More Land Is Added To New Hughes Tract

R. G. Hughes, Pampa real estate developer, yesterday added additional land to his latest project south of Pampa through a transaction with the First National bank of Panhandle.

The transfer amounted to approximately 50 acres, bringing the total acreage there to 65. The new housing project which will start with 150 houses and 25 duplexes, will ultimately include a shopping center and provide additional lots for other developers wanting to build houses.

'Fantastic' Weapons Posing New Problems For Air Force

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Air Force has created itself a bundle of problems along with its new guided missile, one of the "fantastic" new weapons mentioned earlier by President Truman as being in the American arsenal.

Some of these problems are as complex as keeping an enemy from taking over guidance of the missiles. Some are as simple as forming personnel organizations. In announcing yesterday that a flying, guided bomb called the "Matador" and designated as the "B-61 pilotless bomber," was in production, the Air Force had nothing to say about the clipped wings used for steering the enemy troops or fortifications.

However, official photographs showed antenna customarily used for reception or transmission of radio or radar impulses which (1) show the location of the missiles' location in flight, and (2) actuate the guiding mechanism of the missile.

The public announcement that such a missile is ready for combat implied also that the Air Force must have a reason to believe it can retain control of such missiles while they are speeding over enemy territory. Developers of the guided missile are known to have given great attention to methods which would foil any attempt to jam the radio frequencies over which the guidance signals are sent, or to seize actual control of the missile by use of greater power at the same frequencies. If this could be done, the enemy might direct the missile from its intended target or actually turn it around and head it back to strike at the original launchers.

In combat with the new weapons, the old "command of the air" expression will have an added meaning. Not only must all superior numbers or quality of fighter planes but the command of the radio waves themselves must be assured. The USAF's announcement that the 1st Pilotless Bomber Squadron "light" will be formed at the Cocoa, Fla., missile test center on Oct. 1, may explain in part why various officials, military and congressional, have been talking in recent months of expanding the Air Force far beyond the present 95-wing goal. Some of this expansion may provide, in the future, operational wings of guided missile outfits, of which the 1st Squadron will be a nucleus.

In conventional usage, the term "squadron" or "wing" is measured in terms of airplanes used by a unit. In guided missile operation, this measurement will be useless. The aircraft a squadron has actually will be expendable projectiles, like the shells used by an artillery company.

Polio Foundation Officials Due Here

Two representatives of the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis will meet at 5 p. m. today with the Gray County chapter in the chamber of commerce office.

MATADOR TAKES TO THE AIR — The "pilotless bomber" type of weapon, now taking its place in the national defense, according to the Air Force, is being produced at the Glenn L. Martin plant in Baltimore. The B-61 "Matador" (above) will be used at first and the first squadron is being formed at Cocoa, Fla. Upper picture shows the bomber in flight and in the lower picture it is shown about to drop one of its fuel tanks. (AP Wirephoto.)

Finance Problems To Be Studied By Citizens Group

First meeting of the newly formed citizens committee, appointed to work with the city commission on determining ways of financing pending city improvements, will be held at 3 p. m. Monday in the city commission room, city hall.

Letters notifying committee members were put in the mails late yesterday and today. The original list of 64 was increased to 65 when City Manager Dick Pepin added the name of G. K. Reading, resident engineer for the State Highway Dept., after discovering he was inadvertently left off the list. "Reading's advice on street improvement and bridge construction will be invaluable to us because of his intimacy with both," Pepin said.

The city faces an estimated $400,000 civic improvement program which will include extending sewer and water lines, replacement of present 12-inch mains with 16-inch mains, construction of three bridges and several culverts, paving of streets running adjacent to city property, rest rooms in city parks, additional fireplugs, extension of the N. Hobart storm sewer, and a possible sewerage lift station on the south side to augment the present station in the south east section.

Since Tuesday, the city engineering department has been working until midnight, and later, preparing maps showing location of water lines, sewer lines, and proposed street and bridge improvements. Mayor C. A. Huff told city (See FINANCE, Page 2)

U.S. Marines Storm East Korean Ridges

U.S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea — (AP) — American marines stormed the spiny ridges of eastern Korea Friday against bitterly resisting Reds who preferred death in their fox holes to surrender.

The "battle of the hills" was the only major ground action reported. Elsewhere the quiet was broken only by the clash of probing patrols. Allied warplanes roared through Korean skies to seek and destroy Communist transportation facilities. By noon the Fifth Air Force flew 250 sorties.

The marines in the east apparently were reaching the main Red defense lines. Dense fields of anti-personnel mines were reported. The Communists, both Chinese and North Korean, defended their positions to the last. Hundreds were killed by bullet, bomb and jellyed gasoline.

The fighting was concentrated at several points from the Kum-song sector of east-central Korea to the higher hills near Kansong on the east coast. The toughest going was reported. (See MARINES, Page 2)

Coroner Returns Verdict Of Suicide In Death Of Rancher

WHEELER — A coroner's verdict of suicide was returned today in the death of Alvin Hefley, 29, found dead on his father's ranch near Briscoe late yesterday. Death was caused by a self-inflicted gunshot wound, the coroner ruled.

Diary-Writing Official Says Boyle Influenced RFC Loan

Firm's Officer Kept Book On Transactions

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A diary-keeping witness told senators today that William M. Boyle, Jr., helped arrange an RFC loan for a St. Louis printing firm early in 1949 after three previous loan applications by the company had been turned down.

John E. Toole, an official of the American Lithofold Corp., offered this sworn testimony today before a Senate subcommittee investigating charges that Boyle, Democratic national chairman, influenced Reconstruction Finance Corp. loans.

Boyle has denied he arranged loans for the St. Louis printing firm although he did some "legal work" for it before he became Democratic national chairman.

Toole gave his testimony after the subcommittee released denials by Harley Hise and Walter L. Dunham, former RFC directors, that they ever had been influenced by Boyle to make any loans.

Both directors said in closed-door testimony yesterday that the RFC did, however, get well-paying jobs on the boards of directors of some RFC borrowers for persons recommended by Boyle.

Toole, who took a job with American Lithofold in 1948 after it borrowed $1,671,000 from the government with which he was employed, testified that in 1949 he opposed the firm's enlisting the aid of Boyle.

Boyle at that time was working at Democratic national headquarters but was not the chairman. Toole said he attended a conference in Boyle's office Feb. 28, 1949.

With him, Toole said, were James P. Finnegan, since ousted from his federal job as collector of internal revenue at St. Louis; R. J. Blauner, then head of the printing firm; and Cecil Green, Washington representative for the printing firm.

Toole, frequently consulting his personal diary, said the quartet had to wait nearly 40 minutes, but when they got inside Boyle picked up the telephone and called Hise, then RFC chairman.

Boyle, he said, told Hise that "some friends of Jim Finnegan in my office" wanted to talk about an RFC loan. In the testimony released today, Hise said: "I don't recall that he (Boyle) ever contacted me with reference to any specific loan."

In general, Hise said, all calls from Boyle concerning RFC matters would have been handled by the same procedure "as we would take with me by any of the senators here, or any member of the House."

Hise and Dunham testified yesterday in private. Both men produced doctor's certificates cautioning against the effect on their health if they testified in public.

Farm labor situation is going to be increasingly tight, according to L. P. Fort, manager of the local Texas Employment commission. Some unskilled labor reported to the office after an appeal through newspapers and radio yesterday, Fort said, but still more could be used.

Child's Condition 'A Little Better'

Hospital attendants reported at 11:30 this morning that Kayteen Layne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Layne, west of Pampa, "appears a little better."

GETTING READY — Trippy Doster was getting all ready to blossom out in the height of fashion tomorrow when Felt Hat Day will be observed here, but as the camera caught him "trying on for size," things looked pretty glib all the way around. However, Trippy will likely come up with something snappy in felt headgear for no young man about town would want to spurn the rules of fashion which say straws must go tomorrow. (News Photo)

Mayor's Proclamation

WHEREAS cool, fall breezes are due to blow in this region within the near future, and WHEREAS the health of male Pampa citizens must be protected at all cost, and WHEREAS the male citizenry of this fair city have always been noted for their fashionable attire, THEREFORE I, Mayor C. A. Huff, do declare and pronounce Saturday, September 15th to be FELT HAT DAY in the City of Pampa and I do solemnly and earnestly urge all male citizens of Pampa to heed the dictates of fashion and common sense by destroying or storing their summer straw headpieces and donning suitable felt cranial protection.

