Return Times Of Divisions Are Listed

WASHINGTON, July 9.—(AP)—On the theory it will bring no comfort to the Japanese, the War Department has issued a timetable for the return of 31 divisions from Europe between August and January.

With 11 others either back or in the process of returning, the movement will involve more than 500,000 men. Plans still subject to change call for eight divisions to remain in Europe as occupation forces and 18 still to be there at year's end, presumably to await shipping facilities.

Divisions already back in this country are the 86th, 97th, and 95th Infantry with most of the 104th Infantry also home. Advance detachments of the 2nd, 5th, 44th and 87th Infantry and the 13th Armored have arrived with the remainder of their units soon to follow.

These 11 have been scheduled for Pacific action, although the War Department stressed that the men who fight in them will not necessarily be the same ones who opposed the Nazis.

In announcing the schedule for the 31 divisions scheduled for embarkation beginning next month, the Army said that for security reasons no information is being given as to whether they will go to the Pacific, be assigned to the reserve in this country or be disbanded.

The schedule:

- August: 85th, 28th and 36th Infantry divisions and the 20th Armored.
- September: 14th, 5th, 6th, and 7th Armored; 17th Airborne; 88th, 91st, 35th, 45th and 103rd Infantry.
- October: 9th Armored and 92nd, 26th, 29th and 99th Infantry.
- November: 10th Armored; 10th Mountain; 13th Airborne; 83rd, 63rd and 106th Infantry.
- December: 2nd and 11th Armored; 34th, 90th, 80th and 76th Infantry.

The eight divisions ticketed for occupation duty are the 1st and 4th Armored and the 1st, 3rd, 9th, 29th, and 36th Infantry and the 82nd Airborne.

The 18 not now scheduled for return this year are the 3rd, 8th, 12th and 16th Armored; the 101st Airborne, and the 42nd, 65th, 66th, 69th, 70th, 71st, 75th, 78th, 84th, 89th, 94th, 100th and 102nd Infantry.

Sun Blotted Out Briefly Today

(By The Associated Press)

The sun was blotted out briefly in certain sections of the United States in a total eclipse today for the first time since 1822 and generally throughout the country a partial eclipse was observed.

A total shadow started at sunrise (6:59 a. m. CWT) in Idaho and moved along a 25-mile path through Montana, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Hudson Bay, Greenland, Norway, Sweden, Russia and Siberia.

Low hanging clouds and a haze obscured the early phase of the eclipse at Ophel, Mont., on the center line of totality, but it was fully visible in the totality stage, which lasted 29 seconds.

Dr. Paul Sprague, astronomer from Wheaton college, Boston, who recorded the spectacle at Ophel, expressed doubts of the success of photographic results of the mission but a colleague, Dr. T. Whitney, Pomona college, Claremont, Calif., said "it wasn't so bad."

The sun was hid for 34 seconds at Waseley, Sask., where members of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin-Franklin Institute-University of Pennsylvania expedition had worked for weeks setting up recording instruments.

SEVEN MEN FINED

Seven men were fined for three different charges in municipal court this morning.

Five men were fined for intoxication, one for disturbing the peace and the other for assault.

Local Soldier Is Given Promotion

Aubrey E. Pollack, husband of the former Louise Baxter of Pampa, was recently promoted to S-Sgt. at a B-29 base on Guam.

Pollack received his promotion along with 21 air force members according to Brig. Gen. Thomas S. Power, commanding general of the 24th bombardment wing.

The list included Lee S. Jinkins, Amarillo, who was promoted to a corporal.

GERMAN OFFICIALS IN CUSTODY SAY MORTON SHOT ON HIMMLER'S ORDER

LINZ, Austria, July 7.—(Delayed by Censorship)—(AP)—German officials now in custody say Joseph Morton, Associated Press war correspondent who was captured after he flew into Slovakia during a Czechoslovakia uprising, was executed in the Mauthausen concentration camp Jan. 24 on orders from Heinrich Himmler's staff in Berlin.

Morton, 34, an imaginative and energetic correspondent who came out of Romania with the first interview of King Mihai after Romania made peace last year, was captured near Plonka in Slovakia the day after last Christmas.

John Carpenter Dies at McLean

McLEAN, July 9.—John M. Carpenter, 77-year-old rancher and cattleman, died yesterday at his home here.

Carpenter had lived in McLean 45 years and had served this community as president of the American National Bank. His brother, C. M., is county commissioner.

Carpenter had been in bad health several months but had been confined to bed for just a few weeks.

Funeral services will be conducted this afternoon at 4 in the Methodist church here, with Rev. H. A. Longino officiating. He will be assisted by Henry Luech, minister of the Church of Christ.

Burial will be at Hillcrest cemetery with Womack funeral home in charge.

Carpenter's son, Milton, and daughter, Emma Lou, both of McLean, survive. Another daughter, Mrs. George Graham, lives in Dumas. Carpenter's wife died in March, 1941.

Four brothers survive, including C. M. of McLean, Will, Albuquerque; Fred and Alf, Buda, Texas.

Sisters surviving are Mrs. Pannie Crisen, San Antonio; Mrs. Mary Martin, Taylor, Texas; and Mrs. Alice Brown, Buda.

There are also five grandchildren surviving.

Funeralbearers for the services were James Now, Joe Hindman, Sees Camp, Clifford Allison, J. H. Hess, T. A. Massay, Frank Harlon and W. W. Boyd.

Correspondent Executed:

He was taken to Bratislava and arrived in Mauthausen, 15 miles east of this city, early in January.

Nine other Americans and four Britons—all members of a group which flew into Slovakia in October to help bring out American fliers stranded there—were shot to death with Morton and their bodies were cremated, according to these witnesses.

The commander of the camp, Standartenfuhrer Franz Zeireis, a sadistic, swaggering SS (Elite Guard) officer who attended all the executions, was shot while trying to escape and later died.

One of the Germans held, an interpreter who was present during the interrogation of the group in Mauthausen, said that some were beaten and tortured in an effort to get information from them, but Morton "underwent the interrogation without difficulty or hardships."

"The wrists of one man were tied behind his back, and he was suspended from the ceiling by a chain attached to his wrists. This treatment usually tears the victim's shoulders from their sockets."

"When we questioned Morton," the interpreter said, "he asked about his fate and stressed that he See MORTON KILLED, Page 6

RESULT OF JAP SUICIDE PLANES

The aft deck of the USS Newcomb after being destroyed by fire from a Japanese suicide plane. The ship was carrying 4,500 tons of supplies and 1,000 men.

NIAGARA FALLS, ONT., July 9.—(AP)—William "Red" Hill, Jr., slight 32-year-old newspaper shop operator rode through the Niagara rapids in a barrel yesterday to fulfill a pledge taken at his father's deathbed three years ago, and today faced the penalty of police action as a result of his exploit.

Hill, who foiled efforts of the Niagara Falls' commission police to prevent the trip, contended himself meanwhile with the knowledge that he had set a new record in making the bouncing, swirling seven-mile ride in two hours.

