Hirohito Shatters Tradition by Calling on MacArthur

Hat in Hand, Emperor Calls at Embassy

TOKYO, Sept. 27—(AP)—Hat in hand, Emperor Hirohito shattered tradition by going to call on General MacArthur today—amid renewed hints of future abdication, according to British Broadcasting corporation reports.

Topics of their scheduled 35-minute conversation before the U. S. embassy fireside were not announced, but the mere fact the emperor came bowing to MacArthur's door "was the important thing," one American official said. Such an event is new in Japan's rigidly dignified imperial history.

The British Broadcasting corporation in a broadcast recorded in New York by NBC quoted its Tokyo Correspondent Douglas Willis as saying today that it is "strongly believed that Emperor Hirohito expressed his will to abdicate" and that "the redrafting of the Japanese constitution (to permit abdication) already is taking place." There was no confirmation.

The Japanese central liaison office, to which all inquiries were referred, told the Associated Press today that allied headquarters and the Japanese government "reached an agreement not to disclose" the topics discussed. The Japanese spokesman said that he personally knew what the conversation included, but that he could not reveal it without MacArthur's permission.

While the general and the Emperor sat by a glowing fire and talked, Dorned agency reported that four elements of the Sixth army's 33rd division had arrived in the Kobe area on western Honshu to swell occupation troops there to 4,500.

Because of the length of the talk, it was assumed they discussed generally mutual problems connected with American occupation of what

Death Story Told Of Doolittle Men

SHANGHAI, Sept. 27—(AP)—The ashes of three Doolittle flyers who were executed by Japanese were recovered today, the U. S. war crimes commission disclosed, and several eyewitnesses told fresh stories of the shooting in an old Chinese cemetery at the edge of Shanghai Oct. 15, 1942.

Seizure earlier of court martial records which doomed the three Tokyo-bombing flyers had afforded America proof that the infuriated Japanese military had singled out craft crews.

The Japanese government, in response to United States protests, had contended that airmen were handled like all other prisoners of war.

But the court martial papers show the flyers, among the 80 who raided Tokyo and other Japanese cities April 18, 1942 under command of then Capt. James Doolittle, were tried on charges of violating "military regulations regarding air-traffic rules."

It required only 20 minutes, with all proceedings in Japanese, to seal voices in the closing session of the Lt. Dean Edward Hallmark, 27, of Dallas, Texas, accused of piloting a plane which bombed and strafed the city (of Tokyo) blindly and indiscriminately... killing scores of civilians and destroyed several civilian buildings.

Visit Should Help Nations Be Friends

By MORRIS LANDSBERG
TOKYO, Sept. 27—(AP)—"Our emperor lowered himself today" by going to call on General MacArthur at the latter's residence, but "their meeting will deepen the understanding between occupation forces and the Japanese," a young university student told me today.

Sitting in the quiet of Hibiyu park with his wife, a thin, lovely girl in sweater and slacks, the young phrasemonger had thought about the question for several minutes before he replied.

Urged by an interpreter to "say anything you want to do not be afraid," he decided that:

"It was not very good that the emperor should visit General MacArthur. General MacArthur should go to visit the emperor in the palace. But in Japan's present situation it cannot be helped. Because of the situation, there is no question of good or bad."

His wife smiled as she said, "this visit is a good thing; it will help the United States and Japan become friends."

Across the parade ground, a demobilized sailor in a green uniform suit twisted his handkerchief in his hands and said:

"Japanese have been taught since childhood that the emperor is the sole supreme being for them. They are not taught to respect the heads

Officials Favor 5 Million Dollar Loan to Britain

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27—(AP)—American officials working out plans to help Britain are said today to favor a loan of $5,000,000. It would be at a very low interest rate and without strings on where the money could be spent.

Whether a plan along this line finally is presented to congress will depend on further Anglo-American negotiations and formal acceptance of the idea by the London and Washington governments.

Trade talks that have been under way several weeks still are in the state of exploring just what Britain's financial troubles are and exactly what help may be needed. Nevertheless, opinion among American negotiators is fairly well formed on the main points.

Thus, on the word of fully-informed authorities it is possible to report that the situation today stands as follows:

The essence of Britain's trouble is that she has to exist for the next three years or more while reconverting to profitable peacetime trade.

Deadlock Is Indicated in Chicago Meet

CHICAGO, Sept. 27—(AP)—The U. S. conciliation service's new chief, Edgar L. Warren, personally entered the oil strike conferences today and invited delegates to move their sessions to Washington immediately.

Warren, who made a surprise appearance at the deadlock meeting of labor and oil industry representatives, said the invitation was issued at the request of Secretary of Labor S. W. H. Schwabach.

As they prepared to resume negotiations to settle wage disputes which have caused strikes in seven states and to avert the threatened shutdown across the country, there was no indication an agreement was imminent. Current strikes have idled 35,000, whereas a national strike would affect an estimated 250,000 workers.

The CIO oil workers international union disclosed yesterday that its executive council had authorized a nationwide strike, provided the conciliation meetings fail to settle the issues. Adjourning of last night's meeting automatically withheld strike action.

The over-night recess was suggested by Justice William L. Knous of the Colorado supreme court who is presiding over the three-man conciliation panel so the principles would have more time "to think over the situation and realize its seriousness."

Daniel T. Pierce of Sinclair Refining company, an industry spokesman, said "nothing has been accomplished, the position of both sides is unchanged."

Comment from union President O. A. Knigh' was similar: "There is no tangible evidence of any change in the position of industry."

The union is demanding a 30 percent hike in pay, aimed to give workers 52 hours pay for a 40-hour post-war week. Pierce said that the oil companies were "more or less committed to a 15 percent wage increase but they (the union) are not going to get one penny above it."

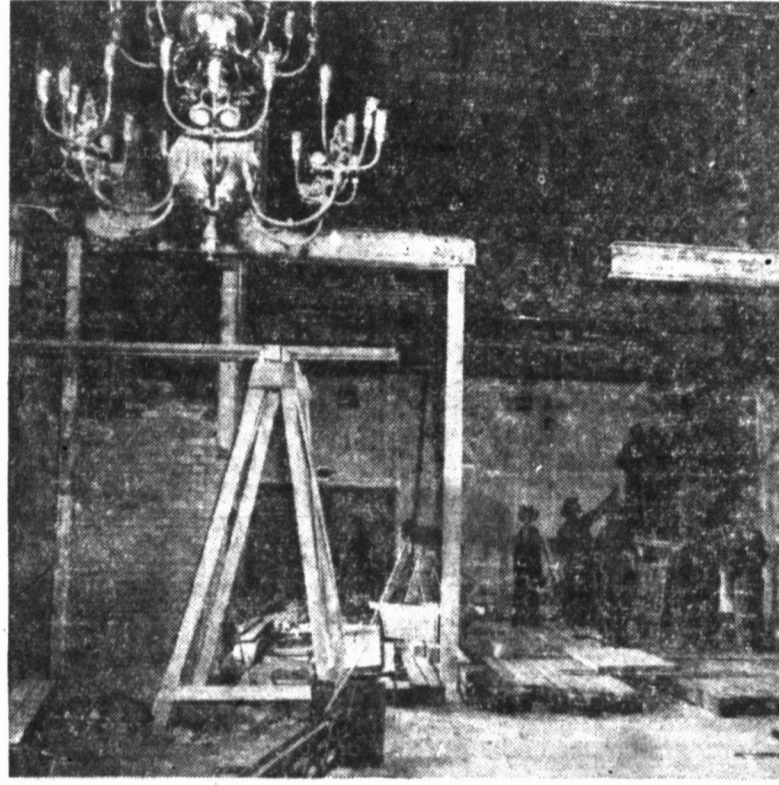

Knigh' denied industry spokesmen's statements that the union was injecting extraneous issues into the hearings. He asserted the companies had "repeated their refusal to bargain on the issue," which he described as wages.

District Court To Open October 15

Fourteen criminal cases make up the docket of the next session of the 31st district court which will begin here October 15 with the trial of Garland Pearce, charged with murder.

The remaining 13 cases will go before District Judge W. R. Ewing and the jury on October 22.

Opposition Leaders Jailed By Argentine Military Officials

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 27—(AP)—Jails swallowed up leaders of every shade of opposition to Argentina's military government today while Argentineans from the Atlantic to the Andes waited to see what further steps would be taken to carry out a state of siege imposed yesterday.

Squad of federal police with long lists of wanted persons systematically covered this capital of 2,500,000 as the dragnet tightened here and elsewhere over the country.

