Rev. Carl D. Moorehead left the Community church to enter the services as a chaplain in March of 1943. Upon entering, he was sent to Harvard University for training. Since leaving Harvard he has been stationed in North Carolina, Washington, D. C., New York City and is now in Alabama.

Two Services Are Held Sunday At Episcopal Church

Episcopal church will hold Sunday in St. Matthew's Episcopal church in addition to Sunday school which meets at 9:45 a. m.

Both services will be celebrations of Holy Communion; the first at 8 a. m. and the second service at the 11 o'clock hour.

At the 11 o'clock service, women of the church will make the returns from the United Thanks offering boxes and the officers of the newly formed Louise Surratt Auxiliary, a branch of the Episcopal Women's Auxiliary, will be installed.

The Rev. Edgar W. Henshaw, minister, will celebrate both Communion and at the 11 o'clock hour preach on the subject, "What is Religion?"

In commenting on this subject, Rev. Henshaw said he would touch upon such thoughts as, "What is Religion? Is Religion acceptance of a creed? Is Religion praying or attending communion?" This is a repeat sermon which has been requested by members of the congregation and these questions will be answered in the sermon Sunday.

Each Friday evening during Lent there is a brief service and a study conducted by Mr. Henshaw on various religious leaders in comparison to Christ. These Lenten services begin at 8 o'clock.

Increased interest is being manifested in each department of the Sunday school and high goals of attendance have been set in each department. Every member of the church is urged to attend next Sunday, at 9:45 and 11:00 a. m. Rev. Sumrall said.

Christian Science Sunday Study Topic

"Substance" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 12.

The Golden Text is: "The invisible things of him from the creation of the world are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made, even his eternal power and Godhead" (Romans 1:20).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And ye shall seek me, and find me, when ye shall search for me with your heart" (Jeremiah 29:13).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Through many generations human beings will be attaining diviner conceptions, and the immortal and perfect model of God's creation will finally be seen as the only true conception of being" (page 269).

service will be brief and follow the worship period. Mr. Henshaw will give an address in which he will compare Christ and Buddha. "The general public is invited to these services and will find much of interest in the comparison to be made by the speaker, the minister said."

Nurse Describes How Lieutenant Killed Two Girls

RIVERSIDE, Calif., March 10—(AP)—A coroner's jury declares 2nd Lt. Beaufort C. Swancutt fired the bullets that shattered the safety of a Camp Anza officers' club dance Sunday night, killed two girls and a policeman and wounded five other persons.

she heard what sounded like fire-crackers. "I didn't see any gun at that time," she testified, "but I did see the dark girl (Miss Douglas) take a couple of steps and slump. Then the blond girl (Miss Livermore) too a few steps and slumped too. "As she dropped, the blond girl crossed in front of Lt. Aidace Minard, with whom I was dancing, and knocked down the gun. It was in Swancutt's hand, pointed at our chests. As Miss Livermore fell, the gun was discharged and Lt. Minard was hit in his left knee. I ran off the floor."

You Can See War Clearly From Warship Decks

By WILLIAM L. WORDEN ABOARD U. S. FLAGSHIP OFF ENIWETOK, Marshall Islands, Feb. 19—(Delayed)—This is a strange little war. One of the strangest parts of it is that you can see it all. The battle for Eniwetok is spread out in panorama before the eyes of thousands of Americans aboard ships where all can see. It's so close they can almost reach out and touch the battle without ever leaving the rails of their vessels.

There is a sameness of pattern of it. The location is different but the components are the same as those in half a dozen mid-Pacific battle scenes. You can see lines of attacking boats going into the beach, blasts of naval gunfire and the strangely frightening tactics of airplanes. Throughout, the daytime bombers come out of the sun and dive for the beaches. Men on the ships keep count.

"There she comes," they say when the bomber starts her dive. They sigh audibly when the black dots of bombs curve down and away. They wait for the shock of the explosion which shakes the ship as well as the shore. And last, the sharp smell of explosives spreads across the decks along with the smoke of the burning island. These things on Eniwetok are not distant scenes seen dimly. They are things happening in clear view. With the aid of binoculars or the ship's telescopes it's possible to follow the progress of some isolated patrol, to watch tanks come up and the infantry follow, first running bent over and then stopping to fire rifles. Now and then there is a brief view of a harried Japanese making his last stand. The sound of the firing which kills him is clear to the men watching.

