Carlos Romulo, Philippine foreign minister, who head their respective delegations to the Japanese peace treaty conference, meet for the first time since their arrival in San Francisco. Gen. Romulo, who wants more than taken reparations from Japan, said "we meet in the spirit not that by bygones are bygones, but that bygones not be repeated." (AP WIREPHOTO)

Budget Slashes Eyed By City Commission

City commissioners last night prepared to look for possible budget slashes as an itemized budget survey was completed, but personnel problems indicated some salary increases may be in the offing. City Manager Dick Pepin brought up the personnel problem before the special meeting when he reported the police department is now five men short. The force lost two men over the week end because they took better paying jobs, Pepin said. The city manager added that the loss of personnel may force Chief John Wilkinson to put his men on 10-hour trips until the gap can be filled. But the police department wasn't the only department to feel the pinch, Pepin said. The street, water and sewer departments are losing experienced help every week.

Truman Appears To Have Hit Campaign Trail In Rally

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - President Truman appeared today to have hit the re-election campaign trail with a 1952 platform virtually written. He did everything but formally announce his candidacy at a Democratic rally here where he called his opponents names ranging from "special privilege boys" to "economic fossils." And he constructed his 1952 platform under the familiar "Fair Deal" banner as he predicted "we are going to elect a president next year." He didn't say it would be Harry S. Truman, but the way the Democrats stood up and cheered - and his own obvious relish of the applause - made things pretty clear to those around.

Control Of Treaty Meet Is At Stake

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Russia blocked immediate adoption of British-American resolutions for control of the Japanese peace conference today and protested Red China's absence from the meeting. The United States and Britain faced an immediate showdown with Russia today over control of the Japanese treaty conference after President Truman challenged the Soviets to make good on their talk of peace by signing the treaty.

Americans Wrest Hill From Commies

U.S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea (AP) - U.S. Second division infantrymen smashed their way to the top of a bloody ridge in east Korea today. They were locked in bitter battles for three other heights. Second division troops drove through heavy Red resistance and captured the hill mass north of Yangju. Then they pressed forward to assault another height just to the north.

Car Price Increase 's Rushed

WASHINGTON (AP) - An order to permit all automobile manufacturers to raise prices on new cars by Oct. 1 was being rushed today for early issuance. At the same time, price control officials hinted that because of changes made by Congress in the Defense Production act the car-makers probably can be expected to ask further increases in the near future. Such price boosts would be passed on to buyers, although perhaps not all at once. There was no indication whether the manufacturers would get the full nine to ten percent average increase requested. One official expressed doubt the boost might run that much.

Steel For Consumer Goods Is Trimmed

WASHINGTON (AP) - Steel allowances for ordinary consumer goods today were cut to 58 percent of the pre-Korea level, effective Oct. 1. This is lower than the cuts forecast. Announcing the action, Manly Fleischman, national production administrator, said that if the copper strike continues further cuts in passenger cars, radios, washing machines and other consumer items will be inevitable.

Kansas Faces New Floods

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) - Surging rivers overflowed anew in eastern Kansas today and threatened Kansas City industrial districts still recovering from last July's billion dollar flood disaster. The rivers, fed by heavy rains, forced evacuation of farmers and some town areas. In Kansas City, Kan., Army engineers rushed bulldozers and other earth-moving equipment into the Argentine and Armourdale districts. Both of these heavily industrialized sections are still digging out of the great flood of midsummer. Rising waters also were being watched with apprehension in the central industrial district of Kansas City, Mo. Work continued around the clock in an effort to strengthen dikes along the Kansas river, the state's largest. Federal officials have estimated damage in Missouri and Kansas from the July flood at $2,500,000,000. It has been called the nation's worst single disaster.

Cease-Fire Front Quiet

TOKYO (AP) - For the first time in days no notes were exchanged today between the United Nations command and Communists on the suspended Korean war cease-fire talks. Even the Red radios, usually loaded with accusations and denunciations of the Allies, were comparatively quiet. It was believed that Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, UN commander, had completed a message he is due to send to Red commanders. It will reply to North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung and Chinese Gen. Peng Teh-huai. Sunday they demanded that Ridgway either stop "instigating provocations" in the Kaesong neutral zone of Korea, where the negotiations were held, or call them off.

Obstructions To Lighting System To Be Cleared

Obstructions to the lighting system on W. Foster will be cleared by the week end, or sooner, Dick Pepin, city manager, said today. Joe F. Key, district manager of the Southwestern Public Service Co., said the operation will be started when one obstruction is cleared. The company has one more standard to set.

Juveniles Bilk Oldster Of $2000, $3000: Gang Uses Woman's Love Of Cats For Extortion Racket

HOUSTON (AP) - A gang of juveniles used an aged woman's love of cats to bilk her of what they estimated at $2000 to $3000 in less than year's time. Police yesterday revealed they had broken the unique extortion racket of 11 children aged 9 to 16. Crime prevention detectives E. E. Kirkland and Leo Horton said the amazing story started last Halloween night when Mrs. Annella Edmonds, 76, saw three boys throwing rocks at a cat. The detectives said Mrs. Edmonds rebuked the boys for being cruel. Then to persuade the kids not to torture the animal any more, she gave them each a $1. Next day the boys again managed to throw stones at a cat near Mrs. Edmonds' house. Again they were given a cash reward to leave the animal alone. The gang leader thought of the word spread to other boys.

Indian Comes To Trail's End In Arlington Cemetery Grave

WASHINGTON (AP) - A grave in tree-shaded Arlington National cemetery marked the end of the trail today for an Indian warrior denied burial in a private cemetery in Iowa because he was not white. He was Sgt. John R. Rice, who was killed a year ago tomorrow while serving with the First Cavalry division in Korea. A grave was prepared for him near the final resting place of more widely known hero of Korea, Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, Eighth army commander during the bitter phases of the fighting. Walker was killed in a jeep accident last December. The Winnemago warrior's burial in Slough City, Ia., would have been marked by simplicity had it not been cancelled at the eleventh hour by a "Caucasians only" regulation. President Truman made the burial a national affair when he gave orders for interment in Arlington. The dead soldier's widow, Mrs. Evelyn Rice, and members of the family were flown to Washington by the Air Force to attend the funeral. Arlington, across the Potomac

Amarillo Radio Station Gets Okay On TV Application

The Federal Communications commission has accepted application of an Amarillo radio station for television, according to word received yesterday in Amarillo from Washington. The announcement said it may be two years before the first television will be broadcast from Amarillo. This application was the first one made by an Amarillo station. Applications are at present frozen by FCC order, but are expected to be cleared by Feb. 1, 1952 or possibly as early as December, the announcement said. Grade A 4-drawer filing cabinets in stock. Paper Is Printing On Paper Towels

MIDLAND (AP) - "What in the world is that stuff you're printing on?" a reader asked the Midland Reporter-Telegram. "That stuff," the grayish coarse paper the Reporter-Telegram has been printed on for the last week, is toweling with the wrinkle removed. It is de-inked and re-washed paper, processed by what is known as the "cold water method." The Reporter-Telegram began using it because of the current newspaper shortage. In this way the paper avoids rationing advertising or limiting circulation.

Workers Blamed By Red Leaders

VIENNA, Austria (AP) - Communist leaders are openly blaming a general workers' slowdown for lagging coal and steel production in Czechoslovakia and Hungary. Czechoslovak Industry Minister Gustav Klimant admitted during the first six months of 1951 his nation's coal mines fulfilled only 95.6 percent of their targets. Ore working and oil enterprises reached only 93.4 percent, he added.

'Fantastic Weapons' May Be Planes Of Incredible Speed

NEW YORK (AP) - President Truman's mention of "fantastic weapons" which could "wipe out civilization" in his phrases at San Francisco last night - apparently was a reference to planes of incredible speed and guided missiles which will travel equally fast or faster. The President may also have in mind certain highly-secret inventions in the field of electronics controls which are even more fantastic than either of these. The high-speed planes and guided missiles can carry atom bombs, hydrogen bombs and radioactivity bombs. They can carry also an older weapon - fire, in the form of napalm, or improvements in liquid fire. Fire, from bombs which were inferior to present napalm, did more extensive destruction in World War II than explosives. The new forms of liquid fire do not spread as far as the range of an atom bomb, or a hydrogen bomb, but they are literally more terrible in the smaller areas which they cover. Liquid fire, which you can't brush off or extinguish, rolls along the ground on slopes and floats on water. This is a weapon which terrifies troops and destroys industrial plants in specific areas. It is one of the most formidable weapons of modern times. The effectiveness of these and

Chance For War Has Passed, Harvard President Declares

NEW YORK (AP)—No atomic world war, nor any other kind of world war, was the prediction made to the American Chemical society today by Dr. James B. Conant, president of Harvard. We shall come close to a world war. There will be smaller wars. But the turning point has been passed already. It came in 1950 when the free nations decided to rearm. Dr. Conant's subject was a skeptical chemist looks into the crystal ball. He was one of the wartime top scientists in the wartime top scientists in the making of A-bombs. "I see this crystal ball," he said, "neither an atomic holocaust nor the golden abundance of an atomic age. On the contrary, I see worried humanity endeavoring by one political device after another to find a way out of the atomic age. "The year 1954, for example, does not glare with menace in my crystal ball. Paris, London, Berlin, New York, Moscow, still stand physically undamaged by any enemy action since World War II. "How did the industrialized nations avoid de-industrializing each other by atomic bombs? Only by the narrowest of margins; and only because time and again, when one side or the other was about to take the plunge, the expert military advisers could not guarantee ultimate military success. "Of course the turning point was in 1950, the first year when collective security became a reality. For when the free world had once made up its mind to meet each type of military threat

