Says War No Stalemate:

Gen. Marshall Pays Surprise Visit To Korean Front Lines

TOKYO (AP)— U. S. Defense Secretary George C. Marshall paid a surprise visit to the Korean war front today while big allied guns fought a long range duel with Chinese batteries in front of Chorwon.

Marshall said any peace moves would have to come from Red China. He is seeking more United Nations troops to support the allied drive.

The Korean campaign is not a stalemate, he said. It's a "military classic."

Pool Opens Saturday

In just a few hours it will be swimming time again.

At 1 p. m tomorrow (Saturday) the gates of Pampa's municipal swimming pool will open for the summer season, complete with pool manager and three life guards.

Marshall E. Searl, of the water and sewer department, was appointed manager of the pool for the season. He will be assisted by three full time life guards, Reggy Mayo, Edward Dudley and Robert Kelly.

Although no extensive renovations have been made to the pool this year some new grass has been sown and several feet of concrete added to the surrounding sidewalk.

The pool was cleaned and filled this week while Searl and the three guards put the finishing touches to last minute preparation to the pool and dressing rooms.

Communists Tunneling Into Korea Hills To Escape Bombs

FIFTH AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS, Korea — (DE-AYED) — Communist troops are tunneling into the hills of North Korea to escape sudden death from allied planes.

Maj. Gen. Frank F. Everest, Fifth Air Force commanding general, said today, "The Reds are using railroad tunnels, mine shafts and caves to hide at the first track of dawn."

But the graying general said the Chinese Communists have snatched citizen labor, their soldiers, too, are digging hide holes for the simple reason that they want to save their own lives.

"Men being bombed, napalmed and strafed the way those Chinese soldiers are naturally dig into the hills to hide," said Col. Cecil H. Scott, Fifth Air Force chief of staff.

"They are digging everywhere they can."

The system of hide-aways, Scott said, extends far back behind the frontlines. The Reds employ old mines, railroad tunnels and even caves to hide their vehicles and big guns during the day.

Where these are lacking, laborers tunnel into the hills.

A favorite stunt is to scoop out several tunnels leading vertically into a ravine.

"This keeps a pilot from making a straight-in pass at the tunnel's mouth," said Scott, of Fort Worth, Tex.

A few days ago a flight of four Fifth Air Force fighter-bombers chased a battalion of soldiers into a railway tunnel, he recalled.

Acheson Refutes Statement UN Not Fighting Communism

WASHINGTON (AP)— A United Nations Ambassador John Muccio once said the United Nations are not fighting communism in Korea was revived today at the Senate MacArthur inquiry. Secretary of State Acheson testified Muccio had said the report was "entirely incorrect."

Acheson was back in the witness chair for the seventh day at the hearings by the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees on the dismissal of Gen. MacArthur.

Senator Bridges (R-N.H.) told Acheson he had received a letter from Rep. Hugh D. Scott Jr. (R-Pa.) repeating charges that Ambassador Muccio tried to "convince me we were not fighting communism." Scott visited Korea last year.

Acheson said Muccio is "one of our very finest men in the department" but that if it were proved he was "expressing thoughts which were unfair to the policy of the government or disloyal or anything else" he should be fired.

Scott's charges first came out last year.

White Deer Disaster Fund To Get Underway Here

Action Taken This Morning

Pampa will go to the aid of storm-stricken White Deer by collecting a disaster fund, according to a decision made this morning at a citizens' meeting in the Chamber of Commerce office.

The meeting was called after numerous inquiries came to the chamber and newspaper from citizens who wished to contribute financial aid to the tornado ravaged community.

The fund got underway yesterday when Cabot Carbon Co. made a $1000 donation to White Deer as an emergency measure.

Hugh Burdette, Cabot vice-president, said the contribution was made because, "we felt those people needed help at once."

Named this morning to administer the fund were: W. B. Weathered, chairman, Ivy Duncan, Ralph Jullard, Floyd Imel and Mayor C. A. Huff.

No solicitation will be made but those wishing to contribute

The White Deer tornado has brought the "good neighbor" policy closer to four White Deer families.

Two families whose homes were destroyed in the White Deer tornado are getting settled in new homes today, with fellow employees and friends giving pieces of furniture and helping salvage the little furnishings left by the storm.

Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Taylor have moved into a house at 423 N. Wynne and Mr. and Mrs. Nolan A. Keahy have moved to 317 Rider.

Arrangements are also being completed to move Mr. and Mrs. Harry I. Hughes into a house at 415 N. Wynne, and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie T. Smith into a residence at 1515 Hamilton.

All men are employees of Cabot Carbon Co. and lived in White Deer. Disaster victims were not here today to comment on the damage to their White Deer homes, but it is thought that they were completely or partially destroyed.

At least one and probably more company employees are thought to have lost his home and possessions in the storm, but no official word had been released on that at 11 a.m. today.

Meat Industry Fears Worst Beef Shortage Since Last World War

Cattle Remaining At Home On Range

CHICAGO (AP)— The nation's major livestock markets completed their dulllest week of cattle trading in more than three years today and some areas faced their worst retail beef shortage since the war.

The number of cattle sent to market in the 12 biggest livestock centers this week totaled only 122,100. This is the lowest receipts since the week ended April 2, 1948.

Last week 141,600 head of cattle were offered and a year ago 167,700.

But the light receipts is only a part of the retail beef shortage. The big packers have taken only a small portion of the limited offerings. Small packers and order buyers who shipped the animals East took the bulk of the cattle sold at the Chicago stockyards.