It is possible to keep a fairly accurate track of the front line, simply by watching as front line soldiers dodge from tree to tree and foxhole to ruined foundation of a building. It is undeniably true that watchers see a thousand American attackers for every Japanese defender who shows himself momentarily. It is a strange little war, and you can see it all from right here.

Italian Fleet Problem Now World Mystery

WASHINGTON, March 10—(AP)—The great Italian fleet problem developed into something of an international mystery today. Prime Minister Churchill discussed the matter in the house of commons Thursday and his statement, while guardedly put, seemed together with other developments to project:

- 1. The Russian navy is going to be reinforced. 2. The reinforcements will be equivalent roughly to one-third of the Italian fleet which surrendered equally to Britain, U. S. and Russia but has operated thus far with the British in the Mediterranean. 3. The reinforcements may consist of Italian ships, British ships and American ships. Up to the present the Italian navy is still intact, however, and the betting now is that most of the craft Russia gets will be American-built. Churchill said that at present no change is contemplated in arrangements by which Italian ships and crews take part in the common struggle against the enemy. The Italian fleet problem, meanwhile, continues to develop as one of the most officially hush-hush but publicly talked of Allied deals in months.

Union Heads Lead U. S. Liberty Ships

WASHINGTON, March 10—(AP)—President Joseph Curran of the National Maritime Union praised the performance of Liberty ships in testimony Wednesday before the Truman war committee, stating that structural faults had developed in only "a very small percentage" of these vessels.

Echoing the views of three Southern shipbuilders who also testified at a public hearing on the cracking of a number of the Liberty's, Curran said: "All the battlefields of the world are witnesses to the efficiency of the Liberty ships." Curran ran into a storm of Republican protest, however, when he professed to see "political significance" in some newspaper accounts of the cracking of such ships. Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) and Brewster (R-Me.) demanded that he produce evidence in this connection and Brewster told the witness that Senator Wallgren (D-Wash.) had "made the greatest fuss" about the cracking incidents. "Don't misunderstand me," Curran replied. "I'm glad the committee is investigating the cracking of Liberty ships."

Precautions Against Typhoid Are Urged

AUSTIN, March 10—(AP)—An increase in the incidence of typhoid fever in Texas could, under wartime conditions become "a major health menace," Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, warned today. "Nearly all cases of typhoid in this state can be traced to a supply of contaminated water or food," said Dr. Cox, noting that some increase in incidence of the disease may be looked for with the approach of warmer weather. Dr. Cox said that individual water supplies which are poorly located and wells improperly enclosed may receive surface drainage and pollution, and that springs and wells should be protected adequately. Sanitary pit privies or septic tanks also help protect wells and springs from pollution. There is real danger in the seepage from poorly constructed privies. Fly screens and covered toilet seats help in warm weather to keep flies from breeding in toilets and carrying infection to food. Carriers or walking cases never should be food handlers, Dr. Cox said. A carrier is a person who harbors typhoid germs in his body, though having no symptoms of the disease. Typhoid fever is one of the many infections that can be carried by raw milk. Pasteurized milk therefore should be used, since pasteurization kills disease organisms if they are present in the raw milk. "Everyone contemplating trips where the safety of the milk and water supplies cannot be established should be immunized by the family doctor. Three doses of the vaccine are given in weekly intervals. The treatment is not dangerous, and it gives protection for two years or more."

Chiang Praises U. S. Air Force

CHUNGKING, March 10—(AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek highly praised the U. S. 14th air force on its first anniversary, declared today that "considering the limited personnel and equipment one must admit that the results achieved are better than that of any other air force in the world." In a message to Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault, Chiang said "during the brief period of its existence the 14th air force has rendered a splendid account of itself in the Far East."

GI Chivalry, Not Charm Wins Australian Girls

BY NEA Service SYDNEY, Australia, March 10.—You may have heard a good deal of GI opinion about Australian girls, but chances are that the secret of their amicable get-along is contained in what Australian girls think of American servicemen.

With the tutelage of Pvt. Michael Humenick, at the Red Cross club in Sydney, Greta Short learns the GI lingo.

All the local girls who help out in the American Red Cross Service Club here are agreed that GIs have charm, but that they don't rely on it. Chief among the worthy traits that endear our fighters to the girls Down Under are these: They thank a girl when they take her out, and don't expect the girl to thank them.

They like to do the chasing; and they chase well. They ask a girl what she would like to do. They don't greet her with: "We're going to the pictures."

