House Will Take Up Truman's Plan Pearl Harbor Committee Studies Roosevelt Message of Nov. 26, 1941

Information Went To Head Of Philippines

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4—(AP)—Congressional investigators heard today that the late President Roosevelt informed the Philippine high commission on Nov. 26, 1941, that the "next Japanese aggression might cause an outbreak of hostilities between the U. S. and Japan."

MESSAGE IS READ

A message read into the record of the Pearl Harbor investigating committee disclosed that the President said 11 days before the attack on Hawaii that there were "no clear indications" on where the Japanese might direct the military strength they were massing. It added however:

"Advance against Thailand seems the most probable."

In this connection, the President said:

"I consider it possible that this next Japanese aggression might cause an outbreak of hostilities between the U. S. and Japan."

MILES TESTIFIES
Mr. Roosevelt noted that the Japanese were strongly reinforcing their garrisons and naval forces in the mandated islands "in a manner which indicates they are preparing this region as quickly as possible against a possible attack on them by U. S. forces."

Maj. Gen. Sherman Miles told the committee earlier that the United States in January, 1941—11 months before Pearl Harbor—gave Great Britain the secret means for breaking the Japanese code.

Diet Trying to Gloss Over War Responsibility

TOKYO, Dec. 4—(AP)—The diet, with 26 members named on General MacArthur's latest list of wanted war criminals suspects, was portrayed today by one member as feeling "as if an incendiary big shell had dropped on a neighbor's house."

Under such a cloud, the nation's gloomy financial situation was dissected yesterday that heavy tax increases are ahead.

Kyodo news agency quoted Finance Minister Kichizo Shibusawa as saying the government has decided to reimburse investors for loss of Japanese assets estimated at 110,000,000,000 yen (about $7,000,000,000) in Manchuria, China, Korea, Formosa, Sakhalin and southern Pacific areas.

Presumably all Japanese assets abroad are to be seized for reparations.

Kyodo said MacArthur's Monday order for the arrest of 59 more suspects blew up "a war criminal storm" in the diet, which it is trying to gloss over by pulling out a war responsibility resolution.

Matsukuro Shoriki, president of the newspaper Yomiuri, asserted he had done nothing to warrant trial and blamed his inclusion on the list of dissident employees he

Chamber Honors Teachers Tonight

A double-header plot to be turned loose on the teachers of Gray county this evening, on attending the banquet held in their honor at 7:30 p. m. in the senior high school cafeteria, was discovered this morning.

The question remains who's plotting against whom?

For eavesdropping on the planning of Program Chairman D. L. Parker, meeting with cohorts District Attorney and Master of Ceremonies Walter Rogers, and Chairman of the Reactionaries W. B. Weathered, it was unearthed that banquet hashers will be un-cerified, inexperienced and no doubt hungry.

It was also made known that tipping would not only be in order, but expected; that the banquet menu says turkey, but no guarantee is given. It will be a banquet hall filled with "Watch Your Coat" signs without the signs.

Hasers for the occasion include Headhasher President of the Chamber of Commerce Doc Pursley, with a staff composed of L. N. Atchison, Crawford Atkinson, Lefty Huff (a warning in itself), Carl Benefiel, Joe Gordon, Bill Fraser, Joe Key, Jimmie McCune, Luther Pierson, Harry Cayler, A. A. Schuneman, Garland Franks (probably quick service), being a former trackman) "Red" Weathered, J. F. Smith, J. L. Swindle, Clyde Carruth and Ewing Williams.

Mustangs Invited To Oil Bowl Game

HOUSTON, Dec. 4—(AP)—Holly M. Brock, president of Oil Bowl, Inc., announced here today that Southern Methodist university had been invited to play in the Oil Bowl game at Rice stadium Jan. 1 and that he was expecting an answer from the Dallas school later today.

Brock said that if SMU accepts the invitation the Mustangs will meet an opponent to be selected from Louisiana State, Georgia, and Tulsa.

Union Leaders Oppose HST's Strike Policy

DETROIT, Dec. 4—(AP)—Opposition by the CIO United Auto Workers' top leadership indicated a rough road ahead today for President Truman's proposal for a halt to the General Motors strike.

Strikers to decide
Union officials emphasized that a final decision on the President's plea for immediate resumption of work would be left to the 175,000 strikers, but they made no bones about their own personal sentiments.

Defending the GM strike as "sound, legal and moral," UAW-CIO President R. J. Thomas said he was "not sold" on Mr. Truman's proposal to end the stoppage and abide by the recommendations of a government fact-finding board.

The union promptly summoned the more than 200 delegates to its national GM conference to meet in Detroit Saturday. The President's proposal will be laid before them without recommendation from international officers, Thomas said.

The council's report will be carried back to GM locals for membership votes which will be binding, the UAW head declared. This balloting, Thomas predicted, would be completed by about next Tuesday.