He nursed a bruised left arm—his only injury—and intimated that it was his last ride in a barrel. Any way, he said, the red-painted 750-pound steel barrel, which had been built for Hill, Sr., was rained by frequent collisions with rocks, "sunk beyond repair."

Mrs. William Hill, Sr., who had watched her husband ride through the same rapids in a barrel in 1910, 1930 and 1931, collapsed after her son returned.

At one point the barrel was seen thrown by the turbulent currents to what appeared to be about 40 feet in the air. At another point it was caught in a whirlpool and spun around for 25 minutes. Hill's two brothers, watching from shore, put out in a boat and piled the barrel out of the whirlpool. They towed it to shore and removed about five inches of water which had leaked in. Hill got in, stretched his legs, then resumed the journey to Queenstown.

National Total of Strike Idle Is Lowest in Month

(By The Associated Press)

The national total of strike idle fell below the 40,000 mark today for the first time in nearly a month.

Contributing to the brightened labor picture were the return to work of strikers in Detroit and Cleveland and the dissolution of a third of new troubles in the Akron rubber industry.

A strike of 524 polishers, CIO United Automobile Workers, ended at the Graham-Paige Motors corporation plant in Detroit and production of aircraft connecting rods was resumed.

The strike, which also idled 300 employees in the machining department, began Thursday night in a dispute over whether the management should upgrade two men to replace instructors on leave.

The CIO United Steel Workers returned to their jobs at Republic Steel corporations' continuous strip mill after a week-long walkout that closed the plant. The strike was in protest against a decrease in "take home" pay caused by reduction of management.

In Akron, a threatened tieup of

Allied Deadlock Over Berlin Is Still Unbroken

Berlin, July 9.—(AP)—The Inter-Allied deadlock over the government of Berlin continued unbroken today as high diplomats began preparing for the impending Big Three meeting.

Averell Harriman, U. S. ambassador to Moscow, is to land at the Tempelhof Airfield this afternoon and take quarters near the "Little White House" prepared for President Truman in the heavily guarded Potsdam area.

A procession of American limousines started regular service from the airfield to Potsdam, carrying distinguished visitors.

The American Army signal experts virtually completed to string a thick network of cables and wires by which Mr. Truman will be in touch with Washington while he confers with Generalissimo Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill.

Guards from elite Red Army regiments were increased throughout the Potsdam area. A heavy sprinkling of American and British sentries were in the area.

The Berlin governmental impasse continues.

Popular Clown To Appear Here

Louis Blair, popular rodeo clown of Dumas, Texas, will appear in the Top O' Texas rodeo according to an announcement made today by O. W. Hampton, general manager of the rodeo.

Blair specializes in a chariot act which features a chariot tied to a bucking bull. He insures "a thrill for every second."

Blair has appeared in outstanding shows all over the southwest such as the Starford cowboy reunion, and rodeos in Clovis, N. M., and Scurry county.

Hampton has called a meeting of all committee chairmen for the rodeo to be held July 15 at 8:30 in the chamber of commerce office for the purpose of coordinating arrangements for the rodeo.

The following men head the details for the various departments and are acting chairmen: Rex Barrett, rodeo events; J. P. Smith, rodeo show; E. O. Wedgeworth, publicity and advertising; R. M. Samples, decorations; H. W. Waters, bookkeeping; Huelyn Lovecek, booths and concessions; Bill Fraser, parade; Dan Camberon, police and parking; and Wayne Phelps, souvenirs and programs.

W. B. Wea, herded, sponsor; W. C. deCordova, dances; R. E. Watson, tickets and admissions; Irvin Cole, grounds; Joe Key, lighting; Arthur Teed, legal advice and Malcolm Brown, first aid.

American Submarines Join Daily Raiding Planes to Prepare Way for Invasion

U. S. Soldier Kills Sleeping War Prisoners

SALINA, Utah, July 9.—(AP)—Machinegun bullets fired by an American soldier killed eight Germans and injured 20 others asleep in a prisoner of war camp.

Why the soldier turned loose the barrage was a question still publicly unanswered today.

The shooting occurred early yesterday, a half hour after Pfc Clarence Bertucci of New Orleans, La., had gone on duty as a guard at the camp housing prisoners working in central Utah farm fields.

Col. Arthur Erickson, commander of the prisoner of war camp at Ogden, of which the camp here is a branch, said Bertucci, 23, suddenly fired from his post in a guard tower into a tent area in which the prisoners were housed.

Three bursts of fire, including in all 250 shots and lasting no more than 15 seconds, ripped into the tents.

His ammunition expended, Bertucci yelled for more, Erickson said, but was placed, instead, under arrest.

Judge Stennis Is Grateful for Help

An Open Letter to the Citizens of Gray County. You have kept faith.

It's such a long distance from here on the rolling plains of the Panhandle to the mud-filled, flea, and beetle infested foxholes of the island jumping fronts of the Pacific. Yes, it's hard even though we may have sons and loved ones right in the middle of the fighting, to see the vast picture of supplies that must reach them. It's hard to understand, even with the greatest and most graphic description of the momentous job in whipping the Japs.

It takes money to fight a war as we all know and the faith you people of this county have shown in our fighting men is demonstrated in the fact that we have again reached our quota in our E bonds as well as the over-all quota. I want to thank you for standing fast by our fighting men and putting your money into these most needed war bonds.

It takes a lot of work to conduct one of these war loan drives. There are hundreds of people who the public never knows about that do more than put their money into war bonds. They give their time in working toward events, demonstrations and promotions that bring our attention constantly to the cause of war bonds. It isn't possible to list each name, each event, each meeting (and there have been many of them during this critical 7th War Loan Drive) that has contributed toward the reaching of our quota.

At the first of the drive, the figures on the recap sheet reflected the same spirit as has existed through all the other drives. Figures grew rapidly and then they fell off. The general committee met, scratched their heads, looked into each others eyes with a puzzled, "what's happened?" look. Through the state committee it was learned that Pampa would be one of the fortunate cities to have the famous "Here's Your Infantry" show. The show came to town, and in a big way. . . . Harvester stadium was pushed to its capacity.

Chinese Claim Capture at Indo-China

By LEONARD MILLEMAN
Associated Press War Editor

A "considerable number" of American submarines have moved into waters around Japan, Tokyo reported today, joining thousands of daily raiding planes in straggling Nippon and preparing the way for invasion.

Chinese claimed they captured the gateway to Indo-China, posing a similar threat of strangulation and conquest to 200,000 Nipponese ground forces in southeast Asia, already cut off and threatened by British troops manning up in southeast Asia and Australians overrunning Borneo's oil fields.

Tokyo reported nearly 200 U. S. fighters, bombers, and Superforts lumbered, rocketed, strafed and scoured widely separated targets in Japan today. Enemy propagandists described the attacks as part of an American "attempt to raze the Japanese mainland thoroughly before invasion" and warned that this is only the beginning of seven submarine raids. Tokyo said, will follow the rainy season which is just starting.

Submarine attacks, coupled with daily mine-laying, sorties by B-29s, were described as a "n attempt to blockade the Japanese mainland." Tokyo claimed seven submarines have been sunk in waters close to the homeland in the last five weeks.