The decree which deprives Argentineans of their civil rights came unexpectedly as the climax to a period of mounting opposition to the military regime of President Gen. Edelmiro Farrell and Col. Juan Peron, vice-president and strong man of Argentina.

Farrell told the nation last night that imposition of the decree "should be regarded as a transitory measure" brought about by "an unrestrained campaign of disorder and commotion" which had excited the nation.

He said in a radio address that the state of siege would be lifted "when the directive groups of the nation have shown they know how to make full use of liberty" and re-See ARGENTINA, Page 5

Labor Picture Is Worst In Months

Tension mounted over the nation's spreading labor strife today as the army of idle workers over labor disputes skyrocketed to near the two million mark.

The over-all labor picture was the worst in months. The strike list, below the 100,000 mark most of the year preceding V-J day, bulged as hundreds of thousands of workers were forced off their jobs by disputes, some of them fresh out-

A quick survey along the troubled labor front:

More than 1,850,000 workers off their jobs, some 370,000 idle by strikes, the others hit indirectly by the stoppages.

An apparent deadlock appeared in the Chicago conference of oil industry and CIO union leaders with federal conciliators amidst threat of a nationwide strike of oil workers which would add 250,000 more to the strike lines. Some 35,000 workers are on strike in seven states, demanding a 30 percent wage increase.

For the fourth day New York City struggled in the grip of a single strike which paralyzed business and industrial activity at an estimated loss of millions of dollars in trade and wages, and inconvenienced hundreds of thousands. The strike by about 15,000 APL elevator operators and building service employees threatened to spread.

Across the country in the Pacific northwest where more than 60,000 APL lumber workers are striking, a CIO union continued policy meetings but did not issue a strike call to its 40,000 workers.

Additional coal miners left their pits in West Virginia and Pennsylvania bringing the total miners idle in the two states to more than 35,000. The strike-idle in Pennsylvania alone amounted to around 75,000, including 33,500 at four Westinghouse Electric company plants. Fifty-eight bituminous pits were closed.

In Detroit, plagued for months by strikes and shutdowns and currently having some 90,000 idle, CIO-union automobile workers representatives and Chrysler corporation spokesmen made no comment as

FBI Reports on Blast Killing Former Pampan

AMARILLO, Sept. 27—Natural gas caused the inexplicable explosion which fatally burned Mrs. Faye Kuropata, Amarillo, Sept. 26, according to a report to Amarillo police from FBI laboratories in Washington.

Mrs. Kuropata, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. White, Pampa, died after suffering burns in an explosion which blasted loose the ceiling and walls of her room at 307 N. Pierce. No one else in the rooming house or neighborhood had heard the explosion.

Although the screen wire on windows had been melted by the blast and all things in the room scorched, even clothes burnt in a closet, the only thing burning in the apartment was the mattress on her bed when the fire department arrived.

The FBI report said "the peculiar effects" resulted from "an extremely correct mixture of natural gas and oxygen."

Business Picture In Texas During August Was Good

AUSTIN, Sept. 27—(AP)—The business picture in Texas for August was good despite a few seasonal slumps, reports the University of Texas bureau of business research.

There were 95 new domestic corporations chartered last month at a capitalization of $1,706,000. This compares with 71 new firms at 1,042,000 last August. Thirteen foreign corporations were given business permits. There were no commercial failures.

Considerable building activity with a total of $6,888,000 was reported by 46 cities as compared to 33,236,526 spent for building in August, 1944.

Lumber production was down last month but cement production and shipment was up. Texas plants produced 726,000 barrels of cement in July of this year as compared to 530,000 barrels for last July.

Total postal receipts for the state were $2,432,255 about the same as last year. Dallas showed the highest individual receipts in Texas with $557,674 reported; Houston was second with $401,108.

Ten carloads of chickens and 13 carloads of turkeys were shipped both inter and intra-state as compared to 35 carloads of chickens and one carload of turkeys for last August. Egg shipments were more than twice as high.

Shipment of live-ock in Texas last August totaled 8,296 rail cars, as compared with 10,641 rail cars in August, 1944. Of the 8,296 cars, cattle made up 4,804 cars; calves 1,597; hogs 227; and sheep 1,688 cars. In August, 1944, there were 6,630 cars of cattle, 1,483 cars of calves, 971 cars of hogs, and 1,557 cars of sheep.

Retail sales of independent stores in Texas showed an increase of 9.7 per cent for the first eight months of the year, compared with the first eight months of 1944 and a 9.2 per cent gain in August, 1945, over August, 1944.

Department and apparel stores reported good business in August, with a 65.4 per cent ratio of collections reported to outstanding accounts.

Texas produced 2,223,000 barrels of petroleum daily in August, 1945, nearly half the total produced in the United States. This compares with an average daily production for August, 1944, of 21,108,000.

Annual Turtle Derby in Dallas Draws Cheering Crowd of 3,000

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff

There was a fanfare from the band. Someone shouted 'They're off!'

Three thousand persons leaped to their feet in a frenzy of excitement, cheering, shouting, screaming.

No horses pounded around a track; no graceful whippets pursued a mechanical rabbit; no humans were straining to break track records.

The crowd was shouting itself hoarse over a couple of hundred placid turtles calmly, almost with an air of boredom, waddling their way from the center of a large circle to its outer rim.

It was the Variety club's sixth annual turtle derby, held in the ice arena at Fair Park, Dallas.

It's a charity event, and all proceeds go to the club's major project—boy's Ranch of Copperas Cove, Texas, 42 miles west of Temple, and other of the club's charities. This year the revenue was 97,500. From one day's turtle derby!

Many wonder (like we did) how (1) thousands of same humans can go nuts over a turtle race and (2) how nearly $100,000 can be raised on the thing.

To get the answers we went to a derby, and later questioned the man behind the show, James O. Cherry, chief Barker of tent 17, Dallas Variety club.

First, the club gets small boys to round up the turtles around Wolf City, near Greenville. This year, 2,100 turtles were used in the races.

Then, for $10 each a person may buy and enter a turtle in a race. This year, 9,200 turtles were sold to persons all over the U. S., some even in Mexico and Canada. (Some of the turtles had to run in two or three heats under different sponsors.) Sale of turtles alone if you arbitrate is rusty, amounted to $92,000.

The winning turtle of each heat is saved out for the final. Winner of that race brings $2,000, second $1,000, third $500. All prizes are in maturity value war bonds.

The turtles are placed on a large covered cone in the center of a big ring. The lid is lifted and the cone begins to vibrate sharply to start the turtles on the way.

They slide off onto the floor, and usually head away from the shaking cone. First to get completely across the outside circle, about 30 feet away, wins. And the crowd, which has been doing a little betting here and there, goes wild.

Between races, Variety stages entertainment, this year a neat ice show.

Who won? Well, this year the fastest turtle in Texas proved to be one named Regas, sponsored by Senger Bros. It copped the $2,000.

The American officers, defending U. S. headquarters from a siege of three hours, killed at least eight natives.

British, French and Japanese also suffered casualties in a series of incidents. As a result of the continued disorders, Field Marshal Count Juchi Terauchi, the Japanese commander, was placed under virtual house arrest.

Lately, about 28 headed the American office of strategic services delegation here. He was a former Chicago Daily News correspondent.

Friends said that Coolidge, 28, (home town unstated) is a distant cousin of former President Coolidge. Although seriously wounded, he was expected to survive.

Medal of Honor Is Posthumously Awarded to Texan

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27—(AP)—Lt. Raymond L. Knight, Houston, Texas, who accounted for 24 German planes during the allied drive in the Po Valley, Italy, in April, 1945, and then lost his life while trying to save his own badly needed craft, has been awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor posthumously.

The War department said today the medal would be presented to his widow, Mrs. Johnnie Lee Knight, Houston.

Piloting a fighter-bomber on April 24 and 25, Lt. Knight destroyed 14 grounded enemy planes and led attacks that wrecked 10 others during a critical period of the allied drive, his citation relates.

On his last flight, his plane was badly damaged but he knew planes were vital at that time and sought to bring the craft to safety. He crashed in the Appennines mountains and was killed.

His fearless daring and voluntary self-sacrifice averted possible heavy casualties among ground forces and the resultant slowing of the German drive culminated in the collapse of enemy resistance in Italy, his citation reads.

Pinch of Footwear Can Be Lessened

Ever hear of anybody who put perfume on the feet? Diogenes, the Greek philosopher, famed for his wisdom, did. He claimed that vapors rising from the feet perfumed the whole body; that those rising from the head—where we are most apt to dab into the air—were wasted.

