

Each Community Puts Own Interpretation On Yuletide

By HAL BOYLE
 NEW YORK — (AP) — In every community across America something particular happens to put flame to the Christmas spirit. In Manhattan it is the annual erection of a great Norway spruce at great expense and at up with prodigious effort by the merry little elves of Radio City.

It takes about a week for the elves to finish hanging the lights in the tree and check the insurance liability of any late way-warder who might accidentally short circuit his posterity by wandering through it.

But these are Squire Rockefeller's problems. The first view of his big fat green tree on the horizon means Christmas just as much to the big city as the first obnoxious bugles in spring.

Once that tree shows up the sidewalk people let go. They begin to believe in green boughs — good will to man... peace on earth... and you-what-you-want-and-you-don't-have-to-pay-until-February.

It stirs the masses to buying and buying. It does the same thing to the classes. The benison of Christmas cheer reaches to all.

There is a gladness about it to most, a high-jump on the spirit. But there is also a sadness about it to many.

For some men look down from their tall towers at the Christmas tree and it reminds them they have to start planning for the next year.

"I guess we'd better make a Christmas tree," mused a vice president, "muses a man looking down on the tree. "And that means we'll have to retire old Job O-Steady. Hell, business is business — and you can't please everybody."

He feels bad about it, but that's the way it has to be. He has to do his job as he sees it. Moodily he watches the Christmas tree going up — and he wonders if someday it will signal his own farewell.

There has to be a signal for the end of one year and the birth of a new year coming up. It is better that this signal be the raising of a tree than the lowering of a tree.

MORE PRECIOUS THAN RUBIES

THE STORY: Alma Conroy, employed by the exclusive jewel firm of Trumbull & Company, believes her husband Tommy when he says he has been promoted to a responsible, but confidential, position as the firm for which he also works. He presents Alma with expensive furs as a gift. But Joe Denton, a friend, tells Alma that there has been another inside robbery at The House. No suspicion has entered Alma's mind as she goes to lunch with her grandfathers, Old Victor Blanchard, who has been employed half a century by The House, and who recommended that Mr. Muncie, the head, place his own son in general charge. The son, Brighton Muncie, was the one who gave Tommy his new job.

VI
 WHEN Alma Conroy and Old Victor Blanchard arrived at the restaurant, Joe Denton was already there. He sprang to his feet and pulled out the chair next to him while her grandfather sank into his accustomed place beside the white-haired, beautiful Madame Lesbinka, head appraiser of jewels.

Her fine eyes, still dark and sparkling, lit up at the sight of Victor. She had been in love with him for half a century, and Alma often wondered why these two had never married. The wife Old Victor had lost had been nothing like so beautiful as White Marie, as the store called her. But Gran' Bijou had possessed a quality that men never forget.

The restaurant was one of those highly respectable, but moderate-priced places. It was located across the street from the House of Trumbull and groups from the different departments had their special luncheon tables there.

This noon there was an unusual excitement evident in the group. Mr. Smith, from Silverware, was holding the floor.

"It's true!" he was saying with low emphasis. "The Head's son— Brighton Muncie!"

Old Victor caught the name with strained eagerness. "What of young Bright?" he asked. "Something good?"

"I wish it were!" White Marie's rich voice was full of regret. "But perhaps it is only gossip."

"Where there's smoke there's fire!" Mr. Smith insisted piously. "That young good-for-nothing isn't running around with Mysti Marchand to reform her!"

The name of the well-known playgirl interested Alma. Mysti's was a name to conjure with—to conjure up mink coats and jewels, hectic divorces and the hot breath of scandal generally: a high-priced, greedy, dangerous woman.

But so far, to Alma, Mysti Marchand had been just a colorful, rather interesting name.

"So Bright Muncie has been hooked by the golden Mysti," she commented. "That will come high, from what I've heard!"

"Well at least he can buy her jewels wholesale!" said a voice.

"There was a gust of laughter and someone added, "He'll have to go easy, even so. I hear that young Mr. Bright didn't get the raise he asked his daddy for!"

"As assistant manager of the store, Bright should rate the right salary."

"On you know The Head! Muncie would think that 'holding Bright down on money would discipline him. Probably wants Brighton to feel that the honor of a position of trust at The House is reward enough!"

Wonder if Mysti will see it that way?" There was more laughter.

OLD Victor's distress was increasing steadily. "I fear that I am the one who put Bright where you all seem to feel he should not be," said the old man.

"Look you, after those little mistakes about money which this boy made years ago, it was I who persuaded Mr. Muncie that his son might become more serious if given real responsibility. It would be dreadful—mais oui—formidable! If Mr. Muncie were to learn about his son and this woman."

"Well, it's a sure thing nobody here is going to tell him!" Alma looked about her challengingly as she said this and a moment of awkward silence followed.

"Don't worry yourself, Alma," Mr. Smith from Silverware spoke out with dour kindness. "I can't help thinking, though, it's a strange thing that the only discreditable person at The House should be the president's son!"

"His father believes in Bright," said Alma with slow deliberation. "Bright means everything to Mr. Muncie. There isn't any other personal interest in Mr. Muncie's life—so let's stop guessing at things we don't really know about."

Old Victor, his distress still undisguised, slowly nodded his head. It was true. Brighton Muncie did mean everything to the Head that a son could mean to a father.

THE talk drifted around to other matters after that. But there was no discussion of the recent robberies at Trumbull's. The employees had been asked not to speak of them in public and they respected the request as if it had been a military command.

At closing time that afternoon Alma found herself dreading to go home to the empty apartment. She quit a few minutes early, telling herself that it had been a long time since she'd had a look around the ground floor shop.

But that basically honest voice which was the core of her kept whispering that this was merely an excuse to see Joe Denton. She wanted to see Joe alone, to tell him about Tommy's good fortune — and, well, to be with Joe!

But she did not have to go into the shop to find him, after all. When she reached the foyer of the employee's entrance, Joe was coming in from the street.

He hastened to join her, a trifle out of breath, as though he had been running.

