

American Airmen Tell Story Of Imprisonment Behind Iron Curtain

BERDING, Germany — (AP) — Four American fliers, whose liberation cost the United States $120,000, said Saturday they were held and questioned by the Russians in Hungary for 14 days before being turned over to Hungarian authorities.

They said they were never mistreated physically and were never accused of being spies, but were "interrogated and interrogated and interrogated" during their 29 days of solitary confinement.

The news conference was delayed nearly four hours until Samuel Klaus, a State department legal and intelligence expert, completed a 3500-mile flight from Washington and sanctioned it.

Sitting at the table with the men, Klaus said he was extremely interested in the airmen's stories because "any future action by the United States against Hungary or anybody else responsible, I assume, depends on what these boys have to say."

The four men lost their way on a routine flight from this American air base to Belgrade, Yugoslavia, on Nov. 19 and their C-47 transport was forced down by Soviet fighters in Communist Hungary.

They were tried before a Hungarian military court Dec. 23 and convicted on a charge of intentionally violating the Hungarian border. They were fined $30,000 apiece and told they would be imprisoned 90 days if the fines were not paid.

They were freed yesterday, after payment of the fines, regarded in the West as ransom. They were flown to Erding after they reached the Austrian border. The State department almost simultaneously ordered the Hungarian consulates in Cleveland and New York City closed by midnight Monday, New Year's eve, and banned American travel to Hungary.

Capt. Dave H. Henderson, 32, of Shawnee, Okla., commander of the flight, appeared to have suffered the most from his experience. He fumbled with a typewritten sheet as he gave the formal account of his adventure. His lips trembled as he began to speak.

At the table with him were the other freed men—Capt. Pilot Capt. John J. Swift, 34, of Glens Falls, N. Y.; T-Sgt. Jess Duff of Spokane, Wash., the crew chief, and Sgt. James A. Elam of Kingsland, Ark., the radio operator.

Henderson said the Russians constantly tried to extract military information from them. Henderson was cautioned by an Air Force officer not to elaborate on that phase of his interrogation.

He said the questioning centered almost continuously on extra parachutes, blankets and a "gibson girl" radio aboard the plane. Hungary charged this equipment showed the plane was intended for use in parachuting spies behind the Iron Curtain.

The radio can send only 808 signals and along with extra normal equipment on a C-47 in parachutes and blankets, is case of a forced landing.

The airmen said the questioners were "very friendly," but their trial, as they described it, followed the usual practice in Communist countries — there was not much chance to put up a defense.

Henderson said the C-47 was cleared to follow a specified corridor in Yugoslavia, but thick fog was encountered over the Alps and the plane flew a 180-degree turn. The only clear radio signal was from Udine, in Italy.

This was the story as Henderson told it:

"Sometime after we passed Zagreb (in northern Yugoslavia) I found I was lost.

"I checked on the gas to see if we could go back to Udine. I tried to contact Belgrade, by radio, but it was no use.

"You see we were cleared to fly a definite corridor over Yugoslavia.

"I made a decision, after talking with Capt. Swift and the other crew members. I made the decision to return. I made a 180-degree turn. I couldn't spend a lot of time finding out where I was. I told the radioman that I was a fighter because of the tell Belgrade we were lost and going to Udine.

"I thought we were south of our course and I was trying to find a place to land and find out where we were.

"The gas was getting low and I sent out an SOS with landing lights to try to find a place to set down. I told the crew to put on their chutes for time was running out.

"I called in English for any station to come in over the international beam. English is the only language I can talk.

"As I was calling, a fighter aircraft went by me. I assumed it was a fighter because of the speed. I saw a lighted field and following the aircraft, I landed. I asked the radioman to tell me if we were making a landing. I saw a lighted field and I guess that message got garbled."

UN Allies Reduce Demands

MUNSAN, Korea — (AP) — The Allies sharply reduced their terms for policing a Korean truce Saturday as a "calculated risk" in hope of an early armistice.

An Allied delegate told the Reds it was the final offer on truce supervision, and must be accepted without change.

"We shall have nothing further to propose," he said.

On the prisoner-exchange issue, it was agreed to swap further information on all prisoners not listed on the records exchanged last week at Panmunjon.

The sweeping new Allied proposal for truce supervision and the prisoner issue were on the table at subcommittee sessions opening at 11 a. m. today (8 p. m., CST, Saturday) at Panmunjon.

The calculated risk in the new Allied offer was abandonment of four of the six safeguards which the UN command had insisted on retaining during an armistice. A fifth was watered down.

The safeguards abandoned were serial observation anywhere in Korea during a truce; retention of outpost islands behind enemy lines (the Allies hold a number of them); a single supervising authority for the truce, and Allied-Red inspection teams free to travel anywhere in Korea.

In addition, the Allies offered to permit rebuilding of a limited number of North Korean air fields.

The only safeguard which the Allies have nailed down is a sound military defense position during an armistice.

In return, the Allies asked the Communists to accept three UN command principles. These are:

1. A freeze on military buildup but limited rotation of troops.
2. Restriction of air fields re-built during a truce to civilian use only.
3. Opening all main road and rail lines throughout Korea to neutral truce observers.

An Allied spokesman said abandonment of the demand for serial observation "is by far the most important concession the UN command has made."

He added:

"It has been made with the greatest reluctance."

In presenting the new proposals, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Turner told the Reds:

"We have now conceded to your unreasonable views all that (See ALLIES Page 6)

GIs Fighting For Outpost

SEOUL, Korea — (AP) — Dough boys on the western front fought through zero weather Saturday in efforts to retake a lost position west of Korangpo.

They faced an estimated Red battalion (possibly 900 men).

The Eighth army communique said UN forces were still fighting at midday Saturday for the advance outpost. It was captured Friday by Chinese infantry bolstered by 10 tanks or self-propelled guns.

Eighth army troops counterattacked early Saturday and in a 15-minute action forced one enemy platoon to withdraw.

Contact on the central and eastern battlefronts was light.

B-26 bombers of the Fifth Air Force thundered over North Korea Saturday and Sunday, hitting the Red transport system.

F-51 Mustangs and F-4's of the First Marine Air Wing set fire to five supply dumps behind Communist lines Saturday as the Air Force completed 597 sorties by dusk.

Red rail lines again drew first priority. Scores of bomb hits were made on enemy trackage.

Two fuel dumps were blasted northwest of Sinanju.

Northwest of Koksan, F-84 Thunderjets destroyed two enemy tanks and damaged two others.

F-86 Sabres of the Fourth and Sixt Fighter-Interceptor wings sighted 120 MIGs at high altitudes over northwest Korea, but reported the enemy planes fled.

An eighth army briefing officer said the latest estimate of Red casualties since the war began was 1,815,000.

E. L. Green President Of Gas Co.

E. L. "Gene" Green, Jr., vice-president of Cabot Carbon Co., Pampa, was named president of the Independent Natural Gas Co. during a meeting of the board of directors Friday.

Hugh Burdette, also a Cabot Co. vice-president and general manager of Cabot's Southwestern interests, was named vice-president, and Doggett, secretary-treasurer, and Atty. W. Jarrell Smith was named a board member.

The gas company was purchased from Phillips Petroleum Co. on March 10, 1950, by Green and Burdette. The company purchases over 11 billion cubic feet of gas annually in the Lewis area. The gas in turn is sent through its compressor system to Northern Natural Gas Co.

Two Are Held As Suspects In Theft

Two local men are being held in county jail for allegedly stealing railroad equipment at the old Danziger refinery east of Pampa.

Deputy Sheriff Buck Haggard said the two men were picked up Friday morning after a railway employe, riding in the vicinity on a hand car, reported to officials that the men were loading iron and other railroad equipment into a car.

The suspects were traced by sheriff's officers through the car's license number which had been obtained by the railway worker.

Haggard said the two men probably will be arraigned in county court Monday.

January Dedicated To March Of Dimes

January officially has been dedicated to the fight against polio and to the support of the 1952 March of Dimes drive in Pampa.

In a proclamation yesterday, Mayor C. A. Huff said because the fourth consecutive year of high polio incidence was witnessed in 1951, with more polio cases reported than in preceding decade, resources from both local and national foundations soon were exhausted.

"Only the fullest public support of the March of Dimes will enable the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis to continue its vital program of patient-care, scientific research, professional education and epidemic emergency aid," he stated.

Lewis Getting Set To Make Spring Drive

WASHINGTON — (AP) — John L. Lewis apparently is getting set for a spring drive to boost the pay and welfare fund of the coal miners, along with a campaign to improve mine safety laws.

Lewis has said nothing publicly about possible demands on the coal industry. But present contracts can be terminated on April 1, and Lewis is expected to be ready to ask for greater benefits.

Moreover, the economy of coal and steel is so closely related that the miners will probably try to match, or improve on, whatever the CIO steelworkers get in their present wage drive on the steel industry.

Efforts to improve mine safety laws are a sure bet following the Dec. 21 mine explosion disaster at West Frankfort, Ill., where 119 miners lost their lives.

Lewis blamed the management, saying it knew the "mine was not safe. George B. Barrington, president of the company, said its study was not complete yet and he didn't want to get into a controversy with Lewis now."

Lewis apparently is worried about an economic recession in the next few years and is moving to make his United Mine Workers union secure against difficulties.

An assessment on the union's approximately 475,000 members in the anthracite and bituminous coal industries, reported to be $2 a month per man, is being levied with that in mind. This will pour about $2,850,000 into the union's treasury, since it is to run until April 1.

It follows another special assessment last winter which reportedly raised nearly 10 million dollars. Union dues amount to about $22 million a year, of which half goes to the union's Washington headquarters.

Pantex Strike Ends Saturday

AMARILLO — (AP) — Construction work on the 26-million-dollar Atomic Energy Commission Pantex project returned to normal Saturday after settlement of a jurisdictional dispute between two AFL unions.

About 1500 workers were idled Wednesday when the electrical workers union protested that its members, not the iron workers union, should do the welding on re-inforcing steel.

F. H. Frock, Amarillo, business manager of the iron workers, said the settlement permitted the welding since they began their work several months ago.

1951'S FIRST BABY — Little Terry Wayne Dieringer, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Dieringer, 1000 S. Wells, will be a year old at 2:16 a. m. Tuesday. He was the first baby born in Pampa this year. Pampa's merchants are offering today numerous prizes to this year's first child with prizes also to the parents and to the attending physician. Dr. Phillip A. Gates was Terry Wayne's doctor. Although the child can't talk very well yet, he looks as though he is ready to give a hardy welcome to the first baby born in '52. The winner will be announced Wednesday. (News Photo)

U. S. Unveils New Jet-Powered Plane

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Air Force last night provided a pictorial peek at its huge all-jet "Stratofortress" bomber, disclosing that the B-52 is trying out its eight engines preparatory to trial flight.

An announcement accompanying the first picture of the new bomber said the engine "run-up" tests required moving the carefully screened plane to a more exposed area of the field at Seattle, Wash. It also was necessary to remove the camouflage which had draped the plane since it was rolled out several weeks ago.

The statement by Air Secretary Finletter said the official photograph of the Boeing XB-52 "shows the least possible amount of information that could be of value to any enemy." He renewed his earlier plea that neither the press nor public make any pictures of their own of the bomber.

MASSIVE SCALE — The picture revealed an aircraft having the approximate general outline of the Boeing medium B-47, eight-jet bomber — but on massive scale. Its cavernous fuselage should be able to carry more than one atom bomb.

Neither the Air Force nor company have disclosed specifications, but one unofficial guess, by the British publication Jane's "All The World's Aircraft," said (See JET-POWERED Page 6)

Gale-Whipped Seas Batter Europe's Coast

LONDON — (AP) — Furious storms, whipped up by hurricane winds roaring across the Atlantic, lashed Europe's western coasts last night and 26 persons were reported dead or missing.

Rough water raged from Spain to Scandinavia. The Atlantic was one vast boiling cauldron, from the Bay of Biscay to Britain.

Sixty-foot waves pounded over the coast of southern England. Hundreds of small boats lying at anchor were swamped. Even the giant Queen Mary limped into port 72 hours late.

Most of the frequent radio calls from ships in distress came from the area off Land's End, the southeastern corner of England.

FISHERMAN LOST — A dispatch from Spain said 15 Spanish fishermen have been lost in the last three days. Ten storm deaths developed in Ireland, where the hurricane winds struck most fiercely, and another was reported on an American freighter at sea.

Many ports reported extensive damage.

Great waves were rolling into French ports. An 18-net layer of sand was deposited on some buildings at Biarritz.

Among big vessels signaling for help, the 6711-ton U.S. freighter Flying Enterprise, carrying a crew of 40 and 10 passengers, appeared worst off. Rescue ships steved in as the Flying Enterprise listed 60 to 80 degrees in the battering seas on the approaches to the English Channel.

FREIGHTER STRICKEN — A radio message picked up in Rotterdam, The Netherlands, from the U.S. troopship Gen. A. W. Greely said all persons had been removed from the stricken freighter except her skipper, Capt. Kurt Carlson.

The Flying Enterprise remained afloat off the southwest tip of England despite her heavy list, and the captain thought she could hold until a tug arrives, the Gen. Greenly radioed. She reported she was standing by the (See 26 DEAD Page 6)

Says Independents Face Destruction

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A representative of the Senate and House Small Business committees said Saturday he was convinced, after attending a World Petroleum Congress, that five large oil companies have a plan that threatens to destroy the United States' independent oil industry.

