Truman Pleads To Make Peace Plan 'Living Thing'

Growing Number Of Strikes Is Causing Anxiety

WASHINGTON, June 27.—(AP)—Government labor agencies made little effort today to conceal their anxiety over the growing number of strikes across the nation.

They looked to President Truman on his return to Washington and the almost simultaneous accession of Federal Judge Lewis B. Schwelb to the cabinet labor portfolio for some move to strengthen the government's position in dealing with the flareup of labor strife.

War labor board staff members say the outbreak, which has been taking every resource of the U. S. conciliation service and WLB's disputes section, is directly attributable to victory in Europe.

Since V-E day the rate of strike occurrences has about doubled with approximately 86,000 workers currently estimated to be staying away from their jobs.

A study shows that these strikes are not directed specifically at government wage policy, although pay does figure in the picture.

As one WLB official puts it, the present crop of strikes had its seed in union rivalry, unsettled grievances.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 27.—(AP)—A movement to win the quickest possible ratification for the United Nations charter grew among conference delegates today. It was spurred on by President Truman's urgent plea to make the new world peace plan "a living thing."

The Chief Executive himself, after making the final address of the 9-week conference yesterday, is en route to Washington, by way of his home at Independence, Mo., to carry the charter formally and personally before the senate next Monday.

"I am sure," he told the delegates of 50 nations here, "that the overwhelming sentiment of the people of my country and of their representatives in the senate is in favor of immediate ratification."

An Associated Press poll which reached 26 of the delegations showed that 29 of the 26 expect their nations to ratify the charter this year.

Before the President's appearance two Americans of the American delegation will open the drive for quick ratification. Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) of the foreign relations committee and Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) left by plane last night to return directly to the capitol. Connally will report to the senate Thursday, and Vandenberg will speak on Friday.

Secretary of State Stettinius also left for Washington with top state department officials last night. Ahead of him is the task of leading the array of witnesses on world organization who will appear before the senate foreign relations committee.

House Committee Okays Rayburn As Next in Line

WASHINGTON, June 27.—(AP)—By a one-vote margin the house judiciary committee today approved President Truman's recommendation that congress make the speaker of the house next in line for the presidency, after the vice president.

The vote was 10 to 9, taken in executive session. Several of those who voted against the bill said they would prefer additional time to study the measure.

The measure, which provides that the speaker of the house be substituted for the secretary of state as the man who would take over the White House in the absence of both an elected president and vice president, now goes to the house floor.

Rep. Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) is the present house speaker.

The bill, written by Chairman Summers (D-Tex.) of the judiciary committee, follows exactly the presidential succession views outlined by President Truman in a recent message.

It provides that should neither a president nor vice president be able to serve, then the presidency should pass to the speaker of the house who must resign to accept the post.

In the event the house was not in session or had no speaker at the time, the president pro tem of the house would assume the office.

OPA Tri-County Trade Meet Set

The meet will be composed of representatives from Roberts, Wheeler and Gray counties.

'THE WORLD MUST USE IT': TRUMAN SAYS CHARTER IS ONLY FIRST STEP

SAN FRANCISCO, June 27.—(AP)—President Truman sent weary authors of the new world charter homeward the world around today with a stern admonition that "if we should falter in the future in our will to use it, millions now living will surely die."

Addressing the glittering closing session of the United Nations conference, the chief executive pounded repeatedly late yesterday on the theme that the drafting of the charter was only a first step. Gesticulating, he declared "The world must now use it."

"The time for action is now," Mr. Truman asserted. "Let us therefore, each in his own nation and according to its own way seek immediate approval of this charter—and make it a living thing."

"I shall send this charter to the United States senate at once. I am sure that the overwhelming sentiment of the people of my country and of their representatives in the senate is in favor of immediate ratification."

The President was interrupted frequently by the applause of delegates from all 50 of the United Nations. One of the loudest bursts came from the seats of the smallest nations—nations which in some instances have only a few thousand people.

Sewer Bond Issues Find Wide Approval

Only 17 voters opposed the passing of the sewer reconstruction and storm sewer bond issues in yesterday's election. Less than one-sixth of this city's voting strength voted in the election.

It was estimated that there are nearly 1500 residents of the city who would have been eligible to vote in the election. The law states that, to vote in a city bond election, the voter must possess a poll tax receipt or exemption and must own property in the city.

The total vote was 208 but five of the ballots were mutilated and could not be counted.

The city commission this morning approved the issue as it was voted. No action will be taken on the matter until a notice for competitive bids is prepared.