"Caught you!" he said with his wonderful smile.

Four Texans Killed In Plane Crash

BINGER, Okla. — (AP) — Four West Texans were killed near here Wednesday night in the crash of their private plane.

They were identified as George Robert Despain, 26, Plainview, the pilot; Claude B. Cook, 27, Plainview; R. G. Bolles, Plainview, and Guy E. Carpenter, 35, Lubbock, by Oklahoma highway patrolmen.

The four were returning from Memphis, Tenn., where they had attended a cotton insect control conference. The plane stopped in Oklahoma City to refuel and was en route to Lubbock to drop off

Carpenter before going on to Plainview. Rescuers recovered identification papers in the plane for five men. Later it was learned that one member of the party, Harry Igo, returned to Plainview in another plane.

The private plane, a four-place Beechcraft Bonanza, was owned by the Plainview Flying service. The bodies were thrown from the plane and were badly mangled. A dust storm had a visibility to five miles.

Larry McCollum, a Binger farmer, reported the crash, the high-altitude rescue.

Byrd And Taft Take Scalpel To Administration

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Sens. Byrd (D-Va.) and Taft (R-Ohio) took a scalpel to the administration Wednesday night in speeches before the American Medical Association.

Taft charged the federal government has "undertaken to regulate all industry and commerce and agriculture," and is threatening to "take over all welfare services through a scheme known as social insurance."

Doctors, said Taft, are justified in opposing this trend "because the key move of the Socialists today is the effort to set up a federal system of socialized medicine."

Byrd warned that "if America is destroyed it will be the result of fiscal irresponsibility of which the present administration is guilty, and which even now is being exploited by political camp followers who would centralize all power and purse control in Washington."

He attacked "the creeping socialism and the scandals which Thomas Jefferson foresaw when he said 'I do verily believe that a consolidated government would become the most corrupt government on earth.'"

Byrd earlier predicted the Democratic South may withhold its electoral college votes if President Truman is renominated.

The senator, long a foe of Truman, said that withholding of the South's electoral votes could throw a close election into the House of Representatives for selection of a President.

Job Placements in Non Agricultural Posts Take Drop

Non-agricultural placements were lower in November due to cold weather and a shortage of material. L. P. Fort, manager of the local Texas Employment commission, said yesterday.

Placements in agricultural jobs were 840 while 208 were placed in non-agricultural lines.

One hundred and eighty six filed claims for unemployment pay in the four-county area of Wheeler, Gray, Roberts and Hemphill. Thirty one of these were filing against other states.

Fort stated that few laborers are idle and prospects are good that near total employment will continue through the winter.

Bridges, roads and other construction labor demands are certain to remain high unless postponed by bad weather. Fort continued. Shortages now exist for stenographers, machinists, iron molders and construction laborers.

LUXURY

Improper assignment of expensive-trained pilots.

The subcommittee called construction of "hotel type" dormitories "most unusual" at a time when, it said, economies are in order.

The subcommittee expressed great concern about training costs and production and procurement difficulties which it said were hampering training.

The report said operations costs at Mather averaged $3,536 per student last July. At Lowry, it said, personnel costs alone amounted to $6,000 per student during a 26-week electronics course.

The subcommittee said it had decided to look further into "these staggering costs" and had begun the probe at Keesler field.

As to production and procurement problems, the report said; TB-50 planes were "not in proper condition" when received at Mather from storage at Boeing Aircraft Co. for training missions, reducing the amount of training which could be carried on.

At the March base, a bomb group had received only two of 20 aircraft authorized.

At a Consolidated-Vultee Aircraft Corp. plant adjacent to Carswell, 31 B-36 bombers were idle because of lack of instruments and other parts.

The report said that waste in the armed services "will occupy by far the greatest portion of the subcommittee's attention for the indefinite future."

"It is a distressing—but inescapable—fact that one of our major shortages is a general lack of frugality, and an enthusiasm for economy on the part of the armed services," it commented.

As one way to combat waste, the subcommittee recommended that the air force use "consciousness" as one factor in rating its officers. The Navy recently adopted this idea at the urging of the preparedness group.

Other recommendations to the air force were that it eliminate excessive food, stocks, halt replacement of serviceable dining room furniture, increase authorized capacity of hospitals to allow for emergencies, and place WAF's of limited service men in administrative jobs.

The subcommittee also urged the secretary of defense to try to standardize barracks for enlisted men in all branches of the armed forces.

The senators reported that at the six air bases they found the

WCTU Bazaar At Canadian

CANADIAN (Special) — The annual bazaar of the Women's Christian Temperance union got under way at noon today and will continue through Saturday.

Meals are being served at the noon and evening hours on both days.

Proceeds from the bazaar are used for the upkeep of the WCTU building, thought to be the only one in the state built and wholly owned by the organization. The building is a community center, and houses Canadian's public library.

The first bazaar was held in 1906, and has been conducted on the first weekend in December every year since, with the exception of 1918 when, instead of having the bazaar, the building was used for an emergency hospital during the flu epidemic of that year.

Mrs. Roy Sheets is in charge of the kitchen today and Mrs. Furman Williams will be in charge Saturday.

Cinderella Drops Maintenance Suit

TORRANCE, Calif. — (AP) — Martha Morris de Vigier, 19-year-old Cinderella bride of a millionaire Swiss industrialist, plans to drop her $10,000 a month separate maintenance suit against him.

And the new Mrs. de Vigier's high school sweetheart, William Sipple, 18, said today he is sure she still loves him. The industrialist, Roland de Vigier, 28, has remained in seclusion since his bride flew home to mother two days ago.

The girl's brother-in-law, Attorney Dudley Gray, said yesterday that legal proceedings will be started to drop the separate maintenance action, filed in San Francisco. "Neither she nor the family wants any of Mr. de Vigier's money or property," he explained.

Maps, pictures and diagrams are being used in the study.

Mayor McCollum said no city council officer has received an offer of help from Dr. Cox.