That's a tip, which you can use for whatever it's worth. A girl who perfumed her feet would be obliged to notice whether they were as nicely kept as they should be to justify such a ritual. That, of course, would mean not only better looking, but more comfortable feet.

Now that you're going back into dressy shoes, which will fit more snugly than the thonged sandals of summer, any crumb of comfort tossed to your feet will help to ease the pinch, and induce the under-dogs, to give you more cheerful support.

Pep Pick-Up Will End Fatigue

JANE RUSSELL: Her simple routine helps "fatigue."

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

There are ways to give yourself a pep transfusion when you feel like dropping in your tracks and yet you must go out on an unexpected date.

Best pick-up, if you have the time to swing it, says Starlet Jane ("The Outlaw") Russell, comes from a 30-minute nap. "Go through all the motions of dozing, even though you can't," says Jane, "and you'll salvage enough vitality to see you through the evening."

If you have only about five minutes to give to a pick-up, take you rest on a hard floor, lying on your back and flattening it to fit the floor's unyielding surface. This posture straightens licks fatigue by pulling out the kinks and easing tensions.

There's still another step suggested by Jane. That is: Get up from your nap or your hard "bed" and take a hot bath. The hotter you can stand the water, the more stimulated you will be by the soaking. Put a pot of hot tea on the side of your tub and sip while you soak.

Though you will almost be dissolving by perspiration, you'll be able to hop out feeling like a brand-new girl.

Thursday Literary Club Entertains With Formal Tea and Book Review in Shamrock Church

SHAMROCK, Sept. 27 — Opening the fall club year, the Thursday Literary club entertained with a formal tea and book review recently at the First Methodist church.

The refreshment table was laid with a lace cloth and appointments were of crystal. An elaborate bouquet of gladioli and pink carnations which was placed at one end of the table and flanked with white tapers in crystal holders, was the gift of Mrs. Edwin Griffin of Houston, an honorary member of the club.

H. Gray Russell To Speak on Sunday at First Christian

Guest speaker Sunday morning at the First Christian church will be H. Gray Russell, a missionary teacher at Congo Christian institute, a secondary school for native teachers and preachers of the Congo Christian Mission of Disciples of Christ near Bolenge in Belgian Congo. Mr. Russell, as one of the missionaries founding this school in 1928, supervised the erection of buildings, homes for students, and other units. He has continued as an instructor and has seen remarkable improvements in the work of the native staff of all stations and in the outstations as a result of better training.

Through his "Customs and Culture" classes, and because of his high regard for the art and other contributions the African has to make to civilization, Mr. Russell has made extensive studies of African life and customs, and he has become a close friend of the Congo people. He is especially interested in the African drum for sending messages from the village to village and has learned to beat it, a difficult feat.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell first went to Africa in 1924, and were stationed at Mendebe, farthest inland of Congo Christian Mission stations, fifteen hundred miles from the mouth of the Congo river. Here in an area where missionaries had been living only four years they made bricks, erected buildings, carried on elementary educational work, conducted Christian worship, and did a variety of pioneer tasks.

Mr. Russell is a graduate of Lynchburg college, Lynchburg, Va., the College of Missions, Indianapolis, and the University of Chicago.

The public is invited to attend the service.

Registration of Souvenirs Urged

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27—In behalf of public safety, Joseph D. Nuan, Jr., commissioner of internal revenue today appealed to all members and veterans of the armed forces and their families to register and safeguard all machine guns and similar automatic weapons which have been brought into the country as war trophies.

Provisions of the National Firearms act of 1934, and the regulations promulgated thereunder, Commissioner Nuan said: "We have hesitated to do anything to hinder service families in the enjoyment of their richly-earned trophies of war. However, our attention has been called to several instances in recent months where criminals have stolen or otherwise acquired war trophy guns and used them for criminal purposes. I am issuing these cautions for the safety both of service families and the public at large. Under the law, registration must be made at once by every possessor of any firearms of the automatic type, such as machine pistols, machine guns, submachine guns, or any type gun from which a number of shots or bullets may be discharged with one continuous pull of the trigger. I urge all servicemen, veterans, and their families having any such guns to communicate at once—in person, by telephone, or mail—with the nearest office of any investigator in charge, alcohol tax unit, bureau of internal revenue, or to write to me in Washington. A representative of the bureau will call and assist them with the registration without charge.

"At the same time, I urge possessors of these weapons to accept the assistance of the bureau representative in rendering them permanently inoperative. This will not affect the souvenir value of the weapons, but will prevent accidents and keep them out of the hands of the criminal element.

"Furthermore, as long as the weapon is seizable, the law requires payment of the $200 tax upon each sale, exchange, gift, or other transfer of the firearm. If the gun is made permanently inoperative, it may be transferred as a war trophy without payment of the $200 tax by the filing of Form 5 (Firearms) with the commissioner of internal revenue, Washington, D. C.

"I earnestly hope that service families will understand that these cautions are being issued for their protection — protection not only against the consequences of possessing deadly weapons, but also protection against violation of the national firearms act which provides penalties up to five years in prison and a $2,000 fine for each violation. Careful compliance with this law will, on the other hand, permit safe enjoyment of war trophies of the type mentioned."

Users of alcoholic beverages contribute in state taxes about $300,000,000 a year.

What UNRRA Is Needing Now Is More Money

Do you have any questions on the United Nations Charter? To help the people of this country better understand the charter and their responsibilities to world organization, the American Association for the United Nations is answering questions received reflecting the tremendous interest today and always for lasting peace.

QUESTION: Should we continue rationing to meet the relief needs of Europe?
ANSWER: As President Truman recently pointed out, rationing at home is not a factor in the allocation of relief supplies to Europe. Today, now that the war is over, there are sufficient supplies and ships to meet the emergency needs of Europe, which UNRRA is trying to do. What UNRRA needs is money. To meet the relief needs of Europe it is a question of working out credit arrangements with the European governments and of making additional funds available for UNRRA.

QUESTION: How many nations have ratified the charter?
ANSWER: To date, the Big Five have ratified the charter, together with seventeen other nations. Nine more states must act before the charter comes into effect.

QUESTION: When will the United Nations organization meet?
ANSWER: The executive committee of the United Nations preparatory commission, meeting in London, hopes that the general assembly will hold its first session by December 4 of this year.

QUESTION: Will the United Nations regulate international aviation?
ANSWER: On November, 1944, fifty-one United Nations met in Chicago to discuss the problem of international aviation. They made plans to set up an international civil aviation organization whose purpose would be to promote air safety rules and the supervision of air navigation. Until this organization comes into being a provisional organization is at work, with headquarters at Canada.

object of an extended FBI hunt in Danville, Ill. Wharton had been arrested for transporting a stolen car across the state line. He pleaded guilty in federal court, but the federal judge deferred sentence until the associates in the theft could be apprehended.

Wharton escaped while a deputy marshal was escorting him from the federal building to the jail.

During most of the past 12 years, while listed under 20 different names in fugitive posters sent out by federal officers, Wharton had been hiding in the woods of Arkansas on the White river. He spent his time hunting and fishing near Pine Bluff. Wharton told FBI agents he had operated a fishing dock and had also toured the country gambling.

A native of Paris, Tenn., the prisoner had formerly worked as a line-man, mechanic and produce peddler. He had been arrested on several minor charges when he was arrested and convicted of his first felony at Tucson, Ariz. Wharton was sentenced to serve from a year to 18 months.

At Phoenix in December, 1924, he was sentenced to 30 days on a narcotics charge. In 1926 he was arrested on a charge of grand larceny in Santa Fe, N. M., and received a three year sentence. Minor charges followed until 1931, when he was convicted and ordered to serve one to three years for receiving and concealing stolen property.

Wharton is a brother of Clark Wharton, Canadian.

Pacific Defense Lines for U. S. Security

Proposal by Gen. Henry H. Arnold for maintenance of a series of defense lines in the Pacific for U. S. security is receiving growing support in Congress. Latest proposal, by a House naval committee, would provide major fleet bases at Pearl Harbor, Guam, Saipan, Iliolo, Manus and Noumea, with a main naval air base at Maclean Island, secondary bases, fleet anchorages and land and sea plane bases on the other islands as shown. The whole would comprise chains of security far from U. S. shores.

Hearings by FPC Will Be Resumed In Oklahoma City

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Charges of monopolistic practices by producers and distributors were said here today that the Federal Power Commission hearing on the natural gas industry will be resumed in Oklahoma City Oct. 9.

For the past seven days the commission has been receiving testimony presented by representatives of the Kansas corporation commission, the city of Kansas City, the city of St. Louis, the state of Missouri and the Helmerich & Payne Oil and Gas company of Tulsa, Okla.