Individual companies will have the opportunity to bid on the holding of the bonds. The company bidding the lowest interest rate will issue the bonds.

Under the terms of the issue the sewer reconstruction bond will go toward almost complete reconstruction of the city's sewer system and disposal plant. This will include the

Turkey Is Disturbed Over Russia

ANKARA, June 27.—Turkey, disturbed by reports that Russia is seeking modification of the Montreux convention fixing the status of the Dardanelles, looked toward the United States and Britain today for a hint of their reaction.

While no concrete developments are expected before the impending "Big Three" meeting, it is believed in Ankara that Turkey will sound out opinion in both Washington and London in the meantime.

Few developments affecting Turkey since the start of the European war have stirred Ankara so much as the rumors which have been current for the past 48 hours. While official quarters have remained silent, it is possible to state on reliable authority:

During discussions preliminary to negotiation of a new Turkish-Russian pact of friendship and non-aggression in Moscow, the Russians raised for discussion the questions of the proprietorship of the north-eastern Turkish province of Kars and the possibility of making changes in the Montreux convention which would give the Soviet Union a favored spot with respect to control of the Dardanelles.

No demands have been made as such.

Other questions such as the possibility of permanent Soviet bases on Turkish soil may also have been discussed.

Japanese Troops on Northern Philippines Flee as Trap Closes

By LEONARD MILLIMAN
Associated Press War Editor

An American invasion of Kume island on the flank of newly-acquired Okinawa was reported by Tokyo radio today as Japanese troops in the Northern Philippines fled to the mountains from the jaws of a rapidly closing Yank trap.

Fifty Superforts paced the air with a pre-midnight strike at Japan's largest remaining oil refinery in the second B-29 attack in 14 hours. Smaller units of the Allied air arm listed 7 more small Japanese ships sunk.

Tokyo's unconfirmed invasion report said American amphibious units stormed Kume beaches yesterday, 50 miles west of Okinawa, and were engaged in "heavy fighting" by the defending garrison. Conquest of the island would add another ten square miles to Allied bases in the Central Ryukyu chain being prepared for eventual invasion of Japan.

Between Kume and Okinawa are the American-held Kerama islands which for days Tokyo has reported swarming with invasion forces.

U. S. Tenth army forces mopping up Okinawa ran Nipponese losses up to 11,351 as they round up 802 more prisoners. Most captured in with surrender leaflets in their hands. Others were caught as they waded through shallow waters trying to join ambush squads.

Major prize was finding the shallow caves of Lt. Gen. Mitsuru Ushijima, commander of the 22nd Japanese army, and his chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Isamu Cho. In full battle dress and adorned by all their medals they committed hara kiri last Friday in a cave entrance 100 yards from American foxholes. The discovery accounted for all top commanders of the defeated garrison for bodies of Adm. Minoru Ota and five aides were found earlier with their throats slit.

Japanese hurled new waves of suicide aircraft, including sluggish float planes, at Okinawa Monday. Lost 12 in the attempt and caused no damage. Okinawa-based

With General Arnold's official announcement that B-29's will bomb from Okinawa, interest focuses on the comparative distance between Okinawa and the Tokyo area—a roundtrip saving of about 1,200 miles of broken line on the map above. Pole Government In London Defies Group in Warsaw

LONDON, June 27.—(AP)—The Polish exile government declared today that Meetslaw Tught, minister of interior under former premier Stanislaw Mikolajczak, had refused to accept an appointment as minister of posts and telegraph in the newly-formed Polish government of national unity in Warsaw.

A spokesman for the London Poles declared also that 71-year-old Wincenty Witos, peasant party leader and former premier, might also refuse to join the new Polish administration, set up in Moscow conferences last week.

Poland's government - in-exile claiming full support from Polish armed forces in western Allied territory, insisted it would remain its country's lawful government "even when recognition will be withdrawn."

In a message addressed to Poles throughout the world, the government said:

"The future fate of the Poles will not be alike everywhere. While most will suffer in Poland the cruel realities of a police regime, others will remain in the free world to be spokesmen of those who must remain true."

It described the "national unity" government agreed on in Moscow as "a self-appointed political body composed of communists and foreign agents."

Churchill Denies Montgomery View

WITH CHURCHILL CAMPAIGN TOUR, June 27.—Prime Minister Winston Churchill disagreed today with the view that we were nearly finished or finished in 1941 and declared that as a matter of fact "we were getting stronger every day."