The report came from Elmer Patman, Austin, Texas, oil company attorney who was an observer for the committees at the Third World Petroleum Congress in The Netherlands last May.

Patman filed the report with Chairman John Sparkman (D-Ala.) of the Senate committee and Chairman Wright Patman (D-Texas) of the House group Aides of the latter said the Patmans are cousins.

Companies named in Elmer Patman's report were the Anglo-Iranian, Shell, Standard of New Jersey (including Socony-Vacuum in the Middle East), Cal-Tex (Standard of California and the Texas Co.) and Gulf.

Patman said that discussions at the Hague, and subsequent world developments, made plain to him the big firms are determined on a plan to eliminate free competition in oil.

He said he believes one reason for the conference was set up was to "sell the idea that the present cartel arrangement under which cartelized international oil industry operating under 'a-sis' agreements was essential and only harmful effects would result from any change in structure."

No Pattern In Filing Liens

WASHINGTON — (AP) — An Internal Revenue bureau spokesman says he knows of no coordinated pattern in the filing of tax liens against persons who have figured in a House investigation of tax collection irregularities.

Liens were filed this week against Abraham Teitelbaum, Chicago attorney, and Henry Grunewald, Washington man who refused to answer questions before a House subcommittee.

And it was disclosed that a tax lien was filed Nov. 19 against property believed to be held in Houston by Troy Whitehead, Whitehead's name came up in the inquiry as having taken government officials on pleasure trips in his airplane.

A spokesman for the revenue bureau said he didn't know of any "concerted effort" which might be indicated by the actions.

Teitelbaum told the House group early this month he had been threatened by two Florida men with "bad tax trouble" unless he paid them $500,000.

Liens were filed in Chicago against Teitelbaum, his wife, his law partner and the partner's wife. They charge the four more than $500,000 in back taxes, penalties and interest.

The lien against Grunewald and his wife charges he owes $51,157 for 1950 income taxes.

Four liens aggregating $1,528,464 were filed at Houston against Whitehead, his wife and his machinery company.

Regulation Lifted On Old Model Cars

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Starting Jan. 2 you may buy a 1942 or older model used car on the best terms you can get from a dealer.

The Federal Reserve board announced yesterday it will free such autos from its Regulation "W" on that date. The regulation requires a one-third down payment and pay-off of the balance in 18 months.

The reserve board said its action will have little practical effect because, it said, the general trade practice on older cars before federal curbs were imposed was to require even stiffer terms.

Business Failures Take Drop For Week

NEW YORK — (AP) — Business failures in the week ended Dec. 20 totaled 117, down 26 from the 143 of the preceding week. Dun & Bradstreet has reported. The number compared with 174 in the corresponding week of 1950.

CHURCH OF CHRIST — Above is shown the newly completed Church of Christ building at Harvester and Mary Ellen. First services will be held today. The new building is an indication of the expansion of the church here from the original membership of 35 persons who held meetings in private homes. (News Photo)

Services First Held In Private Homes

After being located 24 years at Francis and Warren, the Church of Christ will move to its new quarters today at Mary Ellen and Harvester where first services will be held at 10:45 a. m.

Prior to the church on Francis Ave., services were held in private homes and public buildings. In 1927 it was decided a permanent location should be found for the church, and through the cooperation of the late J. W. Eller, who donated a lot for the structure, the first church building was erected at its present site.

J. P. CRENSHAW
Ninth Pastor

J. L. Spencer and Edgar Wood, Guy V. Caskey, Luther G. Roberts and the present J. P. Crenshaw. During its existence in Pampa the Church of Christ has had nine pastors. Following C. C. Merritt were Jessy P. Wiseman, E. C. McKenzie, M. C. Cuthbert, Claude Smith, D. W. Nichol, Guy V. Caskey, Luther G. Roberts and the present J. P. Crenshaw. One of the present songleaders, W. S. Eller, is the grandson of the person who donated the lot for the first building in 1927.

Also giving large donations for the construction were N. A. Cobb and J. E. Williams, only two original members of the church who still are living.

During the next six years membership grew from an original 35 until new facilities were needed. In 1933 the building was enlarged to its present size.

The idea for a new building and location was born in 1940 when it was decided the structure should be remodeled. However, plans soon were dropped because it was found the ground around the church was not large enough for the expansion required.

It was not until after the war, in 1947, that the congregation, which had expanded to over 300, decided a new location for the church was needed. During the next four years plans were completed, and last March, construction started.

The new building has facilities for 21 Bible school classes, 15 of which will be used at present. Generally, two teachers are used for each class. Leaders for the classes were named recently.

From the original 35, membership now has increased to 400. Present elders are Cobb, B. W. Coffman and H. W. Waters. Deacons include Hugh A. Layne.

Mail For Prisoners To Be Sent To Camps

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Mail intended for known or presumed U. S. prisoners of war in Korea will be sped to the Far East by military aircraft, the Defense department said yesterday.

Such mail previously had gone by commercial planes to Hong Kong for eventual distribution through Communist channels.

The department said mail for prisoners should carry the grade, name and service number of the individual; be addressed in care of the Chinese People's Committee for World Peace, Peking, China, and carry the name and number of prison camp, if those facts are known.

Sentences Close Babysitting Case

LYNN, Mass. — (AP) — The famous $18,000 babysitting case was marked "closed" Thursday with the three schoolgirl principals under court sentence for the theft of the $18,000 from the home of a doctor.

Robert McCauley, 15, the babysitter, and one of her two companions, Marilyn Curry, 16, were placed under jurisdiction of the Youth Service board, a state agency which handles rehabilitation of juvenile offenders.

Eileen Jeffrey, 17, the other of the trio, was placed on probation for two years with the condition that she spend one year at the House of the Good Shepherd, operated by Catholic sisters for the rehabilitation of girls and women of all creeds.

For the next three to four weeks, Roberta and Marilyn will undergo classification processing after which a decision will be made by the Youth Service board as to their future until they reach 21.

Eileen was first sentenced to an indefinite term in the women's reformatory but later District Court Judge William J. Landergeran suspended her sentence and placed her on probation.

The girls were accused of stealing $18,000 from Dr. Albert Covner for whose baby Roberta was a sitter. They went to New York with the money, the girls admitted, and spent $3000 of it on good clothes and entertainment. They were fleeced out of the rest of it by three men they met at a Times Square cocktail lounge.

Dr. Covner, apparently upset by the furor caused by the theft of his money, committed suicide several weeks after the girls' spree.

Saliva May Be Used In Clinical Tests

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Instead of pricking your finger to get a sample of blood the doctor may soon be saying: "Spit in this spoon."

He will be using the saliva for some tests now made only on blood. These tests have been explained to the American Assn. for Advancement of Science, opening its 118th annual meeting Wednesday, with thousands of scientists coming to Philadelphia for the rest of the week to make more than one thousand scientific reports.

The saliva report was made by Dr. Frances Krasnow, of the Guggenheim Dental Clinic, New York City. She and associates discovered that saliva contains cholesterol in the same amounts that this chemical appears in blood.

Cholesterol is a substance common in food, especially in eggs, and it is part of your body's chemical processes. This stuff gets out of order during arthritis and the rheumatic diseases. It is one of the causes — but not the main one — of hardening of the arteries.

Saliva of healthy persons contains less cholesterol than that of sick people. The difference, Dr. Krasnow said, is easily measurable. When you have tooth decay or other dental troubles, there is more cholesterol in your saliva. When you have tooth troubles and also are sick, there is the largest amount of saliva cholesterol.

Dr. Krasnow said all this makes the spit a good diagnostic tool.

A new index for the dangers of radioactivity was reported from the Argonne laboratory in Chicago of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission. The more primitive a living tissue is, the less it is harmed by radioactivity. Human beings are made largely of the complicated tissues.

This does not mean there is no hope for human beings to escape harm from radioactivity. The study serves to set up an additional method of judging how much radioactivity we can stand.

This report was made by Dr. Theodore N. Talmisian, Mrs. Dorothy M. Adamson and Dr. Janet V. Pasonneau.

Horace Hendrickson, who is in his second year as head freshman football coach at Duke, quarterbacked Wallace Wade's first Duke grid team in 1931.

Food Price Cuts May Be Restricted

By The Associated Press
Food shoppers planning menus for the rest of the holidays are likely to find price reductions this week largely restricted to hams — a popular New Year's item — and party snack foods.

Both smoked and fresh hams were reduced about three to four cents a pound to top the advertised-specials list of many large chains and independent markets. Turkeys generally were being held at prices set just before Christmas. Most other meats, along with eggs, butter and the bulk of canned foods were unchanged.

On the fresh produce counters, snap beans, carrots, mushrooms and eggplant were lower-priced this week, but cabbage, good cauliflower and onions edged a little higher. Lettuce, peppers and cucumbers continued relatively high-priced because of light shipments.

Today's Woman Is A Better Bargain, Writer Observes

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — (AP) — A fellow came up to me the other day and said thoughtfully: "Have you noticed how much nicer women have been lately?"

Well, to tell the truth I hadn't. But after brooding about it a bit, I had to admit it was true. Have you noticed it yourself?

It may be that 1951 was just a good vintage year for la belle femme. It may be the girls are making more of an effort to be charming because the man crop is getting scarcer as the draft calls more lads into service.

But I think it is just a natural result of their steadily expanding emancipation. A powerful sex — one of the two greatest in the world — is just coming into real flower.

Women are getting bigger and better in every way. And, as they achieve more important roles, they naturally feel more sure of themselves. That is why they are becoming more gracious, more tolerant of the foibles of man.

Science found this year that men are living longer. But it found that women are living longer — and longer yet. Why not? They have more to live for, and more to live with.

As women find it easier and easier to compete with men in any activity from Indian hand wrestling to peddling life insurance, they are beginning to adopt more of a live-and-let-live policy toward them. They resent the ordinary man less and less and pity him more and more. They will even buy him lunch now and then.

With this new self-confidence, women are letting their human politeness and chivalry come to the fore. A dazed male friend staggered up to my desk just yesterday and stammered, "Y-you may call me a liar, but as I was coming into the office just now I saw a woman push her own way through the revolving door."

Why not? Incidents like this are bound to multiply. There are bound to be many more such examples of womanly self-reliance in 1952.

And they will be noted and appreciated by men, to many of whom still have the outdated idea that women rely on wiles

REFLOADING CHRISTMAS TREES — Four Scouts shown above reload Christmas trees on their truck after they had scouted about town collecting the trees and then unloading them at the J. W. Garman residence, 1125 Charles. The Scouts were told there was a 25-cent reward for each tree brought to the Garman home. Early in the afternoon Friday, several large piles were dumped at the Garman home — then it was found the "reward" was a hoax. But the Scouts weren't disappointed too much, they regathered the trees and held a tree-burning contest at the city dump 6:30 p.m. Saturday. Other victims of the hoax were Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Roche, 1201 Mary Ellen, Mrs. Roche said between 18 and 20 persons tried to sell 600 Christmas trees to them Friday. (News Photo)

Life May Be Less Harried In 1952, Economists Claim

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK — (AP) — Your life in 1952 should be a little less harried and confusing than in 1951 — because now you know what to expect. And the ups and downs shouldn't be so sharp. That's because you'll be reaping what was sown in 1951 — in real terms, in fact. Inflation is being kept under control, and your car will cost you more. There will be about four million new cars. The government says that will take care of all real needs. And some auto makers think that's all they can sell next year. Others are just as sure they could sell five million and in the fear that sent you and your boss at times to buying them. Tires will be plentiful. Octane ratings of gasoline will be lower but there'll be plenty of gas. The clothing industry can out you and your wife and your friends in the armed forces with capacity to spare. There'll be almost as many new homes next year, and you may stay high through 1952. Plenty of everything to put in your home. In fewer TV and radio sets many lines. And consumers won't have to look far to find all the goods they want. Shortages aren't in the picture. Yet. Higher wages plus more jobs. Wage scales are expected to club. Those tied to the cost of living will go up if prices do. Unions will try hard for a guaranteed annual wage. Personal income will be up. That is the total income of all Americans — the rich, the poor work for will feel the higher and that vague creature, the average American. But if the rate of increase — bar. Merchants hope for better times. Many are reconciled to poor sales showings at the start of the year when compared to last year. Controls will be with you all year. But they'll chafe worse in the first six months of 1952. As a result, industrial production as

Texan Sees Buildup In High By July 1

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Rep. Mahon (D-Texas) has predicted the defense program "will really be going full speed ahead" in the year that starts next July 1. Mahon, chairman of the House Appropriations subcommittee that handles funds for the armed services, told a reporter he expects the Army, Navy and Air Force will need about $50 billion during fiscal 1952-53. The Texan said the main part of next year's defense funds probably will go to the Air Force, expected to expand from 95 to 140 groups. Army and Air Force, he said, jointly shared the bulk of the $54 billion appropriated since last Jan. 1. Mahon said only about $40 billion actually will have been spent by the end of this fiscal year, next June 30. "That means that the defense program will really be going full speed ahead in the fiscal year beginning July 1," he added. The Texan said he intends to discuss next year's appropriations with Defense Secretary Robert A. Lovett and other Pentagon officials in the next few days. "We hope a detailed breakdown on proposed military expenditures will be ready by the middle of January," Mahon said. "Regardless of that, we will begin closed hearings early in the month to get an idea of what to expect." Mahon noted that the $50 billion anticipated for the 1952 fiscal year is "considerably under" the $54 billion "we appropriated in this current calendar year." He added: "However, that doesn't reflect any letdown in our preparedness program. As a matter of fact, we are just building up toward the high gear level of operations required for our defense."

