Marshall Testifies on Decision to Increase Air Power at Pearl Harbor

General Says Air Defense Was Weakest

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6—(AP)—General George C. Marshall testified today that early in 1941 he decided "to buy practically all combat pursuit squadrons in the United States of most of their P-36 planes" for the defense of Hawaii.

Marshall, then chief of staff of the army, also told a congressional committee investigating the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor four years ago that he knew of no commitment by President Roosevelt for the United States to go to war before it was attacked.

PLANES TO HAWAII

The matter of sending additional pursuit planes to Hawaii was brought up by committee counsel William D. Mitchell. Mitchell recalled a way-navy department agreement in early 1941 that attack from the air was Pearl Harbor's No. 1 danger.

As a result of that, Marshall said, he sought "to see what radical measures might be taken to meet a degree of the needs of the Pacific squadrons."

SQUADRONS ROBBED

"I made the decision," he said, "to buy practically all combat pursuit squadrons in the United States of most of their P-36 planes. This was done by robbing the squadrons in the United States with three P-36's each. Marshall said the 30, with the pursuit planes already in Hawaii, brought the total there to 50.

Late Shoppers May Fare Well

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Those who like to put their Christmas shopping off till the last moment may get a pretty good break this year, according to Business Week which reports that deliveries of radios, electrical appliances, nylon stockings and other reconversion goods are increasing daily. A good many shoppers, the publication points out, are likely to operate on the theory that the tardy buyer will pick up the juiciest merchandise plums.

"For almost two months, department store sales totals have been running a good 10 percent or better ahead of last year's impressive highs," says Business Week. "Retailers expect this rate of gain will be maintained right up to Christmas day."

Wondering what you'll be able to find?

Many textile items are woefully scarce. Underwear, men's shirts and pajamas are the blackest spots. Women's slips are sold on a hand-to-mouth basis because the materials of which they can be made still are controlled by Washington, while negligees, which can be made of almost anything are fairly plentiful.

"Metal toys are back on the market, but scarce. Retailers are receiving only token shipments of electric trains in time for Santa Claus. But wooden toys are fairly plentiful, and the kiddies can snuggle up to an almost unlimited volume of stuffed teddy-bears and the like. If their appetite for this sort of thing hasn't been satiated during the war.

"Major electrical appliances and other large durable goods still are scarce, but the volume of small hard goods—electric mixers, pressure cookers, decorative aluminum ware—is beginning to be substantial. One buying organization reports about 25 percent of the durable goods it would like to have this Christmas.

"Retailers can take comfort in plentiful supplies of such holiday cash registers jingle. Costume jewelry, handbags (few of leather), perfume, toilet goods, and such are mostly in better supply than they were at any time during the war."

No Harmony

Anne Jeffreys, above, RKO actress, does all right as a screen singer, but her personal life seems to have struck a sour note, as she has filed suit in Los Angeles for divorce from Capt. Robert Serena, whom she married eight months ago.

Leaves From A Correspondent's War Notebook

By HAL BOYLE
CHINHSEIN, Manchuria. (AP)—

It was two degrees above zero this morning we accompanied Gen. Tu Yu-Ming, commander of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's North China armies, on an inspection tour of this railroad center, recently retaken from Chinese communists.

His bodyguard looked like walking quilts in their cotton-padded yellow green uniforms and wrap around leggings. Many had only light gloves and thin canvas slippers. Some troops have frozen to death.

These nationalist troops were brought up in American ships from South China. They feel as out of place in Manchuria as a Florida Cracker on guard duty in Montana during a blizzard. They are well drilled and disciplined, however, and they know how to handle their American tommy guns and old Springfield rifles.

Chief guest on the inspection trip was Vice Adm. Daniel Eharbey, commander of the U. S. Seventh fleet. Tu personally drove him about the city in his new Buick with the remainder of the party following in three of the Chinese army's four jeeps in Manchuria.

Tu is a close friend of Chiang Kai-shek and formerly studied military science under him. He is youthful looking, shrewd and friendly, and American observers have a high opinion of his military ability. His secretary-general and advisor on political and economic problems is Professor Yu Ssin-chung, 45-year-old Harvard trained history teacher.

Winding through the narrow Oriental streets in a native quarter thronged with fur-capped, mustached Manchurian traders looking like grandchildren of Genghis Khan, we reached the great eastern cotton-spinning mill after driving in blocks past barbed-wire fences enclosing red brick Japanese homes. Some 30,000 of Chinghsien's 200,000 population are Japanese.

Shigemitsu Suzuki, Japanese manager of the cotton mill said both Russian and Chinese communist troops had been destructive, and Professor Yu looked pleased. The professor became angry, however, when in response to his query "and how are we treating you?" Suzuki said:

"Very well. Only if you could keep your soldiers from coming at night and taking away our girls."

"You have no right to say this!" shouted Yu.

Apparently he meant by this that Japanese troops had done far worse to Chinese women.

"I know I have no right," said the little Japanese manager, bowing and grinning as all Orientals do when nervous, "but I beg of you—I beg of you."

But Professor Yu still was displeased. He is unhappy unless he can convince you that all Chinese nationalist soldiers wear halos and all Chinese communists carry pitchforks and walk on cloven hooves.

Texas Committee Will Dispense Polio Funds

AUSTIN, Dec. 6.—Texas funds raised in the 1945 appeal of the Sister Elizabeth Kenny Infirmary paralysis foundation fund, will be dispensed in the fight against polio, wherever it strikes by the Texas executive committee, it has been announced by George C. Francisco, Jr., of Houston, state chairman of the committee. The Texas goal is $250,000. The pressing need for more doctors, nurses, and technicians trained in the Kenny method of treating the "great crippler," will be the first order of business when the state executive committee meets in January to make plans for its year-round fight. The committee plans to make the Kenny method of treatment available to every boy and girl in Texas who falls victim to the disease. At present there are only ten Kenny trained nurses and technicians in the state, these being in Fort Worth, Dallas, Houston and Corpus Christi.

Marines May Now Enlist for 2 Years

DALLAS.—In line with the new streamlined recruiting program currently launched by the United States marine corps, also provided that discharged Marines can re-enlist for a period of two years.

The announcement, made by Col. John R. Lanigan, officer in charge of the southern recruiting division of the marine corps, also provided that discharged Marines can re-enlist for a period of two years.

Prior to the new provision, which became effective on Dec. 1, marines were required to enlist or re-enlist for periods of three or four years.

Influenza Cases in Texas on Increase

AUSTIN, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Reports from various sections of the state indicate the number of influenza cases is increasing with the advance of the fall season.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, said that while most of these cases are mild and lend themselves to treatment readily, "it is essential to realize that influenza, no matter how mild the attack, calls for a period of convalescence."

The state health officer said "living by the law of nature, securing plenty of sleep, daily exercises in the open, nourishing foods and good personal hygiene, are the best known bulwarks against all respiratory diseases."

State Historical Group Sponsors Essay Contest

AUSTIN, Dec. 6.—The Texas state historical association has recently announced the Louis Wiltz Kepp essay contest in Texas History for 1946. The contest, now in its second year, was established by Hon. Harry Pennington of San Antonio.

It is open to all undergraduate students beneath the age of twenty-five enrolled in Texas colleges. First prize award will be $100. Awards totaling $175 will be made.

Papers may be written about any phase of the history of Texas—political, economic, cultural, social, geographic, biographical, or industrial. Original research and contributions to the fund of knowledge about Texas will be given consideration over re-statement of known facts.

The contest closes April 1, 1946. Full information regarding it may be secured by writing the Texas State Historical Association, University Station, Austin 12, Texas.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 million tiny tubules which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent urination passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging headache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, indigestion and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and help to keep the millions of kidney tubules flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Johnson-Gabbard Marriage Announced

SHAMROCK, Dec. 6 (Special)—Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth E. Johnson, of this city, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Roberta Irene Johnson and Fred Evan Gabbard, AOM 1/c. of New Madison, Ohio.

The ceremony was performed Saturday morning, Nov. 10, in the home of Rev. John H. Holman, minister of the First Lutheran church, Seattle, Washington.

Miss Irene Rochkase, of Grable, Wyoming, was the bride's only attendant. She wore a powder blue suit with accessories of black and a shoulder corsage of roses.

The bride was attired in a tailored suit of soft brown, accented with accessories of hunter green. She wore a shoulder corsage of American Beauty roses.

Following the wedding, the couple left immediately, driving from Washington to Texas to visit with the bride's parents. Mrs. Gabbard will join her husband in Chicago, where they will remain until his discharge from military service, after which the couple will make their home in Richmond, Indiana.

Mrs. Gabbard is a graduate of the Samnorwood high school with the class of 1944 and attended a business college in Wichita Falls. At the time of her marriage she was employed by Western Union Telegraph company in Seattle, Washington.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Zack Gabbard of New Madison, Ohio. At the time he entered the U. S. navy, three years ago he was employed by Crosley Radio corporation in Richmond, Indiana. Gabbard has been stationed at the navy air base in Arlington, Washington, since his return from overseas.

PIN-WORMS At Last—A Real Treatment!

