Britons Worry As Operation Scheduled For King George VI

LONDON (AP) - King George VI strolled about Buckingham palace and chatted with his family Saturday night as the hour drew near for a major operation for his mysterious lung ailment.

KING GEORGE VI ... awaits knife

The 55-year-old monarch was reported in good spirits but haggard, and the nation was worried. Silent, anxious crowds grew to 3000. Outside the palace walls they watched the delivery of oxygen tanks and medical equipment, saw doctors come and go.

Commoner and noble stood in respectful silence as the King's mother, 84-year-old Queen Mary, and Princess Elizabeth, the heir apparent to the throne, arrived for visits.

Princess Margaret, the King's younger daughter, flew in from a vacation in Scotland to be near the King in his ordeal.

Queen Elizabeth was at her husband's side all day. Nurses took up residence at the palace. An operating theater set up in one of the rooms of the palace was believed ready.

A palace spokesman said the operation had not been performed and later said there would be no operation tonight.

Diplomats called to sign the palace register, the traditional way of expressing their nation's sympathies. Ministers across the land prepared special prayers to be said in the churches.

Prime Minister Attlee, in the first government comment, said the operation would be a serious one.

Bloc Of Senators Back Truman's Request For Increase In Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) - A bloc of 51 senators have submitted amendments to boost tax increases to the $10,000,000,000 annual total requested by President Truman.

Two Republicans and 13 Democrats, led by Senator Humphrey (D-Minn.), introduced 16 amendments raising the $5,500,000,000 increase proposed in a finance committee bill now under Senate consideration.

Leaders of the group said they proposed to obtain the extra $4,500,000,000 mainly by closing what they called loopholes in the committee bill and increasing personal income taxes.

The bloc also plans to support an announced move by Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) to eliminate changes made by the Senate committee in excess profit tax provisions of the $7,200,000,000 House bill.

If all of these moves succeed, however, it still would be virtually impossible to balance the budget this fiscal year, beginning last July 1, Humphrey said.

He said a $10,000,000,000 tax increase bill actually would produce only about half of that total this fiscal year, since the effective date now is April 1. Bloc leaders estimated the deficit next July 1 would be between $9,000,000,000 and $10,000,000,000.

The Senate meanwhile voted in an unusual Saturday session to soften a finance committee proposal to apply corporation taxes to mutual savings banks and savings and loan associations. They now are exempt.

It approved, 41-28, Senator Caphart's (R-Ind.) proposal to establish a broader formula than had been suggested to guide federal tax collectors in determining what "reasonable" portion of such firms' earnings should be exempted from federal taxes.

Probe Started In Series Of Blasts That Killed Three

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) - A double investigation was under way today in an effort to fix the exact cause of a series of natural gas explosions that claimed three lives in the fashionable suburb of Brighton.

A team of experts from the State Public Service commission moved in.

The Rochester Gas and Electric Co. president, Alexander M. Beebe, said a preliminary investigation indicated that a regulator valve in a principal main might have failed.

Burglars' Loot Uncovered As Officers Search Area Lakes

A confessed safe-cracker yesterday morning led Gray County sheriff's officers to the watery hiding place of additional loot taken from the Miami Lumber Co. on July 13.

Dripping water and slime, two of the three rifles, taken in the burglary were pulled from two lakes Saturday morning a long with an uncounted number of shells.

Billy Max Frazier, held in the theft, led Sheriff Iufe Jordan, Deputies Shirley Nichols and Buck Haggard, and Juvenile Officer H. A. Doggett to the shallow watery graves of the rifles.

Frazier, an ex-convict, told sheriff's officers he had thrown them there sometime after the burglary. With the aid of a rake, Haggard fished for them near the lakes, shores also bringing in the shells. The shells were carefully packed together with slime. Officers dumped them in a box, not bothering to count them.

One of the rifles, a .22 calibre, was fished from Mier's Lake south of Pampa. The other was retrieved in waist deep water in a lake near White Deer by Willie Dorsett, a county jail trustee, who stepped into the cold water, bent over and picked up the .270 calibre sporting rifle after Frazier pointed out its location. Officers at first believed the rifles were part of the Foxworth-Gabraith Lumber yard burglary at Lefors, but Sheriff Jordan said later he felt "pretty sure" the guns were the ones taken from the Miami job. The other gun, which was taken in the same burglary, has not been found.

In the meantime Raymond Eugene Frazier made a signed statement admitting his part in the American Legion burglary of Mar. 1, 1951.

Frazier, brother of Billy Max, was brought back to Pampa from Velma, Okla., at 12:30 a.m. Saturday by Haggard.

In his statement, signed in the presence of reporters, he said a assailor whom he didn't know and his brother were driving around town with two girls the night of the burglary. They first took the girls home, then took Billy Max home Frazier said he got the idea that they needed some money and he and the sailor decided to break into the American Legion. They entered the building by climbing a stepladder found in the alley between (See LADOT, Page 2)

OPS Grants Price Increase To Two Car Manufacturers

WASHINGTON (AP) - Increased wholesale price ceilings for Nash and Studebaker passenger cars probably producing a retail markup were approved yesterday by the Office of Price Stabilization.

They will become effective on the date the company sells to dealers today but do not affect previous dealer stocks.

The OPS said the wholesale increases could mean a retail factory price boost of between $47.90 and $69.25 for Nash and between $15.78 and $117.36 for Studebaker, according to model.

These other automobile retail factory price boosts have been approved: General Motors, $61 and $209; Ford ($55 to $95) and Chrysler ($90 to $400).

OPS permitted the manufacturers to request higher prices because of increased labor and raw materials costs since the Korean war. Both Studebaker and Nash filed applications Sept. 18 but had to wait five days until the ceilings became effective.

Weathered said the information called for will include names of family, church attended and preference. Survey cards will then be sorted and given to respective churches for further use.

the Legion home and the bus terminal.

Unable to open the safe after breaking off the combination knob, he and the sailor brought the safe downstairs but found it too heavy for them to handle. They sent for Chas. Logan "Jack" Gardner, also being held in the burglary, and the three of them loaded it in the sailor's car. They drove around Hoover and back toward the Danziger refinery where they broke it open. They each got $200 in currency and played "odd man" for the $126 in change. Frazier won the toss and buried the sack near the Bob Gordon farm. The sack was later found by the officers. Frazier said he and Gardner went back to the hiding place later but found the money gone. Officers had recovered it.

Frazier also signed a statement admitting complicity in the March 27 attempted safe cracking of the Foxworth - Galbraith Lumbar yard here.

Previously Gardner made statements on the two jobs similar to Frazier's.

Still fretting over a 60-day sentence for assault handed Raymond "Red" Zinger in Oklahoma and the prosecuting attorney's refusal to turn him over to Gray county until the sentence is finished, Jordan said he understood Zinger had made a statement to officers there, but added he hasn't seen it yet.

Texas Ranger Frank Probst told the suspects he intended to take them to Austin following their hearings here to place them under the lie detector in connection with other burglaries throughout the Panhandle area.

These were the latest developments by press time last night on the string of burglaries hitting Pampa since March. Only the Lefors break-in has yet to be cracked.

Fast On Trigger

WITH THE U. S. FIRST CAVALRY DIVISION IN KOREA (AP) — Sergeant Wesley Olsen, of Erie, Pa., is a fast man on the trigger when his rifle magazine jams.

Olsen, a 22-year-old observer with a mortar crew, was on patrol recently when a Chinese band grenade landed a few feet from him and in exploding jammed the magazine on his automatic carbine rifle.

Olsen tried to fire back at the Reds with his carbine. The magazine wouldn't feed shells into the chamber. So he turned the rifle upside down — depending on gravity to send the bullets into place — shot to his heart's content.

Workers In Foreign Service Find People 'Much Alike'

"It's good to be back in the United States, but we're anxious to get another assignment overseas where we are needed to help better world situations."

This opinion was expressed by Mr. and Mrs. Sherman of Washington, D. C., who were in Pampa last week to observe Mrs. Sherman's parent's golden wedding anniversary. They are Mr. and Mrs. Z. H. Mundy, 321 N. Starkweather.

The Shermans, who are employed in the foreign administrative section of the government, recently returned to this country from Hawaii. Sherman has been with the government 15 years and in foreign service 11.

Mrs. Sherman believes there is little difference in people throughout the world. "If people knew each other better, they would love one another more," she said. Both expressed hope nations would try to understand the background and problems of others, thereby creating friendship among the peoples.

Sherman received his first foreign assignment to the British West Indies. This was in 1941. "There, we found a deep type of civilization, which to us was the art of living," Mrs. Sherman explained. "The people don't want money or any responsibility; they just want to be carefree."

She said if it were possible to instill this quality in our lives, here, people would be happier.

The Shermans found the West Indies primitive when they arrived. Small, wooden houses dot the islands, and only wealthy people have homes of from five to seven rooms. The inhabitants speak a language that is a mixture of French and Spanish, and since news is carried by a town crier only, the Shermans usually went without news.

Sherman explained the town crier always has a deep voice and sells love for his neighbor, especially during a full moon. No matter how hard people work during the day, "the music of the night seems like being close to heaven." As many as 50 "criers" would gather to express their feelings in song, and "we all loved it."

Mrs. Sherman said she went to the West Indies to retire and cook for her husband, but after being there two days, she was persuaded to work in the U.S. government administrative offices because of an acute shortage of personnel. Later, during the war, when the United States opened a consulate there, she acted as vice consul.

When the Shermans were transferred to Hawaii, they found food hard to obtain. Sometimes they found it necessary to go to three or four restaurants each night.

Once they were given some steaks, which were a rarity to civilians. British friends, who had never seen American filets, were invited and the meat was carefully stored. After thoroughly instructing her cook how to prepare the steaks, Mrs. Sherman greeted the guests.

Then, after a delay in serving the main course, the mail appeared in the doorway with a

Suspicious Gromyko 'Death Circus' Causes Disturbance Scheduled Here Monday

PLYMOUTH, Eng. — (AP) — Andrei Gromyko touched off an early morning alarm on the liner Ile de France today by reporting someone tried to enter his $1,100 luxury suite.

The Soviet deputy foreign minister, en route back home from a Japanese peace treaty conference at San Francisco, called a steward and said he had found one of the doors to the suite unlocked.

"Somebody has entered or tried to enter my room," Gromyko told him.

The steward called night watchmen who searched the area but found nothing amiss.

Gromyko finally dismissed them, locked his door and gave orders he was not to be disturbed during the liner's stop here.

Crashing, rolling and broad-jumping cars, driving on two wheels at high speeds and crashing vehicles through flaming walls will be included in the two-hour program.

Winner of the contest will receive a gold trophy, and contestants will receive points for their respective teams toward $10,000 and the championship title at the end of the contest in November.

Tickets will go on sale in Oiler park at 7 p.m., Monday.

Drop Reported In Number Of Cars On Dealers' Floors

WASHINGTON — (AP) — There are one-fifth fewer passenger cars in dealers' showrooms today than there were in June. The number is expected to drop even lower in early 1952.

The National Production Authority (NPA) told an automobile advisory committee meeting here yesterday that an informal survey showed a 20 percent decline in new passenger cars in the past three months.

The drop began in June when stocks were at an all-time high. The prospect of a further cut-back in materials such as stainless steel and copper after Jan. 1, combined with an apparent pickup in sales point to a sharper decline next year.

Industry sources said yesterday they anticipate a 1952 output of between 3,300,000 to 4,400,000 passenger cars, compared with 5,400,000 in 1951.

Wage And Price Controls Hurting Department Stores

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The National Retail Dry Goods Assn. says government wage and price controls are hurting department and specialty store business.

The association said yesterday that a survey of 228 stores with an annual sales volume of over $1,000,000 each shows that 45 percent lost money during the first half of 1951.

Raymond F. Copes, an association official, said the costs of labor, selling and store operation are rising, but prices are held down by the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS).

On the other hand, he said, manufacturers are now permitted to add rising costs to their prices.

King Of England Has Lung Ailment

LONDON. — (AP) — King George VI, who is suffering from a lung ailment of an undisclosed nature, was visited by his doctors today for the fourth time in 48 hours.

A crowd of several hundred persons outside Buckingham Palace saw Sir John Weir, the King's chief physician, and three associates enter the gate shortly before noon.

It was reported in court circles that the treatment prescribed so far for the ailing monarch consists mainly of rest. Except to say that the ailment has led to "structural changes" in one lung, doctors have given no hint of what it is.

Hangovers Are Passengers Worry

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Anne Ferguson, Eastern Air Lines employee, was taking care of a customer making reservations for a flight to Mexico City.

The passenger explained she had a friend in Houston, Tex., and might visit her en route.

"Am I entitled to a hangover in Houston?" she asked. Replied Miss Ferguson diplomatically: "That's entirely up to the passenger."

Two Drivers Fined

Laketon Growers Buy Two Elevators

Purchase of the two Coffee, Davis grain elevators at Miami and Laketon by the Laketon Wheat Growers, Inc., was announced last week by Bill Eberting, manager of the organization.

The elevators, Eberting said, were purchased in an effort to get the elevator operating before the mile rush which is getting underway.

The Miami elevator has a capacity of 17,000 bushels and the Laketon elevator holds 15,000 bushels.

Bell Hardin has been named manager of the Miami elevator. Directors of the organization, include Floyd McLaughlin, Lawton Hoffer, W. G. Ehmann, E. J. Ware and Ennis Jones.

"friendly Texans like friendly Homes."

News and Views

To our many friends of Pampa and vicinity, our most sincere thanks for a wonderful formal opening week. It was particularly gratifying to us that the formal opening seemed to last all week instead of only one day. Friend talked to friend about our lovely furniture, and literally hundreds told us they couldn't miss seeing what so many others had told them about. A lady visiting here from California stopped in and assured us she had seen nothing finer in her home state.

One remark which we particularly remember was overheard as two ladies talked about a pair of lovely modern sofas in our living room display. One of the two ladies sat down rather dubiously on one of the sofas of ultra-modern design, and as a look of amazement passed over her face, spoke to the other. "Why it's even comfortable!"

Of course she didn't realize she was sitting on a foam rubber construction built especially for comfort by Harris of California. Skillful craftsmanship and authentic interpretation of modern design combined with careful selection of choice materials artistically blended, to produce pleasing beauty are the characteristics that made Harris modern furniture the favorite choice of discriminating home builders everywhere.

The pair of sofas which we are now showing are upholstered in a rich chocolate brown fabric shot with gold metallic threads guaranteed against tarnishing. They can be used as separate pieces as a grouping in front or to the side of a fireplace, or as two sections forming one complete half circle around a corner of your room. Priced at $425.00 each.

Winner Of British Election Will Be Handed Big Headache

By EDWARD GURKE

LONDON—The Conservative Party (Opposition) and General Eisenhower are expected to win the British election on Oct. 25, but the party's victory will be followed by a period of political uncertainty and a period of political uncertainty.

The Conservative Party, led by Winston Churchill, has been the dominant force in British politics for many years. It has won the election in 1951, but it is expected to lose the election in 1952.

The Labour Party, led by Clement Attlee, has been the main opposition to the Conservatives. It has won the election in 1945, but it is expected to lose the election in 1952.

The election is expected to be a close one, and it is expected that the Labour Party will win. However, the Conservative Party has a strong chance of winning, and it is expected that the Labour Party will win.