Steamer Driver Predicts Win If Enough Water Is Available

BUFFALO, N. Y. — (AP) — If last time was just outside Buffalo he can get enough water Jack Brause expects to win the battle of the ancient autos. The 76-year-old automotive expert chugged into Buffalo in his 1913 Stanley Steamer last night during a driving rainstorm a full 2 1/2 hours ahead of his 70-year-old buddy.

Rube de Launty and his 1911 Stoddard-Dayton came in at the east of a low rope.

Quipped Brause: "I guess Rube's at the end of his rope." De Launty said the rain had conked out his motor twice. The amount I need," he said.

Senate Okays Gigantic Bill For Military; House Trims

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A gigantic military spending bill carrying $59,508,009,630—nearly two billions more than President Truman asked—won unopposed Senate approval late yesterday.

After four days of warm debate, the Senate passed the biggest single military money bill in history, 79 to 0, and sent it back to the House, which voted 43,472,292,430 less.

Senator O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.), who steered the measure through the Senate, said a Senate-House Conference committee probably would begin attempts at ironing out scores of differences early next week. Biggest of these is an extra $5,000,000,000 the Senate added to beef up U.S. airpower and carry on work on new secret weapons.

Hundreds Homeless As 14-Inch Deluge Falls In South Texas

ALICE — (AP) — This South Texas town was virtually isolated and hundreds were homeless today after 14.21 inches of rain.

Water up to five feet deep surged through the streets. Amphibious trucks and boats evacuated flood victims.

R. E. Horine, chairman of the Red Cross chapter, said the worst appeared to be over.

Only light mist fell today following a flood crest at dawn by the rampaging San Diego creek. Horine said he expected the creek to go down during the day, barring no more rain.

"It looks like all we can do is wait for mopping up operations," he said.

No casualties were reported among the 21,000 residents. Editor Curtis Vinson of the Alice Echo said property damages would be "tremendous." He said the loss in dollars and cents would be greater than that in the $1,000,000 flood of 1949 here.

Volunteers from surrounding towns and the Corpus Christi Naval base helped evacuate residents. About 300 spent the night in the courthouse and another 50 in the high school gymnasium and Baptist church.

The Texas Mexican railroad tracks were washed out 3 1/2 miles east of Alice, and all roads were impassable.

John Sullivan, city manager, said no city utility had been affected by the swift, muddy waters. A deluge of telephone calls resulted in only emergency messages being accepted for long distance.

Two amphibious trucks from the Corpus Christi Naval base worked alongside small boats in removing flooded-out residents. The Rev. Christian Kehl, rector of the Episcopal church, who broke one of his legs several weeks ago was taken from his rectory by stretchers and carried to a window.

Mrs. Dorothy Wofford, president of the Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary, handled telephone communications at the Red Cross disaster headquarters. National Guardsmen and members of the Texas State Guard, a home defense group, also helped.

The current of flood waters remained rather strong. Water from a depth of a few inches to five feet covered the city.

"This city is sitting on a lake," he said.

K. Salley, trucking operator, directed a sand-bagging crew keeping water from buildings and stores. A proposal to blow up a portion of the Alice-Corpus Christi Hwy. to permit the flood waters to recede faster was made to the highway department, but rejected.

A newly married couple, Mr. and Mrs. Travis Rhodes of McAllen, were trapped by flood waters east of here as they were returning home from their honeymoon. Their car was swept off the highway, along with their suit cases.

In Alice, water entered showrooms of automobile firms in the western portion of the town curbed in the downtown business district.

Economists Advise Diamonds As Hedge Against Inflation

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Economists are predicting inflation again. They say that as more factories turn to war production the supply of many civilian goods will dwindle. Prices of these will naturally rise, and bingo—

The financial pundits are already giving advice on how to beat inflation. Lately, I've been reading this advice in preference to the comics page. It's funnier.

One of their favorite topics is what to put your money in as "a hedge against inflation." One suggestion is to buy diamonds and hold them.

So you stroll into Tiffany's and tell the clerk: "I want that pretty bauble, and that one, and that other one over there. Just for a hedge against inflation, you know. Charge 'em."

Diamonds? The average man is in a better position to buy ping-pong balls. You can at least go home and play a game with them, while inflation rages outside the window.

Real estate is another favorite "hedge" for the experts. But the ordinary guy already is up to his pocketbook paying off the mortgage on his house. He couldn't buy the Empire State building even with a certificate of character from the RFC.

"The worst thing about this inflation talk is the weapon it is giving wives," complained one husband. "My wife came up to me the other night and said, 'well, I guess I'd better buy a fur coat quick — they say inflation is coming.'"

"I told her we'd better keep the money to pay the rent. Then we could both stay warm this winter. But she bought the fur coat anyway."

There are a number of people, not including wives, who feel the best way to whip inflation is to buy a three-car garage, even though they don't need one, on the grounds they will soon be in short supply.

Victor Mature Finds Himself In 'Beautiful' Category Again

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Victor Mature, who thought he had escaped the title, again finds himself in the "beautiful hunk of man" category.

Thanks to chest-baring roles such as the cave man in "One Million B.C.," Mature got stuck with that tag in the pre-war years. It didn't seem to do him any harm. He worked regularly and was well known to a large segment of movie goers, largely female.

Returning from the war, an older and wiser man, he sought to make his mark as an actor, wearing shirts, coats and other adornments which normal folks wear. He accomplished that in "Kiss of Death," a crime subject with himself as a hunted man.

"Even the critics who hated my guts like me in that one," he admits. "I was less repulsive than usual."

But then he played Samson, the biceps-bender who was taken for the big haircut by Delilah in the Biblical epic. He was back in the loin-cloth league again. Now he's again in the ancient times, portraying a Roman soldier in "Androcles and the Lion."

Mature is reconciled to his fate. "Samson wasn't exactly bad for me," he remarked, indicating this was an understatement.

"How can you go wrong in a picture that is going to pull in 17 million (dollars, that is) and maybe as high as 20? Why, I'm getting fan mail from places all over the world that I've never heard of before."

Complicating The Confusion

Sen. Estes Kefauver's crime report has fallen upon a headline-conscious Congress like an epidemic of the nervous nose bleed. Already the hot and paring legislators have introduced 23 bills to wipe out crime and vice by the bucketful.

It was pointed out a long time ago by Mr. Emerson, if memory serves, that man-made laws to curb "vice" and "immorality" get to be pretty much of a bolted-up mess, joy only to the lawyers who get paid for telling their clients how to avoid getting snarled up in 'em.

Take some of the 23 proposed pieces of anti-vice legislation now in the Washington hopper: One of them would put strict curbs on the dissemination of racing news. This, supposedly, would put the bookies out of business. The law proposes that only "legitimate" news agencies, like newspapers and radio stations, be licensed to receive race results by wire.

Another proposal would make it illegal to send racing news across the state by wire. The Board of Examinations licenses saloons on the basis of "good moral character" — among other qualifications — and that system is not the most simple one you can find.

Furthermore, if newspapers and radio stations alone were to receive racing news, the Federal Communications Commission would be empowered to license only persons "of good moral character." The FCC has told Congress it wants no part of such a law. And we don't blame the FCC.

Price Control Is A Fake Remedy For Inflation

(Continued) In the last issue I was quoting a speech made by Congressman Howard H. Buffett of Nebraska to present evidence that price control is not a take in this manner: Then he challenges Eric Johnston to present evidence that price control is not a take in this manner:

ERIC JOHNSTON FAILS TO SUPPLY EVIDENCE "Mr. Chairman, I challenged Eric Johnston and Mike Disalle when they appeared before the Banking and Currency Committee with the second of these questions. I asked them to answer this question: 'What historical evidence can you offer to support the notion that inflation can be effectively halted in the absence of a currency redeemable in gold?'

"I received a letter from Mr. Johnston. It was a very nice letter—a page and a half. He concluded it by saying that the letter also expressed the views of Mr. Disalle. His letter contained no answer to my question. It was a 60 percent rise in the cost of living in the next five years, insofar as labor costs make up the cost of living. Does that sound like stability and stopping inflation?"

PRICE FIXING IS AN ECONOMIC NARCOTIC "No Member of Congress serves the citizens' best interests if he votes for price and wage regulation, unless he can find genuine evidence that it is something more than an economic narcotic that deadens and postpones inflation."

"I cannot find such evidence, and I have studied in a modest way the great inflation of the American Revolutionary War, the fiat money of the French Revolution, the great German inflation following World War I, together with the global panorama of inflation in our own lifetime.

