Community Planning Studied at College

AUSTIN, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Community planning, defined as "simply looking ahead" is under the scrutiny here of about 150 community leaders and university professors from over the state.

The conference, sponsored by the University of Texas, at the request of several communities, proposes to find out what is worrying the communities of Texas and how to go about solving the problems.

Walter T. Rolfe, professor of architecture at the university, listed some of the considerations for community planning as follows: Land use and erosion control; population trends; tax structure and income; highway and traffic flow; transportation, public works, recreation, tourism, education, health, government revision, building code revision, industrial and war industries development, reconversion of war housing to postwar use.

Movie Industry Is Strike-Beset

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 6.—(AP)—The platinum plated movie industry, which hasn't had a Grade-A strike since 1937, was keeping its well-manufactured fingers crossed today after the outbreak of a union jurisdictional squabble which, all parties agreed, could possibly tip the whole picture making business.

The row, which flared into the open yesterday when more than 200 workers participated in a walkout, is between two AFL groups—the screen set designers local of the painters, decorators and paperhangers of America, and the international alliance of theatrical stage employees.

At issue is jurisdiction over the set decorators, the workers responsible in part for the lavish settings in which actors and actresses amuse.

The association of motion picture producers issued a statement last night declaring the work stoppage "threatens to halt entirely the making of pictures by all studios, thus throwing many thousands of employees out of work."

The walkout was called at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, one of Hollywood's largest studios, by Herbert Sorrell, president of the conference of studio unions which claims to represent some 8,000 workers.

Sorrell said the move was taken just to prove quickly who had jurisdiction over the set decorators. A meeting of the set designers has been called for today, he said, and of the painters Sunday, adding it is possible that strike votes will be taken.

If these groups vote to strike, Sorrell asserted, similar ballots will be taken by the eight other unions affiliated with the conference of studio unions.

Man Gets 6 Months, Fine in Draft Case

ABILENE, Texas, Oct. 6.—(AP)—A federal district court jury yesterday found Jack Taylor Davis, 25, guilty of violating the selective service act, a charge made in connection with an attack made on a draft board chairman here last Aug. 31.

Davis said he sought deferment because he is the father of four children and that a fifth child was expected. Davis was fined $300 and sentenced to six months in a correctional institution.

Sam Rayburn Returns Home for Short Rest

DALLAS, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Texas) returns to his Bonham, Texas, home today for a rest before going to Washington Oct. 25 to take part in direction of the democratic party's congressional campaign.

In an interview with the News yesterday, Rayburn stated that a victory for Roosevelt will mean gains for democrats in the house of representatives if political trends of the administration hold up in November.

"Every time President Roosevelt has run, we have gained strength in congress," he said.

Communism Given Cold Shoulder in Roosevelt Speech

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, saying his Republican opponents are spreading "fear propaganda" in stalling his administration is plotting to give the communists control of the government, disowned communistic support in his fourth term bid in a radio address last night.

Employing such spiced phrases as "rabble rousers," "political propagandists" and "bigots," Mr. Roosevelt declared:

"I have never sought, and I do not welcome the support of any person or group committed to communism or fascism, or any other foreign ideology which would undermine the American system of government or the American system of free competitive enterprise and private property."

The Democratic candidate emphasized that this "does not in the least interfere" with the Soviet's friendly relations with the Soviet Union, adding "the kind of economy that suits the Russian people is their own affair."

He devoted a large part of his second campaign speech—designed primarily as a "get out the vote" appeal—to references to communism in opposition speeches. He did not mention names, but said it was a source of regret to all decent Americans that some political propagandists are dragging red herding across the trail of this national election.

"For example," he asserted, "labor baiters and bigots and some politicians use the term 'communism' loosely and apply it to every progressive social measure and to the views of every foreign born citizen with whom they disagree."

"They forget that we in the United States are all descended from immigrants (all except the Indians); and there is no better proof of that fact than the heroic names on our casualty lists."

The President referred to a statement by Chairman Anderson (D-NM) of the House committee on campaign expenditures that 13 Republican

Davis Says 'Arnhem Affair' Upset Plan

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—(AP)—The failure of allied airborne troops at Arnhem, in the opinion of OWI Director Elmer Davis, makes "more remote" the chances of victory in Europe this year.

Davis said the "Arnhem affair" had made out of date an office of war information report which had predicted Germany would go down "before, or not long after, the end of 1944."

He referred to the heroic 11-day struggle to hold a bridgehead across the Rhine at Arnhem, Holland, against superior forces.

"Everybody agrees," Davis told reporters yesterday, that the defeat of the heroic airborne division makes German collapse "more remote" than when our report was put together "three weeks ago."

The report was not intended for publication, but it "leaked" after 8,000 copies were prepared and some 4,000 were distributed to persons in the advertising business.

Forecasts that 5,000,000 workers would change jobs after V-day in Europe, and that German collapse would bring "widespread and in some quarters serious" dislocations in civilian life were made in the OWI report.

