Allied Troops Strike Along 22-Mile Front

Texans Blast States Rights Revolt Effort

AUSTIN — (AP) — President Truman's Texas friends yesterday defied fighting words and effort to swing this state into a brewing Southern States' Rights revolt.

A militant liberal faction of the Democratic party challenged Conservative Gov. Allan Shivers' leadership and set up a permanent organization to make sure Texas delegation to the 1952 national convention in Chicago supports that convention's nominee for president.

"We are here to take care that Texas will not be represented in 1952 by a bunch of Dixiecrats whose only motive is to defeat the Democratic party," Harry Seay of Dallas told a cheering audience of 250.

He spoke at a political breakfast sponsored by the Volunteer Democratic Committee. Seay is a former state executive committee chairman. Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan praised the volunteers for stubbornly holding out for party principles, and President Truman telegraphed his greetings.

Governor Shivers and National Committeeman Wright Morrow were missing from the non-segregated audience of whites and Negroes. Both had been belatedly invited.

The Volunteer Democrats organized to line up the liberals seeking to control precinct, county and state conventions in 1952. They passed a resolution urging the national committee to write a rule requiring all delegates to the national convention to pledge themselves to support the convention's nominee for President and vice-president.

Another resolution backed Governor Shivers' proposal that Texas send an uninstruced Democratic delegation to Chicago. It recommended that the Texas delegation be instructed to vote for the May, 1952 state convention's choices for President and vice-president.

Boyle Resigns Under Fire Of Capital's Investigations

WILLIAM M. BOYLE

WASHINGTON — (AP) — William M. Boyle, Jr., under fire in the capital's "influence" probes, Saturday announced his decision to resign as chairman of the Democratic National committee.

Boyle told President Truman in a letter dated October 9 that he did not feel physically able to carry the load of directing the coming national election campaign.

Boyle continued to protest his innocence of any wrongdoing in connection with introducing a prospective borrower to the Reconstruction Finance Corp. and told President Truman:

"A Republican member of the (Senate Investigating) committee stated yesterday that the record contains 'no evidence of illegality or moral turpitude' on my part. I should add to that I have at all times conducted myself with honor and propriety."

The specific charges which the Senate committee looked into were that Boyle accepted fees to obtain $565,000 in loans from the RFC for the American Litho-foiled Corp. of St. Louis.

Boyle contended that he accepted $1250 from the company in legal fees, but that he did nothing to obtain the loan from the government agency.

Boyle said today he expects to take a rest of about three months before announcing any personal plans for the future.

He said he would call an early meeting of the national committee to act on his resignation.

Forces Gain In Drive On Kumsong Area

EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea — (AP) — Three Allied divisions — the U. S. 24th and two Korean — drove a mile and a half toward Kumsong today in a new drive along a 22-mile front in Central Korea.

All across Korea the fighting exploded to an extent unequalled since the Red offensive last May was crushed.

Tanks and artillery backed the drive against the Reds' main supply depot and headquarters for central and eastern Korea.

On the western front, a battalion of the U. S. Seventh regiment — General Custer's old outfit — was shattered and cut up by waves of attacking Chinese Reds southwest of Yonchon.

A regiment rescued remnants of the battalion, the Seventh's first, but only after loss of ground some 35 miles north of Seoul.

In the East, North Korean Reds threw the U. N. Allies off a height of Heartbreak Ridge southwest of the main crest, No. 851. The latter was taken Friday by French and Americans of the U. S. Second division.

An Eighth Army briefing officer said that Heartbreak Ridge, under Allied attack for a month, still could not be considered completely secured.

Supporting tanks thrusting up a valley west of the ridge ran into Red bazookas and anti-tank guns. The tanks had to turn back.

Action stepped up on land, sea and air at a time when new Communist charges of American prospects for an early resumption of armistice talks. United Nations officers were investigating Red charges that U. N. planes strafe the area, and Panmunjom, the area chosen for their resumption.

In the air, Allied jets shot down one Red jet and damaged six others Friday at a cost of one damaged U. S. Sabre. Two sky fights involved a total of 164 jets.

In the new central drive toward Kumsong, the advancing U. S. 24th, South Korean second and sixth divisions met only moderate Chinese Red resistance at the start.

Reds Appear Eager For New Talks On Truce

MUNSAN, Korea — (AP) — The Communists appeared eager today to renew Korean truce talks despite their latest allegation of an Allied air attack on the Kaesong-Panmunjom conference area.

United Nations and Red liaison officers agreed to meet at Panmunjom at 10 a. m. to settle the one technically apparently remaining in the way of fresh armistice negotiations.

The one question was definition of a "security area" around Red-held Kaesong, site of the talks which were suspended Aug. 23.

U. N. officers meanwhile sent to Tokyo their secret findings on the latest Red complaint — that three American jet planes strafed the conference area late Friday, killing one Korean boy and wounding another.

There was a growing feeling among Allied correspondents that the inquiry supported the Red complaint.

"Correspondents at Panmunjom generally felt the Communists had presented enough tangible evidence to back up their case — although there still were enough unknown factors to make a clear-cut opinion impossible," reported Robert B. Tuckman, AP correspondent who accompanied the liaison officers.

The investigators talked to a 15-year-old boy, saw the body of a 12-year-old boy and a wounded 2-year-old, and were shown signs and bullet marks.

Egypt Invited To Mid-East Alliance

LONDON — (AP) — The United States, Britain, France and Turkey Saturday asked Egypt, the touchy leader of the awakening Arab world, to become the pivot of a new Middle East alliance against Communism.

They offered her a full partnership in the regional defense setup agreed upon by foreign ministers of the North Atlantic treaty powers in Ottawa last month.

Rushing legislation to throw the British out of Sudan and Suez, Egypt revived the offer coolly.

King Farouk's government appeared to regard with reserve any arrangement which would lead to establishment of the force, including British, to replace the British troops on guard there under the 1936 treaty of alliance.

Ambassadors of the four powers delivered the invitation to Foreign Minister Mohammed Salah el Din at Alexandria.

Salah el Din stressed that Egypt will go ahead, nevertheless, with cancellation of the alliance and the treaty of 1936 which provides for joint Anglo-Egyptian rule of Sudan. Egypt's Parliament is expected to complete Monday night the abrogation of those treaties, despite a warning by British Foreign Minister Herbert Morrison that Britain will use force if necessary. McGee Gets Ready For Sanity Hearing In Midland Monday

LUBBOCK — (AP) — Convicted slayer Richard McGee unwillingly complied with Sheriff "Grady Hartzel" request to shave off his black beard and "clean up" for his sanity hearing in Midland Monday.

McGee, former Pampa, is to be taken early Monday to Midland for the hearing in the 72nd District court of Judge Victor H. Lindsey.

McGee was sentenced to die in the electric chair for the 1948 slaying of a Lubbock grocery executive, R. L. Allison. The shooting followed an argument between McGee and the Allison family over his attentions to Betty Jane Allison, who was 18 at the time.

Cloud Seeding Held Cause Of Cloudbursts And Snowstorm

SANTA FE, N. M. — (AP) — Scientists think they have caused a snowstorm and two cloudbursts in the nation's first state-sponsored rainmaking study.

That carefully-qualified claim has been made by cloud-seeders at New Mexico Institute of Mining and Technology. They added they make "no positive claims of results."

The snowstorm occurred on Feb. 26, 1951, in 8000-foot mountains northeast of Santa Fe. It began to snow downwind 25 minutes after the silver iodide generators started. These stove-like generators heat the chemical and it floats into the air like smoke.

The snow gradually spread to other sections at the same time the silver iodide smoke was entering those clouds. Light to moderate snow fell for two hours in that locality alone.

"It is believed that any observer who might have witnessed the events of Feb. 26 would have been convinced beyond reasonable doubt that they had indeed seen snow fall which would not have fallen... except for the seeding," the report said.

On June 1, 1950, it began to rain near Socorro a few minutes after 750 pounds of ammonia were released while a silver iodide generator was operating. In 30

Panhandle Oilmen Feted As Oil Progress Week Begins

Beginning today and lasting through this week, Pampa will honor the oil industry for its part in the development in the area.

Oil Progress Week, Oct. 14-20, was established four years ago so that oilmen over the nation might receive recognition for having carried a major share of the load of the power backing the country's growth.

Panhandle oil officials point out the area's development has gone on hand in hand with the growth of the oil industry and its subsidiaries.

It has brought new sources of income in the form of jobs for thousands; payments to land owners, established new businesses and brought in additional business for those already established.

The Panhandle field has expanded greatly since the early '20s. Although it is an old field, they see ample evidences that shall

Heart Attack Proves Fatal To Ed Cates

A heart attack yesterday reportedly caused the death of Ed Cates, 65, of Lefors, who was found in his car at 11:15 a. m. in front of White's Auto store on S. Cuyler.

Ambulance attendants said they believed he was dead when they arrived since he failed to respond to artificial respiration. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Worley hospital where he was taken by ambulance.

Mr. Cates left home about 10:30 a. m. and drove to Pampa where he double parked in front of the store just as the heart attack apparently struck him. The dead man was subject to frequent heart attacks, according to reports given the funeral home by members of the family.

Mr. Cates retired from farming 15 years ago due to a heart ailment. He was born on April 1, 1884 at Bell, Texas.

He was a member and a deacon of the First Baptist Church at Durham, Texas. He spent several years living at Reed, Okla., and in 1940 he moved from Reed to Lefors.

Hobart Paving Is Near Completion

By noon Saturday construction men were 2600 feet short of completing paving along N. Hobart from Alcock to the city limits. The stretch is expected to be completed today or tomorrow, contingent on favorable weather conditions.

Resident State Hwy. Engineer G. K. Reading said construction crews would work today in order to hasten completion of the job.

Remaining to be paved are 4.4 miles of open highway from the city limits north. This section will not be paved until next summer because of the cold weather setting in before the double surfaced asphalt is given a chance to firmly mix with the gravel rock.

However, stabilizing the open section north from the city limits was near completion over the weekend.

PANHANDLE

They look to the coming year with concern. With international tensions increasing and domestic consumption moving up to higher levels, the industry will be taxed to its limit to provide enough of its resources for a nation that leans so heavily on oil.

Despite increasing scarcity of steel and other raw materials, of skilled manpower and of capital to finance a tremendous investment in new wells, pipelines and other facilities, they believe the industry will continue to progress.

At this time, area operators are adding new wells over the Panhandle field and seeking new reserves.

If the oil industry is to continue its rate of expansion, oilmen say, it cannot stop drilling. Established fields must be developed and virgin territory must be prospected.

Millions of dollars have been expended in Lipscomb, Roberts, Ochiltree, Sherman, Hansford and Hemphill counties in the search for new oil.

To the south, oil operators are sinking ventures in Briscoe, Childress, Collingsworth, Donley, Hale and others have been drilled in Dallam, Oldham, Deaf Smith and Randall.

Phillips Petroleum is currently trying to open a new field in Gray county.

At least 50 percent of these wildcats have been failures, oilmen explain, but wildcatting is the only known way to develop the industry.

New pipelines are stretching across the nation, many beginning in or passing through the Panhandle. New gasoline plants have been built.

Industry leaders in the area say they think the Panhandle operators are living up to this year's Oil Progress week theme: "Your Progress and Oil Progress Go Hand in Hand."

Court Takes Five Children From Divorced Mother

Five children, all under 12 years of age, were taken from the custody of their divorced mother and declared dependent and neglect by Judge Lewis M. Goodrich in 31st District court.
The action automatically made the children wards of the court until they are placed in a church or state home for dependent children.
County Atty. Bill Waters, Juvenile Officer H. A. Doggett and Judge Goodrich made the decision. The mother works in a local cafe and was awarded custody of the five children in a divorce granted by Judge Goodrich three weeks ago.
During the Friday session Judge Goodrich also heard several domestic affairs involving non-support of children.

Conscience On The Battlefield

I want to continue quoting from a small booklet written by Leonard E. Read, president of the Foundation for Economic Education, Irvington-on-Hudson, New York.

In yesterday's article Mr. Read explained in the prologue that the following dialogue is imagined to have taken place as he lay dying on a battlefield near the 38th Parallel in Korea.

THE DIALOGUE
"Well, old boy, I guess this is it. Wonder what comes next."

"Who are you?"
"I am you, a part of yourself with which you hardly got acquainted. I am your integrity, your intelligence, your humanity, your reason, your conscience."

"Why do you appear to me now in this last moment of life?"
"Appear now? You talk as though it were I who does the coming and going. I have been here all the time."

"What do you appear to me now in this last moment of life?"
"Appear now? You talk as though it were I who does the coming and going. I have been here all the time."

"What do you appear to me now in this last moment of life?"

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON (AP) — The threatened and disastrous loss of Iranian oil and that country's possible tieup with Russia represent as complete a breakdown of Anglo-American diplomacy as the Communist conquest of China, in the opinion of informed diplomats, foreign business men and petroleum experts here and in London.

They maintain that the responsibility should be shared equally by Prime Minister Attlee and President Truman. The Labor politician waited too long to negotiate with Iranian Nationalists, fearing that a British surrender might cost him votes in the Oct. 25 election.

Despite urging by Henry Grady, former ambassador to Iran, President Truman and Secretary Acheson refused to exert pressure on London to achieve a settlement.

COMPROMISE — President Truman's invitation to Premier Mohammed Mossadegh to visit Washington after presenting his case to the United Nations, indicates that he will make a last, desperate effort at a compromise.

But disinterested observers fear that, as in China, the administration has held out too long, hoping that "the dust would settle" in the Middle East.

Current negotiations involving Truman, British emissaries and Mossadegh may be the West's last chance to prevent this strategic nation from falling into Stalin's hands. Such a happening would give the Kremlin the foothold it has coveted in this vital area for centuries — an objective the British have blocked successfully since the Crimean war.