At yesterday's final session of the FPC's investigation of the natural gas industry, William Broadhurst of Tulsa, vice-president and treasurer of Helmerich & Payne and C. P. Craft of Amarillo, Texas, representing the Northern Natural Gas company, argued over what Broadhurst termed monopolistic practices of a few "favored producers and pipeline companies serving the Hugoton, Kans. gas field."

Craft asked Broadhurst, under cross-examination, if he was inferring that the four main pipelines serving the Hugoton area could dictate prices go as at the well?

"I don't know whether they can or not," Broadhurst returned, "but they do—as witness the variously different prices now being paid in every producer is entitled to his Hugoton area. I believe that share of pro-rate gas being taken from the Hugoton field."

Broadhurst offered as evidence for his statement a contract which for the past seven days the company of the Argus Gas company of Omaha, Neb., but which had not been accepted. He said it would be bought gas at about two cents per thousand cubic feet, two cents less than the price paid other producers.

He also placed before the commission a letter to Helmerich and Payne from the Panhandle Eastern Pipeline company which refused to consider purchase of gas from a Helmerich and Payne well close to other Panhandle eastern production and lines. He said that because of this refusal Panhandle Eastern was able to drain natural gas reserves from Helmerich and Payne property without necessity of purchase.

iterated that general elections would be held as promised.

There has been no interference with incoming or outgoing news as yet, but the government has issued "requests" to newspapers to cease criticism of its actions.

Arrests reached into the ranks of newspapermen. Business manager Ernesto Carreras of Critica was arrested, as was assistant publisher Alberto Desimone of Noticias Graficas.

Prominent figures seized included Carlos Saavedra Lamas, winner of the 1936 Nobel prize for his contributions to peace while foreign minister; Eustaquio Mendez Delfino, president of the Buenos Aires stock and commodity exchange; Luis Colli, president of the Argentine Industrial Union; Rodolfo Moreno, ranking leader of the conservative party and former ambassador to Japan; Octavio Amadeo, the nation's leading historian; Nerio Rojas, leader of union City's radical, Argentina's majority political party; Jose Maria Cantillo, former federal minister and organizer of the Sept. 19 march for liberty and constitution.

Other prominent persons fled to foreign embassies for refuge.

of other nations. Japanese are grateful to General MacArthur because he has permitted them to continue a peaceful life in spite of their defeat. But I am thinking that the meeting today lowered the prestige of our emperor."

"It was most good," said a man of 70 with a wrinkled, brown face. He had paused to rest his large pack on the ledge of a brick wall.

"Let us hope that the emperor's visit will secure peace between the two countries," he observed. "I am an old man and I like peace."

A wide-eyed little Japanese boy who ran out from the park playground listened attentively to the questions, soaking "Hi," "Hi," to show that he understood. He was eight years old, and begrimed from his play.

"It is a bad thing," he said of the emperor's call.

"Why is it bad?" he was asked. "I don't know."

And he skipped away to play.

Hirohito

remains of Hirohito's once great empire.

The Emperor's somewhat old, dark automobile drove up to the main entrance carrying the imperial emblem on the front. The back curtain was drawn. Hirohito was sitting bolt upright in the seat. His grand chamberlain, Admiral Fujita, who previously met MacArthur to arrange the meeting, was sitting facing the Emperor.

An attendant jumped out of the car, opened the door and bowed. The chamberlain backed out of the car, keeping his face to the Emperor, and bowed as Hirohito got out.

The Emperor found Brig. Gen. Bonner Fellers, MacArthur's aide, and Maj. Saublon Bower, an interpreter, awaiting them. Hirohito, in formal diplomatic clothes, took off his silk hat, bowed, and shook hands with Fellers, probably an unprecedented thing.

Still more unprecedented, however, the Emperor again extended his hand as Fellers introduced him to Bower.

Fellers ushered the Emperor ahead of him to the state reception room where, as he entered the door, Hirohito bowed in MacArthur's direction.

Hirohito found his host wearing army khaki and an open-throated shirt. The supreme allied commander wore no tie and no medals.

The call was informal. A spokesman acknowledged that the meeting was "fought with significance" but emphasized it was arranged at the request of the Emperor's representative.

The two shook hands and MacArthur greeted him with "good morning." They posed briefly for a picture, then moved to a settee where they began to talk.

There was a quiet dignity about the preliminaries as though MacArthur was trying to make the visit as painless as possible for the Emperor, who for the first time in the history of the Japanese empire was calling upon a representative of a foreign country.

While the Emperor was en route to the embassy, correspondents dashed up a hill after the five-car convoy. American guards started to hustle them off. They had orders not to allow anyone within two blocks of the scene of the precedent-shattering meeting.

Sgt. James C. Pickett, Dallas, Tex., sergeant of the guards, said general orders were effective at all times not to allow loitering in the vicinity of the embassy gates. However, correspondents and photographers numbering more than 50 were allowed to remain.

As the cars passed through the gate, two sentries from the First cavalry division briskly presented arms.

The Emperor tipped his hat to a couple of soldiers with green helmets and bayonets.

The whole show was over so quickly that correspondents got only a brief glimpse of the little ruler.

Cheering Vets of CBI War Arrive

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Cheering GI's from the China-Burma-India war theater arrived here yesterday after a 13,000-mile trip on the U. S. S. General Greely, which carried 3,075 troops and passengers.

Units represented included Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault's "Flying Tigers," the 10th air force; the First and Second air command squadrons, Merrill's "Marauders," the Mars task force, the army airways communication system, the 352nd army engineers; the 61st railway operating company, the 478th and 21st army quartermaster corps, the Kachin Rangers, members of the office of strategic services, the 48th evacuation hospital, the 20th general hospital and the 151st medical battalion.

Among the Greely returnees was S/Sgt. William F. Baker, of San Antonio, Texas, who was married in army chapel at New Delhi on February 29, 1944. His wife was an evacuee from Singapore to New Delhi. They had with them their 10-months' old daughter, Marian Louise.

Capt. Lee West, of Amarillo, Texas, an officer of the Kachin Raiders, said his men were trained to parachute into the jungles and win the favor of the natives. He displayed a three-foot long Burma knife of a type carried by tribal chieftains.

One of the army nurses, Ann Voskamp, of New Ulm, Texas, Texas, who served in station hospitals in India, said medical corps nurses frequently worked on the wounded in temperatures between 125 and 135 degrees.

hind them. Then hands reached out and struck from the darkness and the army officer was dead and still.

"You can imagine what happened to the girl," the naval officer continued. "Then she was killed, too. And both bodies were buried in the sand. But their graves had been scooped hurriedly and were too shallow. In the morning the tide had washed away the sand and left the army officers hand sticking out. Someone saw it. Both bodies were soon recovered.

"But the big question remained unsolved, who had done it?"

Finally a shell-shocked soldier in one of the hospital wards told one of the nurses he had done it. She called a doctor and the soldier repeated his story.

The nurses and doctors didn't believe his story. They checked in every way and found it impossible. They decided he had overheard other men talking about the case and that in some strange way the idea of personal guilt had been implanted in his already troubled irrational mind. His refusal to believe him only made him angry.

"I did it," he kept repeating. "I will have to pay in some way." And pay he did.

"One morning they found him strangled," said the naval officer. During the night he had taken his web belt and hanged himself — changed himself to pay for a crime of which everyone was certain he was innocent."

"Not long afterward they caught the real murderers of the nurse and the officer," he said. "They were soldiers from a camp nearby."

There were no indications of an immediate settlement of the strike in New York City. The city's billion dollar fur and garment industry was virtually closed down as the hundreds of thousands of workers refused to cross picket lines or climb on flights of steps to skyscrapers lofts.

Texas Is Nearly Free of Sabotage During War Years

By JACK RUTLEDGE
 AP Staff Writer

Eighty-five cases of sabotage were uncovered by the federal bureau of investigation in Texas during the war—but not one single case was enemy-directed.

Suspicion and rumors that wrecks, explosions and fires in war plants and mechanical breakdowns of various sorts were caused by enemy agents were entirely groundless.

In a report prepared in Washington by the FBI for the Texas bureau of the Associated Press, the FBI said it had investigated 694 cases in Texas.

"Sabotage was discovered, but all cases were traced to spite, carelessness, greed, prankishness and similar motives.

An instance was explained: A mechanic was cutting electrical wires in a plane, hoping the mechanical failures would lead to the dismissal of the foreman and the promotion of himself to the job.

