WSB Steps Into National Oil Dispute

Hwy. 60 Meet May Draw 300 This Week End

Two to three hundred delegates are expected in Pampa Thursday and Friday for the 22nd annual convention of the U. S. National Hwy. 60 Assn.

But the continuing gas strike could cut attendance, convention officials said today.

The highway stretches from California to Virginia and fears that gasoline would not be available may make some motorists hesitant of traveling by automobile.

The convention committee has planned an information-packed and entertainment-filled program.

Registration will get underway at 1 p.m. Thursday at the Schneider Hotel, convention headquarters. Starting at 3:30 p.m. will be an informal get-acquainted and discussion period.

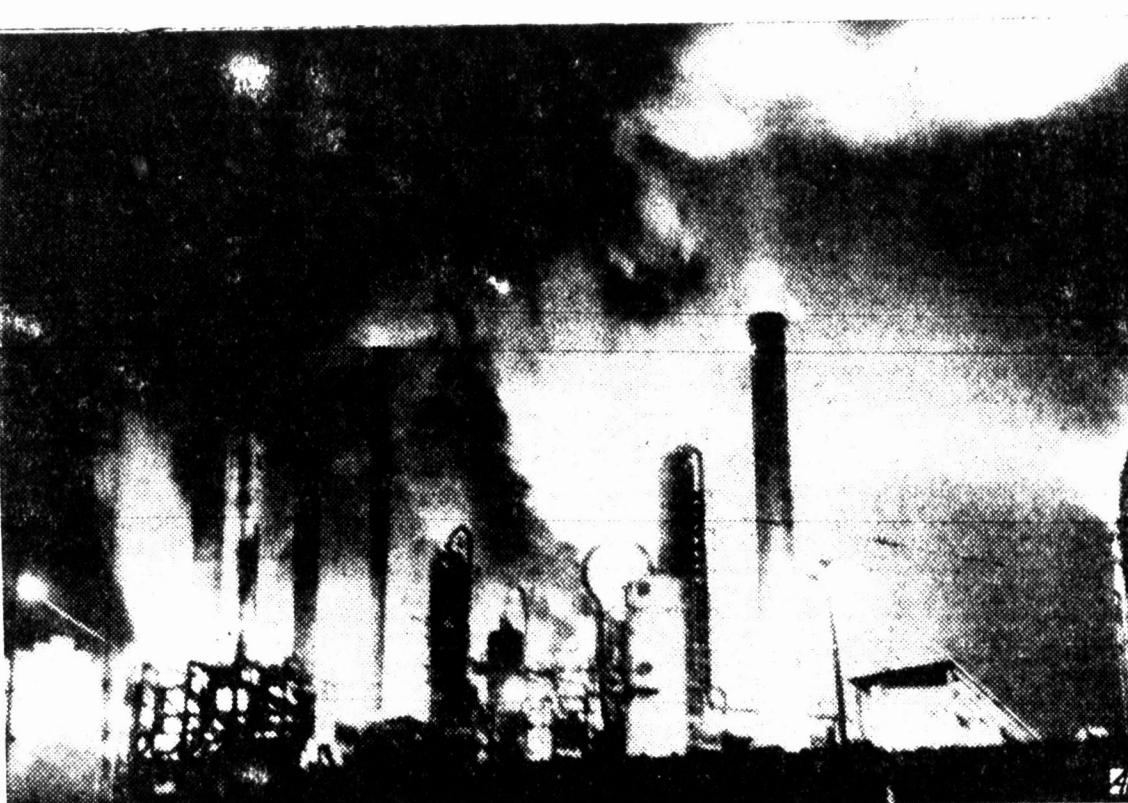

The host at a buffet supper Thursday night.

Pampa host committee officials for the convention are: W. B. Weathered, host chairman; Iris Ragsdale, registration; Frank Fata, reception; Les Speer, housing; Clotilde Thompson, decorations; E. O. Wedgeworth, entertainment and publicity; and John W. Gilliam, transportation.

President G. T. McWhitter of Mountaineer, N. M., will call the convention to order Friday morning.

"We look back with pride over the years of progress that have been made in the development and completion of U. S. 60 into the coast-to-coast, all-weather highway that we are now privileged to travel," McWhitter said.

He realized we must look forward to the future as a definite challenge to our best efforts in building 60 into a much-traveled transcontinental highway."

Celanese Manager To Address API At Spring Meet

A description of Celanese operations will be outlined at the May 27 session of the Panhandle Chapter, American Petroleum Institute.

J. R. Phillips, production manager for Celanese here, is slated to deliver his paper on the company's operations for the meeting which is to be held at 8 p.m. in the Palm Room.

Also scheduled is an address by R. B. Sale, director of personnel for Continental Oil Co. in Ponca City, Okla. Title of Sale's talk is "If You Were Boss."

He has had wide experience in job training and is at present conducting a course for Conoco.

Voters Will Consider School Bonds May 24

Notices were posted today in the Pampa Independent School District for an election May 24 on a school tax rate hike and two bond issues.

The school board called the election Monday after it was presented with petitions containing 292 names.

Taxpayers will be asked to approve three propositions:

1. An increase in the tax rate from a maximum of $1 to a new maximum of $1.25. School board members made it plain that unless new revenue were obtained raises granted teachers for the 1951-52 school year would have to be revoked for the 1952-53 term.

More money is needed to keep the schools at its present level, school officials said.

2. A $350,000 bond issue. Money from these bonds would be used to construct a 12-room elementary school in the southwest part of Pampa. The schools are greatly overcrowded, school board members reported to a citizens' group. Half-day sessions are in the offing in the first three grades. The new grade school building would help alleviate the situation.

3. A $50,000 bond issue. Money from these bonds would be used in building stands on the west side of the football field. Herman Whately, vice-president of the school board, warned the present westside stands were in unsafe condition.

De Lea Vicars was appointed presiding judge for the school election in the Junior High School building. Other appointees are W. A. Rankin, judge, and Mrs. G. C. Walstead and Mrs. Clifford Braly, Sr., clerks.

The bond propositions provide that interest rates on the bonds will not be more than 3 percent. The $350,000 is to be paid off $15,000 a year from 1953 to 1962 and $20,000 a year from 1963 to 1972. The $50,000 bond issue is to be retired $2,000 a year from 1953 to 1962 and $3,000 a year from 1963 to 1972.

School board members approving the three propositions were Raeburn Thompson, president; Whately, vice president; Rex Rose, acting secretary, and E. L. Green.

Steelworkers Say Industry Slows Truce

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — The CIO United Steelworkers union today claimed that the steel industry has refused to sign a new contract with what the union terms an adequate wage increase because of: 1. The industry's insistence on an inflationary and undesired price increase; and 2. The Taft-Hartley Law.

The charges were enounced in a detailed 88-page report presented by the union's officers at the opening of the Sixth Biennial Constitutional Convention. Approximately 3,000 delegates representing 1,079,753 steelworkers are here for the five-day policy-making convence.

Nearly one-fourth of the report dealt with the Taft-Hartley Act and how it has operated to stifle labor's rights, as the union put it.

In the report Philip Murray, steelworkers' president and national CIO head, and the other union officials strongly attacked Taft-Hartley.

"United States Steel and other companies were encouraged to stall in the negotiations because they felt that the President would be forced to invoke a Taft-Hartley injunction against the union and prevent the union from striking for 60 days.

"Even though it was not invoked, the possibility of a Taft-Hartley injunction played an important role in spurring on the steel companies to defy their legal obligation to bargain honestly with the union," Murray said.

Murray, in tones sometimes both sarcastic and bitter, traced both the rights of the current steel dispute. He said the union was prepared to strike Jan. 1, when the present contract expired, but remained at work and agreed-as the industry also did to present the case to the wage stabilization board for settlement.

"The union did what the President told it to do," Murray shouted. "The industry has refused to abide by the rules of the game adopted for the guidance of all by the government."

Murray pinpointed the background of President Truman's order of March, 1951, in which the Chief Executive gave jurisdiction to the WSB in all disputes labor cases certified to it.

"We have accepted the Stabilization Board's recommendations, even if it isn't as much as we wanted," Murray asserted. "But the industry flatly refused to accept this recommendation."

"I say the industry can go to hell and I mean it."

Again, the delegates rose in unison and shouted, applauded, whistled, cheered.

Harry Boyer, president of the Pennsylvania CIO council, opened the five day convention with greetings from the union people in the Philadelphia area. Greetings also were brought by Mayor Joseph S. Clark Jr.

Taft-Hartley Act May Be Invoked To Settle Strike

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Truman administration today made a last-ditch effort, short of invoking the Taft-Hartley Act, to end the two-week strike of 90,000 oil industry workers.

The Wage Stabilization Board (WSB) stepped into the two-week-old strike by ordering a series of informal board discussions on what to do.

The WSB, which had called in representatives of more than a score of oil companies and a coalition of striking unionists, held a formal session that lasted only five minutes.

WSB Chairman Nathan L. Feinsinger read a statement saying the board would "explore ways and means of expediting settlements of the remaining disputes in the national interest" and would check into scattered agreements already reached in the field.

He said the board is of the "unanimous opinion that disputes still unresolved can be settled through collective bargaining."