Field Marshal Montgomery told a group of American officers and enlisted men at Wiesbaden, Germany, yesterday that Britain "was finished" in 1941 and could not possibly have survived without American aid.

Churchill made his statement at the northern city of Bradford, where his electioneering campaign carried him today.

Explaining why he felt it necessary for labor party leader Clement Attlee to be present at the Big Three meeting in Berlin next month, Churchill said: "I do not feel strong enough at the moment to speak for Britain with the decided voice I could do before parliament dissolved."

"I am sure from you your mandate and full uncompromising expression of your confidence. I or anyone else in my position will speak with weakened voice in the councils of the world."

BRUSSELS, June 27.—(AP)—King Leopold of the Belgians was reported seeking advice today on practical steps of abdication.

The anti-monarchist political bloc appeared unshaken in its refusal to let Leopold abdicate here instead of in exile. It appeared doubtful that the king ever would enjoy residence in his native land again.

The Paris radio said today 10,000 persons staged a demonstration in the south Belgian city of Charleroi demanding Leopold's abdication.

AUSTIN, June 27.—(AP)—Nine new cases of poliomyelitis in Texas in the past week increased to 237 the total for the year to date.

Half of the year's total was reported in the last three weeks.

New cases last week included 11 in Harris county and six in Galveston county. There were three cases each in Travis, Wichita, Brazoria and Navarro counties; two cases each in Bexar and DeWitt counties; and one each in Austin, Comal, Dallas, Hidalgo, Shelby, Smith, Tarrant and Willbarger counties.

ROBERTS COUNTY PRAISED: MORE AND BIGGER BONDS MUST BE BOUGHT HERE

According to reports from the war finance committee, Judge S. D. Stennis, chairman of the committee, announced this morning that Roberts county has attained 120 per cent of its quota. Judge Stennis is urging everyone to buy more and bigger bonds so that Gray county will go over its goal.

The $4,000,000,000 series E bond national quota is still more than $1,000,000,000 short of attainment today.

The total sales, $20,791,000,000, is getting closer to the record of $21,001,000,000 sales made in the sixth war loan.

Corporation sales have more than doubled their quota and they alone have passed the quota set for the entire drive, $14,000,000,000.

By July 1 any vehicle that travels the highway must have a motor vehicle use stamp according to an announcement made today by W. B. Weathered, postmaster.

The car use stamps may be purchased for $5.00 at the post office at all windows with the exception of the general delivery window.

Weathered advises everyone to copy the number on the back of the stamp so in case of loss the number can be sent to Dallas and a certificate returned to prove a stamp was purchased.

Coroner Findings Awaited in Case

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., June 27.—(AP)—The next move in the sensational New Canaan shooting case is up to Coroner Theodore E. Steiber who heard pretty, dark-haired Irogene Stevens, 24, sobbingly protest "that's a lie" at a witness statement that she gave no warning before firing her pistol at a 19-year-old sailor.

Steiber was expected within a few days to issue a finding stating whether there was any criminal negligence in the death of Albert Kovacs of Norfolk, killed by Mrs. Stevens as she investigated what she said she thought was an intrusion at the home of her neighbor in New Canaan.

Disposition of the manslaughter charge on which Mrs. Stevens, Texas-born wife of Paratrooper Major G. Ralsey Stevens III, is held awaits filing of the coroner's finding.

We, the Women

This is the last of five articles by Ruth Millett devoted to sound guidance for wives faced with readjustment problems when their husbands return from service.

By RUTH MILLETT
Servicemen, looking on their old lives from a great distance and in the light of new experiences, have had an opportunity to do some evaluating. And some of them have entirely new ideas about how they want to live and what they want out of life.

They may be very new ideas, too. But the wife who has sat at home, telling herself that some day "everything will be exactly as it was" may resent any changes her husband wants to make in their way of living.

"Many of the men in service have had a chance to develop their whole personalities, with the women who have sat at home waiting for them have not," is the way Dr. Wilbur R. Miller, one of the Middle West's best known psychiatrists, sums up this problem.

However, he points out that it need not be a problem at all—if the wife reacts to the situation in the right way.

If she, because her husband has developed more in the war years than she has, becomes jealous and resentful—then she will hold out against any new ideas he may bring home with him about how their lives should be lived.

But if she takes the attitude that "He's got something that he can't teach me and that will help us both to have richer, fuller lives" and accepts rather than rejects his ideas—the marriage won't suffer.