"Money redeemable in gold has been shown to be the final cure for inflation. But this administration does not want to talk about this remedy?"

"Why not?" "The second reason, First of all, the power of the Fair Deal is based on continual inflation. The Roosevelt administration started inflation in 1933. When inflation stops, the Fair Deal is in the gutter. The economy is so weakened that a socialistic dictatorship can be forced on us without serious opposition.

"A few more years of a steadily rising currency and the economic independence of the American people will be effectively destroyed. Then a socialistic tyranny like England's will be an easy maneuver."

"The second reason the Fair Deal does not want to talk about having our money redeemable in gold is that even an honest discussion of this remedy might give the majority of the American people, who do not yet understand that their Government has deliberately outlawed a basic economic freedom, the right to own gold."

Baxier's Views

MISUNDERSTANDING

It's pretty difficult to write on any given subject without someone getting a wrong slant. That's why it's important to define one's terms very so clearly.

A Seventh-Day Adventist, for instance, has just recently heard somewhere that I'm supposed to be against Seventh-Day Adventists. The Adventist likes my column but wonders how I came to get it in for the Adventist church.

The fact is, I didn't. It must have been at least a year ago that this column engaged in a warm discussion with an Adventist leader of Glenwood, Calif., over the subject of Adventists being WILLING to pay taxes for public schools. At the same time, I doubted whether Catholics or Lutherans or others who support private schools only have I came to get it in for the Adventist church.

However, the mere fact that the Adventist leaders didn't agree with it and said they WERE willing to be taxed for public schools, did not mean they were against the Adventists or to have any less admiration for some of the great works they have accomplished. It was just a gentlemen's disagreement over the school issue, in the spirit of free speech and free discussion.

On other issues, for instance, such as separation of church and state and freedom of conscience — not to mention education in temperance — I've worked hand-in-glove with the Adventists and other liberty-loving groups. Likewise, I've opposed some issues which supporting them on others, such as opposing the draft, a pacifist while agreeing with them that conscription and forced military service or any other kind of forced servitude is wrong and un-American; or disagreeing with the Jehovah's Witnesses over including the flag but at the same time firmly upholding their right to refuse to do so. It's a matter of RIGHTS, not merely what we agree with.

Many Catholics have the same misunderstanding. I've become something of a personal devil in the eyes of some of them, who are positive that I have it in for Catholics. The fact is, I've worked with individuals as much as anyone else, while reserving my right to disagree with policies of the Catholic church. The situation is about the same as I have explained above in relation to Adventists and others. I agree with Catholics about the moral right to send their children to parochial schools because I don't believe in forced state-supported education.

In the matter of church control of all education, I don't agree with the Catholic church, Catholics who send their children to parochial schools should not have to pay for them. Schools—much less being willing to do so.

"Bay, does he hate the medical profession?" a doctor remarked about this column to a friend. Not at all. I am a friend of the advancement of the medical profession and I think I prove it by opposing a medical MONOPOLY and Socialized Medicine, which not only retards free inquiry and interferes with individual liberty but is not in the public interest. And so on down the line.

PRINCIPLES SOMEONE'S A FIBBER One of the cigar companies carried a color picture of the singer, Mario Lanza, a few days ago in which the singer is supposed to smoke that brand of fag and claims it has never irritated his throat. And behold, the Sept. 14 issue of PHOTOPLAY says of Lanza, "He doesn't even smoke." Put these two together and it spells, "Cigars don't irritate his throat. He doesn't smoke."

Bid For A Smile Printed stationery is a big help. Often you could save a letter if you had to guess the writer's name from the signature. The George Washington Bridge across the Hudson river is 14 inches longer on a hot day than on a cold one. 26,000,000 milk bottles are put on the doorsteps of American homes daily. The cheapest Ford ever built was the 1917 model. It sold for $260. Women buy more neckties than men—about 60 per cent of the number sold. Introduced in 1872, Sweet Caporal cigarettes were the first brand to be manufactured by machine and advertised on a national scale.

FAIR ENOUGH--PEGLER

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — It comes to me that new problems of time and distance have developed in our efforts to catch up with the galle of those who organize such political tricks as the President's Committee on Civil Rights and that committee's report.

That report, entitled "To Secure These Rights," came down in 1947. It is an important part of the program of the covert Socialist organization called Americans for Democratic Action. If it were enacted into law, it would dissolve the Constitution and the Department of Justice would develop a great staff of spy and tattle and a special staff to prosecute an individual for hiring a son or nephew instead of some provocateur whose complexion, religion or some other characteristic would classify him as a member of a "minority group." In the fulfillment of this program, a fine American could be sent to prison and his business could be wiped out by costs and harassment—for the simple, noble reason that he refused to discriminate against his own son or the widow of his best friend in selecting an employe to fill a particular job.

The fact that the federal government has absolutely no constitutional right to but into such relations between citizens did not deter this committee from recommending this particular item of the program of Americans for Democratic Action.

As to the journalistic problem that I mentioned, note, please, that this stealthy trick, perpetrated under the seal of President Truman, was done and all but forgotten until last spring. Then, Senator Byrd, of Virginia, came out with a roar, threatening that if Truman should be re-nominated in 1952, the Deep South would quit the party. Byrd and his associates, including Senators George and Russell of Georgia and Governor Jimmy Byrnes of South Carolina all regard Truman as a carpet-bagger in the old sense of the word and his southern adherents as scoundrels. A scawlag was defined by a Confederate patriot and soldier in the congressional hearings into the old, original Ku Klux Klan as the sorriest, scabiest sheep in the flock.

How do you begin to fill in the facts on a story that should have been covered in 1946 and 1947? I began by stying the report. For my sins I suffered a match. If you doubt me, try reading this strange typical tract done in the ideological geechee which drifted in from Europe on the lides of hate and perfidy during the Roosevelt reign. Although the report was based on representations made to the committee by individuals and organizations and was not the findings of their own intelligence, the committee cleverly refrained from naming any individual or organization. That is a negative fact. It is a typical trick. Well, we paid the expenses, we are the serfs of a master state if the program ever comes into law, why shouldn't we know who planned this fate for us? They were respectable and if their purposes are decent why are they so bashful? I stand up for my ideas. You stand up for yours.

The Doctor Says

By EDWARD P. JORDAN, M. D. Written for NEA

The close relationship between the mind and body is now well known. What leads toward contentment tends to produce good mental health. Few human contacts are more important in causing distress or contentment than those between parents and children; both are affected.

If this principle applies to natural parents, it applies to adoptive parents. The child who is adopted and for the adopting parents as well. The difference is that something can be done about the situation at the time of adoption; the importance of the adoption practices has been demonstrated many times by both happy and unhappy results.

A true story (with the circumstances changed so that there is no possibility of identification) shows what can go wrong unless adoption is carefully worked out in advance. Mr. and Mrs. A, with limited income, already had three children and were expecting another. They decided that when the expected child was born they would place it immediately for adoption and tell their relatives and friends that the child had died at birth. They carried out their plan through an attorney, but three months later the same attorney phoned them to say that they must take back the child because the adopting parents had just taken the child to a pediatrician who had found that the child was feeble-minded.

In this case, too hasty and inconsidered action caused great difficulty and pain of mind to both the natural and adopting parents, and the child was not helped because it had to be placed in an institution anyway, where it should have gone in the first place. Many other examples of undesirable adoptions are in the files of welfare agencies throughout the country. Grief and physical collapse resulting from undesirable adoptions have been by no means rare. One can only guess at the numbers of innocent children who have suffered through being placed in the wrong families where con-adopting parents had just taken the child to a pediatrician who had found that the child was feeble-minded.

FIND RIGHT MATCH The picture is by no means dark, however. There are many couples who desire children but cannot have any of their own, who make excellent parents for the right child. There are also many infants or children who are deprived of normal family life for one reason or another and who need a desirable home. The problem is to match the adoptive parents and the adopted children so that both sides may receive a good break through happiness, contentment and depth of experience.

BATON ROUGE, La. — If there is a vacancy in the Bubbleshed Department, and there usually is, I want to make application for it right now and I have little fear of being turned down. I am the kind of man who takes a long motor trip through Texas and Louisiana in August. I now know the kind of after-life that is forecast for sinners.

It all began with a decision to drive 2,000 miles from New York to Denver to pick up my bride who had battered herself silly learning and playing a new play each week for nine weeks. Being a man of some concern for his family, I suggested a pleasant, leisurely drive back to New York by either Canada or New Orleans. "Beautiful old city," I told her. "You ought to see it."

