UN ARMORED FORCE HITS FOE

Ridgway Silent On Commie Proposal For Peace Parley

TOKYO — (AP) — Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway withheld his answer today to a Communist proposal to resume the Korean truce talks at Kaesong.

But while the move to resume armistice talks hung fire, Allied armor roared out loudly across the Korean battlefield.

The battle of words over how to get the wheel of peace revolving again was loud.

Even Red China's Peiping radio — the Communist sounding board that pours out tens of thousands of words each day in anti-United Nations command propaganda — was notably silent.

There was only a dribble of hashed-over complaints of Kaesong neutrality violations where torrents used to flow.

Meanwhile, hope rode high in Tokyo and at the advance UN command camp near Munsan that the truce talks would be reopened despite Ridgway's silence and the rising crescendo of action along the battlefield.

There still was no definite indication when the supreme allied commander would answer the message of yesterday from the Red leaders, North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung and Chinese Gen. Peng Teh-hual.

The Communist strategists suggested "immediate" resumption of the peace discussions they broke off 29 days ago on charges of Allied air and ground violations of the restricted zone around Kaesong.

The Reds want liaison officers of both sides to meet and fix a time for reopening the conferences. They hope to discuss at this first session a plan for guaranteeing the neutrality of Kaesong and settling differences over previously charged violations of the conference site.

Destructive Fire Hits Texas Town

BOWIE, Tex. — (AP) — Fire destroyed most of a downtown Bowie business block before dawn today.

The stubborn blaze began about 1:30 a.m. and swept out of control for three and a half hours despite efforts of firemen from four north Texas towns.

The blaze began in the two-story brick Garrett Furniture Co. It raced through the building to the nearby Bowie Bakery building and leaped to other structures.

At 5 a.m. the fire was pronounced under control. Hours later small blazes still were breaking out and canned food still was exploding intermittently from the heat.

Bowie is a town of about 5,000 people in North Texas about 65 miles northwest of Fort Worth. Firemen from nearby Decatur, Nocona and Henrietta helped fight the blaze.

Seven business firms were burned out or damaged. The Garrett Furniture building was destroyed. The fire, after racing into the Bowie Bakery building, destroyed the John Lankester barber shop, the Ira Cafe and apartments, and the Merchants Wholesale grocery, and the Weekly Bowie News.

Pampa Veteran Among Returnees

Cpl. Robert C. Dittmeyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dittmeyer, 311 W. Brown, is among 42 Texas combat veterans who are scheduled to arrive Saturday at San Francisco from Korea.

Enlisting June 27, 1950, Dittmeyer received his training at Ft. Riley, Kans. and was shipped overseas in August, 1950.

He is in the First Cavalry Division.

Machinery Breakdown Halts Road Work On North Hobart

A break-down of one section of the rock crushing machinery on N. Hobart brought base laying operations there to a halt this week after 8,000 of the 20,000 cubic yards of base had been laid.

State Highway Dept. engineers reported this morning the broken part has been ordered direct from the factory and construction men were looking for its arrival here today.

The widening and paving of the southern anchor of the Pampa-Perryman Rd. — State Hwy. 70 — is being done in two sections. The first section is along N. Hobart from Alcock to 21st, the city limits. The second phase will be the 4.4 miles of open highway north of the city limits.

Highway engineers said this morning they hoped to get the N. Hobart section completed first so traffic would be better able to go through. When that section is completed construction men will start grinding out the first 22,000 cubic yards of caliche and limestone flexible base for the second phase.

Asphalt surfacing, in all probability, will not be laid this year because of cool weather setting in.

In the meantime, workmen on the McClellan Creek bridge on

Appreciation Dinner Slated For Cabot, Celanese Leaders

An appreciation dinner-party honoring Hugh "Buck" Burdette and E. L. "Gene" Green, Jr., of Cabot Carbon Co., and officials of the Celanese Corp. of America, will be given by the Pampa Chamber of Commerce at 7 p.m., Sept. 27 in the Pampa Country Club.

Home office and high ranking field officials of Cabot and Celanese as well as Atty. Gen. Price Daniel have accepted invitations to the affair. Gov. Allan Shivers and members of the Texas Railroad commission have also been invited, but as yet have not replied.

Winter Jumps The Gun As Cold Wind Hits Pampa Area

Winter last night jumped ahead of its scheduled appearance at 2:38 p.m. Sunday, bringing 33 degree weather and 45 miles-per-hour gusts of wind.

Summer ends Sunday as the sun crosses the celestial equator. In South America, today is the last day of winter and the arrival of spring was being celebrated with much festivity.

The cold front that hit the Plains this morning moved in from Colorado. The front traced a line between Childress and Hobart, Okla. this morning, showing a north to south face to East Texas, according to the Associated Press.

Weather Bureau reports that this indicates the front's movement to East Texas will be slow while West Texas will feel fewer temperatures earlier.

Forecast for West Texas is "partly cloudy with scattered showers and cooler temperatures."

Sewer Project To Be Scanned By Civic Study Group

The last of three civic improvement study groups was to meet this afternoon in the city commission room, city hall.

The group is deliberating on whether the $145,061 proposed sewer extension project should remain as presented, modified, or dropped altogether.

Yesterday afternoon the subcommittee on water improvements adopted the proposed $312,562 water system expansion program without making any changes or modifications.

Wednesday, the study group approved by Farris Oden, chairman of the general citizens committee, knocked out the proposed widening of N. Somerville by removing the parkway and the Somerville bridge, but advised adding another rest room at Central Park, increasing the four rest rooms to five. This would put two rest rooms in the park proper and the other near the Cook bridge. The action actually cost $45,000 from the proposed street improvements schedule.

However, this was only a recommendation to the general committee, subject to revision Monday afternoon when the full group meets in the city commission room.

The citizens committee was organized this week on call by Mayor C. A. Huff to work with the city commission on determining what is needed in extending water and sewer lines, construction of bridges, park rest rooms, additional traffic signals, and ways and means of paying for them.

The general committee Monday split itself three ways, one to study each of the projects of water, sewer, and streets and parks. The full committee's recommendations will be made to the city commission Tuesday morning.

Mr. Truman's letter renewing his demand for a $10,000,000 tax bond as necessary to balance the budget was read to the Senate when the first full day of debate on the bill first opened yesterday. No one commented on it directly during debate.

Mr. Truman said the bill under debate isn't stiff enough on individual and corporation income taxpayers. The Senate committee trimmed it sharply from the $7,700,000,000 version passed by the House.

But George told a reporter: "I'm not going to propose any amendments to take any additional amounts from the taxpayer. If the Senate wants to take more money out of the pockets of the American taxpayer, why can't it do it?"

Pampan Wounded In Korean Fighting

A Pampa Marine was wounded in Korea Sept. 14, 10 days after he arrived there — according to a telegram received this morning by his mother, Mrs. Ruth Ross, 437 Pitts.

Condition of the wounded Pampan, John T. Hill, is not yet known. The War Dept. telegram explained that "details will follow."

Hill has served in the Marine Corps three years and three months. He attended Pampa schools prior to his enlistment. Hill's wife is living in El Monte, Calif., and a sister, Mrs. E. H. Bentley, lives at the Pitts street address.

Wheeler was born Aug. 4, 1908 in Gainesville, Tex.

House Okays Federal Pay Increase Bill

WASHINGTON — (AP) — More than a million and a half postal employes and government white collar workers can each look forward today to around $400 a year more in their pay envelopes from now on.

Three pay increase bills retroactive to July 1 and totaling $670,000,000 annually were shouted through by the House in rapid-fire order late yesterday.

The Senate had approved almost similar measures earlier — one of the biggest pay boosts ever given federal employes at one time — and a Senate-House compromise committee now must iron out the differences.

The big salary hike even had the House talking about more money for its own members, now getting $15,000 a year in salary and expenses.

Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts told the House he hoped that before the next session ends 15 months from now, Congress would have "the courage" to vote its members $25,000 a year. Members applauded.

McCormack said the present pay of senators and representatives is "unfortunate" and he thought their constituents favored more money for hard-working congressmen.

