Registration Points To 'Best' Rodeo In History

WHOOOPS — That's a nasty spill, there, Cowboy, but the ride was "fun while it lasted," huh? Young cowboys took their spills all in good grace after showing spectators a fine show at the Top o' Texas Kid Pony Show last night. (News Photo)

Youngsters Provide Preview For Show

Last-minute registrations swarming into rodeo headquarters in the city hall this morning added to indications that this year's Top o' Texas Rodeo tonight through Saturday in Recreation Park will be the biggest and best of the rodeo's eight-year history.

Grand entry of all contestants for the four-night show will initiate the first performance at 8 p.m. today. Cowboys and cowgirls from the Panhandle, Oklahoma and Kansas will vie for purses and top honors in calf roping, double muggin, bareback bronc riding, saddle-bronc riding, bulldozing, cutting horse contest and cowgirl sponsored contest.

From the grand entry and the cowgirl sponsor contest, spectators will select rodeo queen at tonight's performance and she will be presented as Miss Top o' Texas Thursday night.

Specialty acts to spark the show include the clowning of Leon Watson, Arizona; Portis Sims and his Gainesville Circus act with jockey dogs; Dewey Jontz and his sheep-penning dog team, Iowa; and Bobby Benson, radio kid cowboy star.

Nat Fleming will be on hand to enice the show and the Amarillo Air Force Band will provide music.

Preludes to tonight's performances included the grand parade through Pampa streets at 4 p.m. today and the Kid Pony Show last night.

A record crowd, according to rodeo officials, saw 116 junior cowboys and cowgirls, a record number of entries, compete in the miniature rodeo including the barrel race, bull fighting, flag race, bull riding, doughnut race, calf roping, clover leaf contest and cutting horse contest.

Contestants for the barrel race were divided into four age-groups and were judged on riding ability of the contestant, the ability of the horse, and the ability of horse and rider to follow a certain pattern.

Top honors in the youngest group went to John Strickwell, first, George Huff, second, Sammy Whitley, third, all of Pampa, and Elder James of Groom, fourth.

Group II winners were Lou Ann Taylor, first, Dwan Urbanzyk, second, Edith Harlan, third, and Zepher Hill, fourth, all of Pampa; Group III honors went to Button Garrett, Miss

Claims Girl Sought Help

DALLAS (AP) — Two Dallas County officers have been sent to Decatur in North Central Texas in an attempt to solve the torture murder of Betty Jack Stevens, 21-year-old Dallas waitress.

Her mangled, dismembered body was found last Wednesday near Yukon, Okla.

Tried To Hide — Yesterday a friend of the Dallas waitress told Oklahoma authorities that the Stevens woman tried to hide from "a man down in Dallas" two weeks ago.

Mrs. Bertha Kean, Lawton, Okla., in a signed statement, said she had seen the man torture Miss Stevens with lighted cigarettes and threaten her life many times.

The Lawton housewife gave police the man's name and described him as "Spanish looking, in his 30s."

In Fort Worth — However, Dallas homicide Capt. Will Fritz said he did not believe the woman's story until he checked out because his investigation shows the Stevens girl was in Fort Worth at the time of the supposed visit to Lawton.

Fritz said two men from his office have been sent to Decatur to talk to waitress there. The Decatur sheriff, Fritz said, reported the waitress "believes the slain woman visited with her last week."

Husted Officially In Commission Race

Clayton Husted, the first man ever to seek a Gray County office on the Republican ticket, is now officially in the race.

Husted's application for a place on the general election ballot in November was filed with County Clerk Charlie Thut yesterday afternoon after his certification as a nominee of the Republican party for county commissioner from Precinct 2 was also filed.

Husted was nominated for the job Saturday during the Republican county convention in the county court room.

In November he will face the winner of the Democratic runoff between Commissioner J. W. (Bill) Graham and W. E. (Bill) Jarvis.

Husted's application was filed while officials in the county clerk's office were mailing out absentee ballots for the Aug. 22 Democratic run-off.

Up until this morning 14 ballots have been sent through the mails while four others have voted in person in Thut's office. Deadline for voting in person is midnight, Tuesday, Aug. 19. Ballots being sent through the mails must be in the hands of the county clerk by 1 p.m., election day.

Tot Drowns In Tub

HOUSTON (AP) — Mrs. Frank Gujardo bathed her 11-month-old son, drained the tub and left him for a moment to play.

His sister, Mary, 2, wanted to play, too. Officers said she turned on the faucet and played in the water with tissue paper. That stopped the drain.

To Combat Will To Fight Systematic Bombing Launched By U.N.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United Nations Command has embarked on a systematic bombing campaign deliberately calculated to destroy the enemy's will to hold out against an armistice in Korea.

Military officials here placed this interpretation on the Tokyo announcement that military targets in 78 North Korean population centers have been selected for destruction, after civilians have been warned by radio and leaflets that bombs are coming their way.

The psychological warfare section of Gen. Mark Clark's U.N. Command borrowed a leaf from World War II history in stressing the warning phase. The most notable precedent for telling enemy civilians at their cities were earmarked for obliteration was established in the final atomic bomb chapter of the war against Japan.

No Hint Of A-Bombs — Gen. Clark's disclosure of the scheduled effort to smash North Korea's will and ability to continue resistance held no hint, however, of atomic bombings or the kind of mass destruction raids that were launched against German and Japanese cities during the last war.

The U.N. Command and more than 1-1/2 million leaflets have been using cities and towns not the Allied air forces "must destroy all Communist military supplies and installations—and it knows where they are."

U.N. intelligence has known for a long time that the Reds have been using cities and towns not only to house troops and supplies (See SYSTEMATIC, Page 2)

Army Produces Atmospheric Phenomena To Explain Saucer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Evening Star reported today that Army engineers, working with a vacuum bell in a laboratory, have produced atmospheric phenomena which may explain the widespread reports of "flying saucers."

In a copyrighted story by W. H. Shippen, the Star said the experiments created airborne objects which "can speed up, hover indefinitely, or disappear and reappear in a flash."

"The man-made saucers occasionally fly in formation. Moreover, they are believed to have substance enough to show up on the screen of a radar designed to track them."

What the experimenters did, the Star said, was use the vacuum bell as a tiny working-model of the stratosphere and reproduce "two forces—very low air pressure which is balanced against static electricity in a way to give off light."

"Experimenters in the research and development laboratory at Fort Belvoir, Va., believe these two are the primary factors responsible for saucer sightings by competent observers," the story added.

The Star published its report on the experiments following a night of rain during which radar screens scanning the skies over the capital, showed a flurry of mystery objects.

In line with the theory that they are atmospheric phenomena, an Air Force spokesman noted that a fluorescent screen started about the time a thunderstorm hit the area.

Two jet fighters were sent up from Newcastle, Del., shortly after midnight, but pilots saw nothing unusual.

Repeatedly in recent weeks radar screens around Washington have shown unidentified objects in the air. Air Force chiefs have said they are personally satisfied by weather phenomenon.

A spokesman at Andrews field said two unidentified objects showed on the field's radar screen at 10:20 p.m. moving slowly from Mount Vernon, George Washington's home.

A few minutes later two more images appeared on the screen, four to six miles east of the field which is about seven miles south-east of Washington. These objects appeared to be moving slowly, then stop, then fly away.

Local Champ On His Way

Pampa's champion is on his way to the All-American Soap Box Derby at Akron, Ohio.

Robert (Butch) Langford, 32 winner of the 1952 Pampa Soap Box Derby July 13, and Fletcher Robertson, managing editor of The Pampa Daily News, are both en route and will arrive Thursday in plenty of time for preliminary ceremonies.

On hand at Akron Sunday to see Butch make his run for the national championship will be his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Minor Langford; his sister, Wanda; and his older brother, John, winner of the 1951 Pampa derby.

Robertson will file articles to The News on what Butch is doing in Akron and how he makes out in the race.

U.S. Jets Down Six Red Planes

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Sharp-shooting U. S. Sabre jet pilots today shot down six Communist MIG-15s and damaged two in the third straight day of jet battles high over North Korea, the U. S. Fifth Air Force reported.

The Air Force said its three-day bag of the sweeping Red fighters totals 11 destroyed and 13 damaged.

Today's seven swirling dog-fights got so hot that a Communist pilot helped shoot down one of his own comrades.

The MIG flier was firing at Capt. William J. Ryan, Keeseville, N. Y., who was firing at another MIG ahead. Ryan answered his plane. The pursuing MIG's 20 mm. cannon fire tore into the Russian-made jet ahead, blowing it up and finishing the job Ryan started.

On the experiments following a night of rain during which radar screens scanning the skies over the capital, showed a flurry of mystery objects.

RODEO MAN 'FROM WAY BACK' — Goat Mayo, former rodeo performer turned cattleman and rancher of Petrolia, looks on as stock from his ranch is turned into chutes at Recreation Park for the Top o' Texas Rodeo this week. Mayo has furnished stock for the rodeo all eight years of its existence. (News Photo)

Mayo Says Rodeo Stock 'Born To Buck'

By ROSE ELLISON — "If a horse won't buck, we send him to the soap factory."

That's what Goat Mayo, the man who has furnished the stock for the Top o' Texas Rodeo every year since its beginning, said yesterday as he supervised the unloading of 230 head of stock for this week's five-night show.

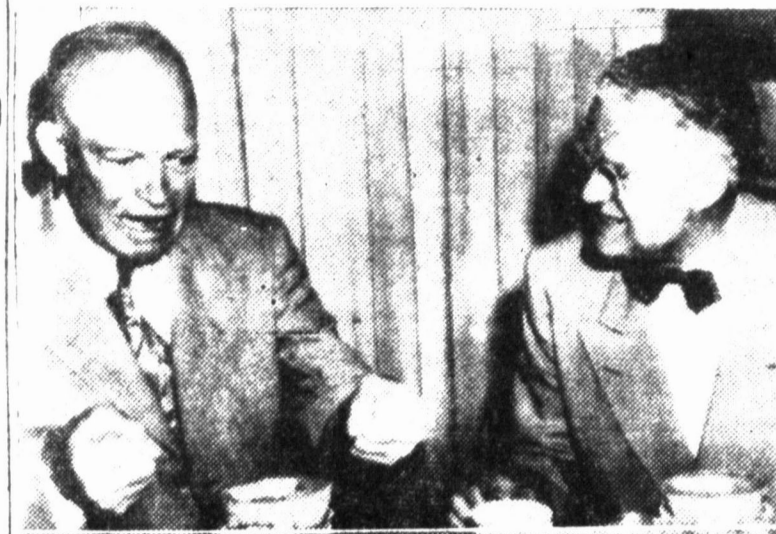

A rodeo man "from way back" — about 20 years ago — this rancher and cattleman of Petrolia has been furnishing stock for rodeos since 1938. A peak of 26 shows in three states, Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico, was reached last year and will be maintained again in '52.