"Don't you think Canada might be cooler?" she said tactfully. "Why, Canada is just as hot as the United States, I'm sure," I told her. "And then I read somewhere they have black flies. Swarms of them."

So here we are, 1,300-odd miles later, and every mile of it through sparse, arid ground that hasn't felt rain in 40 days, that registers anywhere from 95 to 107 every day. She was a good girl from Denver to Lamar, Colorado. Her smile turned a shade brittle between Lamar and Vernon, Texas. When we reached Dallas on Sunday afternoon, something snapped.

"There is a de luxe motel in Dallas with refrigerated private suites, a refrigerated cocktail lounge, a refrigerated restaurant and a swimming pool," she said. "Gratitude Lawrence once told me about it. The sign says it is 3.7 miles from here. Darling, I can always fly from Dallas to New York. You see New Orleans and tell me about it when you get back."

She felt better about it this morning in Dallas and volunteered to try one more day. So we did 425 miles to here. It wasn't too bad; actually it never got above 105 in the sun, but all Federal highways seem to be located in the sun. As we were leaving East Texas and entering Louisiana, near Shreveport, I tried to cool things off in the car by telling her that at any minute now she would begin seeing fields of cotton and Spanish moss hanging from trees. Quant, you know, that moss. I was right; we soon began seeing fields of cotton, their bolts bursting with the stuff. "See, darling, cotton," I said. "I see it," she said with imperial calm. "It's white. I like it better made up into dresses that don't wrinkle or get damp in a wash."

WASHINGTON — The 1952 presidential and congressional elections could be the cleanest and least costly in political history under Senator Guy Gillette's plan for a top-to-bottom revision of the Hatch "pure politics law."

Although this New Deal statute was designed and overadvertised as minimizing the influence of money in American elections, it has been a dead letter in practice. It has kept minor government employes from taking part in politics on penalty of losing their jobs, but it has not curbed the "big shot" professionals.

Indeed, as a result of deliberate loopholes in the legislation and questionable evasions, it is generally believed that more money than ever has been spent on congressional elections, it has been a dead letter in practice. It has kept minor government employes from taking part in politics on penalty of losing their jobs, but it has not curbed the "big shot" professionals.

BENEFIT — Reliable estimates place the amount shovled out by both major parties in the 1948 presidential and congressional struggles at $30,000,000, including labor unions' considerable expenditures. With the GOP hungry for a return to power next year, and with the Democrats determined to preserve their control at least of the executive branch, it is probable that the election-winning total will reach $50,000,000.

AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR — had written me that "Milton D. Stewart was selected by Carr as director of research and was responsible for such research material as was obtained from cooperating governmental agencies." And I told him that whereas he and Carr said Truman picked the committee or better say, packed it, Charlie Wilson, the chairman, wrote me that David K. Niles picked the members. Dickey said he didn't know that, either. I am suspending judgment on that statement. These people have been too reticent. If their word proves up on investigation, all right.

I asked Dickey if he knew whether Stewart was a member of Americans for Democratic Action. He said he didn't. I asked whether Carr was. Again he didn't know. But speaking for himself, he wasn't. I will give you a little biography of Stewart one day soon. But you can see that we often start months or years behind some questionable business put over on us with a layout of clerics, professors and credulous business executives.

You may begin to understand why our press has fallen down on the task of keeping the people informed on the nature of social security and the federal checkoff, adopted from the totalitarian CIO. It is just too much of a job. Not enough reporters. Not enough perseverance. No continuity. And not enough integrity by far.

It conjured up a million exciting things in my mind. "Spanish money," baby," I said. "Spanish money," baby," I said. "Spanish money," baby," I said. "Spanish money," baby," I said.

And I tell you about the old man who comes to the theater every night in Denver? she replied. "He has a beard just like the one I had when I was a kid. 'Maybe those are some of his friends hanging in those trees,' I suggested with some edge. 'I don't know who'd care,' she replied. 'Did you know there is a de luxe motel in Baton Rouge with refrigerated suites, refrigerated cocktail lounge and a refrigerated restaurant? Drop me there, dear, and I'll see you some other time. Call me from New Orleans and tell me about it on the phone, there's a dear.'

I think I can get her back into the car tomorrow morning. We are only 90 miles from Natchez, Miss., and I'm pretty certain she'd want to see Natchez. Natchez old homes, Southern aristocracy, heart of the remaining Confederacy. But if her behavior were refrigerated de luxe motel? I can see it coming. The forecast for tomorrow is 107.

LIMITATIONS — Even though a candidate may make an honest try to keep within statutory limitations, his friends may swell his total simply by not letting him know of their paid-for activities. A proposed amendment would allow a violation for anybody to "spend" money for a candidate without the latter's knowledge and consent. Office seekers may derive some benefit from other Gillette reforms. In view of the increased cost of picking — radio and television time, higher printing and advertising rates, higher postal charges — the maximum of $10,000 for a Senate aspirant and $2,500 for a House candidate may be raised slightly.

INSECTS eat about one-tenth of all the food grown in the United States.

Loopholes — The Hatch act is so loosely and carelessly drawn, seemingly deliberately, that it is almost inconceivable that it was ever sold to an unsuspecting public as an "honest election law." It is these loopholes that Senator Gillette seeks to plug.

STANDARDS — Although admittedly difficult to fix broader and higher standards for electioneering, the committee believes it can prescribe legal bounds for official literature.

The law already requires that all campaign documents and pamphlets, if transported in interstate commerce, must carry the names of individuals or organizations sponsoring and distributing them. The Gillette group has also recommended a prohibition against composite pictures.

Besides planning to do a review on revision from members of Congress, Gillette expects to hear from William M. Boyle Jr., Democratic national chairman, and his opposite, Guy Gabrielson.

Gone from modern Japan is the coolie system, the ruthless exploitation of human labor by tyrannical overlords. Under the Trade Union Law passed by the Jap Diet in 1945, which freed 2,500,000 coolies, Japanese workers were guaranteed the right to organize, bargain collectively and strike for the first time in the nation's history.

But the birth pains of Japan's trade unionism were violent ones. By 1946, two powerful unions, the General Federation of Trade Unions and the Red-dominated National Congress of Industrial Unions—each a million strong—vied for power. Enlightened members of the NCUI formed a third organization in 1947, engaged by Red tactics that included assassination.

Communist labor's acts of terrorism prompted Democrats and Democrat Liberals in the Jap Diet to investigate the Communist Party proper. As a result of the investigation, the outbreak of the Korean War, Gen. Douglas MacArthur dealt a death blow to the party's 3,000,000 members by ordering Red publications banned and party bigwigs jailed.

As important as SCAP's removal of labor unions from the labor scene has been the passage of a workmen's compensation law providing benefits for industrial accident victims. Unemployment insurance and other legislation has further helped to make Japan's 47,000,000 union members the nation's most politically-conscious class. Their role in Japan's future cannot be underestimated.

Ikard Gets Seat Despite Failure To File Finance Form

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Frank Ikard, newly-elected from Texas' 13th District, can take his seat in Congress even though he didn't file an election expense account.

The question was raised in Texas during the campaign. The Federal Corrupt Practices act calls for filing of expense accounts 10 to 15 days before an election and within 30 days after an election. A special election was called after Rep. Ed Gossett resigned to accept a post with Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. Observing that the House clerk's office simply acts as a depository for the statements, the officials scoffed at any idea that Congress would refuse to seat an elected candidate because he may have overlooked filing an expense account within the prescribed time limit.

The Justice department, which would have to prosecute violations of the act, said no action would be taken against a congressman-elect unless complaints had been filed and an investigation showed formal charges justified. Such complaints could be lodged by unsuccessful candidates in the race.

Marshal Tito Is Harvesting New Crop Of Woes This Fall

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia —(AP)— Premier Marshal Tito is harvesting a new crop of worries this fall in the form of sharply increased border hostility, frontier shootings and spy activities by his pro-Russian neighbors.

In the past seven months there have been 837 border incidents along Yugoslavia's frontiers with Albania, Bulgaria, Rumania and Hungary. This is nearly one-third of the total for the entire period since Tito's break with the Cominform in June, 1948.

The increased tempo of the Cominform's border pressure—particularly in the last 10 days—has raised the question: do Russia and her puppet states mean business this time? Are the new incidents a prelude to invasion? No one knows the answer for certain except the Kremlin, and it isn't talking.

Yugoslavia and the Cominform countries appeared only a short step from actual war as they gathered in late fall crops—bringing to mind the old Balkan adage that "Wars begin when crops are in."