While a substantial part of the displaced workers will be absorbed in the task of re-converting industry, the survey said that "in most cases a war job will continue to be the best job for at least six months after V-E day."

Intended to guide advertisers in planning their future campaigns in behalf of the war effort, the survey said inflationary pressures would increase after V-E day and "price controls" accordingly may be continued for quite some time. The need for heavy government borrowing will continue, it was said.

On rationing, the survey gave these as probable trends following V-E day:

Butter and sugar—probably will remain rationed.

Cheese, fats, milk and cream, and better grade meats—short supplies for first six months, with rationing uncertain, but plentiful thereafter.

Processed foods, fresh fruits and vegetables—adequate supplies without rationing.

Shoes—Rationing will continue; other clothing will be short of civilian need.

Gasoline—Very gradual easing over several-month period.

Fuel oil—Rationing next winter as well as this.

Passenger car tires—Rationing terminated within 3 months.

Speaker Says We Should Begin Now Plans for Postwar World

Pampa Lions in regular luncheon meeting Thursday heard the Rev. Robert Boshen, Presbyterian minister, spiritual character in cooperation with physical planning.

Rev. Boshen based his observations on the first spoken word of Christ according to the writing of Matthew, quoting, "Repent ye now, for the Kingdom of God is at hand."

In taking these words for interpretation, Rev. Boshen gave the Greek meaning to the word "repent," which is "primary meaning equals, 'change of mind.'"

With this as a cue, Rev. Boshen unfolded a plan based upon the spiritual frame of mind of the average citizen and his part in the plans of the post-war world.

As example for treatment of our enemies of the world, comparison was made with the latest treatment of wounds of fighting men on the battlefields. Citing the use of leaving wounds open with only iodine, and no wrapping of the irritated part, combined with rest, relaxation and quiet, that the wounds healed easier and more completely. Summing this example into a phrase, "We should treat those war wounds of our enemies in the same fashion, leaving the wounds open and handle them in a gentle manner and not wrap the wound to give the opportunity of the wrapping again to irritate the wound," Rev. Boshen, however, did not leave lax thoughts in the minds of the membership, on the treatment of the vicious leaders of the enemies, stating that he

Yard-by-Yard Gain Made by Infantry

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press War Editor

Under a flaming Nazi armored counterattack U. S. First army troops withdrew today from Beggendorf, and heavy battles raged along the front as the Germans hurled themselves against a Siegfried line breach now up to two miles wide and almost four miles inside the Reich.

Entered by the Americans yesterday, Beggendorf is a little more than a mile east of captured Ubach, upon which the Germans continued to pour heavy artillery fire. The Americans were within rifle range of a fortress-like cluster of four-story barracks buildings on the road southeast of Ubach.

The fighting in this fifth day of the great assault on the Westwall ranked with the bitterest and bloodiest of the entire invasion, a front dispatch said. The infantry fought yard by yard through pillboxes against Germans ordered to fight or die.

Half of Peloponnesus Taken

Allied land forces of the Adriatic have sealed off the entrance to the Gulf of Corinth in their Greek invasion by capturing the fortified port of Rion, Allied headquarters announced today. Official Greek reports indicated that more than half the Peloponnesus was securely in the hands of British troops and Greek patriots.

Greek Premier George Papandreou said in a statement that a minister of his cabinet had visited Tripolis where "security battalions"—Greeks fighting on the side of the Germans—had "surrendered to British officers without any skirmish."

Tripolis, in the east central Peloponnesus, is 60 miles southwest of captured Patrai on the Gulf of Corinth and 75 miles southwest of Athens.

Rion was overwhelmed in an eastward advance along the Gulf of Corinth from Patrai.

The Greek announcement also said the government member, landing from the island of Kythera, off Greece's south coast, also had visited Kalamai on the southwest coast.

This indicated the territory intervening between Kalamai and Tripolis was virtually free of Germans.

The Germans concentrated the heaviest artillery fire they have thus far been able to muster against the Americans, in an effort to hold them back from the Aachen-Gladbach road, a mile and a half away. A savage engagement raged south of Ubach, where tank-supported Nazi infantry, backed by artillery, staged a counterattack.

Allies Again Take to Air

Weather cleared over the sector and Allied planes roared to the attack in one of the closest air support missions yet flown in the sector.

The Americans have widened their breach in the Siegfried line north of Aachen, bulging their salient for a mile and a quarter below the advance line from Ubach to Beggendorf, and ahead of them mighty tank engagements raged on the Cologne plain.

On the Third army front two flanking forts blasted the thin American hold on Fort Driant, key bastion before Metz. The Nazis followed on all-night barrage with a strong counter-attack against the Yanks, who have fought a bitter five-day struggle to root the garrison from the underground hideouts.