Mayo works in partnership with W. R. Lyons in buying and cutting rodeo stock. Bucking horses, muggin' yearlings, bulldogging steers, roping and cutting calves and Brahma bulls for bulldozing are among the stock specialties sought by the partners.

No special training is given the stock. "It's just born in 'em to be good rodeo material," Mayo says. What happens when they get too old for rodeo, or if they don't make the grade? Then it's the market slaughter house for them.

Some calves in the "junior set," used for roping and cutting are held over for the "senior" events of bulldozing and bulldozing. Stock is culled each year for rodeo shows.

This profession of raising stock has nothing to do with his name "Goat," Mayo said. He's been carrying that label since he was about 10. The (See RODEO STOCK, Page 2)

TWO WELL-KNOWN PEOPLE — Republican presidential candidate Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, top left, emphasizes with clenched fists how hard he expects to "fight" for the presidency in the 1952 elections. With the General in his Denver quarters is former Senator C. Wayland Brooks, bottom. Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois laughs heartily over a letter addressed only "Adlai" and postmarked San Antonio, Tex., which was delivered to him at the state capital in Springfield. Former Republican Congressman Ben Guill withdrew from the 1952 congressional picture late last night and accepted the appointment as state chairman for Gen. Eisenhower's presidential campaign.

Guill was appointed to the post by Jack Porter of Houston, Republican national committeeman in Fort Worth where state campaign headquarters will be set up within a few days following Guill's return from a Denver conference with Eisenhower and GOP leaders.

But Guill didn't remove himself entirely from the Panhandle political picture, he told newspapermen last night he may run against Rep. Walter Rogers in 1954. Said Guill: "I hope Mr. Rogers will make

Guill Heads Texas Ike Drive; To Meet General In Denver

State campaign headquarters was first slated to be located in Houston but Fort Worth was found to be more suitably located and the relatively small crowd he drew were under study by leaders of both parties.

Guill said the appointment came "out of the blue" and he accepted it because he felt it was more important to secure an Eisenhower victory in November than to create any stir in the 18th congressional district with a hot congressional battle.

The former congressman expressed belief that the GOP chances of carrying Texas for the general are good because of the number of disgruntled Democrats who believe the only way to clean up Washington is to vote out the present office holders.

Meanwhile Texas Democrats were not standing idly by in the presidential race. A call for funds went out by W. E. (Bill) (See GUILL, Page 2)

Experts Study Ike's Speech

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's first major speech since winning the Republican presidential nomination and the relatively small crowd he drew were under study by leaders of both parties.

He labeled his maiden address "non-political" but the 10-point program he outlined yesterday viewed by the Eisenhower camp as a likely blueprint for the general's forthcoming campaign, scheduled to start officially Sept. 1.

Among the points mentioned were: Building of America's strength, prosperity based on peace, not war; honesty in government; protection of earnings and savings from a "double toll of high prices and high taxes"; and equality for all.

Maps Conference — Eisenhower later conferred with his running mate, Sen. Richard M. Nixon, GOP vice presidential nominee, and other officials, and flew back to Denver.

Water Safety Exam Will Begin Monday

Monday, Aug. 11, marks the beginning of Red Cross Water Safety exams to be given for beginners and swimmers groups by Mrs. Norma McArthur at the city swimming pool.

Free instruction will be given from 9:30 to 11 a.m. for beginners Aug. 11 - 13. Anyone interested in taking the exam to qualify for a Red Cross beginners card is to register at the Red Cross office in the city hall.

Swimmer and intermediate exams will be given Aug. 15-16. Weldon Trice, chairman of the water safety and life saving committee of the Red Cross, has announced also that if at least 10 people register for a junior life saving course, class will be taught beginning Aug. 18. Classes will be arranged for Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday at the city pool, provided enough people register in the Red Cross office.

Seven Years After... Survivors Of A-Bomb In Hiroshima Pray For Victims

HIROSHIMA, Japan (AP) — Seven years ago today the city of Hiroshima was crushed by the searing blast of the atomic bomb. Survivors of that awful holocaust gathered today at a memorial under the center of the aerial explosion to pray for the thousands who died.

"Sleep Quietly" — The memorial is inscribed, translated: "Sleep quietly. The mistake will not be repeated."

Japanese are quick to say that the "mistake" was not the atom bombing but Japan's war-starting attack on Pearl Harbor.

At Nagasaki, smashed by the second atomic bomb, officials of the two cities gathered to protest what they called America's "cold attitude" toward victims of the bombings.

Seeks Relief — Kyoto News Agency said spokesmen for the world's only atom-bombed cities charged that the United States was responsible for the explosions and should provide relief for the victims.

They asserted the atomic causality commission set up by the U.S. has used

American Reds Seek Reversal Of Conviction

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Found guilty of plotting to advocate violent overthrow of the government, 14 California Communist leaders go back to court today in an effort to reverse their conviction.

They were convicted on a federal indictment yesterday after a six-month trial longer in local Federal Court history. Trials and conviction of 11 Communists on similar charges in New York City in 1949 required nine months.

As a means of protecting the four men and eight women jurors, a U. S. Judge William C. Matthes decreed that no one may communicate with them about the case and that no photographs may be taken. He discharged them from the case but retained them indefinitely as jurors under the protection of the court.

Convicted were Mrs. Oleta O'Connor Yates, 43, San Francisco; Northern California party secretary; William Schneiderman, 56, San Francisco, former state party chairman; Philip M. Connelly, 48; Dorothy Rosenblum Healey, 37, Connelly's wife; Henry Steinberg, 39; Mrs. Rose Chernin Kusnitz, 49; Frank Carlson, 40; Frank E. Spector, 56, and Ben Dobbs, 41, all of Los Angeles; Mrs. Loretta Starvus Stack, 40; Richmond, 39; Ernest Otto Fox, 47; Carl Rude Lambert, 55, all of San Francisco; and Albert Jason Lima, 45, Oakland.

IT'S your DEAL To Win—Know Poker Rules

By OSWALD JACOBY and ALFRED SHEINWOLD
Written for NEA Service

"Please answer a question on high-low seven-card stud poker," requests a Seattle reader.

"One of the ladies in our game declared high and low with the following cards: ace of spades, deuce of spades, three of clubs, four of clubs, ace of diamonds, eight of diamonds, and four of spades.

"According to our rules which follow the rule in Mr. Jacoby's book, she had to have the highest hand at the table and also the lowest hand at the table in order to win anything at all.

"We claimed that she couldn't play exactly the same hand as high and also as low. We therefore said that her lowest hand was 8-4-3-2-ace. This was not as low as the seven-high hand held by one of the other players. "Who is right?"

It looks as though the lady loses both ends of the pot. But before making a definite statement, we have to discuss the rule about straights and flushes in high-low poker.

If you have a straight or a flush that is higher than something like 7-5-3-2-ace in different suits, however, in any normal game of poker a straight or a flush is higher than anything else.

However, some players follow a different rule. They disregard straights and flushes for the purpose of determining the lowest hand at the table. Most very few players follow this abnormal rule; and those players have a very definite understanding about this weird procedure.

If there is no such definite understanding, that straight and flushes are meaningless for the low end of the pot, the ordinary rule applies. In the absence of any special rule, in my correspondent's game, I would say that the lady's best low hand is seven-high hand.

If the players outlaw straights and flushes for the low end of the pot, however, the lady wins the entire pot.

Youngster Admits Damaging Plane

An 8-year-old Pampa youngster has confessed to the county juvenile officer that he ran up and down the wing of an airplane, while killing time waiting for Bobby Benson, the radio kid cowboy, to show up.

A group of 4 to 6 kids were on-hand at the airport Monday morning, H. A. Doggett relates, with the mistaken impression that young Benson was soon due to arrive. Evidently, Doggett went on, one of them broke into the Culberson office and hangar; but none of them has admitted it.

According to Frank Culberson, the plane was damaged to the extent of $1,200-$1,500. No further action against the youngster is contemplated by Culberson. The plane was covered by insurance, Culberson said.

Held In Panhandle

A laborer man, charged with passing a hot check, is now in the custody of Panhandle authorities.

Frank Allen, Jr., 18, passed a worthless check for $42.50 on a Vago, Tex., bank several days ago, the sheriff's office reports. Deputy Sheriff Buck Haggard recognized him Tuesday as he went into the local employment office and he placed him under arrest.

Allen was turned over to Panhandle officers late Tuesday afternoon.

TEC Temporarily Out Of Placements

For an average person to latch onto a job is no easy task at the moment, the Texas Employment Commission reports.

But, the TEC quickly emphasized, this is merely a temporary situation. And the probable prospects are that the business will improve close of this summer.

At the TEC had 16 jobs to be filled, most of them specialized. And the specialized ones are the toughest to fill. There were plenty of people looking for work, but there were few jobs to fit their skills.

"Even though the national steel strike is over, the TEC said, it will be several weeks before its effects are felt in the Pampa trade area.

'Sabotage' By Landlords Bedevils China Communists

By FRED HAMPSAON
HONG KONG (AP) — The third harvest under communism has come to South Central China and the Reds still complain of sabotage by "landlords, a peculiar class, law-breaking landlords and other evil elements."

The Hanlow Communist newspaper, Chang Chang Daily, tells of the troubles, which are the same as those of last year and the year before.

In one county in Hunan Province there were 229 cases of land and landowner sabotage, the paper said. In other areas of the province landlords who lost their land in the redistribution process "recaptured their water mills and took back clothing that had been given to the peasants." Other land-

Jaycees Have 3-Way Program

A kid-cowboy souster, a young golfer and a movie on polio were featured at the weekly Junior Chamber of Commerce meeting.

Bobby Benson, 11-year-old radio cowboy of the B-Bar-B Ranch was guest of honor at Tuesday's luncheon and sang three Western melodies, one of them "Tumbler's Fumbleweed." Accompanied by his chaperone, Mary Jane Williams, Bobby was introduced to Jaycees by Kay Fancher, KPND program director.

Young Benson was decked out in a black-and-white shirt and dark bandana, in keeping with the Western atmosphere this week. He will appear at each performance of the Top of Texas Rodeo.

Another guest at the meeting was Tommy Cox, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Cox, 728 Lefors. Sponsored by the Jaycees at the recent Junior Golf Tournament, Denton, he came in fifth, a mere three strokes behind the winner. Consequently, he is eligible to participate in the National Junior Chamber of Commerce Tournament, Eugene, Ore.