The unions have refused to call off the strike, which has affected about one-third of the nation's oil production, but agreed to attend today's WSB meeting.

When Feinsinger finished his statement, J. J. McKenna, who represents a number of independent unions, said he didn't like the way the board was going about the situation if had threatened to pay off seven property owners and to leaving, saying he would ward Laketon. The easement's were obtained to allow the state Highway Department to raise the often-flooded road.

In other business the commission accepted the $100,000 bid by the contractor to build a truck to be used in project. These include an 80-day court order, exempted the Coanville Co. injunction against continuing a minority circuit from occupational tax, and discussed the construction of a fence around Recreation Park.

The commissioners foundered county bridges and widened the performance of a portable elevator motor grader.

They will meet Saturday to discuss the Recreation Park fence and the closing of a road that runs by the home of John Sims, east of Pampa.

The WSB renewed its plea to the striking CIO, AFL and independent unions to go back to work.

W. O. A. Knight, president of the CIO Oil Workers International Union, largest of the union coalition, said in advance of the meeting the group intended to continue the strike until it wins suitable contracts.

The unions rejected an earlier WSB request to end the walkout. The WSB said it was not violating its rule against handling a dispute where a strike was in progress because today's hearing did not involve a hearing of the dispute, only the bargaining said and prospects of ending a 14-day strike.

Repeated Hearings
The case originally was referred by Truman to the WSB for a recommended settlement basis. By industry representatives refused to attend hearings and the wage board turned the case back to the WSB. (See OIL DISPUTE Page 2)

New Shakeup At Koje Isle Announced

SEOUL, Korea — (AP) — Brig. Gen. F. Colson was removed today as commandant of Koje island — three days after he made a sharply criticized deal there with Red prisoners of war for the release of his predecessor.

The new shakeup in the Koje command came less than 12 hours after it became known the joint Chiefs of Staff demanded 1. Immediate and full clarification of circumstances leading to Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd's capture by his Koje prisoners.

2. Colson's promised concessions to Communist POW leaders which won Dodd's release Saturday night.

Gen. Mark Clark, who became Far Eastern Command Monday, was instructed to send his report to the Pentagon "by the fastest means possible."

Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet named Brig. Gen. Hayden L. Boatner, veteran front line infantry commander from New Orleans to take over the turbulent 80,000-man prisoner camp.

Boatner, third general to hold the post within a week, arrived at Koje a few hours after his appointment. He speaks Chinese and is an expert on Chinese affairs.

Colson was reassigned to his former job as chief of staff of the First Corps in Korea. He was replaced by Brig. Gen. Arthur T. Jones, who was in command of the island when Red prisoners captured him Wednesday, and reassigned to U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters. His job was not announced.

Library Adopts Summer Hours

Summer library hours for June, July and August were set Monday by Pampa library trustees at their monthly meeting.

The library, in the basement of the city hall, will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday. The new hours eliminate the present noontime closing.

Laborian Lillian Snow said the new hours would give employees an opportunity to get books during their lunch hour.

The trustees also approved the closing of the library May 22 for the post within a week, arrived at Koje a few hours after his appointment. He speaks Chinese and is an expert on Chinese affairs.

Duval Sheriff Speaks Out As Grand Jury Starts Work

SAN DIEGO, Tex. — (AP) — Sheriff George Parr, reputed South Texas political boss, spoke out as a Grand Jury re-convened to probe alleged election irregularities in Duval county.

Parr made his statements to a newspaper (Dallas News) reporter yesterday and took no part in the Grand Jury proceedings. He was affable and smiling, but objected when a photographer started to snap his picture.

He shrugged off the Grand Jury investigation as "just politics" and predicted the defeat of Judge Sam G. Reams, his political arch-enemy, who re-convened the Grand Jury.

Warmer Weather Forecast Here

By The Associated Press

That meant fair skies, gently rising temperatures and a soft breeze kissing early corn, sprouting cotton, sagebrush and cactus.

Pampa's temperatures followed the rising trend set over the remainder of the state. Low reading early today was 51 degrees while the high point yesterday was 75.

The weather bureau's forecast said skies might become partly cloudy tomorrow but the temperatures ranged from 51 degrees at Pampa to 69 at Salinas. Yesterday's high was 93 at Salt Flat with Pampa's 75 the low maximum.

Panhandle oilmen will convene in Amarillo May 21 when the Panhandle Producers and Royalty Owners Association holds its annual convention in the Herring Hotel.

The announcement was made today by E. L. Green Jr., Pampa, president of the PPROA.

C. H. Lyons, president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America is scheduled as principal speaker for the convention banquet at 7 p.m. Russell B. Brown, general counsel for the IPAA, is to speak for the luncheon meeting at 12:30 p.m.

Ernest O. Thompson is to be toastmaster for both occasions. Registration for the convention will be held in the lobby of the hotel throughout the day.

Egyptians Face Rioting Trials

CAIRO, Egypt — (AP) — Egypt's government is demanding the death penalty for Socialist Leader Ahmed Hussein and five cohorts who go on trial Sunday charged with sparking the bloody Jan. 26 Cairo torch riots. The anti-British outbreak caused 67 deaths and millions of dollars in property damage.

The indictment accused Hussein and his followers of driving around Cairo "inciting mobs to burn and destroy."

Hussein, who was arrested on the day of the disorders, is now serving an 18-month sentence for lese majeste (crime against the sovereign power).

City's Newest Water Well Is Reported Large Producer

Pampa's newest water well has turned out to be the largest producing well under test in the city's history, City Manager Dick Pepin reported this morning during city commission meeting.

The well, he said, is now under its 24-hour test and has run up to 1,070 gallons per minute. He added, the driller, H. H. Heston Drilling Co., intends to "rev up" pumping speed sometime today and see what it will do under maximum power.

This unexpected production, Pepin said, led engineers to believe a larger pump and motor would be needed to take advantage of the well's capacity. The pump itself, he said, will need only minor adjustments but the motor should be raised from 125 to 150 horsepower to take care of the revised pump. The cost of changing it would cost the city $250.

The commission also approved a resolution asking the State Highway Department to revise population figures on signs at the city limits. Instead of the 1950 census figure of 16,322, the revised signs will show a population of 18,500 plus.

The revised population figure, Pepin said, was based on the number of water meters installed in Pampa. He added water meter installations have increased by approximately 400 since April, 1950.

During the short meeting the commission also approved monthly bills amounting to $29,805 -- most of which will come out of bond funds; library bills amounting to $158.42; Waldon Moore, architectural service for park rest rooms, $250.

The commission recessed until Thursday when bids will be opened for the Kentucky and Yeager bridges and the Duncan bridge walkway.

Bookie Gets Chance To Pay Honest Debts

LONDON — (AP) — Bookmaker Sam Sibley faced 102 winners today as all backed Duane in the Kempton Jubilee and it came in at 10 to 1 and the lucky horseplayers had a chief constable to thank for their winnings.

For Sam, though, it was just a deluge of woe and a fine of 10 pounds ($28) besides.

Bookmaking in Britain is an honorable profession, but not of street corners, where Sam held court. When the police arrest an open-air bookie they usually confiscate his betting slips and Bobody gets paid.

So when Chief Constable C. W. Johnson came walking down the street in Dudley last Saturday, Sam's troubles were almost over. The 16-pound fine wasn't bad at all considering all Sam owed to the Durants barbers.

The constable made an unusual, if not easy arrest, turned up the betting slips without difficulty and marched a cooperative Sam to the lockup. He came up for trial yesterday without a protest.

The complaint was as usual, proceeding nearer a faster-than-50 was the fine. But as the usual end, nobody had mentioned confiscating those illegal betting slips.

Oh, those slips, the constable suddenly recalled. No, he didn't want them. All 102 of them were returned. "I want to give the bookmaker a chance to meet his debts of honor," the officer said.

Sam took it all with an open lack of enthusiasm.

OIL DISPUTE

companies and unions for bargaining.

It was expected that if the WSP decides after today's meeting that the bargaining seems stymied and the unions determined to stay on strike, the WSP will send the case back to the White House. Taft - Hartley proceedings probably would then follow.

This would call for naming a board of inquiry, which would report the situation to Truman without recommendations for settling the issues. The President then would ask the Justice Department to obtain a strike-halt court injunction.

Supplies Scarce

The strike against pipelines, distribution plants and 70 of more refineries has curtailed military and civilian living in this country and abroad. Most gasoline supplies have become scarce in some areas.

Commercial airlines reported they were being forced to cancel as much as one-third of their scheduled flights. At Queen's Point, R. I. the Navy reported a one-third reduction in air operations.

The Defense Department canceled all flying demonstrations at annual Armed Forces Day celebrations in the nation next Saturday.

H. E. Fairweather, district supervisor of the Interstate Commerce Commission in Indianapolis, said truck lines would be in serious trouble by tomorrow or Thursday if the strike continues.

However, abundant petroleum supplies in storage before the strike began have prevented any widespread inconvenience so far.

The unions have pared down their demands to an 8-12 hour shift differential to six and 12 cents an hour. Their average monthly earnings now are between $2 and $2.10. Industry members of the WSP contend the workers are entitled to only a 10-cent boost under stabilization rules.

