Celebration Group Severs From Rodeo

The Gray County 50th Anniversary Celebration committee today officially severed itself from the annual Top o' Texas Rodeo and set dates for the commemorative event for Oct. 12, 13 and 14.

Ridgway Gives 'Force' Order To Free Dodd

SEOUL, Korea. — Gen. James A. Van Fleet said tonight he will use force if necessary to rescue Brig. Gen. Francis E. Dodd from the Communist prisoners of war who captured the general on Koje Island Prison Camp.

Van Fleet said he would not give in to the Red's "unreasonable" demands for special privileges before they release the prison camp commander.

The U. S. Eighth Army commander made his statement after a flying trip to rebellious Koje, off the southern tip of Korea.

Van Fleet said he was under orders from Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme allied commander, "to use whatever force is necessary" to free Dodd without delay.

The 52-year-old Dodd has been a prisoner since Wednesday, when North Korean POWs seized him at the gates of a compound.

Ridgway said the Communists were demanding "phones, permission to organize, writing paper and some other things" before they would release Dodd.

The Army released only meager details of the new rebellion at Koje and kept newsmen from going there. First announcement of the kidnapping came early today.

Van Fleet said, "We have not yet been able to determine why the guards didn't rush in for a rescue attempt. That question will be answered by a military board of inquiry."

He expressed confidence that Dodd would not be harmed. The Eighth Army commander attached considerable significance to Dodd's own expressed optimism over an Army telephone which kept him in contact with American guards outside the stockade.

"However," Van Fleet said, "if necessary, force will be used to effect his release."

He said the bulk of the prisoners' demands were "unreasonable and cannot and will not be granted."

An Eighth Army spokesman said Dodd and Lt. Col. Wilbur Robert Raven of Newton, Tex., were seized while standing at the gate of a prison compound talking to leaders of the 6,000 Communist prisoners.

"The gate was a wide one" the spokesman said "Dodd was standing in the center of the gate."

Committee Chairman M. K. Brown offered $500 as a start on the fund and said an additional $10,000 to $15,000 should be raised.

Officials of a steering sub-committee, headed by Brown, expressed appreciation of the celebration group to the rodeo association for offering the rodeo to the bi-city committee.

The action, says the committee, expresses a fine spirit of cooperation on the part of the rodeo association.

However, it was decided that merging the two programs would not be feasible because of the wide variance in the aims of the two. Committee members felt the anniversary should be chiefly historical and educational.

From this standpoint, they said, it would be necessary to use school students and have full cooperation from all schools in the county. This would only be possible during the regular school term.

The initial portion of the celebration will be held Columbus Day, Oct. 12. This falls on a Sunday.

Members named to the finance committee were E. L. Green, Fred Hobart, F. M. Culbertson, Tex Evans, Tom Rose, C. P. Pursley, Billy Davis, DeLea Vicars, J. E. Murfee, Ivey Duncan, Dr. W. Purviance and Charlie Duenkel.

WARNS CONGRESS — Wage Stabilization Board Chairman Nathan Feinsinger warned Congressmen that they may produce "industrial chaos" if they strip the WSB of its power to handle labor disputes. School Tax Increased . . .

$400,000 Bond Issue To Be Voted On Here

Two school bonds totaling $400,000 and a tax rate increase to $1.25 were approved Thursday night by a citizens' committee and will be submitted to voters in the Pampa Independent School district before school lets out for the summer.

One bond, for $350,000, will be for the construction of a 12-room elementary school on the southwest side of town and for cafeteria improvements. The other bond, for $50,000, will be for the construction of a new west side stands at the football field.

Aubrey Steele, Security Federal Savings and Loan Assn. executive, was appointed by School Board President Raeburn Thompson as coordinator for the citizens committee backing the bond issue and rate hike.

Board members pictured the dire financial straits of the school system. Thompson said present salaries for teachers could not be maintained without additional revenue.

At previous meetings of citizens groups, a tax rate increase from the present maximum of $1 to $1.50 was frequently mentioned.

But board members said they wanted to be conservative and get what they absolutely need now rather than what they need for the future.

Gene Green, board member, sounded the note of caution. "Our natural resources are declining and we don't want to overbuild," he said.

He said the $1.25 maximum rate would give the board a five-to-seven-cent leeway.

"We are at ropes-end in trying to carry out our present facilities," Green maintained.

Rex Rose, newest board member, said the women of the PTA are concerned over the children going to school half-day because of the crowded school conditions.

P. Buckler, a former school board member, said, "I am utterly opposed to half-day sessions. I don't think we'll have a bit of trouble raising the rates or voting the bond issues."

The board suggested one bond issue of $400,000 but after protests by Russ Allen, Cabot Co. vice president, and others the bond issue was split.

Arthur Tavel, attorney, will head the petition committee which will get signatures of voters approving the bond and rate election. Through the petitions, the election will be called formally.

Other committeemen appointed by Thompson included Travis Lively, advertising; John Wilde, publicity in southwest Pampa; James Evans, Jaycee publicity; Mrs. Grundy Morrison, federated clubs; and Mrs. Raymond Harrah, radio publicity.

The bill hasn't yet cleared Congress in final form. The House passed one bill, the Senate a somewhat different one. A joint conference committee this week agreed on a compromise version, which is principally the Senate bill.

Long, an advocate of state-ownership of the oil-rich lands, said "we got the best bill out of conference we could under the circumstances."

The bill agreed on by the conferees would give states title to the off-shore lands for three miles seaward of the outermost islands and land formations. The House bill, in addition, would have given states a 37.12 per cent interest in oil income from submerged lands outward to the edge of the continental shelf. This ranges up to nearly 200 miles in some places. The compromise leaves open the question of ownership beyond three miles.

Long based his expectation of a veto on the fact that the bill is quite similar to one which President Truman vetoed in 1946. He said he doubts if the President will change his position now, although at the time of the first veto the President based part of his objection on the fact the matter was pending before the supreme court.

There is no doubt that TV will play an important part in the choice of a president in 1952," Wood observed.

"How a candidate handles himself in front of TV cameras can be decisive in his chances," Wood says he has been getting favorable replies and that schedules for private instruction are being arranged. The first two students: Senators William Benton (D-Conn) and Irving Ives (R-NY). They'll be taught, among other things, how to sit before a camera, how to stand, how to walk, how to talk and how to read a script. Enrollment is by invitation.

Oil Unions Claim Little Hope For Quick Settlement

Aviation Gas Supply Said To Be Short

DENVER — (P) — Scarcity of high-octane gasoline today ranked as the most serious effect of the nine-day-old nationwide oil strike.

There seemed little chance for immediate settlement. A possibility the strike may be extended was voiced in Denver by O. A. Knight, president of the Oil Workers International Union (CIO).

The major hope seems to be a meeting May 13 between the Wage Stabilization Board and representatives of 22 striking AFL, CIO and independent unions and management of the struck refineries and pipelines.

The pinch on aviation fuel has been widely felt. Air France announced flights will be cut by 50 percent unless the quota for trans-Atlantic carriers is increased. The line has 20 flights weekly. Trans-Canada Air Lines reduced schedules of about 40 daily flights between Canada and New York, Boston, Cleveland, Chicago and Seattle.

A 30 percent slash in aviation gasoline has been ordered by the government. The Air Force has reduced training flight hours. Military and commercial lines report shortages are affecting operations overseas and in the territories.

Striking members of local 225 of the Oil Workers International Union are in fair financial shape, officers of the Peoria union indicated today.

The strike against Cities Service and Sinclair was in its 10th day.

Nonstriking members, representing about two-thirds of the membership, are donating a day's pay or more a month to the strike fund. This is from $14 to $17 a man, said Arthur Griegs, union secretary.

The money is available to strikers for emergency purposes. After the strike, the money will be divided among the strikers.

C. R. Williams, international representative, said many of the men have found temporary work.

There were no local negotiations. Talks for Cities Service settlement will be made (See OIL STRIKE Page 5)

Five Injured In Early Morning Texas Train Wreck

SARITA, Tex. — (P) — Five cars of the Missouri Pacific's fast night passenger train to the lower Rio Grande Valley derailed early today. Five passengers were injured, none seriously.

The train wrecked in front of the depot at this South Texas county seat about 5:17 a.m. (CST).

The injured: James Naumann, 201 West McKinley, Harlingen, Tex.; Mrs. I. J. Hill, Murfreesboro, Ark.; Mrs. Curtis Turner, Murfreesboro.

Andrea Saenz, 1027 Southeast Jefferson St., Brownsville; Delores Buso, Sealdala, Mo. None of the derailed cars overturned. It was believed the accident may have resulted from a broken rail.

Passengers were transferred to buses for the rest of their trip to the Valley.

The derailment plowed up 200 or more yards of track, and left 10 passenger cars off the track at a 45-degree angle.

The crack train, the Pioneer, had 10 cars pulled by a diesel engine. It had left Kingsville, 21 miles to the north, at 4:45 a.m.

When it hit the broken rail the engine and the first four baggage cars went on over it and ran down the track about a quarter mile.

The fifth baggage car threw its undercarriage, tipped up track and went off the track sideways. That derailed four passenger cars, and they went over at a 45-degree angle. One passenger car, the last, remained on the track.

The baggage car which was derailed was left half way between the engine and other baggage cars and the passenger cars which derailed.

Rangers Will Go To Duval County To Keep Peace

ALICE, Tex. — (P) — Texas rangers will be on hand Monday when the grand jury is called back into session to investigate Duval County political activities. Dist. Judge Sam G. Reams said yesterday.

The jury will meet at 1:30 p.m. at San Diego, Duval County seat. Judge Reams said Texas rangers assigned to Duval had been advised so they could be present.

The recall is another step in a developing program of opposition to the power of George Parr, reputed South Texas political boss. Judge Reams and Parr, who resigned as county judge recently to become sheriff, are political enemies.

The judge said the date for the jury meeting was requested by Asst. Atty. Gen. Edwin N. Bell and Bradley Bourland, assigned by Atty. Gen. Price Daniel to the inquiry. Dist. Atty. Homer E. Dean said the two made preliminary investigations with him Wednesday.

Rangers Joe Bridge of Fairburn and Charlie Miller of Carrizo Springs have recently moved into Duval.

MUNITIONS MUST NOT BE DELAYED — Defense Secy. Robert Lovett, testifying before the House Armed Services Committee, considering the Smith anti-strike bill, gave a qualified endorsement to the measure. Lovett told the committee "we must do everything we can to see that the production of arms and munitions is not further delayed." (NEA Telephoto)

Foreign Aid, Civil Rights To Be Issues

By The Associated Press

Republican and foreign aid as a clearest issue in their presidential campaign today while Democrats wondered anew if Civil Rights would split their party again.

The top contenders for Republican nomination — Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio and Gen. Dwight Eisenhower — were at sharp odds over the amount needed for assistance abroad.

Eisenhower, in a cable from Paris to Sen. Tom Connally of Texas, said a one-billion-dollar cut already proposed in Congress would hurt. Any deeper slice off the $7,900,000,000 asked by President Truman would endanger the nation's security, he said.

Taft promptly replied that even a slash of two billions would impend the program or U. S. security. After telling this to reporters, he said in a Hartford Conn. speech, "I don't think the American people ought to run the world (or would) to good at it if they tried."