Ivan Peacock Is Due Honor

Boy Scouting's highest honor, the Eagle Scout award, will be presented Sunday to Ivan O. Peacock, son of Mrs. Dorothy Peacock, 503 E. Browning. He has been in Scouting seven years with all his service in the Santa Fe district. He began his work as a Cub in Pack 4 when he was 9. He entered Boy Scout Troop 4 when he was 12 and Explorer Post 4 at 14. All these organizations are sponsored by the First Christian church.

Crooner Is On The Decline, Singer John Carroll Says

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — The crooner is on the decline, observes John Carroll. Of course, he could be prejudiced. He is one of those singers who could shatter windows if he opened up. But he claims that is beside the point. "My best friends are crooners," he remarked. "And I'm sure they're still going to be around and making money. But as far as I can judge, there is a change going on in the kind of singing the public wants. I believe there are styles in singing, just as there are in music. I remember when jazz became the rage, since I was brought up in New Orleans where it was born. And I remember when crooning first became popular. Gene Austin was the first one. Then came Rudy Vallee, Bing Crosby and Russ Columbo, who, incidentally, was my roommate. "Lately there has been a new trend. It was started by the success of Ezio Pinza in 'South Pacific.' Then Mario Lanza made a big hit. The success of their records has brought a big demand for the kind of singing that requires the full voice. People are not only willing but eager to hear classical and semi-classical numbers, instead of the pop tunes." Carroll just returned from playing an engagement in Houston. The trend away from crooning was dramatically impressed on him at his opening night. "I had a sore throat and a fever of 102," he related. "But I jabbed myself full of wonder drugs and went on. I couldn't sing full voice and I thought I could

Official See Cut In Car Production

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Without giving figures, Defense Production Administrator Manly Fleischmann says auto production will be "substantially cut" during the second three months of 1952. Government allotments of critical metals for the first quarter are designed to allow production of 1,800,000 passenger autos. Fleischmann declined, in a advance of a meeting here with industry officials tomorrow, to say what further cut would be made for the second quarter. From other sources it was learned that the goal for the April-June quarter is one million cars.

Gls Can Shoot Around Corners Now With New Machine Gun

DETROIT — (AP) — The Army machine gun, commonly known as the M-3, has perfected a sub-machine gun among the GIs as the "grease gun" that shoots around corners. And what is more, Joseph C. Soma, project engineer at the new ready for large scale production Detroit arsenal, says the curved duct. It can be set to fire barrel is more accurate than a left or right, up or down. The gun using the curved barrel shoots a .45 calibre slug that can be deflected as much as 90 degrees and will pierce an inch-thick pine board at 100 yards. It will fire 60 rounds a minute. The around-the-corner gun is made by attaching a curved barrel to the Army's M-3 sub-machine

ADDED MILK VALUE
If the growups in your family aren't drinking all the milk they should, serve them American cheddar cheese often; the cheese's food value is similar to that of milk.
Some said arsenal engineers developed the curved barrel from the common steel and it will last the life of the gun. The Germans developed a gun in the latter part of World War II but it was not successful. Neither was an earlier U. S. model.
The curved barrel can be attached in less than a minute. Tank crews in Korea asked for such a gun to shoot Communists off the tops of their tanks. Often they reported, they had to ask other tank crews to blast Reds who had crawled atop their tanks.

L. Henderson Installed As Resident Of Kiwanis For '52

Feel I have received more pride he had taken in leadership. Kiwanis than I have put in the organization." E. L. Henderson, 1952 president of the Pampa club, told Kiwanians during a meeting in which Henderson took over duties from Hart, 1951 president, and committee members serving under him. "I have a pin while Hart was given a past president's button. "A club is what members make it. A president can't run it alone. Four achievements by the club were named by Hart. More than 90 percent of members' wives were present on ladies day, $602 was given the Girl Scouts, $375 was donated to the city recreation program and 2600 was spent on moving the club's softball field. "In addition," he added, "we have had two visits from Gov. Luman W. Holman of the Texas-Oklahoma district, which has made the year complete."

Area Couple Helping Out Errant Girls

"I made up my mind in Santa Claus," the school superintendent, Mrs. Maxine Burlington, said Saturday. Yesterday their check for $300 for a student education fund came."

New Attack Plane Announced In Dallas

DALLAS — (AP) — Chance Vought aircraft announced production Saturday of a new jet-powered attack plane designed as an answer to close ground support problems in Korea. The A-1J Corsair, similar in external appearance to the present F4U Corsair, made its initial flight yesterday. The F4U Corsair has been used extensively by the Navy and Marine Corps for close support missions in Korea.

TIME BUSTER GETS NEW BEAT—Federal Judge Thomas Murphy, picked by President Truman to sweep the "wrongdoers" of the federal government, looks over a sketch hanging in his New York office. S. district attorney, as the perjury-trial prosecutor of Alger Hiss and later as "clean-up" police commissioner of New York City.

The 186-ton U.S. freighter, The Southland, from Savannah, Ga., radioed earlier that she had taken 15 persons off the Enterprise. One dead person was taken off the ship by the Gen. The Flying Enterprise is owned by the Isbrandtsen line. Its home port is New York. It was enroute from Hamburg, Germany.

Boys had reported sighting what might be wreckage in the river there.

Passengers on the Queen Mary said it was awful. Tables, dishes and glassware went hurtling through the air. It was a nightmare for dining room waiters.

"It's our last chance to use one-cent post cards," said Mrs. Winifred Furch, a member of the rebellion. "So here goes a barrage. They've doubled the postal card rate, along with taxes, but we're taking one last fling before New Year's, letting them know our sentiments."

Harvesters Capture Brownwood Basketball Tournament

Locals Beat Fort Worth Five To Win Top Tourney Honors

By WARREN HASSE
Pampa's hustling Harvesters, playing the outstanding type of ball of which they are capable, captured their second Howard Payne basketball tournament in four years Saturday night, defeating Amon Carter Riverside of Fort Worth, 45-33.

In addition to the tournament championship, the Harvesters placed two men on the all-tournament team. They were Sophomore Jimmy Bond and Senior Guard Tommy Smith.

The Harvesters, playing steady ball, took an early lead over the Eagles. But at the end of the first period, the Eagles had worked into a 10-10 tie. In the second period, Jimmy Bond who was high point man again last night for the Harvesters with 23 tallies, went to work.

He scored 10 points in the second quarter and the Harvesters held a narrow 25-22 lead at halftime. The sensational sophomore came back in the third period with 11 more points to extend the Harvesters lead to 42-30 as the last period started.

The Harvesters then went into a stall that kept the Eagles' scoring to three points while the Harvesters racked up an equal number to gain the victory.

It was a brilliant team victory for Coach Clifton McNeely's quintet. Despite illness, several of the boys played the entire game and the entire team played stellar defensive ball. Duane Jeter and Jimmy Bond continued to hold their own. Wayne Buchanan, the tournament's leading scorer, to a 14-point total for the night.

A 10-man all-tournament team was selected. In addition to the two Harvesters named, on the all-tournament team were Wayne Buchanan of Riverside, Bill Warwick, San Angelo, Carl Anderson, Sweetwater; Truman Powers, Stephenville; Walter Spiller, Odessa; Calvert Shortt, Big Spring; Louis Gillespie, Arlington Heights; Bill Hanks, Snyder. Each of the boys was awarded a miniature gold basketball.

In the consolation championship, San Angelo's Bobcats defeated Stephenville, 53-41.

The Pampa Harvesters moved into the championship finals Saturday morning with a thrilling 15-11 victory over the Sweetwater Mustangs.

The Bond brothers, Marvin and Jimmy, led the Harvesters attack with 15 and 21 points respectively.

The Harvesters started out leading 21-11, at the end of the first quarter. At that time it looked as if the Green and Gold would have an easy time of it.

But then the Mustangs went to work and managed to pull into a 30-30 tie at half time.

Coach Clifton McNeely brought his team back the second half with a zone defense that checked the Mustangs' scoring for the early part of the third quarter.

Meanwhile, the Bond brothers went to work, scoring 16 points between them at the start of the third quarter to move the Harvesters into a lead of 44-30.

As the fourth quarter started the Harvesters led 54-45.

Apparently feeling safe behind the nine-point margin, the Green and Gold started to stall. All Jackie Golden and Harlan Baldwin were left in the ball game. Then the Mustangs started to connect.

They moved upon the Harvesters until, with 30 seconds remaining, the score was 56-55 in favor of the Green and Gold.

The Harvesters continued their stalling and Jimmy Dulaney dumped in a basket at the final whistle to give the Harvesters a three-point win.

In play Friday, the Harvesters won a decisive 55-42 victory over Big Spring. Duane Jeter led in scoring for the Blue and Gold by dumping in 18 points.

Big Spring led in the first period, but fell behind when Pampa began to find the basket.

At halftime, Pampa held a 28-20 lead after hitting the hoop for 15 points in the second quarter to overcome Big Spring's 18-11 lead at the end of the first period.

Coach McNeely sent in reserves to play out the final quarter of the game.

Allie Reynolds Named Year's Leading Player

NEW YORK — (AP) — Allie Reynolds, double no-hit right-hander of the world champion New York Yankees, was named player of the year Saturday by the New York chapter of the Baseball Writers Assn. of America.

He will get the Sid Mercer award Feb. 3.

Eddie Brannick, secretary of the New York Giants, will receive the Bill Stocum Memorial award for his contributions to baseball over a long period of years.

Reynolds, although hampered by bone chips in his right elbow, won 17 games and lost eight, hurled seven shutouts including two no-hit, no-run games and added another victory in the World Series against the Giants.

Arkansas Getting Ready For Game

PRAIRIE VIEW — (AP) — Arkansas A&M footballers — 42 of them — will arrive today to finish training for their Prairie View bowl game at Houston Tuesday against Prairie View A&M.

Coach A. K. Bernard will put his squad through two-day drills today and Monday.

Prairie View will be favored to win. Arkansas lost to Prairie View in a regular season game in October.

The game Tuesday will be the twenty-fourth in a series of second oldest bowl in the country.

A crowd of 10,000 is expected for the game scheduled in Buff Stadium, the Houston Texas League club's field.

Kickoff time is 2 p.m.

Teams Reary For Salad Bowl Tilt

PHOENIX, Ariz. — (AP) — Football teams of the universities of Houston and Dayton, who met in the Salad Bowl classic here Jan. 1 — arrived yesterday.

The Houston Cougars were greeted by more than 100 raucous fans at the airport.

Both teams are in good shape, but ready for the kick-off set for 2 p.m. Tuesday in Phoenix's Montgomery Stadium. A crowd of 21,000 is expected.

Houston Coach Clyde Lee said his team is in good shape, but he wanted to run a lot of running and work on timing during the next three days.

He said he had left halfbacks Jackie Golden and Harlan Baldwin in good shape. Golden was kicked in the head during a recent practice session and Baldridge, who may join the squad here later, has a virus infection.

The Dayton team had arrived some three hours earlier in the midst of a slow rain.

Iowa Reportedly Wants New Coach

IOWA CITY, Ia. — (AP) — The possibility of changes in the football coaching staff at Iowa grew stronger today amid indications that Iowa emissaries have contacted Coach Forrest Evashevski of Washington State college.

The three-year contract of Iowa Head Coach Leonard Raffensperger still has a year to run but customarily Iowa coaches are notified a year in advance whether their contract will be renewed.

A report from Pullman, Wash., yesterday said that Evashevski was meeting at Denver with Iowa representatives.

Phillips Visits Here Tuesday Night

The Pampa Harvesters will return to action before their home fans next Tuesday night when they play host to the Phillips Blackhawks in a return game. It will be the final home appearance for Coach Clifton McNeely's cagers prior to the opening of the district campaign.

This weekend they will participate in the Childress Tournament, a two-day affair, Friday and Saturday. The Harvesters are defending champions in this annual meet.

In an earlier game this year, the Harvesters defeated the Blackhawks, at Phillips, 53-35.

The game will likely be the last appearance of a Harvesters basketball team in the old junior high school gymnasium, also. It appears now that the new field house will be available for the first home conference game, Jan. 19, against the Berger Bulldogs, favorites to take the championship.

The floor is nearly completed, and little work remains to be done to conclude the building.

Clemson Confident Hair Will Do Job

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — (AP) — Clemson has won three bowl games by a hair and the Tigers think they have the Hair to win with again in the Gator Bowl New Year's day.

He's Billy Hair, all-Southern Conference junior tailback.

This Hair wasn't doing the running, passing and kicking when Clemson beat Boston College 6-1 in the 1940 Cotton Bowl and Missouri 24-9 in the 1949 Gator Bowl. But he did much of it in the 15-14 Clemson victory over Miami in the Orange Bowl last Jan. 1.

Hair ran for 663 yards in 158 plays and completed 61 passes for 96 yards and a total gain of 1579 yards — this season.

Benner, who paced the SMU eleven to its upset win from Notre Dame last season, was a nearly the whole offensive show for the Grays, although it was little Jim Barton of Louisiana State who threw the winning touchdown pass, a seven-yarder to Chester Freeman, another LSU back, in the final two minutes.

But it was Benner who had engineered the drive into scoring position.

That was true of all three Gray touchdowns. Each came after Benner had been taken out, but each time it was his passing which got the ball downfield. All were counted in the second half, twice to tie the score, and the last one to win the game.