Texas Regulars Map Campaign

AUSTIN, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Five regional leaders in a campaign to "store the integrity of the Democracy" today by the executive committee of the newly-organized Texas regulars.

The committee in an all-day session emphasized that they were the "Regular Texas Democrats" and planned to campaign for their electors in every precinct in the state.

Their electors names will be printed on the ballot in the Texas regular column, and the campaign seeks to draw Democratic voters opposed to re-nomination of Roosevelt.

Five regional campaign managers, to work under State Manager Merritt H. Gibson, were: E. B. Germany, of Dallas, northeast; W. Bedford Brown of Fort Worth, northwest; Wright Morrow of Houston, southeast; John Wheeler of San Antonio, southwest; Roy Sanderford of Belton, central.

Lamar Fleming of Houston was named finance committee chairman; Sanderford, publicity committee chairman; W. A. Moncrief of Fort Worth, radio committee chairman.

A statement of principles was read to the session by Sanderford:

1. Restore to the Democratic party the integrity which has been taken away by Hillman, Browder, et al.
2. Protect honest labor unions from foreign-born racketeers who have gained control by blackmail.
3. Return state's rights which have been destroyed by the communist-controlled new deal.
4. Restore freedom of education.
5. Restore supremacy of the white race, which has been destroyed.

By RUTH MILLETT

A southern city recently lifted its ban on married high school students and among the girls with husbands who decided to go on with their education were several service wives—one the wife of a lieutenant colonel.

It took a war to lift the ban—once it has been lifted there, and possibly in other cities, it should stay lifted.

Because the girl who marries when young needs an education just as badly as do single girls her age. She needs to be educated so that she will be a better mother if she has children. She needs an education as personal insurance against the time when she might have to earn her own living. She needs an education in order to have a richer, fuller life of her own.

GIVE HER A CHANCE.

And—as is brought out in the case of the student married to a lieutenant colonel in the army—she may need an education in order to be able to keep pace with her husband's position in life.

If a girl is kicked out of a public school simply because she has taken on the responsibilities of womanhood we aren't giving her a fair chance to make a success of her life and of her marriage.

Such girls ought to be encouraged to go to school, and to specialize in homemaking courses, instead of being turned away.

Footwear With a Future

NEW YORK—Platform soles, new patterns, colors and high heels are due back on the footwear counters soon. Thanks to a let-up on restrictions, these additions to shoe wardrobes are to be allowed, and manufacturers can prove that no additional labor or materials are needed.

This is all good news, but loudly cheered by most, is the promise of the return of platform-soled shoes—soles will be felt and will be covered with something besides leather—because this clunky-looking shoe faked for so many reasons.

Put on a pedestal, a girl can feel as tall as a goddess. The cushioned feeling underfoot in platforms is literally a shock absorber.

But don't start storming shoe stores now, asking for platforms or for new unrestricted styles and colors. At top center and top right are two styles of black suede shoes with felt platforms belting. The low-trimmed, open-toed model has a high spike heel covered with a black fallie type and one-inch platform, while the one at top right has a platform sole one-half inch thick and a square heel.

In the meantime, there are available plenty of contenders for your unspent stamp in dressy suedes, calfskin brogues and classic pumps, walking shoes of suede or bucko, which will hold their own with new patterns to come.

The three shown are designed by Mabel Julinelli. Her designing partner and husband, Charles Julinelli, now in uniform, sends new design ideas in his letters.

Top left is a dressy suede sandal in brown or black with new fashion interest in buckle medallion of bronze-colored or jet beads, surrounded by fallie ruffling.

Lower left is the apple of the Julinelli eye—the sports perambulator—of unlined suede or bucko with trick seaming and a vamp that ends in a peak and is trimmed with perforated saddle tabs.

Stimson Releases Casualty Figures

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Secretary of War Stimson reported yesterday that army casualties on all fronts were 351,293 September 21. The latest navy casualty figure of 63,702 brought the total for the armed services to 417,085.

The campaign in Italy, Stimson said, cost 32,111 ground force casualties.

Stimson's overall army total was up 13,560 from his last report of two weeks ago for the period ended September 6. The 351,293 was divided as follows: 68,868 killed, 185,921 wounded; 45,888 missing and 51,316 prisoners.

The navy casualties: total 65,792; killed 25,963, wounded 26,588, missing 9,761, prisoners 4,480.

Stimson said that 48,379 of the army wounded have returned to duty.

The separate report on Italian campaign casualties did not include air force personnel losses. It showed 15,889 killed, 56,178 wounded and 10,944 missing as of September 25.

FOUR YEARS IN HITLER'S GRAY PAREE

Life Was Made Difficult by Maze of Regulations, and Everything Was Gradually Changed From Bad to Worse

(This is the last of three articles about life in Paris under German rule. Its author is a prominent journalist who lived in Paris throughout the occupation. His name cannot be disclosed because he still has relatives living in German-held lands.)