Jury Dismissed As Three Cases Clear Court Docket

Continuance of two cases and a $2000 settlement out of court Tuesday morning brought dismissal of the jury yesterday in 31st District court by Judge Lewis M. Goodrich. The court granted the pre-trial judgment of $2000 to Jesse Conner from the Hartford Accident and Indemnity Co. Conner suffered back injuries on Oct. 21, 1949 while unloading a truck for Kewanee Oil Co. Conner appeared in court yesterday still wearing a brace on his back from the accident. One contested divorce suit, F. Harris King vs. Jean Marie King, was continued indefinitely and the child custody case brought by John G. Speegle against W. L. Kendrick was also continued. Of the 45 men subpoenaed only 33 reported for duty at 10 a. m. yesterday. One juror, John Keeler, had moved out of town; eight others were excused for varying reasons; and three were granted statutory exemptions, two of them being City Commissioner Crawford Atkinson and City Engineer Ray Evans. A jury commission of four men will be empaneled Friday to draw four petit jury lists and one grand jury list for the September term of court which opens on Sept. 24.

Felix Adair Electrocuted

HUNTSVILLE — (AP) — Fred Felix Adair, who preferred death to years in prison, was electrocuted early today for the rape of a housewife in the presence of her two children. Adair was the first of three men to be electrocuted all for rape. He was strapped in the chair at 12:02 a. m. and was pronounced dead at 12:07 a. m. The 27-year-old, handsome former clerk said he had "rather die in the electric chair than face life in prison." He was executed for the rape of a housewife in a Dallas suburb in 1949. His electrocution ended a stormy, controversial debate over his sanity. (Prattic, last-minute plea for clemency failed. Prison Warden Emmett Moore asked Adair if he had a last statement. "No, sir, I don't believe so," Adair replied. He went to the death chamber with a smile on his face. He closed his eyes when he was placed in the chair and kept them closed thereafter. A Dallas funeral home ambulance waited to take the body back to Dallas.

Local Roping Club To Meet Wellington

The Pampa Roping club will compete against Wellington Thursday night at 7:30 in Recreation Park. The teams will consist of either eight or 10 men each. Wellington defeated Pampa at Canadian on Labor day, the local club's first defeat this year. However, Pampa defeated Canadian the same night. Members of the Pampa team are H. B. Taylor, manager; Bill Rickway, Skip Montgomery, Lee Cockrell, Tooter Henry, Ralph Day, H. M. Stone, E. L. Howard and Rip Barrett. The Pampa team had found a cat with a broken back but needed money to take it to a veterinarian. She gave him $10. A surprising number of "injured" cats were found near the home of Mrs. Edmonds. Police started an investigation last Friday after receiving a call from Mrs. Edmonds' maid. The 11 boys were arrested over the weekend. Eight were released to their parents. The leader and two brothers, 9 and 13, were turned over to the probation department. Mrs. Edmonds said she had been giving the boys money for nearly a year, but she didn't think it was as much as they claimed. She said she lives on a monthly allowance left to her by a brother. Police said the boys used the money for picture shows, soda pop and other items of desire.

Military Plane Output Is Halted By CIO Strike

LONG BEACH, Calif. — (AP) — A strike of CIO United Auto-Workers today cut off production of military transport planes at the Douglas Aircraft Co.'s 13,000-employee Long Beach plant. The union's executive board, representing some 10,000 plant workers, issued the strike call late last night after announcing that negotiations with the company over wages and working conditions had been broken off. A mass membership meeting was called today for Long Beach municipal stadium. There were 18 pickets in front of the gates at midnight, when the graveyard shift reported for duty. The swing shift workers quit promptly at midnight, and the crew coming on at midnight turned around and went home. Douglas executives said the employees took their tools with them. Military transport planes constitute all the output at Douglas' plant here, except for some experimental work for the Air Force. A mounted 8:25 by 20 truck tire, tube, and wheel is still waiting for its owner in Skellytown, Sheriff R. H. Jordan reported today. Although the sheriff didn't have the name or serial number of the mounted tire, he said potential claimants of it should contact him and he would "steer them to the men who are holding the tire."

SHOWDOWN

(Continued from Page 1) speech with five minutes additional to answer questions. They would bar any revisions of the treaty draft. Russia's expected proposals for change therefore would be out of order. Any Russian attempt to stall the signing of the treaty with prolonged talk could be halted. Those were the big reasons why Gromyko was expected to make a fight on the rules. Mr. Truman in his speech pictured the Japanese treaty as affording Japan, defeated and broken in World War II and reorganized under the six-year American occupation, an opportunity "to win the friendship and trust of other peoples over the years to come." He reminded the Japanese, however, "the United States has not forgotten Pearl Harbor or Bataan." And he made it plain that the softening of its memories will depend on Japan's future conduct. Speaking in San Francisco's high-vaulted opera house, where the United Nations was born six years ago, Mr. Truman depicted the treaty now projected as faithful to the UN charter and Japan as a nation now peaceful and democratized. For the remaking of Japan he paid tribute to the "outstanding leadership" of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, whom he ousted as occupation and Far Eastern commander last April over Korean issues, and to MacArthur's successor, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway. Both names were greeted with loud applause. San Antonio Given 'Good' Rating in Cleaning Up Vice

SAN ANTONIO — (AP) — For the first time in three years, San Antonio received the top rating of "good" in its drive against prostitution and venereal disease. A report by Whitcomb E. Allen, regional director of the American Social Hygiene Assn., follows a three-week investigation of vice conditions by two investigators for the association.

Allen said "San Antonio is a changed city. Apparently the time-worn policy of tolerating open and flagrant commercial prostitution has been discarded, and in its place vigorous law enforcement has been instituted."

Allen attributed the improved situation to vigorous action of the vice squad and cooperation between police and other law enforcement agencies.

Oil Output Nears Record

TULSA — (AP) — The United States' daily average crude oil production in its favor is Sept. 1 climbed to within 1000 barrels daily of the all-time record established earlier in August, the Oil and Gas Journal has reported.

The daily average was 6,187,675, an increase of 6400.

With a higher September allowable in effect the last day of the period, Texas' production jumped 7850 barrels to 2,780,475 for the biggest gain.

Sizeable increases were reported also for Illinois, up 4000 to 168,100; Louisiana, up 2125 to 612,300; and California, 1400 to 977,600.

Other gains were in Indiana, up 700 to 32,400; Arkansas, up 250 to 76,150; Colorado, 200 to 77,700; Kentucky, 300 to 31,700; Montana, 200 to 24,800; Oklahoma, 300 to 506,500; and Florida, 50 to 1825.

Major decrease was in Mississippi, which fell 2950 to 99,700.

Losses were recorded also in Kansas, down 2150 to 322,050; New Mexico, off 1725 to 145,575; Michigan, 1500 to 38,600; the eastern area 1200 to 59,750; Wyoming 1100 to 190,100; Alabama, 100 to 2,900; Nebraska, 150 to 6050; and Utah, 100 to 3000.

Hand Is Key To Proper Play

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

In my last column I discussed the advisability of melding early from your hand if you need only 50 points when the opponents need 120 points for the initial meld. I don't recommend an early meld on every type of hand even in this favorable situation.

For example, suppose you hold: Joker A Q-Q, 10-10-10, 7-7, 6-5-2.

You have just drawn, and you must decide whether or not to meld. Nobody could really kill you for melding the joker with a pair of tens, but this would not be your best course of action.

With three pairs you are in excellent shape to fight for the discard pile. Why weaken your chance against opponents who are fighting at a disadvantage? The best play, in my opinion, is to discard one of the tens.

This may persuade your right-hand opponent to throw a ten to you fairly soon. However, even if the trap play doesn't work, this discard leaves more room in your hand to accumulate other pairs.

A third argument in its favor is that if the ten turns out to be a safe discard you may want to discard other tens in the hope that your side can win the pack before the opponents can do so.

The general principle is very simple. When you have as many as three pairs in your hand, and when you have no difficulty in making the count, you have a fine chance to win the discard pile. With such hands, play for the pack.

Boyle's Columns Wives Wonder What Hubbies Do At Office

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK — (AP) — The average American husband's life outside his home is like his bank book. There isn't enough there to merit much interest.

But it cannot help attracting the curiosity of his wife. After all, in those hurried moments before he leaves for work, she does help him comb his hair and put his breakfast on.

What happens to him then, this lamb love she wedded? In the ten hours or so she isn't at hand to tell him, "inhale, dear — now exhale dear," well, what really goes on? She must know.

So, when he returns from his daily bread-winning chores, she greets him with a cheerful or accusing, "and what did you do today?"

This — as every husband knows, soon or late — puts a should a fellow tell his wife? An informal spot poll, taken at a standstill rather than a gallop, shows this problem is being met by American husbands in many interesting male ways.

"I tell my wife nothing important happened," lamented a newlywed. "But she doesn't believe me. She busts out crying and says I must be in love with someone at the office, or 'I'd tell her more.'"

An older worker heard him with small sympathy.