And anyway, said the mayor, "we prefer to have the advice and opinions of our own county health officers and local sanitation officials because they are familiar with local conditions."

Rails Win Promise Of Rate Hike Review

WASHINGTON (AP) — The railroads have won a promise from the Interstate Commerce commission (ICC) that it will look into their complaint that their latest freight rate increase was inadequate.

Effective last Aug. 28, the ICC granted freight rate increases of nine percent in the East and six percent in the South and West.

But the railroads had asked for a general 15 percent hike. They protested the smaller increases were insufficient because of rising labor and materials costs and requested the ICC to reconsider.

The commission announced yesterday that it would re-open the case. Its decision was taken despite objections voiced by many shippers and several government departments, including the Office of Price Stabilization.

Driver Fined

Courtney H. Baird, Pampa, this morning pleaded guilty in county court to a charge of driving while intoxicated and was fined $200 and costs by Judge Bruce Parker.

Chinese Says Only Half U.S. Missing Gls Are Prisoners

MUNSAN, Korea — (AP) — A Communist correspondent hinted today that no more than half of the 10,000 Americans reported missing in Korea are prisoners of war.

The report came from a Chinese newspaper at Pannunjon, where Allied truce negotiators today opened a major effort to reach agreement on a compromise program for policing an armistice.

The Allies dropped their demand for joint UN-Communist inspection teams. They also told the Reds the question of withdrawing troops from Korea could be "brought up and discussed later." But they said troop withdrawal early in the armistice definitely is out.

Chu Chi-ping, a Communist correspondent covering the armistice negotiations, told Allied newsmen he knew of no war in which more than half of the soldiers listed as missing were prisoners.

"I do not see why the Korean war would be different from other wars in this respect," he said.

Chu referred to the fact that only part of those reported missing in action are taken prisoners. The others are killed in action and their bodies not recovered.

covered. Allied correspondents did not construe his statement as confirming the recent report by Col. James M. Hanley, chief of the J.S. Eighth army's judge advocate's section, that the Reds had slaughtered approximately 6500 American prisoners.

Area Sailor Takes Part in Sea Rescue

A Mobeetie sailor, Hayward Romines, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Romines, was aboard the USS Token when that minesweeper picked up the sole survivor of the foundered yacht "Amphitrite."

The rescue ship picked up the survivor 50 miles from Charleston, N. C., last Friday. Eight other persons died when the "Amphitrite" foundered last Tuesday while sailing from Morehead City, N. C., to the Virgin Islands.

Young Romines entered the service in January, 1951; underwent boot training at Great Lakes, Ill., and was sent to Orange, Texas. Later he was transferred to Charleston and attached to the minesweeping service of the Atlantic fleet.

Civil Service Seeks X-Ray Technicians

The United States Civil Service commission has announced an examination for filling positions paying $2760 yearly in the U. S. public health service.

To qualify, applicants must have had appropriate experience or training in X-ray work. No written test is required. Information and application forms may be obtained from C. W. Stowell at the local post office.

Death Given In Blocher Case

MULESHOE (AP) — Lester Douglas Stevens was given a death sentence yesterday on charges of murdering Joshua Blocher, colorful founder of the town of Progress, Texas, during a 13-cent robbery.

Thomas C. Livesay, 29, like Stevens from Amarillo, remains to be tried on the same charge.

Stevens is a 30-year-old smelter worker.

Blocher, 85, called himself "the old devil of Bailey county." The town he founded once had a population of a few thousand but had dwindled to a scattering of houses along the highway.

Stevens and Livesay made written statements, each accusing the other of killing Blocher.

The two admitted they intended to rob the recluse. They told officers they got only 13 cents. Blocher had a reputation as a well-to-do man.

COLUMBUS, O. — (AP) — Although the minor leagues voted overwhelmingly to wipe out baseball's 24-hour recall rule, the statute will remain on the books, an informal poll of the big league clubs indicated today.

The rule, which President Frank Shaugnessy of the International League, described as "the seven biggest threat to the structure of the minors than nationwide broadcasting and televising of major league games," has long been a sore point with the little fellows. Their constant cry has been that the rule robs them of their stars and kills off the attendance.

SIX TO ONE VOTE
The rule allows the majors to recall their optioned players by giving only one day's notice. In this way, the parent clubs can shuttle their players back and forth at will.

By a 41 to seven count, the minor leagues voted to toss the rule out the window. This means that a player, once sent down, must remain for the entire minor league season including playoffs. That leaves, however, also must pass this amendment in order to kill the rule.

This, however, does not seem likely unless there is a change of heart between now and next Monday when the vote comes up.

NO TOUCHDOWNS
Hager never did score a TD although blocking 22 punts in 1950 and 1951. Someone else always fell on it.

York received honorable mention for all-state center in 1950 and is considered even better this year. He was a great defensive linebacker and frequently broke up end sweeps and passes as well as line plays.

Irishmen receiving honorable mention for the all-region include Van Pennington, pass-snagging end; Jimmy Pennington and Don Carleton, nose halfbacks; and Eugene Collinsworth, in 1950 an all-region choice at guard.

All but Carleton and Jimmy Pennington are seniors. Most of them will play college football at colleges not yet determined.

Fight Starts For Top Spots

(By the Associated Press)
The fight for final spots in the upper divisions of Texas schoolboy football begins tonight. Temple plays at Brownsville in the opening semi-final game of the Class AAA division. Tomorrow three games will be played in the Class AAAA and Class AAA divisions.

In Class AAAA Lubbock's undefeated Westerners meet Arlington Heights (Fort Worth) at Lubbock while Ray (Corpus Christi), also unbeaten, entertains once-defeated Baytown.

In Class AAA Grand Prairie, the only undefeated, untied team, will take on Breckenridge in its own halliwick.

Classes AA and A will be pushing through their quarter-finals, with all games scheduled today.

Anson and Childress open the Class AA warfare in an afternoon game at Wichita Falls. Arlington and Pleasant Grove clash at Dallas, Huntsville and Lavaca at Huntsville and Lamar (Rosenberg) and Donna at McAllen in night contests.