Anyone who has ever had Pin-Worms knows how tormenting and embarrassing this infection can be, and how hard it may be to deal with the creature, once they get a foothold inside the body.

Today, thanks to a special, medically approved drug (gentian violet), a highly effective treatment has been made possible. This drug is the vital ingredient in P.W., the Pin-Worm tablets developed in the laboratories of Dr. D. Jayne & Son, P.W. tablets are small and easy to take, and they act in a special way to remove Pin-Worms.

So watch out for the warning signs that may mean Pin-Worms in your child or yourself—especially the annoying rectal itch. And don't delay. Ask your druggist for JAYNE'S P.W. right away, and follow the directions. Satisfaction guaranteed, or your money back.

It's easy to remember: P-W for Pin-Worms!

Teen Make-up Should Be Simple

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

It's a big moment for you young girls when mother finally agrees that you're old enough for make-up. But if first enthusiastic experiments with lipstick, eyeshadow, creams and lotions have fearsome results, mother is apt to regret her agreement.

Experimenting is fun, but it is for private education only, says radio's teen-aged Pat ("Real Story") Ryan. Making up for public appearance, she's found, should be lightly done. The natural prettiness of young healthy skins like Pat's needs only the dusting of powder on the nose to ward off a shine, and clear red lipstick to brighten the normal mouth contours.

The young miss who is as smart as she is pretty not only keeps her hair shinning clean, but she doesn't play follow-the-leader in styling it. A long and shaggy mane doesn't look so terrific framing a tiny, plump face. Small features call for a shorter, fluffier hairdo.

Save eyeshadow and glamour hair-does for the evening you don your prettiest dancing frock for the gala high school hop. But daytimes play up your greatest beauty asset—fresh youthfulness.

Texas Today

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff

Now and then Texans, who admit modestly they're plenty good, will take time off to recall they were plenty good in the past, too.

Take, for example, the sewing machine. If it hadn't been for a Texan, there might not have been a sewing machine.

Joe Wright of Harlingen said Isaac Singer was loaned $600 by a resident of Padre Island to build his first machine.

Many have a deep-seated respect for anything old. Which, according to J. B. White, editor of the Cameron Herald, should put Texas on top of their list of things-to-remember.

O. V. Majors of Waco was fishing in the Brazos river in Milam county. He found a section of a jaw, containing three teeth. It was greyish-brown and about the size of a man's clenched fist.

White said the teeth were from a mastodon, from one to two million years old. Dr. J. E. Hawkins of Baylor University, advised Majors to send the portion of the jaw to Austin.

But Ellsworth Lee Wilson, 88, of Borger, says the old days weren't always as good as they are cracked up to be, although he has memories he toys with fondly.

He says that back in the old days he traveled 65 miles on a horse to get a package of coffee.

James "Buttermilk Jim" Lowry of Honey Grove would be chuckling over the current campaign in Dallas to eliminate the very inconvenient stairs at the union depot if he were still alive.

Because Buttermilk Jim, editor of the Honey Grove Signal-Citizen, wrote editorials about them so far back the copies of his papers are yellow and brittle.

Once, after one of his diatribes, he visited Dallas and was met at the depot by two husky policemen, a friend and a wheelchair. They put him in the wheelchair, carried him up the stairs he had been criticizing and rolled him to his hotel.

Echoes of World War II:
An unidentified individual named "Clem" is the best known, or at least the most widely publicized, character at separation centers in the southwest.

In chalk, in paint, in pencil, his name is written everywhere. "Clem slept here" is printed over a cot. "Clem ate here" is scratched on a table in the mess. "Clem will be here tomorrow." "Clem wore this." "Clem okeyed this."

No one knows who Clem is, but the thing started in Europe and has spread throughout the GI-Dominated world, making Clem probably the best-known soldier of World War II.

Cpl. Bruno E. Brooks of Moran, Texas, was a prisoner of the Japanese but he says he managed to get out of a lot of work because he could wiggle his ears.

Brooks learned to wiggle his ears, up and down, forward and back, singly or in unison, when he was a kid in Moran high school.

He says it fascinated the Japs. When he got tired, he would begin to wiggle his ears and the captors would gather around silently and just watch with wonderment.

A native Hawaiian married a Denison marine and has moved to Texas. But she misses the beaches.

Mrs. Cecil Smith says the same moon shines over Texas as over Hawaii, but it doesn't look the same because there is no Pacific ocean to reflect its silver rays, no beaches to walk on.

Army life is over for millions of Americans, but it's just beginning for teen-age draftees and like those who preceded them, they like to have their last fling at civilian life, too.

In Dallas a group of them were housed at the YMCA. They were in a rowdy mood, and someone threw a pillow. Then they all started hurling pillows. Before the fight was over, the floor was inches deep in feathers.

A big, tough sergeant made them pick up every andu(SPwcmfwm) pick up each and every feather by hand.

Ike's Double

Lt. Col. Baldwin B. Smith looks so much like General Eisenhower that he once took his superior's place in an automobile to deceive the enemy in Europe. Lt. Col. Smith, who is at home in Chicago on leave, stayed out of sight while General Eisenhower was visiting the city, to prevent confusion.

Pearl Harbor

at a conference with General H. H. Arnold, air force chief, Maj. Gen. Sherman Miles, intelligence head, and Lt. Gen. Leonard T. Gerow, war plans chief, that:

1—The navy had too few anti-submarine nets at Pearl Harbor and there was a possibility of a Japanese attack.

2—The planes available in Honolulu were out of date.

3—There were two active defense areas—Panama and Honolulu.

Marshall was questioned at length concerning the pre-war Allied conferences, presumably with reference to contentions that there was a U. S. commitment to go to war before the Japanese raid on Pearl Harbor.

Mitchell asked:

"Did you ever know of any commitment by the President or anyone else by which the United States was committed to engage in war without being attacked?"

"No sir, I did not," Marshall replied.

"Did these conferences contain any commitment for the United States to go to war?"

"No sir," Marshall answered emphatically. "I didn't interpret them as such. They were intended to deal only with possible eventualities."

Mitchell asked whether Marshall knew of any commitment made at the historic Roosevelt-Churchill conference in August, 1941, when the Atlantic charter was proclaimed.

"I was not involved in the political discussions," was the general's terse reply.

He said he also did not know of parallel British-American protests to Japan until he returned to the United States and general discussions with the state department were started. Then, he said, he learned of the message President Roosevelt had sent "after he sent it."

Simultaneously with Marshall's appearance, the committee received documents showing that months before the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor he had told Lt. Gen. Walter Short, army commander there, of the danger from a surprise air and submarine raid. In letter to Short from February to October, 1941, he also cautioned that the first six hours of hostilities would be the most critical period for the Pacific bastion.

Lt. Gen. Leonard T. Gerow, head of the war plans division in 1941, told the committee dramatically yesterday:

"If there is any war department responsibility for failure to send additional warning to General Short, it must fall on the war plans division at that time. I accept the responsibility."

Gerow's testimony was on the point that Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short had put into effect only a "sabotage" and not a full alert at Pearl the OPA would grant such increases.

This figure is three percent higher than the previous one, and if added to an offer General Motors made the union before the strike was called would boost it to an average of about 13 percent—still less than half the union demand.

Walter P. Reuther, UAW vice president, speaking at a strikers' rally at Buffalo last night, said he was "happy to report" that negotiations were being resumed, but he gave no indication that anything would be conceded in the wage battle.

A union spokesman said some 450 presidents and stewards of Chrysler corporation locals voted here last night to continue work "for three months, if necessary" despite a breakdown in contract negotiations.

Rep. Gearhart (R-Calif) told a reporter later he thought Gerow had assumed too much responsibility, unnecessarily.

Victory Collection of Canned Food Week Set

AUSTIN, Dec. 6.—(AP)—An appeal for canned food to be shipped to the people in war-devastated countries has been made by Gov. Coke R. Stevenson.

In his proclamation setting Dec. 17-21 as "Victory collection of canned food week" the governor asked all individuals and such groups as the home demonstration clubs and future farmers of America to allocate a portion of food canned for this relief program.

Canned milk, vegetables, fruits, juices, meats, soups and baby foods are being sought, said Stevenson to "help prevent some 12,000,000 people from starving."

The Texas council for children is the Texas agency responsible for the food collection, and the local school in each community has been designated as the collection center.

tee, in addition to Chamber of Commerce Manager Red Weigworth and City Manager Garland Franks.

Arrangements for the use of the room must be made with the city manager. The hostess for all events at the room is Maybelle King, who has complete charge of buying, preparing and serving of food. She receives, for her services, 75 cents per plate, and hires her own help.

The following basis for collection of fees for use of the room was set by the committee:

Participating clubs, including the chamber of commerce, who have paid $500 each to the project, will pay a flat fee of $2.50 per luncheon, and a flat fee of $5 for banquets to take care of incidental expenses which include janitor, fuel, lights and water. Non-participating clubs will be charged a minimum fee of $5 for luncheons up to 50 plates. Ten cents per plate will be charged for all luncheons which set more than 50 plates, and not to exceed $10. Non-participating clubs will pay $10 minimum fee for banquets not in excess of 100 plates. More than 100 plates will be assessed $10 per plate, not to exceed $15. Participating clubs will be given credit on their account for meeting fees until the $500 has been exhausted, after which the service charge will be paid in cash.