One thing she must understand is her husband's new-found need for the companionship of other men. In the army he has made closer friendships with men than he, perhaps, ever had before. Friendship with men, of necessity, had to take the place of family life. Consequently he may need masculine companionship for quite a while after he comes home.

NATURAL REACTION
"It is perfectly natural that he should," says Dr. Miller. And he warns wives not to be jealous of that need of their men for exclusive male company. He thinks wives will be making an awful mistake if when their men join groups of men or plan outings with other men, the women say, "Why can't they go along?"

He thinks wives will be understanding about this if they realize their husbands aren't just trying to get away from them when they announce they have joined a weekly poker gang or have planned a hunting trip with several cronies. They are seeking the friendship and companionship of other men because they have a strong tie with other men that they can't suddenly break, and shouldn't have to.

French Black Market Still Flourishes

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
PARIS—French city-dwellers have been operating under the black market for so long that no one considers any longer the morality or legality of getting along by any method at hand.

What it is doing to the national economy is beside the point here, but the black market is for all intents and purposes an open market, and its prices are considered by almost all French to be the official prices for commodities.

Marche noir prices are pegged of course at whatever the traffic will bear, and therefore fluctuate. A sizeable piece of beef, veal or pork will cost between $4 and $8.

Most essential clothing is rationed—which means that stores will tell coupon-holders the desired article is out of stock. A man's suit of poor material costs $125 and upwards. A woman's blouse made of something that passes for silk but with fine lines instead carries a price tag of $60.

The normal processes of business and trade have been turned upside down. A man consulting his attorney will pay off with an ox-tail, a kidney and a couple of pork chops. A woman needing the services of a physician pays her fee in baked goods.

You can do the most wonderful things if you have some American cigarettes. The correct approach is to start off by offering one cigarette. That assures an audience for you. From there you go ahead with the deal—and you can get almost anything if there are cigarettes included in the payment. A whole pack of American tailor-mades is a treasure fit for the Louvre.

Common Ground

By R. C. HOILES

"Men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil."

Our Most Harmful And Common Error

There is one error that causes humanity, it seems to me, more unnecessary suffering, misery and poverty than any other error.

It is really hard to account for this error—being so universal. If it could be corrected in people's minds, the correction would do more to develop character, prosperity and security than anything else I know.

This error is a contradiction of a self-evident truth. I have never encountered a single person who did not admit this self-evident truth: If this is the case for an individual to do, it is wicked for two or any number of people to do the same thing.

That seems to be a truth admitted by everyone. Yet at least 99 people out of a hundred who admit this self-evident truth turn right around and advocate the exact opposite.

They will admit that an individual has no moral right to interfere with another man's advancing and developing as fast as he can. Yet they will admit that no individual has a right to interfere with another's right to "arouse happiness as long as he does not interfere with others' equal right. Yet in divers ways they will join with others to interfere with this right.

What I call "collective bargaining," but should properly be called collective plundering, is an example of workers joining together to interfere with other workers having an equal right to acquire skills and thus serve both humanity and themselves. The result, of course, is a poverty-creating system.

But probably the violation of this self-evident truth that is the root of our trouble is the belief that a multiple number of people have a right to use force or coercion to make a minority group support their ideas of education.

The result is that we get training of a kind that is not based on the inherent rights of the individual, training that disregard the dignity of the individual. Since all growth and development come from the individual, any system of training, commonly called education, that teaches the masses to disregard the inherent rights of the individual can produce only poverty, misery and chaos.

Not in the memory of living men has there been such difficulty in making investments. It is true that there are opportunities for speculation, but there is quite a difference between speculation and investment.

Yes, the belief that multiplying a crime makes it a virtue is the error that does more to hold back the progress of mankind than any other belief.

'Sacred Islands' Main Thought to Cornered Nippon

MacArthur now becomes in effect the supreme commander—the Eisenhower of the war against Japan. Without the navy of course, MacArthur can do nothing, and Nimitz remains combat commander of the navy. But the Okinawa campaign was very likely the last major offensive to be commanded by a navy or marine corps officer.

That's the renewed British-Indian effort to reach a compromise on the grave political problem which has torn that great sub-continent for decades. Solution of this problem would do more than any other single event (barring the defeat of Japan) to consolidate the east and the west in friendship—for mighty India's sympathetic neighbors are watching anxiously. Failure to solve the problem would do more to bring about the formation of a powerful Asia-Pacific hostile to the western world.

This conference is being held 8,000 feet up in the towering Himalayas at Simla, the summer capital. That's as close to heaven as the protracted and often bloody imbroglio ever has got.