Brown Bomber To Give Gloves Special Trophy

CHICAGO, March 10—(AP)—Thirty-two of the country's best amateur fighters tonight will go after Golden Gloves national titles in the Chicago Stadium ring. Eight champions will be crowned, after semi-final and championship tests, to represent Chicago in the annual inter-city bouts at New York March 17.

Army Sgt. Joe Louis, who first gained fame when he won the Golden Gloves light heavyweight championship here ten years ago, will return to the stadium tonight to present Pvt. Ragon Kinney, of Los Angeles, the heavyweight sportsmanship trophy, named after the Brown Bomber.

Morton Herrick, Minneapolis welterweight, will be awarded a trophy named for Marine Sgt. Barney Ross, while Collins Brown, Chicago Catholic Youth organization, middleweight, will be given the trophy named for Chief Petty Officer Tony Zale.

Kinney and Brown advanced to tonight's semi-final bouts as a result of victories scored in the recent tournament of champions. Although Herrick failed to qualify for tonight's matches, his sportsmanship was outstanding.

Twenty thousand fans were expected to watch tonight's 24 bouts. Cleveland and Peoria, Ill., each with four survivors left in the tournament, were favored to win the team championship trophy, along with Kansas City and Fort Worth, each represented by three fighters.

Green Grapplers Go Red, White, and Blue

BETHLEHEM, Pa., March 10—(AP)—Dartmouth athletes will wear red, white and blue in the intercollegiate wrestling championships open at Lehigh university tonight.

"We are unable to buy, beg or borrow wrestling tights," wired William McCarter, Dartmouth's director of athletics. "Since regulations demand they shall be barred from competing."

Tournament Manager E. P. Carraway replied no—and borrowed red trunks from Muhlenberg, white from Lehigh and blue from Bethlehem High school.

Border Olympics Draws 250 Athletes

LAREDO, March 10—(AP)—More than 250 track and field performers from Texas and Oklahoma are here today for the twelfth annual Border olympics, first meet of the season in Texas.

Five colleges, five service units and 22 high schools have filed entries with the University of Texas and Texas A. and M. heading the college-university division; teams from Laredo army air field and Kelly Field in both the college-university and service divisions, and with Thomas Jefferson of San Antonio back to defend its championship of the high school class.

Star individual entries include Charley Parker, national scholastic record-smasher on Thomas Jefferson; Lieut. J. J. O'Reilly from Chase Field, Beville, who will compete in the college division opposing Ralph Ellsworth, crack dashman from Texas, and Lieut. William Pope, former Texas Christian track man who was high point man in the military division last year.

O'Reilly is a former University of Southern California star sprinter. Preliminaries are scheduled this afternoon with finals tonight opening at 7:30 o'clock.

Draft Call Near For Sammy Angott

LOS ANGELES, March 10—(AP)—As Sammy Angott prepared for induction into the armed services, the new NBA lightweight titleholder Juan Zurita, planned to leave today for a triumphant return to his native Mexico City and was mulling offers to fight Beau Jack in New York. On the heels of his 15-round defeat in Hollywood Wednesday night Angott passed his physical examination yesterday and may be inducted any time after March 30. He is scheduled to meet Bob Montgomery recognized by the New York Athletic commission as the lightweight king, on March 31.

Sports Roundup

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR. NEW YORK, March 10—(AP)—Some Denver, Colo. boys in a naval unit in the South Pacific have decided they want to sponsor teams in the "old timers" baseball association this year and will have a league all their own, with teams named after the various ships. The men planning for baseball's future would do well to take a second glance at this setup.

A QUICK LOOK The "old timers" are some 500 men who once played on uniformed baseball teams and who are willing to put up a buck apiece to foster baseball competition among boys from 11 to 17 years old. This year they'll have about 1,300 boys competing in 120 leagues in Denver and suburban Englewood. That's more than double last year's total and it's a good example of how many potential players and fans there are if somebody will take the trouble to turn his attention to the national game.

COULDN'T PIN THEM DOWN One of the few good yarns we've ever heard about bowling is related by Rex Hess in the Mansfield, Ohio, News-Journal. In fact, the interviewee explained, "I figured that any guy who couldn't knock down ten pins out of 30 with three balls must be drunk."

Keyes Games Mogul Sees Only 3 World Records To Be Set

NEW YORK, March 10—(AP)—Frank Brennan, veteran manager of the Knights of Columbus track meet, has gone conservative "because this is a war year" and predicts that only three world records will be set Saturday night in the sport's seasonal farewell to New York. "I am certain that Gil Dobbs will do 4:07 and break the indoor competitive mark for the mile that was established in our meet of 1938; that Jim Herbert will chase Johnny Fulton to a 1:16 clocking in the 600 and that Ed Coowell of New York university will do :06 for the 60," he said today.