Connally, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee had asked Eisenhower's views. He released his message exchange yesterday after Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia, who seeks the Democratic nomination as President, cabined Eisenhower. Russell wanted to know if the General thought $6,900,000,000 approved by Connally's committee would cover the cost of European defenses.

Won't Budget

President Truman told his new confidante yesterday he has no budget in support of the Civil Rights bill, despite four years ago by the Democratic Party. The consultant Southern review then cost Truman 29 electoral votes in the 1948 presidential race.

Key Southern lawmakers, views of Truman's past stand, disagreed as to whether Civil Rights differences can be patched up.

Sen. Burnet Maybank of South Carolina and Walter George of Georgia said they expected a compromise and a united party general election time. Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia, however, said he sees little difference between the 1948 and 1952 situations.

Russell, in a Press Club speech sharply denounced proposals for a compulsory Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC) code of the desegregated. FEPC would ban job discrimination against Negroes and other minorities.

Declines

Truman also told reporters reserves his right as an American citizen to say who he would like as the next President.

declined, however, to express choice at this time.

Politics otherwise

Illinois Democrats, at a Springfield convention yesterday, picked the state's 10-vote Democratic delegate to the 12-vote Republican delegation.

Retired Lt. Gen. Albert W. Meyer, a Taft leader, was keynote speaker at the GOP meeting and Eisenhower boosters commented: "It looks like they pulled a fast one."

Cool Front Drops High Temperatures

A heat-breaking cool front slipped into Pampa early today after local and area residents had sweated out temperatures which reached a high of 95 degrees Thursday.

The reading was the highest the mercury has climbed this year and among the high readings for May 8 recorded in Pampa.

Low reading today was 57 degrees. By mid-morning, the mercury had managed to climb only two degrees above the low point. By 11 a.m. the local reading was 59 degrees.

The Weather Bureau emphasized it forecast only tornado possibilities. The bulletin was issued at 7:45 a.m. CST. Another advisory was expected around noon today.

Air Plane Show ...

Fort Sill To Show Public What Defense Dollar Buys

FORT SILL, Okla. — (Special) — Flying enthusiasts will have an opportunity to look at planes to their hearts' content when Fort Sill opens its doors to visitors May 17.

That date marks the third annual observance of Armed Forces Day, when John Q. Citizen is invited to take a look at what his defense dollar is buying.

The Army's only flying school, the department of Air Training, at Sill, has planned a program which has invariably proved popular in the past. Static displays of aircraft from the Army, Navy and Air Force will be featured from 11:30 a. m. until 4 p. m. at Post field here.

At least seven models of Army aircraft will be on display. They'll include an L-17 Navion, L-19 Cessna, L-21 Super Cub, LC-126 Cessna, H-13 Bell helicopter, H-23 Hiller 'copter, and the largest helicopter now in use by the Army, an H-19. The latter is a transport machine built by Sikorsky. There's a chance that two additional planes will be on hand, and L-20 Beaver and a YL-23 Twin Beech. Both of them are small transports.

Air Force planes will include a T-23 jet trainer, a B-29, A B-25 and a B-26, and two other trainers, a T-6 and T-28. There'll also be a C-119 Fairchild "Flying Boxcar." It is the type aircraft used for hauling troops and equipment on airborne operations.

The Navy is expected to have several planes on hand, including an AD Douglas Skyraider, a Consolidate patrol plane and an F-8F Grumman Bearcat fighter.

There'll be flights over the post during the day, with three B-26s flying over at 9:35 a. m., four T-28s at 9:43 a. m., six B-25s at 10:38 a. m. and again at 2:40 p. m.

Stands for spectators will be placed on the west side of Fort Sill Blvd. near Post field. From there, visitors will view an OCS parade, famed for precision and beauty, prior to the air show, which will demonstrate the versatility of the Army's small planes.

The show will start with a formation of planes flying past the grand stand. Then they'll taxi by on the ground while Capt. George E. Handley, Jr., Air Training instructor from Seattle, Wash., explains the characteristics and use of each.

The demonstration which will follow, will include the types of landings, takeoffs and other maneuvers, which flight students are taught in their classes here.

Army aviators will take off and land from a 200 foot strip, clearing a 20 foot barrier at each end. They'll show how the small planes use their superior maneuverability to escape enemy fighters. Army planes have neither armor nor armament.

Fogging, message and supply drops, wire laying, fire marking, medical evacuation and other missions will be included in the show. Both fixed wing and helicopters, or rotary wing planes will take part in the demonstrations.

The spectator here will see a show similar to that given for students at the Command and General Staff college at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., and at the National Air races last year in Detroit. It's 45 action-packed minutes with their first view of a helicopter in flight.

The air show will follow two firing demonstrations on the west range. Bus transportation will be available to the range, starting at 12:30 p. m.

Displays of air craft and flying demonstrations will be given at Post field, with bleachers erected for the occasion. Last year's crowd far exceeded seats available but no one seemed to mind.

Ike Tells Congress Budget Cut May Hit Defense Plans

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Gen. Dwight Eisenhower told Congress today any cut in President Truman's $7,900,000,000 foreign aid plan "would inevitably tend to curtail or retard" this nation's defense program.

The message from Eisenhower was made public by Sen. Connally (D-Tex.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The retiring head of the Western Defense forces did not specifically ask Congress to retain the full amount of funds Truman requested for foreign aid.

But he did say that any cut "would be heavily and seriously felt."

USDA Releases Cotton Report

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Agriculture Department, in a final report, today estimated the 1951 cotton crop at 15,130,000 bales with a total value of $3,304,315,000.

W. T. Rice

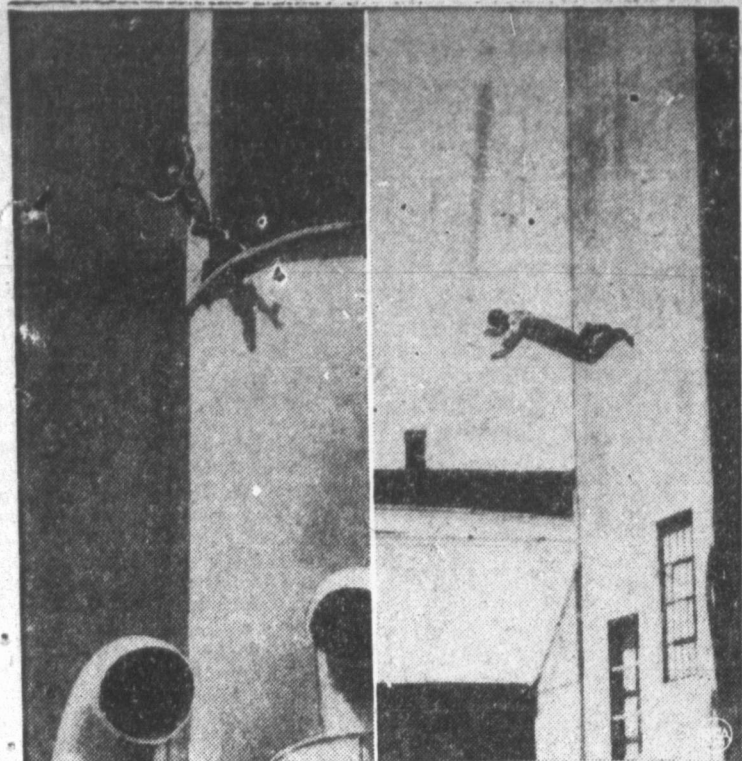

W. T. Rice, 4516 Belclaire Street, in Dallas, Texas, finds it difficult to imagine anyone being without several bottles of BIG 12 in the house, for Mr. Rice buys his BIG 12 in case lots and says he'll never be without an ample supply. Mr. Rice wrote:

"I was so tired and weak that I could not work half a day without stopping to rest for several hours. I was listless, had no ambition and I had to force myself to go to the table and the biggest job I had was to eat as I had absolutely no appetite. Just as I was about ready to call it quits and give up, a friend told me about BIG 12.

"I bought two bottles and improved so much that I went back and bought a case of twelve bottles. As I travel extensively over several states and I did not want to run out of BIG 12 while on the road, my appetite picked up immediately. I was hungry all of the time and I gained weight faster than I had lost it. I now feel better than I have felt in my life. I cannot praise BIG 12 too highly. It does not taste like medicine, in fact it is very pleasant and I enjoy taking it. I want to express my thanks to the makers of BIG 12 Iron Tonic and I am sure that it will help others as it has helped me, if they will try it.

Yes, Mr. Rice found out for himself that the amazing new iron tonic BIG 12 supplied Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron that his system apparently needed to help restore his energy and appetite. BIG 12 is simply remarkable in the way it is helping folks of all ages who suffer from these deficiencies.

Atom Blasts To Continue

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — (AP) — Five atom blasts down and perhaps five to go. That was the score today in the spring nuclear series.

After No. 5, yesterday's tower shot in the dark, the Atomic Energy Commission indicated the series would continue indefinitely.

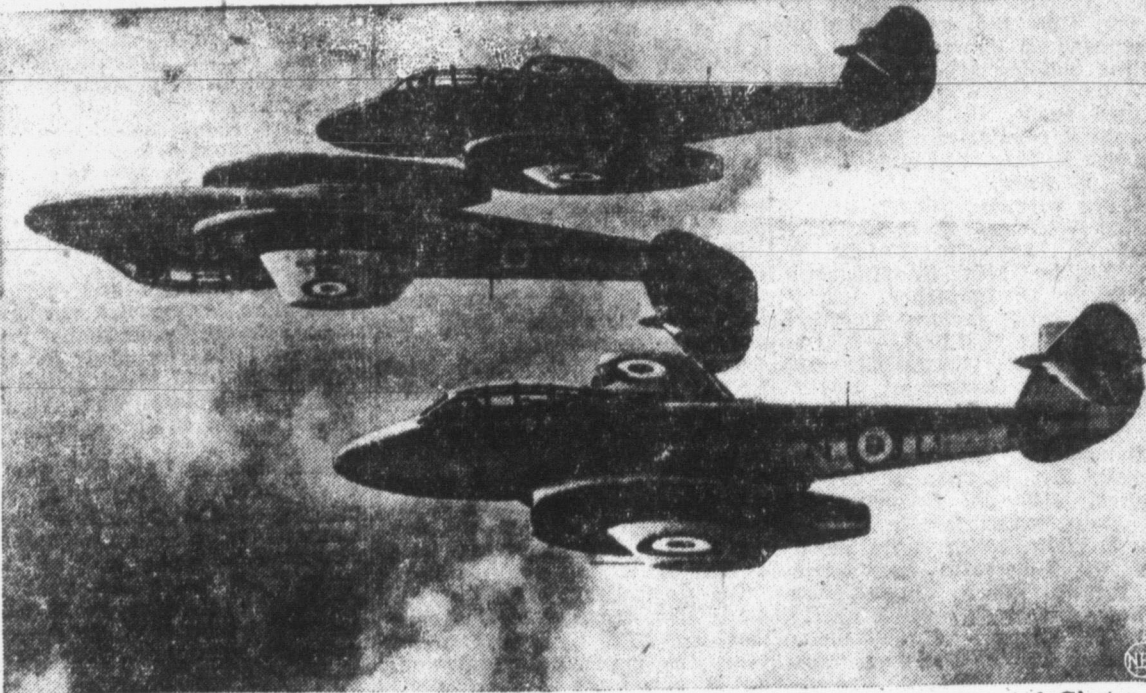

Since April 1 there has been a shot a week, with the exception of Holy Week before Easter. Next week's shot will be an invitational attended by military observers representing all branches of service, the AEC said. They will be stationed in foxholes, but will conduct no maneuver.

