Boyle Opens Tax Returns For Senalors

WASHINGTON — (AP) — William M. Boyle, Jr., Democratic national chairman, Saturday opened his entire 1949 and 1950 income tax returns to a Senate investigation.

His sudden move came as a special investigations subcommittee announced it will call Guy C. Gabrielson, Republican national chairman, Thursday as the opening witness in an inquiry into Gabrielson's activities.

In each case the committee is looking into the party chairman's contacts with the Reconstruction Finance Corp. (RFC).

Both men have denied any improper conduct or influence on RFC loans. Boyle as a witness before the senators at public hearings earlier this week.

Boyle swore there was no basis for charges published by the St. Louis Post-Dispatch that he accepted $6000 from American Lithoform Corp. After the St. Louis printing firm obtained $565,000 of government loans in 1949. He said the firm paid him $1250 retainer fees as a lawyer before he became a salaried party official and the fees had nothing to do with the loans.

The investigation has been marked by testimony that Lithoform paid big fees to a variety of government employes while they were on the federal payroll, for drumming up profitable printing contracts for the firm — a practice the committee gave advance warning it would condemn.

Gabrielson has been under fire from some members of his own party in the Senate, who demanded his resignation as GOP chairman because of his acknowledged intercessions with the RFC in connection with $18,500,000 of loans to Carthage Hydrocol, Inc., of Brownsville, Texas, of which he is president and general counsel.

Chinese Accuse Allies Of 'Wrecking' Parley

TOKYO — (AP) — The Chinese Communist radio Saturday predicted Allied amphibious landings on both coasts of North Korea and blamed the Allies for "wrecking" the talks on a Korean armistice.

The broadcast was aired while Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the U. S. joint chiefs of staff, conferred with Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway in Tokyo.

The Allies had no immediate comment on the Red assertions.

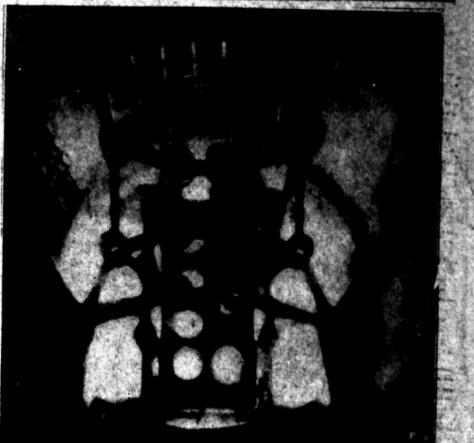

The broadcast ignored Ridgway's proposal that the truce talks be resumed immediately in a village in northern land.

"In order to conquer the whole of North Korea," the Chinese Red radio charged, "the Americans have decided to train five more divisions, drive the (North) Koreans and Chinese forces to the Yalu river and bomb Communist bases in northeast China."

The Yalu is the boundary between North Korea and Manchuria.

The broadcast alleged two National Guard divisions now training in Japan — the 40th of California and the 45th of Oklahoma — were being groomed for the landings. Commanders of the units were named.

Student Is Found Murdered In Auto

HOUSTON — (AP) — A 24-year-old engineering student was found murdered Saturday after a drinking and poker party that moved from room to room in a University of Houston dormitory.

Leon Eddie Gryder was found dead in his automobile a few blocks from the university.

Dr. Harold Woods said Gryder died of a ruptured blood vessel in the brain. He said an autopsy showed both eyes of the student had been blackened by blows, there was an abrasion on the left side of his head and his jaw appeared to be fractured.

Justice of the Peace Tom Maes returned an inquest verdict of murder.

Gryder's body was found about 5:30 a. m. Gryder was lying on the floor on his side, his face close to the accelerator, his feet projected out the open door of the sedan.

There was no money in Gryder's wallet nor on his person, though students at the dormitory said he won at least $10 in the poker game.

The World War II veteran, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Gryder of McLeod, Texas, was found dead about three hours after he left the party.

The last student to see him said he walked down a corridor toward his room about 2:45 with a whiskey tumbler in his hand.

Terrell Spencer, vice president in charge of student service, called in students who attended the party. He said "if there is a dangerous situation around the school campus, we want to know about it, too, and eliminate it."

Marines Hit Draft Roll For December Call

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Marines for the first time are seeking more draftees than the Army in the comparatively small December call of 16,900.

The Defense department announced Saturday the Marines want 9,000 men from selective service in December, the Army 7,000.

It also announced the November call has been increased from 33,700 to 39,000 due to requests by the Marine corps to boost its total for November from 4,700 to 10,000. It was the second month in a row the Marines had increased original requests.

These developments were taken by some as an indication the Marines have begun an expansion of major combat unit divisions. Such a plan is known under consideration.

Adm. William Fechteler, chief of naval operations, told a news conference earlier this month "we might plan to go to three divisions."

However, Marine headquarters Saturday said the increases are due to recent authorization by President Truman to permit the corps to go from 204,000 men to 236,000. Also, Marine enlistments have admittedly dropped.

The issue boosting the $1.25 tax rate to $1.50 looked about the same with 123 White Deer voters saying yes and 49 Skellytown voters saying yes. The tax boost had only eight votes cast.

White Deer Voters Okay Bond Issue

WHITE DEER — (Special) — White Deer Independent School district voters turned out by about 50 percent to all but unanimously pass an $800,000 school bond issue and approve a companion tax rate increase of 29 cents yesterday.

The bond issue sailed through easily, 173 to 10 while the tax boost passed 172 to 8.

Of the 173 yes votes cast, 128 were in White Deer with Skellytown contributing the remaining 47. Eight votes against the issue were cast in White Deer while only two said no in Skellytown.

The issue boosting the $1.25 tax rate to $1.50 looked about the same with 123 White Deer voters saying yes and 49 Skellytown voters saying yes. The tax boost had only eight votes cast.

Cattlemen Censure Controls On Beef

A resolution condemning federal controls on slaughtering and marketing of cattle and asking a complete release of the cattle industry from "unworkable controls" was passed last week by the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Assn., according to Fred A. Hobart.

In their resolution, the cattlemen contended they were unable to meet their "obligation and responsibility of furnishing . . . a sufficient quantity of good beef at a reasonable price."

This situation, they said, has been brought on by "impractical and unworkable regulations and the threat of additional controls" under the Office of Price Stabilization.

They added that beef became plentiful in the feed lots immediately after Congress adopted the "realistic amendments to the Defense Production Act" the cattle going into the feed lots should be ready for marketing this winter, they said.

They warned that present efforts to institute "even worse controls" will have a "repressive effect on the industry, endangering the future supply of beef." They claimed the regulations being asked for by some Washington circles are "ridiculous" since the nation will have a possible population of 91,000,000 head of cattle on Jan. 1, 1952 and an expectancy of 90,000,000 head by the following year.

They urged a readjustment of the Army's grading system so that it would become practical.

Pampans Will See No Early Change In The Prices On Beef

While housewives over the nation will begin paying higher meat prices Monday morning, Pampa buyers will see no immediate change in the price of meat.

Although meat markets did not plan to boost prices, the local packing plant is set to raise prices from one to four cents on Monday.

The price changes come on the heels of the announcement of new ceiling prices set by the Office of Price Stabilization. The beef raise became effective last Wednesday and the pork raises and decreases will be effective Monday.

Packing house representatives here announced a one-cent per pound increase on prime, choice, good and commercial, a four-cent boost on utility, and three or four cents on rounds.

Some pork cuts will be raised, others lowered. A three-cent deduction was seen on beef loins. Pork liver and neck bones reportedly will be cheaper, and spare ribs "just a fraction" less.

Hams and bacon will go up, but pork loin and shoulders will be about the same, representatives said.

One local butcher said he anticipated no increase in his prices even after he receives official notification of the OPS price increases.

"We're having trouble selling meat at the present ceilings," he said, pointing out that Washington ceilings are a little "high."

Other meat markets reported no immediate increase. They're awaiting a formal notice of ceiling price changes from Washington.

OPS has ordered that when new prices go into effect they must be posted so customers can see them easily.

This is what will happen to the better-known beef products:

Hamburger — the cheaper grade containing up to 25 percent fat will go up about a penny a pound. The better-grade, lean ground containing up to 12 percent fat will increase two to five cents a pound.

Round steak and chuck roasts — these most popular selling cuts will go up two to eight cents a pound, depending on grade.

Porterhouse steaks, prime sirloin — these and other higher-priced cuts which have not been selling as well will drop from 4 to 8 cents a pound.

Rib cuts — up 15 cents a pound.

Brisket or stewing beef down as much as 20 cents a pound on choice cuts.

Girl Scout Contributions Hit $1724.50

Contributions in the advance Girl Scout drive reached $1724.50 late Saturday morning, according to an announcement by Paul Carmichael, advance drive chairman.

Much of the strength of the Girl Scouts lies in the fact it is a voluntary membership organization, scout leaders said, as the first week of the advance finance drive closed.

Its purpose is "to help girls realize the ideals of womanhood as preparation for their responsibilities in the homes and as active citizens in the community and world," they explained.

Finance chairman of the annual Girl Scout drive are attempting to show local residents the fundamentals in the Girl Scout program during the campaign to raise $7500.

An open house will be held between 2 and 5 p. m. Sunday, Oct. 7, at Camp Sullivan. The camp is one of the projects of the council and an example of what scouting offers girls of scout age, leaders said.

Similar finance campaigns are being conducted in Shamrock, Lefors, White Deer and Hopkins. Ed Cleveland is finance chairman of the local Girl Scout Assn.

They turned 85 "uneconomic and impractical" plans to purchase beef on the world market because (1) the foreign supply at present is far below normal and (2) the type of foreign beef available is of an inferior type. The resolution also declared there "is no excuse" for any beef shortage since the nation has a record supply of cattle on hand, plenty of feed in feed lots, the world's largest and finest slaughter processing facilities and the world's largest distribution system. The shortage, they declared, rests with the OPS and not with the cattle industry.

They asked that the bill control the beef industry be amended at once and, since the ten of workable controls can be devised, we recommend the industry be allowed to function in its time-honored and practical way . . . so we can meet our obligation . . . and supply good beef at reasonable prices. Just A Custom For Americans

BERLIN — (AP) — The U.S. consulate here is irritated with some Americans who are using their passports like high school or college year books — for the purpose of collecting autographs. The situation has become so aggravated that the consulate found it necessary to publish a warning notice in the "Daily Bulletin" circulated to American personnel. People were warned that the passport is "a valuable document (which) must not be altered or mutilated in any manner and no stamps, statements, notations or other additions should be placed in it other than by officials." Such a warning would be superfluous to any American, conscious of their nationality and states by the millions, value their passports (if they own one) usually next to their lives.

Britain Put Oil Dispute Before UN Security Council

By ERNEST AGNEW
LONDON — (AP) — Iran's Premier Mohammed Mossadegh and Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb will plead the case for their government in the boiling oil dispute before the UN Security Council next week. This was disclosed yesterday in London and Tehran. Britain tossed the long and bitter dispute over nationalization of Iran's oil riches to the council yesterday. Jebb will ask the council to call upon the government of Iran not to carry out its eviction notice to 30 technicians at Abadan to get out by next Thursday. Britain has warned "grave consequences" would follow a complete takeover at the Abadan refinery. In Tehran, advisors of Premier Mossadegh appeared worried at the latest British move to bring international pressure to delay the order pushing British technicians from Abadan. The British will call upon the Iranian government to adhere to the interim recommendation of the International Court of Justice at The Hague in the dispute.

Iran boycotted the court hearings. The foreign office denied reports published yesterday in British newspapers that British ships had started a naval blockade of the Persian gulf to prevent Iran from shipping any oil from the Abadan refinery. "There are a number of British ships in the Persian gulf now," spokesman said, "but no orders have been issued for a blockade of the gulf." Iran has recently moved in additional troops to the Abadan area. A general staff official denied there had been any troops transferred from northern or central Iran. He termed ridiculous published reports that Iranian troops were racing toward Abadan from all parts of the country. Russia, Iran's northern neighbor, is watching the deepening crisis with intense interest. Ambassador Ivan Sadchikov has been ordered to remain in Tehran to report closely on developments. Russia has a pact with Iran, signed in 1921, that would bring Soviet troops to the aid of Iran if called upon in the event a third party should send armed forces into this country.

Bouquets Should Go To The Living

(Editor's note: A regrettable misadventure resulted in this editorial appearing incorrectly in Friday's paper. The management of the Pampa Daily News, believing that morality and righteousness. This makes those who favor the Welfare State appear to be the true architects of a better world. Those who oppose it, immoral rascals who might be expected to rot in hell, or do most anything in defiance of ethical conduct. But it is this sort of the banner of morality, when applied to the concept of the Welfare State, one that is true or false?

Many times people take for granted that certain other individuals will assume the responsibilities of community leadership, and in almost as many cases, the accomplishments of the latter receive no real recognition until they are gone from that community. In other words, bouquets that should go to the living, all too often are delivered until the person is dead.

Pampa's residents should feel a great deal of pride in the fact that this community saw fit to honor some of the worthwhile accomplishments of its citizens at a reception and welcome dinner held Thursday night in the country club.