Written for NEA Service
PARIS, Oct. 6—This is what it was like for the average family in Paris by the time the occupation had reached its third winter. Reading about this life, it will seem incredibly different from pre-war Paris. It was incredibly different.

To the Parisians themselves, however, many of the changes came so slowly as to be hardly noticeable. One small restriction gradually was enlarged . . . another small restriction was added, and in time was enlarged. Eventually life was bound up in a maze of rules and regulations of which the average Parisian was often scarcely conscious.

UP BEFORE DAWN
"Out of bed, boy. It's half past seven. Time to line up for the bread before you start for school." This was how the day started for Andre Durand, aged 7, by the winter of 1943.

Andre found it hard to get out of bed in the middle of the night. The Germans had advanced the Paris time two hours in order that its clocks should have the same "European" time as East Prussia. The house was cold, for there was no fuel for heating. The discomfort of going out in the dark was increased by the fact that there were no batteries for Andre's flashlight.

Basically, however, Andre was a happy boy. He did not miss the cakes and ice cream and chocolate and bananas he would have enjoyed

A common scene during the German occupation of Paris: school children collecting old clothes to be sent to French soldiers imprisoned in camps in France and Germany.

If he had reached the age of 7 in a world at peace. He had never tasted them and did not know what he missed.

Andre had fun, of sorts. He had distinguished himself in his class at school collecting horse chestnuts in the Paris parks. War-soap was made of them. Now he and his comrades were busy collecting old iron, paper, money for "solidarity bonds" for Marshal Petain, clothes for refugees. School had become an organized rag shop. Study was neglected.

STATUES MELTED DOWN
Once Andre had started for school, Madam Durand began to stand in one line after another, getting food for dinner. Today, the butcher shop at which she was registered was going to make its first distribution in three weeks—at one-quarter pound of meat per person.

Mr. Durand used to have a clerk's job in an advertising firm. With the occupation, he had to change jobs because the universal business principle was not customers but merchandise. Luckily for Mr. Durand, hundreds of thousands of others who lost their pre-war jobs, Vichy had a gigantic industrial bureaucracy in Paris, and Mr. Durand found work there.

All French economic life was to be fashioned by Vichy into a corporate state, built on fascist models. For each of 156 branches of industry there was to be a corporation. This corporation controlled the production, distribution and sale of all raw materials within the industry and its finished products outside. Inevitably, the big firms ruled the corporations, squeezing their small "partner" firms out of business.

"To get to work, Mr. Durand took the subway at Victor Hugo station. The author's famous statue had been taken away long ago to be melted down for cannon. Killing to work, Mr. Durand thought over the advisability of bartering for some red wine, two copper candlesticks which he had inherited from his grandmother. The Germans offered a litre of wine for every 200 grams of copper. It was a temptation. Before the war the Durand family used to drink a litre of wine a day. Now they were lucky if they got one every five days.

NAZIS CENSORED SHOWS
Women were luckier. They could buy various artificial materials without coupons. About 50 of the leading couturiers, their international corporation controlled both by the German and Vichy authorities, received small amounts of wool and silk to enable them to continue their seasonal showings. The Nazi plan called for Vienna to be the center of fashion, however, and French models could not be exported to any European country.

The family dinner was small, depending on the day's shopping luck and whether a parcel arrived from Durand's sister in Normandy. Bread was scarce and inferior; there was almost never butter or oil, seldom meat.
After dinner the Durands usually stayed home. About once a week they went to a movie, carefully avoiding the German films. Once in a long time they went to a cabaret. The shows had always to be approved by the German censors. But often these revues were salted with double meaning jokes, and the Durands roared with laughter at innocent-seeming remarks whose subtle anti-German laughter had escaped dull censorious ears.

To the Parisians, however, there was little gaiety in Gay Paree during the four endless years of the occupation.
EVER SEE A DOG FISH IN A TYKE SPOT?
FRESNO LAKE, Mont.—(P)—John Bradley weighs in with this fish yarn: "We were out fishing the other day and they weren't biting, so I got interested in a little tyke, dangle a bamboo rod over the side of a boat. I watched him lose interest, eat a sandwich, nod off to sleep. Then, shortly I saw his rod zig-zagging crazily and my Springer spaniel, 'Duke,' splashed in pursuit. Duke caught the rod in his mouth, played this fish out and swam ashore with a hooked, three-and-one-half-pound rainbow trout. Who got the fish—well, who caught it?"

Veteran Must Be Careful if He Wants To Keep National Insurance Policy

(Editor's Note: This is the sixth in a series on veterans' benefits ranging from demobilization to job and pensions.)

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, Oct. 6—(P)—Here are things for a veteran—and his family—to remember to do when he returns home after his discharge from the service:

GOVERNMENT INSURANCE
He'll probably want to keep his national service life insurance in force. This insurance he got in the army. It runs up to $10,000. If it expires, he won't be able to buy similar protection for himself and family for the same cost.