The next maneuver—the third phase of Exercise Desert Rock IV—will involve some 1500 Army troops, probably two weeks hence.

The tests involving the military undoubtedly will be higher-level bomb drops from planes to lessen the danger to human life.

The fact that the AEC still has three 300-foot test towers standing on Yucca Flat indicates the possibility of further tests similar to yesterday's experiment.

RIDING HIS HOBBY — Peter Davis, 4, of London, England, would rather toy with chessmen than play with toys. He is also adept at solving mathematical problems mentally.

IT WON'T BE ON THE ROAD—Designed for the little man who wasn't there, this fantasy of motordom provides eye-stopping appeal for visitors to the auto show in Turin, Italy. There's no danger of it being put in production, as it's just a "dream" vehicle.

Circled by the 12 signs of the zodiac, it shows Oslo local time, sidereal time, sun rising and setting times, sun and moon positions in relation to the constellations of the zodiac, moon phases and solar and lunar eclipses.

Summer Recreation Plans Completed

The summer recreational committee went into organizational proceedings this morning in the city commission room to set up a recreation program for children in at least two playgrounds and the municipal swimming pool.

The committee, presided over temporarily by City Manager Dick Pepin, appointed Otto Mangold as program director, empowered him to select his own assistants, set up a program time schedule and arrange program activities.

Ray Salmon, member of the 1951 recreation committee, was named chairman of the group.

The committee is to be engaged within the next few weeks by bringing in additional members from various local organizations.

A swimming class for boys and girls will also be included in the summer recreation program, but details of it are still to be worked out.

Polish Parents, Son Reunited

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — (AP) — A four-year-old Polish boy was separated from his parents when the Nazis occupied Poland.

Seven years later, he was reunited with them here yesterday.

Sturdy and tanned, 11-year-old Eliezer Lewin stepped from a plane into a joyous exchange of kisses, embraces and tears.

Waiting were Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Lewin and five-year-old Mina, a sister he had never seen.

The parents and daughter reached Louisville in 1949 after leaving a displaced persons camp in Germany. Although hearing the son was dead, they searched for him through worldwide organizations and found him in a farming country in Israel.

The father exclaimed: "I was estimated by city police at $100 and to the Harnny automobile at $5.

No Applicants For City Post

There have been no formal applications for the Pampa city manager post reported by city officials up until now, it was learned this morning in city hall.

However, City Manager Dick Pepin, who is resigning to accept a similar post at Odessa, said several city managers in other parts of Texas have been making "off-the-record" inquiries about the job.

Pepin indicated the inquiring applicants did not want their present employers to know they were asking about another job.

He added that none of the inquiries could actually be classed as an application, but leaned mostly to the "seeking information" line of talk. The queries were by telephone rather than letter, he said.

Pepin leaves Pampa next week to assume his $12,000 per year city managership of Odessa. He was selected by the Odessa City Commission after interviewing more than a dozen city managers in Beaumont last week during the Texas city managers conference there.

Anti-Strike Bill Hit By Labor

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The House Armed Services Committee continues today search for methods of halting strikes in critical defense industries by asking for organized labor's views.

Two days of discussion have failed to produce any concrete suggestions from the administration, industry or labor.

The committee is considering a bill to amend the Draft Act by requiring the government to obtain an 80-day injunction which would halt a threatening strike, if there is no settlement in that time, the measure would place both the plants and unions under receivership indefinitely, during which work stoppages would be illegal.

Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va.) the author, testified he would accept any amendments to make the bill equitable and workable.

Committee members yesterday asked Herbert S. Thatcher, general counsel for the AFL, to offer suggestions. Thatcher read a statement by AFL President William L. Green terming the bill "shocking." The attorney said the AFL believed no further legislation was necessary.

Joseph Curran, president of the National Maritime Union and vice president of the CIO, was scheduled to appear before the committee today.

Curran opposed every detail of the bill as "viciously anti-labor" in a statement prepared for the committee. He will be asked for further views, however.

Several committee members have expressed belief that the measure is not adequate as it stands.

The measure was spurred by the controversies in the steel and oil industries. Smith said it is designed to prevent strikes in both these fields as well as in any other critical industries.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) offered two amendments in an apparent effort to make the measure more appealing to Congress.

One would authorize the courts, after 30 days of receivership operation, to determine any necessary wage or price changes. The Smith measure has been criticized for specifying that wages should be frozen during the receivership period.

Both the amendments and the original measure have been criticized by labor leaders.

City police and the sheriff's department investigated the fight. There were no charges filed.

IT'S YOUR DEAL Run When It Will Benefit

By OSWALD JACOBY Written for NEA Service

"Would you please write me on when to 'run for the barn' in the play at Samba?" requests an Evanston correspondent.

"I contend," the letter continues, "that when your partner has to strip his hand to go down, when the opponents have three or four long sequences on the table and your side can't get started, or when your opponents get control of the discard pile—you should make a dash for it."

Under what other circumstances should you run?

In general, you should run for the barn whenever you think that prolonging the hand will permit the opponents to benefit more than your side does. If you have the advantage, keep the hand alive; if the enemy have the advantage, try to meld out quickly.

It may take a bit of thinking to see which side has the advantage, but the signs are usually very clear. My correspondent has listed a few of them.

If your partner has to use a large number of cards to make the initial meld from his hand, it is usually a sign that he is giving up the discard pile to the enemy. He wants to get out from under; and it will do you no good to tug one way when he is obviously tugging the other way.

This is not invariably true, however. If your partner puts down one or two sequences as part of his initial meld, he may be suggesting that there are good chances of turning them into completed sambas.

In such a situation you can judge by noticing how many cards your partner has left in his hand; and you can estimate the probability that he has cards that will be useful to him.

Another important time to run is when the opponents are more skillful players than you and your partner. For example, suppose you happen to draw the worst player in the game as your partner.

It's foolish to go out for big winnings with a partner who may make a fatal blunder at any moment. Try for small winnings or small losses by going for a fast out on every hand.

Is it fair to your partner to meld out quickly in this way? It's your best chance to win, and your partner would rather win than lose. When your partner has gained more experience, you will be more adventurous; but caution is better until he has improved his game.

1700 Hear Choral Festival Thursday

Pampa's varied and rich annual Choral Spring festival was presented Thursday night to an overflow audience of 1700 persons at the field house.

Five hundred fifty voices combined for the musical program entitled "Music of, by, and for the People."

An innovation were dances presented by elementary and junior high pupils. Forty-eight school dancers, under the direction of Miss Evelyn Clayton, presented a Czech dancing song, "The Handkerchief Dance." Twenty-six junior high students, under Miss Jane Lightfoot's direction, danced "Sweet Betsy from Pike." Miss Lightfoot wrote the choreography for the American folk song.

Conductors for the festival were Miss Evelyn Clayton, Woodrow Wilson; Mrs. John Branham, Horace Mann; Mrs. Roy Sullivan, Sam Houston; Mrs. Faudie Gailman, B. M. Baker; Miss Eloise Lane and Miss Carolyn Boyle, junior high; Miss Grace Crump, high school, and Kenneth Baumgardner, choral supervisor.

The program closed on the solemn notes of Malotte's "The Lord's Prayer."

OIL STRIKE

Williams said a settlement could have been reached if the wage stabilization board had not interfered.

Nathan P. Feinsinger, chairman of the WSB, indicated the dispute will be returned to the White House if efforts of the Board fail. The WSB took no action on the strike at a meeting yesterday.

Feinsinger's earlier appeal for an end to the walkout pending the May 13 conclave was rejected by Knight.

National Petroleum News reported the strike has closed down about 35 percent of the nation's crude oil refining capacity.

Boyle's Column... Romance Of Our Times - About The Office Wolf

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — (AP) — No history of the romance of our times is complete without a chapter on the Romeo of the water cooler — the Office Wolf.

He is the Peck's Bad Boy of the business world.

What is an Office Wolf? In pulp love tales he is luridly pictured as a prowling scoundrel evilly plotting to lead astray a poor but innocent working girl.

In fact, however, his teeth are less sharp than they are in fiction. Often, alas, his teeth are as false as his designs.

The average Office Wolf is as harmless as a tame skunk. He isn't really a wolf at all — he is just a mouse with great yearnings. Usually he is a married man with a wife at home who understands him only too thoroughly.

That is why he paws his way around the office in the romantic hope of finding some girl who will be kind enough to misunderstand him a little. If there is anything a man can't stand, it is to be understood all the time.

One of the delusions of the Office Wolf is that his overtures to the hired girls are a guilty secret known only to him. The truth is, of course, that every conversation in the privacy of the ladies' room starts off:

"Well, Mabel, what did old Wolfe whisper to you this morning? Isn't he a perfect scream? He'll be the death of me yet — from laughing."

The girls get a big kick out of comparing the techniques the Office Wolf tries in his daily rounds. If he ever realized this, he would dwindle quickly into an Office Mouse. That would be too bad because, by and large, he does bring a sense of mild adventure and fun into the workday routine.

I don't pretend to be an authority on office wolves. But girls I have consulted on the subject say they generally fall into three classes — bookkeepers, junior executives, and vice presidents. There is also the Cub Wolf. This is usually an office boy with a desperate case of puppy love for the boss's secretary.

"Bookkeepers want to take you to a horse race on their day off," said one girl. "Junior executives are careful wolves — they want to meet you for a cocktail after work at some out-of-the-way sidewalk bar."

"And vice presidents? Well, they are the pinchers. You have to get out of their way. But I really feel sorry for vice presidents. They are such frustrated men. I guess they really lead lonely lives."

This young lady said the two standard feminine formulas for dealing with office wolves are the classic cold shoulder treatment or the play-dumb answer. "Gee, Mr. Jones, I don't get what you mean."

But there is a simpler and even more effective way of handling the more persistent type.

"Just meet him at the office cooler some morning and whisper to him that you love him desperately and can't live without him," she said. "That will frighten any office wolf out of his skin."

That is the true measure of the breed. The Office Wolf visualizes himself as a gay Casanova going through life being endlessly fascinating. He may think he is searching for romance. But there is one thing he is sure he isn't looking for — and that is more responsibility.

Cleveland Sweeps Series From Yanks In Stadium For First Time Since '47 Season

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

It said here a month ago Cleveland couldn't win the pennant until they learned how to win at Yankee Stadium. Well, bud, they seem to learn fast.

Not since 1947 had the Indians swept a series in the New York Yankees' home park until they humbled the world champs yesterday, 12-5, for a third straight.

The Yankee Stadium jinx, the Vic Raschi hex, the Eddie Lopat whammy all went out the window in this first New York-Cleveland series of the season.

Raschi got his lumps Wednesday and Lopat his yesterday when the Tribe's new cleanup man, Ray Boone, went on the warpath. Boone struck the big blow of the game, a three-run homer in the fifth. It hardly mattered that Cleveland poured over six runs in the ninth.

