Proposition 5 gains support

Consumers in Austin have been told by a coalition of farm and ranch organizations that a constitutional amendment exempting livestock from property taxes would benefit them.

Voters will decide Nov. 3 whether they want to add Proposition 5 to the Texas Constitution.

"It will certainly be to the consumers benefit to support this amendment completely" Rep. Susan McBee, D-Del Rio, said at a news conference in Austin to announce formation of the Vote for 5 Committee.

But some local school boards think that even if the measure benefits Texans as consumers, it will hurt them as home-owners who pay taxes.

Mrs. McBee sponsored the constitutional amendment in the House, where it was approved without dissent, and is chairwomen of the "Vote 5" committee.

Field crops are exempt from property taxes, and the Legislature passed a bill in August exempting farm equipment.

Mrs. McBee said Texas is the only major cattle-raising state where livestock are subject to property taxes.

Ron Davenport of the cattle feeders said some Texas ranchers send their livestock to feedlots in other states to avoid the dedcost of property taxation.

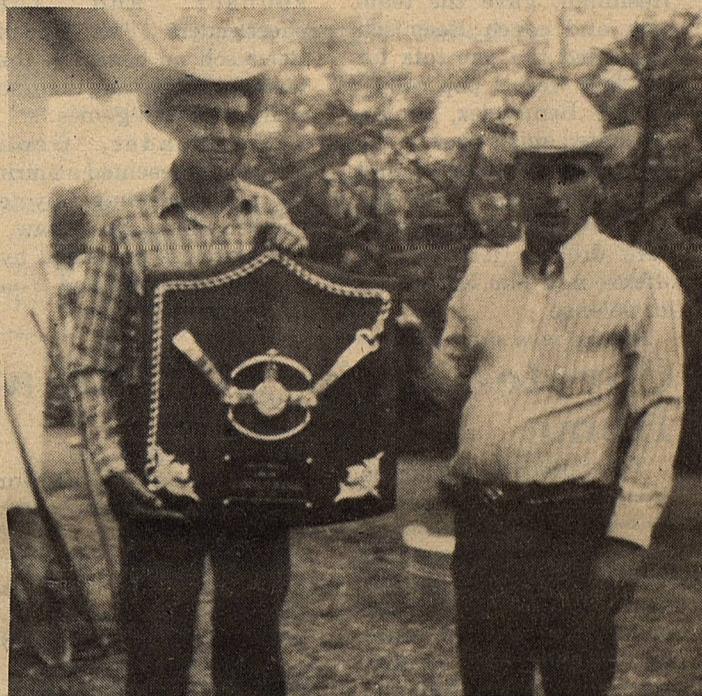

"We have some customers going to Kansas or Nebraska because of the tax in Texas," Davenport said.

She said property taxes on cattle in feedlots range from 75 cents to $4 a head and average $2.

While cattle prices are set by supply and demand, each added expense increases the pinch that chases ranchers out of business, said Frates Seeligson of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association. The upshot, Mrs. McBee said, is higher prices for meat and poultry.

Joining forces to work for Proposition 5 are the Texas Farm Bureau, Texas

Gilmore receives plaque

At a meeting of the Lubbock District Predatory Animal Control Service in Roaring Springs, Texas on Sept. 24th, Joe Gilmore was surprised with the presentation of a service plaque.

In accepting the plaque, Mr. Gilmore expressed his appreciation to the following: Judge Burkett, the Commissioners, cooperating ranchers, office personell, fellow trappers and Supervisor Jim Winnett.

Mr. and Mrs. Rusty Birchfield hosted a Bar-b-que dinner following the presentation.

Gift of $1 million made

The Anne Burnett and Charles Tandy Foundation has committed a gift of $1 million to Endowment fund for the Ranching Heritage Center in Lubbock.

