Sen. Connally Insists Surrender Expected 'Momentarily'

GERMAN SURRENDER DENIED BY TRUMAN, HELD TRUE IN FRISCO

GENERAL VIEW OF CONFERENCE

Above is a general view of the San Francisco United Nations conference on international peace as the plenary (general) session got under way on Thursday. The scene is the interior of the War Memorial opera house. As this photograph was taken, U. S. Secretary of State Stettinius was addressing the delegates. (NEA Telephoto.)

Conference Is Upset by Peace Rumor

SAN FRANCISCO, April 28.—(AP)—The United Nations conference reached its first week-end tonight with the following marked up on the achievement boards:
1. Organized for business, settling a chairmanship debate by splitting up the job of presiding among the four sponsoring powers and committees, steering and executive.
2. Settled Russian-inspired problems that could have upset the whole schedule by (a) granting three assembly places to the Soviets, and (b) turning down the Moscow demand for a conference seat for Warsaw Poles.
3. Heard most of the formal scheduled speeches.
There are no conference sessions scheduled for Sunday. On Monday the delegates get down to the day-to-day work of fashioning a world organization for peace.
Peace rumors upset the conference.
The fourth plenary session of the conference was thrown into an uproar and delegates celebrated prematurely when a newspaper was held up with big red headlines, "Nazis Quit."
For five minutes there were yells, applause and the flash of hundreds of flash bulbs as cameramen swarmed over the floor.
As Julian Caceres, chairman of the Honduran delegation, held up

Nazis Are Known To Be Asking Peace

Senator Tom Connally, chairman of the U. S. senate foreign relations committee and vice chairman of the American delegation to the United Nations conference, said last night at San Francisco that he expected 'momentarily' an announcement that Germany has surrendered unconditionally, even as Pres. Truman, in Washington, told more than a hundred newsmen that the rumors sweeping the country were unfounded.

Sen. Connally, told that the President had made the statement, still insisted that he was correct in his information, which he said came from authoritative quarters.

A graduate of Arkansas state college, Jonesboro, Swindle holds degrees in journalism and English and has had training in radio, including commentary, dramatics and news-casting. He is listed in the directory of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.
Before coming to Pampa he was associated with the Poplar Bluff, Mo., Daily American Republic and was radio newscaster for Station KWOC there three years.
Swindle succeeds Tex De Weese, managing editor since 1936, who has resigned to accept a radio position with McCann-Erickson company in Cleveland, Ohio.

Old Texas Oil Days Discussed at Meeting

AUSTIN, April 28.—(AP)—Oil development in Texas, and the life story of one of the state's most prolific writers, were featured in talks given at the final session of the Texas State Historical association.
Charley Jeffries of Beaumont who worked in the Sour Lake oil field in 1903, told the story of the boom days in that field and along the Gulf coast.
He reminisced about the difficulties in conveying equipment to the oil field, lack of restriction in drilling, the unleashed sulfurous gas which permeated the area, and the saloons, muddy roads, gambling and hard work which went with a boom town.

Baguio, Summer Filipino Capital, Taken by Yanks

By RAL CRONIN
Associated Press War Editor
Japan's Emperor Hirohito celebrated his birthday today (Sunday) in bomb blasted Tokyo as Nippon forces in the far-flung war areas of Asia suffered new reverses.
The Japanese populace, normally in festive mood on the emperor's natal day, found no reasons for a celebration in this dark war picture.
American troops gaining ground on Okinawa island, just 325 miles south of the Japanese homeland, and in the Philippines.
A new attack on Nippon's home airfields by American Superfortresses, Americans have Baguio, summer capital of the Philippines.
The smashing British drive through South Burma toward Rangoon.
New Japanese setbacks in China.
American airmen from the Marianas marked the eve of the emperor's birthday with a slashing Superfortress raid on six Kyushu island airfields north of Okinawa. The B-29 crewmen scored good to excellent results as they bombed visually. It was the third Superfortress raid on the island.

Many Bills Face State Lamakers

AUSTIN, April 28.—(AP)—The last-minute battle to push through to final enactment scores of important or pet bills, in the face of most legislation and crowded calendars, confronts the house and senate of the 49th legislature.
Most of the major appropriations bills are still not enacted. This is work which must be completed if the state government is to function during the next biennium. They are in various stages of processing, and the senate has set May 10 as the date it suggests for sine die adjournment of the session.
This proposal must be concurred in by the house, and there was considerable sentiment in favor of it. The house will probably vote on it early in the week.
Members were predicting freely that the senate would challenge any measure which might block consideration of the must bills. Pending in the senate are many controversial bills already passed by the house, including the anti-closed shop measure. The senate has already refused to advance it on its calendar, which may mean the session will end without further action on the matter. This holds true for numerous other measures.

CURFEW RELAXED

DALLAS, April 28.—(AP)—Curfew regulations for military personnel in the five states of the eighth service command have been relaxed by extension from 11:30 p. m. to 1 a. m., service command headquarters said today.

Governor Issues V-E Statement

AUSTIN, April 28.—(AP)—Gov. Coke R. Stevenson issued a proclamation tonight counseling Texans to observe Victory day, whenever it comes, "as a day of prayer, meditation and thanksgiving."
Stevenson's proclamation was released by his office, notwithstanding the word from President Truman that Germany has not yet capitulated, after a secretary telephoned him at his ranch near Junction.
"It is not out of place for us to soberly consider what we should do," he said.

Man on the Street Is of Many Kinds

The man on the street last night heard the premature report of a German surrender in many versions on every corner, and in every store and cafe, and in his neighbor, the man across the counter, and the soldier next to him.
Many received it with wondrous incredulity, some as the answer to prophecy, and all with complete thankfulness, but the young wife of a flyer in the Pacific summed it up when she said, "It sure will make a lot of people happy."

