Former Pampan 100-Millionth To Cross Golden Gate Bridge

Jess Hess and family, en route to Pampa to visit friends and relatives, got a prize for driving the 100-millionth car across the Golden Gate Bridge near San Francisco recently, according to a San Francisco newspaper account.

The Hesses were leisurely touring California on a vacation trip from their home in Benton City, Wash., when they rolled across the bridge.

The toll keeper refused to take their 40 cents and a man standing beside him asked Hess to pull over to the side of the road. Then, to the Hess family's amazement, James E. Ricketts, the bridge manager, presented them with a framed photograph of the bridge with the Danish sailing vessel Denmark passing underneath and a book relating the history of the bridge.

Perryton Lays Plans For Reunion

PERRYTON — Residents of Ochiltree and adjoining countries who have lived in this section for 40 years—or since 1912, will be honored guests at the Old Timers Reunion being held on August 30 in connection with the first annual North Plains Fair at Perryton, Aug. 29-30.

Those who have lived in Ochiltree, Lipscomb, Hemphill, Roberts, Hansford, Beaver or Cimarron counties since 1900 will be given a special badge.

Headquarters for the Old Timers Reunion will be at the Ochiltree courthouse. Registration will begin at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, August 30.

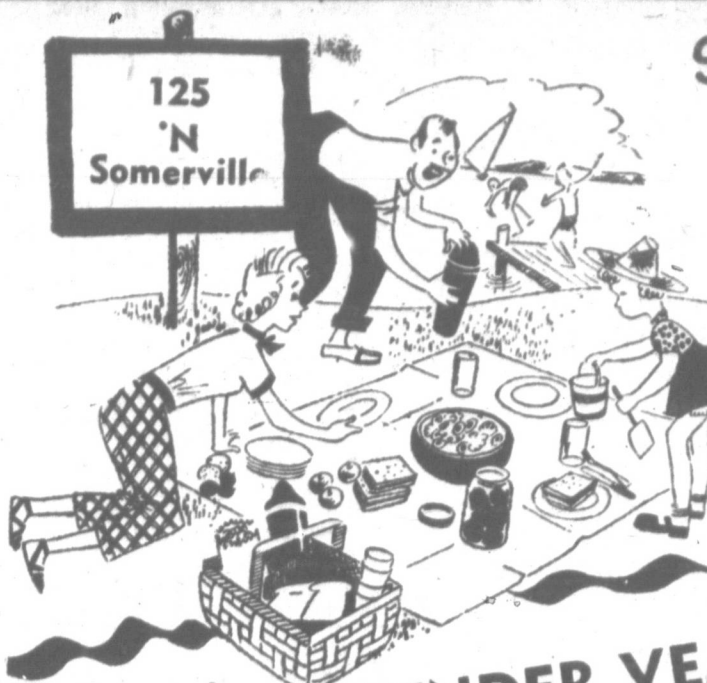

D.D. Taliaferro, who lived on Wolf Creek before the turn of the century, is chairman of the committee making arrangements for the reunion. All old timers who have lived in this section long enough to qualify are cordially invited to attend and be the guests of Perryton on August 30.

The bridge was opened to motor traffic May 28, 1937 and the 50 millionth car was driven across it five years ago by a San Francisco housewife heading for Mill Valley.

Ricketts predicted that, at the rate traffic is increasing—about a million cars each year—the 200 million mark will be reached in about seven years, some time in 1959.

Before continuing to Pampa, the Hess family planned to drive through San Francisco's China town and go to Grover City near San Luis Obispo.

Besides Mr. and Mrs. Hess, the family includes Bobby Jean, 17, Jerrol Dean, 11, and Judy, 3. They are to be in Pampa within the next 10 days and will go from here to Hugoton, Kan., to visit with his mother, Mrs. Ella Hess. Hess was employed with a local oil company for a number of years.

Beware Lightning In The Summertime
NEW YORK (AP) — Lightning takes about 300 lives a year, says the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. in warning that summertime is the period of greatest danger.

About one fourth of all the deaths from lightning occur among persons who seek shelter under or near trees, say Metropolitan statisticians. After striking a tree a bolt may flash sideways or it may run along the ground killing anyone in its path.

Some of the activities lightning victims were engaged in when struck were: lurching in a wooded area, playing baseball in an open field, fishing in boats on open water, working in fields, gathering in the family washing from clothesline attached to trees, standing on a porch or swimming.

