

Concern Mounts Over Auto Inspection Law Harshness-Delay Asked

By The Associated Press — To get their license plates this year a request for a legal opinion was made to the attorney general to see if state-required motor vehicle inspections may be delayed a year.

Contrary to some published reports, the Texas Department of Public Safety Director Homer Garrison said he would ask for the law to be amended today or tomorrow.

Meanwhile, requests for a special session of the legislature developed as one of the latest moves in the mounting concern over the new safety inspection law.

Thousands of motorists jammed inspection stations approved by the department of public safety as both the law and department came under fire of legislators.

Garrison said there is a possibility that the law's provision requiring the inspection be made "within one year" before license plates could be secured might permit cars owners enough leeway

Five representatives in Fort Worth, Willis and Hull among them, went on record as opposing the measure. Pyle said, "The act designed originally as a safety measure, but somewhere down the line it's got completely out of hand."

Safety inspections are required for Texas' three and one-half million buses, trucks, and autos before a March 31 deadline for purchasing new license plates.

Safety director Homer Garrison has said the law is not elastic. "If you don't have a safety inspection you can't buy new license plates. If you don't have new license plates you can't drive your car."

Said Rep. W. H. Abington, Fort Worth: "It was not the intent of the legislature, in my opinion, that the law be so strict."

Slannon said the law was to establish uniform standards of safety "and those standards have been ridiculous."

An Austin source close to the governor, however, said he did not think the governor would call a special session for anything of that nature.

Col. Garrison said if some inspection stations were being too strict to relieve the jam, he would have thought everything added when all stations that applied were certified.

Garages in Beaumont were swamped with about 1000 checks made. A Beaumont newspaper said safety requirements there seemed to change at different garages.

Eight approved inspection stations in Fort Worth were swamped with motorists making appointments for weeks in advance. One garage was booked through March 8. The Star-Telegram said an increasing number of auto owners were bewildered and angered at the high rate of rejection.

Two dozen inspection stations were operating in San Antonio with cars lined up as far as four blocks in some cases. Police were called Tuesday to unblock traffic in one section where a line of inspection-seeking motorists blocked going-to-work traffic.

One safety inspection station in San Antonio quit because it could get no other work done.

Galveston auto owners so far have only one checking station. It was to go into operation today. At least three other firms in the island city have bought equipment for making the checks but said their certificates from the state had not arrived.

Large numbers of cars have been reported rejected in nearly every city having the checking station.

A Highway Patrolman at Dallas, M. C. Bount, said about 50 percent of the cars tested had faulty lights. About 30 percent, he said, have had brakes.

In Odessa Tuesday, police had to clear traffic congestion created by long lines of cars waiting to be tested. A garage owner said "It keeps getting worse."

No approval stickers were available in Vernon and inspection work there has lagged as a result.

Rep. Pyle said, "The law didn't set out what should be inspected. It gave that authority to the Department of Public Safety."

"It is my opinion," he said, "that the department has set up too rigid requirements for inspection."

"And in Dallas, a motorist was forced to scrape a sticker off his windshield when he had his car inspected. No windshield stickers," said the inspector. Then he placed a safety department sticker where a parking lot sticker had been.

Banquet Is Staged In Honor Of Farris Oden

Farris C. Oden, who will move to Amarillo soon to accept a position with an insurance company there, last night was honored by nearly 200 friends and business associates during a farewell party at the Pampa Country club.

Before presenting him with a plaque, Frank Culbertson expressed the feelings of those present. "We could say how we will miss him and what an unselfish worker for public interest he is, but the fact that we are here shows the friendship toward our honored guest."

Oden has been here with Panhandle Insurance agency since 1930. He was mayor for two terms and president of the chamber of commerce. For many years he was active in Boy Scout work and recently was awarded the Silver Beaver award for his activities.

Culbertson said that Oden has built up local educational facilities and has been active in every worthwhile interest in Pampa.

"I am very humble and grateful for all everyone has done," Oden said after receiving the plaque. "Pampa has been good to me and my family — through the oil boom, the depression, the dust storms, in the unsettled and post war years."

"It is said no one gets further than the quality of his friends. It is good to know a person has such friends," he concluded.

Oden will soon assume duties as executive vice president of Western National Life insurance. New manager of the local Panhandle Insurance agency is Leslie Riart.

Music was furnished during the evening by Four Beaux and a Babe who sang four selections.

House Goods Output Slated For Reduction

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Production of most household goods is due to be cut to 40 percent of pre-Korean war levels and construction of new homes is to be reduced about 23 percent beginning next April.

This announcement came today from Manly Fleischmann, the defense production administrator, who also said that automobile production is to be curtailed by at least 7 percent for the first six months of this year.

Fleischmann testified before the Senate - House Preparedness committee.

He said makers of such non-essentials as jewelry and toys will be given slight increases in price during the April - June quarter so that they can continue in business. Most of those involved are small businesses which had been cut heavily on the use of these metals in the first three months of this year.

Fleischmann said enough allotments could be made to support present school and hospital building projects and to start construction of some new buildings.

The number of new railroad cars to be produced will be reduced about 14 percent, he testified. He said there would be some increase in shipbuilding but that only the most important new highways could be built.

The senate - house committee is headed by Sen. Maybank (D-SC).

Survivors include her husband, Almon I. Bozarth; one daughter, Mrs. E. H. Johnson; one son, E. N. Bozarth and four grandchildren, all of Pampa.

President Leaves Tax Question Open

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman proposed to Congress today that it join him in an election year armistice on "political fights" which might endanger the national interest at a time when all men walk "in the shadow of a third world war."

He declared "we are moving through a perilous time" with Russia steadily increasing its armed might, and "all of us — Republicans and Democrats alike — all of us are Americans; and we are going to sink or swim together."

"The United States and the whole free world are passing through a period of grave danger," he said.

"We have a great responsibility to conduct our political fights in a manner that does not harm the national interest."

UN Smothers Attempt To Move Parley

PARIS — (AP) — The United Nations political committee today smothered a Soviet attempt to force Korean truce negotiations to be taken up by a special high-level meeting of the security council.

The vote was 40 to 6 with 11 abstentions.

The 60-nation committee agreed, however, to recommend the holding of a special security council meeting — with delegates of foreign minister or similar rank — to discuss world tensions.

It knocked out the Soviet bloc demand that the meeting be called "without delay."

Brazil, France, Britain and the United States offered an amendment proposing the high-level meeting only when the security council itself decided that such a meeting would have some effect.

The vote on the amendment was 43 to 8 abstentions.

Active Interest By Citizens Cited As Socialism Block

Earl O'Keefe, president of the Southwestern Investment Co. today called for more active citizen interest to "arrest the trend toward socialism" in a talk before the Pampa Rotary club at noon in the Palm Room, city hall.

The speaker said there were four ways to stop the present trend: 1, demand that only men of the highest moral calibre be elected to or appointed to office; 2, speak out against the steady increase of taxes; 3, demand a constitutional amendment prohibiting the federal government from spending more than five percent of the national income for non-defense purposes; and 4, demand a constitutional amendment limiting personal and corporate income taxes to 25 percent.

He warned people "must get away from the idea that government should protect all of the day called for more active citizen interest to 'arrest the trend toward socialism' in a talk before the Pampa Rotary club at noon in the Palm Room, city hall.

Using the growth of the automobile industry as an example, O'Keefe said only free enterprise can make a nation great and strong, but that "the trend toward socialism can destroy it from within."

Prior to the finance company and campaign speeches Mr. Truman has directed at Congress in retiring junior. Rotarian introduced Marvin Bond, junior Rotarian for January.

Driver of the car in which Mrs. Thurmond was riding was her husband, Aulice C. Thurmond, Lefors. Driver of the other vehicle was Wayland D. Davis, 914 S. Reid.