TO KEEP IT UP
Pay the premiums direct. (In the army he may have paid it direct out of his pay.) He should make his check or money order payable to the treasurer of the United States and mail it to the collection subdivision, veterans' administration, Washington, 25, D. C. He can arrange to make the payments monthly, quarterly, every six months, or once a year.

His insurance originally was issued on what is called the five-year-level-premium-term. Before those five years are up he can convert it into ordinary life insurance, 20-payment life, or 30-payment life.

The new policy will have a regular cash value after the first year. Then he can borrow from it if necessary. If he wishes to change his beneficiary, he should write the Director of Insurance, Veterans' Administration, Washington, D. C.

PRIVATE INSURANCE
Maybe, when he went into the service, he had private life insurance and arranged to have the government protect it for him by guaranteeing the premiums.

If so, when he leaves the service he should have the government premiums must be brought up to date, with interest, within two years after his discharge. His insurance company or the veterans' administration will answer any questions for him.

LEGAL PROTECTION
The soldiers' and sailors' civil relief act generally protects servicemen and women up to six months after their discharge by making it possible for the courts to suspend enforcement of certain civil liabilities.

ties during that time.
In some cases federal and state laws provide for adjustment of tax payments by veterans. For information on federal income tax and other federal taxes, the veteran should go to the nearest office of the collector of internal revenue. His own state tax commission at the state capital will answer questions about state income tax and other state taxes.

Every veteran has a serial service or file number. He should keep a record of it and of other records—such as originals or legal copies of necessary papers—in a safe place where they can be found.

The reason for care with papers: Claims and requests for benefits will usually require certain information, such as his serial number, details of his discharge, and, in some cases, proof of the relationship of dependents.

The most important records are the following: Army or marine corps serial number, navy service or file number, coast guard service number, discharge papers, disability claim—"C"—number, insurance policies, social security card, birth certificates of himself and family, marriage certificate, divorce decrees, last will and testament, and selective service registration card.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Trouble Often Starts at Home

Read the other day where some folks have put up $100,000 to establish a bureau to combat intolerance and prejudice.

Reckon we all agree that that's a mighty worthy cause. But I wonder if tolerance, like so many other things, doesn't begin at home.

You take a family where Ma objects to hubby's smoking in the parlor; and Pa can't stand his wife's hats; and they both yell at Sis for liking to listen to swing music—and you've got the seeds of trouble! Trouble that spreads to intolerance among neighbors, and intolerance among nations.

From where I sit, you can put your faith in the family that lives and lets live—where Pa enjoys his smoke and maybe a mellow glass of beer or two; and Ma wears funny looking hats and Hikes 'em; and Sis grows up as healthfully full of spirits as a child should be.

Harvesters Ready For Game Against Quannah Tonight

Pampa Uses Same Line That Opposed Sooners

AT EXACTLY 8 o'clock tonight the Harvesters will begin their fourth game on home soil in the 1944 grid season when they match their "flying trapeze" and "T" formation plays against an undefeated, unscored on Quannah Indian squad.

Which team will win tonight's classic is hard to decide. Quannah has enjoyed a 26 to 0 victory over the Hollis, Okla., gridsters last Friday night and defeated Crowell by a score of 13 to 0 the week before.

Both teams are using the "T" formation, but the Harvesters have an ace up their sleeve in the flying trapeze. The ball in this play is everywhere but where the opponents think it, and it shall be recalled the Harvesters used it against the Midland Bulldogs rather successfully.

Coach Bill Howarth has announced a "light starting line against the Harvesters, but Harvester scouts saw Quannah take the Hollis team for a grand smudging, and came back to Pampa to report that from 10 to 15 pounds could be added to each player.

Pampa will start the game tonight with the same team that opposed the fast and hard-hitting Cardinals from Oklahoma City last Friday night. Pampa, in the case of the Cardinals was the underdog, but exhibited excellent football when they successfully held that heavy team to a scoreless game until the last few minutes of play in the fourth quarter when the Cardinals' all-American high school fullback, Les Ming, broke loose for a 42-yard gain. Fans were kept on edge throughout three downs of play before Ming finally gained the one and a half yard to goal through the Harvesters' line.

The Harvesters have played great ball in their three games this season, but tonight fans will see something new for Coach Coffey has announced that his team is clicking, and that is exactly what he means.

Passing defenses and punting have been the two factors practiced by the Harvesters this week, and Coach Coffey has announced that his team has shown more improvement this week than in any week preceding.

The same officials that officiated over the Cardinal-Harvester game will officiate tonight, with the exception of Ab Curtis, nationally known referee of several Rose Bowl classics whose place will be taken by L. C. M. Brown, referee of the Southwest conference who will come to Pampa from Childress army air field.

L. L. D. Meyer, son of T. C. U. coa a "Dutch" Meyer and L. "Fran" Francis, brother of all-American fullback Sam Francis from Nebraska, the other officials will come from the Fort Worth army air field.