While bombs were still falling at Pearl Harbor, FBI agents began rounding up alien enemies in Texas. A total of 542 were apprehended. They included 255 Germans, 117 Japanese, and 130 Italians.

A major job was the rounding up of escaped prisoners of war. There have been 261 escapes in Texas. Up to September 7, 1945, only four enemy prisoners were still at large.

The FBI handled the selective service cases of enough men in Texas to form a fairly good-sized fighting force. During the fiscal years 1942 to 1945, the four Texas field divisions of the FBI handled 18,425 draft cases. In each instance, these men were made available to the military services or otherwise disposed of according to law.

Laredo Gunnery Range Is Declared Surplus

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—(AP)—The Laredo army air field gunnery range has been declared surplus and turned over to the surplus property board, according to announcement from the war department yesterday.

The range comprises 629,298 acres. Approximately 300,000 acres has been returned to ranch owners in the past five days, Brig. Gen. E. H. Marks, division engineer of the army, southwestern division, reported.

Approximately 12 of the large ranches, together with smaller tracts have been returned, and a major portion of this land already is being occupied for grazing.

The conditional releases will be made final after an inspection, made jointly by the owners and representatives of the government, to determine what, if any, damages have been caused by occupancy by the army air forces.

Marshall G. Zhukov Plans Visit to U. S.

DALLAS, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Action to lift the probation status put on the University of Texas by the Southern Association of colleges and Secondary schools will be discussed at the board of regents' meeting in Austin Friday and Saturday.

Harvesters Battle Phillips Blackhawks in Third Grid Game Here Tomorrow

Far from over confident about their chances, the Pampa Harvesters play their third grid game of the season tomorrow night when they meet the power-laden Phillips Blackhawks of District 1-A.

The contest is scheduled to be played at Harvester park, north of the high school, starting at 8:30. Tickets are on sale at most downtown drug stores and fans have been urged to buy their tickets ahead of time to avoid standing in line at the gate.

Undeclared in two games, the Blackhawks have not allowed their goal-line to be crossed as they were rolling up 83 points against Dalhart and Dumas.

Pampa's Harvesters are also undefeated in two contests. The local gridgers won the season's opener from Electric 14-7 and then journeyed to Midland to crush Gene McCullom's Bulldogs 25 to 6.

The Phillips eleven will be out to avenge two consecutive 13-0 defeats at the hands of the Harvesters. Pampa's 1943 district champions, spearheaded by All-Stater Charlie Boyles and many others were only able to edge the powerful Blackhawks 13-0 and last year the Blackhawks again almost battled the Harvesters down.

In six years at Phillips high school, Coach H. C. "Chesty" Walker's teams have won 55 and lost eight—two of those eight losses being to Class AA Pampa.

The Blackhawks, usually one of the "best-dressed" eleven in the Paulhandle, are a light team. Few boys on the squad weigh over 175 pounds but under Walker's coaching, the Blackhawks are always wiry and tough as nails.

Star of the Phillips offensive is Fullback John Eldridge, who tips the scales at 170 pounds. Eldridge strutted his stuff against Dalhart and Dumas and will be hitting for more worthy foes Friday night.

One Harvesters regular will be out of tomorrow night's game under doctor's orders.

Co-Captain Charlie Beard, end, is staying out for a few days until a injured shoulder heals. The team physician said that the injury was neither serious nor permanent.

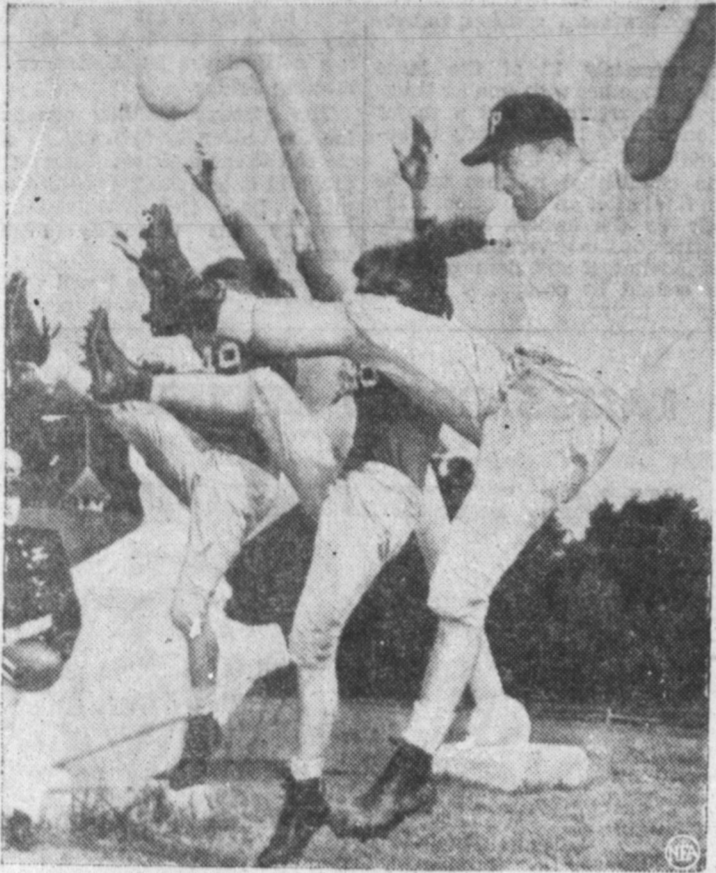

Neither coach has announced a starting line-up as yet but Coach Otis Coffey of the Harvesters has named an end to replace Beard in tomorrow night's game. He is Lonnie Williams, who caught a pass from George Johnson for a touchdown at Midland last week. Williams weighs 161 pounds, 16 pounds more than Beard. Alternating with Williams will be Bernie Brown, who fell on an end zone ball at Midland for a score.

Following the Phillips game, the Harvesters will travel to Vernon for a game with the District 2AA Lions. The Vernon eleven is playing in Amarillo tomorrow night.

After the Vernon game, the Harvesters will take to the road again when they go to Norman, Oklahoma, to engage the powerful Tigers, perennial winners of titles in the Sooners state.

Bruins Play Hapless Cincinnati Reds in Doubleheader Feature

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Cincinnati's former Reds, a seventh-place ball club that never was a factor in the National League race, probably will decide the pennant duel between the Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals.

Two games with the Rhinelanders today mean the difference between an early clinching of a last day finish for Charley Grimm's Bruins. Three Saturday and Sunday dates with the pesky Reds hold the key to Billy Southworth's hopes.

"The Cincinnati Reds have been a pushover for the Cubs all season long, dropping 19 of 20 meetings, to rank as one of the main reasons Chicago has been able to stay out front while losing 16 of 22 to the defending world champs.

The Bruins can maintain their spell and knock off the Reds twice today, they would need only one more victory to be sure of a tie even if St. Louis downs Pittsburgh tonight and sweeps its final three from the Reds.

But the brow-beaten Cincy should kick over the traces and fluster the Cubs twice while the Cards whip the Bucros, Chicago's 1 1/2 game lead would melt into an all-even tie.

Grimm has protested yesterday's 11-6 loss to St. Louis on the grounds that one umpire (Babe Pinelli) wasn't looking and another (Butch Henline) said he refused to change his mind despite an official reversal by umpire-in-chief Dusty Boggess, changing a double play into a St. Louis base hit.

After White Kuroski opened the seventh inning with a single, Ray Sanders drove a long fly deep into right field that Bill Nicholson apparently caught as he hit the wall, dropped and caught again on the rebound. Kuroski had waited half way to second, to see whether the ball would be caught and then sped to second, waving Sanders back to first. Nicholson whipped the ball to second base.

An original decision ruled a double play, prompting a Cardinal protest, and a reversal gave Sanders a hit and placed both men on base, resulting in a long argument culminated by Grimm's official protest.

St. Louis went on from there to cement a 6-5 lead with five more runs as the Cubs fell apart. Ken Burkhart who replaced Red Barrett in the fourth was the victor over Claude Passeau.

Detroit polished off its home business for the year by splitting a pair with Cleveland, winning 11-0 behind Hal Newhouser, and losing 3-2 to Steve Gromek, an old Detroit boy.

The results assured the Tigers of a tie for first, even if they lose their final two at St. Louis Saturday and Sunday. Meanwhile, Washington continues to practice for a phantom foe, its only hope a double Browdie victory forcing a playoff Monday or Tuesday.

"That was the only business in the American league as rain cancelled a date between Chicago and St. Louis and the other clubs were not scheduled.