Extent of Nippon's fears was indicated in the most direct semi-official bid yet made for peace. Kichisaburo Nomura, ambassador to Washington at the time of Pearl

Pampa Scouts Rewarded for Prayers, Work

At least one Boy Scout troop in Pampa is convinced that "if you work and pray hard enough for something to happen, it will."

Jimmy Martin, local confectionery operator, told Troop 80 of the Boy Scouts over a month before the war in Europe ended, that if they would pray hard enough for V-E Day to come before July 4th, he would give them "the biggest feed of their lives on the Sunday nearest the Fourth."

Troop 80 set out to do just that, establishing an outstanding record among local Boy Scouts for contributing in every way toward the war effort—and their work and prayers finally "paid off."

"Jimmy" as he is affectionately known to every young boy or girl in Pampa, gave them the "feed of their lives" yesterday on the Palford ranch near LeFors.

There was barbecued mutton, potato salad, beans, onions, pickles, lemonade and, best of all, six huge, delicious watermelons which provided enough watermelon for everybody, with plenty to spare.

Scout Executive Hugo Olson, a special guest at the barbecue, said, "This is one of the finest things that has been done for our local scouts. These boys all worked hard to bring victory in Europe and they were justly rewarded."

Various other Boy Scout committees and their wives also praised the boys for their fine effort and lauded Martin for his support of the world's largest youth organization.

Stettinius Says Charter Is Instrument for Peace

WASHINGTON, July 9.—(AP)—Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., told the senate foreign relations committee today that the United Nations charter offer "a truly effective instrument for lasting peace."

The silver-haired former secretary of state testified, as the first witness at the 50-nation agreement reached at San Francisco started officially through the senate amid indications it may be ratified without amendment or reservation.

Speaking from a prepared manuscript in a large caucus room where the late Wendell L. Willkie once expounded his one-world views, Stettinius declared:

"I believe the five major nations proved at San Francisco beyond the shadow of any doubt that they can work successfully and in unity with each other and with the other United Nations under this charter.

"No country has a greater stake, he continued, than the United States "in a speedy beginning upon the task of realizing in fact the promise which the United Nations charter offers to the world."

The former secretary, designated by President Truman as the American representative on the proposed world security council, defended the voting procedure under which the United States, Great Britain, Russia, France and China—plus two small nation members—must approve before the council can take positive action to settle international disputes.

"These nations possess most of the military and industrial resources of the world," he asserted. "They will have to bear the principal responsibility for maintaining peace in the foreseeable future. The provisions of membership recognize this inescapable fact."

"I submit that these five nations, possessing most of the world's power to break or preserve peace, must agree and act together if peace is to be maintained, just as they have had to agree and act together in order to make possible a United Nations victory in this war."

But Stettinius added that the security council, with all of its apparatus,

Wyse, Prim Are Winners as Chicago Cubs Move into First Place

Cards Blast Dodgers Twice; Voiselle Finally Wins Tenth

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

First in hitting, first in fielding and first in the National League is the sure-fire success parlay that Charley Grimm has worked with his Chicago Cubs since leaving Wrigley Field.

The Bruins took over the batting lead shortly after they hit the road east, took sole possession of the fielding honors and then pushed into the front row in the standings yesterday by a double victory over the Phillies while Brooklyn was falling twice.

Ever since the Cubs hit a 24-run jackpot in Boston about a week ago they have been hard to get along with.

Pitching is supposed to win pennants and the Bruins are getting more of it lately from the rejuvenated Claude Passeau, Hank Wyse, Paul Derringer, Hy Vanderberg and Paul Erickson but it's the base hits that paved the way to the front of the class.

About 14 hits and eight runs a day are enough to pull any hurler through and that's what the Chicago sluggers have been giving their staff on the victory-streak.

Grimm had to use three of his elbows yesterday to trim the Phils in the first game, 12-6, as Ben Chapman's lowly hitting made headlines in reverse by amassing 17 safe blows and still losing by a loaded count. Ray Prim was the victor on relief but Hank Wyse went all the way on a six-hitter to win the second contest 9-2 and assure the Cubs of the lead and himself his tenth victory.

St. Louis was rough on a Brooklyn turnout of 32,001 who boosted the Ebbets Field paid attendance to 715,465, almost assuring a season total of a million.

Charley Barrett and Ken Burkhardt took turns plugging the Dodgers by identical 6-4 scores with costly errors by pitchers Vic Lombardi and Clyde King sending the home club to its downfall. Ever a base-loaded homer by Dixie Walker in the first ining of the nightcap was all in vain.

So the Dodgers and all other major league clubs go into a three-day "vacation" usually reserved for the all-star game but instead devoted to charity by the New York Yankees. The Brookes are second but only a half game ahead of the onrushing Red Birds.

Bill Voiselle pitched his first complete winning game since May 20 in notching his 10th decision by the shutout route, 5-0, over Cincinnati after Bucky Walters pulled up to the 500 mark with a 7-7 win record by hand-cuffing New York with five safeties, 5-2.

Tommy Holmes ran his consecutive game hitting streak to 37 by hitting safely both as his Boston Braves bowled to Pittsburgh, 10-8, and as they plastered the Buccos, 13-1.

Largest crowd of the day and banner turnout of the Detroit season, 53,888 paid, saw the Tigers divide a pair with the New York Yankees. After Hank Borowy had bested Dizzy Trout in the opener, 8-6; despite Hank Greenberg's third homer, Al Benton turned back the Yanks, 3-2, in his first complete game since he broke a leg May 24.

Dave Ferriss upped his victory total to 14 by blanking Cleveland, 6-0, with seven hits. The Tribe ended the count in the second with Alie Reynolds' line relief chucking sending a 4-2 margin for Cleveland's Pete Center.

Chicago's White Sox squeezed past Philadelphia twice by one run margins, 5-4 and 3-2, closing the A's disastrous road trip with a record of two wins and 20 defeats.

St. Louis cooled off Washington for the second straight day, 5-1, as Nelson Foster snapped a seven-game losing streak. Their scheduled second tilt was rained out.

Chico's White Sox squeezed past Philadelphia twice by one run margins, 5-4 and 3-2, closing the A's disastrous road trip with a record of two wins and 20 defeats.

St. Louis cooled off Washington for the second straight day, 5-1, as Nelson Foster snapped a seven-game losing streak. Their scheduled second tilt was rained out.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, June 9 (AP)—More kid stuff. . . . Maybe Pop doesn't take junior out to the wooshed these days and apply the razor strop just because the kid fans with the bases full, but pop apparently is determined that junior will be healthy and athletic. The latest suggestion is that kinds should be encouraged to take up golf because "it's a game they can start at the age of nine and quit at 90."

In championship matches yesterday, Mark Heath beat J. D. Kocurik 2-1, C. F. McGinnis beat Frank Mitcham 6-5 and Capt. W. M. Gibson beat Bob Robinson 2-up.

First round will continue through Friday. Pro Frank Baker said today, but Friday is the absolute deadline for first round matches.

In the championship flight, only one match has not been played, that between A. O. Simonson, the tournament favorite, and Marvin Harris.