Smart Money Up On Boston Boxer

By BILL KING BOSTON, March 10—(AP)—Convinced that Boston's Sal Bartolo would polish off Phil Terranova in their 15-round featherweight bout tonight at the Boston Garden and thereby cause the National Boxing association's title turnover within 48 hours, the so-called smart money bets were placing their bets on the Hub favorite.

Two nights ago, on the West Coast, Mexican Juan Zurita stripped Sammy Angott of his N. B. A. lightweight title. Now the skillful Bartolo, who has been campaigning for the past seven years, appears to have 600 much polish for the slam-banging Terranova, a tittist who has had only 40-odd engagements during his two years in the ring. Terranova, who won his diadem by knocking out an over-ripe Jackie Callura last summer appears to have just the sort of boxing style that results in disaster when pitted against a fairly finished performer like Bartolo. This N. B. A. tittist appears over-fond of taking a punch to give one.

This version of a title affair will give Bartolo his second chance in nine months to become a champion. Last June he fought Willie Pep here for the New York commission's featherweight crown and while so doing, he lost every round. However, Bartolo has won his last eight starts in impressive fashion. The show promises to draw a capacity crowd now limited to 12,500 by the building laws that have been revised since the Coconut Grove night club disaster and gate receipts of about $35,000.

MEXICAN vs. CANADIAN

HOLLYWOOD, March 10—(AP)—Two 19-year-old flyweights from the United States' neighbors tangle tonight when Luis Castillo of Mexico takes on Florida Bibeau of Canada in a 10-round contest at the Legion stadium. Each claims the championship of his country.

NEW YORK, March 10—(AP)—Branch Rickey has abandoned all hopes of having Manager Leo Durocher play shortstop for the Brooklyn Dodgers this season. When asked about the "acorns" in Leo's elbow, the Brooklyn president shook his head and said "when I learned that the unnecessary operation would not permit him to play until July, I abandoned the notion."

WOLVERINES RATE HIGH

CHICAGO, March 10—(AP)—Michigan is not only the overwhelming favorite to annex the Western conference's indoor track and field meet at the University of Chicago field-house tomorrow, but the Wolverines are in a position to establish an all-time point record.

BAKSI FIGHTS TONIGHT

NEW YORK, March 10—(AP)—Madison Square garden, which smiled on Joe Baksi's first big time bid but jinxed Lee Savold four times in a row, is the setting for tonight's meeting of the two heavyweight contenders win the Kulpmont, Pa., coal-miner a 1 to 2 choice over his Father, N. J. foe.

KEGLERS MEET IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, March 10—(AP)—Forty-eight of the country's top ranking bowling teams, headed by the Detroit Strohs, national match game champions, will compete in the second annual Victory tournament tomorrow and Sunday.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Judge, would you mind tellin' Charlie here what you told me the other night walkin' home from lodge. I can't word it just the way you did."

"Sure thing, Tim. Here's what I told him, Charlie. There's no such thing as votin' a nation, a state, a county, or even a community dry. We had proof enough of that during our 13 years of prohibition. What you really vote for is whether liquor is going to be sold legally or illegally... whether the community is going to get needed taxes for schools, hospitals, and the like, or whether this money is going to go to gangsters and bootleggers. That's the answer, boys... simple as A-B-C."

During wartime, the hours and energy your electric home appliances can save you are more important than ever before. And because of the war, these matchless servants today are more difficult to replace and repair.

Fortunately, these helpers are virtually tireless as well as "matchless." They can serve you almost indefinitely if you care for them properly. It's very simple—takes very little time—to keep them properly cleaned and lubricated, and to protect them the damage that carelessness and neglect are likely to cause.

Refugees Tell How Japs Exploit And Starve Chinese in Occupied Provinces

BY FLOYD TAYLOR
Written for NEA Service
CHUNGKING, March 10—“Everyone in Hongkong will die,” said the Japanese soldier. “All the Chinese will die of starvation. At all the Japanese will fight until they are killed.”

Deep in Japanese-occupied territory, loyal Chinese carry on the war as best they can—killing puppet officials, wrecking trains, planting land mines against enemy troops.