Investigating officers said the accident occurred when Davis allegedly ran a stop sign at the intersection and collided with the Thurmond car which was headed toward Lefors. The impact overturned the Davis car.

Damage to Thurmond's vehicle was estimated by police officials at $150 and to the other, $200. Davis was given a ticket for running a stop sign.

U.S. Grumbles About Prices

By SAM DAWSON
 NEW YORK (AP) — Many Americans like to blame the high cost of living on the middlemen. They note the gap between the price of cattle and the price of steak, the price of wheat and the price of bread, the price of lumber and the price of houses. But today some defenders appear. They hint the trouble may lie with your champagne appetite. They say a wealthy country demands and can pay for the services and conveniences the middleman provides over and above the commodities themselves. Middlemen are those who process the raw materials, transport them, wrap them the way you like, deliver them where and when you want them, keep them in stock to suit your convenience. Through their salesmen and advertising men, they create a desire for their good. This desire, they contend, is in large part responsible for the huge market and production totals that give Americans the highest standards of living in the world. An economic professor in Harvard, J. K. Galbraith, notes this convenience is something Americans won't do without, and needn't be alarmed about. America is wealthy enough to support these standards of living. A poor country, he admits in the January issue of Harper's magazine, couldn't use up any sizable part of the labor force "conducting sales campaigns for its limited supply of bread." The majority of Americans, however, have enough money to buy bread the way they want it, even if they grumble now and then at the price. When the average American goes into a store, Galbraith says, "he repeats a brand name that has been iterated and reiterated on the radio and in newspaper ads because the money he is spending is not of sufficient importance to justify his ascertaining whether there are better and cheaper alternatives."

Galbraith says the average American woman would miss her store aids nearly as much as she would miss her store. Rising standards of living also account for much of the higher costs of housing, another economist notes. Prof. Kent Baker of the University of Toronto, writing in the current issue of the Review of the Society of Residential Appraisers, says that in 1900 heating, plumbing and other interior equipment was only 15 percent of the total cost of building a house. Now it is 40 percent. Contractors say customers grumble because the new house costs more than the one grandfather built. Construction costs are up, to be sure, but also the grandchildren just won't have the kind of house grandfather built, at no matter how much a saving in costs. The conveniences, gadgets and safeguards of health are fine things to have — they make America the best housed nation. Just don't be surprised if they cost money.

Immediately this set a Democrat to thinking. Senator Green of Rhode Island, and he expressed a view which, while undoubtedly his own, might very well be the forerunner of similar views expressed by others. He said of the way Eisenhower got into the race: "A very neat job of hearing around the bush — a little too neat." And a Republican, Senator Ferguson of Michigan, who was mentioned as possible "dark horse" candidate himself, seemed to react bleakly to the news about the general, for he said: "The delegates to a national convention are going to want to know where a candidate stands on the issues."

The senator may have something there. In 1948 the prophets who had Dewey elected before the votes were counted hastened to explain, without time for a blush when he lost, that one of the reasons he lost was that he didn't let the people know clearly where he stood.

Prophets Spring Up Over Nation

By JAMES MARLOW
 WASHINGTON (AP) — Those wonderful characters who are never at a loss for words in an election year, the political prophets, will now begin telling you positively the relative chances of General Eisenhower, Senator Taft and others for the Republican presidential nomination. They will speak with an air of infallibility, which may turn out to be more air than ability, as they demonstrated in 1948 when they had President Truman whipped before the returns were in. Too much can happen — war, for instance — between now and the Republican convention in July for anyone to make a bet this early and be sure of winning. Taft and his friends know their way around and the senator didn't announce his candidacy early in the fall just to exercise his tonsils which he later had out by the way. Time is precious and they're making the most of it, lining up all the "pros" they can induce into a room long enough for a heart-to-heart talk. The Taftites got a lesson in the importance of the pros in 1948 when the senator yearned for the nomination, just as he does now, but the Governor Deweyites grabbed it away from him by driving up with the pros in their pocket. Now if the Taftites have enough pros in their basket by next July they may be able to nail the nomination for their man, no matter how much popular clamor there is for Eisenhower, since it's the convention pros who pick the candidate and not the crowd yelling in the street. But this may not always be true, which is a situation that jitters the prophets, because the pros in both political parties all have seen to have an interest in feathering their own political nests and if they see more feathers in a clamor than a promise they might pull a switch. At any rate the Taftites have a head start on the followers of the general whose candidacy is beginning with a limp since he still hasn't said in so many words that he is a candidate although he's given his friends the go-ahead to get him the nomination if they can.

In fact some criticism already has begun about the way he got into this race, one of the strangest entries in history, with Senator Lodge saying he'll make the general a candidate and telling reporters very confidently — how did he know? — that Eisenhower would say it was quite all right if they, the reporters, asked him. Which they did. And, although it might have been strictly a coincidence, the general who had stayed mum on politics all his life until then, said what Lodge had done was quite all right, indeed.

Workers and soldiers' families get decent housing at rents they can afford to pay. Support for continued building of "essential highways" and other steps to assure an adequate transportation system "on land, on the sea, and in the air." A star on the long - deferred and controversial federal - aid education program. Training of additional doctors and nurses and expansion of basic public health centers. Cost-of-living adjustments for those receiving veterans' compensation for death or disability incurred in the service.

Suburbanite A Hardy Soul Settling The Last Frontier

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — (AP) — The one thing you can never get when you live in the suburbs is a frontier. The last frontier in our country's wayfarer who wants to come in history that is increasing instead of dwindling.

A suburb is one of those vague, populated places you get lost in when you drive out of a big city. Where they come from no body knows, but every year more and more of them usually bear such names as Quagmire Heights or Swampville. There seems to be no particular reason why they spring up in any one place. There is a report that once a railroad pulled out of a city big for a while, it paused courteously to let a cow to shelter a St. Bernard dog. Before the train crossed the track, the dog's head was stuck up some enterprising real estate dealer wandered by, stuck a sign saying "Bovine Mea- downs" and started selling lots to the passengers.

Suburbs vary, but they usually have these things in common: a links them. There are two big events in his year — the d when they change the timetables and provide him with new reading matter.

The suburbanite has all the pains of a farmer and few of the joys of the urban dweller. In summer he comes to work bee-stung and overborne with poison ivy, complaining, "a new bug ruined my garden last night, I fed DDT to the bugs and they just cried for more."

Winter strikes him with a peculiar virulence. He finds that the only thing free in the suburbs is air, and sometimes there is too much of it after October. But when he staggers into work on January mornings, pinching his frost-bitten nose and ears, he only mutters manfully: "My, the fresh air was just what I needed today where I live."

Johnny-come-lately — but why should a real oldtimer have to share his graveyard, too? The average suburbanite thought taxes would be low when he moved to the suburbs, but that was before the city decided to pave the streets and build a new high school. But your true suburbanite is a hardy soul. He is as much of a frontiersman as Daniel Boone estate dealer wandered by, stuck a sign saying "Bovine Mea- downs" and started selling lots to the passengers.

CANADIAN'S FIRST BABY — Brian James Tucker, son of Lt. and Mrs. James H. Tucker, was the first child born in Hemphill county in 1952. He was born Jan. 3, at Hemphill Memorial hospital.

Serviceman's Son Is First Baby In Hemphill County

CANADIAN — (Special) — Brian James Tucker, son of Lt. and Mrs. James H. Tucker, is Canadian's "New Year Baby" for 1952.

He was born at 10 p. m. January 3 at Hemphill Memorial hospital and weighed in at 7 pounds, 15 ounces.

Lt. Tucker is a counterfire officer with the 2nd Division in Korea. He has been over there since last July, and has been awarded the purple heart for injuries received in action.