This could cause an eventual disruption in the normal chain of supply, with some cities or states facing considerably more than others, as reserve meat stocks become depleted.

Only 5,400 head of cattle arrived at the 12 principal markets today — normally a light trading day. But it showed the trend in receipts still is downward. Last Friday receipts totaled 6,300.

Sharp beef shortages will appear in butcher shops in many cities next week, some packing industry spokesmen predicted.

In Chicago, some of the big chain stores said consumers were ordering larger cuts and quantities of meat in an obvious attempt to stock up before the shortage becomes fully effective. Most of the chains said the (See NATION, Page 2)

DiSalle Firm In Refusal To Hold Beef Line

WASHINGTON (AP)— Price Director Michael V. DiSalle stood firm today in his refusal to budge from his decision to roll back beef prices twice more by fall.

The Department of Agriculture, meanwhile, said uncertainty over the future of the price program may be influencing farmers to hold back on sale of beef cattle. Authority for economic controls is contained in the National Defense Act due to expire June 30 unless extended by Congress.

Reports from major livestock markets show marketings have dropped sharply from recent levels and from levels of a year ago. Because of this situation, beef supplies may be short in butcher shops in many areas next week.

President Truman checked the beef price dispute to DiSalle at his news conference yesterday. He added that no pressure—presumably meaning from the White House — is being put on DiSalle to abandon rollbacks set for Aug. 1 and Oct. 1. Earlier, Mr. Truman had said he approved the beef order in advance and would stand behind it.

DiSalle told reporters: "The rollbacks will go through on schedule. The beef price regulations will stand as written. There will be no change."

DiSalle said consumers have to (See DI SALLE, Page 2)

Group Charges Communists In California Universities

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)— "Lack of information by educational administrators and faculty members concerning the real nature and activities of the Communist Party."

It cited the death of a UCL student as offering documentary evidence that there is a Red network in the school system and death may be the penalty for those who break with the party.

The committee's chief counsel is E. M. Combs of Visalia, president of a Los Angeles autopsy report to support his contention that the student, Everett Hudson, was slain to keep him from spilling Communist secrets. Hudson was found dead in the basement of a college dormitory.

"As to the infiltration charge—There can not be the slightest doubt about the existence of student Communist organizations at the University of California at Berkeley and Los Angeles. (Two campuses)

"There is also a student Communist unit at Stanford; one at the University of Southern California and others at various state colleges, junior colleges and some of the larger high schools throughout the state."

Letter No Clue To Missing Diplomats

LONDON (AP)— The Foreign office said today messages bearing the names of two missing British diplomats—and sent from Paris by a mysterious third person — fall to give a single clue as to their present whereabouts.

William Radsdale, head of the foreign office news department, said three messages to relatives here appeared to have been composed by the vanished Britons, but were not in their handwriting.

In Paris, the newspaper France Soir said the missing pair — Donald Duart MacLean, head of the American department of the Foreign Office, and Guy Burgess, until recently at the British Embassy in Washington — may now be in Warsaw. The paper said French army intelligence officers hold this theory. French police said they did not know where the men are, but expressed belief they had not left France.

"If all our theories about their disappearance were laid end to end they'd take up a lot of space," said Radsdale.

There is fear, both in London and in Washington, that the two may have taken top-level defense secrets behind the Iron Curtain, straining British-American relations.

Some movements of the two men now have been traced. They left Southampton on May 25, MacLean's 38th birthday, aboard the weekend excursion boat, The Falaise. The boat put in at St. Malo, in Brittany, the next day. The two went ashore and did not return. They left bags bearing their names in their cabins, Scotland yard was informed.

French police reported the two apparently reached Paris by automobile.

advance over ridges; or 1 in at all.
The day-long artillery duel created on the western front within ear shot of where Marshall conferred with top UN field commanders.
Allied shells screamed down from the heights into Chorwon, ripped escape roads and burst in hills where the Reds were entrenched.

The Reds' bunkers were bulwarked with seven layers of logs and piled high with sandbags. Chinese opened flood gates Thursday in an effort to wash out the allied attack. And they fought with a new type anti-tank gun capable of piercing five inches of armor.

"I think they are going all out to defend Chorwon," a UN officer said.
When they could get through the rain clouds, UN warplanes swooped in with jelled gasoline bombs to try to burn the Chinese out of their holes.

The area, known as the "Iron Triangle," was blanketed with fragmentation bombs last night by 23 UN bombers. They used radar technique. Far East Air Forces said 9,665,950 bomb fragments splattered over the triangle in "one of the heaviest operations of its kind."

There were signs the Reds were shifting their weight eastward from the triangle. UN officers said the shift indicated the Reds were moving toward Wonsan, east coast port at the head of Pyongyang valley. Wonsan has been shelled daily by allied warships for nearly four months. It is about 85 air miles north of the 38th parallel.

Fiercest fighting was east of the triangle in the Yanggu-Inje area. Allied infantrymen clawed up ridges. With grenades and bayonets they dug North Koreans out of fortified dugouts and deep foxholes where they have withstood artillery and bombing for days.

Humorist Is Lions' Speaker

"If you have a song to sing and it is a joke to tell, make people laugh all you can" was a part of the message brought to Lions Club Thursday by Dr. Leon Hill, humorist and lecturer, and a former Baptist minister.

Dr. Hill gave the men a new way to think of America as a spirit of freedom, a way of life, a democracy by trial and error and its people who are awed at nothing except God. "It is a place where a man can do what he likes to do best, unafraid and daring anyone to stop him."

