor, a vessel operations specialist. There are other American agents, commissioned to teach the Koreans how to raise everything from babies to rice. PRIZE — But the prize ECA offers for political employables is Greece. This tiny Balkan country has 125 ECA workers, or half the total on duty at general European headquarters. As against this number, there are only 41 in England and 46 in Italy, a key and strategic Mediterranean peninsula. Among the ECA representatives in Greece are three web-drilling specialists, two information specialists and a "project analyst." Many of the American agents in Greece are not ECA countries did not realize they were "specialists" until they read their commissions, signed by President Harry S. Truman. Although the Civil Service Commission was not permitted to pass upon ECA's 900-odd employees overseas, all except clerical help, which consists largely of foreigners hired abroad, are to be cleared by Democratic National Chairman Boyle. law has taken a priggish attitude toward a diversion inherently no more wicked than the Ruediger's hoop roll, or the sport of Cordell Hall, or bridge. The lesson on craps is adorned with a drawing of a nappy group at a table and a dealer shoving at a young man a stack and a half, about $15, I would guess, assuming that these are 30-cent checks, although, of course, they may represent a nickel of $5 each. The young man is exclaiming, with a fatuous beam: "Baby gets her new pair of shoes!" If baby needed shoes he should have been taking his money on craps. I offer this as editorial criticism of the so-called gaming guide, not as moral criticism of the sport. "Craps," the lesson says, "is really a lot simpler than it looks. A severe case of profligacy. When you put your money on the pass line, you win on seven or 11 and lose on two, three or 12 — on the first roll. If any other number comes up, that's your point. You win, unless a seven is thrown first, in which case you lose. Surely, you know that, but did you ever read it in a book? As with the facts of life, I look'd over all this around the water-tower where the bums used to sport, and on the freights to and from the wheel fields. I think that is the better way to

The Doctor Says

WRITTEN FOR ME BY EDWIN J. JORDAN, MD.

The saving of life and the relief of suffering are the objectives of medicine. All doctors swear to uphold them when they become full-fledged members of the profession. That these objectives are imperfectly achieved everyone knows, yet it is hard to believe that anyone would put obstacles in the path of progress which would make it possible to save more lives and relieve suffering more effectively. But this is the position of those who oppose animal experimentation. I like to believe that "they know not what they do"; certainly many of those who are trying to make animal experimentation impossible are kindly and well-meaning even though they cannot fully realize what would happen if they were successful. In common with other physicians of my generation I have sat by the bedside of children who were literally strangling to death from diphtheria. Today this happens hardly ever, thanks to the information gained from the study of animals. The child who swallowed a pin or an similar object used to be doomed to a lot of years of misery. Thanks to the careful work of the late Dr. Chevalier Jackson, carried out principally on dogs, instruments have been devised and techniques perfected so that such objects can almost always be removed quickly and safely. Experiments on dogs and other animals have resulted in contributions of untold importance to the conquest of pernicious anemia, to the betterment of heart surgery, and to improved methods of treatment of a vast number of diseases. The future is even more important. There are many unsolved problems about cancer, high blood pressure, heart disease and other diseases, the solution of which would be long delayed without contributions from animal study. NO TORTURE. One particularly vicious attack has been aimed at those using animals to better the health of human beings, namely that, the animals are tortured. This wicked distortion of the truth is used to enlist the natural kindness of all good people. But the animals are not tortured; they are treated well and if painful procedures have to be applied, they are given anesthetics even as you and I when we go under the knife. No, the people who wish to limit to their fellow man cannot if they know the truth, honestly hamstring those who are trying so hard to help them.

