Bids To Be Let For New Hospital

Final Plans Have Now Been Approved

The final plans for the new hospital have been approved by the State Health Department of Hospital Licensing Division in Austin. Advertising of bids will start immediately. Opening date for bids is May 6. The contracts will be let as soon as EDA and FmHA approves of the contracts.

The new construction of the hospital will cover 16,000 square feet more and 16,000 square feet will be renovated with the total being 32,000 square feet. It will approximately cost two million dollars which includes the building and equipment.

It will take approximately one year to construct the new part of the hospital. After the new construction on the building is finished, the patients will be moved into the new part and renovating on the old part of hospital will then begin. After completion, the whole exterior of both buildings will be the same.

The doctors' offices will remain in a different part of the building than the patients. The hospital will build a modern operating suite, delivery suite, a recovery room, and an intensive care unit complete with coronary care facilities. The hospital will have a 31 bed capacity.

"We had hoped we could start earlier, but things just take more time than we had anticipated," explained the hospital administrator.

Direct Dialing

During October 1976, Direct Distance Dialing will be placed into operation in ten towns served by General Telephone Company and five towns served by the co-operative companies for which General Company furnished long distance service, according to Rad Richardson, customer service manager for General.

The towns include Littlefield, Muleshoe, Amherst, Anton, Earth, Springlake, Olton, Sudan, Spade, Whitarral, Fieldton, Bula, Lariat, Lazbuddie, and Needmore.

Richardson stated that this new service represents years of planning and work on the part of General Telephone Company, Five Area Telephone Co-operative, and South Plains Telephone Co-operative. Several toll circuit systems had to be completely re-designed and expanded; central office equipment had to be added; and even some central office buildings com-

Texas Job Talk

Texas will gain at least one million jobs between now and 1985, predicts Texas Employment Commission chairman Harold K. Dudley.

"A preliminary trend projection shows that employment in Texas is expected to be over six million in 1985," Dudley said. "That's approximately one million more than are working now. Future development could result in even greater gain."

"In my estimation, Texas has the best economic potential of any state in the nation," Dudley said. "With this situation, we can expect new job opportunities in the future."

The TEC chairman cited several indications that Texas is on the upswing:

--Bureau of Census figures show that Texas has moved from fourth to third position in population among the 50 states.

County Agent Presents Crop Report

Agriculturally speaking in Bailey County, farmers are in the process of pre-watering irrigation beds and preparing for corn planting. Local producers have planted a few acres of corn and should be on the increase the first of April.

"We need a good general rain to provide two to four inches of moisture, in the top layer of the soil, before dryland farmers will be able to prepare their land for cotton and grain sorghum planting," replies County Agent, Spencer Tankley.

Recent winds have caused more damage to dryland wheat and many acres will probably be plowed up, due to drought, high wind damage, sand damage and poor stands.

Bailey County Students On Dean's Honor List

SAN MARCOS -- Two Bailey County residents were among the 3,400 Southwest Texas State University students whose grades earned them places on the fall semester Dean's Honor and Superior Honor Lists.

Local students whose scholastic averages placed them on the honor roll include Edward A. Clawson of Rt. 1 Box 157, Baileyboro, and Larry E. Neutzler, Box 15, Maple.

Placement on the regular honors list requires that a student be enrolled for a minimum of 12 semester hours of course work, excluding physical education activities, and that at least an overall "B" average is achieved.

The top academic listing, the Superior Dean's Honor List, requires grades of "A" in at least 12 of the required 15-hours of course work, and no lower than a "B" in the other three-hour course. Inclusion on the superior honor list requires a 3.8 grade-point average or above on a four-point scale.

Undergraduate courses only are considered in the list's tabulation. "I" grades -- a designation used to indicate incomplete course work -- earned also disqualifies students from the scholastic honor rolls.

NATIONAL LIBRARY WEEK... During the week of April 4-10 has been declared as National Library Week. L to R are Mrs. Anne Camp, librarian, Mrs. Mildred Neeley, President of the Study Club who is sponsoring the book sale, Centered is Judge Williams signing the proclamation making the week, April 4-10 as National Library Week, in the Muleshoe area.

Disease Resistant Varieties Important

COLLEGE STATION -- Disease control in the home garden begins with the use of disease resistant varieties rather than spraying plants with a particular fungicide, contends the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Use of disease resistant varieties may be the only means of controlling some diseases and can eliminate the need for later fungicide applications. Fusarium wilt of tomatoes is an example of a disease that can be controlled only by resistant varieties.

Although resistance is not available for all diseases, this factor should be considered when available. Homeowners often feel that if the plant is resistant, it will never have the disease. This is not true. There are degrees of resistance, as with pink root of onions. A pink root resistant variety may have 10 to 15 percent damage and produce a crop with a susceptible variety will have 90 percent damage and not produce a crop. The pink root still occurs in the resistant variety but only to a minor degree so that a crop is still produced. If a variety never has a particular disease, then it is immune. Immunity is difficult to obtain.