These words were spoken to a Chinese businessman who later escaped from Hong Kong, where food was growing scarcer by the day and the Japanese were increasingly nervous over the success of the Allies. The businessman told of the conversation, after he reached western China, at an illustration of the declining morale of the Japanese troops stationed in China and of the hardships of the Chinese people in the territory occupied by the Japanese. The Japanese have so thoroughly stripped some sections of occupied China of food and other necessities that there are called “the Hun Army.” This phrase can be safely used in the presence of the Japanese because the words “Hun” and “imperial” in Chinese sound the same, though written with different characters. News of conditions in enemy-occupied territory reaches Chungking frequently through government sources of information, or through refugees, through the reports of prisoners who have escaped from Japanese prison camps. There are many of the latter because the Japanese kill most of the men they capture. All of these accounts concern starvation and semi-starvation of food, the spread of the opium and heroin traffic, the Japanese attempts to break the morale of the Chinese, Japanese transportation difficulties because of shipping losses and the activities of Chinese guerrillas, the lack of anything but propaganda in the Japanese-controlled press, the get-rich-quick schemes of the Japanese agent-bargers, the hoarding of commodities because of the growing distrust of both Japanese and puppet-regime money, the Japanese efforts to raise puppet armies of Chinese to relieve their manpower shortages, the Japanese cruelty in extracting forced labor from the Chinese, and the slowly declining morale of the Japanese troops. The food situation in Peiping has been so bad, with many victims dying of starvation, that in some sections of the city it is unsafe to carry a loaf of bread or a piece of rice. Wheat and other grains are so limited that food made of peanut skins and other waste materials are rationed. In sections of Szechuan province, food shortages are even worse, with the result that a slave traffic has grown up. The use of opium and heroin among the Chinese seems to be encouraged by the Japs everywhere, reports of this being especially frequent from Shanghai and Peiping. Jap carpet-baggers also encourage gambling, from which they make large profits and which they may be using, as they do the opium traffic, as a means of breaking down Chinese character and, thus, Chinese resistance.

Wang Ching-Wei, the principal puppet of the Japs in the Shanghai-Nanking area, recently issued an edict against drugs and gambling. But everyone knew it was not to be enforced, and the traffic went on as usual except that indignant students in Shanghai, pretending to meanly support a few opium dens and gambling houses. The Japanese have done their best to recruit puppet armies of Chinese to fight the Chinese National forces and apparently have encouraged these troops to loot and plunder in the hope of causing as much confusion and dissonance among the Chinese as possible. These troops, are poorly equipped, however, and distrusted by the Japs, for no Jap can be sure that any Chinese is not basically a patriot. The Japs have ruined the cotton workers of Shanghai by forcing them to sell cotton goods at such heavy losses that there have been suicides among the brokers. There was one report of a mass suicide of 30 brokers at a dinner at which they did their best to enjoy themselves before death. Recent reports tell of cotton goods still being held in warehouses because of a shortage of shipping to take them to Japan.

Chinese students in Peiping and some other cities are forced to study the Japanese language and to take part in Japanese “story” demonstrations which otherwise would be poorly attended. According to a report, 2700 students in the four northeastern provinces of China were arrested in 1942 on a charge of forming anti-Japanese societies. Late last year, 1000 of the arrested students were executed. While the Japs control most of the large cities in the coastal areas of China, and most of the railway lines, their influence is not strong elsewhere. Hundreds of miles behind the Jap front lines are many counties in which the Chinese officials appointed at Chungking function just as usual. Even in Japanese-held territory the Japs are never safe from the activities of Chinese guerrillas—this being especially true near mountainous regions were guerrillas can hide. The guerrillas specialize in killing puppet officials, in disrupting Japanese transportation, and in laying land mines on roads used by Japanese and puppet troops.

Of all the recent reports from occupied territory, one of the odddest concerns a boarder in Shanghai. This man invested $50,000 in firecrackers, which he carefully stowed away, explaining to his associates that firecrackers should be so readily demanded and exceedingly valuable as soon as the time came to celebrate victory.