The dinner was to honor Hugh Burdette and E. L. Green of Cabot Co. and to welcome Celanese Corp. of America to Pampa. As far as residents of this area are concerned, the name of Gene Green will always be linked with the $10,000,000 Celanese plant now building west of town, for it was through his efforts that the corporation decided Pampa was the place to build. The job of what might be termed "the level of other air-minded Texas towns. When a chamber of commerce group chooses a committee to work out a particularly knotty or touchy problem, it's almost a standard procedure to "ask" Burdette and Green.

The welcome to Celanese Thursday night was real and hearty. The coming of a new and big industry like the Celanese plant has far-reaching effects on a community. First of all, it will provide jobs for many, thus increasing the general level of living. In addition to providing employment for local people, many worthwhile individuals who will move to Pampa to work with their talents in promoting projects that will make the community a better place in which to live.

Perhaps the most important of all is the fact that the coming of Celanese strengthened for perhaps in some cases, revived citizens' faith in the community. No area can stagnate or die when solid, permanent industry is pumping the life of progress and employment into its veins. And the fact that Celanese decided to locate here is assurance that Pampa does have natural resources and other attractions that will woo more and more industry.

Yes, Pampans should feel proud that the efforts of its citizens do not go unrecognized and that tends the hand of welcome to Celanese.

Along with all the others, we like to add our voice to say "Congratulations, Gene and Buck on jobs well done, and welcome Celanese."

Gone — Also Forgotten Americans are getting to be great shoulder shruggers. When an RFC scandal develops or when "honorable men" in government positions act in a dishonorable manner, many Americans adopt a "so what" attitude and proceed to forget the whole thing. And the same attitude is adopted when figures are quoted regarding the senseless and appalling waste of life that takes place every day, every hour, on highways and on the streets of our towns.

Morals And The Welfare State

The fact that very few people understand the close connection between morals and economics and government is largely the cause of the confusion we are in today. The Foundation for Economic Education is making an effort to get those people who believe themselves capable of leading and educating to better understand the close relation between morals and government and economy.

The Spiritual Mobilization sponsored seminars of ministers at Princeton, Butler and Bradley Universities. Bradley University is located at Peoria, Illinois. Leonard Read, president of the Foundation for Economic Education, and Dr. F. A. Harper, one of the staff members of the Foundation, participated in this discussion before the ministers.

The Foundation has put into print in the form of a little pamphlet an extension of remarks made by Dr. F. A. Harper before a group of ministers at Peoria, Illinois, on the subject of "Morals and the Welfare State." I want to quote for a few days from this pamphlet because I think it explains very clearly what this column has been trying to explain. I quote:

MORALS AND THE WELFARE STATE "To many persons, the Welfare State has become a symbol of morality and righteousness. This makes those who favor the Welfare State appear to be the true architects of a better world. Those who oppose it, immoral rascals who might be expected to rot in hell, or do most anything in defiance of ethical conduct. But it is this sort of the banner of morality, when applied to the concept of the Welfare State, one that is true or false?"

"Now what is the test of morality or immorality to be applied to the Welfare State idea? I should like to pose five fundamental ethical concepts, as postulates, by which to test it. They are: ethical precepts found in the true Christian religion — true to its original foundations; and they are likewise found in other religious faiths, wherever and under whatever name those other religious concepts persist; persons to perceive and practice the moral truths of human conduct."

MORAL POSTULATE NO. 1 "Economics and morals are both parts of one inseparable body of truth. They must, therefore, be in harmony with one another. What is right morally must also be right economically, and vice versa. Since morals are a guide to betterment and self-protection, economic policies that violate Moral Truth, will, certainly, cause degeneration and self-destruction."

"This postulate may seem simple and self-evident. Yet many economists and others of my acquaintance, including one who was a most capable and admired teacher, presume to draw some kind of an impossible line of distinction between morals and economics. Such persons fail to test their economic concepts with one another's precepts. Some even scorn the moral base for testing economic concepts, as though it would somehow pollute their economic purity."

"An unusually capable minister recently said that only a short time before, for the first time, he had heard of the close connection and inter-harmony that exists between morals and economics. He had always tried to reserve one compartment for his religious thoughts and another for his thoughts on his economic thought. 'Fortunately,' he said, in essence, 'my economic thinking happened to be in the same compartment as my religious beliefs; but it frightens me now to realize the risk I was taking in ignoring the harmony that must exist between the two.'"

"This viewpoint — that there is no necessary connection between morals and economics — is all too common. It is, in fact, a belief, why immoral economic acts are tolerated, if not actively promoted, by persons of high repute who otherwise might be considered to be persons of high moral standards."

(To Be Continued) forgotten. Cars travel along highways at a speed that makes the legal limit seem safe and slow. Drivers forget that urban and suburban streets are used by pedestrians. Stop signs are ignored. If a driver slows for an intersection, a red light, or children at play, he is blown down by impatient horns to the rear. Good manners are parked before the home which is one of the numerous reasons that traffic fatalities figures climb steadily. It is to such heedless motorists that authorities of Buffalo, N.Y. are about to address themselves. On Sept. 30, Buffalo is to have an Automobile Memorial Day. It will be dedicated to the 39 children, women and men who have been killed thus far this year on its streets."

Police Commissioner Noepel has appealed for memorial services in churches, schools and public gatherings. And at noon citizens will observe 30 seconds of silence.

No one knows whether Buffalo's traffic experiment will have a lasting or lessening effect on the frightful waste of human life. But to Buffalo's credit, it means to try.

ANTI-SEMITIC?

A writer in FRONTIER magazine, a union official, in an attempt to smear some of the papers running this column by using me as a scapegoat, strained at a gnat to make it appear that I am anti-Semitic. It is a common trick used by smear artists and communists to tar and feather opponents of colonialism as anti-semites. In fact, I can even name Jewish foes of communism who have been called "anti-semitic." It's old stuff.

I don't intend to let my FRONTIER critic get away with it, though. He made much of some of our columns entitled, "What Is A Jew?" Thus far the question has been answered in at least a dozen ways with no one agreeing absolutely. If the columns did one thing it was to put a lot of people — pro and con — on the spot by asking them to define anti-Semitism as it meant by "Jew." In this connection one of the leading critics of "Jews" contended that a Jew is one who believes in the Jewish religion. At the same time he attacked Karl Marx as a Jew — and Marx was NOT a believer in the Jewish religion. At one time a Catholic, the father of social democracy, became the enemy of all religion, including Judaism.

That's another reason I can't go for the claims of leading proponents of race issues that anti-Semitism and Communism are practically the same. If a Jew is one by religion, then he believes in God — a Jewish God. You can't be an Old Covenant Communist, on the contrary, is basically and fundamentally anti-God, anti-religious and aims to wipe out any belief in the supernatural. You can't be that about a Jew who tries to be the best of his ability to obey God's commandments.

When I was studying Christian theology I was taught in my textbooks that the Jews, because of disobedience to God, were under a curse or "curse" to be scattered about until a time appointed for their re-gathering, when many will accept Christ as Messiah. I was taught that Cain, who killed his brother Abel, was a symbol of the wandering Jew. Cain was taunted and roamed about, the object of much hatred, you recall.

But I was taught something else and that is that the Christian virtue is LOVE, not only for other Christians but for everyone. We may criticize, we may contend, we may dispute, but we are never supposed to hate anyone. I can't read your Bible — that while Cain, because he displeased God, was under sentence to wander about, no man would harm him, and anyone who attempted to do so would be dealt with in a drastic manner. In other words, God was doing His own dealing with Cain and He did not want anyone interfering and taking His prerogatives into their own hands.

Every Christian theological school of whatever denomination, has historically taught this biblical precept — call them superstitious if you like — I have observed that whenever the wandering Jew appears, he is a symbol of the crime and confinement in prisons. He has been prosecuted in local, state and federal courts. Only recently, while free on bond pending his appeal in the Las Vegas shooting case, he got a routine charge of driving a motor truck, drove madly along a busy highway, turned over, and slid upside down through the oncoming traffic. For this he was pinched again on the obvious charge of going a loaded pistol. This is his third gun-charge in the state of Nevada alone. He already had served several prison terms in Texas for sticking up a little town at night, locking the marshal, the mayor and robbing a store. The fact that Texas later gave him a pardon does not mitigate the fact that he is a thoroughly vicious criminal who eventually may kill if he isn't sent to prison more than a flick of the wrist.

These facts, published only in these essays and ignored by the rest of our press, are not private information. This is not a private story. But, when Pegler breaks an important story many papers which are not clients of this column instinctively decide to ignore it and keep their readers ignorant of the information. Many of them have never yet told their readers the facts of Franklin D. Roosevelt's criminal conduct in the awarding of the Alsup, the president of this county and vice-president of the Nevada State Federation, is the leader and the worst of the crime. He is a notorious habitual criminal, now under sentence for shooting in the body an unarmed, unoffending workman in good standing of the painters' union.

FAIR ENOUGH — PEGLER

NEW YORK — It was a dereliction of duty by our press to ignore the refusal of the American Federation of Labor in its national convention in San Francisco to throw out the habitually criminal who breaks the law and roamed about, the object of much hatred, you recall.

INTERNATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By JOHN FISHER

Spurred by the Ottawa conference allied governments at last have recognized both the strategic importance and the imminent danger of the Middle East. General Omar N. Bradley and policy-maker W. Averell Harriman have been hurriedly assigned to speed Greek-Turkish inclusion in the North Atlantic Treaty organization. London rushed a new offer to forestall Cairo's denunciation of the 1936 military pact. The Arab league has been asked to support a Middle East defense arrangement. The fly in the ointment is Egypt. An irresponsible government of corrupt pashas and greedy landlords is using fanatical nationalism — as in Iran — to inflame ignorant masses against Britain and the United States.

Its latest demand is that English troops, guarding the Suez canal, be kicked out even though such expulsion would leave defenseless Egypt ripe for Communist exploitation and eventual conquest through rebellion or invasion. Actually the loss to the West of the 200-foot wide stream of water called the Suez canal would be more damaging than the shut-down of the great Persian oil wells. If it were plugged by an enemy, allied naval and commercial shipping from Europe to the Far East would have out even though time and money in sailing around the Cape of Good Hope, Africa's southernmost tip.

EGYPT ESSENTIAL Egypt is the geographical cornerstone of the Middle East. The Arab area, according to a recent State Department document, "is important to the security of the United States and of the free world. It is a land bridge between Asia and Africa, Soviet control of which would expose the African continent to attack." Egypt was such a prize in World War II that Rommel did everything in his power to capture it. Britain, though in peril of Nazi invasion after Dunkirk, stripped her own weak armor to hasten landings on the Nile and stop him. Only after long and bitter fighting did General Montgomery succeed.

Soviet expansion to the Middle East bridge has been arrested so far by three factors: 1. Hostility of pious Moslems to atheistic communism and of nationalist Arabs to Russian imperialism. 2. British troops in Egypt and the United States fleet in the Mediterranean. 3. British air bases in Iraq, Jordan and Egypt and American bases in Saudi Arabia. With Egypt gone, the Allies, after great effort might open her sea and air lifelines to Asia. But were they deprived of air bases, they could not so effectively hold Russia at bay, as now, by the threat of bombing the Soviet soft underbelly in the Caucasus oil country.

WEAPON OF MALCONTENT Several gripes are back of Egypt's growing antagonism. She resents the part Britain and America played in setting up Israel. The beating the Jews gave her troops stung their pride. Cairo thugs to commit crimes under their official charters while it clamors for more and more of the powers of government in regulating prices and imposing taxes on the people. In how many other states is this true? The A.F. of L. is a holding company, a national trust for a gigantic ring of criminals. Yet our press "covers" its absurd annual congress of confirmed old crooks though it were a decent occasion, deserving public respect, and pointedly ignores the new war effort. And here we have a conspiracy of silence by most of the American press concerning a shocking state of affairs within the A.F. of L.

This Alsup thing is not a household affair of the A.F. of L. It is a public menace. In addition to his many other crimes, this gunman is now under federal indictment charged with conspiring with contractors to jack up prices or public construction for the new war effort. The reasons for his credentialed status from the A.F. of L. are Alsup put in a position to engage in the practices charged at the expense of all the taxpayers everywhere. Nevada is important to the war effort. Millions have been spent there on construction and many millions more will be spent. And yet the A.F. of L. permits a gang of blind hills and reaching the crest on the wrong side at 65 miles an hour.

People often wonder if sons inherit the specific talents of their fathers. I nominate Nat Benchley as proof that they can, and brilliantly. A writer, Nat has the wit of his father, Robert Benchley, plus a philosophic turn. He recently directed a picture story locale to suggest Alfred Hitchcock. I suggest his chase across the face carved on the cliff at Mt. Rushmore. The villain could hide in Lincoln's beard and the hero could settle the plot on Washington's nose. The heroine would save herself by crawling into Jefferson's ear. I don't want to shock the masses, but it is a fine idea. The hero would save herself by crawling into Jefferson's ear. I don't want to shock the masses, but it is a fine idea. The hero would save herself by crawling into Jefferson's ear. I don't want to shock the masses, but it is a fine idea.