One Into Production

Cloak Of Secrecy Removed By U.S. On Two New Jet Bombers

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Air Force today took the "classified" label off its two new all-jet heavy bombers, the YB-52 and the YB-60.

Disclosed dimensions which show that the YB-60 is somewhat larger of the two.

Released pictures showing intricate unpublished details.

3. Announced that the YB-52 production at the Boeing Aircraft Strato Fortress is going into production at the Boeing plant in Seattle.

No announcement was made as to production plans for the Convair YB-60, which was built by Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Company at Fort Worth, Texas. Still secret are the weight and speed, range and other performance details of the giant aircraft.

These are the dimensions of the two global bombers:

Wing span — YB-60, 206 feet; YB-52, 185. Because the wings are swept back, the span is less than the 230 feet of Convair B-36 largest bomber now in operation. The B-60 is a development of and improvement upon the B-36.

Length — B-60, 171 feet; B-52, 153.

Tail height — B-60, 50 feet; B-52, 48. B-36, 46.34.

The B-36 has four jet engines, six piston engines, a gross weight of 558,000 pounds, a range of 10,000 miles and a top speed of more than 435 miles an hour. The B-60 may be considered faster than this.

Powerful Jets

Both new bombers are powered with eight new Pratt and Whitney J-57 jets, believed to be the most powerful jet engines in the world.

On the B-52, they are mounted in pairs on sharply raked-forward posts under the thin, high-speed, swept-back wings.

The B-52 uses an unusual double-landing gear composed of eight main wheels, with small protection wheels retracting into the wing tips.

The B-52, although an entirely new design on which work was started in 1946, leans heavily on data gained from five years of

School Faculty Picked A Winner In June Rainey

GREENSBORO, N. C. — (AP) — Every class that enters Woman's College of the University of North Carolina here adopts a project. They vary through the years.

In 1948, the class of '52 voted to maintain a girl in school. So for four years the members peddled stockings, sold stationery and pitched carnivals to raise the fund.

The money went to Dr. Eugenia Hunter, who, with other faculty members, secretly selected "a deserving girl, of high promise and strong character" to receive her classmates' help.

So with graduation drawing near, the senior class met to arrange commencement functions. Dr. Hunter reported that the class fund had been properly invested. She called upon the president of the student body to add some details.

She, a black-haired, blue-eyed, June Rainey, student body president, said: "I am the girl."

OTTAWA — (AP) — Mae West and Joseph Stalin drew mentions in a report submitted to Canada's House of Commons today. Books by each of them are barred from import into the country.

The report, by Revenue Minister J. S. McCann, named 573 books and 86 magazines and other publications on the banned list, some of them sound like Communist propaganda, but most apparently deal with sex.

The list included Stalin's "Questions of Leninism" and Miss West's "Diamond Lil." Other mentions on Leninism and "Miss Included Tiffany Thayer, Erskine Caldwell, James T. Farrell, John O'Hara and Donald Henderson Clarke.

Graduation Ceremonies For Miami Seniors Slated May 22

MIAMI — (Special) — Thirty-three seniors will graduate from Miami High School, Thursday evening, May 22, when the commencement exercises are held in the school auditorium. Mauris Cobb of Amarillo will deliver the commencement address.

The baccalaureate service will be held the Sunday preceding, on May 18, also in the auditorium, and the speaker will be Rev. Joneil Lacey, pastor of the First Christian Church.

Honor students are Marilyn Russell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Russell; Eda Beth Gill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Gill, salutatorian; and Gene Hodges, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hodges, high ranking boy.

Other seniors graduating are Patsy Turner, Doris Lafin, Ramon Cowan, Dewayne Wells, Sharon Gill, Charles Clark, Teresa Ramirez, Ginger Ware, Bill Bryant and Shirley Broadbush.

The seniors will leave for their class trip the morning of May 26. They will travel by chartered bus, and their itinerary will include six leading Texas cities, Dallas, Houston, Galveston, San Antonio, Austin and Fort Worth. They expect to be gone one week. In Dallas they will visit Margo and Mr. and Mrs. Willis Clarke, class parents.

The 13 seniors will be accompanied on the trip by Mr. and Mrs. Don Meyers, class sponsors; and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hodges and Mr. and Mrs. Willis Clarke, class parents.

Ickes Changes His Mind To Cause Fight

By DON WHITEHEAD
WASHINGTON — (AP) — A crusty little man "changed his mind" more than 10 years ago and touched off the struggle in Congress over control of a fabulous treasure hidden beneath the waters of the Pacific Ocean and Gulf of Mexico.

This fortune is the crude oil in the land submerged off the coastlines of Texas, California, and Louisiana—oil which some experts believe may be worth $22,400,000,000 to 39 billion at today's prices.

The late Harold Ickes, one-time secretary of the Interior, changed his mind. The dispute he aroused is over whether the submerged land owned by the federal government or the states.

Three times the Supreme Court has held that the federal government has "paramount rights." President Truman has vetoed a bill which would have given title to the states.

Supporters of state-control are still fighting for legislation to declare the states the true owners.

In 1933 Ickes ruled: "It has been distinctly settled such title to the shore and the lands under water is regarded as incident to the sovereignty of the state."

Several years later—before the war—Ickes decided the federal government—and not the states—owned those lands.

A Senator pointed to Ickes' change of mind on the issue. Ickes retorted: "Senator, I never hesitated to reverse myself when I found that I was wrong."

For more than 100 years no one seriously raised the question of title to the vast underwater acreage.

In 1930 something new entered the picture. The Superior Oil Co. brought in an important new oil well drilled in California's offshore waters.

Oil wells had been drilled in shallow offshore areas in California as early as 1900, but Superior's well confirmed the importance of the submerged deposits.

Today, the reserve in the Gulf alone is estimated at 280 million barrels. Some experts believe this is only a fraction of what eventually will be found.

Former Secretary of the Interior Krug once estimated Gulf reserves may reach 13 billion barrels, with two billion more in the California undersea reserves.

Oil today is selling from $2.24 up to $2.60 a barrel, depending on quality.

For many years Texas, Louisiana and California considered the oil lands within their domain. They granted leases for exploration—and found an important new source of income for their state treasuries. Texas allotted such funds to its public schools.

Royalties, rentals and bonuses in the Gulf area from Dec. 11, 1950, to Dec. 31, 1951, totaled more than eight million dollars. In California this income was $10,528,000 in the 14 months ending Dec. 31, 1951.

Although Ickes began advocating federal control before the war, it wasn't until after the war that the government took action.

President Truman ordered the justice department to bring suit in the Supreme Court to obtain federal jurisdiction over the submerged oil lands along the California Coast. In June 1947 the court gave its "paramount rights" decision in favor of the federal government.

Congress had passed legislation in 1946 to give title to the states. Truman vetoed the bill.

Court ruled against Louisiana and Texas as it had in the California case—but without saying specifically that ownership of the submerged lands was vested in the federal government.

As a result, there still is a dispute over whether the federal government or the state governments have the right to issue leases and collect royalties. Some oil companies are making payments to both.

Administration forces in Congress now are trying to put through a measure which they say would stabilize the present confused situation and encourage oil exploration until a final settlement of the dispute.

Opponents of this "interim" bill say it is like the "temporary" buildings put up here during World War One—and which are still being used. They insist it would become permanent.

This bill would give federal recognition to good-faith leases issued by the states prior to the supreme court decisions; authorize federal leases which for five years could be subject to approval by the state involved; give the states 37 1/2 percent of the revenues received from operations in the submerged land areas off the states involved.

For Texas, the limit would be 10 1/2 miles. Texans contend their state never relinquished title to the submerged lands which it controlled for 10 years as an independent nation. The government contends ownership shifted to the federal government when Texas became a state.

18 Cars Derailed Near Baltimore

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — (AP) — Eighteen cars of a Baltimore and Ohio freight train were derailed near here just before midnight and a spectacular fire spread to three tank cars. The flames were burning brightly hours later.

Reports that three cars of the 87-car train were carrying explosives brought a loud-speaker - equipped auto to the scene to warn away hundreds of spectators. One of the cars was said to contain railroad torpedoes.

The wreck was attributed by B&O officials to a broken axle. Early arrivals at the wreck—about a mile east of here—said the axle tore up tracks for several hundred feet and derailed cars in the middle of the train.

Harriman Boom Doomed To Flop

The attempted buildup of W. Averell Harriman as a Democratic nominee seems doomed to flop. Unless there is a complete change in the reaction to his advancement by New York politicians loyal to Truman, he will be an even more synthetic candidate than John W. Davis was in 1924.

Despite his two decades in public jobs, Harriman is only a name, not a distinctive personality. He has never held the kind of job that permitted him to stand as the visible symbol of any great or dramatic issue. As a member of the Roosevelt-Truman "palace guards," he has always had assignments that do not make headlines, warm or attract people to him or make him popular with the party bosses.

Political writers incidentally, tell an amusing anecdote about the recent New York dinner in Harriman's honor. Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., the toastmaster, was flanked on each side by Harriman and Senator Herbert Lehman, both former members of leading banking firms in downtown Manhattan. Nevertheless, the refrain of Roosevelt's intermittent speeches was: "We must not permit the Republicans to shift the seat of government from Washington to Wall Street."