learn certain things, for it somehow has seemed to me that there is something anxious about the same elemental when they are put on paper. Can I be arrested, do you think, for transmitting these details across state lines? I could be for shipping a crap-table. If I seem confused I throw myself on your pity. I have said that I found charm in this light work and soon came around to saying that such information seemed improper on paper. I seem to have a streak of Kefauver in me which holds gambling to be bad because we passed laws against it in most of our states. Nevada repealed those laws and it would be as wise to teach the odds as to teach economics or business administration in the Nevada public schools. The children appear to be gamblers or crappers. It would be as wise to teach boy in the trade schools the construction and maintenance of slot machines as of automotive engines. Both have their lawful places in Nevada's industrial and economic system. Since the first World War, pari-mutuel betting has spread to many states which nowadays could not do without their percentage. Down to then, even pugilism was a rogue among sports, but in a few years later, the best Richard boasted that the best people were conniving and jostling for down-front seats at sumptuous scenes of carnage which had been felonious so short a time before. Would I be more sure to go to hell for gambling at a blackjack table in the lobby of the Pioneer hotel run by a dentist with a license from the city hanging in a frame above his Success Secrets Just when I had about settled down comfortably in the belief that environment is the big reason for success, I read a book on success. It was called "The Eye" and was on the "Sparrow." On page one she tells you she was an illegitimate child. A few pages later you learn that she ran the streets like an urban, and that her mother took in washing to earn their living. When you read this book you realize that a lot of your hope is being used. For example, nobody went to a lot of trouble to make her feel "secure" as a child. She knew well enough that eating was a day to day proposition. She was large for her age, and from the age of eight on was in danger of being picked up by bums who habituated her neighborhood everything she set foot outside the door. She knew from the time she knew anything that her color was a handicap, and would be all her life. All the "influences" in her environment were bad. But apparently she was a success. Somebody has said that all the water in an ocean can't sink a ship—unless it gets inside. Ethel Waters lived in an ocean of negativity, but she didn't sink her because she didn't let them get inside. "His Eye is on the Sparrow" set me thinking. Maybe we need a new light on how to help people—and nations too, that need help. Maybe, instead of trying to provide them with all the fixings and settings that we consider necessary for successful living, maybe we ought to concentrate more on helping them get inside themselves what ever it was that Ethel Waters had.

Mac On Crusade to Get Better Break For Big City Flowers

Hand me down my white charger, I'm off on another crusade. This time it is for the establishment of a Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Flowers in New York City. This town is no place in which to raise flowers, any more than a boiler factory is suitable for choir practice, or Macy's window for spooning and sparking. Every New Yorker has a roof and on most of the roofs this time of year, New Yorkers are brooding flowers and shrubs in an effort to make them grow whether they want to or not. Most New Yorkers come from parts of the country where flowers in bloom are part of the spring picture, and they are going to have flowers in bloom in New York, in la, or break their own and the flowers' necks in the attempt. Out of my apartment windows I can see half a dozen rooftops where sadistic New Yorkers spend most of their leisure day, light hours treating plants with the ruthlessness of a Simon Legree. It may be my imagination, but in the past week I would swear I have heard a box of baby nasturtiums cry "Help! Help!" as some blooded flower lover grabbed them by their tiny ears and barked, "You're in the big city, now, see, and you gotta make good. Get growing." Oh, I tell you it tears at your heart to wake up at night and listen to a bed of petunias sobbing their double ruffles out from loneliness, high above New York's noisy streets. I believe if they knew how to use a telephone they'd dial operator and ask for a cop. New York dirt is plentiful and rich, to be sure, but there is one drawback to it insofar as flowers are concerned: most of it is in the air or on the citizens. I doubt that the alluvial soil of the Mississippi Delta is any richer than that which floats over Manhattan 24 hours a day,

Yankees Have Home Win Streak Going Back To 1950

(By The Associated Press) Attention radio quiz show fans, here's the jackpot question. When did the New York Yankees last win a ball game at Yankee Stadium? No coaching, please. No peeking at the old Sporting News. The answer is Sept. 26, 1950. World series and 10 straight victories have passed and the team is not in sight. Talk about a friendly Fenway. The Yankees home in the Bronx has not stopped six ways. Just look at the record:

AT HOME	W	L
New York	10	4
Boston	5	4

to Casey Stengel's children. May be that will work. It hasn't so far. You won't see many better pitched games than Early Wynn threw at the Yankees yesterday. Still he lost 1-0, as his Cleveland Tribe left 13 on the bases. Joe DiMaggio applied the clincher with an innocent first-inning single scoring Dr. Bobby Brown. Wynn gave up only three hits in his seven-inning stay, one a triple by Gerry Coleman in the eighth. Coleman was erased when a squeeze play backfired. All day the Indians labored, combining Allie Reynolds for nine hits. But it did no good. They blew their big chance in the eighth when Hank Bauer's slingshot peg from left nipped Sam Chapman, trying to score from third on a fly ball. Big Gus Zernial continued his home run streak with his seventh in four consecutive games for the Philadelphia A's. Gus tied an American League record, set by Tony Lazzeri in 1936. But he fell one short of Ralph Kiner's major league high, hung up in 1947. The A's crept out of the cellar on a 7-6 victory over St. Louis. Eddie Joost's ninth-inning single scoring Ray Murray was the clincher for Bobby Shantz, who turned in brilliant three-hit relief pitching after replacing Joe Coleman in the first. It was too cold for the Red Sox to play the White Sox at Fenway but Boston warmed up with a deal for a catcher. Les Moss of the Browns moved to Boston for catcher Matt Batts and pitcher Jim Suckeik. Connie Marrero shook Washington out of a four-game losing streak by beating Detroit, 11-4, for his fifth straight win. Sam Mele led the attack with two triples and two singles. It's still only three games from the bottom in the National with Brooklyn, the pre-season favorite on top, and the 1950 champion Phillies in the cellar. The vaunted Dodger power was missing at Chicago where Frank Hiller spun a seven-hitter, 7-0, while Ransom Jackson and Hank Bauer ripped into Erv Fallica for home runs. Sauer's four RBIs for the day sent him out front in the league with 26, the same number Mickey Mantle, the Yanks rookie flash, has in the American. Keeping pace with the Cubs, the Pittsburgh Pirates moved within one game of first place by knocking off New York, 12-7. Ralph Kiner had a big day with his sixth homer and a double to drive in five runs. The win went to Murry Dickson and the loss to Monte Kennedy. Cincinnati edged even with the 500 mark on a 6-5 win over Boston's Warren Spahn. Willard Ramsdell weakened in the eighth when the Braves scored four and Harry Perkowski bailed him out. Connie Ryan of the Reds and Sid Gordon of the Braves each hit three-run homers. Rookie Joe Presko of St. Louis pitched his first complete game in the majors to whip the Phillies, 2-1. The Cardinal quickie lost his shutout bid when Andy Seminick homered in the ninth.

Oilers Try At Home Tonight

Rain Halts All Of Last Night's Scheduled Battles

The Pampa Oilers, who haven't played a game for almost a week now, return to Oiler Park tonight to open a six game home stand which starts the second round in the league. Guests of the Oilers tonight will be the Borger Gassers, who also have had no opportunity to play for the past five days.

The Gassers come in for games tonight and tomorrow night. Covia's Pioneers come in for a Sunday afternoon and Monday night set and then the Amarillo Gold Sox close out the home stand with a two game visit Tuesday and Wednesday.

The forced postponement of last night's scheduled doubleheader in Amarillo brought the total to seven extra doubleheaders on the Oilers' schedule. They also have the annual Fourth of July and Labor Day doubleheaders ahead, to make a total of nine twin bills.

The Oilers' hospital list was due to disappear today. Third baseman Lou Suarez was released yesterday afternoon and second baseman Gil Castillo was due to be released today.

Game time tonight is 8 o'clock. The starting hurler for the Oilers will be lefthander George Mathews with righthanded Gene Vega getting the nod from Manager Eddie Carnett.

The playing field was well drained yesterday afternoon. Workmen were busy on it this morning and afternoon removing other excess water and attempting to make it playable.

James and Albuquerque got back in the West Texas - New Mexico League last night when their scheduled meeting at Albuquerque was rained out.

That made it unanimous for the first time since Monday when the current weather invaded the circuit.

Abilene's twin bill at Clovis and Lubbock's game at Borger were all postponed for weather reasons for the second straight night. Two games were postponed Tuesday and two Monday.

The flock of postponements will be eliminated later in the season.

Hoping for better luck tonight, Albuquerque goes to Lamesa while Amarillo visits Abilene. Clovis plays at Lubbock and Borger at Pampa. The games all open two game series.