Trade between Yugoslavia and her eastern neighbors ended completely more than a year and a half ago. Diplomatic relations have been reduced to exchanges of insults, accusations and formal notes protesting various incidents. These notes usually are rejected, denied or calmly ignored.

All along Yugoslavia's twisting eastern and southern frontiers, both sides have posted countless thousands of border guards. In the danger spots, such as the major travel routes across the frontiers, barbed wire entanglements, pillboxes, recently dug trenches and outlook towers emphasize the border tension.

Behind border outposts are concentrated heavy units of seasoned troops. On the Yugoslav side they probably are most numerous on the Bulgarian border, since military men long have regarded that as the chief danger spot.

Refugees from Iron Curtain countries tell of widespread preparations which have the earmarks of preparations for attack.

Steel Industry On The Carpet

NEW YORK — (AP) — The steel industry is on the carpet again. Washington wants it to build new steel mills faster and thus shorten the period of steel shortages plaguing the defense program and civilian industry.

This demand that the steel industry complete its huge expansion program six months earlier than it planned follows a few days an order by the Defense Production Administration. This order cut almost in half the amount of structural steel the steel industry had asked for the next three months.

The steel companies wanted to be allowed to use this structural steel to build new steel mills to keep their expansion program on schedule and thus be able to turn out more steel for defense and civilian goods.

Washington's demand on the steel industry to speed up and produce one million extra tons of steel in three months of 1952 also follows by a few days a British request that American steel mills be directed to send Britain 800,000 tons of steel.

The government is deadly serious about its worry over the shortage in steel. It wants new steel mills, and it wants steel scrap collections stepped up everywhere — in the factory, on the farm, and there has even been talk of urging housewives to save tin cans (which are mostly steel) to help make up a scrap shortage which the industry calls critical.

The steel shortage is such that the government has cut back the amount that can be used to build pipelines for oil and gas and to build freight cars, to build autos and other civilian goods, to build highway bridges, to build schoolhouses. To save alloy steel and scarce aluminum the government is setting a limit to the making of automatic transmissions for the family auto.

The government has some charges to throw at the steel industry, too. Defense Mobilizer Wilson charges that some steelmen are planning to cut back steel production the first part of next year by several hundred thousand tons while they reline furnaces and equipment. He is calling steelmen to Washington next week to tell them they cannot cutback but must speed up instead.

Harvesters Open 1951 Football Season Here Tonight

Hubbers Take 2-Game Lead

ALBUQUERQUE — (AP) — The West Texas-New Mexico League playoffs take time out for high school football tonight, with Lubbock ahead of Abilene 3-1 and Albuquerque tied up with Lamesa 2-2.

Lubbock pushed ahead again last night, downing the Blue Sox 7-2 to force the Sox to win Saturday night or call it quits.

Albuquerque started out to do the same thing, pounding out seven runs to take a shutout lead in the third. But the Ducks stopped there, and the Lobos came back to win 18-7.

The Hubbers sent Art Hamilton to the showers in the first by getting off to a 5-0 start at Lubbock.

Ed Arthur was dismounted in the third after he allowed Albuquerque's outburst at Lamesa, but Harry Pilarski took care of the situation by allowing no more Duke runs and only six more hits.

By contrast, Jerry Folkman — who held the Lobos scoreless the first three innings — blew up in the fourth to allow the first four Lamesa runs. Don Cantrell, charged with the loss, held the Lobos scoreless for two innings when he too went to pieces and allowed nine runs in the seventh.

The series resumes Saturday night at the same sites, with any additional games to be played in Albuquerque and Abilene.

Abilene skipper Hack Miller will send Fred Schmidt (2-6) against Lubbock and Fay Faust (2-12). Jesse Priest (1-3) will start for Albuquerque at Lamesa against Herb Damico (9-2).

Pirates Open At Home Tonight

LEFORS — (Special) — Football fever has gripped this small town 12 miles south of Amarillo while the local high school Pirates finished their preparations for the opening contest with Shamrock's mighty Irish in a game to be unreel tonight at 8 o'clock before a capacity crowd in Pirate Stadium, which seats 2,000.

It will be the opener for the local Privateers but Scott McCall's Irish have already played one game, beating the 3-AA Childress Bobcats, 6-0, last Friday night.

James Smith, 135-pound defensive safety man, counted on to play a lot of ball in tonight's game, was brought to Pampa early Thursday for possible fracture of his left leg. He would have been one of the Pirates' defensive starters. The team physician has okayed Russell Her-ring, end, and Bob Newsom, full-back, for limited duty. Dickie Davis, offensive back and defensive guard, has been sidelined for the season. Davis is at an average of 150. However, the home field advantage and the long-horned tradition of Lefors never

Shamrock will field its veteran line of senior lettermen averaging 180 pounds and a backfield of squadmen which tilts the scales at 175. The Pirates will counter with a line averaging 165 and a business department consisting of light, inexperienced backs who weigh in at an average of 150. However, the home field advantage and the long-horned tradition of Lefors never giving up the ship will make the game more even than the five touchdown margin given the Irish indicates.

Wheeler Trounces Dalhart, 32-0

BORGER — An aggressive and aerial minded Borger Bulldog eleven downed the IAA Dalhart Wolves 32-0 here last night in the season's opener. The Dogs went through the air twice for scores and had a pass completion record of 5 out of 14 attempts.

Dalhart never staged a serious scoring threat. All-district Bill Cossun was sidelined during almost the entire second half but the Borger defense limited the Panhandle youngster to a bare 12 yards during the time he was in the game.

Borger smashed a total of 190 yards in penalties with most of the lost yardage coming on off-sides charges. Clebourne Bybee, 160-pound senior letterman, made his debut as a T general, a highly successful one. His personal record of passes completed was a healthy 6 for 8 including both touchdown aeriels.

Maxwell Reaches Semifinal Round

BETHLEHEM, Pa. — (AP) — A poker faced suburban New York lawyer tries his golf case against a youth young enough to be his son and a portly 40-year-old replayer a smiling red haired Texan from Odessa today in the National Amateur golf championships.

An almost unbelievable wave of upsets that sent nine dumbfounded Walker Cup team players reeling to the sidelines narrowed the semifinal field to 30-year-old Joe Gagliardi, West Chester County, N. Y., lawyer, Tommy Jacobs, 18, Montebello, Calif., well rounded Jack Benson, Pittsburgh real estate dealer, and North Texas State Teachers College's golf captain, Billy Maxwell.

Three Gates Open At All Ends of Field

Three gates will be open for fans attending tonight's football game at Harvester Park. The main gate at the south end of the field, the northeast gate and the northwest gate will all be open to accommodate the fans and aid in easing the parking problem. Fans may enter or leave by any of these three entrances.

Green and Gold four pounds per man. The Mustang line averages 176 pounds from end to end while the Harvesters tip the scales at a 170 pound average. The Harvesters' starting backfield will outweigh the visitors, however, 170 1-2 pounds per man to 164.

Leading the Pampa offense tonight will be veteran signal caller DeWey Cudney. And he will be calling the signals for a pair of fast, hard running halfbacks, Billy Davis and Darrell Wilson and for bruising fullback John Young.

The end posts will be manned by veteran Roy Pool and probably Don Burns, subbing for the injured Jimmy Cook. Alvin Ward will aid Burns with the work at left end. At the tackles will be co-captain Jerry Walker and Charley Broyles with Tolle post to aid Broyles. The guards will be manned by co-captain Bill McPherson and converted fullback Charley Ely. Hutchens will start at the pivot spot and share duties there with Tommy Sells.

The Mustangs will be depending upon 176-pound Joe Feagan to operate the tricky split-T offense. He is a junior, and is considered a good triple threat back. He will be aided in the backfield by one of the two holdovers from Gerald's fine club of last season, halfback Charles Wilson. The other returning letterman is center Lloyd Ware,

Red Sox Gain On Leaders

(By The Associated Press) — The St. Louis Cardinals threw a road block in the path of the New York Giants yesterday in their National League drive to overtake Brooklyn. The Birds took a 6-4 victory in an afternoon game and then lost a night game to Boston, 2-0.

In the American League the New York Yankees skidded but held their own with first place Cleveland. Both lost to allow the Boston Red Sox to close in.

Virgil Trucks and the Detroit Tigers stopped the Yankees 9-2. Cleveland lost to Washington 1-0. The Yankee loss endangered their second place position as the Red Sox defeated the St. Louis Browns, 5-4 to move within 2 1/2 games of the staggering champion.