Feller Is Winner

Bobby Feller was the official winning pitcher as the Tribe finished its first eastern trip with a fine 7-3 record. But Feller needed solid help from Bob Lemon. The Yanks needed Feller for 12 hits in 5 2-3 innings. Lemon gave them only one the rest of the way — a ninth-inning home by Gene Woodling.

This crushing defeat, sinking the Yanks three games under .500 and 5 1-2 games off the lead, came at a particularly embarrassing moment. The latest averages show Archie Wilson, one of the men sent to Washington in the Irv Noren deal, leading the league with a .481 batting average.

Winging home after this successful tour, the Indians were only 18 percentage points behind the leading Boston Red Sox. All even in the "games behind" they have lost one more while winning the other.

The Chicago White Sox salvaged the finale at Boston, 4-2, on Saul Rogovin's five-hit pitching. Ed Stewart's two-run homer off loser Ray Scarborough in the seventh was the crusher, ending the White Sox's six-game losing streak.

Big Jim Rivera, the St. Louis Browns' slumping rookie flash, snapped out of it with a ninth-inning home run that beat Philadelphia, 9-8. Rivera, benched for weak hitting, got into the game just in time to make a sensational catch in the sixth.

Fort Worth Has Unstable Lead

By CHARLIE ESKEW

Beaumont's rugged Roughnecks rode their supremacy over the Dallas Eagles last night into another shot at the Texas League lead, now occupied by Fort Worth by an unstable half-game margin.

Throughout the league, none of the clubs seem willing to get strung out very far behind.

Beaumont last night pounced on their Eagle cousins 5-3 for a fourth win in five tries. And in the meantime, Shreveport gave the Roughs a boost by claiming a second straight triumph over Fort Worth, this time by 9-8 in 10 innings.

Another marathon saw Oklahoma City squeeze out Dallas 4-3 in 12 innings.

Tulsa trimmed the league's margin from top club to bottom to four and a half games by overwhelming San Antonio 9-1.

Since joining the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1948 Preacher Roe has won 68 games and lost only 28 for a .708 percentage.

The first Masters golf tournament was held in 1934 at the Augusta (Ga.) National Golf Club.

game was postponed because of rain and wet grounds. Brooklyn and Cincinnati were not scheduled.

Oilers Capture Third Straight With Win Over Abilene

ABILENE — (AP) — The Blue Sox and the Pampa Oilers played something in the name of baseball here Thursday night for three hours and seven minutes, with Pampa making good both its extra points to win, 14-13 over the defending champions.

The Oilers knocked out 19 base hits, including three home runs, and made seven errors. Abilene could get but 21 hits, made five books, and left 17 base runners stranded.

Fred Schmidt, leading Blue Sox pitcher last year, lost his second game of the new season. He was shelled off the hill in the seventh after giving up 15 hits and 13 runs.

The Blue Sox likewise disposed of Pampa's starting pitcher, veteran Cuban Juan Montero, and continued to work on Morris Shipman.

Early Home Runs

Home runs by Manny Temes and Ed Sudol in the first inning, each with a mate on base, started the assault against Schmidt and gave Pampa four-run lead before the crowd of 1400 could get seated. Abilene counted once in the second, then in the third, the fourth with three unearned runs. After two outs and one error, Montero walked Oscar Williams and Jackie Sullivan. Then Stan Machinsky singled for two runs. Glen Selbo doubled over two more, and Art Bowland walloped a home run far over the right center fence for two more.

Morris Shipman relieved the aging Cuban at that point, walked George Coroná and Bill Praton, but Schmidt ended the party by grounding out.

Preston, Hardin-Simmons senior and member of this spring's Cowboy baseball team, signed with the Blue Sox yesterday as a rookie and played right field.

The six runs gave the Blue Sox only a two-run lead, Pampa having scored once in the third, again in the top of the fourth to take a momentary 6-1 lead.

Tied Game Again

Pampa tied it at 7-all in the fifth, but the Blue Sox went with an attack featuring Macpherson's terrific home run over the center field wall, 382 feet away. Weldon Day, who had walked, scored ahead of him. Glen Selbo got his third straight hit, a single to right, moved to second when the ball got away from Stan Bartkowski, scored on Bobby Brown's fumble at short.

The Oilers came right back in the sixth to tie it up again, 10-10. On Bartkowski's three-run homer over the left wall. They scored three times more in the seventh on consecutive hits by Deck Woldt, Temes, Jake Phillips and Bartkowski, the latter's singleoff Laveré Herrmann who had relieved Schmidt after Phillips' double.

What proved to be the winning run came in the eighth when Don Moore singled, moved up on Shipman's sacrifice, scored after Norm Auerbach's single to right got past Preston.

Abilene counted once in the eighth on three walks and a wind-caught single, and got close in the ninth on a single by Corona, a double by pinch hitter Ramon Fuentes, a long fly by Weldon Day, and a double by Oscar Williams. With the tying run on second, Sullivan went down swinging at George Payte's slants, the latter having relieved Shipman in the eighth with the bases loaded and two out.

Tonight the Oilers open a two-game series against the Lamesa Lobos in Lamesa. Manager Phillips is expected to throw his top right-hander Max Moberg, who has a 3-0 record, at the Lobos. The game affords the Oilers an opportunity to move into second place with a win over Lamesa and an Abilene defeat.

Gold Sox Blank Albuquerque, 5-0

AMARILLO — (AP) — The Amarillo Gold Sox, still managerless, turned the tables on the Albuquerque Dukes here last night in the finale of a two-game series. The Dukes blanked the Gold Sox, 5-0, Wednesday, but Amarillo's right-hander, Gene Wolf, turned the whitewash on the Albuquerque as the Sox won, 8-0, last night.

Wolf fashioned a three-bitter allowing a single in the first, a double in the second and an infield scratch in the sixth. He allowed only one walk.

Abilene counted once in the second, then in the third, the fourth with three unearned runs. After two outs and one error, Montero walked Oscar Williams and Jackie Sullivan. Pioneers Rally To Whip Gassers

BORGER — (AP) — The Clovis Pioneers broke a 6-6 deadlock in the eighth inning, here last night, pushing across eight runs to take a 14-7 victory over the Borger Gassers and gain a clean sweep in the two-day series.

Veteran Manager Lloyd Brown took his chances against the heavy handed Pioneers and was charged with the loss, giving up eight runs and 15 hits in the seven and one third frames he worked.

Jack Gassers went the route for the winners, who have now scored 46 runs in the last 28 innings of play, 31 of these at the expense of the Gassers.

Lobos Tounce Hubbers, 8-5

LAMESA — (AP) — A six-run outburst in the fifth inning sent rookie Earl MacDonald to the showers and gave the Lamesa Lobos an 8-5 victory over the Lubbock Hubbers here last night.

MacDonald, who was coasting along with a 1-0 lead, suddenly lost his stuff in the fifth, allowing Stan Malnowski to lead off with a walk and was safe at second when MacDonald pulled Bill Metzigg off the bag on a fielder's choice. Jim Calahan was safe at first on the play.

Fitcher Ed Arthur then forced Malnowski at third base, but Jackie Wilcox followed with a double that scored Jim Calahan with the Lobos' first run, tying the score at 1-1.

Dukes Sell Lefty Spence To Borger

ALBUQUERQUE — (AP) — Albuquerque Duke owner Cy Faust announced the sale last night of southpaw Bob Spence to the Borger Gassers for an undisclosed sum. Spence, who had a 0-1 record for the Dukes thus far this season, has been very ineffective after showing signs of brilliance in 1950 when he boasted a 16-11 mark. Last season he finished with a 9-11 mark.

Faust also said that Pitcher Steve Lagomarsino had been restored to the active playing list after being on the sick list because of a throat ailment.

Battle Of The Exes Scheduled Tomorrow Night

Futures Face Top Harvesters In Spring Grid Tilt

Pampa football fans will get their first chance to look what was probably the greatest football team ever fielded by Pampa High school when the Exes battle the Futures in the exhibition game at Harvester Park tomorrow night. The game, which will start at 8 o'clock, will conclude the spring training period for the Harvesters of 1952.

The money taken in from the game will go to pay for a fund of the game which will be used to study the mistakes being made by the Futures. It will also pay the expenses of spring training and the repair work done on the lights at the park.

The Futures will conclude their workout this afternoon with a light drill. The Exes held a lengthy workout without pads last night at Harvester Park.

Coch Tom Tipps witnessed the Exes in their workout and was moaning low about losing such fine boys and forecast a dark two hours for the Futures on Saturday night. "It makes me sick to see these kids run through their plays, plays they haven't thought about since the end of last season. They know them better than our kids do, and they've been working on them for almost a month now," Tipps moaned. And railroads.

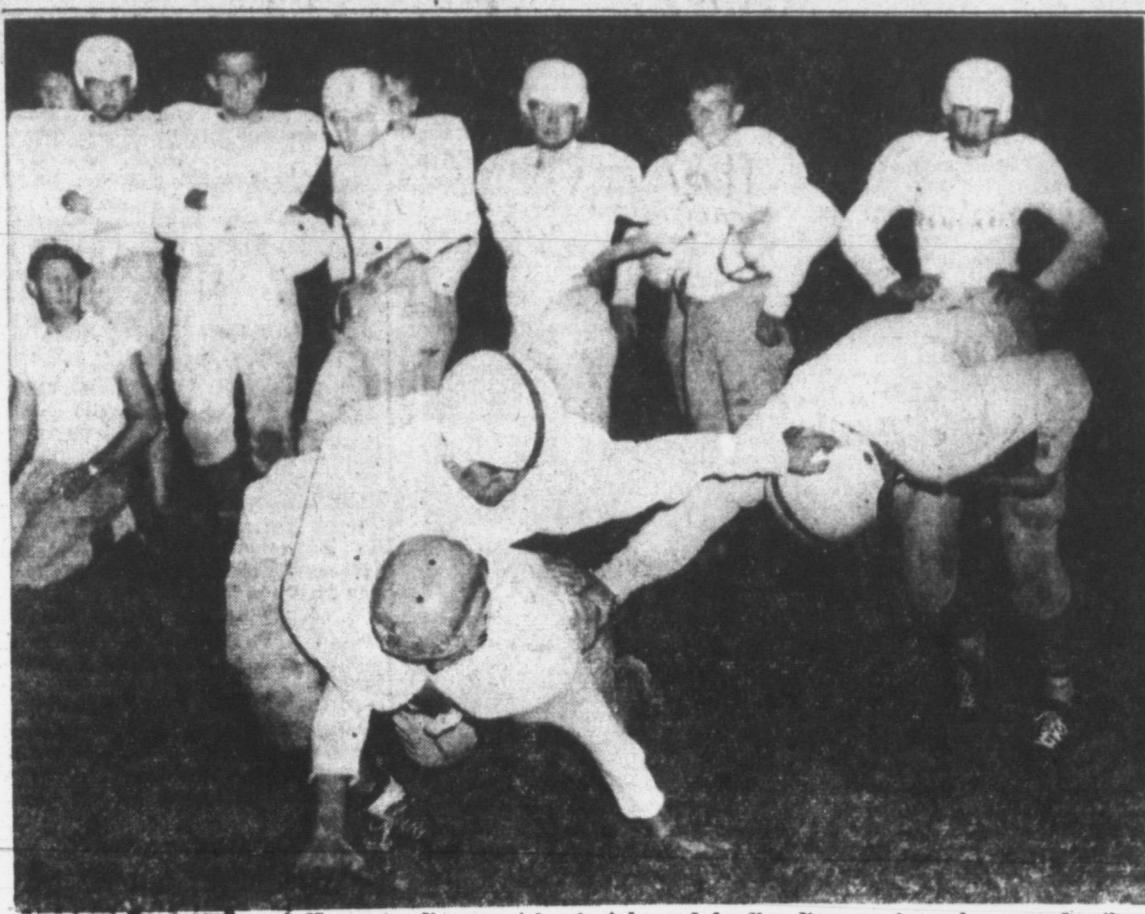

Probable Lineups
The price of admission for the game is $1 for adults and thirty cents for students. All seats will be unreserved and the tickets will go on sale at 7 o'clock at the park ticket booth.