COOPERATION NECESSARY: CLEAN-UP DRIVE WILL BEGIN HERE TOMORROW

Dirt, trash, or anything unsightly will be "given the boot" in Pampa beginning tomorrow as citizens settle down to the official opening of the city's annual clean-up, paint-up, fix-up campaign.
Displayed in the chamber of commerce offices in the city hall is the national award presented the city for the outstanding showing made in Pampa's clean-up campaign of 1942. The Junior chamber of commerce which is sponsoring this year's campaign, optimistically says that this year's results will surpass all other previous campaigns.
Everything was announced in readiness in a special meeting of

FOR THE FIGHTING 36TH:

LOCAL CITIZENS HELPING RAISE MEMORIAL FUND

"Diminishing coke" parties were sweeping Pampa yesterday.
The proceeds of the parties go to a memorial for the "fighting 36th", a division made up almost exclusively of men from Texas and Oklahoma.
Mrs. Fred Hobart, who was appointed chairman of the local drive to obtain funds for the memorial by the state chairman, revealed that she had started the parties Friday and that they had "caught on" in a big way.
She explained that everyone attending the parties brings a quarter, and the proceeds are deposited with Miss Leora Kinard in the First National Bank for the 36th Division Memorial fund. Attending the first "diminishing coke" party, at which Mrs. Hobart was hostess Friday morning, were Mrs. Clinton Henry, Mrs. C. P. Buckley, Mrs. Mel Davis, Mrs. Walter Rogers, Mrs. Frank Carter, Mrs. Lynn Boyd, Mrs. W. D. Kelly and Mrs. Leroy Miller.

The Memorial Center that is the objective of the parties will not be a monument, Mrs. Hobart said. It will, instead, be a useful shrine, "a place of beauty which will be a lasting service to the 36th Division."

Traffic Arrests Are Made Here

Traffic fines in municipal court yesterday morning were as numerous as income tax experts on March 15 as the campaign conducted by highway patrolmen in Pampa Friday resulted in a wave of traffic offense cases filed in both the city court and justice of the peace court.

The highway patrolmen were stopping all motorists who had failed to remove their old license plates. The announcement that such a campaign was coming had been made two weeks ago.

Motorists stopped by the patrolmen were detained until the cars' brakes were checked, and were investigated in connection with other traffic violations.

One official said that 40 percent of the cars stopped were found to have inadequate brakes.

Driving without an operator's license, an offense which makes the violator liable to a maximum $200 fine, headed the list of traffic violations for which persons were fined yesterday. The minimum fine for this violation is $10. Defective muffler, or no muffler, cases were also common.

Youthful Stassen Is Aware of Conditions

By NEA Service
Cmfr. Harold E. Stassen, who resigned as governor of Minnesota to go into the navy, was recalled from active duty in the Pacific to take part in the San Francisco security conference.

STASSEN

A believer in virile democracy, Stassen is against hedging on major issues. "If democracy is to stand the gaff, it requires leadership that will state its position and show the way," Stassen says. He insists America must participate in world affairs.

He was born and raised in West St. Paul. His father had slight financial means. Working as a railroad conductor and grocery clerk, young Harold paid his way through the University of Minnesota, where he won a name and prizes for oratory and debating.

Admitted to the bar at 22, Stassen was elected court attorney the following year and kept the job eight years. In 1938, at the age of 31, he was elected governor, the youngest chief of state Minnesota has had. Re-elected twice, he served until 1943 when he entered the navy.

Carrier Will Bear Name of Roosevelt

NEW YORK, April 28.—(AP)—The U. S. S. Franklin D. Roosevelt, second in the class of the world's largest, strongest and fastest aircraft carriers, will be launched tomorrow in honor of the late President who once was an assistant secretary of the navy.

The 45,000 ton carrier will be floated off giant blocks on which the keel has lain for 17 months in a huge building dock of the New York navy yard.

Secretary of the Navy Forrestal and Rear Admiral Freeland A. Dabbin, USN, commandant of the yard, will speak. The sponsor will be Mrs. John H. Towers, of Coronado, Calif., wife of the Vice Admiral Towers, deputy commander in chief of the Pacific fleet.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt has indicated she will attend.

Applications to OPA Are Incomplete

Citizens are failing to complete the applications they are sending in for food, gasoline and tires, Miss Dacie Douglass, chief clerk of the local rationing board complained yesterday.

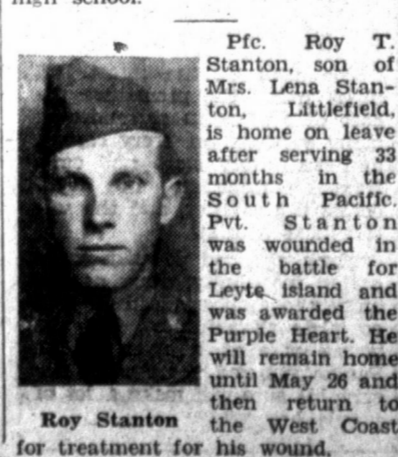

Miss Douglass explained that much time is lost every day by the failure of applicants to sign their names or complete the application in every detail.

"No application can be approved by the board unless it is complete and signed," Miss Douglass said.

There are 6,500 local U. S. draft boards.

Several newspapermen lost their feet in the melee and had to limp into the room. Once inside they crushed into the big mahogany desk behind which the President sat going through a bunch of papers.

fort attack on Kyushu in as many days. One B-29 was lost to aggressive air resistance. Four Japanese interceptors were shot down and five others probably destroyed.

On the eve of the emperor's 44th birthday radio Tokyo developed a new case of invasion jitters. The Nippon radio said an armada of 70 American transports, with warship escorts, was cruising near Okinawa and that the Yank navy was preparing for "new operations."

