City Clean-Up Opens Monday

Everything is all set for the big spring city-wide clean-up drive starting Monday, if it doesn't rain. City Manager B.H. Cruise said Saturday.

If it rains too much over the week and the alleys will be too muddy for the loaded trucks to get through, the city manager explained.

First to be relieved of its trash will be Ward 4 starting Monday morning. Four trucks, two of them hired and two belonging to the city, plus 12 extra men will spend two days in the ward's alleys picking up old trash and lumber piled there by residents. The next two days will be spent cleaning up Ward 3 and the following six days will be divided three each to cleaning up Wards 1 and 2.

Members of civic clubs riding in sound trucks are giving each of the wards a two-day reminder before the trucks roll through to pick up the trash.

The trucks will make only one trip over each of the laid out routes. Residents in each of the wards are being asked to pile their trash, old lumber and other junk they want to get rid of in the alley where they can be picked up.

Both Spencer will bring three-minute talks at both services, he said, and Intermediate boys will usher the evening worship.

Hormones Vital In Cancer Fight

HOUSTON, May 16 (UP)—Hormones will have a "key position" in the defeat of cancer, a leading research specialist, Dr. Charles B. Huggins of the University of Chicago, said here.

"Treatments have indicated that the successful treatment of cancer by pills is possible," he said. Dr. Huggins was in Houston to receive the annual Bertner Award made by the M. D. Anderson Hospital for Cancer Research here.

His technique in treating prostate cancer is injecting female hormones in men and male hormones in females, when the cancer is in a part of the body controlled or affected by these hormones.

The counter injection, plus removal of the original hormone-producing gland, causes the cancer to shrivel and sometimes disappear, he said.

It's Your Deal

"Please answer some questions on poker," requests a Pittsburgh correspondent.

In the game of Jacks Openers, which player makes the first bet after the draw? Some players here say that the man to the left of the dealer always speaks first, others say that the opener speaks first after the draw.

My second question applies only to those games in which there are wild cards. Does five of a kind beat a royal flush in such a game?

The opener speaks first in the game of Jacks Openers.

In any variety of poker in which there are wild cards, five of a kind is the best possible hand. The next best kind of hand is a straight flush, and the royal flush is merely the highest possible straight flush.

Some people like to follow a table rule according to which a royal flush is the best possible hand, followed by five of a kind, and then followed by all other straight flushes.

This is a very illogical way to play, and would never be permitted in a street club or in any other serious poker game. This is a free country, however, and if everybody at the table is willing to agree to an illogical rule, that rule will apply.

Q — In a game of seven-card stud, two players tie with only five cards were counted. Should they count the other two cards in their hands?

A — No. Only five cards are counted in any poker hand. If two players tie in five cards, they must split the pot. The sixth or seventh cards are not considered.

Q — If you are dealt four of a kind in a draw poker game are you supposed to stand pat, or are you allowed to draw one card?

A — It is quite legal to draw one card in any poker game. In some circles, it is considered unsporting to draw a card. This is a matter of local custom rather than of law.

We prefer the kind of poker game in which nobody expects this kind of "protection" but

Commission To Estimate Road Mileage In Precincts

County Judge J. B. Maguire said the commissioners are now giving some consideration to a commission to estimate road mileage in each of the precincts.

Commissioner Paul Bowers, Pct. 3, has started on his, but still has a long way to go. Bowers told a Pampa Daily News reporter he wants to get a complete check on all of county-maintained roads in his precinct and break them down into classifications: paved, caliche, to-market roads.

A check with the State Highway Department disclosed Saturday the state has 192,087 miles of paved road to maintain. Two are U.S. highways, 60 and 66; three are state highways and five are farm-to-market roads.

Broken down the mileage figures for the 10 state supported roads are: 44,345 on U.S. Highway 66; 23,289 on U.S. Highway 70; 25,053 on State Highway 70; 25,053 on State Highway 152; and 34,025 on State Highway 273.

In addition there are 35,503 miles of paved farm-to-market roads in Gray County. Of these FM 291 between Lefors and McLean is the longest, 16,061 miles. The shortest, FM 750, runs along the south edge of Pampa for 2,371 miles. The second shortest, FM 292, runs from State Highway 70 toward Grandview School for 2,438 miles. The other two paved farm-to-market roads are FM 749, covering 9.4 miles and FM 748, covering 2.13 miles.

The only paved road of a length now maintained by the county is the 11-mile stretch known as the Coleridge Road, leading south from U.S. Highway 60; part in Pct. 2 and part in Pct. 3. The airport road, now under construction, and a few scattered bits over the county are the only other county maintained paved roads at present.

gram has been corrupted by "indecision," Symington said. He did not lay exclusively all the blame on the new administration, saying the series of policy mistakes began five years ago during the Democratic regime.

The political heat on the bill did not end with congressional passage. Only Saturday, 22 opponents made public a letter to Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr., demanding to know if he will bring a court test against the measure. They contend the bill upsets a series of Supreme Court decisions.

The same 22 Democrats and 21 Republicans also asked Secretary of State John Foster Dulles to outline international difficulties that may arise from the legislation.

About the same time, CIO President Walter P. Reuther made public a letter to Mr. Eisenhower, demanding a veto of the bill "in the interests of the country's welfare in time of peace and in time of war."

Another Side

On the other side of the fence, Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) blasted the House for "rubber stamping" a companion bill, already sent to the Senate, providing for federal authority to develop mineral resources on the "outer" continental shelf—that portion of the offshore lands seaward of the states' domain.

Sen. Francis Daniel (D-Tex.) has promised to fight for at least a state "cut" out of revenues from the "outer shelf."

Foes of the bill, calling it a "give away," estimated the offshore oil inside the states' boundaries may be worth up to $50 billion. Actually, however, known reserves in the area up to this time nowhere approach that figure in value.

By signing, Mr. Eisenhower thus will make good on one of his major campaign promises. It was credited with helping him carry Texas and, to a lesser extent, Florida, and it pushed him within close range of topping another Democratic southern stronghold, Louisiana.

UN Calls Truce Talk Recess To Prevent Split In Allies

TOKYO, Sunday, May 17—UP—The United Nations command called a three-day recess in the Korean truce talks to prevent any further split among the Allies, it was reported Saturday.

The United States was said to be in close touch with other members of the UN on such matters as the prisoners exchange, which has deadlocked the negotiations 19 days after they were resumed.

From these consultations among the capitals of the free world may come fresh instructions to the UN delegation before it again sits down with the Communists at Panmunjom Wednesday morning.

Administrative Reasons

Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison asked and received the three-day recess at Saturday's session for "administrative reasons."

Informed sources said these reasons boiled down to desire on the part of the Allies to gain a breathing spell while seeking means to avoid an irreparable split on how to compromise the prisoner exchange issue.

The Communists already were working overtime to drive a wedge between the United States and Britain that would win for them ultimate approval of their eight-point proposal for settling the fate of POWs who resist repatriation.