Childress Man Takes Part In Pacific Battle

PAPITALIA PLANTATION Los Negros Island, March 7—(Delayed)—(AP)—American cavalrymen landed ashore today at this Japanese strong-point along the western beaches of Los Negros Island, going ashore in the face of unknown Japanese strength. The landing party, dismounted units of the First Cavalry division which invaded the southern portion of Los Negros Feb. 28, were quickly reinforced after by midnight. Since their position firmly. For a while, however, it was touch-and-go whether the reinforcements would arrive in time. The first boat reached shore safely and the soldiers found they had landed in the very heart of the enemy's defense concentration. A line of trenching, water from the water's edge crossed the neck of the point. This, it appeared, was going to be an unopposed walk-in, despite the tail fire sniping, despite the hour-long artillery barrage which preceded the landing. Japanese opened fire an instant after the cavalrymen hit the beach. Murderous machine and rifle fire sprayed the little invasion force from tree-tops, hastily-prepared ground positions and from the thick fern undergrowth. The Americans held grimly to their tiny beachhead and finally inched forward to the protection of the tall ferns bordering the shore. They suffered casualties, they couldn't retreat even if they had wanted to, because the “Alligators” (amphibious barges) by now had withdrawn for the night. So they fought on bravely, these men of a proud cavalry regiment. They held out until the next boatload arrived, then others under superior firepower was brought to bear on the Japanese. One mortar crew which staggered ashore with its dismounted weapon and ammunition landed near the Bouillon, Mt. Belview, Texas; Corp. E. G. Carrick, Childress, Texas; and Pfc. Ramon Hernandez, Faulfurrins, Texas. The cavalrymen put their mortars and machineguns to action promptly and for a time it seemed as if the reinforced facilities in quelling enemy resistance. Without reference, a handful of casualties was loaded aboard an Alligator for the return trip. But just as another Alligator was being hoisted with additional reinforcements, the Japanese opened counter-fire with mortars.

On a boat the enemy mortar shells appeared to be striking directly on the beachhead and among native buildings which the first party of Americans succeeded in occupying to deal with this situation an in-bound barge—which carried Capt. Matthew Dikeman of Temple, Texas, commander of the initial invasion force, and his first sergeant Kenneth M. Sullivan of El Paso, changed its course and headed in the direction from which the mortar fire appeared to be coming.

Navy Needs Greater Repair Facilities

WASHINGTON, March 10—(AP)—The present peak rate of shipbuilding, especially merchant vessels, is expanding the repair requirements beyond the capacity of existing or authorized facilities, says the navy, supporting its request to congress for authority to spend $130,000,000 for additional repair yards. The need for the additional equipment to restore to active service both merchant vessels and war craft damaged in service was outlined before a house appropriations committee by Rear Admiral Edward L. Cochrane, chief of the bureau of ships. A recently completed survey, he disclosed, showed that repair facilities of the Atlantic and Gulf areas will be sufficient to maintain and repair the vessels expected to be operating with in these areas, but that substantial deficiencies in repair facilities will be encountered on the Pacific coast unless extra facilities are provided.

WASHINGTON, March 10—(AP)—Disclosure that the United States navy intends to take over the Japanese naval base of Truk, 2,600 miles from the house appropriations committee released printed copies of its hearings on a deficiency supply bill. Testifying in support of a navy request for funds, Rear Admiral Edward L. Cochrane, chief of the bureau of ships, told the committee: “When we go into Truk, where we are going in, we will have not only the most advanced repair facilities in the world, but what will be necessary is quite difficult to say.” The admiral was discussing the need for ship repair facilities. “When will these repair facilities be needed?” Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) asked. “Most of them by the first of January, 1945,” the admiral replied.

WAKE-UP AMERICA

THE BARUCH REPORT
The Baruch report on post war reconstruction is encouraging. Mr. Baruch is a patriotic American. He believes in our free enterprise system and wants it to succeed. But will his recommendations be followed? Or will they prove to be like most campaign promises in recent years - something to win an election on - and then to be discarded?

Before the country throws all its hats in the air, it should be noted first, that Mr. Baruch's advice has not been heeded except on rare occasions, and second, that the report moves counter to the whole trend of the New Deal and its major prophecies.

Here is Henry Agard Wallace, who was forced on the Chicago Convention by Mr. Roosevelt. According to Congressman Busbey of Illinois, Mr. Wallace was accompanied on his recent western trip by one David Karr (Katz) who for two years was on the staff of the Communist paper, "The Daily Worker". Mr. Wallace said, "We are not going to use the whole Russian political and economic system, here in the United States. It was made for Russia and not for us, but Russia is doing every day what we in the United States have only preached on Sunday".

This implies that Wallace is for a system which cannot be harmonized with the Baruch report. And except for the beating of one heart, Mr. Wallace would be president of the United States. Then we have Walter Winchell who says, "The most sweeping platform in this nation's history is being drawn up now. The best financial brain in the administration, that's Assistant Secretary of State Berle, Jr., is drafting the plan for both postwar finance and peace conversion without unemployment".