The committee said that, in order to encourage other civic clubs to become participants in the project, the service charge will be reduced to the $2.50 luncheon and $5 banquet rates when they do become members.

Committee Chairman Wedgeworth said that he wished it to be emphasized that this is not a money-making scheme, that the project is being offered so that clubs and other groups could have available at all times a room where they can meet at a minimum cost.

Hurley

you know, your testimony is as good as a document. Do you know what he did?"

Hurley hesitated.

"I don't want to do this."

"Well, don't," Connally snapped.

Hurley said:

"I can do it. I'm not bluffing. All right, here she goes. Square yourself!"

Then Hurley launched into a description of the circumstances surrounding the writing and issuing of the American-British-Russian declaration at Teheran regarding Iran.

When he completed that portion of his testimony the senators appeared puzzled at the connection with Acheson, but no one questioned him immediately on the point.

Meanwhile Artemus L. Gates, navy undersecretary, paid his second call on President Truman since his return from a trip which included a tour of China. He wouldn't talk about the conference.

Before the Hurley hearing resumed today Senator Bridges (R-N.H.) said he wanted answers to three questions arising out of Hurley's testimony before the committee yesterday.

Bridges said the debonair diplomat's opening testimony yesterday convinced him Hurley had been "sabotaged" by his subordinates. He added that while President Truman and Secretary of State Byrnes apparently had backed Hurley up privately, they had failed to do so publicly.

Bridges said he wants the answers to these questions:

1. "Why did the subordinates try to undermine his work?"
2. "Why are they still holding responsible posts in the diplomatic service?"
3. "Why did the President and the state department refuse publicly to support General Hurley?"

"We need to let a little air into the dark recesses of the state department," Bridges told a reporter.

Hurley was summoned back for further testimony today. Before the hearing ends, Byrnes is expected to give the committee the state department's side.

The gist of Hurley's complaint was that he had been sent over to China to keep the Chinese in the war and to attempt to restore harmony in the Chinese government, but that subordinates wanted to arm the communists.

the Polish invasion "at any time from Sept. 1, 1939, onwards."

Three weeks after the Nazi "der tag" had been set, Hitler made a speech to the reichstag on April 28 in which he shouted that he "had no thought of proceeding in any way against Poland," according to other documents introduced.

Germany's Axis partner, Italy, was not let in on the plan to invade Poland until Aug. 12, 1939, and Mussolini made an urgent but fruitless request for Hitler to postpone the war to permit Italian rearmament to progress other documents showed.

At the request of counsel for the 20 accused nazis, Lord Justice Sir Geoffrey Lawrence, presiding judge on the four power tribunal, announced the trial would recess from Dec. 20 to Jan. 2.

The order alerting the German army to be ready for invasion of Poland by Sept. 1, 1939, was issued by Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the high command and one of the 20 German leaders on trial. The directive disclosed that it was made on Hitler's order.

Attached to the order was another directive signed by Hitler himself on April 11, 1939, referring flatly to "preparations for the conduct of the war" against Poland.

Mary Lou Hardy, 13, Is Pneumonia Victim

Mary Lou Hardy, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hardy, 1349 Garland street, died last night at 11:30 in a local hospital after being ill for several days with pneumonia.

Mary Lou was born Jan. 28, 1932, at Olney, Texas, and had been a resident of this city for eight years. She was a pupil in the eighth grade at Junior high school.

Surviving are the parents and a brother, Hershah A. Hardy.

Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Dunkel-Carmichael chapel, with the Rev. E. B. Bowen, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating. Burial will be in Fairview cemetery.

State's Sock Well Filled With Funds

AUSTIN, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Texas comes to the close of the year with a well filled sock, reports the state treasurer, who notes a total net balance in 117 state funds of $70,922,496. This includes $13,382,129 in the general revenue fund.

As of Nov. 30 the state had a gross cash balance of $85,897,384 in all funds against which warrants totaling $14,974,938 are outstanding.

Women Have Made Good in Pharmacy

AUSTIN, Dec. 6.—(AP)—"Women have made good in pharmacy in indisputable fashion," says W. P. Gidley of the College of Pharmacy at the University of Texas, "and today are welcomed instead of tolerated."

Points in favor of women pharmacists listed by Dean Gidley are: "They raise the moral tone, know electronic supplies and baby needs; uphold the standards of the profession, kick less about their work, and are painstaking and conscientious by nature."

This year at the ratio of girls to male graduates was one to two and one-half, while for some 40 years it has been one to ten.

NEW SHIP SLIDES DOWN

INDEPENDENCE, Ore.—(AP)—The launching of the ferryboat Claggett III on the Willamette river was marked by enough enthusiasm to offset the lack of spectacle.

No champagne was available, so Mayor Maurice J. Butler substituted a gallon of buttermilk.

Then an argument arose as to which end of the craft was the bow. Fortunately, Judge Herman Van Well of the county court was on hand, and he made a swift judicial decision.

drive, said today. "Those people will not starve now."

The "Wheat for Holland" drive has been conducted here for the past two or three weeks, with numerous appeals having been issued for the donations of wheat and money by the people of this and surrounding counties.

Most of the donations, it was said, were made in money; which was converted into first class, edible wheat.

As soon as the drive was publicized, citizens in surrounding counties started their own drives, and have met with heartening success.

The following letter of thanks to the people was submitted by the Alliance:

The response the people of Pampa, Gray county, and adjoining communities to the "Gray County Wheat for Holland Fund" has been gratifying indeed. We take this means to express our grateful appreciation to radio station KPDM and the Pampa News for the publicity and gracious cooperation given in this undertaking. We are grateful for the cooperation from the chamber of commerce, and for every person who has in any way made a contribution by a gift or a word of encouragement.

Quonset 'Barn'

The "Quonset 24" utility building of many war uses has now been converted to the ways of peace, and especially for services on the farm. The packaged, easy-to-erect all-metal structure, shown above, manufactured at the Great Lakes Steel Corporation's Detroit plant, is described as ideal for farm tools, implements and vehicles or, with open front, as a barn for farm animals.

U. S. AIDS COLUMBIA IN PEACETIME WAR ON CRIME

BOGOTA, Colombia.—(AP)—Improved crime prevention and detection methods are being fashioned by Colombian national police authorities as a safeguard against increased criminal activity which the postwar era might produce.

Colombia's mountain terrain in the past has been a handicap for fast-moving criminals from abroad but the new air age promises to eliminate such natural barriers.

Because of the international aspect of the crime problem Colombian officials have enlisted the collaboration of the U. S. federal bureau of investigation, which is assisting with police schools.

The United States has had a keen military interest in Colombia's control of criminals because of this country's proximity to the vital Panama Canal. So far as is known, no axis saboteur sent to Colombia to hamper the allied war effort ever got within striking distance of the canal.

Argentines Will Pay Tribute to Roosevelt's Grave

DALLAS, Dec. 6—(AP)—With New York as their goal, a group of Argentine men were headed for Little Rock, Ark., and Memphis, Tenn., today, after leaving here last night following an unsuccessful search for two other men in the third automobile of their caravan.

Leaving Buenos Aires July 19, the motorists said they expect to be in New York Dec. 7. The group who stopped here said they became separated from their companions at Waco, Texas.

At New York, the South Americans plan to pay tribute at the grave of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt in the name of Argentine democracy.

The missing car carries Alberto Torrientes Palacios and Manuel Sojti.

In the automobiles going to Little Rock are Luis Elias Sojti, Buenos Aires radio and newspaper commentator; Juan Jose Pini, Rortarian and president of the caravan; Daniel Musso, an auto racer, and Diego Marti.

69th Made First Russian Contact

By NEA Service

The 65th (Battle Ax) Infantry division was forged in August, 1943, and tempered for nearly two years. It was not until March 7, 1945, that it was unshattered.

The 65th moved into its first action on the Third Army front in Europe, relieving the 28th division in the Saar river sector around Sauerlauren. The Battle Ax outfit cut its way across the Saar, swinging around the flank of Saarbrücken and, late in the month, chopped up the German pockets south and west of that city.

Moving east, the 65th added Hohenfels and Struth to its bag. It was here, near Dorna, that 11 65th doughs, hopelessly surrounded, were finally outnumbered, won themselves a place in the division's history by capturing 150 Germans and killing another 25.

Just before V-J day, the Battle Axers claimed the distinction of having made the farthest penetration of enemy territory of any infantry unit on the Western Front—a 65th patrol crossed the Ems river and proceeded as far as Unterwinden and Haag, in Austria.

Up to then, the Battle Ax had been swinging with vigor. The 65th had crossed the Danube at Kelheim, and joined in the assault on Regensburg. When the garrison at that city finally called it a day, it surrendered to the 65th. The division then slashed on into the Bavarian Redoubt and took Passau and Neumarkt. It was on the afternoon of V-E day, fittingly enough, that the Battle Axers joined up with the Russians.