The difficulties among the Allies were pointed up last week when British Prime Minister Winston Churchill suggested that the Communists' eight-point plan might form the basis for a settlement of the long drawn out war.

The Communist propagandists leaped on that statement with result that North Korean Lt. Gen. Nam Il, the senior Red negotiator, stopped negotiating.

India Agrees

The Communist position became firmer when Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru also suggested the Reds eight-point plan form the basis for negotiation. This Communist plan was very close to an Indian plan approved by the United Nations General Assembly ever since the outbreak of the war.

The UN now must decide whether to modify its current 26-point plan submitted to counter the Red proposal.

During Saturday's 67-minute session Harrison tried to answer Reds but the Communists came back with charges the Allies were plotting to renege rather than free the prisoners.

"Whereas our side insists on no coercion either to prevent or effect repatriation," Harrison countered, "your side still clings to its extreme position of attempting to coerce unwilling prisoners to return to their masters."

Ike Plans To Sign Tidelands Monday

WASHINGTON, May 16—UP—President Eisenhower will sign the controversial tidelands bill Monday, giving coastal states title to offshore lands that may hide a multi-billion dollar treasure of oil and gas.

White House Press Secretary James C. Eganey announced the President's plans Saturday from aboard the Presidential Yacht Williamsburg, on which Mr. Eisenhower was crisscrossing Chesapeake Bay.

Former President Truman twice in 1946 and 1948 vetoed similar legislation. The first time, Congress sustained the veto. The second time, advocates of state ownership did not even try to override Mr. Truman.

Bitler Fight Precedes Passage

The bill passed Congress this time only after a bitter five-week fight in the Senate. The GOP leadership accused opponents—a self-styled "little band of liberals"—of filibustering. Among them was Sen. Wayne Morse (Ind.-Ore.), who kept the floor continuously for record 22-hour 20-minute speeches.

The political heat on the bill did not end with congressional passage. Only Saturday, 22 opponents made public a letter to Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. demanding to know if he will bring a court test against the measure. They contend the bill upsets a series of Supreme Court decisions.

Teacher Pay Raise Hopes Dwindling

AUSTIN, May 16 UP—Chance this session of any teacher pay raise near zero Saturday as Texas lawmakers prepared to move Monday into the twilight days of their 53rd session.

Legislators have agreed to call it quits at high noon Wednesday, May 27. The coming week is the last in which any major work might be expected to be transacted.

The House will return to work Monday deadlocked over the controversial issue of teacher wage boosts.

Shower Given Pair After Home Burns

PANHANDLE (Special) — Mr. and Mrs. N. F. (Rusty) Yates, whose home was recently destroyed by fire, were honored with a miscellaneous shower Tuesday in the basement of the Baptist Church.

The Yates residence was destroyed by fire of an undetermined origin. The home valued at $8,000 plus about $3,500 of furnishings was a total loss, with only a few items saved. No one was at home and it is believed an explosion caused the fire, as the building burned so rapidly.

The Texas Highway Department of Panhandle, by which the Yates was employed, presented the family a gift of approximately $100 or more as a good will token.

A Pretty Good Answer, At That

An Arizona man had stopped at a Panhandle cafe with his wife and small son about 4 p.m. Saturday for a bite to eat.

Telling several persons nearby that he was on his way to Springfield, Mo., he asked what was ahead on the road.

"Well," one of the localites drawled, "Pampa is about 27 miles down the road and it has pretty good accommodations."

"What's beyond that?" the Arizonian wanted to know.

"Oklahoma" was the brief—but pointed—reply.

New Air Force Chief To Speak

DALLAS, May 16—UP—Lt. Gen. Nathan Twining, newly named chief of staff of the Air Force, will make one of his first major speeches since his appointment on May 22 at the annual convention of the Aviation Writers Association in Dallas.

The subject of the air chief's talk has not been announced. It will climax five days of activity in a convention attracting 250 of the nation's aviation writers to the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

The convention opens Monday and continues through Friday and will include tours of area aircraft facilities and plants. The first two days' activities will be in Fort Worth, then the delegates will move to Dallas.

Among talks scheduled Thursday in Dallas will be one by Dr. August Raspet of the University of Mississippi on theories of flight he has learned from watching birds, and one by Dr. Fred Weick of Texas A&M, Weick designed the AG-1 crop duster airplane.

Injured Driver Faces Charges

Charges of passing on the wrong side and contesting for speed have been filed against Dillard D. E. Kennedy, 20, of Skellytown, who was critically injured Thursday night when his car overturned on State Highway 152 east of Pampa, State Highway Patrolmen reported.

The patrolmen said charges of contesting for speed were also filed against Bobbie Rae Barnes, 1140 Neal, who was reported racing with the car driven by Kennedy.

Kennedy remained in a critical condition Saturday night in a local hospital.

St. Louis is nicknamed Monday City for the artificial mounds in its vicinity, said to have been the work of the ancient Mound Builders.

Wreck Victim's Condition 'Good'

PANHANDLE (Special) — Still in Highland General Hospital Saturday night in "good" condition was Mrs. Earl Burum, Panhandle, who received a fractured pelvis and numerous bruises when her car overturned after hitting loose dirt on a farm-to-market road, several miles west of town.

Her small sons, Jimmy and Jerry, received cuts and minor bruises when they were flung from the car.

Mrs. Burum was brought to Pampa by ambulance after receiving emergency treatment in a Panhandle doctor's office. The mishap occurred May 8.

Written by Ruth E. Day, the play is a unison operetta in two acts with a rhythm orchestra participating, Randall said.

The public is invited. Prices are 25 cents for youngsters and 35 cents for adults.

Dr. E. N. Jones Named President Of Texas Tech

LUBBOCK, Tex., May 16—UP—Dr. E. N. Jones will be formally inaugurated Monday as sixth president of Texas Technological college.

Jones, a native of Downs, Kans., has been president of Texas Tech for the past eight months, but his inauguration was postponed because of his heavy working schedule.

More than 100 representatives of other educational institutions are expected for the ceremonies, scheduled at 9 a.m. Dr. Henry Nash Smith, professor of American Studies at the University of Minnesota, will be the principal speaker and Charles C. Thompson of Colorado City, chairman of Tech's board of directors, will preside at the installation.

Prior to becoming president, Jones served the 27-year-old Texas Tech as vice president in charge of academic administration. He first came to Tech in 1948 from Texas A&I, where he was president. He is a graduate of Ottawa (Kansas) University and the University of Iowa.

Pleads Not Guilty To Assault Charge

A Pampa woman pleaded not guilty in county court this morning to a charge of aggravated assault.

Judge J. B. Maguire Jr. set bond at $750 for Lenora Godrey, about 25, and her case will await the next session of the county court's petit jury.

U. S. Airmen Race To Be Triple Aces

TOKYO, Sunday, May 17—UP—Two United States Air Force captains racing to become the world's first triple jet ace and an "old pro" of the Korean air war paced American Sabrejet pilots Saturday in knocking 11 Communist MIGs out of the North Korean skies.