A movie about infantile paralysis, "In Daily Battle," was presented to Jaycees by courtesy of Pampa druggists. The film showed the ravages of the disease and underscored the fact that it could strike anybody—anywhere. In every United States county, the film related, there is at least one chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

in for the other three places. Winners in the flag race, run in three heats with mounted cowboys racing to exchange flags placed on top of barrels were Theo Mayo, Miami, first; Sammy Whitely, Pampa, second; and Frank Burdwell, Pampa, third.

In the calf roping contest, a timed event on the same basis as the regular rodeo event, 15 boys were entered. With a time of 27.3 seconds to lasso and tie his calf, Eddie Wilson of Reydon, Okla., took top honors in this contest.

A close second of 29.7 seconds was made by Bob Hollowell of Pampa and third was David Bean, Miami, in 3.03 seconds.

Miss June Bill, rodeo queen of '51, set the pattern for the girls in the clover leaf contest and Carol Carnes of Pampa was selected as top, making the rounds in 20 seconds flat. Frances Latfield was second with 21.2 seconds and Lea Urbanczyk with 22.2 seconds was third.

In the doughnut race, which required cowgirls to ride to the north end of the arena, take a bite of the doughnut without the use of hands and race back to the judges stand, nine girls were entered. Winners were Virginia Worrell, Pampa, first; Anita Avert, Amarillo, second; and Alice Coombes, Pampa, third.

Top honors in the bull riding event were taken by Dallas Sargent, Skellytown, first; Theo Mayo, Miami, second; and Larry Haskell, Pampa, third.

The cutting horse contest that closed the Kid Pony Show for 1952 was won by Laddy Cluck, Gruver, in first place, Carl Danner, Pampa, second; and George Avert, Amarillo, third.

Prizes for each event were awarded to winners H. B. Taylor Jr. announced the show and Sheriff Rufe Jordan and Rev. Douglas Carver served as time-keepers and judges.

but also for important headquarters and military communications centers. The Allies hit some of these objectives earlier in the war but generally tried to avoid bombing population centers unless urgent military needs dictated otherwise.

The campaign announced from Tokyo said finally that civilians in North Korea are subject to bombing and strafing when military targets in their areas are attacked.

The leaflets dropped behind enemy lines blame the Red leaders for jeopardizing civilians by hiding military objectives in population areas.

He said Stevenson supporters in North Texas are standing by for directions from national campaign headquarters in Springfield, Ill., to see where they can fit into the national campaign.

A split between Democrats who staunchly support the national nominee and those who oppose them and the present administration is expected in some quarters.

"I am not worried about national funds for the campaign," said Stevenson. "I have already had touched the hearts of the people of Texas and he will carry Texas by a minimum of 500,000 votes."

'Saucers' Sighted In Pampa Tuesday

Those flyin' saucers are in Texas again.

Charles Shockley and Jerry Williams, Lefors, and Aubrey Dick, Pampa, were sitting on the porch of the Pampa Pet Shop, one-quarter of a mile out on the Lefors highway, when they saw a bright ball of fire whipping about as fast as the eye could see about 9 p.m. Tuesday.

Flashes of lightning came from behind the clouds in the east. But the zig-zagging saucer appeared in the clear sky overhead. It hung around about five seconds, then was gone. The witnesses say it was about four miles up and seemed "round and flat."

Teen-Ager Admits Burglaries Here

A 16-year-old Pampa boy has admitted pulling the two recent burglaries at Hall and Pinson Tire Co., 415 E. Frederic, and has been recovered, city police said.

A sizable amount of the loot has been recovered, city police report, but some is still missing. The boy's father has agreed to make up the difference, according to Bruce Parker, county judge.

City policeman Ed Johnson spotted the youth Friday afternoon riding a bicycle, equipped with what looked suspiciously like a flash-light that had been stolen. Successive quizzes by police finally brought an admission from the boy that he had broken into the service station both times, July 17 and 20. He has continued to claim he was the only one on the job.

Recovered items include 100 yards of blackline, 28 boxes of rifle shells, a fishing rod, two fishing reels, a flashlight, seven flashlight batteries, a headlight, a tire line, a pair of sun-glasses and his case, five bobbers, 12 leads and 15 weights.

RODEO STOCK

"kids" started calling him that, he guesses, "because I was so hard headed." His real name he doesn't reveal, but his initials are J. H. He prefers Guinness.

As a stock showman, Mayo has seen many a Texas cowboy hand turn professional, some who have appeared in the Top of Texas Rodeos while still in the amateur class. Two boys, Bill Weeks and Sonny Lavender, now members of Rodeo Cowboys of America, started in shows with Mayo's stock. Another, C. M. Coffee, best all-around cowboy in the Top of Texas annual show for the past four years, has just recently gone professional.

Saddled in bronc riding is Mayo's favorite rodeo event now that he's a spectator, but during his performing days he entered the bull and bronc riding.

Mayo is the father of four sons — all rodeo fans, too. His oldest, Sonny, 17, and Wendell, 15, have both ridden in Top of Texas shows. Wendell is serving as pick-up man in the bronc riding for this year's show and is the youngest pick-up man in rodeos as far as anybody in this section knows. His other sons just aren't old enough yet to ride in rodeos, but give them a few years and they'll be right in there, Mayo predicts. In his family a favorite horse is handed down like clothes in other families.

Faces Charges After White Deer Accident

A man whose car flipped over into a ditch faces a charge today in Panhandle justice of the peace court of operating a motor vehicle without a valid driver's license.

Harold Purcell Hendricks, 27, of White Deer, was driving west on U.S. 60, 4.4 miles east of White Deer, about dusk Saturday, when his car skidded sideways off the embankment, out of control. It rolled over once and ended up on its wheels facing north between the highway and the railroad tracks, 61 paces from the spot where it had left the pavement.

According to Highway Patrol, Hendricks claims he pulled off the road to avoid an oncoming car.

Ghosts Of Old West Stirring Restlessly

LIBERTY (AP) — The ghosts of the old West stirred restlessly today.

Two men accused of cattle theft and another accused of horse stealing were in the county jail here after their capture by posse.

Sheriff W. P. (Red) Rose said he chased the two alleged cattle thieves on horseback for 12 miles after he found their deserted automobile and indications they had fled into the woods.

Bloodhounds were used to locate the men, found hiding in a tree in the secluded backwoods area.

Mysterious Rocks Rain On Farm House

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — For several successive nights, limestone rocks about the size of a fist have rained down from somewhere onto the roof of Lewis Schattin's farmhouse.

The Schattin farm, five miles north of Evansville, is on level ground, and stands in the open. Neighbors and curiosity seekers have stood guard at the house and in surrounding fields, yet the rock-fall continues from an as yet unknown source.

Deputy Sheriff Leonard Denton went out last night and was just as mystified as the next one.

Mainly About People

Mr. and Mrs. Courtney Cowden, Midland, are visiting with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Eric, Jr., north of Pampa. Mrs. Cowden is the former Margaret Price. She and her husband are en route to Colorado on vacation.

Billie Faust and his Circle Inn Boys will be at the Rocket Club every Tues. and Thurs. night, formerly Sie's Barn.

Miss Joan Appleby, 804 N. Gray, and Miss Nellie Betenbough of Shamrock spent the past week end at a lake resort near Seymour.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Deleshaw and daughter, Sara Nan, 515 N. Nelson, plan to leave Friday for a visit with relatives in Denver and Boulder, Colo.

Shady trailer space for rent, mod. 621 S. Russell, Mrs. Norton. Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Malney, 408 Graham, have returned from Tulsa where they attended the funeral of her brother, Jack Glenn. Mr. Glenn was an electrician and was electrocuted while putting in light fixtures in a Tulsa house.

Have you ridden on The Little Buckaroo at 1824 N. Hobart? Mr. and Mrs. Frank Yates, 821 N. Frost, have returned from a vacation trip to the Atlantic Coast and Petersburg, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Pearson of White Deer are the parents of an 8-pound, 3-ounce boy born in Highland General Hospital Friday morning. The baby has been named Dennis Gene.

Baked Chicken and dressing with all the fixings for Thursday $1.00 at O. & Z. Dining Room.

Mrs. W. E. Tillman of El Dorado, Okla., is visiting here with her nephew and family, Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Green, 312 E. 17th, and friends, Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Turner, 624 N. Sumner.

Mr. E. H. Blaney of Los Angeles, Calif., is a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Kiser.

Hank Is Determined To Learn How To Operate A Picture Box

By HENRY McLEMORE
MEXICO CITY — It is a good thing that no lunacy commission has anything against me, because if any lunacy commission had it for me my wardrobe would consist entirely of strait-jackets.

There's no such thing as getting a picture that will show an entire person, or half a person, or even a tenth of a person. It's mighty good, though, for little fingers, big toes, eyes, an ant at work, or a vitamin pill. These are the things I'm going to concentrate on, plus the eyes of needles, the heads of pins, and a single corn flake. If I'm successful, I'm going to hold a one-man exhibit in New York this winter, and who knows but that I will become famous overnight for my studies in exceptionally uninteresting objects.

I qualified for mental investigation a few days ago when I bought a camera. I might just as well have bought the whaling rights for the lake in Central Park for all the good that camera will do me. It isn't the first camera I have bought, but if I get a picture I will be the first picture I ever got with any camera.

I bought the very cheapest camera I could find after a long search. The description of it on the box clearly implies that it was made chiefly for four-year-olds and under. It is a baby, baby camera, with a mechanism as simple as a pair of scissors. It is a square little box, scarcely larger than a kitten's head. It's the sort of camera that proves you are either very rich or very poor. If I'm ever lucky enough to get a picture, it will be roughly the size of a two-cent stamp.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE Pre-Emptive Bid Will Confuse Rival

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
I heartily recommend pre-emptive bids. When you make them properly, you force the opponents to guess. If they double they may discover that they have given up a game for a paltry 100 points.

If they go on, they may discover, after going down themselves, that they could have beaten you. Moreover, your opponents find it difficult to show new suits and exchange information after pre-emptive bidding. One word of caution: don't go to the well too often. If you get away with your pre-emptive bid and the opponents persist, let them have their way. Otherwise, you may give them a second chance to choose between a penalty double and a further bid.

Bridge hand diagram showing North, South, West, and East cards and suits.

In today's hand South got away with his very shifty pre-emptive bid of three spades. West could have doubled immediately but was not sure that he would get sufficient value. His bid of three no-trump seemed like a reasonable expression of his hand.

North was not satisfied to let the opponents take the game that they obviously could make. He put his neck out on the block by bidding four diamonds. East could have doubled with good effect, but was uncertain and therefore chose to take the sure game at hearts.

North, still not satisfied, tested the opponents' patience once too often. The bid of four spades finally earned the double that North was apparently seeking. Strangely enough, the result didn't please him.