President Truman admitted the board he is appointing "will not

Chemurgy To Be Studied at Meet

Chemurgy, the science of using crops, trees, minerals, metals, animals and their products, in new forms, will be studied at a meeting to be held in Wichita Falls Dec. 5-6, with "Red" Wedgeworth and Reno Stinson from Pampa attending.

The keynote address will be given by Victor H. Schoffelemyer, agricultural and science editor of the Dallas Morning News, who is also president of the Texas Chemurgy congress and the Wichita Falls chemurgy committee. Both groups, along with the West Texas chamber of commerce, are sponsoring the meeting.

Selected speakers will speak on the new type of science and the contributions it can make to agriculture, industry general business.

"Through chemurgy," explained Mr. Wedgeworth this morning, "science has found new commercial and industrial possibilities through the utilization of grain sorghums, mesquite, West Texas clays and natural resources of farm crops which are especially adapted to our territory."

Chemurgy leads to the setting up of new quick-freezing and dehydration plants, starch and ethyl alcohol plants, aromatic oil extraction mills, paper and plastics mills, vegetable oil plants, crop wastes and the waste products of many processing plants now in operation.

Top British Prosecutor Blasts War Criminals

MURKBERG, Dec. 4—(AP)—The twenty once mighty Nazi leaders on trial for their lives before an international tribunal were excoriated in the name of the British commonwealth today as "murderers and robbers" personally and individually accountable for breaking the world's peace.

Opening the British case against Hermann Goering, Rudolf Hess, Joachim Von Ribbentrop and their fellow members of the fallen clique, Sir Hartley Shawcross, attorney general of the United Kingdom, declared that the defendants had piloted Germany into "aggression, naked and unashamed" and plunged the world into an appalling costly war.

"BUILT HITLER UP"
"These men were no more willing tools," Shawcross said. "They are the men whose support had built Hitler up into the position of power he occupied. They are the men whose initiation and planning perhaps conceived and certainly made possible the acts of aggression made in Hitler's name."

The term "full employment" was stricken entirely in the substitute and the words "high level of employment" were used.

The committee's action broke a two-month stalemate on the legislation, which was passed in early October by the senate.

During that time Mr. Truman criticized the expenditures group for what he termed "damaging delay" in handling the bill.

Whether the revised version will be acceptable to the President remains to be seen. In each of his appeals for action he has asked for "full employment" legislation.

The substitute measure says it shall be the government's policy to create "in a manner consistent with the American system of free enterprise, the maximum opportunity for employment (including self employment), to attain and maintain a high level of employment"

Victory Loan Is Over Top; 'E' Sales Lag

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4—(AP)—The $11,000,000,000 victory loan will be over-subscribed but it may fall short of success in one important feature—the sale of E bonds to individuals.

WANT INFLATION

The big goal is to sop up $2,000,000,000 of individually-held idle money and thus divert it from inflationary spending.

The treasury and its war finance division have a pattern of daily sales

GRAY COUNTY DRIVE

Gray county has $145,031.25 worth of E-bonds to purchase to meet the $500,000 quota. Sales to date total $154,968.75. Sales yesterday totaled $5,843.75.

A bond rally will be held Thursday night at the Baptist church in the flats.

Actually, E bond sales to date still are above the pattern. The total sold stands at $1,037,000,000 against $975,000,000 expected under the pattern.

But that margin is only $62,000,000—against a $77,000,000 lag in the last 12 days.

And there still is $963,000,000 to go to meet the $2,000,000,000 goal. The drive ends formally Saturday night, but E bond sales will be counted through month's end, as has been the practice in previous drives.

U. S. Liberty Ship Signals for Help

NEW YORK, Dec. 4—(AP)—A sea-going tug and possibly other ships sped today from Bermuda to the aid of the Liberty ship Henry Ward Beecher, carrying 541 homeward bound American troops, which earlier radioed for assistance after losing its propeller about 340 miles northeast of Bermuda.

Third naval district officials here said the navy tug Restorer was on its way to the stalled vessel, which was not believed in serious danger, within two hours after the first distress call at 1:26 a. m. (CST).

The distressed ship, bound for Newport News, Va., from Marseilles, France, was reported in a well-traveled sea lane. Her first call for help was heard by other ships in the area.

Weather was reported moderate in the area.

Units aboard the Beecher are the 302nd military police escort guard company and the 542nd and 544th ordnance heavy maintenance companies.

Legislation To Be Introduced Soon

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4—(AP)—House leaders said today that legislation will be introduced today or tomorrow, to carry out President Truman's recommendations for handling of labor troubles.

Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) made the announcement at his news conference.

TO BE SUBMITTED BY NORTON

Democratic Party Whip Ramspeck of Georgia said that the bill probably would be submitted by Chairman (D-NJ), of the house labor committee.

He added that hearings would then be held by that group.