This generous challenge gift and a $4 million development program for the Center was announced by Rich Anderson at the Annual Prairie Golden Spur Awards banquet held in Lubbock Friday, September 18. "These funds will be raised by the Endowment for the Preservation of Ranching Heritage in America," said Anderson, chairman of the center's board of overseers.

Ranching Heritage Association president Harold P. Brown and chairman Anderson will serve as state co-chairman of the development council, which will conduct fund drives throughout the state.

The purpose of the drive, Brown pointed out, is to

Senior Class Selling Honey Made by Bill's Bees

The senior class will start selling honey October 5, 1981. The price will be $4.50 a quart or $54.00 for a case of twelve quarts. If you are interested in buying a quart or a case of honey, please contact a senior, Mr. Roemisch or Mrs. Jarrett.

Honey Facts:

Bill's Bees honey has been strained, not filtered. Filtering honey removes pollen granules from the honey and leaves a plain flavor. Strained honey gives different flavors depending on the flower the bee uses to gather pollen.

Honey, in this purest natural form, has no additives or preservatives to keep it from granulating. All pure honey will granulate.

This granulation can occur over varying periods of time from a few weeks to several months. This, too, depends on where the bees obtained the nectar. Some nectars granulate faster than others. Some of Bill's Bees honey is obtained from the pollination of cotton in an endeavor to assist the West Texas farmers in agricultural production. Cotton honey does granulate quickly.

The warmer the storage place, the longer the honey will remain in its liquid form. The best place to store Bill's Bees honey is on the back of the cabinet by the cook top of the stove, at a temperature of about 80 degrees. Do not store honey in the refrigerator.

If you find your honey is granulating, remove the jar lid, put the jar into the top portion of a double boiler, or in a pan of warm water, maintaining a temperature of 130 to 140 degrees. This should return the honey to its natural liquid state. Do not overheat, as this could cause scorching or darkening which could possible affect the taste of your honey.

Coyote Marching Band Competes in South Plains Fair Parade

The Borden Coyote Band participated in the South Plains Fair Parade of Bands Monday and returned home with 3rd place in Class A competition. There were 12 bands competing in Class A. Arriving just in time to step off-members frantically dressed, grabbed their equipment and began a march of some four miles through downtown Lubbock. Following the parade, band members hit the fairgrounds for several hours of enjoyment on the midway.

Fifty-eight Borden band students made the trip and the red white and blue band really looked good. Winners in the various classes were A-Sundown, Sudan, Borden, Jayton; AA-Shallowater, Ropes, Hale Center, Plains; AAA Frenchip, Denver City, Abernathy, Littlefield; AAAA-Portales, Lamesa

Once again the Supreme Court of US is made up of the full compliment of nine. But the phrase Nine Old Men has been layed away in the history books. There is anew brass name plate-for each Justice. The "Mister" has been struck-it no longer applies. The plates now read Justice So and Justice So. The first woman to sit as a Supreme Court justice won't even have the distinction of being Madam Justice.

Yes, the Supreme Court of US is once again made up of nine members-eight men and one woman. The sacrosanct make domain of the number one court house has been integrated and it is good. Yes, it is good that there is now a female Justice-not because the libbers demanded one-not because the President promised one through his Party platform-but because a good mind and the proper qualifications for the job should know no sex. Most of US clearly recognize that a female can be as gifted with a mind as a male. It didn't take the passage of ERA to provide the opportunity for a woman jurist to be selected.

But there must remain vestiges of guilt among the members of the Senate, the office of the President and certainly among the media. the ease with which Sandra Day O'Connor acquired the appointment, neutralized the media and glided through the Senate hearings id unprecedented-not the fact that she is a she. Can anyone remember when an appointee to the Supreme Court was selected unanimously by those voting and who was given as little static? Had Sandra Day O'Connor's name been Sanderson--and had Sanderson's record and background been Sandra's, would he have been accepted with a little national furor as had Sandra?