FAILURE — Washington's failure to intervene more forcefully strikes Middle Eastern experts as incomprehensible. When the difficulties first arose, it virtually ordered American petroleum interests to leave the area.

SETTLEMENT — British petroleum operators agree with American experts in this field that a practical program for reconciling Iranian demands with British pride could have been attained if London had been more reasonable, and if Washington had insisted upon an arrangement several months ago. They believe there is still a possibility that an amicable settlement may be negotiated.

Under these tentative proposals, England would recognize the nationalization of the Iranian oil industry, including the fields, refinery facilities and future expansion. There should be full payment of the British investment, with the amount to be fixed by arbitration, if necessary.

AUTHORITY — In view of the Iranian lack of personnel, management responsibilities should be assumed by the British, American or Dutch industrialist or board of directors of the Iranian Parliament. Tehran has frequently given similar authority to foreigners called in to reorganize the country's finances or other national activities.

Since the British own the tanker fleet, have established a far-flung list of customers and possess the know-how of salesmanship and distribution, they should be named as the marketing agent under a long-term contract.

STAKES — In effecting such an agreement, President Truman would have to act more forcefully than he or Secretary Acheson has in the past. Indeed, they might have to seem to favor Mossadegh as against Attlee. In view of the stakes involved — the start of possible World War III and Russian penetration of the bridgehead connecting three continents — it is felt that Washington ought to meet this challenge.

SPOTLIGHT FOR THE NATION
Bankruptcy And Blood

By JOHN BECK
TRUMAN SLOGAN: Mr. Truman doesn't like statistics applied to his mal-administration. His slogan is prosperity and peace, and he doesn't want his war and bankruptcy exposed to public gaze.

But the statistics are available for all to read who will, and the bloodletting is going on at the rate of about 80,000 casualties a year, with no end in sight for either the spending or the bloodletting.

Recently, in desperate defense of his policies, Mr. Truman indulged once more in sailing his painted ships upon a painted ocean. He decried the published articles and outspoken criticisms that have laid bare the fallacies of his Fabian socialist regime.

Obviously talking for public consumption, Mr. Truman said: "After . . . taxes, the people have an average per capita income that will buy 40 percent more than it did in 1938." He ignored the 50 percent loss in buying power that has been taken by all of the fixed-income group. And he failed to mention that since 1938 the average family debt, through federal mismanagement, has increased 60 percent to the startling sum of about $6800 a family, that taxes are moving to an all-time high and that this family debt is expanding with no limit in sight.

PRIDE IN EXTRA-VAGANCE: Mr. Truman is "proud" of his budgets — past, present, and future — and he claims to know personally every figure in every budget he has submitted while other people "talk about the budget and don't know a figure in it."

He called the alleged increases in departmental spending "butterfly statistics" — so meaningless that they seemed to have been plucked right out of the air. The figure he was touting over came right out of the Statistical Abstract of the United States, and had been part and parcel of the 1950 budget compared with the 1940 budget of Roosevelt.

The "butterfly statistics" show: Between 1940 and 1950 the Department of Commerce expenditures increased 104 percent, the Department of the Interior 68 percent, the Department of Labor 123 percent, the Department of Justice 153 percent, the State Department 164 percent, and the cost of "independent offices" was up 278 percent to a level of $9,033,499,925.

Mr. Truman contended that a civil administration had taken here may register another Anglo-American defeat of victory in the world struggle between the western powers and the Kremlin. SCAPEGOAT — President Truman may be looking for a new White House press secretary as a result of his admitted blunders in explaining his recent order authorizing non-defense bureaus to withhold information from reporters. Although it was not short's fault, Mr. Truman is so discomfited that he may want a scapegoat.

In blaming the newspapers for "leaking" security secrets, the President said they should censor news of a military nature, even though it had been given out by Pentagon publicists. It was such an obvious "bait" that he subsequently clarified the statement by admitting he was wrong.

Short squirmed during the press conference at which his "boss" got all mixed up. Several times, he tried to correct the President, but all he got were angry, impatient looks and shrugs. Mr. Truman apparently not listening. Their relations, never of the friendliest, have been rather chilly since the episode.

As this paragon of economic anarchy expands it is necessary to cover the mounting taxes to cover the steadily increasing needs of the defaulting state to maintain and increase its buying power (due to its own inflation) in the interest of state enterprise and political tenure. By all of these things we can recognize bankruptcy in government. It is no "threat" of national bankruptcy that we face today, it is bankruptcy per se.

Time For Voters To Change Tune

Pampans got a full treatment in political eye-opening Thursday night at the Chamber of Commerce banquet when former Representative Martin Dies stood on the platform and took the administration apart, exposing many of the venal, stupid and immoral things that have been foisted on the American people in the past few years.

When Dies got through, the New Deal-Fair Deal administration stood indicted of:

1. Violating natural economic laws in the name of expediency, thus giving the nation economic ills that are leading straight into the most serious illnesses of inflation and socialism.

2. Being directly responsible for turning over half the world to Russia and allowing the Soviet government to take vast quantities of arms and military equipment in Russia being able to build a war machine that now threatens the free world.

3. Literally opening the door for Russian aggression in the Far East by selling out Nationalist China and giving the Russian Mandchuria. Red armies mass for attacks against American forces in Korea.

4. Keeping known Communists in government positions and labor unions for 12 years after they were exposed.

5. Using a rilly sacrificing American lives in Korea by refusing to use Chinese Nationalist troops and Japanese to stop the aggressors.

The audience Thursday night indicated it agreed with Dies' charges, but as he sat there, we wondered how many in that audience realized his speech contained not only an indictment of the Roosevelt - Truman administration, but an indictment against the American people who have blindly followed the false tests of political evil deeds who had repudiated honesty and morality.

Dies recounted how at one time he was faced with choosing between party or country. He chose country.

We may say, "Well, that was his duty. As a political figure, he would be called on to make decisions like that. As private citizens, we never have to."

The last presidential election showed clearly that American voters are also faced with choosing between party and country, and sometimes they don't do it very well.

For example, in that election, a man "who couldn't possibly win" was voted back into the White House. And with him went all of his "honorable men" to parade before this nation a series of scandals as well as colossal blunders that led to it into the greatest depression in our history.

As Americans, we can be justifiably ashamed of the record of political dishonesty that our leaders have made. But the American voter has a record that can't stand too close an inspection.

If freedom and real liberty are to survive in United States, it's time for voters to change their tune. "I'm a dyed-in-the-wool Democrat" (or Republican) is not "I'm a dyed-in-the-wool AMERICAN!"

Bid For A Smile
If the Wiggins family's dog was as smart as local legend had it, it certainly was worth driving six miles into the Ozarks to see him. So the tourist drove. On identifying the farmstead by the mailbox, he turned in the driveway and parked near the corner of the house.

"Are you Mr. Wiggins?" he asked. "That's what she calls me," he replied. "I hear that you have a pretty smart dog. Is he around?" "That's my dog," replied the owner proudly. And so he was indeed, at the side of a finished shed, sitting atop a step. The dog was a small brown around his neck and shoulders, and he was looking at the man with a professional carpenter. Every now and then he would look at the man and then throw it away.

THE fall had jarred Lucilla and her pride so violently that she had to pick herself up almost piece by piece. Suddenly she was hoisted up and then she was held in the strong, safe circle of her husband's arms. "You all right?" he asked quietly.

"Oh, Arthur! I'm so glad you're here." She held on to him unshakably, and he patted her shoulder.

The audience may well have thought they were seeing a wife regain her husband's love because of Beautiful-You, exactly the way the ads said. Miss Midge could be heard saying, "Now isn't that sweet?"

Miss Meadows, having held up her nostrils to discover which way the wind blew, smiled with the guests. "Just a little too much excitement," she said indulgently. "And accidents will happen, but Mrs. Webb has nothing to be ashamed of. She has banished that skeleton in the closet by gaining 11 whole pounds." She waved her eyelashes toward Arthur. "Tell me, Mr. Webb, what do you think of Beautiful-You?"

Lucilla pinched his arm, and Arthur, feeling the old, familiar married couple signal, said cautiously, "Well—uh—"

"As if we couldn't tell by looking at your face!" Miss Meadows cut in vivaciously. She took the last mauve diploma from the basket, and handed it to Lucilla. "Hasn't it been the nicest graduation?" she asked the audience.

They indicated that it had. Mrs. Coips was dabbing at her eyes with a handkerchief, but if the guests observed this, they must surely have thought she was one of those women who cry on happy occasions. "School's over!" Miss Meadows announced. "But we're having a little reception on the second floor." As if sensing the incipient male rumble of rebellion, she cried, "No receiving line, no formality! Just long enough to drink to the health of our graduating class."

Luckily, the men hadn't been there long enough to grasp the frightening implications of "drink to the health." They went rather willingly, already under the spell of Beautiful-You, which has been known to turn swine into sheep.

THE reception was held in the room in which the students had taken their B.Q. tests, and learned about rouge on the brain. Glamor Guides moved among the guests passing out glasses of sauerkraut juice, and dainty bits of parsnip moistened in sardine oil and rolled in shredded beet tops. Hoopy spit hers out, shuddering. Several of the male guests watched her enviously. They stared even more anxiously at Paris, but after observing her 200-pound escort, they remained at a distance, regretfully.

Lucilla was surprised at how solid and respectable Harry looked, in a dark-blue serge suit. She had rather expected something in race-track plaids and a low forehead. Nor had she counted on Arthur's being so gallantly outgoing with Paris. "You certainly created a sensation at Hub-dub yesterday," he told her jovially.

Harry emitted a social version of the Irish Jones growl. Having already been forced to swallow a parsnip canase, he was perhaps more easily aroused than usual. "You shoulda seen this guy," Paris said, gesturing at Arthur. "When I first walked in, he acted like I was selling magazines."

Arthur doesn't have to laugh that hard, Lucilla thought. He said no when I asked him to come to graduation, but he gave in to Paris right away. She felt oddly deflated, as if she'd been reading a book that promised a deliriously romantic ending, and had discovered the covered on the last page that the characters were condemned to live an everyday life, with problems left over. As she looked around the room, she felt even more weighted by uncertainties. There was Derek's desk, and Derek himself might turn up at the reception, and she didn't want Arthur to see him. Let him remain in the realm of word-pictures—the well-known actor-director, a rival worthy of the name.

THE peace conference was held that night. There were a great many things to talk over, some of them unpleasant, but neither he nor Lucilla condensed, abridged, or censored (much) the topics under consideration. Lucilla said she'd been a fool, and Arthur admitted handsomely that she had, but having got that off his chest, he said that maybe they ought to take in more shows. At first Lucilla suspected irony, or heaping coals of fire, and there was perhaps an element of the latter in Arthur's offer, but if so, he'd burned himself too.

Lucilla said again, even more contritely, that she'd had no business lying to him about Beautiful-You. Then, in one of those dangerous bursts of candor that occasionally overtakes even reticent women, she said, "I could have talked you into letting me take the course anyway."

Arthur said comfortably, "Don't be too sure of that." His brief silence, then, was tacit admission that Beautiful-You wasn't quite as baty as he'd thought. "I could have talked you into letting me take the course anyway," he remarked suddenly. "You get into condition without all that ballyhoo."

Lucilla said, "Mmmm, maybe." She didn't contradict her husband when he went on to say what kind-hearted, unfeetied and beautiful girl Paris was. In fact, Lucilla said nice things too, and meant them; perhaps it was just a coincidence that right after this she spoke at some length on the theme of "Honest monogamy is the best policy."

Arthur said, in a tone of muted contentment, "You don't really need those false things."

Showdown With Red Leaders in Urring; Battles Without Victories Old Story

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator Johnson (D-Tex.) has said that sooner or later public opinion will demand a direct showdown with Russian Communist leaders.

"I can see a time when we will decide we have had enough of indecisive fighting — battles without victories," Johnson said.

"I do not know when it will come, but of this I am certain: unless those who plot the destruction of our civilian change their ways, it will come and the time may not be far distant."

Johnson, chairman of a Senate armed services subcommittee on military preparedness, voiced these sentiments in a statement issued by his office, along with the text of a speech for delivery at Dallas before civic groups.

"We all know that, regardless of the outcome of the truce negotiations, Korea is only the beginning," Johnson said. "We all know that our true enemies are not the ragged peasants of North Korea or the bewildered myriads of China but the leaders of the Soviet Union."

Johnson said he and most Americans have been deeply troubled by the "strange and un-

"It is the course of fighting a war but calling it a 'police action.' It is the course of slaughtering a foe — but only within certain boundaries. It is the course of battling a slave—but letting his master go scot free."

Johnson said Russian Soviet leaders can touch off similar aggression by "stooges" in Iran, Indochina, "the uranium mines of the Belgian Congo" or "a dozen scattered points throughout the globe."

"We can go on fighting in Korea," he said. "We can probably handle another war in Indochina. We may even be able to take on a bout in Iran or Yugoslavia. But somewhere — some place — some time — something will snap. We cannot go on forever draining away our lifeblood battling the satellites of the Soviet star."

Dark-Haired Beauty Refuses To Conform To Filmland Pattern

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Tall, slim, raven-haired Elizabeth Taylor doesn't fit the usual starlet pattern. She refuses to take dramatic lessons and her middle name is Coyote.

Her press agent has already named her the triple threat girl — "she sings, dances and acts." Howard Hawks picked her to play the Indian girl in "The Big Sky."

Miss Threat — let's call her Betty — was a top fashion model in New York, specializing in

"high fashion," which means the fanciest of duds. She was earning upwards to $800 weekly and had to take a financial loss to accept the Hollywood offer.

"But it was a new experience and a new challenge," she explained. "I had just about tired of actual modeling and was ready to get into some other field of business. Also, I had been in the hospital for a year (she broke a hip in a sidewalk mishap and I didn't have the strength to pose in one position for hours.)"