West opened the ace of hearts, and continued with the queen when East signaled enthusiastically with the jack of hearts. East overtook the second heart with the king in order to lay and all. Certainly such an action would save me money and patience, neither of which I am overly blessed with. But something tells me that if I can't make this simplest of all cameras work, I might just as well give up trying to be an adult and go back to rompers and box crayons. Mother, Goose, getting my mouth washed out with soap, banging my spoon on my high chair, and buying comic books.

There's a turning point in the life of every man. This camera is going to start me downhill or uphill. I'm going to take a recognizable picture of something even if I have to buy a picture postcard and lie about it.

We're just one big family here, son! Think of me as your mother-in-law!

Strange, Sweet Korean Beauty Hides Threat Of Sudden Death

Editor's Note: The U.S. Navy today released the following story by James A. Michener, author of "Tales of the South Pacific," now in Korea as a correspondent for Holiday magazine. By JAMES A. MICHENER

WITH THE U.S. MARINES, Korea (Delayed by censor) (AP). For the Marines it was just another day. For me it was a strange introduction to the fantastic war they are fighting north of Seoul.

I started early with a helicopter trip to the front. I rode at 100 feet in a 'copter whose side had been ripped away so I could hang over the edge and look straight down at the strange, sweet beauty of Korea. Red hills, green pines, handsome rivers, ancient graveyards and up ahead the battle line.

Our troops are dug into bunkers and deep trenches, but even so, each day incoming enemy shells kill some of our men. Today more than 900 enemy shells will hit our positions.

The temperature rises to 114 degrees, not even on the equator but probably that's because down there I never worked so hard as I shall this day. For we climb to several different hill positions and from the moment I start I shall not be dry. It is a stink-bomb, steaming, dangerous war. Mid-morning I visit one of the most incredible positions ever occupied by American troops. It is an isolated hill four miles within enemy lines, completely surrounded by Chinese Communist territory and looking down upon the fateful armistice negotiation tents at Panmunjom.

Reds Make Mistake As I stand in this strange outpost, I see through the glasses 18 Communist soldiers filtering down a hill they mistakenly think to be in the neutral zone. They are going to set up a gun with which to harass our hill. A beardless lieutenant at my side calls down an artillery mission, which lands smack on the enemy and inflicts heavy casualties. The young lieutenant shows no sign of triumph. Less than a week ago 17 of his buddies were killed by the Communists near that very spot.

The unbelievable aspect of this artillery shelling is that while I followed the flight of our shells, the shadow of our hill feel almost across the tents of Panmunjom. I turned less than 40 degrees away from the dead enemy and I could wait other negotiators enter the meeting at Panmunjom. Tonight, when the negotiations have ended, Communists will try to penetrate this lonely outpost and if they succeed they will destroy our men. The war never ceases.

A Miracle In the afternoon I climb to another advanced position to study air support against a hill which our ground troops cannot reach. Four Marine pilots roar down through intense flak and blast a hill with tons of fire. They accomplish wonders but as the last plane pulls away it starts to spray oil. I know it will have to crash. Silently, prayerfully, we wait for the explosion. But none comes.

This is the Tucky day for pilot Marcus McNally of Houston, Tex. He belly lands within a thousand yards of the mess train at Munsan — and within three minutes after he walks a way unhurt, he is being interviewed. Say his friends, "a cheap bid for publicity."

In the late afternoon Col. Fred Henderson of Gary, Ind., tells me I must see this amazing wild man who works the rockets. Capt. Joe Travers, Buffalo, N. Y., is this year's version of the 1864 Confederate cavalry. He says, "you can watch us fire this mission if you want to. But be ready to scam like a bat out of hell. Don't turn your jeep off."

Unforgettable A ripple of rockets is something never to forget. The roar and the flame and the swoosh and the excited movement of the crew are ghostly, but the tell-tale flash and the great pillar of dust thrown up by the backblast betray your position immediately.

Col. Henderson ripped our jeep right out of there at frightening speed. Thirty seconds after we hauled tail a salvo of Communist shells landed right where we had been. They were 105's and they chewed the place

Canadian Slates Water Carnival

Silver anniversary celebration of the opening of Red Deer Beach at Canadian Aug. 13 will be highlighted by a water carnival and bathing beauty contest. up pretty bad. Ironically both the shells and the gun which fired them were handed to the Chinese by America in 1947.

I join Gen. John Selden's briefing at Marine headquarters and it will go on happening for there I hear the remorseless adding machine of war: "First he no end.

Vessel Of Death

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Reports from the remote island of Flores tells of the discovery of a "mysterious vessel of death." Local authorities recently set out by motor launch to investigate stories about a boat which cruised aimlessly along the east coast of Flores.

After a search of several hours they found the boat. It contained six corpses, a Singer sewing machine and a bicycle. The dead could not be identified, and the discovery is still a mystery to the police.

Marines, three dead, enemy assault, the P4U pilot never got out of his plane when it crashed. Send a case of beer to the Korean Marines who captured the prisoners. Tonight four more probing attacks by how Company

Bids Sought On Recreation Hall

Airmen at the Amarillo Air Force Base should not be so eager to get off the base on a night-off—once their proposed service club is constructed. Bids will be opened at 2 p.m., Aug. 21 at the U. S. Army Organized Reserve Corps Armory, Tulsa, Okla., for an "airmen's service club," according to the district engineer, Corps of Engineers, Tulsa.

The club at the Amarillo base will have approximately 25,000 square feet of floor space. Building facilities will consist of a ballroom with stage, game room, lounge, snack bar, kitchen, television room and related features. The building will have concrete floor slabs, hot air heating and four-ply built-up roofing. No government-furnished equipment will be used for installation.

There Is Still Time

The time has come for conservatives of America to halt their wishful waiting for a reformation in the philosophy of the two major parties and take political action of their own in governmental affairs.

If they persist in a futile allegiance to the Republican and Democratic standards they are dividing their strength to no avail.

If any confirmation was needed that the Republicans and Democrats had become two wings of the socialist movement, it was provided in the nomination of John J. Sparkman, the junior senator of Alabama, as the Democratic vice presidential nominee.

Sparkman is purported to be the "sop" to the conservative Democrats by a party that has nominated Adlai Stevenson, a symbol of American-style socialism, as its presidential nominee.

He is best described as a leader of the New South—the South that gives allegiance to every dogma of the leftist Democratic party program except one. Because of regional prejudice against the Negro race—and for that reason only—the Southern socialist revolts at the so-called "civil rights" movement.

Sparkman, like many of the southerners in Congress, has diligently and faithfully walked the New Deal—Fair Deal road in both the House and Senate of the U. S. Congress since 1936. He is not even as vehement as most southern legislators on the subject. He makes no enemies over it; he states simply he is against a federal FEPC law and lets it go at that.

His congressional record, starting with his election in 1936 and through his senate career as successor to the late John H. Bankhead, has been studded with support of Big Government programs. His first speech as a representative was in favor of a bill to subsidize tenant farmers. He was a leader in the program to establish the Tennessee Valley Authority. He was among the first to urge Franklin Roosevelt to seek a fourth term. He did vote for the Taft-Hartley law during the 80th Congress but he later turned around and voted to sustain President Truman's veto.

This ruddy-cheeked politician—genial, popular, cheery, despite his 52 years—is another Alben Barkley. There is still a strong conservative element in the southern states and we suspect the conservatives are a lot stronger in other states of the union than the ballot returns would indicate.

But at this period in American history they are not strong in the political ranks of the major parties. The controllers of the machinery in both parties are obsessed with the desire to win control of the federal administration. The Republican bosses are so gripped with this obsession that they have adopted a formula that the Democrats have made successful over the past two decades. We are not convinced that you can play the other fellow's game and win—but the GOP chieftains are and their organized power is what gives you the party's candidate.

So there is now no home for conservatives in either the Republican or Democratic ranks. You have moderate socialism in the Republican ranks and you have a socialism of not so moderate order among the Democrats.

There is no proper choice there for a conservative. The history of third parties in the United States in the past 100 years has not been brightly successful—but this is not particularly true of their influence. Nor is the evidence of past history necessarily a prediction of the future.

The American Labor Party is dead today but its leaders are the leaders of the Democratic party in the eastern states. The Progressive party lived and died and its leaders put new life into the Republican party in the West and Midwest.

An American Conservative party would attract followers from all walks of American life. It might never win an election but if its principles were sound it might cause a reform in the two major parties from without that it is impossible for divided conservative forces to accomplish from within.

And there would be a voice raised in national politics and presidential campaigns that you will not hear in this year of 1952.

The American socialist who now controls both major parties of this nation is no different in his fundamental concepts than the foreign breed.

He is the man on horseback today. He has come a long way since the mid-Twenties when he was a crackpot on a soap box.

Our complex form of government, with two legislative houses, an executive, and a high court under a Constitution which still grants certain powers to 48 states, has slowed his progress. But if he can march as far in the next 20 years as he has in the past, you can give up hope right now for the American Republic.

The American conservative has lost his voice in the Republican and Democratic parties. It is time he stopped tilting at windmills and began attacking in an organized way his real enemies unless he wants the American dream to die.

The days of Norman Thomas and Eugene Debs and Upton Sinclair are gone. The socialist is no longer the great unwashed who screamed his tirades against Capital in city squares and back alley halls. He has a plush, secure government job.

The socialist leader today lives in executive mansions in Springfield, in Albany, in Lansing. He hails from Hyde Park, Beacon Hill, Harvard and Princeton. He rides in a Cadillac sedan behind a chauffeur and draws monthly checks from the estate of his capitalistic ancestors. Or he holds a $25,000-a-year job for a labor union and makes the sweat of a hard day's work for his brow with a check handed to him by the capitalist.

He is the transient custodian of our government. He is the dispenser of the largesse in the hands of the state. He is still full—until the era of the full-fledged communist.

The Nation's Press

NOT WITH THE SAME EYE (The Wall Street Journal)

The French government the other day demanded an explanation of why the United States refuses to assure France some $625 million of arms and over the next three years.

The French then implied that if we cannot give them what they ask they must fear some terrible things will happen. Paris may have a crisis, with a slowdown in the French arms program, a drop in the value of the franc and, consequently, a refusal of the French to ratify the European army treaty which is part of the program for defending France.

So, there's an impasse. In the words of the French ambassador, Mr. Bonnet, on this matter of how much we give away the two governments of France and the United States do not exactly "see the question with the same eye."

Now the United States has not threatened to cut off all French aid. Our government, at least, is agreed to allot the French $187 million of defense support funds in the current year. It has also tried to explain that the present Administration, even if it chooses not to make a three-year commitment, particularly in an election year, it has given pretty fair assurances, however, that more money will be forthcoming. The French are doubtful. It is sensible of all these practical matters. But viewing the matter with a different eye, they aren't satisfied and demand further "clarification."

