WASHINGTON, March 25—(AP)—Secretary of War Stimson says emphatically he considers "the Patton incident" closed.

Asked at a press conference if Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr. has been relieved of command of the U. S. Seventh Army in Italy, (now headed by Maj. Gen. Alexander M. Patch) because of his slapping of an American soldier in a hospital during the Sicilian campaign, Stimson said:

"No, he has not; he has been assigned to the command of another army."

Another reporter then asked: "Do you consider the Patton incident closed?"

"I do," Stimson replied.

Hillsboro's Prayer

Whistle Blows Again

HILLSBORO, March 25—(AP)—The city waterworks whistle again is calling citizens of Hillsboro to daily prayer for the war's end.

The whistle, also used for general fire alarms, failed to blow for four days. Then, on Tuesday, workmen discovered sparrows had built nests in the whistle's steel cover.

Walter Rogers Files For Re-Election

Walter E. Rogers, District Attorney of the 31st Judicial District, has authorized The Pampa News to announce his candidacy for re-election to a second term. He is now serving his first term, having taken office on the 1st day of January, 1943, after his election in 1942.

Walter, a resident of Pampa, Gray County, Texas, is 35 years of age, married, and has four children. He has been a resident of the 31st Judicial District since 1935, and actively practiced law in the District prior to his assuming the duties of the District Attorney's Office last year. His record as a prosecutor stands as written evidence of his fearlessness in the prosecution of those who offend against the laws and in the protection of the rights of those who are offended against. In making his announcement, Walter said:

"I have not been unimpaired during the past two years of the honor accorded me by the voters of the 31st Judicial District and have tried, honestly and conscientiously, to execute the duties of the office of District Attorney to the best interests of all the people. The District Attorney of the 31st Judicial District is always ably assisted by the fine men who serve on the grand and petit juries and the fine men and women who make up the majority of the populace. For purpose of lending what effort I can to the early confirmation of that belief, and although I may not see the voters personally during the campaign, you may be sure that the heart of Walter Rogers will always be in the 31st District of Texas with his family and his friends."

this assistance on the part of the people I express my sincere thanks. To know and work with and for the people in this District of the Panhandle of Texas is to fully realize that we need never fear the destruction of our way of life so long as the United States has its Texas and Texas has its Panhandle."

"In making my announcement for re-election to a second term, I do not overlook the fact that I am to be inducted into the United States Navy and may be absent from the District for some time. It is my wish to again serve you as your District Attorney upon my return from the armed services. I do not intend to make a lifelong venture of war, although this is a matter that is in the hands of God alone. It is my firm belief that the United Nations, with their vast industrial resources and their vast manpower resources, have begun to roll, and that there is no force or group of forces, obstacle or group of obstacles on the earth that can stop us; that once our machines of destruction are in full swing, the end of this war and the annihilation of the forces of evil, lust and corruption will be but a matter of months. My absence from the District, therefore, will be for the pur-

Governess Slept Through Slaying

NEW YORK, March 25—(AP)—Nervously fingering a pair of spectacles, a gray-haired, soft-spoken governess told at Wayne Loneragan's murder trial how she slept undisturbed throughout the night that the RCAF airframe's heiress wife was battered and strangled in a room not far from her.

The governess, Miss Elizabeth Black, testified Thursday under cross examination she retired about 10:30 p. m., and had closed the door to her room. She heard no noises, she said.

The witness earlier had related how Mrs. Elser broke in a door and discovered the body of Patricia Loneragan in an ornate mahogany and bronze bed. Patrolman John J. Casey, first witness of the day, said he was the first policeman to reach the house in response to a police radio alarm. He was met in the basement by Elser, he said, and accompanied to the master bedroom where the young heiress' nude body was found.

The patrolman said he didn't make any investigation, but merely stood guard until other detectives and a medical examiner arrived.

Police have said that Elser and the slain heiress' mother, Mrs. William Burton, discovered the slaying after the Marine officer telephoned the apartment about a dinner engagement. Both were expected to testify later.

Changes Listed In Gas Rations

It's alphabet shuffling time again on gasoline rationing coupons. Invalid as of April 1 will be B, B-1, C and C-1, and E and R.

Replacing the old B, C, E and R coupons that are no good after March 31 will be B-2 and B-3, good until used up; C-2 and C-3, good until used up; and E-1 and E-1 with coupons good for six months in the case of farmers...

Also, after March 31, retail filling stations can't accept R coupons. Holders of R can either have these accepted at bulk stations or take the coupons to the ration board office for E coupon exchange.

Value of A gasoline coupons has not been changed by the reduction of A rations from 3 to 2 gallons a week for this section of the country...

In accordance with this interpretation, A-11 coupons, originally announced to become invalid May 21, will run to June 21, and A-12 from June 22 to Sept. 21.

Though there is no change in the value of existing coupons, A-11, A-12, and others becoming valid in the future will have to run three months instead of two.

DALLAS, March 25—(AP)—OPA Administrator Chester Bowles says the curtailment of the less essential 'A' (gasoline) ration use seems the only way to protect essential farm, truck, and passenger car use.

His statement was in a telegram replying to one from Senator W. Lee O'Daniel in which the Texan protested the curtailment would result in "utterly demoralizing war production and other essential business out here in Texas."