In Class A Abernathy and Dink, a couple of undefeated, untied teams, start the ball rolling at Lubbock in an afternoon game. Tomorrow night Newcastle and Hawkins, both also unbeaten and untied, get together at Denton. Giddings, another team with a spotless record, goes to Cedar Bayou, and Industrial (Vanderbilt) plays at Pearsall.

Oiler Owners Back From Meet

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Mills, owners of the Pampa Oilers, returned early yesterday morning from the minor league baseball convention in Columbus, O. They left Sunday by plane for the annual winter convention.

Playing manager Jake Phillips joined them in Columbus, flying from his home in Fort Worth. Phillips was scheduled to return today.

Ground work was begun on the 1952 edition of the Oilers, the Mills reported, but no announcements were ready at the present time of any deals that had been closed.

All towns in the league were represented at the meeting with the exception of the Clovis club. Retiring president Milton Price given an engraved plaque and a wrist watch by the league members in appreciation of his fine work he has done with the West Texas-New Mexico League since he organized it many years ago. He was succeeded as president by Ray Winkler, Lubbock.

AP 1951 ALL-AMERICA DEFENSIVE

Five From Southwest Area Named On AP All-American Offensive, Defensive

By HAROLD CLASSEN
NEW YORK — (AP) — Tennessee, Michigan State and Maryland — the top three teams in the final poll of the season — shared the major honors on Associated Press All-American 1951 football team announced today.

Tennessee, co-champion of the Southeastern Conference and taking an unbeaten record into Jan. 1's Sugar Bowl game, was honored with Hank Lauricella on the offensive backfield and William (Pug) Pearman on the defensive team at tackle. Ted Daffer, defensive guard on the team a year ago, is on the second team this year.

Michigan State, also unbeaten, lands two berths on the offensive team, one going to Bob Carey, the end, and the other to Don Coleman, the catlike tackle.

MODZELEWSKI BROTHERS
Maryland, unbeaten like the other two leaders and booked to play Tennessee in the Sugar Bowl, has Bob Ward, a repeater from the 1950 team, at offensive guard and the Modzelewski brothers on the second aggregation.

Edward, known as Mighty Mo, is in the runner-up offensive backfield while Richard, dubbed Little Mo, is a defensive tackle. Three others, in addition to Ward, are repeaters from 1950. They are Richard Kazmaier, Princeton's all-around everything back; Jim Weatherall, of Oklahoma, defensive tackle, and Les Richter, of California, line-backer.

The teams:
Offense — Bill McCall, Stanford; Bob Carey, Michigan State; Tackles — Bob Tonneff, Notre Dame; Don Coleman, Michigan State.
Guards — Bob Ward, Maryland; Marvin Matuszak, Tulsa.
Centers — Doug Moseley, Kentucky.
Backs — Dick Kazmaier, Princeton; Hank Lauricella, Tennessee; Hugh McElheny, Washington; Larry Isbell, Baylor.
Defensive Ends — Pat O'Donohue, Wisconsin; Dewey McConnell, Wyoming.
Tackles — Jim Weatherall, Oklahoma; William Pearman, Tennessee.
Guards — Ray Beck, Georgia Tech; Joe Palumbo, Virginia.
Line backers — Keith Flowers, Texas Christian; Les Richter, California.
Backs — Bobby Dillon, Texas; Al Brosky, Illinois; and Ollie Matson, San Francisco.

ONE REPEAT BACK
The team was picked after the Dec. 1 games in consultation with 11 prominent sports writers. They had the benefit of reports from hundreds of writers and broadcasters throughout the country.

Kazmaier, only repeater among the backs, already has been named the winner of the Helman and Maxwell Awards for his spectacular play this season with Princeton.

Isbell and Lauricella are triple threats like Kazmaier and were

Can College Basketball Rebound To Public Faith?

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK — (AP) — Can college basketball bounce back? Can it regain the public confidence after 11 fit-filled months that brought discredit to the sport, disgrace to some 20 cage stars plus jail sentences to a half dozen others?

That is a question that should be answered within the next few weeks. This is basketball's hour of trial. If it is big enough, if it keeps its house clean, if it is kept free from any suspicion, it can emerge from its scandal-filled past just as baseball rose out of the ashes of the Black Sox blight of three decades ago. Lovers of this truly great game sincerely hope so.

There is no doubt a determined and sincere effort is being made to put the game back on its solid ground. Coaches no longer are ridiculing the idea of bribery, are having heart to heart talks with their athletes. They are taking the realistic point of view for the first time.

"KILLED ME"
"It killed me to do it," said Coach Frank McGuire of St. John's of Brooklyn, "but I had to. I told my boys this wasn't like any other season any basketball player ever played. I told them they were the kids who could give the game its good name again."

Leading observers from coast to coast agree that the customers will watch the best brand of basketball seen since the war. Champion Kentucky again rates as the team to be for top national honors.

Coach Adolph Rupp's giants, however, will not find the road easy. They must contend with powerful Illinois, high scoring North Carolina State, improved Kansas and Oklahoma A&M and other solid quintets as St. John's, Seton Hall, Utah, Washington and others.

Here are the writer's pre-season top ten picks and their probable order of finish.
1. Kentucky. 2. Oklahoma A&M. 3. Illinois. 4. St. John's. 5. Kansas. 6. St. Louis. 7. Seton Hall. 8. North Carolina State. 9. Villanova. 10. Louisville.

Major conference honors should go to following:
Southeastern — Kentucky.
Southern — North Carolina State.
Big Ten — Illinois.
Big Seven — Kansas.
Southwest — Texas Christian.
Border — Arlington Heights.
Mid-American — Cincinnati.
Indiana Collegiate — Evansville.
Minnesota Collegiate — Hamline.
Rocky Mountain — Montana State.
California Collegiate — Pepperdine.