This is an old song with an old chorus. We must not only give but we must also give as much as the recipients want. Otherwise we must explain ourselves. It is these receiving countries who do terrible things to themselves.

The last time we had one of these threatened crises in France from a cutback in U. S. aid was in 1947. At that time we were told that our aid was not being given because the Communists, which strikes us as the ultimate in cutting off one's nose to spite some one else.

When there was a similar crisis in Great Britain in 1947, we were told that a devaluation of the pound, a reduction in the free services to British citizens and a reduction in arms effort—all of which would make Britons feel unfriendly toward us and drive them toward the Communist, which strikes us as the ultimate in cutting off one's nose to spite some one else.

It is quite true, of course, that if we keep up the largess we will help France and Britain. As Mr. Bonnet says, the French government cannot build its budget with enough U. S. dollars and that means a stronger franc and a stronger economy. And as British Chancellor of the Exchequer Butler also said, it is doing business with the British can likewise balance its budget and strengthen its pound if it gets sufficient aid from us.

We can do all this by just keeping our own budget completely out of balance and further devaluating the dollar. Which is precisely what we have been doing because our own officials, unlike Mr. Bonnet and Mr. Butler, have not been keeping an eye on our own affairs.

When we started this global aid program we believed that we were going to help the world afloat and in the process make friends for us all over the world. What has actually happened is that we have put a large part of our aid in a position of utter dependence on us and put ourselves in the position of losing all our friends the moment we let up in largess.

On one thing we hope Mr. Bonnet is right. We hope that our officials are doing what they have not seemed to do so far—reviewing our whole foreign aid program with a different eye.

CAMPAIGN ISSUE ON KOREAN WAR
(The Dallas Morning News)
Korea has been pushed off the front page by internal interest in party nominations. But Korea is likely to prove as important a factor in the campaign for the presidency as the personality of the nominees. There is a great deal of blood being spilled in Korea and nothing can wash out its red stain. Also, at least 75 per cent of the blood is American blood.

President Truman, reporting as of Dec. 31 to the United Nations, gave the percentages of forces supplied by his "police action" by the various countries engaged: the United States 50.3 per cent of the ground forces, Korea 40.1, all others 0.6; the United States 85.3 per cent of the naval forces, Korea 7.5, all others 6.6; the United States 93.4 per cent of the air forces, all others 6.6.

Sum up the proportion and for all forces engaged it works out about like this: the United States 76.5, Korea 15.8, United Kingdom 2.6, Canada .5, Turkey .5, all others 3.8.

In his recent interview with United States News and World Report, Mark Clark did not discount the impressive character of the Red build-up under cover of the truce talks. He estimates that in the period of the talks, the Communist strength has been doubled and the accretion used largely to bring divisions engaged up to full strength rather than to add new divisions. He concludes supplies have also been built up.

General Clark reports that there are two usable Red airfields south of the Yalu, but these are not in actual use. The Reds continue to send their planes up from fields north of the river. It must occur to anyone that the enemy sees common sense in basing on fields that we will not bomb rather than from two that we would attack.

Unquestionably the question of how the Korean war is waged would have been stressed to greater extent had Taft or MacArthur been the Republican nominee. But Eisenhower is a practical and successful soldier and is unlikely to ignore the issue.

The men in the front lines do not ignore it now.

Midred—So that's your dog? It looks just like his master.
Clarence—Get honest!
Midred—But he looks more intelligent.
Political Orator—Yes, I have heard the voice of the people calling me to duty.
Mackler—Maybe it was an echo.

Stevenson Warned To Assuage Senator Kefauver's Feelings

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson has been warned by Sen. Estes Kefauver that he must bestir himself to assuage the hurt feelings of the party's problem child.

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, in an opinion of the leaders who had the party's interest in mind, he did not measure up in any respect. He was simply a synthetic, televised figure—an apparition of popular emotion and imagination.

In view of his New Deal-Fair Deal voting record, he would have been no asset in holding a South wavering between the convention's choice and Ike Eisenhower. Dixie's acknowledged and representative spokesmen so informed northern negotiators at the time he had been decided to top the ticket with the Illinois governor.

Secondly, Kefauver's ten years in the House and four in the Senate had not shown him possessed of the qualifications for an office whose occupant "stands only a heartbeat from the presidency."

As in any working establishment, his colleagues on Capitol Hill recognized his utter lack of qualifications for a post whose importance has been increased because there was once a vice-presidential named Harry S. Truman.

BLOCKED—Sam Rayburn is held chiefly responsible for sabotaging their knight of the black plume by the Kefauverites. And, although the Texan swears that he simply pulled the rule book, he hazed the young man in cowboy style. Rayburn first prevented a Tennessee delegate from trying to amend the platform by declaring for a permanent Congressional crime committee. Sam ruled that the request had been made too late. Had the effort been permitted, it might have swung votes to the man who inspired the television attack on the gangsters.

Rayburn also blocked the Kefauver-Douglas move which led to Stevenson during the ballot night—a grandstand play which might have tossed the vice-presidential nomination to the young Senator. Muttering bitterly, Rayburn said that interruption of a roll call for such a purpose was unprecedented.

CONVENIENT—Sam has a poor—or convenient—memory. In 1932, the late William G. McAdoo was permitted to break into the call of states to announce that Texas and California would shift from Garner to Franklin D. Roosevelt, insuring the latter's nomination. Oddly, Rayburn was one of the principal agents in that conspiracy, serving as emissary between "Cactus Jack" and James A. Farley, F.D.R.'s generalissimo.

However, like him or not, Stevenson cannot afford to neglect the angry and unhappy man in the coonskin cap.

Fair Enough... Lesson In Journalism Given Tucson Citizen Club Reporters

By WESTBROOK KEGLER (Copyright, 1952, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

CHICAGO—If sometimes I seem critical of elements of our press for failure to go to the bottom of the story, let me offer the case of Sam Nanni as handled by the Tucson Citizen, the evening paper of the city which is my home.

The citizen has published rapturous articles about Mr. Nanni, who suddenly came to our midst, went into highway construction, ran up a stylish subdivision, added his indorsement of Nanni's appeal for Campagna's parole. Bill Malony, of Chicago, the international president of the Operating Engineers, got a mock-work job for one of his loafers at $25 a day on each rig. Maloney's racket is as bad as the Hodari's and Communist-Laborers. He and Nanni are old pals, too.

In the congressional inquiry into the paroles, Congressman Melvin C. Snyder, of West Virginia, showed that Campagna had done one term for a bank robbery, had been pinched on a gun charge, and was picked up in the murder of two members of the Illinois Legislature, Representatives Prignano and Bolton. Additional Q. and A. goes thus:

Q.—On July 11, 1939, there was a charge against you for espionage as one of the leaders of the Sicilian Camorra to control gambling.
A.—Not that I remember.
Q.—You would remember it if it happened, wouldn't you?
A.—Not my espionage.
Q.—On Aug. 12, 1936, were you arrested and questioned with reference to the Capone gang to control gambling, prostitution and bootlegging?
A.—I may have been. I just don't recall it.

Q.—Will you deny you were arrested?
A.—No, I just don't recollect.
Q.—On Aug. 15, the following day, were you arrested concerning the murder of state Representative Bolton and Prignano?
A.—I may have been arrested, but I never was questioned about any of these representations or whatever it is.

Q.—Were you arrested but discharged in a drive against public enemies?
A.—I don't recall that I was. I know I was arrested once on it but I was discharged.
Q.—On Oct. 8, 1940, there was a warrant for you charging conspiracy to seize the bartenders' union. Were you ever arrested on that charge?
A.—No.

Q.—Then you had this tax lien against you for $468,877 of funds specifically received between 1937 and 1941. Did you ask Sam Nanni to write a letter?
A.—Yes.

Mr. Nanni may entertain Mr. Campagna at the Tucson Country Club and the Old Pueblo Club and put him up for guest privileges or membership.

I thought the cub reporters of the Tucson Citizen should know that it is good policy not to take a stranger at his own evaluation of himself as a philanthropist. You never can tell what a man, while passing down Main Street, was the head by a brick which fell from a building in the process of construction. As soon as he got home and was in bed, the man never let his lawyer know.

Later he received word to call at the lawyer's office and asked: "What new damages did you get for me?"
The lawyer handed the man five new craps $100.00 bills, and added: "I never let his lawyer know."

Man—Two thousand dollars, and you gave me only $500. Say, you got hit on the head with that brick, you or me?
A merchant who was going bankrupt for the seventh time was informed by his accountants that he could pay 5 cents on the dollar. I've always paid ten cents and I'll do this time. I'll pay the rest out of my own pocket.

Impatient man—Could I help you find the number you want? (to the young woman inside the telephone booth after waiting 15 minutes on her line)
Young woman—Oh, I'm not going to the phone. I'm looking for a pretty name for my baby.

A man named Dodgin was recently appointed foreman at a factory, but he was not the foreman to all the employees. One day while on his rounds he came across two men sitting in a corner, smoking, and stepping near them.
One of the Men—Who are you?
New Foreman—I'm Dodgin, the new foreman.
One of the Men—So are we. Sit down and have a smoke.

A retiree was spending his vacation at a camp. One day he asked a farmer who resided near by what he did with such an enormous peach crop. The farmer replied:
Farmer—Well, we eat what we can and what we can't eat we can sell.
Questioner—We do the same thing, brother. We sell what we can't eat, and what we can't sell we can't.

Trying to save money may be costly. Sentenced to death in Leipzig, Germany, was Werner Schoenberg, 28, who murdered his wife to save $5,000, wanted to save the rest of a divorce.

Cake Decorating Studied At Merten HD Club Meeting

Mrs. P. G. Boyd demonstrated cake decorating at a meeting Tuesday of the Merten Home Demonstration Club. Mrs. William T. Cass Jr. was hostess.

Mrs. Boyd baked and decorated cakes and demonstrated use of wax paper, decorators, and mechanical decorations. She gave the following recipe for icing: one egg white, one cup granulated sugar, dash salt. Mix these ingredients lightly in a bowl and add 1-2 cup ROILING water. If the icing is to be used at once, Mrs. Boyd suggested adding four tablespoons powdered sugar.

"For best results," she said, "the cake should be cool before the icing is applied, and the icing should be cool before the cake is decorated."

The mixture for decorating the cake is as follows: three egg whites, one cup powdered sugar. Beat with mixer, add 1-2 teaspoon cream of tartar, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla extract, and add powdered sugar until the mixture holds its shape.