All matches were played in the first flight yesterday. Joe Key beat D. M. Dickey, 2-1. Bill Speed beat Grover Austin, 2-up. Fred Neslage beat Hal McCray 4-3. Mick Prigmore beat Warren Fathere, 4-3. Carl Show beat Virgil LaSalle 7-6. F. E. Hoffman beat Burk Jay, 1-up. Charlie Thut beat Frank Blackstone, 1-up, and Bill Smith beat Frank Shotwell 4-3.

In the second flight, A. D. Graham beat Walt Wade, 1-up, in the feature match of the day. The two had to go 21 holes before Graham pulled ahead.

Other second flight winners were W. B. Weathered, A. H. England, R. A. Baker and Al Prigmore. Matches between Bill Crowson and Jack Hanna, Frank Lang and Max Pressnell and Matt Loney and H. V. McCorkle have not yet been played.

In the third flight, one player has already gone into the third round of play. DeLea Vicars and Skeet Sherrod each drew byes in the first round and Vicars defeated Sherrod 2-up in their second round match.

Other third flight winners were H. J. Coombs, L. E. L. Atkins (bye), Hoyt Rice and W. R. Putty. Matches between L. L. G. Stratton and Doctor Charles Ashby and between Walt Wanner and L. Col. W. Causey have not been played.

PAAF Flyers Divide 2 With Frederick Team

With several new faces in the line-up, the Pampa army air field Flyers baseball team defeated the Frederick AAF Falcons in the first of two games there, 8 to 0, but lost the second 7 to 4.

It was the Flyers' game all the way in the first contest. Walt Petricky led the Falcons to six hits in the first contest as the Flyers solved O. E. McCroery's offerings for 14 hits.

Louis Hoover, new Flyer center-fielder, was the hitting star of the first game as he smashed four hits in five times at bat. Herschel Evans, another new addition, hit three times in five official times at the plate.

Littleton (Ish) Henry got two for five in the first game including a two-run homer in the third. Homer Durden, whose average has risen from less than .200 to a neat .262 in the last ten games, smashed a triple in the first inning of the first contest, scoring Malcolm Mick.

In the second game, the Flyers could do nothing with the class of the Falcons' hurling staff. Snyder, as they got exactly four hits off of the left-hander.

Snyder hurled hitless ball until the first inning and after that still showed good control. Mike Creek started on the mound for the Flyers and stayed around long enough to be charged with the loss. Magana relieved and brought things under control.

Four Flyer errors in the second game contributed to Pampa's downfall.

The PAAF nine's next contests will be with Big Spring AAF there next week-end. Big Spring was scheduled to play here several weeks ago but the games were cancelled.

The Flyers have now won seven of their last ten games, losses being two to Amarillo field and the other to the Falcons. Their total season records stands at 12 wins and 10 losses.

Phillies vs. Athletics at Shibe Park (night).
Braves vs. Red Sox at Fenway Park.

Merchants Beat Cargary Twice; 3 Games Tonight

With a double victory over the hapless Cargary aggregation Saturday, the Pampa Merchants went into the thick of the battle for first place in the senior softball league.

The PAAF Kimboys tied the Squadron B club for first place yesterday when they beat the PAAF Medics 6 to 3 in nine innings of play.

Sparked by the hitting of Pickering and Parker, who each hit homers, and the pitching of Ripley and Merchants won from Cargary Saturday 8 to 1 and 12 to 6. Ripley allowed four hits in the first game and one in the second to take both contests. It was the Merchants' seventh win.

Three games are scheduled in the league tonight, two at Roadrunner park and the other at Magnolia.

The Knights of Pythias play the Phillips Oilers in the first game at Roadrunner, starting 7 o'clock. The Knights must win this one in order to stay in the running for the first half title.

In the second game, the Communications can pull into a first-division berth with a win over the Medics. They are currently tied with the Junior Oilers for fifth place.

On the Magnolia diamond, the Kimboys will take on the Oilers in the most important struggle for the night, starting at 7 o'clock. Should the Kimboys lose, they would drop into third place behind Squadron B and the Merchants.

The standings:

Team	W	L	Pct.
Squadron B	6	2	.750
Kimboys	6	2	.750
Pampa Merchants	7	3	.700
Phillips Oilers	6	4	.600
Junior Oilers	5	5	.500
Communications	4	4	.500
Odd Fellows	3	5	.429
Phillips 66	3	6	.333
Medics	3	6	.333
Cargary	1	8	.111

California Casuals with a Future

By EPSTIE KINARD
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK Trend-setting styles created by California designers, to show what they intend to do when restrictions are lifted, point to saucier but less bare fashions, and more use of detail to create dressier effects.

Pictured here are four fashions with a present and a future. They were styled by invitation for a Boston preview to show what's coming up from California's top-notch designers.

West Coast Predicts Saucier Trend Away From Bare Beach Fashions

In the ensembled bathing suit and beach coat modeled by movie star Virginia Mayo. As typically California as palm trees are the big brown leaves which cut a slash on chalk white jersey cloth.

The red tulle—more brilliant American—plucked from the California heath—has a future in print, as the midriff cabana dress designed by Fay Poster, shown next, proves. Although more emphasis is put on cover-up, the long skirt is slashed to the knee and midriff breaks are pointed up with black

Pedal pushers of the future—shown are beige-colored rayon with a lumberjack top, trimmed with black braid of Aztec design—are teamed up with matching headpieces to keep hair in place and give you a completely ensembled effect, even on a two-wheeler.

Books of Today

By W. G. ROGERS
50 YEARS OF BEST SELLERS: 1945, by Alice P. Hackett (R. R. Bowker, $3).

My copy of this book is getting dog-eared because I've pored over it so much not only for the sake of this review but also for the excitement of it.

It lacks one thing: an alphabetical index of all authors mentioned. Otherwise, it's a grand idea admirably executed. Miss Hackett sticks to the facts, and what surprising facts they are! Her book belongs on a best-seller list itself.

She has assembled the 100 best-selling titles annually in fiction, non-fiction or both for the half century ending 1944, and added lists of books selling above 500,000 copies in the entire period. She starts with a quotation from Saintsbury to the effect that her concern is not what we ought to have read but what we did read. That is disarming, but the survey is something of a shock.

Best-seller subjects have been the Bible, comics, cook books, crossword puzzles, detective stories, dictionaries, dime novels, etiquette, government publications, juveniles, Shakespeare, textbooks, war books, westerns, poetry—principally Service, Guest, and Longfellow.

On her first list eight of 10 are foreign authors. The first all-American list came in 1906, among the authors were Winston Churchill (not the prime minister), Owen Winter, Robert W. Chambers, Upton Sinclair, Rex Beach, Edith Wharton, Ellen Glasgow. "The Rosary," by Florence Barclay stood first in 1910. "The Eyes of the World," by Harold Bell Wright, first, and "Pollyanna," by Eleanor H. Porter, second in 1914.

Good non-fiction writers won a wider reading than good novelists, though Wolfe, Steinbeck, Remarque, Saroyan, Fallada and Wilder are among annual best sellers.