"A rebirth of this freedom needs to be felt in America's service clubs and members of these clubs need to get away from this keyed-up feeling that will not let them laugh." Dr. Hill said that we are losing the sense of laughter that has made our land what it is—and the world as it is today is not worth this loss.

Keeping his audience laughing throughout his talk, Dr. Hill advised the group to start to laugh and sing again and not let material necessities to weigh them down.

Murray Seeley was in charge of the program and introduced the speaker.

Eugene Richardson, acting mayor at White Deer, told The News this morning that a meeting would be held this afternoon for the purpose of setting up a committee to handle any funds that might be given by cities such as Pampa.

Meanwhile a marvel of temporary rehabilitation work was still being effected at White Deer this morning as the shock of Wednesday night's erratic tornado began to wear off.

All of the homeless have been housed and a carload of tents and tarpaulins, sent by the Fourth Army, will be returned — unused.

Sheriff Clarence Williams reported "everything going along as good as can be expected this morning." He added that debris and rubble is rapidly being cleared away by volunteer work crews. By 8:45 p. m. yesterday Sheriff Williams told Lt. Charles Robinson, commander of the Pampa National Guard forces, that all personal effects had been stored safely and there was no longer any need for patrolling against looters. The guards' long vigil was finished. They packed up their equipment and headed for Pampa getting home by 10:15 p. m. The guard fed workers and homeless breakfast, dinner and supper Wednesday.

H. C. Freeman, of the White Deer Bank, this morning reported all utilities back in service except some telephone lines.

One of the town's biggest headaches is the school system. Freeman said the system suffered "close to a million dollars damage and about $300,000 in insurance to cover its losses."

Arrangements for schooling this fall are incomplete — in fact, have not been started other than some suggestions as to using the churches for older students and private homes for the elementary grades.

Mrs. Ralph Randel, chairman of the Carson County Red Cross chapter, said financial contributions for the storm wrecked community will be accepted by the Red Cross, but that a special fund raising drive would not be launched. All checks, she added, should be made payable to the Carson County Chapter, American Red Cross.

So far as clothing is concerned, Mrs. Randel asked that none be sent unless they are approved by the chapter or by H. M. Nichols, disaster chairman. A survey by disaster workers revealed that apparently little, if any, clothing would be needed.

A rough estimate that the storm caused a total of $1,250,000 damage was made by Sheriff Clarence Williams after a survey was made of the affected area yesterday. This same survey counted 32 homes totally demolished, and 45 damaged — damage ranging from a few broken windows in homes at the edge of the storm to homes losing a roof or other serious damage. Amount of insurance on homes was unavailable.

The Salvation Army canteen was still in operation today feeding relief workers, the chore of feeding victims was completed yesterday after gas service was restored to the town and victims were housed with relatives or friends.

In contrast to the heavy property damage toll, only 13 persons were injured, four of them still in hospitals late yesterday. All of the injuries, outside of shock, were minor. A complete list of those requiring first aid or hospitalization was compiled yesterday. The injured are:

Mrs. E. B. Palmer, 99, only a few weeks from her centennial anniversary.
Mrs. V. B. Weinberger, her daughter.
Mrs. Leila Moss, 73.

expect beef to be extremely scarce by Monday.
Some independent stores already were reported to have felt the beef pinch. Butchers in the independents and chains were emphasizing pork, poultry and fish, supplies of which are relatively plentiful.

Marketing and slaughtering by many of the big packers fell far below normal this week. Cattle receipts at the country's 12 principal live stock markets this week were nearly 25 percent below that of the corresponding week a year ago.

Only 14,000 head of cattle were offered for sale at the 12 markets yesterday, making this week's total 110,700, in the same period a year ago receipts were 161,500.

Small packers and order buyers did most of the buying. The big packers say that government ceilings on the average monthly maximum price they can pay for cattle are forcing them out of the market. These ceilings are 10 percent below late April levels.

But Michael Howlett, Chicago regional director of the Office of Price Stabilization, said the big packers are "trying to force Congress to eliminate controls on meat."

The Producers Live Stock Marketing Assn., representing 75,000 farmers and stockmen, and a spokesman for the American Meat Institute, representing most of the packers, said they are "one that levelled Glazier and Higgins. That tornado was spawned near White Deer and traveled the usual northeasterly path, skipping Pampa, following the Santa Fe tracks, bypassing Canadian and then hit Glazier, Higgins and Woodward, Okla., leaving death and desolation in its wake."

The price stabilizer's declaration scotched reports that a compromise was in the offing under which the next two roll-backs of four to 12 percent each would be abandoned if the cattle industry gave up its fight against a 10 percent cutback which became effective last Monday. Disalle says the orders will cut retail prices about a dime a pound by October.

The meat packing industry, charged that government beef controls are threatening a black market.

Two of the country's biggest packers, Swift and Wilson — did not slaughter a single animal in their big Chicago plants yesterday. Armour and Co., another major packer, bought 39 head of cattle yesterday and reopened its beef slaughtering department which had been closed since Tuesday. However, a spokesman said, it may be closed again to allow until Tuesday unless there is an unexpected supply of cattle.

There were similar reports from other cities of pens empty of cattle and packers continuing slaughtering only a trickle of their normal quantity of cattle.

At night when the Chinese are now moving down for what may be another potential offensive, come on to the highways with their trucks and big guns, light bombers of the Fifth Air Force search them out at treetop level and plaster their columns with bombs, rockets and bullets.