"I have the courage to vote for such an increase in my salary and I am sure all of you have," he said.

The pay increases voted yesterday were to help government workers — especially those in the lower pay brackets — offset the rising cost of living.

State Line Fair Starts At Shamrock

Bands marched and Shamrock took on a festive air Thursday as the State Line Free Fair opened its action.

Bill Walker, parade marshal, rode behind the colors to lead the opening parade down Main street to get the three-day festival underway.

Bands from Erick, Okla., Wheeler and Shamrock furnished marching time and music. Shriners men from the Shamrock National Guard Scouts, a swing orchestra from Amarillo Air base and new and old model automobiles made up the parade.

Rodeo performances will be staged at 8 a.m. each day of the fair and at 2:30 p.m. Sunday. Rodeo stock is furnished by Tom Harland. The purse amounts to $12,000.

Terrapin races will be run at 1:30 p.m. during fair days and the sweepstakes will be staged Saturday.

Swine judging was completed Thursday morning behind the Shamrock Community center, where booths and displays are being shown by 4-H girls and home demonstration women.

Judging of dairy cattle will be done Friday and beef cattle judging will be done Saturday.

Judging of 4-H club baking entries will be completed Saturday and the winner will compete at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo next week.

Parade chairman was Bill Sims, assisted by Guy Hill.

Senator Gives Cold Shoulder To Truman 'More Tax' Request

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman's request for $4,500,000,000 more in taxes than the Senate Finance committee recommended brought this reply today from Committee Chairman George (D-Ga.): "Not one more cent as far as I am concerned."

The veteran Senator added, in talking to a reporter, that he is confident the Senate will approve without substantial change the estimated $5,506,000,000 tax increase voted by his committee.

The Senate broke up in an angry frame of mind last night after Senator Douglas (D-Ill.) made sharply critical analysis of the bill in line with Mr. Truman's wishes, charged the Senate leadership is trying "to ram the bill down our throats."

It meets two hours early again today with Senator Humphrey (D-Minn.) holding the floor.

For seven hours yesterday he made sharply critical analysis of the finance committee bill and charged that the revenue yield increased at least to $9,000,000,000.

Mr. Truman's letter renewing his demand for a $10,000,000,000 tax bond as necessary to balance the budget was read to the Senate when the first full day of debate on the bill first opened yesterday. No one commented on it directly during debate.

Mr. Truman said the bill under debate isn't stiff enough on individual and corporation income taxpayers. The Senate committee trimmed it sharply from the $7,700,000,000 version passed by the House.

Club Will Conduct Radio Code Course

Enrollment in the second course of radio code will be held at 7 p.m. Sept. 26 in the National Guard armory at Recreation park.

The free course is being given as a public service by the Pampa Amateur Radio club, one of the city's newest organizations.

The club completed its first code class last week. The regular meeting was dispensed with this week when members and their families attended a club winter roast in Central park.

House Takes Recess

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The House, fairly well caught up with its work, started an unofficial one-week recess yesterday. Leaders promised there will be no controversial legislation before next Thursday. The House returned Sept. 12 from a 19-day recess.

Mr. Pannell has been in ill health for some time and died in his daughter's home in Mobeetie on Tuesday. After he retired from active farming he and his wife lived in Wheeler until Mr. Pannell's health failed. He was a resident of Wheeler county for 22 years.

Survivors include his wife, two sons, Bill Pannell of Ft. Worth, and Eddie Pannell of Pampa; and two daughters Mrs. Johnny Newman of Mobeetie and Mrs. Lorean Glascock of Dalhart, 18 grandchildren and 5 great-grandchildren.

The condition of Bobbie Jo Trout, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Trout, 404 1/2 S. Main, is reported to be "very satisfactory."

Dr. Carl M. Lang said she does not have internal injuries but still is being treated for fractures of the arm and leg. He stated the child possibly may be in the hospital a month.

Republicans Blast Truman's Forecast Of A Demo Victory

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Republicans blasted President Truman's 1952 victory predictions today while Southern Democrats took grim note of his intent to help draft his own party's platform.

Almost to a man Republicans disputed both the President's assertion at a news conference yesterday that his opposition has no issues and is resorting to misrepresentation and smears.

Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) put the sentiment of many of his colleagues into words with the declaration that "the people will have a chance to decide whether there are any issues in 1952 and they will express themselves on efficiency and integrity in government by electing a Republican president."

Republican National Committee Chairman Guy C. Gabrielson said in a statement: "The people know the issues. Under the Truman administration they have corruption, inflation, high taxes, and war. If Mr. Truman wants to shut his eyes and pretend they don't exist, let him enjoy the dream while it lasts."

The President's observation that he intends to have a hand in drafting the 1952 Democratic program seemingly indicated that Southern Democrats who hope for softening of the 1948 civil rights plank at next year's convention will have a fight on their hands.

Recognizing this, most of the

Tanks Strike In 'Triangle'

EIGHTH ARMY, Korea — (AP) — Allied armored columns jabbed into the north corner of the old Communist Iron Triangle in central Korea Friday, shot up everything in sight and then withdrew for the night.

It was perhaps the heaviest armored thrust of the war. Infantrymen followed the tanks into action.

Elements of three Allied divisions smashed northward within a short distance of Pyongyang, apex of the triangular area used last spring as a massive build-up area by the Chinese and Korean Reds.

One tank-infantry column north of Chorwon, the southwestern corner of the triangle, stuck at dawn and met only light resistance from Reds lining the hills. A second armored column met bitter opposition north of Kumhwa after poking northward only a mile.

"It seemed as though the Reds had anti-tank guns in the woods and corner of the valley," an officer said.

The toughest resistance was met by the third tank column northeast of Kumhwa. The column ran into a hail of

Hearing For McGee To Be In Midland

LUBBOCK — (AP) — Richard McGee, former Pampa, condemned slayer of a father who rejected him as a possible non-in-law, will have his sanity tested in Midland Oct. 15.

Judge Victor Lindsey ordered McGee's sanity at yesterday's hearing was sentenced to die for the 1948 slaying of R. L. Allison. The shooting followed an argument between McGee and the Allison family over his attentions to Betty Jane Allison, 18 at the time.

The Pampa man was clad in a gray sweatshirt and khaki trousers when Lindsey ordered the change of venue. He interrupted the court to ask questions. "Judge, may I ask you a couple of questions?" he blurted out.

"Yes sir."

"Can they try me for insanity if I don't want to be tried for insanity?" McGee asked.

"Sure."

"Can I reject the trial?"

"I don't think so, Richard."

"Can I plead sanity, myself?"

"You can plead anything you want to, as I understand the law."

"Can I demand to get on the witness stand to prove my sanity?"

"I don't think we will gain anything by further discussion on this matter, Richard," McGee sat down. "Okay," he said.

Price Controls Hinder Supply Of Army Beef

CHICAGO — (AP) — The Army Quartermaster Market, as prices at Chicago has reported several major packers say they can not bid on an Army request for 15,000,000 pounds of boneless beef needed to feed troops throughout the nation. An Army spokesman said it understood price controls are the reason. A telegraphic notice was sent to all the nation's meat packers by the Chicago center Monday. The bids were opened at noon yesterday at market centers in all parts of the country, and the results announced by the office of quartermaster general in Washington.

A Chicago area marketing officer said most of the large packers could not supply the beef at this time because they have no trouble filling army requirements since World War II, he said. He said beef supplies in the Chicago marketing area are lower than the Army likes to see them. The area takes in crops estimated in Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota, Wisconsin, North Dakota, South Dakota, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, Missouri, Arkansas, Kansas, and Michigan.

He said no camp has complained so far it does not have enough beef. The George A. Hornell Co. in Austin, Minn., reported it can't bid because it is unable to get cattle and still comply with price regulations. Hornell, equipped to slaughter 80 head an hour, received 35 head all day Monday.

TROOP ACTIVITIES — Discussion of past and future troop activities were held during Thursday morning in the scout house for a coffee.

This was the first meeting of the year for the leaders. Mrs. W. E. Hinton was in charge of arrangements with Mrs. Bob Andis on the program, assisted by Mrs. B. Palmer.