Asked by a reporter if the leadership would oppose a reported plan by the house military committee to include the legislation in a pending bill to repeal sections of the Smith-Connelly war labor dispute act, Ramspeck declared:

IMPORTANT PROPOSAL

"I think we ought to hold some hearings on such an important proposal."

However, Chairman May (D-Ky.) summoned his committee to a 9 a. m. (CST) closed-door session to consider methods to permit a house vote within days.

Specifically Mr. Truman asked congress to authorize fact-finding procedures for important labor disputes.

Southwest Goes Over Half-Million-Attendance Mark

Rugged Football Year Predicted By Most Coaches

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP)—College grid coaches are predicting 1946 will bring the most rugged and aggressive football in history with offensive-minded war veterans carrying the burden of the attack.

The bulk of the mentors quizzed by the Associated Press in a season-end poll based their forecast on what they saw in the '45 campaign.

The eagerness of the returning vets probably is best exemplified at Boston university where 24 ex-servicemen demanded the school reinstate football, arranged a four-game schedule; lost them all but "had a good time doing it" according to Coach Walt Homer.

While freshmen have carried on in an unexpectedly brilliant style, most of the coaches welcomed home the older, harder-hitting vets and thought the freshman rule would be reinstated in a year or two.

Coach Dana X. Bible of Texas said he was ready to have a freshman team as soon as possible. Coach Lou Little of Columbia agreed the freshman rule should be reinstated as soon as the curriculum returns to normal and Coach Glen Rose of Arkansas thought first year men should be allowed to play for one more year.

Burma Described by Vet As 'Hunters' Paradise'

By SCOTT RAFFERTY

"Burma is a hunter's paradise and I fully intend to go back there some day when things loosen up."

That statement sums up Charley Estes' opinion of Burma, where he served 23 months with the army signal corps, operating a radar unit deep in the Burmese jungle.

The picture at the right will testify to the soft-spoken "Texans" statement. The huge Bengal tiger was felled by Estes with one shot from a 30 calibre army rifle.

The animal weighed about 300 pounds and measured 10 feet, 10 inches long. Estes killed the animal March 19 of this year.

Tigers, however do not make up all the hunting in the Burma mountains.

With two companions, Estes set out on trips that sometimes netted them nine deer a day (there's no limit) and, often, it was necessary to kill other animals that threatened the lives of men and women in that territory.

Estes was once faced with the ticklish proposition of quieting two very frightened horses—the reason they were frightened was the fact that, 20 feet away, lay a vicious 15-foot python snake, one of the deadliest reptiles known. Estes finally got the horses quieted and, with a single shot through the head, killed the snake.

Estes' unit never had to eat the all-too-familiar Spam, however, Elks weighing as high as 900 pounds dressed provided the outfit with all the fresh meat they needed.

Estes, left Pampa last week for South Texas and Louisiana where he plans to do "plenty of fishing" with the new casting rod he was lucky enough to get.

Every School Except Texas Reports Gain

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The south-west conference for the first time in its 31 years went over the half-million mark in football attendance.

Every school except Texas showed an increase for home games with Texas Christian attracting more than four times as many fans as last year.

Texas Christian, Southern Methodist and Arkansas were the only schools having the same number of home games each season and all reported high increases.

Arkansas almost doubled its attendance, and Southern Methodist had 9,000 more.

Rice played nine home games last year and seven this year. The average per game was higher for 1945 than 1944. Texas A. and M. played four home games last year and five this season. The Aggies averaged 8,381 per game in 1944 but it shot to 18,383 this year.

Texas averaged 19,900 per game in 1944 and 19,168 for 1945.

Baylor didn't play football last year but compared to 1942, the last season before this one for the Bears, attendance was well ahead. This year found Baylor attracting 35,000 for six games.

The total of 31 home games by six conference teams in 1944 was 334,039. This year there were 37 games by seven schools which drew 512,105. These figures do not include the Texas-Oklahoma game at Dallas which drew over 45,000—largest in its history.

Baylor's return to football made the six extra home games, but subtracting the Baylor attendance this year from the total and there still is a tremendous increase over 1944. In other words, 31 home games last year drew 334,039; this year 477,105.

End of the war which brought many men home and the lifting of travel restrictions were among reasons given for the increase. Also, it was pointed out, there was plenty of money to spend and the folks had lost their war fitters and wanted to go places. Also, the close, knock-down, drag-out race staged for the conference championship was considered a major cause. And there was a better brand of football than marked the war years.

Army Is Unanimous Choice for 'No. 1'

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Without a single dissenting vote, Army's eleven has been named the No. 1 college football team of the country for the second year in succession.

In defeating Navy decisively 32-13 Saturday for their 18th consecutive victory in two seasons, the Cadets convinced the 116 experts who voted in the final Associated Press rating poll that they stand in a class by themselves.

As a result of a stalwart second half stand against Army in the service classic, Navy garnered enough second and third place support to wind up in second position while the Rose Bowl-bound Alabama gridgers took third. Army piled up 1,160 points on a basis of 10 points for first, nine for second and so down the list.