Roaming "MIG Alley" along the Manchurian border the Sabrejets also damaged six Russian-built jet fighters for their highest score since last Sept. 4 when they downed 3, probably destroyed another and damaged seven.

In the ground war American and South Korean infantrymen teamed up to kill or wound almost 1,400 Communists in the heaviest ground fighting in almost two months on the central front.

Jabara Gets One

America's top jet ace and his hottest rivals both added to their score of MIGs destroyed as an old warrior, Maj. James Jabara, Wichita, Kans., the first American ace of the Korean war, downed his first Red jet fighter on his second tour of duty in Korea. He now has seven MIGs destroyed.

Capt. Manuel Fernandez, Miami, Fla., held his title as the world's leading jet ace by downing his 14th MIG—only one short of the triple-jet-ace title.

Fernandez took back the title only a few hours after Capt. Joseph McConnell Jr. of Apple Valley, Calif. had tied things up by downing his 13th jet. Fernandez has 39 more missions to fly in Korea and he stands a good chance of becoming the first man to destroy 15 enemy jets.

Tyler Pilot Scores

Saturday was the fifth day of heavy fighting on the ground. The Eighth Army said a full Communist regiment of about 3,000 men smashed at South Korean positions northeast of Chorwon, but they also were hurled back with heavy losses.

DESPAIR OVER LOSS darkens face of Maj. William L. Cosby, 32, Painter, Va., when one of his pilots fails to return.

By EDWARD R. KENNEDY
NEA Special Correspondent

AT A FORWARD FIGHTER STRIP, Korea — (NEA) — These are the faces of aces. They are U. S. Sabrejet pilots who count MIGs destroyed or damaged instead of rotation points, who beg for extra missions to clip communism's wings.

They commute to their workshop 40,000 feet in the sky over North Korea, sometimes twice a day.

Last stop on the line is the Yalu River, beyond which they can see the enemy planes practicing take-offs and landings. There, in MIG alley, they seek battle with the Reds who choose to fight instead of beating it for sanctuary.

All these men are not "aces" in the accepted five-MIG headline sense of the word. But each is looking for that next Red jet to bring him closer to the glory-rate — and the satisfaction of one less Red in the sky.

Over North Korea some Sabrejet pilots bail out, some spin in, some are captured — and some die. Some of them ditch in the sea, and are rescued by helicopters.

But most of them fly home daily to hot chow, showers and clean sheets.

Back from the tension of battle in MIG Alley, they sing and laugh and describe with an airman's swooping gestures the excitement of the day.

They go to their club, called Swig Alley, and take a "swig for a MIG" — or down a glass for a fallen wingsman.

They also unashamedly wipe away men's tears of rage and anger when they tell of a fallen buddy's last message:

"I've had it, man. Bug out of here."

And they sing cynical songs like this:

"Throw a nicker in the trees, Save a fighter pilot, please. We've got navigators, gunners and a flock of bombardiers, But there are no fighter pilots in Korea-er . . ."

"I have six MIGs upon me, My tailpipe's in the trees, Mayday, Mayday, Mayday, Spin instructions please."

Up above the Yalu, they are always outnumbered, yet have destroyed more than 600 MIGs against a debit of 60-odd losses.

In a few minutes of air action they are targets for more bullets and shells than will be aimed at a ground soldier in an average nine-month Korea tour of duty. Yet they pity the earth-bound troops.

These are the Sabrejet pilots, elite of the Air Force. Competent in the sky, sometimes carefree on the ground.

They are determined businessmen, intent on their job of preserving democracy from the aces against any odds.

And they don't count the odds. They count dead MIGs.

EXHILARATION OF VICTORY lights face of Capt. Robert A. Windoffer, 30, Fort Wayne, Ind., after shooting down MIG.

FRUSTRATED Lt. Donald Hooten, Dallas, tells how MIG he chased scooted back across Yalu.

IMPASSIVE Maj. Stephen Bettlinger, 28, Denver, listens to briefing for the flight he leads.

BACK AGAIN for second tour, Lt. Col. George L. Jones, Vero Beach, Fla., has 7 1/2 MIGs.

STUDIOUS-looking Lt. James F. Low, 27, Sausalito, Calif., has blasted down eight MIGs.

DETERMINED Lt. Col. Frank S. Keller, Trenton, N.J., pauses during briefing for a fight.

NON-PLUSED Capt. Lennie R. Moore, Ft. Walton, Fla., describes a rough encounter.

HIGH NOON position of MIG he got is described by Capt. Stuart Childs, 29, Charlotte, N.C.

SERIOUSLY INTENT Lt. Gilbert Hasler, 22, of Pasadena, Calif., describes last mission.

BUSINESS of briefing occupies Lt. Charles W. McGinnis, Pittsburgh, before flight.

RELAXED Lt. Joseph C. Bryant, Lauris, S.C., is also eager to get his first Red jet.

OLD HAND is Lt. Col. Carroll B. McElroy, 36, Mamaroneck, N.Y., with two sure kills.

CALM, CLEAR EYES of Lt. Col. Richard Ayersman, 35, Sacramento, are jetman's trademark.

CONCENTRATION stills Lt. George W. Roope, 27, Phoenix, Ariz., who's after his first MIG.

AT A COST OF ABOUT $50 Pampa Youth Builds Own Telescope

By HENRY S. GORDON
Pampa News Staff Writer

It takes a generous pile of spare cash or plenty of patience to get a fairly good cleopse of the Moon, Venus, Mars, or Saturn with its mysterious rings.

And, James Edwin Vicars, 16, of 608 Buckler, Pampa High School sophomore, has the patience plus the know-how to get the job done in an economical sort of way.