Four Broken Arms
CENTRALIA, Ill. (AP) — A mother and daughter have been sharing their breaks — first one arm then another.

Shirley Underwood, 11, of Centralia broke her right arm in a fall from a horse. A few months later her mother, Dorothy, 29, broke her left arm at a skating rink. Her cast was barely off when she slipped on her own rug and broke her left arm. Three days later Shirley — with the same horse at the same place as before — fell and broke her left arm.

Despite Incumbents' Defeats, Politicos See No Trend Yet

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
WASHINGTON (AP) — Veteran Sen. Kenneth McKeller (D-Tenn.) and Sen. Owen Brewster (R-Maine) have gone down to defeat in 1952 primaries.

So have Democrat governors Sid McMath of Arkansas, a favorite of President Truman, and Gordon Browning of neighboring Tennessee, as well as six members of the U.S. House, including Rep. Fred L. Crawford (R-Mich.), a nine-term member.

At first glance, these defeats would appear to indicate the cry, "it's time for a change," is bearing fruit; that the voters are being unusually rough on the "ins" regardless of party.

Comparison with other years, however, shows this is not necessarily the case. Party leaders say the primaries to date show no particular trend against incumbents. The number of officeholders rejected by the voters is about the same as on the comparable date in 1948.

So, if this is to be a bad year for the federal and state jobholders, as some political observers have predicted, it looks as if the November returns will have to be awaited for a definite answer. That's where the greatest turnover always occurs anyway.

Few local elections are held in even-numbered years. Thus, political field to check for degree of casualties among mayors, sheriffs and other county officeholders.

As in most primaries for Congress and governor so far, the decisions have been made largely on personalities and state issues.

Therefore, there has been no attempt to detect any shift for or against either major party, though the Republicans have lost only one senator and one House member as against Democrat losses of one senator, two governors and five representatives.

Defeat of the 83-year-old McKeller, dean of the Senate who was seeking a record-breaking seventh term, by the 44-year-old Rep. Albert Gore was another setback for Memphis political leader E. H. Crump. But Crump showed he was still to be reckoned with as an influence in state-wide politics. His candidate for governor, Frank C. Clement, 32, turned back Gov. Jim McCord and circuit Judge John A. Mitchell, were defeated Browning's bid for a third term.

This was Crump's first come-back try since his candidates, Gov. Browning and Sen. Estes Keauver in 1948 gubernatorial and Senate primaries.

Brewster, seeking his third six-year term as the Senate's fifth ranking Republican, was beaten in June by Gov. Frederick G. Payne in the closest, bitterest primary in Maine in 30 years.

The 63-year-old Brewster supported Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio for the Republican presidential nomination, and Payne was backer of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, but the presidential angle didn't figure in the primary fight.

Brewster claimed the big issue was his support of the Taft-Hartley Act. The AFL League for Political Education endorsed Payne.

Lt. Gov. McKain of Arkansas was seeking a third term when the primary axe fell last Tuesday. County Judge Francis A. Cherry, a political newcomer who adopted the new "talkathon" radio question-and-answer technique.

About 42 per cent of U.S. farms were operated by tenants in 1935 compared with about 27 per cent in 1950 according to U.S. Census Bureau figures.

McMath was swamped with a 100,000 vote majority. He promised "an honest, clean and decent government" while charging the administration of the Truman-endorsed McMath was "the most corrupt" in Arkansas history.

Alvin M. Bentley, another political neophyte and member of a wealthy manufacturing family with Corp. set back the veteran Rep. Crawford in Michigan. State political experts say he apparently won by beating the business for votes while Crawford did no more than nominal campaigning.

Democratic casualties in the House were Rep. Edward de Gra-

Nominees for 14 of 35 Senate seats and 105 of 435 House memberships have yet to be selected, but indications are the incumbents will come through in most cases. Eleven gubernatorial nominations have yet to be made.

Commenting on the primary results so far, spokesmen at the Democratic and Republican National Committees said there is nothing to indicate any trend against the "ins."

C-R-R-R-R!—The Democrats are in for a tough battle, judging by the look and gestures of Republican presidential candidate Dwight D. Eisenhower. At his Denver headquarters, he was telling National GOP Committeeman C. Wayland Brooks, of Chicago, how hard he plans to fight for November 4 victory.