Radio station KFDN will go on the air at 7:45 from Harvester park tonight to bring radio grid fans a play by play description of the game. Sam Fenberg, well-known sports enthusiast will do the Mike work with Walter Melson doing the commentary.

Rice Owls Tangle With LSU Bayous

HOUSTON, Texas, Oct. 6.—It looks like another thriller when the Rice Institute Owls of the southwest conference tackle with the LSU Bayou Tigers of the southeastern conference at Rice field Saturday afternoon.

That won't be anything new to a series which has been a 100 yard run by Ken Kavanaugh of L. S. U., a 44-yard field goal by Cotton Miller in 1938 and sterling performances by such players as Bill Wallace, John McCauley, Leche Sylvester and Tom Driscoll, all of Rice, and Abe Mickel, Rock Reed and young Bussey of L. S. U.

The teams meet for the seventh time this year with L. S. U. holding a 9-5 edge in victories and two games having ended in deadlocks. The personal rivalry between Coach Jess Neely of Rice and Bernie Moore of L. S. U. stands at two victories each since Neely came to Rice in 1940.

Fans will long remember yesterday's thriller and it will provide fuel for many hot stove league sessions.

Cards Take Second Game of '44 Series

By JACK HAND
ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 6.—(AP)—Encouraged by the phenomenal blitzing of young Sylvester "Blix" Donnelly, Manager Southworth of the Cardinals put the finger on another freshman righthander today when he named Teddy Wilks to oppose 26-year-old Jack Kramer of the Browns in the third game of the World Series that is knotted at one game each.

Billy the kid gambled heavily yesterday and won on Donnelly, a minor league no-hit maestro who had a mediocre 2-1 victory record all season. It was the four relief innings the Olivia, Minn., rookie threw and a cat-like play on last inning but that was largely responsible for the Red Birds' 3-2 triumph in the 14-frame nerve-wringer before 35,076.

After the first two games in which Mort Cooper was beaten and Max Lanier failed to hold a two-run lead, Southworth appeared to be going all out for youth and the record books backed him up on Wilks. The Fulton N. Y. farm system grad overshadowed most of the other 1944 newcomers with a 17-4 win record that included a streak of 11 straight. Three of his losses came in the midst of the Birds' September slump.

On the strength of Wilks' past performance chart and evidence that the birds were beginning to look more like their mid-summer selves, the National leaguers were re-established as favorites at 9 to 20 in the series and 3 to 3 for today's game. Fair weather and continued 80-degree temperature were predicted.

Kramer, a former seabee who was out of the game all of 1942 and most of last year, finished his first complete big league campaign with a 17-13 mark, sweeping his last four outings in the heat of the race and winding up with a 4-1 victory over the Yankees a week ago.

It was the Browns' turn to be the home club today and for the second two days with the series now certain to run through Sunday. With half of the four games in which the players share already gone to 20 in the series and 3 to 3 for today's game, the "player pool" would finally reach approximately $360,000, the lowest since St. Louis downed Detroit 10 years ago. Forty per cent and tomorrow go to the war relief fund.

Fans will long remember yesterday's thriller and it will provide fuel for many hot stove league sessions.

Action Pops On College Grid Fronts

By FRITZ HOWELL
NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—(AP)—His pigskin prognosticating percentage upset by last week's upsets, Boss Orlo Robertson shuns gridiron guessing this week to attend the world series while turning over to his chore of putting the finger on the football favorites.

After running into 12 losses and five ties against 31 correct selections last weekend, Robertson headed west with:

"I'm picking St. Louis to win the series. They can't upset me on that."

Here's how they look from here: Iowa-Ohio State—Our backs are on the old home town Bucks. Ohio, Tulane-Notre Dame—Maybe someone will stop Bob Kelly and the rest of the Irish, but not this week. Notre Dame.

Duke-North Carolina Navy—The Blue Devils on the rebound after Saturday's upset by Penn. Duke. Iowa Seawolves—Second air force—Our neck is out, but we'll take the air force to make it six, straight wins.

Tennessee-Mississippi—The Vols, comfortably, Tennessee. Texas Christian-Arkansas—No one has scored on the Horned Frogs yet, and that's good enough for us. Texas Christian.

A last once-over: Georgia Tech over North Carolina, Kentucky over Michigan State, Georgia over Presbyterian (Friday), Jacksonville Navy over Florida, Vmi over Richmond, Columbia over Syracuse, Navy over Penn State, Harvard over Boston College, West Virginia over Virginia, Sam Houston over Villanova, Pittsburgh over Bethany, Lafayette over U. C. L. A. Arizona State Teachers over Nevada, Missouri over Kansas State, Texas Aggies over Oklahoma, Southern Methodist over Southwestern, Louisiana State over Rice.

More than 50,000 fans are expected to see the five games in which conference teams appear Saturday.