Many Hands Unite To Help Your Newspaper Light The Way Of Freedom

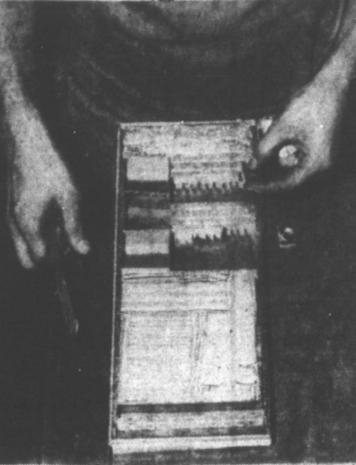

SKILLED HANDS of an artist must be called into play to illustrate advertisements that each day sell many products through the daily newspaper. Here the artist deftly sketches the latest in military's wearing apparel. Staff artists do not supply all illustrations however. Some 25,000 illustrative drawings are made available at The News through four major mat services. Illustrations and ad copy are merged at...

AD LAYOUT where an advertising solicitor literally "builds" the ad on paper. Photo shows a full page advertisement for a football game being laid out. Salesmen must be able to lay out eye-compelling ads and write copy that concisely describes the product or products for sale. Once copy and illustrations are complete, salesman must indicate the size of type he wishes to use and the copy is marked and goes to...

THE "MIXER" which casts or molds the lines of type. The term "mixer" is one applied by printers to a type casting machine that will cast or "mix" more than one size of type on the same line. On this particular machine, the operator has six sizes of type at his command. The machine is also used to cast headlines for news stories. When ad copy has been cast, it is taken to the...

AD ALLEY where once again illustrations and copy are merged, this time in the form of metal. Here an ad makeup man places type in a galley. Ad makeup is a painstaking job that must be done with speed and accuracy. Working with many sizes of type and illustrations the makeup man follows the layout made by the advertising salesman. After the ad has been assembled, it goes to the ad dump until time to go...

INTO THE FORM. Each day's paper is planned in advance by the advertising department which determines where advertisements will go. Ads usually are placed in the form first and the remaining space is filled with news copy. In photo a makeup man whose duty it is to place ads and news in the forms, slides a completed ad off a tray into its position on the page. Once ads and news are placed in the form, the page is complete except for... (See Page 9)

Official Declares Gas Rates Too Low, Demand Too Great

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Oklahoma's natural gas rates are too low, the state's public utility commission has declared. The commission's decision is expected to lead to higher rates for gas in Oklahoma and other states.

Chairman of the commission, J. W. ... said that the current rates are not sufficient to cover the cost of production and distribution. He noted that the demand for gas is increasing rapidly, and that the existing infrastructure is being strained.

The commission's report also mentions that the current rates are not providing adequate funds for the maintenance and improvement of the gas supply system. It suggests that rates should be adjusted to reflect the true cost of gas, including the cost of capital and the cost of depreciation.

Other news snippets include: 'Commission' regarding vehicle regulations, 'Publications' regarding newspaper operations, and 'Many Opinions' regarding local community issues.

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Angeline Collins and Brent Williams, two of the finest voices on the American concert stage, will be presented by the Wheeler County Concert Assn. in Clark auditorium here Oct. 4, at 8:15 p.m.

Only members of the concert group will be admitted, which will be by ticket only. However, plans have been made this year to punch all tickets and anyone desiring to bring a friend may have two holes punched, but later would have to miss a concert.

Other programs are slated for mid-winter and early spring. The early season football ticket sales at Syracuse University were almost doubled what they were last year just prior to the opening games.

'This Is My Home,' Says Boy Who Once Served Jap Army

By Bob Bush

"I love Texas. Since I no longer have a home in Japan, this is my home."

So said Hiroshi Tanamachi, a young Japanese student currently studying at Wayland college, Plainview, Hiroshi, who likes to be called Hiro, came to this country from Japan in January 1950, and has been attending school since.

Like many other students from foreign countries, he found studying in American schools hard because of the language barrier. "When I landed in San Francisco," he said, "all I was able to say was 'hello,' 'goodby' and 'My name is Hiroshi Tanamachi.'"

Later, when he entered the University of Southern California, he found he again was handicapped because of the large classes. "The instructors talked through microphones attached to their coats, and they talked so fast I couldn't keep up with them."

Now, after being in the United States 20 months, Tanamachi speaks English very well, although he says he still has trouble pronouncing and understanding many words.

During the war, Tanamachi was drafted into the Japanese navy, where he served as pilot of a suicide submarine. When asked if he had volunteered for suicide missions, the youth became very serious and said he had several times.

"It's human nature to love one's country, and I loved mine," he explained. "While my father, who was an army doctor, my mother and two brothers were in Manchuria, the Russians captured and killed all of them. Other than one sister in Japan, now teaching school, all I had left was my country."

"It's very easy for one who is left alone in the world to believe anything he is told, and I believed all the propaganda told my people. I wanted more than anything to beat the United States and the United Nations. I was told we would be victorious. I was told we would be supreme throughout the world. But we lost."

On August 17, Tanamachi was supposed to go to the Pacific, but the war ended two days before. "That is why I am here now," he said.

After the war, Hiro didn't know what to do. Everything he had believed in had collapsed. He had "no desire or zeal to go," and thus lost faith in anything.

In the spring of 1949 he re-entered college in Japan and received a degree in law. Later, against desire of the college staff which wanted him to remain as a faculty member, he applied for entrance to the United States for further study.

Before he came to Texas, Tanamachi majored in political science at the University of Southern California. After entering Wayland college, he changed his mind and accepted Christianity as his religion. He now plans to get a degree in ministry with a minor in English. When he graduates, which will be in two years, he wants to enter a seminary here for further study.

Before leaving Japan, Tanamachi, like all Japanese, dreamed and believed the United States was a utopia. However, he said he found it not much different from Japan. "Here, it is a country made up of the society of human beings. It is the same in Japan. Basically, people are the same throughout the world. In America, there are many resources with which to produce

Lawyer And Doctor Killed In Collision Near Jacksboro

JACKSBORO — (AP) — A prominent Wichita Falls attorney and a Killeen, Texas, veterinarian were killed Friday in a head-on car collision 13 miles north of here.

Dead were W. Tar Locke, 41, of Wichita Falls, and Dr. Darrell E. Spott, 38, of Killeen, son of a prominent Bell county rancher. Seriously injured were Watt Hardin, about 38, of Aledo, who was riding with Spott, and E. D. Allen, 49, Locke's law partner. Both were taken to a local hospital.

The accident occurred about 6:30 a. m. on U. S. Hwy. 281. Dr. Spott was on his way to Iowa Park, about nine miles west of Wichita Falls, where he was to judge agriculture exhibits at the Texas - Oklahoma fair. The two lawyers were headed toward Jacksboro.

Locke was well known in legal circles in the Wichita Falls area. Before and during World War II, he was assistant county and assistant district attorney in Wichita county. He also served as veterans claim agent with the Veterans administration during the war.

his heart. It is his desire to return as a Christian minister to his country where churches, teachers, hospitals, nurses and doctors are needed. It is his country which he still loves that he wishes to help spiritually and physically, and it is his wish for Japan soon to be among the family of peaceful, Christian nations.

Boyle's Column:

Average Cup Of Restaurant Tea Looked Upon As Felony

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—If the great American tragedy today is the average cup of restaurant coffee, pray tell what is the average cup of restaurant tea?
This query came from a lady fond of the brew that cheers but not inebriates — which, by the way, is tea.
And I feel I can give an authoritative answer. The average cup of restaurant tea isn't tea at all. It is a felony perforce, a high crime against the noblest beverages of history — honest water, honest tea.
It is a far worse thing to serve a bad cup of tea than it is a bad cup of coffee, because it wounds the recipient more grievously.

Coffee drinkers are hearty, durable, down-to-earth people able to stand the shocks and disappointments of life. But your true tea lover is a finer, more sensitive soul, easily depressed by harsh realities.
I don't say this altogether just because I am a tea lover myself, although naturally that's a factor. The poets and writers of the past have hinted at this truth. "Thank God for tea," cried Sydney Smith. "What would the world do without tea? I am glad I was not born before tea?"

THE OUTPOST

By KAY FANCHER
The Outpost has been rather inactive for the last few weeks, but officers and men of the Headquarters Battery of the 44th Field Artillery Observation Battalion have been busy. For the past couple of weeks we have been working on getting all equipment in order after camp. It doesn't seem possible, but it's been more than a month since we came back from Fort Sill, Okla. Along with getting equipment in order and all of the other things that have to be done, the men have had time to have regular classes each drill period.

The battalion staff has had a school in the armory for the last two weeks and it will continue classes every drill night. Inspection reports of our summer camp period in Ft. Sill have been received from the Fourth Army. All units of the battalion — and the Fourth Army inspection.

We have had a new enlistment, Weldon Day of Clarendon has joined the unit. He rides into Pampa every Monday night with Private Jerry La Grone. Wesley Langham of the KFDN staff is anticipating entering in the near future.

Master Sergeant Herman V. Wall's, battalion sergeant major, has applied for appointment to warrant officer. Sgt. Wallis will be working with the survey section.

Corp. Bobby J. Keesee liked Ft. Sill so much he decided to go back. Cpl. Keesee will attend the wire communications school at Ft. Sill in November.

Speaking of schools, an administrative school for all units will be held here in Pampa, Oct. 1. The school will be conducted by Capt. Sidney J. Levinthal of Houston, adjutant of XII Corp. After the school Capt. Levinthal will inspect all battalion units.

One of the local square dance clubs is taking over the armory each Saturday night. I wonder if the cadence is the same as on Monday nights, rather doubtful. Here's something that the men of the unit will be glad to hear. Plans are being made for a battalion party. They are not nearly complete, as yet, and no details on where, when, what, or why, are available now, but it's believed the party probably will be held in our neighboring city of Borger.

Don't forget... anyone still interested in becoming a member of the unit, is welcome to visit us any Monday from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. in the National Guard armory at Recreation park. The man to see during the week, if you can't get out on Monday night, is Warrant Officer William Leonard, at the armory.

That's all from this outpost this week, but we'll try to report back in next week, about this same time.

NAMED IN TRIAL—American Catholic Bishop Gerald O'Hara, above, was among churchmen of five nations implicated in the treason trial of 10 high Roman Catholic clergymen and officials in Communist Bucharest, Romania. Defendants are charged with plotting against the Communist state. Bishop O'Hara was expelled from the Red council similar spy trial in 1950.

Emerson observed "there is a great deal of poetry and fine sentiment in a chest of tea." Edmund Waller spoke of tea as "the muse's friend." And Thomas de Quincey wrote: "Tea, though ridiculed by those who are naturally coarse in their nervous sensibilities... will always be the favorite beverage of the intellectual."
Editor's note: Is a that the same guy who wrote "Confessions of an English Opium Eater?"

(Boyle's note: Yes, he went on to opium from restaurant tea.)
"Tea drinking is a highly esoteric art; it can become a cult. But it is basically as simple as putting tea leaves in boiling water. You can add a lot of refinements, but if you simply do that you'll get an acceptable drink. The trouble with restaurant tea boils down to this: The average restaurant simply seems unable to boil water.
The waitress drops a cheese-cloth sack containing five assorted tea leaves into a small piece of covered crockery supposedly containing boiling water. Anxiously you wait a moment, sorrowfully you pour, despairingly you taste. It is as tepid as a Victorian love scene, as flavorless as melted snow. You couldn't even put peppermint in it and pain it off as a gargle.

I have seen grown up tea drinkers put their faces down on their arms and cry when dished up this insult to their favorite beverage.
About restaurant coffee there is some hope; about restaurant tea there is none. And there never will be until they pass a law allowing customers the right to pour over the head of anyone who serves him a cup of tea that isn't boiling hot.
The reason American poetry has declined is probably the fact young poets no longer know where to get good tea.
In the Chicago fire of 1871, 17,000 buildings were destroyed and property loss was estimated at $160,000,000.

Bergman Is Cast In New Role For European Picture

ROME — (AP) — Roberto Rossellini says he'll bring wife Ingrid Bergman back to the screen next month in the story of a young mother.
Rossellini, who is noted for turning out his films fast, said shooting on the film — tentatively titled "Europe 1951" — will begin Oct. 20 in Rome. If it isn't ready for distribution this fall, the title will be changed to "Europe 1952."
It will be Miss Bergman's first film since "Stromboli" which she made in 1949 just before bearing Rossellini's son and her subsequent divorce from Dr. Peter Lindstrom. She and the Ital-

LAST MINUTE corrections on inside pages are made after a complete page proof is pulled. Once again agile fingers guided by a sharp eye are needed to see that the corrected line is inserted in the right spot and that the right headlines are matched with their corresponding stories. This is last in a series of four checking steps to catch errors. Inside pages are no sooner finished than the make-up men set to work handling...

PAGE ONE STORIES, fitting them into spaces plotted for them by the city editor. Page one modifies the adage of "the first shall be last to be made up and the last shall be first to be seen by the readers." But, that isn't all. As the jig-saw like puzzle of type, headlines and stories are at last fitted into place in the page form it, like its sister pages, is shoved aside where strong fingers and wrists proceed to...

LOCK UP or tighten the type so it will be firm and steady. The hands turning the short, heavy-duty form wrench have to make sure there are sufficient turns on each side of the four places in the form to equally pull the type and form sides together. Headlines, type and picture engravings are now firmly locked in place unable to jump or be pushed out of their places by any slight jar given them as they travel to the...

MAT ROLLER where a stereotyper's hands lay a chemically toughened mat over the filled in page form. Once the mat is in place, the form and mat are sent under 1500 pounds of pressure per square inch and the type impressed into the mat. As the page slowly comes out the opposite end of the roller quick hands remove the rolled mat from the page form and rush it to the stereotyper department where it is turned face down as flying fingers...