Business Baiters Grow Bolder

In recent years, a good number of very effective advertisements have appeared in newspapers and magazines pointing out in dramatic fashion the advantage of some facet or another of the American way of life and the free enterprise system, or warning against proposed departures from that way and system.

We're all familiar with them: some have attempted to explain the workings of economic principles, some have compared the earnings of American workers with those of other countries, some have called attention to high taxes or wasteful government expenditures. They have been sponsored by various businesses and industries whose management felt that the best way to combat "creeping socialism" is to "sell" and call attention to the basic American principles.

These ads have been widely applauded, but not by the government planned economy advocates. An amazing bill, H. R. 5888, has been introduced in Congress by Representative Ramsey of West Virginia, seeking to "liquidate" such institutional advertising. The bill wouldn't make the ads illegal but provides penalties for anyone deducting the cost in their income tax returns. It would seem unlikely that the majority of Congressional opinion would permit the passage of such a measure. Certainly public opinion wouldn't. But this bold attempt on the part of the business baiters to silence their opposition by legislative action strikingly demonstrates how effective the "American way" advertising has been.

Two Ways To Seize

It isn't necessary for the government to seize an industry, such as Truman has attempted to do in the steel industry, to put the industry out of business. It can be done by the simple, legal expedient means of taxation. If you don't think so, ask C. B. DeMille, famous Hollywood producer. He has dissolved his company because the system of taxation no longer permits him to operate his business.

Just as simple as that. And from the standpoint of accomplishment, the method of attack used in the DeMille instance is a lot better than the attempt of Truman to openly seize the steel mills. Even people who do not object to seizure of property through taxation can see the objection to seizure openly as was attempted in the steel case. But there has been no wide-spread objection to taxing DeMille out of business nor, as far as we have seen, any newspaper comment on this typical example of what has happened to American free enterprise.

Probably one reason that there was such objection raised to the seizure of the steel mills is that people could immediately see how they, themselves, would be disturbed and inconvenienced. There was instant worry on the part of great segments of the population that they would not be able to purchase some of the things they want to purchase. Others feared that their sons and relatives fighting and dying in Korea would lack for the implements of war. Still others could see the direct parallel between the seizure of the steel mills and the seizure of a man's home or the seizure of the press of the nation.

All these of course are very real fears and fully justified and it is true that if Truman had been able to get away with the seizure of the steel mills that there was nothing that he could not seize in the name of the government.

But by the very same kind of reasoning, if the government can seize the DeMille company through taxation, then any other type of business can be seized through the same process, in fact, many businesses are being seized through this process. And the end result, if all business is seized, would be exactly the same as if Truman had been permitted to seize the steel industry.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOLES

The Inevitable Result of Collective Bargaining

What took place in Washington when President Truman in effect told the steel employers to make a contract with the CIO just shows what the inevitable result of collective bargaining is. The inevitable result is a dictator who does not even know what causes a high standard of living; a dictator who believes we can have more by having less; a dictator who knows no principles and is guided on the sole belief of "mine" makes right and the end justifies the means.

Moral men know that any form of collective bargaining that took away from an individual his natural right to use his conscience would lead to an end on some form of despotism.

Here we have President Truman, a man who has no concept of what causes prosperity or what causes inflation and has no concept of liberty, trying to have the power to tell the steel men that they should be a party to robbing their stockholders and their customers, and that they should make a contract in the next business day. What chance did they have to make a real bargain when the CIO dictators believed the government was their enemy?

Wage levels never have, and never will be raised by collective bargaining. Wage levels are only raised by increased production, and increased production only comes from an unhampered division of labor so that every human being is able to use all the talents God-endowed him with.

The sole purpose of labor unions is to keep these conditions from being met. They keep our standard of living down because people have been erroneously taught to believe that collective bargaining is good for the working man and can raise wage levels.

It is of course too bad that we have so greatly reduced our production. It is of course too bad that living down because people have been erroneously taught to believe that collective bargaining is good for the working man and can raise wage levels.

Hank Congratulates CBS For Its TV School For Politicos

By HENRY McLEMORE

As most of you know, the Columbia Broadcasting System has established a television school for seekers of political office and has issued invitations to all the presidential candidates and the thirty-one senators out for reelection. The faculty will teach the students how to sit, dress, stand, and walk so as to be most effective before TV cameras. CBS is to be congratulated on the founding of this unique university of the airways because, as all of us who have seen politicians on the air know, most of them are as ill at ease as a rooster in a dinner jacket.

I darsay there aren't five political candidates in this country who know whether it is better to wear double-breasted or single-breasted suits when telling a TV audience that they will do something they know they cannot do. They will be taught, I am sure, always to wear single-breasted suits when making promises that they will not be able to keep, because the double-breasted suit is liable to be associated with the double-cross.

How many politicians know whether it is wiser to sit down with their hands in their lap, or stand up with their hands extended when declaring that they wear no man's collar, and if elected they will select the most able men available for jobs regardless of their party affiliation? It is entirely possible that they should neither sit nor stand when telling this hold-faced lie, but stretch right out on the floor and whistle "Dixie."

I trust the CBS faculty will teach the political candidates how to tell a joke. All political candidates seem to think it necessary to lighten their messages with humorous anecdotes. The one laugh they get is from themselves and it is a laugh that can be recognized as one of long practice. CBS should provide them with some jokes, too. The ones candidates tell always have about the same origin as the first "fat and Mike" story.

I'm sure that baby-kissing is a delicate art and nothing can cost a candidate votes more quickly than to kiss a baby when he doesn't want to be kissed. There are times when a baby does not want to be kissed, even by the next President of the United States, but would much prefer to be left alone. Babies are awfully particular about who kisses them. A man might very well lose Illinois by a television picture showing him making a Springfield baby cry by kissing him on the cheek or on the top of the head.

er's needs? By rotation? By force or intimidation? Otherwise, by what measurable, impersonal, eternal rule are they to be selected?

Men like Truman, without experience in producing wealth, think that they are wise enough to select men to tell what each group or each individual should make. No man or group is wise enough to do that. It takes every human being to establish the true value of anything.

God Only Knows I once had an advocate of collective bargaining answer the above question by saying he would appoint a committee to determine what impersonal rule this committee would use to determine what wages should be. His answer was that "God only knows."

And the committee appointed by Truman which made these recommendations was heavily loaded by labor leaders who could not to save their lives tell how wages should be arrived at by more and more else besides themselves would know what they were talking about.

Wage levels never have, and never will be raised by collective bargaining. Wage levels are only raised by increased production, and increased production only comes from an unhampered division of labor so that every human being is able to use all the talents God-endowed him with.

The sole purpose of labor unions is to keep these conditions from being met. They keep our standard of living down because people have been erroneously taught to believe that collective bargaining is good for the working man and can raise wage levels.

It is of course too bad that we have so greatly reduced our production. It is of course too bad that living down because people have been erroneously taught to believe that collective bargaining is good for the working man and can raise wage levels.

The Nation's Press

SIGHING FOR A LEADER (The Chicago Tribune)

It is impossible to saw sawdust and it is almost as hard to deal with the "Kiss Me, Kate" show in this week's Saturday Evening Post, declaring for Eisenhower.

Editor Hibbs is "weary of the sorry muddle in Washington." He is also "weary of mediocrity in the White House." Mr. Hibbs must think that Gen. Eisenhower's opponent for the Republican nomination is Mr. Truman. In an essay running to about 1,500 words, Mr. Hibbs never so much as mentions Mr. Taft's name.

The reason, it may be suspected, is that Mr. Hibbs doesn't think his candidate will stand the comparison. When did Gen. Eisenhower raise his voice against the "mediocrity in the White House" and when did Mr. Taft fail to do so? In fact, Mr. Taft has done much better than that. He is largely responsible for the alliance of the conservative Democrats with the Democrats who have succeeded in preventing the mediocrity from making a far worse muddle.

Mr. Taft has never been associated with the mediocrity in any of the matters of national importance. He is entirely free of mediocrity nothing. Gen. Eisenhower has been closely associated with the mediocrity in many of his enterprises and owes him a great deal.

This doesn't prove that Gen. Eisenhower, if nominated and elected, will be another Truman; but it is silly of Mr. Hibbs to pretend that his candidate and Mr. Truman are poles apart. In fact, the general view on many questions of the greatest importance are identical with Truman's. The two appear to be in full agreement on foreign policy and on military policy, and there is, therefore, no reason to expect that Eisenhower would undo the greatest of the mediocrity's muddles.

The risks of involving America in a war of no concern to us would be as great under Eisenhower as under Truman. Eisenhower, like Truman, favors universal military training. As long as Eisenhower is determined to carry on the Truman foreign policy, it is idle to expect any reduction in taxes because the government is running at a deficit today and at least two-thirds of the money it spends goes for defense. The Truman taxes will be no lighter if they are called Eisenhower taxes.

We Can't Be Too Careful

LOOKING SIDWAYS

By WHITNEY BOLTON

I suppose it doesn't happen often, but I got a letter from Shakespeare the other day. It came by air mail, via British Overseas Airways, was postmarked Stratford-on-Avon, was on his personal stationery and was signed with identifiable signature. The signature which, every time I look at it, makes me wonder how anybody ever deciphered the words in his plays. Will was worth. To be plain about it, Will was sore as a boil.