EAT PLENTY AND TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

Many people have reported amazing results with this home recipe. It costs no money at all and costs little. Just go to your grocery and ask for 4 ounces of each ingredient. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonful every first bottle slowly; allow the simple way to lose belly fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves. Frankie's 15-Acre Market Is Throwback To 19th Century

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent
LODI, N.J. (NEA)—You come upon Frankie's Market from the highway, and the first thing you notice is that the traffic is very heavy. A policeman directs you into a tremendous parking lot, full of thousands of cars parked in endless rows.
You leave your car and follow the crowds across an open field toward a clearing ablaze with lights. There's a carnival spirit in the air. Children hold tightly to their parents' hands. Ahead you hear a babble of excited voices.
And then you're inside one of the most amazing places you're likely to see. If you hadn't come living back in the 19th Century, Frankie's Market is a throwback to the farmers' markets of years gone by, only on a grander scale. There's a feather-headed Indian hawk selling patent medicine. "The Bible has it straight," he spouts, "when it says over and over again—herbs, herbs, herbs. Now smell this, madam—pure herbs."

There are stands where you can eat corn on the cob, or french fries, or Italian pizza pie. The smells mingle together with the fresh smell of the grass underfoot.
There's one awesome shed, big enough to be a dirigible hangar. It's full of wooden tables, with merchandise piled on top and hanging from the walls. Down one aisle there are men and women selling shoes, china, yard goods, hardware, stockings, roller skates, auto accessories, jewelry, candy, linens, shirts, rugs, guitars, cosmetics, picture frames, baked goods, flowers, aluminum screens, fish, cutlery, pants, meat and magic supplies.

There are huge tents and open trucks with vast mounds of fresh farm produce. You can buy a whole watermelon or just a slice. You can take your corn home or eat it here. You can buy eggs by the half-dozen or the case.
Scattered among the booths and tents are the pitchmen, demonstrating hair tonic and auto polish and the like.
Off to one side is another big shed with a bright green neon sign that says "Auction Sales." Inside there's a long platform with seven auctioneers selling at once. Standing at the edge of the crowd, you can't figure how the bidder can listen to just one auctioneer, but you push closer and find that it can be done.
At one time, the seven were selling, from left to right, a plastic tablecloth, a brace-and-bit, a set of tumblers, an inflated toy, a patent clothes hanger, a saw and a set of beer mugs. "A pair of boudoir lamps was sold for $3.75, but the auctioneer said he was feeling good and would let them go for $3.50. Then he said if anybody else wanted the same set, he'd sell at the same price. He had six other takers.
A block plane brought $2, and the auctioneer said he'd sell one to anybody else for $2, too. Hands shot into the air.
"Sold, sold, sold, sold, sold," he yelled and threw the planes out to the buyers.
"Whata matter?" asked one disgusted auctioneer. "You folks stingy or broke?"
"We ain't makin' money, but we're sure havin' fun," cried the man who was selling the planes.
"If you think I'm crazy—you're paying," said another.

Reactions speak louder than words!

You'll be surprised and mighty pleased at the way the new Plymouth glides along over the roughest roads. The car has a new kind of stability, thanks to "Safety-Flow Ride." This comes from new Oriflow Shock Absorbers—three times as effective as conventional types—working together with other important engineering factors.

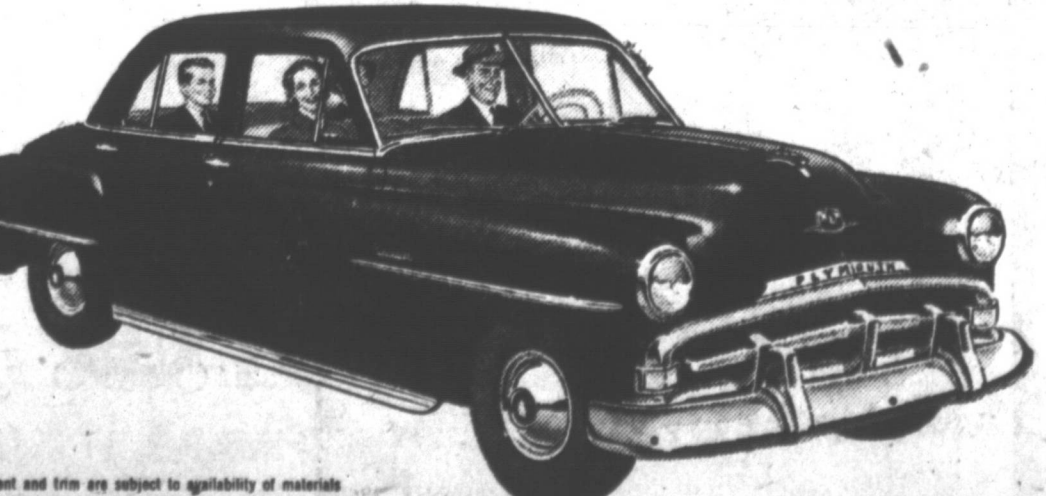

You can be sure that your Plymouth brakes will give you, consistently, the same amount of braking for the same pedal pressure. The front wheel brakes do most of the work in stopping. For that reason, Plymouth puts two hydraulic cylinders in each of the front wheels. The other two leading lowest-priced cars have only one.

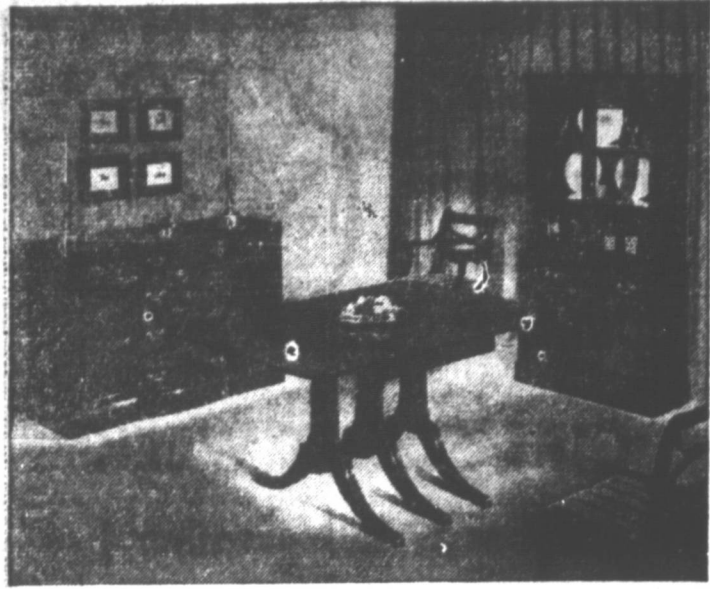

It's a comfort to relax in Plymouth's natural-posture Chair-Height Seats, with plenty of room even for that feather in your bonnet. The new Plymouth gives you more headroom and legroom than any other car in the lowest-priced field. Doorway openings are high and doors swing open extra wide for easy exits and entrances.

It's a cinch—starting the new Plymouth in any kind of weather. Ignition-Key Starting teams up with Automatic Electric Choke to make starting a single, "flick-of-the-wrist" operation. You just turn the key and three things happen: the ignition's on; the engine's running; the automatic choke is providing exactly the right fuel-air mixture.

Scaled for the smaller dining room, this mahogany veneer Traditional dining room suite will find its way into many new homes and apartments. Low in price, yet high in quality, it is particularly suited for the new homemaker. It is part of a complete 18 piece grouping which offers the consumer a variety of combinations to fit the individual needs of her own home. (The Mengel Co.)

Today's Clever Hostesses Utilize Many New Entertainment Aids

Few new houses or apartments have dining rooms which are completely separate and a part from the living room. In these days of informal entertaining and the necessity for planning and serving without domestic help, it is no longer necessary to hide banquet preparations behind closed doors. The capable young homemaker lays her entertaining plans carefully with the table attractively set, well before her guests' arrival. At the last minute the chilled salad comes out of the refrigerator, the hot food from the oven and presto dinner is served!

Since buffet serving has become preferred procedure, with guests carrying their plates to convenient small tables, this proximity is a distinct advantage. It does, however, present a new factor in our decorating formula. In most such cases we have, in addition to the four walls of a room, an alcove which can add great interest to the overall effect. The size of your living room will determine whether you want to treat this alcove in a fashion which will add to the illusion of space, or as a distinctive decorative variation. It may be that your dining alcove should be treated as a garden room, introducing the fresh quality provided by a solarium in a larger house. Wrought iron or chrome furniture backgrounded by a paper of floral or leaf design may contrast delightfully with the cozy comfort of your living room scheme. If the alcove has a window, fill it with fresh greenery and bright flowering plants. Smart tiled linoleum squares, green and white, or another suitable combination will add to the effect. If, however, your living room is small, it is usually wise to treat the dining space as a continuation of the living area. Extend the same floor treatment and use only a subtle variation on the walls. Consider the possibility of continuing the living room wall color on one or two walls and introducing a contrasting paper or color on the farthest wall.

Your dining table may be a charming part of your living room furnishing. If this is true, take full advantage of its decorative possibilities in planning your table setting. Nothing is more inviting than a well laid table to greet the eyes of your guests on arrival. Colorful place mats

Owner Will Turn $2,500,000 Plant Over To Employees

CHICAGO — (AP) — Louis Ludwig Narowetz, 59, son of an immigrant, is turning over his $2,500,000 sheet metal business to his 200 employees. Within five years, if his plan works out, they will own the Narowetz Heating and Ventilating Co. Narowetz said he already has turned over 48 percent of the company to nine executives of the firm who serve as a board of governors. He will make the balance of the stock available to employees in a bonus and dividend plan. "They've earned it," Narowetz said. "I never would have got anywhere without their help." The firm was established 50 years ago by Narowetz's father, Louis, who came to Chicago from his native Bavaria with 13 cents in his pockets. He has no sons to carry on his business. His three daughters' husbands are in other businesses.

SPACE SHORT FOR SHIPPING WINNIPEG —(AP)— Shortage of shipping space is delaying departure of many immigrants from Britain to Canada, according to M. Bowley, superintendent of British emigration for the Canadian National railways. He said here that some who applied last May will not be able to leave until late in the year.

Women own approximately 11 percent of the land in the United States.

The licensing laws of Australia have generally followed the British model but have been less repressive.

Blind Men Turn Into 'Sprinters'

CHICAGO —(AP)— An elderly man, limping, suddenly threw away his white cane, ripped off his dark glasses and dashed down the street.

He was followed space by another elderly man who had been leading him.

Passers-by in Erie St. on the near North Side were startled as the "blind" man took off.

Then they saw two younger men — police detectives — take up the chase. The detectives, Cornelius Grane and Earl Gorman, started after the elderly men after they overheard the "blind" man say to his leader: "There's two coppers. Let's go!"

It was a very short chase for the fast-moving detectives.

They said the man posing as being blind was James McGorrick, 61, and his companion was Leo Hogan, 61. They said they had been putting on the blind man act in Clark St. taverns and reaping a harvest of coins from patrons.

Both men, whom police said had long records of arrests for confidence game violations and narcotics, were held for investigation. No charges were filed immediately.

Prisoners' Tunnel Is Discovered

FORT MEADE, Md. —(AP)— A few more feet and a few more cantfuls of dirt, and prisoners in a Fort Meade stockade barracks would have had a tunnel to the outside.

By a tunnel the prisoners were digging with tin cans was discovered by Major Bryan Griffith, post prison officer, just a few feet away from its apparent goal a clump of trees outside a double-wire fence surrounding the stockade.

Major Griffith said the tunnel was 10 feet underground and extended about 50 feet toward the fence when it was discovered Thursday night. The officer said rumors that a tunnel was being dug started an investigation.

There were about 240 prisoners in the stockade, where minor military offenders are held. None was in the tunnel when it was found.

Think Again If You Believe It's 'A Man's World'

LOS ANGELES —(AP)— You think this a man's world? Well, take a look at this.

It comes from Lillian L. Joseph, New York agent for the Home Life Insurance Co.

"Women," said she, "constitute about 43 percent of the stockholders who own the corporations of America.

"They own 65 percent of the accounts held in mutual savings banks.

"They hold title to 50 percent of the 30,000,000 homes in this country.

"Women pay 80 percent of all inheritance taxes and 40 percent of all property taxes.

"They directly control the spending of 80 percent of the national income." Which leaves, as Miss Joseph pointed out, 20 percent for the men to spend for themselves.

Paralytic Learns To Paint Pictures

PHILADELPHIA —(AP)— George E. Henris, 35, paralyzed in the arms and legs and unable to use them since 1945, nevertheless has learned to paint — and well.

Henris, patient in the men's nervous ward at the Philadelphia General hospital, learned to paint pictures by holding brushes between his teeth.

He is a sufferer from syringomyelia, a chronic ailment characterized by the presence of long cavities in the spinal column which causes loss of power.

"Everything I do is original for me because I never did anything like it before," Henris said. "In high school, I hated this kind of business, but the girls here have suggested I try my hand — or rather my teeth — at this and now I love it."

FCC Sticks By Telegram Rate Boost

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) is sticking by its original plan to let Western Union increase telegram rates nine to 50 percent. It has refused to make any changes in the rates which came effective Sept. 1, and made public a letter it sent the American Newspaper Publishers Assn. (ANPA) which is protesting now and higher press rates. The FCC letter was to Julius Ochs Adler, chairman of the ANPA Press Communications committee, and said it felt the rate revisions were reasonable. However, the FCC said in effect that if ANPA wishes it may begin a new proceeding before the commission to set up a separate schedule of charges for press messages, now quoted on a ration of full-rate telegrams.

INSIDE AN ATOMIC PLANE . . . (HOW IT MIGHT LOOK) — This phantom sketch shows how the world's first atomic-powered plane might be built. It would be a sky giant that would dwarf the B-36. Wide, thin wings that permit great speeds will probably require the flying-boat hull. Huge size is necessary to accommodate the very heavy engine. The world's first atomic-powered plane, ordered by the U. S. Air Force, is now taking shape on the drawing boards at Consolidated Vultee Aircraft, Fort Worth, Tex. Flight-testing is not expected until 1955-56. (Sketch copyright, 1951, by Popular Science Monthly, from NEA-Acme.)

XXV
THERE was another war of nerves when Hoopy, hanging onto the phone, said Linda begged her to come over. "She wants me so much she's practically crying. She wants me to watch a seal balance a ball on television."
Lucilla eventually retreated into the "well, just this once" routine, which is at least more dignified than gibbering.
Arthur, when he got home, was indignant. "I thought you said you weren't going to allow her to go there for at least a month, after the way Mrs. Cantwell talked."
Lucilla retorted he wasn't the one who had to listen to Hoopy yammer about watching a seal.
"I think we'd better get a television set of our own and put an end to this nonsense."
His wife said she wouldn't have one in the house. "Somebody was telling me just this week that the programs are getting worse all the time."
Arthur said he was going over to get Hoopy. "And I'll make her understand she isn't to go to the Cantwells again."
The two returned in beamish spirits, 20 minutes late for dinner, because of having to catch the finish of Kukla, Fran and Ollie. Arthur was enthusiastic about the dragon, and supplemented Hoopy's account to her mother of Ollie's battle with a chewing-gum machine. Lucilla listened politely, thinking she'd never heard anything sillier.
"Mrs. Cantwell told me it was a real relief to have Hoopy there," Arthur said. "Seems Linda brought home some kid yesterday who swung from the curtain rods and nearly tore the place to pieces."
DEREK took to phoning Lucilla in the mornings. The first time he said, "If anybody else answered, I was going to say wrong number and hang up." The sneakiness of it bothered her, but there was something so delicious about the conversations; it had been so many years since she had talked on the phone to a man in the code in which "it's a nice day" meant at least 10 remarkable things, and the crooning answer of, "Mmmmm, isn't it," acknowledged the reception of all 10, and promised to stand by for important further developments.