Unless I erred in checking, these pioneering writers, among others of their stature, failed of the hearing they merited either at the $125 which novels used to cost or to the present double or more: the Americans John Dos Passos, Sherwood Anderson, Theodore Dreiser. If I would have thought "An American Tragedy" a best seller; and among foreigners, Joyce, Malraux, Lawrence, Undset, Prust, Mann.

Billy Buckingham Honored on Birthday

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS.
SEAMROCK, July 9.—Mrs. M. J. Shaffer, hostess, celebrated Billy Buckingham's birthday with a birthday party honoring her son, Billy.

The youngsters were entertained on the lawn with outdoor games. Whistles were given as favors, and the honoree was the recipient of many attractive gifts.

Center of interest for the children was the birthday cake, topped with five candles, and served with ice cream at refreshment time.

Youthful guests at the party included Barbara Sue Bell, Glenda Lee Henderson, Joyce Green, Jenny Ambler, Gerry Hefley, Timmy Tindall, Gerry Dalton and Joy Hefley.

(If you think Japan can't last)

JAPAN has been thought of generally as a short-war nation—lacking the resources for a long one. But take a look at just one Japanese hide-away, just one—Manchuria. The Japs grabbed it from China in 1931. It's more than twice as big as Germany. About 60 times as big as Massachusetts. It has one of the richest soils in the world—producing vast quantities of wheat, corn, soy beans, rice, food. It is rich in coal, magnesite, iron, metals. It is forested with great areas of trees for lumber. What have the Japs been doing here in this lush and ample land? They have been hustling—for 14 years. They have industrialized Manchuria beyond belief. They have developed its railways, its vast forests, its great mines. They have built huge power plants and factories and mills. They have made Manchuria a mighty arsenal. From its mills pour foods and shoes and clothing. From its factories roll planes and guns and tanks. How much? How many? No one can say. But much and many—enough to keep Japan at war for years. And bear in mind, this is just one Japanese hide-away—just one bustling corner of an empire that is 5,000 miles long and 3,000 miles wide. Just one of Japan's arsenals—twice as big as all Germany. Can Japan fight a long war? Well—we leave it to you.

And says General Joseph W. Stilwell—
"The Jap is a shrewd soldier and a tricky enemy. His fighting tricks are countless. He has been learning them for years under the constant, unrelenting system that makes him such a dangerous opponent. The Jap is a tough, determined soldier. Japs will not surrender in masses like the Germans. We must even count on fanatical opposition from the civilian population."

New Styles for Sailors? If Senator William Langer has his way, you won't be hearing that "Bell-Bottom Trousers" song much longer. For the gentleman from North Dakota would remove said trousers from the United States navy, substituting another style of course.

It is a bit odd, come to think of it, that not only we and the British but most other countries, should cling so long to an antique pattern of clothing for one branch of the armed services. Armies change their uniforms with every war, and frequently in between.

This doesn't apply to navy officers. Their outfits have undergone considerable change in late years. Today we see them in blues, whites, khakis and those new slate (or bus-driver) grays, in gold braid and black braid that goes all the way around the sleeve or only half-way, depending on how dressed up the officer is.

At any rate, Senator Langer will probably hear some strong dissenting opinions. There are sure to be a number of traditionalists who know just when the big first appeared on the jumper, and why those back-lashed, side-entrance trousers have instead creases down the sides instead of a knife-edge press front and center, in the 20th Century manner.

There is also sure to be a representation of bobby-soxers who never heard of Lord Nelson, but who are just crazy about sailors and who think that those suits are just too cute. However, Senator Langer will certainly find a lot of people on his side, too. Some may object to the slightly feminine lines and associations of the jumper, since it wasn't many years ago that the "middy blouse" was standard equipment for all school girls.

And there may be others who will not object to tradition or association, but will hold that the uniform isn't universally becoming. On a young, well-built, broad-shouldered man, it can look very fetching. But our present wartime navy has grown to the point where it can't limit itself to young, well-built lads.

Navy personnel now includes some seamens who have grown a bit bald and paunchy, and whose slightly had to lean back in their chairs. But our present wartime navy has grown to the point where it can't limit itself to young, well-built lads.

BONDS KILL JAPS ODT Says No More Wooden Barges Used

Discontinuance of the use of emergency wooden barges in the water-rail transportation of heavy fuel oil between Texas refineries and Norfolk, Va., was announced today by the Office of Defense Transportation. The fuel oil was transported by barges from Texas ports over the Gulf Intracoastal Canal to Panama City, Fla., and from there by rail to Norfolk.

The use of tankers, now temporarily available for the Atlantic Coast trade, has made the need for wooden barges unnecessary at this time, the ODT said. Lawrence C. Turner, director of ODT's Waterways Transport Department in Washington, said that the use of wooden barges was purely a wartime emergency caused by the withdrawal of tankers from domestic service and the shortage of material to build steel barges. In spite of some difficulties, it was said, wooden barges have given a satisfactory performance in the limited service for which they were designed.

Answering Defenders of State Education The usual question that defenders of state education think will stump those who believe that the state cannot educate the youth of the land is this:

Why does England and some other countries where education has been very limited have a lower standard of living than we do in the United States where we have had more state supported education?

Let's take England first. In the first place, England does not have the natural resources which we have. They have a small country and are obliged to bring most of their natural resources thousands of miles by boat. This energy cannot be used in producing things as fast as it can be used in the United States. England thus must exchange with far off lands much more than we must because of her limited resources.

Again England is in close proximity to other countries that know how to produce goods which we are not. England is obliged to devote a larger part of her energy in defending herself against outside aggression than the people of the United States are obliged to do. This keeps her production down.

Again the free enterprise system in England was not as competitive as it was in the United States. It was no Sherman Anti-Trust law in England that prevented different businesses from combining and fixing prices. This caused the entrepreneurs to be inefficient while America they had to be more efficient to survive. In England they had the right to combine to fix prices while here it was illegal in interstate commerce industries.

Again England has a king and seven hundred earls, dukes, counts and nobles that the "subjects" must maintain in luxury and magnificence.

Again their belief in these overlords retards their commerce and injures the overlords themselves. They have the belief that some men are more important than others without their consent. We had less of this after we freed the slaves excepting in public education.

Then again in the early part of our history we were not bothered with this might make right educational system. Again there were no tariffs between states so we in the United States could be more free from Government restrictions. And this great blessing was put into our Constitution by men who received their education from private sources.

BONDS KILL JAPS These are some of the reasons why America has a higher standard of living than England. It is not because of public supported schools, but in spite of them. As to other countries having a lower standard of living where they are educated by religious groups, the answer is something to this effect: Any country where one organized religious group gets control invariably do not properly educate the people. When this happens and there is no competition in religious organizations people are taught to worship dogmas and organizations rather than principles. It is competition in education that produces desirable results and not any other kind of religious organization or of the state.

The National Whirligig

WASHINGTON By RAY TUCKER "IRITATIONS" — Russo-American relations have not been improved by victory claims advanced in the Information Bulletin, an official report on Russian affairs published three times a week here by the Embassy of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. Its main thesis is that the Red Army, almost alone, was responsible for the defeat of Germany.