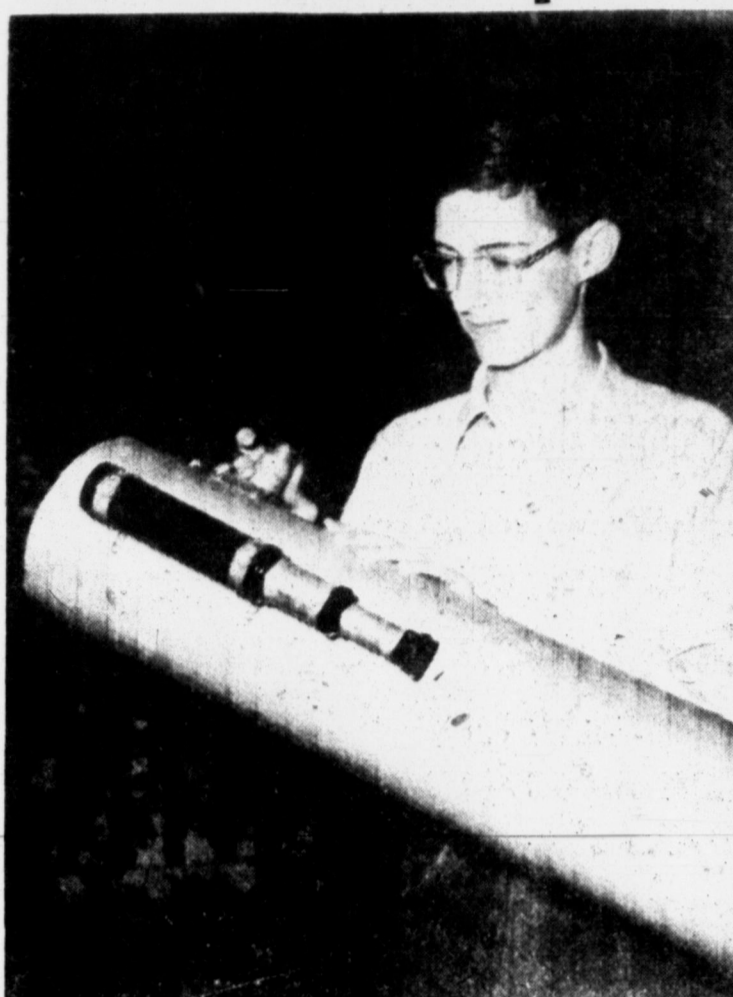

With some odds and ends of material and few pieces of specially purchased items, James constructed his own 109-power telescope at a cost of approximately $50. Work on the star gazing apparatus took well over six months, the most tedious part of which was grinding and polishing his own reflector lens. A similar telescope would cost between $300 and $400, James says.

James was only 11 years old when he first got an idea to build the scope. That was quite by accident. He bought a magazine on the way home from a trip to Carlsbad Caverns with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin S. Vicars. The periodical had a story about home-made telescopes and how to make them, and ran the plans in a three-month series.

HE KEPT the issues for three years before getting up the nerve to start work on it.

The five-foot barrel for the scope was finally obtained from an irrigation supply house in Kentucky; five feet of aluminum irrigation pipe, seven inches in diameter. A disk of plate glass six inches in diameter and close to one inch thick, had to be obtained from Vermont. This was one of the most important pieces since it was to be the reflector lens.

The glass had to be ground and shaped until it formed a perfect parabola. To do this, James had to use six grades of carborundum and another piece of glass, known as a tool — to grind the reflector by hand. Concave in shape, its curve inward is virtually invisible to the naked eye; it must be ground to the millionth of an inch.

With his lens on an orange crate, James worked his carborundum pads back and forth across the glass while at the same time walking around it. Test after test with a pinpoint of light through a can and a razor blade had to be made to check the accuracy of the grinding. The grades of the carborundum ranged from very coarse to very fine before the indenture of the reflector was ready for polishing with optical rouge.

WORKING ON the average of an hour to two hours at a time, it took almost six months before the reflector was ground, polished and ready for silvering. Actual grinding hours ran up to about six hours while the polishing took close to 24 hours.

The reflector's surface had to be constantly watched for fine flecks of dust. One particle would have scratched its surface enough to make it useless. This danger was more acute during the fine grinding portion of the operation.

The lens finally finished, it was sent away for silvering. Actually it was coated with aluminum, found to give a clearer image. The reflector is located at the bottom of the tube and collects light from stars, planets, moon or any other heavenly body it is aimed at. It then shoots the light back to a flat mirror which is bent toward the three-lens eyepiece. The eyepiece had to be purchased, too,

Boot Offered On Deal... Hank Wants To Swap His Top For One A Straw Hat Will Fit

By HENRY McLEMORE

Any of you want to swap heads with me?

I'm serious — so serious that I'd be willing to throw in something to boot, such as a Wateau print, riparian rights to a lot I own in Texarkana, or an autographed picture of myself in a diving bell.

Honesty forces me to admit that anyone who accepted my offer would be getting a sub-standard piece of merchandise. Oh, it stays the normal number of ears, noses, napes, foreheads, and cowlicks, and people don't gape when I go strutting by, but it isn't precisely right.

I know this to be true because each year as faithfully as Old Faithful spouts I beat my way to a haberdashery and try to buy a straw hat that will fit me. I have tried on straw hats for going on four decades now and in many parts of the world, but the result is always the same.

There simply isn't a straw hat in the world that fits me and there never was one. This can be the fault of but one thing — my head. Millions and millions of men don't have this trouble and hat manufacturers go all out in providing straws of all shapes and flexibility.

I have tried all sorts of ways to change the shape of my head, some of them extremely painful. Three years ago, a few weeks before Straw Hat Day, I started sleeping with a large and heavy rock on my forehead. This is an attempt to make my forehead retreat so that when I put on a straw it wouldn't fit as if it had been slipped on the prow of a very narrow canoe.

Either my head is harder than a rock or I used the wrong type of stone for forehead bending because there was no change.

Another time I stopped up one ear and had an opera tenor blow into the other for three hours. This was done in the hope that my temples would puff out and fill in the spaces that are always between my head and my hat.

Only last year I paid a goodly sum to have a renowned phonologist beat me on the head with a hammer to see if he could smooth out a few bumps and chasms. He finally gave up and told me to stick to berets.

Yesterday I made my annual pilgrimage to a haberdasher. It was as fruitless as a rubber tree in Iceland. Not only that, but I came ADJUST, THEN LOOK, IS ONE OF THE MAIN SECRETS OF GETTING A GOOD LOOK AT THE SOLAR SYSTEM.

Another secret is knowing what you are looking at, especially where to find it in the firmament. James Edwin Vicars, shown above, knows both of the secrets and has "traveled" through most of the solar system via his homemade telescope of 109-power. James is making an adjustment to the three-lens eyepiece just before taking a squint at Saturn. Rotation of the Earth is so swift the image of the planets moves off the field rapidly and the operator must be ready to move the scope accordingly. Winter months, James says, are the best months to look at the stars and planets. (News Photo) and brings objects aimed at 109 was supposed to land on, especially closer to Earth. The Moon, during the first quarter of the 240,000 miles from Earth — on the average — is brought within 2,400 miles.

A SIX-POWER Boy Scout telescope has been fastened to the side of the larger scope for sighting purposes.

Not only James, but most of the neighborhood have had a good look at the Moon, Venus — mostly that planet's clouds — Mars, Jupiter, the stars, Vega, Orion and Big Dipper. Four of Jupiter's 12 moons have been spotted by James and five of the nine moons circling Saturn.

One of the big thrills for many people is actually seeing something they have heard of in physics. He felt that way when he spotted the same crater on the moon talked about in the picture "Expedition Moon."

Wire, don't write, if you are interested.

City Water Uses Top 1952 Period

Despite winter's unexpected return Pampans consumed more water during the first four days of the week than they did for the same period last year.

Records in the city engineering office show that 10,486,925 gallons of water flowed through city mains during Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. For the same period last year only 9,731,875 gallons were consumed.