After a week of the phone calls and gurgles Gretel said, "Some women bowl out their kids for talkin' like dumkops on the phone for half hour, and then they're worse than the kids." Lucilla got as flushed as if she'd been hanging in the Divine Angle; guilt, or rage, flamed equally red inside her.
Gretel's snuffle had never sounded nastier. She served wiener schnitzel twice in one week, and banana strudel, which she knew very well Lucilla loathed. Lucilla ate even the strudel, but it tasted heavy as a bludgeon, and in a way, it was.
Arthur used no bludgeons, and he didn't actually snuffle, but his sinus got worse, and his mind felt as clogged as his nasal passages, with bafflement over his wife's behavior. The bangs, the exquisitely simonized face, the bright fixed smile—in a way they were all familiar. The Rub-dub offices were in the same building as an agency handling photographers models, and he often saw the glamorous young creatures in the elevator. They had never seemed real to him, in the sense that he never felt any urge toward them, any more than he felt an urge to leap on the stage at a movie to try to catch a celluloid Betty Grable.
One minute he'd be sitting with the glossy new Lucilla wanting to ask her why his undershirts had shrunk in the armholes, but bashful of discussing so mundane a matter with so soignée a wife. The next minute he might be staring at the Lucilla who frightened him even more, walking up the wall, or rolling her head in circles.

Once he found Lucilla standing in her stocking feet with a book on the floor before her, and she was turning the pages with her feet. Moreover, she seemed as engrossed as if she were reading. "Is that an eye exercise?" he asked.
"Calves," she said.
It had blown all the reasonable words out of his head. "For heaven's sake, what next?"
"Kneecap," Lucilla said, flexing her toes to turn another page. He had retreated with damp palms.
Once he thought he'd come across a sure-fire item to rouse her interest. "I see where that friend of yours—Mool—Rodney Mool—is going to produce 'I Married a Borgia' in Rome." He waited for a spurt of genuine liveliness to cross her mask-face, but all he got was, "Yes, I've known it for quite a while."
Arthur wasn't a suspicious man, and it was perhaps a sign of his complete trust in his wife that he'd never had to tell himself, "I trust her." But now he heard himself saying, "Do you hear from Mool often?" Lucilla looked at him oddly, and said, "I haven't heard from Rodney since he went to Hollywood 13 years ago, before I met you."
She went on in a more natural tone. "If you like, we can ask him down for a drink the next time he's in New York."
Ordinarily Arthur might have said simply, "It's okay by me, I guess," meaning he'd try to endure a couple hours with a Hollywood character who made terrible movies. But since this wasn't ordinary, he said with an almost indecent show of enthusiasm, "Good idea. Let's watch the papers and see when he's coming to town."
Partly because he was being so nice, and also because she remembered that the check she'd made out to Beautiful-You was due on the next bank statement, she came near telling him about the school right then.

Strong Defense Preserves Steers' Opening Day Slate

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

AUSTIN — (AP) — Texas' steel-fingered defense knocked down Kentucky 7-6 Saturday in a game of gambles, fumbles and an uproarious finish.

The Longhorns cashed in on a recovered fumble for their touchdown and Herb Hunt, Kentucky back, took too much time trying to place the ball for a conversion attempt — and that was the story of this intersectional battle.

A crowd of 47,000 roared throughout one of the finest football games ever played in Memorial Stadium. Once it got so noisy in protest over a pass interference ruling that Bobby Dillon, Texas' defense star and team captain, left the field to ask the Texas fans to quiet down. They responded to the sportsmanlike gesture.

A little later Dillon intercepted a pass to halt one of the mighty surges staged by Kentucky in the final minutes.

Texas thus upheld its tradition of having never lost a home opening game and while doing so kicked over the nation's seventh ranking team. The Longhorns are rated eleventh.

Kentucky, piloted by the great Babe Parilli, a mighty passer and ball handling magician, knocked at the door to victory throughout the game but each time the Wildcats got what looked like a pay-off drive underway a pass interception or fumble spoiled it.

Texas, noted for its defense and not supposed to have much of an offense, turned to the forward pass to win the game. The score came late in the first period. Paul Williams, huge Longhorn wingman, dashed through to jar the ball out of Parilli's hands then fell on it on the Kentucky 28. Gib Dawson and Byron Townsend rammed the line for four then in a piffling got a first down on the Kentucky 13 with Don Barton carrying the ball. Then T. Jones passed to Barton on the five with the fleet halfback running across. Dawson kicked the extra point — the eventual difference.

Kentucky scored in the third period on a wild 12-yard drive with Tom Fillion doing most of the gaining. He carried three times for 40 and Harry Jones then sped to the Texas 27. Harold Gruner and Jones smashed to the Texas six. Parilli went back to pass, was tackled but, as he fell, the Wildcats' line general passed into the end zone to Gruner.

Hunt, back to hold the ball for the conversion attempt, bobbled the pigskin but hurried to place it. Don Barton and Harley Sewell boomed out of the Texas line to fall on him and spoil the point after touchdown try. That was the ball game.

Kentucky paraded up and down the field and often threatened to score as the crowd went wild. At the finish, the Wildcats had launched another drive from the shadow of their goal line and were moving toward midfield.

Jones and Dan Page, Texas' quarterbacks, had the Longhorn backers wild as they tried passes from deep in their territory in the fading minutes. Several were completed.

Lubbock Rallies To Trip Redskins

By The Associated Press

LUBBOCK — (AP) — A torrid second half comeback sparked by the line smashed off big fullback James Sides and the clever quarterbacking and broken field running of little Charles Brewer gave the Lubbock Westerners a 26-17 victory over Oklahoma City's Capitol Hill Redskins here Friday night.

The Westerners took a 2-0 lead in the first quarter when end George Berry tackled Capitol Hill quarterback Donald Reed behind the Redskins goal line. But the Oklahomans moved out in front late in the second stanza when Reed caught Lubbock halfback Charles Northington's fumble in the air and sprinted 59 yards to pay dirt.

That run gave the Redskins a 6-2 halftime margin, the extra point attempt being blocked.

The Redskins boosted their lead in the third period when Reed hit end Don Soergel with a 54-yard touchdown pass and halfback Bill Green kicked the extra point from placement.

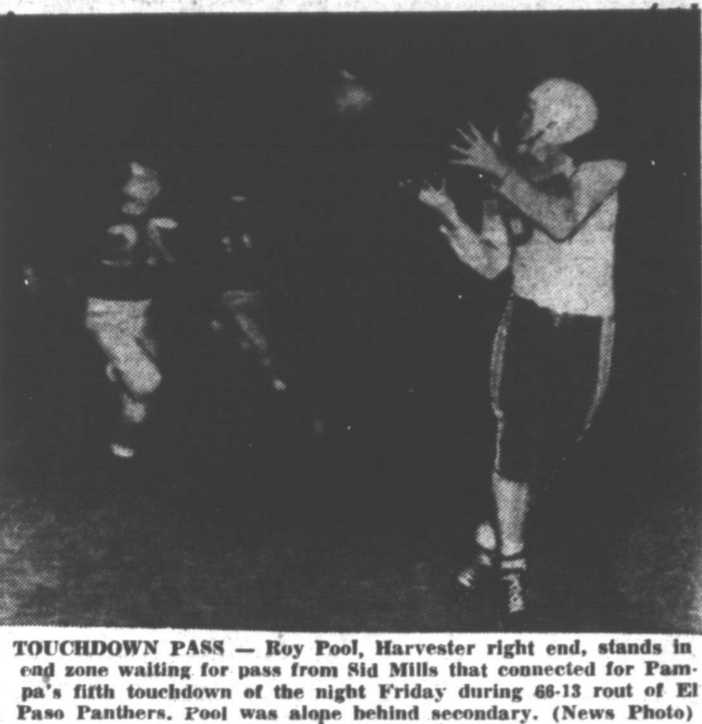

Lubbock roared back following the Capitol Hill kickoff with Brewer and Sides carrying all the way to the double stripe in just four plays. Sides went up the middle for 22 yards and the touchdown. And end Don Jones converted to cut the Redskins lead to 13-0.

Lubbock went back in front to stay early in the final quarter as Sides smashed for three touchdowns on runs of six, 22 and 12 yards. Jones converted twice in three tries.

It was Lubbock's first victory over the Oklahomans in five attempts. One game resulted in a tie.

Arkansas Pounds Sooner Ags, 42-7

STILLWATER, Okla. — (AP) — Arkansas opened its 1951 football season Saturday and showed mid-season form in smashing a smaller Oklahoma A&M team 42-7 before 25,000 persons.

The victory was double sweet for Arkansas, which was upset by the opening game of last season by the Aggies, 27-0. Arkansas had complete control of the game. The first time it had to punt was in the fourth quarter.

A fast, heavy line held A&M virtually stationary on the ground. The Aggies' bad kicking and numerous miscues added to the disaster.

Arkansas flashed a potent aerial attack that scored two touchdowns and set up a field goal. And Coach Otis Douglas kept his team under wraps as it showed its dominance in the first half.

At the game's end, Arkansas had played everyone it brought.

The Aggies, hit by injuries, finished the game with two freshmen in the backfield.

The first time A&M was able to get into Arkansas territory was 2-12 minutes before the end of the second quarter. Suddenly opening up with an aerial attack off a spread formation, the Aggie with Bob Steele passing to Ron Shackleton six yards into the end zone. Skip Warren converted.

Arkansas' six touchdowns were spread among as many different players — Jim Rinehart, Bill Jurney, Lamar McChan, Buddy Sutton, Pat Summerall and Jerry Bogard. Summerall also made a 15-yard field goal and George Thomason hit three conversions.

Odessa Holds Port Arthur

By The Associated Press

ODESSA is to be reckoned with in deciding the Class AAAA championship in the Texas schoolboy football race.

Odessa fought mighty Port Arthur to a 13-13 draw Friday night and thus moved among the top six teams of the state.

Baytown, another favorite, was crushing Denton 47-0 just one point less than Port Arthur did. The victory was on Denton's home field to boot.

Pampa's 66-13 victory over Austin (El Paso); Lubbock's 29-13 strapping of Capitol Hill, an Oklahoma City power; Midland of Class AAA's 7-0 win over Ysleta; Sunset (Dallas) in a 14-0 trouncing of Tyler, and a McAllen 13-6 victory over Harlingen were other decisive showings. McAllen is of Class AA.

But vying with the Port Arthur-Odessa game in interest was the clash of Lamar (Houston) with Thomas Jefferson (San Antonio). It was Lamar that beat Baytown last week and Jefferson is the rated power of the San Antonio district.

Lamar whipped Jefferson 14-7 to move into the top bracket of favorites.

Wichita Falls, the defending state champion, took another licking, this from tough Breckenridge of Class AAA. The Bucks beat the Coyotes 12-7.

The feature of Class AAA was the defeat of Irving by Arlington, a Class AA standout. Arlington won 21-6 and must be considered one of the AA favorites.

In Class AA Van strapped New London 27-13 in one of the feature games; Wharton, a title favorite, licked Port Lavaca 48-0; Robstown faced Alice of AAA 28-6, and Brownfield continued to show unbridled power in licking tough Phillips 23-7.

In Class A White Oak blasted Arp 37-0 in a District 17 conference game as the top feature.

Rain Slows Air Attack Of Ponies; Mistakes Costly

By The Associated Press

ATLANTA — (AP) — In humid September heat and a driving downpour, Georgia Tech forgot Saturday it was supposed to lose and while stubby Glenn Turner ripped through Southern Methodist like a berserk bowling ball the Georgians scored a 21-7 football upset.

Except for the first 10 minutes when SMU looked two touchdowns better than Tech the Yellow Jackets of Coach Bobby Dodd were faster and far better runners than their opponents from the cow country.

During the first quarter and a half, SMU twice paid dearly for unsure ball handling on kicks and poor protection for kickers.

Quarterback Darrell Crawford made up for his weak throwing arm to the 33,000 drenched fans, by calling a near perfect game — by finding where SMU was porous and punching right there.

Fifteen of Tech's 21 points were made by boys from little Talladega, Ala. Turner blasted six yards to score in the first quarter and kicked three conversions. A fellow Talladega, Johnny Hicks, fastened himself to one of Crawford's better passes in the second quarter, and covered 43 yards for another touchdown.

Rain was falling lightly early in the second quarter when the Methodists' string bean pitcher, Fred Benner, looped a beautiful pass to end Ben White for the Texans' touchdown. The play covered 18 yards and Sam Stollenwerck made the point after touchdown.

The final score came on a 29-yard run by Leon Hardeman, one of about 10 first rate Tech sophomores.

Tech's first big break came when Jerry Norton, Methodist punter, fumbled a high snap from center. Tech captain Lamar Wheat batted down Norton on SMU's six, the ball went to Tech on downs and Turner butted through for a touchdown on the next play.

A 10-yard kick by SMU's H. N. Russell, Jr., in the second quarter helped Tech again. Soon after the puny punt, Crawford passed to Hicks for Tech's second touch-

Indians Miss Opportunity As Red Sox Whitewash Yanks

By The Associated Press

BOSTON — (AP) — Mel Parnell struck a crippling blow at the New York Yankee's hopes for a third straight pennant Saturday with a four-hit shutout win, 5-0, for the Boston Red Sox.

The 28-year-old lefthander whipped the Yanks for the fourth time this season to square the important series. The Sox backed him up with a 12-hit blast at loser Ed Lopat, Johnny Sain and Bob Hogue.

Boston thus kept alive the faint flag hopes, trailing the Yanks by four games with only nine to play.

Three hits drove home all the runs — Dom DiMaggio's two-run double in the second, Billy Goodman's single in the third, and Ted Williams' two-run triple off Sain in the sixth.

down on a 43-yard play which caught SMU napping.

Some similar sleeping by Tech gave SMU a wide opening which the Methodist immediately passed through for their score.

The innocent drizzle of the first half grew into a full-fledged downpour which lasted throughout the second half.

A slick ball and wet hands usually enough to stop passing, apparently encouraged it late in the game as SMU tried to get back into the game by the air.

Sam Stollenwerck threw through but seldom effectively as Tech bottled him up or knocked at him or his passes on the ground.

Henry Stollenwerck and quarterback Benton Musslewhite were SMU's best weapons and they might have won against a team trying just a little less hard than Georgia Tech.

Tribe Falls Before Tigers

By The Associated Press

DETROIT — (AP) — The Cleveland Indians muffed another big opportunity Saturday as they bowed 9-4 to Detroit while the league-leading New York Yankees lost to Boston, 5-0.

Thus the Indians remained 1-12 games behind the Yanks and time is running out.

Lefty Bob Cain delivered the crushed with a four-hitter.

The Indians have only four games left to play, against seven for the Yankees.

With three fewer defeats, the Yanks can win the pennant by taking five of their seven games, even if the Indians win all theirs.

The Tigers simply overpowered the jittery Tribe with a 15-hit attack.

Layne Passes Lions To Victory

By The Associated Press

HOUSTON — (AP) — Bobby Layne's brilliant passing led the Detroit Lions to a 28-14 victory over the New York Yankees here Friday night.