The probable starting lineup for the Exes will have, in the backfield Dewey Cudney or Sid Mills at quarterback, Billy Davis and Darrell Wilson at halfbacks, and John Young at fullback. In the line will be either Tom Hutchison or Billy Don Conkin at center, Bill McPherson, and Charles Kly at guards, Carrey Broyles and Jerry Walker at tackles, and Roy Pool and Jimmy Cook at ends.

For reserves the Exes can call on Don Burns, James Prichard, Harold Courson, G. W. Yeargan, Jim Bob Cox, Charles Williams and Eugene Bonny.

The Harvesters' probable starting lineup will have a backfield of J. N. Wright at quarterback, John Darby and Ed Jusky at halfbacks and David Entole at fullback. Tommy Sells will start at center, Alton Flynn and Bill Pippen at guards, Buddy Cockrell and Richard Qualls at tackles, and Lee Fraser and Jimmy Martindale.

Coaches Tipps, Aubra Nooncafer and Duane Lyon are expected to throw a lot of reserves into the melee in an effort to find out just who are the boys who are going to be doing most of the playing next year for the Green and Gold.

BLOCK HIM OUT — A Harvester linemen tries to take a defending lineman to make room for the ball carrier during a practice session of the Futures as they prepare for their game tomorrow night with the Exes. Hill Gail Faces Big Job Ahead, Yet

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — (AP) — Hill Gail's hopes of becoming king of the three-year-olds seemed to hinge today on how well he can meet two upcoming issues.

Everybody agreed his performance in winning Saturday's Kentucky Derby stamped him a steed of unusual promise, one that might walk away with the championship honors, but before he can sit in the throne room of such former kings as Citation, Whirlaway, Count Fleet and Assault, he must:

1. Show that he can go the longer distances, such as the mile and one-half route of the Belmont Stakes later this spring.
2. Prove that he's master of other three-year-olds that weren't ready for the Derby, including Tom Fool, Frigate and Charlie McAdam.

He left no doubt that he was master of the 15 that tried to run with him in the Derby. It was the ease with which he left them behind that had several observers along shed row at Churchill Downs singing his praise today.

Won't Be Held Back
But even those who were sold most solidly on the new name in colts, Farm's great collection of thoroughbreds mused speculatively on Hill Gail's determination to turn on the speed the minute he's out of the starting gate.

Jockey Eddie Arcaro said he couldn't restrain the colt. He said he wanted another horse or two to set the pace into the stretch, but that Hill Gail wouldn't have any part of Hannibal running in front of him. Arcaro let his horse ease into the lead about a half-mile from home.

Speed horses rarely can save enough steam for the stretched-out classics such as the mile and one-half Belmont, a quarter-mile longer than the Derby. But Hill Gail's time in the Derby indicates he can run both fast and far. He missed the race record by a fifth of a second, touring the route in 2:10 3/5. Whirlaway, another Calumet speedster, set the record in 1941.

The strongest argument in Hill Gail's behalf is that none of the other horses were threatening seriously to overtake him. There's a doubt that even Sub Fleet, the second finisher and fastest horse up the stretch, could have caught him.

Black Oilers Beaten

The Pampa Black Oilers opened their home season Wednesday night with a 17-10 loss to the Briscoe club of the Red River Valley League. The game was played at Oiler Park.

May 18 the Black Oilers will meet the Wellington colored team at Oiler Park in the next home game.

disconsolate lefty pitched only one complete game, won one and lost two.

Great at Phoenix
This spring, sore in spirit, Montia made life equally miserable for the Giants batters in practice at Phoenix. One day in particular he was, as they say, throwing aspirin tablets. The hitters really got no practice at all. They just stood well back from the plate and waved.

"Look at that boy throw!" exclaimed Tom Sheehan, the Giants' chief scout. "If only he could have been at Minneapolis last year, working every third or fourth day, he would be ready now."

Okay, why wasn't he sent out? "Not a chance of getting waiters. Every club in the league would try to grab him." Well, why not let one of them have him? He says he's got to pitch regularly to be effective. "If I did that," said pitching Coach Frank Shellenbach, "we would find ourselves batting against him. That is not a happy thought."

Meet Your Oilers

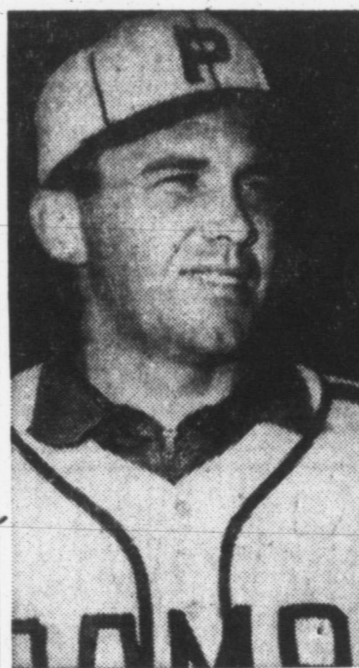

A very popular and respected ballplayer around the West Texas-New Mexico League is the new Oiler manager, Jake Phillips. Jake is a native Texan, being born in Fort Worth on June 19, 1924. He still makes the Cowtown his winter home. Jake graduated from Polytechnic High school in Fort Worth and then went to Texas Wesleyan College, where he was a classmate of the Harvesters' basketball coach, Clifton McNeely. Jake was an all-around athlete, participating in football, basketball and baseball with equal ability.

Jake is married, his wife's name is Gene. There is one future ballplayer in the family, Scottie, age five.

Phillips broke into pro ball with Orleans, N. Y., in 1942. The next year he entered the service of the United States Air Force, where he remained until 1945. The 1946 season he stayed right at home and played with Fort Worth, where he also started the '47 season before being shipped to Spokane, Wash. The next year was split between St. Paul and Greenville.

He dropped out of professional ball in 1949-50, playing with the Sinton, Tex., Plymouth Oilers, and managing them to fourth place in the semi-pro baseball congress tournament in 1950. He returned to pro ball last year, signing up with Texarkana, and then moving to Pampa early in the season.

Jake is righthanded all the way, and carries a hard-hitting bat everytime he steps up to the plate. He stands 5 feet, 11 inches

Southwest Conference Opens Expansion Question Today

DALLAS — (AP) — The Faculty Committee, governing body of the Southwest Conference, begins deliberations today on the question of whether or not to expand.

Outside looking in are University of Houston and Texas Tech, each eager to hit the big-time. The committee will decide by tomorrow morning on the application of these two schools. Tech first tried for admittance as far back as 1927. University of Houston made its first attempt in 1948.

General opinion is that University of Houston doesn't have much chance of getting in this time but that Texas Tech stands a most excellent chance. Three conference members are committed to Tech and the University of Texas has announced that it will make the motion to admit the big West Texas school.

Texas A&M and Texas Christian are in the Tech camp and Baylor is also believed ready to cast an affirmative vote. Only one other will be needed and Arkansas is reported due to furnish that.

While the conference athletic directors, coaches and business managers of athletics hold meetings today to decide whether they will recommend equal distribution of bowl game receipts, if they favor placing a limit on athletic scholarships and what they want to do about television, radio, the Faculty Committee will hold an afternoon and night session.

Contests Continue
And the athletic contests of the conference are going on.

Wesley Ellis of Texas leads the golf tournament going into its final 36 holes. Ellis shot a nine-over-par 149 yesterday in going out front over the first 36 holes. Don Addington of Southern Methodist was second with 153.

Two of the four seeded players in the conference tennis tournament came through to the semifinals. Julian Oates of Texas, seeded No. 1, and R. G. DeBerry of Texas A&M, rated No. 2, reached the penultimate round.

Eugene Letos of Texas A&M, seeded No. 3 and Walton Miller of SMU, ranked No. 4, were defeated. Letos lost to David Telford of Baylor, 3-8, 10-8, 6-1, and Miller was beaten by Tommy West of Texas A&M 6-2, 6-1.

Going into the semi-finals with Oates and DeBerry were Charles Bloodworth of Texas and Telford. The conference track and field meet opens this afternoon with finals in the javelin throw and preliminaries in three field events and six running events. All other finals will be tomorrow afternoon. Texas A&M is a heavy favorite to repeat as team champion.

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK — (AP) — The rules of baseball go to elaborate lengths to protect the rights of the individual player, to make certain that a talented youngster is given a fair chance to make good in the big leagues and cannot be kept indefinitely in the low-salary minors at the whim of some owner who doesn't like the way he parts his hair.

Perhaps the most important safeguard is the rule which says that a player who has been in one big show for three seasons may not be sent back to the minors until every one of 15 other major league clubs has said it doesn't want him even at the waiver price of $10,000, which approximates a thin dime in these days of inflated price tags.

That seems fair enough to all parties. Certainly it protects a player from petty treatment. Yet in certain cases — and you can bet we have one in mind — the rule may work a severe hardship both on an aspiring athlete and on the club which owns him.

Throw in Anger
You may have noticed that Montia Kennedy, a southpaw who throws possibly the fastest ball in the game today, did a remarkable stint of relief pitching for the New York Giants the other day. He held the hot Chicago Cubs to a lone single for 5 1/3 innings, retired 17 men in a row and was, in a word, sensational.

Those were the first balls the tall, raw-boned Virginian had thrown in anger for 23 days, since he blew a late inning lead in an exhibition game against Cleveland at Evansville, Ind. The victory was the first he had scored for the National League champions since last May 19, nearly a year ago. Yet he had been around all the time in between, eating his heart out either on the bench or in the bullpen.

Kennedy has been with the Giants since 1946, except for part of the '48 season at Minneapolis. Until the past two years the club was pretty desperate for pitching, and the lefthander was fairly regular starter, despite his wildness and fielding lapses. As late as 1949 he pitched 14 complete games and won 12 while losing 14. There were many days when his sinking fast ball was virtually uncatchable and one would have sworn he was on the brink of true greatness.

But in 1950, as Sal Maglie and Jim Hearn struck their stride and the Giant's staff attained depth, there was less work for Kennedy and his wildness increased on his rare appearances. Last year, locked in a tense pennant race, Manager Leo Durocher could take no chances and gave up on Montia completely. The

GOOD GOLF'S EASY . . . NO. 5 Straight Back and Through; Swing Is Simple, Says Jack

(Fifth of a series as told to Harry Grayson, NEA Sports Editor)

By JACKIE BURKE
Golf's Newest Star

The swing is very simple. The club is taken straight back from the ball in the backswing. It is brought back straight through the ball in the downswing.