Paris Parks Passed Oil Production High

PARIS (AP) — Paris has a parks and gardens system unique among world capitals — and Parisians appreciate it less than anybody.

This is the disillusioned opinion of the man who looks after Paris' 7,400 acres of gardens and parks. Robert Joffet, conservator in chief of the city's green spaces, thinks little Parisians should be taught flower and tree appreciation in their schools, and he is ready to supply material for the courses.

Tourists grow lyrical over Paris' chestnut trees, but ask Joffet what is the Parisian's favorite tree, and he shrugs: "frankly, they hardly know one from another. The French haven't a proper love of flowers and they don't respect their parks and gardens."

Nevertheless, Paris has slightly more than one tree for every

Bumper Crop Hoped

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Despite the threat of a locust plague, Syrian agricultural authorities are predicting a bumper harvest of wheat and barley.

The Ministry of Agriculture recently announced that Syria's crop could be harvested before the locust threat could materialize.

It is estimated that Syria will produce nearly 800,000 tons of wheat this year, leaving approximately 250,000 tons for export. Barley is expected to reach 250,000 tons, with 1,000 tons for export.

First American crop of soybeans was grown in 1884 by a James Mense, a Pennsylvania farmer.

10 Parisians, and the parks people every year put out one new plant for every two Parisians.

Noses Not Niceties

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — Plastic surgeons here will hand you a new nose for as little as $6.

The plastic surgeons who often operate through "nasty" noses, lead prospective clients up the garden path with ads which hint that you, too, can look like Gary Cooper or Ingrid Bergman — provided you get an overhaul job on that nose. Multi-Million Dollar Federal Payroll Climbs Despite Axe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress waved the familiar old economy axe—and, this time, actually did some chopping with it. Orators shouted that an ever-growing army of bureaucrats was bankrupting the country. Ordinary citizens groaned as they paid the bill in their income taxes.

And yet: Upward and upward crept the multi-billion-dollar federal payroll in the past year—to a new post-war two peak of 2,596,690 employees drawing a total of approximately $ 1.2 billion dollars in salary and wages.

This was an increase of 112,999 employees in 12 months. And, barring an unexpected halt in the rearmament program, the end was not in sight. As of June 30, the end of the past fiscal year, one out of every 38 U.S. citizens 21 years of age or older, was working for the government; working, that is, as a civilian—these figures don't include men and women in military uniform.

They do, however, include civilian employees of the armed forces—and that's where the big increase in the last year came.

Mechanics, steelworkers, payroll clerks—these and dozens of other types of employees of the defense establishment totaled well over half of all government workers at the end of fiscal 1952. They outnumbered employees of civilian agencies—with the single exception of the postoffice—actually began dropping off the federal payroll.

If you've been complaining about your mail service, you know the reason for the increase in postal workers—there's more mail to be handled than the previous force of clerks and carriers could cope with.

More Comfort Wearing FALSE TEETH

Here is a pleasant way to overcome those plate discomforts. FAS-TEETH, an improved powder, spritzed on upper and lower plates holds them firmly so that they feel more comfortable. No gummy, sooty, sticky taste or feeling. It's alkaline (non-acid). Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FAS-TEETH today at any drug store.

The chief reason: an increase in the letter-writing population of the United States, with new neighborhoods springing up on the outskirts of practically every city. Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) and other foes suggested that the load on the carrier's back would be lightened if federal agencies would cut down on the volume of mimeographed handouts they send through the mail.

Anyway, the postoffice added 26,541 employees last year, bringing its total to 523,822, while other civilian agencies were slashing their staffs by a total of 14,113 employees.

This was a see-saw affair, with some agencies handing out pink slips while others were recruiting new help. The Commerce Department, for instance, lopped 3,268 off its payroll while the Economic Stabilization Agency was adding 6,923. Of late, with less price-enforcing to do, ESA has been firing people, too.

The Truman administration claims credit for much of the staff reduction in non-defense agencies. President Truman promised in his budget message last January that government activities not related to defense would be cut to the bone.

Republicans in Congress, with backing of many Democrats, hooted at the thought of the Truman administration saving the taxpayers' money.

Congress proceeded to slash some six billion dollars from the President's requests for funds to run the government—but that mostly will affect civilian agencies in the present fiscal year.

In addition, two further curbs have been in effect: One, sponsored by Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.), limits money for salaries and expenses of government workers to 90 per cent of what the President asked.