Layne, the former University of Texas star, tossed three touchdown passes and scored once himself. He completed 19 of 25 attempted passes for 214 yards.

Doak Walker, former SMU all-America, kicked four extra points. A crowd estimated at 48,000 watched the game, played for the benefit of Holly Hall home for the aged and the Variety Club boys clubs.

WARREN'S ARM UP

By Warren Hesse—News Sports Editor

IT WAS ONLY A SMALL item on one of the week's sports pages, but it carried a big story, or perhaps several big stories, for the future.

It said that paid attendance for the West Texas-New Mexico League had dropped 7.5 percent this year over 1950. That didn't seem like such a large drop. But it was small-only because Abilene, the league's champions who are now hustling to win the playoffs, almost doubled their gate appeal of '50. Only two other clubs, Lubbock and Albuquerque, also first division teams and coming from the "big" towns in the league, showed gains at the gate.

The story that lies behind the 7.5 percent attendance drop is that all but one team in the league is on the selling block. All the others could be bought, and in most cases the price wouldn't have to be just "right" either.

It's a known fact that the Clovis club is on the rocks once again. A group of New Mexico businessmen have been keeping the club afloat. Whenever bills came up that the treasury couldn't meet, solicitations were taken around the town and a kitty was built up to work from again. At the end of the season the red ink between the club and $7 thousand that had to be solicited again.

Borger was reported for sale even before the season was over. There was talk that the Borger franchise would be moved to Rowell if not sold. The Gassers didn't lose too much this year, if they lost at all, due to the sale of Rene Vega, which was a good budget-balancer from the Gasser standpoint.

A good, hot candidate for the purchase of the Gassers is one of the league's top managers, who has always wanted to swing into the executive end of baseball. He is planning on leasing the franchise in Borger for a year such as Paul Dean has done at Lubbock this season. With the Gasser's attendance down 32,200 over 1950, it is quite possible there will be a change there before next year.

Abilene was reported losing money this year despite the terrific attendance figures. This is hard to believe. But the club is supposedly on the block. Lamesa and Pampa could also be had as well as Lubbock, which is owned by a Mr. P. E. Odem, who has no apparent interest in baseball other than investment.

We recently talked with a good friend of ours, a young Amarillo businessman, who has an avid interest in baseball. He plans to

El Paso Eleven Offers Little To Prove Pampa Power

The Pampa Harvesters, rolling up a total of 564 yards through the air and on the ground, soundly trounced their second opponent of the season, the Austin High of El Paso Panthers, 66-13, Friday night at Harvester Park.

It was another case of too much ground power by the Harvesters and not the anticipated opposition from a club that has been district champions for the past four years.

Once again the score was very impressive, with the entire Harvester bench seeing action as Coach Tom Tipps tried to hold the Green and Gold did nothing but pass and run right into the center of the line, but still the scoring continued.

Pampa scored 10 touchdowns, DeWey Cudney converting successfully after six of them. Here's how the Pampa scoring went:

FIRST QUARTER:
1. Billy Davis, 3 yards over right guard, 8-0.
2. Darrell Wilson, 41 yards over right tackle, Cudney converted, 13-0.
3. John Young, six yards over right tackle, Cudney converted, 20-0.

SECOND QUARTER:
4. Jim Bob Cox, seven yards around left end, Cudney converted, 27-0.
5. Pass Sid Mills to Roy Pool, 12 yards, Cudney converted, 34-0.

THIRD QUARTER:
6. Cudney, 14 yards around right end, Cudney converted, 41-0.
7. Pass Cudney to Wilson, 41 yards, 47-0.

FOURTH QUARTER:
8. David Enloe, 80 yards over left guard, 63-13.
9. Enloe, 35 yards over center, 69-13.
10. Reggie Mayo, five yards around left end, Cudney converted, 66-13.

The big Pampa forward wall, outweighing the visitors, almost 17 pounds per man, held them to only 70 yards rushing, the first half. Leading the overall defense was co-captain Jerry Walker.

The Harvesters again played alert football. They recovered five of eight Panther fumbles and intercepted two passes. Each time the alertness passed off, the Panthers started by the Panthers and opening the way to Pampa scoring.

A crowd of about 4,000 chilled fans watched the Harvesters take the opening kickoff and march 76 yards to score. Included in the lengthy drive were runs of 44 and 20 yards by Wilson before Davis blasted over for the score.

A recovered fumble on the El Paso 40 set up the second score. Wilson going 41 yards on the second play.

The third TD came at the end of the first period. Pampa took over on its own 46 after a Panther punt. Again a long 25-yard jaunt by Wilson moved the ball to the 11 when John Young hauled over on two plays.

A beautiful, weaving 30 yard punt return by Ed Dudley set up the next touchdown early in the second quarter. He returned the ball to the Panther seven. Two plays later Cox went around left end seven yards to score.

Bill McPherson covered a Panther fumble on the next kickoff on the visitors' 22 and on five plays the Harvesters had scored again. Mills hit Pool with a bullet pass behind the end line for the score, sending Pampa to the dressing room with a 34-0 halftime lead.

Dudley started the next touchdown drive, intercepting a Panther pass and returning to the El Paso 45. Sticking strictly to the air and running into the center of the line, the Harvesters scored in six plays, Cudney running 14 yards to paydirt after being unable to find a receiver.

A poor punt set up the next Pampa score, the Harvesters taking over on the El Paso 26. After a fifteen yard penalty, Cudney passed to Wilson on the east side of the field, the halfback dancing down on the sideline to score.

The Panthers finally scored early in the final period when Fred Kriss skirted left end for 20 yards. They scored again a short while later, intercepting a Pampa pass on the Harvesters 45. In nine plays they scored, Bourland passing to J. D. Elder for the touchdown.

On the first play after the kickoff, David Enloe took a handoff on a quick opener up the middle and went 20 yards to score in lightning-like fashion.

The final Pampa touchdown came in the final 10 seconds of play. The Harvesters held on their own 40, and in five plays, with time running out, Mayo limped around left end to score.

Next weekend, the Harvesters should definitely get a thorough test of whether they have been playing pushovers or if they have a good strong ballclub. They journey to Vernon to play the Lions, two-time winners. The Lions defeated Wichita Falls, 6-0, and Altus, Okla., 32-0.

Texas Aggies Take To Air To Defeat UCLA Bruins, 21-14

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — A pair of sharpshooting Texans set UCLA's Bruins back on their heels Friday night, flinging Texas as A&M to a 21-14 victory in the season's intercollegiate football opener here.

The evening wasn't a total loss for Coach Red Sanders. He uncovered two sophomore backs who almost ended a Bruins losing streak to Southwest Conference teams that goes back to 1939.

Dick Gardemal, the Aggies' first string signal caller, and his No. 1 understudy, Ray Graves, staged the aerial fireworks which the Bruins bottled up Bob Smith, the Bruins' candidate for all-American honors.

Graves pitched two touchdown strikes in the last 55 seconds of the first half, and Gardemal put the finishing touch to the attack with a perfect pitch in the fourth quarter. Graves' first was to end Eric Miller, good for nine yards.

He set it up a moment before with a toss to halfback Billy Tidwell, good for 70 yards. A UCLA fumble gave him his second chance seconds later, and he hit half Yale Lary for 19 yards. The Aggies led 14-0 at the half.

Sanders put a fourth string quarter, Paul Cameron, into the lineup in the third quarter and he promptly caught fire. He tossed two 12-yard passes to end Ernie Stocker, then twisted and powered his way across from 19 yards out. Moments later, another sophomore, Pete Dailey, galloped 73 yards on a punt return to tie it up.

In the final quarter, Gardemal got away one pass to halfback Chuck McDonald for 89 yards, followed by the next play to end Charles Hodge for the score and that was the ball game. Cameron was not convinced.

Tollie Hutchens was resting in Highland General Hospital with a broken cartilage in his right knee. He was to be discharged to his home yesterday, but when he would return to action remained for only time to tell.

Sandies Get Scare At Plainview, 19-7

PLAINVIEW — A heavy veteran Plainview Bulldog line forced the Amarillo Sandies' line to take to the air here Friday night to ake out a shaky 19-7 victory. Plainview held a 7-6 lead until 2 minutes into the final period when the Sandstorm started throwing the ball in desperation.

Statistics gave the Bulldogs the edge in all departments except passing. A pass play good for 67 yards, from Tommy Donnell to Don Carter scored the Sandies' touchdown that put them ahead in the fourth period.

The second touchdown came through the benefit of roughing penalties that set the ball on the Bulldogs' 1 yard line, Donnell going over from there on the second try.

Plainview took the lead on the opening kickoff, marching all the way to score.

You football and golf fans can get both doses next Friday. Leave for Vernon early and stop at Childress about noon. Johnny Austin and George Aulbach, the Amarillo pro, will team together to play an exhibition match against trick shooter Joe Kirkwood and Childress pro Jack Earle. Tee time is 1 p.m. The match was originally scheduled for Sunday, but has been moved up two days. Then you can proceed on to Vernon after the golf is over to see the Harvesters.

The women's handicap tournament will be fired next weekend, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Tee time each day will be 9 a.m. Myrtle Prigmore is the current defending champion.

We had a bushel of Pampa golfers over at Huber Thursday afternoon for the pro-am. In all, 22 Pampans were entered. Johnny Austin again took top money for the pros, his second pro-am win of the year. He fired a red-hot 66 over the course. Included in his shots were a 60-foot putt on No. 11 green and a pitch shot that sucked back 23 feet from the pin to roll back off the green.

Some of the other scores shot Thursday were Tommy Cox's 72, 74 by Buster Carter, 75 by Charles Austin, 75 by Johnny Clark and a fine 91 by Oak Allee Whitte. Bob Coker threw in his best 18-hole round of all time, a good 85. His sidekick, Jovial Tommy White, backed out on the event and didn't show up, and for a while there were thoughts of postponing the affair until he showed up. Guess Tom is getting too old for the game.

Speaking of old Shorty Hestel and C. N. Carlock went out of Rutledge to play in the men-over-45 senior tournament out there last week. Neither would reveal their scores other than to say that they were beaten in the first round of match play. Shorty's opponent fired a 78 at him. But according to the boys, the course was hard, rolling, long, tricky, and any other excuse you can think of.

Don't forget that on Oct. 7 we go to Amarillo to play the final match of the season in the Panhandle Men's Golf Association tourney. We've got a good substantial lead, and only if we all show up there can we hold on to it. We play at Ross Rogers, so let's all keep that date open for golf.

Johnny getting the winter pins all painted and ready to use the other day. Won't be long now and it will be that time of year again when only the brave and foolhardy, the true golfers, will be playing.

Bucks Outrun Groom, 38-7

WHITE DEER — The White Deer Bucks, one of the fastest teams in the Panhandle, romped to a 38-7 victory over the Groom Tigers here Friday night for their second win in as many starts. For Groom it was the third straight loss.

Coach George Watson presented a revised lineup for the game, five regulars being shelved with injuries. But their replacements showed that a strong bench is available if needed.

The Bucks got right down to the paying department immediately. The first time they got hold of the ball they struck with Don Carpenter, fullback, romping 75 yards on the third play.

Speedy Ronald Mills, reserve back, unleashed his footwork by sprinting 25 yards for a TD minutes later in the period. Big Guy Thornburg booted the extra point and the Bucks led at halftime 13-0.

Early in the third period Mills again broke away from the Tiger defenders and romped 65 yards for a touchdown to make the score 19-0.

Groom struck back with its lone touchdown when fullback John Quirk hauled over from three yards out. Hale ran the point and the score was 19-7.

Then the Bucks broke loose again. Jackie Freeman, fleet-footed quarterback of the Bucks, hit the line to score from the two-yard line. A short while later he hit Billy Wilkerson with a 48-yard aerial good for another touchdown.

The final touchdown came on a 39-yard trot by Gerald Ham, another of the boys graduated to the Bucks from Skellytown grade school. Carpenter booted the point to make the final tally, 38-7.

Gil Hodges of the Brooklyn Dodgers has hit seven homers against the Pirates this season. All of them were at Forbes Field.

Bulldogs Outclass North Side, 33-7

BORGER — (P) — The Borger Bulldogs struck three times through the air and twice on the ground Friday night to turn back the North Side Steers of Fort Worth 33-7.

All three touchdown aerials came on the Cleburne Bybee to Chippy Spencer, a combination that accounted for two of last week's tallies.

The Steers never threatened. In the third quarter Tommy Runners, North Side halfback took the ball at the tailback spot and skirted left end for a 65-yard scamper and the lone Steer score.

Bufs Capture TL Playoffs With Ease

HOUSTON — (P) — Houston's Bufs, the Texas League pennant tuckered away, waited today for the Southern Association to furnish an opponent in the annual Dixie Series.

The Bufs, who led the league straightaway race, beat San Antonio 5-3 Friday night to make it four straights in the final Shaughnessy play-off.

Birmingham and Little Rock are deciding who will face Houston.

Houston rode with Jerry Witte's home run bat and the fine relief pitching of Jack Crimian to sack up the Texas League flag. Witte hit his 38th home run with two mates aboard to clinch the title. Crimian held the Missions to four hits.

Jim Dyck homered with one man on in the ninth for San Antonio.

Panthers Blast Mustangs, 39-13

PANHANDLE — The Panhandle Panthers, scoring four times in the second period, slugged the Claude Mustangs here Friday night, 39-13. Dean Lewellen, Panther fullback, was the main perpetrator.

Lewellen charged over the goal from two yards out for his first TD. Later he broke from the Claude defenders, going 56 yards to score. And in the third period he juggled the pigskin 35 yards to paydirt.

Other Panthers scores were racked up by Delmer Tuggle and Dale Roselius. Jim Naylor, Panther end, intercepted a Claude pass and returned it 40 yards for the other touchdown.

The lone Claude scoring came late in the fourth period against the Panhandle reserves.

Chiefs Tomhawk Mobeetie, 32-7

MOBEETIE — It was too much Bill Bryant for the Mobeetie Elephants here Friday afternoon as the versatile Miami back led the Chiefs to an easy 32-7 in a non-conference six-man football game.

Bryant scored two touchdowns and passed for another. He caught a pass for a score in the early minutes of the game had passed for Miami's second marker later in the first period. He scored again in the second quarter.

The other two Miami touchdowns were a pair of aerials gathered in by Ramon Cowan, left end, both coming in the left half. Bryan Hodges dropkicked for a pair of points for the Chiefs.

The lone Mobeetie tally came when Newman Mobeetie fullback, caught a 28-yard pass in the final minute of play.

PAMPA NEWS, SUNDAY, SEPT. 23, 1951. PAGE 13

ENGAGED — Mr. and Mrs. L. E. West, 504 N. Warren, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Betty Joe, and Charles A. Ford, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Ford of Amarillo. Vows will be exchanged on Dec. 21 in the First Methodist church chapel.

THIS IS SUCH a pleasant time of year. 'Capt' last week end we worried a little when the blizzard blew in. Old timers were saying it reminded them of '26 before streets were paved, and when folks tramped around in snow all winter long. One woman said that long, hard winter began early just as this one appeared to be doing. But then the week turned warm, and we've had a real Indian Summer. Nobody was ready for the cold spell. Suits and coats came out of storage and summer cotons were pushed far back in the closet. Now we may have jumped the gun — a few weeks early. (Before this was published Peg ate those words. You know — "just wait a minute and the weather changes.")