In 1952 the lowest reading for that four day period was 48 on May 12; the highest, 92 on May 14. This year the temperature went as far as 79 on May 11 and never again hit the 70s. The low came Thursday morning when the mercury registered 29.

On Monday, May 11, 4,356,425 gallons of water were consumed for the high production of the four-day period. One year ago on that date water consumption was only 1,375,375. That week's lowest consumption. There was only a six degree difference between the high of those two days, too. The high last year on May 11 was 73; this year it was 79. The lows were only one degree apart—50 this year and 51 last year.

Even the low consumption figure for the first four days of last week was higher than the low of a year ago. Tuesday was the low consumption day with 1,685,125 gallons used. The high water consumption for the period last year came on May 13 when 3,255,125 gallons were consumed.

GI's CREATE LIVING MEMORIAL — The 5th Regimental Combat Team has raised $18,000 to found a Boys' Town for Korean orphans on a Han River island, 12 miles from Seoul. The project will be a living memorial to men of the 5th who died in the Korean war. The $18,000, raised by two successive payday raffles, was increased to $21,700 by a collection taken by the Third Army at its Fort McPherson, Ga., headquarters. The Seoul Y. M. C. A. will manage the Boys' Town, which will be a combined farm and industrial school for 200 youngsters, all under 18 years old. Above, Col. W. P. The RECORD SHOP

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — (NEA) — What's a recording session like? Come on along to the RCA-Victor studio, and by the clattering Third Avenue El, and watch.

Sunny Gale is recording "Send My Baby Back to Me." Henry Rene and a pickup band back her up. RCA recording director Hy Gill is at the controls, with two recording engineers in the next booth. A sprinkling of unexplained hangers-on stand around, snapping fingers and looking import.

It is 2 p.m. The musicians are rehearsing their parts. Rene dances around, batonless, gesturing to demonstrate the feeling he wants his men to get. Yellow-haired Miss Gale is off to one side, singing to herself. The engineers are checking the things engineers check.

It is 2:30. The four miles are set, and the delicate process of "balancing" — getting each section of the band at the right distance from the mike — begins. Gill works hard, especially with the rhythm section. "Back off, Billy," he tells the guitarist. "A little less on the cymbals, Jack," he tells the drummer. "You're booming," he tells the bass man.

It is 2:45. "Sunny, on a mike," Gill calls. Miss Gale goes to her spot, behind a big-sound-deadening plywood-and-insulation baffle. The rolling flashes on "B 3 BB 1093, Take A," the engineer reads into his mike. They play it through. Then they listen to it.

"It sounds dead," says Gill. "It sounds like an old dead fish," says Miss Gale. "Something's wrong," says Rene.

It is 3:15. They are writing on B 3 BB 1093. Take D, meaning the fourth run-through of the three-lens eyepiece, says Gill. "It's still dragging," says Gill. "It's too fast," says Miss Gale. "Let's split the difference," says Gill. They decided, besides a tempo change, the band needs to be rearranged. They move them around and that means a complete rebalancing. "B 3 BB 1093, Take E."

They play this one back, with all the musicians tapping their suede shoes as they listen. "Try it with a shuffle rhythm," someone suggests. "Sunny, watch your 'Ps,'" the engineers say, "they're popping."

It is 3:45. They run through with the shuffle rhythm. "That's what it needed," Gill exalts. "B 3 BB 1093, Take F." They're a little tired. "That does it," says Gill, "but Sunny, the ending was weak. Let's do the last eight bars again, and Sunny, get mad." "B 3 BB 1093, Take F," work part." It's over. They'll splice that ending on later. Gill is happy, Miss Gale seems pleased.

It is 4:04. Two hours and four minutes to do a side that will run a bit under three minutes. That's a record session.

Oilers Down Blue Sox Behind Williams, 12 To 5

End Home Stand Today At 2:30

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

The Oilers put together four 3-run innings last night to down the Abilene Blue Sox in the first of a 2-game series at Oiler Park, 12-5.

Sad Sam Williams was credited with his fourth mound victory for the season against one loss, Bill Fitcher, who gave way to Wall in the ninth inning, took the loss.

The 3-run Oiler innings came in the third, fifth, sixth and seventh innings. The second rally overcame a 4-3 Blue Sox lead and the visiting Abilenians were never able to catch up after that.

The Sox narrowed the gap to 6-5 in the top of the sixth when Eddie Bucz and Weldon Day singled but the Oilers came right back in their portion of the sixth to score three more runs and take a lead that was never endangered the rest of the way.

Williams went the route for the Oilers and gave up 10 hits, struck out six and walked only two. It was Williams' fifth complete game of the season and it was his second win over Abilene.

The two teams will meet again today in the series finale which will also end the current Oiler home stand. Manager Ted Pawelek of the Oilers was undecided last night on his starting pitching choice today. "It will be either Ray Machado or Eddie Hughes," Pawelek said after last night's game.

The Blue Sox jumped a head quickly in the first inning on a 2-run homer by Manager L.B. Palmer of the Hose, Palmer's blow, a drive over the left-centerfield wall found Bill Plante, who had led off the game with a single, on base.

After going scoreless in the first frame the Oilers came back in the second canto and staged the first of four 3-run rallies and took a 3-2 lead. Pawelek led off the Oiler second with a double, moved to third on Manny Temes' single and scored the first Oiler run on a fly to left by Quincy Barbee.

Bucz dropped Barbee's fly ball but wasn't charged with an error as he forced Temes at second. Barbee, thinking the ball was caught, returned to the Oiler dugout after rounding first but faced back to first when told the ball was dropped. The ball was thrown to John Harrison at first while Barbee was returning to the base and Umpire Theodore called Barbee out. After a vicious protest by the Oilers, the decision was reversed and the Sox took up the argument.

Doug Lewis, a sacrifice by Pawelek and successive singles by Temes and Barbee put the Oilers in the lead and they were never headed.

The final Sox run came in the sixth on Bucz' double and Day's single.

Four Oilers garnered three hits for the night, Aldridge, Pawelek, Temes and Cacao. All of Pawelek's blows were doubles.

Grand Slam Moves Chisox Awfully Close

NEW YORK, May 16—UP—Pinch-hitter Tommy Byrne's grand slam homer in the ninth inning gave the Chicago White Sox a 5-3 victory over the New York Yankees Saturday and moved them within a half game of the American League lead.

Until the ninth, Vic Raschi, the Yankees' starter, had limited the White Sox to two hits and seemed assured of his third victory on the basis of a comfortable 3-0 lead.

Pinch-hitter Bud Sheely opened the ninth with a single and Fred March, who ran for him, moved to second on an infield out. Ferris Fain walked but Orestes Minoso forced him at second for the second out.

Tom Wright then singled home March and when Raschi walked Jim Rivera to fill the bases, he was lifted in favor of spindly Ewell Blackwell. The first man Blackwell had to face was Vern Stephens but White Sox Manager Paul Richards lifted Stephens in favor of Byrne, one of the best hitting pitchers in baseball.