Mrs. Tucker is making her home in Canadian with her parents until Lt. Tucker gets back to the States.

Aside from being the first baby of the new year, other singularities about him are that he is his parents' first child; the first grandchild of both the maternal and paternal grandparents; and that he has only one aunt and no uncles.

The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Zybach of Canadian, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Tucker of Oklahoma City.

Nun Describes Horror Of Hurricane In The Philippines

NEW YORK — (AP) — A young nun today told how the stone walls of an old parish church saved hundreds of lives during a typhoon that laid waste a part of the Philippines last month.

The tempest was described by Sister Maria Constanca Pena in a letter of appeal to the Very Rev. Ulric Arcand, Apostolic missionary of the Philippines rehabilitation, whose headquarters are in St. Paul, Minn.

"The sight of the debris is very sickening — it can drive you crazy if you don't stop thinking about it," she wrote in a graphic account of the storm.

Sister Maria Constanca is a teacher in Assumption college in Guilan, a town of 28,700 population on the island of Samar in the central Philippines.

"Ninety-five percent of the houses were carried into the Pacific by the angry waves or crushed down in total ruin. All our eight big quonset huts which the U.S. Army left in 1945 were totally destroyed. Not a post standing," she wrote.

And then she described how the stone wall of a centuries-old church shielded hundreds "as a fortress."

"We sisters couldn't stay standing during the great disaster, the traffic drove him crazy, and finds that it is as hard to park a car in a suburban shopping district as it is in Times Square. He yearned for neighborliness, and the guy who moves in next door buys a dog to bite his children.

The suburbanite gamely sticks it out, however, until the mortgage is paid and the kids reared. Then he sells his house to a new frontiersman, and tells his wife, "Come on, honey, let's move back to the city — and start living again."

And ever after that if you mention fresh air to him he gets violently ill, for when a man retires from the frontier he leaves it forever.

Moonshiners Like Winter And Thick Piney Woods

MARSHALL — (AP) — Those takes longer, and these are the moonshiners out among the East days of speed. It takes about two Texas shiners are half-burying weeks under favorable conditions their barrels in the ground these to make whiskey out of the guys. Keeps them warmer during sprouts from corn grains. In the heat of summer sugar whiskey can be turned out in four to five days.

The principal ingredient is plain table sugar. The mash, including water from a nearby swamp, creek or hog wallow, is left in barrels to ferment. Yeast or even lye — is added to hasten the process.

Then the barrels are half-buried in the ground.

Agents have seen hogs pulled from the barrels. Sick, stupefied snakes have come tumbling from the raw mash. Chickens, too.

Mathews said the last distillery he "visited" had a good bit of dirt floating in the barrels along with gnats, cockroaches, bugs and tree bark.

The cooler barrel was an old one gallon of sugar whiskey. He made a film of oil on the sides sells a gallon usually for $8 to $10. Naturally he doesn't have to fool with federal and state liquor. The consumer's jugs.

Sugar whiskey is the successor to corn whiskey. Corn whiskey thews, aided by local officers, has ferreted out 12 stills in Marion county and six in Harrison county.

Moonshiners love the piney woods, back where the pig thickets are the thickest.

Bobcats Are Tough Squad

By DARNELL PEACOCK
San Angelo Standard-Times
SAN ANGELO — Don't be surprised at anything. When San Angelo's Bobcats entertain the Pampa Harvesters here Friday night in the District 1-A basketball opening.

Both teams have indicated that they may give the touted Borger Bulldogs a run for the money before district play is over.

The Bobcats, who played in Big Spring last night, may offer a match for the Harvesters' brother combination of Jimmy and Marvin Bond. San Angelo co-captains Bill Warrick and Delnor Poss have spearheaded the 'Cats to 12 victories against only two losses. In the 14 games Warrick has 134 points and Poss 144. This includes 71 field goals and 42 free tosses for Warrick. Poss has 53 goals from afield and 28 charity tosses. Both are slightly under six feet tall, and are the only regulars back from last year's team.

Playing at center for San Angelo will be 6 foot 5 inch Bobby Harris, who was moved up from the B squad this season. He has a 102 point total. Jimmy Reed and Delvis Guesse, both lettermen, are the other two starters.

If season scoring records are any indication, Pampa should hold a slight edge. The Bobcats' two losses are to Poly of Fort Worth (50-49) and Carter-Riverside (51-56). Pampa knocked off Riverside 45-35 recently for the championship of the Howard Payne tournament.

Another comparison holds San Angelo out of the spotlight in pre-season ratings: Borger easily defeated Poly, 69-36.

Here are San Angelo's season scores: (San Angelo first) 53, Stephensville 41; 61, Snyder 43; 57, Plainview 39; 54, Riverside 56; 47, Coleman 43; 65, Lakeview 33; 43, Coleman 43; 50, Midland 29; 40, Poly 50; 40, Sweetwater 38; 61, Sweetwater 46; 58, Abilene 46; 47, Lamesa 34; 52, Midland 33.

Harvesters Work Hard In Preparation For Bobcats

The Pampa Harvesters, who will open their district season tomorrow Friday night with a perfect record of 11 wins and no losses, went through a lengthy workout yesterday afternoon. It was ragged from the standpoint of defense, but sharp from a shooting angle.

The Harvesters will welcome tomorrow for the southern part of the district where they will open up against the San Angelo Bobcats Friday night and then skip over to Abilene for a Saturday night contest to round out the weekend's work. Tomorrow they will stop in Big Spring overnight for a workout.

Both games will be broadcast directly from the scene of the action by radio station KPDD.

The Harvesters will return to action again next weekend playing the Amarillo Sandies at Amarillo on Jan. 18 and then returning to open their home season on Jan. 19 against the favored Borger Bulldogs.