EPISCOPAL CHURCH WOMEN organized a new guild last week. They held the first meeting Wednesday with Mrs. Earl Clayton presiding. They have named the young Bishop Seaman after the Bishop Seaman who was one of first Episcopal missionaries in West Texas. Dr. Emily Hicks gave a review of the Bishop's life and work at the first meeting, which, we understand, got the new group off to a fine beginning. It's always encouraging to hear of new organizations such as this. The good they do knows no limitations.

THANKS TO "a girl from PHS" who pointed out what a handsome new drum major the high school band has this year. It would have been just a matter of time before we mentioned the band, the drum major and the pert little majorettes, because we are always so proud of that group who drill all week to give us delightful half-time shows at Harvester games. Cecil Steward is doing a wonderful job as major.

OUT OF THE MAILBOX: Sorry Mrs. L. C. that you were unable to reach me by telephone last week. Would be nice to call up various people — and in turn have people call me. — but as it is, Peg must depend on the mails for correspondence. My voice may betray me, the editor says! hah! (Editor's note: It really would betray her for Peg speaks with a pronounced Lithuanian accent).

PAMPA PANORAMA: Football fans take the spotlight ... enthusiastic boosters of the Harvesters are the Calvin Jones, H. C. Gray (she's a darling person) the C. P. Puresley, Jack Merchants, Ray Dudley who are building a new porch on the Somerville street home) the young Ray Duncans (who have set a date with the stock we're told) and the Aubrey Steeles (their son "wouldn't be caught dead" without his Daniel Boone cap, I betcha!) ... Mrs. Walter Stein is a lovely person ... spied her downtown the other day in a smart lil' suit ... Billie Pulliam is a girl with a bubbling personality ... always seems so interested in Pampa people ... A handsome young couple, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Garrett, have an adorable baby ... Anniversary celebrations this month for the Dink Altman and R. J. Hillons ... didn't "snoop out" the exact dates. ... And likeable Mrs. Joe Shelton celebrated (or will celebrate this month) her birthday ... wish Peg could learn the exact dates on some of these "important days" ... Mrs. Shelton has been here for many years and has many, many friends ... Mrs. Paul Keim is a favorite in the young married set ... The Dr. Phillip Gates' youngsters are growing up so ... especially notice growth in the kiddoes when we don't see them for awhile ... "My your children are growing." is a favorite greeting among friends ... Speaking of growth, we do wonder sometime where all the people here have come from ... the town is building in about every direction ... R. M. Samples has had the male population oohing and aching over his satin shirt ... Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Jarvis are building in Fraser ... so are the Ed Clevelands ... more details on these ...

DO DECLARE SOMETIMES that music lessons are a necessary evil parents must go through. So many un-talented kiddies (like ours) are shoved into them. But our boys long since put the foot down at the thought. "What'd the guys think of me takin' piano," they moaned. It seems nimble fingers are meant for snagging passes, and not running over the ivories. No respectable quarterback (they think) is caught playing the piano. Seems to me they might as well take lessons themselves, for they no more do their old assortment of football gear and get a bruise or two than some teammate gets a "yoo-who" from his Mom reminding him it's time for music practice. Mothers lose so many young friends that way! The pitiable thing of the situation is that soon, oh so soon, our little men will out-grow their boyish inhibitions and long for the time they missed studying music. But just try to tell them that now!

HERE'S AN ANONYMOUS quote too good to pass up: "Before any of us had children, we knew exactly how they should be reared."

IN A "THINGS TO COME" article in an October woman's magazine, we were glad to learn "seeing telephones" were a long, long way off. They MIGHT be installed in homes, but would cost from five to ten thousand dollars. That's a pretty price — when most of the pictures on the other end of the phone wouldn't be pretty. The joke about always jumping out of the bath tub draped in towel to answer the telephone is too true to be funny, and women smeared with cleansing cream and hair curlers askew are certainly not a pretty sight. However, experts say telephones will be used in private cars before too long. Wonderful, we say! We can give the men just about time to get from the office to the corner grocer and then call his car number and give him our grocery lists. There'll be no excuse for their forgetting anything with that last minute reminder.

SOME SMART LOCAL women are turning ordinary working gloves inside out, putting them on and with a few "swishes" clean venetian blinds. Others, taking time from house cleaning, are going to be on the alert for the prettiest of autumn leaves, press them, and later use them for abstract wall decoration, under coffee tables or trays. It takes a little paraffin, household cement and time — but lots of imagination.

Next week — thanks to the ESA —
We can toss our aprons away,
Put on our best chapeau
And go to the annual style show!

See you there,
PEG O' PAMPA

Representatives are expected to attend from Amarillo, Borger, Canyon, Clarendon, Dumas, Hereford, Memphis, Panhandle, Perryton and Spearman.

The A. R. Meeks Honored Guests On 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Meek, residents of Old Mobestie, celebrated 50 years of marriage on Sept. 8. A reception was given in their honor in the home of their daughter, Mrs. C. C. Dyson, and Mr. Dyson. About 200 persons called to extend good wishes to the couple on their golden wedding day.

The Meeks were married Sept. 8, 1901 in Forestburg, Texas. They first lived in Montague county, moving to Knox county in 1915. They have lived in Wheeler county since 1917.

The Meeks' other children are Mrs. George Trimble of Bovina and Aaron Meek of Pampa. Both were present to receive guests at the reception.

The receiving room was decorated with gold flowers and the serving table was laid with a lace cloth and appointed with silver and crystal. The centerpiece was an arrangement of gold chrysanthemums and the cake was topped with a gold "50" in a circle inscribed "50th Anniversary."

Golden Wedding Is Celebrated By Z. H. Mundys

Mr. and Mrs. Z. H. Mundy held open house last Sunday at their home at 321 N. Starkweather in celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary. All of the Mundy's children were present for the occasion; it was the first time they had all been at home at once in 20 years.

As the couple greeted their guests they met friends of many years for they have lived here 38 years. Married in Wewoka, Okla., Sept. 15, 1901, they lived for a while in Indian Territory, near Shawnee, Okla., and later spent some time in Arizona and New Mexico before coming to Texas. They have lived in their present home 20 years.

They like to compare today's Pampa with the small town they first saw — a few board sidewalks and one "red schoolhouse." They like to know that they are a part of the growth that has turned that lusty settlement into one of the Panhandle's most thriving small cities.

In addition to their own children Mr. and Mrs. Mundy reared four of their grandchildren, the children of their daughter, Mrs. J. D. (Myrtle) Sackett, who died several years ago.

Their children are Mrs. E. H. (Mabel) Sherman of Washington, D. C.; J. W. Mundy, Houston; H. A. Mundy, Texas, and J. G. Mundy, who is in line coach at A & I college, Kingsville. They have 12 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Hobby Club Holds Meeting, Party

The home of Mrs. C. H. Brickley was meeting place for the Hobby club for the new season. Year books were completed and plans for the year were presented by the club president, Mrs. W. E. Melton. Other officers are Mrs. Joe Stone, vice president; Mrs. G. L. Howe, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. B. E. Brummett, reporter and Mrs. J. T. House, recreation.

A party was given recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stone for Hobby club members and their husbands.

Canasta furnished entertainment and sandwiches, pie and coffee were served. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Brickley, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Gatlin, Mr. and Mrs. B. V. Brummett, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. House, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Huntington, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Melton, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Howe and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stone.

Miss McCullough And Frank Parker Exchange Wedding Vows In Kilgore

MR. AND MRS. A. R. MEEK

MARRIED FIFTY YEARS — Mr. and Mrs. Z. H. Mundy smilingly greeted friends and relatives at their home last Sunday afternoon in celebration of their golden wedding anniversary. For the open house Mrs. Mundy wore a black sheer dress and a corsage of white split carnations. Daisies decorated the table which also held a large wedding cake topped with a gold "50." On the following page is a picture of the Mundys as they appeared on their wedding day. For that occasion Mrs. Mundy wore a dress of blue wool alpaca trimmed in white.

MIAMI — (Special) — Miss Joan Marie McCullough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. McCullough of Kilgore, became the bride of Frank Spencer Parker, Jr. in a candlelight ceremony Aug. 31, in the First Baptist Church of Kilgore. The bridegroom's brother, Rev. Clifford Parker of Spearman, performed the double-ring service.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Parker of Miami.

Traditional wedding marches and "Leibstrum," Oh Promise Me," Indian Love Call," and "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," were played by John Paul Wood, organist. Miss Sarah Kay sang "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "Always."

The church altar was decorated with a centerpiece of white lilies entwined with fern and greenery. Seven-branch candelabra held white flame-tipped tapers. On each side of the altar were huge baskets of white chrysanthemums and yellow gladioli tied with yellow ribbon and streamers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina-length gown of ice blue hand woven Japanese brocade satin. Self-covered buttons extended down the front of the fitted bodice, which was complimented with short scalloped sleeves. Designed with ice blue tulle yoke, the full skirt ended in a scalloped hemline trimmed with ice blue tulle. A bridal cap of tulle with small scallops of seed pearls ended in a shoulder-length veil, also trimmed with pearls. The pearl motif was again used in the embroidered blue mitts. She wore blue linen slippers to match her dress.

The bride carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid in a cluster of tuberoses, with yellow satin streamers. She wore a gold brooch worn by her maternal grandmother at her wedding and a string of pearls given to her by her paternal grandfather.

Miss Gwynette Satcher, the bride's maid of honor, wore a ballerina-length mauve organdy dress designed with a large scalloped collar. She wore a brown slipper, a hat of the same material as the dress, and carried a fan-shaped bouquet of brown maline and pink carnations tied with mauve and brown corded taffeta ribbon.

Miss Leona Parker, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Wayne Smith, bridesmaids. Miss Parker was attired in a soft brown organdy dress with a corsage of coral gladioli, tied with yellow and brown ribbons. Mrs. Smith was dressed in yellow organdy and also wore a coral gladioli corsage. The flower girl, Barbara Rae Miller, cousin of the bride from Grand Prairie, was dressed identically to the bride in an ice blue organdy dress. She carried a white Bible topped with white carnations and tuberoses with white satin streamers. She wore a white carnation in her hair.

George Tolbert of College Station served the bridegroom as best man, and Carlisle McCullough, brother of the bride and Wayland Smith were ushers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. McCullough chose a black sheer dress with a transparent black-on-pink tulle yoke. Her accessories were black. Her carcer wore a gray bemberg crepe with black accessories.

The parlor of the church was the scene of the reception immediately following the ceremony. Receiving guests were the mother of the bride, the mother of the bridegroom, the bride couple and the bride's attendants.

Mrs. T. E. Sandford, aunt of the bride from Belton served the cake and Mrs. Roy Parker presided at the punch service. Miss Ann Davidson registered the guests in the bride's book.

Other members of the house party included Mrs. Monte Smith, Fred Beebe, M. L. Sistrick, W. P. Donnelly, A. N. Johnson, Ed Satcher, Doyle Curran, J. R. Ostrom, Lillie Bennett, and R. C. Davidson. All members of the party wore carnation corsages.

The bridal table was laid with a white Madeira linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of yellow carnations and yellow tuffs of maline. The three-tiered wedding cake was decorated with white wedding bells and candied yellow roses, and was set in a cluster of white maline lace. The punch service was encircled with frills of yellow maline with a cluster of wedding bells.

The bridesmaids placed their corsages on the mantel, and a bowl of white mums decorated a small side table. Baskets of white mums were also used.

The registry table carried out the yellow and blue theme. Mrs. R. C. Davidson made the book.

After a wedding trip to Dallas and Grand Prairie, the bride couple will be at home in College Station. For the trip the bride wore a hunter green wool jersey dress trimmed with brown. Her accessories were brown and her corsage was the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Kilgore High school and of Mary Hardin-Baylor college, Belton. She is a member of Historical society and of the Scholarship society. She is employed at Texas A&M as a laboratory technician. She is a former home economics teacher in Miami High school. The bridegroom was graduated from Miami High school and is a student at Texas A&M.

A PROCLAMATION

Whereas the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, in the interests of all employed women, has designated the week of Sept. 23-30 as National Business Women's Week; and Whereas the theme chosen by this organization of employed women is "Full Partnership for the Job Ahead."

I, C. A. Huff, mayor of the City of Pampa, do proclaim and set aside the week of Sept. 23-30 as Business Women's Week.

C. A. Huff
Mayor,
City of Pampa

She Likes People ...

Elma Vandenberg, Woman Banker

Elma Vandenberg stands among the top ranks of Pampa business women.

As cashier of the Citizens Bank & Trust Co., she combines the skill and knowledge of her profession with a deep understanding of the needs and problems of the people whom the bank serves.

Now on her tenth year with the local Citizens bank, Mrs. Vandenberg is perhaps one of the relatively few persons who find banking more fascinating than newspaper work. She was once listed on the masthead of the Hutchinson County Herald as its managing editor; and later, when the paper went daily, she became its auditor, which eventually led to a new profession in the "money" world. However, she already possessed a background of legal and oil experience.

Among Mrs. Vandenberg's duties is the serious one of making loans. She also directs the personnel, assists in directing the policy of the bank, and serves as secretary at directors' meetings.

She is a member of the Association of Bank Women, a national organization for women officers in banking, and is a member of the Business and Professional Women's club. Once an active worker in the latter, she said a lack of time has forced her to become an "honorary" member.

Of her work Mrs. Vandenberg said, "I love working with people. I like to help them work out their financial problems. I try my best to help the bank live up to its motto—"a friendly bank for friendly people." She and her husband, Clyde M. Vandenberg, live at the Sinclair Camp where he is with the Sinclair Oil & Gas Co.

B & PW Club Members To Observe Annual Business Women's Week

Pampa Business and Professional club members will observe Business Women's week by attending church in a body this morning at the First Methodist church. Other activities will include a radio program at 4:30 p. m. Tuesday and a chuck wagon dinner and membership round-up on the lawn at the home of Bertha Chisum, 405 N. Russell. If the weather does not permit an outdoor party, the group will meet in the City Club rooms at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday.

Business Women's Week is now 24 years old.

The idea of National Business Women's week was conceived by Miss Emma Dot Partridge, executive director of the national federation from 1924 to 1927, to call attention to the achievements of women in business and the professions and to give the community at large an opportunity to become acquainted with the program of the national federation. The first annual observance was held April 15 to April 22, 1928.

This 24th anniversary of National Business Women's week is being observed by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc. by its 2700 local clubs throughout the United States. District of Columbia, Hawaii, and Alaska, and its more than 160,000 members.

The slogan theme for this year's work is "Full Partnership for the Job Ahead" and Judge Sarah T. Hughes, national president of the Business and Professional Women's clubs, says that such a task challenges men and women everywhere to exert all of their abilities.

Wes Izzard will be the guest speaker at the presidents' coffee at the Country Club at 8:30 Tuesday morning. He will discuss "The World Today."

The coffee is an annual event and honors the presidents of the four Twentieth Century clubs. This year's presidents are Mrs. Fred Neslage, president of Twentieth Century; Mrs. Frank Kelley, president of Twentieth Century Forum; Mrs. M. K. Griffith, president of Twentieth Century Culture; and Mrs. Charles Hickman, Jr., president of Twentieth Century Allegro.

Music will be by Miss June Guill.

Lutheran Ladies Aid Members Hold Meeting

The September meeting of the Zion Lutheran Ladies Aid was held in the home of Mrs. A. Stroebel, 517 N. Hazel. The president, Mrs. A. G. Gilliam, was in charge and announced that the Lutheran Women's Missionary league zone meeting will be held in Amarillo on Sept. 28.