You can BANK on It!

Bill Loyd, President
Muleshoe State Bank

It can be truly said that banking in America was born of the Revolution. For most of the struggle for independence, the lack of money often posed a greater danger than the British armies and navy.

The year 1780 started ominously for the colonies. To fight the war, the country had almost exhausted its resources and finances through lotteries and loans, and Congress found that its paper money was virtually worthless.

A group of Philadelphia citizens decided to undertake a salvaging action, and on June 8, 1780 they founded the Bank of Philadelphia. While the bank began rather modestly, the same group initiated a larger subscription for 300,000 Pounds (the Colonies still were using Pounds, instead of dollars; that would come later) after the fall of Charleston to the British.

Its money bought beef, flour, pork, salt, sugar, rum and other supplies for the Continental army. By the time the bank wound up its business in late 1784, it had provided the army with some one million rations.

"The more you know about our business, the more we can help you!"

Mr. and Mrs. Beadles will be honored with a reception at the District Annual Banquet to be held Saturday, April 10 at the Lamb County Agriculture Center.

Fireblight Control In Pears

COLLEGE STATION -- A sudden wilting and browning of new growth on pear tree twig tips means the trees are probably infected with fireblight.

Fireblight is a bacterial disease that can severely damage and even kill pear trees, points out the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. And the disease has been on the increase in Texas.

Fireblight bacteria overwinter in holdover cankers on limbs and large branches. Cankered areas are darker than the surrounding healthy bark and usually sunken and rough. During warm, moist, spring weather, a brownish, sticky liquid oozes from the cankers. The liquid is filled with bacteria which can be carried by wind, rain and insects to succulent growth on the same or nearby trees.

The first step in controlling the disease is to locate the holdover cankers and cut them out. Disinfect the wounds with a solution of one part household bleach to nine parts water and then cover with a tree wound paint. Also, use the solution to disinfect the knife or pruning tools between cuts.

Next, cut off the brown, dead portion of each twig at least eight inches below the infection. Again, dip the pruning tool in the bleach solution between cuts to avoid spreading the bacteria.

Remove all the pruned material from the area and burn it.

To reduce susceptibility to fireblight next year, be careful not to overfertilize with nitrogen. Too much nitrogen causes lush, succulent growth which is easily invaded by fireblight bacteria.

pletely replaced including all switching equipment.

"As further development takes place, our customers will be informed as to additional details," added Richardson.

Also, avoid heavy pruning. This, too, promotes lush growth as well as encourages the growth of waterspouts which are susceptible to fireblight infection. Waterspouts are vigorous, upright shoots that arise from the trunk or main branches. They should be removed as they appear and the area disinfected and covered with tree paint.

Copper bordeaux spray will help reduce fireblight spread. Copper bordeaux is usually applied at petal fall and at 10-day intervals for three applications. Be sure to follow label directions closely.

Ford welcomes Richardson as Commerce Secretary.

National Rural Health Week Set April 4-10

COLLEGE STATION -- "Improving the Quality of Rural Life Through Better Health" is the theme of National Rural Health Week, April 4-10, which is being sponsored in Texas by the American Medical Association and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Aim of National Rural Health Week is to focus attention of the medical profession and the public on rural America's health needs," points out Jack Jones, resource development specialist for the Extension Service. "Furthermore, the week aims to motivate rural citizens to become more health conscious and to improve rural-urban cooperation in health care issues."

The need for rural health care in Texas is "desperate" for many small Texas communities, notes Jones. The woes are several, from lack of proper equipment in hospitals to not even having a hospital or a doctor for many, many miles.

"Statistically, health care in Texas is in critical condition," points out the Texas A&M University System specialist. A 1970 study by the Office of Comprehensive Health Planning in Texas found the average physician-to-population ratio for rural areas of the state to be one doctor per 1,467 persons. The osteopath-to-population ratio for rural Texas was found to be one per 11,806. In June, 1973, 17 Texas counties with a total population of 29,004 were without physicians, according to the Texas Medical Association.

Jones cites other facts to illustrate the need for rural health care in Texas. In January, 1967, the federal government under the Medicare program classified 248 hospitals in small towns as "7-C" facilities, indicating they were either understaffed or underequipped. In June, 1973, the number of "7-C" hospitals had been reduced to 63, largely because 101 hospitals closed when they could not meet federal standards.

Statistics also reveal the urgent need for improved emergency health care, says the specialist.