Following the demonstration, Mrs. W. Smith directed games in the absence of Mrs. Clyde Edmondson, recreation chairman. During the business meeting, final plans were made for a luncheon to be held this month in the home of Mrs. A. M. Nash. Guests will be Worthville Home Demonstration Club members: Mrs. Cass, Mrs. D. A. Rife, Mrs. Jack Prather, and Mrs. Nash reported on the purse-making demonstration held last week in the home of Mrs. Emma Osborne.

Lime sherbet and cake were served to Misses J. C. Stewart, T. G. Groves, Rife, Nash, Archie Maness, Lawrence West, W. Day, W. H. Hillard, Emith, Prather, and Miss Linda E. Day.

Mrs. Prather will be the next hostess.

White Deer Story Hour Held For 39 Young People

WHITE DEER (Special) - The Story Hour had an attendance of 39 children when it met Friday. Carolyn Silkwood was awarded a book for bringing the most guests.

Clifton Kelly told the Bible story of "Zacharias" with a Suede Board. Mrs. Leon Nicholson told the "Gingerbread Boy" and "Ugly Duckling."

With only one week remaining in which members of the "Ancient Order of Book V" may receive credit toward a reading certificate, 119 children attended various libraries in Carson County last week with 16 attending at Skellytown; 36 in Groom; 61 in White Deer and 36 in Panhandle.

Grace Friend:

Dear Grace Friend:
I am a young girl with a baby. Before the baby was born my husband left me. He doesn't want anything to do with us. I love my baby but I have made up my mind to give him for adoption.

It would be for his own good as I could never give him a good home with a father to love him. I don't know how to go about getting him adopted. I would like to get it over with fast as the longer I keep him the harder it will be for me.

I would like to find some happy couple that would take him and give him a loving home. Please give me some advice.

Mrs. C.
Why don't you confer with the Children's Home Society and officials there will advise you on how to go about having your baby adopted.

I hope that you have thought the thing over carefully as changing your mind later on would cause much bitterness and unhappiness not only for you but for the baby and the couple who may take him.

You must make up your mind to make the separation final and you must realize that you can never see the baby again. Is that what you want? You will never know where he is or what he is doing, whether he is happy or miserable, well or sick. If you are prepared to put him completely out of your life forever, then see the Children's Home Society.

That makes a man determined to show her how wrong she is. Just because she married a no-good bum doesn't mean all men are like that.

Those two attitudes have been paying off for years in masculine attention and sympathy. They are far more subtle and challenging than a band on the left hand saying: "I'm quite ready to make a new start."

When you air large items like blankets and bedspreads, hang them with their weight distributed over two lines. Blankets should be moved occasionally to avoid line marks.

A new gadget, dreamed up to announce to the world that a widow or divorcee is again eligible for masculine attentions despite the fact she wears a wedding band, is now on the market.

It's a slender ring—resembling a wedding band—except that it bears a triangular setting of black onyx.

Apparently they have overlooked the fact that wearing such a symbol of freedom and willingness to start anew a widow or divorcee would give up her most intriguing technique.

Mrs. Robinson Is Hostess At Meeting Of Worthwhile Club

Mrs. M. L. Robinson was hostess to the Worthwhile Home Demonstration Club when the organization met recently for a business meeting.

Mrs. Roy Tinsley officiated at the business session during which the nominating committee was selected. That committee includes Mmes. A. A. McElrath, Mattie Kees, O. G. Smith, R. E. Engle, and Ray Robertson.

It was decided the August meeting would be canceled, and the next meeting was planned for the first Friday in September in the home of Mrs. O. A. Wagner.

Roll call was answered with "My Experience with Cake Decorating."

Punch and cookies were served to Mmes. Smith, Tinsley, Kees, P. G. Turner, and the hostess.

Cook's Nook
August is a time when we must find ways to cut down on the time spent in our kitchens. We remember how pleasant it is to pour cool, tall glasses of milk and put them on a tray with peanut butter sandwiches for a backyard lunch under a shady tree. We get our recipes for chilled salads, for ice-box desserts. We serve cold cream soups topped with chopped peanuts, and mix mid-afternoon coolers for the children.

One of the most nutritious of these is the peanut butter milk shake. It is virtually a meal in itself. Try it some hot afternoon.

PEANUT BUTTER MILK SHAKE
1-2 cup peanut butter
2 tablespoons honey and sugar
1-2 teaspoons vanilla
1 quart milk
Beat together peanut butter, honey, salt, and one cup milk. When smooth add remaining milk gradually. Add vanilla. Chill. Serves four.

PEANUT BUTTER ICEBOX COOKIES
1-4 cup peanut butter
3-4 cup butter
2 cups dark corn syrup
1 egg
4 to 5 cups flour
1 teaspoon cream of tartar
1 teaspoon soda
1 cup chopped peanuts
Cream butter, syrup and peanut butter, add beaten egg. Mix dry ingredients and add. Add peanuts. Press in refrigerator until chilled. Shape into rolls and return to refrigerator. When firm, slice and bake 10 to 15 minutes at 400.

College girls, returning to the campus, will find life simpler and easier if they pack a wardrobe of easy-to-care-for fashions like these. Trimly-cut Bermuda shorts (left) in clan plaid are all spun nylon. They are washable, wrinkle-resistant and lightweight. Worn with them is a nylon-and-orlon blouse cut like a man's shirt. All spun nylon appears again (center) in this two-piece plaid dress with collarless top and unpressed skirt pleats to lend fullness. On the train going back to school, a coed might wear this two-piece costume (right) in orlon-and-wool. The tailored top has batwing sleeves, the peg-top pockets increase the slimming effect of the wrap-around skirt.

Barbara Evans Is Party Honoree

WHITE DEER (Special) - Mrs. and Mrs. F. E. Evans entertained their daughter, Barbara, with a birthday dinner in their home Sunday, August 3. Those attending were: Mrs. Lura E. Brian of Amarillo, Mrs. John R. Tanner, Carlsbad, N.M., Miss Clara Brian of Santa Monica, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Evans and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Keily of White Deer, Tex., and Mrs. Charles Hager and Johnny of Andice, Texas, and Miss Carolyn Evans of Wayland College in Plainview.

Dr. Frank Kelley announced he would report for Army duty August 11 in Hondo, Texas.

Miss Roy Riley, junior high school art teacher, was vacationing in Mexico City.

A local grocer advertised club seals for 27 1-2 cents a pound. Bread was five cents a loaf, and coffee was 25 cents a pound.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Turner and daughter left for a vacation in Hot Springs, N. M.

White Deer TEL Class Has Meeting

WHITE DEER (Special) - The TEL Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church met recently in the Church basement for the monthly class meeting.

Mrs. C. P. Hussey, president of the class, was in charge of the meeting. After a song, Mrs. J. W. Wells led a devotional on Proverbs 31. Mrs. T. G. Brewton led a prayer, after which the social hour was directed by Mrs. Charles Milligan.

Birthday honoree was the teacher, Mrs. M. E. Wells. The class presented Mrs. Wells a set of pottery dishes and other gifts.

Punch and cookies were served to the following: Mmes. Arthur Kirkwood, J. W. Wells, W. E. Moore, McKeel, Rilla Enoch, G. A. Bell, Walker, Minerva Osborne, Milligan, Jennie Smoot, Mary Edgar, E. L. Colgrove, T. G. Brewton, Hussey and Alma Thornburg.

Giants Grab 5-Hour Tilt; Shantz Gets No. 20

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Even Bobby Shantz' 20th win for the Philadelphia A's takes a back seat today to the "morning after" gossip about the 15-inning thriller between the Dodgers and Giants.

Little Bobby picked a tough night to cop his 20th. It seemed everybody was gunning for a headline. Roberts Hornsby was making his bow as Cincinnati manager with a 4-0 win over Chicago. The New York Yankees were sneaking their old mate, Spec Shea, for the first time since he was traded to Washington, and nipped him 3-2 in a game halted by rain after seven innings.

And then the Giants and Dodgers favorite sparring partners for years, had to hook up in a five-hour struggle that lasted well into the wee hours. Don Mueller finally broke it up with an infield chopper that scored rookie Jim Rhoads as the way from second base for a 7-6 win.

Big Series
Mueller's infield hit scoring Rhoads, while pitcher Chris Van Cuyk threw late to first base, slashed the Dodgers' lead over the Giants to 5-2 games in the opener of a "big" series. Incidentally, it was Mueller's first hit in his last 17 at bats.

The game seemed well half a dozen times. Gil Hodges' grand slam homer in the sixth broke a 0-0 tie, and gave Billy Loos a 4-0 edge over Jim Hearn. But the Giants ended Loos' no-hit dream and scored three in the sixth and tied it in the seventh on George Wilson's pinch homer — his first of the season.

Andy Pafko's 14th homer in the 14th snapped the tie but Bob Elliott hit a pinch homer with two out in the Giants' half to keep the fantastic game alive at 5-5.

Pafko's long fly drove home two wees Rease from third to send the Dodgers out on top in the 15th but the Giants came back to tie on Bob Thomson's run-scoring single and win on Mueller's fluky hit.

Kept On Running
With two out Rhodes simply kept on running and with manager Leo Durocher waving him on, scored standing up while Van Cuyk threw to first trying to get Mueller.

Al Corwin, fifth Giant pitcher who worked only part of the 15th and Van Cuyk who came into the game with one out and one out in the 15th were the winner and loser.

In beating Boston, 5-3, Shantz had to contend with both rain and Red Sox. A storm held up play for one hour and 11 minutes in the first. Home runs by Sam White and Hoot Evers gave Boston its only earned runs.

Cleveland dropped four full games behind the Yanks, splitting a twilight-night double header with Chicago. The Indians won the first 6-0 but lost the second 6-3.

Bob Cain hit the win circle for the first time since June 6, 27 at St. Louis knocked off Detroit, 5-1.

Del Rice's fly ball with the bases loaded in the 12th scored Solly Hemus for the St. Louis Cards' 4-3 nod over Pittsburgh. A twilight-night double header.

Shantz Rated As Best Little Lefthand Pitcher In Major League's Long History

Knuckler Wasn't Working But Wee Bobby Gets 20th

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Mother nature threw a rainstorm and the Boston Red Sox tossed in eight right-hand batters. To top it off Jumbo couldn't control his best pitch.

But none of these deterrents prevented Bobby (Jumbo) Shantz from becoming the major leagues' first 20-game winner of the 1952 season last night as the Philadelphia A's topped the Bostonians, 5-3.

The biggest A's crowd of the season, 35,573, watched, emotionally high-pitched and screaming everytime Shantz threw a strike or got a man out.