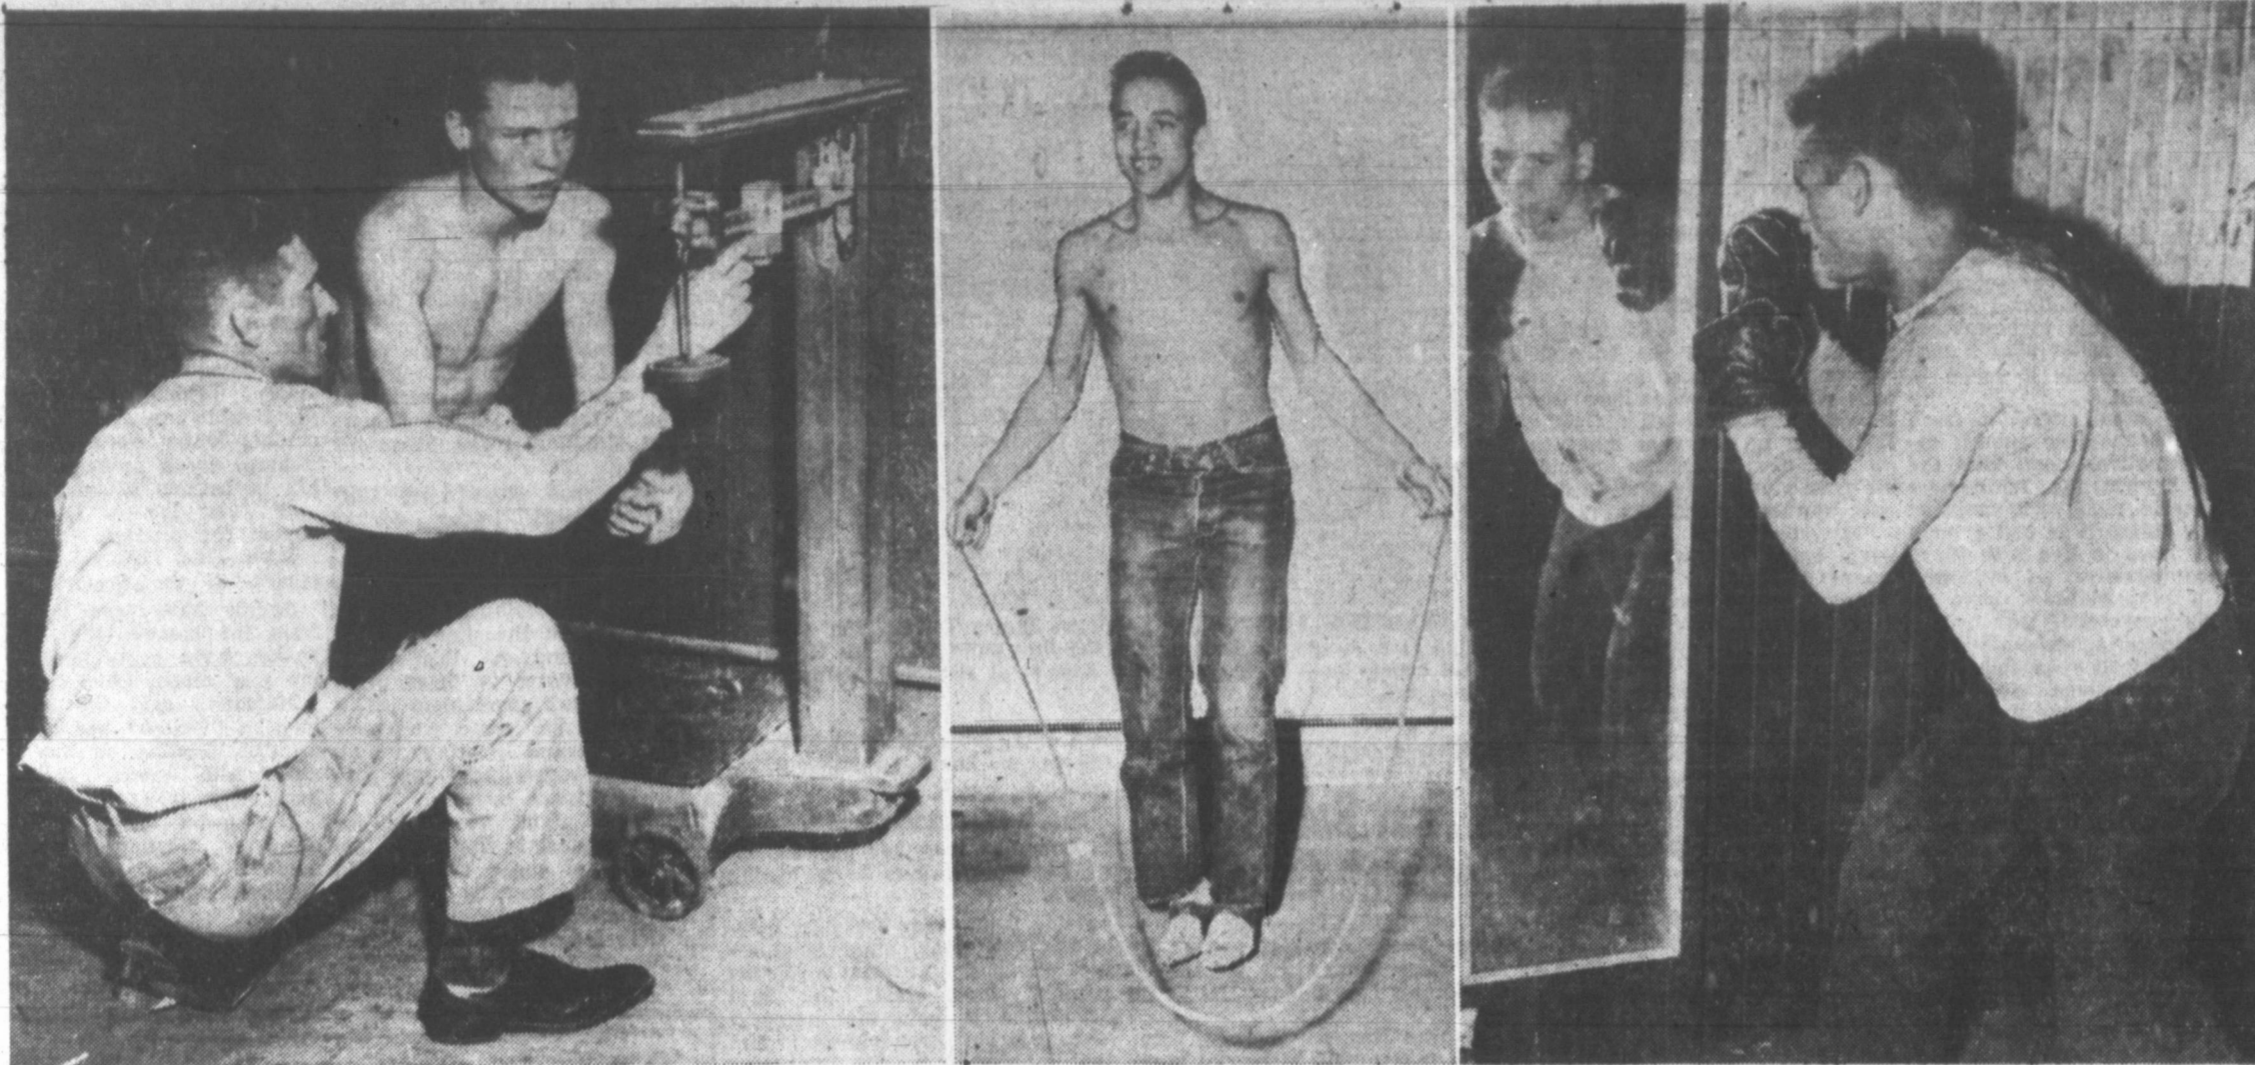

Tickets for the home basketball season are now on sale at the school business office, although it is not certain as yet whether the new fieldhouse will be available for the home opener. The floor has been completely sanded and sealed, and in all probability will be ready for the Harvesters to work out on next Monday.

Lefors, Wellington Ringmen To Provide Action Aplenty In Local Golden Gloves

John Lee's Wellington Sky-rockets are going to put on a strong bid to steal the Pampa Golden Glove championship here next week. The Rockets have been fighting for several months, have seven team matches behind them, and offer one of the better coached and trained squads in the Panhandle.

But they will run into plenty of stiff opposition from the Lefors Pirates, who will also have many boys entered. Coach Bob Callan of the Bucks announced this morning.

The Lefors' mittmen have long been one of the outstanding crews in the area under the capable guidance of Callan. He will enter such ring figures as Eddie Clemmons, J. D. Redus, Fred Blackwell, Jerry Herring, Cecil, Saunders, D. B. Coberly, Jameson, who fights in the

Callan Named Head Coach Of Lefors Pirates By Board

Bob Callan, who for the past few seasons has been head coach and assistant in other sports at Lefors High school, was named last night to the temporary head coach's job. He replaces Frank Sonntag, who was released from his contract last fall.

The announcement was made at a regular meeting of the Lefors school board, a body which also handed out some instructions to the new acting head coach to precipitate any actions similar to those which had Lefors ousted from District 1-A for a short while this fall.

R. L. Jeffreys, president of the school board, and speaking for the group, told Callan that he could choose his own assistant, but it didn't have to be an immediate selection. "Get someone you can work with in an get along with," Callan was advised. "Get a man of good moral character. We don't want any friction. The school athletic program is not for the coach, the fans, the superintendent of the school board — but for the kids. Winning is not paramount. Someone has got to lose. All we want is a hard fought, spirited, clean game."

CONFIDENCE
Jeffery's in a statement to The News, said: "I have utmost confidence Bob can carry out an athletic program that everyone will be proud of. The main thing is to build character; you've got to lose sometime. Boys that age are impressed easily, and what they learn now — but win right."