The Japanese made the unconfirmed claim that Nipponese suicide airmen sank two American cruisers, including the Savannah, damaged another cruiser and destroyed four large transports. The emperor visited a shrine for war dead and then received Premier Kantaro Suzuki after the latter had conferred with army and navy chiefs on "steps necessary to meet the intensified war situation."

Tokyo radio reported that the police of the bomb-battered capital had issued new instructions to the populace against evasion of air defense activities.

He attended schools in Clarendon and was employed here by the Texas Furniture company and by his father.

City Swimming Pool May Not Open Here

Pampa's municipal swimming pool may not be opened this year, city officials disclosed yesterday.

Efforts to obtain a life guard, which is a necessity in opening the pool, have so far been unsuccessful. Requirements for a life guard include that he have a senior certificate from the Red Cross, and the local Red Cross has no one listed who has that certificate.

The usual date for the opening of the municipal pool is June 1.

Pampans Tense

The city gave the same results. Everywhere stores were open for business in name only, as clerks were standing around, sometimes joining the gatherings of customers to learn what they could.

Levine's store displayed a flag in front and the windows of the building was decorated with paper flags. Asked by a reporter the reason for the flags, one clerk replied, "Someone said the war is over."

The scarcity of business was not experienced by Pampa theatres. On the contrary, citizens flocked to every theatre in town, despite the announced intention of the shows to close as soon as V-E day is confirmed. Movie-goers knew of the reportedly pending announcement and talked of it as they entered the theatres.

"Anything to be with the crowds" seemed to be the theatre-going reasoning.

John Cater, assistant manager of the local theatres, announced to the audience in the Rex theatre at 9 o'clock last night that President Truman had called the peace report unfounded. The packed house hushed as Cater began his announcement, but few seemed shocked. "I told you so," one man announced smugly, nudging the woman seated next to him.

In Borger and Shamrock, the citizens had already celebrated the end of the war, and the police department at Shamrock reported to The News that the sirens had blown announcing the war's end before Truman's statement was known. The sheriff's wife at Wheeler said in answer to a request for information as to that town's reaction, "I was asleep, but I guess they must have celebrated." She said she didn't think the sirens had blown. One gathering in town spoke of the premature celebrating in other places.

"They seem to be a day or so early in Borger," one man remarked. "They're a year or two early, if you ask me," a soldier interrupted. He obviously referred to the war in the Pacific.

The general atmosphere of the town seemed to follow predictions that when V-E day is announced most citizens will be more inclined to solemnity than wild celebrating. But there were exceptions.

One soldier entered The News office for confirmation of the rumors he had heard.

"I'm not a drinking man," he explained, "but tonight's going to be different if it's true."

One local beer parlor started giving away beer at 8 o'clock, in response to reports that the war was over.

Word that President Truman had declared the rumor unfounded spread through Pampa as quickly as had the original report.

On hearing the latest news, one man-on-the-streets summed up the feeling of many, including The News reporter:

"The last announcement says General Eisenhower is asleep. So I think I'll go home."

European War

they recognized was hopeless and suicidal.

Reports of revolt in Munich, cradle of nazidom, signaled the utter collapse of the reich. An insurgent group seized the radio there for a few hours but Nazis came back on the air later to report the "traitors" had been dealt with.

The powerful U. S. Seventh army crowded to within 22 miles of Munich, while the U. S. Third rumbled in for the kill just 27 miles to the north.

The French First army cleaned out 7,000 Germans in the Black forest pocket and other French forces in the maritime Alps sent troops up to or across the Italian border on a 50-mile front.

The British Second army in the north cleared the Bremen docks and pushed up the Cuxhaven peninsula toward Bremer Haven. The Canadians gained ground toward Wilhelmshaven.

do in the event that phase (the fighting in Europe) ends suddenly," the proclamation said.

"We would of course, rejoice to know that the European fighting is over. Our rejoicing should not take the form of revelry or costly demonstrations. Celebrations that would damage property or injure individuals must be prevented. Intoxicants should not be bought or sold for a reasonable length of time. The sale of every kind of intoxicating beverage should be suspended for at least 24 hours. All business establishments should function in the usual manner and citizens generally should pursue their usual vocations and give evidence of their continued support of the war program until the task in the Pacific is finished."

Clean-Up Drive

Meanwhile city officials emphasized that no amount of enthusiasm will make the drive successful unless every individual citizen cooperates. The schedule for picking up trash in alleys has been announced, and Pampans have been asked to follow it in cleaning their alleys next week.

"Cooperation is the one thing that can make the clean-up campaign successful." Street Superintendent L. B. Hazard said. "Without mass cooperation it will be a campaign in name only."

City Manager W. C. deCordova reported that he has had to call on the street department, park department, garbage department, and "about half the outside workers of the water department" to help in the campaign.

Every "clean-up, paint-up, fix-up" campaign helps to eliminate potential causes of fires, helps to reduce the annual fire loss to the city, and constitutes a highly valuable auxiliary service to our department. Fire Chief Ben White declared.

"My injunction to the citizens of Pampa is to cooperate with the Junior chamber of commerce in this campaign; one and all lend a hand, let's put our shoulders to the wheel and make Pampa a beautiful and spotless city in which to live; free from fires and disease," the chief concluded.

"That's where the 1200 members of the press corps overflowed to when they couldn't all get into the 500 seats for which there must have been issued 1500 tickets. It was more fun. You couldn't see what went on down below, but the acoustics were perfect and the company was swell. People like Gracie Allen and Madame Genevieve Tabouis and Charlie Michelson and Countess Austine Cassini and Bill Cunningham and Ernest Lindley and nearly all the high-powered pundits of the foreign press, got shovelled up to this second balcony, and didn't like it a bit. If they write nasty pieces about what went on, you'll know why."