BACK AND PACK the reverse side of the mat to make it sturdy and fill in the hollow spaces made by the absence of type where engravings are to be fitted later. The backer's fingers must be swift and sure, so that everything will be snug as a bug in a rug when the mat is sent to the scorching machine. There it is left until it has baked and hardened into shape so it can be placed in (please turn to page 23)

Wheelerites Turn Dune Into Dairy

By LOUISE COFFMAN
WHEELER — (Special) — What used to be almost a sand dune on the southern city limits of Wheeler is now one of the Grads. A dairy farm of the area.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Templeton made their plans and started the project in 1944 by building a red tile barn complete with milk room. The milk room has white walls, racks for storing milking equipment, and a four-can milk cooler to keep milk sweet until it is picked up by the milk company. They began bringing the land back, Templeton says. "They told me it wouldn't grow alfalfa — wish I hadn't listened to them." Experimentation with different grasses and legumes proved different and now alfalfa, with a scattering of clover — preventing grasses, furnishes green grazing for his herd in addition to most of the hay needed for winter feeding. He also favors clover, lespedeza and blue panacea. The cows approve. Templeton feeds some grain the year around. Latest addition to the dairy is a four star Jersey bull, Design Bolo Prince. Facts not written on his papers are that he has 79 half sisters who tested 527 lbs. butterfat in 365 days with twice-a-day milking. To the dairy minded those statistics mean good dairy cattle. Bolo Prince is a beautiful animal and even tempered — for a bull — but the ring in his nose and the chain around his neck weren't put there as ornaments. Templeton shows great respect whenever he enters the bull pen north of the red barn. The bull was bought from Earl Baker of Eric. The herd now stands at 14 cows and 13 heifers. Templeton plans to keep it at about this level. Improved breeding will soon produce more milk without adding to the herd. Last year the Templetons had the cattle and the land far enough along to think of themselves for a change. They now have a new seven-room house with double garage. Most of the interior finish work has been done by the family. The next project is landscaping the grounds. Flowers bloomed around the brick sides of the house this year but permanent shrubs, trees, and lawn are being planted. The Templetons do these things after milking the cows, tending the land, and canning the products from their large garden.

On the average, only 10 percent of the nation's forest fires are started by lightning and other natural causes. Most of them are caused by burning cigarettes. The rest are started by smoldering camp fires.

Irish School Head Attends Meeting

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Supt. Elmer J. Moore, Irish school head, attended a district meeting of the Congress of Parents and Teachers at Pampa Thursday.

Moore is one of the leaders of the organization, which presented him with a special life membership last spring. He is serving as superintendent at Shamrock for his seventh straight year, and had 12 years previous experience before assuming his present post in 1945.

Lion Officer To Be Here

Boyd Meador, McLean, governor of district 271, Lions International, will visit the Pampa Lions club Oct. 4, Sherman White, president of the local club, has announced.

Meador moved to McLean from Clarendon in 1927 and became a Lions club member in January 1929. He has served the club in every office except secretary. In 1950, he was chosen "Lion of the Year" by his home club and served as deputy district governor during the 1949-50 fiscal year. Philip II made Madrid his capital in 1960.

McClellan Bridge Open

The McClellan Creek bridge along the Alanreed Rd. was opened to traffic late last week, State Hwy. Dept. engineers reported. The bridge, washed out by late May and early June floods cost the state $19,001.38 — just $1600 more than the contract price. The added cost was brought on after contractors had to replace broken pillars under the one end of the partially damaged bridge that were broken by drifting debris and also had to remove several truckfuls of floating debris in the creek.

Once a 300-foot span, the reconstructed bridge now boasts a length of 450 feet. The last concrete slabs were laid the previous week, but traffic was not allowed to cross the bridge until the surface was safely hardened.

A simple winter storage space for cabbage and other garden products may be made by using large tiles upright. A cover may be made out of wood with adequate additional straw for frost insulation.

Cotton Raisers Hit By 'Freezing' Fear

County wheat farmers turned cotton farmers have their fingers crossed that it won't come a freeze before cotton picking time. Some 3000 acres of cotton were planted on the High Plains this year and in "spots of the area" some cotton is opening up. However, cold weather in some sections has delayed the opening of bolls, farmer say.

Pampan Invited To Help Plan New Ritual For Odd Fellows

Another national honor has come to Roy King, son of Mr. and Mrs. James L. King, 801 E. Malone.

The young Pampan, now attending Texas Christian university, has been invited by the Sovereign Grand Lodge to attend the Youth Work institute in Minneapolis and be on the committee for the revision of Junior Odd lodge rituals.

The Sovereign Grand Lodge makes laws for lodges of the world and this is the first time a Junior Odd Fellow has ever attended the youth institute.

The selection was made known by James S. Lombard, chairman of the youth committee of the Sovereign Grand Lodge. Lombard had previously granted young King privilege to make a two-week pilgrimage to New York last summer though he was overage for the trip. While on the trip, the junior lodge group visited a session of the UN conference, and King later presented talks over the Panhandle on the trip.

The institute is scheduled for Nov. 15, 16, and 17, and the revision committee will meet Nov. 18. King will likely accept the all-expense-paid trip, his parents said. It is hoped he will be excused from classwork at TCU, where he is a ministerial student. His parents are advisory officers.

Roy King ...wins honor

Lombard said King was selected for the honor because of "excellent work at the state convention in Fort Worth, and for good reports on his participation in the pilgrimage to New York." King was active in lodge work through his high school career. He was graduated from Pampa High school last spring.

Elephants, Pretty Girls In Circus

A circus wouldn't be a circus without an elephant, and the elephants in the Clyde Beatty circus coming here Oct. 8, perform for pretty circus performers — another must for a successful circus. Dorothy Brown will star with "Marge," a huge, lumbering elephant, proving that elephants perform better for women than men. Nearly 300 men and women here under the auspices of the arenic stars will come here for Pampa Shrine organization.

...commissioned

Donald T. Gracey, Box 622, Pampa, has been commissioned in the United States Air Force following graduation Sept. 21, from the officer candidate school, Lackland Air Force base, San Antonio.

One of the largest classes of the school since World War II, including 29 women in the Air Force and 244 male candidates, was graduated.

JESSIE L. SIMMONS
...on leave

Jessie L. Simmons, HMI, USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Simmons, 945 E. Gordon, is home on a 10-day leave. He will leave Tuesday for Japan.

Simmons is married to the former Betty Jo Holt, daughter of Mrs. Hattie B. Holt, 833 S. Russell.

He served 39 months in service during World War II and was recalled to duty last March. Simmons expects to be sent to Yokosuka to await transportation to the USS Ryer, AKL-9.

James V. Cox, airman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wyndell L. Cox of 110 N. Gillespie, has been assigned to duty under instruction at the Aviation Boatswain's Mate school, U.S. Naval base, Philadelphia, Pa. The training program is designed to produce future Army leaders and instructors. Until recently, it also was prerequisite for officer candidate school.

Prior to entrance in the service, Williams was a laboratory and X-ray technician for Dr. F. W. Kelley. He is the husband of the former Patricia J. Janel Covington, 1230 E. Browning.

Chester R. Bailey, airman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bailey, Wheeler, is now attending the Aviation Machinist's Mate school, at the U. S. Naval Air Technical Training center, Memphis, Tenn. Bailey, who entered service in March, 1951, received his training at the U. S. Naval Training center, San Diego, Calif. J. E. Walling, Jr., seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Walling of 707 E. Frederic, is serving aboard the destroyer-tender USS Piedmont, flagship of the UN blockading and escort force, in the Far East.

The Piedmont recently returned to the Orient for a second time in a year. Operating in Japanese coastal waters at the outbreak of hostilities in Korea, it was rushed to Korea to participate in the Inchon landing.

Ten Building Permits Issued

The building permits, totaling $42,376, were issued last week in the city engineers office, showing a continued decline in construction for Pampa.

Permits for construction of three residences, one garage, one foundation and a car port were issued, in addition to the approval of moving and remodeling four structures. Broken down, the picture shows:

New residences: Duro Home, Inc., 613 Deane Dr., $8850; and on 733 Deane Dr., $7400; and J. B. McGuire, 1900 Russell, $17,500. Moving in and remodeling: J. C. Lunsford, 204 W. Albert, $2800; A. E. Gee, 100 S. Wells, $250; and James Lewis, 121 N. Faulkner, $1500.

Frank Leder, 912 Somerville, was issued a permit for a garage apartment for $3000 and Roy L. Jones, 449 Graham, was granted one for a new garage at $900. Permission was granted Jack Russell, 1028 E. Kingmill, to build a $100 foundation, and Marion J. Williams, 441 Hughes, was permitted to build a $75 carport.

Cotton Pickers Said Needed

Cotton pickers were reportedly urgently needed in Collingsworth county as the cotton in that county opened early.

By noon Sept. 18, 1873 bales had been ginned, but several thousand bales are open in the field, ungathered because of the acute shortage of laborers.

Farmers in that area are said to be resorting to mechanical pullers. The lack of cotton pickers is a situation existing in every community of that county and other parts of the Panhandle as well.

Texas Oil Harmed Says Gen. Thompson

FORT WORTH — (AP) — Terrific damage is being done to Texas oil reserves by reason of its effort to take care of the Iranian situation, State Secretary Acheson was told Saturday in a letter by Ernest O. Thompson, senior member of the Texas Railroad commission.

The regulatory official urged prompt action be taken to reopen the Abadan refinery, largest in the world, in southwestern Iran. Thompson called the attention of Acheson to the fact that Texas has increased its oil production materially in the last few months in response to requests from the Petroleum Administration for Defense in order that deficits caused by the Iranian situation might be met.

CARL F. HILLS
...home on visit

S-Sgt. Carl F. Hills arrived here for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Hills, before reporting to Camp Stoneman, Calif. for re-assignment in the Far Eastern Air force.

Hills will be assigned to the wing inspection department as maintenance inspector when he reaches Korea.

A 1940 graduate of Pampa High school, Sgt. Hills spent three years in the Navy in World War II. Prior to entering the Air force, he was in the commercial refrigeration business in Salisbury, Md.

Two Pampans recently graduated from officer candidate school, Lackland Air Force base. They are Lenora E. Lowe, former music teacher in Junior High school, and Carl W. Gracey, son of Mr. W. T. Gracey, of the Sinclair-Merion camp. Both entered OCS April 2 and graduated Sept. 21.

The Department of Defense will begin immediately to inscribe the word "Korea" on grave markers and headstones of U. S. dead returned from Korea, or whose death attributable to service in Korea, Secretary of Defense Robert A. Lovet has advised President Truman.

The regulations do not apply to the graves of servicemen buried in other than national cemeteries. These markers and monuments are of private concern and may be marked in whatever manner the family or relatives determine.

Longhorns Defeat Purdue, 14-0; SMU Mustangs Fall To Ohio State, 7-0

First Half Scores On Straight Power Win For Texans

LAFAYETTE, Ind. — (AP) — The Texas Longhorns ground out two first-half touchdowns on straight power plays for a 14-0 victory Saturday over a Purdue team that couldn't get Paul Williams and Jack Barton out of its way. Williams, 205 pounds of spring-legged end, pounced on three Purdue fumbles. Center Barton was a stone post in the road of Purdue's second half drive which piled up heavy yardage too far from the goal line.

Halfback Gib Dawson scored both Texas touchdowns and converted both extra points.

Three or four yards at a crack was the Texas piece in its first half offensive and it was good enough. Without picking up an inch in the air, the Texans went 30 yards in eight plays for the first score.

Dawson curved five yards around his own right end for the touchdown.

Texas jabbed 31 yards in 10 plays for the second score. Dawson crossed the goal line untouched, from the Purdue 3.

The rest of the way Texas spent most of the time on the defensive and looked more impressive in that phase of the game than it did on its scoring rushes.

Purdue wound up with 262 yards from scrimmage to Texas' 215, and 17 first downs to Texas' 10.

But Purdue couldn't dent the Texas line for important short gains.

The crowd of 31,000 saw Dale Samuels of Purdue complete 12 passes for 114 yards. He had his ends, particularly Bernard Flowers, with precision except when Texans got in the way. That was too often — four of his tosses were intercepted.

The Samuels-Flowers combination missed a touchdown by inches in the third quarter, the 26-yard toss was caught out of bounds and just short of the goal line.

Purdue's next best threat stalled on the Texas 5 early in the fourth quarter. A Texas fumble started the drive from the Texas 47. Purdue got to the 8 in six plays, including a 12-yard run by halfback Earl Heninger. It made just three more in three line plays and an incomplete pass.

Texas tried only three passes, completed none and had one intercepted.

Dawson, Byron Townsend and Don Barton did most of Texas' ball carrying but quarterback Jones was the team's top ground gainer with 55 yards in five rushes.

Even Jones' yardage collecting was bettered by two Purdue backs, Phil Kitecz with 65 and Heninger with 78.

ON HIS WAY — Darrell Wilson, Harvester halfback, carries punt return back to the Lions' 24 yard stripe. The man who eventually stopped Wilson, fullback Duane Blair, was knocked unconscious making the tackle and left the game.

Pro Footballers Kickoff Today

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — The National Football League was off to a flying start Saturday, with the Los Angeles Rams writing a brilliant new chapter in the record book.