The league lead is still shared by Abilene and Albuquerque with Lubbock leading Pampa in a close battle for third place. Lamesa is just a notch behind.

An improving Clovis crew has moved up into sixth place followed by Borger and Amarillo.

Ramon Salgado Boomed As Ready Prospect For Majors

City has fared poorly in the Class C Gulf Coast League this season except when one Ramon Salgado diaz took the mound. Then the Texans look like league leaders instead of cellar-dwellers.

He's called Harpo because of his fun-making antics. But he isn't funny to the opposition. His fireball mows them down.

League president Howard Green calls him the fastest pitcher in baseball. Harry McCurdy of Houston, former big leaguer, declares that Salgado — as is customary in his country, he uses his middle name — could go in the majors right now. Texas City Manager Hollie Hensley, an ex-big league catcher, says Harpo throws as hard as Bobby Feller. Salgado doesn't speak English but he has no difficulty understanding Hensley's instructions.

Harpo leads the league in strike-outs with 65 in 88 2-3 innings, has allowed 60 hits and 20 earned runs. Of the 11 games Texas City has won, Salgado was credited with four. He started, finished and won the last four in which he appeared.

Salgado struck out 13 batters against league-leading Corpus Christi. Twice he has accounted for 11 strike-outs and in his last appearance he fanned 10 Galveston batters and shut them out 1-0 on five hits.

Speed is his forte. But he has an excellent curve and masterful control.

Hensley managed San Juan in the Puerto Rico winter league and Salgado was on his club. He persuaded the 21-year-old pitcher to give baseball a try in America.

Home and Derrell Johnson got a three-run circuit in the nine-inning inning. Demars got his homer off Himes; Johnson got to Soils for his.

Tulsa made four runs in the last of the seventh inning after a four run Beaumont uprising in the sixth had given the Roughnecks a lead. The rains came with Beaumont still batting in the top of the eighth.

Eagles Still Hot; Top Houston, 3-2

(By The Associated Press) Wilmer (Pinegar Bend) Mizell, tagged as the "southpaw Dizzy Dean" early in the season, proved that he had the stuff to crowd the old-time Texas League great as he held Dallas to seven singles last night.

But his efforts were not good enough for a victory.

Ray Narleski, Dallas righthand fireballer, stopped Houston with six hits to win a well pitched mound duel, 3-2.

The rookie Houston southpaw struck out nine Dallas hitters but he couldn't handle Clyde E. Perry, normally a weak hitter. Perry collected three of the seven Dallas hits, including a double in the ninth inning with one away to drive in the winning run.

The Dallas victory gave the Eagles breathing room in second place in the pennant race but failed to move them any closer to the league leading San Antonio Missions. The Missions bounced Fort Worth 11-4 with a big nine-run seventh inning.

Tulsa came from behind three times to the Beaumont at 10-10 going into the eighth inning. Then the rains came and the game was called without reaching a decision. Shreveport at Oklahoma City were rained out.

San Antonio's big seventh inning rally broke a 2-2 tie and spoiled a fine pitchers' duel between Tommy Fine of the Missions and Fort Worth's Mel Himes. Rene Soils was called in as a reliever in the big frame.

Billy Demars hit a two-run

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Remember Bill Bevens, the big Yankee pitcher who had a no-hit game for 2 1/2 innings during the World Series against Brooklyn, only to see it ruined by Cookie Lavagetto's pinch hit? . . . Bill never did another thing of importance in the major leagues. He came up with a sore arm in the spring of '48 and was shuffled off to Newark, then Houston and Sacramento and still couldn't win . . . This spring he turned up with the Salem Senators of the Western International League and the other night he pitched a five-hit game against the Spokane Indians, only to lose it 5-0 . . . It was Bill's first defeat of the season. . . . What's worse, his opponent, Ward Ruckey, a kid out of Washington State College, gave eleven hits but Salem had 17 men left on bases. . . . Another ex-major leaguer, Spokane's Steve Messenger, reported afterward: "That Bevens hasn't lost a bit of his old stuff. When I got up at bat against him, it took me back to the old days in the majors."

Schoolboys Open Bi-District Play

(By The Associated Press) Bi-district playoffs are under way in Texas High School baseball with the eight survivors to go to Austin June 4-6 for the state tournament.