Sugar Rationing Control Continues

GALVESTON, Dec. 6—(AP)—Sugar probably will be controlled by the OPA during most of 1946. L. H. Kempner of Galveston, president of the Imperial Sugar company of Sugarland, Texas, said.

Until harvesting begins March 1, there will be little chance of improvement of incoming sugar supplies from Cuba and Puerto Rico, Kempner said.

Soft Water Service Company Opens Here

Opening of Pampa's first soft water service has been announced by John L. Rankin, whose office is located at 314 S. Starkweather.

Rankin, recently honorably discharged from the army, said services are now operating successfully in Amarillo, Albuquerque, Lubbock, Childress, Vernon, Plainview and Clovis.

The water softener is a tube attached to the plumbing of a house and is frequently changed as the need arises. The unit may be attached or taken off without interruption of water supply.

Rankin pointed out that hard water is harmful to plumbing and that 90 percent of all plumbing difficulties are the result of hard water effects on pipe.

The Soft Water Service company owns and services all equipment. Service is given at regular intervals to insure the maximum safety and sterilization.

Funeral Tomorrow for George L. Roberts, 68

George L. Roberts, age 68, passed away Tuesday after an illness of 4 months.

He has been a resident of Gray county since 1910, being engaged in farming and ranching. Was a member of the Central Baptist church of Pampa.

He is survived by two brothers, Robert S. Roberts of Perryton and Fred Roberts of Ft. Worth and five sisters: Miss Anges Roberts, Cleburne; Amy Blanton, Dallas; Nellie Collins, Ft. Worth; Flora Crosier, Ft. Worth; Maud Reaves, Fresno, Calif.

Funeral services to be at 2:30 Friday afternoon at the Baptist church in White Deer, burial in White Deer cemetery.

Texas Ship Channels Will Be Restored To Depth of 32 Feet

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6—(AP)—Army engineers informed Rep. West (D-Tex.) today that dredges are being dispatched to clean the silt from the Brownsville and Port Isabel ship channels and restore them to their authorized depth of 32 feet.

Three or four dredges, now located in other sections of the Gulf of Mexico, should reach the lower Rio Grande area within a few days to begin the work. Silt has accumulated in some sections so as to prevent the loading of oil tankers to more than half their capacity, said West.

Four new Hopper dredges have been ordered by the army engineers for maintenance work, said Roy Miller, Corpus Christi, Texas, president of the Louisiana-Texas Intracoastal Canal association who expressed the hope two would be assigned to the Galveston, Texas, district.

Miller said that work has just been started or would begin shortly on extension of the Intracoastal canal from Corpus Christi, Texas, southward to Port Isabel.

The engineers now have available $1,600,000 for carrying on the work between now and next June 30, he said, and one dredge has been assigned to dig a channel southward 17 miles from Corpus Christi, and another 15 miles northward from Port Isabel. Congress will be asked to appropriate $2,000,000 to continue the work throughout the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1946, and the remaining $2,000,000 for completion of the extension project in the subsequent 12-month period.

Projects for Flood Control Recommended

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6—(AP)—Army engineers have recommended to congress the improvement of Mill creek near Bellville and Sealy, Texas, in the interest of flood control.

Chairman Mansfield (D-Tex) of the house rivers and harbors committee predicted congress would authorize the project in the next general rivers and harbors bill. He said the work contemplates rectification of the channel to increase its capacity for discharging flood waters into the Brazos river.

Never-Say-Die Spirit Led 30th

By NEA Service
"Go to hell! we wouldn't surrender even if our last round of ammo were fired and our last bayonet were broke, off in a Nazi belly!"

This was the manner in which a group of 30th (Old Hickory) division doughboys, cut off for five and a half days, replied to a German surrender offer.

"This was the spirit with which the 30th fought from the time it first clashed with the nazis. The 30th got to France a little later than some, but once it started moving, it made up for lost time. Joining the allied assault on the nazis in June, 1944, the division crossed the Vire river and headed for St.
Lo. By August, the Old Hickory men had advanced to Mortain.

Here the division was suddenly hit by five German-armed divisions, hoping to push through to the sea at Avranches and thus split the American First and Third armies. It was in this battle-which saw the Germans fall-that the surrounded doughboys gave their classic answer to the Nazi surrender offer.

After the battle, the 30th crossed the Seine, and by September had begun an offensive that carried through to Tournai and Brussels and gave it the distinction of being one of the first American divisions to enter Belgium and Holland. After crossing the Albert Canal and the Meuse, capturing the fortress of Eben-Emael, the 30th got ready to assault the Belgifered Line.

The attack began on October 2.
By October 16 the 30th had made contact with the First division and the two outfits encircled Aachen.
The 30th abandoned its forward movement only when the Von Rundstedt counteroffensive made it necessary for the outfit to swing back and join in that fight.

Dixie Division Split Japs on Mindanao

By NEA Service
The 31st (Dixie) infantry division originally was composed of men from three "Deep South" states, but when it went into battle in the Pacific, there were just as many "Gambaycones" as "Johnny Rebs" in its ranks. When it hit the beaches of Morotal to open the drive for the liberation of the Philippines its doughboys were alternately whistling "Dixie" and "Marching Through Georgia."

The 31st wasted little time overseas before getting into combat.
After a brief training period at Oro Bay, the Dixie's fighting regiment moved into action. One combat team, the 124th, went to Atape, and the other two, the 155th and 167th, to Wakde-Sarml. In the bloody fighting along the Drunimor river, the 124th killed more than 3000 of the enemy and played a major part in breaking the back of the Japanese 18th army.

In September, 1944, the Dixie sailed from Morotai Bay for the reconquest of Morotal, and on the 15th of the month hit the beaches of this Dutch island, less than 350 miles from the Philippines. The capture of Morotal gave our forces control of the Halmahera sea.

For seven months, while Mindanao was by-passed in favor of the Leyte and Luzon operations, the 31st maintained a defense of Mo-rotai and the airdromes from which the 13th air force was operating.
Then the Dixie men hit Mindanao, where the doughboys fought the Japs in neck-high cogon grass, and in deep forests. The division's bloodiest fight on Mindanao came when it met the Nips below the Maramba No. 1 airstrip.

The division was commended by Lt.-Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, commanding the Eighth army, for its execution of the operation which split all Jap forces in central Mindanao.

Red Arrows Hit Japs 600 Days

By NEA Service
When the battle for Luzon ended, the 32d (Red Arrow) Infantry division had to its credit more than 600 days of combat—nearly half the total time the country had been at war up to then.

Originally composed of National Guardians from Wisconsin and Michigan, the 32d sailed for the Pacific early in 1943. After training in Australia, it was rushed to New Guinea in the fall when Japanese forces crossed the Owen Stanley mountains, and threatened the vital allied base of Port Moresby.

Many of the Red Arrow men were flooded across the Owen Stanleys—the first large-scale airborne movement of combat infantrymen in American military history—to take up positions alongside the Australians in the stinking jungles surrounding Jap-held Buna. Some of the Red Arrow men marched across the Owen Stanleys. It took a little over 40 minutes to fly across the mountains; to march across required 49 agonizing days.

Nearly a year later, campaign elements of the 32d went back into action in New Guinea to fight the Japanese 18th army attempting to reach the great American base at Hollandia. The Japs lost 8300 men killed in this futile drive.

From Aitape, part of the division moved to Morotai, and then the whole outfit headed for the Philippines, and landed on Leyte Nov. 14.
The Red Arrow men plunged into a fierce 36-day battle in precipitous mountains with deep mud underfoot and tangled forests overhead. In those 36 days, the 32d gained just six and a half miles, but it killed 6700 Japs.

HOUSING SHORTAGE MOST CRITICAL IN U. S. HISTORY, WILL BE WORSE IN '46

(Editor's Note: This is the third of three stories on the national housing shortage. It describes the situation from the Washington viewpoint.)

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—The housing shortage, already the most critical in the country's history, will be worse next year.

The return of millions of veterans, combined with an estimated 1,500,000 marriages and 2,750,000 births in 1946, means a much greater increase in the demand than in housing units. It is estimated that no more than 475,000 houses will be built next year under the most favorable conditions.

There was a pronounced scarcity of housing before the war due to a deficiency in home building in the depression years. On top of that, the war brought restrictions, a record-breaking population increase of more than eight millions since 1940, and the migration of millions of workers and their families from farms and small towns to the cities.

Housing experts figure construction can't get rolling until 1947 and that substantial relief from the shortage will not come before 1948. Reconversion Director John W. Snyder says "the demand for houses during the next year may be four or five times as great as any possible supply. Any large expansion of the building program is going to take time."

Besides shortages of materials and labor, the number of construction and supply concerns is far short of need. Snyder says the number of contractors engaged in direct construction and in maintenance work has fallen from 500,000 in March 1940 to about 140,000 now. Another complication is labor-management trouble in some materials industries.

Under the best circumstances, Washington sees no quick, one-way solution. Government agencies plan to help grease the ways for a vast, long-range building program by private industry, but officials declare that its success is primarily the responsibility of local communities.