"Wait until you were married ten years and have five kids like I have," he growled. "All my wife wants to know every night is whether I can keep going until the next payday."

The other men, all 100 percent loyal American husbands, were shocked at this and muttered, "unfair, unfair. Shame on you."

One fellow said he told his wife all the gossip he overheard. Another remarked that he concentrated on describing the interesting passengers he met going and coming on the bus. A third observed that he never got to tell his wife much, because she wasn't the kind of person he dared to interrupt. He said he just mentioned the weather — and she went on from there.

"I tell mine that the boss picked on me again," said a fourth, "and she just does me."

She just hates the idea of an outsider having the nerve to tell me where to get off."

A hoary old veteran of the marital wars bent his gray moustache to the water spout, then raised his head and snickered.

"You boys all show a pitiful imagination and a complete lack of understanding of women," he announced.

"The answer is simply to create your own office soap opera," continued the old-timer. "I have invented a character called Jones. I have taken Jones through two marriages and three serious illnesses."

"No matter how bad our own troubles are my wife says, 'gee, honey, life is still better for us than it is for that poor old Mr. Jones at your office.'"

A murmur of awe burst from the other husbands as he gravely bent his moustache, watered it again, and plodded sedately back to his desk. They had seen true greatness in his time.

Russian Diplomats Phoner Than A Politician's Promise

By HENRY McEMORE

Let us start off this column with a question, namely: What is phoner than a $3 dollar bill? Some will say a $5 dollar bill, or a politician's promise. Others will say nothing could be phoner than an undertaker's sympathy.

Still others will say that a downright phonyness you cannot beat a chorus girl's "Thank you, Daddy," for a diamond ring.

Speaking for myself, I would say that the phoniest thing that exists in the world today is a high-ranking Russian diplomat.

He doesn't mean one single thing he says, and that goes for the man with the moustache in the Kremlin right down to the lowliest parrot he sends out to represent him.

What could be better proof of this than the housing request made by the Soviet delegation for their stay in San Francisco during the signing of the Japanese Peace Treaty?

The delegation, headed by Andrei Gromyko, demanded a 33 room mansion, or its equivalent in hotel suites. This, mind you, from the head delegate of the nation whose avowed aim it is to take care of the common man and see to it that all citizens share alike.

I wish I had been placed in charge of housing delegates to this Peace Treaty meeting. It would have given me more pleasure than I can possibly describe to place Mr. Gromyko and his delegation on the very outskirts of San Francisco and assure him that he would have to provide his own pup tents for shelter, and that he could either catch a street car to the meetings or walk in.

He wouldn't get one bite of American food while he was in San Francisco. He wouldn't be allowed in the St. Francis, the rope would be up against him at The Top of the Mark. There would be no table for him at the Fairmont, and if he tried to eat at Joe Di Maggio's place on Fisherman's Wharf he'd get hit right on the top of the head with a baseball bat.

Every time a Soviet diplomat leaves this country for home he leaves with about eight tons of products produced by the "de-ly bent his moustache, watered it again, and plodded sedately back to his desk. They had seen true greatness in his time."

provided by the United States, thing he has to be a phony, he'll get service worthy of a which was my original premise decent man. It's 10 to one his clothes were woven and tailored for original phonyness. To accept in England, and the wines he'll such hospitality from people you drink will have come from want to erase from the earth France. To accept this sort of is high-grade low-down.

WANTED—A GENIUS

A few years ago the people of England were sold the idea that government was a far more efficient manager of industrial enterprise than private citizens. Since then, England has become a socialized state and the theory of the superiority of the state as a producer within the framework of democratic government has been put to the acid test. The result has been tragically disillusioning. In the words of Bernard Harris, writing in The Sunday Express in London, England, "Socialization has failed because the genius who might make it work can't be found."

UCIDAL REGRESSION

Some plain and accurate words on the subject of price control as it applies to beef were recently written by Paul E. Belcher of the First National Bank of Akron, Ohio. Belcher observed, "The supply of beef will be materially reduced if the price of beef remains effective over a long period. Hoarding will be stepped up until rationing stops practice. Demand which could have been satisfied with beef, had it been available, will be transferred to other kinds of meat. In consequence, the quantity of pork, mutton and poultry available will be insufficient to go around. The scarcity thus created will cause the price to rise. If a choice has to be made, which is better: little meat at a dollar or plenty meat at 10 percent or even more above that figure? The English government followed the last course for many months before the stomachs of Englishmen throughout Britain finally forced consideration by cabinet members."

Better Jobs

By R. C. HOILES

"I Am An Anti-Taxationist" I am continuing to quote from Frank Chodorov's article under the heading "Are You an 'Anti-Taxationist'?" It was published in Human Events, 1710 Rhode Island Ave., N.W., Washington (D.C.). Here is the rest of his article:

"Yes, the 'anti-taxationist' should be proud to be so called, and should turn an interested eye to the advantage, as did the violators of the prohibition laws who were called 'scowflaws'. It got so, during prohibition days, that those who patronized bootleggers and speakeasies would refer to themselves, in semi-humorous fashion, by this derisive name; thus they indicated their conviction that the law was an invasion of their private life, and to be a violator of it was an assertion of one's self-respect. The 'scowflaw' considered himself a citizen of distinction; so should the 'anti-taxationist'."

"There are, however, different degrees of 'anti-taxationism'. We cannot accord the same accolade to the surreptitious evader as we do to the open defiant. It is a reasonable inference, based on what he is, that the dyed-in-the-wool collectivist is just as quick to cheat on his income tax report as is the taxpayer of free enterprise. This is no honor in his eyes. But we must take our hats off to the ladies of Marshall, Texas, who stood up to the Federal Government and refused to collect taxes from their own property. They were distinctly paying our respects to Vivien Kellems, who defied the Government to indict her for not complying with the payroll tax laws. "Praise-worthy as are these sporadic and grassroots rebellions, they can only serve as feeders for the mass revolution that is gradually taking shape. For several years, there has been developing a movement to limit the levy for income tax to twenty-five per cent. The strategy has been to pressure state legislatures into memorializing Congress, for the purpose of calling a national convention to consider such an amendment to the Constitution; if two-thirds of the state legislatures agree, the convention must be held; to date, 22 States have passed such resolutions. In the meantime, Representatives Ralph Gwinn of New York and Noah Mason of Illinois, have introduced tax-limitation bills in the House. In short, there is a fermentation on our body politic that could break out into the real thing, if the general disaffection with income taxes becomes more behind-the-scenes interest and is paid to get the public against whatever his sponsors are then against or for whatever they want them for."

"One cannot help recalling, wistfully, that before the Sixteenth (income tax) Amendment was passed, it was proposed to limit the levy to ten per cent. This was opposed on the ground that a specified limitation would give the Government a goal to shoot at, and not even the proponents of the amendment dreamed of a levy larger than ten per cent; and, of course, only the incomes of the "bloated plutocrats" would be touched. Fifty years ago the faith of the American people in the integrity of the State was still naive. "Income taxation is, in principle, the worst of all forms of taxation. It is the denial of the right of property. All taxes are 'compulsory dues and charges' levied by the State upon its subjects; but the nature of indirect taxes is such that they are added to the price of commodities, carries the implication that the subject has a natural right to his property; the cost of government is a natural consequence of indirect taxes; and they are levied surreptitiously so as to ease the pain. Income taxation, on the other hand, begins by asserting the prior right of the State to the income of the citizen who retains it as a legal allowance. Under present law, the Government may confiscate the total income of all the people, from whatever source it may come."

"Without income taxation Socialism is inevitable. With it Socialism is inevitable. The interventionist measures passed under the aegis of the New Deal and Fair Deal—transparently designed for Socialism—would have been impossible without the broad confiscatory powers of the Sixteenth Amendment. But for this measure, Washington would still be the interesting debating society it always was, and the country would not be burdened with millions of time-serving interventionists and obstructionists. It was the Sixteenth Amendment that destroyed the Union, made a shambles of representative government, and put us on the high road to Slavery."

"The repeal of the Sixteenth Amendment could give us back the freedom we have lost since World War I, and restore the necessary social power to try to reform the present system."

"So reasons the Intransigent Idealist. The proposed twenty-five per cent limitation is hardly to his liking. It is a compromise with the status quo. It is a compromise necessarily full of loopholes, and the amendment proposed is no exception: even a cursory reading of it suggests how the Government could circumvent the limitation. For one thing, the limitation is suspended during war, and we know how simple it is to keep us in a constant state of war. "However, the American 'way of life' has become so inextricably involved with the income tax that its termination would have the same effect on our economy as the sudden stoppage of narcotics has on the heart of an addict. The value of the Government bonds foisted on us would evaporate; our forced investment in 'social security' would be lost; businesses which live only by virtue of subsidies and Government contracts would collapse; the valid, though unfortunate, obligation to veterans could not be met. It is not difficult to see that chaos would result from the repeal, and though the country, the immediate circumstances would be hard to take."

"Hence, the proposed compromise, despite its defects, commands the 'anti-taxationist'; even if it is not a cure, it is a relief. Certainly, the tendency of the State to expand its functions and to invade further into the life of society would be retarded. It commands itself also because it represents a frontal and fundamental attack on Slavery. It aims to check the State in its relentless purpose of destroying our freedom by sapping its strength. This is not a reform measure, it is a revolution. "It is not the policy of HUMAN EVENTS to endorse specific organizations—we are arch-individualists—but in this instance we see good reasons for breathing a word of approval. We urge our readers to learn from the Committee for Constitutional Government, 205 East 42nd Street, New York, how the tax-limitation effort is going, and what a full-blooded 'anti-taxationist' can do to further it."