Only 14 states of the Union permit vehicles wider than eight feet on streets and highways except under special short-time B-28 light bombers from South permits.

Korean bases and B-28 medium bombers from Japan and Okinawa seek troop and vehicle concentrations by night. They bomb road centers and main arteries leading south from Manchuria. "A truck is a mighty small target," any pilot will tell you, the daytime.
And night bombing has to be against large concentrations or accomplished by flare light to be effective.

Big Four Parley Rather Confused

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON — (AP) — There was a chance, but there's not much now, that this country and its allies could sit down and talk with Russia about some way of restoring peace to the world, peacefully.

They've been talking about it for three months now, but not really talking about ways of finding peace. They've really only been talking of how they later could talk about ways of finding it.

Now even the talk about talk seems hopeless. By going back a bit you can trace the road they followed to this dead end.

Because the western nations — the United States, Britain, France and nine others — were afraid of a Russian attack, they made a military alliance, the North Atlantic Pact, in April, 1949.

Congress voted money for arms for our Atlantic allies but insisted they must work out a unified plan for their defense. They rocked along in an unsensational way for about a year. But in June, 1950, communism made its first big aggressive move since that pact was signed. The move was not in Europe, but in Korea. This country and some of its allies threw men in to stop the aggression.

It was and is a serious fight and a serious test of the allies' unity and their ability to wage war. Their ability to wage war was a lot weaker than had been suspected.

Last September in New York Secretary of State Acheson met with the foreign ministers of the other 11 partner-nations and there they set up the machinery at last for really uniting, or working together, on military defense.

It was there, too, that Acheson suggested the allies arm some of the Germans and let them take their place in the allied ranks.

So the start was made and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was appointed supreme commander of this unified allied military force in Europe.

Then on Nov. 3, Russia, who eyed this Atlantic pact with misgivings, suggested that the foreign ministers of the Big Four — U. S., Britain, France, — meet to discuss the disarmament of Germany.

Right there the word-slugging began. For five months the Big Four, in a high-toned diplomatic way, exchanged notes among themselves on whether there should be such a meeting and what should be discussed.

(Russia said she wanted to talk about a number of things. For instance, on the "unification" of Germany where 18,000,000 Germans live in the eastern zone occupied by Russia and 20,000,000 live in the western zone occupied by the U. S., France, and Britain.)

Finally they agreed there'd be a meeting. But not a meeting of the foreign ministers. Just a meeting of deputy foreign ministers who'd draw up a list-called an agenda by the diplomats — of the things that the foreign ministers would talk about when they met.

So on March 5 the deputy foreign ministers — Philip C. Jessup represented the United States — sat down in Paris to begin talking about what the foreign ministers should talk about.

They have now met 65 times. The hair-splitting over words and phrases that went on in these meetings is almost unbelievable. Still, they reached some agreements on what the agenda for the foreign ministers should be. For example: "international tensions," peace treaties for Germany and Austria, and the problem of German disarmament.

But above everything, they disagreed on this: Russia wanted the Atlantic Pact placed on the agenda as something the foreign ministers would have to discuss when they met, plus the question of U. S. bases in Europe.

The U. S., France and Britain said nothing doing on this one. In effect, they said the Atlantic Pact was a pact between 12 allies and Russia wasn't one of them and they weren't going to put themselves in the position of having to talk about it.

And that one point above all brought up the old question of the chicken or the egg: was the Atlantic pact a threat to Russia? (Russia says it is.) or was Russia such a threat that the Atlantic Pact had to be created in self-protection? (The allies say that's the real answer.)

And that's where the four deputy foreign ministers in Paris ran into a dead end. The Paris

U. S. Beef Eaters Are In The Middle

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK — (AP) — The beef eater is in the middle again. Today comes the prediction of the meat packing industry that beef will disappear from butcher shops within a week or so, unless controls are relaxed. The beef eater, remembering what happened under similar circumstances when OPA was dying, may well worry less: another "meat strike" is in the making.

Consumers also have government assurances that there is plenty of beef available — and that the government intends to go on with its orders to roll back meat prices. Washington says a survey shows more meat around now than a month ago. And in many shops meat is now selling below ceiling prices.

But things are changing. Packers are laying off men because they haven't enough cattle to keep them busy. Price boss DiSalle says that's only because cattlemen are holding stock off the market to see if he is going on with his roll-back schedule. He says he is.

Talk of a compromise is in the air. Some say that cattlemen will accept the 10 percent price rollback which went into effect Monday, if the government will call off the next two, of 4.1-2 percent each, set for August 1 and October 1.

Feeders in the corn belt say that if the government will stop where things are now, feeders could buy more cattle, put them on grass to fatten and make a profit. They claim, however, that feeders will lose money on the cattle they bought to fatten since February. The rigid price rollback the government has announced, feeders contend, takes all the profit incentive out of building up herds.

The slowdown in slaughtering this week — with its threat of beef shortages in the butcher shops next week — is reflected in these figures: Monday less than 45,000 head reached the 12 leading markets, compared with 69,000 a year ago and 64,000 a week ago. Tuesday only 27,000 head were marketed, compared with nearly 43,000 a year ago, and 41,000 a week ago.

The American Meat Institute says packers can't get cattle because producers won't sell at the 10 percent rollback figure. The institute says this means scarcities in the butcher shop next week.

One packer predicts: "The great meat famine will be on." Another says: "There'll be beef, but black market beef."

He means that cattle will go on being slaughtered — feeders can't afford holding them — but that the slaughtering will be "behind the barn" or by strange new packing concerns. And prices will be higher than the ceiling.