Plans were made for the Girl Scout Assn. meeting to be held Oct. 5. About 30 women attended the meeting. Regular meetings will be held every third Thursday each month.

Texas Roads Will Get Face-Lifting

AUSTIN — (AP) — Many of Texas' old roads will get a face-lifting job within the next year. Cost of the mammoth repair and improvement program will be $25,000,000. Distributed over 454 projects and 3,400 miles, the millions will be spent to preserve the state's investment in existing roads. State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer said yesterday. Such a program will curtail new construction but is essential because of the heavy volume of traffic now traversing Texas roads, Greer said.

Rationing Of Gas Forecast By Oil Man

JENNINGS, La. — (AP) — The U.S. government's top oil expert hinted broadly today that gasoline and oil rationing may be necessary next winter unless petroleum output is increased. Bruce K. Brown, deputy administrator of the Petroleum Administration for Defense, warned that free-market defenses may collapse unless petroleum production is hiked.

Brown said in a speech that the oil industry is denied the steel it needs for expansion, "it is only a question of time before there will be a new wave of protests from automobile owners and home owners heating with oil."

"That conclusion is not a happy one with all its implications of rationing, but it is inescapable," he added.

Brown, at Louisiana's celebration of the 50th anniversary of its oil industry, said oil production must be increased "not just here, but in every friendly nation in the world."

"The alternative could all too easily be a collapse of the closely intertwined defense of the free world," he said.

Brown said free-world oil production lost 600,000 barrels a day when Iran's Abadan refinery closed June 30. He added that this has been partially offset by an increase of 230,000 barrels a day in crude oil production in the Middle East and the Caribbean areas.

Diversion to eastern hemisphere refineries of 200,000 barrels a day of Middle East crude oil which normally moves to the U.S. and Canada.

"Extraordinary" efforts of the U.S. industry, through increases in crude allowable in Louisiana and Texas, stepped-up refinery production, and draft upon stocks — at high levels when the Iranian crisis occurred — to permit increased exports.

Americans Weather Scare Buying

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The American public has weathered two "scare buying" furies caused by the Korean war and is now sailing away its savings at a peacetime peak of 21 billion dollars a year.

The Federal Reserve board said this was the savings rate for the three-month period ending July 1, and since then it may have increased even further.

It predicted savings will continue at this high level, and help curb inflation.

The first wave of "scare buying" came in July-September 1945 after the start of the Korean war. It was so sharp it slashed the annual saving rate to only $4,000,000,000. The second, following Chinese Communist intervention in the war, cut the savings rate for the first quarter of 1951 to $9,300,000,000.

The board said "inflationary pressures were rampant," particularly during the first scare buying period, and that many who failed their savings now wish they had held onto money. Read The News Classified

The Pampano Daily News One of Texas' Two Most Consistent Newspapers

We believe that one truth is always consistent with another truth. We endeavor to be consistent with the truths expressed in such Great Moral Guides as the Golden Rule, the Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence.

Should we, at any time, be inconsistent with these truths, we would appreciate anyone pointing out to us how we are inconsistent with these moral guides.

Barefoot Boy in Washington

The Democratic national committee has sent us a copy of Horrible Harry's recent address marking the dedication of the American Legion's Washington headquarters.

We can almost hear him whining and wailing as he reads the complaints against anonymous "scaremongers" and characters assassins.

Take, for example, the passage: "For I know you have no way of telling when some unfounded accusation may be hurled at you, perhaps straight from the halls of Congress."

"Some of you have friends or neighbors who have been singled out for the pitiless publicity that follows accusations of this kind—accusations that are made without any regard for the actual guilt or innocence of the victim."

"That is not playing fair. That is not Americanism."

The President of the United States was talking about accusations of disloyalty and adherence to the Communist party line. He had in mind, particularly, the revelations of Sen. Joe McCarthy of Wisconsin.

Now, it's all well and good to say "Don't condemn this man until the evidence has been heard." But, by the same token, we might add: "And don't pronounce him innocent until the prosecution has had its day in court."

That same Harry Truman is the man who announced that the idea of Communist influence in the administration was a "red herring." He made that statement before such matters as the Hiss trial, before Elizabeth Bentley's testimony before a congressional committee, and before the General Willoughby began to talk about red influence in the Far Eastern Division of the State Department.

Dean Checon didn't wait for the jury to come in when he said he wouldn't turn his back on the "fair play" perjurer.

And as for "scaremongers," that kind of complaint is that from a President whose administration has been governed by "crisis" since he took office?

Every time there are demands for loosening the grip of the administration on our economic throats, some stooge like General Marshall or the Great Red Death of Fashion himself lets go with an announcement that we are closer to war than at any time since you fill in the date.

The scaremongers are in the administration, not outside it. The President, in this Legion speech, stands forth as a barefoot boy of unbelievable naivety and boundless trust and goodwill.

It might be rather a more convincing picture if his background were not so well-known. A protégé of Tom Dew, he is not overburdened in any of these characteristics. And if Harry Truman is anything but the end product of big city machine politics, nobody has tried to prove it.

Yet, this dewey-eyed country boy cries: "They are filling the air with the most irresponsible kinds of accusations against other people. They are trying to get us to believe that our government is riddled with Communism and corruption—when the fact is that we have the finest and most loyal body of civil servants in the world."

Coinciding, as it does, with revelations about the RFC, the Army high command, West Point scandals and the reports of the Kefauver and Fulbright committees—the President's complaint is a tragic comedy. Harry Truman's "civil servants" are "the most loyal . . . in the world"—but to whom are they loyal? To the people who pay them or to the administration which appoints them? How about, for example, Terrence J. Vaughn? How loyal is he to the taxpayers who put him through West Point, pay him more than $1000 a month and some day will pension him for life at something like $9000 a year? His loyalty remarks in public, accepting deep freeze units as gifts, playing poker with the National Tragedy himself and budging around with the Five Percenters.

Oh, we can be proud of evil servants like Harry Vaughn and Hot Oscar Ewing, and Mike Straus, and Oscar Chapman! Yes! Yes!

Those are the top-rung "civil servants" who are, like Caesar's wife, above reproach. Loyal to the death and fine example of American manhood in its prime!

Somehow, the picture just doesn't jell. It comes out like TV in a fringe area—blurred and distorted.

We can only wonder if Harry Truman is unbelievably courageous or enormously naive. It is difficult to cast him in the role of the latter.

By faith Jacob, when he was dying, blessed both the sons of Joseph; and worshipped, leaning upon the top of his staff.—Hebrews 11:21.

Baxter's Views DAVID BAXTER

"DEAR D. B.," Wrote D. B. Ured Stephens of Newport, "My 16-year-old son came home from the other night and asked a question. Why do men from 30 years to 80 years take one look at me and start telling me all the smart things they did when they were my age? They do not tell me of good things they accomplished. Did they have reform schools in those days? If boys today did what they said they did, that is where we would wind up."

That's a good question. The friend of mine who confidentially put a kid on the back and romanced, "I was about your age when . . ." but just let a news story come out about some teen-agers getting in trouble and these same old-timers will wag their heads sadly and comment, "What! Sam Hill's the younger generation comin' to, anyhow. Why, when I was a boy . . ."

The older man naturally admires a youngster's vim, vigor and vitality while at the same time perhaps feeling a little tinge of jealousy over the fact that his own innards are used to be a youngster's vim, vigor and vitality.

He regards a 16-year-old as green timber, wet behind the ears and in need of teaching. An old-timer will set out to teach a greenhorn the facts of life every time. It doesn't occur to him that the youngster could develop into an intelligent, educated, highly efficient person and become an excellent citizen by AVOIDING some of the experiences of other men and by keeping a clean mind.

It seems to me the really smart kid is the one who knows that he's given credit for. He has sense enough NOT to touch a stove that he can plainly see someone else has burnt his fingers on. He figures that's a good kind of experience to have.