Unfortunately, the seemingly excessive credit given to Marshal Zhukov's forces irritates the very groups among the United Nations who have been Moscow's chief admirers and apostles — the military men of Britain, the United States, France, etc.

Our diplomats and economists have been constant critics of Stalin's ultra-aggressive policies, but our battlefield experts came back from Europe with unstinted enthusiasm for the Russians' fighting ability. General Ike Eisenhower has frequently declared that, based on his contact with their representatives, "we can get along with Russia in the postwar era."

OMISSIONS — The Information Bulletin, among other major omissions, makes no mention of the vast supplies the Russians received from the United States under lend-lease arrangements, including food and dismantled factories as well as heavy artillery and explosives.

It refers to the Anglo-American invasion of France in only a passing phrase, and has nothing to say of the descent on Italy, which tied up from thirty to forty Nazi divisions at the very moment when the Reds were hard pressing on the Ukrainians. The document also contains some severe ideological cracks at "reactionaries" in other lands.

One paragraph carries only a thinly veiled jibe at our War Department's early estimates of Russian military strength. Recalling that "some" said Germany would knock out the Soviet in a few weeks," the publication paraphrases a prediction ventured by a Stimsonian spokesman at a "background" press conference held here only a few days after Hitler attacked Russia on June 22, 1941.

SIGNIFICANCE — "Now that Hitler Germany has been defeated," continues the Embassy's publication, it becomes clearer than ever that the U. S. S. R. was equal to the gigantic task of exposing the hated enemy of mankind. In no other country were the people so solidly welded, so united through their government, or so conscious of their liberating mission.

We know why it was not able to complete the defeat of Germany at that time (1942). There was no second front in Europe. Hitler could readily transfer dozens of divisions from the west and hurl them against the Soviet Union. The absence of a second front is what saved Germany from disaster in the winter of 1941-42, and what...

enabled her to launch a new offensive against the U. S. S. R. in the summer of 1942. But Stalin had put an end to that. The reverberations of Stalin's war were felt all over Europe, awakening hope and courage in millions. "Until the summer of 1944, the U. S. S. R. fought Germany and her satellites singlehandedly. It not only knocked the spirit out of Hitler's army, but it also gave its Allies, Great Britain and the United States, time to prepare for the opening of the second front, for the invasion of France in the summer of 1944, and for offensive operations in the west.

This official state of mind toward the Soviet Union's admittedly glorious successes on the field of battle has significance now as the Big Three prepares for their next conference and discussion of remaking the world's postwar map. It indicates that Stalin will take no back talk or back seat at any eventual peace table.

GERMANS — The American high command is split wide open over the question of continuing the ban on our occupation forces' fraternization with German civilians. It is still an unsettled issue. General Eisenhower insists that his men must have no communion with unrepentant Nazis and he maintains that he has seen no reform among them since their defeat. He is influenced, naturally, by his surrender dealings with haughty Prussian militarists. Many of his aides, however, have said publicly and privately that they think the prohibition to be unwise.

Commanders of prison camps in this country, especially those in the vicinity of Washington, have presented their evidence on this score. When they found that stinkbombers were being sent to the United States since Hitler's defeat, had begun to work harder, they questioned their charges. The general answer of the P. O. W.'s was as follows:

"Why shouldn't we obey and work hard? We are eating well, are comfortably housed, treated like human beings and get eighty cents a day. For the last eighteen months before capture we received no food, no decent food, were tossed around like dogs by our officers and never had a furlough. We were entirely misinformed about the Americans, and now we are learning differently. Most of our old buddies want to go back because they hate this in the old country. But we young fellows would like to stay here."

The War Department has begun a study and checkup on these reports to determine whether it might not be advisable to expose the home population of the Reich to the same sort of kindly propagandizing treatment. —BONDS KILL JAPS—cord to the Crowley report, the German General Staff evaded its first death sentence by merely moving into a national archives building. To write a history of the war, actually, what they did was make an analysis of why they lost the war. What they found was that there was no defeat in the German war machine, but serious defects in the war economy, so they went to work on that.

Every day 153,000 New Yorkers ride back and forth on the 11 passenger ferry lines across the Hudson River. The ferry service is a vital part of the city's transportation system. It connects the city with the suburbs and the islands in the harbor.

UPTON CLOSE: Military Class May Force New Public Opinion

We have not yet got used to it, but the United States Army and Air Force does now for the first time in its history have a large, continuing professional military class. The thinking of that new American military class, both selfish and unselfish, is going to force a new shape, for better or worse, on the amorphous thing called "public opinion." It may be that the weight of our new professional military class is not yet sufficient to carry a universal training bill through Congress. But it is sufficient to consolidate our foreign policy where that is based upon and entangled with active war. Really, there is no nation in the world that trusts its professional military minds so fully and implicitly in matters in which they are the nation's tool. There has been no real questioning of such as Captain Arthur Eisenhower, or the higher general staff.

Such being the case, a little dip into professional military thinking about "where do we go from Okinawa" is very interesting. I am going to give you below a letter, which I believe is a good example of the way to use, that is, I am convinced, the epitome of the professional soldier's point of view — and a good American professional soldier, too:

"I believe we should give Japan terms, covered with the cloak of unconditional surrender, yet something like to avoid military entanglements with her. In fact, Russia and the USA could very easily push Britain out of the picture as far as world domination goes, but I suppose, as with all imperialistic schemes, this one, too, would only end in a war of our own.

"Russia as a military power seems so far as my limited knowledge goes, to be powerful as well as large, and there is the argument in addition that should we ally ourselves with her we could share with her (while we hold our own) the oil of the Middle East, as well as the other absolutely essential raw materials which the world is in such a desperate need of. The preparation for the professional fighter, is seen in Britain's careful conservation of manpower in the German war and now even more in the Japanese war. It is a question of how to win the war with the least bloodshed and the least expenditure of money. The preparation for the professional fighter, is seen in Britain's careful conservation of manpower in the German war and now even more in the Japanese war. It is a question of how to win the war with the least bloodshed and the least expenditure of money.

"The days of idealism and wishing have passed. The San Francisco conference has high-lighted the dominating trend of post-World War II, which is a struggle between two, three, and eventually four, big powers for as much control as soon as possible. The preparation for the professional fighter, is seen in Britain's careful conservation of manpower in the German war and now even more in the Japanese war. It is a question of how to win the war with the least bloodshed and the least expenditure of money.

"As the CAMERA MOVES IN, MILDRED BRINGLE, a pretty girl of about 18, is leaning gloomily over the counter, her chin propped in her fist. Near her, with her back momentarily to the camera, is CORLISS ARCHER. Corliiss is carefully stacking cartons in which to wrap merchandise, and when it is sold, both girls are wearing attractive, simple summer dresses.

"MILDRED: (gloomily) Gosh, Corliiss, nobody's even looked at 'em in hours. Corliiss now turns into the Camera, and we see that she is a very pretty girl who appears to be about the same age as Mildred. Actually, she's only fifteen and a half.

"CORLISS: (bitterly) What's the matter with people, Mildred? Haven't they any patriotism? A little boy of about 12, neatly dressed and intelligent, strolls into the shop and lounges up to the booth. This is RAYMOND, Mildred's kid brother. Mildred pays no attention to him, but Corliiss waves him away.