Gracie Reporting Consolidated News Features SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—My, I'm proud of my home town of San Francisco. I sat in the opera house here today and listened to the world security conference going on in 46 different languages... "On this weekend, anything might happen; and even by the time this has gone to press, the German high command may have wrested power from Hitler and his immediate henchmen and surrendered unconditionally to the three Allies. There will be many rumors, and there will be a great deal of excitement in our American midst of whether the Germans quit. This might be a good time, therefore, for us to recall that there are many hardships ahead—when the shooting in Europe has stopped. There is still the war in the Pacific, and the immense job of setting things right in Europe is still to face. There is one thing we must not do: we must not confuse the cease-firing order with peace itself. The war has been won—or almost won—against the Germans at a very high cost in our American men and our wealth and resources. It took effort to win that war; it will take effort to make the peace—it is not just something that thrusts itself into our midst to survive independent of our sympathy and care."

Freedom and Beyond Soon after American forces first entered upon German soil, General Eisenhower broadcast an appeal for revolt to the foreign workers inside Germany. The appeal went unanswered, and the revolt did not develop. Now the Americans are finding out why... "Thousands of these slave laborers have been freed by the Allied advance. And reporters who have seen them have spoken particularly of their apathy. They are, as one writer described them, "numb." It is not surprising that they had neither the strength nor the spirit to revolt. We do not know now the exact contribution to this apathy, but it seems safe to construct a general explanation from the imagination. It must have been something like this: "By the first prisoner-laborers, the numbers of their dwellers. It was a stunning defeat of Poland, and afterwards of France and the Low countries. Before the effect of the blow had worn off they were uprooted and carried off to supply the conqueror's war machine under threat of the conqueror's guns. At first they planned underground organization and, perhaps, open rebellion. Those who came later nourished the same plans at first. But not even the most ardent spirit could survive many months of the long, heavy hours of labor, poor and scanty food, and the filth and misery of their dwellings. Later the Allied bombers came the prelude to liberation but still a source of terror and danger to friend as well as enemy. As the bombings increased so did the brutal vigilance of the gendarmes and SS guards. Food grew less, and worse, cold and fatigue increased. Only when the imminent arrival of the Americans brought confusion did these enslaved workers summon the strength to rise up and flee. And when freedom at last had come, their only wish was to be fed and allowed to make their way out of the hated land of Germany by the shortest way possible, either or not the way led to their homeland. There are still millions of these displaced prisoners in what is left of Hitler's Germany. Returning them to homes scattered all over Europe is a tremendous task that will require months and perhaps years. Until it is accomplished they must be housed and fed. And their eventual resettlement will not solve the problem. The nightmare of servitude, which for some has lasted five years, must have left these millions sick in body and mind. It is doubtful that many will recover completely from the experience. So these men (and women, too) who should have helped form the core of European recovery may instead become problems to themselves, their families, their country and the whole post-war world. They will make up still another segment of the tragic aftermath of war."

WAR TODAY AS SEEN FROM THE NEWSROOM By DeWITT MacKENZIE Associated Press War Analyst Shortly after the historic junction of the Allied forces in Germany, a keen follower of the war news remarked cheerily to your columnist: "Well, this looks like the end." Unfortunately that's a wrong conclusion, and one which can lead to much disappointment. This joining up of the Western Allies and the red army is a great moment which certainly will register on Allied and enemy minds alike as signaling an early victory—but it isn't the end of the war. True, if we had the luck to capture or kill Hitler, that might result in a collapse of his followers. But barring this, the indications are that we must keep on until the remaining German pockets of resistance—the North Sea ports, Denmark, Holland, Norway, Hitler's alpine fortress—have been cleared out by hard fighting. As the Allies proceed with the kill we shall, I believe, see a startling transformation of the great fighting fronts. This change will be most unusual if indeed it isn't unique. Ever since the war started the interminably long Russian battle-line has run from north to south, facing the Germans. Similarly, since the Western Allies reached the Rhish theatre, the fronts have run north and south—perpendicular. Now see what happens. The junction of the Allies in the heart of Germany has severed the perpendicular Hitlerite front. The perpendicular Allied fronts are now reforming into two approximately horizontal fronts, one facing north and the other south, with Czechoslovakia surrounded. Each will be half Russian and half Western Allies. The Northern Front will proceed up towards the sea. The Southern Front will sweep down against Hitler's redoubt in the Alps.

The Nation's Press PITY THE POOR PRINCESS (Toledo Blade) Whip out a handkerchief and prepare to shed copious tears of sympathy for Princess Valerie Marie Arenberg, who has undergone a most shocking experience at the hands of those odious Americans. The princess, daughter of Charles Arenberg, whose ancestors have been princes for more than 300 years. But we are not concerned with the prince who, when he was captured along with the prince and their 300-room castle in Westphalia, accepted the situation philosophically. After all, there is a certain distinction in being the first German prince to be captured by the Americans. But also, the princess maintained no such calm in adversity. The princess is no mean sprout on the genealogical tree herself, since she claims to be a great-granddaughter of Queen Victoria and a cousin of King George VI, and she expected treatment in keeping with her lineage. But what happened? Why, the Americans took over most of the castle and the princess didn't like it a little bit. Said she, "Imagine me getting along in 14 rooms. I wouldn't put the servants in the rooms the Americans asked me to live in." Have you ever over the fate of the poor princess? Now blow her —that's it. Sounds like a Bronx cheer, doesn't it? So They Say Everything (in Greece) now costs 10 times more than normally. The pay of a workman is very high, while the pay of a civil servant is extremely low. A common laborer now gets more than the director of a governmental department—Alex Ladas, Greek air force liaison officer to Greek foreign minister. The civilian must no longer have the choice whether he wishes to accept the responsibility of becoming a fiancee—or not. We must mix a rifle in his hands and if he refuses to shoot he must be shot.