Mrs. Stroebel discussed the topic "Hymns and Their Inspiration." The welfare committee reported that a package had been sent to a German family. It was also announced that the mission festival will be held in the church today with dinner served in the Palm room. A nursery will be provided for the children during the month of sermons on the air.

Refreshments were served to 10 members and two guests.

Refreshments were served to the members and one guest, Mrs. Frank Palmittier.

The next meeting will be in the Community hall with Mrs. G. B. Reeve as hostess.

Blind 'Justice'

ST. LOUIS — (AP) — Justice has always been described as blind. And Laverne Crawford is willing to concede that fact, although not in the usual sense.

Crawford, a truck driver, was a witness to a shooting here recently. But since he can't raise enough money for bond, he is being held in jail as a material witness. It may be six months before the case is completed.

The accused slayer, meanwhile, is out of jail — free under $15,000 bond.

Serious Omission

HONG KONG — (AP) — Missing a deadline in Communist China is not only bad newspaper business, it's a "serious political mistake."

The director of Shanghai's official Red "Liberation Daily" publicly confessed this on the paper's front page in an article apologizing for failure to carry Marshal Stalin's V-J greeting to China's leader Mao Tse-tung.

The newspaper was caught short, the director said, when the official New China (Communist) News agency sent the paper,

They Like Pampa... Mr. And Mrs. Form Musical Team

Although Mr. and Mrs. Roy Johnson are newcomers here, they are already "crazy about Pampa." They have found a house and are rapidly becoming settled at 320 N. Gillespie.

Mr. Johnson is the new director of music at the First Methodist church and his wife, Emma Sue, is the organist. They have a daughter, Susan, who will be 2 on Oct. 4, which is also Mrs. Johnson's birthday.

Beginning tomorrow morning Mrs. Johnson will have a 15 minute program of organ music over KPDM. This program will be at 9 o'clock.

The Johnsons came to Pampa from Waco where he had taught voice at Baylor since 1946. A native of Lincoln, Neb., Mr. Johnson is a graduate of the University of Nebraska where he studied under Robert Shaw. He has also studied in Houston and New York City under such instructors as Walter Jenkins, Herbert Witherspoon and Solon Alberti. He is a baritone.

Mrs. Johnson, who has studied piano under Storm Bull and Dr. Robert Markham, was graduated from Baylor in 1949.

The Johnsons were married in Orange, Texas, in 1948.

Mr. Johnson succeeds Harley Bulls, who is now doing special work at North Texas State college, Denton.

BEAUTY AFTER FORTY

TRAVEL TOGETHER—Take a flight, in reality, not in fancy.

Have you been finding time heavy on your hands, with children married and in their own homes or so grownup that they have their own interests? Then, get busy and organize a trip for you and your husband—travel together!

Let your married children run a their own lives. Let your sons and daughters work their way through college. It's time now for you and your husband to renew your interest in one another and to build a new life for your maturity. Take do with going places. Just make up off on a flight and see the world, your minds to do something new. You will arrive feeling fresh and ready for whatever new scenes and new places there are to be visited.

If you and he haven't seen those grandchildren for ages and are longing to know them better, follow the example of a Baltimore couple who packed their bags and boarded the Trans-World Airlines time.

Constellation for a 3,000 mile flight. The lady is 69 and the husband is 72!

Over at the airline office they point with pride to the trip, which was a present to the couple from their eight children as a gift to celebrate their approaching Golden Wedding Anniversary.

When they reached California they stayed for several months and attended the graduation of a grandson from a Naval school. They really took a new lease on life and had fun and gave themselves a new viewpoint.

Your calendar age has nothing to do with going places. Just make up off on a flight and see the world, your minds to do something new. You will arrive feeling fresh and ready for whatever new scenes and new places there are to be visited. If you and he haven't seen those grandchildren for ages and are longing to know them better, follow the example of a Baltimore couple who packed their bags and boarded the Trans-World Airlines time.

Blending the old with the new, the Traditional with the Modern, no longer remains a problem. Good decorative sense and ingenuity permit today's homemaker to have the best of both worlds in her home. Items Purchased Today Prove Ideal For Future Home Of Tomorrow

The new 1951 fall furniture designs are extremely versatile and adaptable to many uses. Items purchased today will be found ideal for the future home of tomorrow.

Every new homemaker is intensely interested in furniture with a future and one gets a sense of confidence when making a purchase that may be regarded as a treasured life-long piece.

With little promise of a change in the housing situation of the problems of space planning continue to be a challenge to the home furnishings industry. Both for the bride in her one room apartment and the young mother with her fast-growing family in a small modern house, manufacturers and designers continue to produce adaptable multi-purpose pieces.

While new furniture is designed for the utmost utility, attractive styling is also a prime consideration, making it possible for the young homemaker to solve her present stringent space problem with furniture which will adapt handsomely to her dream house of tomorrow.

Consider dining and entertaining as related activities. Kitchen, dining table and some storage will relate specifically to these two activities.

In many one room apartments the kitchenette is so closely related to the living room that it immediately becomes part of your living room scheme. It may be separated only by a counter-like structure which will serve admirably as a breakfast bar or counter for buffet serving. Decorative cabinets of suitable height can form such a counter with roomy storage below. In any case make your kitchenette as attractive as possible and be sure to relate its color scheme to that of the living room.

There are some wonderful tables which double as coffee and dining table, with expanding tops and variable heights. The always favorite drop-leaf or refectory table will serve admirably for either buffet serving or formal dining. Storage and dining table have been combined in a charming buffet unit. All the space needed for silver, table linens and incidental serving pieces is contained in this convenient piece. The top opens to furnish adequate dining surface for two people and another leaf is concealed behind the cabinet. When completely extended this one unit also supplies a table suitable for a formal dinner.

Every year there are additional improvements in furniture construction. There are new fabrics and new ideas on room arrangement to accommodate the ever increasing popularity of television.

Demand Refugees Atom Troubles Cited By Briton

LONDON — (AP) — Czechoslovakia has demanded that the United States send back 21 refugees who escaped to Germany when an engineer raced his express train across the border Sept. 11.

The Prague radio said a sharply-worded demand served on the U.S. Embassy insisted on extradition of the refugees on charges they kidnapped the 77 other passengers on the train and damaged Czechoslovak railway equipment.

The note also accused them of threatening the lives of the other passengers.

War Dead Graves To Bear 'Korea'

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The word "Korea" will be inscribed on markers on graves of all U.S. Armed Forces men killed in that country and buried in national cemeteries.

President Truman has ordered this, untangling red tape which had prohibited such identification because the Korean conflict is not officially a war.

Regulations say that inscriptions on government headstones in national cemeteries may contain the name, date of birth and death, abbreviations of military awards held, a religious emblem and "the war in which service was rendered."

The President ordered that the word "Korea" — but not "Korean war" — should be inscribed on markers. The headstones of servicemen buried in other than national cemeteries can carry any inscription relatives desire.

Auto Dealers Accumulating Order Lists

By DAVID J. WILKIE. DETROIT — (AP) — Many of the nation's auto dealers once more are accumulating order lists. Of course, the lists aren't anything like those of the early postwar days. But they are cheering to the dealers, who have been fearful of the effects of higher price tags.

A few months ago most dealers were concerned over a lagging consumer demand and a steady stream of shipments from the factories.

All this is changing. Orders are coming in, especially for the more popular lines of cars. Factory shipments are dropping behind retail demand. Yet the dealers are apprehensive about price tags. Some say the price increases will send more buyers into the used car market.

Also, the price hikes just about nullify whatever advantages resulted from the recent easing of credit terms on car-buying. The impetus to new car buying, trade experts say, is coming mainly from fears of an early shortage.

So far as credit restrictions are concerned, retailers say the price advances have left them just where they were before the time payment period was extended to 18 months against the former 15-month period. Monthly payments for an average car still run uncomfortably close to $85. So it isn't improbable the dealers' organizations will continue their efforts to get a further relaxation of credit restrictions.

Used car dealers already have noted some improvement in sales volume, although the normal trend at this season of the year is downward. Probably this improved demand will continue as long as good late model used cars are available.

Hot Rodders Figure A Way Out

SAN ANTONIO — (AP) — This was an exhausting problem for Motorcycle Officers Emmett Smith and D. R. Brooks.

Several citizens in the neighborhood of Thomas Jefferson High school had complained that noise from hot rods was disturbing the peace.

So Smith and Brooks parked themselves at the exit from the school's parking lot.

When school let out, not one, not six, but 12 hot rods were stopped by the officers. But then the word spread. Other hot rod owners, wise after what happened to their buddies, wouldn't start their cars, but the problem of getting home still remained.

"What time do you get off work?" one of the bravest asked Smith.

"Midnight," said the officer, adding that he'll shew sandwiches sent out to him if necessary so he can wait out the night.

But there's more than one way to fool a cop, and the boy found it. Suddenly there was a procession of hot rods, pushed by cars with mufflers, out of the parking lot, and past the charged officers.

Two hot rod artists, however, left their vehicles on the spot. They had no help.

Beginning Of Autumn Heralds The 'Blue Norther' Season

By JOHN KAY ADAMS

DALLAS — (AP) — Autumn begins Sunday, and the blue norther season is approaching.

A norther is a freezing storm in winter, but Texas weather doesn't always go by the book. A frigid blast off the eastern slope of the Rockies can be expected any day.

A mild fore-runner blew in this week, chasing out the summer heat. To weathermen, the mild ones aren't true northers. They're just fall cool fronts until one shows up with ice.

The weather bureau glossary describes a norther as "a cold strong wind from a northerly quarter in winter, caused by a southward movement of a polar anti-cyclone. It is preceded by a cold front attended by a rapid drop in temperatures, possibly 25 degrees in an hour or 50 degrees in three hours, and at times by a severe storm of rain, sleet or snow."

To that, an old-time Texas cowboy might reply, "That's just what I say. So now let me tell you about the blue one I went through in '99. It was 23 below in Swisher county, and the weatherman can remember his first experience with a norther."

A. M. Hamrick, meteorologist in charge of the Dallas Weather bureau, was caught in a norther when he was a boy playing football. He was on the Taylor team in a Christmas game with Temple. The day was almost too hot for a football jersey.

But a big, blue-black cloud came rolling over the Temple field. Rain left puddles, and by the fourth, Hamrick was beginning to ice up a little himself.

He has seen many a norther since then. In Texas alone, 22 weather stations make hourly observations hourly by teletype.

Nearly everyone will want advance warning when a balmy day is about to turn into a chilly mess. Stock raisers, farmers and shippers might lose millions of dollars should a norther sweep down on them without warning.

Meteorologists spot cold air masses as they move southeastward from the Arctic over the North Pacific. Constant checking is necessary to keep track of the cold air as it flows into warm air masses that also are in motion.

A freezing cold wave gets attention in the Southwest because it's relatively unusual. Most polar air masses follow a well-beaten path down through the Northwest and into the Great Plains. So many winter storms follow that track, people in the Great Lakes region can hardly tell them apart. It's just tough sledding all winter.

Texasans have to worry only about those cantankerous storms that swing south for the winter. Deflection into the Southwest can't be forecast accurately until the storm crosses the Rockies.

The state seldom gets more than 36 hours warning when a norther is on the way. Even at the last moment, it may swerve eastward and catch only a corner of Texas.

It becomes a norther when it reaches the southwest. The advancing dome of heavy, cold air may be six miles high and spread over several states. It's called an anti-cyclone because winds on the outer edges blow clockwise around the high pressure center.

Cold air pouring off the top of the anti-cyclone is heavy and dry. It flows down a pressure slope like water flowing down a mountainside.

The polar air spills into a low pressure area which meteorologists call a cyclone. It's a mass of riding, warm air with winds on the edges blowing counterclockwise. Hurricanes and tornadoes are delinquent small brothers of the less violent cyclone.

In the Southwest, incoming cyclones often are laden with moisture from the Gulf. The high moisture content means the collision is particularly sharp when cyclone and anti-cyclone clash over Texas.

Air has an unusual physical property. It's lighter when full of water vapor. At a given temperature, a cubic foot of air with all the water vapor it will hold weighs only 62 percent as much as dry air.

When forced up rapidly, the moist air cools by expansion. Water vapor condenses out of the cyclonic air and falls in rain or snow.

The rain may fall through cold air in the advancing wedge and freeze into stinging ice particles, or it may freeze to the cold ground in a hazardous glaze. Snowflakes form at below freezing temperatures where water vapor changes instantly to ice crystals without first condensing into rain.

Where cyclone meets anti-cyclone at ground level a cold front forms. The line is often visible as a mass of tumbling blue-black clouds. Behind it is the great slope of polar air pouring out on the ground.

Like a huge oncoming wedge, the spilling cold air forces the lighter, warm, moist air aloft. An over-riding mass of moist air is pushed up the cold air dike.

When forced up rapidly, the moist air cools by expansion. Water vapor condenses out of the cyclonic air and falls in rain or snow.

The rain may fall through cold air in the advancing wedge and freeze into stinging ice particles, or it may freeze to the cold ground in a hazardous glaze. Snowflakes form at below freezing temperatures where water vapor changes instantly to ice crystals without first condensing into rain.

Rain, sleet and snow may fall together in one of these northers. Texans call "blue."

If you happen to be caught outdoors in a norther this season you may observe the phenomenon at first hand — with scientific detachment, of course.

Living Cost Stationary In August

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The government's cost of living index remained stationary in August.

An index released by the Bureau of Labor Statistics showing price declines in foods and house furnishings cancelled out by increases in other major groups of consumer items.

The index for August 15 was 185.5. It is based on average 1935-39 prices as equaling 100.

The "old series" of living cost index declined one tenth of one percent during August. This is the alternate index compiled by the bureau on which many labor unions depend for living cost pay adjustments under terms of their contracts with employers.

This index declined to 185.6. This compares with 173.0 for August 1950. No major labor contracts depend on the August index for wage adjustments.

The 185.5 level of the August index is nine percent higher than mid-June 1950 when the Korean war began and seven percent above August a year ago.

Prisoners Approve Judge's Sentences

ANTWERP — (AP) — "Happy lads, Mr. Judge," the prisoners said as he was being sentenced to six months' jail for stealing goods in a railway station in Antwerp. He had already totalled about 15 years' prison for various thefts.

Another man seemed also to approve the sentence of six months' prison and $52 fine given him by another Antwerp court for stealing $1000 from a company he was working for.

"This small sentence will enable me to reimburse the money," he said quietly bowing to the court president.

Brethren, he follows together with me, and mark them which walk so as we have us for an example. Philippians 3:17.

Early Life Records Uncovered

MIDLAND, Ont. — (AP) — A record of missionary courage and engineering skill 300 years ago is coming to light under the trowel and whisk of a Canadian archeologist.

For four years Wilfrid W. Jury, curator for the University of Western Ontario, has been probing the ruins of Fort Ste. Marie I — once the most isolated outpost in France's North American empire.

Among his discoveries are the first canal locks and water piping system in North America.

Fort Ste. Marie I was the fort from which Jesuit missionaries carried Christianity to the Indians. Five were tortured and slain. They became saints of the Roman Catholic church.

The record in the earth has been patiently dug out and sifted by Jury. With him works his wife, tabulating and sorting the finds.