Coming to Hollywood, she put her foot down on suggestions that she study up on acting. "I think you can either act or you can't," she remarked. "If a person doesn't know enough after studying the character he has to portray, all the lessons in the world won't help."

Grandmother's Club Started By Woman Who Had None

CINCINNATI — (AP) — A Michigan woman whose grandparents died before she was born started an organization for lifting many a grandmother out of the rocking chair.

Mrs. Marie K. Brown, 64, of Central Lake, Mich., recalled how it began as she sat down with more than 400 women today for the annual convention of the National Federation of Grandmother Clubs of America.

"I always envied people with grandmothers," she said in an interview. In 1934, a year after Mrs. Brown's first grandchild was born, she went to the Michigan convention of the Business and Professional Women's clubs.

"I threw out my chest and said I was a grandmother," Mrs. Brown said. "Then I asked if there were any others present, and a lot of them stuck up their hands and yelled."

So a group of grandmothers began meeting for breakfast at the B&PW conventions.

"In 1937 the Associated Press took a picture of us. Hundreds of grandmothers saw it and wrote us about it."

That did it.

The national federation, founded in 1938 with 20 clubs, now has 128, with more than 10,000 grandmothers enrolled.

Members wear pins with a metal bar for each grandchild. Mrs. Brown said one member at the convention had 38.

"Look over there," she said, pointing across a downtown hotel lobby. "Don't they look happy?"

Chatting briskly were 38 Indianapolis grandmothers attired in gray costumes and little gray bonnets tied under their chins with blue ribbon.

"These grandmother clubs have given all of us something to do besides sit in a rocking chair and sew," she said.

Establishing a haven for needy grandmothers is the organization's main goal. Another is to get the second Sunday in October set aside as national grandmothers day.

Mrs. Brown summed it up vigorously when she was asked if any of the delegates ever resented being called grandmother. "Certainly not!" she said. "We're proud of it. Being a grandmother is the crowning experience in life."

Man Electrocuted In Home Chair

DETROIT — (AP) — An unemployed father of four rigged a makeshift "electric chair" in his home and electrocuted himself, police said Thursday.

The body of Chester Dunn, 40, was found by his wife, Eleanor, 37, after she returned from court. She had filed non-support complaint against him.

Patrolman Calvin Gill said Dunn plugged up a basement drain and filled the floor three inches deep with water.

The officer said Dunn next stripped the insulation in two places from an extension cord. He taped the cord to his left arm at one end and sat on the other uncovered section, places on an old rocking chair.

Then, dangling his feet in the water, Dunn threw a switch, sending current through the cord, the officer said.

Bond was set at $1000 in county court yesterday for Odie Steve Boles who pleaded not guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated.

No address for Boles was given. He was picked up Monday night in Pampa by city police.

Thanksgiving Bird Supply Is Increased

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The nation's turkey crop is estimated up one-sixth over last year—and the government is ready to step in if case prices start going down.

The Department of Agriculture said it would reduce supplies by buying large-size turkeys. Not preferred by household consumers, for distribution to non-profit school lunch programs and eligible public institutions.

The government said farmers receive an average of 36.3 cents a pound for live turkey in mid-September compared with 33.5 cents a year ago.

This year's turkey crop has been reported at 52,800,000 birds with 45,700,000.

Oilers Name Jake Phillips Playing Manager For '52 Season

Richardson Status With Club Unknown; Dial To Texarkana

R. D. Mills, owner and president of the Pampa Oilers, announced this morning that Jake Phillips, husky outfielder, obtained from Texarkana in mid-season last year, has been signed to manage the Pampa Oilers for the 1952 season.

Phillips, 27, has had several years experience managing baseball teams, having guided the Sinton Oilers to fourth place in the national semi-pro baseball tournament at Wichita, Kan., in 1950.

Phillips will replace Virgil Richardson at the helm of the Oilers. Richardson tendered his resignation to the Oilers management and Mills said that Richardson's managerial contract would not be renewed. Richardson took over as manager in mid-season last year and guided the club to a sixth place finish, beset with injuries. Richardson's status with the club as a player remains unknown. This past season he led the league in fielding as a first baseman, led the club in runs batted in and had 25 home runs.

At the same time, Mills also announced that the contract of Red Dial, the Oilers' leading hurler last year, has been assigned outright to the Texarkana club of the Big State league to complete the deal that brought Phillips to Pampa. Dial was the league's leading strikeout artist, was the workhorse of the league, and won 22 games for Pampa.

Mills also announced that Warren Hasse, business manager of the Oilers last year, had resigned to devote full duties to his work with The Pampa News and Radio Station KPND. No replacement has been hired as yet. Phillips, who will join Mills at the league meeting in Lubbock today, was named utility outfielder on the final all-star team picked by the league's sportswriters and sportscasters at the end of the season. He finished the year participating in an even 100 games for Pampa, hitting .251, sixth best in the league, driving in 102 runs and slashing out 25 home runs. He also led the fielding averages for outfielders participating in 100 or more games.

Phillips was born in Fort Worth, June 10, 1924. He graduated from public school there and went on to Texas Wesleyan college. While in high school he was all-district in football, basketball and baseball.

He broke into professional baseball in 1942 at Olean, N. Y., then in the Brooklyn farm system. He hit .296, had 18 home runs and drove in 109 runs. Then Uncle Sam put him in the Air Force where he spent the next two years.

In 1946 he went to spring training with the Dodgers and played in over 20 exhibition games as the team started the trek back North. But instead of going on to Flatbush, he was sent to Fort Worth, the Dodgers Texas league farm club, hitting .250.

He started the next season with the Cats, but was shipped to Spokane, Wash., where he hit .241, had 15 home runs and drove across 76 runs in two months time. In 1948 he was sold to St. Paul of the American Association, still in the Brooklyn system, and spent the first month of the season there but was optioned to Greenville, S. C., in the Sally League. He hit .282, had 14 home runs and drove in 66 runs.

In 1949 he went on the voluntary retired list to accept a job with the Plymouth Oil company at Sinton, Texas. There he organized a ball club under the direction of Jimmy Grant, former TCU athlete, and the Oilers finished third in the state semi-pro tourney. In 1950 Jake took over as manager and they were runners-up in the state meet and finished fourth in the national. They won 50 and lost 22 during the year.

He remained at Sinton until April 22 of this year, playing against professional clubs that trained in the area, winning 17 and losing six with the club that won the state and national this year.

Field Goal Gives Baylor 9-7 Victory Over Arkansas Hogs

DiMaggio Says He's Through

NEW YORK — (AP) — The question of whether Joe DiMaggio, whose spectacular career with the New York Yankees began 15 years ago, is going to retire, apparently was settled today. The Clipper has made up his mind to quit.

He declined to come right out and say he was finished, but he made it plain before heading for California Friday night that he was delaying the inevitable only in deference to the wishes of Yank President Dan Topping, with whom he talked for two hours Friday.

"I have made up my mind to retire and that is my present intention," said the great outfielder. "I have given it considerable thought."

When DiMaggio entered Topping's office for the confab, he was ready to lay his cards on the table. Topping listened to the stammer and instead of just saying, "OK, Joe, it's up to you," asked him to delay the decision for a time.

"You might feel differently a month from now," Topping told DiMaggio. "Why don't you go on your trip to Japan (where DiMaggio and teammates Billy Martin and Ed Lopat, along with Lefty O'Doul, will entertain the troops) and give this matter a little more thought."

DiMaggio agreed. "The Yanks and players themselves want DiMaggio back. He has been an inspiration to them throughout the years, and many are the rookies who merely have tried to look like him. As Manager Casey Stengel remarked after the Yanks won the world series from the New York Giants: "We couldn't have won without you, Joe!"

While he was in a slump in the beginning of the series, DiMaggio was downcast. He's a perfectionist and cannot tolerate himself not performing his best. The Yanks would be willing to give Joe the same $100,000 he received this year if he decides to come back.

But his reasons for apparently calling it quits are compelling. He knows he is not the player he was, say three years ago, and that he is on the downgrade. With a lifetime batting average of .289, he hit only 263 the past season and slugged but 12 home runs.

He has been bothered with physical ailments for some time, and realizes he needs the rest from the long, 154-game grind. It is becoming increasingly hard to take.

WACO — (AP) — C. O. Brocato, a little known linebacker, booted the first field goal he ever tried in college to squeeze Baylor past Arkansas yesterday, 9-7.

Larry Isbell, Baylor's brilliant quarterback, fired 31 yards to end Stanley Williams for a vital six points in the second quarter, and the try for point never got off the ground as Francis Davidson fumbled the snapback.

Brocato kicked the three-pointer hard and high from a slight angle at the six, in the final period without knowing it would provide the margin of victory. Arkansas had not come near touchdown land at the time.

A Baylor fumble, recovered by Arkansas end Bob Linebarger on Baylor's 37 started the Razorbacks goal-ward in the waning minutes. Sophomore Lamar McHan shot a 17-yarder to end Pat Summerville and hit the other end, Bill Jurney for 18 more.

Left half Dean Pryor raced through his right guard from the 2 standing up, and George Thomason kicked the extra point to pull Arkansas within two points of the Bears.

Three minutes remained in the game, and the Baylor crowd of 25,000 sat paralyzed when Arkansas got the ball again and surged from its 43 to the Baylor 34 on the passing of McHan.

An interception in the end zone by Baylor's Red Donaldson saved the day and Baylor had won its Southwest Conference opener and three in a row.

Arkansas absorbed its second league defeat, and thus was virtually eliminated from the race. Arkansas dominated play until the final minute of the first quarter when Brocato intercepted McHan's pass and returned to Baylor's 49.

The Bears moved in Arkansas territory for the first time on the next play, and Isbell began throwing.

He hit Williams for 9 to move to Arkansas' 32, but the drive fizzled there as Arkansas linebacker Jim Smith, a 200-pound demon, stacked a fourth-down plunge.

Donaldson, defensive left half-back for Baylor, picked off Jim Rinehart's pass on the Arkansas 31, and that was what Isbell was waiting for.

Isbell took the ball on the next play, raced way back to elude losses and Oklahoma took over on a hard-charging Razorback and fired a pass straight and long down the middle to Williams, who took the ball behind the Arkansas defenders and zipped across.

Arkansas scored a touchdown, and the Bears moved in Arkansas territory for the first time on the next play, and Isbell began throwing.

He hit Williams for 9 to move to Arkansas' 32, but the drive fizzled there as Arkansas linebacker Jim Smith, a 200-

Redhead Stars As Texas Wins, 9-7; Scores Touchdown

DALLAS — (AP) — Texas hammered the spell of once mighty Oklahoma for a 9-7 victory in a game of breaks, useless long runs and freak happenings Saturday.

The Longhorns scored a safety and turned an Oklahoma bobble into a touchdown, were almost swept off the field for periods by a vicious Sooner ground game, then made it all up with a mighty defensive show in the last half.

A crowd of 75,349 shook the Cotton Bowl as Texas broke Oklahoma's string in this colorful Southwestern rivalry.

The Sooners had won three straight over Texas when they came here yesterday.

Texas played without the services of its great running back Gib Dawson, whose father died suddenly in Dallas Saturday. But Carl Mayes, Pampa, who took over for Dawson, was one of the bright lights in the Longhorn victory.

Oklahoma, national champion last year, thus suffered its second defeat in two weeks. Texas A&M last week beat the Sooners 14-7.

T Jones was the heart of the Texas attack, his quarterbacking, passing and running leading to the Longhorn touchdown and almost getting two more.

In the fourth period, after a Texas drive of 90 yards stalled on the Oklahoma two, Oklahoma tried a pass from behind its goal line. Billy Vessels caught it but was hit on the one and so badly injured he was carried from the field on a stretcher. At the same time Eddie Crowder, Oklahoma quarterback, ran into a goal post and hurt himself slightly. The goal post was knocked down.

All the scoring was in the first half with the safety coming early in the opening period. Bobby Dillon knocked Frank Silva down in the end zone as the Sooner back tried to run out a wild backward pass from Crowder.

A recovered Oklahoma fumble set up a Texas touchdown later in the first period. Joe McDonald punched on the ball when Silva dropped it on the Oklahoma 21. A 16-yard sprint by T. Jones set up the score, made when Carl Mayes hammered over from two feet out. June Davis kicked the extra point and Texas led, 9-0.

Then in the second period occurred an amazing Oklahoma recovery. The Sooners hadn't netted a single yard in the first period and appeared to be getting nowhere when Bob Raley intercepted a Crowder pass on the Oklahoma 49, and with Jones running and passing, pushed to the Sooner four. But Jim Weatherall and Ed Rowland tossed the Texas ball-carriers for repeated losses and Oklahoma took over on its six. With Buck McPhail, Dick Healy, Billy Vessels and Crowder—battering the line and sweeping the ends, the Sooners rushed to a touchdown. Crowder made it with a two-yard sneak

Southern Methodist Upsets Norte Dame

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Fred Benner, a human windmill, hit on 22 passes in 44 attempts for 336 yards and four touchdowns Saturday to pilot Southern Methodist over bewildered Notre Dame 27-20.

The 6 foot 3 inch senior shattered all of his own aerial records in unharassing the most furious passing game ever fired at Notre Dame team.

The Irish, unable to pierce the SMU defense that shielded Benner like he was a hunk of uranium, bowed to their first defeat in three starts this season.

The Mustangs were up in the air from the start and did not call more than a dozen actual running plays in winging to their first victory in four games with the Irish. The score was identical, only reversed, of the great Notre Dame 1949 triumph, the last time the two intersectional rivals met.

But the young Irish made a battle of it with a last quarter touchdown on a passing attack of their own. It kept the crowd of 25,240 on its feet and added more thrills for the millions of television fans watching on a coast to coast hookup. In all 89 passes were tried by both teams.

SMU wheeled into a 13-6 first quarter lead, was ahead 20-13 at the half and topped it to 27-13 in the third period.