It seems that a stock company in Milburn, New Jersey, an outfit called the Paper Mill Playhouse, is going to do "Kiss Me, Kate," a musical, and Shakespeare even has a burning at the edges because now—and since the beginning—no one remotely connected with "Kiss Me, Kate" ever has given him any authorship credit on the modern, musical version of "The Taming of the Shrew."

"A wrong stands committed," he wrote. "I implore you, sir, to use your good offices to return to my name the glory which it once had. Yr. Obedt. Svt. William Shakespeare."

Ordinarily, I would take this as a publicity dodge by the Milburn troupe, but I have never yet heard of a stock company that would go to all the trouble of forging a letter, a letterhead, sending the forgers all the way to England, arranging for them to be mailed from there, at overseas air-mail rates, and otherwise cloaking their verisimilitude.

I guess the letter is genuine, all right. The only thing that bothers me is that he signed it with a self-styled pen. They didn't have them in his time.

I don't get around among the painters and sculptors much these days, because most of them are doing the kind of work I don't understand. I'm a Renoir type, myself, liking pictures of women who are attractive and of flowers that look like flowers. Whenever a painter does a portrait of a glass pitcher that turns out to look like a portrait of a rolling stone or a toad with ears, then I'm two blocks down the street and walking fast.

I found a woman with a slim straight figure, because she never has time enough to be bored enough to overeat. Her skin was fine and clear, because she finds soap I looked up a painter the other day a lady named Inna Garsolin, and I knew nothing about her painting. I still don't. I looked her up because she recently went through a tough assignment re-creating the costumes of "Four Saints in Three Acts" after 18 years between shows. The costumes originally had been designed by the late Florine Stettheimer, and to Mrs. Garsolin went the job of trying to put them back together after a long time. She did a fine job, which was what I went out to discover, but I ran into something better. I ran into an individualist in a carbon-copy era.

National Whirligig... Taft Only Candidate Favoring Cut In Big Spending Program

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Congress threatens to repudiate almost all of the presidential candidates' support of national defense and foreign aid in its attempt to trim the Truman budget to a re-election year pattern. It is emphasizing on voting that way where it counts.

Nevertheless, the floor fight suggested that there is a direct relationship between such questions as federal financing of fertilizers for American farms and American reconstruction of Europe's industrial and agricultural economy.

CONSERVATION — An eastern, urban bloc fought hard for a $100,000,000 cut in Agriculture's budget, which represents the amount spent on providing lime, manure and seed for protective crops. The city boys argued that all sensible and thrifty farmers would apply these methods without any federal financial incentive.

The American Farm Bureau Federation and the National Grange urged reduction or elimination of this item. Only the radical, pro-Truman Farmers' Union favored retention. Incidentally, it is this service which has been accused most frequently of propagandizing the farm vote for the Administration.

The most effective argument for the soil conservation payments was delivered by Rep. James L. Whitten of Mississippi. And his speech had definite isolationist undertones, although he might deny that he is an isolationist.

CONCISENESS — It is a topsy-turvy situation from both the economic and political viewpoint, although few members, Democratic or Republican, appear to discern any inconsistency in their re-election year antics.

Almost all the potential presidential candidates in both parties favor the present Truman-Eisenhower levels of national defense and overseas spending. That includes Truman, Harriman, Keafuer, Russell, McMahon, Stevenson, Douglas. On the GOP side it takes in Eisenhower, Warren, Stassen, Driscoll etc.

In fact, the only candidate sympathetic to proposed cuts is Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio. Yet he has provoked the condemnation of eral opposition to heavy spending all these other presidential rivals and factions because of his gen on both accounts, and his specific criticism of the Truman-Acheson policies in Western Europe and the Far East.

If Taft is defeated for the nomination, it will be the work of certain Republicans who yell for Eisenhower but fail to support the very military and economic foundation on which his candidacy has been built. That same observation also applies to the Democrats.

SACROSANCT — Meanwhile, the only appropriation bills which have ridden through the House without any cuts at all are those providing funds for Agriculture and the Army engineers' river

Q — Is there any metal lighter than aluminum?
A — Several, the lightest of which is lithium, about five times lighter than aluminum. However, like sodium, potassium and calcium, which are also lighter than aluminum, it is so active chemically that it cannot be left exposed to the air. Of metals that can be so exposed, beryllium and magnesium are both lighter than aluminum.

A — His "Lesson in Anatomy" with its eight fine portraits, painted in 1622, was the artist's first masterpiece.

Q — Which city in the United States is the largest one not situated on navigable water?
A — The 1950 census records show that Dallas, population 432,827, has supplanted Indianapolis as the largest American city not on navigable water.

Q — When and by whom were Negro Spirituals first popularized?
A — By the Fisk Jubilee Singers in 1871.

Q — What was the earliest meat animal domesticated by man?
A — The earliest meat animal domesticated by ancient people in what is now Iran probably was the goat.

Q — Do the Northern Lights have any effect on the weather?
A — No. The Northern Lights, or aurora borealis, appear at heights of 60 miles or more above the surface of the Earth, far above the lower and denser regions of the atmosphere where the weather is determined.

Q — Why is the Air Force interested in the huge "ice islands" found in the Arctic last year?
A — These flat icebergs, miles square and smooth enough for landing strips, could be used by scientists and weathermen as observation stations.

Q — Who was the first President of all the forty-eight states of our Union?
A — William Howard Taft. The last two states, New Mexico and Arizona joined the Union in 1912 while Mr. Taft was President.

Q — Is the flight of the bats from Carlsbad Caverns a daily occurrence?
A — One of the great spectacles of the Caverns is the flight of the bats about sundown from the Bat Cave, which is not open to the public. Hundreds of them in a black cloud stream out over the rim in a southerly direction, not to return until dawn.

Most Southern members are strong supporters of national defense and foreign aid.

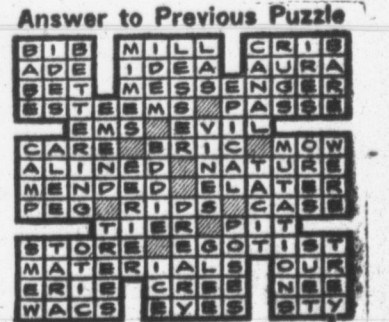

GOAT — American farmers, Whitten argued, have increased production at the White House request to meet domestic and foreign demands for food during and since the war. This more intensive farming has depleted American soil and injured farm lands, he said. They have exported land as well as crops.

Meanwhile, he continued, the Mutual Security program provides $724,000,000 for improvement of European growing capacity, which would eventually result in sharper competition with American products in the international market. In short, the Mississippi contended, American farmers, despite present gains, may become the "goat" of the overseas aid program.

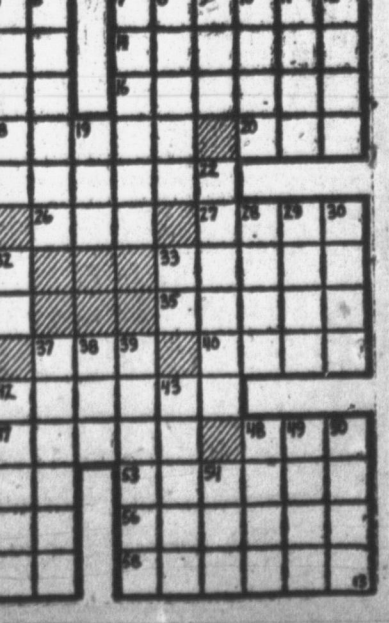

When farm bloc spokesmen wound up by characterizing the economy advocates as "Brooklyn cowboys" and "windowbox farmers," there was no doubt that fertilizers would win the field, even against Truman and Eisenhower.

Bird Watchers Swarm In Brick Canyon Oasis

By JOE KING
 NEW YORK — (AP) — The hunting season is on in Central park. This morning and every morning during the annual bird migration time, scores of enthusiasts, armed with binoculars and identification books, prowl the sides of this 862-acre, $800,000 bird sanctuary to add new species to their annual lists. The hunting thus far hasn't been very good. Although the seas are leaved out early, making observation difficult, the migration has been late. The big warblers, due May 10, may not along for several days. The bird watchers form a kind of fraternity. They concentrate in a ramble, a brushy area near an American museum of natural history, and exchange the password, "see anything good?" as they meet from time to time. One woman who answered "Yes" Cape May Warbler, down that way, was nearly trampled in the sh before she got the words it of her mouth. Cape May Warblers are uncommon and not missed. People not in the know think a watchers a little crazy, one them confessed, although an officer once thought of running a watcher in as a peeping tom. In the last half century, more than 225 species of birds have been observed in the park, including 38 different kinds of Warblers, a snow Owl from the Far North, a Dickcissel from the West and a Purple Gallinule from the South. On just one day, May 10, 1927, a list of 78 was compiled. That's good in any country. The nice thing about the park, is that birds seen there are all in the move. They drop in at night as at an oasis in a brick wilderness, but find next day it is no place to settle down. So they move on promptly, and their passage can thus be checked accurately. Geoffrey Carleton, author of "Birds of Central Park," calls it one of the best bird watching places in 50 miles. It's good enough anyway to attract every morning and every lunch hour hundreds of amateur and professional bird hobbyists, all hoping for the big day when they can spot some strange bird that, like many a New Yorker, has found himself where he didn't expect to be.