John D. Blandford, Jr., administrator of the national housing agency, estimates that some 12,600,000 new housing units will be needed over the next 10 years. He divides these roughly into 3,600,000 units at monthly charges of less than $20, some 4,800,000 units at monthly charges between $20 and $40, and 4,200,000 units at monthly charges above $40.

A revised general housing bill has been introduced in the senate by democratic senators Wagner of New York and Ellender of Louisiana and republican senator Taft of Ohio. A special feature of their "non-partisan" bill is designed to enable private builders to do more building for the so-called "middle-income market"—families that can pay between $20 and $40 a month.

The Wagner-Ellender-Taft measure would authorize federal loans to local communities for urban slum clearance and redevelopment and loans for housing and farm families of very low income. It also provides for 500,000 additional units of low-rent public housing over a 4-year period. These are designed for families who pay rents of less than $20 a month.

Meanwhile, the civilian production administration is granting priorities for equipment and is strengthening inventory controls "to prevent hoarding of building supplies."

Representative Patman of Texas has introduced a bill in the house which provides for a "housing czar" with power during the next two years to fix maximum sale prices on both new and old houses. The Patman measure also would have the government engage in emergency housing projects where lack of sufficient housing makes that appear necessary.

This measure has been attacked by builders and some members of congress as tending to "regimentation" and as being unworkable. The Wagner-Ellender-Taft housing bill has no provision for fixing maximum sale prices on houses, new or old.

Amarillo Attorney Is Speaker at Miami Club

MIAMI, Dec. 6 (Special)—Attorney Sterling Kinney of Amarillo was guest speaker for the Men's Service Club Tuesday evening when he observed the annual Ladies' night with a turkey banquet.

The dining hall was beautifully decorated in Christmas motifs and a turkey banquet was served to about one hundred members and guests.

Attorney Kinney was introduced by the president, Ellis Locke. Mr. Kinney told of some experiences and observations while in training, and while in combat on Okinawa and other islands in the Pacific. He gave the G. I.'s view point on various subjects and related some humorous situations he had experienced. Special vocal numbers by Mrs. Wayne Maddox with Miss Julia Earthman at the piano were greatly enjoyed.

The entire group sang a Christmas carol and Rev. W. Howard Moore gave the invocation.

Attorney Kinney is a native of Miami, having been born and reared here and after graduating from the high school attended Amarillo Junior college and the University of Texas. He volunteered for army service entering as a private and was discharged as a First Lieutenant, having won the coveted Bronze Star.

GESTURE TO FRANCE
RIO DE JANEIRO.—(P)—By decree, President Vargas of Brazil has offered the French government a plot of ground on which to build a "House of France"—a center of French culture—to tighten the link of friendship between Brazil and France.

PENSIONS INCREASE
BERNE, Switzerland.—(P)—The Swiss government plans to triple its output for old age pensions next year to a total of 100,000 francs. Some 280,000 persons over 65 years of age are to receive from 50 to 83 francs (about $11 to $19) per month.

NOTHING BUT THE FINEST -Blended with Skill, Honesty and Experience

THIS BLEND of Coffee Makes Every Meal a Celebration

A RICH ROBUST MAGNIFICENT AROMA

The test of a coffee's freshness can be made in that first whiff of aroma you get on opening the package. If it's room-filling in its fragrance, as it is with every pound of Admiration, it's really fresh. That's why we emphasize aroma in our blend. We put the distinctive aroma into Admiration first through scientific selection of coffees for blending and secondly through special roasting. Once there it's there to stay until released into your cup. Small wonder then that a freshly brewed cup of better-tasting Admiration puts you in a celebrating mood. It's the coffee thrill of thousands.

Full Employment Plan Got Hit by Truck in Congress

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP)—The so-called "full employment" plan got hit by a truck in congress. It's a long way from being a full employment plan now. President Roosevelt was for the plan in principle when Senator Murray (D-Mont) offered it in the senate 11 months ago. President Truman endorsed it, too.

Rep. Patman (D-Tex), shortly after the Murray bill went into the senate, introduced an identical measure in the house. Each declared: "All Americans able to work and seeking work have the right to useful, remunerative, regular and full-time employment and it is the policy of the United States to assure the existence at all times of sufficient employment opportunities to enable all Americans who have finished school and who do not have full time housekeeping responsibilities freely to exercise this right."

There it was. It said people wanted jobs had a "right" to jobs. And it said the government would "assure" full employment. This bill finally was passed. But it was a watered down version. It had this change right at the beginning: "All Americans able to work and seeking work are entitled to an opportunity for useful, remunerative, regular and full time employment, including self-employment in agriculture, commerce, industry or the professions."

Gone was the phrase: "Right" to full employment. Even though the watered version which came out of the senate called the measure a "full employment act," the house expenditures committee toned this down and called its bill the "employment-production act."

There's nothing in the house bill about full employment. It speaks of a "high level" of employment.

Texas Old Age Assistance Rolls Show Big Increase

AUSTIN, Dec. 6 (AP)—The old age assistance rolls showed a net increase of 1,008 during November, which lifted the present rolls to 174,449, reports the state department of public welfare.

The net increase in expenditure for old age assistance was $61,852 and the average grant was $24.44. The aid to dependent children rolls showed a net decrease of 490.

Which means: The government wouldn't approve jobs to everyone nor say it was obligated to find jobs for everyone.

families, with a net decrease in money of $5,451 for an average grant of $21.27. The number of families on the November aid to dependent children rolls was 10,587. The aid to blind rolls increased 222 cases, with a monetary increase of $8,257 and an average grant of $25.14.

The department said figures are not yet available on the total number of grants which were increased above $30 by the new constitutional amendment permitting a $40 maximum payment.

The increasing number of applications is attributed by the department to: Cessation of wartime employment, diminishing number of service allowances being received, and decrease in rental income as army camps and defense industries close down.

Argentine Adheres To Nazi Pattern

NEW YORK, Dec. 6—There's no use anticipating an overthrow of the Peron government or any shift from the Nazi pattern now blatantly pursued by Buenos Aires, Business Week believes.

"Democratic groups which united a few weeks ago to oust Peron are hopelessly disorganized since his dramatic comeback, and their leaders are now shadowed—both in the capital and in provincial centers—by a steadily growing secret police force," the publication reports.

"Peron's hold on the country apparently assures his election in the forthcoming January balloting. "Also, Buenos Aires is intensifying its Nazi-type pressure on neighboring countries. "Brazil is threatened with a wheat and flour shortage because Argentina has suddenly shut down on deliveries. Allegedly, this interruption is caused by a shortage of tires for the trucks which haul grain to market in Argentina. Actually, Argentine grain moves to market over a well-integrated rail system. "A need for Brazilian-made tires for increasing quantities of heavy Argentine military equipment is more likely to be responsible for the action than a real shortage of tires for trucks to move grain from ranch to railroad." At New York O. E. Wilson, GM president, declined comment on the chief executive's proposal.

Research Committee of CED Issues Statement on Agricultural Problems

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—The research committee of the committee for economic development today made public a policy statement on "agriculture in an expanding economy," based on an 18-month study of the problems and prospects facing American agriculture.

Speaking as vice-chairman of the research committee, Chester C. Davis, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis, outlined the committee's findings and stressed the fact that the serious problems ahead for American farmers are also the common concern of businessmen, labor and citizens generally.

The CED statement calls particular attention to three focal problems facing postwar agriculture and traces the possible effects of these on the whole country. The committee sees as critical the oversupply of manpower that in peacetime had been "backing up" on the farms as a result of low industrial and commercial activity. Two other farm problems that receive special attention in the CED statement are the inadequacy of farm product price policy.

In releasing the CED statement, Davis pointed out that the vast demands of war had temporarily "solved" some of these farm problems but at the same time it had opened the way to their return in aggravated form when the demands of war and rehabilitation have been met. Farm product prices doubled during the war over the low 1939 level, and production went up one-fourth. Yet, during the same period, against this tide of rising prices, there was a movement off the farms. Farm production dropped from 30 to 25 million people. This helped to correct problems that had stemmed from the prewar oversupply of manpower on farms.

But, as the statement points out, the war also hastened the progress of agricultural technology. Thus, as peacetime demand for farm products recedes from wartime levels, still less farm manpower will be required to produce the food, feed and fiber needed. Viewing this combination of factors, the committee warns against overemphasis on nostalgic "back-to-the-40-acres" suggestions for taking care of veterans and unemployed war workers. It warns likewise against the current boom in land prices.

Since the manpower surplus on farms and the instability of farm earnings are tied directly to the level of industrial activity, the CED research committee sees as the primary solution the expansion of non-agricultural employment. This would serve the dual purpose of absorbing the under-utilized manpower and, at the same time, provide additional goods and services for a rising standard of living.

Even if we can achieve prosperous conditions in the economy as a whole, the committee sees a continuing need in agriculture for the cooperative machinery provided by government. Few of the adjustments called for in the farm sector can be effected by the individual farmer working alone, in its opinion.

In the area of price policy, the committee believes we should re-examine the entire system, beginning with a re-definition of "parity" in the light of current agricultural conditions. While it believes that the following three types of government payments may be needed in the immediate future, it warns against their continuation to a point which will tend to preserve artificial or un-economic farm conditions.