The young Irish tied it 13-13 at the outset of the second when John Latner recovered Bill Crisler's fumble on the Mustang's 25. John Mazur eventually passed 19 yards to Chet Ostrowski for the marker. The play came off the I in which the backs line up perpendicular to center.

But Benner, and his chain-reaction receivers, could not be bottled up. SMU glided 80 yards in six plays as the human windmill speared Russell for 49 and finally hit Ben White for a 21-yard touchdown.

Dick Hightower's interception of Mazur's aerial touched off the Methodist's fourth marker. Benner flicked 22, 8 and 11 yards to Whiteband then the final four to Pat Knight.

Notre Dame chopped the lead to 27-20 midway in the final period. Jack Alessandrini stole Benner's toss, his only interception of the game, to set up the tally. Mazur hit sophomore Neil Worden for 26 yards and another sophomore, John Latner, capped the drive by stabbing over from the two.

Southern Methodist scoring Touchdowns, Musslewhite, H. N. Russell, White, Knight. Conversions, S. Stollenwerck 3 (placements).

Notre Dame scoring: Touchdowns, Reynolds, Ostrowski, Latner. Conversions, Mavrides 2 (placements).

Benner's previous single game records were 39 attempts against Texas last year, 20 completions against Texas and Ohio State in 1950 and 306 yards gained against Ohio State, last year.

In the first half, SMU called only one play for an actual run as Benner struck on 12 tosses

Marquette Nearly Upsets Spartans

EAST LANSING, MICH. (AP)—Michigan State's "Tony" backfield pulled one out of the fire by scoring two touchdowns in the final quarter to quell upset-hungry Marquette 20-14 yesterday.

The speedy young sophomores and freshmen did all the scoring after Marquette took a 14-6 halftime lead over surprised Michigan State.

Quarterback Jim Leahy made both Marquette touchdowns with passes to end Jim Tobias in the end zone. And for a while it looked as if Michigan State, No. 1 team in the Associated Press poll, was in for a beating.

Billy Wells, a sophomore back, ran 69 yards through the Marquette defense for Michigan State's only touchdown in the first half.

State started its victory drive from its own 14 early in the final quarter. Leroy Bolden, a freshman, contributed a 34-yard run for the longest yardage as MSC worked down to the Marquette 40.

Quarterback Al Dorow threw a long pass to Wells on the Marquette 14, and he scooted over. A 40-yard pass from Dorow to Paul Dekker set up the winning tally with less than eight minutes left. Bolden went over from the Marquette 13.

Price Praises His Defense For Win

DALLAS (AP)—Texas Coach Ed Price pointed to his powerful defense after his Longhorns fought to a 9-7 victory over Oklahoma in the Cotton Bowl here.

"It wasn't our offensive strategy; it wasn't a weak defense on the part of Oklahoma — it was mainly our defense," he said.

Price paid tribute to defense men Bobby Dillon, Charley So-well, Paul Williams and Bob Riley.

In the Oklahoma dressing room, greying Bud Wilkinson said: "Texas was a better team."

"Folks are still thinking about Oklahoma in terms of what we did in 1949. We don't have that kind of team this year."

"We played top-notch ball out there today, but Texas just had too much to offer."

Price said he was never sure of the Texas victory until the Longhorns got their hands on the ball in the fading minutes of the game.

"We didn't want to score again. We just wanted to keep that ball.

"Oklahoma has always been an explosive team, and you can never tell — especially when they're playing Texas," he said.

Byron Townsend was limited in play, Price said, because of early injuries and a recent case of flu. "We tried to save him for the last quarter in case we got in trouble," he said.

T Jones, 185-pound quarterback from Chilgress, turned in a magnificent game, Price said.

June Davis, Longhorn guard, termed the Sooner team, "tough — plenty tough."

Asked where T Jones could be found, Davis said, "he's already gone. That boy's plenty fast."

Bob Bickel, defensive back on Duke University's football squad, is also an outstanding lacrosse player.

EAT PLENTY AND TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

Lost 39 Pounds

"I was really happy and surprised with the results obtained taking Barcostra," says Mrs. Lillian Flowers, 214 Burnett St., San Antonio, Texas. "I have lost 39 pounds and feel so much better and look 16 years younger."

Lost 15 Pounds

Mrs. D. C. Baker, Box 31, Bryson, Texas, writes us as follows: "I weighed 215 pounds when I commenced to take Barcostra. After one month I have lost 15 pounds and am going to continue taking it until I am down to 150 pounds. I have several of friends taking Barcostra and they are losing weight also."

Many people have reported amazing results with this home recipe. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your druggist and ask for 4 ounces of liquid Barcostra. Pour this into a pint bottle and add 4-6 cups grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic, from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back.

Lefors Pirates Provide Win Over Panhandle Panthers 7-6

By DON BLAKE

Pampa News Writer

LEFORS—The Lefors Pirates proved that the yhad to be reckoned with in the District 1-A football race by upsetting the previously unbeaten and husky Panhandle Panthers, 7-6, here Friday night.

It was co-captain Ray Dickerson, 145-pound senior halfback, who provided the heroics, racing 75 yards with a Panther punt for the tying touchdown and then Melvin Bingham, Pirate 170-pound tackle, ran the game-winning point across.

The Purple and Gold Panthers scored first after a relentless drive on the ground covered 70 yards. Dean Lewellen scored from four yards out but Jimmy Lee Mitchell's placement was no good and the Panthers led 6-0 in the first period.

The Pirates pulled themselves together and thereafter played heads-up ball. When Tuggle kicked 38 yards early in the second period, two Panhandle ends apparently killed the ball, running by and slapping at it.

But Dickerson grabbed the pigskin and raced down the sideline behind beautifully formed blocking for the tying score. Bingham's running over the extra point was the ball game, though at the time it didn't appear that way.

Both teams came back fighting hard the second half. Panhandle carried the game to the lighter and scrapping Pirates but could make no headway to the Bucs.

The referee held the Pirates three times in the second half the Lefors forwards held, forcing the Purple and Gold to kick.

Too much praise cannot be heaped upon the Pirate forwards, who battled their heavier opponents to a standstill.

Next weekend the Pirates face the Price College Cardinals in a non-conference game at Amarillo.

Badgers Outplay Buckeyes To Tie

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—A favored Ohio State football team had to settle for a 6 to 6 tie with a Wisconsin eleven that out-played it most of the way Saturday.

Ohio State, ranked ninth in the Associated Press poll, was an odds-on favorite.

Sparked by a pair of freshmen backs the Badgers pushed the Buckeyes all over the field and stopped all-American Vic Janowicz in his tracks most of the first half as they ran up a six point lead.

In the final quarter the Badgers bogged down and Ohio State, thanks to a great 63-yard punt return by Bernie Skvarka to the Wisconsin five, pushed across the six points which tied the score.

Trout Beaten In Senior Play

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—The Texas Golf association's senior championship tournament moved into semifinals today.

W. R. Stickman of San Antonio was paired with Ed Tyer of Houston and A. C. January of Dallas was paired with John Marston of Dallas.

The chief casualty yesterday was C. M. (Chick) Trout, defending champion from Lubbock. Stickman beat the Lubbock swinger 3 and 2. Not since 1942 has a winner defended his senior title.

Warriors Blast Kelton Indians

MIAMI—Miami's Warriors romped over the Kelton Indians here, 61-20, Friday afternoon in a District 1-B six-man football game.

Charley Cook paced the Warriors' attack with three touchdowns, followed by Bobby Poore, with two, and Raymon Cowan, Bill Bryant, David David Bean and Gene Hodges with one each. Hodges also chipped in with a pair of conversions and Carl Williams accounted for two more and Bill Russell added one.

Marsden Wins Senior Crown

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—John Marsden of Dallas won the senior championship of the Texas Golf Association, beating C. I. W. R. Stickman of San Antonio, one-up, Saturday.

Stickman turned the out-going nine 2-up, but Marsden evened it two holes later. He went 1-up for good on No. 17 when Stickman three-putted. They parred No. 18 with 1-putters.

Marsden shot a 72, one over par on the 6,483 yard San Antonio Country club course. Stickman had a 75.

He spiraled 11 passes in the first 10 minutes and his fifth connection in the span resulted in a 87 yard touchdown to Benton Musslewhite. Sam Stollenwerck place kicked the first of his three extra points.

Later Notre Dame, ranking fifth nationally, pulled up 7-6 when freshman Paul Reynolds of Springfield, Ill., rocketed 29 yards off the novel "I" formation which the Irish used nearly as much as the "T."

Then before the first quarter ended, Benner made his ninth completion in 16 heaves good for a 38 yard payoff to Rusty Russell, Jr.

If the purr of a great-powered engine is music to your ears —

If command of two tons and more of nimble-footed and beautifully balanced automobile can step up your pulse beat —

You are just the man for whom a ROADMASTER was engineered.

Whatever it takes to give you a sense of complete and carefree freedom behind its wheel, you'll find in this proud master of the highways.

Added to the breadth and length that any fine car can give you are four soft-action coil springs to cushion the wheels, and a torque-tube to banish rear-wheel wander.

Added to its high-compression, valve-in-head engine are eight exclusive Fireball combustion chambers that get extra power from each whirling charge of fuel.

Added to the convenience of clutch-free driving is the torque-converter principle of Dynaflo Drive — that feeds a steady flow of power without lag or falter ever.

Added to the light responsiveness of its steering wheel is a Buick-engineered "front-end geometry" that gives this phenomenal performer a sense of direction straight and true.

But no roll call of engineering accomplishments can tell you the feel of a ROADMASTER out on the road.

That's something that only firsthand acquaintance can bring. Not just a trip around the block — but enough time and enough miles to let you discover what a joyous companion this great car can be.

That's something that is easily arranged. If you're truly interested, a phone call will bring a ROADMASTER to your door.

Wildcats Rip Tigers, 58-6

By CARL ZYBACH
Pampa News Writer

CANADIAN — (Special) — The powerful Canadian Wildcats slaughtered the hapless McLean Tigers here Friday night, 58-6. It was a District 1-A conference game.

Husky Tom Schaeff, candidate for all-region honors, powered over for four of the victors touchdowns. He put the Cats ahead on the first play of the first quarter, going nine yards around left end for the score. In the second period he went 16 yards; in the third quarter he took off for 67 yards; and in the fourth slashed off right tackle for three. In addition, he added the extra point after his third touchdown.

Coach Dee Henry used his reserves unsparingly during the contest, and they scored with equal ease.

The Cats scored three times in the first period. In addition to Schaeff's tally, Dean Hoover passed to Ben Mathers for another touchdown, the play covering 43 yards with Hoover converting his second of the period. The other score came when Frank Young, substitute halfback, went two yards over tackle.

In the second quarter, McLean scored its only touchdown when the Tigers recovered a fumble on the Cat 25, a fumble moved the ball to the one, and Jack Bentley broke over from there.

The Cats came right back with Schaeff scoring one touchdown and then Raymond Ramirez going nine yards for the other following a 60-yard punt return by Hoover which set up the score.

Schaeff scored the only third quarter touchdown. In the fourth, Hoover went 43 yards around end after a pass from Jimmy Waterfield to Jimmy Julian set up the play; Schaeff scored his touchdown; and then Jimmy Adcock completed the night's action with a four-yard plunge over left tackle to score.

Two McLean fumbles in the fourth period stopped Tiger drives that might have finished up in pay dirt.

Skellytown Wins Third Straight

SKELLYTOWN — The Skellytown Panthers turned in their third straight win of an undefeated season here Thursday afternoon beating Clarendon's junior high eleven, 6-0.

The only score of the game came in the first period when Donald Colson went 45 yards. Frank Jones, Bobby Johnson and Walter Beauchamp stood out for the Panthers, coached by Bert Lebel.

Next Thursday night the Skellytown eleven plays Panhandle junior high at White Deer at 7:30.

Greens Gossip

By HOGAN O'SNEAD

Amarillo lost a football game Friday but they won a golf match with the Pampa high linksters. Tommy Cox gathered in points on his match with Jack Baxter while the other Pampa players dropped their points. Buster Carter and Joe Chisum won points for the ninth graders while their running mates, Jerry Boston and Bill Russel, didn't fare as well with their opponents. Pampa high has yet to win a match from the Sandies on the golf course.

The beautiful Panhandle Men's Golf association trophy, won by the Pampa country club players last week, is on display at the golf shop. The boys dropped a few strokes in last Sunday's play at Ross Rogers but they had quite a few to lean back on so it didn't matter too much. The players say they are going to hold it from now on. Here's hoping they do because it's a beautiful trophy and so hard to move around in a car.

Melvin Watkins probably had his finest round since a d d d days last Wednesday. He fired a smooth 72 at Joe Houck and Bud Abbott of Borger and made a beautiful trophy and so hard to move around in a car.

I'm not going to say that I'm glad to see Johnny Austin up and around again. I said it last week and he got put back in bed and even missed the Panhandle meet at Ross Rogers. Apparently the winning of the trophy was good tonic for him.

Heard Doc Elder flipped in a 24 on the front the other day while playing along with Doc Laycock, who had a 36. But Doc Elder, how about the wheel? Rough, isn't it?

White Deer Bucks Beaten By Dumas Demons, 39-14

By RUDY MARTI
Pampa News Writer

The powerful Dumas Demons of District 1-AA trounced the previously unbeaten White Deer Bucks of District 1-A, 39-14 at Dumas Friday night before an estimated crowd of 3000 cheering fans.

The Demons, coached by former Pampa High school assistant coach Jo Whinnery, were sparked by full back Jack Berry who had a hand in most of the touchdowns. The demons took the lead early in the first period with Berry going 52 yards around end for the score. Jimmy Baird converted the first of three successful placements.

The second Dumas touchdown was set up late in the period on a pass from Joe Lummus to Bryan Engram, good to the one yard line. Joe Mowrey cracked the center of the line to score and Baird converted.