I can't see that young folks of today are much different than they ever were—except perhaps a slight improvement. They feel that the things they are doing today didn't do it at their age—and of course when you've already had your experiences and have gotten a little low on fuel you sort of sympathize for these young whippersnappers who are loaded to the gills with energy. They can't keep all of that energy penned up. It keeps increasing and there's got to be an outlet somewhere or they'll blow up like a dynamite factory. It's an important item. It can lead to a church or a reform school. In this connection the influence of an older person over a younger one isn't to be sneezed at. The older man who lathers his ego by recounting what a devil of a fellow he was at 16 (and who raises Cain when his 16 follows suit) is more likely to be psychologically returning to his own youth than to be of any great moral or spiritual help to the inexperienced.

Much is made of juvenile delinquency (and the frequency and extent of adult delinquency) but the fact, I believe, is that there are simply a lot more people in the world today than there were in Grandpa's day and according to the statistics, probably in about the same proportion to the total population. That's what the psychologists tell us, anyway.

Talk about morality—the kids might get a little better example if they were taught by the parents. Most of them are smart cookies and catch on fast. They can see, for example, that so-called juvenile delinquency runs exactly parallel to adult delinquency and they can see, too, that a gang of spoiled adult brats have not only fallen down on the job of morality at home but have followed the same path of political and economic immorality that has gotten the country they're supposed to be running into a heck of a mess. If we can't do any better job than that, should go slow about either advising youngsters about what they should do (the country) to follow our course or in condemning them as "delinquents." They couldn't do much worse than New Deal welfare-stating and collectivism, in general—along with the overwhelming debt we are handing down to them thanks to our own folly. If they are smart, they'll figure out "that's the kind of experience we DON'T want." While trying to remove the beam in the younger generation's eye suppose we unload the truckload of sinners in our own.

Wouldn't it be swell if, instead of following this generation's trail to world Communism, the young Americans should develop minds, and establish, like the Christians, and establish individual initiative and personal independence?

Success Secrets By ELMER WHEELER

"He who wants to grow rich in a year will be hanged in a month."

The increasing cost of living makes it unlikely that any of us will be rich in a year, but as we try to meet the mounting bills, all of us may be tempted to try to "make a killing" in order to ease the pressure.

When we are facing such a temptation, we must guard doubly to avoid foolish and costly mistakes. We mustn't let the problem of our judgment and ever-higher taxes upset our judgment.

A good rule to follow is this: If I had plenty of money, would I still make this deal?

Usually you will lose if you take too big a gamble. The odds are against you or the gamble wouldn't promise such a big reward.

Isn't it better to make a little progress—surely, than to risk a great deal in the hope of gaining even more?

Next time you sit down with your checkbook to pay a month's bills, and you begin to wonder whether there isn't some way you can add to your bank account overnight, remember this old proverb: And, remember, too, most of us are in the same boat and that if we all work hard enough—day-by-day—we'll still reach shore safely.

Better Jobs

By R. C. HOILES According to Truman I Am A Liar

President Truman in his speech dedicating a new building in Washington said that those who are talking of the threat of bankruptcy of our country are spreading a pack of lies. Then I am a liar if President Truman's statements are true. Then he went on to tell how much stronger economically we are now than when we were in 1939. I don't have the figures at hand, but the federal debt then was about 200 billion dollars less than it is now. Of course debts do not mean very much to a man who has never paid his honest personal obligations, as President Truman never has. A mere little 200 billion dollars extra debt hanging over the earnings of every American doesn't seem to bother Truman.

As a matter of fact, for 150 years the per capita production increased about 3 per cent a year, and President Truman starts with 1939, when there were 8,000,000 or 9,000,000 people out of work.

Our prosperity is a counterfeit prosperity. Any man could be prosperous if he could control money and spend it. And that is what we are doing now in a national way. Certainly the man who has a life insurance policy or bonds or preferred stock or a fixed income or a pension is not as well off as he was 11 or 12 years ago.

Truman was just repeating what Secretary of the Treasury Snyder had said on August 10. What the President, and those people like him, will not answer questions, fail to see that we are living on capital. That is, on money that would go into capital. The President talks about corporations making more money. He evidently does not even know that the profits as shown by the federal government are false profits. As a matter of fact, they are not. He is showing a profit, but in reality they are losing. They are losing because they are wearing out the tools and there is not enough depreciation set up to replace the tools worn out.

The American Institute for Economic Research in its September 10 bulletin has considerable to say on the false statistics issued by the government. This is what it says: "In the first place, the increase in 'real income' (that is, the government's way of arriving at a real income) during any specific period does not necessarily reflect an increased standard of living. Although twice as many houses may have been produced per capita in 1949 as in 1939, the curtailment of building during the war plus the depreciation of housing during that period suggests that the living standards per capita today still may be inferior to those of 1939. Because a standard of living is judged partially on the basis of current 'real income' and partially on the basis of all the consumer durable goods owned by individuals, comparisons of 'real income' from one year to another do not prove anything about the standard of living. The conclusion that the Nation's citizens are correspondingly, if at all, 'better off' today than they were in 1939 because their 'real income' during 1939 was about 40 per cent higher than during 1939 simply is not warranted."

"Also of major significance is the fact that 'real income' data do not directly reflect the standard of living. The accelerated depreciation of plant and equipment that is necessary to produce vast quantities of consumer goods generally is recognized by those who infer from comparisons of 'real income' that great economic gains have been made. What many fail to see is that today's increased income is not the result of increased production of the original investments, that the increased amount of consumers' goods being produced now may to some extent be at the expense of a curtailment of consumer-goods production in the more distant future."

"Important as the two preceding factors are, their significance is overshadowed by a third that is of vital concern to nearly everyone but that is not generally understood and is rarely mentioned. Every student of monetary history has learned that production of consumer goods and the production of some types of capital goods can be greatly stimulated by prolonged and progressive inflation. However, a most important element in this kind of stimulation frequently is overlooked. We refer to the gradual dissipation of the life insurance and savings accumulations intended to provide for the individual's later years and for the welfare of their dependents."

"The American people have accumulated more than $210,000,000,000 of Government bonds and $70,000,000,000 of deposits ($65,000,000,000). In addition, there are numerous individual holdings of mortgages and of corporate bonds. Since 1939 nearly half of the total value of all these assets (that is, the actual goods they would buy) has been dissipated through the subtle processes of inflation and resulting depreciation of the dollar."

"Every person who knows that it is capital, and capital alone, that makes possible a higher standard of living realizes that we are eating up capital and thus facing a lower and lower standard of living. If the government did not interfere with an unhampered market the annual increase would be around 5 per cent, possibly more. It is government that keeps down the increase in the standard of living. It is the government by taking away men's liberty, as it is doing now, and retaining the accumulation of capital that keeps down an ever-increasing standard of living that the American people are entitled to and would have if they followed the ideologies set forth in the Declaration of Independence."

Last Minute Rush To Tie Loose Ends

By HENRY McLEMORE

At nuts! That isn't a very dignified start for a column, but it expresses my feelings toward the tempest in a teapot, the tornado in a thimble, that the United States Navy is raising over Yeoman Bruce S. Hopping of the Bainbridge, (Md.) Training center.

Yeoman Hopping, apparently something of a gourmet when he was a civilian, recently got tied up with the food served at Bainbridge and, not content with verbal gripes about how his taste buds were being maltreated, started passing out mimeographed handbills complaining about the chow.

Well, he couldn't have got himself in hotter water if he hadn't sworn AWOL to Yellowstone park and started bathing in Old Faithful every time the geyser spouted. His handbills were looked upon as an affront by every admiral in the Navy, from John Paul Jones to every bit of brass that comes out of the Pentagon. The Navy may not be our first line of defense any more, but it is our first line of stiffness.

At this writing, the Navy is not sure whether to shoot Yeoman Hopping, hang him from a yardarm, make him walk the plank, swim under water to Portugal, or give him two hundred years at Portsmouth and a dishonorable discharge.

For knocking baked beans he has been more severely criticized by Navy brass than the captain who missed the channel at Newport News by seven miles and grove the Big Mo on a mud-bank. I don't remember that unfortunate captain was ever threatened with a dishonorable discharge or a long stay in the Navy calaboose.