A state champion is determined only in Class AA. Texas A decides eight regional titans. Class B crowns 26 bi-district champions.

In the bi-district round they pair as follows in Class AA: District 1 — Odessa vs District 2 — Thomas Jefferson (El Paso). District 3 — Abilene vs District 4 — Wichita Falls. District 5 — North Side (Fort Worth) vs District 6 — Crozier Tech (Dallas). District 7 — Waxahachie vs District 8 — Highland Park (Dallas). District 9 — Bryan vs District 10 — Tyler. District 11 — South Park (Beaumont) vs District 12 — Baytown. District 13 — Stephen F. Austin (Houston) vs District 14 — Austin. District 15 — Miller (Corpus Christi) vs District 16 — Edinburg.

This year the City Conference, which had been holding its own race, is combined with Class AA. The City Conference ended with basketball season.

USGA Trying To Avoid Stymie

LONDON — (AP) — The stymie, one of the biggest headaches of United States golfers, will be eliminated starting Jan. 1 if a new set of uniform rules for players the world over are approved.

A new code has been worked out by the United States Golf Association and the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews whose rules are followed almost everywhere.

In addition to dropping the stymie, the recommendations announced last night, after a year of correspondence and a week of discussions, include:

- Allowing the small British ball to be used in the United States.
- Allowing the goose neck and other American putters to be used in the rest of the world.
- A standard penalty of stroke and distance for a ball lost, unplayable or out of bounds.

Although the two organizations are still at work drafting the formal rules, the new code probably will be presented to the USGA executive committee in June, while the Royal and Ancient will act on it in the fall.

Isaac B. Grainger of New York, chairman of the American negotiators, said he expects to have trouble convincing US authorities to allow the smaller British ball. . . . However, the difference is only six one-hundredths of an inch.

Babe And Patty Open Fire Today

INDIANAPOLIS — (AP) — Babe Didrikson Zaharias and Patty Berg went out today to break their tie in the Weatherwane Open Golf Tournament.

Mrs. Zaharias and Miss Berg were tied at the halfway point of the 144-hole tournament by 208 strokes. The third leg is being played today and tomorrow at Meridian Hills Country Club.

The first 72 holes were played at Dallas and Pebble Beach, Calif. The tournament will end May 26-27 at White Plains, N. Y. There is a purse of $3,000 for each of the four stops and $5,000 added for the 14-hole low score.

The scrap for the $5,000 appeared to be a duel between the Babe and Patty. L. O. Suga of Carrollton, Ga., was 12 strokes back in third place.

temptation on the enemy's own terms.

In an expansive mood at his news conference, the President also said that:

1. Secretary of State Acheson cautioned at an April 6 White House conference against MacArthur's removal on grounds it would stir up a political fuss. And it did, he was right, the President added with a grin.

2. He is happy the Senate Armed Forces and Foreign Relations Committees upheld yesterday a ruling that Gen. Omar Bradley did not have to divulge what was said by whom at the April 6 White House meeting.

That decision was taken by the committees by an 18 to 8 vote. They then postponed until Monday the reopening of hearings into MacArthur's ouster, calling off a session planned for today.

Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, will return to the stand Monday. His testimony was interrupted two days ago when he declined to recount to senators conversations at the White House conference five days before MacArthur was fired.

Bradley argued that was a confidential matter between the President and his advisers. Mr. Truman said that was not so.

The President's disclosure of Acheson's part in that conference prompted an observation by Brewster that the Secretary of State now ought to be willing to explain his attitude fully to the committee.

On the other hand, Chairman Connally (D-Tex) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee told a reporter the President's statements ought to set at rest reports he was "influenced by somebody else" in his decision to sack MacArthur.

Hickenlooper said it appears the President "mistled the public for a long time by saying he backed up MacArthur while, as he now admits, he had it in mind to replace him."

"If his mind was made in advance, why was it necessary to go through the monkey business of all those conferences?" The senator asked. "This sounds like a fantastic performance."

The President said he didn't want to fire MacArthur. He didn't want to do anything to injure any of the men for whom he had asked Congress to grant five stars and additional pay, he added.