Eight Squirrels Are Now Paying Dividends SHREVEPORT, La., April 28.—(AP)—The eight squirrels which were brought to the Caddo parish courthouse last 2 1/2 years ago from Memphis have paid a dividend—a dividend in friendship to the Gregg county courthouse at Longview, Texas. Several squirrels were rounded up on the Caddo lawn, to be taken back to Longview to start a new squirrel colony. G. W. Everitt, custodian of Shreveport's courthouse, estimates the original eight squirrels here have multiplied to about 250. How many squirrels Longview will get was uncertain. The squirrels were transferred by the simple expedient of taking down several of the squirrel houses around the Caddo square and hauling them back to Longview. When cleaning house don't forget to brush and bath your lampshades.

THE AMERICAN HOUSE By Virginia Chase VI WHEN we took over the American House, we had only one regular boarder. This was Mr. Martin Tapley, who owned the dry goods store. Mr. Tapley was a bachelor, middle-aged and growing bald. His teeth were stained, and his skin was sallow. ("That's what comes from his smoking so many cigarettes," people said, nodding wisely.) But smoking wasn't the worst of it. He had a good business—people were careful to point out that he had inherited it—but he took it lightly, seeming not to care whether his books showed a profit or loss. He seldom appeared in his dry goods store until noon, leaving everything to his two officious clerks. You could always count on Mr. Tapley to be contrary. He called himself a Socialist and kept a picture of Eugene Debs in his office. Whenever the Censoring Committee of the library banned a book—one by Henrik Ibsen or George Bernard Shaw or Upton Sinclair or Robert Ingersoll, for instance—he sent away and bought a copy and then carried it around openly under his arm. Naturally, there was a lot of talk about him. People didn't approve of his never going to church. They didn't like the idea of his selling his house—it had been in the family for three generations—and moving into a hotel. There was talk, too, about the way his family lot was kept. There wasn't even a marker on his mother's grave. Mr. Tapley's mother had been a very important person in the village. No project was ever begun without her approval or completed without her zest. She was superintendent of the Sunday School, president of the Thursday Circle, and founder of our branch of the W. C. T. U. "What a blessing it is that she isn't alive to see the way her son has turned out," a friend said, sighing.

Here's What Causes Garment Shrinkage 1. MOISTURE 2. MECHANICAL ACTION 3. HEAT. These three factors are in control when garments are exposed to their respective treatment, due to the following: Garments not preshrunk are certain to shrink when exposed to a condition that will enable the garment to expand and contract, the relaxation that takes place in the moisture and contraction to normal state in drying. There are from 30 to 40 filaments in Rayon thread, that are tightly twisted and stretched for tensile strength, then while wet loses its strength 40 to 75%, but in drying will contract to a closer thread than the original. Such action causes shrinkage. Should this garment receive mechanical action the shrinkage would be still greater; heat applied would increase the shriveling and more shrinking would result. Had this material been put under roller pressure, which in some mills exceeds 10 tons, an increase of from 7 to 10 per cent gain in yardage would have resulted. This will naturally go back to its original state when exposed to above. Garments preshrunk and not exposed to heavy roller pressure seldom fail to hold shape and measure. V-E Will Be Day Of Thanksgiving

With V-E day possible, citizens have requested that a reminder of the Pampa's planned observance for that day be published.
A special committee met early this month, at the request of the chamber of commerce, to determine the city's policy in regard to a V-E day observance. The committee concluded that prayer and solemnity will be the theme of the Pampa observance.
The following recommendations were submitted:
All churches in Pampa will be opened immediately for prayer and thanksgiving, regardless of the hour of the observance, and all persons are urged to attend either their own church or any church in their immediate vicinity or else gather in family groups and receive full news reports.
A mass meeting, under the auspices of the Pampa Ministerial Alliance, held in the Junior high school auditorium, will be the feature of Pampa's observance. If the news is received before 6:30 p.m., the meeting will be held at 7:30 o'clock the same night, but if it is received after 6:30 p.m., the meeting will be held at 7:30 o'clock the following night.
The following plan was suggested to merchants:
Close all places of business immediately should the word come during business hours and request all employees to go immediately to their homes or nearest church. Whether word is received during the day or night, business will be resumed at the usual hour the following morning. Should the news be received at any hour on Sunday, business will be resumed on Monday morning.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

PHILADELPHIA, April 28—(AP)— Within a few minutes after he won the high hurdles "special" at yesterday's Penn relays, Haakon Lidman was perched in the fourth row of the press box, pounding out a story for his newspaper in Sweden. Haakon probably set a record of some sort in wrapping a towel around his neck, hauling on a sweat suit and getting to work, though envious rivals who write only English claim he was a shade faster over the barriers than over the keys—Yesterday's "big" event was the sprint relay when army's Doc Blanchard and Penn's Tony Minisi started off together—Minisi probably is wondering today how he's ever going to stop that big guy—He couldn't make a forward pass with the baton.

Wyse Hurls 1-Hitter

CHICAGO, April 28—(AP)—A sharp single to right center in the eighth inning by rookie catcher Bill Salkeid of Pittsburgh spoiled a no-hit game for pitcher Hank Wyse as the Chicago Cubs shut out the Phillies, 6-0, before 5,706 fans here today.

Wyse kept the Pirates under control all the way.

The victory second of the current series, was the sixth in a row for the Cubs, and was the first of the season for Wyse.

'Under the Lights' Contest Is Planned; Dunham Goes to End

The score, 20 to 7.

Coaches Otis Coffey, Tip Mooney and John Whinnery put their charges through the first intra-squad game of the spring football training season Friday afternoon, and the Greens under Mooney, took the measure of the Golds, coached by Whinnery.