Early in the second period, Berry scored again on an end around after three other touchdowns had been recalled by penalties. The next Dumas tally came with Berry going 29 yards around end again and Baird converted.

The final Demon touchdown was a pass play from Cashion to Lummus. A pass from Jackie Freeman to Donald Denham in the fourth period paid off for the Bucks, the play going 63 yards, with Ronald Mills running the extra point across. Late in the game, Freeman intercepted a Dumas pass and went 94 yards to the touchdown and then carried the extra point across for the final score of the game.

WT-NM Selects New Prexy Today

The West Texas-New Mexico league will hold its regular winter meeting today at the Hilton Hotel in Lubbock and a full schedule of important business is on the agenda.

Most important will be the selection of a new league president to replace Milton E. Price, who has guided the destinies of the league since its inception. Price, who is also secretary of the Texas league, is resigning to devote full time to that job.

Other business will include the revision of special league rules, such as the number of class members per club. This will probably draw full fire of several of the clubs. Other discussions will revolve around the site of the all-star game, division of gate receipts, schedules, and radio broadcasts.

Strong candidates for the league president's job are Ray Winkler, business manager of the Lubbock Hubbers, Hal Sayles, president of the Longhorn league, Joe Tracey, business head of undefeated, untied teams in Class A. Lamar rolled over San Jacinto (Houston) 33-7 to continue as the power of the south in Class AAAA.

Only seven unbeaten teams are left in Class AAAA—Pampa, Abilene, Lubbock, Ray (Corpus Christi), Lamar, Milby (Houston), which played Jeff Davis (Houston) last night, and Odessa, which is undefeated but has been tied.

Sixty Unbeaten in Schoolboy Football

By the Associated Press

The unbeaten rolls dwindled to some 60 teams in Texas schoolboy football Friday night as Odessa, Lubbock and Lamar of Houston rolled with devastating fury over their foes in the super Class AAAA division.

Brownwood, Palestine, Temple and Longview, powers of Class AAA, crunched onward; Arlington, a standout of Class AA, knocked Weatherford of Class AAA from the unbeaten, untied list in Class AAA 40-6; Lockhart and Bay City, unbeaten, untied teams of Class AA, played to a 14-14 deadlock, while Dumas, unbeaten but tied in Class AA, licked White Deer, unbeaten and untied Class A outfit, 39-14, and Farmersville slapped Leona rd 33-12 and Honda swarmed Pleasanton, 41-6 in battles between carried the extra point across for the final score of the game.

Harvester Cagers Start Work Monday For Rough Schedule

With the high school football season only reaching the midway point, the Pampa Harvester basketballs will open full-fledged workouts tomorrow afternoon in preparation for their rough schedule in District 1-AAAA.

Coach Clifton McNeely, starting his fifth season with the Green and Gold, has a record of 98 wins and 15 losses to show since arriving at Pampa in December of 1947. And this year he hopes to move into the new field house, which is nearing readiness, it should be available for use by the start of the conference season, Jan. 11.

Coach McNeely will have his hands full coaching both the Guerillas and Harvesters, getting them ready for the season which starts in six weeks. The Green and Gold cage schedule at the present is:

Mustangs Upset By Rattlers, 7-6

WHEELER — Wheeler's Class 1-A Mustangs were upset here Friday night by the Stinnett Rattlers of District 1-B, 7-6. It was the third straight loss for the Mustangs who will face the powerful White Deer Bucks next weekend in a conference game.

McNeely will have three regulars returning from last year's squad which was runner-up to the district champion Borger Bulldogs. They are Duane Jeter, 6-11" Marvin Bond, winner of the Hustling Harvester award for his play last year, and Tommy Smith, 5-11" guard. Replacements will have to be found for James Claunch, Buzzy Tarpley, Elmer Wilson and Tony Jones who were lost through graduation.

Due to the length of the road trips in the new district arrangement, the Harvesters, as well as all the other clubs, will play two games each weekend, one on Friday night and the other on Saturday. This will save the schools an additional long trip.

The most pleasing of the replacements appears to be Jimmy Bond, 6-3" brother of Marvin, up from the Reapers. Jimmy is a sophomore and shows outstanding promise in keeping the Bond basketball strain alive. It started with brother Bill several years ago.

The other candidates for starting honors will be Jimmy Duane, 5-11" guards back from last year's squad, Fred Woods, 6-1" up from the Guerillas, as are Jon Oden, Billy Webb and Charles McCray. Roy Pool and Buddy Cocirell are expected to join the cage squad when the football season is completed. Pool was a quadman last year and Cocirell played with the Guerillas.

The Harvesters are runners-up in the Brownwood tournament, which they also hold championships in the past, and they are again champions of the Childrens meet for the third straight year.

All of the Harvesters' games at home and on the road, will be broadcast exclusively by radio station KPDM.

When Congress Quits!

Texans Plan To Get Home In A Hurry

By TEX EASLEY
WASHINGTON — (AP) — Texas congressional delegation will lose no time heading for home when the first session of the 82nd Congress adjourns.

All expect to do some political fence-mending, but attention naturally is focused primarily on the veteran Senator Tom Connally.

He is up for re-election next year. He has never formally announced his candidacy for another term, but his colleagues do not doubt his intention.

The 74-year-old senator served in the Texas House of Representatives from 1901 through 1904; he was prosecuting attorney of Falls county from 1906 to 1910, and served in the U. S. House of Representatives from 1917 to 1929, when he entered the Senate.

Connally hasn't been able to accept definite speaking engagements, because of the uncertain date of congressional adjournment.

However, he has let it be known that when the gavel taps a sine die, he will be on his way. He plans to spend a few days at his home in Marlin, then be available to address various groups. He will probably get pretty well over the state before Christmas.

Senator Lyndon B. Johnson also expects to spend as much time as possible at his home and headquarters in Austin.

Members of the House have been waiting impatiently for weeks on the Senate. Unlimited debating privileges on that side of the Capitol have often delayed action on measures which had sped through the House.

One reason for the swift manner in which the House handles its business is the able leadership of its speaker — Bonham's Sam Rayburn. He is always anxious to get down to his North Texas ranch-farm, where he has a herd of Herefords.

House members from many other states have already left, and plan to return this year only if some very important matters arise.

Rep. W. F. (Bob) Ponge of Waco, expressing the view of many of the representatives who think the Senate should already be through, said:

"If they keep on fooling around over there until the middle of October, I'm going to get out of here."

"I am head of a House agriculture subcommittee which is studying soil conservation work in relation to flood control, and we want to check the situation in the Mid-West. We also may hold some hearings in Texas, and I most certainly intend to get down and visit around in my district a lot."

Although few of the legislators remain here during the adjournment, most of them keep their offices open. Two or three secretaries remain to go through the daily mail.

Usually a congressman has reserved office space in the post office or some other federal building in his hometown. Some keep these offices open briefly each day, or occasionally, throughout the year. During the adjournment they may keep them open regularly, and staffed by a secretary who comes down from the Washington office. Secretaries do not get travel allowance however, so most of them remain in Washington.

THIS IS HUNTING season for the men (a whole "gang" left for the mountains last week) and it's hunting season for us women, too. Been looking high and low for a pumpkin to make a real, honest-to-goodness jack o' lantern. No more of those paper cardboard ones, the kiddies say, so the long, tedious task of hunting down a pumpkin is in progress. It will be followed by the equally tedious task of cutting eyes, etc. Fun. Fun.

SING-SONGS in the movies could be fun, but so few join in and when the fellow next to you isn't singing you sorta sit silent, too. One thing sure — we don't laugh and sing together enough any more—at least not often enough to relax and enjoy some of the simpler pleasures of life. The trite phrase about the best things in life are free still rings true.

PANORAMICALLY: Heard good reports on the informative League of Women Voters luncheon last week... Dick Pepin and Ray Evans were on hand to speak... Also heard reports indicating the chamber of commerce banquet was a success... Congratulations to the new officers, Charlie Cook, Hugh Burdette and Floyd Imel... Saw the Henry Ellises there... also the Gene Patheers, who are in Dallas this week end for the Texas-OU game... The Cooks and the Frank Smiths, we heard, were also going down for the fair... The college games are really drawing Pampa people... Dorothy Barritt is a likeable person... Certainly am glad to hear such good news on the drive to recruit more Boy Scouts... Lots 'n' lots of moms are becoming interested in the work and signing up as den mothers... The young Bill Davies are a fine twosome... So are the Jimmie Massas who celebrate a wedding anniversary this month... incidentally, they usually try to make the Texas-OU game, too... Green, decorators claim, is leading the color parade in interior decorating... And a latest in "flowers" for this winter is the little feather flouters... made of fine feathers instead of velvet... nice with suits and Pampa women are already wearing them.

BEEN RUMMAGING THROUGH the old clothing about the house that nobody wears, yet is too good to throw away, and found just the thing for "Johnny-Coats" — these are made from men's shirts and are desperately needed by Gray county cancer patients. They are open down the back and are minus collars and cuffs and take mere minutes to make. The coats will be placed in the Red Cross office in a "loan closet" along with other sick-room necessities. Dr. Emily Hicks, a busy person, is finding time to serve as chairman of the cancer drive, and she has a tremendous job before her. She made some of the women's clubs last week and sent word to members that the clubs she didn't attend, and already she is getting some response. That's worthwhile project when we recognize cancer as the killer it is—some of those who helped in last year's drive have died from cancer since.

DON'T FORGET NOV. 1. That's the latest date on sending overseas Christmas packages.

THERE'S A NEW electronic device out that will allow the man (or woman) of the house to play a complete game of golf in the house or garage. After he swings the club, the machine indicates how far the ball "would have gone" and tells whether he sliced it, and such. You can keep a whole score that way. It's been bad enough having a glass fixed on the floor for "putting," but now that full swing will be taking up chunks of carpet instead of clumps of grass!

SO-OFTEN Peg's been discouraged because of too many people for the closets at our house. (Does a home ever, ever have enough?) But I'm somewhat reconciled since I've learned that even after five million dollars' worth of redecorating, the first lady of the land still lacks closet space! Speaking of remodeling, reminds us that the Fred Thompsons have a whole job ahead of them—but will have a nice effect in the end. Carpenters are building two, maybe three rooms, onto their house. Don't know the decorating plans yet, but hope to hear soon. The Thompsons were in Oklahoma City last week for Kiwanis convention. Also the Les Haris.

NOW'S THE TIME to begin making cute little stuffed toys for the small fry on the Christmas list. And while we're thinking of Christmas, it isn't too early to be pondering over fruit cake recipes — or do you have a family favorite? Gonna go through my nearly-two-year-old PTA recipe book, because that's where I find such fine ones—all favorites of local women. Really have enjoyed that book!

BIG TIME THIS WEEK in the "Big Top." The Shrine club deserves a pat on the back, and we know they're grateful for the big turnout at the two circus performances. Among those "circulating" were Frank Culbertson and his little grandson, Jack Sicily, and Fred Neslage and six of his young circus-lovers. Nice, though, that it comes only once a year, huh? That traffic is bothersome and calls to mind roddy days.

JUST ONE WORD on Halloween—PREPARE—for trick or treaters, that is. Who knows, you may open the door and see PEG O' PAMPA.

Civic Culture Club Stresses Education For A Better People And Better World

The Civic Culture club met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Leo Paris, Miami, at which time Mrs. A. D. Hills presented a paper on "Education for A Better People and a Better World."

"What constitutes education for each individual depends mostly upon his interest and objectives," Mrs. Hills said.

"I believe it's safe to say that in our own country women are wielding more influence than in any other country in the world. This is a great challenge to us. Perhaps we haven't taken ourselves seriously enough.

"We can accomplish anything for which we are willing to dedicate ourselves and have the courage and initiative to achieve them," she concluded.

During the business session members decided to each make a "Johnny-coat" for the Gray County needy cancer patients.

Members attending were Mrs. J. B. Townsend, Mrs. D. W. Coffman, Mrs. Loyd Rinehart, Mrs. A. C. Houchins, Mrs. John Brandon, Mrs. A. K. Vincent, Mrs. E. A. Shackleton, Mrs. Irving Cole, Mrs. N. M. Moyer, Mrs. H. R. VanSickle, Mrs. Willis White, Mrs. Hills and the hostess.

Designer Claims Women Don't See How To Look Best

By DOROTHY ROE

Few women, French, American or hottenot, know how to look their best.

So says Elisa Schiaparelli, after a lifetime of selling glamor to most of the world's best-dressed women.

Looking youthful and full of bounce, Schiaparelli sat at a Louis XIV desk in her black and gilt Fifth Avenue salon.

Small, dark and dynamic, she is well qualified to speak on fashion. Her dressmaking salon in Paris still is flourishing, after 25 years which have seen many of the great names fade. In addition to her main business of dress designing, she has these irons in the U.S. fire:

A line of Schiaparelli dolls, a stocking manufacturing business, a successful perfume business, a wholesale coat-and-suit manufacturing business, a line of scarves designed by Schiaparelli, Schiaparelli-designed blouses, and lingerie.

Seven members attended the Vada Waldron circle meeting in the home of Mrs. J. C. Flowers, 1037 Farley.

Mrs. H. E. Beaty, 405 Crest, was hostess to the Mary Martha circle. The program was "Be Thou an Example." Refreshments were served to 14 members.

About 65 mothers and fathers were present for the Parent-Teachers Assn. meeting Thursday night in the Hopkins Community Hall. Sixth and seventh grade students presented the play, "Tom Sawyer," following a talk by Claud Zevely, school principal.

Mrs. R. G. Thomas gave a report of the City Council and Mrs. W. B. Burgess gave a talk on the PTA birthday.

The sixth grade room won the attendance award, Mrs. Fred Vandenburg, president, announced.

First grade students were hosts for the meeting.

B&PW Club Is Attending Borger Meet

Members of the local Business and Professional Women's club are represented at the District Nine conference in Borger this week end.