"CORLISS: Go away, Raymond. RAYMOND: (frankly derisive) Want me to call a cop to hold back the crowds? Corliiss turns to Mildred. CORLISS: Mildred, will you please ask your ghastly little brother to go away? MILDRED: (severely) Raymond Pringle, go back to your own booth and don't bother people! RAYMOND: Okay, okay. Raymond saunters out of the shop. Several patrons stroll past, but despite the expectant, hopeful smiles of the girls, pay no attention to them. Suddenly Corliiss, glancing off in the direction which Raymond took, gets an inspiration.

I believe they should — whatever politicians or hope-for-the-besters may say. No doubt, if you publish this viewpoint every Russophile in our country will yell and pounce upon it like stuck tigers, but any Russian general would smile calmly and impersonally drink a toast with us to the winner in the eventual contest between giants.

There it is so mild so Russian, but the permission of the writer of this professional military viewpoint to use his name. But I am going to protect him. His forthrightness is to be cherished, not thrown to the wolves.

Now, against this philosophy, what is the logical strategy for MacArthur and for Stilwell's seven million men in Far East Asia, from this point on? Logically, it is to refrain from offering any terms, or receiving terms from Japan under Shantung and on the Shanynung peninsula, and large American forces can be pushed up the Chinese railway system to the Great Wall of China. There is no other way to prevent all of North China, if not all of China, from falling into the occupation of Russian forces. If by that time, Russia shall have occupied Manchuria, there will be nothing for us to do except leave that great area of China, plus Korea, to become adjuncts of the U. S. S. R., but there will still be enough of China to build national strength south of the Great Wall. And Japan, if she then chooses to surrender to us, or if we offer her terms, can still be kept out of Russia's sphere. The problem is actually parallel with that in Europe, where the Russian army, if it is to be a Russian army, controlled, to remain so as long as Russia shall remain the second power on the globe.

It might be that Japanese forces

World Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE AP Foreign News Analyst

One of the most interesting spectacles of the weekend has been that of Japan's notorious Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura doing a bit of vigorous fishing in the peace pool.

Nomura is by way of being an expert on peace — that is, on some aspects of it. He's the fellow who was in Washington as the Mikado's special envoy, talking peace and expressing Nippon's deep affection for Uncle Sam, when the Japs made their treacherous attack at Pearl Harbor. His name is deeply engraved on American memory.

The admiral — casting a long line in the hope of hooking a bit of information — says the Allies' policy of unconditional surrender is only costing them higher casualties. He admits there's no sign that they are suffering from war-weariness, but declared: "As long as the enemy asks for Japan's unconditional surrender she will have to shed blood proportionate to the time and intensity of each battle."

Nomura has been about a bit and isn't silly enough to think that any such statement would affect the Allied war program. Undoubtedly he's trying to draw from the Allies some further, more concrete, declaration as to what "unconditional surrender" entails. Why? Well, because Japan knows that she is beaten and she is looking about to see what can be salvaged from the wreckage.

Things must indeed look black to Tokyo. The home land is virtually isolated by Allied naval and air blockade. Japan cannot feed her food crisis. We are just hitting our stride in an aerial bombardment which will be more terrible than anything the world has seen.

This past weekend also has marked the eighth anniversary of China's struggle against the Japanese barbarism — and it finds the Chinese at long last leading out of the woods. Tokyo will have noted that this anniversary was the occasion of Prime Minister Churchill's renewal of the pledge that Britain will concentrate all her efforts in cooperation with the Allies to achieve final victory in the Pacific. France, too, promised her help.

Meantime there is a widespread impression among observers abroad that the question of Russia's attitude towards coming into the war against Japan will be discussed at the forthcoming conference of the Big Three in Berlin. No wonder Tokyo is anxious about peace terms.

BONDS KILL JAPS Because of its very immensity it was convinced in 1940 that Germany's victory was definitive, so I became a collaborator. — George Claude, 75, on trial in Paris on charge of intelligence with enemy.

pass over the issue of supplying food and fuel for the districts occupied by the Americans and British still was unsettled and the possibility that the Big Three might have to resolve it.

Col. Frank Howley, chief of the military government of the United States occupation zone, declared last night he expected the major powers to decide within a few days on an overall plan of government for Berlin, but he disclaimed personal knowledge of the immediate issues of food and fuel.

Earlier American and British sources asserted that unless they have control over the food and fuel situation in their respective zones there can be no real British and American military governments in the German capital.

The issue was viewed by American and British officials as so serious that withdrawal by the Western Allies from Berlin may be considered unless a practical solution is reached.

The question to be decided was whether the areas of Berlin taken over by the British and Americans shall receive food from the Western-held outskirts, where British-American experts say the German capital normally gets most of its thority to use military force to prevent war, could not insure the peace "if men and women have no security in their homes and in their jobs."

He said the economic and social council proposed under the new league has power to study, report and recommend action toward "translating humanitarian aspirations into human gains."

Explaining the charter in some detail, Settinus said he did not consider it "a perfect instrument." He felt, he said, that as time goes on democratic principles and techniques will gain headway in the international field.

Settinus emphasized that the war and navy departments "have certified that they are of the opinion that the military and strategic implications of the charter as a whole are in accord with the security interests of the United States."

While he was testifying before the committee, the White House made public Settinus's 50,000-word report to Mr. Truman on the San Francisco conference. In it Settinus reviewed the projected organization and then wrote:

"The battle of peace has to be fought on two fronts. The first is the security front where victory spells freedom from fear. The second is the economic and social front where victory means freedom from want."

"Only victory on both fronts can assure the world of an enduring peace."

was no soldier. He reported he had nothing to do with the group officially.

Nevertheless a few days later the telegram came from Berlin saying the execution is "du vollziehen." ("To be carried out.") This telegram was signed by Ernst Kaltenbrunner, who was Himmler's right hand man and chief of the German security police (the is held by the Allies).

That same day, according to the interpreter, the men were told to change their uniforms for prison garb and were led down to the execution room.

William Ornstel, a Polish Jewish prisoner whose duty it was to remove the bodies from the execution chamber, recalled the execution of Morton flew to Slovakia Oct. 7, 1944, from Italy in one of six Flying Fortresses sent to evacuate a group of fliers massed at a landing strip in the hands of Czechoslovak partisans near Banska Bystrica.

Morton wrote a short story about the evacuated fliers and sent it back with the planes, which left about a half hour after landing. Morton then remained in Banska Bystrica with the rescue mission.

The Germans were counter-attacking heavily against Czechoslovak forces at the time and the front was collapsing.

The German advance was so swift that the group decided to withdraw into the lower Tartra mountains and head for the Russian lines, reported to be only five miles away.

Through an almost continuous rain and sleet the party moved up into the mountains.

On Oct. 31 Morton and the others were in the Brasiva region and joined with Czechoslovak patriots in a march toward the Russian lines.

During this trek, Morton never lost his faith that eventually the party would reach safety. He helped raise the morale of the entire group, said one of its members who cannot yet be named.