Callan said that "our conference schedule is complete, but we still need five basketball games from non-conference foes for this year."

Braves, Aggies Turn In Victories

By TED MEIER
NEW YORK — (AP) — Things are looking up again for Bradley University on the basketball court.

The Braves from Peoria chalked up their first major victory of the season last night, a 57 to 56 double overtime triumph over fifth ranked St. Louis. The upset victory went a long way to wipe out the sting of the six defeats Bradley has suffered.

A free throw by Dick Peterson in the closing minutes of the second overtime provided the winning point over the Sugar Bowl conquerors of Kentucky's NCAA champions.

Unbeaten St. Bonaventure, the only other team of the Associated Press top ten to play last night, fared better. The eighth-ranked Bonnies made it 8 in a row by chopping down Canisius, 76-61.

Once-beaten Texas Christian strengthened its claim as the best team in the Southwest Conference, TCU won its 11th straight by whipping Rice, 42-30. Texas took Southern Methodist, 41-31, in another Southwest Conference game.

Oregon again trounced Washington, 59-45, to take a firm grip on first place in the northern division of the Pacific Coast Conference.

North Carolina State, the defending champs, took over undisputed possession of the top rung in the Southern Conference. The Wolfpack beat South Carolina, 55-76.

The Oklahoma Aggie whipped their arch rivals — at a try-out, their arch cross-state rivals, Oklahoma, 49 to 40. The Aggies took an early 13-4 lead and were never headed.

Skelly Vs Panhandle
The Skellytown Panthers, coached by ex-harvester Bert Isbell, return to action tomorrow night after a lengthy holiday layoff.

The Panthers will host the Panhandle Junior school cagers at the Skellytown gymnasium starting at 7 p.m. Both an A and B team game will be played.

Both teams are members of the District 1-A Junior High school league.

Horned Frogs Have Trouble But Get Past Rice, 42-30

By CLAY HICKERSON
Associated Press Staff
Texas Christian's potent Horned Frogs made it three straight conference victories Tuesday night as the University of Texas Longhorns broke into the loop win column for the first time.

The Horned Frogs disposed of a hard-fighting Rice Institute quintet with a decisive 42-30 victory. Texas led nearly all the way to wallop the Ponies, 41-31, as both teams displayed poor shooting.

In fact, shooting was below par in both games of the night, which saw Southwest Conference teams in action.

The Christians, who made good in only 18 of 60 field goal tries, had to use a surge in the final 12 minutes to carry them to the victory over the pesky Owls who were apparently out to spoil a bright TCU record.

The lead changed seven times and the score was tied six times before George McLeod sent the Frogs ahead, 25-24, late in the third period.

McLeod and John Etheridge then shot the Froggies into a commanding 35-25 advantage and to win their 13th victory in 14 starts this season.

LONGHORNS WIN
At Austin, the Longhorns defending champs along with TCU and Texas A&M — jumped to a quick 6-0 lead, but a fast Pony rally cut the margin to 12-9 at the quarter mark. SMU then pulled within one point in the second quarter and trailed just two points at the half, 17-15. Texas hit 16 percent of its shots in the first half, while SMU was able to hit only 21 percent from the field.

SMU forged ahead in the third quarter, 21-19, but held the lead just two minutes as Texas fought back. From then on, the Steers enlarged their lead and held it to ten points from early in the fourth period.

Longhorn George Sealing was high man for the night at Austin with 15 points including nine of ten free throws, while Etheridge of TCU was the point leader at Houston with 13 points.

cause he couldn't support his family; working as a carpenter for several years to get enough money to go back on tour; finally capturing one of the richest prizes of them all, top money in this $17,000 tourney.

Randy Clay Banquet Mc

Randy Clay, former Harvester University of Texas and New York, pro Giant grid star, will serve as master of ceremonies for the annual Pampa Harvesters football banquet to be held Jan. 11 in the Senior High School cafeteria.

Clay will be serving in a situation that will afford him an opportunity to tell much about a former moment of his in the Southwest Conference, Coach Jess Neely, who will be guest speaker. Neely, head coach of the Rice Owls, is one of the most respected football mentors in the nation. He is currently attending the National Coaches Association meeting in Cincinnati.

Clay, who is now serving with the United States Air Force at Brooke Medical center, just completed a season with the Brooks grid team, which was climaxed with the Cigar Bowl game. He is presently home on two weeks leave which will extend until after the banquet.

Tickets for the affair may be obtained at the Chamber of Commerce, Noblett - Coffey, Malone and Keel, Frank Leders, Clyde's or Richard Drug.

One of the highlights of the program will be the presentation of the "Fighting Heart" award.

The Pampa Quarterback club, which is sponsoring the affair, has announced that all parents of Harvester footballers will be guests of members of the Quarterback club at the banquet.

Chiefs Schedule Lefors Tonight

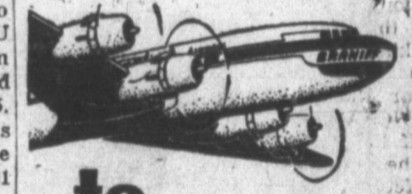

The Noblett - Coffey Pontiac Chiefs, one of the top amateur cage teams in the Panhandle, will face the Lefors Independents tonight at the Junior High school gymnasium at 8 o'clock.

Jim Arndt, team manager, announced yesterday afternoon.

The Chiefs, who just started workouts, are hunting games, and were obliged by the Lefors team, which has been playing regularly for the last month.

The Chiefs have several returning players from last year's squad in Coach Cliff McNeely, J. W. Malone, Garland Head and Kenneth Simpson. This quartet has been bolstered by the addition of Johnny Clark, 6-8, who played at Rice, a new Tulsa, Billy Roark, chunky guard who performed for Missouri School of Mines, and 6-5 Tom Wade, who played at Lamesa.

The Chiefs have booked the Wiskered Wizards again, and are due to play them soon after the first of February.

Walter Spiller of Odessa was the game's high-point man with 16.

Shamrock B's Defeat Kelton

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Coach Clarence Morris' Irish "B" team opened the season with a 27-17 victory over the Kelton "B" there Monday night.

Lee Roy Passons paced the Irish with nine points, followed closely by Clarence Jones with eight. R. Britten, Kelton "B" center, hit 11 for seven.

Leading 20-11 in the third stanza, the Irish coasted in to win, as Morris substituted freely, using all his crew.

Morris takes the "B" to Alameda for a "B" team tourney this week end.

Halfback Roy Thompson made the longest run from scrimmage in Florida State University football history when he dashed 76 yards against Stetson U.

Bolt Wins LA Open With Sub-Par 69

By PETE ARTHUR
LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Tommy Bolt, with reputation for displays of temper, has a $4,000 check today to prove his nerves are ice in the clutch.

The lightly-regarded driving range operator from Durham, N. C., ran away from better-known Jack Burke, Jr. and E. J. (Dutch) Harrison in an 18-hole playoff yesterday for the Los Angeles Open golf tournament's top money.

Despite a seven on the 18th hole, he finished with 69, two under par. Burke had par 71. "I thought that would be enough to win and I shot it," he said afterward. "Tommy shot one of the greatest rounds I've ever seen."

Harrison, plagued by an abscessed tooth but uncomplaining, faded to 74. As per prior agreement, they split second and third prizes of $2,500 and $1,600 — getting $2,050 each. In addition, each will pick up about $310 in admission fees. The players split 50 percent of the playoff gate of more than $1,800.

Although he was in minor trouble more than once, Bolt kept hitting them down the middle all day. "I've gotten mad and kicked away holes in the past, but I think I've got it whipped," he said.

His receipt for success is simple: "You've got to diet on hot dogs for awhile. The guys that have money enough at the start don't have the guts to play top golf."