Record Crowd Anticipated For Semifinal At Lubbock Tomorrow; Westerners Favored

LUBBOCK — A record crowd surpassing the 15,000 who witnessed the "Lubbock - Amarillo" game here in 1940, is anticipated for the Westerner - Arlington Heights semifinal contest at Arlington Stadium tomorrow. The winner of this clash will meet the winner of the Baytown-Ray game.

The Westerners, undefeated in eleven starts, are made heavy favorites over the Yellow Jackets.

Coach Pat Pattison of the Westerners, his usual tearful self, said early this week that "we might go out of business this weekend. We'll have to score four or more touchdowns to stay in the park with those guys. Although they run the same formation as Yalata, the single wing, it's a different type. Whereas Yalata would use power, these guys are trap happy and I'll guarantee you, they've got the backs to really make it work."

LIKE WESTERNERS
Fattison said that the Yellow Jackets reminded him of the Lubbock team in both size and spirit. "They've got a lot of hustle and they like to play football. I just hope we can hit for a few scores to win and keep playing a little longer."

Season records of both Lubbock and Arlington Heights indicate that fans probably will see one of the most interesting, high-scoring grid battles ever unveiled in this area when the two teams clash Saturday. Lubbock's high-scoring "T" formation attack huddling a good Lamesa team, GAME INFORMATION — Second game of the season for the Harvesters, third for Dumas. Tipoff time 8 o'clock on main game, preliminary at 7 p. m. Tickets on sale at door. Broadcast over radio station KPND starting at 8 o'clock.

Guerilla Contest Scheduled To Begin At 7 At Jr. High

The Pampa Harvesters return to the court tonight in search of their second victory of the season and a check to see if they have shaken the jitters which hounded them against the Stratford Elks last Tuesday night and nearly cost the game.

Tonight's opposition is being furnished by the Dumas Demons of District 1-AA, coached by Garland Head, former Texas Tech cage star.

Game time is 8 o'clock in the Junior High school gymnasium. A preliminary contest between the B teams of both schools will start at 7 o'clock.

The Harvesters game will be broadcast by radio station KPND, starting at 8 o'clock.

The Green and Gold in its lone start this season, escaped with an exciting 69-67 victory over Stratford Tuesday night. The Demons have split a pair of games, falling to Canyon last Friday night by seven points and conquering Guyton by nine Tuesday night.

The Demons have split a pair of games, falling to Canyon last Friday night by seven points and conquering Guyton by nine Tuesday night.

Randolph was high-point man for the Guerrillas Tuesday night with 13, followed by Cooper with 10.

In other games around the district tonight Amarillo is at Plainview, Lubbock and Borger are playing in a two-night Borger tournament, San Angelo and Abilene are playing in a two-night Hardin-Simmons Tournament at Abilene.

Saturday night Childress is at Amarillo, and the other teams entered in the tournaments will still be playing.

No. 100 Tonight?

Tonight could be the night that the Harvesters could notch Coach Clifton McNeely's 100th victory since coming to Pampa as head basketball coach. At the start of the season the Green and Gold has won 98 under his tutelage. He has only been beaten 15 times.

Coach Head is going to start a veteran lineup consisting of two regulars from last season and three other boys who lettered, although they didn't play regularly. Head said Wednesday that he would start 6-3 Clyde Black and 6-2 Byron Ingram, regulars from last year, and letterman Jerry Robertson, 5 - 10, Bob Vaughn, 5-10, and Danny Bellue, 5-11.

Coach McNeely will go along with his same starters, the brothers Bond, Jimmy and Marvin, at the forwards, Duane Jeter at center, and Tommy Smith and Jimmy Dulaney at guards.

The Harvesters again yesterday went through a ball-handling workout in an effort to polish up a phase of the offensive game that looked shabby in Tuesday night's opener. No complaint could be lodged against shooting of the Green and Gold as they ripped the net for an even 50 percent connection of their shots.

The offensive big guns of their teams.

In the defensive backfield Bobby Dillon of Texas and Al Brosky of Illinois were specialists in knocking down passes, returning punts and tackling. They share these duties with Ollie Matson, the San Francisco Negro who established various collegiate records on offense but was even more valuable to his unbeaten team on defense.

Southwest Conference basketball teams push into a busy weekend of intersectional games with only two members undefeated and prospects poor of their remaining that way.
Texas Christian fell last night in New York as Manhattan beat the Horned Frogs 65-52.
Southern Methodist and Texas, which have played only one game apiece, are unbeaten but SMU tackles Tulsa tonight at Tulsa and St. Louis at St. Louis tomorrow night. They might beat Tulsa but St. Louis looks very tough for the young Mustangs to hurdle.
Texas has North Texas State, which licked Texas A&M Monday night, tonight and tomorrow night at Austin.
In other games for the weekend, Arkansas plays Mississippi at Little Rock tonight and at Memphis tomorrow night; A&M engages University of Houston at College Station. Baylor hosts REA of Artesia, N.M., at Waco, Texas Christian tackles Canisius at Buffalo, N.Y., and Rice meets Tulane at New Orleans tomorrow night.

Par Won't Win Anything As Winter Golfers Start

MIAMI, Fla. — (AP) — It appeared that par shooters would be out of the money as the second round began today in the $10,000 Miami Open Golf tournament with defending champion Sammy Snead and Tommy Bolt of Durham, N.C., in the lead.
The smooth, level, 6,510-yard Miami Springs municipal course proved to be duck soup for Snead, Bolt and a host of other players in yesterday's opening 18-hole trial.
The leaders whacked six strokes off par with 64s and 29 others came in a stroke or better under the par figure of 35-35-70. Manager H. H. Arnold said the course would be lengthened to 7,000 yards after the field is trimmed tomorrow from the original 182 to the low 80 pros and 10 amateurs.
Snead and Bolt, hot after the $2,000 top prize in the first major tournament of the Florida winter season, finished the first round with a two-stroke margin over the field.
Grouped in third place with 86s were Doug Ford of Harrison, N. Y., Tony Penna of Cincinnati and Al Bessalnik of Mt. Clemens, Mich. Deadlocked in sixth place with 87s were Lloyd Watkins of Miami, Jimmy Demaret of Ojai, Calif., Bob Hamilton of Evansville, Ind., and Lew Worsham of Oakmont, Pa.