Rev. Plunk Is Named New Canadian Minister

CANADIAN, July 9—Rev. Troy Plunk, formerly of Stratford, is the new minister of the First Christian church here.

The ministry was left vacant last February upon the resignation of Rev. C. Edward Prain. Since that time the church has been without a minister and Rev. J. E. Dennis of Amarillo has filled the pulpit.

Reverend Plunk and family will move to Canadian this week.

These experts said it would be impractical for the Western Allies to truck in supplies from hundreds of miles away.

Judge Stennis

Gray county citizens went away from the show with a greater appreciation of the invaluable job our infantry is doing.

Sales picked up, for, until the last day of the drive, many citizens would remark, "you know, I still remember that Infantry gang that was here. Write me up another bond." Some people say that it's too bad that we must resort to such "high-powered" promotions to sell war bonds, that too much advertising is done in both the press and radio.

Perhaps this is true, but the fearless committee that has worked faithfully through all these drives has found that without them to keep us constantly reminded, we fail to respond as readily.

One of the outstanding highlights of the drive was the personal appearance of J. Norman Lodge, famous Associated Press correspondent, who visited Pampa under the sponsorship of The Pampa News and Radio Station KPND. Lodge brought the war and its up-to-date meaning more forcefully home here in Pampa than has any person to appear here.

It is with satisfaction that I point out and commend the constant information program of Radio Station KPND, with a total of a third of all broadcast time during the drive given to the information of buying war bonds and the outstanding job done by this station on promotion of "Here's Your Infantry."

The Pampa News has at times, to my own personal knowledge, crippled their production schedule (due to the paper shortage) to keep fresh, live news and information of the drive before our citizenry not only for Gray county but for the eleven surrounding counties.

As this has been a county-wide job, I call attention to the spirit and cooperation of the McLean News with its rationed space that has been given so freely.

We especially salute our women's clubs, civic organizations, our churches and our ministers of these churches who have given support and constant voice to the drive.

We wish it were possible to personally shake hands in gesture of our appreciation of the fine job so many have done during this 7th War Loan Drive. Thank You.

rest on orders of the branch camp commander, Lt. Albert I. Cornell.

In New Orleans, Bertucci's widow mother said an army officer who notified her of the incident expressed the opinion the soldier had gone "berserk."

A board of inquiry interviewed Bertucci, officers and men at the camp and prisoners, Bertucci's story, however, was not disclosed.

Bertucci will be held in custody, Ericsson added, pending consideration of the inquiry board's report.

Cornell said he was at work in his office near the guard tower when the first burst of machine-gun fire sounded. He raced to a window, then out of doors as a second burst was fired. Just as he reached the base of the guard tower a third burst of machine-gun fire rang out.

Bertucci was stationed with a field artillery unit in England for eight months but saw no battle action, Ericsson said.

Condition of eight of the wounded was said to be serious.

Arrangements were made for a delegation of prisoners to attend funeral services for their slain comrades at Fort Douglas.

Military officials said Bertucci had been subjected to three disciplinary actions, once for being absent without leave, once for refusing guard duty and once for missing a train. His sentences ranged up to three months.

At Washington, the War Department said Bertucci's service record showed two courts martial. The first was a summary court martial in January, 1944, while he was stationed in England on a charge that he "left his proper station" and he was restricted to the company area for two months as a penalty. In January of this year he was given a special court martial for failure to do guard duty at Camp McLean, Texas, and was sentenced to three months confinement at hard labor.

FEPC Now Has Congress in One Of Worst Snarls

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP) — Congress is in one of its worst snarls trying to kill—or keep alive—the fair employment practice committee (FEPC).

The fight involves congressional rules, committee procedure and strong feelings. The technicalities are too involved to explain fully here. But here's an outline.

The FEPC and other war agencies were created by order of President Roosevelt strictly on a wartime basis. FEPC was intended to prevent discrimination—because of color, race or creed—against workers seeking war jobs.

The agencies get money on a fiscal basis.

Before a bill to give the war agencies money for another year can get out on the floor for a vote, it must go through the House Appropriations committee. This committee approved money for a bunch of wartime agencies but left out FEPC.

Then the bill went to the senate for approval there. It had to go first to the appropriations committee of the senate, which was not satisfied with what the house had done, sent the bill to the senate floor with a recommendation to include the wartime FEPC with the other wartime agencies.

Determined to keep FEPC out and kill the agency, Mississippi's two democratic senators, Bilbo and Eastland, began a four-day filibuster against voting money for FEPC.

The other senators finally worked out a compromise. FEPC said it needed $500,000 to continue. The senators voted it only $250,000. Then the senate version of the bill went back to the house.

House opponents would not let the bill containing money for FEPC get to a house vote.

It went back to the rules committee to get a special ruling that would permit the house to vote. It got hung up in the rules committee.

Finally, the speaker of the house sent the whole bill back to the house appropriations committee which drew up an entirely new bill. This bill was really the same bill which the house passed before the senate got a chance to add the FEPC. The house appropriations committee again left out FEPC and sent the bill back to the house floor for action.

Friends of FEPC managed to knock out 10 of the other wartime agencies included in the bill. The another big rubber plant was averted as normal operations were resumed at the B. F. Goodrich company after a week's shutdown for machinery overhaul.

Pickets stopped employes from entering Goodrich mill four last night but workers were on their jobs this morning after a union leader termed the action unauthorized.

The Goodyear Tire and Rubber company's five Akron plants, employing 16,700, have been under navy operation since their seizure Thursday. The Firestone Tire & Rubber company, with 16,500, has been strikebound since July 1. Workers are members of the CIO United Rubber Workers.

The number idle in the rubber industry is the largest group among the thousands off the job over the nation in labor disputes.

The Goodyear and Firestone disputes resulted from collapse of contract negotiations.

Impending bonus cuts on a base pay of 3 1/2 cents hourly brought a note of maritime discontent into the labor picture but CIO National Maritime Union leaders said war vital shipping would not be impeded.

The maritime union's fifth biennial convention in New York voted to picket offices of the war shipping administration throughout the country, protesting cuts which become effective July 15.

These reductions would cut bonuses to 33 1-3 percent of base pay.

idea was: If FEPC isn't included, then the others can't get money either.

Now the bill goes back to the senate again.

Another Crime Credited to Hitler

BERLIN, July 9 (AP) — The Rev. Peter Buchholz, Catholic chaplain at the Berlin Plötzensee jail, said today that Adolf Hitler personally ordered religious ministrations denied to the Junkers, generals and others who were hanged for the bomb plot of July, 1944, on Hitler's life.

Only as they walked to the gallows, Father Buchholz said, were the condemned men allowed to hear a few last comforting words from him and his Protestant colleague, Chaplain Poelscher.

As Father Buchholz told the story of some 90 Germans executed at Plötzensee alone, his face revealed what he had gone through watching field marshals, generals, diplomats, and high ranking figures hanged, eight in a row, because they tried to rid Germany of Hitler.

That's our business—to install telephones and furnish telephone service. We'd much rather put in telephones for all those waiting than put this ad in the paper. But there is still no choice. Of course, the end of the war in Europe brings us closer to the day when everyone who wants telephone service can get it without delay.