The other, sponsored by Byrd, cut by 25 per cent the President's requests for funds to pay "publicly experts, their assistants, and those engaged in related supporting activities such as typing, mimeographing, mailing, and so forth."

This was a highly popular proposal among members of Congress who contend the administration is spending millions each year in turning out propaganda intended to keep itself in office at the taxpayers' expense.

The administration's answer is that it's only keeping the public informed about government activities.

Be that as it may, in spite of administration "cutting to the bone" and congressional efforts to extend the cutting to the marrow, the federal payroll kept on going up.

Its 2,596,690 employees at the end of the last fiscal year compared with these other totals: 1,968,400 when war broke out in Korea, in June, 1950.

Thus the increase since Korean fighting began is 628,290.

What do all these people do? President Truman gave a rundown in his last speech to the National Civil Service League. Seventy-eight per cent, he said, postoffice and Veterans Administration for the Defense Department, that he went on to say:

"The remaining 22 per cent perform all the other functions of the government—staffing such vital agencies as the FBI and the Atomic Energy Commission, the Soil Conservation Service and reclamation, the employment service and public health."

GI May Not Reach Home By Christmas

WITH 25TH DIVISION, Korea (AP) — Cpl. Ray Bohn of St. Louis, Mo., is due to be rotated in September from the famed Wolfhound Infantry Regiment but he wonders if he will get home by Christmas.

The reason: Back in June he wrote a dozen newspapers asking for mail. He was deluged with about 100 letters a day and from them he has found 25 girl friends who want him to visit them on his way to St. Louis.

How Chrome Plate Is Applied To Fine Metal Furniture

One of the chief reasons for the increasing popularity of metal furniture is its versatility, and some of the credit for that must go to the variety of finishes used. Colorful baked enamel finishes are now used in a variety of interiors, and chrome plating has long been popular in restaurants, offices, hospitals, shops, schools and reception rooms.

Most people associate metal furniture with chrome plating, from the Pacific Coast.

Bohn is studying maps and plans to visit all of them except a girl in Omaha, which he says is too far off his route.

either the conventional bright tubing. Then the base plate, hot chrome or the newer, more luxurious satin chrome. There's a reason for this since chrome plating on tubular steel furniture was first introduced to American industry on a mass production basis in 1933, and since then its popularity has grown by leaps and bounds.

One of the two firms which pioneered chromium-plated tubular furniture in 1933, Royal Metal Manufacturing Co., Chicago, is still a leader in the metal furniture industry. The manner in which this firm produces its quality chrome plating is interesting.

The tubular steel is automatically ground and polished before bending and fabrication into frames and parts. Prior to actual plating, each piece is hand-wiped and subjected to a hot caustic bath to clean it. This process, called "copper flask," actually leaves a slight copper cast on the chrome copper, is applied by immersing the tubular steel in a large tank. The softness of copper permits it to fill in natural pits and microscopic imperfections in the steel, providing a flawless base plate for succeeding coats. After cooling, the copper is hand-buffed to mirror-like perfection.

Then a tremendously hard bright nickel plate is electro-plated to the copper, given another hot caustic bath and hand-pumiced by the plater himself. The final step is the application of chromium, which then is given a chrome buff to insure uniformity on all chair frames. Samples of finished frames from each production run are subjected to a 48-hour salt spray test before being passed on for final assembly at the Royal Metal plant.

Modern public libraries supported by taxes were scarcely known in the United States before 1850.

He Had To Get A Trim . . .

Hank Waits In Line In Back Of Two Poodles For Haircut

By HENRY McLEMORE — that a plain, old human being cut would do for me. "I'm not a show dog," I said. "Just give me a good working clip."

The barber, who looks exactly like Pancho Villa did in his prime, said, "Si, si, Senor," and went to work.

The haircut won't cost you much — about 20 cents in U. S. currency — but it will be a more enduring present than a platinum watch, a diamond stickpin, or a house and lot.

I speak with the voice of authority when I speak of haircuts. I have sat in barber chairs, or what served as barber chairs, in more than forty countries.

I have been clipped in Kashmir, peeled in Peiping, anointed with the oils from half a hundred jugs in Jugoslavia, fringed in France, singed in Spain, scalded in Syria, and belted around in Belgium.