Other clubs play over the weekend. Highlighted by the record-smashing performance of quarterback Norman Van Brocklin who broke the league mark for yards gained by passing when he sent the Rams traveling 554 yards via the air, Los Angeles walloped the New York Yanks 54-14.

Brooklin threw 41 passes and completed 27. Today the champion Cleveland Browns open against the San Francisco 49ers.

The Detroit Lions entertain the Washington Redskins; the Chicago Bears journey to Green Bay to battle the Packers, and the Philadelphia Eagles, with new coach Bo McMillen, meet the Cardinals in Chicago.

The New York Giants engage Pittsburgh Monday.

Benners' Passing Keeps Buckeyes On Defensive All Way

COLUMBUS, O. — (AP) — Ohio State's Buckeyes, picked to finish third in the National Collegiate football scramble, received the score of their lives as they opened with a 7-0 victory over the Mustangs of Southern Methodist yesterday.

The talent-laden Ohioans struck for a touchdown in the second period on the 21-yard pass and then fought with their backs to the wall most of the remainder of the game, as tall Fred Benners, who wrecked the Bucks a year ago, completed 21 of 29 passes for 211 yards but no score.

The crowd of 80,735, biggest opening day throng in Ohio history, witnessed the contest.

The Ohio scoring play was a sensational one. The Bucks picked up the ball on a pass interception on their own 32 1/2-yard line and aided by a roughness penalty, moved for six plays to the Mustangs' 21. All America Vic Janovic tossed an incomplete pass but on the next play quarterback Tony Currello, operating from the T, sent his three other backs winging to the left while he cut far out to the right without protection and tossed an aerial into the end zone to Bob Joslin, a sophomore end. Janovic added the extra point.

Southern Methodist could have duplicated its 32-27 victory of last year but for some butterfly-fingered ball handling. Four times the Mustangs surrendered the ball on fumbles and four passes were intercepted to halt other drives.

Most disastrous of the interceptions came in the closing minutes. The Mustangs had stopped an Ohio surge on the one-foot line allowing the Bucks on the four yards in four downs, and Benners opened a pass attack from his own end zone in a valiant attempt to square the score.

Eight times the sensational hurler threw the ball, and eight times he completed the play. Aided by a roughness penalty and one for off-side, he moved the ball from his own one-foot line to Ohio's 17. With 25 seconds to go, the Mustangs intercepted a pass with a pass on the 13-yard line, but the Mustang receiver fumbled when tackled and Sherwin Gandee of Ohio recovered to halt the threat.

Another Mustang surge which started far back on the 17-yard line carried to Ohio's four in the third period, but Ohio took the ball on downs when a Benners' pass fell inches short of a first down. Later in the third period Janovic intercepted one Benners' tosses in the Ohio end zone to erase another Southern Methodist scoring chance.

Odessa Smashes Capitol Hill To Take Top Rating In State

(By The Associated Press) Just take Odessa and Lamar (Houston) to clash in the finals of Class AAAA schoolboy football this season and you won't be far wrong.

Results Friday night showed where the power of the super gridiron class lies. Odessa smashed Capitol Hill of Oklahoma City, a team that gave Lubbock some trouble, 48-0. Lubbock is in the same district as Odessa and has been considered a top team.

Lamar beat Port Arthur 2-0. Port Arthur is the one that tied Odessa 13-13.

Thirteen teams remained undefeated in AAAA. Falling out were El Paso High, Jefferson of El Paso and San Jacinto of Houston. Thomas Jefferson took one of the worst licks of the year — the El Paso team was blasted 72-0 by Lamesa of Class AAA. El Paso High lost to Carlsbad, 7-8. San Jacinto fell before Corsicana of AAA 21-14.

In Class AAA the feature game was Temple's charge into the ramparts of Baytown. Temple couldn't quite make it — the Wildcats, powers of AAA, lost to the Class AAAA team 6-0.

Lubbock slammed Sweetwater of AAA 39-15. Breckenridge of AAA whipped San Angelo of AAA 46-6. Pampa knocked Vernon of AAA out of the undefeated class 25-0; Texarkana clipped Little Rock, champions of Arkansas, 27-7; Miller of Corpus Christi leveled McAllen, one of the AAA strong boys, 13-6 and Orange of AAAA swamped Nacogdoches of AAA 74-0 in other standout games of the two divisions.

Borger and Wichita Falls, two AAAA clubs, played the wackiest game of the season. The last team with the ball apparently won it.

The score was 47-41 for Borger. New London of Class AA stepped up to swat Irving of Class AAA 19-6 and Carthage of AA swept down Kilgore of AAA 20-0.

Down at Kingsville a game was dedicated to a dead man and Kingsville whipped Robstown 28-6 for the first Brahma victory in three years in this long-time South Texas grid rivalry.

Kingsville is in AAA and Robstown in AA and the two teams came to this game undefeated and united with Robstown favored to win it. Leslie Frazier, former Kingsville football player, died yesterday so the team dedicated the game to him — and won it.

The undefeated list was cut to 15 in Class AAA with Vernon, Paris, Henderson, Conroe, Texas City, Lanier (San Antonio), McAllen, Temple and Burbank (San Antonio) falling out. It was the only extra point the Cats could make all night.

Liter in the period, big Tom Schaeff romped 72 yards for the second score for the home team. In the second period Schaeff again took off on a pair of long jaunts. He went 64 yards on the first one and then capped his night's work with a fine, 60-yard saunter.

Not satisfied with this half-time lead, the Cats scored once more before heading to the dressing room for a brief rest. Hoover raced 72 yards to score. James Peterson, Canadian coach, took his first string out at the half but it didn't stop the scoring.

Hoover then took over again, going 44 yards for an apparent touchdown only to have it called on a penalty. But the very next play he went 49 to make the touchdowns stand.

In the fourth quarter Hoover passed to Ramirez, the play covering 40 yards, and a touchdown. The Cats, in trouncing the Rangers so soundly, surpassed the performance put on by the White Deer Bucks in their opening game against Perryton when the Bucks went to a 23-6 win.

Irish Battle Wellington To 19-19 Deadlock In Thriller

(By GEORGE BURRIS Pampa News Correspondent) SHAMROCK — Shamrock's fighting Irish and Wellington Skyrokers played to a 19-19 tie here at Denver Field Friday night.

Shamrock struck within the first four minutes, after taking the opening kickoff to the Irish 25. Eleven plays later Charles Francis, quarterback, passed 17 yards to Van Pennington, Irish end, for TD, but Jack York's kick failed.

Later in the first stanza, the Irish recovered a fumble on the Rocket 7 and three plays later Jimmy Pennington, Irish left half, sliced off tackle for the score from two yards out. York's kick again failed.

Wellington roared back in the second canto for a touchdown, a 75 yards drive aided by three pass completions which ate up 60 yards. Tommy Wood, Rocket quarterback, swept right end for five and the counter, and Lonnie Woody's kick was good.

Clyde Ingram, Rocket half, sliced over from the one in the third canto and a few minutes later the Wellington fullback, Hoot Gibson raced around right end for 22 and the counter, just after the recovery of an Irish fumble on the Irish 22. Wood's kick again failed.

With the score 19-12, the Irish fought to the 1-yard stripe in the fourth canto, but the Rockets held firm for four straight line plays. Ingram went back to punt, but big Dwayne Hager, 210-pound Irish right tackle, slashed through to block the punt and Bobby Campbell, Irish right end, fell on the ball in the end zone.

Don Carlton, who has been out with a wrist injury for four weeks, went in and kicked a perfect placekick for the tying extra point.

Shamrock's attempt to win in the final minutes fell short when Francis' pass to Campbell was intercepted by Tommy Wood with only seconds remaining.

Weather permitting, the ladies will decide their handicap champion by 70 strokes and it looks as if Johnny Austin's boys are going to get him that three foot trophy that he has been wanting so badly the past three years. I hope Johnny isn't counting eggs too quickly, and I don't believe I have heard him make the statement several times that his boys could beat any group of players in this part of the state so long as they were playing from scratch and not handicap. Well, I'm inclined to believe that he is right. I overheard a conversation the other day that went like this: "Boys, let's get our games sharpened up and bring that trophy back for Johnny. I notice he has already fixed a place for it." The pro at the Pampa County club may never let his players, ladies, men and kiddies, know

Yankees Sweep Pair From Sox

NEW YORK — (AP) — The pennant winning New York Yankees took both ends of a doubleheader from the Boston Red Sox, 3-0 and 3-1 Saturday. Ed Lopat pitched shutout ball for six innings to gain his 21st victory in the opener and rookie Tom Morgan and Ernie Nevel teamed up and tossed a three-hitter in the nightcap.

All of us are very sorry to hear that Frank Shotwell, Sox pitcher, has a pretty bad case of jaundice. Frank is in the hospital and we will be looking for you on the first tee in a couple of weeks. To those readers who don't know Frank, he is a gentleman in every way and he certainly displays it on the golf course. He is a fine golfer, his best round being a smooth 74. Get well soon old boy. We miss that grin of yours at the pro shop.

it, but he thinks he has the best group in the country. He's kinda talking about getting a group picture made on Oct. 14 with the big trophy in the center; so try and be there about 12:30 on the next Sunday, Oct. 7.

Tennessee Hits Early To Win

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — (AP) — Tennessee slashed quickly for two touchdowns in the first period and then coasted to an unimpressive 14 to 0 win over Mississippi State Saturday in a Southeastern Conference football game.

Tennessee, rated the nation's No. 1 team in the pre-season Associated Press poll, capitalized on breaks to punch over both its scores in the first five minutes.

But after those game-winning thrusts, the Volunteers' highly skilled single wing offensive faded and fizzled against the Rebels' stubborn defensive line.

The game came on a fumble kicked punt.

Mississippi State's Gene Houch singled home Earl Wooten in the ninth inning Saturday to give the Milwaukee Brewers a 4-3 victory over the Montreal Royals and tie up the best of seven Little World Series at a game apiece.

Wildcats Smash By Perryton, 43-6

(By CARL ZYBACH Pampa News Correspondent) Canadian — Establishing themselves as definite threats to White Deer's Bucks, Canadian's high flying Wildcats won their fourth straight game here Friday night, blasting Perryton's Rangers, 43-6.

Long runs featured the Cats' victory. Jimmy Adecock returned a Ranger punt 60 yards in the first quarter to start the scoring. The extra point was tallied on an aerial from Dean Hoover to James Julian. It was the only extra point the Cats could make all night.

Liter in the period, big Tom Schaeff romped 72 yards for the second score for the home team. In the second period Schaeff again took off on a pair of long jaunts. He went 64 yards on the first one and then capped his night's work with a fine, 60-yard saunter.

Texas Christian Explodes To Defeat Cornhuskers, 28-7

LINCOLN, Nebr. — (AP) — Texas Christian, a fine team of optimists, exploded a three-touchdown barrage on Nebraska in the America Bob Reynolds, who was sidelined with a shoulder injury, however, Nebraska showed nothing in the way of the kind of an explosive offensive line that so constantly broke Reynolds in the open last year, and it is doubtful that Reynolds could have staved off this licking.

TCU went the distance, Nebraska played without all the American Bob Reynolds, who was sidelined with a shoulder injury, however, Nebraska showed nothing in the way of the kind of an explosive offensive line that so constantly broke Reynolds in the open last year, and it is doubtful that Reynolds could have staved off this licking.

A crowd of 38,000 saw the Texas club score twice in the first four and one-half minutes of the second quarter to wipe out a 7 to 0 Nebraska lead, gained in the opening period.

The Nebraska score had come largely through a Texas Christian pass interference penalty in the end zone. But this break was erased on the second play of the second quarter.

That was when quarterback Johnny Bordogna fumbled the ball on the Nebraska eight, the ball rolling backward into the end zone where end Wayne Martin of TCU fell on it for the tying touchdown.

Texas Christian came right back after a short Nebraska punt with a 48-yard march ending when Bobby Floyd went over from the three yard line.

Before the quarter ended, TCU scored for the third time after blocking a Tom Caroline punt on the Nebraska 29. On the very next play, the TCU star, Malvin Fowler, passed to end Bob Blair for the score. Keith Flowers kicked all the extra points.

But the fourth Texas Christian touchdown in the last period was the one that really gave the crowd its biggest share of laughs and soba. The events leading up to it started when Nebraska fumbled and TCU got the ball on the 20 yard line. Nebraska almost immediately fumbled it back once more.

Norma Jean Myatt, Haldane Suttle Are Married In Presbytery Church

Rev. Henry H. Tyler, Jr., read a double-ring ceremony in the First Presbyterian church Friday evening, Sept. 21, uniting in marriage Miss

MRS. WILLIAM HALDANE SUTTLE

IT'S HEARTENING to see such cooperation and good fellowship existing between our church groups that joined forces to take the religious census Friday night. Hope the results on the census produce the good we think it will. Far too many people are not attending church, and often times all it takes is a little encouraging and interest on the part of other church people to start them attending regularly. Nearly all Pampa churches have adopted Pampa's slogan and are known as "friendly churches." Like Wade Duncan says in part "...go to church and you'll feel better the rest of the day."