Indiana's Big Ten champions grabbed off fourth place while Oklahoma's Aggies, another unbeaten and untied combination, moved up sixth to fifth.

Notre Dame, which was fifth a week ago, dropped down to ninth as a result of the South Benders, 39-7 licking at the hands of Great Lakes Saturday.

Michigan finished sixth followed by St. Mary's, Pennsylvania, Notre Dame and Texas.

The ranking teams:

DALLAS, Dec. 4.—(AP)—There is no change in the rankings of Texas school football teams this week except after you get below the first ten. Jefferson (San Antonio) is moved to the top of the second ten but probably will make this selection look bad this week by trimming No. 9 Brownville in its bi-district play-off game.

There are other changes in the lower brackets but here's the ranking of the top 30:

1. Highland Park; 2. Wichita Falls; 3. Lufkin; 4. Waco; 5. Odessa; 6. Amarillo; 7. Paris; 8. Goose Creek; 9. Brownville; 10. Milby (Houston); 11. Jefferson; 12. Plainview; 13. Marshall; 14. Crozier Tech; 15. Breckenridge; 16. Sweetwater; 17. El Paso high; 18. Galveston; 19. Austin; 20. Brackenridge; 21. Pampa; 22. North Side; 23. Palestine; 24. Orange; 25. San Jacinto; 26. Brownwood; 27. Port Arthur; 28. Electra; 29. Paschal; 30. Longview.

blanks will be mailed soon to both coaches and sports writers.

Jack Woodward of the Plainview Herald gets his nomination in early. He suggests that Quarterback Jack Williams of Plainview, who handles the quarterback job in Coach W. C. O. Morris' T formation should be considered strongly.

Williams, a 6-foot, 170-pounder, desires directing the offense in Plainview's nine victories this season did these things:

1. Completed 57 of 101 passes for 947 yards and 10 touchdowns.
2. Averaged 33 yards on 38 punts including several short coffin corner kicks.
3. Averaged 4.9 yards per carry from scrimmage despite 83 yards lost when trapped on passing attempts.
4. Scored five touchdowns running, added 23 points after touchdowns and in all passed (ran and kicked for 113 points of the 204 made by the Bulldogs this season.
5. Intercepted 10 enemy passes.

Williams, who is quite a golfer in addition to being a football star, favors T. C. U. He's a senior.

From Coach Bebe Webb of Van High school comes letter boosting Mac Tunnel. Mack is a brother of Gus Tunnel, who played at Southern Methodist several seasons back. Mack is 6 feet 2, weighs 165 and is fast. He is a backfield on the Van high school team and Webb thinks he should be spotted in the annual all-star game of the Texas coaching school.

Doc Osborn of the Brownville Herald praises the work of Marshall Alford, Brownville high school back.

Alford, 15 years old, is 6 feet tall and weighs 175. "He is the best punter I ever saw in high school anywhere and I have never seen a better passer," declares Osborn.

Alford has averaged 40 yards kicking the pigskin this year.

Says Millions of People Only Half Alive

A man now in Los Angeles, but formerly a world-renowned traveler and geographer, honored by leading geographical societies, reveals the story of a remarkable method that often leads to almost unbelievable improvement in power of mind, achievement of brilliant business and professional success and new happiness. Many report improvements in health. Others tell of increased bodily strength, magnetic personality, courage and poise.

This man tells how he found these strange methods, in far-off and mysterious Tibet, often called the land of miracles by the few travelers permitted to visit it. He discloses how he learned rare wisdom and long hidden practices, closely guarded for three thousand years by the sages, which enabled many to perform amazing feats. He maintains that these immense powers are latent in all of us, and that methods for using them are now simplified so that they can be used by almost any person with ordinary intelligence.

He maintains that man, instead of being limited by a one-man-power mind, has within him the mind-power of a thousand men or more as well as the energy-power of the universe which can be used in his daily affairs. He states that this sleeping giant of mind-power, when awakened, can make man capable of surprising accomplishments, from the prolonging of youth, to success in many fields. He claims that millions of people are only half alive, that the drive which gives vitality and strength to their efforts, and which makes life a joy and a triumph, is too often missing. He offers to send his amazing 9,000 word treatise—which reveals many startling results—to readers of this paper free of cost or obligation. For your free copy, address the Institute of Mentalphysics, 213 South Hobart Blvd., Dept. V-112, Los Angeles 4, Calif. Readers are urged to write promptly because this offer may be withdrawn at any time adv.

Robert Summers May Be Lost to Steers

AUSTIN, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Robert (Rosebud) Summers, one of the few tall basketball veterans returning to the University of Texas, may be out for the season because of an operation.

The six-foot-three letterman is a center. His loss leaves Coach Jack Gray with no first string candidate taller than six one, which Gray regards as a distinct handicap.