Jerrell Price MYP In Border

PHOENIX, Ariz. — (AP) — A lineman who plays equally well on offense and defense even in this two-platoon era today was voted the most valuable player in the Border Conference.
Coaches of the cactus and sagebrush circuit were overwhelmed in naming tackle Jerrell Price of the champion Texas Tech Red Raiders as the Border's best.
In addition to the most valuable player designation, Price was voted the best lineman, both on offense and on defense in a poll of coaches conducted by the Associated Press. He previously has won places on the all-Border Conference team and on the all-America second team.
Price packs 215 pounds on a 5-foot 11-inch frame and captained the Red Raider club that upset Cotton Bowl bound Texas Christian University.
The big Texan from Brownfield is the first lineman in post-war years to win the most valuable title in the conference which usually has a bunch of high scoring teams with the backs getting the most attention. Last season the honor went to Wilford (Whizzer) White, Arizona State College at Tempe halfback now in the professional ranks with the Chicago Bears.

MENTIONS
Several players also won mention as coaches gave both first and second choices. Gaining votes in the most valuable category were quarterbacks Junior Arterburn of Tech and Harold Self of Arizona State College at Tempe; tackle King DuClos of Texas Western; and Bob Hart, quarterback, Dunny Goode, halfback, and Gene Offield, end and linebacker, all of Hardin-Simmons University.
Linemen drawing mention for their play on offense included Jim Donarski, University of Arizona; Aubrey Phillips, Texas Tech; Wade Musgrove, Hardin-Simmons; and Dom Patrone and Ed Matesic, Arizona State College at Tempe.
Price gained all but one first place vote in the balloting. Following were Donarski, Offield, Phillips, Cush Holder of Hardin-Simmons, and Sam Duca of Arizona State College at Tempe.

Battle Tomorrow For Little Roses

PASADENA, Calif. — (AP) — Two of the finest junior college football teams in the nation, Pasadena and undefeated Tyler from Texas, collide in the sixth annual Junior Rose Bowl game tomorrow, with the Apaches from Texas favored by seven points.
In the money that comes from the Cotton Bowl to its champion, the host team. Now the conference champion gives only 25 percent of its take to the conference.
There appears to be opposition to the banning of spring football but the conference favors a limitation which it already has. The conference also already limits football to 10 games per team and basketball to 24.
Most of the coaches apparently favor the free substitution rule. Other conferences in Texas will be meeting today and tomorrow, including the Texas, Lone Star, Gulf Coast, the newly formed Big State and the Junior College conferences.

We suppose the adman's child starts its prayer with "Give us this day our daily bread—crust, Oven-Baked, Whole-Wheat Bread."

Tyler features a passing game, with Johnny Linney the thrower from the quarterback position. Pasadena has exhibited more strength on the ground but the Bulldogs' aerial weapon has been successful.
Tyler has a line on offense that averages 204.11 pounds more than Pasadena, and a backfield that averages 200.12 more than the locals. Pasadena on defense holds an edge of 203 to 186 in the line and appears stronger in this department.

MUTUAL FOE
Tyler, coached by Floyd Wagstaff, scored 413 points against foes in the Southwest in winning games, while Pasadena, piloted by Bob Blackman, scored 318 points in 10 games.
The lone mutual foe this fall was Pasadena's Muir Tech. Pasadena beat Tech, 49 to 20, while the Apaches rolled up a 75-14 margin.
Tyler's backfield with Linney includes a pair of 200-pounders, halfbacks Billy Andrews and Charles McNeil, and fullback Tommy Ward, who scales 220. Pasadena's starting foursome on offense will be George Hammond at quarter, Allen Napoleon and Addison Hawthorne at the halves, and Bill Bennett at full. Hawthorne, at 195, is the heaviest.
Tyler went through light drills today. They had a bone cracking scrimmage yesterday.
Wagstaff said he was "more than pleased" with yesterday's workout.

Southwest Dads Open Winter Meet

DALLAS — (AP) — The Southwest Conference fathers — the faculty committee — open their winter meeting today and will hold three sessions before making known their attitude on football deemphasis as projected by the National Collegiate Athletic Association.
Bowl games, spring football practice, limitation of the number of games in football and basketball, the free substitution rule and aid to athletes are the major topics. But there are some 12 points in the NCAA's outline. The committee will decide what points it will support, which it will oppose and what remedial measures of its own it might wish to present to the NCAA.
The bowl picture is to be examined in the light of pressures created by these games and there are indications the conference will go on record to allow all members of the conference to share in the money that comes from the Cotton Bowl to its champion, the host team. Now the conference champion gives only 25 percent of its take to the conference.

MISS FREDA WORLEY

Miss Freda Worley, secretary of the Central Baptist church here, is a career girl who has solved the old problem of cooking for one.

Her cookbooks held an equal place of honor on the shelves filled with sheet music, for next to music, cooking is her favorite hobby.

The only girl in a family of five boys, Miss Worley developed an early love of good substantial food. She cooks her own meals with all the planning a home-maker uses in cooking for an entire family, but the smallest ingredient she puts into any recipe is time.

"I want something quick and easy, but I want it nutritious and attractive, too," she explains. A pressure cooker is a boon to the working girl, and Miss Worley makes frequent use of her pressure cooker.

She has many simple one-dish meals such as "Tuna On Toast," which she guarantees takes only 15 minutes to prepare. Ingredients are a small can of Mexican corn (which includes pimento and green pepper), a can of tuna fish, and a medium white sauce. The sauce is made of two table-spoons melted butter, two table-spoons flour, one-half teaspoon salt and one cup of milk blended until smooth. Corn and tuna are added to the sauce and cooked about five to 10 minutes. Serve on light brown toast with a tossed salad. This makes enough for two meals.