There's some encouragement in the fact that this is the first time all the warring Indian factions have got together for discussions with the British since the ill-fated round-table conferences of 1930-31 in London.

The British proposal which is under consideration provides for a new governmental set-up which would give to Indians virtually all the cabinet posts. The British viceroy would remain, and the British would retain control of military affairs. This seems to project an interim government which would pave the way for the sovereign dominion status which England has promised.

As a gesture of amity the British government released the members of the all-India congress who have been in prison since their civil disobedience campaign in 1942 after the failure of the Cripps mission.

So, let us conclude that MacArthur has his strategy drawn up and fully authorized. We can speculate on its logic.

Of late army officers seem to have had the feeling that MacArthur intends to go straight into the Japanese homeland. They theorize that Japanese troops surrounded by their own women, children, and the aged (whom they respect more than the women and children) would not be so likely to fight to the bitter end of everything.

Now, this is pretty good abstract logic, but in regard to the Japs it does not square with the record. There is no reason to believe that Japs fighting in their cities over the bodies of their own women and children aged and young, would resist against an invader of their own race sooner than against rival clansmen of the same race.

As to the Jap armies in Manchuria and Korea being cut off and running out of supplies—the Japs in those areas are making more stuff for the home side than vice-versa.

The invasion of the southernmost big Jap home island, Kyushu, usually called the second island, would present all the disadvantages of a full-scale invasion plus none of the imagined advantages of going into the Tokyo area.

It is possible to hope for the fall, without endless slaughter on both sides, of the Japanese homeland? Yes, if we are willing to give the Japs something to surrender for. They are fatalists, would rather die than point blank give themselves in to the hands of an enemy.

Jap victors used to promise the defeated that they would not have to live—which was usually the only surrender term. But the Jap loves "face" more than life. He could convince himself that he was saving face if he made a bargain giving up everything else but saving his three big "sacred islands" from the foreign boot.

HOLLYWOOD—It is very nice to be himself again and not three or four other guys, Cornell Wilde said today.

Cornel is the young fellow who plays Chonks with the aid of two other fellows in "A Song to Remember." Jose Iturbi recorded the piano numbers and the hands of John Charles Thomas' accompanist were used in all the keyboard closeups.

Asked now to sit down at the piano at parties or army camp shows Cornel has to blush and say: "I forgot to bring Iturbi with me."

You'll be seeing Cornel Wilde again soon in a new Columbia picture, "A Thousand and One Nights," another case of the same fellows playing one role.

This time the script called upon him to sing. Cornel couldn't sing any better than he could play the piano. Columbia had two singers—a tenor and a baritone—dub in his singing voice before deciding which matched best with his speaking voice.

"The baritone matched my voice better," he said, "but the studio decided on the tenor. Only the baritone sang one number so much better than the tenor, that the studio hired him for two years, didn't they?"

Now, all by himself, he is playing the author opposite Gene Tierney in the film version of Ben Ames Williams' best seller, "Leave Her to Heaven." Positively no tricks this time, it's 100 per cent Wilde.

There is a time, however, and not so long ago, that Wilde couldn't make anyone believe he could act. Although picking up his option every six months, Fox shunted him into B pictures for two years, didn't even miss him when he was loaned to Columbia in exchange for the services of Alexander Knox in "Wilson." Warner Bros. finally signed him, however, but the contract lasted only six months. He played one role—the Mexican heavy, Mendoza, with Humphrey Bogart in "High Sierra." Then he landed a Fox contract and started disappearing in B films until Chonks came along.

Wildie is a New Yorker, with Hungarian parents, and once sold toys at Macy's while studying acting with little theaters. He studied medicine at the City college of New York and won a scholarship to the Physicians and Surgeons college at Columbia U. But a medical career faded when "the ham in me came out."

Brush and full of confidence, young Wilde isn't too excited over his sudden popularity.

He sums it up: "I was one of Darryl Zanuck's dark horses."

While we are surr-riding on the crest of the wave of hope from the San Francisco security conference, we shouldn't overlook that another peace parley of the utmost importance in the world is being held in far away India.

Farmers Requests To Be Handled by OPA

The county AAA office has notified that after June 30, 1945 all work in connection with the county farm committee will be discontinued.

This includes assistance given to farmers on applications for new trucks, truck tires, tractor tires for replacement and conversion, and off-highway gasoline for tractors.

Beginning July 1, 1945 the office of price administration and the office of defense transportation will handle farmers requests on the above program without the assistance of recommendations of the AAA committees. Until that time all applications will be handled as in the past.