Cattle still on the range can't stay there as long as feed conditions permit — and banks don't nudge the cattle raisers. But once the cattle moves into the market, the animal becomes an expense and must be sold some time, if only to cut losses.

The United States has more than 100 CAA-licensed mechanic schools.

Mack Sennett Says Television Laughs Are Not Up To Par

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Mack Sennett, longtime king of comedy, said today that television's laughs are not up to par.

"As a comedy medium, television has yet to find itself," said the film veteran.

"Today's television reminds me of the stage the movies were in when I was in burlesque many years ago. At that time, the burlesque houses would put on movie clips between the shows so the theater would be cleared out. They were called chasers."

"Of course television is technically more advanced now than the movies were in those days. But TV still has a long way to go."

Sennett said he watches the new medium in his Hollywood Boulevard apartment. He is amused by the excessive use of throwing, that form of humor which originated in his productions. And he is impressed by some of the new comics, notably Sid Caesar. But comic values are not fully realized on TV, he added.

"The comedy shows on television are actually a form of vaudeville," he remarked. "But they don't have the preparation that vaudeville had. Why, sometimes a performer would work 15 years on one act before hitting the bigtime on the Orpheum circuit or the Palace in New York."

"You can't just get together a few hours before the show and whip up a skit and expect it to be full of belly laughs," Sennett said. TV will not become a comedy medium until the shows are first put on film.

"You can't tell what is going to be funny until you see it," he reasoned. "If you photograph it and improvise your gags and cut the final version to take out the dull spots, then you can achieve the ultimate in laughs."

The producer has resisted offers for the use of his films on TV. He has a great many comedies with such figures as Charlie Chaplin, W. C. Fields and Bing Crosby.

"I'm in no hurry to sell," Sennett declared. "I don't believe television will come of age until some system is perfected to 'pay as you see.' People want to see the best movies on TV, but it is not economically possible now."

"The average cost of a Hollywood movie now is a round $750,000. Some cost more, some less, but that is the average. Then you have to figure getting double your cost back before you start making a profit. Thus the average film must bring in $1,500,000 before you start collecting. No television sponsor can afford that."

"But it would be economically sound if you could charge each viewer. If you could collect just 50 cents apiece from a potential 10,000,000 sets, you could make a handsome profit in one evening."

Sennett continues to be amazingly active. He takes part in the Hollywood night life and also plays 18 holes of golf. He is constantly sought for appearances at industry functions, such as the Screen Directors Guild banquet, at which he was made an honorary life member.

He is also in the process of rewriting his first novel, which he says is the hardest work he has ever undertaken.

Oilers Snap Losing Streak Win Over Abilene With Double

Payte Named To Try For Sweep Of Series With Hose

The "amazing Chicago White Sox" may be amazing the major leagues, but last night the Pampa Oilers did a little "amazing" of their own, snapping a five-game losing streak in a fashion unheard of before this season by the Oilers... knocking off the league-leading Abilene Blue Sox twice. The scores were 5-4 and 7-5.

For Abilene, the losses were only the tenth and eleventh losses against 31 wins.

Tonight the two clubs conclude the series with a single game starting at 8:15. The Oilers have nominated right-hander George Payte to try for his second win in as many nights. He was the ultimate winner in last night's first contest. The Blue Sox mound choice remained cloaked in unhappiness over last night's double dose of defeat.

Locke Leading Round Robin

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y. — (AP) — The field was trying to catch Fobby Locke as the second round of the Palm Beach Round Robin Golf Tournament started today.

The South African, twice a winner and once second in the event, emerged from the opening round yesterday with a point total of plus 16, four better than his closest rivals, Chick Harbert and Roberto de Vicenzo, the latter an Argentinean.

The event with its complex scoring system is conducted this way:

The 16 competing players play in foursomes for five rounds, with each player in a foursome competing against each other player at medal play. Player "A," for instance, might score a 70, and player "B" 73, giving player "A" plus 3 points and player "B" minus 3 points. The foursomes are scrambled each round so each man meets every other man during the tournament.

TV Debate Threatens To Split NCAA Wide Open

NEW YORK — (AP) — College athletic ranks threatened to split wide open today if Notre Dame decides to join the University of Pennsylvania in ignoring the National Collegiate Athletic Association's ban on unrestricted televising of home football games.

The Irish athletic board met today to consider the problem that has been high in college athletic discussions since the 1950 decline in attendance.

Informed sources said the council probably would decide to televise the four home games at South Bend, Ind., but might decide in making an immediate decision.

Notre Dame plays Indiana, Southern Methodist, Purdue and Iowa at home. The Dumont home games the last two years.

The university was said to have received $185,000 for the TV rights last season.

If Notre Dame joins Penn in breaking away from the NCAA plan of televising only one major game weekly in various sections of the country, then Army may be expected to join the revolt.

Col. Orrin C. Kreuger, Army graduate manager of athletics, said the military academy may put its own games on the screen "if everything breaks wide open."

Army has a gridiron date with Penn on Franklin Field Nov. 17.

Meantime, the NCAA answered Penn's duty in a presidential ruling that Penn is "a member not in good standing."

The ruling was announced by Dr. Hugh C. Willett, association president from the University of Southern California, and secretary-treasurer Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, also Western Conference commissioner.