But when it comes to dessert, there's more than a little difficulty in planning — for example, cake is too large and becomes dry before it can be eaten. She enjoys fruit pies, but when she's asked about her best recipe, it's always "Pineapple Drop Cookies." The recipe makes a big batch that she has kept for as long as a week without their ever losing their moist goodness. She got the recipe from a local woman who brought the cookies to a church dinner. It was passed around the women's circles and Miss Worley has served the cookies at various church youth meetings she sponsors.

1-4 tsp. salt
1-2 cup shortening (creamed)
1 cup sugar
1 egg (unbeaten)
1 cup pineapple
1 tbs. lemon juice
Sift flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Cream shortening and sugar, add egg, drained pineapple and lemon juice. Add together and drop on cookie sheet. Cook in a 375 degree oven until brown.

These recipes are ones which even full-time housewives could make use of in a pinch. The main dish can be made in a hurry when unexpected guests arrive for dinner, and the pineapple cookies can be made once a week for children's after-school snack, or the cookies would make a perfect coffee companion.

There are as many tricks and pointers in cooking for one as there are in cooking for a large family. Miss Worley has learned how to cut recipes in half, knows how many table-spoons make a cup, how many teaspoons in a tablespoon and even how to halve an egg. It's these little know-how's that help make a woman a good cook whether she's a career girl cooking for one, or a busy housewife cooking for a family of six. — WJC

Frank T. Hord Lectures Here

"Fear is the fundamental foe of mankind, and it can be totally destroyed through spiritual understanding of God and man's relationship to Him," Frank T. Hord of Louisville, Ky., Christian Science lecturer, said in a lecture Thursday night in the high school auditorium.

"The great fear destroying truths of the Bible, which cut the fetters of human bondage, are as available, vital, and operative today as they were twenty centuries ago," he said.

Mr. Hord is now lecturing in this region as a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship. His address here was under auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist. His subject was "Christian Science: The Science of Mind-Healing."

National conflicts, disputes between capital and labor, as well as sin, sickness, and death — spring from human ignorance of God, according to Mr. Hord. He said freedom, happiness, and harmonious living can be realized in individual experience — and collectively, as well as the degree that this ignorance is dispelled and the healing power of divine Love understood.

A former Army captain, Mr. Hord recounted his experience in the Antwerp area during the height of the German buzz-bomb attack.

CONFUSION of CREATION

How interesting are the workings of God! He takes the nucleus, the cell, the molecule and the protoplasm and forms staggering miracles. He even takes bodies who have gone almost to Hell and makes men out of them. The laboratories and the human bodies are His work shops. It was He who pulled the switch that set it all to work.

True science and true religion never conflict. God does not contradict Himself. His words and His works harmonize. Modern knowledge compels the revision of the theory that the earth is flat and that the sun daily revolves around it. Yet, it remains true that... "In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth." Religion once declared the work of creation was completed in six days of twenty-four hours each, and outlined in detail the creative process. With increased knowledge teachers are much less dogmatic as to time involved and procedures followed. God is still saying... "My thoughts are not as your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways."

His church is a good place to learn that fancied discords blend in harmony. Increasing numbers of people are able to see through His microscope... "tongues in trees, books in running brooks, sermons in stones, and good in everything." Every scientific finding by man is rooted in God. This is the confusion of creation.

REDS LAUNCH DRIVE
MEXICO CITY — (AP)— A drive for 100,000 pesos ($11,570) was launched Tuesday by the Mexican Communist party. It did not say what the money would be used for.

SPOTLIGHT

Jerusalem, "Our district is badly in need of a 'Good Samaritan Hospital' to be built along the road between Jerusalem and Jericho, I suggest that it be financed by a special tax on thieves, priests and Levites. On second thought, you'd better exempt the priests for obvious political reasons."

In the course of time, the congressman might get him the hospital — plus an expensive EHBE, government shorthand for "Bureau of Hospital Building and Equipment" — plus new and bigger tax bills each year, taxes which the thief would not pay, from which the priest would be exempt, out of which the Levite would crawl through some legal loophole, leaving the full burden on the shoulders of the Samaritan and stockholders of the Good Samaritan Oil Co. of Jericho. Then nobody would be free, even to do what he ought, for the only person to do what he ought would be impoverished by excessive taxation. Only the congressman would benefit. He would be reelected by a grateful constituency for giving them a "free" hospital.

That is our situation today. We have passed laws and set up bureaus, until we are no longer free to do what we ought. For example, we ought to make money in our businesses. But for a business to make money today amid all the tinkering with our economic system that is going on is not easy. We ought to provide for our old age so we will not need to be a burden on society. But who can save these days? In fact, if we want to be free men and women, we ought to control our financial destiny instead of placing it in the hands of politicians who became politicians after being business failures. Second, all rights imply corresponding responsibilities. The right of a city to have a pure water supply implies the responsibility of citizens not to drown cats in the reservoir. The right of police protection is dependent upon keeping the police incorruptible. If you can bribe them, so can those who would do you harm. The right of good government is dependent upon the responsibility of good citizens at the polls, for bad officials are always elected by good voters who do not vote.

Third, if we will not assume the responsibilities of freedom, we shall be deprived of the privileges of freedom. If we will not assume the responsibilities of self-government, there are always those who will govern us for their own ends.

Fourth, our only real freedom lies in our ability to choose our own masters. If we say we have no master, someone must inevitably master us. That is the lot of thieves and anarchists. If we say that we will have no master but our own selfish interests, we become the slaves of our own selfishness, like the priest and the Levite. If in our selfishness we go so far as to demand of the State that it solve all our problems, make all our decisions, provide us cradle-to-the-grave security, and be a God to us, then we have chosen for ourselves complete and abject slavery.

Today, as America stands at the crossroads, there are but two ways for us to go. We can go on making a god of government, or we can return to the government of God. One road leads to the slavery which has always been the lot of those who have chosen collectivism in any of its forms — communism, socialism, the welfare state are all cut after the same pattern. The other road

'The Song Of Christmas'

Lewis H. Redner was organist and Sunday school superintendent of the Church of the Holy Trinity in Philadelphia in 1858 when its rector, Phillips Brooks, wrote the words to "O Little Town of Bethlehem." Brooks asked Redner to set them to music.