But he said the situation had reached the point where he had to have a new general.

STYMIES REDS—A New York City longshoreman emits a lusty "Bronx cheer" as he surveys crates intended for shipment to Moscow. Fifteen home-bound members of the Soviet's UN delegation and the embassy staff liked the products of capitalism well enough to go on a last-minute shopping spree. They ended up with 18 crates of washing machines, refrigerators, television sets and other capitalistic gadgets. But the stuff remained on the pier when the liner America shoved off because longshoremen refused to handle it.

same direction, failed to see the Cowan car and struck it in the left rear fender. The dead man was sitting in the left side of the back seat.

Officials here quoted Scott as saying that the car was parked on the pavement without lights, and a light rain was falling. Scott was arrested about three weeks ago on drunken driving charges and paid a fine in Wheeler County Court. He did not have a driver's license.

Immediately following the accident, Scott hailed a bus to Pampa and at Laketon called the deputy sheriff at Mobeetie and an ambulance from Wheeler. He came on to Pampa, arriving here about 11:30 p. m., where he called a wrecker.

When the Wheeler ambulance arrived at the scene they were able to find only two men. It was later learned that Bill Cowan, driver of the car, walked the remaining distance to the Cowan farm five miles west of Mobeetie.

Foy and Hiram Cowan were both taken to the Wheeler hospital. Texas Highway Patrolman E. J. Robertson investigated the accident Thursday.

An inquest is scheduled for today.

RAINS

Many cars were stalled along the streets of Pampa, and one family is known to have run out of gas during a steady down-pour. Seeking help at a nearby house, they were unable to get service stations were closed. Van Fleet confidently told his allied ground forces.

UN massed artillery fired at record speed to cut attacking waves to pieces. Allied airmen complained that they couldn't find many Red targets.

Field dispatches said the bugle blowing, horn tooting Chinese led by the thousands under geysering artillery explosions.

Barbed wire, strung extensively before UN positions in Korea for the first time, was hung with gruesome garlands of Chinese. Two thousand miles of wire were stretched in front of one unit.

Dispatches gave this picture Friday night, looking across the front from west to east: American forces pulled back to Uijonbu, 11 miles north of Seoul. Red screening forces within 10 miles of the old South Korea capital.

An armored UN patrol was stopped 10 miles east of Seoul by a Red mine field covered by automatic weapons fire. Red attacks failed to break UN lines in the west-central front Friday.

Heavy fighting raged across the central front. The front line moved back before waves of attacking Chinese.

Chinese poured through a break in South Korean lines. They streamed down the Inje-Hongchon road on the central front.

A veteran American division astride this road was fighting attacks on three sides. AP correspondent Nate Polowetzky said it was "great trouble."

Americans were rushed up to plug the gap cut in two South Korean divisions. South Korean units were badly hurt.

AP correspondent George McArthur reported all UN troops had pulled back out of Hwi Korea. South Koreans had held a 25-mile line from the Inje area to the Sea of Japan.

Rain drenched the battlefields Friday night. Red commanders counted on spring rains to bog down allied armor and provide protection from the skies for their mass of infantrymen.

Allison Burglars Still Not Found

WHEELER (Special) — Burglars of the Mercantile Grocery at Allison, robbed Sunday night, have still not been found, according to Wheeler County Sheriff Bus Dorman.

The store, owned by Ken Ball, was robbed of about $200 worth of coffee; three or four hams, 25 pounds of bacon, two boxes of men's sox, three bedspreads and about two dozen towels.

Entry was gained through a window on the east side of the building. This window has been braced on the inside so that it could not be forced.

It has been surmised that the culprits entered the store during business hours Friday or Saturday and removed the brace because it was found outside the building and the window was not broken.

The only clue found was car tracks outside the building.

west of Mobeetie late Wednesday night on flooded highways.

Mrs. J. E. Yoder, one-half mile west of Highland General hospital, was marooned in her farmhouse and sent out a plea for a heating stove Friday. Steve Oates, 721 N. West, made the trip to the house at middle morning and delivered the stove.

The private gas line leading to Mrs. Yoder's house was the only reported break in Pampa. Some meters were washed out, but otherwise local gas company officials say this city has "been very lucky."