Of course, I'm not entirely in sympathy with Yeoman Hopping. He might well have wound up in the Army. If he had, he might have poured catsup over his microscope and set it on fire. Instead of using it to print handbills. During my stay in the Army I ate much less tasty dishes than a roast mimeograph machine. In fact, there were many times when I would have settled for a rusty typewriter, rusty mustard and catsup poured over it.

Granted that Navy cooking isn't like mother cooks at home, but compared with Army grub it is heavenly. The Army never has admitted it, but it has a special branch whose duty it is to trap cooks for the Army in such faraway and remote places as Upper Patagonia, the headwaters of the Amazon, and under railroad trestles.

One of the first things issued in a story heard at police headquarters: A man was pacing the sidewalk at 3 o'clock in the morning. An officer in a patrol car stopped and asked, "Officer—What are you doing here?" "Man—I forgot my key, officer. And I'm waiting for my wife to come and let me in."

Tempest in Teapot Over Navy Chow Is Irskome to Writer

By HENRY McLEMORE

The Nation's Press

WHY BRITAIN MOOCHEES STEEL (Chicago Daily Tribune)

When Hugh Galtskill of the British Labor cabinet arrived in Washington to arrange means of wading in repayment of the 3.75 billion gilt loan of 1946, he had another little favor to ask. He wanted Mobilization Director Wilson to give him 2 to 3 million tons of scarce American steel.

Wilson bit. He told a press conference that Galtskill's request would be met. This verbal statement in a press conference last Thursday produced a hasty retreat by the next day by Wilson's press agents, who asserted that "no commitments were made" and that the 2 to 3 million ton figure was much too high.

On the same day, Wilson's principal subordinate, Defense Production Administrator Manly Fleischmann, termed his boss' promise to the British "amazing." And he had been present at the Galtskill-Wilson bit on the spot. A senate public works subcommittee wanted to know why the 48 state highway departments were not getting steel only at the rate of a million tons a year for road and bridge building, most of it essential to defense transportation, when they need twice that tonnage.

Under prevailing conditions in Washington, this confusion among the great minds will probably be resolved by the British getting the steel and the Americans doing without it. The question is, why do the British need the steel? The Labor government nationalized the British steel industry last Feb. 15. Until that time, the industry had made a bright postwar record. Although it is today less than one-fifth the size of America's, it has expanded its capacity and production since the war at almost the same rate. Most of this expansion was financed by the Marshall plan. American steel men say that the new British plant are as efficient as any in the world. Almost alone among British industries, steel met each year the production goals set by the socialist planners of the government.

Britain not only had all the steel it needed, but almost doubled its exports of finished steel between 1947 and 1950. Of a total increase in ingot production of 4 million net tons in that period, about half was used to make export products. The American firms which Galtskill seeks are necessary if the British are to hold this export business.

Last year, their last under private management, the British mills set an all-time record for production, more than 18 million net tons. Despite the fact that new productive facilities financed by Marshall plan dollars came into production this year, the socialist planners fixed the same goal for this year. Present indications are that they will not hit this target, even with the added facilities.

Meanwhile, Secretary Acheson and the rest of his staff in the branch office of Downing Street, tell Americans that it is unthinkable that we should dictate economic policies to the British just because we are supporting them. The fact that their socialist errors add to the burden imposed on American taxpayers is, in our un-American state department, of no consequence.

A cow is able to utilize pure cellulose—cotton, for example—as food.

National Whirligig

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The upshot of Secretary Dean Acheson's recent talks with British foreign ministers at San Francisco, Washington and Ottawa is that the United States will furnish our allies with more men, money and arms in return for letting us assume full military and economic command of the world alliance against Russian Communism.

To put it bluntly and undiplomatically, Washington has persuaded London and Paris to permit us to take on even heavier burdens in Western Europe, the Eastern Mediterranean and in the Far East without giving us commensurate benefits. In fact, the Foreign Ministers Morrison and Schuman almost everything they asked.

The United States did wrest certain concessions, as listed below, but even they broadened the area within which we have guaranteed to build up anti-Russian forces. These include such remote spots as Greece, Turkey, the Middle East generally and Indo-China.

To understand the significance of the trade, it is helpful to know the original, pre-conference demands which each side planned to make of the other at the Western Allies' most strategic "cold war" meeting.

AGREEMENT — The major Truman-Acheson desire was that Britain and France exert their influence to obtain almost unanimous agreement to signing of the Japanese peace pact, thereby blocking off a Russian filibuster that would divide the democracy.

Bid For A Smile

A man was sitting on a wharf in New Orleans when a woman came down the gangplank from a boat. In her arms she carried a small, shrewish, hairless Mexican dog. The man gazed in wonder, for he had never seen a dog like this. Turning to the woman he said: "What's that?" "Man—Parson me, man! But is that thing you're carrying a dog?" "Woman—It's certainly a dog!" "Man—Is it the only one you've got?" "Woman—Yes." "The man shook his head in amazement." "Man—Man, I beg your pardon, but ain't you pretty near out of dog?"

Main Street, one to which it was an honor to be invited, was now a funeral home—owned by descendants of the man who so much wanted his child and his own wife building—and selling Chevrolet's, and another mortician got all the "best" funerals. Now I couldn't even find the parlor of the once favored king of burials. A brass band, entering from the street, who burst into town to sell Ford and splashed to success by salesmanship and full-page ads was now sedately in his own vast building—and selling Chevrolet's. I had to wonder when it was he switched.

The shrubbery has grown thick in front of the cool anti-bellum mansion of a girl I once adored as a friend and confidante, the pressing shops and the barbers and the gas stations and the chain stores threaten her once shaded and serene yard. Out Fine Street time has crept up, and, as usual, I drove to the railroad bridge on which I used to stand at 2 o'clock in the morning, after my job on the first newspaper that ever hired me, and watch an express roar through to New York. I dreamed of going there some day and getting a job on a New York paper. Well, I did that, too, in time.

I stood there, and at last I moved. And I saw not one face I knew. And, tonight, I know I never should have come back.

ADAMANT — On another Truman-Acheson-Snyder proposal, Morrison was a demagogue. They suggested, gently, that the Acheson ministry spend more money on rearmament than on costly socialistic reforms.

Quakers Balk At Paying Military Cost

EARLHAM, Va. — (AP) — After a Quaker wife explained to the small crowd why she and her husband refused to pay part of their income taxes, an internal revenue officer auctioned off their 1949 two-door sedan for $149 as part payment for back taxes.

Mrs. Arthur H. Emery, Jr., told the silent crowd of about 25 that they refused to pay about 20 percent of their 1947-48 income taxes and about 70 percent of their 1949 total because those were the amounts the Bureau of Tax Budget estimated would go for military expense.

H. H. Jopling, of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, at Des Moines, the auctioneer, said the Emerys owed $240 on 1947-48-49 income taxes.

"But we did not pocket the money," she declared. "We sent it to the Fellowship of Reconciliation, which is genuinely organized for peace and fellowship."

Emery, 37, who served a jail sentence as a conscientious objector during World War II, is in Europe on a bicycle "peace mission" with three other young Americans. The Emerys have no children. F. A. Leeper, Dealer, is hardware and coal dealer, was successful bidder on the automobile.

Rita Fears Child May Be Kidnapped

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Rita Hayworth, alarmed by anonymous kidnap threats, has hired detectives to guard her 19-month-old daughter Yasmine, the Los Angeles Times reports.

The child's father is Moslem Prince Aly Khan, whom Miss Hayworth is in Reno to divorce. The Times said the actress' Hollywood friends ascribe the threats to the fact she is seeking a large financial settlement for Yasmine.

The guards were said to be hand-picked men who are never out of sight of the girl. Also being closely watched is Rita's other daughter, Rebecca, born of her previous marriage to Astor Owen Wallace.

The actress' friends in Paris say she has written them that she is in constant dread of a possible kidnaping.

Miss Hayworth returned to this country from Europe last April and three weeks later announced she had separated from Prince Aly. They were married in 1949.

U.S. Steps Up Enforcement Of Meat Ceilings

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The government has stepped up its drive to enforce meat price ceilings.

The Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) announced the dispatch of investigators to Chicago, Cleveland, Philadelphia and Newark to see that slaughterers are complying with ceilings on live cattle prices.