The little lefty, who's been called everything from the minuscule southpaw to the mighty atom, was most concerned about the failure of his best pitch—a knuckler—after becoming the first A's pitcher to win 20 games so early in the season since Lefty Grove performed the job in 1931. Shantz has lost three, two to New York and one to Cleveland.

Knuckler Fails
"I couldn't throw my knuckler where I wanted it to go," he said quietly and half-apologetically, relaxing all 139 pounds on a dressing room bench.

"I tried on several occasions to get the darn thing over for strikes but it was no go," the five-foot, six and one-half inch ace added. "So Joe (catcher) Astroth had me mix up my curve with a fast ball on occasions. Then we fasted up on several hitters and that proved to be the right medicine for them."

Shantz ran into a 71-minute delay in the bottom half of the first inning. Rain forced the delay and it looked for a few minutes like the game might be called off. But when the storm subsided the tarpaulins were removed and play resumed.

Then Bobby settled down to run the gamut of the Red Sox right hand packed lineup. He fared well except for Sammy White's blast into the left field stands for four bases in the fifth.

After that Hoot Evers lived a homer into the same sector in the eighth. The other Boston run came on a double by Dom DiMaggio in the sixth followed by a wild throw by shortstop Eddie Joost on George Kell's groundie.

NEW YORK — "Greatest little left hander in major league history" is how veteran baseball observers rate Robert Clayton Shantz.

That's a tall statement to make on a little guy. He is having a great season and his future seems to be ahead of him. He is only 26.

The day Shantz scored his 17th victory—he has been beaten only three times—last night he had won a total of 39 games.

The next day, Shantz, who is listed in the American League Litter Book as 5-7 and 133 pounds, was placed on the scales in the dressing room at Shibe Park in Philadelphia. Fred Humphreys, chief of the Philadelphia Bureau of Weights and Measures, weighed the southpaw from Potstown Pa., at 135 pounds.

The Scales Lied
"You're cheating me a few pounds," Shantz declared. Shantz got back on the scales and tipped the beam at 139 1/2. Then Humphreys announced Shantz's height as five feet 6 1/4 inches.

Humphreys gave Bobby a document making his vital statistics official. Shantz declared that Shantz got back on the scales and tipped the beam at 139 1/2. Then Humphreys announced Shantz's height as five feet 6 1/4 inches.

Shantz, without a doubt the smallest major leaguer to gain pitching greatness in modern times, appears a cinch to win 25 games this season.

National League hitters wonder where the frail little guy came from, for in the recent All-Star game in Philadelphia he struck out Whitey Lockman, Jack Robinson and Stan Musial in succession. Rain prevented Shantz from matching Carl Hubbell's 1933 All-Stars feat of five straight strikeouts.

Others Have Failed
There have been smaller pitchers than Shantz but complete records are unavailable. The Cincinnati Reds twice tried to bring up a 5-4 1-2 southpaw who weighed 150 pounds. He was June Barnes, a native of Churchland, N.C. In 1934 he got in two games but neither won nor lost. Two years later at 38 he failed to make the team.

Mel Wolfgang, an Albany, N.Y. native, spent five years with the White Sox but the best he did was win nine as a 1914 freshman. In the next four years he won only six times.

Bobby Shantz

Dickie Kerr was a little wonder as southpaws go. Some record books list him as 5-7 while others say he was 5-6. He won 21 games and lost nine for the 1920 Chicago White Sox. But he lasted only three seasons. In 1925 he failed in a comeback, losing his only decision.

Incidentally, Giant pitching coach Frank Shellenback says "Shantz is an exact replica of Kerr as to style and stuff." Art Nehf, though only 5-8, was one of the top little pitchers 30 years ago. In 1920 at the age of 28 he won 21 games for the Giants and followed this with 20 and 19 victories, respectively, the next two years. In 15 National League seasons he compiled a 184-119 record.

In the last 16 years there have been a number of small pitchers. Two of them were one-season sensations—Maurino Pieretti, a native of Italy, and Wayne LaMaster of Sellersburg, Ind. After great campaigns as freshmen they faded out faster than the old soldier.

Pieretti, standing 5-7 and scaling 153 pounds, won 14 games as a Washington rookie in 1945 but was a constant loser after that. LaMaster weighed 170 but was only 5-8. He gained 15 decisions for the 1937 Phillies but lasted only two seasons.

Other 5-7 men in recent years have been Frank (Stubby) Overmire, Conrad Marrero, Vic Lombardi, Charles (Max) Wilson, Rene Montaguado and Art (Red) Herrig.

Lombardi Looked Good
Lombardi won 13 for the 1946 Dodgers and, like Shantz, was a fine fielder but failed to improve on his sophomore season. Wilson, a 160-pounder, appeared in 12 big league games for the Phillies and Senators between 1940 and 1946 but his only decision was a loss.

Montaguado, a Havana native, lasted only four years in the majors and had a 2-7 record with the Senators and Phillies.

Herrig won seven games for the 1931 Tigers and seven for the Dodgers both in 1945 and 1946. At 40 he won a game for Brooklyn in 1947.

Marrero, a native of Sagua La Grande, Cuba, is still pitching for Washington at 37. The 158-pounder won 17 and lost 19 the last two seasons. He came up in 1950.

Overmire has been kicking around the majors since 1934. He spent his best years with Detroit but won as many as 11 games only in two campaigns. Baseball will have to go far to find another little package like Shantz. And to think all he cost the Athletics was bus fare to Shibe Park.

There are two kinds of bows, straight and recurved. The first have no curve in the straight bow; they are bent away from the archer in the recurved bow. There also are modified straight and semirecurved bows, but these are only variations. The buyer will have to decide for himself which he wants, but many hunters prefer the straight bow although the recurve usually has a smoother pull.

The pull or draw is the force in pounds required to draw a standard arrow its full length. A bow should not be drawn beyond the length of an arrow, and it should never be released without an arrow on the string. Snapping a bow without an arrow is a good way to break it.

The first and major mistake most persons make when buying a bow is to get one with too heavy a draw. The pull or draw depends entirely upon the individual—his or her height and strength. It is a singular fact, but a deer killed with a bow having a 55-pound pull is just as dead as one slain with a 90-pound bow. Too heavy a draw makes for inaccuracy because the bow is inclined to wobble if the user can't handle it.

It is difficult to advise on the proper length. The most practical thing is to write to the manufacturer stating your height, weight, sex and purpose for which you want the bow. If you must economize, do it on the bow and not the arrows. The cheaper bows will shoot well but vice versa. The best bows are useless if the arrows are no good. A fairly good bow can be purchased for $10, or you can spend $50 or more if you wish.

Brooke Evers Set With Sinton Nine
RINTON (AP) — Brooke Army Medical Center Comets evened the state semi-pro baseball playoffs at one game apiece here last night behind Glenn Mickens' five-hit pitching by walloping the Sinton Oilers, 5 to 3, in 10 innings.

BAMC scored its winning run in the 10th inning when pinch-hitter Ted Adkins hit an infield single run with the bases loaded. Then Mickens walked, adding the insurance run.

Gus Tyndon and Mickens paced the Comets' hitting with two for four apiece.

Zatopek-Nurmi Argument Looms

NEW YORK (AP) — Somehow we had gained the innocent impression that everyone now conceded Emil Zatopek, the sizzling Czech, to be the greatest foot runner of all time, an even more magnificent athlete than fabulous Paavo Nurmi. We have just had our throat jumped down.

"All this talk about Zatopek makes me very tired," the man said with iron in his voice. "Nurmi would have run right up his back. If I hadn't been too busy I would have written something about it."

We suggested, mildly, that he meant he would have backed Nurmi to lick the Olympic sensation at 5,000 and 10,000 meters. After all we pointed out Zatopek won the marathon, too, a distance of ground the Finnish hero never tackled.

"Oh, didn't he?" came the retort. "Paavo only ran the marathon distance a lot faster than I. He had it in for me. He was training for the 1932 Olympics at Los Angeles. Of course, it wasn't in official competition, but the times he set left no question that he would have won it as he passed it. He was nearly 35 then, and he intended to run only in the marathon and win it as his farewell."

In The Files
We recalled vaguely that there was a great hullabaloo when Nurmi was declared ineligible on the eve of the '32 games, having been charged with taking large hunks of "appearance" money, but the business about the marathon had slipped our memory. We since have dug into the files and find this excerpt from an interview giving by Paavo in 1946.

"Only once did I train for a special distance," he said. "That was for the marathon run at Los Angeles. And even today I am annoyed that I didn't get to run in that race and achieve a result which certainly wouldn't be approached even today."

That would seem to leave little doubt of what Paavo had intended to do. In the same interview the Flying Finn refers to a "Paris game" in which he won the 10,000-meter cross country, the 5,000-meter and the 1,500-meter, a feat of versatility which bears comparison with Zatopek's.

"Did you now that Paavo could have run a four-minute mile?" demanded the man who started this thing. "Well, he could have any time he wanted to. I saw him in nearly every race he ran over here and I'm absolutely convinced of it. The trouble was that Paavo wasn't interested in setting records for distances. The epitome of running to him was to see how far he could go in a given period — a half-hour, an hour, two hours."

Any Czechs or others wishing minor revisions, Colorado, Louisiana, New Florida and Puerto Rico, should address Alan J. Gould, executive editor of The Associated Press, New York City. Leave us out of it.

Official Rules Of Golf

Before you play, you must be able to identify your own ball—on the first tee, notice the marking on your ball and remember it. And, you should also decide whether you're going to play match play or stroke play.

The only official rules of golf are those approved by the United States Golf Association and the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews, Scotland. But, sometimes they are in little confusion to a beginner golfer, so here are the basic rules simplified.

(A copy of the booklet, "The Easy Way To Learn Golf Rules" may be obtained by mailing ten cents to National Golf Foundation, 617 S. Dearborn, Chicago 5, Ill.)

Plumbing Code Widely Adopted
Latest reports show that 41 cities have adopted the national plumbing code outright or with minor revisions. Colorado, Louisiana, New Florida and Puerto Rico have incorporated the code in their regulations. Some 46 other cities are revising outdated building codes, using the National Plumbing Code as a model and guide.

Gunners sometimes object to the special archery seasons or reserves set aside for archers, saying that it makes a privileged class of them and spoils the gun hunting. It does no such thing, and there is plenty room for both. In fact, the average archer also is a gun hunter. The kill of deer by hunters is much in proportion to the number of archers. Another objection—that arrows would more than they kill — doesn't hold water. Outdoor writer Bill Wolf has said "I think I would rather be hit by a deer killed with a bow than a sharp broadhead arrow."