Chicago and Philadelphia were not scheduled in the American League the unusual doubleheader was the only National League action.

Mustangs Trample Pampa Guerillas

A rampaging band of Wheeler Mustangs, led by their outstanding quarterback, David Johnson, romped over the Pampa Guerillas, 48-18, last night at Harvester Park in the season opener for both clubs.

Johnson ran, passed, and guided his club to every touchdown they scored in the free scoring contest. And he handled quite a bit of the scoring himself.

A crowd of about 700 first night fans saw him go 61 yards around right end on a quarterback keep it play midway through the first quarter. A couple of minutes later he carried over from the 3 yard line after he had gained a couple of pichous to A. D. McCracken that moved the ball from his own 40 to the Guerilla 3. Neither try for point was good and the score was 12-0 at the end of the first quarter.

But the herd came right back to score again four minutes deep in the second period. They recovered a Pampa fumble on the Guerilla 43 and a couple of plays later Johnson went 32 yards around right end for the tally.

The Guerillas then took their turn with John Darby whipping an aerial to Travis Taylor good for 60 yards and carrying to the Wheeler 3. Darby then found James Phippen with a jump pass for the score. Two minutes later Alton Flynn recovered a fumble on the Wheeler 25. Darby tried the jump pass again, but finding no receiver, decided to run and went all the way around his left end for a score. Neither conversion was good and the score was 18-12.

But the Mustangs didn't consider that enough lead at halftime. With 28 seconds left in the half, Johnson sent an aerial toward Jim Clark. The ball was deflected into the air at the goal line and dropped into Clark's hands for the score. Johnson had set up the play with another 44 yard scamper around right end. A Johnson-to-Clark jump pass made the extra point and at halftime it was Wheeler 28, Pampa 12.

Wheeler took over on downs right after the second half kickoff and a couple of plays later giving up the ship will make the game more even than the five touchdown margin given the Irish indicates.

OFFICIALS: Referee, Whitey Bacaus; umpire, Jess Cearley; head linesman, Chester Hufwelder; field judge, Finis Vaughn.

GAME INFORMATION: Kickoff at 8:30 p.m. Gates open at 7:15. BROADCASTS Over Radio Station KPND at 8:15. TICKETS: On sale at gate.

The Pampa Harvesters, a question mark ball club so far this training season, will get an opportunity tonight to prove to themselves, their coaches, and their fans, that they have the calibre of fighting club that has been representative of Pampa High School the past few years when they open their season against the Sweetwater Mustangs at Harvester Park.

The Mustangs of District 3A-2 are coached by Pat Gerald, who did such an outstanding job at Panhandle several years ago. He will be bringing an untested, inexperienced split-T club to Pampa in what will also be the season opener for the Mustangs.

Kickoff time is 8:30. The game will be broadcast, starting at 8:15, over radio station KPND. The Harvesters ran through their final workout late yesterday afternoon and looked decidedly poor in the major part of the light drill. Lack of knowledge of plays and lack of spirit kept the coaching staff irritated with what they saw on the eve of the opening battle.

The Mustangs will come to town with a team that has but two returning lettermen, but with a line that outweighs the who will anchor the line along with 220-pound tackle J. W. Fatten.

The main strength of the Mustangs is expected to lie in their strong and fast backfield, while any weakness would stem from the lack of experience of the ball club. Most of the boys are juniors, up from the B squad or else reserves of last season.

Others expected to see a lot of action for the Mustangs are quarterback Joe Smith and left halfback Theron Dorsey, who have been running with the first string, regularly during workouts.

Other than Cook, the Harvesters will probably get no work out of huge Buddy Cockrell tonight as he rests his twisted knee under doctor's advice. The rest of the squad is in good physical condition and should be ready for action if called upon.

The entire District 4A-1 will see action this week. The Borger Bulldogs opened the season last night against the Dalhart Wolves. In other games tonight San Angelo is at Midland; Childress is at Amarillo; Arlington Heights (Fort Worth) is at Abilene; Plainview is at Lubbock; and Odessa plays Reagan at Houston.

Three Gates Open At All Ends of Field

Three gates will be open for fans attending tonight's football game at Harvester Park. Dalhart never staged a serious scoring threat. All-district Bill Cossun was sidelined during almost the entire second half but the Borger defense limited the Panhandle youngster to a bare 12 yards during the time he was in the game.

Borger smashed a total of 190 yards in penalties with most of the lost yardage coming on off-sides charges. Clebourne Bybee, 160-pound senior letterman, made his debut as a T general, a highly successful one. His personal record of passes completed was a healthy 6 for 8 including both touchdown aeriels.

Hubbers Take 2-Game Lead

ALBUQUERQUE — (AP) — The West Texas-New Mexico League playoffs take time out for high school football tonight, with Lubbock ahead of Abilene 3-1 and Albuquerque tied up with Lamesa 2-2.

Lubbock pushed ahead again last night, downing the Blue Sox 7-2 to force the Sox to win Saturday night or call it quits.

Albuquerque started out to do the same thing, pounding out seven runs to take a shutout lead in the third. But the Ducks stopped there, and the Lobos came back to win 18-7.

The Hubbers sent Art Hamilton to the showers in the first by getting off to a 5-0 start at Lubbock.

Ed Arthur was dismounted in the third after he allowed Albuquerque's outburst at Lamesa, but Harry Pilarski took care of the situation by allowing no more Duke runs and only six more hits.

By contrast, Jerry Folkman — who held the Lobos scoreless the first three innings — blew up in the fourth to allow the first four Lamesa runs. Don Cantrell, charged with the loss, held the Lobos scoreless for two innings when he too went to pieces and allowed nine runs in the seventh.

The series resumes Saturday night at the same sites, with any additional games to be played in Albuquerque and Abilene.

Abilene skipper Hack Miller will send Fred Schmidt (2-6) against Lubbock and Fay Faust (2-12). Jesse Priest (1-3) will start for Albuquerque at Lamesa against Herb Damico (9-2).

Mustangs Trample Pampa Guerillas

A rampaging band of Wheeler Mustangs, led by their outstanding quarterback, David Johnson, romped over the Pampa Guerillas, 48-18, last night at Harvester Park in the season opener for both clubs.

Johnson ran, passed, and guided his club to every touchdown they scored in the free scoring contest. And he handled quite a bit of the scoring himself.

A crowd of about 700 first night fans saw him go 61 yards around right end on a quarterback keep it play midway through the first quarter. A couple of minutes later he carried over from the 3 yard line after he had gained a couple of pichous to A. D. McCracken that moved the ball from his own 40 to the Guerilla 3. Neither try for point was good and the score was 12-0 at the end of the first quarter.

But the herd came right back to score again four minutes deep in the second period. They recovered a Pampa fumble on the Guerilla 43 and a couple of plays later Johnson went 32 yards around right end for the tally.

The Guerillas then took their turn with John Darby whipping an aerial to Travis Taylor good for 60 yards and carrying to the Wheeler 3. Darby then found James Phippen with a jump pass for the score. Two minutes later Alton Flynn recovered a fumble on the Wheeler 25. Darby tried the jump pass again, but finding no receiver, decided to run and went all the way around his left end for a score. Neither conversion was good and the score was 18-12.

But the Mustangs didn't consider that enough lead at halftime. With 28 seconds left in the half, Johnson sent an aerial toward Jim Clark. The ball was deflected into the air at the goal line and dropped into Clark's hands for the score. Johnson had set up the play with another 44 yard scamper around right end. A Johnson-to-Clark jump pass made the extra point and at halftime it was Wheeler 28, Pampa 12.

Wheeler took over on downs right after the second half kickoff and a couple of plays later giving up the ship will make the game more even than the five touchdown margin given the Irish indicates.

Maxwell Reaches Semifinal Round

BETHLEHEM, Pa. — (AP) — A poker faced suburban New York lawyer tries his golf case against a youth young enough to be his son and a portly 40-year-old replayer a smiling red haired Texan from Odessa today in the National Amateur golf championships.

An almost unbelievable wave of upsets that sent nine dumbfounded Walker Cup team players reeling to the sidelines narrowed the semifinal field to 30-year-old Joe Gagliardi, West Chester County, N. Y., lawyer, Tommy Jacobs, 18, Montebello, Calif., well rounded Jack Benson, Pittsburgh real estate dealer, and North Texas State Teachers College's golf captain, Billy Maxwell.

Borger Trounces Dalhart, 32-0

BORGER — An aggressive and aerial minded Borger Bulldog eleven downed the IAA Dalhart Wolves 32-0 here last night in the season's opener. The Dogs went through the air twice for scores and had a pass completion record of 5 out of 14 attempts.