The Steers open their season Thursday night in a game here with the San Antonio Y. M. C. A. team. Friday night they play Kelly Field.

Summary of Year's Work Is Given When Club Meets With Mrs. Nelson

Mrs. Hall Nelson entertained Wayside club members in her home in Miami recently, when a summary of the year's work was given by the committee chairman.

Miss Millicent Schaub directed a program on restyling clothes. She stated that hats which have been spotted by the rain can be renewed by brushing around the crown, beginning at the top, while holding the hat over steam.

Woolen materials can be renewed by adding three tablespoons of liquid glue to each quart of lukewarm water, and soaking the garment for 20 minutes. The garment should then be removed from the solution and the moisture squeezed from it before placing in a second solution of one teaspoon of glue to each quart of water, and soaking for 20 minutes longer. The garment is then rinsed in water of the same moderate temperature.

Miss Schaub also demonstrated the use of the stab or ransing stitch. Rural electrification was discussed, and plans to contact R. E. A. were made.

The hostess served refreshments to: Mrs. Homer Taylor, Mrs. J. W. Condo, Mrs. A. B. Carruth, Mrs. H. E. Taylor, Jr., Mrs. Lowell Osborne, Mrs. W. F. Taylor, Miss Millicent Schaub, Mrs. W. A. Greene, Mrs. Harold Osborne, and a visitor Mrs. W. E. Melton.

The club will meet Dec. 14, for the Christmas party in the home of Mrs. W. F. Taylor.

Employment

(including self employment), production and purchasing power.

Under the bill, it would be the government's policy to plan and adopt a program of "sound public works consistent with a financially sound fiscal policy" to aid in maintaining employment.

The original administration-backed measure by Rep. Patman (D-Texas) would have "assured" all able-bodied Americans wanting jobs the opportunity to have them. This phrasing was rejected by the committee.

Under the substitute a three-member council of economic advisers would be set up under the President.

This council would make recommendations to the President regarding ways to maintain "high levels of employment" and the President in turn would make recommendations to congress.

War Crimes

citation of proof that the accused were guilty of crimes against the peace. The United States has concluded its presentation on the first of three other counts in the indictment—that the nazis engaged in a conspiracy to wage a war of aggression. Two remaining counts, charging war crimes and crimes against humanity, are to be prosecuted jointly by Russia and France.

Shawcross first sought to show that the Hitler gang violated firmly established international law through aggression and preparation for aggression.

TRACES GERMAN COURSE
Then from the long-forgotten words of the nazis themselves, he traced the German course of broken treaties, violated frontiers and ultimate carnage and misery.

"Their lust and sadism," he said, "their deliberate slaughter and the degradation of so many millions of their fellow creatures that the imagination reels incomprehensibly, are but one side only of this matter."

"Perhaps their guilt as murderers and robbers is of less importance and of less effect to future generations of mankind than their crime of fraud—the fraud by which they placed themselves in a position to do their murder and their robbery."

He said the British empire was determined to prove "that the warring of an aggressive war is not only a dangerous venture but a criminal one," and that "persons who in violation of this law, plunge their own and other countries into an aggressive war, do so with a halber around their necks."

Shawcross turned to a detailed analysis of German moves and motives, asserting: "From the moment Hitler became chancellor in 1933, with the defendant Von Papen as vice-counselor, and with the defendant Von Neurath as his foreign minister, the whole atmosphere of the world darkened."

He asked the 225,000 striking CIO united auto workers to go back to their jobs and appealed to the 700,000 CIO steel workers not to walk out. He sent appeals too to General Motors and United States Steel corporation heads for full production while the fact-finding boards carry out their assignments.

While general congressional reaction to the President's message was favorable, some members said they felt it did not go far enough and others were more critical.

"Definitely anti-labor," commented Rep. Marcantonio (Ann. Lab. NY), who said it would take away labor's right to strike.

ACCENT ON INVESTIGATION

Sen. Abe Murdock of Utah thinks that congress should spend more time legislating and less time investigating. We agree.

The governmental reorganization bill, which the President indicated was "must" legislation six months ago, has struck another delay. The question of the so-called full employment bill and the matter of universal military training haven't got far. The Smith-Connelly wartime anti-strike bill is still on the books. The important matter of congressional reorganization has scarcely been considered. And so it goes.

Senator Murdock seems to have revealed the secret of all this when he said, "There are not so many headlines in the burdensome task of writing legislation as there are in connection with certain investigations."

The House of Representatives and 32 senators are up for reelection next fall. Our forward-looking legislators, or at least a good part of them, already have their eyes on the hustings. Headlines are already helpful.

The Pearl Harbor investigation is a prime example of what Senator Murdock was talking about. That disaster should certainly be investigated. But it would seem that right now there are more important things demanding the lawmakers' attendance and possible attention, at least. Nor are the political machinations of both sides in this investigation anything to cheer about.