Had a man with a sound mind, the proper legal background, good health, from a conservative state, relatively young and with the identical views and record of performance as Sandra O'Connor been appointed, would there have been the same euphoric reaction? In the first place, would President Reagan have tapped a man whose record opposed everything the President has once said must be met? Would a Sanderson O'Connor even have been sponsored by Senator Goldwater, much less defended so narrow mindedly? And would the Senate have approved of a man whose answers on the issues were as evasive?

The President had promised to appoint a woman. He had promised that his appointee would not only uphold the Constitution but also the planks of his party platform (which, by the way, seem Constitutional in all way. Those views (in part) are that one must be pro-life and family; against passage of ERA; oppose the drafting of femalses for military combat. Sandra Day O'Connor, while abhorring the idea of abortion, ruled for it in Arizona. She sponsored the ERA legislation in Arizona. She was the initiator and principal sponsor of an effort to repeal laws that exempt women from combat in 1975 (in sub-committee hearings in Washington). Now whether you agree, disagree or could care less about Sandra O'Connor's record is immaterial. my point is; would a man of her learnings ever have been considered, appointed and approved?

Yes, it is good there is a woman on the Supreme Court. But I think in an effort to be non-discriminatory, we have become un-principled. It makes me angry to think a woman can be accepted because she is a woman, and not because she will be an excellent jurist and uphold the Constitution, expecially in areas outlined by her Party platform.

raise enough of an endowment to allow maintenance and operation of the 14-acre outdoor ranch museum from the income, generated by the endowment.

"There will be no funds forthcoming from state sources," Brown said. This necessitates the fund drive to provide monies for all phases of operation-maintenance of structures and grounds, personnel, security, interpretation and future acquisition of suitable additions to the museum.

"We want it to become a functioning facility with daily historic activities like blacksmithing, cooking, livestock handling ect.," Brown said.

The $4 million endowment would generate enough funds for a worryfree financial future for the center.

Michael Murphy, Tammy Miller, Kim Wills, Ty Wills, Keith Martin and Jeffrey Martin will all be participating in the market lamb show Friday October 2nd. The show will begin at 9:00 a.m. in the sheep barn.

These youth will show lambs in both the medium wool and fine wool crossbred classes. Keith and Jeff are entered under Gail FFA.

CATTLE MARKETING SEMINAR

The Borden County Range and Livestock Committee has scheduled a cattle marketing seminar for October 5 beginning at 6:30 p.m. The meeting will be held in the conference room of Borden High School in Gail.

Dr. Ernie Davis, agricultural economist specializing in livestock marketing, will be on hand to discuss several topics of interest. One of the subjects will be how Cattlex computer marketing works and how it can benefit the producer. Also, Dr. Davis will talk about how to use futures contracting in your operation and how hedging of livestock works. There will be a work session during the evening so that each producer can learn how to figure break-even prices and relate that to the futures market. This is necessary in order to make a knowledgeable hedging discussion.

All Borden County producers are urged to attend. The six surrounding counties are invited to this meeting. They include Scurry, Garza, Lynn, Dawson, Howard and Mitchell. If you have any questions about the meeting, please call our office.

COTTON CALL CONTRACTS

October 6 will be the date for a meeting on call contracting of cotton presented by Dr. Carl Anderson, Cotton Marketing Specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, headquartered at Texas A & M. This meeting will take place in the Conference room of Borden High School starting at 7:00 p.m. Anderson will discuss how call contracts work, what the advantages and disadvantages are and how they can be used to benefit the producer. He will also discuss current market trends and any other topics of interest to producers.

All Borden County producers are invited to attend this meeting. This meeting is planned and sponsored by the Borden County Field Crops Committee. With cotton markets the way they are, you should make plans to come on October 7.

FALL ARMYWORMS CAN THREATEN FALL FORAGES, LAWNS

Fall army worms often increase following a local or general rain and prefer to feed on well-fertilized pastures and early planted small grains.