Some discussion of the district meeting was included in the business meeting last week of the business women's group.

Activities began last night with a banquet and gay nineties show. A breakfast was to be held this morning and be followed by a tour of the Borger rubber plants.

This is the annual conference of the district B&PW.

Dr. Emily Hicks, chairman of the Gray county cancer drive, presented a movie film on cancer at last week's meeting. She spoke briefly on plans for the cancer drive here.

Also included on the program was a report on the 1951 Girl Scout drive by Ed Myatt. The general finance drive will begin Monday.

Mrs. Sid Clendinning had charge of the program, and Mrs. W. A. York, president, presided during the business session.

Following the business meeting, at which time it was agreed the club would again sponsor the piano symphony, an open discussion was held on the following topics recently adopted by the local B&PW: equal pay for women, jury service and drafting-women.

Pampa Woman Knits One, Purls Two And Makes A Part Of Her Wardrobe

(Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of articles about Pampa women who practice "needle magic" and who make all, or at least a portion of their wardrobes.)

Knitting, to men, may be the task that gives women something to think about while they're talking, but actually it's an artistic endeavor that allows women to achieve the fashionable "beauty in texture" that is currently so vital to the fashion scene.

Women are knitting garments "from the top of the head to the tip of the toe," illustrating the versatility of knitting needles, gloves, scarf shoes and sport socks are made with equal ease, Pampa knitting authorities say.

The Pampa woman experienced in knitting is Mrs. L. N. Atchison, 226 W. Harvard, who began knitting doll clothes as a child. She has in the years since made "about everything in the book." She subscribes to many pattern books, but is not afraid to deviate from a pattern and add or take-away from the pattern design.

She goes into new and different stitches, and stays informed on the latest in yarn. Mrs. Atchison uses some raw silk thread, a combination of silk and cotton, worsted thread for heavier garments, and all wool thread. Some magazines are showing ordinary "rug yarn" in knitted garments.

Knitting is Mrs. Atchison's hobby — a hobby that she enjoys for three-minute intervals or three-hour periods. She doesn't let changing styles discourage her, spending long hours making a dress of suit. Yarn she purchased in 1935 has been unraveled and made into three different dresses.

And she isn't one to say, "Anyone can knit," but she does contend it doesn't matter how the knitting thread is held.

Two-thirds of the women who say they can't knit, worry too much about holding thread in to make the pattern the instructor taught, she said.

"Actually," Mrs. Atchison explains, "it doesn't matter how the thread is held, just so it's 'thrown' at the right time and like many of Pampa's needle experts, Mrs. Atchison does other work. She likes to crochet, sew, make hooked rugs, and she also does needlepoint.

Other women said to be known for knitting skill to Mrs. Roy Bourland, Mrs. Jack Merchant, Mrs. Charlie Thut and Mrs. DeLea Vicars, who did a great deal of knitting for the Red Cross during World War II.

Knitting, besides being a practical, wardrobe-building hobby, is a form of relaxation. But Mrs. Atchison advises that women never "work" at knitting, for it's then it becomes tiring and ceases to be relaxation.—WJC

Margaret Moore And Charles Pendleton Exchange Vows In Double-Ring Rites

WHEELER — (Special) — Miss Margaret Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Moore of Wheeler, became the bride of Charles Ray Pendleton Saturday, October 6, in a double ring ceremony read in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. Pendleton and the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Pendleton, also of Wheeler.

The ceremony was read in front of a white satin altar flanked by baskets of white gladioli with Thomas Beay reading the service. Mrs. R. H. Worrester played "Because" preceding the traditional wedding march and played soft music during the exchange of vows.

The bride's sister, Miss Bonnie Moore, was maid of honor. She wore a blue ballerina length dress of nylon net over taffeta, and wore a corsage of white carnations.

Carroll Pendleton served his brother as best man.

The bride, entering with her father, wore an ankle length gown of satin and nylon net. Appliques of satin were on the net yoke and scattered on the net skirt. Her scolloped fingertip length veil fell from a half bonnet skirt. Her scolloped fingertip was trimmed with satin braids dotted with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of gardenias and carnations.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the Moore home. Mrs. Lowell Pendleton registered the guests, and Mrs. Carroll Pendleton and Helen Johnson were at the serving table. Guests included the bride's sisters, Eileen and Nancy, Mrs. Nell Ashley, Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Pendleton, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Fassons, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Weatherly, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Moore and Karen, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Pendleton, and Melvin May.

Immediately following the reception the couple left for a short wedding trip. The bride chose a purple going away suit with a gardenia corsage from the center of her bouquet. They are at home in Wheeler where the bride is a senior in the high school. The bridegroom graduated with the 1951 class.

The women, thrown together by circumstances rather than by close friendship, were discussing men in general by discussing their husbands in particular.

Any husband would have been shocked and outraged to have heard his ever-loving wife telling comparative strangers about his typically masculine failings.

But the women seemed to enjoy the telling, as though it was really a great relief, just for a little while, to quit the whole business of pretending that a man is a great big, strong wonderful creature and admit out loud how much babbling men require, how much attention and flattery, and so on.

Furthermore, each woman apparently got a lot of satisfaction out of discovering anew a fact hard for a woman to hold on to in day-by-day living. That is, that her husband's faults, those most irritating to cope with, weren't individual faults at all.

She was finding out that most other wives put up with about what she did, and that her husband was no worse than any other woman's. In fact, that most of his faults weren't individual at all — just masculine.

So if you ever suspect that your wife talks you over with other wives — don't be too upset. The comparing of notes that women indulge in is really both a safety valve and an education.

They can't keep up the pretense all the time that you men are big and strong and wonderful. Not when they secretly feel they are just as smart and lots stronger and that you actually lean on them more than they lean on you.

And besides your wife will probably put up with your faults more cheerfully for realizing that they are, after all, fairly typical of men in general.

Women get as much comfort from saying: "men are all alike" as men get from their old stand-by: "If that isn't just like a woman!"

Skellytown Home Demonstration Club Elects Mrs. J. T. Crawford President

SKELLYTOWN — (Special) — Mrs. J. T. Crawford was hostess to the Skellytown Home Demonstration club last week at which time she was elected president of the group for the year.

Mrs. E. E. Crawford was elected vice president. Other new officers are Mrs. J. W. Cornwall, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. W. F. Johnson, council representative; and Mrs. L. M. Dahlgren, reporter.

During the business session Mrs. W. F. Johnson was selected to attend classes at Texas Tech to learn craft work. As a result of this trip she will teach one member of each Carson county club, and they will in turn teach the art in their various clubs.

Mrs. Johnson is the out-going president. She also discussed the demonstration she presented in Panhandle October 8.

The group planned a tour of Carson county homes for October 16. The tour is being planned by the education committee of the Carson County Home Demonstration club.

Refreshments were served to the following club members: Mesdames C. C. Coleman, W. H. Harris, L. Z. Rhodes, C. E. Clark, W. W. Jones, and Mesdames Cornwall.

Ivanette Brown And Frank Hewitt Wed In Skellytown

SKELLYTOWN — (Special) — Mrs. Ivanette Brown became the bride of Frank Hewitt in a ceremony held recently in the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Howard Patton, Skellytown.

Rev. Moore of the Calvary Baptist church of Borger read the double-ring ceremony against a background of candelabra and gladioli.

The bride was dressed in a blue suit and wore a corsage of pink roses. The bridegroom wore a black dress with a corsage of white carnations.

A reception followed the informal ceremony. Mrs. Charles Hewitt, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, presided at the bunch bowl, and Mrs. Homer Jones served the three-tiered wedding cake.

For a wedding trip to Mississippi, Mrs. Hewitt wore a green suit with black accessories. The couple will live in Skellytown.

Attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Everett Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. Buck Durning and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hand of Skellytown.

Sisters Found Business On Fact That Most Women Have Babies

By DOROTHY ROE AP Women's Editor

Half the people in the world are women, and most of them sooner or later have babies. Starting with this well-authenticated premise, Elsie Frankfurt, a young Texan as smart as she is pretty, built up a business which has just won for her a unique honor.

Elsie has been elected the first woman member of the Young Presidents' organization, one of the most exclusive clubs in America.

Each member must be president of a firm doing an annual gross business of a million dollars and all are under 39.

Elsie, 33, is president of a Dallas maternity dress firm whose only other stockholders are her two sisters, Edna Ravkin and Louise Garner. The firm's annual gross is $2,000,000.

The three girls started their business in 1938, when the eldest was barely out of her teens and the youngest still in pigtails. Edna, the first to marry, was expecting her first baby, and Elsie, recently graduated from SMU, couldn't stand the way her sister looked, which, she says, was something like an unmade bed.

So she designed a skirt, now known as the windowpane skirt, which has sold 250,000 copies to date. Edna wore the skirt, her pregnant friends saw, admired and demanded one like it, so the girls rented a Dallas store, hired three seamstresses and set themselves up in business on a total capital of $500. Says Elsie: "We just made the one pattern in all kinds of fabrics and colors, and after six months we had $5,000."

With this bonanza in hand, the three girls decided to tackle the wholesale market, despite dire predictions from their father, who was shocked by their care-free business methods. The girls didn't borrow any money, didn't ask credit from banks or suppliers, and generally carried on in an independent manner completely out of character for well-bred Southern girls.

With their profits they bought 10 machines and during the first year did a business of $100,000, still making just the one style of maternity dress.

Asked how they managed to hire salesmen to work up a national distribution to stores, Elsie said: "Oh, another of our friends was pregnant, so she wore the dress to New York and sold it to all the big buying offices. Before we got the machines installed we had orders from 60 big stores all over the country."

Today, in addition to their manufacturing firm, the sisters have eight retail stores — two in Dallas and others in Indianapolis, Detroit, Cleveland, Los Angeles, Beverly Hills and San Francisco.

Nowadays you can get dates in vacuum-packed jars so that they retain their original freshness indefinitely; these are sold at many super-markets. The dates in these packs are domestic-grown.

GE Cloaks News Of TV Rocket

NEW YORK — (AP) — General Electric has shrouded news of a rocket that may be used someday for instant television from any place in the world.

Robert P. Haviland, a General Electric engineer, at the last minute cancelled a paper on the rocket.

His rocket paper had been passed by Washington as no violation of security, even though a similar rocket is being studied for military use.

A General Electric public relations official said GE had acted on its own for "internal reasons." The firm explained that its radio and television engineers objected to Haviland's report as too speculative at a time when ordinary television relay is not fully solved.

Haviland is project engineer on the rocket which was shot to the record altitude of 250 miles at White Sands, New Mexico, in 1949.

West was not cured of doubling by this fortunate result.

After ruffing the second diamond, South should have led a trump to dummy's ace, disdaining the finesse. He could then overtake dummy's jack of spades with his own queen, forcing out West's king. Nothing could prevent him from regaining the lead with the ace of hearts to draw the rest of the trumps. Then dummy's clubs would furnish enough tricks to make the contract with an overtrick.

Texans Lauded By Secretary

FORT WORTH — (AP) — Farmers and livestock men in Texas are responsible in a large measure for the favorable agricultural situation in the nation today, Agriculture Secretary Brannan asserts.

Brannan said "when we plan an all-round job to meet a challenge in these times we count on Texas heavily."

"We view with pleasure the great progress of the American farmer in the last year when production amounted to four percent more than the previous year," Brannan said. "Our farmers and cattlemen met all of the goals which the department feels were needed, and they did it without tax amortization and commodity guarantees."

The job done by the agricultural interests of the nation has made price stabilization except beef, Brannan asserted. He expressed confidence that increased production by Texas cattlemen soon will help bring about a solution to the beef price problem.

Students Rank High In Tests

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Selective service said yesterday 63 percent of 339,000 college students who took examinations this year for military deferment got grades of 70 or better.

This is one criteria for deferment. Another is the student's standing in his class — upper half of the freshman class, upper two-thirds of the sophomore class or upper three-fourths of the junior class. Seniors are eligible for deferment if they are in the upper half of their class or score 75 or better in the selective service tests.

Selective service director Lewis B. Hershey reminded students who have not yet taken tests they will have opportunities to do so at over 1000 centers throughout the country on Dec. 13 and April 24. They must get application blanks for the tests at draft boards.

British Heiress Gives Up Castle Because Of High-Cost Of Dying

LONDON — (AP) — An heiress is giving up her 190-room marble castle in Wales because of the high cost of dying in Britain.

Lady Janet Harper, 28, agreed yesterday to turn over to the national trust, which acts as government caretaker for some of the country's historic homes, her 104-year-old Penrhyn castle in part payment of inheritance taxes.

Janet, a slender brunette, had been living in four rooms of the castle with her husband, a London lawyer.

She inherited the massive marble mansion in 1949 from her uncle, Lord Penrhyn.

With it came 40,000 acres of land in north Wales, a slate quarry employing 1,200 persons, a seven mile railway linking the quarry with Port Penrhyn, dozens of farms — and a financial headache.

Death duties (inheritance tax) on the estate amounted to about $1,479,800.

Janet is giving the government the castle and land in lieu $1,022,000 payable against the death tax. She is keeping the quarry. Janet and her husband have

Communist Troops Swell Near Border

HONG KONG — (AP) — The Independent newspaper Wah Kiu Yat Po says divisions of Red China's Fourth Field army have moved into Kwangsi Province, swelling the total of Communist troops gathered near the Indochina border by about 20,000 men.

The dispatch said units of the 10th, 11, 12th and 13th Armies of the Red second field army had deployed along the border in a manner that would pose a pincer threat to French forces in northeast Indochina. A Red army usually contains three divisions.

The Chinese are reported staying on their own side of the border. There have been rumors that Peiping intends to intervene in the fighting between French troops and Indochinese rebels by sending "volunteers" across the border as was done in Korea. There has been no proof of intervention.