As an old China hand picking up indications, I still guess that MacArthur's strategy is to invade Jap-held China on Hangchow Bay south of Shanghai. Shanghai will fall easily enough, and we will work our way up the main Chinese railways toward Peking—after the strategy of every war in China since it has had railways. Before that the same strategy followed the Grand Canal.

Many Men Needed For Constructing Damaged Ships

"Nine hundred Texans are on their way home for thirty days, members of the 'toughest' Eighty-Sixth division," said E. W. McPhillips, secretary of the U. S. civil service board of examiners yesterday. "Over seas only some few months, they were in many tough spots. After fighting along the Rhine with the 15th army, they went over to the Ruhr pocket. Then they hustled into Baravia with Patton's Third, and some even got a view of Berchtesgden, home of the ex-corporal paper hanger. "They're highly elated at coming home," he continued. "But they'll be here only briefly. They're Tokio-bound in high hopes and determination."

"They had overwhelming air support in France and Germany. Now they want sea power support on the other side of the earth. They are deeply concerned, may be even alarmed that there are so many crippled ships in west coast navy yards. "Men who wish to put these ships back into the fight for these Tokyo-bound soldiers will have to hurry and join west coast navy yards now. They can learn how to do it at any first or second class post office, or at the branch regional office, U. S. civil service, customs-house, New Orleans, or the regional office 210 South Harwood, Dallas, Texas. Expense of travel and meals en route will be paid and quarters reserved in advance. But it must be done now to win the battle of repairs which will give us the ships with which to win the battle of Japan with these conquerors of Germany."

Slip Results in Objection to Bill Providing Pension

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, June 27—(AP)—Somebody slipped on the bill that would give congressmen a pension. Mrs. Mary Norton of New Jersey, the first woman ever elected to congress from the democratic party, has been in congress 21 years. She thought it only fair that congressmen who spend all their lives—or part of their lives—in government service should be entitled to some recognition when they get old. So last January she introduced a bill that would provide congressmen after serving a certain number of years with a pension after reaching 62. The civil service committee of the house began hearings on her bill this week. The bill would do something like this: Government employees—those who want to contribute 5 per cent of their salary to a pension fund. When they reach a certain age, they can retire, after serving a specified number of years. Yesterday she called the civil service commission for help in explaining some technicalities. The voice from the civil service commission told her something like this over the telephone: Mrs. Norton, congress won't approve that bill like it is. Mrs. Norton: Why, what's the matter with it? The CSC voice: That bill puts an awful strain on a man like Mr. Sabbath. (Adolph J. Sabbath, 79-year-old Chicago democrat, has been in congress 39 years, the man with the longest service.) Mrs. Norton: Why does it put a strain on Mr. Sabbath? The CSC voice: Because if he wants to get into the pension fund for the full benefit he's have to pay 5 per cent of his congressional salary since 1920. And sure enough. That's how the bill was drawn.

Small Plants of Southwest Aided By Loan Service

Small plants of the southwest will be aided in reconversion by a stepped-up loan service now available as a result of the liberalization of the national lending policies of Smaller War Plants Corporation. Wm. O. Coleman, district manager said following receipt of the new regulation. Loans for war or "essential civilian production" up to $50,000 may now be made by the regional loan agent without awaiting Washington approval when banks participate to a minimum of 10 per cent of the loan. Previously regional offices could approve loans only up to $25,000. All others went to the SWPC board of directors in Washington for approval. Coleman said that banks have participated in 526 per cent of all loans in Region 8, representing 74.4 per cent of the total dollar value of the loans in the region. Of the 291 loans made, 153 have had bank participation. SWPC has made loans totaling $33,677,000 in Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana, and banks have participated to the extent of 14.2 per cent in $25,042,000 of the total loans made.

Grain Loadings for West Reported Higher

Reports of increases in grain loadings by western railroads are being received in Dallas by E. O. Walker, district rail director, office of defense transportation. Loadings in the western districts aggregated 37,119 cars the week ending June 9, an increase of 7,783 cars or 26.5 percent over the corresponding week of 1944. The nation's railroads carried 20.8 percent more wheat and other grain and grain products in the week ending June 9 than in the corresponding week of 1944. The ODT announced today. The number of carloads of grain shipped in the nation in the week ending June 9 was 53,011, as compared with 43,895 for the same week in 1944. This was the twelfth consecutive week in which 1945 grain loadings were higher than those of 1944. Total grain loadings for the United States for the first 23 weeks of 1945 were 1,071,317, as compared with 1,052,141 for the first 23 weeks of 1944. The increases have been accomplished at a time of increasing shipments of war material to the west coast.