Byrne worked the count to two and two and then drilled one of Blackwell's fast balls 100 yds deep into the lower right field stands for the runs that clinched the game for the White Sox.

Southpaw Billy Pierce started for the White Sox, struck out eight men and duelled on even terms with Raschi until the seventh when he yielded straight singles to Bill Renna, Billy Martin and pinch-hitter Johnny Mize for the Yankees' first run. Raschi also singled to give the Yankees a two-run lead and New York added its third run and chased Pierce in the eighth on a walk, Mickey Mantle's single and Gil McDougald's long fly.

Luis Aloma, who relieved Pierce with none out in the eighth, throttled that rally, and received credit for his first victory of the season although Harry Dorish pitched the ninth for Chicago. The loss was charged to Raschi, who gave up four of the White Sox' five hits.

Shaky at the start during which he loaded the bases with walks, Maurice McDermott turned in a brilliant two-hit hurling chore. He struck out 10 Cleveland batters and never permitted an Indian runner beyond second base.

Now he entertains in night clubs with a group of birds that wash clothes, pull wagons, lift weights and do a trapeze act.

He's Travel-Happy
OAKLAND, Calif., May 16—UP—L. David Spowart made it safely back to his base by a roundabout way when his single-enough plane cranked out over the Oakland area Friday.

He made a belly-landing on a reservoir. As the plane sank he started swimming. A boat picked him up and took him ashore. Then an Air Force helicopter took him aloft again and returned him to the Alameda Naval Air Station.

Down To The Sea
LOS ANGELES, May 16—UP—Sailor Vernon Haroutunian, 20, said Saturday he would be glad to get back to sea and safely.

Haroutunian, on shore leave, failed to make a turn in his car Friday night and knocked down a row of palm trees.
"I'd take the sea anytime," he commented after he climbed unharmed out of his car. "When I make a wrong turn out there I don't have to worry about trees."

Margie Austin was winner of these two matches will meet for the championship at a date not yet determined.

Rain postponed the first day of the scheduled match play Friday, causing the delay in playing the final matches which had been originally scheduled for today.

In the other flight, Oak Alle Whittle, Lynda Austin, Fern Parker and Barbara Austin were first round winners.

Whittle eked out a 2-1 win over Nola Fade; Lynda Austin edged Mary Sue Nimmo, 2-1; Parker took a 2-1 win over Opal Samples; and Barbara Austin drew a bye in first semi-final matches today. The round results.

Pinch-Hit Homer Wins For Pirates

CHICAGO, May 16—UP—George Metkovich's pinch-hit homerun with a man on in the seventh inning sparked the Pittsburgh Pirates and Murry Dickson to a 3 to 2 triumph over the Chicago Cubs Saturday before 9,728 fans.

Dickson was credited with his third win against four defeats. He worked the first six innings, allowing only three hits, before he was removed to let Metkovich come in and slam the four bagger.

It was Metkovich's first hit in 16 times at bat this season and came after Dick Cole reached first on a pitcher's choice.

OH, !—In pain was Larry Doby after Charley Berry called him out on strikes at Cleveland's Municipal Stadium. The Indians' center fielder just couldn't believe he again had been caught looking, turned from the plate, bat in hand, as though hit by a pitched ball. Sherman Lollar is White Sox catcher. (NEA)

Chisox Pilot Paul Richards High On Chico

NEW YORK, May 16 (Special) — Eddie Stengel has his Mickey Vernon and Eddie Stanky in his Star Musical but Paul Richards pinks his Chico Carrasquel as "the greatest player in the world today."

"He makes plays that are unbelievable," said Richards, the dynamic manager of the hustling Chicago White Sox. "He makes plays that nobody ever dreamed of making."

The 25-year-old shortstop from Caracas, Venezuela, thus became the third entry in the controversy over the identity of the greatest player in the game now.

Manager Marty Marion of the Browns started it by naming Mantle the greatest player in the game with Stengel, of course, agreeing out Stanky over Musial.

"Musial has won six batting titles and let's wait until somebody else wins six before rating him over Musial," Stanky said.

But Richards' rating of Carrasquel has nothing to do with batting titles.

"He's no 'out man,'" Richards argues. "And there's nobody who plays shortstop like he does."

"He's got a greater range than any other shortstop and he's got legs to throw 'em out from any spot. In my opinion, he does things that no other player in the game today can do for his team."

The lean, outspoken manager of the White Sox also credits Carrasquel with being one of the leading forces in the Sox' aggressive play which has led the Yankees to four wins they will be the No. 1 threat for the American League pennant.

McLean Tigers End Spring Grid Drills

McLEAN, May 16 (Special) — The McLean Tigers, members of District 1-A, wound up their spring training drills this week.

Hap Rogers, the newly appointed Tiger coach, conducted the spring drills, Rogers, who comes here from Amarillo where he has been head football coach at Price College High School, succeeds Don Leach as the Tiger grid coach.

Twenty-seven boys participated in the spring drills which included 12 returning lettermen from last year. The remainder of the squad is made up of eight boys up from the B squad and seven raw recruits.

Rogers and Assistant Wayne Hill spent the Tigers through several lengthy workouts during the spring training season. Hill, who was the Tiger assistant coach last season, recently accepted the head coaching job at Petersburg, but he helped out in the spring drills here before leaving for his new post.

Much of the spring training session was taken up stressing fundamentals and seeking to find out just where the boys can be best used. There may be several switches in the boys' positions by the time the season rolls around next fall.

The Tigers will play 10 games next season that includes Coach Rogers' team of last fall, Price College. McLean travels to Amarillo Sept. 18 to meet Price College.

While Rogers hasn't made any predictions for the championship prospects of the 1953 Tiger eleven, he assures that he will have a hustling team.

The 12 lettermen back from last year are Joe Crockett, Rodney Gunn, James Jolly, Jimmy Faren, Wayne Moore, Don Trew, Don Crockett, Wayne Woods, Ricky Mantooth, Arthur Vineyard, Kenneth Wilson and Jack Hupp.

Tigers Extend Streak To Two

PHILADELPHIA, May 16 (UP) — The Detroit Tigers reached the state of Maryland Saturday when they defeated the Philadelphia Athletics 6-3 for their longest winning streak of the season—two games—end their first series victory of the year.

The young Billy Hoef, who pitched three-hit ball for the first five innings before he left the game after pulling a tendon in his pitching arm, became the Tigers' winning pitcher by getting his third victory against two losses.

The tendon pull will cost him at least one turn on the mound, it was announced. Hal Erickson, who relieved him, was tagged for Gus Zernial's fifth home run of the year in the sixth with one on.

Right-hander Charley Bishop, who had been leading his second decision which has led the Yankees to four wins they will be the No. 1 threat for the American League pennant.

KIWANIS SOFTBALL LEAGUE

There will be a meeting of all church sponsors, ministers, Kiwanis Club members and anyone else who is interested in the upcoming Kiwanis Club Softball Program.