Redner had little time to consider the hymn. Christmas was but a few days off. On the Saturday night before the song was to be sung for the first time he retired with no music written.

"I was aroused from sleep," he reported later, "hearing an angel strain whispering in my ear."

Cox Says Odessa Is Refusing To Accept Outside Aid

AUSTIN — (AP) — State Health Officer George W. Cox has accused polio-stricken Odessa of being reluctant to accept outside help. He also said Odessa can blame itself for letting highly unsanitary conditions exist. His charges brought vehement denials from Odessa officials. The general chairman of Odessa's cleanup drive, Mickey Lavy, said: "I am surprised that Dr. Cox would blast a campaign leads to the only freedom that there is."

"Blest is the nation whose God is our Lord," for where the spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty." But "choose ye this day whom ye will serve. . . . As for me and my house, we will serve the Lord."

that was so highly commended by two men from his own office, a campaign so successful that we had requests for information on it from as far away as California.

The Odessa American said that E. C. Nelson, senior engineering assistant, and F. J. Von Zuben, chief of operations from the state health office were in Odessa last week but said they were there unofficially.

They went by the headquarters of the mayor's cleanup campaign. The American said Von Zuben remarked "we might learn something here" to a reporter and Nelson said, "I've been in the business a long time and this is the first time I ever saw a city get smart."

Man Charged With Dynamiting Home

DALLAS — (AP) — Pete Garcia, charged with dynamiting a Negro-owned home, testified that he had nothing to do with the blast.

Garcia is charged with arson by explosives in the June 3, 1950, wrecking of the interior of the house.

He testified Wednesday he had a "very intense feeling" about Negroes settling in his neighborhood. But he declared he had nothing to do with the explosion.

This conflicted with testimony of a neighbor, Arlon Davis, who told the court he saw Garcia walk over to the Negro house shortly before the explosion occurred.

Other neighbors testified Garcia threatened violence if any more Negroes moved into the neighborhood.

Oilman Warns Industry Can't Grow Under Government Curb

WICHITA, Kan. — An official of the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America warned here today that domestic oil industry cannot continue to expand and meet the nation's economic and security requirements "under government controls and restrictions."

H. B. Fell, Ardmore, Okla., oil man and executive vice president of IPAA, in an address to the annual meeting of the Kansas Independent Oil and Gas Assn., declared that:

"Under existing government controls, unless an adequate price is allowed for crude oil, sufficient materials are made available, and the present depletion provisions and the option to expense intangible drilling costs are retained in the revenue act, I predict that we will gradually see a decline in the discovery of crude oil reserves and productive capacity."

Declaring the petroleum industry has progressed as a result of economic freedom, Fell said the domestic oil industry is greatest in the world.

"It has been developed contemporaneously with our industrial development," he said. "The demand for petroleum products in our nation is equivalent to about 60 percent of the total world demand and we produce well over 50 percent of the total world supply."

"Ever since the inception of the industry we have been able to furnish to domestic consumers adequate supplies of petroleum products, of improving quality and at prices they could afford to pay."

He said only twice has there been any indication of the development of possible shortage of petroleum products, and pinpointed these as: 1) Near the close of World War I when proper provisions were not made in the income tax law to take care of hazards in exploring for and developing crude oil reserves, and 2) following World War II during which an excess oil producing capacity of 1,000,000 barrels daily, available at the outset of the war, was used up.

The near shortage created during World War I was due, he said, to government actions which froze crude oil prices at inadequate levels, made available insufficient materials and trained manpower, and "particularly because of the crippling paralysis that comes with centralized government controls."

Fell called attention to what government control of industry has done to oil producing operations in other countries. "Russia, where the oil belongs to the 'people' but the ordinary citizens get none," he said, "produced 16 percent more oil than we did in 1900. Under nationalization, today, they are producing one eighth as much oil as we do."

He pointed out that Russia has the biggest hunting ground for oil in the world, according to geological experts, but have failed to develop their own needs with a population of 200,000,000 people.

Mexico produced 25 percent as much oil as the United States in 1921, but now with a nationalized industry produces only 1-35th as much. Rumania, where oil is now nationalized, produces much less than it did in 1938.

"When you give consideration to the accomplishments under 'statism,' as compared with accomplishments under freedom of the individual, it is extremely difficult to understand why the people of the United States have been willing to gradually step-by-step give up more and more of their freedoms to a centralized government."

Two Factions Slug It Out In Iran

TEHRAN, Iran — (AP) — At least three persons were killed and more than 200 injured Thursday in a five-hour battle between 5000 yelling Communists and 2000 police and troops backed by angry mobs of Nationalists.

It was the bloodiest violence in Tehran since June, when riots resulted in more than 20 deaths.

Police and troops got control of the situation early this afternoon, after using tear gas, fire hoses, rifle butts and clubs. At least two rioters were wounded by police gunfire, although most of the police fired into the air.

Many of the injured were reported in serious condition and the toll of dead may rise.

An estimated 5000 pro-Communist students started the heaviest rioting when they marched on the Majlis (parliament) shortly after dawn, in defiance of a government ban on demonstrations.

Nationalists who support Premier Mohammed Mossadegh spilled into the streets and engaged in bloody conflict wherever they met the Reds.

The police and Nationalists together smashed and routed the Reds who shouted "death to Mossadegh" and fought with clubs, stones and fists.

What started as a Communist show of force against Mossadegh's government turned into a bloody Red defeat.

Yelling mobs of Nationalists smashed and burned Communist "peace" headquarters, raided pro-Communist newspapers and a theater, and dumped bushels of torn and burned propaganda books and leaflets into the sunlit streets.

Veteran observers believed the Nationalists were taking advantage of the riotous situation to wipe out known centers of the outlawed Communist Tudeh party.

Tons of water sprayed on the rioters from a score of fire trucks. Police jeeps, and ambulances, their sirens screaming, raced through the crowded streets.