"Please rescind your order immediately and advise me of your action by wire," Bowles' reply also said. "The facts are, I. Civilians are currently using more gasoline than has been certified to them by petroleum administration, and 2. civilian allocation for second quarter but 13 per cent over first quarter, while seasonal increase last year between same quarters was 18 per cent."

TODAY on the HOME FRONT

WASHINGTON, (AP)—When he feuds with congressmen, Radio Commentator Walter Winchell walks a one-way street.

He can be held accountable for what he says about them any place. They can't be prosecuted for what they say, so long as they say it in congress.

This congressional immunity, violated sometimes by punched noses, has always been upheld. It's guaranteed in the constitution.

It doesn't hold true, of course, for statements made by congressmen outside congress.

Winchell currently is tangling with Congressmen Martin Dies, John Rankin and Clare Hoffman. On the air, he's said things that pained them. In congress they haven't minced words about him.

Dies' committee on un-American activities will investigate all Winchell has said for the past two years. Dies has demanded—and is getting—equal radio time to answer Winchell on the air in order to reach his same listening audience.

Dies will follow Winchell Sunday night and, by stepping outside congress, forgoes his immunity for that 15-minute period.

Kidding about Dies' demand for air time, the Washington Post editorially wonders: Would congress be willing to give equal time to a citizen on the floor of congress to answer charges made against him there?

This is part of the constitution—verified by federal court—which says congressmen can't be prosecuted for anything they say in congress, and that includes libel and slander.

Dies and representatives for any speech or debate in either house shall not be questioned in any other place.

Historian Charles A. Beard interprets this immunity further as extending to anything said "in committees, in official publications, or in the legitimate discharge of their legislative duties."

The constitution's words are taken almost exactly from the British bill of rights in which the parliament in 1689, to protect members from arbitrary arrest for criticism of the king, declared:

"The freedom of speech and debate on proceedings in parliament ought not to be impeached or questioned in any court or place out of parliament."

But immunity to prosecution has not saved congressmen from bodily harm for utterances on the floor. Private citizens occasionally have slugged or caned a congressman critic outside the capitol.

In not one case of assault for criticism have we been able to find after diligent search—although the records seem incomplete—that a congressman's assailant was jailed.

In each case the assailant was arrested, tried before the house involved and released after a reprimand although both house and senate can impose prison penalties.

Congressmen have punched each other in congress and dueled to the death elsewhere for statements made on the floor. In one duel, fought with rifles, a congressman was killed but the house took no action against the victor.

Sometimes congress has felt that a member has transgressed all bounds and ordered stricken from the record statements he made on the floor.

Several years ago a congressman sought to set up a committee to investigate complaints of citizens who felt they had been slandered by a speaker on the floor. The offending member was to be censured if the complaint was found true. Nothing came of the idea.

be considered by representatives of the war production board, army, navy, selective service, office of defense transportation and other claimant agencies for manpower.

The fact that McNutt's new manpower-rationing committee was formed to deal only with the 22-25 group virtually wiped out the chance of youths 18 through 21, who are not farm workers, to keep their occupational deferments.

State draft directors have authority to indorse key man 18 to 21, but such indorsements not having the sanctions of the new inter-agency committee are certain to be rare.

Selective service's new job is to send up an estimated 240,000 men now holding job deferments (2-A, 2-B, 2-C and 3-C). This must be done if the armed forces are to reach their goal of 11,300,000 by July 1.

aided shook the Casario sector in Italy, where the dogged German defenders held on to about one quarter of the town, pinning down New Zealanders trying to punch westward. The Anzio beachhead also rumbled with artillery fire and German tank thrusts were repelled.

Allied aviation, including heavy bombers, ranged wide over German-held Italy and the Yugoslav coast and Friday's aircraft losses were 19 for the Germans, 11 for the Allies.

Maj. Volslav Lukatchevic, one of the commanders in the Yugoslav army, said in an interview in London Saturday that Gen. Draza Mihailovic has 30,000 troops armed and ready in the mountains of Serbia ready to strike at a signal from the Allies to clear a path for invasion.

The statement coincided with the announcement by the Yugoslav government in exile that Mihailovic's Chetniks recently had pressed an offensive to "the very gates" of Belgrade. "These troops have only limited ammunition and equipment," said the major who is in London to seek aid for Mihailovic. "That is why they haven't been fighting. We figure it is better to make one big offensive than waste our bullets in smaller actions. We are ready to clear any given area for an Allied invasion landing on short notice."

Both Britain and the United States have been giving their main support in Yugoslavia to the men of Marshal Tito, Mihailovic's rival, on the ground they were doing most of the fighting against the Germans.

Wheeler Fruit Crop Hard Hit By Freeze

Special To The NEWS. SHAMROCK, March 25—County Agent Jake Taylor stated this morning that it is impossible to determine at this time how much damage the week's freezing weather has done to the area's fruit crop.

Because of moisture which accompanied the first low temperature last Saturday night, the buds were encased in ice and it will be between two and three weeks before the extent of damage can be determined, he said, although some observers believe the crop suffered at least 80 per cent damage.

The mercury slipped below the freezing point for the first time a week ago and was standing on the 30 mark at midnight.

A careful checkup has revealed that many auto mufflers are damaged by carelessness in driving cars onto grease lifts. The trick is to drive on slowly enough that the car does not bob up and down after going over the holding bars.