Camera News

By IRVING DESFOR

 Camera addicts should fall hard for the hilarious cartoons of Frans Adams in "Should I Wet My Lips?" (Vanguard Press, $2.50), world-touring photographer. You will recognize most of the fads, fancies and foibles of photographers cleverly lampooned in the 10-odd caricatures. Good for anything from a chuckle to a belly laugh, these candid pen pictures reveal the humorous sidelights of darkroom and studios and the great outdoors, when a camera man is involved. I got more than a laugh out of Adams' cartoons of a church wedding scene. An attended camera shows pictures waiting. The bride is down on the floor looking for the groom. His feet are peering out from under the carpet — an improvised darkroom. The caption asks: "Can't we wait till later to develop the pictures, dear?" Besides fun, there must be profit in photography. At hand are two new books telling photographers all about it. "How to Make Money With Your Camera" by Harrison Forman (McGraw-Hill, $3.50). The other is "Whit-

3 Believed Dead In River Blast

NEW ORLEANS — (AP) — Three men were believed killed in a gasoline barge explosion that sent a billowing black smoke over the Mississippi River and caused damage estimated at $650,000. The three men have been missing since the blast occurred around dawn yesterday. The tug Black Warrior, owned by the Black Warrior Towing Company, Inc., was discharging 750,000 gallons from its tow of three barges at the Gulf Refining Company dock at Gretna, across the Mississippi from New Orleans. The blast, whose origin has not been determined, destroyed one barge, a floating dock and damaged heavily the tug. The Coast Guard plans an investigation of the explosion.

Wall Topples On Crowd, Killing 31

BELL VILLE, Argentina — (AP) — Thirty-one persons were killed and at least 100 injured, by a wall which toppled on a crowd at a prizefight here Saturday night. The weight of rain water on a canvas roof pulled over the supporting 15-foot masonry wall at the outdoor arena. Part of the crowd of 1000 was caught in the crush. Others were trampled in a panicky stampede. It had been determined, destroyed one barge, a floating dock and damaged heavily the tug. The Coast Guard plans an investigation of the explosion.

Josephine Baker Turns Down Hollywood Movie Offers

By BOB THOMAS
 HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Josephine Baker, playing her first night club run in Hollywood, is accepting the applause of the movie crowd but refusing their film offers. The controversial Negro entertainer is reported mulling an offer to film her life story. But she has turned down many other film opportunities. The reason? She was wanted merely for specialty numbers in musicals. "I don't like to use the term, 'egotistical,'" she remarked, "but in France I was a star in movies. I played the leading role in many pictures. One of my partners was Gaby — Jean Gabin. I do not intend to do specialties in pictures here. "I don't want the same thing to happen to me as happened to Lena Horne. She was limited to doing musical numbers. And the numbers were cut out of the pictures when the pictures played in the South. I think Lena Horne should be starred, and I think some day she will be. "I have a very good feeling about Hollywood. I think it is growing up. I think the time is coming when the movie industry will be making films starring colored artists. In recent years, there have been only two all-Negro pictures made by major studios. In 1942, MGM made "Cabin in the Sky" with Ethel Waters and Rochester. In 1943, 20th-Century Fox put out "Stormy Weather," a musical starring Lena Horne and Bill Robinson. "But I don't argue that pictures should have all-colored casts," Miss Baker continued. "I merely say that when a story calls for somebody colored, it should be played by a colored person. "In Hollywood, when the Queen of Sheba is portrayed, she is shown as a blue-eyed blond. Now the Queen of Sheba was certainly not blue-eyed and she was no blonde. Also, Cleopatra is shown as light-skinned and blue-eyed. Even though the custom then was to paint the face white, Cleopatra was dark-skinned and she couldn't have had blue eyes. Miss Baker has just returned from a night club engagement in Mexico City. After her run here, she goes to San Francisco and then takes off for a two-months' appearance in Brazil. In October, she plans to open her own club, Chez Josephine Baker, in New York. Then she'll go home for Christmas with her French husband, musician Joseph Bouillon.

Humane Society Seeks To Stop Animal Contests

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — (AP) — Howls and shrieks from hounds, humans and raccoons echoed over Lake Meiguel and brought the Memphis Humane Society up in arms. The uproar yesterday came from a "coon-on-a-log" contest, a controversial sport which the society calls vicious and inhumane. George R. Bates, society president, said he would seek a court injunction to prevent any similar competitions in the future. The contest was for the "Southern championship." Forty hounds were entered. About 500 spectators attended. It works like this: The coon, with a handler nearby holding a tether, is placed on a log floating about 50 feet from the bank. The eager hound is sent to drag him off. If the swimming dog succeeds in getting a grip on the spitting, scratching coon, the tangle is broken up by the handler, who pulls the coon out of danger by the tether.

Reds Accuse UN of Not Negotiating

MUNSAN, Korea — (AP) — The Communists Thursday accused the United Nations command of delaying a truce in Korea by refusing to negotiate further on prisoner exchange. The prisoner issue is the only one in the path of an armistice in the nearly two-year-old war. North Korean Gen. Nam Il's verbal blast failed to shake the Allied delegates from their no-retreat stand against forced return of prisoners to Red rule. The allies have told the Reds that 62,000 captured Red soldiers do not want to be repatriated. "Your so-called screening of our captured personnel is absurd," Nam declared in the 15-minute session at Panmunjom. Nam spoke for 17 minutes. Vice Am. C. Turner Joy, chief U.N. Command Delegate, called Nam's speech a "propaganda tirade that can serve no useful purpose."

Boys and girls need more food through the adolescent period because they burn food more rapidly and grow faster than at any other time.

It is difficult to satisfy an adolescent boy's ravishing appetite. On the other hand it is often hard to stimulate a teenage girl's interest in food. Too often girls lose their appetites during this stage. Here's a dish that will solve the problem. It is both satisfying to eat and stimulating to see no matter what a person's age.

Beauty Hands And Nails At Home

By ALICIA HART NEA Beauty Editor. Lovely hands don't just happen. They're the result of faithful daily care. It takes more than a weekly manicure to offset the effects of housework and office duties.

Nicotine stains, office grime and housework certainly detract from pretty, feminine hands. One or two simple kitchen remedies will easily whisk away discoloration. As a starter, dip a handy cotton square in lemon juice and rub over the stained areas. For stubborn spots add a little salt to the lemon juice, making sure you rub the preparation into your skin gently to avoid irritation.

Wash away the solution with mild soap and water, and smooth on a generous amount of hand lotion as the finishing touch. Try a bit of powdered pumice and oil to rid your hands of tiny callouses or rough spots. Mix the pumice and oil well and apply with cotton. If you don't get immediate results, however, you must be discouraged. Keep up the beauty treatment, and you definitely will see a change.

There are fewer oil glands in your hands than in the rest of your body, so when you consider how many times a day they are washed you can readily see why dryness becomes a problem. Chapping and roughness cause discomfort and make your skin look old and lined. To combat this condition, form the habit of using an oily cream during the night before you go to bed, and a quick-drying lotion after each washing during the day.

Treat your nails kindly, too. They complete the pretty picture, frequent massaging with oil will give your fingertips a gleaming beauty and will help to correct brittleness. Buffing stimulates circulation and also causes ridges and white spots to disappear. File from both sides of the nail to the center in long, even strokes. The best not to make corners too close. Chippy and harsh filing will cause flaking and breaking. Use a nail brush daily to remove dirt imbedded in the skin around your fingernails.

In every beauty routine, whether it be the care of your skin, hair, or nails, it's the little things that count. Are you making them count in your personal grooming?

Harvester Exes Whip Futures In Spring Basketball Contest

By BOB DIXON

Following the example set for them Saturday night by the ex-Harvester footballers, the ex-Harvester cagers swarmed from behind in the final period last night to nip the Futures 46 to 44 in an exciting game staged in the field house as part of the basketball spring training program.

It looked as if the game was going to have to go into overtime as the Futures went into a last minute stall, holding the ball until they had a good shot, but Fred Woods lost the ball with less than 15 seconds remaining. Roy Pool shot and missed, Duane Jeter took the rebound, but he also missed in his attempt. Jimmy Dulaney then tipped the ball in with only two seconds remaining. This left no time at all for the Futures to get the ball in a position to score.

Climax Drive

Dulaney's two pointer climaxed an uphill drive for the Exes that started in the third period as the Futures had led them from early in the second quarter until the fourth when they tied it up in the first minute of play on a field goal by Pool. They took the lead two minutes later on a basket by Dulaney. Woods tied it up on two free throws which made the score read 41-41. Jimmy Bond got a free shot minutes later that put the Futures ahead for the last time in the game as the Exes hit a basket that put them in the lead 43 to 42. It was tied up again however on a free throw by Bill Webb.

Coach McNeely had his charges call time out with only less than a minute left. After their conference they went back on to the court and put on a deep freeze act until they lost the ball which resulted in their defeat.

The game was fast moving all the way as each side tried to get the edge on the other. This resulted in many shots at the basket but a low percentage on hits.