Conference Has Five Games on Saturday's List

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor
One up in intercollegiate play, the southwest conference sent two members against outside opponents Saturday with an excellent chance of remaining ahead but most of the interest centers on games of stay-at-homes Texas Christian against Arkansas and Texas against Randolph field.

The T. C. U.-Arkansas contest means the most as it is the start of title warfare but the Randolph field-Texas game carries great importance inasmuch as it will give a true line on the relative strength of Texas and Rice, and will show whether the Longhorns should be title favorites.

There are quite a few who think Texas has been misplaced in the No. 1 ranking, that the Orange and White has a good defense but won't be able to score enough to beat out such offensive units as Southern Methodist, Texas Christian and Texas A. and M. Well, the Texas defense will get its greatest test this week and it now appears that the Longhorns will have to rely on a ground game that's been advertised as less than potent. Bobby Layne, whose passing was the chief offensive weapon of the Longhorns, probably won't even get to play due to injuries.

Arkansas has more veterans and greatly outweighs Texas Christian but the Razorbacks don't appear to be in the race for the title. Rice, the first time in years have a very mediocre aerial attack. T. C. U. has the offense, mostly in the air, with not one but three strong passers.

Southern Methodist will be playing Southwestern at Dallas while the two other conference members, Rice and Texas A. and M. tackle intercollegiate opponents. Rice battles high-scoring Louisiana state at Houston while A. and M. engages Oklahoma at Oklahoma City in a night-game. The Aggies appear to have the best chance of winning.

More than 50,000 fans are expected to see the five games in which conference teams appear Saturday.

White Bucks Unscored On In District

Special To THE NEWS
WHITE DEER, Oct. 6.—Fourteen victories and only two losses in the first month of the gridiron season is a record revealing something of the strength of the five teams that comprise District 2-A.

For the two losses, Phillips yielded to the Class AA Pampa Harvesters, 13 to 0, and Perryton fell before the District 3A Memphis Cyclone, 12 to 0.

Panhandle leads with four triumphs: Priton, 19 to 0; Hereford, 13 to 7; Borger, 7 to 0; and McLean, 13 to 0.

Canadian downed Guymon, 50 to 7; Shamrock, 14 to 7; and Borger, 7 to 0.

White Deer, the only team in the district that has not been scored on, defeated LeFors, 26 to 0; Borger, 7 to 0; and Hereford, 13 to 0.

Phillips has won over McLean, 26 to 6, and Shamrock, 26 to 7; and Perryton rounded out the record with a 12 to 7 victory over Dumas.

The five teams have piled up a total of 239 points to their opponents.

Edwards announced he had signed Nova to appear this month in Galveston against any opponent the matchmaker chooses. He said it would be the Scott-Marshall winner.

Eligibility Is Topic of Grid Officials Meet

The annual conference of superintendents, district officials and coaches, held Wednesday in Amarillo prior to the playing of conference grid games saw heated discussion concerning eligibility of "B" squad players.

L. L. Some, superintendent of Pampa city schools, Dr. D. P. Cokoruz, who is a district AA official, and Coach Otis Coffey, who attended the meeting from Pampa saw the passing of a resolution governing the eligibility of "B" squad players in the inter-scholastic league, which

Winner Of Match Must Face Nova

GALVESTON, Texas, Oct. 6.—(AP)—The winner of the Buddy Boot-Jack Marshall Texas heavyweight championship fight here next Tuesday night will meet Lou Nova, matchmaker Frankie Edwards said today.

Edwards announced he had signed Nova to appear this month in Galveston against any opponent the matchmaker chooses. He said it would be the Scott-Marshall winner.

Highlight of this week's play will be the first conference game in the district, between the Canadian Wildcats and the Panhandle Panthers, both undefeated teams.

Here Is Schedule Of New Electric Rates for Pampa

Because of typographical errors in the old and new rates published yesterday in connection with the Southwestern Public Service company's electric rate reduction in Pampa, the rate schedules are being printed for power consumers again today.

For residences, the new Pampa schedule is 5c per kilowatt hour for the first 50 kilowatt hours, 4 1/2c for the next 50 kilowatt hours, and 1 3/4c for all over 100 kilowatt hours.

For commercial lighting, the new rate is 5c per kilowatt hour for the first 50 kilowatt hours, 4 1/4c for the next 200 kilowatt hours, 3 1/4c for the next 750 kilowatt hours, and 1 3/4c for all over 1000 kilowatt hours.

The new schedules are now effective and will apply on customers' statements beginning with those rendered for October use.

POLITICS

publicans in Congress had recently sent free through the mails more than 3,000,000 copies of a collector's speech requiring more than 18 tons of scarce and expensive paper and x x x at the taxpayers' expense.

This document, Mr. Roosevelt added, "says that the Red spectre of communism is stalking our country from east to west, from north to south—the charge being that the Roosevelt administration is part of a gigantic plot to sell our democracy to the communists."