Dalhart never staged a serious scoring threat. All-district Bill Cossun was sidelined during almost the entire second half but the Borger defense limited the Panhandle youngster to a bare 12 yards during the time he was in the game.

"We Wanta Go"

They "wanta go" and go they will; and how we love the Dogs for it! Wherever little master may go, there they will follow, or even run on ahead where they are sure he is moving. What a fine lesson for us human followers of the Great Master! Can we be as unquestioning in our devotion as they are?

He will be in the place of worship come next Sunday; shall we hurry to follow Him there? Our Lord will be in the house of pain and suffering and sorrow; shall we hasten to speak our word of cheer and of comfort? He will be at the side of the man who is daring to support the good cause in our community; shall "we wanta go" with him there and be counted, too?

What a blessed Lord we have in Jesus Christ! What a loving God speaks to us through this Son of His love! Do we not know that if we follow Him we shall be safe? Do we love Him as much as the puppies love their human friend and master? Does our Leader merit full obedience and complete trust? Let's say, whenever we see Him on the road, "We wanta go." "I'll go where you want me to go, dear Lord; I'll say what you want we to say."

A Hymn Is Born

BY CLINT BONNER

Gave My Life For Thee

A frail young woman visits an art gallery

A hundred years ago... 1838... a frail woman of 22 sat in an art gallery in Germany, delicate to attend school regularly in England. Frances Ridley Havergal's mother sent her to visit friends in Dunseldorf, to rest in front of a painting of Christ crucified. Over the wreath of thorns she saw the words: "This have I done for thee; wilt thou do for me?"

In England she showed the lines to her father, the Rev. W. H. Havergal, a hymn writer and composer in his own right. He encouraged her to add more verses. Thus began one of the most brilliant careers in the writing of Christian songs since the days of Isaac Watts.

Always frail in health, Frances Havergal died at the age of 43. When the physician told her the end was near she said, "Splendid! To be so near the gates of Heaven!" Her hymns are still in use around the world... and foremost among them is the one that would have been destroyed in the fireplace but for a chance gust of air.

*Gave my life for thee,
My precious blood I shed,
Had thou mightiest reasons be,
And quickened from the dead;
Gave my life for thee,
What hast thou given for Me?*

*I suffered much for thee,
More than thy tongue can tell,
Of bitter agony,
To rescue thee from hell;
I've borne it all for thee,
What hast thou borne for Me?*

*By Father's house of light,
My glory circled throne
Left, for earthly night,
For wanderings sad and lone,
Left it all for thee,

*And I have brought to thee,
Down from My home above,
Salvation full and free,
My pardon and My love,
I bring rich gifts to thee,
What hast thou brought to Me?*

Christian Gains And Losses Listed

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D. Dominant trends and influences in almost every sphere of thought and activity become apparent to an intelligent observer as he looks out over any considerable period of time. These, moreover, become so marked that they become fixed, or characterized, in the public mind.

We speak of certain tendencies and forces as "in the air"; we speak of "the age of this, or of that." We are aware of action and reaction, and of what my good old professor of economics used to call "the ebb and flow of social ideas." He himself, incidentally, had become the chief individualist of his environment.

An age emphasizing the greatest freedom of action today, may be the age of many laws, regulations, and restrictions tomorrow. The young observer of today, who sees extensive movements toward church union, and the development of a world-consciousness and a world organization of the Protestant churches, can hardly realize how completely a generation or two ago the trend was the other way. Sectarianism and divisiveness were not only in the air, but right on the ground, with hard, practical reality.

In a Canadian town in which I grew up there were two sorts of Methodism, each church representing a different organization, and there were additional sorts of Methodism in the country at large. There were, likewise, two sorts of Presbyterianism, and there may have been others as well.

Wherever some presumably prophetic soul, or ambitious leader, thought he had discovered a new idea, or a new emphasis, he proceeded to build a new, and sometimes a very narrow and insular, denomination around it.

That rank growth of the sects was in a sense the disgrace of Protestantism, but it also had in it a touch of Protestantism's glory—the emphasis on freedom. Like all great men and good things freedom is capable of abuse. But freedom is nevertheless great and good.

Today the trend, and I think most of us would say for the better, is all the other way. Controversy has almost disappeared; the things that divided are hardly mentioned.

Yet one of the greatest of Scottish church leaders not long ago spoke of "good controversy" as a great need of our time. And we might well ask whether with all the undoubted gains in present trends we are not in danger of losing some of the essential values of the times when Christians laid so much stress upon their conscientious convictions, and were averse toward compromise.

It is a question to which I shall return.

Bishop FitzSimon To Preach Sermon At Field Mass In Pampa Sunday

The Most Reverend Laurence J. FitzSimon, bishop of Amarillo, will preach the sermon at a Field Mass, Sunday, Sept. 16, at 10 a.m. in Central Park on North Cuyler. Pampa, Frank Keim council No. 2767 of the Knights of Columbus is sponsoring this Field Mass and extends a cordial invitation to the public to attend. Offering the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass in the open air will be the Rev. Fr. Myles P. Moynahan, C. M., pastor of Holy Souls Catholic church. The Rev. Fr. Anthony Soklich will be the organist and Bill Haley will direct the choir of Holy Souls church. Pat Williams and Joe McNamara will be altar boys. Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus in uniform will form a guard of honor. A. J. Willeke of San Angelo, Master of the Sixth District of Texas, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, will direct the band. Frank Keim council is composed of members from the communities of Pampa, Berger, Groom, White Deer, Panhandle, Shamrock, Wellington and Canadian. David M. Poundstone of Berger is Grand Knight of the council and has extended a special invitation to all of the surrounding councils, as well as the public, to attend. Wyndell Cox of Pampa is chairman of the committee directing arrangements.

Christian Science

That the enduring substance of Spirit, God, far outweighs the seeming substantiality of matter is brought out in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Substance" to be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, September 16. The everlasting quality of God's creation is seen in this citation from Psalms, "The works of the Lord are great, sought out of all them that have pleasure therein. The works of his hands are verity and judgment; all his commandments are sure. They stand fast for ever and ever, and are done in truth and uprightness."

Continuing in the same vein, Mary Baker Eddy writes, "The substance, Life, intelligence, Truth, and Love, which constitute Deity, are reflected by His creation; and when we subordinate the false testimony of the corporeal senses to the facts of Science, we shall see this true likeness and reflection everywhere" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, page 518). The Golden Text, from Hosea, states, "Turn thou to thy God; keep mercy and judgment, and wait on thy God continually."

Calvary Baptist WMU Has Luncheon Meeting

The home of Mrs. Bert Mitchell, 1014 E. Francis, was scene of an all-day meeting and cooked dish luncheon for the Blanche Grove circle of the Calvary Baptist WMU.

During the morning the women made a uniform for the nursery at the church, and during the afternoon they held a meeting with Bible study. Mrs. Jack Robertson, circle chairman, conducted the meeting, with Mrs. E. M. Boyd giving the opening prayer and Mrs. Robert offering the closing prayer.

Mrs. Mitchell served ice cream to the group.

TASTY CREAM SAUCE

REV. LYLE C. ALBRIGHT

Albright Begins Work As Pastor Of Brethren Church

Rev. Lyle C. Albright, new pastor at the Church of the Brethren, preached his first sermon there on Sept. 2. He succeeds Rev. Russell G. West who left to assume the pastorate of the Church of the Brethren in Wiley, Colo., after 12 years as pastor of the local church.

Rev. Albright, Mrs. Albright and their children, Sylvia, 7, Stephen, 4, and Richard, 2, are now in the process of becoming settled in their new home in Pampa.

Rev. Albright has held student pastorates at Castleton, Kan., and Loganport, Ind., and has held summer pastorates at Kingsley, Iowa and Fairbury, Texas.

He served a short term on the missionary field in Nigeria, West Africa, having returned to the United States after a year because of ill health.

The Albright's came to Pampa from Plattsburg, Mo., where he had been pastor of the Church of the Brethren for the past four years.

WE, THE WOMEN

By RUTH MILLET
NEA Staff Writer

Louise is one of those wives who apparently want their husbands' pity rather than their admiration.

Maybe she doesn't know that it is pity she wants. But it is pity she is always asking for.

She works so hard — and housework is so dull. The children were little demons today, as indeed they are most days, according to Louise's reports.

The next-door neighbor did this that was annoying or her children did that.

The house isn't convenient. If Louise just had an electric dishwasher or whatever — like the Joneses it would make such a difference.