It didn't seem to me that anything that could happen in a barber shop would surprise me, or make an impression on me. But that was before I got a haircut in this, the loveliest of all towns in Mexico.

I put off getting a haircut as long as I could, but when my hair covered my ears so I couldn't hear without cooking my head, and when I began to take on the appearance of an unkempt bear, I asked a friend, novelist Bob Wilder, where the best place to get a trim was.

Having lived here two years he was able to give me explicit directions.

"You know where the big movie is. Well, when you get there turn right, walk half a block until you reach the bank. Right across the street from the bank is the best barber shop in town. Be sure to get the barber in the first chair as you get in. That won't be much trouble, because there is only one chair."

I found the shop without much trouble, but I couldn't believe my eyes when I walked in.

Sitting in the chair was a big poodle and the barber was giving him a Dutch clip. And there was another poodle waiting.

I turned to the woman holding on to the leash of the waiting poodle and asked if he were going to get a haircut or just a shave.

She didn't like my attitude at all. Seemed to think it quite natural that a man should walk into a barber shop and have to take his turn behind two poodles.

There was nothing for me to do but wait, so I waited until the poodles had been given the treatment.

When I got in the chair I said in the best Spanish I know that I didn't want a Dutch clip

The News Presents . . . The Little Merchants

Jim Pendergrass, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Pendergrass, 315 Sunset Drive, is another "little brother" in the brother teams serving as carriers for the Pampa Daily News. His brother, Don, introduced to you previously, is two years his senior.

Jim will have been with The News a year in September delivering newspapers to residents on E. Francis from 408 to the end of the street. Side streets on his route include 200 and 300 blocks of Starkweather, Warren and Wynne.

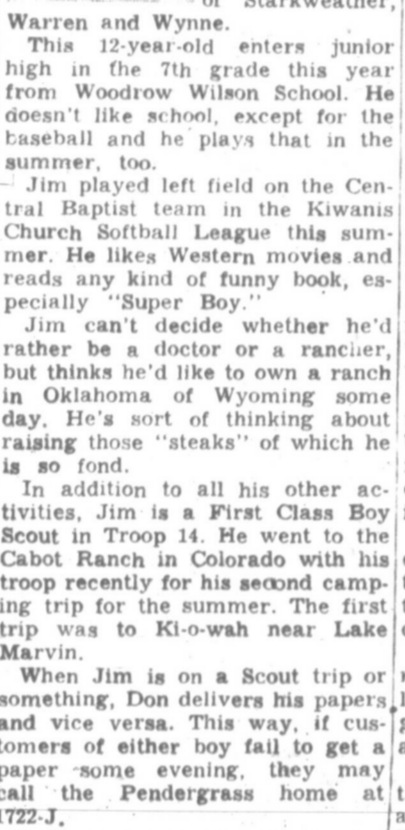

This 12-year-old enters junior high in the 7th grade this year from Woodrow Wilson School. He doesn't like school, except for the baseball and he plays that in the summer, too.

Jim played left field on the Central Baptist team in the Kiwanis Church Softball League this summer. He likes Western movies and reads any kind of funny book, especially "Super Boy."

Jim can't decide whether he'd rather be a doctor or a rancher, but thinks he'd like to own a ranch in Oklahoma or Wyoming some day. He's sort of thinking about raising those "steaks" of which he is so fond.

In addition to all his other activities, Jim is a First Class Boy Scout in Troop 14. He went to the Cabot Ranch in Colorado with his troop recently for his second camping trip for the summer. The first trip was to Ki-o-wah near Lake Marvin.

When Jim is on a Scout trip or something, Don delivers his papers, and vice versa. This way, if customers of either boy fail to get a paper some evening, they may call the Pendergrass home at 1722-J.

IT'S YOUR DEAL Stockpile Rule Isn't Confusing

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"Please explain the rule that applies after the last card of the stock pile has been taken," requests a Portsmouth, Ohio, reader.

In a recent game, the player at my right took the last card of the stock pile. He discarded the king, which I promptly picked up for a meld. This left no cards at all in either the stock pile or the discard pile.

"I then discarded a ten. My opponents had already melded five tens. If the next player picked up the ten, she would have to discard one of the three cards in her hand — and any of them would have given our side a natural canasta.

"What is the rule in this situation? Is she obliged to pick up the ten even though that will force her to make a costly discard? Or does she have a choice in the matter?"