1. Transition payments "to discharge the government's commitment to support farm prices for two years after the war." This should be done "in such a way as not to be detrimental to agricultural production or to trade, and without concealing necessary or desirable farm production changes."

2. Adjustment payments as an aid to farmers in depressed sectors of agriculture, such as the cotton South, in transferring to other farm products or to non-farm occupations. The payments would be tied to specific performance and geared to achieving a better balanced economy in the areas affected.

3. Compensatory payments, to counteract the adverse effects of acute industrial depressions upon the income from farming. Wherever payments are used, the committee cautions that care needs to be exercised that they do not distort either the production or trade in farm products.

THIS MATTER OF SLAPPING

(From The Daily Oklahoman)
Led by Senator Thomas of Oklahoma a senate committee struck from the UNRRA appropriation bill the house adopted provision that in all foreign countries where this money is to be spent the press shall be permitted to report where the money is spent and for what purpose. According to Editor and Publisher's report the committee was moved by the Thomas declaration that the house provision was a "direct slap at Russia."

Just 26 years ago our country was helping to clean away the wreckage of another wasting war. American dollars were being spent lavishly to feed the hungry multitudes of Europe, including millions of hungry Russians. At that time the American commissioners, led by Herbert Hoover, met with the representatives of the Russian government and signed the following agreement at Riga:

"Twenty-third. That they will acquaint the Russian people with the aims and methods of the relief work of the A. R. A. in order to facilitate the rapid development of its efficiency and will assist and facilitate in supplying the AMERICAN PEOPLE with reliable and non-political information of the existing conditions and the progress of the relief work as an aid in developing financial support in America."

Thus the antipodal difference. When the American people, acting in a private capacity, were contributing money and food to save starving Muscovites the people were kept fully informed concerning the time and place and purpose of every distribution of money and food. But when the money for the support of UNRRA is contributed from national treasuries (principally from the treasury of the United States) the American taxpayers are not permitted to know where the money is to be spent or for what purpose it is to be spent. All avenues of information are closed. The press is excluded from the scene. Hence the people are unable to appraise the rumors that American money and American food are being used to establish a communist regime in Yugoslavia. Hence political agents are able to get away with their assertion that American grain delivered to the Balkan countries is being supplied by Russia.

But when the house attempts to turn the light upon this expenditure of the taxpayers' money and let the American people know the truth, Senator Thomas and his senate committee blithely assume the position that it is none of the American people's condemned business and that the publication of the truth would be a direct slap at Russia. Of course it doesn't matter who slaps the American people or how often. Let the people who pay the bills go right on paying and keep their mouths shut.

Common Ground

Dr. Dykstra a Typical Public Educator

The news dispatch in the Los Angeles Times quotes Dr. Clarence Dykstra, provost for the University of California at Los Angeles, as making the following statement: "As to the faculty of UCLA, I believe that both sides of a subject should be presented, and I think that it is a mistake for a man in the classroom to take only one side and become a proponent or advocate of that side only. There we have a typical example of the beliefs of a public educator. How could a public educator be otherwise? A public educator cannot set down any impersonal, universal rule of conduct that justifies tax-supported education. He is denying the Eighth Commandment, 'Thou shalt not steal.' He is denying the first force to make people comply with the collective idea of doing good. Naturally Dr. Dykstra or any other public educator cannot become a proponent or advocate even of the Ten Commandments. They cannot do this because they are denying them by their actions. They have to use themselves as a starting point of right and wrong. They can talk and talk and talk and repeat what this and that person has said, but they dare not ever tell what is right and wrong. They will acknowledge no eternal principles of truth. What a terrible way to treat the youth of the land to be compelling everybody to pay for this kind of education. That is the only kind of people that will accept jobs as heads of tax-supported educational institutions. It is little wonder we have strikes, are not able to maintain full employment or pay our debts, and get in one world war after another, when we are using force to compel every man in the nation to help support educators like Dr. Dykstra, a typical tax-supported educator."

What Collective Bargaining Advocates Do Not See
Undoubtedly the reason many people with the best intentions in the world endorse collective bargaining is that there are some things about its practice that they do not see. Their usual explanation as to why they believe in it is that men have a right to go together as a group and say that they will not work for less than a certain amount. That might be morally proper. But that is not the final objective of collective bargaining. The final objective of every collective bargaining group is to decide not only what they will work for but also what other people must receive. That is the question that should be decided in determining whether or not a man has a moral right to endorse collective bargaining or join a collective bargaining group. That is not another question.

The final objective of every collective bargaining group is to decide not only what they will work for but also what other people must receive. That is the question that should be decided in determining whether or not a man has a moral right to endorse collective bargaining or join a collective bargaining group. That is not another question.

News Behind the News The National Whirligig

By RAY TUCKER
POPULATION—The most recent population figures for the United States and other countries disclose that, despite estimated world war II deaths of 25,000,000, there are more people on this exasperated earth than ever before, and that their number is still increasing.

Hope of the future still sways the human heart and emotions, even in the face of the atomic bomb. This discovery has led experts in these things to question the British, French and Russian programs for artificial stimulation of births, including the payment of big bonuses for little babies. They see the seeds of another global conflict in this competition.

Hitler, Hirohito and Mussolini adopted these same methods at a time when they were complaining that they did not have sufficient living room, food and employment for their existing populations. The pressure for space and sustenance eventually became unbearable, and the outcome was a global war.

SURVEYS—The "more babies" campaign in England, France and the Soviet Union could have the same tragic results, in the opinion of students, unless the number of new arrivals were accompanied by a betterment of the conditions under which they must live.

Recent surveys indicate that none of the major powers, including the United States, needs a larger population to insure its economic and physical security. The present Palestine problem illustrates the point.

Striving to obtain these privileges for their surplus populations, the nations which take too literally the Biblical injunction to "multiply" might some day emulate the Axis powers and fight for their economic and geographical demands.

AIM—The United States should take a lively interest in this question at postwar sessions of the economic branch of the United Nations organization, according to our experts. Population pressure, especially where a low living standard prevails, is the cause of many of the wars outside this country—has been a cause for conquest since the days of Genghis Khan.

The UNO's aim should be, these experts think, to persuade foreign governments to improve living conditions for their people instead of increasing the number of mouths and bodies which Uncle Sam may have to feed and clothe.

NEED—Incidentally, Ireland and France present the most illuminating arguments for low or high population to win.

Erin's population is only half as large as it was a hundred years ago, while France has increased by one-seventh in that same period.

Today Ireland is one of the richest countries in Europe, after centuries of dire poverty, whereas even poorer France suffered from extremely low standards of living—a fact which explains the rise to political power of communists and radical socialists in that normally conservative land.

France, England and Russia don't need more babies. They need more food, motion pictures, automobiles and comforts for their present populations.

TERM—Veteran supreme court attaches expect the high tribunal to reject the demand that the senate seat of the venerable and distinguished Carter Glass be declared vacant because of his alleged physical and mental incapacity.

The famous Virginian, who was at least a contributor of the federal reserve act and secretary of the treasury under Woodrow Wilson, has not appeared on Capitol Hill since June 20, 1942—almost three and a half years. During the most critical time in the nation's history the Senator-Dominion had only one opportunity to appear in the senate.

News Clearing House

"It is for men to enter that which is sinless before the Lord, and add his unit of influence to all other units of influence, and let the results work themselves out. —Bacon. Contributors are urged to confine their articles to 500 words."

To the Editor:
After thinking over the game with Amarillo Saturday, and seeing some of the unsportsmanlike attitude taken by several Pampa fans (not our football team or coaches) I am truly ashamed of the bad feeling that was provoked in the Amarillo fans and many other visitors from West Texas.

It is my earnest hope that we may continue the rivalry (friendly rivalry) between the two teams without such display of bad temper on the part of the Pampa fans. We lost to possibly the better team, but the referee's whistle blew, we should have presumed that the game was played fairly.

The officials of the game were selected with an agreement with the Amarillo coaches, and were satisfactory to our own school officials, or they would not have been on the field.

It is not surprising how fans grow enthusiastic over a game, especially one so important as that one. But we should never forget that being a good loser is far more to be valued than a good winner.

Yours very truly,
Alex Schneider,
Schneider Hotel.

World Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP WORLD TRAVELER
LONDON, Dec. 6.—The great political, social and economic changes through which this heart of the British empire is passing are a source of constant wonder to the visitor who is returning after a considerable absence.

Indeed, the average Englishman himself has small realization of the magnitude of this metamorphosis. He is too close to it.

Old traditions are being shattered like glass balls in a shooting gallery. Class distinctions are drawing closer together, and the old school has lost much of its magic. The landed gentry is fast disappearing, and there has been such a leveling off of incomes that the time is past when great fortunes can be accumulated.

We got a vivid flash of all this in the fierce clash at arms which occurred yesterday in the house of commons and is continuing today—a battle royal between the new labor government and its conservative opponents led by Churchill, of a long line of nobility representing the bluest blood in England.

Yesterday's debate began quietly enough as Oliver Lyttelton, minister of production in the late conservative cabinet, made a motion of censure against the government.