Neither team could be called the "first" or "second" string. The squad was merely divided up as evenly as possible, with the two regulars from last year, Randall Clay and Jack Dunham, on separate teams.

Dunham, big 190-pound former tackle, has been shifted to an end position during the spring practice.

Clay scored two touchdowns and made consistent gains through the line to lead his team to its win. Little Jim Wilson caught a pass for the other score.

Bill Washington, letterman from the 1943 season, scored the Gold's only touchdown, sprinting around right end for 30 yards and the score.

Although fog was rolling in from the flat plains north of Harvester Park, did not seem to dampen the spirits of either squad as they fought back and forth on the wet field. No fans were out to watch the contest but Coffey said that a game would probably be played under the lights next week.

Although the playing was somewhat "spotty" Coffey said, the squad, as a whole was improving and the marvelous spirit shown by every boy pleased all the coaches very much.

Coffey said that it may not be possible to hold the annual "excess" game this year because of the age of former football players. The game usually climaxes the spring training period and is played between the boys who have played here in the past and the players on next year's team.

It was the main squad saw action in Friday's contest. The starters played most of the first half and then the coaches started calling for substitutes to play the remainder of the game.

The starting line-ups:

Benton Wins On 2 Hits

CLEVELAND, April 28—(AP)— Veteran Al Benton limited the Cleveland Indians to two singles today to pitch the Detroit Tigers to a 5-1 victory in the opener of a three-game series.

Permitting but one tribe batsman to reach third in eight innings, Benton, who recently joined the Tigers after a two-year hitch in the navy, was in command all the way to earn his second victory of the year. Jim Barbly was the loser for Cleveland.

NEW YORK, April 28—(AP)— Nick Etten's fourth hit, a single in the 13th inning, drove in Hershel Martin with the run that gave the New York Yankees a 2-1 victory over the Washington Senators today before 7,947 paid admissions.

Etten had previously homered in the sixth inning to keep the Yankees in the ball game. Outbitting the Nats 10 to 6, the Yankees had numerous chances to score but plucky Little Marlon Pieretti, the 5 foot-seven-inch Nat hurler, was superb in the pinches, leaving 19 New Yorkers stranded on the basepaths.

PHILADELPHIA, April 28—(AP)— Rex Cecil pitched the Boston Red Sox to their first victory of the season, scattering four hits for an 8 to 4 triumph over the Philadelphia Athletics.

Don Black, who retired in the sixth after a line drive injured his hand was charged with the defeat, but jittery Joe Berry took the heaviest beating—a five-run outburst in the seventh inning. Berry pitched to six batters without retiring a man.

Longer Working Hours Make for More Accidents

NEW YORK, April 28—Longer working hours per man, combined with wartime shortages of materials, brought about an increase in the number and severity of accidents in the petroleum industry in 1944, the American Petroleum Institute's department of accident prevention announced.

With all elements of the industry working at top speed to produce the record-breaking output of the petroleum products needed to fight two great wars, the increase in accidents was not unexpected, the annual report of the department said.

Principal increases in the frequency and severity of accidents occurred in the drilling, production, refining, and natural-gasoline branches of the industry. These were compensated for in part by decreases in other activities, but the net shows an increase for the industry as a whole.

China May Work Out Own Destiny

CHUNGKING, April 28—(AP)—Ambassador Patrick J. Hurley, fresh from a conference with Premier Marshal Stalin, declared today that the United States, Britain and Russia were in agreement and "anxious for China to work out her own destiny in her own way."

But he declined to say whether the agreement embraced Manchuria, in which Russia long had an interest, before the Japanese seized it and turned into an arsenal.

The United States, Hurley said, favored the unification of all anti-Japanese elements in China but "we're insisting the Chinese must furnish their own leadership, make their own decisions and be responsible for their own policies."

Drama of Youth, 'Junior Miss'

An exciting scene from the New York stage play, "Junior Miss," which comes, with an outstanding cast, to the Junior high school auditorium Monday evening for one performance sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's club.

One of the most enduring of family questions, as "Junior Miss," the Broadway stage success which the Business and Professional Women's club is sponsoring and is coming to the stage of the Junior high school auditorium Monday evening, April 24, again makes clear, is whether it is the children or the parents who confront each other with the graver problems. The cleavage in the generations, which is more honored in the observance than in the breach is delightfully reestablished in the play by Jerome Chodorov and Joseph Fields from the New Yorker stories by Sally Benson.

If anything, it comes across the footlights more sharply than it did in Miss Benson's charming prose. Miss Benson's book was so much the property of the Graveses, two girls, the subtle daughter with her claims to sophistication and that over imaginative child known as Judy, that one only smiled at the irritations these youngsters caused their parents.

In the theater, however, the forces of maturity and immaturity are drawn up in unmistakable battle formation. Now there are two sides in the field where originally there was only one—at least only one that counted. It is the plot that has brought this about, the plot, and the fact that the parents being visible and decidedly abused are bound to cause a certain rift in the allegiance of some adults.

But all in all, the dramatists, who also wrote "My Sister Eileen," have done a wonderful job of comedy adaptation. Any direction, by Stanley Woolf, who is young enough to remember that children are people, paces a performance that conveys the excitable emotions of girls and boys in their teens. But are girls of that age so giddy? Do they live in a world of verities?

Confidentially, they do. A morning of two after "Junior Miss" had started on its road tour the Civic Drama Guild received a terse note tacked out by a junior miss in a polite school in New England. Paraphrasing by paragraph it skipped from pain to ecstasy with no transitions—from tragedy on one hand to gluttony on the other. "Please excuse the mistakes I am making in typing this, for I have my hand all bandaged up due to a sprained thumb," the note concluded and then swept on to the climax: "My, but I'm full. We just finished Christmas dinner of which we all had sixth and seventh servings. It was delicious."