National league tilts having nothing to do with the flag race by directly concerned with third place found Brooklyn downing New York, 8-1, and Pittsburgh splitting a pair with Cincinnati. After the Reds had taken the opener, 6-2, behind freshman John Hestik, the Pirates evened matters 2-1 for Nick Strincevich's 16th victory.

The Dodgers clinched at least a tie for third by their triumph over the Giants, engineered by the four-hit pitching of Ralph Branca, and the Pirates kept alive their dim hopes of catching the Brooks. Other clubs were idle.

Nami Is Elected To Head Legion

PORT WORTH, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Herman G. Nami of San Antonio named out Bert Giesecke of Austin for the post of commander of the state department as the Texas state American legion convention closed yesterday.

Nami, a San Antonio attorney, legislator for 25 years, won 945 1/2 to 894 1/2 by a roll call vote.

The legion auxiliary, which held sessions concurrent with the legion convention, elected Mrs. Kelley Farrar of Breckenridge as president.

Nami succeeded Henry Love of Ft. Worth and Mrs. Farrar succeeded Mrs. Howard Hudgins of Vernon.

In an unprecedented action the legion voted to admit Negroes to membership in the state organization.

Before the action was taken Lew Fields of Amarillo had told the convention that the congress of industrial organizations "is planning a competitive veterans' organization and the Negro field would be a very fertile place for them to start."

Other legion officers elected included E. A. Simpson of Amarillo; W. F. Spiegel of Fort Arthur, treasurer, and Harper Scoggins of Borger, sergeant at arms.

In the auxiliary Mrs. Aeneas George of Beaumont was named historian; Mrs. S. P. Tadlock of Austin, chaplain, and Mrs. Mary Strong of Austin was reappointed secretary-treasurer.

Following the Phillips game, the Harvesters will travel to Vernon for a game with the District 2AA Lions. The Vernon eleven is playing in Amarillo tomorrow night.

After the Vernon game, the Harvesters will take to the road again when they go to Norman, Oklahoma, to engage the powerful Tigers, perennial winners of titles in the Sooners state.

Jobs Are Available

NEW YORK.—About 50,000 jobs, at a conservative estimate, are going begging in the dyeing and cleaning industry, it was reported today to the National industrial council.

In a letter to the council, J. M. Matson of Silver Spring, Md., managing executive of the National Association of Dyers and Cleaners, wrote as follows:

"I am told that my estimate of 40,000 to 50,000 jobs are going begging in our industry is extremely conservative. Our little plant would welcome a chance to hire ten employees on a permanent basis today."

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Looking at the National league race-by-telegraph, this dept. wouldn't be surprised now to see the pennant go to the Cardinals in spite of their tendency to let down after a couple of tough games. . . . That blowup the Cubs staged in the seventh inning yesterday was the biggest of its kind since the recent Florida hurricane and teams don't recover quickly from that sort of thing. . . . It is quite possible that the Pirates now will proceed to belt the daylights out of Chicago and that the Cards will win enough games, with the aid of the undoubted lift they got from yesterday's triumph, toARGE into their fourth straight world series. . . . But the Cubs still have that game and a half lead and, if you recall, right after the Cards knocked off their most important rivals about a month ago, they went out and blew the Duke to Eppsburg.

Fies In The Ointment
Bill Nicholson's off-the-wall catch yesterday ought to give the Senators' Clark Griffith a good argument for a rules revision. . . . Since Bingo Binks "dropped" a fly Sunday, Griffith has been arguing that the rule which covers that particular fielding play isn't clear enough. . . . Now he'll likely get some support from the other league. Take your choice.

Looking for the Best Among the World Series Catching Candidates
Paul Richards, Tigers — when he quit a minor league managerial job to join the Tigers, Richards was supposed to be more coach than player. He's been both and then some, earning credit for the Detroit pitching staff's success. . . . Paul Gillespie and Mickey Livingstone, Cubs — Gillespie hit a home run his first time up in the National league and still is hitting; Livingstone once hit his head against the dugout roof chasing a foul at Springfield, Mass. . . . Ken O'Dea and Del Rice, Cardinal — O'Dea became a "regular" after ten years' effort when Walker Cooper went into the navy; Sciataca has made him an irregular lately with Rice, who joined the Cards late last season, doing most of the work.

Cub Officials Cross Fingers

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs have sold their portion of world series tickets but today they had their fingers crossed and a hopeful eye cast upon President Ford Frick of the National league.

Today as the Bruins squared off in a double-header at Cincinnati against the Reds, their best "cousins," they had a game and a half lead over the St. Louis Cardinals and a luke-warm expectation that Frick might entertain their protest of an 11-6 trimming by the Cards here yesterday.

Disregarding Frick's decision on perhaps the season's zaniest game, Charley Grimm's Bruins have to win four of their five remaining games to clinch the pennant—providing the Cards sweep their final four contests.

BROUGH ELIMINATED
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., the nation's third-ranking woman tennis star, was eliminated yesterday by young Dorothy Head of Alameda, Calif., 1-6, 6-3, 8-6 in the first major upset of the 56th annual Pacific coast championships.

PLAY-OFF POSTPONED
ST. PAUL, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Rained out last night, Louisville and St. Paul tangled tonight in the fifth game of their American association playoff series to determine which will meet the International league winner in the little world series.

Four Districts Have Conference Contests

By The Associated Press

Conference games are scheduled in four districts this week-end in Texas schoolboy football with one of them set for tonight when Woodrow Wilson, leader of the Dallas district face, meets Forest.

Tomorrow night finds three other districts with conference games—Arlington Heights playing Fort Worth Tech in the Fort Worth district, Ennis clashing with Waxahatchie and Cleburne meeting Bryan in District 10 and Tyler tangling with Henderson and Texarkana tackling Gladewater in District 11.

More than 60 games will be played over the state this week-end. One was run off last night when Jeff Davis (Houston) defeated St. Thomas (Houston) 13-0.

Army Veteran, 17, Will Start College Grid Tilt Tomorrow

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Slated to start at guard for Temple university in tomorrow's night game with Syracuse is a 17-year-old army veteran, Donald Godek of Plymouth, Pa.

He enlisted when 14 and served four months before his parents could effect his release. He'll be wearing the number of his own choice—13.

When packing, keep some tissue paper on hand. Put little wads in loose sleeves, under pleats and puff up all the folds and creases with it.

'FINANCING AMERICAN PROSPERITY':

GOVERNMENTAL ECONOMIC PLANNING IN A DEMOCRACY IS FOREDOOMED

(This is the first of six articles in which leading economists give their ideas on the problem of keeping the United States prosperous. The articles were condensed by their authors for the Associated Press from a forthcoming book, "Financing American Prosperity."

By BENJAMIN M. ANDERSON, Professor of Economics, University of California, Los Angeles (Distributed by the Associated Press)

In the days when the making of employment was not looked upon as a federal government function, the problem solved itself amazingly well. The highest unemployment, 1902 to 1913 inclusive, was 8.3 per cent in the year following the panic of 1907, but the figure dropped to 1.9 per cent in 1909.

In the depression following the postwar boom of 1919-20, we had in 1921, 4,754,000 workers unemployed, or 11.2 per cent. But the federal government, old-fashioned, did nothing about it.

The labor market absorbed all these and more in the years 1931 to 1933. Unemployment dropped steadily from 11.2 per cent in 1931 to 1.7 per cent in 1933.

Governmental economic planning in a democracy is foredoomed. Our congress works through specialized committees that study only segments of our economic problems. We have independent states with autonomous subdivisions. Governmental economic planning in the United States must be preceded by the subordination of legislature and judiciary to the executive and by the disappearance of the independent states, and of private rights protected by the courts.

We began our governmental economic planning designated to create full employment in 1934 under Calvin Coolidge, when the federal reserve system flooded the money markets with cheap money, starting a wild upward movement in the stock market.

Hoover's farm board manipulated commodity prices. Following the stock market crash, President Hoover called the leaders of business, public utilities, and railroads together to urge upon them the policy of not cutting prices, not cutting wages, and increasing capital outlay. There must be no let down!

The democratic new deal intensified all things manifold. And it went in heavily for government deficit financing to make prosperity.

In contract with the figures given above for unemployment when the government did nothing about it, the figures from 1930 to 1939 are appalling. From 1933 to 1939 we averaged 9,402,000 unemployed or 18 per cent.

Salvation Army Units Serve 225 Million in 6 War Years

Salvation Army clubs, hostels and mobile units gave services to approximately 225 million service men and women in all theaters of war during World War II, according to a report released today by Commissioner Ernest I. Dugmire, commander of the Salvation Army in the United States.