Other major cities will also be checked, an OPS spokesman said. Edward P. Morgan, price enforcement director, said OPS wants to learn if there is substance to packers' complaints they cannot buy cattle at the prices fixed and still remain in business.

Mickey Vernon of the Washington Senators hit nine home runs in 1950. Five of them were at Yankee Stadium.

Air Force, Navy May Use Draft

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Navy and the Air Force may soon have to resort to the draft to meet their manpower needs, a Defense Department spokesman has announced.

Until recently, when the Marines asked for 18,000 draftees, the Army was the only service to use the draft since it was revived after the Korean war.

All the services face a heavy turnover late this year, with the release of reserves.

A new reserve program approved yesterday by a House Armed Services subcommittee would divide all reserves into three classes—ready, standby and retired. The President, after he had declared an emergency, could call up only the ready reserve, and then only if the Joint Chiefs or Staff and the secretary of defense found the action needed for national security.

The bill would also ban the President from calling up reserves beyond the size of the armed forces authorized by Congress—now 5,000,000.

Georgia Demands Aircraft Company Pay Sales Tax

ATLANTA — (AP) — U. S. Air Force lawyers are studying Georgia's demand that the state's 3 percent sales tax be paid on super-bombers built or reconditioned at the nearby Marietta plant.

Revenue Commissioner Charlie Redwine has notified the Lockheed Aircraft Corp., which operates the huge project that it must pay for the levy on equipment purchased for construction and rehabilitation of the bombers.

The matter has been referred to Air Force attorneys, said D. J. Haughton, a assistant general manager at the plant. He said yesterday he hoped the two governments could work out some agreement on the demands.

"If we buy a lot of materials for the United States government and have to pay a state tax on it, it will run up the cost to the federal government," he added.

Redwine said Lockheed is a private contractor and therefore subject to the sales tax.

How Did It Happen? Just Read The Card

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — George R. Conover, vice president of the Philadelphia Electric Co., had an accident—and he got tired telling people how it happened.

Ask him about it and you'll get this printed card:

"The patch on my head covers a four-inch scalp wound which took seven stitches to close. It happened on my boat off Ocean City, N. J. While making a motor repair a large wave threw me off balance and my head struck the bulkhead.

"Yes, I was alone on the boat. Yes, I lost a lot of blood before they got me to the hospital, but no fracture.

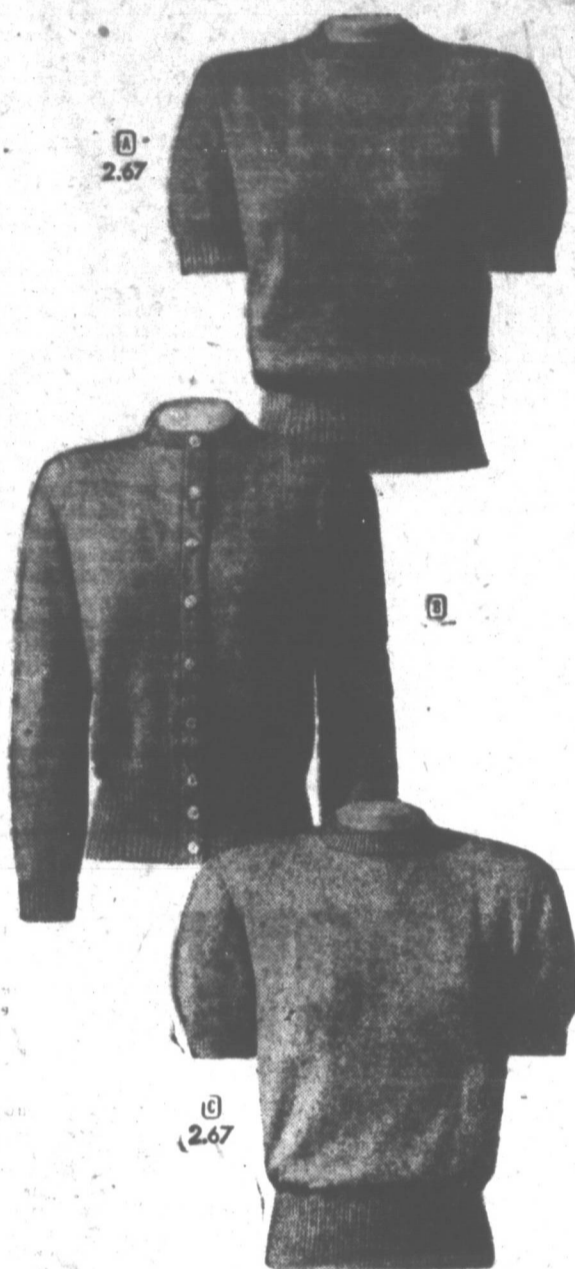

"No, I didn't have a drink before the accident, but took five straight after they sewed me up. Yes, I'm feeling fine now. Thanks for asking."

Green And Golders Seeking Second Victory Of Season

The Pampa Harvesters tonight seek to find out whether last weekend's 41-12 trouncing of the Sweetwater Mustangs was a fluke or not. Putting the Harvesters to the test will be the Austin High Panthers of El Paso, making their first start of the 1951 season.

Game time is 8 o'clock, with the gates opening at 7:15. Three gates will be made available, the south gate, and both the north and west and northeast gates will be open to facilitate movement of the crowd.

The Harvesters will be going into tonight's battle as favorites by virtue of their having played one game and also because of the decided weight advantage over the visitors.

The Pampa line will outweigh the Panthers' line, 176 pounds per man to 159 1/2. The backfield for El Paso will average 151 pounds as compared to 170 for Pampa.

Leading the 39-man Panther squad will be veteran 172-pound right half back Fred Kriss, a 2-year letterman. A hard and fast runner, Kriss is expected to spearhead the visitor's attack.

Of the huge squad, 22 are returning squadmen, seven are lettermen, and two are 2-year lettermen, making the team, coached by Red Harris, a good veteran outfit. The Panthers annual-

Ford Frick Named New Head Of Organized Baseball League

CHICAGO (AP) — Ford Frick, with a dramatic assist of sportsmanship from Warren Giles, today is baseball's new commissioner.

Giles late last night threw his full support behind the National League president to break a deadlock of club owners and win sports' biggest job to the gray-haired, 56-year-old Frick.

Frick was given a seven-year contract at an annual salary of $65,000, about $25,000 more than he received as head of the senior circuit.

Frick is baseball's third commissioner. He succeeds A. B. (Happy) Chandler, who resigned last July 15 after the club owners had refused to vote him a new contract.

Until Giles, the courtly, white-haired president of the Cincinnati Reds made his unparalleled 16 major league water. The Odessa-Port Arthur magnates had wrangled almost 11 hours in a vain attempt to get games on the schoolboy card this weekend, with the Yellow Jackets already holding two resounding victories to place them No. 1 in the state.

In other games around the district tonight, North Side of Fort Worth plays at Borger, Capitol Hill of Oklahoma City plays at Lubbock, Port Arthur goes to Odessa, Amarillo journeys to Plainview, Big Spring is at San Angelo and Abilene visits Sweetwater. The Odessa-Port Arthur scrap is rated as one of the top games on the schoolboy card this weekend, with the Yellow Jackets already holding two resounding victories to place them No. 1 in the state.

Frick's appointment was probably still would be today if votes. Giles had not made his surprise move.

Like a hung jury, the owners cast ballot after ballot — approximately 20 in all — but never did either candidate collect more than 10 votes.

After Giles appeared before the owners and withdrew his name, Frick then the Cincinnati executive made a motion that a final ballot be taken and that it be unanimous.

That is how Frick — climaxing a varied career running from newspaperman, assistant English professor and radio commentator to the National League presidency in 1934 — obtained the full 16 cleared for it.

Yankees Open Important Series Against Sox With Half-Game Lead Over Tribe

By The Associated Press

Thanks to Joe Collins' timely home run, the New York Yankees take a half game lead into Fenway Park today for their dog-eat-dog series with the Boston Red Sox.