Reporting Under Pacific Dateline

By ROBBIN COONS
TITIAN, The Marianas — (AP)—Fleet Air Wing 18, which is a pro-sal designation, must mean to the Japanese a fighting bunch of armed hornets. The wing's navy search and bomber planes go out singly or in pairs, lacking the spectacular force of Superfort raids which devastate whole areas of Japanese cities. Their persistent and cumulative damage must be counted among the enemy's many present worries. In a few weeks planes from this wing sank 20 and damaged 19 enemy picket boats — small, deadly maneuverable craft bristling with anti-aircraft guns and heavily armed, which serve as Japan's coastal sea defense. The toll apparently has been heavy enough to impress the enemy navy, for lately the pickets have not been observed. In the same period about 59 cargo ships large and small have been sunk, with 54 more damaged, tightening the blockade on Japan. Smaller vessels—trawlers, sampans, fishing ships, luggers—have been sunk or damaged in large numbers. And in the air and on the land the wing has bombed and strafed persistently—searching out its targets and then striking. Today it may be a radio station, tomorrow a railroad bridge or tunnel—in the first days of May, five trains on Honshu were wrecked—an airfield and its hangars, planes and personnel, or any other enemy installation. In a recent period of several weeks 44 Japanese planes were destroyed or damaged. Beginning operations Sept. 1, 1944, the wing was originally commanded by Commodore D. P. Ketcham, who recently was transferred to sea duty and was succeeded here by Rear Adm. C. S. Greer.

Justice Black Doesn't Like Talk of New War

HOLLYWOOD, June 27—(AP)—Hugh L. Black, associate justice of the United States supreme court, says it is time to expose blithe talk about another war before the present war is even over. "I have no doubt that some of the men and women who have engaged in this talk were honest and well-intentioned," declared Black in addressing 10,000 persons at a Russian war relief program in Hollywood bowl. He added: "But they do not realize that they are following the Hitler line and are making good the Hitler prophecy that even should he fail the seeds that he had planted would live after him. It was Hitler's exploitation of fear of 'Bolshevism' and 'plutocracy' which kept the peace-loving nations divided within and suspicious of one another and enabled him to strike down by fear or by force one nation after another until he had brought within his orbit virtually the whole of western and central Europe."

Bombers Take Sixth Straight Contest, 5-4

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
It took 11 months and nine at-bats, but the New York Yankees finally have defeated the St. Louis Browns at Sportsmans' Park.

In registering their sixth straight victory last night 5-4, and their first over St. Louis at the Browns' home field since last July 2, the Yankees shaved a half-point from Detroit's first place margin. They now trail by only one game.

The game marked the start of the Yankees' second invasion of the west where they've fared none too well last May, when they dropped six out of nine, including four straight to the Browns.

It was a different St. Louis outfit the Yankees faced, however, from the team that swept them off their feet last month. Whereas the American league champions were in the midst of a winning streak in their previous mound city clash, the Sewellians are in the throes of a slump which has seen them drop nine of their last 12 games, and drop into sixth place, five games under the 500 mark.

The star of the Yankees triumph was relief pitcher Bill Zuber. The 31-year-old Iowan relieved starter Walter Dubble in the sixth inning and held the Browns scoreless the rest of the way with two hits to receive credit for his first victory of the season. Zuber won his own game with a single that drove in Truck Stainback with the run that broke a 4-4 tie in the eighth. It not only earned the Yankees their ninth one-run decision, but marked the Browns' 14th loss by the same margin.

The Yankees breezed to a 3-0 lead in the first two innings, but the Browns came back to knot the count in the third, with Tex Shirley having taken over for Al Hollingsworth and pitching airtight ball, aided by four double plays, the Browns fought ahead in the fifth, but a Yankee tally tied it in the sixth.

The victory was pleasing to the Bronxites, as until last night they had lost all of their five previous arclight contests, in addition to dropping out of four twilight games. Chairman at Boston, the only other major league tilt scheduled yesterday, was postponed by rain.

Merchants Drub Phillips; 3 Games Slated for Tonight

The Pampa Merchants continued their climb to the top of the senior softball league standings as they drubbed the Phillips 66 club last night 21 to 5.

The win was the Merchants' fourth of the season against three defeats and dropped the Phillips team to ninth place with two wins and five losses.