Bolt, now 33, made his hard way, learning the game as a caddy; trying the tough tournament grind but giving up be-

Meyer, Tatum To Coach For Coaches

EL PASO — (AP) — Jim Tatum of Maryland and L. R. "Dutch" Meyer of Texas Christian will be the head football instructors for the annual Texas Coaching School slated for Fort Worth Aug. 4-8. Tatum, coach of the undefeated untied Maryland outfit that beat powerful Tennessee in the Sugar Bowl, will be the second Sugar Bowl champion to instruct at the school in three years. Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma was an instructor in 1950. Meyer will teach his sensational new "spread" formation, single wing tactics and coach the South team in the annual all-star football game. Tatum will teach the T-formation and coach the North team in the classic. L. W. McConachie, El Paso, executive secretary of the Texas High School Coaches Association, announced the selection of Meyer and Tatum last night after they had accepted. Previously selected as basketball instructors for the school were Henry Iba, basketball coach at Oklahoma A & M, and Adolph Rupp, cage mentor of the University of Kentucky. Alex Hooks, baseball coach at Southern Methodist, will be the baseball instructor. A track instructor is yet to be named.

Showdown Sure On Telecasting

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — A legal showdown on the issue of controlled sports broadcasting and televising of national football league games was a certainty today. Judge Allan Grim in U. S. district court ruled yesterday the government's anti-trust suit against the NFL league should go to a jury for a decision. In turning down an NFL motion for dismissal of the suit, the jurist said he considered the case of widespread interest and therefore felt it should be given a full trial. During the hearing of the NFL motion, U. S. attorney Percy Egan indicated the eventual outcome of the suit can be expected to have a major effect on radio-telecasting controls by both professional teams and colleges. The government charged the NFL with violating the Sherman anti-trust act by denying, in effect, radio and TV coverage of games to certain areas. The league asked that the suit be dismissed on the ground the NFL is not engaged in interstate commerce.

Brown Out To Turn In Victory

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — There won't be an "all-star" aspect of the second annual pro-bowl football game here Saturday — not so far as Coach Paul Brown of Cleveland is concerned. Brown is the coach of the array of talent selected from the American Conference of the National Football League to engage Coach Joe Stydahar's National Conference aggregation. Brown, who lost to Stydahar when his champion Cleveland Browns were knocked off the NFL throne by the Los Angeles Rams, made it plain today he is out to win the game. That means, he said, that he'll use whatever combination molds into game winning potential. And it means that some of the stars might not even get into the game at all when the rivals go to bat in the coliseum.

Bowler Grooves His Swing Like Golfer, Has Pitcher's Control

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEW YORK (NEA)— Buddy Bomar is writing and illustrating an instructive bowling treatise for NEA Service, and Chicago's transplanted Texan has at least 16 million readers in this country alone. Bowling is by far the greatest participant sport. No fewer than 6500 establishments with 55,000 certified by the American Bowling Congress. Men, women and children bowl in practically every nation in the world. Members of the armed forces gave the game tremendous impetus during the war, bringing installations with them. Bomar was the national match - game champion in 1944. Bomar and Ned Day are the only two men twice designated Bowler-of-the-Year, the former's being '45 and '47. Bomar was co - holder of the national doubles match - game championship in '44 and the past year. He captained the team which won the national team - game championships of '47-48-49. He is one of only three men who have held all three individual, doubles and team. He has rolled 54 perfect games, 855, based on 277,300-278. Like so many athletic stars, Bomar obtained a flying start. He began when he was 13, and in the 22 years since has bowled more than 25,000 games. BOWLERS' TERRIFIC PRESSURE Bomar is under the pressure put on a baseball pitcher turning in a no - hit, no-runner. He really has to be faultless, for he has to come up with a strike 12 consecutive times. Professor Bomar point out that bowling is very similar to golf.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
CINCINNATI — (AP) — One of the juicier bits of lobby gossip around the football coaches convention next week at Georgia Tech's Bobby Dodd has been approached about taking command of a pro football club in Baltimore. . . . How far the deal has gone isn't clear, but the professional visitors are especially interested because they're having their draft meeting next week and one of the important side issues may be what's going to happen to the New York Yanks. . . . Indications are that Ted Collins no longer is interested in the expensive proposition of buying the club and may either merge the club and sell out. . . . Most eager job-hunting lobby standee (they're like baseball guys in that respect) seems to be Jordan Oliver, whose team at Loyola of Los Angeles was shot out from under him. Oliver, who has a lucrative insurance business and who says Los Angeles is the best town in the world in which to be out of a job, wants to stay in coaching. . . . Right now he's interested in the Washington State post vacated by Forest Vasbye. . . . Pals also are scouting for spots for Ward Cuff, the old giant who made good in high school coaching, and for VMI's Tom Nugent, whose "I" formation caught on last fall.

Embarrassing Moment

When the National Baseball Congress compiled 1951 selections for the "sandlot graduate of the year," Allie Reynolds wasn't considered. . . . They checked over players from past national tournaments who had made good in the big leagues with a few exceptions. . . . The Yankee's double no-hit finger, and hit upon the name of Lou Kretlow of the White Sox for the award. . . . Then letters from fans, who aren't so forgetful, came flooding in. . . . In a checkup of the list of 2,704 players who have competed in 17 tournaments finally revealed that an unknown pitcher, Al Reynolds, had pitched two games in 1937 for the Leyden, Colo., Miners and lost them both. . . . So now the 1951 award is a double one — to Kretlow and Reynolds. ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE Dick Butler, Happy Chandler's former aide, is very much in evidence here as good-will man for a sporting goods company. . . . Billy Mansfield, 17-year-old son of the Wisconsin baseball coach, was tabbed as a terrific pitching prospect until he broke a bone in his hand playing football. . . . It didn't heal properly and Billy was scheduled for an operation yesterday. . . . The NCAA is investigating but feasibility of establishing an intercollegiate ski championship, which led one southern scribe to wonder how many scholarships his school would give for skiing. . . . After a last post-season round of looking for college prospects, Ed Ronzani, the Pacific's coach, tabs Michigan State's Don Coleman as a better guard than either Ted Daffer of Tennessee or Bob Ward of Maryland.

Tit For Tat

After Sid Gillman, Cincinnati U. grid coach, kept a speaking engagement in Youngstown, O., last month he was snowed in and couldn't keep his next date. . . . The same night Notre Dame's Moose Krause was supposed to talk to another Youngstown organization but couldn't get there on account of the weather. In a quick substitution, Sid did the talking and showed films of Cincinnati's big game. . . . Any prospects change their minds?

Irishmen Stagger Irish B Team To 31-30 Win

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Shamrock Irish basketball team Monday lead over Kelton three Monday night, then faltered, but were able to hang on for a 31-30 win. Norrell Perkins, guard, paced the Irish attack with 14 points, closely followed by Van Pennington with 11. Kenneth Richardson hit for 17 points to pace the pack. Shamrock took a 9-1 lead at the quarter, piling up a long, 19-8 margin at the half. But the Keltons came back strong to whittle the Irish margin to 23-17 at the three quarter mark, and then shaved the margin to a feather edge before yielding at the end. Coach McCall's Lassies dropped a 36-24 tilt to the classy Kelton girls, second to McLean in the December Irish tourney. John Shaffer Kelton's all-tourney forward, again paced the field, netting 18 points. Carolyn Dodgen, freshman Irish forward, hit for 11 to pace the Green-and-White. Shamrock's girls started strong, taking a 6-4 quarter lead, but yielding to a 10-10 tie at the half. Following the defensive first half, the Keltons burst forth with a terrific, 17-point barrage in the fourth canto, after leading by 19-14 at the third quarter mark.