Cleveland, idle yesterday, gets its big chance to storm into first place while the Yanks and Red Sox wrestle. The Indians play three games with Detroit, a team they have beaten 16 out of 17 times this season.

Collins' blow off Chicago's Saul Rogovin with two on base in the eighth inning saved the Yanks from dropping out of the lead. Instead they opened up a half-game edge on the Indians by a 5-4 victory over the White Sox.

This is the same Collins, a 27-year-oldster from Scranton, Pa., who used to play only the eighth and ninth inning for defensive purposes. Now he has practically retired Johnny Mize to pinch hitting chores.

The part-time first baseman also saved the game with a dazzling backhand grab of Eddie Robinson's smash in the ninth inning.

Rogovin had the Yanks eating out of his hand through the middle innings, retiring 12 straight batters between the second to seventh innings. He took a 4-2 edge to the eighth.

Phil Rizzuto opened the eighth with a single. Mize fled out, Mickey Mandie walked and Collins' blast into the lower right field seats cost Rogovin his eighth loss.

Johnny Sain, the $50,000 waiver buy from the Boston Braves, failed to survive the first inning. The Yanks had to use five pitchers with Bobby Hogue, another ex-Brave, getting the win.

Manager Casey Stengel has his pitching in good shape for Boston with Alie Reynolds, Eddie Lopat and Vic Raschi ready for the three games. They'll face three southpaws — Leo Kiely, Mel Parnell and Chuck Stobbs.

The Yanks haven't won a game at Fenway all season in eight starts. Against the Red Sox they trail 10-4 on the season series. Eight of their nine remaining games are with Boston.

Cleveland, with six to play including five with Detroit, will shoot Bobby Feller at the Tigers' lefty Ted Gray in the opener of their three-game series at Briggs Stadium.

While the American League threatens to grind down to the final day, the National has loosened up a bit. Brooklyn widened its lead to 4-2 games by shading St. Louis, 4-5, while the second-place New York Giants lost to Cincinnati, 3-1.

Carl Erskine snapped Cliff Chambers' personal six-game win streak with an eight-hitter for his 16th victory. Gil Hodges' 5th homer helped him home.

When the final standings are tabulated, Brooklyn's feat of taking 18 of 22 from St. Louis probably will have been decisive.

The Giants suffered a staggering blow to their faint hopes when Cincy routed Jim Hearn in a three-run eighth inning. The defeat left the Giants six games behind Brooklyn in the loss column.

Kenny Raffensberger, lifted for a pinch hitter in the eighth, chalked up his 15th win at Hearn's expense. The Reds had 12 hits to four for New York and left 15 on base. Ewell Blackwell finished up for Raffensberger. It was Cincy's fifth win in 22 games with New York.

Satchel Paige struck out five to give the St. Louis Browns a 4-3 edge over Washington in the only night game. He fanned the last four men in the game. Cliff Mages' homer in the first was one of the 18 Browns hits off Don Johnson and Tom Ferrick.

With only four games scheduled, half the major league teams were idle yesterday.

Reapers Slap Sam Houston

The Junior High School Reapers hung up their second Amarillo scalp of the young season yesterday afternoon by trampling over the Sam Houston Rangers, 22-12, at Harvester Park. The win kept the Reapers on top of the standings in the Panhandle Junior High School Athletic League.

The Reapers were again led by hard running, side stepping Harold "Greaser" Lewis, who accounted for 20 of the total points and set up another score.

In the first quarter he returned a punt 32 yards to the Rangers 3, and on the next play went around left end to score. He missed the conversion.

Later in the period he intercepted a pass on the Rangers' 32 and carried it back all the way behind good blocking, this time connecting on the conversion.

Bob Crump, who scored both of the visitors' touchdowns, went 12 yards early in the second quarter for the first Amarillo touchdowns.

But the Reapers came right back to make the score 19-6 at halftime. Buddy Sharp threw a pichout to Lewis who fired an aerial downfield to Gary Griffin who carried to the 12. Three plays later Bill Fulenwider crashed over to score.

Taking the second half kickoff the Reapers started again. On the first play Lewis picked up 23 to the Amarillo 36. After a fumble, Jerry Neef went to the 15 and on the next play Jerry Morris went all the way. Lewis converted and the score was 26-6.

With less than a minute remaining in the third period, Lewis went 27 yards right through the center of the line to score after an exchange of punts had given the Reapers control.

The final Amarillo touchdown came when Crump went 19 yards on a left end sweep to score.

Both teams are quite ambitious; each had six victories last season, and each is bulging with experience. It marks the start of Ray George as head coach of the Aggies.

A&M is a touchdown favorite but should win by a better margin than that. If not, the Cadet prestige will take a tumble.

SMU, ready to fling that ball with abandon, meets Georgia Tech at Atlanta tomorrow. The game isn't creating too much interest. Fans recall how easily the Methodists handled the Yellow Jackets last season. Tech is apparently much stronger and SMU isn't any better. It might be quite a ball game.

Arkansas remembers a jarring upset last year when the "thin red line" of Oklahoma A&M beat the Razorbacks 12-7 in the season opener. There's more manpower at Stillwater this time and Arkansas would appear in for a tough afternoon in its jant to Oklahoma tomorrow.

At home, the eyes of Texas rest on Austin where Ed Fricke sends his first team as head coach into action against a Kentucky eleven that's rated seventh in the nation. It will be a question of whether the Razorbacks, stopping the devastating passes of Babe Parilli. Parilli is considered the best pitcher ever to come to Memorial Stadium.

TCU and Baylor play night games. The Christians take on dangerous Kansas at Fort Worth and Baylor opens the season against up-and-coming University of Houston at Houston. TCU is a solid favorite to beat Kansas — a team that never has been able to lick the Christians — but the duel between Gil Bartosh, great Frog quarterback, and Charlie Hoag, the ground-eating star of the Jayjawks, should be something to see.

Baylor laced Houston U. 34-7 last year but doesn't expect to attain such a superiority this time. Houston has its best team in history featuring running Gene Shannon.

Pirates Blast Out 32-6 Victory

The Pampa Guerrillas found the Lefors Pirates loaded with too much running power last night as the Bucs hung up their first win of the season with a resounding 32-6 shelling of the Pampa 3 team.

Ray Dickerson, 145-pound, 3-year letter man, led the hard running attack with 19 points. Time after time the Guerrilla defense would have three men around the little dynamo, but he would build his way through, past, around, between and over them for considerable gains.

The Pirates scored early in the first period. They took over a Pampa punt on the Guerrillas' 47. On fourth down and six, they gambled and Dickerson carried 10 yards to the Pampa 30. A pass from Dickerson to Billy Watson was good for five, Joe David Martin made three, and Dickerson made it a first down on the Pampa 17. Another Dickerson to Watson pass carried to the 11, and then Dickerson skirted five yards for a first down on the six. On the first play, Watson, keeping the snap from center, went wide around right end to score. Jimmy Doom converted and Lefors led 7-0.

Early in the second quarter, Pampa punted to the Lefors 29. Watson carried to the Pampa 19 on two long-gaining plays. Dickerson raced to the 10, and then Martin went over for a touchdown, but a pearly nullified it. But not for long. Three plays later Dickerson hit Doom with a touchdown pass. The extra point failed and the Pirates led 13-0 at halftime.

On the second play after the second half kickoff, Dickerson went 49 yards around his right end to score behind beautiful blocking. The conversion was blocked, making the score 19-0.

Late in the third period, John Darby intercepted a Pirate pass on the Bucs' 30 and carried it back down the east sideline for the lone Pampa score.

Seven plays after the fourth period started, Dickerson again went 29 yards around right end to score and then ran the extra point across. A few minutes later Lefors recovered a Pampa fumble on the Pampa 32. Watson carried to the 14 and then Dickerson went all the way over his right end. The extra point was missed and the final score read 32-6.

The Pirates showed lots of hard football to the several hundred fans who witnessed the contest. They showed a fine defensive line and some precision timing on the modified T formation used by Coach Frank Sonntag.