At the dam, at least one 20-foot square slab of concrete was broken off by the water's force and thrown into the flooded spillway, leaving the door underneath the remaining concrete open for the water to get back and gnaw at the earth.

Howell told newsmen another 24 hours would spell the fate of Lake McClellan when the water onslaught would either subside or the dam go out.

But by 1 p. m. yesterday, as the sun was making its first appearance since Monday afternoon, the spillway and flood gate were taking the water from the dam.

Previously the water had overflowed the spillway and raced down outside the concrete retaining walls. This was believed to have caused the breaking off of the huge concrete slab and brought on the report Tuesday night that the dam had broken.

Although the spillway may go out, City Manager Dick Pepin, who built the dam under government design, was more than confident it would not break.

The design, Pepin said, was not his — he just "helped to build it from government specifications."

Earlier yesterday the turbulent lake waters made a wild river of McClellan Creek, swelling it to a point never recorded in the past, including uprooted trees, raced eastward from the dam site through raging, foam flecked water.

By 3:30 p. m. the creek had subsided somewhat, but was still dangerous.

Some highways in the Panhandle still were closed. Included are U. S. Highway 60 from Pampa to Panhandle (which had water over its surface in three places); state highway 152 west and east of Pampa; highway 117 between Panhandle and Borger; highway 70 south of Pampa.

Telephone service here was getting "back to normal," a company spokesman said. Some circuits to Lefors were open late Thursday, and additional ones today made service to that area possible without too much delay.

Southwestern Public Service officials report power poles are still down at Almarred, and emergency generating equipment had to be moved in. Service in Pampa is "satisfactory."

The transportation snarl is rapidly untangling, but Santa Fe train schedules are still 24 hours behind. The 9:43 p. m. passenger

MORSE JAYS ACHONS

Could Whip Soviet

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Morse (R-Ore) says that in a year or less American superiority in A-bombs and other atomic weapons could spell defeat for Russia in event of war.

Morse, a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said on a broadcast last night.

"I think it is proper for me to say I have been advised that as short a time as nine to 12 months will mean a tremendous difference in the atomic strength of America — not only in terms of atomic bombs, but in terms of other atomic weapons."

"And given that strength, I think we can bring Russia to her knees, if we have to carry on a war against her, in a much shorter period of time than if you threw what you've got into the conflict now."

GAME BOARD MEETS
HARLINGEN (AP)—State game fish and oyster commission representatives were to meet here today with sportsmen's clubs to discuss fish and game conditions in the Rio Grande Valley.

World's largest coal seam is located in Manchuria. Thickness of the seam varies from 20 to 425 feet.

train going west did not arrive in Pampa until mid-morning. The bridge at Shattuck, Okla., holding up most of the rail traffic, was reported repaired.

Bus service was discontinued at 7:50 last night, but it was hoped that buses would be getting through after 10 a. m. today. Buses are going east, but are said to be slow.

Air travel was normal, according to officials at Central Airlines here.

Farmers, jubilant over the rain Tuesday, are hoping now for some sunshine so they can begin planting cotton and grain sorghum. The Texas Agriculture commissioner was elated over the precipitation.

"For West Texas crop growers it's a cotton rain — a pasture-rejuvenating rain," he said.

As Pampa was relieved of the three-day rains, elsewhere in the area flood threats swept new areas, and weather forecasts saw "more rain" as storm fronts moved southeast.

In the Lubbock-Plainview area waters were receding but highway patrolmen report only one road open south of Plainview. The patrol was guiding or towing vehicles through the critical stretches. Total rainfall at Plainview was 8.28 inches.

Heaviest rains last night apparently were north and west of Wichita Falls. Vernon was washed with 4.64 inches, and the Pease river was rising. If the rise continues blocking of U. S. Highway 287 will be necessary.

Holiday creek, always a flood troublemaker, was rising, and also Cache creek at Lawton, Okla., 50 miles from Wichita Falls.

Eight inches of rain at Anton in Hockley county caused the boat evacuation of several families at Anton.

Weather forecast for today? A few scattered showers are expected in the Panhandle today.