These services were made not only to our own armed forces, but to the fighting forces of all our allies.

The figure includes aid to 115,760,605 individuals who took advantage of social and recreation facilities offered in this country by USO-Salvation Army clubs. An estimated 110 million meals or snacks were served to men and women of the armed forces by Red Shield clubs, operated solely by the Salvation Army, and by Salvation Army mobile units.

During the six years of war, Salvation Army's international organization carried on its religious and social service program in 97 countries and territories, taking its diversified activities to 26 fighting fronts.

Religious work by officers of the Salvation Army has been an important part of this wartime program, although it has been subordinated to work of immediate war urgency. Commissioner Dugmire said, Salvation Army chaplains have served with all armies of the Allied Nations, on all fronts.

In the forefront of the Salvation Army's services for the armed forces were those given by its 3,000 Red Shield clubs, often improvised huts set up on beachheads, in jungles and in desert outposts; and those given by 1,000 Salvation Army mobile canteens which, from the time of Pearl Harbor until May of this year, accompanied the armies on hazardous fighting fronts.

Most of these are still in operation, serving troops still stationed in the occupied countries.

Invasion Canteens In major allied amphibious landings, Salvation Army mobile units—"invasion canteens"—rolled down the ramps of LST's along with jeeps, trucks and tanks. Upon landing they set up shop on main roads leading to the front and they advanced with the invasion armies.

In France alone, 23 Salvation Army mobile units were attached to the invasion army.

Red Shield Huts Another outstanding war service by the Salvation Army was given by its Red Shield huts, or canteens. During six years, 5,000 of these operated from a variety of locations, ranging from snow-covered mountains in Syria, to caves in Sicily and tents in Iraq.

Plans for the Red Shield canteens were started in the fall of 1939, and the first Red Shield huts entered the field almost with the first armies.

Red Shield canteens sent to the continent took part in the famous retreat to Dunkirk, serving the retreating armies on the way. Only two of the score of Red Shield canteens returned from Dunkirk to England and it was there that the Salvation Army had its first war casualties.

When the Red Shield huts returned to the field they were streamlined to the conditions of modern mobile fighting. Throughout the war, the canteens often operated no more than a few hundred yards from the actual fighting, and were seldom more than ten-to's suspended between trees. They were established on practically every desert isle, in every jungle wilderness and in every other place where troops were fighting or stationed.

Further federal government difficulties to make prosperity, piled on top of our gigantic war debt simply must not be undertaken. We should thereby wreck the credit of the government and go into wild currency disorders. We must have rigid post-war economy in government. We must leave the people to work it out.

Nazis' General Plan of Assault Is Uncovered

BERLIN, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Documents discovered here show that the Germans were preparing in the fall of 1940 to strike at south and southeast England with 22 divisions and with 17 more divisions in reserve. It was disclosed today.

Military authorities declined to say for certain that the final operational order has been uncovered, but this seems to have been the general plan for the assault.

The initial attack was to be launched by the German Ninth and 16th armies, forming army group A. The 16th was to sail from Ostend, Dunkerque, Calais, Boulogne and the mouth of the Somme river, and was to land on the Kentish coast between Margate and Hastings. The Ninth was to leave Dieppe, Le Havre and Caen and hit the British coast between Portsmouth and Brighton.

Airborne landings were planned north of the Romney marches, between Folkestone and Hastings.

Army group B, made of the enlarged German Sixth army, was to follow these initial thrusts by sailing from Cherbourg for Bournemouth or Weymouth bay.

Landing forces of the two army groups were to comprise 11 infantry and two mountain divisions, with a mobile force of six armored, one SS and two motorized divisions.

Reserves were to total nine infantry divisions and eight additional infantry divisions which were to be available from general headquarters reserves, the documents showed.

Timed with the assault the Germans were prepared to unveil their secret weapon, the six-barrelled Nebelwerfer mortar.

The plan called for two beachheads of army group A to link up. The first main objective was a line northeast from Portsmouth toward Aldershot and Guildford, then east to Leatherhead and on through Caterham and Gilbury on the Thames estuary.

The Nazis hoped to cut off London and send mobile forces through to occupy important coastal towns and industrial towns in the midlands.

If the Germans had launched their invasion it was likely they would have employed a force for the landings about the same in strength as the allies used in Normandy on D-Day.

The reserve available to the allies for long-range buildup in Normandy, however, was far superior to that planned for the Germans.

Liberated Panhandle Veterans Are Home

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Capt. Isaac Morgan, Jr., of (203 Nathan St.) Marshall, Texas, arrived here after more than three years in Japanese prison camps, saying "I'm damned proud to be an American."

"Our American people have done everything possible for us, and since our release have certainly made us feel at home, and they wouldn't let us turn a hand for ourselves," Morgan said.

In the group arriving at La Guardia field last night also was Col. Bulcher S. Tharp, of (709 Virginia St.) Amarillo, Texas, commanding officer of the second battalion of the 131st field artillery.

"I don't suppose there is anybody who has not been mistreated by the Japs," Tharp said. "I was cuffed around a few times—once because my men were playing cards."

Tharp's entire battalion was captured by the Japs on March 8, 1942 in Java. After its capture he said his unit "finally wound up working on the Burma-Thailand railroad in 1943 and that was a hard year."

With Tharp were Major Ira H. Fowler of Jacksboro, Texas, his battalion deputy, and First Lt. James P. Lattimore of Lubbock, Texas. Lattimore said that twice a week during his 42 months imprisonment he was "slugged by a heavy handed member of the guard, most of whom were Koreans."

Other liberated prisoners of war arriving here yesterday included the following Texans:

'Cloak and Dagger' Agents Got Nazi Defense Plans Early

Secret work started 18 months before invasion—seven months before Pearl Harbor—officers reveal in first detailed story of heroic exploits of OSS men in battle of espionage.

Preparations for the Allied invasion of North Africa actually started seven months before Pearl Harbor, two officers associated with the office of strategic services—the "Cloak and Dagger Unit"—reveal in lifting the veil on long-secret chapters in the OSS's dramatic battle of espionage.

Alastair MacBain, in the first of four signed articles in Collier's on the OSS's secret career, gives detailed descriptions of the heroic acts of many OSS agents, involving parachute jumps into enemy-infested lands, Asiatic jungle treks, and the securing—by hook or crook—of enemy defense plans. The first article appears Friday, September 28th.

Before the Allied landings in North Africa in November 1942, OSS agents "brazenly wormed their way into axis headquarters and obtained the complete text of the German's plans for repelling any landings. And in Italy one OSS agent reportedly "subverted" a German staff officer and got the high command's "detailed defense plans."

"For eighteen months (starting seven months before Pearl Harbor), preparations had gone on for this moment"—the African invasion, Col. Ford and Major MacBain disclose. "A handful of undercover agents—members of a secret intelligence agency without precedent in American history—had infiltrated through the German lines, organized native resistance . . . (and) set up a clandestine radio network" by which they relayed secret intelligence to the allies.

The pre-Pearl Harbor work was carried on by a staff assembled by Maj. Gen. William J. (Wild Bird) Donovan, as the co-ordinator of information, with the responsibility of "assembling military and economic and political intelligence that concerned the security of the United States." Shortly after Pearl Harbor the OSS came into being, with Gen. Donovan at its head.

Major Carleton S. Coon, former Harvard professor of anthropology, and Marine Colonel William A. Eddy led the espionage work behind axis lines in North Africa, Col. Ford and Major MacBain report, and made the arrangements for General Mark W. Clark's now-famous rendezvous with anti-axis elements in Africa just prior to the successful invasion.

At the time of the allied landings, "with Eisenhower on Gibraltar, Coon and Eddy were on the air constantly, exchanging last-minute intelligence with their five secret stations," the Collier's article discloses, and Allied ships sailed into African ports and coasted through mine fields under the direction of former pilots of the African ports.

The pilots themselves, sometime prior to the invasion, are said to have been smuggled from Africa by the "handful of undercover agents." Lt. Col. Nichol Smith of OSS, author of the best-selling Burma Road, is revealed as a hero of one of the most daring and difficult missions of the war—a trek by foot, burdened with radio equipment through the unexplored headhunter jungles of Yunnan during the dread monsoon season. Their mission was destined to break the "inscrutable silence" that hid Jap activities in Thailand and Burma and kept secret the fate of downed American fliers. With 21 former Thai students of U. S. universities, who had been indoctrinated by the OSS, Col. Smith is said to have taken 87 days to get through the jungles. Only four of the 21 students reached Bangkok, the capital of their native land where OSS quarters were established under the eyes of the Jap forces. For two years it was undetected, and tiny radios flashed bombing target locations, advised an enemy strength and movements, and called planes to secret fields to rescue American fliers.