The families of the more than 3,000 men who lost their lives at Pearl Harbor would like to know who was responsible for the slaughter. So would the rest of the country. But it is safe to say that few of us are primarily interested in how the events leading up to those 3,000 deaths are going to affect the 1948 presidential election.

NATION'S PRESS

Nation's Press

CONSIDER THE BEE
By George Peck

On August 16, 1899, there appeared an editorial in the Hartford (Conn.) Courant, which should be read by every present-day American. The writer, although not paid for—we are at peace—but there seems to be a great reluctance on the part of certain of the federal bureaus to relinquish controls, so necessary during war, but which now menace our peaceful prosperity. Read what this discerning editor of the Courant wrote on this subject over 136 years ago:

"A wise government is the people's guard and it takes effectual care that there should be none to molest or annoy, would find interest in their lawful callings and pursuits. Thus guarded there is full scope and also sufficient encouragement for industry and enterprise. Each individual employs himself as he finds it most to his own advantage, and each, in advancing his own interest by honest industry, adds to the common stock. A nation resembles a swarm of bees. The bees must be well housed, protected from external and internal annoyance and injury, and left free as air to make their combs, construct their cells, and labor in hive or field according to their own liking. Thus protected and thus free, they seldom fail to treasure up honey."

"But who makes the honey? Not the gardener of the hive but the bees themselves. So, civil government by government is meant the administration of government) however so wise and vigilant, is not the direct and efficient cause of a nation's wealth, which is, in fact, produced by the Great Swarm, the PEOPLE."

"On the other hand, should the keeper of the bees undertake to dabble in their private concerns, interrupt their labors or divert their wondrous courses of enterprise into new channels—should he foolishly do this he would find little or no honey in the hive at the end of the year. And so again, whenever government is so imprudent as to obstruct or divert the enterprise and industry of the people by hampering them with unnecessary regulations, a decay of public prosperity follows as a natural consequence."

"Some men, however, seem to think that commercial industry and enterprise should come under the particular direction of government. But why? On the one hand, there are but few among the rulers and legislators of nations who possess extensive information in mercantile matters; whilst on the other, there are no people that know better how to manage their own concerns than experienced merchants. They best know how, when and where to put their property afloat; they can best calculate the risks and all the chances of loss or gain. It belongs to government to protect commerce, to guard it by a general regulation and then leave it. The skill of the merchant will do the rest."

"ALL HISTORY TESTIFIES THAT TRADE FLOURISHES MOST WHERE IT IS MOST FREE, AND THAT IT SOON LEAVES THE NATION THAT SHACKLES IT."

It is 136 years since the long-departed editor of the Courant penned that editorial. Much water has flown over the dam since then, but the fundamentals are exactly the same today. Today as then, government should confine its activities solely to protecting industry and trade—it should not direct, control or obstruct. Consider the bee!

In Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—Alan Ladd showed us a nifty gold cigarette case, given him by his wife, Sue Carol. There was a miniature symbol, inside the cover, for all the pictures he has made—a gun for "This Gun for Hire," a ship for "Two Years Before the Mast," a blue dahlia for "The Blue Dahlia," etc.

Now Sue is getting him a new one—a head of Alan hanging on a pair of suspenders—symbolic of the four months he was on suspension at Paramount studio, fighting for more money and better pictures.

Alan is back now, winner in the battle. He was getting only $350 a week when he left the feminine customers swooning in "This Gun." Now he'll write a deposit slip for $75,000 for every movie he makes.

But whether he gets better pictures is a question only Paramount can answer.

"We tried to get story approval," he said, "and the right to do one outside picture a year, but the studio talked us out of it. I still don't know what my next picture will be. All I hope is that it is a good one."

MODEST FELLOW

You can't write a piece about Alan without mentioning the bobby socks set, although, to be truthful, he gets just as many fan letters from middle-aged ladies of the afternoon bridge set.

We asked him point blank: "What have you got that makes 'em swoon?"

"Brother," he said, "I'll be darned if I know."

Alan told us a lot of stuff we never knew about him before. That, for instance, he wasn't a newcomer to the screen when Paramount gave him a break in "This Gun." He had played bits, many of them at Paramount, in 70 or more pictures. He played roles on radio shows, before the organization of a radio actors' union, for as little as 50 cents.

He said he missed plenty of meals, too, while trying to crack Hollywood. But in four years Alan worked himself up from $35 to a $100 a day for bit roles. Casting offices liked him and he was happy.

"I never thought of playing a lead. My ambition was to become a $500 a week featured player." Stardom, he says, was Sue's idea and he frankly admits that "This Gun" was "just luck." "Any actor," he says, "could have become a star in that role."

News Behind the News The National Whirligig

WASHINGTON
By RAY TUCKER

UNIFIED—John L. Lewis—hate him or not—walked out of the closing sessions of President Truman's labor-management conference completely victorious over his foes in the administration, the Hillman-Murray and industrial groups. But he forced them to accept his demands, and the way they bowed before him was almost comical.