The effect of ruling is that Penn will not be permitted to compete in any NCAA sponsored events. The edict, however, does not apply to football games.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULTON, JR.
NEW YORK — (AP) — Most meaningless statement recorded recently (in a business which abounds with empty remarks) was Prof. Hugo A. Willett's dictum that most of the colleges don't want the NCAA to be a regulatory body. In fact, they don't want to be regulated at all. And we've heard some complaints that the NCAA and the Eastern Conference are tight little, self-perpetuating political organizations in which "progressive" members don't stand a chance. The ECAC prevented a bust-up last January by voting against the sanity code. Still it wouldn't take much to make some schools say: "The heck with it; we'll save $200 dues."

PAIR IN PAR
In the current Colliers, Frank Stranahan lists the 10 toughest golf holes (in his opinion). And for Esquire, Tommy Arnold picks "the brain-straining 18" with emphasis on the necessity of planning each shot. They agree on just three: the short 16th out into the Ocean at Cypress Point; the heavily-trapped 13th at Sandwich, England, and the ocean-bordered 18th at Pebble Beach. Tommy also lists three holes at Oakmont (15, 16 and 18); 17 at Pebble Beach, 17 and 18 at Carnoustie, Scotland, and 5 and 13 at Pine Valley.

Frank's doubles are 10 and 12 at Augusta National and 10 and 14 on the No. 2 course at Pinehurst. What a heck of a cross-country tournament they could play on those courses! P.S.: We'll wager somebody will shot No. 16 at Saucon Valley after the Amateur next fall.

Eagles Finding South Is Tough

(By The Associated Press)
The South may have a reputation for friendly charm, but Dallas' baseball club would have argued about that before this current road trip.

But the Eagles are beginning to thaw a bit, mainly because this trip into the southern end of the Texas League hasn't proven another bull run.

Last night they nipped Shreveport, 5-3, and boosted their league lead to three and one-half games when Oklahoma City snapped second place Houston's seven game winning streak, 7-6.

In other games, Tulsa edged San Antonio, 10-9, and Fort Worth nudged Beaumont, 6-5.

Tonight, Dallas switches to Beaumont; Fort Worth to Shreveport, Oklahoma City to San Antonio and Tulsa to Houston.

Ken Mapes hit a single, double and home run to drive in four of Dallas' five runs against the Sports.

Houston staged two-run uprisings in the eighth and ninth innings, but it wasn't enough to catch Oklahoma City.

Fort Worth had to go eleven innings to climax an uphill battle against Beaumont. They spotted the Roughnecks a four-run lead in the second inning, but finally tied up the game with a two run rally in the ninth.

Tulsa and San Antonio only played eight innings to enable Tulsa to catch a train. John Temple's fourth hit drove home Eddie Knoblauch with the winning run.

Gold Sox Nearing Daylight At Last

CLOVIS — (AP) — The Amarillo Gold Sox crept within one-half game of seventh place last night, hanging a 6-3 defeat on the Clovis Pioneers, thanks to the effective southpaw slings of Bob Murcovitch and timely hitting by Jim Dean and Chick Howard.

Murcovitch paced the light hitting Pioneers on seven hits and helped his own cause with a hit and two runs scored. Howard and Dean each drove in two tallies.

Halter accounted for the sixth Amarillo run with a circuit smash in the eighth. It was the only home run of the game and came with no one on base.

Murcovitch was very stingy, limiting the Pioneers to one hit — Pete Trabucco's wasted double in the first — during the first five innings. And whenever the Pioneers demonstrated signs of life at the plate, the hard throwing lefthander buckled down to slam the door in their face.

The Gold Sox scored one run in the third, starting the game with a 1-0 lead. The Pioneers countered three more in the fourth to sew up the game. The two runs in the eighth weren't needed as events developed.

Borrego was charged with his ninth loss. He was lifted in the eighth after Halter's homer and singles by Frank Murray and Dean. Dick Troost, former Abilene hurler, was signed on a five day deal, came in and retired Howard and Connors to end the inning.

seniors signed professional baseball contracts this spring. Four went to Class D clubs and a pitcher Al Worthington, who didn't lose a game after his sophomore year, jumped into double-A ball when his first two contracts for Nashville, the Hambletonian jackpot this year will be some $90,000, the greatest purse ever offered to trotting horses. — Bob Cerv, the clouting Yankee farmhand at Kansas City, looks like a cinch to smash the American Association record for 34 on the No. 2 course at Pinehurst. What a heck of a cross-country tournament they could play on those courses! P.S.: We'll wager somebody will shot No. 16 at Saucon Valley after the Amateur next fall.

Morey And Maxwell Meet Test Today In Trans-Miss

DALLAS — (AP) — Those twin favorites of the Trans - Mississippi Golf Tournament — Dallas' Morey and Billy Maxwell, the terrific collegian — meet a couple of mighty dangerous competitors today.

Morey battles David (Spec) Goldman of Dallas a veteran of the tournament as it goes into its third round but another — Don Addition of Southern Methodist against Herb Durham of Dallas — could steal the show. This one pits the upsets of the tourney against each other.

Morey shot down Ralph Miller of Ponce City, Okla. 6 and 5 yesterday while Maxwell was essing over John (Buddy) Weaver of Houston, 4 and 3.

Goldman beat Raleigh Selby of Killeger, 1-up in 19 holes. Moseley knocked out Don Schumacher.

There have been great teachers in every age and in every land. The greatest teachers of all ages and all lands were rich in the knowledge of God... they believed "everything" was possible for those who really loved God. What better lessons can any of us learn than those imparted in the parables of The Good Samaritan, the Prodigal Son, the Seed and the Soils... the marvelous Sermon on the Mount with its texts that are silver and gold and precious diamonds in the teachings of the ages. How wonderful then for the children to whom we have taught the words of the Great Teachers, especially if they learn them from our memory and our example.