SOME OF PAMPA'S outstanding women were on hand at the annual president's "resident's coffee" at the Country Club last week. The event honored the following presidents of the Twentieth Century clubs: Mrs. Charles Hickman, Jr., Twentieth Century Allegro; Mrs. Fred Neilage, Twentieth Century; Mrs. M. K. Griffith (missed her presence), Twentieth Century Culture; and Mrs. Frank Kelley, Twentieth Century Forum. It was a morning of pleasant visiting, climaxed with an interesting speaker, Wes Izard. This gathering each year brings a Panhandle personality as guest speaker — last year a young Amarillo reporter who "tramped" across Europe was on the program. These organizations have our best wishes for the coming year.

SOME GOOD FRIENDS of ours back from a trip through Colorado and Wyoming saw an interesting sign in Rawlins, Wyoming, on U. S. Hwy. 30, that read, "OUR HOSPITAL IS SMALL, 20 M. P. H." (speed limit). That sign using a combination of humor and good sense slowed down traffic in the little town. It was suggested Pampa may put up similar signs. — (couldn't our town's signs read "Our hospital is crowded.") Since Peg pointed out the heavy traffic around our churches, another child was struck by an automobile. As has been said, children and animals will always dash into the street without warning, but adults just might KEEP this in mind if we had a few signs scattered around on traffic problems around schools.

PANORAMICALLY: Won't be long 'till the local Shriners bring a big circus to Pampa... believe that's to be the first week in October... a delight to the small fry like the Trevin Lively's young daughter (who started to school this year)... The Livelys, incidentally, are settled, or in the process of getting settled, in their new home in Fraser... Mrs. Homer Johnson, a new member in Parent Education, is a lovely person... that reminds us of another member of that group, pretty Mrs. J. B. Veale... Dr. and Mrs. Veale, incidentally, are "in-fantastic"... Hear tell of a "cute" party by the B&P.W. club last week... that organization has lots of informal entertainment, besides serious accomplishments during the year... last week was its "annual week"... Spied Mrs. Bob Curry downtown late the other afternoon in a neat, tailored dress... Mrs. Rute Jordan, at the president's coffee Tuesday morning at the Country Club, made a pretty picture... like her hair style... she wears bangs... Mrs. Roy Bourland was also there... a likeable person... So's Roy Taylor, one of those fellows who can always be depended on... These special trains and buses that will go to out-of-town football games bring out the football spirit in the best of us... a whole crowd made the trip to Vernon Friday night... This season reminds us (so far) of the old days when fans followed their team every game... The Glen Dawsonns have a darling baby... and their little girl is so busy with dancing classes... as are many, many other youngsters... now that school's started, it's time for that.

ALTHOUGH PAMPA'S CONCERT season doesn't begin until November, interest is mounting along this line. Membership cards will be mailed out the first week in November. The first concert, Nov. 17, is a soprano, Vivian Della Chiesa. Other dates to keep in mind are Feb. 8 and Gomez, dancers; Feb. 28, Lowemuth String quartet with Regules, piano; and March 12, Whittenmore and Lowe, piano duo. Might do well to clip these dates for future reference. Looks like another successful season for the Community Concert Assn.

AT THE ESA fashion show this afternoon we will see all the splash and splendor and none of the blood, sweat and tears that went into behind the scenes. Such an event takes lots 'n' lots of planning and about the only way we show our appreciation is through a good attendance — and that they always have! Mrs. Tom Lindsey, Mrs. Burton Doucette and Mrs. Herman Foster are "the" committee in charge. But they'd be the first to tell, I betcha, that they couldn't have done it without help and cooperation from fellow clubwomen and the fine merchants of Pampa. A tip of the hat to all concerned!

THE LUCKIEST WOMEN we know are the ones with "handy men" for husbands. There's just some homes where there's never a leaky faucet, never an un-clipped hedge and never, never a carpenter called onto the scene. These handy men husbands, and there are lots of them yet, are ones always putting about in a workshop instead of putting on the golf course. Don't misunderstand. We take pride in hubby's golf score, too, but when a friend's husband has just completed a dandy little coffee table, lamp or bookcase, it takes a heap 'o' biting the tongue to refrain from saying, "I don't know WHY my husband could not make something like that!"

THE EXCUSE Mr. Peg has about not "making" things is that this is an age of specialists. Each man has a job to do and do well, he says, "Why, what'd happen," he argues, "if we all started taking our own tonsils out? And where'd plumbers be if every man could correct a leaky faucet? Lawyers would get awfully hungry if individuals could untangle all their legal lives." Maybe — just maybe — he has a point, but really, Peg just thinks he lacks that old pioneer spirit where men chopped some trees, stacked them up into a house and made all the furniture the same way! (Come to think of it, though, we gals lack a lot of that old spunk for which the pioneer women are so famous.) So-0 that argument is fine. He might start "speaking me to churn mah own butter!"

DEAR EDITOR: Do, pray tell, write Mr. Peg that he isn't eligible to enter the football contest The News is having every week. Peg's sorta half-way an employe, don't you agree, and it wouldn't seem fair for him to enter. Everyone seems to be getting in on that guessing game and it's another one of the many features I like about the paper. Incidentally, why did you say last week I had a Lithuanian name? — whatever that is? You know very well I'm a southerner from way back yonda!

Toodie-oo, Youall,
PEG O' PAMPA

is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Suttle, 502 N. Russell. The nuptial prelude, played by Miss Charlotte Allston, included "Clair de Lune," "Moonlight Sonata" and Serenade. Miss Janie Branson sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Through the Years." The traditional wedding marches were played for processional and recessional.

Baskets of white and yellow gladioli surrounded the candle-lit altar.

Mrs. G. C. Crocker, Jr., sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and Mrs. Henry Reynolds of Chinle, Ariz., sister of the bride, was matron of honor. They wore yellow and pink floor-length gowns with fitted bodices and full-gathered skirts. Their matching halo hats were decorated with pearls and they carried cascade bouquets of yellow and white gladioli.

Flower girl and ring bearer were Miss Marilyn Myatt, niece of the bride, and Miss Emily Sue Alexander, niece of the bridegroom. They were dressed in yellow and blue floor-length gowns and halo hats and carried baskets of sweetheart roses with the rings tied to the basket streamers.

James Williams was best man and Clifford Bailey was groomsmen. Serving as ushers were Henry H. Reynolds, Ed Myatt, Gene Lewis and Don Owens.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white Chantilly lace over satin, designed with a fitted bodice and a sweetheart neckline. Her fingertip-length veil was attached to a small hat of lace and seed pearls. Her only jewelry was a double-strand pearl necklace, a gift from the bridegroom's parents. She carried a white Bible topped with an orchid and showered with satin streamers and yellow rosebuds.

Mrs. Myatt, the bride's mother, was dressed in black crepe with aqua accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds. Mrs. Suttle, mother of the bridegroom, wore a gray suit with matching accessories and her corsage was of pink rosebuds.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was given in the home of the bride's parents. The serving table was laid with a white Madeira cloth and centered with an arrangement of yellow roses flanked with yellow and white candles.

Miss Charlotte Hendricks presided at the punch bowl and Miss Donna Silliman served cake, assisted by Mrs. Grant Anderson. Mrs. Donald Moon was at the guest register.

For the wedding trip to New Mexico and Arizona, the bride wore a Taylorbrook suit with black accessories and an orchid corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Suttle are now at home at 1000 Twiford. Mrs. Suttle attended Pampa High school. Mr. Suttle was graduated from Wentworth Military academy and is associated with his father in the grocery business.

Out-of-town wedding guests included Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Williams of Borger; Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Bourland and son, Olan; Vernon; Mrs. Ben Talley of Miami; Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Suttle, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Suttle, Vernon; Mrs. Bessie Brown, Hon. Grove; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Suttle of Denver City, and Mr. and Mrs. George Riley of Winters.

The rehearsal dinner for the Myatt-Suttle wedding was given at 8 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 20, in the dining room of the Schneider hotel.

Among the pre-nuptial courtesies given Miss Myatt was a bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Alta Standard, 1201 Williams. Hostesses were Mrs. Francis Williams, Mrs. C. L. Thomas, Mrs. J. W. Alexander, Mrs. J. B. Townsend, Mrs. H. M. Hassell, Mrs. Herman Taylor, Mrs. Paul Crouch and Mrs. Don Hurst.

Approximately 85 guests were served from a table laid with a hand-made crocheted cloth with a centerpiece of yellow and white chrysanthemums in a crystal bowl. Mrs. E. A. Myatt presided at the silver service.

By JERRY BROWN
CARLSBAD, N. M. — (AP) — Jimmie Cox gets a bird every day — and he loves it. Superintendent of the State of New Mexico's Department of Game Farm at La Huerta, near Carlsbad, Cox has charge of the production of some 8000 game birds a year. As if that weren't enough to keep him busy, he's planning to leave soon for the Middle East, where he will spend six months with Dr. Gardner Bump of the United States Fish and Wildlife Service in the study and collection of exotic game birds. The expedition is interested chiefly in bringing back the chukar (a quail-like bird), and grouse, black partridge, bustards and sand partridge. It also will try to snare several specimens of a rare black pheasant believed to inhabit the Caspian sea region. Cox hopes to bring back to New Mexico 800 chukars to aid his pet project at the game farm. He is working on a program of chukar planting and hopes to provide the state with enough of the birds so sportsmen can have a chukar season. The chukar is the coming thing in game birds. Cox is convinced. The bird is a true partridge and is about 2 1/2 times the size of a quail. Because it is a fast and elusive flier, it makes an excellent game bird. Little chukar planting has been done so far in New Mexico because of a shortage of stock. Cox estimates it should take 10 years to establish the bird in numbers sufficient to provide a hunting season. His interest in game birds began as a hobby. After spending his childhood in San Angelo and spending some time at both Texas A. & I. and San Angelo Junior college, Cox went into the hotel business. Helping the Texas game department trap quail near the Rio Grande during the early 30s, he became interested in raising the birds as a hobby. In 1939 he came to Carlsbad to work on the game farm, then operated privately by J. Stokely Ligon, a naturalist. His expedition with Dr. Bump will begin at Istanbul and move through Turkey, Trans-Jordan, Syria, Iraq and Saudi Arabia. These countries, Cox pointed out, have the same general climatic conditions as New Mexico. At the La Huerta farm, pheasant production occupies most of his time. The farm produces about 6000 pheasant annually, chiefly ringnecks. Keeping the pheasant population high enough to maintain a hunting season represents a difficult problem, Cox said, because hunters from all over the Southwest come to New Mexico to shoot the birds. The farm also produces about 2000 quail each year to re-stock "disaster areas" where the quail population has been reduced. Since July Cox and his three assistants have planted about 5000 game birds throughout the state. Hauling about 400 birds on each trip, Cox figures that he has covered about 12,000 miles already this planting season.

Organization Has Gift For Thief
STANTON, Texas — (AP) — A Stanton lumber yard has a message for "the man who has our bolt cutters." The firm, in a display ad appearing in the Stanton reporter, addresses the "individual" as follows: "We have received new jaws for the bolt cutter, and, as they are worthless to us, we want you to have them. Call at our yard for a new set of jaws for these cutters."

East Berlin Tears Down Barriers On Frontier

By THOMAS A. REEDY
BERLIN — (AP) — East Berlin tore down 35 of its road blocks on the western frontier yesterday. Surprised West Berliners regarded the move as part of the Soviet zone's campaign for German unity. Mayor Ernst Reuter suggested last week the East might be taken more seriously in its talk about uniting Berlin if the road blocks were ripped up. The Communists turned out squads of workmen late last night to remove piles of stone and embedded steel rails erected in July before the world youth festival. Another 25 improvised road barriers still exist along the rambling 90-mile frontier, which separates East and West in the quartered city. There were signs that some of these remaining blocks probably will be removed over the week end or early next week. The surprise action took some of the "armed camp" aspect away from the border, especially in the district of wedding where nightly brawls were occurring. Erection of the barriers had engaged West Berliners and some of the more daring scattered the stones, threw torches into little sheds on the east side and beat up Communists who got in the way. Several shooting affrays livened the area this week. One youth was wounded by gunfire from Communist peoples' police. City officials said the Communists may be intending to exploit their action as an olive branch to the west sectors. The Soviet sector magistrate confirmed this belief to some extent. A statement was issued declaring the barriers had served their purpose to "catch thieves" who were endangering the "people's economy." Now, the magistrate added, the East is willing to work with the West Berlin police without the use of barriers in a continuing drive against smuggling and crime. West Berlin police were admittedly wary of the Soviet sector's new approach but a spokesman said the idea of the two police forces working together against crime is rather old. It long had been proposed by the West. The eastern statement said cooperation between the two forces would be a big step to ward the ultimate goal, "united action" leading to all-German elections. The longest infrared waves are about one sixty-fifth of an inch long.

Albert Edwards Granted Stay

AUSTIN — (AP) — Albert Edwards condemned to die in the electric chair shortly after midnight Friday, has been granted 10 more days of life. It was the second time the Houston taxi driver had been snatched from death by stays. Gov. Shivers issued his decision a few hours before Edwards, 40, was to have died in the fatal shooting of Paul Walker of Houston. Shivers' action resulted from a writ of habeas corpus issued in Goresbeck by Judge Fountain Kerby. Edwards was given the death sentence in the shooting in Houston on May 26, 1949. Walker and Edwards' wife, Betty Lou, were killed as they sat in Walker's car. Georgia is known as the peach state and Delaware claims the peach blossom as its official flower.