Lyttelton attacked vigorously. He charged that the government's program meant regimentation of the individual if the socialist schemes were to succeed. He accused the party in power of creating inflation.

The laborites met this first attack with easy self-assurance in their big majority of about 200. Lyttelton's bitterest shots were met with deep belly laughs as the members leaned back against the red Morocco benches.

FUR TRADER
CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—Six years ago when the fur was old Delphin Furtek started saving nickels. Her objective was purchase of a fur coat.

Under a load of four sugar sacks and two quart jars full of nickels, she staggered into the Steel City bank yesterday. Bank clerks counted 16,000 nickels.

She had changed her mind about getting a fur coat, used the nickels for a $1,000 Victory Bond.

Naturally or returned servicemen should have first call on civilian clothes, but if this keeps up they'll have to turn their old uniforms into rags for the hard-bitten civilians. If this happens, I suppose some husband will start sewing on service stripes for every year they've been married.

Facts FOR THE VETERAN

In Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD.—Minna Gombell, the unpredictable, is at it again. Minna once set a style for feminine villainy as the tough Edna in "Bad Girl." For 10 years Hollywood typed her as a brassy blonde with a fast line of chatter. At parties people were disappointed because she didn't slap them on the back and say, "Hi, babe."

But now that it is fashionable to be bad on the screen, Minna has reformed. She put on a white wig and played a dignified but gay mother in "Sunbonnet Sue." She's a sassy aunt in RKO's "Man Alive" and now she's playing wacky comedy with Pat O'Brien in "Perilous Holiday." Acting directors are referring to her as "another Billie Burke."

How Minna and her wonderful sense of humor ever got typed as a bad girl has always been a mystery. One night she went to a Hollywood party and decided not to take a single drink. She didn't. At 2 p. m. she was having the time of her life when the host came over, tapped her on the shoulder and whispered, "Tch-tch, Minnie. No more drinks tonight."

SISSY ROLE
Barbara Stanwyck gets away from those neurotic roles in her next, "California," playing a girl of the golden west. However, she does shoot and kill a villain. After reading the script Barbara quipped: "I kill only one man? I must be slipping."

There was very little droop but plenty of drip on the set of "A Scandal in Paris." Five young ladies, including red-haired Signe Hasso, were reporting themselves, and only in filmy slips, in the waters of a sylvan pool. A fire engine, with steam up, was outside the sound stage keeping the water warm. A couple of registered nurses were inside, keeping the girls warm with heavy blankets and hot coffee between dips.

It was fashionable for the ladies of Paris in 1800—the film's period—to go swimming in the raw. But Producer Arnold Pressburger would not let cotton slips which would "cling revealingly." At least he was assured they would by Norma, his fashion designer. After the girls stepped into the water every one agreed that Norma was right. As one set overlooker put it, "Eric Johnson better get back to Hollywood quick."

—RIGHT IN THE OLD FIRE HORSE TRADITION
CAIRO, Ill.—(AP)—City Fireman Leonard Tanner was right on the job when the fire broke out—even though it was his day off.

He heard an alarm sound at the fire station less than a half block away and jumped up. Then, remembering he was off duty, he returned to his comfortable position. Swelling smoke, he checked quickly and found a fire at his own back door step.

Report On the War
Biennial Report of the Chief of Staff of the U. S. Army 1943 to 1945, to the Secretary of War Published by NEA Service, Inc. in co-operation with the War Department.

This is the 22nd of 42 installments of material selected from General Marshall's report on the winning of World War II.

XXII BEYOND THE RHINE
IN six weeks the combined efforts of the Allied armies had achieved a major objective. The German soil west of the Rhine had been cleared of all hostile forces. The river itself had been forced in two tortuous crossings, and the freedom of action of the German defense on the east bank was seriously curtailed. General Eisenhower was now ready to launch his offensive beyond the Rhine.

Several considerations governed the selection of the area north of the Ruhr for the main effort. A drive in this sector was the quickest means of denying what vestiges remained of the once rich Ruhr industries to the enemy. That stretch of the Rhine between Emmerich and Wesel was one of the two best sites for a forced crossing, and the Germans had brought up only relatively inferior forces to oppose such an operation. Once across that river the gently rolling terrain north of the Ruhr was most suitable for mobile and tank operations, the type of warfare it was desired to force upon the enemy because of his shortages in tanks, vehicles, and motor fuel.

After a heavy aerial and artillery preparation, the Second British Army began an assault crossing of the Rhine during the evening of 23 March. Next morning, the U. S. 17th and the 6th British Airborne Divisions were dropped north and northeast of Wesel. British troops crossing the river soon established contact with the airborne forces. The U. S. Ninth Army crossed between Wesel and Duisburg early on the 24th, meeting light to moderate resistance. Within two days seven bridges had been built across the river and the British-American bridgehead stretched 25 miles along the Rhine to a maximum depth of 8 miles.

Eisenhower Praises Troops
General Eisenhower was with the Ninth when it jumped off. He described the attack in a letter:

"I have just finished a rapid tour of the battle front. Yesterday and the day before I was with the Ninth Army to witness its jump-off and the early stages of the Rhine crossing. Simpson performed in his usual outstanding style. Our losses in killed, during the crossing, were 15 in one assault division and 16 in the other. I stayed up most of one night to witness the preliminary bombardment by 1,250 guns. It was an especially interesting sight because of the fact that all the guns were spread out on a plain so that the flashes from one end of the line to the other were all plainly visible. It was real drumfire."

"I have noted so many unusual and outstanding incidents in the forward areas that it would almost weary you to tell you of the fine performances of American and other troops. For example, the Engineers of VII Corps laid a Treadway bridge across the Rhine in 10 hours and 11 minutes. While not actually under fire, this job was done under battlefield conditions with all the necessary precautions taken to prevent unusual damage by a sudden concentration of enemy artillery fire. It was a brilliant performance."

During the critical week ending 22 March, United States aircraft alone made 14,350 heavy bomber attacks, 7,262 medium bomber attacks, and 29,921 fighter sorties against targets in Europe.

By 25 March hard fighting in the Remagen area had extended the bridgehead to a depth of 10 miles and a length of over 30. The German High Command, expecting an immediate drive on the Ruhr from this direction, had concentrated strong forces of Army Group "B" north of the Sieg River. To their great surprise, General Hodges broke out of the bridgehead to the southeast on 26 March, when his armor drove to Limburg, seized a bridge over the Lahn River, and raced along the superhighway toward Frankfurt. Other armored columns of the First Army, speeding eastward as fast as 40 miles a day, reached Marburg and Giessen by 28 March, and then swung northward through the hill country west of

So They Say

Our industry's opportunity to produce cars at a price that customers can pay is in jeopardy. Government and union interference have reduced management's ability to manage.—George Romney, general manager Automobile Manufacturers association.

It does not seem that this country is duty bound to maintain a large permanent world police force. Neither does it seem logical for American troops, whether they engage in actual fighting or not, to become involved in civil wars in wars in China or elsewhere.—Fond du lac, Wis., Commonwealth Reporter.

The price of security will not be small, but it will be cheaper in both money and lives than the risk of unpreparedness for another war.—Secretary of War, Robert P. Patterson.

Texas Schoolboy District Grid Champs Swing Into Action Tomorrow

Crozier Tech, Highland Park, Jefferson, Lufkin Are Favored

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

Opening guns of the battle for the Texas schoolboy football championship will be fired this week-end as the 16 district champions swing into action in the first round of the state play-off with 112,500 fans expected to see eight games.

Paris and Lufkin will be the scenes of contests tomorrow afternoon, with games at Fort Worth and San Antonio tomorrow night and at Wichita Falls, El Paso, Waco and Houston Saturday.

Tight favorites appeared all along the line, meaning there were few of the big point boys hanging around.

Wichita Falls was picked to trim Amarillo, Odessa to beat El Paso high, Highland Park (Dallas) to topple Paris, Crozier Tech (Dallas) to beat North Side (Fort Worth), Waco to down Breckenridge, Lufkin to defeat Marshall, Goose Creek to win over Milby (Houston), and Thomas Jefferson (San Antonio) to edge out Brownsville.

Only seven of the sixteen teams are undefeated. With perfect records are Odessa, Paris, Lufkin, Milby and Brownsville. Wichita Falls and Highland Park each has been tied.

Strangely two of the most beaten teams—Jefferson, with three losses, and Goose Creek, with two—were expected to defeat a couple of eleven teams that haven't lost a game or been tied this season.

Top game on the list is that at Paris, which matches undefeated teams—the only one in which the participants haven't dropped a lift this season. But the biggest crowd is expected at Houston where 22,000 are due to tax the capacity of the stadium to see Milby battle Goose Creek. San Antonio forecast 20,000 for its game.

Here's how they look from this corner (anticipated attendance in parentheses):

Friday—
Highland Park at Paris, 2:30 p. m. (7,500)—a good ball game with Highland Park winning by a touchdown.

Crozier Tech at North Side, 8 p. m. (18,000)—all-out offense against all-out defense with Crozier Tech winning by two touchdowns.

Marshall at Lufkin, 2:30 p. m. (7,000)—Lufkin is undefeated and untied; it will be the same way after this game.