That's all there is to it, and don't let anyone tell you differently.

Many good golfers know whether they will play well the instant they pick up a club. The feel of the club tells them.

If the hands are sensitive enough to feel a good shot, it must be that the hands and forearms are the most important factors.

If the hands and forearms are TEL BY DOLORES AD SPT 2-24 STEAIGHT BACK

If the hands and forearms are properly coordinated, the shoulders, hips and pivot will follow naturally.

Those obtaining an early start especially as cardies, usually fall naturally into a simple, correct swing. Like the players of all other games, those who play in their extreme youth have a decided advantage over late starters.

Simplification of the swing is especially essential to those who start late. They haven't had the advantage of imitating a smooth swing in their youth—literally growing up with one.

Some well-known teachers stress factors that I don't believe any ordinary golfer should worry about. There are a number of elements to the swing, but the average player has so many other things on his mind he cannot find room in his brain to worry about all of them.

I believe that if the average golfer can get some of the worries of a complicated swing out of his mind he gets more out of golf and plays a better game. Simplify the stroke. Pay attention to the hands and forearms. Adopt a comfortable and relaxed stance.

Then take the club straight back from the ball and bring it back through the ball in the same groove on the downswing. Just think about making the shot as well as you can.

Don't try to clear the ball. A good swing will take care of the results you want, so forget results while making the swing.

That makes the simplest, most mechanically sound swing you can hope for. And remember—no swing, no chance.

NEXT: Try to improve.

ON LINE — Bring the club straight back from the ball.

Liberalized' Fishing Pays Off

By AL McLEAN
Fishing Editor

One of the trickiest reverse plays in the game of fish management has apparently paid off, because Ohio has thrown all waters open to "liberalized" fishing. You still need a license, but there's no closed season, no legal length, and no bag limit. The only areas closed to fishing are state hatcheries, certain bathing beaches, and a few small fish sanctuaries.

It took 15 years of fact finding to liberalize the first lake, but in 1950 they opened 100 lakes to unrestricted fishing, and the result was a jolt—under maximum fishing pressure none of the ponds showed more than the normal amount in their fish populations.

Ohio figures about 25 percent of the big breeder fish put out in the past 20 years have been snaffled by lucky Waltonians.

How not to lose bass? Stop using dull hooks. According to a recent survey, 90 percent of the anglers fishing for bass today are using such blunted hooks that a terrific sock is needed to penetrate the bone and gristle in a bass' choppers.

Even a strong arm pull isn't good insurance, because the fish is moving fast and hitting the bait at an angle. I would suggest a small carborundum stone or an Arkansas stone as regular equipment; just wipe the stone long the barb toward the hook point each time you go fishing. The point should be needle sharp so that it sinks in with an easy tightening of the line.

Bluegills are very smart fish. Did you ever watch a school of them in the water? A trout or pike would rush away the instant an angler came in view, but not the bluegill.

Most folks think the fish have had bad optics because they go about their business in plain sight, but actually they can read the label on your boots. You're just getting the cold shoulder. If you become a nuisance the school will drift away, but otherwise the bluegill will keep one eye on you

LIU Star Held On Bribe Charge

NEW YORK — (AP) — Termed a "fixer, player, gambler and double-crosser," former Long Island University basketball star Jackie Goldsmith was held without bail today after pleading guilty to two counts of bribery in the college court scandal.

General sessions Judge Saul S. Streit ordered the 32-year-old former player held yesterday pending sentencing on May 28.

Assistant District Attorney Vincent A. G. O'Connor hung the "fixer, player, gambler and double-crosser" tag on Goldsmith, and added:

"He has never shown the slightest desire to cooperate and has taken a hardened criminal attitude."

Goldsmith pleaded guilty in the bribing of New York University player Connie Schaff to fix the points in a game with Cornell last year.

Oliver Leading Greenbrier Open

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. — (AP) — Ed (Pokey) Oliver shot the best tournament round of his professional golf career yesterday and he'd better keep on doing it to win the 72-hole Greenbrier Open.

The jolly golfer built like a barrel rolled out a near-record 61 in the first 18 holes on the old white course.

But still stalking him is the great Sam Snead for whom this is home course. Snead is second by three strokes, and the way Sam's playing, Oliver can't afford to falter.

Snead set the 18-hole record of 60 the same year, although not in the tourney.

Oliver, playing out of Lemont, Ill., missed by a hair tying Snead's record 60 on the last hole, a putt for a birdie just failing to drop.

Longhorn League Attendance Up

ABILENE — (AP) — The Longhorn League is getting off to a faster start at the gate than last year.

League President Hal Sayles said the average attendance of games reported to date is 961 as compared with 837 in 1951.

In the first 45 games, including reports from all eight parks, attendance totaled 44,135 against a figure of 27,684 last year.

Biggest gains were reported at Midland and Big Spring.

Sayles predicted the League's attendance will easily top a half million for the season because the fans are seeing better baseball, faster games and a tighter race.

"This time last year San Angelo was far out in front and there was a ten-game spread between the top and bottom club," Sayles said. "Now we've got a good three-way battle for first place and all eight clubs are within striking distance of the first division."

Magazine Editor Speaks At District THDA Meeting

"As long as women are a part of a home, attempting to bring harmony into it, we're approaching security from the chaos of the rest of the world," Miss Iris Davenport, woman's editor of the Farm and Ranch - Southern Agriculturalist, said in a speech to District Texas Home Demonstration Area delegates Thursday.

Miss Davenport explained the many definitions of the home because there are many homes, but she discussed aspects of the ideal home where two factors are important: tangible and intangible things.

"Money can build and furnish a house," Miss Davenport said, "but it can't build a home. The foundation of a home is laid in the hearts of the family and the walls are made strong or weak by each decision that comes from within that family."

She stressed the importance of a family council where all members of the family have a voice. Harmony is never found in a home where one dominates the scene. Each one is a distinct part of the family unit, and must feel individualistic and secure.

"If too much importance is placed on the tangible things," Miss Davenport said, "we become indifferent, impatient, because we become a shell, and the family, the community, and the nation are the losers. We often do not give the term 'standard living' enough thought. It is more what we do with things we have, rather than attaining more in short, when families are too busy HAVING they stop BEING."

Miss Davenport told the 250 delegates present that parents today do not give children enough responsibility in the home, and unless they have responsibilities and also share in the profits, they don't get proper recognition. She encouraged mothers to be "leave the little things to they do for their families are important, even though it sometimes seems their acts go unnoticed."

"Intangible things mothers do and say never go unnoticed by children. They're important in making a child feel safe and secure. The mother's influence and the pattern for the entire family should be to bar the home from worry, anxiety and fear. She must be loving, understanding, faithful and courageous—those intangible things make a happy home and encourage harmony in the home."

Following Miss Davenport's address, Miss Bonnie Cox, organizational specialist from Texas A&M, discussed the state meeting in Dallas.

Miss Dunlap Gives Merten Club Program
Miss Helen Dunlap, county home demonstration agent, presented a demonstration on "Cereals in the Family Food Supply" at the Merten Home Demonstration club meeting this week in the home of Mrs. W. E. McCracken. Mrs. J. C. Steward, new president, presided at the meeting.

Miss Dunlap pointed out that cereals are abundant in this country and economical. "We can make things of whole flour, but it doesn't have white flour, but it doesn't have whole grain. Soy contains amino acid which has all the building stones, such as eggs, and cheese. Whole cereals have carbohydrates and starches and Vitamin A, which is important as it helps eyes. Certain minerals such as iron, which is a good builder of red corpuscles, and mineral calcium are also found in the whole grain of wheat and its products.

"There is a law in the state that all white flour is enriched. In comparing whole grain flour with white enriched, we know that whole grain flour has six times the amount of Vitamin B-1, several times the riboflavin, several times the Vitamin E, five times as much iron, four times as much phosphorus and two times as much calcium.

"Wheat is the oldest and most valuable to us today; it was called corn in Bible times. Another grain is oats, which we associate with the Scots, who claim that at one time oats saved their lives. They lived on wild raw grain since it wasn't cultivated in those years. Oats are now a favorite in America."

Corn meal, rye and barley were also discussed by Miss Dunlap, who concluded her demonstration by baking whole wheat muffins, and serving to members present.

During the business session, Mrs. V. Day was elected vice president, and Mrs. Clyde Edmondson presented plans for the family picnic to be held in the park, Tuesday, May 13.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Human Factor Can Help Your Bridge

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
The trouble with certain bridge players is that they think only with their own brains. Sometimes it's more important to think with an opponent's brains.

Take today's hand for example. South was brilliant—except that he forgot the human factor. South ruffed the opening diamond lead, cashed the ace of hearts, and then led the ten of spades. It was a splendid idea—as far as it went. He was willing to give up one trump trick to make sure of getting to dummy with the nine of spades. Then he would discard low clubs on the king and queen of hearts. When this hand was played, nearly 20 years ago, the East cards were held by Lee Hazen. Today Hazen is one of the best bridge players in the country, but at that time he had been playing the game for only a few months. Nevertheless it wasn't difficult for him to see that declarer was trying to give up a trump trick in order to reach dummy. So East refused to win the trick.

Declarer was still far from beaten. He laid down the ace of clubs and followed with the king of clubs. If Hazen ruffed, the defense would be washed up. Declarer would win any return, capture the jack of trumps, and enter dummy with the nine of trumps. Beginner though he was at the time, Hazen could see declarer's

Defense Department Books Entertainment For G. I.s

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — The world's biggest booking office is not in the talent centers of New York and Hollywood. It's in Washington, D. C. The head of this glocal entertainment agency is a round-faced, enthusiastic Air Force colonel named Joseph Goetz. In Hollywood to help line up a movie premiere in Alaska, he told me how his office dispatches talent to wherever U. S. troops are serving overseas. The agency bears the typically military title of Armed Forces Professional Entertainment Branch. Otherwise there is little resemblance to a governmental agency: Red tape is kept at a minimum. "The branch was set up last June by Anna Rosenberg, assistant secretary of defense for manpower and personnel," said Col. Goetz. She recognized the need for a unified agency to handle the entertainment needs for all the services overseas. And she didn't want any time wasted. I was at my job four weeks before my orders came through. To make it an all-service outfit, the Air Force Colonel was joined by a Colonel of the Army and a lieutenant commander, representing the Navy and Marine Corps.

"The backbone of our operation is not composed of the big name stars. It is the USO units of tap dancers, jugglers, acrobats, magicians, singers and so forth. We always have 14 of these units throughout the world at one time. There are always three units in Korea, and we send out a new one every three weeks." The entertainment branch has sent to Korea the Jack Benny-Errol Flynn Troupe and those headed by Danny Kaye and Betty Hutton. Jennifer Jones and Audrey Totter went over on "Hand-shaking tours"; not being entertainers, they perform by personal visits with the servicemen. Al Jolson, first star to play in Korea, went on his own initiative. Bob Hope also made his own arrangements. "Eob is a separate corporation," Col. Goetz explained. "When he wants to go somewhere, he just takes off. That's okay with us, because Bob has done more worldwide service entertaining than any other star." The officer added that more big names are needed for entertainment, particularly in Korea.