Benner was voted the game's top player by the press box corps.

Jowa's great fullback, Bill Reichardt, paced a first half attack for the Blues, scoring a touchdown from the one, and heading an array of blockers on good gains by Rolfe Strehlow, from Wisconsin.

The picture changed quickly when Benner took over the Gray passing in the second half. He completed four of five throws to get 76 of the 81 yards necessary for a score. Barton took it the last foot.

Benner's Brilliant Passing Gives Grays A 20-14 Victory

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — (AP) — The brilliant passing of Fred Benner, Southern Methodist ace, brought the Gray All-Stars to a 20 to 14 victory over a Blue squad which could do little against the Texan's air thrusts.

Benner, who paced the SMU eleven to its upset win from Notre Dame last season, was a nearly the whole offensive show for the Grays, although it was little Jim Barton of Louisiana State who threw the winning touchdown pass, a seven-yarder to Chester Freeman, another LSU back, in the final two minutes.

Strehlow put the Blues back in the lead on the second play of the final period. Bobbie Albert of Bucknell raced 32 yards with a punt to the Gray 12. Strehlow made it all the way on the next play.

Then Benner went back to work, getting 48 yards on one long throw to Jackie Reeler of Wofford to spot the ball two yards from the goal. Freeman carried it over.

Freeman and Reichardt added the extra points after the first four scores, to leave the game tied at 14-14.

Only four minutes were left as the Grays began their final drive, with Benner passing to Barton for 11, to Steve Wadiak of South Carolina for 13, then to Barton again for 24. With the goal only 7 yards away, Barton flipped the scoring toss on fourth down.

For the day, Benner completed 14 out of 21 passes for 272 yards. It was one of the top individual performances in the 15 Blue-Gray games.

The contest is played annually between picked squads of northern and southern senior college players. Today's win was the 9th for the Grays.

Victoria High Coach Resigns

VICTORIA, Tex. — (AP) — Alton (Bull) Durham has resigned as head coach of Victoria High school following the most successful season in his four-year tenure.

The 42-year-old coach, who turned out one of New Mexico's best teams at Las Cruces High school before coming to Victoria, said he had "no definite plans in mind."

Victoria won third place in the district 7-AAA football race this past season, including a defeat of Thomas Edison High school, the eventual district champion. His teams won 12 games in four seasons.

He's loving it at the Point. Thanks to Harry Wisner. During his harvest at the Brown-Brown game last Sunday he described Elroy Hirsch as "the brilliant Elroy Hirsch, the pride of Wisconsin". How true, how true. He's a brilliant end now, after performing at left half for the Badgers a few seasons back.

Expect an announcement soon that J. B. Palmer has been named playing-manager of the Lubbock Hubbers. Paul Dean ought to spill the news soon. James Sides set a new all-time rushing mark for Westerners back this year when he gained 1,441 yards.

Speedy Mac Taylor, of the 950 club, had set the previous mark of 1,217. Incidentally, the 1950-51 Lubbock Westerners state basketball champions held a reunion at Lubbock last week.

The boys came from far and near and listened to a taped broadcast of their state championship game. Big Waldo Norton, the nucky center, is attending Yale. The all-state football teams selected by the state's sportswriters will be released sometime after the first of the year. Final meeting is at Dallas at Cotton Bowl time.

Which reminds me that Jenks Little, phone 9038711, has four tickets to the game that he can't use.

He said he'd sell them at regular prices, first come, first served. City golf champion Clare Freeman may not enter the Eskimo Golf tournament New Year's Day at Amarillo. Interferes with listening to all the bowl games, he says.

ANSWER: Wishing Ring won a race at Latonia, June 27, 1912, paying $1,885.20 to win, $644.60 to place, and $172.60 to show.

WEEKEND CLEANUP: Eddie Carnett was in the area last week. The former Berger manager and Albuquerque hurler has dropped out of baseball to work with his father in the insurance business in Tulsa. Pampa is in his territory. Gale MacArthur and Keith Smith, the two ex-Oklahoma Aggies playing for the Amjets of Amarillo Air Force base, were roommates in college. Jimmy Howard, former Harvesters cage star, is playing on the team at West Point

Congratulations to the Harvesters on another fine job well done at the Brownwood tournament. They again represented Pampa High school and the city of Pampa before the fans at Brownwood in admirable fashion. This was the fourth appearance for Coach Clifton McNeely's five at Brownwood, and each year the Brownwood fans seem to support them stronger and stronger.

There is no need whatsoever of holding a meet here if the boys aren't going to attempt to get ready for it. Wellington High school is sending a boxing team of about 25 fighters to the Pampa tourney. They may not be the most experienced boys in the district, but they will be in good shape and ready to go to work in the later rounds after their opponents have tired. They have a good coach in John Lee. Shmrock and Lafors are also expected to contribute boxers to the Pampa event. Here again the fighters will be in top shape due to the fact they represent the high school team and again here, have good coaching in the Callan brothers, Robert and H. W. But Pampa's fighters, with all the essentials made available to them get in shape and get the best of coaching, are failing to take advantage of it. They want to finish to continue with a boxing program in Pampa, you'll have to start training in earnest.

So, for the benefit of the boys who want to box in Golden Gloves. Just this one reminder: if you want to continue with a boxing program in Pampa, you'll have to start training in earnest.

WARREN'S ARMUP

By Warren Hasse—News Sports Editor

QUESTION: Here's one for the horse racing enthusiasts. What is the largest $2 straight mutuel ticket ever cashed?

GOLDEN GLOVES TIME IS JUST around the corner and some of the districts that will send representatives to the Amarillo regional tournament aren't finding things moving too smoothly. The regional tournament is scheduled for Jan. 22-26 at the auditorium in Amarillo, as usual.

Over at Berger the Jaycees are sponsoring the tournament and are having considerable trouble obtaining a place to workout their fighters. In addition, they have no capable coach or trainer.

This is a bad situation, because a boy has to be in good condition if he is going to fight in the tough Golden Gloves competition. And to get in shape, a boy must train.

It is a certainty that the Amarillo fighters will be in top shape. The boys clubs of that city keep the boys working out regularly.

As far as the Pampa District tournament is concerned, trouble also exists, but of a different nature.

Here in Pampa the boys have a good training headquarters available to them in the Old Pampa News building on West Foster. It is heated and plenty roomy to handle the boys.

They have all of the needed equipment from a good ring to speed and slow bags, etc.

And most important of all, the boys have a coach who is as capable a boxing man as there is in the area in T. J. Watt. Watt drives forty additional miles a day in order to be with the boys each night from 5-7 p.m.

He gets no remuneration whatsoever from the Boys Club. His only benefit is knowing that he is doing a fine job for young men in a field that he enjoys.

But still there is a problem. The Pampa boys want to have a Golden Gloves, they want to box, but they don't want to train for their fights. And unless they start right away, this will be the final year for Golden Gloves in Pampa.

There is no need whatsoever of holding a meet here if the boys aren't going to attempt to get ready for it. Wellington High school is sending a boxing team of about 25 fighters to the Pampa tourney. All's Ready For Cotton Bowl Tilt

DALLAS — (AP) — The Cotton Bowl battle stations were all taken tonight as Texas Christian arrived in Dallas to complete its training for the game with Kentucky on New Year's day.

The Horned Frogs arrived by bus from Fort Worth and were welcomed officially and put through a long session of photography and questioning by newsmen.

Their rivals, a few hours earlier, staged their first Dallas workout. The Kentucky squad arrived Friday night from Houston.

Cocher Paul Bryant was much more cheerful over the physical condition of his players, eight of whom had been hit by a virus infection during their preliminary training period at Houston. But it appeared that every man on the squad would be able to play, although some of them might not be at full strength.

Much of the session was devoted to defending against the TCU spread, the puzzling offense which several coaches have called the finest in football.

Whether he believed he had concocted an antidote for the spread, Bryant wouldn't say.

Kentucky scouts watched TCU in two games but Coach Dutch Meyer of the Frogs would not exchange movies with Bryant, preferring to keep his offense as mysterious as possible. Bryant was not upset over it, however.

"Not having the movies hurt us some," he said, "but we know a little bit about the spread, anyway."

Someone suggested that Coach Meyer might not use the spread, after all, in order to surprise Bryant.

That brought a wide grin from the Kentucky mentor.

"Boy," he said, "I hope he does! That's the kind of surprise I'd like!"

No Secrets In These Workouts

LUBBOCK — (AP) — Closed doors at Texas Tech's basketball workouts are just to keep out the cold.

Coach Holt Robinson would have to be a magician to keep anything hidden from Bert Huffman, whose New Mexico university Lobos meet the Red Raiders here Monday.

The reason? Since Wednesday afternoon the Raiders and the Lobos have been practicing side by side. They're sharing Tech's athletic dormitory and eating at the same training table.

Lindsay's Broken Hand Won't Keep Him Out Of Bowl Game

BILLOKI, Miss. — (AP) — There isn't much Maryland Coach Jim Tatum can do for Paul Lindsay's broken hand, but he has a plan that will help heal the rugged end's broken heart.

The sophomore prid star broke his hand in a scrimmage Thursday. He cried when Tennessee Duke Wyré gave him the news that the injury might keep him out of the Sugar Bowl game with Tennessee New Year's day.

Tatum cried too. And there was something more than football sentiment in his tears.

There was the story of a kid from West Virginia who wanted to go to college because he'd be the first member of his family to make it.

Stoneham's Checkbook Is Due A Beating

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK — (AP) — If Monte Irvin got a 100 percent raise, what will Bobby Thomson get?

Because baseball salaries traditionally are based on what you did last year, Horace Stoneham's checkbook will be frazzled and torn before all his New York Giants are in line.

Whatever it costs, you're sure it will be worth it to Stoneham who still lives in the rosy glow of that stirring September drive. It's a wonder he didn't give away the franchise the day Thomson hit that decisive home run.

With Joe DiMaggio retired and Eddie Stanky gone to St. Louis to manage the Cardinals, the Bobby Thomson signing will be a major news event in New York this winter.

For the Giants, still whooping over the 1955 season, there already is talk of going all the way — pennant and world series in 1956.

Irvin had a few remarks on the 52 pennant race: "We're all sorry to see Stanky go," said Monte. "He was an inspiration and a buddy. His presence will be missed in the clubhouse."

"I think we'll have to worry about Brooklyn, Philadelphia and St. Louis." Most of all we'll need outfield strength, especially if we do lose Willie Mays to Uncle Sam. We could use relief pitching. Max Lanier will help us, and I think Dave Williams will do all right at second."

Sal Maglie, Larry Jansen and Jim Hearn, taking a regular turn, gave Leo Durocher consistent top flight pitching. He always had Dave Koslo for spot duty and occasional relief. Lanier, a regular starter for many years, should fill the No. 4 spot in the regular rotation.

Illini Picked To Win In Rose Bowl

PASADENA, Calif. — (AP) — College football players and race horses are pretty much alike when it comes to figuring out what they'll do on a given day. No one, it seems, can tell in advance.

And so it is today with the Illinois and Stanford football teams as they head into the final stages of preparations for the 38th edition of the oldest post-season game in the nation, the Rose Bowl battle on New Year's day.

Illinois remains the favorite to win, by six and a half points. Today the atmosphere was charged, as usual, with the same empty phrases from the rival camps. Just what the occupants, including rival coaches Chuck Taylor of Stanford and Ray Eliot of the Illini, really think is a well kept secret.

MORE PRECIOUS THAN RUBIES

THE STORY: Alma Conroy, designer for an exclusive jewel firm, "The House of Trumbull," fears her husband Tommy is going to fail her again. Always on the eve of becoming the man she wants him to be, Tommy does something wrong. Now Tommy has received a promotion at The House, and he and Alma have quarreled and Tommy has been drinking. On top of this comes news of third "inside" robbery at The House.

XIII
ALMA CONROY was very tired and she slipped willingly into sleep. Hours later, she awoke with a start. Tommy had come home, very drunk this time. She could hear him stumbling around in the darkness. She snapped on the light and found him sprawled on the living room sofa.

"Tommy! Where have you been? What have you been up to?" But Tommy was too far gone to recognize his wife or to know what he was saying.

"Wash'll you have, everybody?" he shouted. "This round's on me. Everybody in the whole doggone bar! Wash'll it be, folks?"

"Oh, Tommy, you beast!" she cried despairingly. "Come to bed! For heaven's sake come to bed and sleep it off!"

But Tommy couldn't make it unaided. As Alma undressed him, he muttered and shouted alternately, and it was evident from his broken talk that he had done what he always did when he had money in his pocket: been in some bar buying drinks for the crowd and building up his ego by playing the big shot.

Finally she managed to roll him into bed, where he passed out immediately. Alma, trembling from her efforts, picked up his clothing. She hung his coat on a chair and had begun to fold his trousers when she noticed the bulkiness of one pocket. Although it was not her practice, she slipped her hand inside and drew out an incredibly large roll of bills.

Rice Five Beats SMU In Tourney

DALLAS — (AP) — Rice beat Southern Methodist 52-47 in an overtime game yesterday to win first place in the consolation bracket of the Southwest Conference Basketball tournament.

Arkansas previously had won third place in consolation play by licking Baylor 58-44. Last night Texas met Vanderbilt for third place in the championship bracket while Texas Christian and Texas A&M fought it out for the championship.