Let's begin by answering the question. The player is obliged to pick up the ten even though that forces her to make a costly discard. She has no choice.

Now let's examine the entire rule. When a player takes the last card of the stock pile the game may proceed. It doesn't automatically end.

Let's suppose that North draws the last card of the stock pile and discards a king. It is now East's turn to play — and if East can take that king and add it to a meld that he already has on the table, he must pick the king up; he has no choice. This would not be so, of course, if the discard pile were frozen, for then East would need a fresh pair of kings in his hand. But if the pile is unfrozen, and the discard matches a meld on the table, East must take the pile.

Suppose East has no meld of

Couple Finds Cards Pay Off

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Thrill note to young lovers: A 15-cent greeting card with just the right touch of sophisticated humor can be more effective than a $5 box of candy.

Working on this principle, Rosalind Welcher, who looks like a hockey-playing teenager but wields a brush with the smooth sophistication of a Dali, has built up a business which sells seven million cards a year, plus an impressive amount of note paper and napkins.

Her cards, with their whimsical stylized animal sketches and their strictly New Yorker-type humor, have hit an unsuspected jackpot of customers who never used to send greeting cards, but now have become rabid Welcher fans.

A California Scrooge writes that his discovery of the Welcher Christmas cards has restored his joy in Christmas, and a college girl in Ohio writes that a series of Welcher "love" cards won her heart and hand for the man of her dreams whom she loves dearly because of his wonderful sense of humor.

Rosalind and her husband, Fred Slavic, a former machinery designer, have formed their own company, called Panda Prints, Inc., to print and distribute the cards. They got the idea of making greeting cards shortly after their marriage, thinking it was something they could do wherever they happened to be, and that this would give them an opportunity to travel. But, says Rosalind:

"We got so busy right away that we still haven't had a chance to travel."

A typical Welcher card depicts two highly sophisticated bunnies holding hands, with the inscription:

"Ah, what delightful habits we share with the rabbits."

Another shows a Don Juan cat leaning soulfully on a Victorian table, sighing:

"Je pense a vous - toujours vous: Tell me, kid, what's new?"

John Quincy Adams was the only ex-president of the United States to return to Washington as a member of Congress.

BUILDS BETTER FLY-TRAP—William Simunek, 65, got down-right annoyed at the swarms of flies that infested the area around his Cleveland, Ohio, home. So he built himself a king-sized fly-trap. The pile of dead flies on the paper at left and a three-inch layer of dead flies in the trap represent a five-day "catch."

Everybody Is Getting Into Hollywood's Bare-Knee Act

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Everybody's getting into the act: Now William Lundigan has abandoned his grey flannel suit for a Roman officer's skirt.

Bill joins a distinguished list of actors who have exposed their knees, etc., for the sake of art and box office. Others include Gregory Peck "David and Bathsheba," Victor Mature "Samson and Delilah," and Robert Taylor "Que Vadis."

This fellow Lundigan also follows the trend cited by Fred McMurray in this space recently. Like MacMurray, Bill has largely been identified with genteel, modern stories and is now having his first fling at sword play and adventure.

"In most of my pictures, I've been the pleasant young fellow from a nice Boston family," he laughed. "I'm generally holding the hand of the heroine. I've held hands with Susan Hayward, Jeanne Crain, Valentina Cortese, Gloria DeHaven, June Haver and Mitzi Gaynor."

That's not bad hand-holding, but Bill has other ambitions. They are being realized in "Serpent of the Nile." He plays a Roman officer who romances Cleopatra, lucidly portrayed by Rhonda Fleming.

"I have one love scene that has more romance than I've had in my last two or three pictures," commented Bill. "As for beefcake the male counterpart of cheesecake, I'm not knocking it."

An actress who draws one of the top salaries in Hollywood was defending her demands to me this week. She declined to be quoted by name, but she reasoned this way:

"It's unfortunate, but very necessary that a star gets as much money as possible. People say, 'There's no reason to ask $50,000 more for a picture; you can't keep much more of the money anyway.' That's not true. For every $10,000 more of salary, you can keep $2,000. That can make a lot of difference in take-home pay, even in these inflated times."

"It's too bad that some better tax system can't be worked out.