Mr. Berle, long before present war controls, said, "The government will have to enter into direct financing of activities now supposed to be private, and a continuation of that direct financing must be inevitably that the government will ultimately control and own those activities. . . Over a period of years the government will gradually come to own most of the productive plants of the United States".

This does not sound like the Baruch report. Then we have the National Resources Planning Board, presided over by Mr. Frederic Delano, uncle of President Roosevelt. Its recommendations were urged upon Congress by the President. Among them are that the federal government acquire the rights of way of American railroads, their terminals, depots and bridges, reconstruct them as part of a huge post war reemployment program and lease them back to the railroads to operate. The government, however, thus becomes the owner and going thus far, it is doubtful if any stop could be made short of complete nationalization.

They also propose that the government should become part owner and have its politicians on the board of directors of the major industries of the country.

Then we have the gradual acquisition by the federal government of the actual real estate of the states of the Union, the total area already nearly as large as everything east of the Mississippi River. We have the limitation of salaries, a socialistic or communistic proposal. We have a program for TVAs in every watershed in America including federal control of all water rights, even in tiny streams. We have the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the largest credit institution in the world. We have the federal government constantly going into more and more business, competing with private enterprise.

This is only part of the picture. It is enough, however, to warrant keeping our shirts on when we contemplate the Baruch report.

Associated Press Appeal
(The Providence Journal)

We cannot believe the people of the United States will want the chief non-profit co-operative news gathering association serving their free press to operate perpetually under any court injunction.

The summary judgment of a Federal court in the Government's civil antitrust suit against the Associated Press proposed exactly that procedure.

The experience of European countries in this war has made so clear to the free people of America the disastrous results to civil liberties of governmental control of the press that it is hardly necessary to argue that point. Where the people see that danger, they will resist, we are sure. But we must not forget the counsel of the Republic's first President that they must always be urged to vigilance in the defense of their own liberties.

"No newspaper, no press service can operate successfully under a court injunction." This statement of the AP board of directors seems self-evident, axiomatic.

The court found the Associated Press was not a monopoly. It found that it was not a common carrier. It found to be illegal, by laws of the AP under which AP members might "take into consideration the effect of admission (to the AP) upon the ability of (an) applicant to compete" with AP members in the same territory. And as a means to prevent AP members from taking such action under such by-laws, the court's summary judgment, entered without full trial of the case, decreed "that jurisdiction of this cause is retained for the purpose of enabling the plaintiff or the defendants to apply to the court at any time for such further orders or directions as may be necessary or appropriate for the construction or carrying out of this judgment for the modification or termination of any of the provisions thereof, for the enforcement and compliance therewith and for the punishment of violations thereof."

It certainly should not be difficult for any layman to reach the conclusion that free operation of free to criticize the government, control, free from court control, free to criticize the Government, free to criticize the courts - is utterly impossible under such a perpetual threat of court action and of appeals to the court by the executive branch of the Government for interference with the operations of the press association based upon this court order.

The case must await the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States. But the Supreme Court interprets the law. Only the people and the elected representatives of the people in Congress make the law. And if performance, judicial decisions in any way leave this case with the chief non-profit co-operative news gathering agency of the free press of the American people perpetually restrained and threatened by Government by any of its agencies, we hope the people will see that the law is made to restore true and full freedom to the press without any vestige of such threat or restraint by Government.

For unless that is done, a free press cannot be provided the people. And if we cannot keep a free press, we cannot keep our civil liberties.

Court Case Set On Chiropractors' Law
AUSTIN, March 10 - (AP) - Because of the importance of the question the court of criminal appeals has ordered new arguments April 12 in a case attacking validity of a state law licensing and regulating chiropractors.

The order suggested that the law might contain conflicts which could make it vague, indefinite and uncertain.

The case was that of W. E. Halsted of Johnson City who sought his freedom on a writ of habeas corpus after he was charged with attempting to persuade a parent against treating a child with vaccination, displaying an unlawful sign and failing to obtain a license to practice chiropractic.

The court invited attorneys to submit briefs and arguments on whether two sections of the law are in conflict.

The first section prohibits practice of medicine or surgery by chiropractors and defines the distinction between chiropractic "and other sciences as the distinction between dentistry and medicine."

ABOARD A CARRIER IN THE CENTRAL PACIFIC (Undated) - (AP) - The sun had just set. It was five minutes of eight, time to relieve the watch.

A lieutenant climbed the ladder. As he reached the bridge, he saw the officer of the deck, leaning over the splinter rail listening to the band on the flight deck below. Thinking to take his friend by surprise, he grabbed him by the seat of the pants and yelled, "You're relieved."