Don't Go Overboard It May Be Costly

West doubled four spades in the hand shown today because he didn't like the sound of the bidding. The opponents had crawled up to their game contract with great uncertainty, so there was a fair chance that they were overboard, and practically no chance that either of them could afford a redouble.

If West had opened a heart South would have been set with out any trouble. Not being clairvoyant, West opened the king of diamonds. He then continued with the queen of diamonds, and South ruffed.

At this point the contract was cold if South merely played it properly. But South was sure that West had the king of trumps for his double, and he wanted to cure West of the annoying habit of doubling him.

Actress' Daughter Plans To Marry

PARIS — (AP) — Pretty Michelle Farmer, 19, flies to New York this week to tell mama about her plans to marry Turkish-born Robert Amon, 37.

Mama is Gloria Swanson, star of "Sunset Boulevard." She hasn't met Amon, managing director of a French film company, and all she knows about him is what she's heard in phone calls and letters from Michelle.

"Of course, mother is reserving her judgment," said Michelle. "That's pretty normal for mothers. But she has faith in my judgment."

Michelle, whose father is Irish sportsman Michael Farmer, met Bob at the airport when she arrived in Paris May 9 to do "Monte Carlo Baby" — her first film part — which ever since then, she said.

Bob, who has wavy dark hair and has a picturesque history of war-time service in the French Foreign legion, chimed in: "It was what the French call a thunder clap."

Mussolini's Body Claimed Recovered

ROME — (AP) — The big Milan news magazine Tempo (Time) has said the body of Benito Mussolini, recovered from grave-robbers five years ago, now is buried in the wall of a 14th century Pavia monastery.

The government maintained silence.

The Fascist leader's body has been a pawn of politics since he was shot down by partisans while trying to flee to Germany in 1945, and hacked and hanged by the heels from a lamppost in Milan's Piazzale Loreto. His mistress' body was similarly handled.

The government has sought to keep his body from becoming a shrine for any reborn Fascism and has kept his present burial place a secret.

Recent reports that the government intended soon to return Mussolini's body to his family were denied bitterly less than a month ago by Edda Ciano, his daughter. She said:

"We do not even know where his poor bones lie. The government which calls itself Christian (the Christian Democrats) is afraid that if his burial place were known my father's grave would be covered with two many flowers."

The body first disappeared in 1919 — taken by grave-robbers — in two sacks bearing written identifications. Tempo says it was recovered by police after being turned over to a monastery by two young men who asked for a burial.

Former AEC Head Raps Handling Of

SALT LAKE CITY — (AP) — David Lilienthal says the government's methods of handling atomic development for industrial purposes are "monopolistic" and "not our way of doing things."

Lilienthal, former chairman of the Atomic Energy commission, made that utterance Friday. With the proposed $8,000,000,000 annually pouring into development, he said, atomic energy will become a nationalized industry.

That, he added, would result, in time, in nationalizing a large segment of American industry.

Lilienthal said "there has been too much loose talk already in Washington."

South therefore finessed dummy's jack of trumps. The finesse succeeded, and South thereby lost his contract.

Declarer quite properly took dummy's ace of trumps next but then had the problem of getting back to his hand to draw the rest of the trumps. He couldn't afford to ruff another diamond, since that would reduce him to the same number of trumps as West; and West would be able to lead still another diamond when he got in with the king of trumps. South therefore had to get to his hand with the ace of hearts to knock out West's king of spades.

Now West could lead a heart, and East had two heart tricks to set the contract. Of course

Pastor Outlines Reasons For Decline Of Africa Missions

Three reasons for the decline of missions in Africa were given by Rev. Lyle Albright, pastor of Church of the Brethren, who spoke at the Kiwanis meeting Friday.

The effect of World War II, a revival of the Mohammedan religion and a low ebb in American faith for the validity of missions are principal causes for decline, he said. However, Albright added the trend today is toward a larger church attendance, which he believes may revive faith in missions throughout the world.

In 1945, Albright and his wife went to Africa as missionaries but returned to America after a year because of illness. He stressed that "religion is the point of no return. The only way is forward, and we must convince people in other lands that Christianity is the path to take."

A silver award was presented Herman Whatley for his service to the club as president in 1951. Women honored for having wedding anniversaries in October were Mrs. Malcolm Denson, Clyde Oswald, George Thompson, Foster Elder, Bob Addington and J. B. Massa.

Sooner Governor Blames Bad Highways For State's Decline

Members of the Pampa delegation attending the opening of U.S. Hwy. 60 through Vici, Okla., were among 25 delegates from several cities invited to a private luncheon with Gov. Murray Johnston during ceremonies there.

Shortly before cutting the tape across the newly paved highway west of Vici, Gov. Johnston told the Hwy. 60 Assn. he was deeply interested in building permanent roads in western Oklahoma and blamed the state's lack of paved highways for Oklahoma's 100,000 loss in population.

He said Oklahoma boys are trained in various phases of industry. Finding no opportunities to follow that work in Oklahoma they move to other states. Good roads would help bring industry to Oklahoma and allow residents

Truman Backers Scheme To Hold Uprisers In Demo Ranks

AUSTIN — (AP) — President Truman's Texas backers today made plans for a corral to hold some of the state's bucking anti-Truman Democrats in the fair deal pasture.

The "Volunteer Democrats," a liberal faction of Texas' usually-split Democratic party, heard Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan address a political breakfast. Then they began organizing to stamp out the renewed threat of a Dixiecrat uprising here.

The state's biggest Democrat — Gov. Allan Shivers — wasn't having any breakfast with the "volunteers." He was in Dallas for the Texas-Oklahoma football game.

The breakfast apparently was blessed by top-level administration leaders. First word of it came out of Washington, and Speaker Sam Rayburn's friends were among the chief cooks. It's all an unusually-early warm-up in the usual struggle for control of precinct, county, state and national conventions to be held from early May through September.

National Committeeman Wright Morrow and State Executive Chairman R. E. Wheat, along with Shivers, didn't eat with the group, either. All got belated invitations, but said no thanks. Shivers and Morrow are no friends of Truman. They have challenged the "volunteer Democrats" claim to the title "loyal Democrats," and say they are loyal as anyone to party principles.

The "volunteer Democrats" frankly fear the party organization under Shivers, and Morrow might go so far as to join in a 1952 Southern revolt against President Truman, similar to that of 1948.

Texas didn't go with the Southern bolters in '48. Close associates of the Texas party organization's leadership assert they will carry on a last-ditch fight against Truman — right to the brink, but short of, bolting.

The Texas delegation to the national convention in 1948 voted for Senator Richard Russell or Georgia as the Demo ratie presidential nominee. Then, in November, 1948, Texas took Truman two to one over the combined Republican and Dixiecrat candidates.

Secretary Brannan was to speak later Saturday to Texas social and legislative conference. This is a group of militant liberals among Texas Democrats, representing labor, pension, farm and veterans groups long-associated with the Democratic party in Texas.

Irish Quarterbacks Seek New Members

SHAMROCK — (Special) — The Quarterback club, organized a week ago, began a concerted drive for members, after 20 answered the opening call.

About 45 had been signed up by the end of last week, Pat Ryan, secretary, announced. Teams Captains Jack Sims and Dennis Ward head an equally-divided group and the one which gets the most new members will be guests at banquet to be staged by the losing group.

Members saw a film of the Texas Tech-Rice game of 1950 at the meeting last week. They hope to get the Notre Dame-SMU game of 1949 for the next meeting Monday night.

Army Gives Red Casualty Figures

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Army has estimated total enemy casualties in Korea through Oct. 2 at 1,346,723. This represents an increase of 21,767 in a 12 day period.

Battle casualties for both North Korean and Chinese Communist forces accounted for 15,073 of the rise. Non-battle losses were placed at 214,092 or 5,673 more than were reported through Sept. 20.

Las Vegas Buzzes With Excitement Over A-Bomb Tests

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — (AP) — While the Army tacked up "Don't talk" signs in saloons and gambling halls, this town buzzed with excitement and speculation over the forthcoming atom bomb tests in the Nevada badlands.

Already the Civil Aeronautics authority has issued warnings to within a 200-mile radius of Las Vegas. In Carson City Friday, top Atomic Energy Commission officials spent 90 minutes in conference with the governor of Nevada.

With the day of the blast obviously drawing near, Army intelligence tightened up its security network in an attempt to prevent the spread of rumors, founded or otherwise.

To guard against security leaks by any of the 5000 troops from Camp Detrick who are Army posted in bars and other public places.

"Whistle while you work — but don't talk. The enemy may be listening," the signs read.

All this preparation was the harbinger of history's first atomic war games, confidently expected in this city of odds-makers to occur early next week. About 1000 soldiers will participate in the test.

The CAA warned all pilots who may be aloft near the blast site to "be on the alert for special notices which will restrict flights in certain areas in the interest of safety."

The AEC has ordered all live-stock removed from the region and has warned all unauthorized persons to keep away.

The overall total included 185,925 prisoners, an increase of 1,021. Announced U.S. battle casualties through Oct. 5 totaled 89,382.

Russia Said More Interested In Keeping Iran Oil In Iran

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Russia probably is more interested in keeping Iran's oil from western Europe than in getting much of it into Russia.

That's the view here. The basis for it is the physical difficulty of moving oil from Iran to Russia.

"The Russians probably are not as interested in buying any large quantities of Iranian oil as they are in keeping the crude from some other countries," one official says.

Movement of crude oil in large quantities requires pipelines or tankers.

Theoretically, Russia could build a pipeline through the mountains and over rugged terrain to Iran. But oil men say this would be a tremendous undertaking — one that would take two or three years even if Russia had the steel.

T he belief is that Russia doesn't have enough tankers to move any great quantity of oil. One official said Russia has nothing to approach the fleet of 300 tankers which the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. pulled out of Iranian waters when it was forced by the Iranian government to give up the big Abadan refinery.

Transportation by motor truck or aircraft would be slow and expensive.

The Petroleum Administration for Defense (PAD) says the task of making up the deficit in the world market caused by the shutdown of the Anglo-Iranian refinery is moving along better than expected.

Mid-Eastern crude production from other countries is up 270,000 barrels daily.

Foreign demands have been reduced about 75,000 barrels daily through restricting supplies to so me customers, foregoing seasonal stock build-ups in some countries, avoiding expansion of marketing outlets and drawing on stocks.

The outlook still is not bright for increasing the supply of tetra-ethyl lead, used in gasoline to curb motor knocking.

The National Production Administration cut the supply of lead tetra-ethyl producers in September. The October allocation is slightly over that of September.

The Office of Price Stabilization recently put a ceiling of 19 cents a pound on foreign primary lead.

PAD said producers had been paying 24 or 25 cents a pound for it.

There have been complaints from manufacturers, it said, that foreign producers are inclined to hold the product rather than to sell it for 19 cents, thus complicating the domestic problem.

About one-third of the supply comes from abroad, one-third from secondary or scrap metal and one-third from domestic primary lead, PAD explained.

OPS is expected to put a ceiling on secondary lead shortly.

Just what the effect will be cannot be determined.

If production of tetra-ethyl lead declines, PAD said, it is possible the rating of civilian motor fuel may have to be cut as much as three octane counts.

The Senate Interior committee may meet Tuesday in an effort to act on some form of legislation for control of oil-rich tidelands.

There is some strong sentiment for action that will put a bill before the Senate but there is little possibility of final congressional action on tidelands legislation this year.

The House has passed a bill to give Texas and other states title.

Air Force Lists Week's Plane Loss

TOKYO — (AP) — The Fifth Air force said Saturday it lost 10 lighter planes, one an F-86 sabre jet, in Korea in the week.

The sabre jet was shot down in a clash with Russian-type MIG-15 jets over northwest Korea. The pilot was rescued.

The nine other planes were lost to Communist ground fire. Fifth Air force jets tangled with MIG-15s on three days during the period, the Air Force said. The Allied pilots reported they destroyed one MIG-15, probably destroyed two and damaged 12.

Atomic-Age Youngsters Say Tunnel Of Love Is Too Tame

By HAL BOYLE
 NEW YORK — (AP) — Remember floating with your sweetie through "the tunnel of love?" Well, the tunnel of love at Playland, a million-dollar amusement park at Rockaway Beach, is now called "The Atom Bomb Shelter" and "To Hell and Back."

One section shows a typical atom bomb shelter of the future. In the second section the boat glides through the eerie caverns of hell, past weird scenes of torture and horror.

"But none of the kids under 14 are scared at all," said A. Joseph Geist, president of the park.

"There is an absence of fear in children today. Nothing frightens them. It shows up more in adults."

The re-naming of the popular old "Tunnel of Love" is typical of a drastic change going on in the old-fashioned amusement park. The simple thrills that excited the kids yesterday bore the children of today. They want something more modern — a la Buck Rogers.

"We are living in an atomic age," said Geist. "And the children are responsive to it. They know all about atom bombs, rockets, space ships and Geiger counters. And you can't fight their interest in things like that. It's there.

"The problem for amusement park designers is to try to figure out what is in the modern kid's mind. And, believe me, that takes a lot of figuring."

He told of one 4-year-old boy who rode discontentedly on a merry-go-round, then said: "This is all right, but where is the atomic fire engine? I want to ride on it."

Geist said many small fry endure the children's rides only to please their parents, and immediately demand to go on the grownup rides. These now bear such futuristic titles as the Atomic, the cyclotron, the atomic ray booster, the buzz bomb and the H-bomb rocket, a 60-mile-an-hour whirl for father and son.

A big favorite replacing the oldtime ferris wheel is the new flying saucer, in which the children are whirled in revolving buckets.

And what happened to the shooting gallery? It's the bazooka gun range now.

"The children still have a love for animals," said Geist, and sighed.

"But as for everything else — they've gone atomic."

SENTINELS OF DESTRUCTION — Pillars of ruined Seoul public museum rise above the weed-encrusted site as mute reminders of the battles for the South Korean capital.