When Philip Murray, the C. I. O. antagonist of the United Mine Workers' chief, arose to support him, Eric A. Johnston, president of the U. S. chamber of commerce, sprang to his feet and said: "I have just seen the lion and the lamb lie down together. I don't know which is the lion or the lamb. But when the lion and the lamb of labor lie down together, management will lie down, too. We will accept Mr. Lewis's proposal."

Mr. Lewis will undoubtedly cite that "lion and lamb" allegory, with its suggestion that labor can wield its strength only if unified, when he bargains with William Green and his aides for re-entry of U. M. W. into the American Federation of Labor.

TRIUMPH—The significance of the Iowa-born Welshman's triumph lies in that the politics-labor leftists in the administration had joined with the Hillman-Murray faction to gang up on him. Originally they did not select him as a representative of the workingman, but finally they did not dare leave him out. Once he got inside the conference hall, he dominated the scene.

He was barred from membership on the original eight-man executive committee, and so were the Railway Brotherhoods. Under the initial setup the A. F. of L. and C. I. O. together with management sympathizers, if any, could have imposed their decisions on the minority of miners and railroaders. But Mr. Lewis gained participation in this unit for himself and for a representative of the Brotherhoods.

VETO—The showdown came, however, when the rules committee brought in a resolution providing that all proposals would be held binding on the conference if they received fifteen of the eighteen votes on the 18-man executive committee. As the U. M. W. and Brotherhoods had only two votes in the eighteen, this would have left them helpless in the making of final decisions.

For reasons to be explained subsequently the A. F. of L. had now aligned itself with Mr. Lewis against the administration of the C. I. O. group. So George L. Meany, secretary-treasurer of the Federation, proposed an amendment. He demanded that the decision of the fifteen-man majority should not be effective unless the miners or the railroad men were represented in that majority. In short, he insisted that the two unions should enjoy the right to veto.

UNANIMOUS—Mr. Lewis climbed to his feet at this dramatic moment. He spoke firmly and deliberately, but without any touch of the theatrics he can turn on when he chooses. Fearing that he would threaten to walk out and boycott the conference, management, government and C. I. O. listeners leaned forward in their chairs and cupped their ears.

"I know that my remarks will not change a vote," he said. "I know that the lines have been drawn. But I want to make a statement for the record. I do not intend that the United Mine Workers shall be relegated to a Class B membership in this organization. "I want you to know that, in adopting this rule, you are doing a deep injustice to two great groups of labor—miners and railroad men. Furthermore, unless our decisions are unanimous, you cannot expect them to be carried out faithfully or intelligently."

wages should be increased without increasing prices. So, I agree with Mr. Lewis and support him wholeheartedly."

Mr. Green endorsed the proposed change, and Mr. Johnston followed with his "lion and lamb" windup.

BARE—The president of the chamber may have been influenced by his suspicion that John L. Lewis would have abandoned the deliberations with a ringing defiance, if he were defeated on his proposition. For the U. M. W. leader, by winning over the A. F. of L. and the Brotherhoods to his viewpoint, demonstrated that any violent and open break would have been disastrous. By agreeing with him, the management conferred saved "face," although the powwow was virtually bare of any permanent results.

CORNER—John L.'s basic strategy throughout the proceedings was aimed at smashing the Wallace-Taylor-Hillman-Murray scheme to link the question of wages with prices and profits under government supervision. The secretary of commerce and Dr. George W. Taylor, now chairman of the war labor board, had hoped to set up another WFB to handle this problem.

"The U. M. W. boss believes that he can get more money for his men through direct bargaining with the employers. He says that he was 'burned' once when he palsied with the administration. He has finally sold that idea to the A. F. of L. and appears to have maneuvered the C. I. O. into a corner—with the willing aid of management."

If our democracy is to reveal an efficiency greater than that of communism and become attractive to the other nations of the world, we must demonstrate a democracy based on Christian ideals and Christian principles.—The Rev. Dr. George Paul T. Sargent, New York City.

TEXTILE AND THE CLOTHING SIT-DOWN

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Dirty charges and counter-charges are flying around the textile and clothing industries these days, in attempting to explain shortages which the consumers still find in the stores, three months after VJ-Day.

For over a month the Textile Workers Union has been maintaining that many of the mills were on a sellers' strike, holding back production, piling up inventories, refusing to put their goods on the market until after Jan. 1, when the excess profits taxes go off, or until mill owners get higher price ceilings from OPA.

It is almost impossible to pass on the merits of these charges. They have been freely but inconclusively discussed in the trade press. A few leaders in the textile and clothing industries have denied the charges, or declared they were greatly exaggerated in the particular branch of industry each was able to speak for.

Preliminary results of a textile survey by the Civilian Production Administration fail to show there is any evidence of stockpiling or a management sit-down in the industry, says CPA Administrator Capt. J. D. Small.