Firing Squad Kills Rapist

POINT OF THE MOUNTAIN, Utah — (AP) — A Utah firing squad executed yesterday a 29-year-old man who raped and killed a teen age girl who answered his call for a baby sitter.

The marksmen's rifles fired at 7:06 a.m. Ray Dempsey Gardner was declared dead 2 1/2 minutes later.

The Columbus, O., man was condemned for the slaying, more than two years ago, of Jean Gretzinger, 17.

Only a slight twitching of his arms, as they lay strapped along the sides of the execution chair, betrayed Gardner's nervousness during his final few minutes.

The five guns of the executors fired in unison. Four bullets—one gun was loaded with a blank cartridge — plowed into the white target pinned on Gardner's shirt. The blast lifted the man's body briefly, then it slumped against the retaining straps, a gasp the only sound that came from the doomed man.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

If You Want To Win Plan Good Defense

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Many of the best American and Canadian bridge players will enter the All American tournament in St. Paul next month, but they'll have to work hard to get ahead of some of the local players. For example, here's the sort of defensive play that you can expect from the St. Paul experts.

Sev Widman, holding the West cards, opened the nine of clubs. His partner, Jim Dolan, won with the ace of clubs and promptly returned the ten of spades. With any other return South could ruff a couple of hearts in dummy and get rid of another heart on the ace of diamonds. The trump return was the first step in a very fine defense.

South couldn't afford to put up the ace of trumps because then he would surely lose two trump tricks, one heart, and one club. He therefore finessed the jack of trumps, losing the West's queen. Widman led back a trump since any other continuation would allow declarer to ruff one heart and discard another heart on the ace of diamonds.

South drew one more trump, cashed the king of clubs, and then laid down the ace of hearts. This play gave Widman something to think about.

It was clear that South had a six-card spade suit and only two clubs. The bidding indicated that his five remaining cards were all hearts. The defenders needed two heart tricks to defeat the contract.

Having reached this conclusion, Widman dropped the nine two tricks with his queen and eight, setting the contract. It's interesting to see what happens if West fails to unblock the hearts. When South leads a third heart, West must win the trick. (East dares not overtake with the queen of hearts, since that sets up South's ten.) West must then lead a diamond, which gives declarer a chance to finesse dummy's queen. The finesse succeeds, and South gets rid of his remaining hearts on the queen and ace of diamonds.

World's smallest bird is a variety of hummingbird found in Ecuador. Without its feathers, it is about the size of a queen bee.

Beef Prices Are Boosted

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Housewives will begin paying an average of 1 1/2 to 2 cents a pound more for beef next Monday.

The Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) announced late yesterday new ceilings which boosted the prices of some cuts and lowered others, but on the average resulted in a slight overall increase.

OPS ordered that the new prices be posted so customers can see them easily.

This is what will happen to the better-known beef products: Hamburger — the cheaper grade containing up to 25 percent fat will go up about a penny a pound. The better grade, lean ground containing up to 12 percent fat will increase 2 to 3 cents a pound.

Round steak and chuck roasts — these most popular selling cuts will go up 2 to 8 cents a pound, depending on grade.

Porterhouse steaks, prime sirloin — these and other higher-priced cuts which have not been selling as well will drop from 1 to 8 cents a pound.

Rib cuts — up 15 cents a pound.

Brisket or stewing beef — down as much as 20 cents a pound on choice cuts.

FROM CAFE HAND To Chipper as potato chips manufacturers are called, Granville Cecil Morton, head of Morton Foods, came up the hard way. He first worked his way through high school by working in a cafe. Later he worked in another cafe and finally bought out his boss. From there he went to manufacturing the sliced spuds and kept expanding until he reached his goal, the ultra-modern one-story plant formally opened last week in Dallas.

More Than 16,020 See New Morton Building In Dallas

More than 16,020 visitors flocked over three acres of floor space last week as Morton Foods formally opened its new one-story ultra-modern plant in Dallas.

The building's design, like automobile plants, puts production of the various Morton foods on a regular assembly line schedule. It is also accessible to highway, rail and air transportation.

The new structure is considered by company officials as a big jump from the small room where potato chips were first cooked 20 years ago.

The company's plant locations are as widely spread as its variety of foods. The company manufactures its potato chips, tater, corn chips, mayonnaise, salad dressing, pickle.

In its newest plant, the main processing room stretches 300 feet wide. Besides the three acres of plant space the new plant also covers three acres of paved driveway and parking area for its fleet of home delivery and over-the-road trailer trucks.

C. E. Kennedy, 409 W. Foster, is the local representative for Morton Foods.

Student's Answer Tickles Teachers

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Shamrock history teachers are still getting a mighty chuckle out of their history test papers from last week.

One of the students who had been studying Egypt for several days wrote that the bodies of Egyptians were wrapped in layers of cloth and then they were known as "dummies."

Kenneth Laycock, history department head, said he was always provided with some startling statements whenever he grades papers.

McFORM DIVINE

by HILDEGARDE DOLSON

UCILLA felt down when Derek Marlowe said he had a staff meeting and that he'd be there. "Meadows will be there," explained. "How about stopping by my apartment tomorrow?"

Paris' voice squeaked in her ear: "Stop by—that's what they say." She hesitated. "Why not? I just meet at the same time again?"

"The friend who loaned me the cord of Finnegan's Wake sent it back, Derek explained. "And I wanted you to see it first, so I asked him if I could keep it till Friday."

She was so touched by this thoughtfulness, by this real proof that Paris was wrong, that she said she'd love to come. Naturally men couldn't behave with delicate restraint toward Paris, she thought. Derek was saying he'd expect her at 4:30.

She had barely got inside the door at home when Gretel announced in a gloomily gloomy voice, "Hoopy's school phoned up, and you're to call the teacher right away. The number's on the pad."

"Where's Hoopy?" Lucilla asked, suddenly frightened.

"In her room. Her and Linda. They've got powder messed all over the rug."

To show she wouldn't be railroaded, Lucilla went on prinking until Gretel returned to the kitchen. Then she dialed the number and asked for Miss Demstead.

After a short wait, the teacher's clipped voice greeted her. "I sounded as if she'd been running. 'Oh, Mrs. Webb, how lucky I was just leaving the building. Wonder if you could come over tomorrow between 4 and 5, so that we could have a little talk?'"

LUCILLA felt compelled to murmur something about a doctor's could phone her week after next. "When you're not so booked up with other engagements." It was an infuriating exit line, implying as it did that Hoopy's mother was some flabby, glib society woman who scarcely saw her own child.

Lucilla went to the door of Hoopy's room, and was reassured by the first glimpse of her daughter; Hoopy was bending over the toy stove, her back to the door. She had on an old print-cotton skirt of Lucilla's which trailed behind, and a pair of Lucilla's shoes. Now what could be more normal than that? Her mother thought. They're playing dress-up. Hoopy turned. Her high forehead was obliterated by a mass of jagged short locks; her face was heavily powdered, her eyelids were green, and with the chopped-off hair, she looked like a midget gun moll. "Hoopy! What have you done to your hair?"

Linda chattered. "She made me help her cut it, Mrs. Webb. She wanted bangs and I said, 'Your mother won't like it, but she said you had bangs and you'd like her better if she had bangs.'" "We've been putting on a face," Hoopy said shrilly. "Like you do."

LUCILLA heard the front door open and hurried out to tell Arthur. She was so intent on what she was about to tell him that she didn't notice his lack of greeting. "Hoopy and Linda cut off half Hoopy's hair," his wife babbled. "I just wanted to warn you not to make fun of it when you see her. She's already in a state because . . ." She completed the story, making it sound as though she wanted only to beautify her child for Arthur's sake.

"Is that all?"

"Isn't that enough?" Lucilla snapped. "Say something. I suppose you think I'm to blame."

"Yes," he said evenly. "For several things. Is the name of your gym Beautiful-You?"

"Wh—what?" Her face supplied the answer.

"I got the bank statement today." He pulled a canceled check from his inside vest pocket.

Relations between the sexes declined rapidly.

Shamrock Girl To Continue Schooling

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Pat Cooper, Irish senior, is going to stay on at Shamrock for her senior year, despite the fact that her parents — Rev. and Mrs. Grady Cooper — have gone to Springer, N. M. to assume the pastorate of the Church of Christ there.

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Shamrock had 2185 persons take chest X-rays during the fair here last week. This represented a drop from 2490 of the 1950 X-ray campaign in Shamrock.

Both Shamrock and Wheeler showed drops in the number of X-rays, while the total for Wheeler county as a whole was also down. In 1950 the county had 3,668, but this year dropped to 3038.

Pep Leaders Stage Rally At Canadian

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Irish pep leaders were determined to stage a big pep rally for the Irish before the important football game here Friday night, and they did.

Band Director Robert L. Reeves and his crew provided foot-drenched music for the rally and then the 1951 cheer leaders — Barbara Golson, Patricia Reeves and Bernice Close — gave out with the loudest yell.

The girls said they were irked by the story of bonfires and super pep meetings at Wellington all week long.

Last year the Wellingtons held a pep rally every hour all day Nov. 10, and that night gave the Irish the only beating of the regular 1950 season, 21-14.

In Daddy's Tracks

YOU IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fertilize and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger character. In the church the material and the spiritual are combined. Statehood today declares that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of the church in these perilous times. Then we wish our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the church and the church in you"—form a combination for READER.

There they are! We were so busy at the task of the moment that we forgot we were leaving our footprints. Every step we take leaves its mark. Eager young minds see them so clearly even when we have not noticed them ourselves. Why not let your steps lead them to church!

Ask the average boy what he expects to do to make a living. His first impulse is to do just what his father has been doing. That is somewhat modified today, when so many new opportunities are offered, to which parents are directing the attention of the growing boy. But it is surprising how many farmers' boys return to the farm, how many preachers' sons go into the ministry, and how many bankers' sons carry on in the place of their dads. Your son will follow you to church too.

Listen to the speech of your neighbor; the words he uses, his characteristic expressions, the very inflection of his voice. Then ask his son to talk about some matters in which he is interested. He is following in Daddy's tracks, even to the tone of his speech.

How important then that we walk ahead of these growing children with our feet turned in the right direction, along the best paths! Do we want our girls and boys to be interested in community welfare? Then let them follow us to the meetings where community-minded women and men are giving their best thought to helping build a good society. Do we want them to be faithful worshippers of the Living God? Then let them sit with us in the place of worship. Whether we wish it or not our children are walking "in Daddy's Tracks," just as you and I walk where our fathers walked.

CASTING BOX where molten metal from huge pot holding more than 5000 pounds of metal, is poured over it to make a page plate. Of course, casting the partially cylindrical plate is a precision job only so far as making the type clear is concerned. Like every other piece of molded metal it has its rough edges that make it lose in uniformity at top, bottom and sides. This chore is taken care of first on...

THE SAW where the ends, and undersides of the plates are trimmed off bringing the plate down to its proper width. On this same machine the edges of the plate are bevelled to the correct degree so that it can be locked on the press by the bevel clips. FINISHING BLOCK where hands set in motion an assortment of hand tools, mostly metal chisels, to trim off the finer rough edges and dead metal that should not print. Trimming must be precisely done, so the plate will fit squarely on the press. The tool used in locking the metal plates into place must be turned with two hands to make sure the 50-pound plate is secure and will not fly off the rapidly whirling cylinders which would allow them to fly in most any direction, perhaps to cause a serious injury to someone close by. This is the end of the line for the type, and now it is almost.....(please turn to Page 25)

India's Education Aided By America

NEW DELHI — (AP) — The U.S. Educational foundation during its first year in India disbursed nearly $63,000 for Indians going to America, Education Minister Maulana Abul Azad said here.

Replying to questions in parliament, he added that during the same period the foundation, which began functioning in 1950, sent 72 Indian students and seven professors and research scholars to the United States.

Large Paintings Sell For Pittance

BOSTON — (AP) — Harvey F. Addition, one of Boston's oldest art dealers, says there's no room in today's smaller homes for anything larger than a 16 by 20 canvas — and in many cases, not even that big.

Addition's shop on La Grange St. here is cluttered with paintings of all sizes including several that are big enough to cover an entire wall of a modern type home. But they are a drug on the market, he says.

"Nobody wants them any more," sighs the 80 year-old dealer. "The bigger they are, the more difficult it is to dispose of them. We have to sell paintings ranging in sizes up to 11 by 10 feet for as little as $10 in some instances."

MERRY GO-ROUND

EVANSVILLE, Ind. — (AP) — While the merry-go-round went around in Mesker Park, police reported this round of activity: A woman slapped the merry-go-round proprietress, four policemen were called, three women began swinging purses and one woman bit Patrolman Bennett Kellams' ear. The woman charged with mayhem was the wife of another policeman.

Major significance was seen by Bureau Director John R. Stockton, however, in the month's 6 percent gain in retail sales and 25 percent jump in building permits, two of the activities making up the index.

In July the same two items contributed most of business decline.

"The rise in retail sales in August was strong enough to suggest that the steady decline since last winter had ended, although it is obviously not conclusively demonstrated by an increase in one month," Dr. Stockton said.

He reasoned that scare buying following the outbreak of the Korean war had depleted consumer savings. The business slump followed while consumers turned to rebuilding their savings accounts.