Seek Revision Of Clipping Rule

CINCINNATI — (AP) — Herbert Hooper, president of the Texas High School Coaches Association, joined forces with Dutch Meyer of TCU, here to get approval of the coaches rules committee of the APCA for a return to the 1948 clipping rule. Meyer made the motion yesterday that the present rule, which permits blocking a opponent from behind provided the contact is above the waist, be eliminated in favor of the pre-1948 version that prohibited all blocking from behind. Hooper reported the vote of his Texas high school coaches were 242 voted for a change and only 72 wanted to retain the present rule. He also made a brief talk in favor of the change, and the committee voted unanimously to

Pennington Still Leads Scoring

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Van Pennington continues to lead the Irish scoring, looping 59 points, in seven battles, for just under a 9 point average. He fired in 18 points against Wheeler here last Friday. Second in the individual scoring is George Hendrick, who has 36 counters. Hendrick is an outstanding rebound man, and often tips a missed ball into the goal. Norrell Perkins is edging up, with 30 points. He hit two late baskets to give the Irish a clean victory, 33-28 over the Wheelers last week. Billy Harris had a bad week and scored two points to run his total to 25, while Mack Terry, who did not play, continues with 23. These five are the Irish starting combination, but others have been scoring: Bennie Parks, 11; Eddie Tarbet, four; Billy Parsons seven at; Malcolm Parsons six. Big Dwayne Hager has looped two points.

Restriction Due On Live Collegiate Grid Telecasts

By WILL GRIMSLEY
CINCINNATI — (AP) — Live telecasts of college football games are almost certain to be restricted again next fall, despite the government anti-trust suit against the National Football League. A spokesman for the NCAA television committee said today the college program will not be influenced by the action of a federal judge in Philadelphia yesterday ordering the suit to trial. Federal Judge Alan Grim denied a NFL motion for dismissal of the government case attacking the league's restriction of television and radio broadcasts. He ordered a full trial on the issues. "Our case and that of the professionals are entirely different and this action won't sway our thinking on the matter," said Bob Hall, Yale University athletic director and the lawyer-member of the NCAA committee. "If the suit comes out in favor of the professional league then we feel we have given a free hand on our program since they are far more restrictive than we are." RESEARCH REPORT "If the NFL is found wrong then our case, which is different, will have to be tried on its own merits. We have not yet been told by the government we are in violation of any laws." The 1952 college television program will not be known until the Business Men's Assurance Company Life, Health, Hospitalization, Educational, Annuity Mrs. J. Ray Martin 107 N. Frost Phone 773

Broadway's Children Star In The Old-Fashioned "Red School House"

By GAILE DUGAS
 NEA Woman's Editor
 NEW YORK — (NEA) — Going to school in an office building on Broadway, without benefit of green grass playgrounds or a ball field, might not seem like fun to the average youngster. But the 210 children enrolled in Broadway's famed Little Red School House think there's no school like their school.

And they're quite right. The Professional Children's School is unique. Every pupil enrolled in it has made some sort of start in show business, be it the theater, radio or TV. These kids are true professionals, serious about their careers and working hard at them.

In their own school, where they have the same subjects studied by kids everywhere, they have a schedule that's built around show business. They go to classes from 10 a.m. until 2:15 p.m. This gives them time to react to the theater for a matinee, to attend a rehearsal, to audition for a new show or to get extra sleep after an evening's performance.

The notes that come from home asking that Johnny be excused rarely are written in connection with a case of mumps. It's almost always a case of stardust. Permission is readily granted because the teachers, too, love show business.

But, while the school adjusts its routine to its pupils, there is no laxity about study rules. From first grade through high school, the children are the special responsibility of both New York State and New York City.

When they miss classes, they have to make up their work. If they go on the road with a show, they keep up their studies by means of a stiff correspondence course.

The year that the Little Red School House first swung wide its doors was 1914. That year, Deaconess Jane Harris Hall of the famed Little Church Around the Corner was shocked when she found that there was a whole group of stage children who were bright enough but had never learned to read or write.

Their parents hadn't bothered to send them to school because the hours conflicted with rehearsals and matinees. Deaconess Hall took the children in charge and with the aid of some borrowed books, held the first classes.

Since then, the school has had a hand in turning out some famous pupils. Ida Lupino, Nancy Kelly, Nancy Walker, Georgie Price, Ann Blyth, Eddie Bracken, Penny Singleton and Beatrice Kay are numbered among the alumni.

Temperament is the one problem that might be expected to loom large. Actually, it doesn't loom at all. The girl who works regularly in a radio soap opera probably sits next to the boy who has an important part in a Broadway show. This way, there's no room for upstaging and, during school hours, at any rate, no prima donnas.

Oysters are said to contain all the minerals necessary to maintain health.

Mrs. A. L. Leonard Honored At Shower

Mrs. A. L. Leonard, recent bride, was honored with a miscellaneous bridal shower recently in the home of Miss Freda Worley. Miss Evelyn Patterson was co-hostess.

The bride's colors of pink and white were carried out in table decorations and in corsages presented to the honoree and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. R. B. Leonard.

Gifts were presented from a table decorated in pink and white.

Those participating were Meses. Jenni Vee Butler, Edna Pace, Irene Thurman, Edith Jones, Claudene Elstien, Grace Fullerton, Maxine Cunningham, Louise Evans, Allene Horrell, Frank Hines, H. A. Hindman, Jack Lewis, Bob Bailey, John Mitchell, Leah Brown, Harold McCleary, Dinzel Leonard, Albert Newman, Hal Upchurch and V. W. White.

Winter Magic Will Stretch Wardrobes

By GAILE DUGAS
 NEA Woman's Editor
 NEW YORK — (NEA) — Stretching a wardrobe, with the aid of the new petticoats designed to be worn outside, is as easy as pie. A single petticoat can be transferred from leotards to sheath dress or a single sheath dress can change its appearance with each new petticoat.

The advantages, then, are obvious. Several of these petticoats will work such magic that no one else other women will guess that you're employing just one or two basic costumes.

Black velvet, when it's seamed into leotards, takes readily to a petticoat. Designed for speed in donning, the leotards are sleeveless, have a zippered fastening that makes it possible to get into them and petticoat as well in just sixty seconds. Petticoat is a Chinese silk flower-printed gold cloth circle skirt.

Leotards in red wool jersey are cut like a sweater, zippered down the back, fastenings just below the knee. Sleeves have a full and easy cut, are worn shoved up above the elbow. The petticoat is red, blue and white plaid. It opens down the front and is lined with blue taffeta.

Beauty After Forty

MYRNA LOY

Women who have passed the Forty mark with determination to live a new life are becoming more and more important. Everywhere we see well-groomed, mature women who are going into top jobs of opening their own businesses.

Women of the stage, screen, radio, and TV are often more successful after forty than before. Especially in this time of the movies and radio. These women have something to give, something to say and in the movies they look the parts that they play, and that's important.

Makeup, no matter how cleverly done, fails when it comes to a woman playing the straight role of a mature character, such as a mother, which requires a mature actress, who both looks and acts the part in real life as well as before the camera.

I am always much impressed by women who achieve a new goal after forty. There is so much of life to live and at no age must you be bored or entirely without interest. Look around you, see what other women are doing. They will inspire you to carve out a stimulating career for yourself. It may be just doing everyday things in a new way or it may be just changing your hairdo.

You can achieve what you want even though you don't begin until after forty. There is always the opportunity for success.

If you have a secret ambition, something that you have always wanted to do, try out that ambition now. Go to work on it. If you concentrate hard enough you can win, even after forty!

AFTER a moment Alma called to Tommy again, under her breath. "I shouldn't ask you to come back!" she said. "You had to go! Oh darling! Of course you had to go!"

There were tears in her eyes as she turned away and walked slowly toward the living room. Joe did not even try to ignore the fact that she was crying. He nuzzled her shoulder understandingly.