Frequent and careful inspections of pasture grasses to locate infestations before damage occurs. Control measures are most effective against young worms.

Fall armyworms hatch from eggs laid by ash gray moths with mottled forewings which have irregular white or light gray spots near the extreme tip. Young worms are white with black heads. They become darker in color as they grow older and feed on forages.

Worms are about 1 1/2 inches long at maturity and light gray to almost black in color with several light stripes along the body. The front of the worm's head is marked with an inverted "Y".

Worms are full grown in two to three weeks and then burrow an inch or two into the soil to pupate. Moths emerge 10 days to two weeks later and the cycle repeats. There may be as many as six generations a year.

Pesticides labeled for control of fall armyworms in forage sorghums and improved, temporary and native pastures include carbaryl (Sevin 80 percent wettable powder, Sevimol 4 lb. and Sevin XLR), naled (Dibrom 8 lb. emulsifiable concentrate), parathion (5 lb. emulsifiable concentrate), and trichlorfon (Dylox 80 percent soluble powder or 4 lb. liquid solution).

Use sufficient water for complete coverage. Also, read the insecticide label for rates and follow all directions, instructions and restrictions.

Poor Light Cannot Damage Child's Eyes

Regardless of what you may have heard, or believe, reading in poor light cannot damage your child's eyes either temporarily or permanently. So says a recent Family Circle magazine report on child care.

However, notes the magazine report, eyes may become tired through fatigue resulting from the additional strain put on the brain as it tries to interpret what the eyes are seeing.

JOE YORK

Joe B. York, Prominent Rancher, Dies

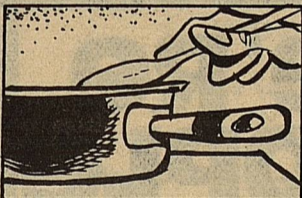

Joe Benjamin York, 84, prominent retired rancher who lived at 1511 Ave. T, Snyder, died at 8:30 a.m. Saturday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital in Snyder, following a long illness.

Funeral service was held at 2 p.m. Monday in the First United Methodist Church in Snyder. The Rev. David Robertson, pastor officiated. He was assisted by the Rev. James Green of Jal, N.M.

Born October 25, 1896, in Borden County, Mr. York ranched in Scurry and Borden Counties until his retirement.

He was married on January 15, 1928, at Fluvanna to Miss Ethel Robison. She survives.

Also surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Nelda Reneau of Snyder; two sons Billy Joe York of Elgin and Donald York of Reno, Nev.; and nine grandchildren.

A lump of butter or a tablespoon of cooking oil added to the water cooking rice, noodles or spaghetti will help prevent sticking and boilovers.

DISASTER AFFECTED CROPS

Cotton and grain sorghum producers whose crops are disaster affected are again reminded that it is necessary to file a disaster claim before plowing, baling, grazing, or destroying your crop. Disaster claims must be filed within 15 days after completion of harvest or the date the crop is abandoned.

WHEAT SET-ASIDE PROPOSED POSSIBLE FOR FEED GRAINS

The Secretary of Agriculture has announced his intention to implement a 15 percent "reduced acreage" program for 1982 wheat. The program will be voluntary. Program benefits, however, will be tied to participation.

No program operating procedure will be available until after pending farm legislation is enacted into law.

According to our information, it is also possible that a "reduced acreage" program may be announced for feed grains; however, this decision has not been made.

reduction program in 1982, you must have certified your 1981 program crops.

If you have program crops and failed to certify them, please check with us as soon as possible. A late filed acreage report may be made providing (1) the crop or sufficient residue from the crop is still visible for inspection, (2) you make an accurate certification and (3) you pay the cost of a field visit to determine the acreage.

If your late certification is accepted, you will be eligible for 1981 program benefits (disaster and deficiency) and history for future years.

CCC LOANS

Loans are available on your 1981 crop of grain sorghum or cotton.