A 1972 survey by the Texas State Health Resource's Civil Defense and Traffic Safety Division showed 29 Texas counties without emergency rooms and 13 counties without ambulance service. The survey also showed about 20 percent, or more than 2.25 million Texans in 178 counties, have neither local, county or state public health programs.

During National Rural Health Week Jones urges Texans to familiarize themselves with the National Health Planning and Resources Development Act of 1974 (Public Law 93-641) and the 12 newly formed health service areas in Texas. These areas are designed to provide better delivery of health care for both rural and urban Texas.

Citizen understanding and involvement in these regional health care planning organizations should result in improved delivery of medical services to the Texas citizenry.

Life is too short to be wasted trying to please other people.

Rural Residents Get Emphasis On Health

Rural residents suffer many health problems urban dwellers do not have to face. Chronic, activity-limiting disease is suffered by 16.5 percent of all persons in rural areas nationwide, compared to only 9.8 percent of urban citizens. Farmers, rated as the third most dangerous occupational group, also face particular problems. Per 1,000 population, rural residents also face a greater danger of suffering seriously disabling accidents.

Governor Dolph Briscoe has proclaimed the week of April 4 as Texas Rural Health Week to help emphasize the health problems of rural Texans and the continuing efforts to meet their needs.

The Texas Medical Association says the TMA is working to attract more physicians to rural areas through doctor placement services and recruiting medical students for service after graduation. Dr. Joel Johnson, a Brenham (pop. 8,900) physician who is chairman of TMA's Committee on Rural Health, said physicians realize the need for increased rural medical service, especially to the approximately 25,900 people (two-tenths of a percent of the state population) without a doctor of any kind in their counties. Dr. Johnson also said TMA is cooperating with other agencies to update and eventually establish more top-notch emergency and long-term care services throughout the state.

HECE Students Honored By Employers

quently, the student with a lower rating may be doing a better job. All evaluation in class and on the job, is highly individualized." Mrs. Gramling feels that the course is valuable in meeting the immediate needs of the students. "As a teacher I'm always trying to find new ways to help students. Every year is new and different and I hope to do more than before."

HECE PROGRAM TRAINS STUDENTS TIPS FOR SUCCESS - Mrs. Wanda Gramling, teacher coordinator for Muleshoe High School's Home Economics Cooperative Education program (HECE), prepares junior and senior students for gainful employment. Students enrolled in HECE attend class one hour each day and work a minimum of 15 hours each week. Jobs are approved by the Texas Education Agency and are related to home economics. Home Economics Cooperative Education (HECE), currently in its fifth year in Muleshoe has been added to vocational home economics classes to train students for gainful employment. According to the Texas Education Agency (TEA), HECE is designed to provide related classroom instruction and on-the-job training for high school students preparing to enter employment in occupations requiring knowledge and skills in one or more home economics subject areas. Mrs. Wanda Gramling, supervisor of vocational home economics for Muleshoe, says HECE is offered to juniors and seniors to build on the skills they may have had prior to enrolling in HECE.

Mrs. Wanda Gramling, who began teaching HECE when it was started in Muleshoe, says to qualify for HECE, the students are screened. To qualify, a student must be a junior and 16 years of age, be responsible, and not have too many absences. "About two-thirds of these students do not go on to college," says Mrs. Gramling. "The course prepares students for employment, and many times after they get into a job, they can see where college will be helpful."

The teacher coordinator explained that the students attend class for one hour each day and work a minimum of 15 hours each week. "While in the classroom, we have employers speak and give tips for interviews talk of the importance of first impressions and filling out applications," says Mrs. Gramling. Other things discussed in class, she says, are job success, attitudes, personal qualities and business etiquette. "Money management is stressed. We took a field trip to a bank and some students opened an account. We fill out income tax forms. The class keeps a record of his or her expenditures."

Each individual sets up their own values and goals and try to accomplish them through good time management and self-discipline. "Through this class, students gain more maturity and learn to accept responsibility more than on other classes," says Mrs. Gramling. The teacher coordinator is responsible for finding employers who will cooperate with the program and sending the right student for the right job interview. "The hardest job I have is getting the student placed on the right job," says Mrs. Gramling. "There's a place for everyone - it's just a matter of finding it."

When HECE was started in Muleshoe High School, only six areas of employment were available. Now the TEA has approved 18 occupation for HECE students.

Some of these jobs are child care aide, clothing assistant, companion to elderly, consumer aide, fabric coordinator, fashion coordinator, floral designer, food service employee, physical fitness assistant, etc.

"The service they perform are related to skills taught in the home economics class," says Mrs. Gramling.

"During the afternoons I visit with the employers and observe students on the job. Most employers are very understanding and want to help the students. I'm amazed at their patience."

Each employer must fill out an evaluation sheet for the type of job the student is performing. It rates the student on his attitude, cooperation, ability and dependability.