Probably there are dull moments somewhere in the lives of growing children. But adults who live in the same house with them have difficulty in detecting the dull moments and become worried or suspicious if this dull moment lasts long. Some things are obviously dull—school, for instance, cutting the lawn, shoveling endless criss cross paths through the snow for the Monday clothesline. But even the dull things have compensations, for a child concentrates with difficulty on the things that bore him and is continually receiving related impressions that are wholly alive.

To an adolescent, the world is crowded with wonders. Incidents become crises. Emotions are violent or rhapsodic. Friendships are crushes, and friends never get tired out or talked out, for everything is new, the world stretches into infinite space and nothing can be exhausted and nothing is impossible. Adults use to say that if you dug far enough you would come out in China. Obviously, it would be hard work to dig this far, but reaching China by any means would be worth it, wouldn't it? Child hood

'Aviation' Studied By Century Club in Home of Mrs. Hicks

Mrs. Lloyd M. Hicks entertained members of the Twentieth Century club in her home Tuesday. Mrs. George Hepper, leader of the program, gave an interesting talk on aviation, through which the woman of the word will be able to lend her influence toward world peace.

Mrs. Hepper introduced F. M. Culbertson and Captain Martin, of PAAF, who gave talks on aviation. Mr. Culbertson stressed local needs incurred by the greater use of airplanes. Captain Martin told about the effects flying has on the human body.

Roll call was answered by the following: Mesdames G. F. Branson, W. R. Campbell, F. M. Culbertson, J. W. Garman, J. W. Jordan, Raymond Harrah, Hicks, Clifton High, M. E. Lamb, J. M. Massa, Roger McConnell, Roy McKernan, Roy McMillen, F. Floyd Stallings, Carl Wright, Hepper, and William K. Stallings, a guest.

Common Sense Treatment of Returned Veterans Is Advised by Red Cross

Danger that the families of discharged servicemen may misinterpret well-meaning articles and books on the subject of how to treat the returning veteran was seen as a possibility today by Mrs. F. M. Culbertson and Mrs. J. B. Massa, co-chairmen of home service of the Pampa Red Cross chapter.

"We have only to remember the fact that followed in the wake of the over-abundant literature on child care a few years ago to be warned of similar folly in connection with the returning veteran," Mrs. Culbertson said. "Young mothers abandoned the study of their children for the study of books about children. We already have some evidence that mothers and wives of returning servicemen are becoming self-conscious and unnatural in their behavior as a result of haphazard reading of literature on the subject."

Families seeking help on this problem at the local Red Cross chapter are being advised to use common sense in their treatment of sons and husbands who have undergone severe hardships in the war. For example, if the veteran wants to talk about his war experiences, it is regarded as perfectly natural and desirable for relatives to discuss the subject fully. Only when the veteran reveals a distaste for such discussions, should they be avoided.

"Fortunately, most of the articles and books on the treatment of the veteran are of a very high caliber," Mrs. Massa added. "They are prepared for the most part, by acknowledged authorities in psychiatry, social service, and related fields in language easily comprehended by the layman. A lot of the material is just good common sense. Obviously, no disabled veteran wants to be asked bluntly, or specially by someone outside the family, how he lost an arm or leg. Neither does he want consideration of any. Appro-

Dean Clarence Burg To Present Recital

The Junior high school auditorium will be the setting for the piano recital to be given this afternoon, at 4 o'clock, by Dean Clarence Burg, of Oklahoma City university, under the auspices of the Pampa Music Teachers association.

Dean Burg has been acclaimed throughout the United States as a pianist of great ability. Critics in newspapers in New Jersey and New York, as well as Chicago, have described his playing as brilliant and artistic; his arrangement of the "Arkansas Traveler" as amusing and entertaining; his Debussy as delicate shimmer; and his Liszt as having clean-cut precision and brilliance.

He is past-president of the Oklahoma Music Teachers association; past-dean, Oklahoma City chapter of the American Guild of Organists; and a past vice-president of the American Matthey association. At present he is secretary of the Oklahoma State Music Examining committee, and he will serve as judge of the National Piano Playing auditions in Amarillo tomorrow, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The club instructed its delegate to endorse Mrs. Raymond Harrah for district president. Committees for the coming year were read by Mrs. William Fraser.

"Racial Problems" was the topic for the afternoon's study. Mrs. Walter Rogers prepared a paper on the problem as seen by educated Negroes in this country, under the title, "So the Negro Speaks". In the absence of Mrs. Rogers, the paper was read by Mrs. Frank Carter.

Mrs. E. L. Green presented the problem as seen by white students. It is declared to be America's greatest failure and greatest opportunity. The two viewpoints coincided in many respects. A round-table discussion followed.

Members attending were Mesdames Charles Ashby, C. N. Barrett, Roy Bourland, Frank Carter, Curtis Douglas, Fraser, Green, Hughes, J. B. Johnson, Frank Kelley, J. B. McCrery, Frank Perry, Bruce Pratt, E. C. Sidwell, Arthur Teed, and C. V. Wilkinson.

The National defense committee with Mrs. Rufe Jordan, chairman, reported that six new records of popular music have been given to the disbursing agency of the Red Cross, camp and hospital committee.

Mrs. L. N. Atchison, program leader, conducted a discussion on "Rayon." She told how rayon was made and how to select it in buying.

Mrs. M. P. Downs advised members in the care of rayon.

The hostess served dessert plates to Mesdames E. D. Carver, Tom Perkins, Fred Radcliff, Atchison, J. D. Merchant, and Frank Michlan.

Yank Is Wounded Rescuing German

By HAL BOYLE
WITH THE U. S. FIRST INFANTRY DIVISION—(P)—A small, pigtailed German girl stood frightened in the middle of a shell-swept street and to a New Jersey corporal she was just a kid in danger and he risked his life to save her.

ter 16th regiment doughboys had captured the town.