Controls Limit A Free Market

A short time ago one of our leading oil companies issued its annual report. An unusual feature was a preface in which the board of directors declared their faith in freedom of competition. They struck out hard at any restrictive agreements or understandings with competitors which limit the free market, as well as restraining decrees and controls of government—both, they said, are obnoxious. Competition, the statement went on, is the "only effective regulator of economic enterprise and the only true guarantor of efficient public service."

The sole alternative to competition is a government-directed economy. Such a substitute for the competitive market place eventually would end all freedom, leaving to the individual nothing but the necessity of obeying authoritarian decrees controlling all his activities.

The oil industry itself provides magnificent proof of the fruits that follow freedom of competition. It is made up of thousands of different concerns. Some are big and some are small. They involve every phase of the business of producing, refining, transporting, distributing, and research. Some operate nationally and some are purely local enterprises. But, in every case, they must vigorously compete for business, and if they fail to do a good job their customers will soon go elsewhere. The result is more oil products, better oil products, and cheaper oil products for the nation.

The Fight Is For Real And For Life

Incredibly writes itself across the face of the average American audience when an authoritative anti-Communist speaker exposes persons and movements engaged in conditioning this republic for destruction.

In nothing have the Kremlin's agents been more astute than in capitalizing on the American's easy acceptance of slogans and labels. The extent to which we have been played for suckers is appalling. More appalling is the fact that those who have led the fight to root out crypto-Communists—whether they be in government, the schools or the pulpit—have had to face organized smear and boycott and in more cases than we know, danger of life itself. It is a shame unmatched in our history—it might well be an omen of our imminent reduction to slavery—that we have penalized our patriots and thrown the mantle of every possible legal protection around the political and intellectual rats who would do this nation in.

The land of the free and the home of the brave doesn't want to be bothered. Stalin is most agreeable to that mood. The disturbers are those who look behind labels and reveal the real purpose of certain educational and political trends. They have even had the bad manners to examine here and there the attitudes and associations of that modern American divinity, the university professor.

As Americans, we make big talk about "getting things straight." Well, let's get this straight: The old and proper name for Western civilization is Christendom. As partakers of that civilization, we have had blessings unknown to any other culture. For untold generations God for us, has been the creator and lawgiver. We live under a mighty debt to our forefathers and we have an eternal responsibility to our children.

Other idiots in history besides Communists have had the concept of man without God, but the scope of the present effort to destroy religion is without parallel. Atheism is the central dogma of communism. It is the ultimate Evil and it has the assistance of Hell itself.

We can recognize the issue for what it is—or we can learn in bitter and perhaps final darkness what we refused to see in the light.

How To Make Money

We sneaked a peek at a rival newspaper the other day to discover this little gem.

Fred Othman, a Scripps-Howard staff writer recently reported that a Kansas City, Mo., combine leased Camp Crowder, Mo., from the government in 1949 for $27,943 a year, then rented it right back to the government for $672,335 a year.

The purpose of the renting back to the government was to provide a building for the storage of grain.

He added that when the Army demanded return of its barracks grain speculators turn up about 50,000 bushels short, so the Commodity Credit Corporation, a government agency, is now trying to lay hands on $530,960 of the taxpayers' money—the value of the missing grain.

The next time someone says "you never had it so good" it might be a good idea to tell them of Othman's story.

BETTER JOBS

What Does Eisenhower Think?

In the last issue I was quoting from the magazine "Headlines." It has issued a special edition on Gen. Eisenhower, the candidate for President who will not let the voters know what he believes until he is given the nomination without a struggle. Copies of this special edition of "Headlines" can be had for 20 cents by writing to "Headlines", 342 Madison Avenue, New York 17, N. Y.

Herb's article from the front page of "Headlines" under the heading "Elect Ike, Spend More For Foreign Aid, Says Javits"

"NEED EISENHOWER TO COMBAT POVERTY IN POOR COUNTRIES"

"Congressman Jacob Javits, a Me-too Republican, has been vigorously campaigning for Eisenhower in recent weeks. Most speakers for Ike have been dealing in generalities when it comes to explaining what Ike stands for. Representative Javits is different. He frankly says that the Republican Party needs Ike's leadership to put over a bigger and better New Deal giveaway program for Europe, Asia, Africa and elsewhere.

"On February 15th, Mr. Javits told the Women's National Republican Club that the G.O.P. must sponsor an aggressive program to combat poverty in the backward countries of the world. It was to be done in three ways:

"First, by inspired and decisive leadership. "Second, by heavy reliance on the productive resources of the American private economy, which has been little utilized in terms of the economic reconstruction of the free world.

"Third, by a bold and venturesome expansion of the present foreign assistance program. . . . "Those of us who support Gen. Eisenhower have done so because we believe that in this field he is without an equal."

Here is another article from page one of "Headlines" under the heading of "Financial Angels of New Deal Are Now Boosting Ike": "DEMOCRATS AND RED-FRONTERS PREDOMINATE AT FIRST MAKE EISENHOWER PRESIDENT" RALLIES

"For a candidate who is being presented as a conservative alternative to the Communist-riden Roosevelt-Truman New Deal and Fair Deal and Communist Fellow Traveler sponsorship and support.

"The Eisenhower Bandwagon Committee," which staged the recent, silly spectacle at Madison Square Garden, is an interesting case in point. Its list of sponsors reads like a roll call of Roosevelt-Truman Left-Wingers recruited from Broadway's theatre and nightclub belt.

"A third of the Committee members have citations in government files for their affiliations with Communist front organizations. "Six members—Russell Crouse, Oscar Hammerstein, Moss Hart, Quentin Reynolds, Richard Rodgers, and Arthur Schwartz—were original sponsors of the Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences, and Professions, organized by the Communists to support the Roosevelt-Truman ticket in 1944. This outfit changed its name to the National Council of the Arts, Sciences and Professions and arranged the Scientific and Cultural Conference for World Peace at the Waldorf-Astoria, which was denounced by the State Department as a Soviet-inspired effort to wreck the Atlantic Pact.

"Five members—Rodgers, Crouse, Hammerstein, Hart, and Howard Lindsay—sponsored an ad in the New York Herald Tribune, October 27, 1947, paid for by the Socialist-front Americans for Democratic Action, which defended the Hollywood Communists and denounced the Congressional Committee on Un-American Activities.

"One member, Quentin Reynolds, a featured speaker at the 1944 Democratic convention which nominated Harry Truman, was a sponsor of the Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee, branded as 'subversive and Communist' by the Department of Justice, which had C. G. Ehrhard-Eisler, No. 1 Soviet agent in America, on its payroll.

"The Eisenhower 'Bandwagoners' also include Arthur Loew, who with his associates contributed $31,500 to the Democratic National Committee in 1949 and 1950; William Zeckendorf (the man responsible for establishing UN headquarters in New York), who contributed $4,000 to the Democratic National Committee in 1949 and 1950; and Max Krieland, owner of the fabulous night club '21', who contributed to the 'National Committee for an Effective Congress', a small organization that fought the re-election of anti-Communist Senators.

Another incongruous Eisenhowerite is Faye Emerson, who was featured performer at the 'Bandwagon' noise-fest. Miss Emerson, the former Mrs. Elliot Roosevelt, contributed $500 to the Democratic National Committee in 1950.

Prior to that, she was a sponsor of the Progressive Citizens of America, which supported Henry A. Wallace for President in 1948.

"Why all these confirmed New Deal Democrats and Left Wingers are now whooping it up for Ike is an intriguing question. "Republicans had better take a searching look at such fugitives from Roosevelt and Truman and the Communist front apparatus, and at their backgrounds and motives, before letting them dictate the nominee at Chicago."

About Operations Too

Henry Says Love In A Canoe Is Not What They Say It Is

By HENRY McLEMORE This is probably the silliest column I ever wrote, but it presented me with one of the most impossible problems I have ever faced.

My two pups, one a beagle, and the other a cocker, showed definite signs of dog distress. The first symptom of their illness was that neither would keep me awake all night by jumping over my head while I tried to sleep. Then they curled up in a corner and refused to eat when I gave them especially nice food.

I looked at their ears; I fondled their paws; I practically wore out their noses touching them. I even went so far as to sleep on the couch and give the dogs the bed.

Do you know what those pups had? One, the cocker, had appendicitis, and the beagle had inflamed tonsils. I defy any man on the Lord's green earth to diagnose these two ailments in pups. I am quite sure that Professor Einstein, given a pup with appendicitis, would have no dreaming idea of what to do. I'm equally sure that if you give a beagle with tonsillitis to Dr. Openheimer, or Dr. Conant of Harvard, they would be utterly lost. I have mentioned three men who can blow up the world, each of whom is respected wherever a scientist lives.

Problems such as appendicitis in a cocker and tonsillitis in a beagle are something no man on earth is prepared for. Mama and Papa teach you honesty, table manners, and always to stand up when a girl or a lady comes into a room. They teach you the value of thrift. In school and college you are taught many things that prove valuable when you become a man and go out into the world. Crime does not pay. Jaywalking is dangerous. Waffles made outside of the home are frightful. The square root of twelve is unimportant. Outfielders must hit, but a good fielding shortstop doesn't have to.

There are a thousand bits of knowledge that a man of my age accumulates. Such as, there is no such thing as easy or quick Hollandaise sauce. To continue, no woman ever bought a cheap dress that didn't look close to what it was, shoes that squeak should be given away, nylon shirts dry quickly but I'd rather wear an iron vest in summer because they have all the absorbency of Grant's Tomb.

To continue, most airplane pilots don't have cold blue eyes and look beyond the far horizons, as most writers say they do; most people don't brush their teeth for two minutes as dentists advise, love in a canoe is highly exaggerated, and when they invented homogenized milk they made it impossible for poor people to have cream for coffee.

To get back to my poor pups, I took them to a veterinary and he didn't have any better solution to the problem than I. He told me something which I already knew, that the dogs were sick. He ran a test called "Kiddare" and I knew I couldn't pay that sort of fee. Movie surgeons come high.

The pups have been operated on and they are back home. I don't know what the vet took out, probably rascality. All I know is that they are parking, and dancing again, and that is all I ask. I told the vet I thought they had tonsillitis and appendicitis, and he said, "Leave that up to me."

I'm quite sure you aren't interested, but do you know what I'm doing today, appendicitis and tonsillitis. As soon as I hear a bark I'm going to get operated on.

That's all. I told you it was a silly column. But I must tell you it's utterly true.

Bid For A Smile

"Three dudes were walking along the street one morning," the story goes, "and met an aged minister, with long white hair and hearing aid, and called out, 'Hello, Father Abraham.' The second said, 'Hello, Father Isaac.' And the third said, 'Hello, Father Jacob.' The minister, seeing the situation, and likewise using scripture, quietly replied, 'I am neither Abraham, nor Isaac, nor Jacob, but Saul the son of Kish, who went forth to hunt his father's asses. And behold I have four sons.'"

LOOKING SIDWAYS

By WHITNEY BOLTON A brace of young ladies, whose paths I have crossed from time to time, broke into print almost simultaneously the other day, one wearing the mask of contrived abandon and the other the mask of calculated virtue. It would be fascinating to know how much each was on the level.