First quarter action saw a duel between the two Bond brothers, Marvin and Jimmy as they almost monopolized their team's scoring. Marvin outscored Jim as he was able to get eight of his team's 14 points. Jim was right behind though as he dumped in six for half of his team's total.

For the whole game Jim came out on top with a total of 12 to Marvin's 11.

Woods Leads Futures
Woods led the Futures attack in the second period as they rolled up 16 points while holding the Exes to seven. This gave them a halftime lead of 28 to 21. Woods got six points while Jim Oden and Bond each chipped in with four. Woods was also the game's outstanding scorer as he came up with a total of 13 points for his night's work. High point honors for the Exes went to Pool who dumped in six field goals for a total of 12.

Just as the ex-footballers had done after the halftime intermission the basketballers followed suit and came from behind on the deadly shooting of Pool and Dulaney. Their total points for the last two quarters was 17. The Exes team total was only 29 for the two quarters.

This was the last game for the Exes on the local court and they gave a good showing their final encounter. Making their last starts were Tommy Smith, Allie Miller, Jeter, Marvin Bond, Pool and Dulaney.

As for the Futures, they will just be getting started and they will have to go some to fill the shoes that the above boys vacated last night. Trying these shoes last night for size were Charles McGray, Don Fagan, Webb, Woods and Oden. Jimmy Bond had already been fitted as he was a starter on last year's team.

In a preliminary contest, the Freshmen took the measure of the Sophomores 53 to 34.

The game was never in doubt as the boys from Junior High were not to be denied. Leading their attack was Gary Griffen, who hit the basket for 20 points. Dwayne Kuntz led the sophomores with 12. ## WARREN'S ARMUP

By Warren G. ...

QUESTION: How many ex-heavyweight champions have tried to regain their championships and who were they?

PLAINS TALK

"Naturally I'm disappointed. But this isn't going to stop us. We're going on to greater achievements from here. We are going to continue to give athletic fans of West Texas the type of sports they want to see. Not only that, we are going right ahead with our building program. We are going to build Tech into the strongest athletic power in the Southwest."

So said Coach DeWitt Weaver right after hearing that Texas Tech's bid for a Southwest conference position had been rejected for the seventh time in 25 years.

Most of all West Texans were pretty much upset about the rejection handed to Tech, especially after the way the Red Raiders had been openly backed for admission by several of the member schools. It looked like the door finally was going to be opened.

"Perhaps what closed it fastest of all was the bid by the University of Houston for admission. Had Tech been the only school wanting into the conference, in all probability they would have made it.

But the change in the expansion procedure of the conference made at the Saturday meeting would tend to point to a possible invitation to Tech within the next few years. And the words of the West Texas school's officials about the turnout "not going to stop us," means that the Red Raiders are making plans to become strong through their entire athletic program to further their chances of someday getting that invitation.

The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal carried almost blow-by-blow accounts of Saturday's action in Dallas as well as action following the stunning (to Tech officials) announcement. The front page of the Sunday edition bawled the action and a front page editorial said "Some day, Justice Will Have Its Day!"

C. W. Ratliff, Avalanche-Journal staff writer, said "an imaginary line extending southwestward across Texas from Fort Worth to Austin represents the boundary line for conference athletics." Ratliff said that when the league representatives ended, "Sealed-door session of the seven men with that 'sheep-killing dog' look on their faces, so familiar to West Texans, slipped ... out one side of the door. Not one was left within the room within a few seconds.

The Tuesday, Texas Tech newspaper, delayed publication one full day in readiness for what it thought would be a joyful story. Instead the black banner read "Southwest Conference Is Loser!"

But it was Coach DWITT Weaver, who, along with his fine, young staff has moulded a great football club at Tech, who had the most to say.

"If the fans will stay with us and continue to give us their support, we'll give them the lion. We'll build our teams will not make them want to go to Dallas, Fort Worth or other places to see games," said Weaver in an interview with Joe Kelly, sports editor of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.

"We must depend upon the great high school athletes of West Texas. We want them to stay with us. Come to Tech and help us build a great athletic institution. We'll build our teams around these boys and we'll take on the best teams available. What's more, we'll lick 'em."

"As far as I'm concerned, we're going to get along all right. I think that the action hurt the Southwest Conference more than it hurts Texas Tech," said Weaver.

The Southwest Conference coaches told Weaver that they might be interested in scheduling games. But Weaver, after seeing the coaches from Baylor, Rice, TCU and Texas A&M, still had no definite games.

And so ends another exciting and mysterious chapter in the SWC - Texas Tech saga.

Lobos Here For Two-Game Series

Rookie Bob "The Splinter" Votaw, making his first start in organized baseball, threw a marvelous six-hitter at the Albuquerque Dukes last night and walked off the field with a 7-3 victory. The win gave the Oilers a sweep of the two-game set with the Dukes.

Tonight the Pampanos host the Lamesa Lobos for the first time this season. Manager Jake Phillips, who made a late pitching switch last night, will call on his top thrower, Max Molberg (5-1) to throw against Jay Haney's power-laden crew, which includes such sticklers as Joe Fortin and Don Stokes. Ed Arthur will throw for the Lobos.

Fireballer Frank De Corralis lost sight of home plate in the seventh inning last night, walking four men all of whom turned into runs, to break a 3-3 deadlock.

Don Moore, veteran catcher, was the big gun in the Pampa attack, getting four-for-four, including a three-run double in the big seventh inning spree.

Both pitchers looked great until the eighth inning, but they were the Oilers. Up to that time, De Corralis, who had fireballed his way to a 3-hit shutout over the Gold Sox last week, was blowing them by the Oilers.

Pampa scored first in the bottom of the third, thanks to De Corralis' wildness. Bobby Brown opened with a walk and was wildpitched to second. Moore sent his first hit of the night into leftfield, and Brown galloped home with the lead run.

But the Dukes took the lead back quickly. Cully Rickard was safe to open the eighth when Votaw dropped Ed Sudol's throw on a roller down the first baseline. Art Cutti, hitting from a newly discovered "Bobby Thompson" crouch, slammed a long home run over the leftfield fence on the first pitch and the Dukes were ahead 2-1.

In the top of the fifth Albuquerque scored again, with Pedro Santiago opening with a double to the left centerfield fence. Harriman and Munoz were easy outs, but Rickard doubled against the fence, in the same spot to plate Santiago with what was the last run for the Dukes.

The Oilers tied the bottom of the fifth. Norm Auerbach opened with a single to left and went to second when Woldt drew his second of four straight walks. Manny Temes then unloaded a double down the left field line that plated both Auerbach and Woldt to tie the game.

Trade Bawlin

Then came the seventh. De Corralis walked Woldt to open the inning. Temes filed to center on the flat pitch and a passed ball moved Woldt to second. The Dukes then decided to pass Jake Phillips intentionally, and the strategy partially worked as Stan Bartkowski forced Woldt at third for the second out. A wild pitch moved the runners to second and third and then Sudol was intentionally passed to load the bases and get at Bobby Brown. But De Corralis couldn't find the plate and walked Brown to force Phillips across the plate, which turned out to be the winning run.

Oilers weren't through. Moore lined his second double off the centerfield fence, five feet from a home run, and the bases emptied. Votaw beat out a scratch single and then Hal Abbot came in and struck out Auerbach to end the inning.

And that was it. Votaw got the next six men in order for the win.

The Oilers announced after the game that the limited service righthander, Clyde Baldwin, had been traded to Ardmore of the Sooner State League for a rookie catcher named Solice Baldwin, in spring training, but lost every game he pitched.

OILER VOZINGS: Frank Calo, released veteran catcher, threw batting practice for the Dukes and caught batting practice for the Oilers. He still is hunting a job in baseball. Charley Crain, on the umpiring staff as emergency umpire, worked the game behind home plate last night. Norm Auerbach came up with another great play at third, practically standing on his head to throw Sarubbi out in the fourth. Rookie righthander EFC Ed January missed last night's game when he was helping to "Keep Your Guard Up."

Votaw need 143 pitches for his first victory.

Cooper Captures World-Wide Crown

LACKLAND AIR FORCE BASE San Antonio - (Special) - Sgt. Eugene Cooper, Pampa southpaw representing the Amarillo Air Force Base in the world-wide Air Force Boxing Tournament here, won the 156-pound light middleweight boxing championship of the Air Force last night with a three-round decision over Jose Lopez of Chanute Air Force Base, Ill.

Cooper's powerful lefts were troublesome to the Mexican airman, and he spent most of the fight in self defense, trying to ward off the blows and hoping to land a knockout punch of his own.

Cooper's victory here in the three-day tournament advanced him to the Olympic Trials in Kansas City on June 16-18 and a chance to represent America in the Olympics at Helsinki this summer.

The victory was Cooper's 190th amateur win.

WARREN'S ARMUP

By Warren G. ...

QUESTION: How many ex-heavyweight champions have tried to regain their championships and who were they?

PLAINS TALK

"Naturally I'm disappointed. But this isn't going to stop us. We're going on to greater achievements from here. We are going to continue to give athletic fans of West Texas the type of sports they want to see. Not only that, we are going right ahead with our building program. We are going to build Tech into the strongest athletic power in the Southwest."