Southern Methodist scored 18 points in the fourth period to tie Rice 45-45 in the regulation time. The Methodists were leading 45-42 with a minute to go when Don Lance sank a field goal and Maurice Teague dropped in a free shot to deadlock the game.

In the overtime Rice scored seven points before sixteen Blackburn got SMU's only field goal with a half minute left.

NEWCOMBE Accepted For Army Service

NEW YORK — (AP) — Stunned by the news of Don Newcombe's acceptance by the Army, the Brooklyn Dodgers' front office was prepared to waver from their "stand pat" policy and venture out into the open market to seek a replacement for the 20-game winner.

Newcombe's acceptance for military service was announced from Washington.

Newcombe becomes the second Dodger pitcher to be called into service this year. The first was Erv Falcha, also a right-hander, who entered the Army on Sept. 18.

Newcombe's loss, certain to have a serious effect upon the Dodgers' 1952 pennant hopes, struck the Dodger officials and players with stunning force, although to a man, they made a valiant effort to take it in stride.

"Certainly the loss of a pitcher of Newcombe's stature is going to be a rough blow," said Walter F. O'Malley, president of the club. "But Uncle Sam comes first, and in the end I think this will turn out to be a very fine thing. It will be good for baseball, too, because it lets people know that even being a prominent athlete brings no favoritism."

Lots Of Scoring Is Predicted In Orange Bowl Clash

MIAMI — (AP) — A high scoring scramble, with Larry Isbell and Darrell Crawford hooking up in a hot passing duel, is in prospect when Georgia Tech tangles with Baylor in the Orange Bowl football game New Year's day.

Locally, the odds were 6-5 and take your choice of the two teams, but a majority of the experts were choosing Baylor, the Southwest conference runner-up, to win a whisker-close decision from Tech's Southeastern conference co-champs.

Baylor won eight, lost one and tied one during the season. Tech won 10 and its record was marred only by a tie with Duke.

A bowl-jamming crowd of 65,000 will be on hand for the 1 p. m. (CST) kickoff.

Baylor's Isbell, who ranked tenth among the nation's ball throwers during the regular season, will face an aerial defense that coped successfully during the regular season with Kentucky's Vito Parilli (No. 2); Georgia's Zeke Bratkowski (No. 7); Vanderbilt's Bill Wade (No. 8); and SMU's Fred Benner (No. 9).

However, Isbell may offer a greater running threat than any of these top ranking quarterbacks and his corps of receivers may be superior.

Confident George Sauer, the Baylor coach, predicted that his team would score at least twice on Tech. Only Duke crossed the Jackets' goal during the season. He looks for Isbell to outshine Crawford.

"Nobody's as good as Isbell," Sauer says.

Dodd, full of confidence, too, indirectly forecast a victory for his team, which he considers the best he has ever coached at Tech. The winner must score three touchdowns, he said, and "our defense should hold Baylor to two touchdowns."

MOVIES May Film Life Of Meyers

FORT WORTH — (AP) — Leo (Dutch) Meyer, the "Old Batter" they call him at Texas Christian University, may have a motion picture made of his life.

The little coach of the Horned Frogs whose championships and upsells aren't half as interesting as the colorful life he has led, is now talking with motion picture interests with a view toward filming his career.

Meyer has been at Texas Christian more than 30 years as player and coach and has been head coach 17 years. When he takes his football team to the Cotton Bowl next Tuesday against Kentucky it will be his seventh bowl game.

Coy Poe, former Texas Christian University student who wrote some popular songs and now produces television shows in Hollywood, advanced the idea of picturing Meyer's life story. Poe is here talking with the coach about it.

If the deal goes through, Alan Ladd, the tough guy of the movies, will be Meyer in the picture. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer will make it.

Dutch said he was willing and that "I just hope I'm a good enough subject."

Meyer has been written about in books and magazines and lauded as a coach who wins more than his share of championships with the boys who are unheralded in high school football. His antics on the bench and his fierce desire to win also are well known.

Meyer's wife, Margaret, known by Meyer's football players as "Maggie," died in 1949. The coach wanted to quit then and decided to resign. But TCU officials talked him out of it.

Schepps said Davis had received offers from two clubs of higher classification at the baseball convention at Columbus, O., this month but turned them down to remain in Texas.

Schepps said he would announce his new manager at Corpus Christi prior to the annual Big State League schedule meeting Jan. 12.

Davis Named Manager At Greenville

DALLAS — (AP) — John (Red) Davis, manager of the Corpus Christi club in the Gulf Coast League last season, today became manager of Greenville in the Big State League.

George Schepps, owner of the Corpus Christi club, made the announcement. Schepps gave Davis his release from a contract held with Corpus Christi to accept the job at Greenville, where the city is returning to professional baseball after being out a year.

Davis managed Greenville in 1949, just missing the play-offs. In 1950 he piloted Corpus Christi to the pennant in the Rio Grande Valley League and the championship of the Little Dixie series.

Last year, Corpus Christi was in the Gulf Coast League play-offs, losing in the final round.

Schepps said Davis had received offers from two clubs of higher classification at the baseball convention at Columbus, O., this month but turned them down to remain in Texas.

Schepps said he would announce his new manager at Corpus Christi prior to the annual Big State League schedule meeting Jan. 12.

Williams Grasps AL Slugging Honors; Zernial Tops RBI's

CHICAGO — (AP) — Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox maintained his habit of winning American League slugging honors by taking the 1951 title with .566.

The percentage, based on 531 times at bat and 295 total bases was far under Williams' 1950 figure of .647.

Cleveland's Larry Doby was a second in the slugging department with .512. Gus Zernial of Philadelphia and Detroit's Vic Wertz shared third with .511 each.

Official league statistics released today certified Zernial as run-batted-in champion with 129 in 143 games. It was the first time in three years that an undisputed RBI champ was crowned in the A. L.

ZERNIAL SLUGS

Williams and Vern Stephens split the honor in 1949 with 159, and in 1950 the RBI race ended with a 144 deadlock between Stephens and his Boston teammate, Walt Dropo.

Zernial, who also was first in home run production with 23, was followed on the 1951 RBI list by Williams with 126, Chicago's Eddie Robinson with 117, Cleveland's Luke Easter with 103 and Al Rosen, also of Cleveland, with 102.

Only five players drove in 100 or more runs during 1951 while 11 did it in 1950.

Williams drew the most walks, 143, while Zernial repeated as the No. 1 strikeout victim, being whiffed 101 times. Rookie Minnie Minoso of Chicago was hit 18 times by pitched balls, twice more than his teammate, Nellie Fox.

The dubious record of grounding into the most doubles plays was shared at 22 by Washington's Sam Mele and Boston's Stephens.

Boston drew the most walks as a team, 757, and grounded into the most double plays, 169. Players for the St. Louis Browns fanned the most times, 693.

THROUGHOUT THE BAYOUS They'll hear all - conquering Tennessee and Maryland - hit throughout the bayous in a dual between what Brig-Gen. Robert Reese Neyland calls the Volunteers' old-fashioned single wing way along the route, and is quite likely to do so against an un-sound Stanford varsity in the Tournament of Roses, which would make it six straight for the Big 10. This one plays to 100,000 with each league cutting up that many dollars.

But no coach builds a stouter defense than Bob Neyland, and on the offense the old Army man has a lot to go with the climactic runner and passer, Hank Lauricella.

This one will be witnessed by 85,000, with the participants each get $75,000.

Kentucky has Babe Parilli, but Texas Christian leans to the air lines, too, with Ding Dong Danny McKown, and in addition the Horned Frogs spread all over the place. So we go to Fort Worth, although with not too much confidence. The Cotton Bowl seats more than 75,000, and pays off best of all — $125,000 to each school.

Miami hasn't the line that it possessed when it kicked away the 15-14 game with Clemson in the Orange Bowl last Jan. 1. The joint accommodates 25,500.

Mobile's Senior Bowl North-South tussle ends the procession, Jan. 5.

There the boys get paid on the barrel head, and make no bones about it.

Arkansas Beats Baylor

DALLAS — (AP) — Arkansas threw up a vastly improved defense and Walt Kearns and Tyrone Lewis were hot under the basket, so the Razorbacks beat Baylor 55-44 yesterday to win third place in the consolation bracket of the Southwest Conference Basketball tournament. Rice and Southern Methodist played for the consolation championship.

The first half was close with the teams tied 13-13 at the end of the quarter, but Kearns, Lewis and Billy Heater, the towering center, broke things open in the last minutes of the second period. Arkansas led 34-25 at the half and Baylor never seriously threatened thereafter although twice getting within six points of the Razorbacks in the third period. Kearns and Lewis made 14 points apiece. Ralph Johnson topped Baylor with 13.

Miracle Giants Stole Baseball Headlines With Brilliant Stretch Drive, Pennant-Winning Homer

YEAR-END REVUE

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor
NEW YORK — They'll be talking about the 1951 baseball season for years and years. Fantastic is the best way to describe a campaign that saw one pitcher turn victory for one team into victory for another and make the World Series an anticlimax.

Nothing else mattered the day Bobby Thomson hit his home run in the Polo Grounds to put into record books a National League pennant for the New York Giants. It was so unreal to see baseball fans rolling on the infield grass and press box stenographers with tears streaming down their cheeks.

It really was a house divided in half rooting for the Giants, at for the Brooklyn Dodgers in the day these two arch-rivals tied a three-game playoff.

The fact that the Yankees and their veteran pitcher, Casey Stengel, made it three straight World Series by a count of four games two may never be remembered as vividly as Thomson's famous home run.

In the last of the ninth the Dodgers appeared to have stashed a pennant away. They had a lead. Don Newcombe looked to be a sure winner, having allowed only four hits in eight games. But in the ninth after Stengel and Don Mueller had lined up with singles, Monte Irvin tucked out, and when WhiteyACKMAN scored Dark with a double Newcombe went out.

Ralph Branca, who had allowed Thomson a homer in the first inning of game two days previous, came in to face the Giant slugger. On to had been hitting better than anyone in baseball the last HOLLER GUY—Coaching at third base, Leo Durocher cautions a Giant on second to watch out for an attempted pick-off. After a congratulatory handshake, Durocher waves Capt. part of the season. Yet no one, except maybe Thomson, expected to see a home run, especially with first base open. But on August 11, Thomson found the range and the Giants, shut out the previous day's rookie Clem Labine, had won a pennant by winning 39 of their last 47 games.

The Miracle Giants they called it was the Kefauver Committee and strict law enforcement in various sections that drove the bookmakers to cover and sent to the racetracks those people with an urge to bet.

New York state, the big wheel for thoroughbreds had $345,260,979 pushed through the pari-mutuel windows. It was an increase of $36,783,467 or 8 percent over the 1950 figure and only $100,000 shy of the war-frenzied 1945 record. Attendance totaled 4,380,957 for New York tracks alone. The average daily handle here was $1,761,535.

Thoroughbred racing, an Association figures say 25 million fans went to the races nationally. The betting was 14 percent above 1950 and 85 percent above 1941.

Hollywood Park in California showed a 19 percent increase in wagering as its 50-day meeting averaged $1,630,792 daily. For a 31-day meeting at Chicago's Washington Park the handle went 25 percent above 1950.

At New Jersey's Garden State Park, 50 days resulted in an $8 million or 13.2 percent wagering increase over the previous year. The average handle was $1,373,394. At Monmouth Park the 46-day meeting showed a 21 percent betting increase and a $1,232,779 average. Florida tracks, especially Flamingo-filled Hialeah, also enjoyed an upward trend.

Though an also-ran in the Kentucky Derby, C. V. Whitney's Counterpoint was the Horse of the Year. The 3-year-old beat older horses and led money winners with $250,525. Among his victories were Belmont, Jockey Club Gold Cup and The Gold Cup.

The Derby went to Count Turf, a $31.20 field horse whose trainer didn't bother to make the trip to Louisville. Bold won the Frenckness by seven lengths. Tom Fool was the best of the 2-year-olds in winning the $111,410 Belmont Futurity.

Great Circle earned the top purse — $144,325 — by taking the world's richest race, the $205,700 Santa Anita Maturity.

Citation looked on as another Man of War, won the $100,000 Hollywood Gold Cup and the 6-year-old Bull Lea colt became the first horse to win a million dollars. He earned $1,085,760 in five years and Mrs. Warren Wright retired him to stud.

Charlie Burr, 17-year-old Kansas-born apprentice, led the nation's jockeys. He had several field days at New England tracks. During one stretch he rode four winners three straight days. Chris Rogers, 26 from Hamilton, Ont., rode five winners on one program at Gulfstream Park Fla. New York stars were Eddie Arcaro, Ted Atkinson and Willie Shoemaker. Greentree Stable led in money won, while R. H. McDaniels was top trainer.

The sport mourned the passing of Samuel D. Riddle, 88, owner of Man of War.

Louis B. Mayer paid $100,000 for the 2-year-old filly Princess Lydia after she had won her first five races. Highest priced yearling filly ever obtained at public auction was a bay daughter of Bull Lea and Lady Lark. C. S. Jones of Long Beach, Calif., got the full sister of Twilight for $60,000 at Lexington, Ky.

Seven people were lucky enough to cash a Tropical Park daily double that returned $4,740.50 for $2. And in England, Nickel Coin, a 40 to 1 shot, paid $100,000 for $1. He was the Grand National Steeplechase as 34 of the 38 horses fell or lost their riders.

were 16 games on top in the all-important losing column. The Giants closed a big part of the gap by winning 15 straight in August. Durocher, who never will be accused of being a Lord Fauntleroy, said little. Baseball's one-time stormy petrel let the Giants play their own way.