Baxter's Views

By DAVID BAXTER

SCAPEGOAT

The current issue of MC CALL'S carries another of those marvelous articles of the type recently published by Collier's in connection with alleged medical quacks. The McCall article is written by Arthur D. Morse, is labeled "Who's Trying To Steal Our Schools?" and while it does not answer it's own question it implies that there is a deep, dark plot somewhere to undermine American institutions. What is particularly reprehensible about this smear story is that it completely ignores the honest critics of the public school system and the true issue they have raised about the morality of tax-supported public "education". Apparently the writer doesn't want to get himself out on a limb by going in for basic issues but instead contented himself with holding up to ridicule and smearing some foes of compulsory public schooling.

This he does in a way considered unethical by most responsible, accurate journalists. He uses the old "scapegoat" technique. The "scapegoat" method works out like this: You pick someone whom you can hang something on, someone with a spotty background or whom the public generally dislikes. You load every sin, every vile crime and detestable practice you can think of on your scapegoat. You continually keep him in the public eye as a sort of personal devil and if necessary you play him up (if he isn't widely known) so that your readers don't lay down on the job and forget him. You do all that you can to give him a terribly vile reputation.

Once your "scapegoat" has been properly built up you are ready to use him. There are people you want to "get" and ruin but you don't have anything on them. They may be good citizens and high-principled people. That is where your "scapegoat" is brought into play. Perhaps some of the good people you're out to get don't speak or once met him or were friendly with his wife or exchanged correspondence with him or even agreed with him on some specific issue.

"That's all you need. The good citizen may not have anything in common with your straw man but you can make the public think so, simply refuse to comply and remit the money. He has nothing to fear. That is to say, no need to fear a criminal prosecution or a terrible crash. Congress would have to do some nimble scrambling to head off a revolution then. If you visualize the situation that those Congressmen and Senators knowingly prescribed to enforce the criminal penalties against individuals, especially respectable domestic women, knowing that they would acquit them and that the people would come to realize that the government had embezzled billions in a gigantic fraud put over by Congress. The till is empty. The crooks stole it all as fast as it came in, and they all are afraid that even their own packed Supreme Court, ignorant and politically venal as it is, would have to reject not only the federal check-off but the corrupt body and soul of social security and bring on a terrible crash. Congress would have to do some nimble scrambling to head off a revolution then."

By ROBERT B. DRESSER Mr. Robert B. Dresser of Providence, R. I., is a member of one of the leading law firms of that city. He is author of a resolution proposing a constitutional amendment limiting the power of Congress to tax incomes, inheritances and gifts, which has been passed by a number of state legislatures. He has written many articles on this and other tax questions. This series of articles states in substance his recent testimony before the Senate Finance Committee on the pending tax bill.

In our present hodgepodge system of taxation the three taxes which serve this purpose best are: (1) the income tax, (2) the estate or death tax, and (3) the capital gains tax. The first of these, the income tax, if levied at sufficiently high and heavily progressive or graduated rates, will reduce one of the principal sources of capital on which industrial and economic progress depends. The death tax and the capital gains tax are levies on capital, and likewise reduce the supply. 1. INDIVIDUAL INCOME TAX - Let us look first at the tax on individual incomes. Such taxes, under the present law, are graduated from a rate of 20 percent on incomes of not over $2000 to a high of 91 percent on incomes of over $200,000. Assuredly, these rates are heavily progressive and will of themselves, if continued for a long enough period of time, destroy our system of private enterprise and our American form of government, and force us into some form of socialism or communism. This process is greatly accelerated by coupling with the high rates on individual incomes, heavy taxes on the incomes of corporations.

The process by which this is accomplished is simple. 1. By increasing to an excessively high rate the taxes on capital and industry, the supply of capital for industry is reduced. 2. Less capital for industry means less business and incidentally less demand for labor and lower wages. Continued reduction in the capital supply leads to business stagnation and ultimately to the government's supplying the capital. 3. If the government supplies the capital, it eventually acquires ownership or control and we have socialism or communism. Accordingly, if communism or socialism is to be avoided, it should be our objective to increase rather than decrease the capital supply. In this country it has been sought to justify the graduation of tax rates on the ground of the ability of the taxpayer to pay. "Taxation according to ability to pay" is a political slogan, and not an economic concept having any defined limits or based upon any scientific principle. Carried to its logical conclusion, it would mean the reduction of all incomes after taxes to the same level — the goal of the communists. Those who support the graduation of tax rates are the tax-supporters of school racket come out from behind their fence and accept the challenges and cash offers of their opponents to answer questions about whether the system is right or wrong. If they were sincere they would do that, instead of futively bribing writers and magazines to smear the opposition.

By ROBERT B. DRESSER Mr. Robert B. Dresser of Providence, R. I., is a member of one of the leading law firms of that city. He is author of a resolution proposing a constitutional amendment limiting the power of Congress to tax incomes, inheritances and gifts, which has been passed by a number of state legislatures. He has written many articles on this and other tax questions. This series of articles states in substance his recent testimony before the Senate Finance Committee on the pending tax bill.

In our present hodgepodge system of taxation the three taxes which serve this purpose best are: (1) the income tax, (2) the estate or death tax, and (3) the capital gains tax. The first of these, the income tax, if levied at sufficiently high and heavily progressive or graduated rates, will reduce one of the principal sources of capital on which industrial and economic progress depends. The death tax and the capital gains tax are levies on capital, and likewise reduce the supply. 1. INDIVIDUAL INCOME TAX - Let us look first at the tax on individual incomes. Such taxes, under the present law, are graduated from a rate of 20 percent on incomes of not over $2000 to a high of 91 percent on incomes of over $200,000. Assuredly, these rates are heavily progressive and will of themselves, if continued for a long enough period of time, destroy our system of private enterprise and our American form of government, and force us into some form of socialism or communism. This process is greatly accelerated by coupling with the high rates on individual incomes, heavy taxes on the incomes of corporations.

The process by which this is accomplished is simple. 1. By increasing to an excessively high rate the taxes on capital and industry, the supply of capital for industry is reduced. 2. Less capital for industry means less business and incidentally less demand for labor and lower wages. Continued reduction in the capital supply leads to business stagnation and ultimately to the government's supplying the capital. 3. If the government supplies the capital, it eventually acquires ownership or control and we have socialism or communism. Accordingly, if communism or socialism is to be avoided, it should be our objective to increase rather than decrease the capital supply. In this country it has been sought to justify the graduation of tax rates on the ground of the ability of the taxpayer to pay. "Taxation according to ability to pay" is a political slogan, and not an economic concept having any defined limits or based upon any scientific principle. Carried to its logical conclusion, it would mean the reduction of all incomes after taxes to the same level — the goal of the communists. Those who support the graduation of tax rates are the tax-supporters of school racket come out from behind their fence and accept the challenges and cash offers of their opponents to answer questions about whether the system is right or wrong. If they were sincere they would do that, instead of futively bribing writers and magazines to smear the opposition.

WASHINGTON — Although Congress will reject several publicized proposals for an official investigation of West Point "cheating," there has arisen a demand for a thorough and serious study of the basic organization, curriculum, teaching staff and selection methods of the academy on the Hudson and the naval university on the Severn river at Annapolis. Although not condoning the recent cribbing at West Point exams, members with educational background and training suggest that this exhibition was the result of inept academic mismanagement. The offending cadets, according to reports, were charged with passing along information in quiz questions to classmates who were to take the same examinations a few days later.

SYSTEM — No worthwhile school has such a staggered system of exams. Either they are given to all students at the same time, or an entirely different set of questions are framed on the same subject for the second batch of candidates. So, it is asked whether West Point professors and faculty managers are so lacking in initiative, imagination and energy that they cannot or will not think up two to serve three papers in each petty case four times a year. This takes days and days of time of government executives, lawyers, clerks and Treasury agents and it is plainly a losing proposition for the Treasury. The individual amounts are trifling. Mrs. Smith is nicked for $2.10 for the second quarter on a yard-boy who didn't even know he was paying, plus 11 cents penalty. Four times a year the Treasury has to go to her bank and serve an attachment and two other legal papers prepared by clerks and lawyers and the agents may have to drive a hundred miles in each instance and the Marshall girls noticed that nothing was said about sending them to prison and that seemed mighty queer because they certainly did what they did willfully and defiantly. Crim in a very real sense would dramatize the situation. Nobody in the government is willing to risk that. Martin Dies, of Texas, who has taken the case of the Marshall girls, to carry it to the Supreme Court, estimates that at least half of the housewives of Texas have violated the social security check-off by simply ignoring it. The job of proceeding against all of them, according to the Marshall, (Tex.) plan, would be fantastic. No wonder that the president that their violations will be ignored. If a million or two or ten million others also ignore it, the law will become a dead letter and the consequences of that would be so disturbing that Congress would be forced to repeal the whole business. What, then, of the millions of people who have paid billions into the Treasury for social security to be embezzled during these years? No question about it, they or their heirs must be reimbursed. The employers must be reimbursed, too, because the money taken from them for this fraud was the proceeds of ex-tortion. But, somehow we could manage them for a substitute if the people really want that security, we could have an honest, voluntary system paid for by the workers who expect to receive the benefits, not by the employer who has no duty in the situation. After all, workers are people, not serfs of the employer who have no duty in liege as their duty to manage their own affairs and provide for their own old age by their own earnings. Contributions are coming in to finance the court test of the Marshall girls. I have forwarded $100 to date. I hope contributors will not send their donations for this. Write me at Mr. R. W. Winfield Furrh, Marshall, Tex., who will acknowledge them.