Continuing, the President said: "This form of fear propaganda is not new among rabble rousers and fomenters of class hatred—who seek to destroy democracy itself. It was used by Mussolini's black shirts and by Hitler's brown shirts. It has been used before in this country by the silver shills and others on the lunatic fringe."

1. Demoralization. He said "reckless words based on unauthoritative sources" had been used by his opponents in saying the administration is ill prepared for demoralization. Such words have been used, he said, "to mislead and to weaken the morale of soldiers and their families. He repeated that even in the armed services will be returned to civilian life—at the earliest possible moment consistent with our national safety."

2. Wartime controls. He said the American people "do not need, and no national administration would dare to ask them, to tolerate any indefinite continuance in execution of the controls essential in wartime. He urged all eligible citizens, particularly women, to register and vote. He advocated removal of poll taxes and other vote "restrictions," and in a reference to the soldier vote, said the people will be able to "fix the responsibility" on those politicians who quite openly worked to restrict the use of the ballot in this election, hoping selfishly for a small vote."

4. War. He said the United States and her Allies had waged "brilliant campaigns," but the German and Japanese resistance "remained as determined—as fanatical—as ever," and "we may have to fight every inch of the way to Berlin."

5. Peace. "We must be able to present to our returning heroes an America which is stronger and more prosperous, more deeply devoted to the ways of democracy, then ever before, x x x By God's grace, it must always be a land of opportunity for the individual citizen—ever broader opportunity."

AT MEDICAL DEPOT

Cpl. John L. Rankin, whose wife resides at 426 1/2 N. Wynne, is serving at a medical depot in France. There, he serves as stock record clerk.

This medical depot in a combat supply area is outfitting hospitals with everything from X-ray machines to pen points, rushing plasma and penicillin to the front, and fixing false teeth and eye glasses as well.

Day and night this work goes on for Corporal Rankin and his fellow workers, for the front line outfits never cease their demands, and when the wounded call for aid the mechanism of mercy cannot fail.

Elmer Davis Lauds Press of America

Elmer Davis, well-known writer and commentator who is now serving as director of the war-time agency office of war information, has written the following in commemoration of Newspaper week, Oct. 1-8:

"We are keenly aware of the job the newspapers of America have done, not only in their reporting of the war itself, but in explaining to the people what total war is and in stimulating the effort on the home front which has been—and still is—necessary for final victory."

"The office of war information is charged with the responsibility of seeing that the American people are given the fullest possible understanding of what this war is about and of the progress that is being made, day by day, to bring it to a successful termination."

"The newspapers of America have contributed toward such success as we can claim in this task. With their cooperation, history's weightiest war production machine was built within three years, without seriously disrupting the civilian economy. Because of the cooperation and the independent initiative of countless reporters, editors and publishers, the people of America have had brought to them the reality of the need to serve—and to conserve—on the home front."

"The newspapers, individually, have pitched in with their facilities, organization and skill to lead the way in drives to salvage waste paper and scrap metal, needed for military purposes; to conserve fuel in order to conserve manpower; to save critical rubber and gasoline by restricting the use of private automobiles and sharing rides."

"They have helped to recruit personnel for the services and workers for the factories; they have devoted thousands of columns to the stimulation of interest in victory gardens, war bond purchases, volunteer services and the other activities which war has demanded of our people."

thought that punishment should be dealt all of those who were a part of the disturbance in this conflict.

In an answering question Mr. Boshen gave an outline of what citizens in a little town out in the Panhandle of Texas can do to make possible the right creation of a world of justice, peace, mercy and love. To change your mind and enlist the thinking of another and explain this thinking to him, for in teaching a person also learns and becomes more educated.

Possible criticism was checked with the statement that the speaker realized that perhaps it seemed folly to start now on a post-war world, but plans could be made now, just as during the depression, plans were exhibited at the Chicago World's fair, of modes of living which are today, not a luxury, but an accepted everyday need of living, because, these plans were drawn.

Mr. Boshen underscored his talk with the story of the woman who asked the various workers what they were doing on a construction job, because, these plans were drawn, the man cutting the forms, answered he was sawing wood, and the third man she came upon shipping stones, answered that he was building a cathedral. Following this story Mr. Boshen pointed out that today the Americans here have ditches to dig, forms to saw,

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"The war stories I like best, Judge, are the ones by the special writers overseas who live right with our troops. They give us a better idea of how our men react to things going on over there and back here at home." "I agree with you, Sam. I never miss one of those stories in the papers or magazines. And there's one thing those writers seem to agree on no matter where they are stationed with our men... and that is that the men who have left their homes and families to go away and fight this war don't want to come back and find that prohibition has been put over on them while they were away... either nationally or locally. They have heard about the attempts being made and they resent it bitterly." "I agree with them, Judge, even though I don't happen to drink myself. Furthermore, I don't think it's fair for us at home to be making any major changes while 10,000,000 of our fighting men are away and have no chance to express their opinions."