The Guerrillas looked much improved over their opening game played last night. In Class AAAA Paschal of Fort Worth whipped Highland Park of Dallas 32-14. Forest (Dallas) edged Poly (Fort Worth) 13-8. Jefferson (El Paso) downed Cathedral (El Paso) 15-0. Burbank (San Antonio) and Lanier (San Antonio) kicked Texas Military of San Antonio 31-7.

Irishmen Battle McLean Tonight

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Shamrock's Fighting Irish, undefeated and unscored-on in two battles, collide with the McLean Tigers at McLean Friday night.

Irish fans were delighted with the performance of both the line and backfield in the 26-0 victory over Lefors there last week. Opinion here is that McLean will be defeated by a margin as large or larger than the Lefors score.

Last week the mighty Phillips Blackhaws took McLean apart, 54-0. It was not the McLean team of L. M. Watson and Company which gave the Irish a hard battle here last Nov. 3, taking an early 7-0 lead and then finally succumbing, 25-7. Instead, it was a much weaker McLean crew which had already dropped an 18-0 victory at Hereford.

Phillips ace backs, Stanley Alexander, Buster Hodges and Bobby Wells, apparently slaughtered the McLean line. Even so, McLean registered 144 yards passing and running, of which 96 was in rushing.

Shamrock will probably start the combination that quickly mastered Lefors — Van Pennington and Bob Campbell, ends; Dwayne Hager and Billy Harris, tackles; Eugene Collinsworth and Mack Terry, guards; Billy York, center; and Charley Francis, quarterback; Ronald Settle and Jimmy Pennington, halfbacks; and Paul Hartwick, fullback.

Last year Shamrock dropped behind as L. M. Watson plowed over from the 8 for a TD in the opening minutes, but the Irish came back as passing ace, Harral Dunnam hit Van Pennington for three touchdown passes and added a fourth to Vaughn Terry. Dunnam is gone this year. Game time is 8 p.m.

What a wonderful word is life! More abundant do we want it ever to prove. As we begin to walk a little more slowly up the street the buoyancy of young life impresses us more. The years of maturity, when mental tides are running strong, delivers us at the crossroads where we find ourselves peering anxiously through the Gateway to Life. We are more serious then. The Gateway to Life is the Gateway to God. It becomes more important then to give more attention to our reading and thinking habits. Our interests in life are more glorious... we are less selfish. We are more interested in the Life Beyond... more interested in our fellow man.

We view through the Gateway to Life something even more fine than either the physical or mental. It is life of the spirit, the part that goes on forever. The Gateway to Life will be found by some as they prepare to leave this body for a home in Heaven. Saint John sets before us the Eternal Life which a man begins to experience today. We know that we have passed from death to life because we love the brethren... we love people. Today will be for each of us The Gateway to Life if we will throw away hatred, malice and greed and join God in practicing love. The church points the way to a fuller and more abundant life... the Eternal Life.

Revival Stated For Adventist Church; To Last 8 Days

Elder C. Herbert Lowe, new pastor of the Seventh-day Adventist Church, Berger district, announces an eight day revival at the Pampa S. D. A. church, 321 North Purviance, beginning Sunday night Sept. 23 and closing Sept. 30.

Elder and Mrs. Lowe will come to Pampa from the Texas Conference office in Amarillo, where he has served for the past two years as publishing department secretary of the conference, which embraces the 78 counties of West Texas and the entire state of New Mexico. Prior to coming to the southwest, Elder Lowe had worked in the same capacity in the Oregon, Idaho and upper Columbia conferences. While in Idaho he carried the pastoral responsibility of the Eagle and Mountain Home, Idaho churches in addition to his departmental work.

Christ Was In The World, But Not Of It

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

The Bible is for the whole world. But how many "worlds" are in the Bible? Recently I searched through a concordance to find out how many times the word "world" is used in the New Testament.

I was truly amazed at the number of such passages to issue from the little land of Palestine, seemingly of minor importance among the great empires of the ancient world. Equally impressive is the number of references to the world by Jesus, the man from a tiny village in the hills known as Nazareth.

In spite of an environment that would have stifled many Jesus glimpsed truths that were universal and from the very beginning delivered His message with a consciousness of the world about Him.

Let's take a look at the first example of His awareness of the world. It began in that temptation (Matthew 4: 8-11), in which he saw the kingdoms of the world, with all the allurements of worldly power, but in which He chose the divine, not the human way, and set the fulfillment of His spiritual mission above all that the world could possibly have given.

The earthly Christ understood clearly and fully the meaning of that choice. I have been impressed with his many and persistent references to the world during His (John 7:7; 15:18; 17:14, etc.), and that hatred of Him by the world of His own time stands out strongly when we observe, and reflect upon, the hatred of the world for the Christ today.

A deeply hated in places where we might least suspect it. I have been reading recently rather extensively in the most popular and best-selling fiction of our time.

It is the fiction of the Christ, my late friend, Lloyd Douglas, were distinctly religious, and that other similar books have had similar, if not equal distinction.

But what has amazed me is the number of references to the world in the number of these best known current stories in which there is not on a single page the slightest evidence that either the authors or their characters, in these books produced in a "Christian" land, had either the knowledge or the interest in the fact that Jesus, the great Teacher, ever lived.

Hatred of the Christ in that respect is probably an unconscious factor, but surely it must underlie the sheer and gross paganism of so much of our literature and life today!

Yet the world that hated Jesus was the world that He loved. His prayer for His followers was not that they should be taken out of the world, but that they should be kept from its evil; and even more that they should overcome evil with good. And to those who, like their Master, would be in the world, but not of the world, He gave a great message of hope and confidence: "Be of good cheer; I have overcome the world."

Former Gunner To Turn Missionary

SINGAPORE — (AP) — A former Royal Air force gunner is going to Australia to establish a Moslem mission in either Brisbane or Melbourne. He is Ghulam Ibrahim Morris, who was known as George Morris until he abandoned his Christian name upon his conversion to the Moslem religion at Woking Mosque in England.

Morris said he would found the mission at his own expense and become a missionary.

Students To Live In New Model Home

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The University of California is building a model house in which six senior home economics students will live each semester. They will get training as teachers of modern living methods.

The 3-bedroom house with an apartment for the director and modern equipment will cost $50,000.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Belief in the substantiality of matter must give way to the understanding that substance is Spirit, declares the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Matter" to be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, September 23. The Golden Text makes this point clear. It is from Psalms, and reads, "My flesh and my heart faileth; but God is the strength of my heart, and my portion for ever."

Mankind must look away from matter to Spirit, further declares the Lesson-Sermon. "Set your affection on things above, not on things on the earth" (Colossians 3:2). A more detailed explanation of the necessity of looking to God, Spirit, in the search for substance is seen in this citation from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary

W&M Faculty Asks Reforms

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. — (AP) — William and Mary faculty members, reacting bitterly to a sports scandal which stunned the campus have moved to take the college off the big-time football map.

Sweeping reforms in the athletic program at W&M were deemed "a solemn duty" by the faculty last night in a statement which condemned the college's ambitious sports policy as a corrupting influence.

The "exaggerated athletic policy" is wrecking the academic standards of the college, the faculty charged, has ravaged the morale of the student body including athletes — and "has vitiated the most elementary standards of honesty and right conduct."

To curb this, the faculty said in its unprecedented assault, a system of "complete faculty control" must be instituted.

"I am sorry. I have nothing to say," said Marvin Bass, the new head football coach.

Frankie And Wife May Both Sue

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Frank Sinatra and Nancy Sinatra apparently plan to sue each other for divorce.

The crooner's wife said she is "just about ready" to file her suit here. She told a newsman that a property settlement finally has been agreed upon and that the papers should be filed within a week.

They said the singer's divorce action would be filed here, but not until after he returns from New York. Sinatra is leaving for his eastern television show today, when, his attorneys said, he will have completed his six-weeks' residence requirement.

With a Nevada decree he would be free to immediately carry out his announced intention of marrying Miss Gardner, former wife of Bandleader Artie Shaw and Mickey Rooney.

FEWER APPLES THIS YEAR VICTORIA, B.C. — (AP) — British Columbia's apple crop this year is estimated at 6,705,000 boxes, a drop of 23 percent from last year's harvest. Adverse weather conditions were chiefly responsible for the decline.