The Dodgers, in losing 23 of their last 49 games, took the biggest nose dive in history. But for Jack Robinson they would have lost the pennant without a playoff. On the last regular day of the season in Philadelphia, Robinson made a sensational diving catch with the bases loaded in the 12th inning. He made the script complete in the 14th when his coming run with two out won the game. Unsung hero was Newcombe who had blanked the Phillies for the last eight innings after winning his 20th decision the night before.

World Series was the final out by substitute right fielder Hank Bauer. He nabbed Sal Yvar's sinking liner and didn't know he had made the catch until he had completed a somersault. Less than three innings previous Bauer's triple with the bases loaded had not won for the Yankees. Another feature of the Series was Gil McDougald's grand slam homer. It was the first four-run blast ever hit by a rookie in the classic.

There were numerous changes in the game's management, foremost being the finish of A. B. (Happy) Chandler's term as commissioner. In March the club owners voted him down for a second time and in mid-July he quit reluctantly. Two months later, National League president Ford C. Frick was named commissioner for seven years at $60,000 per year. President Warren C. Giles of the Cincinnati Reds succeeded Frick as league President.

Five managers either quit or were fired. First to go was Billy Southworth who quit the Boston Braves. He was replaced by Tommy Holmes who became the youngest pilot in the majors at 33. Then Phil Cavaretta replaced Frank Frisch with the Chicago Cubs, Rogers Hornsby succeeded Zack Taylor with the St. Louis Browns, Lou Boudreau replaced Steve O'Neill and Eddie Stanky was traded by the Giants to manage the St. Louis Cardinals after Marty Marion was a given his release. Marion later signed as a coach with the St. Louis Browns who were purchased by Bill Veeck, ex-Cleveland president.

There were more deals than usual with players changing teams. The Yankees quit at 37 because of numerous injuries. One of the really great hitters and outfielders in the history of the game, he compiled a .325 lifetime batting average. His outstanding achievement was hitting .300 in 1941 and 1942. He was named American League home runs.

Others who quit active play were Marion, who failed to play one game following a knee operation last winter; Boudreau, Bobby Doerr and Charley Keller. The year saw the finish of many major league stars but the retirement of Joe DiMaggio drew the most attention. Tracks Have Good Season At Windows

By FRANK ECK

NEW YORK — People either have more faith in the horse or have taken a sudden liking to the feel of racetrack money. Chances are it's the latter.

In an unprecedented year of inflationary living and high taxation many of the nation's tracks showed a boom in attendance and wagering. Horsemen believe it was the Kefauver Committee and strict law enforcement in various sections that drove the bookmakers to cover and sent to the racetracks those people with an urge to bet.

New York state, the big wheel for thoroughbreds had $345,260,979 pushed through the pari-mutuel windows. It was an increase of $36,783,467 or 8 percent over the 1950 figure and only $100,000 shy of the war-frenzied 1945 record. Attendance totaled 4,380,957 for New York tracks alone. The average daily handle here was $1,761,535.

Thoroughbred racing, an Association figures say 25 million fans went to the races nationally. The betting was 14 percent above 1950 and 85 percent above 1941.

Hollywood Park in California showed a 19 percent increase in wagering as its 50-day meeting averaged $1,630,792 daily. For a 31-day meeting at Chicago's Washington Park the handle went 25 percent above 1950.

At New Jersey's Garden State Park, 50 days resulted in an $8 million or 13.2 percent wagering increase over the previous year. The average handle was $1,373,394. At Monmouth Park the 46-day meeting showed a 21 percent betting increase and a $1,232,779 average. Florida tracks, especially Flamingo-filled Hialeah, also enjoyed an upward trend.

Though an also-ran in the Kentucky Derby, C. V. Whitney's Counterpoint was the Horse of the Year. The 3-year-old beat older horses and led money winners with $250,525. Among his victories were Belmont, Jockey Club Gold Cup and The Gold Cup.

The Derby went to Count Turf, a $31.20 field horse whose trainer didn't bother to make the trip to Louisville. Bold won the Frenckness by seven lengths. Tom Fool was the best of the 2-year-olds in winning the $111,410 Belmont Futurity.

Great Circle earned the top purse — $144,325 — by taking the world's richest race, the $205,700 Santa Anita Maturity.

Citation looked on as another Man of War, won the $100,000 Hollywood Gold Cup and the 6-year-old Bull Lea colt became the first horse to win a million dollars. He earned $1,085,760 in five years and Mrs. Warren Wright retired him to stud.

Charlie Burr, 17-year-old Kansas-born apprentice, led the nation's jockeys. He had several field days at New England tracks. During one stretch he rode four winners three straight days. Chris Rogers, 26 from Hamilton, Ont., rode five winners on one program at Gulfstream Park Fla. New York stars were Eddie Arcaro, Ted Atkinson and Willie Shoemaker. Greentree Stable led in money won, while R. H. McDaniels was top trainer.

The sport mourned the passing of Samuel D. Riddle, 88, owner of Man of War.

Louis B. Mayer paid $100,000 for the 2-year-old filly Princess Lydia after she had won her first five races. Highest priced yearling filly ever obtained at public auction was a bay daughter of Bull Lea and Lady Lark. C. S. Jones of Long Beach, Calif., got the full sister of Twilight for $60,000 at Lexington, Ky.

Seven people were lucky enough to cash a Tropical Park daily double that returned $4,740.50 for $2. And in England, Nickel Coin, a 40 to 1 shot, paid $100,000 for $1. He was the Grand National Steeplechase as 34 of the 38 horses fell or lost their riders.

Shamrock Irishmen Work Daily For Start Of District

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
NEW YORK —(AP)— Monte Irvin, who received a 100 percent salary increase (subject to WBS approval) when he signed his 1952 contract with the Giants, figures he was ready to play major league baseball as soon as he got out of high school. It didn't even sound like boasting when Monte, wearing a flashy sport jacket and looking quite at home in Horace Stoneham's bright blue office, said he could have stuck in the big leagues a dozen years ago. "I could run, hit and throw better than," Irvin said. "I wasn't as smart or experienced as I am now but I didn't have to be then. I did things naturally." Monte also thinks he came out better than some of his Negro League teammates of 1939, Satch Paige, Willie Wells and Ray Dandridge. They were good enough to be big leaguers too, but when the chance came they were too old. . . . Monte, an all-around athlete in his school days, isn't going to aim at Al Dark's title as the best Giant golfer when he starts Florida vacation in the next few days. "I'm not a golfer," he grinned at a question. "I only drive a golf ball."

TEAMWORK PLUS

Tackle Bob Miller, one of Virginia's representatives in the North-South game, is the son of a Norfolk, Conn., dental technician. When Bob, 220 pounds plus, showed up in Charlottesville as a freshman, he brought his own uniform and helmet because he thought Virginia might not be able to outfit a player his size. "That wasn't necessary, but Bob discovered another kind of shortage when Halfback Jim Ashwell busted some of his built-in dental work. . . . Ashwell couldn't get his choppers repaired and worried all week about his ability to hit into the third slab of beef that had been promised the athletes after the final game against William and Mary. . . . There was a SOS and on Saturday morning Miller, Sr., showed up with the necessary spare parts to restore the Ashwell machine to normal condition before game time.

SPORTSMANSHIP

Charley Sweinert, the heavyweight "Newak Adonis" who beat such guys as Luis Firpo and Jack Sharkey, now is running a lending library in Newark, N. J. Oklahoma's Jack Beer will be honored as "coach of the year" by the American Assn. of College Baseball Coaches at their January gathering. . . . Rip Sewell, who broke up the threatened baseball players' strike in Philadelphia a few years ago, received so little consideration from the Pirates this year that he was still waiting to hear from Branch Rickey about the post-season training camp when he got a wire that he was out as New Orleans manager.

WEAK END NOTES

Of 15 players on the U. of San Francisco soccer team which plays Temple today in the St. Louis "Soccer Bowl," five are Latin-Americans and one comes from Spain. No wonder they're called the "Dons." . . . Baseball Commissioner Ford C. Frick and Hugh Egan, U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce sports director, ignored Chicago's minus-10 temperatures during their recent candy cane strike in Philadelphia, Baseball program. . . . And why not, with all that hot stove material to work on?

Texas Conference cagers still found it extremely hard to crash the win column in pre-Christmas games. Conference members failed to register a victory in five games last week.

In four weeks of play the teams have registered five victories out of 36 games played. Texas A&M, though soundly trounced by Southwest Texas State, retained its leadership with a two-won, three-lost record. Howard Payne is second with a two-four slate. McMurry has a one-one, eight-lost margin. Austin College and Abilene Christian have failed to register a victory in eight starts.

A Minister Vaults To Fame To Lead Year's Track Fetes

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor
NEW YORK — Even the pole vaulters skyrocketed during the year. Three of them went almost as high as the prices.

The Rev. Bob Richards, 24-year-old minister, La Verne (Calif.) College, was the outstanding of the three vaulters who cleared 15 feet.

Richards, representing the Illinois A. C., became the second man in history to pole vault 15 feet when he went one inch over that height in the Millrose games in Madison Square Garden. Five times during the year he scaled 15 feet indoors and his top mark was 15 feet 4 1/2 inches at Chicago. Unbeaten during the season, Richards also won in the Pan-American Games at Buenos Aires. Twice outdoors the reverend also surpassed 15 feet. Richards also won the AAU decathlon crown.

Before Richards, the great Ornelius Watermark was the only other 15-foot vaulter. Cory turned the trick 43 times before retiring in 1944. Watermark's record, set in 1942, is 15 feet 3 3/4. However, in the Kansas Relays at Lawrence, two vaulters went over the magical mark. Don Cooper of Nebraska scaled 15 feet 1 1/8 inch to become the second in history to go that high outdoors. A few hours later, Don Laz of Illinois went 15 feet 3 3/4 inches in a triangular meet at Los Angeles.

Don Gehrmann, former U. of Wisconsin star, continued to dominate the mile runners. He beat FBI man Fred Witt nine times out of 11 indoors. Gehrmann ran his string of mile victories to 39 straight before Witt beat him in the K. of C. mile in the Garden.

Other top track and field marks were made by:

Jim Fuchs of the New York A.C. who heaved the 16-pound shot 58 feet 3 1/2 inches; Tom Bane of Tulsa who tossed the 25-pound weight 99 feet 1 inch; and Henry Dreyer of NYAC who threw the 66-pound weight 41 feet 7 1/2 inches.

Miss Nancy Thomason Becomes Bride Of Lt. William Tucker In Stillwater

In a candlelight ceremony read December 20 in the First Presbyterian church in Stillwater, Okla., Miss Nancy Caroline Thomason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Thomason, Pampa, became the bride of Lieutenant William L. Tucker, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Tucker, Enid, Okla.

Rev. William J. Hage officiated at the double-ring ceremony read before an altar decorated with baskets of gladioli and carnations, flanked by greenery and candelabra.

Mrs. Mae Crowder, Stillwater, played "All the Things You Are," "Kappa Delta Garden of Dreams," "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi," and "Through the Years" before the ceremony. The bride's attendants, dressed in identical purple satin ballerina-length dresses, carried purple satin muffs with white carnations and white satin ribbon streamers attached. Mrs. Morgan lost the ring while visiting her daughter, Mrs. Nell H. Reynolds in West Hartford, Conn. Last week, the Reynolds' son, Richard 14, found it while chipping ice on the sidewalk in front of his home.

Mrs. Morgan and her husband returned to their daughter's home for the holidays and she was given the ring when the Christmas gifts were distributed. Morgan said yesterday he'd be glad to return the $750 paid him by an insurance company after he reported loss of the ring which he had bought 43 years ago.

IT'S LIKE JUNE in December what with all the weddings going on. The T. A. Perkins' beautiful daughter, Carole, was seen around town with her handsome young husband-to-be a few days before the wedding, and they made such a handsome couple. Another lovely, lovely bride was Beverly Brandt, the Stanley Brandt's daughter, who had a real Christmas wedding using the holiday colors.

The Christmas theme (and flowers) was used at Allene Weatherford's wedding, too. And on our list of things to come is the wedding of the W. D. Princes' youngest daughter. Her wedding is early in January, and promises to be a lovely event in the family home. Isn't this a happy season for brides?

THIS HAS BEEN delightful weather for this time of year, but couldn't help spotting some tips for real winter weather in the latest Holiday. An article by Anita Colby, famed beauty expert, gave some good tips for out-door enthusiasts like skiers (which we don't have) and ice-skaters (which we almost had on Gily Lake recently). Anyway, she advised applying a fairly greasy face cream plus a little lipstick and that's all that's needed for protection against snow, sun and bitter cold. But our young girls do manage to look so fresh and pretty on these brisk nights. Saw some caroling parties before Christmas, and for all the cold and wind, the girls looked appealing with their hair blown in soft tangles and faces flushed and aglow with the happiness of youth. They don't need beauty tips.

CHRISTMAS CANTATAS at the First Baptist and First Methodist churches Sunday night were both well done from all reports. Virgil Mott led his last presentation before leaving for one of the Waco Baptist churches. Mrs. Mott, accompanist, will be missed as greatly as her husband. They were an asset to their church and an asset to our town's citizenship. Just after the cantata, the congregation honored the Motts at a reception which more than expressed its best wishes for the Motts' future in their new home. We'll miss them.