Price Pattern May Be Set By Unions, Steel

NEW YORK — (AP) — The wage and price pattern for next year may well be set in the upcoming tug-of-war between the union and the steel companies. Steel has been known to set such a national pattern in other years.

Steelmakers last week put the government on notice that they want the price of steel—which plays a part in the cost of countless things you buy and use—raised now. They say rising costs of their own production has made the present price of steel too low. This price increase would be before any possible hike in wages.

Union leaders won't be satisfied with a wage increase that would fit into the government's present wage policy. This would give them four cents an hour more. When negotiations start next month, the industry expects the union to ask 15 cents an hour or more. If the union gets it, the present government wage formula would be blown apart.

The steel companies, who say

Polio Dips To Its Lowest Ebb

AUSTIN — (AP) — Polio dipped to its lowest ebb in Texas in months under last week's cooler temperatures.

They deserve a steel price increase right now, are certain to want to add onto prices a further rise in costs due to higher wages.

If the price of steel goes higher, so will the cost of making autos and stoves, of building bridges and apartment houses, of making tanks and ships.

And if the wages of steel workers go above the present national pattern — and the union contends that a hike is justified because of the rise in the cost of living and adds that steel earnings are large enough to bear it — workers in other industries will quite understandably want to fall in line.

The State Health department reported 55 cases for the week ending Oct. 6. It was 11 cases less than the previous week.

"The cool weather has put insects into hibernation," said State Health Officer George W. Cox. He indicated the dread disease was probably on the skids for the winter.

Major trouble spots last week were Dallas county with 9 cases, Nueces county with five and Bexar, Harris and Tarrant counties with four each. Midland and Orange counties reported three each.

Other counties reporting included the following: Ellis and Henderson 2 each; Coleman, Ector, Erath, Fannin, Hays, Hidalgo, Howard, Jones, Knox, Lee, McLennan, Maverick, Moore, Panola, Randall, Rusk, Wichita, Wilson and Winkler, 1 each.

Examinations For Civil Service Posts To Be Held Nov. 17

Merit System council has scheduled a new series of examinations for positions with the State Dept. of Public Welfare and Texas Employment commission.

Tests are to be given for stenographer, typist, clerk, key punch operator, tabulating equipment operator, senior child welfare worker and farm placement interviewer.

Exams are to be given Nov. 17. Applications must be postmarked not later than midnight, Oct. 27, 1951.

Admission to these examinations vary from high school graduation with special training or experience, to advanced college training. In all cases it is possible to substitute experience for at least a part of the required schooling.

Area Operations Decline As Locations, Completions Fall

Operations in the Panhandle field declined last week as new locations dropped to 12 from the 17 reported the previous seven-day period and completions fell to 11. Completions for the week ended Oct. 6 totalled 35.

This past week oil potential rose slightly to 491 barrels over 409 barrels reported the preceding week.

Of the completions last week, seven were new oilers and four wells were plugged. There were no gas completions officially reported by the railroad commission. The new Sinclair gasser in Roberts county has not undergone commission test. Tests are expected this week.

Wildcat Prospects In Area Brighten

Phillips Pet. Co. had strong gas odor from its Gray county wildcat and Sinclair O&G Co. added another million and a half feet to its test in Ochiltree county by Saturday as wildcat prospects in the Panhandle brightened.

Operators acidized with 500 gallons of mud acid and 500 gallons of solvent in Sinclair's No. 7-G Lips in Ochiltree. They acidized through perforations in two-inch tubing from 8574 to 8514 feet. The well gauged 12 million feet of gas.

The Phillips well had a strong gas odor in its No. 1 Hobart Ranch well. Operators are attempting to regain circulation at about 5500 feet. The well is a light hole.

Earlier in the week, Sinclair plugged back to the Atoka sand in its No. 8 Lips and perforated with 196 shots from 8574 to 8514 feet and tested when the Morrow sand showed only 39,000 feet of gas on test at 8540-86 feet.

The well flowed 10.45 million through 2-inch tubing. Shut-in pressure was 2100 pounds. The thick section of the Atoka at this point is unbroken. Others at this point are broken. Others at this point are broken. Others at this point are broken.

More Billions To Be Invested So Industry Can Meet Its Goal

By WELDON HILL
HOUSTON — (AP) — Some $17,000,000,000 to $18,000,000,000 is going to have to be pumped into the oil industry if it is to achieve its domestic production goal.

Oilmen say the industry is investing $3,000,000,000 annually in an expansion program. They say more will be required as new projects go into operation.

On this, the first day of "Oil Progress Week," the industry is producing better than 6,300,000 barrels daily. The stepped up goal set by government officials calls for an increase of some 250,000 barrels daily.

Oil men are confident of the industry's progress. But they cite some obstacles. "The biggest obstacles," they say, is a steel shortage bureaucratic control.

Hines H. Baker of Houston, president of Humble Oil & Refining Co. said: "In my opinion, the United States will continue to have adequate fuel supplies for the foreseeable future and the necessary supplies of natural petroleum if there is no interference with economic incentives and tax provisions which stimulate search for new reserves."

Dr. Robert E. Wilson, chairman of Standard Oil (Ind), says: "Given reasonable incentives, the petroleum industry can be expected to make the huge investments of capital necessary to provide increasing supplies of oil and gas for our many requirements."

Reds Show Interest In Royal Navy
BURRA FIRTH, Scotland — (AP) — A Russian fishing fleet, which moved quietly into British waters when the royal Navy holds its exercises, turned up on schedule off the Shetland Isles in the middle of a new Naval maneuver.

Thirteen Soviet vessels, presumably in search of herring, anchored in Burra Firth off the Shetland Islands of Unist and refused to get involved in any conversations. There were two parent ships of about 10,000 tons and 11 smaller vessels, all flying the hammer and sickle.

The royal Navy has had 40 ships, including two aircraft carriers, a cruiser, destroyers, frigates, submarines and auxiliary vessels maneuvering in the north western approaches of the Shetlands since last Wednesday.

Naval observers said a similar fleet of Soviet fishing vessels turned up quietly in May, 1950, in the English channel just as Naval exercises were scheduled to start. They came back again last April when another set of Naval maneuvers got under way.

The site where the Russians had anchored was not in the path of the Naval vessels now on maneuvers.

the freedom is the one thing the oil industry must have if the progress of the people through petroleum is to continue.

"Without freedom from bureaucratic control, oil's service would surely wither," he added. P. C. Spender, president of Sinclair, said "an unsatisfactory political and economic climate is the greatest hazard of all to the future of the oil industry."

L. S. Wescot, president of the Pure Oil Co., says he has no doubt but what the oil industry will continue to provide adequate supplies of oil.

"Every gloomy prophecy concerning the industry's ability to produce has been proved false," he declared.

Doctor Shows Space Hazards
NEW YORK — (AP) — Amazing heat out where interplanetary ships would fly has been described to a space travel symposium at the Hayden planetarium. It is the first American space symposium.

After your ship left the protection of the earth's atmosphere, your danger would be getting too hot rather than cold. The heat is from the naked rays of the sun. Only the very best reflecting metals on the ship's skin would keep the passengers from unbearable heat. Even the heat from bodies of other passengers would be uncomfortable.

This heat problem was reported by Dr. Heinz Haber, of the U. S. Air Force School of Aviation Medicine, Randolph Field, Texas. He was one of the leading German scientists of World War II.

Another trouble, Haber said, would be your lack of weight. "You would feel as if you were falling into a bottomless pit. There would be a lot of surprises. A slight push with hands or feet might catapult you across the cabin."

There is likely to be a new form of seasickness, known as space sickness. This, Haber said, could incapacitate an entire crew.

Our flyers, said Haber, already are up at altitudes where there is only 13 seconds to remain conscious if an accident decompresses the air in the cabin.

Meat On Table More Plentiful
WASHINGTON — (AP) — The weather is putting more meat on dinner tables during the next six or eight months than might normally be expected.

This prospect was indicated by yesterday's agriculture department report which said early freezes had caught quite a little corn before it reached maturity. So grain cannot be stored and must be used quickly to prevent loss.

To use this grain farmers will have to feed it quickly — that is, during the fall and early winter. That means the volume of feeding — and hence the volume of meat production — will be larger than might have been expected if all the corn had matured before frost and was of storage quality.

The department report said the volume of all crops this year will equal that of 1949, which was the second largest on record. Because of freezes in the corn belt and dry weather in parts of the cotton belt, the overall volume declined slightly during September.

Nevertheless, the combined output of crops and livestock and livestock products this year will set a new record, topping the 1949 peak by perhaps two or three percent, because of the large production of cattle, hogs and poultry.

Giant Plastic Balloons Flown By Air Force
WASHINGTON — (AP) — Some giant-sized plastic balloons visible at 100,000 feet on clear days are being sent aloft by the Air Force in its research into conditions in the stratosphere.

The project started last May, and two balloons are being floated weekly now. When the operation gets into full gear, three will be sent aloft every day.

The Air Force put out this information yesterday. The balloons, it said, should not be confused with flying saucers, of which military officials say there aren't any.

Heavyweight Berry
LETHBRIDGE, Alta. — (AP) — It would take a lot of cream to do justice to the strawberry that Mrs. George Halverson picked in her garden at Cosdale. It weighed three-quarters of a pound, and was 3 3/8 inches in circumference.

Hope's 2nd Year On GI Circuit; Wonders If Army Will Up Rank

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Bob Hope this week begins his second decade on the GI circuit and wonders if the Army will promote him. "You can't see me," I still have the same rank I had in the last war," Hope moaned today. "Chicken, first class."

Bob cannot remember how many shows he has put on for servicemen in every corner and battlefield of the world since starting out months before Pearl Harbor.

For instance, the notation on his record for the summer of 1943 shows only "English tour."

An associate said Hope covered 1300 miles in 11 days to be in 33 places. The number of shows? Who knows? Hope has logged nearly 2,000 miles, mostly by air, in the 10 years — and at personal sacrifice. In 1949, he planned to spend his first Christmas in years at home with his wife, Dolores, and their four children. A general wrote Bob of the lonely Christmas in prospect for the GI's in Alaska. Bob, Mrs. Hope and the two older children went to Alaska.

"My kids never really had a white Christmas before," commented Hope. Hope will celebrate his decade in service by leaving Monday for two weeks' tour of Army and Navy bases in Texas and Mississippi.

Did he rest over the week end before starting the tour? Yes, except for rehearsing and doing his first West Coast television show, "Finish, Son of Paleface," movie he is making at Paramount; and help select the winning letter in a contest for another Hope movie.

Hope will spar a few rounds with Jack Dempsey on his TV show today.

TV Emphasizes Comics' Quirks
By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Are you a coin-jangler? A hair-curler? A lint-duster? Each of us has some idiosyncrasy. Comedians have them, too. A comic, who will have to remain nameless, was discussing the habits of his colleagues last week.

"In pictures, you can cover them up with cutting or retakes," he observed. "In radio it doesn't matter, you can't see them. But in television you can't miss them. A comedian is right there in full view of millions of people. The slightest movement isn't overlooked."

"Even the most polished and veteran performers have some habits they can't hide. You'd never think that Milton Berle is ever at a loss for a gag, but he can be. How can you tell? He lets out a growling noise that sounds like 'urrtrr' and it distorts his mouth in a funny way."

"Sid Caesar is a cougher. He lets out a big cough every now and then. Jerry Lester combs his hair. Bob Hope draws his little finger over his eyebrow. George Jessel lays his index finger on the side of his nose. Jack Benny sticks his hand in his pocket. 'Me? I scratch. I'll be in the middle of a routine and find that I'm scratching my elbow or my ear.'"

Who knows perhaps some smart psychiatrist could make a thriving practice of ridding TV comics of their quirks.

American GI Rich In Comparison To Other Soldiers
WASHINGTON — (AP) — "Seventy-five lousy dollars a month!" Heard that complaint recently from any young American who has received greetings from his draft board?

Well, if it's any consolation, the $75-a-month U. S. recruit is a rich man compared with the draftee in any other country of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

His British comrad-in-arms starts "soldiering" at $16.80 a month. The Greek conscript does next best — $10.08.

And so it goes on down the line to the Turkish draftee, who's mustered in at — honest, this is not a typographical error — 11 cents a month.

These figures, supplied by U. S. military authorities, were made public by a house appropriations subcommittee in connection with the $7,482,527,790 foreign aid bill which goes before the House today. The spread between the pay of the American fighting man and his overseas counterpart will be even greater if Congress approves the ten per cent across-the-board increase which the defense department has asked.

Army Worms Are Moving Westward

WACO — (AP) — Herds of army worms, which have already devastated crop lands in East Texas, are blitzing peanut, oats and other crops in Central Texas. The invasion of the little leaf-eating worms in Bell county was termed by agricultural agent W. D. Seals of Bell county as "the worst ever seen."

Seals said the worms attacking oats and pasture lands are causing heavy damage. Every farmer I have talked to said that he has army worms on his land or that his neighbors have them," Seals declared.

J. C. Patterson, agricultural agent for McLennan county, reports army worm damage is widespread and that the oat crop is hard hit by the leaf-eaters. The damage to the oat crop threatens to rob dairymen of much needed winter pasture. Patterson is urging a poisoning campaign.

Peanut crops in adjoining Limestone county are the principal target of the worms, Agriculture Agent M. H. Brown reports. Unless the army worms are killed off, another batch will hatch out in two weeks from eggs being laid now.

SPECTACULAR ACTION AT SEA—One of the most spectacular deck-crash pictures ever taken, this photo just released by the Defense Department shows an F8F fighter plane splitting apart aboard the U. S. S. Princeton somewhere at sea. The unnamed pilot, anticipating a wave-off, got a signal to cut his motor. He dove for the deck, hitting at an angle and striking an arresting wire so violently it broke the plane in two. Front half of the plane churned through three barriers before finally coming to a halt. (U. S. Navy photo from NEA-Acme.)