Not only do the names of these ladies rhyme but each is considered pretty good in the acting business, each has lived a life of exemplary conduct and each, up to now, has not dandered the press on her knee while issuing printable quotes. The ladies are Miss Ann Baxter and Miss Phyllis Thaxter, and all I can deduce from the whole thing is that Miss Thaxter feels like tossing a dart at Miss Baxter. I am not used to ladies who fight each other with the manuals of 8 p.m. type, but I suppose that is as good a weapon as any, being solid, sturdy and capable of inflicting damage.

Miss Baxter came to bat first, announcing that she had decided that her eminence as an actress and her position as a wife and mother and that she intended to smoke up the place with some public fireworks designed to make her look desirable. It seems that every time Miss Baxter won an award for acting talent she fell four notches in public esteem as a glamorous girl and, in the glamour ranks, she had considerable of an example to follow: her grandfather, Frank Lloyd Wright, the architect, had worn red fish on his wedding night. I gathered that Miss Baxter considered this a very sporting garment and that she would go all out to uphold the family tradition of acting department.

Well, now, I don't believe a word of all this nonsense. I don't think Miss Baxter is a little brown hen sitting home clucking contentedly to herself, you understand, but neither do I believe she is a charming fatale, issuing rockets and Greek fire from both eyes and knocking the lads for windows at every appearance. She is an excellent actress, an unusually intelligent and extremely pretty girl who is and has been married to a personable young actor named John Hoak and likes her marriage. I don't think their home life is filled with peacocks and baked grapes, with dancing girls swaying to ribboned lutes either. What I think is that Miss Baxter saw a fat chance to grab some free space and grabbed it with a defiant manifesto. Like here. She grabbed this space.

Exactly twelve hours after this incandescent stance was announced, Miss Baxter arrived at the rotary presses with a bolting statement that no one needed "hot copy" to get ahead in the movies. She said she didn't think one needed to be shot at or ride tighty belted on an elephant in order to be successful and closed her sermonette with the opinion that she was having any trouble catching her way in movies and her life was normal in every respect, including such humdrum jobs as washing the dishes and washing the furniture. She also said she would not leave her husband or burp down her house to get some free space.

The last I heard, no one said she had to. Of the two statements I am more entertained by Miss Baxter's than by Miss Thaxter's. I think Miss Thaxter, for all her unassailable virtues as a homemaker and health queen, is sounding a mite smug about her conduct. She is saying, with a smirking smile: "Looka me, I don't get drunk or nothin' and they like me in movies, too." Someone is bound to rise up and tell me it is questionable of me to prefer the statement of an avowed calf raiser (which she certainly isn't) to that of a sworn homemaker. I think Miss Thaxter maintains a nice home and a normal one and a pleasant one, but for the life of me I can't call her blessed for it. Or at least for snagging public attention by doing what, probably, 45,000,000 other women do without a line of type in the papers to call their own.

National Whirligig.. Truman Held Responsible For Go-Ahead Signal In Korea

One day each week this veteran Washington newspaper correspondent devotes his column to answering readers' letters of general interest on national and international policies and personalities. Questions may be sent direct to Ray Tucker at 6308 Hillcrest Place, Chevy Chase, Md.

By RAY TUCKER WASHINGTON — "There seems to be great confusion as to how the Korean war is being conducted," writes C. H. O. of Buffalo, N. Y. "A says that the United Nations initiated this action. B says that President Truman was directly responsible without any go-ahead signal from the UN, but that the UN later confirmed the action by agreement and the sending of token forces."

INTERVENTION — Answer: B is correct. As soon as word of the North Korean Communist's crossing of the 38th parallel with armed forces was reported to Washington, President Truman summoned a council of his military and diplomatic advisers at Blair House. With the exception of Louis A. Johnson, then secretary of defense, they favored American intervention. Johnson was concerned over direct action because of our military weakness in that area, but diplomatic considerations advanced by Secretary Acheson prevailed.

PRESSURED As a result of several conferences, Truman ordered "sea and air" units in the Far East to give assistance to South Korea. He phoned Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the United Nations, asking him to convene an emergency meeting of the UN Security Council.

This body then issued a call for UN members to "furnish such assistance to the Republic of Korea as may be necessary to repel the armed attack." As B. says, the UN was pressured into the conflict by the fact that the United States had already committed its forces.

Indeed, the Security Council could not have reinforced Washington's position, if Moscow had not then been engaged in a boycott of that agency. Had a Stalin representative been present, his veto could have prevented any plant for intervention. And at the time we would have been on our own. As a matter of fact, other UN members have contributed only "token forces" up to now.

Staff to rebuke "Ike" or to restrain him. For Truman to do so would seem to be political discrimination that would help Eisenhower. Moreover, I suspect that Truman would like to see "Ike" become his successor. He is acting that way, according to his own party leaders.

The members of the staff are old friends and former subordinates—comrades in arms, so to speak. They have the kindest feelings toward "Ike," and are plugging for his nomination and election. As such, he will be their next commander-in-chief.

In the last analysis, General Eisenhower is too great a national and world leader to be hamstrung by political or military men who owe so much to him. In fact, it is probably a good thing that the White House and the Pentagon have a broad and generous outlook on these questions.

THANK YOU "Is it true," inquires E. H. G. of Ontario, Cal., "that President Truman once wrote the Communist newspaper, the New York DAILY WORKER, a complimentary article that was published in that sheet?" Answer: It is not true. As many other public figures have done, he sent them a formal, thank-you note because of a favorable comment they had made about him. And at the time the DAILY WORKER was following the Moscow "party line," which advocated friendship and cooperation with the United States.

UNCHRISTIAN "Can you give me the background of Gerald L. K. Smith?" asks Mrs. E. D. of Big Rapids, Mich. "He is founder and publisher of a little magazine called 'The Cross and the Flag,' with an address of 1338 South Grand Street, St. Louis, Mo. "His publication frequently carries smear statements against both Taft and Eisenhower, especially the latter. His statements strike me as both unchristian and untrue." Answer: Smith is one of our best known bigots. I would pay no attention to anything he writes.

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M.D.

There are probably few people in the world who are thoroughly satisfied with their own physical constitutions. Most of us would like to change our feet, faces, legs, back, or some other physical characteristic, to some improved version of same.

Q—I am a boy, 19 years old, height 5 feet 4 inches, and would like to grow taller. My father is 5 feet 6 inches, mother 5 feet 3 inches.

G.M. A—Height is largely a reflection of what is inherited from the parents, plus diet, and perhaps climate and other things. As yet, there is no reliable method of increasing height, and while some additional growth may still occur, it is not likely to be much, and you should learn to accept it along with both some advantages and disadvantages.

Q—About 12 years ago I developed polyps on my nose and had them operated on. I had relief until last year, when I again developed a polyp in my left nostril. I am nervous about this condition.

L.R. A—Polyps are non-cancerous tumors which have a remarkable tendency to regrow after they have been removed. When they do come back, it is well to have them removed again, in most instances, and some people have had them removed time after time.

Q—I have been quite ill with low blood sugar. What can be done for this?

Mrs.L.W. A—Assuming that there is no tumor in the pancreas, or other definite physical cause of that kind, a person with low blood sugar who has symptoms is generally best treated with frequent feedings of high protein (not starchy) foods as erroneously stated in this column, previously. It is best to have the exact diet outlined by the physician who has observed the level of blood sugar and can follow the results of the diet.

Q—My baby is 19 months old, but ever since she was three weeks old she has pulled out her hair and now she eats it as well. I haven't asked our family doctor yet, but I have asked a hair stylist and she said if I don't get her to stop this habit she will ruin her hair cells.

Mrs.A. A—This is an extraordinary habit for this young child. Perhaps it is more likely to hurt her stomach than her scalp in the long run. It is a condition in which you should get your family doctor to help you as soon as possible.

Q—If I take two vitamin A capsules a day, will this make my cataracts disappear?

C.A.D. A—Cataracts are a clouding of the lens of the eye, and are usually due to aging, not to a deficiency of vitamin A.

Yes-sir-ee, the world voted her a day and Heaven was glad. Right now you should wrap up your heart in a card or a package and deliver it at once. She gave you life and love . . . what have you given her? Mother is our warm meal when we are hungry, our extra blanket when cold, our light in a dark room . . . it takes Mother every time.

There is something very special, something extra that comes only from mother . . . she makes us tick. Life will not change Mother's love, death will not conquer it. She is the soaring cloud of radiant rapture that lifts us to new attempts and the strength we need to see us through. This is Mother's Day, may we be with her in Church.

You In The Church...
The Church In You
Form a combination for good. We should attend church regularly. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the CHURCH. Be faithful. Be a Churchman!

ON HIS WAY—His age and destination unknown, white-bearded Mike Wallace mounts his "side-door Pullman at Minneapolis, Minn., to start his annual spring tour. Mike has reportedly been riding the rods for 39 years, lying low in the winter and blossoming out with the crocuses in the spring. He wears two overcoats, two hats and carries all his possessions in a tuxedo bag and under his arm.

President Truman Celebrates Birthday
 WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman is 68 today. His physician, Brig. Gen. Wallace Graham, said that despite the burdens he has carried during his seven crisis-studded years in the White House, the President's health and well-being are "even above the average of men of his age who have not been under similar strain."

Lifting Of Installment Curbs May Prime Pump Of Business

NEW YORK — (AP) — Buying hold items and by many car dealers Dropping of Regulation W Reserve controls — a bit of pump priming appreciated today by many hard pressed retailers and makers of slow-selling house-

"Don't itemize your bill for all these repairs—they're mostly things my husband fixed himself!"

Many have contended that lower down payments and smaller monthly payments was what their ailing business needed. They hope that scuttling of Regulation W will pull into the market consumers who under the curbs couldn't raise the cash required or meet the higher monthly installments.

These merchants and manufacturers, however, may run into some trouble with their bankers. Most merchants let the banks handle their credit paper. And bankers as a rule frown on any "no-down-payment" plan as a poor credit risk. The American Bankers Association is urging members to take a "cautious approach" toward any "competitive scramble" that may follow.

Bankers, however, as a whole seem to approve the Federal Reserve Board's action. They cite it as a recognition of the present business lull, and of the nation's productive capacity which puts most household items in full supply. A few still fear the threat of inflation but most think this bit of pump priming won't hurt.

Auto makers and dealers are even more joyful about the dropping of credit curbs than are the home appliance manufacturers. Car sales have been far from spectacular — just about enough, in fact, to handle the reduced number of cars the makers could put out under material controls.

Now C. I. T. Financial Corp. will extend payment time on new cars to 24 months from the federal reserve's 18-month rule, but will keep the one-third down payment. In San Francisco, however, the world's biggest bank, the Bank of America, announces it will require 30 percent down and extend payment time to 30 months.

On household appliances the bank will require no down payment and give you 24 months to pay.

Buying on the cuff is a well-established American custom. At the end of February — last available figures — Americans owed 13 billion dollars in time payments. Automobiles accounted for about four billion of that.

The federal Reserve curbs had been clamped on after Korea because installment buying is said to spur on inflation. Some have contended that a too-high installment debt total is dangerous for the economy and might topple it.

But installment credit companies contend that the American standard of living owes a lot to them — they make it possible for people to have many things they probably could never get together the cash for.