TAXES IN WONDERLAND

(Washington, D. C., Times-Herald)

The average taxpayer has a good deal of trouble understanding just what is being done in Congress about his tax bill for next year. In that he has nothing on the members of Congress.

The supposedly expert Senate finance committee didn't approve of the formula devised in the House for boosting income taxes and last week came up with a complicated set-up of its own. Then someone took time to figure out just what this would do to the individual taxpayer at different levels of income. He came up with the horrid intelligence that the heaviest increase was inflicted on people earning around $10,000 or $15,000 a year — a group which includes members of Congress. This blow to freedom was quickly rescinded, but the tax program is still pretty foggy.

There is no reason why it should be. The proper congressional response to Mr. Truman's demand for an extra 10 billions in revenue should be to deny him a single additional penny. Congress should be considering reductions of taxes — and of

The enormity of that demand is illustrated by the fact that while Truman is asking 10 billion more, the individual income tax increases considered by the Senate committee will yield only a fourth of that sum. Yet even this pittance, as Mr. Truman would regard it, means hiking everyone's taxes an average of one ninth.

The idea that Truman graft and extravagance can be supported by soaking the rich was abandoned long ago. The rich are already soaked. To give Truman the 10 billions he asks, solely out of personal income taxes, it would be necessary to confiscate all taxable income over $4,000 a year received by everyone in the country. This wouldn't produce any relief for those earning less. They still would have to pay their present taxes.

The soak-the-poor campaign is already well under way, and will begin to produce some hundreds of millions of dollars next year out of wages of washerwomen and other domestic servants. The amendment of the social security act, extending its "benefits" to these day workers, wasn't founded on any New Deal solicitude for their penniless old age.

Economists who specialize in taxation have a theory, bolstered by experience in several European countries, including Britain, that whenever the government taxes more than a quarter of the total national earnings in taxes, the process inevitably breeds inflation. The tax take in the United States last year was 29 percent of the national income — well above the danger mark. Truman's present tax program would take nearly a third of all the money the people of the United States earn if Congress were so foolish as to ratify it.

No nation can pay such taxes without wrecking its economic structure. If Truman is to be prevented from ruining America, taxes must be cut, not raised. There would be no difficulty in adjusting expenditures to the

LOOKING SIDWAYS

By WHITNEY BOLTON

DENVER, Colo.—I think I must move around in a washish layer of human society because I ran into a thing in a magazine the other night which if practiced in my outfit would get a husband a swat in the eye. What the magazine called for was something I have not personally heard since 1908, and the man who said it then was a lack-lustre fellow whose wife ran away from him three weeks later and took up an unhallowed life with a gold prospector.

"Marriage," said this magazine, which happened to be Redbook for August, "is permanent when the husband first calls his wife 'Mother.'"

I don't want to seem to be a brass-bitted member of a coarse and calloused section of humanity, and indeed I don't think I am, but I know probably 10,000 couples who would shoot it out at five yards if the husband ever dared call his wife "Mother." These couples have children, they love each other and their children, they are doing a magnificently adult and intelligent job of bringing those children up to face a threatening world and not one of the husbands would ever dream of calling his wife "mother."

I know probably another 5,000 couples who have children and who no longer are married to each other. The fact of motherhood itself did not make the marriages permanent and I doubt that divorce could have been avoided if the 5,000 bravos involved had come home from business each night exclaiming "Hi, Mother, I'm home!" Indeed, I think the unfortunate divorces would have been hastened.

I have mentioned 1908 as a date, because I want to make it perfectly clear that it is not today's crop of bright, lipsticked young mothers who resent the word as a title of affection and respect. The fact is that my own parents constituted an unusually fine example of the institution of marriage in which mutual respect, affection and adult consideration were equally mixed. If my father had ever addressed my mother as "Mother," I'm pretty sure that lovely red-haired bonfire would have seized the nearest solid object and shattered it over his noggin. She liked being a mother, she did the best job she could on me, she had pride in having created a child, but she hated the word as a salute and title and whenever she heard some mealy-mouthed croon to his wife: "Ready to go home now, Mother?" she would cringe at all the corners of her being.

The spineless fellow who did habitually address his wife, a mother of three, as "Mother" was regarded in the Mexico City American Colony as a cross between a Tampico sponge and a Yucatan Jellyfish and the boys in the locker rooms gave him scant attention. When his wife abandoned him and the three children to take up a rugged but wildly adventurous life

TAX WHERE THE MONEY IS (New York World-Telegram)

Members of the Senate Finance Committee indicate they will take their time in writing a new tax bill.

President Truman originally asked for $10,000,000,000 in new taxes. He still contends this is necessary to balance the budget and meet the rising cost of defense.

The House has passed a tax bill calling for $7,000,000,000 in additional taxation or so the authors claim. Senators in charge of the bill indicate they intend to do a complete rewriting job on this measure.

It needs rewriting. Because the House bill is a product of political thinking. It gives more weight to getting votes in next year's election than to getting needed revenue for the government.

This bill taxes sources already taxed to the point of diminishing returns. It doesn't where the money is. So it won't serve as a curb on inflation, and it won't raise the kind of government needed to put the defense program on a pay-as-we-go basis.

Experts do not agree on many phases of taxation, but all experts agree on one point—the tax has to be levied where the money is.

Treasury estimates show that if the government confiscated all the income not now taxed from all those above the $10,000 bracket, the total revenue would not exceed $3,500,000,000. But the nontaxed income below the $10,000 bracket is more than $68,000,000,000.

Yet the House bill proposes to get more of its income from the top brackets—where it just ain't. The cream already has been skimmed.

In its many weeks of hearings, the Senate Finance Committee received an abundance of the advice it sought. Leaders of the committee say they aim to do a painstaking job of revision on the House bill.

But if Congress lacks the courage to raise the needed revenue from the most feasible, fairest source—an increase in income taxes all down the line—sooner or later it will face the necessity of levying against less desirable sources. Such as a general sales tax, which most lawmakers now profess to abhor.

For the only alternatives to adequate taxation are inflation and a brier debt.

The Doctor Says

By EDWARD F. JORDAN, M. D.

I wish that everyone could go through the ward of a large hospital where burned children are cared for. Then they would be more careful of themselves as well as their children. Fire, hot liquids, steam and anything else which burns the skin are not to be played with. They cause many unnecessary deaths each year and fill far too many hospital beds with horribly sick and scared children, as well as adults.

It will probably never be possible to avoid burns altogether, though this is the objective for which we should strive by using greater precautions against accident in the home and elsewhere. Since most burns undoubtedly occur when there is no doctor around, everyone should know what to do until medical aid arrives. The right things may well save lives, and they certainly make the professional care easier.

In slight burns, first degree burns, there is merely some reddening of the skin. To treat these there are several good household "burn" ointments available. If put on promptly, they will not only ease the pain but promote healing. However, they should not be applied if a large part of the skin surface has been burned. If no such remedy is available, a very strong solution of tea (cooled, of course) will do fairly well. This type of burn does not as a rule cause scarring.

REMOVE CLOTHING Burns which blister the skin or go deeper are called second or third degree burns, depending on how deeply the skin and underlying tissues have been destroyed. In such cases, it is well to remove surrounding loose clothing or to cut it off, but to leave in place any which is sticking to the flesh. If medical care is likely to be delayed, warm compresses soaked in strong tea or tannic acid may be applied over the burn.

Keep or widespread burns should not have ointments, oils, or greases put over them because they are hard to get off, may produce pain, and are likely to interfere with the treatment which later proves best. Neither cotton, which will stick, nor iodine should be applied.

All this may sound unnecessary. Perhaps it will be, but it is well to have such points in mind in case the unexpected happens.

COMMUNIST

ment estimating the distribution in the calendar year 1951 of surtax net income, which is the net income after deducting the personal exemptions and credits for dependents. From this it appears that:

1. Out of a total of $90 billion of surtax net income, $82 billion is in the brackets of $10,000 and under ($62 billion being in the bracket under $2,000), and only $8 billion is in the brackets over $10,000.
2. The amount of the present taxes on this $8 billion of income is $4,500,000,000.
3. By confiscating the entire balance of this $8 billion of income in the brackets over $10,000, only $3,500,000,000 would be added to the government's revenue. This would pay the expenses of the federal government for only 2 1-2 weeks. If the proposed budget of $72 billion for the current year is adopted.

This last group has in the past, however, furnished a large part of the capital needed to maintain and expand industry. The maintenance of this source of capital supply is of vital importance.

Moreover, I believe, a moderate rate of tax on income will, in the long run produce more revenue than a high rate.

The principle involved is the same as that governing the operation of a successful business, namely, that within certain limits the greatest profits come from charging a low rather than a high price for goods sold. As high prices lessen the ability and incentive to buy, so high tax rates lessen the ability and incentive to produce.