She saw something today she would so like to have — but, of course, she didn't buy it. She had the WORST luck — and then comes the tale of some minor household upset.

She wasn't invited to Sue's party — though everybody else seemed to have been. SHE ENJOYS POOR HEALTH. She doesn't feel well. No nothing in particular. She must just be all tired out.

She's so tied down. She wonders if the children will EVER grow up enough so they don't demand her constant attention.

And so it goes. Most of the pictures of herself and her life that she offers her husband are drawn to make him feel sorry for her.

Army Offers GI's Course In Gambling

CAMP ATTERBURY, Ind. — (AP) — The Army has added a course in gambling to its basic training at Camp Atterbury. The object is to persuade soldiers that gambling is hard on a slim pocket-book.

"The best game to play is horseshoes," the instructor, Pvt. Tim Mulroy, tells his students.

But for those who persist in gambling Pvt. Mulroy emphasizes the danger from the professional gambler.

The 23-year-old private was plucked out of the ranks to teach. He was a professional magician and card trick artist in civilian life.

SEASON WELSH RABBIT
When you're making a Welsh Rabbit using about a pound of sharp cheddar cheese season with two teaspoons of Worcestershire sauce for pungent flavor.

FRENCH EGY SANDWICHES
Make sandwiches of sliced ham and cheese, then dip into a French toast batter, and fry in butter or margarine until both sides of the sandwich are a golden brown. Serve with currant jelly, a tossed green salad, and tea or coffee.

Between the spring and autumn, a single pair of rabbits will increase a hundredfold.

French Doctor Has Novel Idea For Solving Housing Problem

ST. LOUIS — (AP) — A French doctor has popped up with a novel idea for helping ease the worldwide housing shortage. Dr. Widboux spoke at the Sec. Gerontological congress, a conference on the problems of aging.

At the same meeting, Leonard S. Silk of the United States Housing and Home Finance agency (HHFA) reported on a survey of housing conditions of the aged in this country.

"Over 80 percent of people over age 65 in urban and rural nonfarm areas of the United States maintain independent households," he said.

"Aged people should not be isolated but should be kept in contact with the outside world." Dr. Widboux spoke at the Sec. Gerontological congress, a conference on the problems of aging.

At the same meeting, Leonard S. Silk of the United States Housing and Home Finance agency (HHFA) reported on a survey of housing conditions of the aged in this country.

"Over 80 percent of people over age 65 in urban and rural nonfarm areas of the United States maintain independent households," he said.

Reds Commence Fall Maneuvers

BERLIN — (AP) — The Russian garrison of East Germany will begin annual fall maneuvers on army scale. Some 250,000 Red army troops have been deployed on small problems, mostly river crossings, throughout the summer.

The entire force now is being assembled for a united war game which will be judged by Gen. Vasily Ghitukov.

"Generally speaking, their housing circumstances are worse than are those of the rest of the population. The aged tend to occupy relatively more very low rent dwelling units and low value structures, and their housing is relatively more dilapidated and deficient in plumbing facilities."

"It is possible that some old

JACOBY ON CANASTA

No Answer To This Question

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
"We play quite a bit of Samba, and we go all out for the sequences," writes a Pittsburgh correspondent. "We arrange our cards according to suits to make it easier to spot sequences, and we seldom make any other kind of meld. As a matter of fact, we pay very little attention to the discard pile, unless it happens to contain a card that is badly needed for a sequence."

"Our main problem is what to do with deuces. We can't use them in sequences, and we can't use more than two deuces in any other meld. They get to be quite a nuisance when you're trying to meld out, because you've got to do something with them. The laws don't allow you to throw them under the table or to eat them. What's the answer?"

There isn't any good answer to this question. If you happen to be playing for a sequence or two, you are very disappointed when the opponents meld out quickly. That's when you want the opponents to be hamstrung by a few extra deuces.

But if the opponents have all the juicy sequences, you want to meld out quickly. Then you complain bitterly about the difficulty of getting rid of your deuces.

The sad truth is that you can't have it both ways. Every good game has a certain amount of offense and a certain amount of defense. If you alter the balance of the game far more than you seem to. Sometimes your change is radical enough to spoil the game.

Some players follow the Children rule of allowing a canasta of wild cards. All sorts of fancy large bonuses are allowed for such a canasta. I think it's a poor idea, but anybody who likes it has a perfect right to use it.

Q — I'm not clear about black threes in Canasta. When you meld out, are you allowed to put one or more wild cards with your black threes? Regardless of the answer to this question, if you make a legal meld of black threes when you meld out, are you also allowed to discard at that turn?

A — You are not allowed to meld any wild cards at all with black threes. If you meld out with black threes, you are allowed to make a discard at that turn if you wish to do so. It is just like any other meld-out: your discard is optional.

Earliest fossil members of the dog family are found on the American continent.

The FORM DIVINE by HILDEGARDE DOLSON

THE STORY: Lucilla Webb enrolls in the beautiful Yoo School without telling her husband anything but "cheers" or "skool." She sipped her Martini and felt awfully warm, either from the unaccustomed taste of gin, or the even more unaccustomed taste of intrigue.

"It's funny, our meeting the way we did." The actor's voice strummed the words softly. "I can tell you what a relief it was to see one person like you in that class of overstuffed matrons."

Perversely, she had to remind him that he'd looked more at Paris Green.

"That show-girl moron. You don't think she's my dish?"

IT was the reassurance she wanted, but she couldn't help remembering how Paris had squelched him. Derek imitated Paris, wriggling his shoulders and saying through his nose, "Art's okay."

She giggled, feeling a little guilty. "And you've certainly been holding out on me about Rodney Mool," he continued. "Come on, give. I'm dying to know."

"Know what?" She was impatient to get back to the talk about inhibitions and her enigmatic smile. As Derek went on asking questions about Mool—"If he was an active Commie, how did he keep it so quiet?"—she began to be uneasy. "I never said he was a Communist. He may even be a rabid Republican by now."

"You can trust me," Derek said coaxingly. "I won't tell a soul."

Honestly made her say, "There's nothing to tell."

She looked at him and said, "I was thinking the other day—you remind me of Rodney. You even look a little alike."

"The poor, poor man!" He tightened the knot of his tie, smiling. "You must introduce us sometime when he's in town. Is it true he's going to do I Married a Borgia in Rome?"

Lucilla looked blank; she was tracing herself to explain that she never saw Rodney any more, when Derek said they must have another drink. She started to say, "No, really, I have to go," but he signaled over her head to the waitress. It was only 5:30; Hoopy would still be at Linda's. "My child is mad about television," she said. "She's 8 and . . ."

"You only imagine you have an 8-year-old daughter. You aren't really that old."

Even though she knew it was nonsense, she couldn't help simpering. She started to give what she thought was an amusing account of Hoopy and the rest of the audience at Little Red Riding Hood. Derek interrupted to explain how atrociously amateurish those productions were. He informed her: at some length. She made another effort to tell about the children. This time, she got through three consecutive sentences before he exclaimed, "What little fends we breed in America."

Lucilla though he was being much too violent, but already some instinct warned her it was better not to contradict him.

HE talked. She listened hungrily, thinking this was the sort of intellectual conversation she'd been starved for. By 6 o'clock Lucilla was in so exalted an intellectual flush, what with the Martinis and Derek's reciting several wonderfully apt lines from Elliot's "The Cocktail Party," that she almost forgot to go powder her nose while her escort paid the check. He had suggested having a bite to eat at a little restaurant on East 50th Street—"the kind only the French go to"—and stopping at his apartment afterward so that she could hear a Joyce recording of "Finnegan's Wake."

"I mean . . . new shoes and you're the economist who told me theatre tickets this season!"

"Not 'new shoes,' my dear, call it an investment in fine leather, handsome detailing and long wear! Note the successful look they give me!"

"Successful," he says! we could probably have seen two shows for what they cost!"

"Live and learn, pet. These are YORKTOWNS . . . the best buy in town, such a good buy, in fact, that we can afford your 'two on the side!'"

Veteran Producer Gets Screen Award

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Veteran producer Jesse L. Lasky has received the Screen Producers' guild silver wreath of honor for "historic contribution to the American motion picture."

The award was made Wednesday by actress Gloria Swanson on behalf of the guild and its president, William Perlberg.

Lasky is credited with discovering such stars as Miss Swanson, Claudette Colbert, Fredric March, Gary Cooper, Walter Houston and Bing Crosby. More than 600 motion picture personalities attended the tribute.