Jury's digging has uncovered the first Christian cemetery in Ontario. Among the bones of the first Christian Indians he identified the remains of Donne Jacobus Douart, the only Frenchman left buried there when the fort was abandoned.

The Jesuits came to this area on Georgia Bay 75 miles north-west of Toronto in 1639 on a mission to the Huron Indians.

Group Recommends Increase Of Women In Armed Services

WASHINGTON — (AP) — An advisory committee on women in the services has recommended to the Defense Department that the present figure of 30,000 women in the armed forces be increased to 112,000 within the next few months.

In an initial report made to the department after hearing addresses by top officials, the committee said the need was urgent and that:

"There are sufficient numbers of American women to meet all the needs of maintenance of home, industry, educational and medical institutions as well as military requirements."

The 112,000 figure would include women in the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marines and the Nurse Corps and Medical Specialist Corps of those services.

The advisory committee is composed of 49 women representing a cross section of civilian life.

Mobeetie Worker Loses Finger In Tractor Accident

MOBEETIE — (Special) — Doug Baird lost a finger in an accident Monday night on the Grady Harris place.

After plowing until about 12:30 a. m., he started to connect a drill to the tractor when the draw bar fell, pinning the little finger of his right hand. He remained in this position six hours until Harris, noticing lights of the tractor still on, investigated.

During the night, Baird became so desperate he tried to free himself by pulling his finger off.

When finally freed, he was taken to Worley Hospital, where he was treated for shock and exposure. The first joint of his finger also was removed.

Do You Happen To Remember The Day Of The Good Old Fashioned Parlor?

The "good old days" — the sedate Victorian era, the Gay Nineties, the roaring twenties — offered furniture fashions that did not always invite comfort, but rather served as display pieces to impress callers.

Today's home furnishings have met the changing standards of the American way of life but by no means have they reached their climax. New improvements are constantly being developed to make living at home a more pleasant experience. The contemporary home is a collection of personal things that gives meaning to its existence.

Not too many years ago, the typical middle class family did most of its "living" in the kitchen, the one room in the house that was always heated. Parlor were for show and for neers' home from materials on "company." The furniture wasn't particularly comfortable but then the parlor was used only on Sundays and for weddings and funerals.

Most of the furniture was hand-made and there was no place for a comfortable chair. Nobody ever thought of "living" in the parlor.

However, with the coming of central heating, the telephone and the phonograph, the family found greater inducement to use the parlor more than the kitchen.

Public transportation in the form of the horse drawn street car and the cable cars stimulated more frequent visiting. There was more getting together to talk and the parlor was put to greater use.

Electric lights created a new interest in reading and the bookcase found its way into the parlor. The home was beginning to be lived-in and was taking a more comfortable shape. Though family and friends were spending more time in the home, the parlor was still the parlor, but the stiffness was beginning to

The coming of the automobile sent America on a visitin' and traveling spree. People went in one home and liked, they tried to duplicate in their own.

Before America began to travel, homes were more or less sectionalized. In the East the homes reflected the lands from which the settlers came. In the South hand-made furniture adorned homes where life was made gracious by the availability of many servants. The farther west, the country expanded the more the furnishings. Because of the bulk of furniture and the high cost of shipping it was usually constructed at the site of the pioneer's home from materials on hand.

As the country increased in size and transportation facilities became more abundant, a hand-made furniture gave way to machine-made furniture. Just prior to World War I the ungodly, yet comfortable Morris chair became a fixture in many homes. Mission style furniture was the vogue of the day and what it lacked in artistry it made up for in comfort. It was a step in making the parlor a living room.

The Twenties saw the home develop into a plan devoted to family living. The many developments rendered more time for relaxation. Deep cushioned chairs and sofas were built for comfort. The increasing number of periodicals created the need for a magazine rack. Everybody was reading, as evidenced by the number of floor and table lamps. The living room was arriving. But America was still not a developed into a more comfortable and luxury, a traditional piece of furniture can serve as the thread between yesterday and today.

Compatibility is the keynote of blending good traditional with good contemporary furnishings. Each one compliments the other. stepping stone to today's gracious and handsome contemporary. The "lie" has been taken out of "modernistic."

Today's furniture is genuinely American, whether it is a fine adaptation of finest traditional pieces or truly American design. Many homes still retain some of the furnishings of the "good old days." These antiques are not always objects of great beauty, but merely vintage pieces of furniture. It must be sentiment that moves some homemakers to cling to the old Morris chair, the magazine rack with its paneled top or the lamp topped with a stain glass shade.

Your home and its furnishings express your standard of living. The average American of today can live in a more comfortable home than royalty could boast of only a half a century ago. However the true antiques of great beauty do have a place in today's home.

McMahon Says US Can Make A-Bombs For $240,000 Each

By FULTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON — (AP) — Can the United States make atomic bombs in abundance and, for only $240,000 apiece instead of the present multi-million dollar cost?

Senator Brien McMahon (D-Conn), top man in Congress on atomic affairs, says yes.

Atomic bottlenecks in materials, production, equipment and design have been broken and the nation can now turn the weapons out in mass production at a cost less than that for a tank, says the Senator. (The current price tag on a medium tank is $240,047.)

In a Senate speech McMahon said he wanted to report that "There is virtually no limit and no limiting factor upon the number of A-bombs which the United States can manufacture, given time and a decision to proceed, all-out."

The time he put at three years.

If, said McMahon, the United States will provide this ample arsenal of atomic arms, there will be fewer foot soldiers needed; fewer old style artillery pieces and more guided missiles with atomic warheads; a few flame-throwers and more radio-

Peanut Soda? Science Says It's The Nuts

By FLORINE COOTER
NEA Special Correspondent
BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — (NEA) — How about a cone of frozen peanut custard? Or a big creamy-like peanut shake?

Coming right up — perhaps in the near future!

Birmingham's Southern Research Institute has brought a promise of glamor for the lovely goober. After experiments involving a new means of keeping the oil intact with peanut butter and a new type of "free-flowing" nut product obtained by extremely fine grinding, the institute has come up with a formula for a delicious peanut beverage much like chocolate milk, as well as other items resembling milk-based foods such as ice cream.

Main objective of the new "free-flowing nut product," developed by Dr. Joseph E. Vincent and Dr. Wilbur A. Lazier, is its adaptability to many uses never attained by the common nut butters. The free-flowing syrup is the result of grinding shelled nuts, either cooked, or uncooked, until essentially a 11 solid particles have been reduced to microscopic size, thus releasing a greater proportion of the nut oil.

Taking the peanut still a step farther, Dr. Jack H. Mitchell, former head of the biochemistry section of the institute, has produced a stable watery emulsion of extremely finely ground peanuts, suited as bases for many nut food products. These emulsions, sweetened, flavored and frozen, produce a food rich in nutrition and of a texture similar to ice cream.

The product has characteristics ranging from those of milk to those of a thick custard. It can be a base for many easily prepared food variations and drinks.

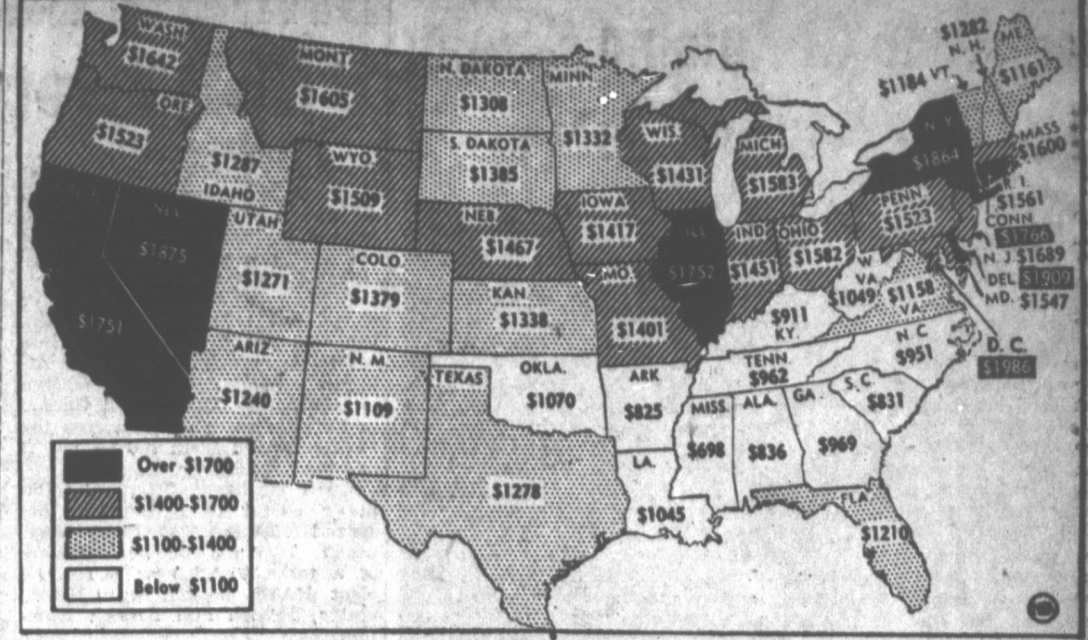

Any desired nutritive balance can be achieved in the mentioned confections through supplementary vitamins, amino acids, minerals, etc. The minute size of the solid nut particles makes for more ready digestion than any other nut products and the emulsion may serve as a substitute for milk or cream in many cases.

As in real ice cream, egg yolk may be added to increase the whipping qualities when making frozen confections. The new product also will be used to make custard-like preparations for pies and other bakery products.

This new angle on the peanut looks promising not only to the gourmet, but to the peanut farmer and to the government, now faced with a peanut surplus.

And also possible is a dry concentrate which may be packaged, shipped and stored to be used as needed, without special processing or refrigeration before the addition of the water.

Here's Where the Money Goes

Newmap above shows average per capita income for each state for 1950 as reported by the U. S. Department of Commerce. National per capita average was $1436, representing a gain of $118, or 9 per cent over 1949—making it the highest dollar total in history. The percentage increase per person was greater than average rise in prices, but extra taxes cut the consumer's margin of difference.

War Criminals To Be Released

Most of the 12 men had been serving 10-year terms which began early in 1946. They include a navy captain, a major, a captain, enlisted men and civilians.

logical warfare; planes and submarines and aircraft carriers given unlimited range by atomic engines; ships firing guided missiles with atomic explosives and torpedoes which uncannily hunt down enemy ships.

What all this amounted to was a proposal that the American military break with tradition, relegate present weapons to secondary roles and rely on the new atomic fury for waging war.

The Pentagon displayed instant interest. Within an hour after McMahon spoke, the Pentagon had copies of the text under close scrutiny.

Did it mean the Army or the Navy or the Air Force or all of them would be smaller? (McMahon put strong emphasis on cutting national defense cost.)

How much revamping of tactics and strategy would be required for a military organization using atomic weapons as primary armament?

The Air Force now has bomber units trained and equipped for using atomic bombs. The Army is putting a combat unit into actual atomic explosion tests in Nevada. The Navy has carried and air crews trained for atomic bomb use.

But all of this, except perhaps in the case of the Air Force, has been directed toward use of atomic weapons only as a special-duty work, not as the standard major armament.

What McMahon proposes is a "revolution in military firepower."

But no one expects, nor does McMahon suggest, that the transition will be abrupt or that all present weapons will disappear from American armament.

The last great revolution in firepower was the invention of gunpowder. But hundreds of years later the spear, made obsolete by the bullet, still exists in the form of the bayonet.

McMahon estimates it will take three years to get into mass production of atomic bombs. It will take at least that long or much longer to produce some of the other weapons he mentions.

What about making atomic bombs in limitless quantity? Perhaps one vitally important material will be the thorium mentioned by Rep. Durham (D-NC), vice chairman of the Senate-House Atomic committee. Thorium in itself isn't fissionable and won't provide chain reaction, but it can be worked with uranium 235 to produce U-238, an ingredient for bombs.

Some thorium comes from sands in a few American states. Brazil has some. India has substantial resources.

A new machine — called a breeder reactor — is designed to make it possible to convert thorium and U-238 into fissionable materials at an efficient rate. U-238 makes up more than 99 percent of the world's uranium, but it is not fissionable in its natural state.

McMahon, who pitched his speech to the idea that such atomic might in the hands of the United States would deter Russia from launching war, said: "I am horrified at the final implications of the atomic arms race. I shudder to think of the little packages of pent-up disaster that we call atomic bombs being multiplied and mass-produced on a staggering scale."

His statement was kindred to a question which has been troubling military men since the strategic bombings of World War II:

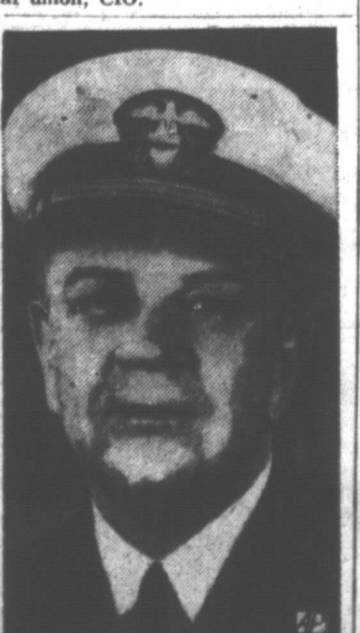

Is it better to destroy, to obliterate an enemy nation or to defeat the armed forces of the enemy and occupy the country?

If the United States forges the massive atomic instrument proposed by McMahon, it probably will be in position to do either.

British - Controlled Egypt Vital Spot In NATO Plan

By FRED ZUSY

FAYID, Egypt — (AP) — The North Atlantic council plan to set up a Middle East defense system brought into sharp focus today this sun-baked desert strip alongside the Suez canal.

This is a sovereign part of Egypt but is under British control and Egypt is hostile to British military rule. The North Atlantic council decision at Ottawa to incorporate Turkey and Greece in its defense setup — across the Mediterranean from here — put it in the spotlight.

Fayid is headquarters and the nerve center of Britain's wide-spread Middle East Army command. It could be headquarters of a talked-about new Middle East NATO branch with United States, British and French backing.

But nowhere more than here is it apparent that a successful execution of a new Middle East defense plan depends on the attitude of Egypt.

British troops operate a great military supply base that stretches along the 104-mile canal under terms of the Anglo-Egyptian defense alliance signed in 1936 to run 20 years.

Egypt's Prime Minister and foreign minister have announced they will denounce the treaty soon, Egypt demands that the area immediately.

But the British say that because of the world tensions they can't abandon this base and its supplies and facilities. They say there is no substitute within reach that could supply the necessary labor, materials and portable water.

It is certain the British feel the canal area would be the backbone of any Middle East NATO.

The big question is whether Egypt will go along with this. Military leaders say there are three primary factors to consider in Middle East defense:

- 1 — The oil riches of the Persian Gulf.
- 2 — The Suez canal, the world's most used ocean shortcut.
- 3 — The "Bastion" of Turkey as a strong defense position.

Any defense against Russian aggression would have to hold the line on these three.

As envisioned among military experts, a top board of the Middle East Defense command would plan grand strategy coordinating defense forces available among its members.

The board would funnel military supplies, chiefly from the United States, to the member countries. These supplies would be expected to start soon although it would be recognized that Europe must have priority.

But, there are several problems to be worked out.

Although Turkey is expected to be the keystone, Turkey is reported anxious to identify itself with Europe rather than the Middle East.

Egypt might be jealous of Turkey's leadership. The Egyptians emerged only last century from a long and oppressive Turkish vice-regal rule.