Maine Sardines Contain Protein

BAKED MAINE SARDINES Italian is a low cost, "gourmet" main dish for dinner.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

For a low-cost source of protein, Maine sardines are an outstanding value. The pack is tremendous.

A few special recipes will turn these low-cost sardines into family "gourmet" main dishes. These were prepared by noted Maine cooks exclusively for this column:

Baked Maine Sardines Italian (Serves 4-6)

Two cans Maine sardines, 2 tablespoons salad oil, 3 tablespoons chopped onion, 1 clove garlic, minced, 1-4 cup chopped green pepper, 2 1/2 cups canned tomatoes, drained, 1-3 cup chopped ripe olives, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons sugar, 1 cup prepared biscuit mix, 1-3 cup milk.

Saute onion and garlic in oil until golden brown. Add peppers, tomatoes, olives, salt and sugar and cook over low heat for 15 minutes. Add milk to prepared biscuit mix. Turn out on lightly floured surface and knead 30 times. Place on greased baking sheet and pat out to large oval, 1-2 inch thick. Place sardines on top. Spoon tomato mixture over; bake 20 minutes in hot (400 degrees F.) oven.

Maine Sardine and Corn Fritters (Makes 12 fritters)

One can Maine sardine, coarse-

Try Sauerkraut Summer Salad

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Crisp chilled sauerkraut does wonders with the summer appetite. Tuck it into sandwiches in place of the usual relishes, serve it instead of cole slaw with broiled or baked fish, carry it to picnics in an unopened container for a relish or salad.

Sauerkraut Summer Salad (Makes 6 servings)

One No. 2 can sauerkraut, 4 raisins, 1 medium green pepper, 1 teaspoon grated onion, 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, 2 tablespoons sour cream, tomatoes.

Place can of sauerkraut in refrigerator and chill over night or several hours. Open can of sauerkraut and drain off juice. Cut raisins into thin strips. In a large bowl, combine all ingredients; mix lightly but thoroughly.

Cut tomatoes in wedges. Arrange wedges to resemble the petals of a flower on individual salad plates. Center each with a mound of kraut and garnish with sprigs of parsley. Serve with broiled fish fillets or cold cuts.

Swedish Sauerkraut Salad (Makes 6 servings)

One No. 2 can sauerkraut, 1-2 cup chopped celery, 1 cup canned kidney beans, 1-4 cup chili sauce.

Place can of sauerkraut in refrigerator and chill overnight or several hours. Open can of sauerkraut and drain off juice. In a bowl, combine all ingredients; mix lightly but thoroughly. Chill several hours before serving.

WE, THE WOMEN

By RUTH MILLET
NEA Staff Writer

Brief news item: "Mrs. Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt said she paid $4.95 for the new white hat she wore at the opening of the Saratoga racing season."

"Who designed your hat?" a reporter asked the society leader, whose husband is a multi-millionaire horse enthusiast.

"This hat? Why I picked it up at a hat bar. It only cost $4.95," replied Mrs. Vanderbilt.

"Well, that's one advantage of having money," thinks Mrs. Jones, reading the news item.

"If everybody knows you can afford anything you want, you can brag about how little something cost."

"But if you have to hunt for bargains and cut corners and make things do, you're always trying to make people think the 'little bargain' you picked up is something better."

Actually, though, a woman doesn't need to have money to show that lack of pretense. All she really has to have is an independent spirit.

She doesn't have to try to keep up with the neighbors by always trying to get something just as good or a little bit better than they have.

She doesn't have to hope that folks will think the little dress she ran across in a bargain basement really came from a salon with fancy prices and fancy labels.

She can be just as proud as Mrs. Vanderbilt of her bargains and just as unpretentious about buying something because she likes it or because it fills her need rather than buying something just to impress other people.

The average woman goes through life trying to impress others by little pretenses because she doesn't realize that the little pretenses aren't really necessary. Anybody can be independent in spirit. It doesn't take money. It just takes spunk.

Tomato Is Tops In Soup

FIRST place among soups belongs to the rosy red tomato kind. It's the soup that "most folks like best."

Select tomato soup as the main meal feature and all kinds of menu combinations suggest themselves. For instance, take tomato soup with sandwiches — most any sandwich is a good "soup-mate." Or introduce a fresh new note at each serving of soup by sprinkling on a different garnish or tidbit. Combinations — tomato with another soup — are good for a change also.

SANDWICHES THAT MAKE ENTICING eating with tomato soup are bubbly grilled cheese-wiches or juicy hamburgers with tasty trimmings. Another favorite with soup is a rich peanut butter sandwich with a crisp topper like cole slaw or shredded carrots.

TOMATO SOUP COMBINATIONS can give you that "something different" to serve as a special treat for supper now and then. Just blend together one can of the tomato with one can of another soup; then add liquid as directed. Sure winners among combinations are tomato with any of the following — cream of celery, clam chowder, chicken gumbo, and beef noodle.

FOR GARNISHES and snack-bits to go with tomato soup, you can "shoot the works." Make your own or take advantage of all the "crunchables" at the grocery store. A sprinkle of popcorn, crisp little corn chips, a crisp or a puffed cereal, is a happy surprise on a bowl of soup.

CROUTONS and toast sticks also have many possibilities. These tidbits are magical mouthfuls that you can make so easily from dry bread. Just mix a flavorful ingredient like garlic salt into butter or margarine; spread mixture on both sides of dry bread. Cut into strips or dice-size squares; then toast bread in a moderate oven about 15 minutes. Here are some super spreads for croutons and toast strips.

GARLIC: Blend 1/4 teaspoon garlic salt into 1 tablespoon softened butter or margarine.

CHEESE: Mix 1/4 teaspoon grated parmesan cheese into 1 tablespoon softened butter or margarine.

SEED: Mix 1/4 teaspoon poppy seed or 1/4 teaspoon caraway seed into 1 tablespoon softened butter.

HERB: Blend 1/4 teaspoon thyme into 1 tablespoon softened butter.

SOUP SCOOPS

TWO-IN-ONE SANDWICH: Glorify a hamburger or hot dog by topping it with a spoonful of two of pork and beans before you close the bun. A little mustard and lettuce, if you like, makes this a meal in a sandwich.

"HAM-ETTI": The last odds and ends from a piece of ham are wonderful to add to prepared spaghetti. Brown the ham and a little chopped onion in hot shortening in a skillet. Open a can or two of spaghetti (the kind in tomato sauce with cheese) and put it in the skillet. Stir all together and heat well. Folks go for that.

Beef Liver Is Budget Saver

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Garden vegetables, now abundant and succulent, do wonders to beef liver. Your whole family is going to relish this recipe — and liver is cheap and packed with iron and other nutrients.

Beef Liver Julienne (4 servings)

On pound beef liver, sliced, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 1-4 teaspoon curry powder, 3 tablespoons fat, 1-2 cup thinly sliced onion, 1 teaspoon kitchen bouquet, 1-2 cup water, 3 cups diced peeled tomatoes, 1-2 cup sliced green pepper.

Cover liver with boiling water and let stand 5 minutes. Drain well. Bot dry with paper towel. Remove any tubing or skin. Cut in thin fingerlength strips. Place flour, salt, pepper and curry powder in a paper bag. Add strips of liver.

Close end of bag and shake vigorously. Melt fat over moderate heat in 9-inch frying pan. Add dredged liver and brown lightly. Add onions and let cook about 3 minutes, stirring frequently. Stir in kitchen bouquet. Add any flour mixture remaining in bag and stir into liver mixture. Add cold water, tomatoes and green pepper. Bring to boil, stirring frequently.

Cover and let simmer over low heat until tomatoes and pepper are cooked, about 10 minutes. Serve immediately over hot pre-cooked rice. If sauce is too thin, let stand uncovered over heat until it evaporates to desired consistency.

For that "something hot" in an otherwise cold meal try rice spoon bread.

Rice Spoon Bread (4 servings)

One and one-half cups water, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-2 cup granulated rice cereal, 1-4 cup butter or margarine, 2 eggs, 1-2 cups milk, 1 teaspoon baking powder.

Bring water and salt to boil in saucepan. Sprinkle in cereal, stirring constantly, until thickened, about 1 minute. Add butter and stir until melted.

Beat eggs, milk and baking powder together until smooth. Gradually add to rice mixture, stirring constantly to keep mixture smooth. Pour into greased one-quart baking dish. Bake in moderately hot oven, 375 degrees F., until of custard consistency, about 45 minutes. Serve hot.

Everybody Is Favorite In Southwest Conference For '51

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
DALLAS — (AP) — The Southwest Conference has so many football favorites it's confusing — which is the way the gridiron game down here always gets anyway. It's the exception and not the rule for the pre-season choice to win.

Even the coaches couldn't agree they took Texas A&M and Baylor to tie for the title. The sports writers picked A&M but the selection was wavy.

The conference is going to have more strong teams than usual, which is the reason for the confusion. The Aggies are rated at the top because they have about everything it takes to win a championship—28 lettermen headed by Bob Smith, one of the greatest running backs the conference ever saw. A&M had the mightiest ground game last season but was deficient in passing — something a team must have to win in this circuit where the boys had rather throw the ball than pass.

But A&M appears destined to have the kind of passing necessary. A junior college transfer, Roy Dollar, who passes, kicks and handles the pigskin like a magician, looks like the main-spring of a fine aerial game.