At the request of General Chennault of the Fighting Tigers, for example, the OSS's Thailand agents are said to have found and rescued Lt. Wilyam McGarry, who had crashed on the Burma-Thailand frontier. Discovered in a Jap jungle stockade, Lt. McGarry was liberated and taken to Bangkok after agents bribed a Jap stockade guard. Then from a rendezvous point off South Thailand he was picked up by a Catalina plane and landed at Chennault's headquarters.

Navy Lt. James Harvey Gaul, a young archeologist from Harvard, is revealed as the hero in one tragic episode. After parachuting into enemy-occupied Czechoslovakia to help resistance forces evacuate downed American fliers, Lt. Gaul and a team of partisans were ambushed, in the mountains by 200 troops. They fought three hours then yielded and Gaul was shot by a firing squad at the Mauthausen concentration camp near Linz, Austria, without revealing a word of his secret mission.

For months prior to the capture of Rome, Col. Ford and Major MacBain disclose, an unnamed OSS agent lived in the home of a prominent fascist in the Holy City, while 300 Italians in his employ eased every road leading south and kept him informed on enemy movements. This intelligence was radioed to allied headquarters.

There were soda clerks and truck drivers, students and university professors, and "bluebloods from the top-drawed-of-the-social-register" who engaged in the OSS espionage program, Col. Ford and Major MacBain report. Among the four hundred who went on secret and dangerous missions, as reported, were Captain Winston Guest, Marine Captain Winthrop Rutherford, Captain Lester Armour and Colonel Serge Obolensky.

Boys will be boys; or, are children people? In Dallas two teen-age boys not only were late at school but they scared a couple of ambulance drivers pretty badly.

The two boys were en route to class when they were involved in a minor automobile accident. Someone called the ambulance.

The ambulance driver roared to the scene, and from a distance he saw what he thought were bodies strewn about the car, and more being pulled from the vehicle by two persons. It looked like a grade-A massacre.

The ambulance men found upon arrival that the "bodies" were football suits the boys had taken from the car.

Down at Corpus Christi they're beginning to worry about the younger generation again. That's a sure sign of peace.

Curve rings now, and boys and girls of 17 and under must be off the streets by 11 p. m. Henceforth unless accompanied by parents.

Further, they may not at any time frequent places where intoxicating liquors are sold.

The law makes the parents responsible for their offspring's observance of the new ordinance.

Children are a real problem in Temple. Landlords seem to be allergic to them.

"They seem to thieve my children are rattlesnakes," said one mother. A second wanted to know if she had to drown her's before she could get a place to sleep.

But the W. H. Denzilings of Port Arthur like children. They sent one boy to war, and may get two back.

Their own boy, Pfc. Donald J. Denzlinger, is due home soon. And he may bring a little Russian orphan his company rescued and adopted. The boy is 11, had been a prisoner of the Germans despite his age, and had been in rags when found.

The Americans took care of him, made him a GI uniform, and he's neat and proud that the Yanks call

Writer Declares Teacher Low Pay Is 'Disgrace'

"The chief responsibility for better pay for better teachers lies with the community in which they teach." Placing this responsibility in the hands of American taxpayers and parents, Robert Littell, writing in The Reader's Digest for October, declares "we can immeasurably improve American education by paying more for it. We can, if we have the imagination and the will, attract thousands of gifted young people into the teaching profession."

The Digest article compares current salaries of teachers with wages paid in other jobs in many parts of the country. Flint, Michigan, starts its school teachers at $400 a year less than it starts its garbage collector. At Salt Lake City, teachers can attain a maximum of $2,720 yearly after 15 years' experience, while the dog catcher makes $10,000 a year on a contract basis. In Tusculum, Missouri, the salary of the school janitor, with less than eighth-grade education, is the same as that of a teacher with a university degree. For the school year 1944-1945, the author summarizes "about half of the nation's 850,000 teachers were paid less than $1,800; 200,000 less than $1,200; and 25,000 less than $600. In some 30 states, average teacher's pay for scrubbing the minds of our children is lower than that of the charwomen who educate the floors of federal office buildings."

Many teachers, Mr. Littell states, "must endure the absurdity and humiliation of being paid less than their own pupils." A 30-dollar-a-month man in a 15-year-old boy earning $35 weekly for part-time work in a packing plant. In Connecticut "where the average teacher's salary is fourth highest in the nation" boys in vocational schools earn more working part time than the men who are teaching them a trade.

Teachers "driven or lured away from schools by the rise in the cost of living, plus high wages in industry," totaled enough last year to hold classes for a million and a half pupils, Littell says. "There were 10,000 classrooms without teachers; 6,000 classrooms without teachers; many schools were open only part time." Deplored the fact that "talented, energetic, ambitious young people are not entering the profession as they use to," the author points out that teaching positions vacated by competent men and women have in many cases been filled by inferior replacements—"anyone whose wages were low enough to make teaching seem a step upward."

"Some states have broken the tightwad tradition," he says. "Against Georgia, where the minimum salary for teachers works out to $4.25 a week less than the compensation to the unemployed—we must balance the comparatively enlightened averages (above $2,300) of New York, California, the District of Columbia, Connecticut, Massachusetts, and New Jersey."

It's going to be an awful mixup when we all start touring again—my wife got out all our road maps yesterday!

HONG KONG, CHINA, IS AS YOU ALWAYS DREAMED

By HAL BOYLE

HONG KONG, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Remember when you were taking school biology and focussed your microscope for the first time on one drop of water and saw what tangles of wilderness and strange sprawling life it contained?

So Hong Kong, China, to me appears.

It is all you ever thought China would be, flesh and beggars and narrow twisting streets full of silk shops and fire crackers and smells that were born in the sea.

It is wealth and poverty and color and drabness. It is a place where the poor laugh more than the rich because all life holds for them is a laugh and a meal—and there are more laughs than meals.

You could spend a life time studying the beggar of Hong Kong.

Tools of their trade are a tunic and their rags and their lifeless posture. Their clothes are a saga. O. Henry could have written another "thousand and one nights" to rival the Arabian tales around the single patchwork garment that half blankets their bodies and the degeneration of their life force.

They haunt you and they bring the flies with them. If God has forgotten to love these people—the flies haven't. For to the flies of Hong Kong the sore-ridden beggars are the aristocracy.

Beggary is a career for many Chinese too young even for schooling.

Others are dramatic in their sheer lassitude. They lie down on pavements before shop windows full of foods or silk garments and beside themselves place an empty tin cup and a craved petition in Chinese characters.

Japanese Younger Generation Adopts American Army Troops

By HAL BOYLE

TOKYO—(AP)—The Japanese younger generation already has adopted the American army.

Like the children of Europe and Africa, the Japanese "small fry" have fallen head over heels in love with big-hearted and big-pocketed Yank soldiers, marines and sailors.

They line the streets whenever a military convoy passes, and stand for hours grinning and saluting. Whenever an American soldier jokingly throws them a return salute, they jump up and down, hysterical with happy.

Most of the children are clad in rags, and some are so short of clothing that loin cloths make up their entire wardrobe.

They are quite willing to forget the past and go overboard for the "new order" the Allies are bringing. Many of them wave their fingers in the famous V sign. They picked that up from watching the troops. Some also have broke out Allied flags. One group of youngsters about seven to eight years old modestly wave American and British flags at a passing column.

They are picking up the English language quickly, and in less than a week every Japanese child from Yokosuka to Tokyo has learned at least three words: "Hello" and "Thank You."

Each day they get more friendly, as one soldier put it—"they learn that Americans won't eat them or kick their teeth in."

They didn't beg at first—as did the children of North Africa, Sicily and Italy. But that's changed too.

No child who has gone long without sweets can withstand the miracle of American chocolate or the magic of American chewing gum. After the soldiers began half-shamefacedly tossing them out little bits of candy they caught on quickly. They have learned the technique that worked so well with European kids. They hold up their fingers in the victory signal, then hold out their other hand for candy.

They are willing to work for it, too. Troops find it almost impossible to keep them away from their quarters. Children rush up at every chance to sweep for them, carry their Garands or help shine their shoes.

Commanders officially frown on the small gifts to Japanese children, for they know it is always the first step toward fraternization on a large scale.

But there is no way to make American soldiers hate children, or keep from giving them candy and gum. And they know that 25 years from now their own children will be cooperating with these same Japanese children in a better world—or fighting them in a worse one.