How shall we learn? We shall get most from the greatest teacher the world has ever known... from His spirit and attitude of tolerance and patience and generous forgiveness. We can be sure that He will not expect too much of us at the first; He will understand how slowly some men learn. God does expect us to know well from whence "everything" comes. "He sends us Sunshine, He sends us Rain; He sends us Loss, He sends us Gain; He sends some Beautiful, He sends some Vain; God—we know, He sends Everything." A-men.

Break Thou the Bread of Life

An artist takes time out to write two hymns

Mary Artimista Lathbury was 30 years old. She had spent most of those years writing verse and illustrating stories for children. But in the Summer of 1880 the noted artist-writer of juvenile books sat on the bank of a lake in Southwestern New York state and read a book that has been published more than any other volume between covers. The story she read from the Bible was about Christ feeding the five thousand.

meetings. So Asst. Mary Lathbury brushed up on her verse-writing and came up with "Day is Dying in the West; Heaven is Touching Earth with Rest." She wrote only two verses, but the hymn became so popular that she had to write two more stanzas and a chorus. It became so popular, in fact, that it wasn't long until "Day is Dying in the West" was called "one of the finest hymns of modern times" and published in nearly every hymnal in America.

Break Thou the bread of life, Dear Lord, to me,
As thou didst break the loaves beside the sea;
Beyond the sacred page I seek Thee, Lord,
My spirit pants for Thee, O Living Word.

Thou art the bread of life, O Lord, to me,
Thy Holy Word the truth that saves me;
Give me to eat and live with Thee above;
Teach me to love Thy truth, for Thou art love.

Local Youths Are Inducted Into Christian Ministry

On Sunday morning, June 3, Richard Lee King and Donald Mack West were inducted into the Christian ministry at the Church of the Brethren.

Dick and Don, as they are known to their friends, grew up together in Pampa. They were graduated from Pampa High School in the spring of 1949 and entered McPherson College that fall.

BEAUTY AFTER FORTY

"We want to know," wrote a group, signing themselves "White-haired Ladies," "must we dye our hair to hold our places in a young world? Must we make fools of ourselves by wearing silly hats on our dyed hair and film on our middle-aged legs? Must we totter home 'light' from every party to be able to keep up? Must we lounge in cocktail rooms and hang on bars, to be modern, to try to convince our children that we are hip?"

My answer is—No, a thousand times NO! And mothers, and mature women do not have to do all of those foolish things to convince anybody! In what is known as the International Set and Cafe Society it is often considered smart by that particular "set" but it does not work out for happiness or success in life.

Dear White-haired Ladies, just relax a minute, take stock of yourselves and your many assets. You have experience with living and certainly you have made many decisions—have it tinted if you like! It's to good taste and if you would feel happier, do it. If you don't want to tint it, don't tint it!

Jesus Begins A New Era

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

The coming and ministry of Jesus of Nazareth was not just a great, and climactic, epoch of the Bible; it was the beginning of an era, the Christian era, which continues to our time, and will continue to all time. "Jesus Christ, the same yesterday, today, and forever."

Yet the coming of Jesus, in its historical and spiritual setting is linked very closely with the period, over five centuries earlier, of the Jewish exile in Babylon, and the restoration of the Jews in their homeland.

It was then that Jewish religion and prophecy reached its highest point. It is significant that the last of the canonical Old Testament prophecies dates back to four hundred years before the coming of Jesus.

But it would be a mistake to regard those four hundred years as a dry, arid, and uneventful period in Jewish history, or without deep significance for Christian beginnings.

The translation of the Bible authorized by King James I of England (the "Authorized Version" in most common use), included originally the Apocryphal Books of the Old Testament. They will be found in many Pulpit Bibles, and are in many of the old type of "Family Bibles," that reposed in so many homes on parlor tables.

These Books have a great significance. The Books of the Maccabees, for instance, record the story of faith and fortitude under the bitter persecutions. They tell of the Grecian conquerors seeking to pervert and corrupt the religion and worship of Judaism with pagan elements and practices.

But the events of that period between the Testaments were even more significant. It was the time of the great dispersion of the Jews throughout the Grecian and Roman world, with the development of the synagogues as center of religion and education. In the story of the spread of Christianity, in the Book of the Acts, one can see how greatly that dispersion and the rapid growth and expansion under the leadership of St. Paul and the early Christian missionaries.

Tomato Cheese Salad

THE star feature at many a summer meal is a salad. One that's well worth starring is a sparkling, rosy red salad made with tomato soup.

With the condensed soup as a base, this gelatin salad is a joy for sheer easiness. Creamy cottage cheese is polka dotted through the salad, adding flavor punch and making it pretty as can be.

For party meals or family affairs, you can count on Tomato Cheese Salad to please appetites all around. Serve your luncheon club a salad sandwich plate—with dainty sandwiches like the rolled watercress favorites. Give the salad to the family with hot sandwiches for a jiffy summer lunch.

What's RIGHT?

You are playing Canasta at the home of friends and they play by different rules from the ones you are used to.

WRONG: Tell them their rules are wrong and insist on playing by the ones you are used to.

RIGHT: Since they are your hosts, let them decide what rules to play by.

You take your young child to the doctor and have to wait for a few minutes to see him.

WRONG: Let the child climb all over the furniture, while you read a magazine.

RIGHT: Entertain the child or give him something to look at to keep him quiet and see that he doesn't wreck the furniture.