The meeting will be held Tuesday night at the County Court Room, starting at 7:30.

Purpose of the meeting is to discuss this year's softball program for the kids.

All teams who are planning on entering this year's program are hearing down in workouts and one of the most promising seasons is forecast in League play is only three weeks away.

The Central Baptist in the Senior League, will be gunning for their third straight playoff title when the firing begins the first week in June for the kid softballers.

The Baptists have lost only four games the past two years. Don Smith, a lad who has had much to do with the Central Baptist success, will again be with the team this season.

Smith, a pitcher, is believed to be the fastest pitcher in the Kiwanis Softball program.

Along with Don will be Gerald Beatty, Bobby Becker, Bobby Malone, Jimmy Malar, James White, Don Crum, Glen Adams and up from the junior team will be Cecil Reynolds, Gene Brown, Robert Naron, Allen Dean Holtman plus a few others.

The Central Baptist Junior team will also field a strong team despite loss of some of its "stars" to the Senior team.

Back from last year will be Franklin Snow, Wade Brown, Tommy Murry, and David Marler.

The CB juniors won second in both season and playoff last summer.

H. A. Holtman will manage the Central Baptist Junior team.

Johnny Campbell of the Kiwanis Club will again ram-rod the softball league.

Dallas Leads Hitting In TL

By UNITED PRESS

Rain stymied play in the Texas League most of last week but it didn't keep the second-place Dallas Eagles from moving to the front in team batting from their low fourth spot last week. However, none of the Eagles leads any department in hitting.

The San Antonio Missions have crowded in on Shreveport's monopoly in the various departments with Al Chiocki leading the parade. Chiocki whose 131 at-bats is more than any other player, has collected 28 hits and is tied with Fort Worth's Jim Baxes and teammate Rocco Ippolito in the important RBI column. All three have knocked in 24 runs.

Tulsa's George LeFchen although he dropped 52 points from last week's 418 average still leads the sluggers with a .336 percentage, six points above second-place Earle Brucker of Beaumont. Other top hitters in the circuit and their averages are: Richard Rand of Houston .329; Eddie Phillips of Houston .328; Jodie Beeler of Dallas .344 and Fred McGaha of Shreveport .341.

Bob Balcera, another Mission, tops the loop in runs-scored with 29. Oklahoma City's John Walter has doubled 13 times. John Paul Jones of Shreveport has collected five triples and Baxes has hit nine home runs to lead in their respective hitting departments. Edgar Bailey of Tulsa is second to Baxes in four-baggers with eight.

Cellar-dwelling Beaumont's main contribution to the pitchers' parade is Don Fracchia whose five victories without a loss is better than any other hurler. Dallas' Wayne McLeland is undefeated and has four wins to his credit while Fort Worth's Dan Stupur is next with a 3-0 record. Harry Wilson of San Antonio and Bill Glane of Fort Worth each have four wins against one loss.

Houston's Floyd Woodriddle who doesn't possess a winning record is the league's strikeout king with 31 but he is being pushed by the Oklahoma City Indians' Bill Greason with 30 and Buff twirler Octavio Rubert who has 22.

Winner Takes All . . . Big Train, Mackay Are Rematched

The heat will really be on at the Southern Club Sports Arena Tuesday night when Big Train Clemments again meets Roger Mackay.

Promoter Howard Vineyard didn't have much trouble getting the angry opponents to sign up for a match. "Big Train" lost the final and deciding fall last week in their fierce meeting, but lost it by a disqualification. He contested the decision violently, even knocking the referee down several times.

Mackay was the crowd's favorite from the outset, but had his hands full all night with the rugged "Big Train." Mackay, the tall handsome youth from Salt Lake City says that he will make a clear cut decision this week.

The fans would no doubt like to see Mackay win two straight fights from Big Train as the Train is perhaps the most "unloved" of all grapplers ever to appear here. Most fans admit that he is among the roughest, and his appearance always draws big houses.

Taking the time limit off, and paying the winner all the purse money considerably to the ruggedness of the match, as the loser not only suffers a physical beating, but goes home empty-handed.

Buck Lipscomb, the tough guy from Eugene, Oregon, comes back Tuesday night when Big Train Billy Weidner in the two out of three fall, 45 minute semi-final.

Lipscomb had a very rugged match indeed here last week, as he always does, so Weidner is in for a tough night. Weidner, veteran of the ring, can handle most trouble that comes his way, and will doubtless have to handle lots of it with Lipscomb.

In the twenty minute opener, young Alex "Toro" Perez tangles with salty Benny Trudell. Trudell was unable to appear here last week as scheduled because of his involvement in the tornado downstate, but will be here this week and give Toro all the misery he can stand. Perez, a former Golden Gloves boxing champion, will dish out plenty of licks himself when Trudell starts the violence.

Fans sensed a rematch of last week's main event and started making reservations early. Prices will not be advanced for this unusual event, but fans are urged to get their tickets at the Sportsman's Store during the day Tuesday until 5:00.

Tickets go on sale at the Southern Club Sports Arena Tuesday evening at 7:00 p. m. Matches begin at 8:15.

Would Be First Catcher To Win It . . . Campanella Seeks Triple Bat Crown

NEW YORK, May 16 (UP) — Baseball, as well as racing, has its "triple crown" and Roy Campanella of the Brooklyn Dodgers is making a determined effort to become the first catcher ever to win it.

The stocky right-handed slugger, who won the National League's most valuable player award in 1951, took the lead Saturday in the three major offensive departments—batting average, home runs and runs batted in. No catcher has won a batting title since Ernie Lombardi in 1942 and no receiver ever has won the homer or RBI title.

Campanella, however, topped the league with a .378 average and had belted 10 home runs and driven in 40 runs. His average tops Johnny Wyrostek of the Phillies by only one point but he has an edge of three homers over Ed Mathews of the Milwaukee Braves and a mar-

To Run Saturday Dark Star, Native Dancer Are Preakness Favorites

BALTIMORE, May 16 (UP) — A field of 10 colts appeared as likely starters Saturday for the 77th running next Saturday of the $100,000 Preakness, the richest event since the run for the Black-eyed Susans was started in 1873.

Headed by Native Dancer and Dark Star, the field of probabilities for the race also includes Invigorator, Magic Lamp, Real Brother, Jamie K., Royal Bay Gem, Correspondest, Tahitian King and Isasmoothie. Three other mounts considered possible but not probable starters are Money Broker, Ace Destroyer and Decorated.

If 10 horses go to the post Saturday it will make the Preakness field the same size as it was last year when the event was won by Blue Man. If 13 starters are named it will be the largest field in the race since 1926.