Baylor has the versatile attack all wrapped up in lanky Larry Isbell, brother of the renowned Cecil of Purdue and pro football fame. Isbell is considered the outstanding T quarterback of conference history. And he passes and kicks. The Bear star threw 15 touchdown passes last season and topped the circuit in punting with a 41.1 average.

Harold Riley and Stan Williams, two great offensive ends, head up a Baylor line of tremendous possibilities, and Dick Parma might be the toughest fullback in the conference. Sophomore Jerry Coody is expected to prove a brilliant backfield spark.

One is selling a defending champion Texas short. The Longhorns don't seem to have the offensive power of last season but there's nothing wrong with the defense, with all-America Don Mensaco returning as linebacker and Bobby Dillon, the talented punt-returner and pass-interceptor, again the fellow for the other team to worry about when the going gets rugged in the final minutes. He won at least two games last season with glittering clutch runs.

Texas Christian is another team that could win the pennant without causing eyebrow lifting. Gilbert Bartosh, a thinking quarterback who will run and pass you to death, heads up one of the better Dutch Meyer offenses.

They say in Arkansas that one fellow is known to have already bought a ticket to the Cotton Bowl. That's how confident they are that Arkansas is going to move out of the wilderness this season. One thing about it: the Razorbacks can hardly go but one way. They won only two games in 1950. Most of the Arkansas hopes ride on what appears to be an old-time Razorback passing offensive.

Southern Methodist will be throwing the ball as usual and with the same fellow — Fred Benmers, who gained 1,361 yards in the last season. The Methodists did little except pass, which was the main reason for their downfall in 1950 when in mid-season they had reached the No. 1 rating in the nation. But SMU lost a bunch of close ones — games that could have gone the other way just as well.

Rice is lean in veteran material but has one of the best sophomore classes. The Owls won't be supposed to beat many teams this year but expect to get in their licks in 1952 and 1953. End Bill Howton is the top veteran; LeRoy Fenstermaker, quarterback, and Kossie Johnson, fullback, are the brightest of the sophos. Fenstermaker is expected to be quite a passer.

New Yorkers Back Into First Place As Indians Lose

(By The Associated Press)
"We're home now and that's where we win."

That's the opinion expressed today by Casey Stengel, shrewd manager of the New York Yankees, in talking of the stirring American League pennant race that finds his team in first place by four percentage points.

The Yanks, who engage the ever-governing Boston Red Sox in the opener of a three-game series at the Stadium tonight, backed into the lead yesterday as the Indians dropped a 2-1 decision in 11 innings to the Chicago White Sox in the only game played in either league.

Here's the picture at a glance:

New York	82	88	421
Cleveland	84	50	427
Boston	77	51	602

The New Yorkers have a decided advantage over their two-game edge over Cleveland in the vital "loss column" and have four-games more to play than the Tribe. The Yanks also are booked to play 21 of their remaining 24 games at home while the Indians have only three of 20 left at home. The Red Sox have 12 out of 28 in their friendly Fenway Park.

Stengel admits that the Red Sox, who meet the Yanks nine more times, are to be respected. However Old Case said, "I'm certainly not afraid of them. I've said right along the Yankees were going to win and I have no reason to change my mind."

Vic Raschi (17-8) has been named by Stengel to face the Red Sox tonight before an expected 60,000 fans. Leo Killeary, (4-3) rookie lefthander, is Manager Steve O'Neill's choice to pitch the important opener at the Stadium.

Eddie Lopat (12-7) and Allie Reynolds (13-7) will go for the Yanks in Thursday's doubleheader against Bill Wirtz (6-5) and Ray Scarborough (11-7).

The Yankees have won 42 and lost 15 games at home including four out of five wins from Boston. The Red Sox have won 34 and lost 31 away from home, boast a 43-20 record at Fenway Park, including eight straight over New York. The Yanks clash with the Red Sox at Boston in a three game series beginning Sept. 21.

While the Red Sox and Yankees tangle the Indians and the Detroit Tigers clash in Cleveland tonight in their last home game until the final two days of the season when they again meet in the fifth place doubleheader, 33-27 on foreign soil.

Bob Lemon of the Indians and Saul Rogovin of Chicago hooked up in a brilliant duel before 20,000 fans at Cleveland last night. Lemon pitched only three hits until the fatal eleventh. One of the blows was former Indian Ed Robinson's 25th homer in the sixth. Robinson's blow matched a fourth inning homer by Cleveland's Luke Easter.

Nelson Fox opened the Chicago 11th with a double. Al Zarilla bunted Fox to third. Robinson was intentionally passed. At this point Bob Kennedy, rifled armed outfielder, replaced Barney McCosky, rightfielder for the Indians but the move didn't pan out. Ray Coleman fled to Kennedy but Fox beat Bob's throw to the plate to break the tie. Robinson scampered to second on a wild pitch and scored the insurance run on a double by Jim Busby.

The Indians threatened in their half, loading the bases with two out on a double by Hal Simpson, a walk, and fielder's choice but pinch-hitter Paul Lehner fouled out to end the game.

Meanwhile in the National League, the Brooklyn Dodgers resume their pennant drive today by opening a three-game series with the Phils at Ebbets Field. Following the Philadelphia invasion, runner-up New York Giants come in for two games set. The Giants, six games behind, tune up for their clash with the Dodgers by tackling the Braves in a three-game set at Boston. Both the Dodgers and Giants head west after their meetings Saturday and Sunday, at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn.

Childress Favored Over Irish Friday

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Childress Bobcats probably will be favored over the Irish when the two collide at Childress stadium Friday night, Sept. 7, at 8 o'clock.

Bobcat offense is figured to be superior to the Irish, especially since the Bobcat backfield contains three regulars — Perry Moran, quarterback; Everett Jones, fullback; and George Crews, halfback. In addition, the Cats have Jerry Jeffries, a fast, 180-pounder from the 1950 B team.

Against this speed and power, Shamrock coach Scott McCall can throw one of the best lines in the Panhandle, veteran from end to end: Van Pennington, 170, and Bobby Campbell, 168, ends; Billy Harris, 248, and Dwayne Hager, 210, tackles; Eugene Collinsworth, 178, and Mack Terry, 180, guards; and Billy York, center, 175.

Should the Bobcat ground attack fail, they will probably fill the air with passes, most of them meant for R. D. Bradshaw, 188-pound, 6-4 wingman.

Shamrock also has an aerial attack, with Charles Francis, quarterback, and Don Carlton, halfback, heating. Ace receivers are Van Pennington, 38 - punt scorer in 1950, and Bobby Campbell, 1950, fullback.

Childress is picked by most sports writers to win the District 3-A title, while the Irish are favorites with Phillips and Dalhart in the 1-A-A class.

McCall will take 20 members of the "A" team to the fray.

Cantrell Cool Under Fire

(By The Associated Press)
Albuquerque baseball fans will long remember Don Cantrell for his coolness under pressure last night. He demonstrated his lack of nerves as he humbled the Abilene Blue Sox in a West Texas-New Mexico League game.

With the Dukes leading 4-3 in the top of the ninth inning and the bases loaded, Cantrell calmly retired the next three men to put out the fire. It was his 18th victory of the season.

Pitching figured prominently in other games. Amarillo swept a doubleheader from Pampa, 13-0, and 8-6; Lubbock squeezed by Borger, 4-1, and Lamesa downed Clovis 6-1.

Doc Fletcher scattered five singles for Amarillo in the first game of the twin-bill. Herb Damico spun a neat five-hitter to pitch Lamesa to victory while Lloyd Brown and Ray Machado tangled in a well pitched mound duel in the Lubbock-Borger game.

Lubbock pushed across three runs in the eighth inning to break a 1-1 tie and gave Machado the decision. Machado struck out eight, seven in the last three innings, and walked one. Brown whiffed 10 and walked one.

Softball Playoff Going At Lefors

LEFORS — (Special) — Brister-McCathern and Texaco softball teams continue a best three-out-of-five game series at the softball park on the public square here tomorrow at 8:30 p.m. for the championship of the local Industrial Softball League which has operated in Lefors this summer. The series started last night.

Texaco, winner of the second half, will be favored to cop the pennant.

The series will be played Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday nights of this week with games on Monday and Tuesday nights of next week if necessary.

Lefors Texaco recently won titles in the White Deer and Panhandle tournaments and lost only one game in the second half of the local league. The circuit was composed of softball clubs from Texaco, Lefors High school, Brister-McCathern, Southern Production Co., Wall Variety Store and Grayco plant.

Schoolboys Begin Long Trek To Championships This Week

(By The Associated Press)
The legions of Texas schoolboy football begin the long march this weekend.

From the tip of the Panhandle to the Gulf, from the far west to the piney woods, almost 300 teams in the top echelons — the classes that play to state championship — will be on the prowl.

Action is limited in Classes AAAA and AAA where a combined total of only 30 games are to be played. But in Class AA there are 84 and in class A 75.

As there is considerable play between the classes, particularly Class AA and A, the total games actually won't be over 140. But that's a pretty good start.

And adding in Class B and six-man football, a majority of the state's 888 teams will be in action.

Next week is when things really open up.

A half-dozen games stand out in the first week of scrapping. The No. 1 battle matches Denison and Port Arthur, powerhouses of Class AAAA but in different districts.