They were a popular team over Radio Station KPFD at one time. But back to the Methodist cantata. There's another fine husband-and-wife team in the Roy Johnsons, comparatively newcomers, who have already made a place for themselves in Pampa. They're making friends everywhere they go. Another impressive service was held at the Methodist church Sunday morning at which time the adult choir teamed with the high school group for two outstanding anthems. And to us, we liked Dr. Orion Carter's message that morning. At the end of the service, he told all to turn and shake hands with the person next to him, and make proper introductions if you didn't know the person. Embarrassing to see how many of us go to church week after week, and fail to get acquainted with those around us. Let's hope the wonderful spirit of friendliness can pass through the holiday season and into the New Year.

MOST TALKED ABOUT event this week among the churches is the first meeting in the new Church of Christ building near the high school. Mrs. C. P. Pursley assisted in painting the baptistry, and we are anxious to see how many of us go to church week after week, and fail to get acquainted with those around us. Let's hope the wonderful spirit of friendliness can pass through the holiday season and into the New Year.

PAMPA PANORAMA — Parties continued last week right up to Christmas Eve, and we're beginning on New Year's this week. . . . Hardly were the last oohs and aaahs uttered over the lovely country club formal, than invitations were out for the New Year's formal. . . . The high school Sup Deb club had its annual presentation last weekend, and we do believe they have a "partier" crop of pledges every year. . . . The Jon Conleys' well-liked daughter is among the group. . . . And last weekend, too, was the B&PW party. . . . Word is still going around about the way the Jack Foster home looked for the BGK party at the beginning of the holiday season. . . . gold decoration everywhere including the tree which was all gold with gold ornaments. . . . The ESA sorority members entertained their husbands with a party and they all talk about the fun they had opening the "crazy gifts" they all brought to put under the tree. . . . One thing noticeable among the church women's groups was the trend toward filling baskets for needy families or sending boxes to children's homes. . . . But, all in all, it was a time to remember club friends, exchange gifts, and reveal secret pals. . . . It was a time, too, for holding open house. . . . "Drop by for fruit cake and coffee," the invitations read, and what a happy time for pop calls. . . . A big event last Sunday was the party for the Farris Odens who'll be leaving, oh so soon, for Amarillo. . . . One of our favorite Christmas decorations was the Fred Nestles' with the big sign, "Shhhh, babies sleeping". . . . And Mrs. W. E. Heasler was again a favorite with the "stained glass window" effect. . . . Mrs. Loyal Davies made a nice one, too, for their home this year. . . . looks like long and tedious work. . . . Peg's gonna take note of all this year's decorations and really get up something good for next year. . . . Did anyone else think the decorations were somewhat fewer in number this season than in recent years?

NICEST THING about this time are the visits of the college set. They're in one mad whirl with all their little private parties and gatherings, and they store up enough gossip on "the old crowd" to last till summer and vacation's here. They're making new friends at college, but none can replace the grade school to high school chums with whom they shed their two front teeth, suffered through first-year algebra and shared the anxiety of a date for the senior prom. Those who grew up together will always keep a special place in their hearts for one another. And this holiday season is like several great-big homecomings rolled up into one. Among the many, many who welcomed their children home for the holidays were the C. E. Homers, H. E. Saunders, George Scott, George Prieaus, H. C. Wilsons, Floyd Wards, Del Beagles and Harvey Nensiels.

AMONG THE FAVORITE Christmas cards this year were those from the Crawford Atkinsons who pictured their home, and one from the J. G. Morrissions featuring a western motif. Isn't it fun to go back through the cards from other times (or is anyone else sentimental enough to save favorites through the years?) and delight in them all over again. Go through your cards again. . . . who knows, there may be one from

WHAT'S COOKIN' IN GRAY COUNTY HD CLUB WORK

County Home Demonstration Agent

Have you thought about using those leaves that are blowing about your yard? As you don't forget that weeds, vegetable tops and grass clippings used with them help to make a good fertilizer for flowers and gardens, since they help to hold moisture during the long summer days. Some people burn these materials, but they are much too valuable to the gardener to be destroyed in this manner. Have you ever gathered leaf mold from the creeks to put about your shrubs and flowers? They grew and were healthy as a result if you did. By taking care of all these vegetable materials, you may make your own leaf mold, or compost.

This is how you put these materials together. Make a simple enclosure of scrap lumber, brick, stone or wire. These enclosures keep the materials from blowing away. When high winds prevail in the state, a compost pit is preferable. Now place a layer of leaves or vegetation or both on the ground. Add 100 pounds of 4-12-4 fertilizer to each wagon load of compost and you will have a well-balanced plant food mixture. Sprinkle the fertilizer over the materials before covering it with soil. The fertilizer helps to hasten the rotting process. Some people use barnyard fertilizer in place of the 4-12-4. Now after you add the fertilizer to the vegetative materials, add a thin layer of soil, and keep on alternating these layers of vegetative material and soil. Last of all, water the compost well, and keep it damp at all times. This hastens the decaying of the fibrous materials which prepares it for the use of the plants.

In places where the soil tends to be acid, it may be counteracted by the addition of lime to the compost.

It usually takes about three months for weeds, clippings and small limbs to decompose. Therefore, it is very timely now to be making that compost. You use from one-half to one pound of the compost per foot of row space for flowers, vegetables and shrubs. Mix it thoroughly with the soil before seeding. For pot plants, the mixture should be one-half compost and one-half good loam soil or sand. Let's do save these waste materials and make them work for us next summer.

This is also the time to be planning and planting those yard shrubs and trees. The dormant season, when the sap is down, is the ideal time for transplanting. It is well to think the plan out thoroughly, well in advance. Shrubs differ in the habits of growth, and it is well to know of these differences. Some grow tall, while others grow wide. You will consider these growth habits to get a more pleasing arrangement. The wide growing ones need to be placed farther away from the house and the tall ones away from windows. By observing these rules, the plants need not be pruned so often and the light is not cut out of the house and the plants are easier to spray and dust when controlling diseases and insects.

Grouping shrubs of the same kind makes fertilizing and care easier. It also prevents a spotted appearance in the landscape.

Another thing to remember in making your plans, is to know the color of the blooms or berries before you plant. Some bright colored ones will clash with others. Those which should be placed with more subdued colors.

It will save you time and effort too, if you choose plants which are hardy to cold, heat, drought, insect, diseases, sun, shade and soil. Study the design well and place plants far enough apart to prevent crowding. These are all things to consider now before you start your winter planting.

Panhandle Activity Declines Two Wildcat Locations Set

The holiday season was felt in the Panhandle as operations in the field declined to a low point for the year. There were only four new locations staked and four wells completed. Of the new locations, however, two were wildcats, one in Armstrong and the other in Roberts, H. L. Hunt staked a 9000-foot test 13 miles south of Goodnight in Armstrong while The Texas Co. staked an 8950-foot venture 24 miles south of Perryton in Roberts. Three oil completions showed a total potential of 216 barrels. The other completion was a plugged well in Carson.

Crude Demand Hit Peak During 1951

NEW YORK — (AP) — World demand for petroleum products reached an all-time peak of 2,724,000,000 barrels in 1951, and most of it was supplied by the U. S. oil industry, Frank M. Porter, president of the American Petroleum Institute, reports.

U. S. output shot above the two billion barrel mark for the second time in history and reached a record high of 2,245,000,000, Porter noted in a year-end statement. Many credits fell by the wayside as a direct result of the industry's accelerated tempo, he stated. Among the new peaks established were: well completions, increased refinery capacity, the amount of crude oil processed in refineries, and production of crude oil, natural gas liquids, natural gas, motor fuel and fuel oil.

Citing the loss of Iran's oil and the consequent pressure upon the U. S. industry to fill the gap, the API president said: "The U. S., with roughly one-third of the world's oil resources accounted for 56 percent of the globe's total production of crude oil, an increase of 4 percent. This was a reversal of a trend, for the United States' percentage of world production had been dropping steadily in recent years as other countries boosted their output. World production of crude oil reached an all-time high of 3,986,000,000 barrels, up almost 200 million barrels over 1950. U. S. oil exports, which had been declining since 1944, jumped 156 million barrels for the year, an increase of 45 million barrels."

Capital expenditures of the U. S. oil industry totaled about $3 billion in 1951, he noted, making a total outlay of around $15 billion since the end of World War II.

Growing demand for petroleum was spurred by the defense effort and by increasing consumer use, reflecting more automobiles and trucks on U. S. highways, more diesel locomotives on U. S. railroads and more oil burners in American homes, he said. Motor fuel output topped the billion barrel mark for the second time in history. It was a big year, too, for liquefied petroleum gas (butane gas) which, with sales of around 3,943,000,000 gallons in 1951, is one of the "fastest growing" industries in the country, Porter said. Gross production of natural gas set a new record at an estimated 9 trillion 800 billion cubic feet.

At year's end, refinery capacity was pushed up to a new high point. World production of crude oil reached an all-time high of 3,986,000,000 barrels, up almost 200 million barrels over 1950.

Gross production of natural gas set a new record at an estimated 9 trillion 800 billion cubic feet.

At year's end, refinery capacity was pushed up to a new high point. World production of crude oil reached an all-time high of 3,986,000,000 barrels, up almost 200 million barrels over 1950.

U. S. oil exports, which had been declining since 1944, jumped 156 million barrels for the year, an increase of 45 million barrels.

Capital expenditures of the U. S. oil industry totaled about $3 billion in 1951, he noted, making a total outlay of around $15 billion since the end of World War II.

Growing demand for petroleum was spurred by the defense effort and by increasing consumer use, reflecting more automobiles and trucks on U. S. highways, more diesel locomotives on U. S. railroads and more oil burners in American homes, he said. Motor fuel output topped the billion barrel mark for the second time in history. It was a big year, too, for liquefied petroleum gas (butane gas) which, with sales of around 3,943,000,000 gallons in 1951, is one of the "fastest growing" industries in the country, Porter said. World Oil Output Up

TULSA, Okla. — A gain of 128,000 barrels per day in world production of crude oil was shown in October principally as a result of increased output in the United States and Kuwait. The Oil and Gas Journal has reported.

World daily average production in October amounted to 11,893,800 barrels daily, compared to 11,765,900 barrels daily. The record high in world production was reached last June when the total was slightly over 12,000,000 barrels daily. This was the last full month prior to the shutdown of the industry in Iran.

United States production in October of 6,532,000 barrels daily represented another new record for fields in this country. Output in the small Persian Gulf sheikdom of Kuwait rose to 707,600 barrels daily, also a record for this area. Saudi Arabian production was virtually unchanged in October at 88,100 barrels daily.

The Middle East as a whole produced 1,810,300 barrels daily during the month. This represented an increase of 3.9 percent over the previous month, but was still considerably below production from this region before the nationalization in Iran. It brought the stoppage of 650,000 to 700,000 barrels of crude oil daily. The Journal commented that Middle East production is not expected to recover fully until the middle of next year when the new 30 and 32-in. pipe line from Iraq to the Mediterranean comes into operation.

In the Western Hemisphere, Venezuela showed a slight increase to a new high. It was the ninth month this far in 1951 in which Venezuelan output set a record. Canadian production fell off about 12,000 barrels daily, but elsewhere in the Western Hemisphere, the changes were of a minor nature.

Shortages The Only Bar To Peak Year In Permian Basin

By THOMAS H. SMITH
Odessa American Oil Editor

ODESSA — (AP) — Only shortages of materials or manpower can keep 1952 from being a record-breaking year in the oil-rich Permian basin. That is the opinion of spokesmen for representative companies in this oil center. The year 1951 has been the biggest for most local oil supply concerns.

Shortages of steel products, especially tubular goods, is being felt and the outlook is for even stricter controls in 1952. Wildcatting and development of existing fields is continuing at a healthy rate over the Permian basin, an empire of sand and mesquite nearly the size of Pennsylvania. And in the Spraberry trend, drilling is booming with several hundred rigs operating.

As one operator put it, the regular development in this area is cake for the supply people and the Spraberry is the frosting. A spokesman for a major supply outlet here said he hesitated to make predictions because of being badly fooled in 1951. He commented that he had predicted less activity for 1951, a year that turned out to top all others. "All indications point to a continued high rate of activity for 1952, at least for the first six months," he said, pointing out that the momentum of current record operations would assure levels for 90 days into 1952.

An official of a national oil organization commented on the rosy outlook for liquefied petroleum gas products and predicted a "very great increase" in plant and pressure vessel manufacturing construction projects in this area. "Current demand for certain LPG products is far in excess of supply," he said. Construction of new gasoline plants and expansion of existing facilities will account for considerable construction. A trend just starting is the addition of crude sulphur recovery units.

One of Odessa's tool manufacturers sees availability of steel as the only factor limiting his production in 1951. He said an allocation okay from the Petroleum Administration for Defense logged less than three years ago, is is merely a "hunting license" for steel, noting that original requests usually are cut to less than half and raised only after extensive crying on the part of the operator. He condemned the controlled materials plan and commented on the rising black market in steel. However, he said bar steel is not as hard to get as tubular goods. A top man for a tank manufacturing concern which has tripled its ship-facilities in the last few years said he was very optimistic "providing government control doesn't extend beyond the needs of national defense."

He said the Permian basin still has unlimited possibilities. Another spokesman for a tank and pressure vessel manufacturer said Spraberry would continue to play a big part in the business development for years to come. He said wells in the oldest Spraberry pool, in Dawson county, indicated dependable levels of production. The Spraberry trend is a major development in Upton, Reagan, Glasscock, Midland, Martin and Borden counties. Production in 17 Spraberry pools in October was more than 1,000,000 barrels. The first Spraberry production was a police and hastened their decision.