Joe knows, she thought, he's seen what's happened to Tommy. Joe knows that a man has to be a hero, without help. After a long moment of silence Joe cleared his throat and spoke gruffly.

"There's a gun in the glove compartment of my car," he said. "Hope Tommy finds it. Safe bet that the others are armed."

The early editions of the evening papers carried the story of the Mammoth Gold-buying Company murder. Joe went out and bought copies of them all, and he and Alma poured over them.

Her heart seemed to stop beating at the start of each brief paragraph. Suppose she had left some trace behind her in that office? Had she touched anything? She strained to remember... the door-knob of the private office? But she had been wearing gloves. Thank heaven, she had not removed them! The police had little to say at this stage of the investigation, beyond one significant statement. Apollo Brown was being looked for questioning.

"Looks like they believe it's a one-man job," Joe commented. So far there was nothing to hint that the House would be involved.

The hours crept by interminably and they dared not leave the apartment. As the tension of waiting grew they had less and less to say to each other but Alma knew the suspense would be intolerable without the quiet warmth of Joe Denton's presence. He radiated goodness and strength the way a clear fire sends out heat, she thought.

Joe had, silently, yet unmistakably reverted to their old, early relationship. Whether Tommy succeeded or failed in his mission—even if Tommy never came back, which was conceivable, Joe was letting her see that he knew Tommy had won; that the gallant gesture, the high-head head, the sudden courage of her husband had sealed her to him again, this time irrevocably.

Whatever Joe might continue to feel toward her in his secret heart, outwardly he would be nothing more than the devoted friend. Of them both that was the glorious part of it—Tommy had won back Joe's respect as well as her own.

THE silence which fell between them were not uncomfortable, but they seemed endless. Once the telephone rang and they both sprang toward it. But it was only Old Victor Blanchard, worried because Alma had not come back to the House after the luncheon hour.

She reassured him, saying she had gone home because of a slight headache, and then Papa Victor rambled happily on for several minutes about his work on his successful design-for-the-gold star pin.

"Only fancy, cherie," he told her excitedly, "I heard today that Mr. Muncie is going to name the pin after me! It is the first time the House has permitted any personal name to be connected with a product. What rejecting I have! It is to be called 'The Victor!'"

"I am so proud and happy, dear Papa Victor!"

The old man's voice seemed to belong to another planet as she hung up. The whole tight little

Actress Mona Freeman Says Studio Won't Let Her Grow Up

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — (P) — Mona Freeman has arranged a parting with Paramount, her studio for eight years. One of her reasons, she can't grow up there.

Mona is the wife of Pat Nerney, auto dealer, and the mother of Mona, Jr., 4. The actress is 25 years old, but she claims the studio hasn't been able to think of her as a grown-up.

"In my latest picture, I played a 15-year-old," she remarked. "I did three pictures as the teen-age trouble-maker in the 'Dear Ruth' series. They just can't picture me as an adult. Yet when other studios borrow me for pictures, it has always been for grown-up roles."

"I've been at Paramount for eight years, and they have been largely happy ones. But the time comes when you are taken for granted. I think it's better for both of us to end the contract."

Mona will leave the lot this month. She said she had been discussing her decision with an-

Will Introduce Bill
WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator Smathers (D-Fla.) said today he would introduce a bill to "end the stepson role of the reservist." He said his bill would classify reservists so each will know whether he is subject to recall to military duty. It would set at 24 months the limit for involuntary service except in times of war or emergency.

Classifying Reserves
Ready reserves could be recalled by presidential action alone, but standby and retired reservists could be recalled only when Congress declares war or an emergency.
The bill is similar to one which passed the House last year.

HONOR GUEST
MANILA — (AP) — Francis Cardinal Spellman was honor guest today at a luncheon given by President Elpidio Quirino at Malacanang palace. The archbishop of New York, who made a Christmas visit to the Korean war front, will leave by plane Wednesday for Hong Kong on his way to Rome and the United States.

Cooked dried beans—team well with browned chopped onions and canned tomatoes. Season well with salt and pepper and serve very hot sprinkled with parsley. To cut the parsley fine use a kitchen scissors.
Add grated yellow cheese to creamed diced potatoes for a flavor change. Sprinkle with chopped chives or parsley cut fine with a kitchen scissors.

Diced celery and plimeto-stuffed olives are delicious added to a plain tomato aspic. Use about two cups of the celery and a cup of the olives for an aspic made with two cups of tomato juice.
If you want to add fresh or canned tomatoes to scrambled eggs crumble some bread into the tomatoes to absorb the juice before adding the eggs.

Is Southwest Selling Too Much Natural Gas? Many Oil Industry Leaders Say This Is True

Written for the Associated Press EL DORADO, Ark. — (AP) — Is Arkansas — together with five other gas-producing states in the Southwest — selling herself out of prosperity?
Harrington Wimberly, six years a member of the federal power commissions, thinks so.
Wimberly said in an interview that natural gas producers are committing too heavily of their reserves to interstate pipelines feeding fuel to Eastern and Northern markets.
The principal gas-producing

Planes Beware: TV Bug Bites Wheeler

WHEELER — (Special) — Low flying planes beware! The television bug has hit in Wheeler. New antennas are rising almost daily to join the four already installed in Wheeler. Why the fifty-foot antennas are any good is the next question. Since Wheeler is almost 200 miles from the nearest television station there should be no reception at all but the sets here are getting regular programs from a frequency in Oklahoma City, fair reception from Dallas, and the television fans are comparing notes on occasional pictures from Pasadena, California and Havana, Cuba.

Bean Soup Controversy Simmering

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A bean soup controversy simmered menacingly as Congress reconvened after an 11-week adjournment.
The size of the servings of this standard congressional mainstay in the House of Representatives restaurant has been cut down drastically. Two bits formerly brought a brimming bowl of the nourishing stuff; a boy's size oatmeal bowl would be a roomy fit for an order today.
Rep. Tom Steed, a Democratic bean-soup gourmet from Shawnee, Okla., uncovered this newest evidence of inflation almost immediately upon his return to the capital. His reaction was resigned but embittered.
Stirring a 10-cent cup of coffee, which was only a nickel when he went back to Oklahoma last October, Steed invited his colleagues, the press and the world at large to consider Capitol bean soup in historical perspective.
"This portage," he declared, "plus of course soda crackers, for which there traditionally is no charge, has fueled some of America's greatest statesmen for tasks of the highest importance."
"The late Uncle Joe Cannon, famous speaker of the House, was a bean soup addict. The honorable Sam Rayburn, the present speaker, is a card-carrying bean soup eater. Historians have more than a little basis to believe that the Missouri compromise was founded on a sturdy foundation of rich Capitol bean soup."
Steed considered but rejected a proposal to ask the Bureau of Standards for a check on the exact reduction in servings. He said he guessed the restaurant management had to cut corners to keep pace with rising costs, but he wished it had raised the price rather than cut the volume.
Quoting from an Oklahoma folk poet, whose name he said he couldn't recall, Steed sadly intoned:
"I mix my beans with honey;
"I've done so all my life.
"They taste a little funny
"—but they sure stick on my ribs."

Nationalists Say Formosan Commie Party Is Broken

TAIPEH, Formosa — (AP) — The Chinese Nationalist government has reported nine former Communist leaders on Formosa surrendered and denounced China's Red regime.
A government spokesman said the statement was issued by nine men who constituted the Formosa Communist Headquarters committee until they surrendered recently under a Nationalist amnesty pledge.
"Peiping is selling the whole of China to the Kremlin," the statement said, "and is conducting a barbarous program of violence and death on the mainland."
The statement called the Peiping government "inhuman, undemocratic, anti-revolutionary, tyrannic."