So said Coach DeWitt Weaver right after hearing that Texas Tech's bid for a Southwest conference position had been rejected for the seventh time in 25 years.

Most of all West Texans were pretty much upset about the rejection handed to Tech, especially after the way the Red Raiders had been openly backed for admission by several of the member schools. It looked like the door finally was going to be opened.

"Perhaps what closed it fastest of all was the bid by the University of Houston for admission. Had Tech been the only school wanting into the conference, in all probability they would have made it.

But the change in the expansion procedure of the conference made at the Saturday meeting would tend to point to a possible invitation to Tech within the next few years. And the words of the West Texas school's officials about the turnout "not going to stop us," means that the Red Raiders are making plans to become strong through their entire athletic program to further their chances of someday getting that invitation.

The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal carried almost blow-by-blow accounts of Saturday's action in Dallas as well as action following the stunning (to Tech officials) announcement. The front page of the Sunday edition bawled the action and a front page editorial said "Some day, Justice Will Have Its Day!"

C. W. Ratliff, Avalanche-Journal staff writer, said "an imaginary line extending southwestward across Texas from Fort Worth to Austin represents the boundary line for conference athletics." Ratliff said that when the league representatives ended, "Sealed-door session of the seven men with that 'sheep-killing dog' look on their faces, so familiar to West Texans, slipped ... out one side of the door. Not one was left within the room within a few seconds.

The Tuesday, Texas Tech newspaper, delayed publication one full day in readiness for what it thought would be a joyful story. Instead the black banner read "Southwest Conference Is Loser!"

But it was Coach DWITT Weaver, who, along with his fine, young staff has moulded a great football club at Tech, who had the most to say.

"If the fans will stay with us and continue to give us their support, we'll give them the lion. We'll build our teams will not make them want to go to Dallas, Fort Worth or other places to see games," said Weaver in an interview with Joe Kelly, sports editor of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.

"We must depend upon the great high school athletes of West Texas. We want them to stay with us. Come to Tech and help us build a great athletic institution. We'll build our teams around these boys and we'll take on the best teams available. What's more, we'll lick 'em."

"As far as I'm concerned, we're going to get along all right. I think that the action hurt the Southwest Conference more than it hurts Texas Tech," said Weaver.

The Southwest Conference coaches told Weaver that they might be interested in scheduling games. But Weaver, after seeing the coaches from Baylor, Rice, TCU and Texas A&M, still had no definite games.

And so ends another exciting and mysterious chapter in the SWC - Texas Tech saga.

Knee Operation On Buddy Cockrell

Buddy Cockrell, giant junior tackle on the Harvesters, underwent an operation on cartilage of the left knee yesterday at West Texas Hospital in Lubbock. Doctors reported last night that the husky athlete was "doing just fine."

Cockrell injured the knee several years ago and then reinjured it during football last year. It bothered him most of this season, but he refused to be sidelined by the injury.

The operation, similar to ones performed on John Young, Jerry Walker and Polie Hutchens, will keep Cockrell on crutches for several weeks, but he will be at full strength for his senior year of athletics.

Lubbock Wins Attendance Prize

LUBBOCK - (AP) - Lubbock won the opening day attendance trophy with 4,219 paid admissions. Pres. Ray Winkler of the West Texas-New Mexico League announced here last night.

Winkler said that the league drew a total of 19,260 fans for the opening day games in eight cities, 4,379 more than paid to see opening games in 1951.

Only two clubs were under last year's opening day totals for their cities, but Winkler declined to say which ones they were. On the other hand, six cities showed an increase this year, with Lubbock, Clovis and Borger showing the largest increases.

Lubbock's opening day crowd this year was the second largest in the history of the league. Lubbock drew 6,129 fans in 1947 to establish the record which still stands.

The two larger total opening day crowds by the league were 19,733 in 1948, and 19,476 in 1946.

Sandies Capture 1-AA Ball Title

AMARILLO - (AP) - Amarillo's Sandies won the District 1-AA baseball championship with a loosely-played 7-6 victory over the Lubbock Westerners here Monday afternoon.

The Sandstorm captured the playoff series in two straight. Amarillo won the opener, 8-2, last Friday afternoon at Lubbock. Amarillo will meet the Austin Panthers of El Paso in the District 2-AA title with a 6-4, win over BOW Monday.

Texans Get Agase As Line Coach

CLEVELAND - (AP) - The Cleveland Browns traded Alex Agase as a coach to the Dallas Texans pro football team for Guard Ed Sharkey.

The announcement was made yesterday after the Marines said at Quantico, Va. they would release Sharkey about June 15 with Weldon Humble, who was a Brown regular at guard before being recalled to service.

Forty Americans In British Amateur

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland - (AP) - Forty Americans-a record-havere entered the British Amateur Golf Championships, the Royal and Ancient Golf Club announced yesterday.

The total field for the six-day tournament, which opens May 26 at Prestwick, Scotland, is 282. It includes Dick Chapman of Pinehurst, N.C., who won the title last year and Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., present U. S. Amateur champion.

Chapman and Maxwell are in the same quarter of the draw along with Joe Carr of Ireland, one of the most promising challengers from this side of the Atlantic, and Hobart Manley of Savannah, Ga.

Other top Americans in the field include Frank Stranahan, 1950 British champion; Bob Knowles, Jr., Boston and Jim McHale, Philadelphia, both members of last year's Walker Cup team, and Harvie Ward, Jr., of Chapel Hill, N. C.

Maglie, Garcia ERA Leaders

NEW YORK - (AP) - Pichers Sat Maglie of the New York Giants and Mike Garcia of the Cleveland Indians today boasted the best earned run averages in the major leagues.

Figures released by the Associated Press' new statistical bureau disclosed that Maglie, ace of the Giant's strong mound corps, has yielded only seven runs, five of them earned, in 44 innings, for a phenomenal 1.02 earned run percentage.

Garcia surrendered 12 runs, seven earned, in 54 innings for a 1.17 percentage, to top the American League. The Indians righthander has won four games and lost two. Maglie is unbeaten in five decisions. Figures include games of Sunday, May 11.

Meet Your Oilers

A fellow who Pampa fans are glad to have playing on their side for a change is young Bobby Brown, fleet-footed infielder on option from the Oklahoma City Indians.

Bobby was born in San Angelo on July 6, 1932, but it was in Lubbock where he made a great name for himself as a two-time all-state footballer and an all-state baseballer for two years also.

Bobby is married, and his wife's name is Eleanor, with "Skeet" for a nickname. He is classified 1-A in the draft.

He graduated from Lubbock High school in 1949, where he led the Westerners through a brilliant football season and to the state baseball championship. He stands 6-1 and weighs 170 pounds and is righthanded all the way.

Truman Plans To Vacation Next 10 Years

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman said Thursday that after he leaves the White House next January, he plans to spend ten years having a good time and doing just as he damn pleases. He discussed his future with reporters at the weekly White House news conference, which coincided with his 68th birthday and the seventh anniversary of Germany's World War II collapse.

Then he added a prediction there will be no World War III if labor-management disputes do not cut American production and if Congress restores the reductions that have been made in his defense and foreign aid budgets. The recent production losses and the congressional move to trim military and foreign aid spending, the President declared, are right down Stalin's alley.

Truman was given a birthday round of applause when he appeared at the news conference. Ernest B. Vaccaro of the Associated Press asked him if he had any thoughts to express in connection with this anniversary of his 1945 announcement that German resistance had collapsed. Slightly the President replied that since that date this country has devoted all its efforts to maintaining a lasting world peace.

To date, through the years of the cold war and Korea, we have been successful, he added. But, said the President, conditions at the present time are very grave.

He mentioned the steel dispute, the oil strike and a threatened labor dispute in the copper industry.

In the same breath he spoke of the critical attitude of Congress toward defense and mutual aid spending.

What has happened very recently, the President said, is right down the alley of Mr. Stalin.

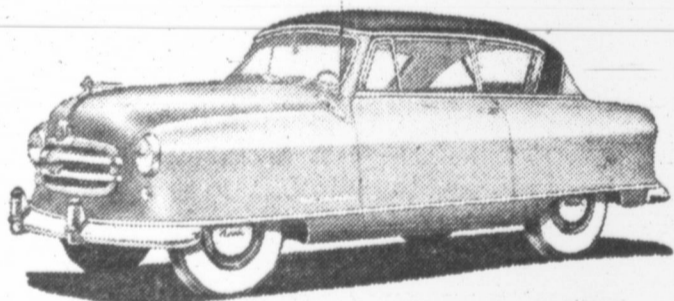

He added he is still hopeful of ultimate peace.

"I Thought the Gas Gauge was broken"

says Sam Pearce, Seattle, Wash. "If you want pickup, there isn't a car on the road, in any price class, that can beat the Rambler. Yet for economy, the gas gauge goes down so slowly you think it's broken."

IT'S TRUE. Nash Rambler owners are amazed at the sensational mileage they get. This is the car that holds the all-time record in the Mobilgas Economy Run with 31.05 miles per gallon! This in a real "red-hot" performer with so much room inside! This in such a smart and beautifully equipped car—the only car that comes to you with its many custom accessories at no extra cost!

Come see it. Especially, come drive it. Just take five minutes to discover something absolutely new in handling and parking ease . . . and new in performance, too!