Rig Activity Takes Drop

DALLAS — A total 3116 rotary rigs were active in oilfields of the United States and Canada for the week of Dec. 24, according to a report to American Assn. of Oilwell Drilling Contractors by Hughes Tool Co. This total compares with 1265 reported a week ago, 3134 a month ago, and with 2480 in the comparable week of 1950.

A comparison by principal areas for the past two weeks, shows: Pacific Coast, 180, down 5; Oklahoma, 361, down 15; Kansas, 189, down 22; Rocky Mountain, 178, down 15; Canada, 172, up 1; Ark-La-Tex, 206, up 9; West Texas & New Mexico, 1027, down 18; Gulf Coast, 655, up 22; Illinois, '50, down 5.

Swim For Freedom
BELGRADE — (AP) — Only one of four Romanians who attempted to flee their Communist-dominated native land by swimming the swift, frigid Danube River survived to tell the tale. The lone survivor, a 24-year-old graduate law student, was towed ashore by Yugoslav peasants. Roped together with him and buoyed up by automobile inner tubes were his three dead companions. After six hours of artificial respiration the law student was revived. Disasters in Romania had brought them to the attention of security police and hastened their decision.

Authentic Handcuffs

PORTLAND, Me. (AP) — Authentically backfired on the stage here, Actor Phillip Young insisted on borrowing official police handcuffs for his role with the Portland Players. In the middle of the third act rehearsal Young was in distress. He couldn't get the handcuffs off and there wasn't a key in the house. So the whole cast moved to police headquarters where a police captain removed Young's manacles so he could sign a "confession."

WORLD OF WOES GREETS 1952

BRITAIN: New government faces more austerity, deeper financial crisis; Britain loses stature in Middle East surge of nationalism.

GERMANY: Still divided, seven years after war; Reds peddle confusion, fear and distrust of West.

SOVIET UNION: Actual borders of Soviet sphere changed little during 1951, but Kremlin sticks to its course of war-by-satellite and exploitation of free world's weaknesses and disagreements. Kremlin's active wars go on in Asia, but ripest fields for Soviet plunder are Middle East and Western Europe.

KOREA: Scene of bloody war, Red atrocities, prolonged truce-making efforts. Stalemated war or stale-mated truce, future of Korea looks bleak.

UNITED STATES: Wrestles with guns-vs.-butter problems on defense mobilization creaks ahead. As U. S. leads free world's rearmament, inflation causes biggest woes.

WESTERN EUROPE: Builds defenses under Eisenhower's leadership, but progress is critically slow. Economies of NATO countries are strained; they seek more U. S. aid.

IRAN: Bounces Britain from her oilfields at risk of her own economic collapse; seeks U. S. aid.

JAPAN: San Francisco treaty invites her to rejoin family of nations. Girds for defense against Reds.

INDO-CHINA: Communist see-saw wars still drain French and British military strength.

FORMOSA: All that remains of Free China, still held precariously by Chiang Kai-shek. He wishes to strike back, wants U. S. to lead.

AUSTRALIA, PHILIPPINES, NEW ZEALAND: Firmly allied with U. S. in new mutual defense pacts; Philippines beset by internal strife, economic crisis.

YUGOSLAVIA: Leans further toward West, as Stalin and his Balkan satellites keep pressure on borders and in diplomatic channels.

EGYPT: Steals world "trouble-spotlight" in trying to evict Britain from Suez Canal Zone and the Sudan. Moslem demands for "holy war" ring out amid riots and bloodshed.

MIDDLE EAST: Area of general political unrest, with rash of assassinations and revolts; anti-British feeling runs high.

TURKEY: Defies repeated Soviet threats as she plans to join Atlantic alliance. Russia wants more control over Dardanelles.

Baby New Year's work is all cut out for him. Old Father 1951 left plenty business unfinished. The Newsmag above shows where most of the world's troubles appear. But, free world observers generally agree that the roots of nearly all the trouble stem from 10,000,000-square-mile sphere of the Soviet Union (stripe-shaded area of map.)

...AND IT COMES OUT HERE—Nurses at St. Thomas' Hospital, London, Eng., watch a demonstration of a remote-control typewriter especially designed for persons who are able to move only the tips of their fingers. The machine, made in the United States, was among a number of aids shown in an "Outwitting Handicaps" exhibition.

DRY-CLEANING JOB—It beats the old wet wash-tub, thinks Duke, pet pup belonging to young Mark Buck of Las Vegas, Nev. But Duke still isn't too fond of a cleaning job, even when it's done with a modern vacuum cleaner.

FIRE MARSHALL IS BURNING—Capt. John Dezanok of the California State Fire Marshall's office, Los Angeles, steps back from the intense heat of flames consuming a knit rayon sweater just 18 seconds after he applied a match to it. Fire authorities are holding over 300 of the sweaters, being sold by itinerant peddlers, after at least four persons were burned when their sweaters flared.

ICE MEN? NO, FIREMEN!—Sub-zero weather and the spray from their hoses conspired to give these Chicago firemen a heavy covering of ice. The firemen were battling an early-morning hotel blaze that left 300 persons homeless in the cold.

Texas Showed More Concern On Vice Activity In 1951

By BO BYERS

AUSTIN — (AP) — Texans indicated more concern about the evils of gambling, dope addiction, and other criminal activity in 1951.

As a result —

1. Slot machines and punchboards disappeared from most parts of the state.
2. Maceo and Co. of Galveston lost its telephone service on horse race information.
3. Stricter penalties were invoked for the illegal manufacture, possession or sale of "good balls" — barbiturate pills.
4. Sixteen members of the Maceo entertainment empire were indicted by a Galveston county grand jury for operating a gambling house. The same grand jury returned a total of 35 gambling and open saloon indictments in November, and prosecution is pending.
5. The House Crime Investigating committee credited by getting most of the evidence on which the indictments were based — forced Sam (Books) Serio, the Maceo's general accountant, to admit the company grossed more than 4 1/2 million dollars from illegal operations in 1949-50.

6. A marijuana ring was discovered operating in the Wichita Falls High school. A grand jury indicted 10 persons on 21 counts, and District Attorney Alan Haley estimated 25 students had been involved. The grand jury told parents to keep closer check on where their children go, what they do, and how much money they spend.
7. Louis (Chicken Louis) Ferantello of Dallas was stuck with a $1,000 fine and a 12-month jail sentence when a Travis county jury found him guilty of contempt of the house crime investigation committee. He plans to appeal the case. He is under indictment in Dallas county for operating a gambling house.
8. Mickey Cohen, West Coast gambler who later was convicted in California of income tax evasion, was indicted for contempt of the House committee when he failed to appear for questioning. He will run the risk of fine and imprisonment if he ever returns to Texas.
9. Homer Garrison, Jr., state public safety director, said he would renew his plea before the next legislature for reinstatement of narcotics division which was abolished in 1939.
10. Three Texans were charged with failure to pay the new federal gambling tax which went into effect Nov. 30. Charges were expected against at least nine others.

While the grand jury has been busy in Galveston, two of the resort city's most famous locations — the Baines room and Western room — were reported by the Galveston News still to be in operation, but only for members.

"Liquor by the drink and the usual recreational facilities (with the exception of slot machines) are available for members only, members say," the News has reported. "The clubs are not open to the public, and there is no gambling or slot machines in Galveston."

Two men focused much of the attention on organized crime. One was Attorney General Price Daniel of Liberty, who handled the injunction suit to prevent the Maceos' receiving horse race information by telephone.

The other was J. P. Fred Meredith of Terrell, chairman of the House Crime Investigating committee, who ripped negligence on the part of local officials in the fight against racketeers and hoodlums.

Meredith and his colleagues, Reps. Bill Wood of Tyler, Charles Murphy of Houston, Horace Houston of Dallas, and Waggoner Carr of Lubbock, will continue their work in 1952. They will submit their findings and recommendations to the legislature in January, 1953.

They already have recommended that penal laws be amended to impose heavier penalties for repetition of offenses.

Attorney General Daniel claimed Texas had the best anti-crime record of all the states this year but added this warning: "continued vigilance on the part of citizens and officials is necessary to keep this state clear of organized crime."

"I have no intention of looking at the matter reasonably, after all, why should you win ALL the arguments?"

U.S. Busy Trying To Discount British Claims On New Rifle

Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md. — (AP) — The United States Army is busy trying to shoot holes in Britain's argument that her new .280 caliber rifle is a superior weapon and should become the standardized rifle for the Western Allies.

American Army ordnance experts, announcing firm intention to adhere to the .30 caliber size for both current and future U.S. rifles, put on a firing demonstration at this big weapons development center recently. British military officials, among others, attended.

All this doesn't seem to augur well for one item on Prime Minister Churchill's reported agenda for discussion with President Truman, Mr. Churchill, due to reach Washington late this week, is an exponent of Britain's new light rifle.

When the British Army showed off its new weapon last April, it didn't make any verbal comparison with American weapons. The U.S. Army ordnance men have pointedly declined to compare their new light, .30 caliber rifle with Britain's .280.

But the firing demonstration, an accompanying "fact sheet" issued by the Army and oral comment put across some points, like these:

1. The American soldier must have a weapon with no less power than that of "any potential enemy." A rifle characteristics table for the major powers showed the muzzle velocity of the present M-1 standard American weapon as about 2860 feet per second; the Russian 7.62 millimeter as 2610; the standard British .303 as 2350. The new .280 British gun is reported to have a 2500-foot velocity. The experimental light U.S. rifle retains the same velocity of the M-1.
2. Even if the U.S. does not go into immediate production of the new light rifle, the lighter weight ammunition (with all its present power retained) can be used in standard M-1 rifles by fairly easy conversion of the barrel and chamber. This, said an ordnance official, means "large stocks of M-1s in this and Allied countries can be converted rapidly to use the new cartridge."
3. The light rifle, using armor-piercing bullets, ripped easily through the quarter-inch armor plate of a Russian - manufactured jeep captured in Korea, at a range of 200 yards. It also bored a hole in a steel helmet at 1500 yards.
4. The experimental light rifle (actually there are two variations under test) weighs about eight pounds, compared with 9 3/4 pounds for the standard M-1. It has a "rate of fire" of 700 rounds a minute, although because of the need for putting in new clips this speed never actually is attained in a rifle. In one demonstration a light rifle fired at a range of 100 yards at the silhouette target of a kneeling man made 44 hits out of 46 shots.

Watching the demonstrations and firing the rifles themselves were military officers from Britain, France and Canada. Whatever opinions the British officers formed, they concealed behind cautious comment.

Reporters who fired the rifles were impressed by their light weight and ease of handling, but they could be fired and handled, in addition to being fired semi-automatically like the M-1 (a shot each time the trigger is pulled) it also can be used automatically, firing like a machine gun.

Ordnance officers were asked if this meant that the Army now was placing less emphasis on accuracy and more on volume of fire. They said no. This wasn't the purpose, but that in emergency a soldier often needs to shoot fast and often.

"For a fanatical enemy, like the Korean and Chinese Communists, he needs a high rate of fire," one expert explained.

Seeks Probe Of Spending

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) has invited fellow Congress members to "tell the people the sorry truth" about the high cost of running the federal office, and who pay the bills.

"It would be a good idea if every member of Congress were required to go before a subcommittee and tell how his campaign was financed," the Senator told reporters.

He contended "far too much is spent on campaigning, the bulk of it raised by contributions from well wishers. In exchange for their contributions, he added, "I suspect that some people expect something besides just good government."

A Senate rules subcommittee headed by Sen. Gillette (D-Iowa) already is studying senatorial campaign costs to determine whether new laws are needed to govern spending.

Humphrey, noting recent irregularities turned up by a House investigation of income tax collection, said he considers bad tax laws passed by Congress are "the base from which this corruption springs."

"If we're going to houseclean, let's clean good," he said. "Let's not just clean the top of the rug. Let's check up on some of the big stealing."

He said that by "big stealing" he meant "inadequate tax laws and tax law loopholes through which he contends $4 billion of potential tax revenues escape legally every year to the benefits of 'less than five percent' of the taxpayers."

New Draft Exams Ordered For Texas

AUSTIN — (AP) — An additional 2000 Texas draft examinations during January have been ordered by State Selective Service headquarters.

All of the increased quota will come from among men who have been examined before and failed to pass mental tests, Director Paul L. Wakefield said.

By the 1951 amendments to the draft law, reexaminations are necessary because of the lowered mental standards now authorized. Wakefield said the program of examining men who previously have failed mental tests will "go on for months."

The increase in the Texas quota was ordered by national headquarters. It raised the Jan-

Extension Given On Tax Returns

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Internal Revenue bureau has granted many corporations an extension of their deadline for filing income and excess profits tax returns.

The extension applies to corporations which have fiscal taxable years ending between March 15 and Dec. 1. All of these corporations now may file their returns as late as March 15.

Under original provisions, corporations with taxable years ending in November were due to file by Feb. 15 and all the others covered by the order had to file by Jan. 15.

The bureau said the extension was granted in view of the problems confronting corporate taxpayers as the result of the new tax laws.

The order also provides that corporations with taxable years ending between March 31 and Dec. 31, which filed their returns before Oct. 30, must file new ones by the new deadlines. The returns filed before Oct. 30 are void, the bureau said.