WE WANT A FREE COURT BUT NOT THE KIND OF COURT

- That takes property from a man without a hearing -
- Isn't it true that the Miami-Laketon Highway could have followed the section lines at absolutely no cost to taxpayers as the owners of the land offered it without cost, but the court favored a few and discriminated against many at great cost to the taxpayers?
- That raises the valuation of property for tax purposes when a tax increase was not necessary.
- That caused the taxpayers during the last four years to be under a non-voted indebtedness by issuing county warrants in the amount of $147,696.93, of which only $19,696.93 has been paid.

Boyle's Column . . . Mother Should Plan Carefully In Priming Son For Presidency

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Every American boy has a chance to grow up in an auto factory in Michigan, to be President of the United States aboard a shrimp boat off Louisiana.

And many a dotting mother would like to help her offspring get the job.

"But how?" she asks herself. "How can I rear my boy to be president?"

She knows how to train him to be a doctor or a mechanic, also ought to know how to train him to be a White House girl who likes cats.

And if she sets out unguided she can waste a lot of time and effort.

What a wise mother can do is to be as much as a guide, but not too well. The voters are to be educated in the next generation is where to look for the future.

As the biggest problem likely to face most Americans in the next generation is where to look for the future, the thoughtful law degree from Harvard, his mother could well have junior vacations should be spent working as a liping lad of five, look

Five Persons Fined In Corporation Court

Five persons were fined Wednesday in corporation court, three of them for speeding.

Howard Dean Hughes, Pampa, was assessed a $25 fine for speeding. Avis Wilkinson, 832 E. Murphy, and Kenneth H. Haines, 116 N. Nelson, were fined $5 each for speeding.

Ann Clark, Canadian, paid a $15 fine on a charge of disturbing the peace. Jesse Lemmon, 418 N. Elm, was fined $5 for failure to grant the right of way.

at a traffic jam and repeat after her.

"Some day I am going to strike a real blow at all this."

This will make a wonderful anecdote for his campaign biography.

Now all the mother must do before launching junior into politics is to have him enlist for three years as an army private, then finance him in a small but successful business that makes a modest profit and give its employees nine weeks vacation a year and a bonus at Christmas.

How can junior excite the presidency now? Evedybody will love him fishermen, farmers, laborers, capitalists, war veterans, cat fanciers, dog collectors, hobbitists, Easterners, Westerners, Northerners, Southerners.

Maryland Families Contest Voteless But Taxable Status

FREDERICK, Md. (AP)—Three federal families living on a near-by Maryland Court of Appeals by federal reservation have gone to court over their taxable and voteless status. They claim it constitutes "taxation without representation."

The families live at Camp Detrick, an army chemical Corps installation northwest of Frederick, taken under "exclusive jurisdiction" by the federal government in 1950.

The state of Maryland says that civilians living on the reservation can't vote. They also want a judicial determination of other rights, including the answers to such questions as:

Are their estates subject to state inheritance tax? Can their wills be probated in Maryland? Can those suffering from mental illnesses or tuberculosis receive care in state institutions?

The outcome of the suit is expected to affect the status not only of Camp Detrick residents, but those living on government property in other states as well. Some legal authorities expect the case to go to the U. S. Supreme Court for a final ruling.

Larry Fuller To McLean . . . Southwestern Public Service Names Lefors, McLean Heads

Managerial changes in the Lefors and McLean offices of the Southwestern Public Service Company will be made on Sept. 1, it has been announced by T. W. Gilstrap, Amarillo division manager for the company. Larry Fuller, former Pampan-moves from Lefors to McLean as manager, Gilstrap said, and Joe Gidden, now a lineman at Canyon, will succeed Fuller at Lefors. Both Lefors and McLean are part of the company's Pampa district. Gilstrap announced last week that Gordon Lyons will become district manager here on Sept. 1, succeeding Joe Key, who goes to Roswell as assistant division manager of the Pecos Valley division. Larry Fuller, a Pampa High School graduate, has come up through the ranks with the Southwestern Public Service Company. He started here in Pampa as a groomer in 1945, working his way through various apprenticeships to journeyman lineman in April of 1948. He became manager at Lefors in January of 1950, and has been there since. Gidden has also earned his managerial post at Lefors by coming up through various positions. Originally employed in 1947 as an ice plant operator when the company was in the ice business in Canyon, he left the company for a short period of time when the ice plant was sold. Returning to employment with Southwestern Public Service Company as an apprentice lineman in 1949, he became a journeyman in February of this year. Lefors will be his first managerial position.