Brownsville at Thomas Jefferson, 8 p. m. (20,000)—Brownsville, on its record, should be favored, but the nod from here goes to the comeback kids of San Antonio.

Saturday—
Amarillo at Wichita Falls, 2 p. m. (7,500)—a good ball game with Amarillo winning by a touchdown.

Crozier Tech at North Side, 8 p. m. (18,000)—all-out offense against all-out defense with Crozier Tech winning by two touchdowns.

Marshall at Lufkin, 2:30 p. m. (7,000)—Lufkin is undefeated and untied; it will be the same way after this game.

Brownsville at Thomas Jefferson, 8 p. m. (20,000)—Brownsville, on its record, should be favored, but the nod from here goes to the comeback kids of San Antonio.

Building Program For West Texas State Announced

CANYON, Dec. 6—(AP)—Authority for a campus building program which may reach $800,000 has been granted West Texas State college by the board of regents, it is announced by J. H. Hill.

Planned to end an acute housing shortage here, the construction will raise the dormitory capacity to quarters for 300 boys and 500 girls. The projects include:

Girls' dormitory of 125 capacity fronting Cousins Hall, to cost a maximum of $300,000. Cousins Hall now houses about 130 girls.

Annex to Stafford Hall, boys' dormitory, to house 120 men with present facilities, which provide for 38 men. The maximum cost would be $200,000.

Annex to Terrill Hall, raising its capacity from 36 to 100 men, and costing a maximum of $100,000.

These buildings will be financed by issuance of bonds, to be retired from pledged revenues of the dormitories. Preparation of plans and specifications will begin immediately, Dr. Hill said.

An annex to Randall Hall for girls is already financed at $80,000 and most of the materials needed are on hand. This annex will increase the capacity by one hundred girls. The college also has been authorized to seek hutments from the government to provide temporary housing for returning war veterans.

Other projected campus construction includes a $60,000 addition to the Plains museum and a $50,000 chapel, which are being financed by private contributions of Panhandle citizens.

Needs of the college will be studied by the board of regents here December 7. It will be an annual visit with the 15 percent increase.

TU Makes Map on Mineral Locality
AUSTIN, Dec. 6—(AP)—A mineral locality map of Texas has just been completed by the University of Texas bureau of economic geology.

Dr. J. T. Lonsdale, director, said this map is the first of its kind to show occurrences of useful minerals, rocks, oil, as well as other substances not now produced commercially but having possible future value.

It was prepared by Dr. E. H. Sellards, director emeritus; Glen L. Evans, and George Hendricks, geologists with the bureau.

Magnolia Employes Go On 40-Hour-Week
BEAUMONT, Dec. 6—(AP)—The Magnolia refinery announced that 300 members of the American Federation of Labor machinists union will go on a 40-hour week next Monday.

The company said that the employees will be raised 15 percent in base pay. The navy approved the agreement.

Members of the electrical union accepted similar contract, effective last Monday. On October 1, office workers went on the 40-hour week with the 15 percent increase.

California's Conversion of Punt Into Score Is Oddity of Season

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK, Dec. 6—(AP)—When California converted its own backward punt into an 85-yard touchdown run that knocked U. C. L. A. out of the Rose Bowl, coaches and writers participating in the Associated Press season-end poll agreed they had found the oddity of the football year.

There was the matter of an Indiana touchdown being called back because of interference by a German mouser dog and the strange affair at Princeton when Yale punted only once in an entire afternoon for a total yardage of zero, but the California incident was the queerest.

California had the ball on its own 32. Left End Jack Lerond had been called back to punt but the slippery ball slithered off the side of his foot and went back over his head, bouncing to his own 15. His blocking back, Quarterback Ed Welch, scooped up the ball and ran 45 yards to the USC 23 and lateral led to Lerond who went the rest of the way for the only score of a 6-0 game.

The dog story happened in Champaign, Ill., where Indiana, destined to go to capture its first western conference title, was playing Illinois. Midway in the second period with fourth down on the Illinois 15 the dog wandered into the field behind the Illinois defense just as the play started. Referee Bill Blake blew his whistle just before Melvin Groomes, fed back and tossed a pass to Ed-Ped Kluzewski in the end zone. The score was nullified but Indiana, luckily for its Big 10 hopes, went on to win, 6-0.

Down in the southwest, Jack Price of Baylor caught his own pass for a seven-yard loss after it had bounced off the arm of a Texas defending lineman, while at Ohio State, Fullback Ollie Cline once punted straight up and back for a seven-yard loss.

Texas had a handyman manager in Billy (The Rooster) Andrews, 4 feet 11 and weighing 150 pounds, who dropped his duties as water boy to kick the extra points. He was the co-captain in the traditional Texas Aggie game.

In a season when entire backfields were changing schools as of November 1 with navy transfers, the fans found such colleges as Middlebury, Franklin and Marshall, Tufts and Ursinus finishing their season by Oct. 13 and John Hopkins not starting their campaign until Nov. 3.

Allan Dekdebrun of Cornell started the crowd in the Colgate tilt by gashing forward five yards as though off on a run and then

Most Members of Detroit Tigers To Be on Sale Block at Minor Meeting
COLUMBUS, Ohio, Dec. 6—(AP)—The biggest stock of ivory on the sale, swamp or barber at the minor league trading mart is that collection of baseball talent which won the baseball championship for Detroit in 1945.

From what you hear around this lobby-sitting sweepstakes, only seven members of the Detroit Tigers have much chance of hanging their hats under that world title flag for the '46 campaign.

These possible holdovers are pitchers Hal Newhouser, Virgil (Fire) Trucks, and George Caster, along with Hank Greenberg, Eddie Mayo, Paul Richards, Skeeter Webb.

It is a most unusual situation to find practically the entire lineup of a world's championship club on the block.

Of course, if you ask the Bengal bosses to come right and officially list the sales inventory, you'll probably wind up in an interesting conversation about the weather. But it is virtually certain that first baseman Rudy York is up for sale and that neither Jim Outlaw nor Bob Maier will be hanging out their shingle on the corner in 1946.

In place of the outfield that made those obliging curties at fly balls during the late series, there will be the returning hands from the armed forces, Pat Mullin, Barney McCosky and Hook Evers, a youngster from the University of Illinois and the Beaumont Texas league club who is rumored to be at least a reasonable facsimile of Dimaggio, Ruth and Cobb combined. Hoot's still working for Uncle Sam.

From the word here, the Tigers may even be willing to part with Paul (Dizzy) Trout.

Gene Mako Topped In First Round of Tennis Tournament
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 6—(AP)—All favorites but one were among the survivors as the $5,000 national professional hard court tennis championships went into their second day.

Gene Mako of Los Angeles, former American Davis cup doubles player, was topped unexpectedly in the first round yesterday by the well-placed drives of young Jack March. Mako lost the hard duel 11-9, 6-4.

Don Budge, seeded No. 1, had little difficulty disposing of Bert Brown, Los Angeles, 6-1, 6-0. Fred Perry outplayed Jeff Millman, Beverly Hills, 6-2, 6-1. Bill Tilden had to unlimber his fastest serves to win 6-1, 8-6, over Jerry Hoyer, Los Angeles.

The schools, Burk Burnett and Olney, may enter class A competition, the coaches learned.

West Texas Buffs To Play in Kansas City
CANYON, Texas, Dec. 6—(AP)—With a 76-36 victory already on their record, West Texas state's basketball team is in a campaign which includes games in Kansas City this month and the quest of the border conference championship.

The Buffaloes defeated guards from the Hereford, Texas, prisoners of war camp last Saturday. In their next contest, the Buffs will meet a Sheppard field quintet here Saturday night.

Invited to the double-headers sponsored by the National Association of Intercollegiate Basketball at Kansas City, the Buffs will play Loyola university—national champs—on Dec. 21 and Valparaiso university on Dec. 22.

Hurricane Meets Georgia in Oil Bowl at Houston

HOUSTON, Dec. 6—(AP)—The Oil Bowl arises again to plague Dallas' Cotton Bowl.

Dormant for a year, this fledgling among the post-season football games, comes up with a star attraction in the Universities of Tulsa and Georgia, both bowl-wise schools.

Georgia, winner of eight games out of ten, and Tulsa, which lost only two in a nine-game schedule, yesterday accepted invitations to play in the second Oil Bowl game contingent upon approval of their respective conferences.

The Oil Bowl, inaugurated in 1944, had its first game in the high school stadium. This year the Oil Bowl will use Rice Institute stadium which seats 30,000.

Southern Methodist university Tuesday declined an invitation to play in the Oil Bowl with the statement that "S. M. U. is a member of the Southwest conference, feels under obligations to support the game in the Cotton Bowl."

This year Tulsa has defeated Wichita, West Texas State, Drake, Texas Tech, Nevada, Baylor, and Arkansas, while losing 7-2 to undefeated Indiana and 12-6 to undefeated, untied Oklahoma A. and M. Georgia won over Murray, Ky., Teachers, Clemson, Miami, Kentucky, Chattanooga, Florida, Auburn and Georgia Tech. It lost to Louisiana State 32-0 and to Alabama, 28-14.