The figure straightened and became taller and taller. Slowly it turned. It was the six-foot-two skipper of the carrier.

Horrible, alone, "describes the silence.

Then "you're from Annapolis," the skipper said. "Which class?" "Class of '42, sir."

"Something new been added in relieving the watch?" "Yes, sir; I mean, no, sir," stammered the lieutenant.

But those who saw the captain enter his cabin swear that the grin split his face wide open.

There was talk of lending Lt. Clem Cassidy of Santa Barbara, Calif., to the Japanese before the Marshalls invasion. Three days before the attack, the Hellicatter developed a severe case of German measles.

Two lads averted disaster aboard this carrier. "We just naturally ran up and caught the bomb," they said. "and took out the fuse." This is what happened:

A bomber came in with a 250-pound demolition bomb which failed to release over Eniwetok in the Marshalls. (This, of course, occurred before American capture of the atoll). As the plane hit our million dollar teakwood flight deck, the bomb let go and skidded forward. The bomb's safety device pulled out. The two lads rushed upon it, grasped the turning vanes and then in good time removed the fuse and jugged the bomb over the side. They possibly saved a hundred lives.

The figure straightened and became taller and taller. Slowly it turned. It was the six-foot-two skipper of the carrier.

Horrible, alone, "describes the silence.

Then "you're from Annapolis," the skipper said. "Which class?" "Class of '42, sir."

"Something new been added in relieving the watch?" "Yes, sir; I mean, no, sir," stammered the lieutenant.

But those who saw the captain enter his cabin swear that the grin split his face wide open.

There was talk of lending Lt. Clem Cassidy of Santa Barbara, Calif., to the Japanese before the Marshalls invasion. Three days before the attack, the Hellicatter developed a severe case of German measles.

Two lads averted disaster aboard this carrier. "We just naturally ran up and caught the bomb," they said. "and took out the fuse." This is what happened:

A bomber came in with a 250-pound demolition bomb which failed to release over Eniwetok in the Marshalls. (This, of course, occurred before American capture of the atoll). As the plane hit our million dollar teakwood flight deck, the bomb let go and skidded forward. The bomb's safety device pulled out. The two lads rushed upon it, grasped the turning vanes and then in good time removed the fuse and jugged the bomb over the side. They possibly saved a hundred lives.

Rayon or Cotton For Tires Is Uncertain

BUY BONDS

DALLAS, Mar. 10 - (AP) - Dr. J. W. Wright, a U. S. department of agriculture official suggests that comparative prices will likely determine whether rayon or cotton will be used to make passenger car automobile tires after the war.

Speaking before a group of cotton specialists here, Dr. Wright said rayon now sells at about the same price as upland cotton which, with the lack of waste, makes it about equal from the manufacturers' point of view.

Dr. Wright, a war food distribution administration official, was among a number of speakers at the opening session of a two-day conference of cotton and ginning specialists, agronomists and others representing the Texas and Oklahoma extension services, the federal extension service and other agencies working with agriculture, to inaugurate a campaign to improve the quality of the 1944 cotton crop.

NAPLES, Mar. 10 - (AP) - A total of 509 Italian civilians were asphyxiated early Saturday morning when the freight train on which they had hitched rides stalled in a railway tunnel in Southern Italy.

Brig. Gen. Carl R. Gray, of St. Paul, Minn., director general of the Allied military railway service, described the tragedy as "one of the most regrettable as well as one of the most unusual accidents in the history of railroading."

Only about 50 of those caught aboard the train when it stalled on a 4 per cent grade in the tunnel escaped with their lives. The remainder apparently met a quick death as carbon monoxide generated by the engine spread swiftly through the tunnel.

You Don't Need a Certificate to Get Genuine GOODYEAR RECAPS

In Africa, in England, in Italy, in Australia, in the war-torn stretches of the South Pacific and on all the other fronts of the world . . . that's where Mr. Average American's tires are going!

Modern warfare demands, and will keep getting, rubber that formerly went into civilian needs. Up to 82% of the entire country's output will go to armed forces this year.

Even essential drivers may have to go without new tires, and many thousands of trucks and cars will be forced off the road unless adequate protection is given the pre-war tire carcasses now in service.

Your tires, if properly cared for, will take not one, but several recaps. Right here in the Panhandle many tires are serving more than 20,000 extra miles with a Goodyear Recap. Better let us check your tires in the VERY near future.

Don't take chances! Have cuts vulcanized immediately. Get Goodyear Recaps the minute you need them.