The whole question is complicated by side issues involving minimum wage and labor policies, strikes in some parts of the industry, lack of manpower, broken - down, war-weary looms that need replacement and an insatiable demand from the buying public for more, more, more of everything.

Principal points in the Textile Workers Union charges that the producers aren't producing at capacity are these:

1. Most of the Southern textile mills now are running only 40-hour shifts, refusing to pay overtime for sixth-day operation, even though the workers want it to keep up their take-home pay. It is further charged that the mills are refusing to operate the third shift because it calls for six to seven cents an hour extra pay.

To this the mills reply that there is still a shortage of labor.

2. Textile Workers Union officials say they have plenty of evidence of warehouses filled with goods being held from the market in anticipation of lower taxes and higher OPA prices.

The mill owners say, "Show us where." To which the union replies that it will give names, dates and places to a responsible congressional or OPA investigation. This answer weakens the union case considerably.

It is also weakened by first results of the Civilian Production Administration investigation. In a spot check of 25 leading mills said to be a good geographic cross-section of the industry, CPA found that mills which normally averaged a six weeks' inventory before the war now have only a two weeks' inventory. In some of the rayon yarn mills, inventories were only two or three days' supply.

At the converter and finishing mill level, CPA investigators did find that inventories of goods in process were high. Much of it was explained by the fact that there has been a strike in the New England finishing mills, and therefore the goods have not been moving.

CPA's survey of garment and clothing makers is now in process.

World Today

LONDON, Dec. 4—It is a staggering commentary on the gullibility of man, that while the British of Nuremberg are opening their war-crimes case against the 20 Nazi leaders, the English press should be blazoning reports of the discovery of a "legion of Christian reforms" who hold that Adolf Hitler was "a divine instrument sent by God to judge the world."

Such a development in Germany would be more easily understood if it admitted that some cases of hoarding inventories and refusing to sell may be found here because the industry is so scattered and so diversified. Mail order houses, for instance, have to build up stockpiles before it is safe for them to offer items in catalogues. Many firms are now making spring and summer goods, when the retail demand is for winter apparel.

3. Final point of the Textile Workers Union is that the mills' refusal to sell yarn or cloth is really part of an organized effort to force down the price of raw cotton and force down wages so that U. S. mills will be able to compete with foreign production. This is tied in with industry efforts to prevent increase of minimum wage rates from 55 to 65 cents an hour, now before congress.

Few people can understand what goes on in the world cotton market. As a farm and mill wage issue, the question is more comprehensible. But the arguments here are impossible to prove, one way or the other.

able. It is almost incredible, however, that a thing of this sort should happen in an England.

This sensation had its beginning in the purchase of a granite bust of Hitler at an auction of former German embassy furnishings in London for about $2,000.

The purchaser was Capt. R. R. Gordon-Canning, one-time member of the British union of fascists and of the Anglo-German society, "the link." He was imprisoned for two years during the war under.

It was German belief in Hitler's messianism that was partly responsible for his hynotic hold on his people. During a visit to Germany in 1938, I followed him through the fateful conferences with Chamberlain at Berchtesgarden, Goebbels and Munich, saw his regard for the Czechoslovakia's Sudetenland when he made his triumphal entry to annex this territory.

Some newspapers which formerly had couched their death-notices in language something like "He died in the faith of his Lord Jesus Christ," etc., had adopted the shocking phrase, "here died in the faith of Adolf Hitler." There were actual cases of country people prostrating themselves as the Fuehrer passed.

There is some question whether Hitler at the outset regarded himself as a messiah, although he did believe that he was divinely ordained to carry out his program. However, he encouraged the belief in his own divinity, and his captives spread this revolting creed. Ultimately, he probably came to believe that he was indeed the messiah, so colossal had become his ego.

It is estimated that New York state troopers recover nearly half a million dollars worth of stolen property annually.

Let's Look at the Wage Record

Leaders of the UAW-CIO have never accused General Motors of paying low wages.

They have not because they could not. GM hourly wage rates are substantially higher than the average for industry in general.

Under these circumstances the wage demands of UAW leaders appear fantastic.

Without offering anything in return, they demand a wage jump that would add 30% to the pay of workers already among the highest paid in the country.

In 1941, the last peacetime year, the average GM factory worker received a wage that put his income among the top one-third of all incomes in the United States—not just labor incomes but all incomes.

The average GM factory worker can buy much more food, clothing and other necessities—as well as more of the comforts of life—than the average industrial worker can.

General Motors has always paid high wages to its employes. It always expects to.

Miles said he urged that the Philippines, Hawaii, Panama and the west coast be informed immediately. He said General Marshall penciled out a message, after talking to Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations.

The Miles memorandum said that when Gen. Marshall put down the telephone, he said that "the admiral did not think any further warnings necessary, since all of the forces had already been several times alerted."