Heedless that the town was filled with German civilians the nazis panted it with a savage barrage of mortar and artillery shells. From a vantage point just outside, a self-propelled gun raked the street with shells and machine gun fire.

The screaming children ran to cellars. All except the little girl who stood helpless with terror.

A German mortar shell hit a few yards from her. Steel fragments ripped through her legs and the youngster fell to the ground, her screams drowned out by the blasts of shells falling nearby.

The young corporal saw her fall. He could hear the deadly machine gun bullets zinging down the street. Without hesitation he dashed out to the child.

As he ran from the shelter of a building, another shell burst near the girl and fragments struck the American in the face and chest.

He fell, but slowly regained his feet, blood streaming into his eyes and blinding him so he had to grope to reach the child.

She was unconscious when he reached a combat first aid station, carrying her in his arms as he staggered through the bullet plowed street. Then he collapse from shock and loss of blood.

"Those dirty nazis, shelling their own kids!" exclaimed the medical corps attendant.

"This fellow makes you proud you're an American."

Prisoners of war at a Louisiana camp had made a plea to the German people to "discontinue this senseless fight."

The prisoners addressed the appeal to the war department and urged use of their names in broadcasts to Germany.

The appeal, signed by 107 of 119 prisoners at a branch labor camp operating under Camp Livingston, La., said:

"Germans and Austrians! As peace draws nearer every day we want to call upon you to discontinue this senseless fight and not to participate in or support any nazi underground work."

"We, the undersigned prisoners of war, after almost two years in the United States, are convinced that the Americans are against all forms of war and will endeavor to establish friendly relations between all nations. This friendly relationship will be able to prevent another war, a third world war, that would bring the complete destruction to a civilization that needed almost 2,000 years to be built.

"We, the undersigned, have cooperated with the American military authorities since the very beginning of our capture and are firmly convinced that any further hostilities would only increase the destruction of German and Austrian lives and property."

"Germans and Austrians as well, you who did not yet lose your objectivity despite nazi propaganda, carry out the orders given to you by the Allies. It will be in your own interest and for the benefit of the coming generations."

WASHINGTON, April 28—(P)—Notwithstanding mistreatment of American prisoners by Germany and Japan, the war department has reiterated to congress its determination to abide by the Geneva convention covering prisoners of war.

Brig. Gen. R. W. Berry, deputy assistant chief of staff, told the house military committee the Geneva convention was a part of the supreme law of the United States and so long

Prisoners Plea To Countrymen

DALLAS, April 28—(P)—The Eighth service command said Thursday 107 German prisoners of war at a Louisiana camp had made a plea to the German people to "discontinue this senseless fight."

The prisoners addressed the appeal to the war department and urged use of their names in broadcasts to Germany.

The appeal, signed by 107 of 119 prisoners at a branch labor camp operating under Camp Livingston, La., said:

"Germans and Austrians! As peace draws nearer every day we want to call upon you to discontinue this senseless fight and not to participate in or support any nazi underground work."

U. S. Will Not Mistreat POW's

WASHINGTON, April 28—(P)—Notwithstanding mistreatment of American prisoners by Germany and Japan, the war department has reiterated to congress its determination to abide by the Geneva convention covering prisoners of war.

Brig. Gen. R. W. Berry, deputy assistant chief of staff, told the house military committee the Geneva convention was a part of the supreme law of the United States and so long as it was, the department had no choice but to abide by it.

The department, General Berry added, is bound by the convention unless congress orders otherwise.

General Berry was the first witness as the committee started a general investigation of prisoners of war.

General Berry told the committee approximately 390,000 German, Italian and Japanese prisoners are in this country in addition to 1,737,000 held outside the United States. Almost 2,000,000 of the total are Germans.

Hunger, poverty, disease and ignorance are conditions that give aggressors their chance. We shall not be able to achieve a lasting peace unless the nations of the world collaborate successfully to reduce and eventually remove the economic and social causes of war.

Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius Jr.

Anti-Typhus Fund Is Forthcoming

WASHINGTON, April 28—(P)—Appropriation of federal funds to carry on a special anti-typhus drive in the south through mosquito and flea eradication programs is expected by Rep. Thomas (D-Tex.)

In a letter to Dr. George W. Cox, head of the Texas state board of health, Thomas said he felt "safe in saying" congress would grant a "sizeable portion" of the $684,000 requested by the United States public health service to start an anti-typhus drive in states where it is most prevalent.

Thomas said the inclination of the appropriations committee, of which he is a member, is to make the money immediately available rather than at the beginning of the next fiscal year July 1, so that the work can start at once. Hearings on the matter developed that Texas last year had 1,741 cases of typhus, 32 per cent of the total number in the south, and that 10 per cent of them were in Harris county which includes Houston.

The non-fraternizing regulation has been harder on doughboys than on the Germans. We get a kick out of giving food to starving kids, especially if they're beautiful blondes.

—Pfc. William Schott of New York City, in Germany.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 28—(AP)—After 30 years as the "language of diplomacy" French is giving place to English.

Russian Foreign Commissioner Molotov combines an apparent ignorance of English, by the way, with a determination to keep quiet.

Russian walked through a hotel lobby. "Yes," said Molotov distinctly, never stopping in his stride and not saying another word.

The scene at the opening session, arranged with the care of a Broadway producer bent on serious business, was one of grave solemnity against a background of vivid color. Four golden pillars, interspersed with the bright colors of the flag of 46 nations, were taken by some to symbolize the Four Freedoms. Others viewed them as dramatizing the dominant position of the Four big powers at the conference.

The biggest task of San Francisco is not negotiation, not charter drafting. It is to create an organization which will be imbued with a righteous spirit, an active principle.

—John Foster Dulles of New York, adviser to U. S. delegation.