Vying with the Denison-Port Arthur contest for prominence will be the clash of New Braunfels, now in Class AAA, and Wharton, of Class AA. Wharton won the Class A championship last year under the old setup. To do it, Wharton played New Braunfels to a scoreless tie then won in the state playoff.

Wharton's foe in the finals was Kermit which is in Class AA this season and could, conceivably, meet Wharton again in the finals this season. Kermit opens the season against Winters this week.

Top intersectional games of the week send Adamson (Dallas), a top-rated Class AAAA outfit, to Little Rock, and Marshall, state favorite in Class AAA, to Shreveport to play Fair Park.

Class AAAA
District 4 — Friday: Adamson (Dallas) at Little Rock.
District 5 — Friday: Ennis at Waco.

District 8 — Friday: Denison at Port Arthur. St. Thomas (Houston) at Baytown.

Class AAA
District 3 — Friday: Denton at Mineral Wells.
District 4 — Friday: Marshall at Fair Park (Shreveport).
District 7 — Friday: New Braunfels at Wharton.

District 8 — Thursday: Pharr-San Juan-Alamo at Mineola; Friday: Edinburg at Donna, Victoria at Kingsville.

Class AA
District 1 — Friday: Perryton at White Deer, Andrews at Dalhart.

District 2 — Friday: Dumas at Canyon, McLean at Hereford, Memphis at Tulsa.

District 3 — Friday: Shamrock at Childress, Paducah at Chillicothe.

District 4 — Friday: Archer City at Iowa Park, Henrietta at Burk Burnett.

"I got the story on 50,000 Miles-No Wear and changed to New Conoco Super Motor Oil"

Every car that leaves my showroom is lubricated with Conoco Super Motor Oil," reports Mr. Dobson. "A man can get top performance with Conoco Super."

"50,000 Miles-No Wear!" Proved Here:

After a punishing 50,000-mile road test, with proper drains and regular care, engines lubricated with new Conoco Super Motor Oil showed no wear of any consequence: in fact, an average of less than one one-thousandth inch on cylinders and crank shafts. AND gasoline mileage for the last 5,000 miles was actually 89.77% as good as for the first 5,000!

ASSY FIRE CHIEF: "Our engines sit idle for many hours and then are driven at high speed. I've used Conoco Super since the car was new, and I still enjoy new-car performance, and no oil consumption between drains."

Asks Speedy Development Of Rubber-From-Plants Research

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate armed services subcommittee has recommended speedy development of research to produce rubber from plants which can be grown in Texas and other U.S. areas.

The subcommittee on preparedness noted that guayule shrubs and sageshyes, a species of Russian dandelions, appear the most promising sources of rubber in the United States.

It told the Senate the Department of Agriculture, with modest appropriations, has carried on continued experiments to develop guayule and sageshyes which will yield more rubber.

A new strain of guayule produces 25 percent more natural rubber, the report said, and "distinct progress" has been made with one variety of sageshyes, krim-sageshye.

This plant matures, the report added, in 12 to 18 months while guayule requires five years from seed to favorable rubber content.

In an emergency, the report said, guayule harvesting could be started after three field-growing seasons but with lesser amounts of rubber content.

The subcommittee said the munitions board had provided money for developing the guayule program and that the Department of Agriculture is seeking funds to encourage guayule growth in dry areas of Texas and the Southwest.

The department request for $3,700,000 was cut to $2,300,000 in the budget bureau recommendation.

"In view of the importance to national security and the time element involved," the report said, "we urge Congress to act favorably on this matter without delay."

Rise Is Expected In New Car Prices

DETROIT (AP)—New car prices are due to go up before Oct. 1, Automotive News has reported.

The trade paper noted all car makers have applied for increase from the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) and added: "most of the firms are expected to put them in force at once."

The increases sought average nine to 10 percent. There has been some speculation, however, that the full amount of the authorized increases will not be put into effect immediately.

JAPAN: Rebirth Of A Nation (2)

Production facilities crippled by allied air and sea attacks; stockpiles largely exhausted; foreign trade lines severed; an exhausted and demoralized economy—that is a size-up of the conditions confronting Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Supreme Commander for the Allied Powers, in 1945. Grim was the fact that Japan could not earn her way into a peaceful world.

While U.S. know-how tackled the task of putting Japan's war-shattered industry back on its feet, General MacArthur's finance experts outlawed monopolies, and smashed the Zaibatsu, the powerful handful of families controlling the major part of Japan's industry. Their stocks and bonds were seized and sold to the public. Business was reorganized and controls administered.

Seeking to establish Japan on a self-supporting basis through foreign trade, SCAP, Supreme Command of the Allied Powers, next turned its attention to Japan's skeletonized merchant fleet, reduced by Allied bombs and torpedoes from 6.7 million gross tons in 1941 to about 1.6 million gross tons at the end of the war. Only half of the ships surviving the war were proclaimed serviceable.

SCAP lost no time in launching a construction, repair and salvage program that has added more than a thousand vessels to Japan's merchant fleet. Japan's passenger fleet, reduced to one liner by the war, has also been bolstered and the island kingdom may once again rank third among the shipping nations of the world.

Air Exponent Back In Japan For Visit

TOKYO (AP)—Maj. Gen. Emmett O'Donnell, a leading exponent of strategic air attack, is back in Japan today on a visit he said "has nothing to do with air force policy."

O'Donnell, who headed the Far East Air Forces bomber command from July, 1950, until January, is known to have shared Gen. MacArthur's views on expanding the air war for quick victory in Korea.

He now is chief of the strategic air command's 15th Air Force, based at March Field, Calif.

Part of Miss Golden's huge litters have to be turned over to another sow.

Prof. Fred Hale, a swine expert, says a sow which raises an average of 6.4 pigs per litter is average.

U.S. Behind On Rubber Stockpile

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States stockpiled less than one-fifth of its goal of natural rubber in the 12 months through last June, a Senate armed services subcommittee has reported.

At the same time, the group said, reports from behind the Iron Curtain "indicate Russia already may have acquired a two-year stockpile of natural rubber."

"We must stockpile and conserve rubber as though our very lives depended on it, because that may be a reality," the subcommittee on preparedness said in a report to the Senate.

"A rubber Pearl Harbor would strike a punishing blow to this nation's defenses. The blow would be more than punishing—it would be deadly if this country did not have alternate sources to which it could turn for this vital material."

The report was the third in a series all critical of the way the government is handling its rubber program. It said some progress had been made, but not enough.

The report contained none of the relative optimism about rubber supplies which has been shown recently by government officials.

Pointing up the need of rubber in modern warfare, the report said: "The armies of every major power roll to the front lines on rubber tired wheels. Their soldiers wear rubber-lined gas masks, and their aviators gank the gods of invention for rubber-lined gas tanks that automatically seal shut when pierced by enemy bullets. Meanwhile, their navies plow the seas in ships that could not be built or operated without rubber."

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Here Is A Case Of Bad Judgment. By OSWALD JACOBY. Written for NEA Service.

"Please decide for us," requests a Dallas correspondent "whether I am more to be pitied or scorned. In the accompanying hand I made a losing play, but I maintain that it was bad luck rather than bad judgment."

West opened the four of clubs, dummy played low, I holding the East cards put up the jack. South won with the ace of clubs, led to the ace of hearts, and then returned a low diamond from the dummy. Here is where I made the unsuccessful play of putting up the ace of diamonds. I knew that South had one diamond at most because of his leap to three hearts over one diamond doubled. No Increase In Output Of Autos Seen

DETROIT (AP)—There may be more rubber and perhaps more steel next spring, but auto production isn't likely to increase.

And because output will go lower than the curtailed level of this year's final three-month period, retail demand will go up.

That's the viewpoint of many auto industry authorities, especially sales executive of companies that build the more popular cars. All visualize heavily increased car buying when defense money begins to flow.

Auto production isn't going up for many months to come because in addition to steel and rubber, cars require copper, lead, nickel, zinc, aluminum and numerous other metals.

Few industry experts foresee any marked easing in restrictions on the use of these critical materials.

General sales managers know that price increases on new cars will divert many car buyers to the used car market.

Nobody talks about a possible complete suspension of civilian passenger cars. But some industry experts say the present car production rate is considerably higher than it will be once arms output reaches the volume where it will provide against widespread unemployment in the auto plants.

Russians Revive Attack On Dulles

MOSCOW (AP)—Moscow's Literary Gazette has revived its year-old story that John Foster Dulles, author of the draft Japanese treaty being discussed at San Francisco, personally gave the signal for the Korean war.

The Gazette devoted a full page to what apparently is a chapter from a novel by Alexander Chakovsky, which not only pictures Dulles on such a mission to Korea in the summer of 1950, but also details his conversations with the American military mission there.

Newsprint Parley Held in Washington

NEW YORK (AP)—A group of American newspaper publishers conferred with a House interstate commerce subcommittee Tuesday concerning the supply of Canadian newsprint.

The subcommittee, headed by Rep. Lindley Beckwith (D-Tex.), left last night for Montreal for conferences with Canadian officials and newsprint manufacturers.

The publishers submitted questions and topics for the congressional discussion with the Canadians.

Canada is a major supplier to the American newsprint market, producing five times as much newsprint as the United States.

Some publishers, particularly on smaller newspapers, have found it increasingly difficult to obtain newsprint, and the price has increased.