Personal savings have now built up to the highest peak since the war years — $21,000,000,000 nationwide as reported by the U.S. Department of Commerce for the second quarter of 1951.

Now the big surplus of goods bought up by consumers last year is beginning to be used or otherwise absorbed and accumulated savings are encouraging a little more spending.

The big jump in building permits for August still left the

Both agreed that the art has been preserved down through the centuries while the scientific developments have been taking place.

They both also agreed that there's "no comparison" between modern brew and the kind our ancestors drank. They implied also that the nickel beer of the past was worth only that.

What's the trend in beer tastes? Definitely to a milder, mellower, less bitter drink. Brewers have met that demand, Huber and Ward said, and have made their beer better looking and less satiating — filling, that is — as well.

The brewers make some pretty elaborate claims about their business. They claim it is more hygienic than any other food processing industry (Louis Pasteur did as much for beer as for milk); that it was the first to use refrigeration and air conditioning; that brewers have to go to special schools to learn chemistry, engineering, physics, bacteriology, fermentation and other things as well as brewing and malting techniques. And most brewers are college graduates.

Two Consumer Trends Reverse Themselves; Bolster Business

AUSTIN — (AP) — Two significant consumer trends reversed themselves last month to bolster Texas' sagging business activity. Retail sales, in steady decline since last winter, turned upward; and building permits recorded their first gain of the year, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research has reported.

Overall, the August business index rose 3 percent, bringing it to 238 percent of the 1935-39 average. That was about the same reading as June but considerably below the all-time peak reached last winter.

Major significance was seen by Bureau Director John R. Stockton, however, in the month's 6 percent gain in retail sales and 25 percent jump in building permits, two of the activities making up the index.

There are 14 magnificent colors — 12 matched to Stay-Long lipstick, plus 2 neutral tones.

You'll find Helena Rubinstein's remarkable new nail polish and famous Stay-Long lipstick here today.

Army Wants 'Good' Beef

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Army is now looking abroad for 10,000,000 pounds of beef for armed services use in the United States.

Up to 25 percent could be "good" grade instead of the customary "choice," the Army said.

The Army had previously announced it had been unable to fill in the United States a 10,000,000 pound beef order for use of troops in Europe, and was sending bids abroad.

Scientists Find New Mountain In Pacific Ocean

LA JOLLA, Calif. — (AP) — Two seafaring scientists have discovered an 11,400-foot mountain rising from the floor of the Pacific ocean. They believe it is the largest known seamount, as undersea peaks are called.

Its top is about a mile beneath sealanes 700 miles northeast of Hawaii and it is 18 miles across at the widest point of the base, the scientists said. They expressed surprise that it has not been noted before.

Ousted West Point Cadets Are Eligible

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The 90 West Point cadets fired last summer for cheating in examinations can legally be reappointed to the academy, an Army spokesman said yesterday.

A Pentagon spokesman said there is nothing in the law to prevent a member of congress from re-nominating any of the ousted cadets. But he said their acceptance would have to be approved by the academy itself.

The Army also disclosed that Secretary of Army Pace issued general instructions Sept. 19 that the ousted cadets are eligible for enlistment, admission to officer candidate schools or commissions.

The instructions were sent to all commands, recruiting stations and other agencies.

PRESS TIME. Here the pressman slowly turns the big roll of newsprint as the "web" is being threaded through the intricate mechanism of the News' 46-page Goss press. Chances Slim Congress Will Act On Tidelands This Year

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Prospects are slim that Congress will anything definite this year about the controversial submerged-off-shore coastal lands. The House has passed a bill giving the states clear title to them, but Senate opinion is so divided that the bill isn't likely to come up for a vote on the Senate floor this session.

Since any measure that might pass the Senate this year would in all probability be off for tentative control by either the federal government or the states, it would have to go back to the House for a compromise of differences. Only a state interim control measure would stand any chance of acceptance from a majority of House members — and such a bill undoubtedly would run into a presidential veto.

The chances are the real showdown scrap will come early next year.

Such timing would have some political significance, it would give legislators on both sides of the issue something to speak about that would get into the newspapers and set well with their constituents.

While almost every state, as an official body, has endorsed

API Slates Discussion And Picture

Area oilmen have a full day scheduled for their benefit Tuesday as Beacon Supply Co. is completing plans for its annual open house and the Panhandle chapter of the American Petroleum Institute opens its 1951-52 year with a program in the Palm Room.

Some of the top executives of the supply and equipment division of the oil industry will be present at the Beacon open house being held from 2 until 8 p.m.

Immediately following the open house, the API will present a discussion and colored film on the actual drilling and completion of a gas well in Moore county. The film was made by Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co. with a Moran Drilling Co. rig. The film is being shown by Jimmy McCune of Cabot in the Palm Room.

More than 900 men are expected to be present for the open house which, according to Bob Sidwell, Beacon manager, is designed to be educational for oilmen. Displays are being set up showing standard equipment plus new developments in the field.

One of these is a new hydraulic pumping unit. This unit is set up at the store and its operation will be explained to oilmen attending the affair.

A special API committee has been named to welcome open house guests including some 70 or 80 out-of-town visitors many of which are coming from as far away as New York and California. The committee is composed of 12 to 15 prominent oilmen in the community along with API officers Fred Neelage, Joe Cronin, Luther Reynolds and Clayton Husted.

Refreshments are to be served open house guests beginning at 5:30 p. m. at Beacon Supply. This is the third year of the affair.

The public is invited to attend. The local API chapter is the Room.

The local AP chapter is the largest in the mid-continent area with more than 700 members. It has been active in area oil industry affairs and has just completed four engine schools in which more than 60 oil field workers were presented certificates for completion of the course. Earlier, the API sponsored an oil field emulsion school. Both the emulsion and gas engine school were given by the extension service of the University of Texas and sponsored by the API.

Panhandle Operators Stake 16 Locations; Complete 13

Panhandle operators staked 16 new locations in the area last week, including one wildcat in Donley county. They completed 13 wells of which eight were oilers and five were gasers. Initial oil potential was 323 barrels and gas potentials totalled 16,115 MCF.

Placid Oil Co. staked its No. 1 W. R. Kelly, at 6000-foot test in Donley county, 11 miles west of Clarendon.

Ceiling Price Is Regulated By Formula

A new regulation under which producers and sellers of agricultural limiting materials will establish ceiling prices by formula was announced Saturday by the district Office of Price Stabilization.

The regulation applies to materials sold for spraying, dusting and soil liming purposes.

It is thought, officials said, that the regulation will relieve hardship in certain portions of the industry and help assure availability of supplies for agricultural needs.

A slight over-all average increase in price is expected.

Ceilings are determined on bulk sales, f.o.b. plant, by adding to the highest prices received from various classes of customers during the base period of Jan. 1 to June 30, 1950, the increase in the average cost per ton of producing the material occurring between that period and the period Jan. 1 to June 30, 1951.

New Mexico Adopts Traffic Speed Law

SANTA FE, N. M. — (AP) — The state highway commission last night adopted a speed limit of 60 miles an hour during the day and 55 at night for all highways. It is the first time the state has had a speed limit for its highways.

The limit was set in a move to help cut down the mounting toll of death in highway accidents. So far this year a record number of 762 persons have been killed.

One out of 80 persons in Singapore owns an automobile.

Building To Be Placed Under Control Plan

Construction will be under the National Production Authority's Controlled Materials plan after Oct. 1, it was announced Saturday by Ernest L. Tuit, regional director of the U. S. Dept. of Commerce.

"If a person want to build a house, he can begin construction without government go - ahead, provided he isn't going to use more than stated 'minimum' amounts of steel and copper, Tuit said.

The minimum amounts? For a one-family house with steel piping, 1500 pounds of steel and 25 pounds of copper.

If a home builder needs more than the minimum amounts of steel and copper after midnight, Sept. 30, he must make application to the NPA or the Housing and Home Finance agency. For hospitals and schools, apply to the Federal Security agency and for roads, apply to the Bureau of Public Works.

Firms Guilty Of Anti Trust, Court States

NEW YORK — (AP) — A federal court has found three of the world's big chemical and arms firms guilty of anti-trust violations by participating in a cartel to split up world markets. A government attorney says the United States now will ask the court to end what he calls the "nylon monopoly" held by two of the defendants — the E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Co. of Wilmington, Del., and the Imperial Chemical Industries, Ltd., of Great Britain.

The Remington Arms Co., Inc., of Bridgeport, Conn., was the third big defendant. Also named in the government suit were five individuals connected with the corporations and the American subsidiary of the British firm.

Seven Canadian, South American and German companies, including an affiliate of the I. G. Farben industry, were accused of engaging in the cartel, but were not named as defendants.

In its seven-year-old civil action, the government charged that since 1920 the firms "engaged in a combination and conspiracy in restraint of trade and commerce in chemical products, sporting arms and ammunition."

Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan upheld the government yesterday in a 207-page opinion. He gave the U. S. 30 days to suggest what relief it wants from the firms. Hearings then will be held on the government's proposals. The action came to trial last year.

Special Assistant Attorney General Leonard J. Emmeglick said the government will ask relief to open to all manufacturers patents on nylon, neoprene, a synthetic rubber, and polovene, a plastic with special electrical properties. Du Pont holds the American patents.

A number of other products also were involved. Emmeglick said such relief would be a ruling requiring the firms to grant others technical data and royalty-free licenses to make and distribute the products.

Judge Ryan said the defendants violated the Sherman Anti-Trust act by becoming partners to agreements designed to divide world markets.

The judge said Du Pont pledged not to compete in various products in Europe, Asia, Africa and Australia. In turn, I.C.I. agreed to stay out of the U. S., Mexico, Central America, Colombia and Venezuela markets.

The defendants contended a breakup of their working agreement would prevent an exchange of research data and discoveries.

Individual defendants were Lord Harry Duncan Mc Gowen and the late Henry Mond (Lord Melchett) of I.C.I.; Lamont du Pont and Walter Samuel Carpenter, Jr., of Du Pont; and Charles Krum Davis, of Remington.

Business Activity In Texas Shows Late Summer Increase

DALLAS — (AP) — Business activity in Texas showed the usual late-summer upturn during August and early September.

But, the monthly business review of the eleventh federal reserve district said the increase in buying was a little less than normally occurs at this time of year.

"The unusually hot weather was undoubtedly an important factor retarding buying," the review said.

The review said that during the past several months business activity in the district has been on a high plateau, "and the little evidence, as yet, that the current season upturn marks a resumption of the upward trend."

Residential construction has been declining, consumer buying has failed to meet expectations, agricultural prospects for most crops have deteriorated because of droughty conditions and farm prices are noticeably lower than five months ago.

But the review said general optimism appears to pervade the business community with respect to fall and winter prospects.

By specific items, the report showed in the district:

Department store sales up 17 percent in August from July but still 7 percent below the war-scare inflated level of a year ago.

New cars — registrations rose markedly from July to August.

Cotton crop — the estimated 4,800,000 bales is 63 percent above 1950's crop but still 21 percent below the large 1949 crop.

Corn — the 42 million-bushel estimate reflects a sharp reduction in acreage.

Peanuts — worst hit by the drought with an estimated 186 million pound crop for 1951, 47 million below the Aug. 1 estimate.

Fall vegetables outlook disappointing although some improvement in past few weeks.

In the second of its series of articles on leading cities of the district, the review termed Corpus Christi one of the fastest growing cities in the Southwest, with a population now of more than 108,000.

The review said it was one of the 13 larger cities in the Southwest and among the top 100 cities of the country.

Corpus Christi was described as a clean city which is young, both historically speaking and in the average age of its businessmen.

As for its economy, the review said trade and service industries account for 28 percent of the total personal income and government employment (including the naval air station payroll) accounts for 24 percent.

"While all sources of income have been essential to the growth of Corpus Christi," the review said, "the keystones in the cases have been fully reported in American medical records of flyers who abandoned planes at a free fall from 50,000 feet to 38,000 feet or higher. Four of the plenty of time to get down to a warmer altitude without injury from cold, even in fairly light clothing.

But it is important, says the review, to see that no part of the body is uncovered and for the head, hands, and feet, added protection is advisable.

The Air Force says only five at 50,000 feet.

Air Force Studies Falls

SAN ANTONIO — (AP) — Say you're flying a jet fighter at 50,000 feet and it catches fire. You jettison the canopy, pull the escape lever, and get out.

A blast of wind as cold as 65 degrees below zero hits you as you catapult from the cockpit.

Should you pull the ripcord right away? Risk a long, slow descent to a warmer climate? Or wait to open your parachute until you get down where the air is warmer?

The Air Force has been studying the answer to those questions.

In a report published last week, medical officers conclude that a free fall from 50,000 feet to 38,000 feet or higher. Four of the plenty of time to get down to a warmer altitude without injury from cold, even in fairly light clothing.

But it is important, says the review, to see that no part of the body is uncovered and for the head, hands, and feet, added protection is advisable.

The Air Force says only five at 50,000 feet.

You Get MORE for Your Paycheck BECAUSE OF ADVERTISING

Because Advertising ... brings you news about better products you need ... tells you where to get what you want when you want it ... makes lower prices possible through mass production and mass selling

Yet Picture How Little All This Costs

For instance, it costs less than 1/4¢ a gallon to advertise the most famous brands of gasoline. Any other method of selling would cost the manufacturer more and therefore raise the price. Otherwise he wouldn't use advertising.