Another factor is the hatred of the Arab states for Israel. Proposed plans would certainly call for Israeli participation.

British spokesmen decline to give the facts and figures on the base here. Informants have said in the past, however, there are from 30,000 to 40,000 troops and civilian personnel. There are believed to be 150 separate military depots crammed with material.

One estimate in the past valued the buildings and supplies at nearly a half billion dollars.

The base could expand rapidly in war. There are hospitals, food depots, leave and rest camps, stores of gas and oil.

You-Grind-It Telephones Are Hot Stuff For Getting Fish

HUGO, Okla. — (AP) — You-grind-it-telephones are being used by folk in these parts to put mess of fish on their tables — and not by calling the corner market.

Chinese Patrols Are Little Worry

PASIGHAT, India — (AP) — Hill tribes in this rocky-peaked Assam border country live within shooting distance of the Chinese patrolling India's Tibetan frontier — but that's the least of their worries.

Communists, they say, could hardly match the damage inflicted by nature in the great Assam earthquake of August 15, 1950. Entire villages disappeared. Deaths exceeded 5,000. Landslides and earth tremors which have still not stopped churned up precious patches of mountainside farmland.

For the 300,000 tribesmen of the Abhor hills and Mishmi hills belt, the past year has offered little but the hard work of reconstruction. Many are refugees who have started anew here and at other settlements where the hills and jungle flatlands meet.

They are telephoning for fish — and getting them on the end of their lines.

The fishermen don't get a "number please" from an operator although they are cranking the old-style telephones.

This fishing is based on sending an electrical charge through the water, and shocking them into unconsciousness.

Haskell Watson, a state game and fish ranger, says there's no trick to making the gear in this atomic-age.

The fishermen takes the crack phone, extends two wires out of it, attaches them to two large squares of screen — and then they're ready to fish.

They drop the screens to the bottom of a lake or stream, give a couple of healthy cranks on the phone.

"After the shock," Watson says, "the fish come to the top like a wild Brahma."

"The fish jump to the top of the water," he adds, "and the rodless angler nabs them in a net."

Watson says there's no accurate way to measure the number of fish being landed by the telephone route.

"But," he explains, "when they catch from 300 to 400 pounds a day, you know an awful lot of fish are being pulled out of Southeast Oklahoma streams. And the old-style phones are a premium in the area since the new fad in fishing began a month ago.

"Between 75 and 100 phone sets are being used to fish here now," he says.

Then he adds: "It has been reported that in areas where old style phones are still in use, the owners take them off the wall, go fishing, and then return to install their phone and call their neighbors to tell about the catch." The ranger says it's legal to catch all but game fish by the new system.

Under Sheriff Bob McDonel says no complaints have been filed. "That's probably," he explains, "because everyone who can get a phone has gone fishin'."

Ask Me Another

NEW YORK — (AP) — An information searching machine to answer questions by scanning 1,000 records per minute has been developed by the International Business Machines Corp.

This super-gadget combines the electronic principles of the "mechanical brain" business machine with a new mechanical "language" of 792 characters. Photoelectric eyes read scientific information from punched cards.

Information contained in books and technical literature is converted into machine language on cards. When a question card is placed in the machine, the answer or index to where the answer can be found is automatically given.

Jap TV Coming

TOKYO — (AP) — The Japan Broadcasting Corp. will begin television broadcasts four hours daily beginning April 1, 1952.

Studios will be set up in the present JBC radio stations in Tokyo and Osaka. Programs will be transmitted on to kilowatt beams from towers constructed on top of the two stations. The decision to begin broadcasts next spring was made after an announcement that a commercial TV broadcasting station would be constructed by private interests early next year.

The JBC broadcasts will be strictly on an experimental basis. Tentative plans call for the use of mobile sets in various districts to give the people of Tokyo and Osaka a chance to see the programs. Only a few TV sets are privately owned in Japan now. Most of them were bought in anticipation of TV broadcasts in the near future.

Malaya Terrorists Face Starvation

KUALA LUMPUR — (AP) — Red terrorists in the northern part of Selangor state in Malaya are getting hard up for food. One of them, who surrendered, told authorities that his gang was so short of food that many of its members had taken to eating fruit seeds as a substitute for rice.

Terrorists generally throughout Malaya, are finding it more difficult to squeeze food supplies out of villagers living on the fringes of the dense jungles.

That's because more and more villagers are telling police whereabout of terrorists, and their jungle hideouts are quickly raided. The government also is restricting village food supplies.

Paper From Grass

CANBERRA — (AP) — Arthur Neville, a 76-year-old western Australian farmer, believes Australian buffalo grass and New Guinea Kunai grass can be used to make high quality paper.

Neville arrived in Sydney recently carrying a big bundle of buffalo grass which he brought from the Northern Territory. He told reporters that the grass had plenty of cellulose, but that it must be boiled in caustic soda at 600 degrees F. for more than four hours to be effective as a source of paper. He said he intends to submit samples to the Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organization for testing.

Hungary Abolishes Academic Titles

BUDAPEST — (AP) — Hungary has abolished the hitherto existing system of university graduation, following "the Soviet Union's advanced, scientific example."

University graduates will not become doctors, but only "certificated physicians" or "certificated jurists" in the future, a government decree ordered. The "doctor of sciences" grade will be the highest a person may get for scientific work of high degree, while lesser merit will be awarded with the "candidate of sciences" title. A candidate may apply for the doctor title if he can present a doctor's work, based on independent scientific research and "defends it in a public debate."

A special committee set up by Hungary's scientific academy will decide about such applications. University and high school professors may request the committee to determine whether the doctor of the candidate degree is due to them. Those who attained a doctor title in the past may keep it, the decree said.

VARIATIONS ON AN OLD THEME—A different view of Washington crossing the Delaware? No, it's UN correspondents crossing the Imjin in Korea. The newsmen had been to Kaesong to witness an exchange of messages between Communist and UN commanders, when a flash flood washed away their bridge, forced them to paddle their own boat back to camp. S-S-SWOO-O-O-SH!—Rammed into the air with the help of JATO (jet-assisted take-off), a heavy-laden F-80 Shooting Star is off on a mission in Korea, spewing a double vapor stream from beneath its belly. Besides its normal armament, the plane carries a 500-pound demolition bomb under each wing. (U. S. Air Force photo from Acme.)

Depletion Allowance Upheld By Monroney in Senate Talk

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.) has defended the 27 1/2 percent oil depletion allowance for income tax purposes in a Senate debate with Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.).

Oil Paves Pathway To World Peace

By MAC ROY RASOR
AUSTIN — (AP) — Oil has meant many things to many men — riches, adventure, better machines, faster transportation.

The Senate Finance committee has approved the 27 1/2 percent allowance as did the House.

The allowance saves oil and mining interests upwards of $750,000,000 a year and 55 cents out of every dollar goes to oil companies, the Senator said.

The 27 1/2 percent allowance has been important in preventing hundreds of thousands of farmers, small landowners and royalty owners from losing their one asset — oil in the ground.

The provision that has permitted drilling to reach its highest peak should not be abolished because one or two wealthy men may have found ways to escape taxation, he said.

He said repeal of the provision would prevent maximum recovery from "stripper" wells, those now producing only a barrel or two daily.

Pointing out that it is the small operator, not big companies, that usually find oil by drilling, he said a large part of the financing is done by bank loans and that if it were not for the 27 1/2 percent allowance, few banks would be interested in loans.

Half Of Intents To Drill Located In Gray County

Eight intentions to drill in Gray county were included among 16 intents filed with the Texas Railroad commission last week.

In addition, three Gray county completions were filed among the eight filed with the commission. However, Sherman county led in gas completions during the same period, while Gray county counted only one gas completion.

Of 30 completions, Sherman had 24, Wheeler county, three, Hansford county two, and Gray one.

Woven through the entire fabric of his report to Acheson was a repetition and emphatic peace thread.

"The oil industry is vastly more important to the safety and well being of this entire world than most people in government and some even in the oil industry fully realize," he said.

He saw two possible avenues bringing world peace through oil: 1 — Without war — stressed an essential full understanding of the problems of all nations through free-speaking world oil conferences.

2 — Under threat of war — stressed adequate United States oil reserves to keep a powerful war machine potential from stalling out in crisis.

"The value of the exchange of information and ideas resulting from this congress are beyond measure," he told Acheson. "The World Petroleum congress presents the only forum where the scientists of all the world who are engaged in the petroleum industry can come together and discuss their common problems. There could be no greater contribution made to the peace than that which will result from full understanding of the problems of each nation of the earth in connection with petroleum."

But for national security, Thompson would not rely on conferences alone.

This nation's reserve producing ability of 400,000 barrels a day is not enough, he said, for perfect safety and security. He estimated it will take a million barrels.

"We cannot depend upon foreign oil for our national security and freedom. We must go forward with ever-increasing vigor in our search for oil in the United States and the Americas, north and south, in order that we may have plenty of petroleum for the ever-increasing demands of our own economy and for national security in times of emergency."

"It is said that we floated to victory on a sea of oil in World War I. Certainly World War II demonstrated that we must have gasoline and oil in order to fight successful battles.

"The Germans ran out of gasoline and their war machine stalled."

The concluding sentence in the report said: "I believe just as firmly that petroleum can help oil the pathway to peace in our progress in this world."

Sooner Oil Fields Barely Hit 100 Mark

TULSA — (AP) — Oklahoma oil field completions and new tests barely toed the 100 mark last week.

The Tulsa World found 100 final reports to 103 a week ago and 106 first reports against the previous 112.

Among the completions were 43 oil wells, three gasers and 54 dusters. The average initial production of crude was 4,098 barrels daily; of gas, 4,297,000 cubic feet a day.

Aid For Rubber

KUALA LUMPUR — (AP) — Hormone treatment may give a big boost to the production of latex in the Federation of Malaya.

Producers claim that commercial production of a recently discovered stimulant would increase the yield of latex from rubber trees by 20 percent annually.

The stimulant is said to be a combination of plant hormones in an oil base. Although new to the rubber industry, plant hormones now have numerous uses in other branches of agriculture, including the preservation of potatoes in storage, rooting of cuttings and the prevention of the early fall of fruit.

Tools To Wage War Become Complex

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — There's more than inflation to blame for the high cost of the modern arms Uncle Sam is buying in great numbers today.

War, especially in the air, has become infinitely more complex than it was during World War II. And so have the tools with which to wage it.

The difference between the in-bards of a modern, sleek, super-speed fighter plane, and one of World War II, vintage of the same type, is a convincing reason why taxes are going up.

One of the "hottest" planes the Air Force is buying today is the Northrop all-weather jet fighter, the F-88 Scorpion. It's one of the fastest operational planes the Air Force flies, with speeds nudging the 700-mile-per-hour bracket. Its World War II counterpart was the famed P-61 Black Widow fighter.

A comparison of the two planes starts with an approximate cost of each. The F-88 is being ordered to the Air Force for about $880,000. The P-61 was bought for a little over $220,000, or one-fifth the cost of the new jet.

Each one of these devices took years to develop and is extremely expensive to manufacture. Yet they are now all essential to modern military flying.

In addition to those highly complex electronic devices the F-88 requires approximately 23,000 feet (6 1/2 miles) of various kinds of electrical wire. The required 18,000 feet (3 1/2 miles).

The extremely high speed of the F-88 makes necessary several other expensive features. All antennas for the various radio and radar sets have to be built inside the plane or made flush with the plane's surfaces.

The high altitude with the high speed require pressurized cockpits with a complicated air conditioning system built into the plane. It must provide instant hot air as well as fast refrigeration.

For crew safety in case a bailout is necessary, the plane has a canopy over the cockpit which can be blown off with an explosive charge. The seats also are equipped with the explosive ejection device.

The landing gear on the F-88 is made to come up and down very fast. This requires an extremely high-pressure hydraulic system. The plane also requires another complete hydraulic system for the control surfaces. A pilot doesn't have enough strength to move the controls manually at the high speeds of the F-88.

All those features of the F-88, which the P-61 didn't have, are in the non-classified category. The secret electronics gear and radar on the F-88 are far more complex than that in the P-61.

Carry Out Mulch And Feeding Plans For Your Garden Now

By HENRY FREE
Written for NEA Service
This is one of the most critical periods for the vegetable garden. The first really dry weather can be expected and insects of every sort will find some way to creep into the garden.
Mulching of many of our garden plants with leaves, straw, hay or well-rotted manure not only keeps down weeds but also conserves moisture during the hot weather.
Mulching is not new, yet it is something that is not practiced enough. The mulching of tomatoes will aid in equally distrib-ing the moisture over a longer period of time and will help to control blossom-end rot and the dropping off of blossoms in the early stage of the plant growth.

Mulches are also excellent around eggplants and peppers and have been used to advantage between the rows of root crops.
Another important phase of summer gardening is the proper feeding of plants. All the text books in the world can not tell you exactly how much plant food your plants need.
During periods of heavy rains, commercial fertilizer is leached away and is out of reach of the plants, especially in light soils. Therefore, supplementary feedings must be made.
The old gardener recommends using a liquid fertilizer. This is made by mixing three cups of fertilizer and 12 quarts of water. It is applied at the rate of one pint per plant or one pint for each three feet of row as a side dressing.
There are two values in using liquid fertilizer. It becomes more quickly available to the plants and also aids with the watering problem in dry seasons.
With only a few exceptions July is the best time for seed sowing, and if the early crops that have passed the useful stage are removed, you can provide additional space for the seed sowing.
The soil must be prepared once more, and the addition of manure or fertilizer will greatly help the quality of the fall crop.
What to do with the garden refuse? Throw it away or make use of it. Untold amounts of good plant food are thrown away or burned every year.
What comes out of the earth should go back into it, and the more of it that we can return in the form of humus the less need there is to add manures and fertilizers.
Any vegetable matter that will decay in the course of a year can be placed in a compost pile to be added as humus to the garden. What are the peculiar-looking caterpillars fastened to our Arbovitae in a tiny bag-like mass of dried leaves? They are eating the foliage. — V. R.
A — They are bagworms and white found on many trees are especially damaging to arbovitae, cedar and willows. Severe infestations can kill the plants so spray with arsenate of lead or DDT. If SKY LIGHTS — Aerial traffic lights are a new feature of the Boeing KB-29 and KC-97 tankers that refuel bombers in mid-air. Here, a mechanic at Renton, Wash., checks over the one green and four red lights which automatically tell the receiver plane's pilot when his ship is in and out of position to transfer fuel. The new lights enable the Air Force to gain in night refueling operations.

Spradberry Trend Operators To Meet

FORT WORTH — A meeting of all operators in the vast Spradberry Trend of West Texas has been called here Wednesday by Arch Rowan, Fort Worth oil man.
Rowan called the meeting to discuss the advisability of making recommendations to the railroad commission for temporary changes or adoption of field rules applicable to the development of the producing area in Howard, Martin, Borden, Midland, Glasscock, Upton and Reagan counties.
Only a few are present, hand pick and destroy.

Q — What insects attacking dahlias do we have to guard against and what spray or dust is recommended? — L. V.

A — Dahlias are subject to attacks by leafhoppers, red spider, thrips, aphids and European corn borer. Aphids are controlled by spraying with a Black-Leaf 40 soapy water solution; for the others spray every 10 days with a mixture containing methoxychlor.

To reduce the possibility of carrying the borers over winter, pick off and destroy infested blooms and burn old stalks at the end of the season.