KITCHEN MEMO BY JEAN CLARKE

YUMMY is the word for Poppy Seed Cheesecake! Crush 1 1/2 cups sweetbread crumbs. Cream 2 tbsp. butter, 2 tbsp. sugar, blend into crumbs. Grease sides and bottom of 9" spring form pan. Press crumbs onto bottom and sides saving 1/2 tsp. crumbs. Mix 2 tbsp. flour, 1/2 tsp. salt, 1/4 cup sugar, 2 1/2 tsp. poppy seeds. Cream 5 1/2 pkgs. cream cheese (room temp.), beat in sugar mixture. Add 4 beaten egg yolks, 1 tsp. vanilla, 1 cup heavy cream. Fold in 4 stiffly beaten egg whites. Top with remaining crumbs. Bake in gas oven at low heat (325°F.) 1 hr. Turn off gas, open oven door, let cake stand to cool at back of oven.

The sediment which inevitably collects from water passing through pipes into the water heater should be drained periodically through the convenient outlet provided for that purpose on all automatic gas water heaters.

Onion Zip: 1 tsp. grated onion to 1 qt. casserole dish of macaroni and cheese. Lifts the flavor.

For easier asparagus cooking: Boil in frying pan over low flame. To drain, hold pan cover over the top and tip liquid into bowl.

Overloading the automatic gas dryer with too many wet clothes is as bad as overloading your automatic washer. The clothes just don't dry properly. Consult your owner's guide for hints on weight of dryer load.

When glass cooking pans become clouded from the minerals in water, remove film by adding 2 tsp. vinegar to about one qt. water, boil over high flame for a few minutes.

There was never a time in the history of the world when there was more need for men whose business is government to turn toward the church and the teachings of its Founder for guidance, for the wisdom to choose the right course, and the courage to follow it. —Alfred Landon

Something New On Meat Front Found - No Beef In Washington

WASHINGTON — (AP) — There was something new on the recently angry beef front — no beefs. At least in Washington. Roy Turner, former governor of Oklahoma, set the new tone in just "five words. He told newsmen after the meeting: "We are all very happy." And he added: "Everyone here will go along with the best way to handle the problem." But in Chicago, there were still predictions of a meat shortage. The American Meat Institute, representing most of the packing industry, said that beef dressing has virtually stopped in many plants.

Farmer Waters Down Gas Thief

DELAWARE, O. — (AP) — Farmer Harry Van Sickle couldn't catch up with whoever was stealing motor fuel from the gasoline pump on his farm. So he put some water in the pump one night. The next morning he saw a car stalled down the road. There was water in the gasoline tank. The rest was clockwork. Sheriff Earl Fracel arrested Daias Hubbard, 19, who confessed. Justice of the Peace E. Clifford Ginter did not water the sentence he gave Hubbard yesterday — $100 and costs and 15 days in county jail.

good supply" of beef everywhere, especially of the grades for table use. Disalle said: "Apparently some cattlemen and feeders are withholding livestock from the market to see if the rollback order will be rescinded. "Well, it won't be." And Mr. Truman had previously said Disalle's order had his blessing and backing. It slices ten cents a pound off the stockyard price of beef in three weeks. The first cut took effect this week. The others are scheduled for Aug. 1 and Oct. 1. Disalle also said he would assure cattlemen there will be no further rollbacks.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

Play Safe With Discards

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"Is it a good idea to pile up the same kind of discard in the first discard pile?" asks a Scranton reader. "For example, suppose two or three sevens are discarded. Is it wise to discard two or three more sevens? Whoever wins that pile will have a natural canasta, or very close to one. Isn't this too dangerous?"

It's dangerous, all right, but other discards are often even more dangerous. If you feel fairly sure that you can discard a seven without giving the pack away, why should you experiment with some other discard that may bring the roof down on you? Suppose your other choice does give away the pack. You have your pair of sevens still in your hand; so the opponents do not have their natural canasta — yet. But what are you going to do with those sevens? They're just a nuisance to you, taking up room that might otherwise be occupied by useful cards.

Now look at the other side of the picture. Suppose you discard your sevens and later lose the discard pile. Perhaps the opponents have a natural canasta, but this is rare. More often they have only five or six of the rank in question; and they may wait a long time before they can complete the canasta with natural cards.

Even at the worst, you have the chance of keeping eleven useful cards in your hand. If you watch your chances carefully you or your partner may manage to meld out before any great loss has been sustained. The picture may well be far more cheerful. Perhaps your side will not lose the pile after all. Those two safe discards may make just the difference between losing and winning the pile. Then your sevens will come back to you with interest.

In short, there's no harm in piling up the same kind of discard during the struggle for the first discard pile. Just be sure that your discard is safe, then make it.

Q — A player asked for permission to go out, and this was granted. He melded some of his hand, including a wild card, and then discovered he could not meld out unless he used that wild card in a different meld. What should he do?

A — The player is permitted to rearrange the cards in his final meld in order to go out. Ordinarily, a player may not shift a card that has been legally melded. However, in this case the shift is necessary to enable the player to make his compulsory meld-out.

Arky Decides To Settle Down

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Forty-two years ago Emil Arky checked into the Hayward Hotel in downtown Los Angeles. He told the clerk he'd be there two or three days. He's still there and the hotel believes he really likes the place. Yesterday Arky celebrated his 80th birthday, and his retirement as a salesman. Some of his cronies threw a party for him, birthday cake and all. "I'm going to settle down," Arky told them.