But advance predictions on the Preakness aren't concerned so much with the size of the field as

WILL BE UNLUCKY FOR PHS 11—Harvester football fans, as well as the coaches, certainly hope that 13 won't be unlucky for the Green and Gold gridders next fall as that is the number of returning lettermen from the 1952 squad. The 13 boys are pictured here and will be seen in action Friday night at Harvester Stadium when they tackle the Exes in the annual spring tilt. The letterman who won't see action Friday is Bobby Wilhelm, a scrapping defensive back. Wilhelm suffered a fractured arm at the tip of his shoulder in workouts two weeks ago. The starting lineup for Friday will likely come from these 13 lettermen. Game time Friday has been set for 8 p.m. The tilt will wind up the spring training activities for the Harvesters.

PHS Gridders End Spring Drills Friday; To Meet Exes

The 1953 edition of the Harvester gridders will wind up their spring training activities Friday night when they take on their big brothers — the graduating seniors off last year's squad — in a regulation game at Harvester Park.

The Harvesters have been in spring training three weeks and will begin their fourth and final week tomorrow, culminating the 30-day session with a game against the Exes Friday.

Thirteen Harvester lettermen will lead the future Harvesters in Friday's tilt. The starting lineup will likely come from this group but Coach Tom Tipps said Saturday it is very possible that a newcomer might break into the lineup by Friday.

As it stands now, all probable starters for the Harvesters Friday night are lettermen. There have been two changes during the spring training. Harold Lewis, who lettered last season as a halfback, will take over the starting fullback post Ray Bonaal.

Other changes in the line include Don Prigmore, a returning letterman tackle, has been shifted to guard where Alton Flynn is very possible that a newcomer might break into the lineup by Friday.

'Hate The Yanks Campaign' Disturbs World Champions

NEW YORK, May 16 (AP)—The "hate the Yankees" campaign was growing stronger all around the American League Friday and the Yankee players feel they know the reason why.

"Some people are just getting fed up with us winning so much," said second baseman Billy Martin, "so they show their feelings by disliking us."

Outfielder Gene Woodling claimed the "hate the Yankees" campaign stems from the fact that the seven rival clubs try extra hard to beat New York.

Only Natural

"There's nothing wrong with the other clubs trying to knock us off," Woodling pointed out. "That's the way it should be, shouldn't it? We are the champions and it would be too bad if they didn't try every thing they knew to beat us."

Woodling felt that the players on the opposing clubs have no grudge against the Yankee players personally.

"I'm pretty sure none of the other players have anything personal against us," he said. "It's just what we stand for. In a lot of towns, the fans in the stands give us a worse working-over than the opposing players do."

"Chicago is about the roughest town in the league for us. The fans really give it to us there and when the White Sox beat us, they're in seventh heaven."

Pitcher Ray Scarborough, who was with the Senators, White Sox and Red Sox before coming to the Yankees, said every club he was with previously bore down a little extra against New York.

"There was always a little added incentive to beating the Yankees," he said. "It made you feel that you had accomplished something. After all, everyone likes to be better than the best and that's the way you'd feel whenever you licked the Yankees."

Nothing Personal

"But there never was any personal animosity involved. There was no reason for it. The Yankee players personally are as fine a bunch of guys as I've ever played with and I played with some good fellows since I've been in the league."

Horse Races Break Juvenile 'Bookie'

IRVINGTON, N. J., May 16 (AP)—A 35-year-old "bookie" told police Saturday he nearly went broke taking horse race bets from his school mates.

The youth, whose name was not disclosed, said he learned the secrets of bookmaking from a magazine article and set up shop recently with earnings from his part-time job in department store.

He juggled his odds desperately but couldn't come out ahead, he said. Last week he lost his whole $16 salary.

It takes more than the advanced new engineering of this fully automatic transmission to produce such thrilling performance, of course.

It takes power, too.

And that's here in full measure—the highest horsepower and compression ratios, Series for Series, in Buick's fifty great years—with the world's most advanced V8 engine powering the SUPER and ROADMASTER.

Harvester Cagers Down Exes In Windup, 76-49

The Harvester basketball team, who will represent Pampa High School next winter, were too much for their former teammates — the Exes in a game Friday night, the futures game which was the state championship tilt, the Harvesters winning the title, 61-47, from the Austin Maroons.

Friday's game was a nip and tuck affair through most of the first quarter but the future Harvesters pulled away late in the period and the Exes never threatened the lead.

The last lead the Exes held was Woods' two-pointer that sent his team ahead, 9-8. But Bond came right back to connect from the field for the Harvesters and the Green and Golders were never headed.

Sgt. Witcher, a Landing Force mechanic, lived at 438 N. Cuyler St. before he entered the Marine Corps.

Sewer Billing Mix-Up Found By Water-Sewer Department

A recent survey conducted by the Pampa water and sewer department disclosed 150 residences have been on the sewer system without paying a dime, anywhere from 3 to 13 years. At least another 35 were on the system under one to five fixtures being billed the minimum.

City Manager B. H. Cruce said he intends to recommend to the commission to make a study on the present billing system with the possibility of changing it from a fixture rate to a water consumption rate.

Currently the city charges a 50-cent monthly minimum for the first five fixtures and 10 cents per fixture over five. The minimum five fixtures in the ordinary house, Cruce counted off, are: a bathtub, commode, lavatory, kitchen sink and hot water heater.

As a result of the survey, Cruce added, those who were not on the sewer bill at all were charged back to Jan. 1, 1953, and those who were on the minimum had their additional fixtures charged since Jan. 1.

"Even then," he said, "some of the problem under advisement and study."

The new system — if the commission ever adopts it — would be governed by the amount of water used by the customer, Cruce said. Then, when the customer goes on the lawn rate during the summer adjustments would be made accordingly.

The city manager said he was not recommending that the revision be made, but would recommend that the commission take problem under advisement and study.

Under the fixture system of sewer billing, Cruce said, it is almost impossible to keep up with the changes or additions. A lot of people put in extra fixtures without

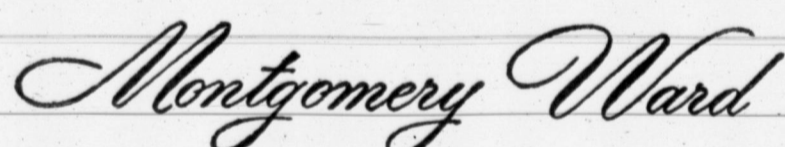

Mexico Paper Raps Argentina

MEXICO CITY, May 15—UP—The newspaper Excelsior commented Friday that Argentine restrictions on U. S. news agencies are "an outrage to democracy, an insult to the civilized world, a snafu for (Latin) America, and a disgrace to Argentina."

A columnist said President Juan D. Peron's policies "have ruined the Argentine economy," and that Peron cracked down on the news agencies "to prevent news of the disaster from reaching the world."

The Argentine government has issued orders preventing the United Press, the Associated Press and the International News Service from receiving foreign news and restricting their distribution of news within the country.

The Halifax disaster occurred in Nova Scotia, Dec. 6, 1917. An ammunition ship collided with another vessel and 1500 people were killed.