Three games, two at Roadrunner Park and one at Magnolia park, are on the league schedule tonight.

The single game at Magnolia pits the fourth-place Odd Fellows against the oft-beaten Medics in a game starting at 7 o'clock. A win for the Odd Fellows would throw them in a third-place tie with the PAAF Kimboys.

In a doubleheader at Roadrunner Park, the first-place Squadron B team will test the mediocre Base Communications, starting at 7 o'clock and at 8:30 the last game Cargray club will play the Phillips 66 team.

Only one game is scheduled in the league tomorrow night. The Medics will take on the Junior Oilers in a game at Roadrunner Park, starting at 8:30.

'Town Meeting of World' Not Just Debating Society

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, June 27—(AP)—The general assembly of the United Nations—called the "town meeting of the world"—is more than just a glorified debating society.

In that assembly every member of the United Nations, large or small, will have one vote, and one can talk just as loudly as another.

The members can discuss anything coming within the scope of the United Nations charter. This covers a lot of territory in the international field.

This makes the assembly a stage—a sounding board—where the world can express its opinions on what is happening in the world or is likely to happen if something isn't done to stop it.

Someone like Hitler, starting to push his neighbors around, probably would think twice before going too far if he knew assembly debate on his tactics was likely to organize world thinking and action against him.

But the security council—made up of the United States, Britain, Russia, France and China as permanent members, plus six smaller nations elected to two-year terms by the assembly—is tied in closely with the assembly.

Once again you can see how those "Big Five" nations are going to dominate to large degree the world of the future.

There are lots of limits on what the assembly can do. It can't call out the world's armies to suppress aggression.

Tight Solidarity Of Arab League Shown at Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26—(AP)—The pulling and tugging that split delegates to the United Nations conference and welded them back into agreement revealed a few surprises about the world's new political lineup and dashed some old beliefs.

Perhaps the most unexpected political development was the tight solidarity of the Arab league, formed in Cairo only a few weeks ago.

France's close cooperation with the four inviting powers—Britain, Russia, China and the United States—made a real Big Five.

France occasionally broke away from the "penthouse line" in debates, but almost invariably voted with the sponsoring powers.

British commonwealth solidarity—which many orators called "six votes for England" when the new league of nations was being formed—scarcely even put in a guest appearance.

On the other hand, the true extent of Pan-Americanism became evident.

At times the latins seemed to be voting in bloc, at times they were split wide open—it always depended on the issue.

It was primarily concerned with the western hemisphere. Latin America can be expected to stand together and to resist outside interference.

es in war plants, and the re-awakening struggle for local leadership. The number of idle workers caused by strikes and work stoppages throughout the country edged toward the 100,000 mark today.

In Detroit, the idle hit a new high for 1945, as more than 50,000 men and women stayed from their jobs because of various labor disputes.

The latest count for the nation was more than 90,000.

As the total idle continued to grow steadily, a CIO union official in Detroit described the series of controversies in the motor city "tragic folly."

Today's estimated 90,000 out on strike and stoppages nearly doubled the number affected last Wednesday.

The only bright spot along the labor front was in Chicago where the 11-day old walkout of some 6,000 truck drivers apparently had ended.

More than 2,000 members of the Independent Chicago Truck Drivers union last night voted to return to work, joining approximately 8,000 members of the AFL International Brotherhood of Teamsters who are back on their jobs.

In returning to work, the drivers accepted a $4.08 increase for 51 hour week. They had demanded a $5 weekly hike for a 48-hour week.

stances had claimed the new instrument gave too much power to the larger countries—when he declared:

"We all have to recognize—no matter how great our strength—that we must deny ourselves the license to do always as we please. No one nation, no regional group, no race, should expect any special privileges which harms any other nation. If any nation would keep security for itself, it must be ready and willing to share security with all. That is the price which each nation will have to pay for world peace."

"And what a reasonable price it is. Out of this conflict have come powerful military nations, now fully trained and equipped for war. But they have no right to dominate the world. It is rather the duty of these powerful nations to assume the responsibility for leadership toward a world of peace."

Mr. Truman praised the delegates for the job they had done in creating "A great instrument for peace and security and human progress in the world." But he conceded that "no one claims that it is now a final or a perfect instrument. Like the American Constitution, he said, it would have to be "expanded and improved as time goes on."

The President stressed the economic sections of the charter and called for action under them. He asserted "artificial and unworkable trade barriers should be removed—to the end that the standard of living of as many peoples as possible throughout the world may be raised."