A teacher has to know the employer to understand what he means by his evaluation. Some employers take more time and thought with the evaluation sheet whereas others just mark excellent for everything. Conse-

Feedlots Detect 76 Prices

COLLEGE STATION - Cattle feedlots will play a dominant role throughout 1976 in determining prices of fed and feeder cattle.

That's the contention of Dr. Ernest Davis, livestock marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Fed cattle supplies have increased in recent months and continued growth will add further to this year's beef supplies, thus depressing prices, points out Davis.

Cattle going on feed last September were a whopping 87 percent above the previous year. During the last quarter of 1975, cattle placements were up 27 percent from the previous year while cattle on feed on January 1 showed an increase of 28 percent above January 1, 1975.

What has brought about this resurgence in cattle feeding industry?

"The main reason," says Davis, "is that cattle feeding has become profitable once again. Not only has the market for fed beef improved but feeding costs have declined due to a large feed grain crop last year. Also, many feeder cattle went directly into feedlots during the winter due to the lack of grazing on wheat pastures."

More recently, fed cattle prices have declined under pressure of a larger supply of fed beef and continued high cow slaughter. Presently, fed cattle prices are below break-even cost levels again, and this should slow cattle placements for a few weeks, notes the Texas A&M University specialist.

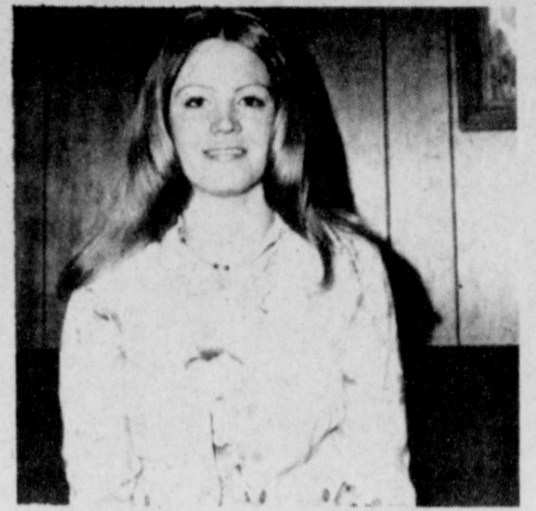

"Cow and non-fed cattle slaughter, however, is expected to seasonally decline this spring so the beef industry will be more dependent on feedlots for beef supplies. This should boost Choice fed cattle prices this spring. And continued pressure on feed grain prices should stimulate more cattle feeding," believes Davis.

Of course, there is always the problem of expanding too quickly. If fed cattle marketings exceed 6.2 or 6.3 million head per quarter during the last half of 1976, beef supplies will be at record levels. This will push prices below $40 per hundredweight. On the other hand, if feedlot operators are cautious and market cattle in an orderly fashion, fed cattle prices should hold up fairly well, contends the specialist.

Services For Mrs. Raymond

Funeral services will be held for Mrs. Mabel Raymond at 3:00 p.m., Saturday, April 3, in the First Baptist Church, with the Rev. Charles Harvey, of Muleshoe and the Rev. J.E. Meeks, pastor officiating.

Mrs. Mabel Raymond died around 9:00 a.m., April 1, in the Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. She was 69 and had been a resident of Muleshoe for the last two years, having moved here from Corona, Calif.

She was born August 29, 1906 in Goodnight. She was a retired hospital dietician and a member of the First Baptist Church of Muleshoe.

Graveside services will be at 3:00 Tuesday, afternoon in the Sunnyslope Cemetery in Corona, Calif. Local arrangements were made by Singleton-Ellis Funeral Home of Muleshoe.

Survivors include one son, Bobby, of Muleshoe; and one daughter, Mrs. Claudetta McClain, of Corona, Calif.; two sisters, Mrs. Margaret Epting, of Muleshoe and Mrs. Jewel Perry, of Blythe, Calif.; five brothers, Burrett Black, Ralph Black, Ray Black, Pete Black and Eugene Black, all of Muleshoe and two grandchildren.

You can travel a thousand miles and you won't find any better people than those living around you right now.

The Republican party, like the Democratic, has room for two schools of thought; but some of the teachers may need replacements.

PIRATES NEAR?

The jolly roger, the ancient flag of the pirates, threw fear into every ship that sailed the high seas. These armed robbers sought to raid every ship they came across. None was safe when they were near.

The Bible teaches that there is a devil called Satan who is a robber and a thief, who "goes about like a roaring lion seeking whom he may devour." (1 Peter 5:8) But when the pirate threatens, we need not be afraid. We are encouraged by Romans 8:38 & 39: "For I am persuaded, that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come; nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord."

Our faith in Christ can overcome Satan's fiery darts. Through Him we can overcome all. We invite you to attend the Church of our Lord this week.

For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also