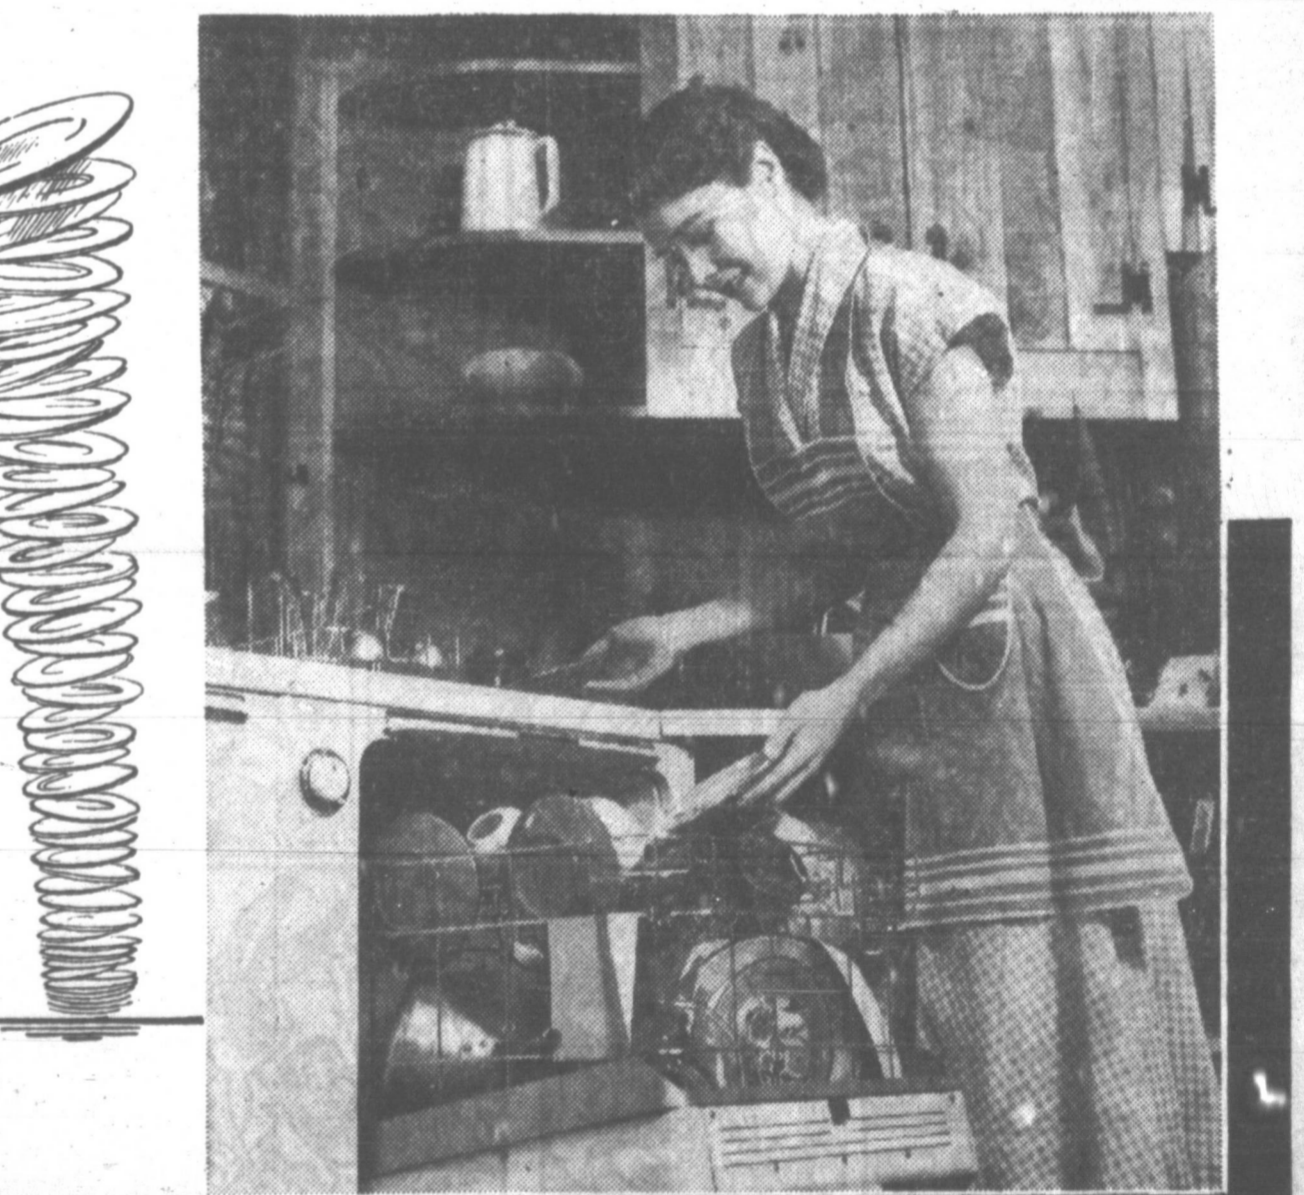

There are two kinds of bows, straight and recurved. The first have no curve in the straight bow; they are bent away from the archer in the recurved bow. There also are modified straight and semirecurved bows, but these are only variations. People said:
"No, she won't—yes, she will."

Then I got Conoco's NEW 1-2-3 "50,000 Miles No Wear" Service!

Now smart, young Li climbs every hill, thanks to one of the greatest services ever offered the motoring public—a service that helps engines last longer, perform better, use less gasoline and oil!

It's exactly the same service that kept test cars new in Conoco's spectacular "50,000 Miles—No-Wear" road test!

In that famous 50,000-mile test, with 1,000-mile drains and proper filter service, test car engines showed no wear of any consequence; in fact, an average of less than one one-thousandth inch on cylinders and crankshafts. Gasoline mileage for the last 5,000 miles was actually 99.77% as good as for the first 5,000.

Now you can get this same 1-2-3 "50,000 Miles—No Wear" Service, at your Conoco Mileage Merchant's today!

MARILYN MONROE: She's out in front in the new trend.

THEY'RE REVAMPING: Three of yesterday's Sunbonnet Sues display Hollywood's New Look, which is self explanatory: Left to right, former Quiz Kid Vanessa Brown; Joanne Dru, and Anne Baxter.

Hollywood Hoffer Than Ever; Sex Is Making A Comeback

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — The girl just-like-the-girl-next-door who was glorified by the movies during the serious days of World War II has become the 1952 face on Hollywood's cutting room floor.

The newest thing in town, now that they're putting zip back into the boxoffice to compete with TV, is the pre-war brand of movie queen with the flip quip, the free wheeling hips and the bedroom eyes.

Out in front in more ways than one are two new zippy blondes—Marilyn Monroe and Hungarian born Zsa Zsa Gabor.

Revamping as racy, eyelash batting sex appeal artists are the Sunbonnet Sues of yesterday's movies—Teresa Wright, Olivia de Havilland, Nancy Olson, Diana Lynn, Mona Freeman, Barbara Hale, Anne Baxter, Joanne Dru—and even former Quiz Kid Vanessa Brown.

The fresh-faced, wholesome young things swimming on garden gates no longer are boxoffice. Now it's the survival of the sexiest.

The big change is all a matter of dollars—your dollars that have stopped rolling into theater box-offices. Television competition and the high price of living sent the studios as well as theater exhibitors into a panic.

Wilbur Lyons, fire marshal. A constitution and by-laws were adopted and a plan set up for two drills monthly, beginning September. Eighteen men were present for the meeting.

Something had to be done. Somber, arty movies and movies with a message were junked. Hollywood remembered that Sex was big boxoffice when the movies were young and gay. So now it's back to sex and glamour and gaiety to win back a last movie audience.

When a subdued, placid emotee like Anne Baxter, bleaches and becomes a gay, outspoken belle—even to wearing just a few beads and a diamond in her navel when she dreams she's Cleopatra in a new movie—it's obvious big things are happening.

Here's Anne whispering her reasons:

"I've never been the cold, distant, intellectual person that people think I am. It's just that when I signed for Fox, Hollywood was getting dignity pangs. 'Actresses were being lady-like all over the place. There was a war on and Hollywood was being sold as a serious industry full of serious people. It was the pattern of Hollywood. I said to myself, 'Baxter, you'd better keep your mouth shut.' So I let them publicize me as a cold potato. I wish I had had the courage to say no when they started photographing me with pumpkin pies. I never baked a pie in my life. I should have thrown those pies in somebody's face. I will the next time."

Joining Anne in the rush to low necklines, oomph and wolf whistles are Mona Freeman, who becomes a bright and snappy doll in love with Bob Mitchell in "The Murderer," all-American girl Barbara Hale, who forsakes the family fireside role for a romance with a half breed in UT's "Seminole," little Diana Lynn, who put her hair and her neckline down as a TV actress and now plays an aggressive, predatory female opposite Dan Dailey in "The Great Companions."

Mrs. Church Mouse herself — Ann Elyth — is in the glamour act with Gregory Peck in "The World In His Arms"; Nancy Olson, once billed as Wholesome Olson, now wants to be known as Nasty Olson.

Ex-Quiz Kid Vanessa Brown is posing for cheesecake photographs and buzzing around in negligees in MGM's "Tribute to a Bad Man."

No more "Snake Pit" or "Hellcats" type roles for Olivia de Havilland. She's gone sexy, too, as the heroine of "My Cousin Rachel." Jane Wyman's taken off "The Blue Veil" and has gone back to leg art, recording hot blues songs and hoofing in musicals. Dorothy Lamour's back in a sarong; dramatic queen Eleanor Parker turned on the oomph in "Scaramouche."

Even Jane Russell has made a switch. As an added attraction Hollywood has discovered her legs, encased them in black silk and snapped on a red garter.

Jennifer Jones is back to the eyebrow lifting romances of "Duel In The Sun" in "Ruby Gentry." Piper Laurie's gone Mae Westish as Ty Power's leading lady in "Mississippi Gambler."

Jeanne Crain and Sally Forrest are rebelling at placid sweet little girl roles and even Lassie, the sure, is straining at the leash.

Just because she's a mother

ZSA ZSA GABOR: Movies with a message were junked.

didn't stop Joanne Dru from kicking over the traces. She's forgetting the dignified family life publicity and going after the sexy doll roles. Says Joanne:

"Actors were right in the silent days when they kept their family life a secret from the public. I suppose it's wonderful and all that to achieve a happy home life in Hollywood. But people like to think of stars as creatures from some other planet. The minute they know there are a lot of kiddies around the house and that you are wiping their noses, the glamour is gone."

Yes, sex and glamour are back in Hollywood and the sound of falling shoulder straps is deafening.

NEXT: Marilyn Monroe, Jean Harlow's successor.

Bicycle Wheels Youths' Downfall

In an episode reminiscent of Keystone Kops days, two Pampa youngsters bought some used bike tires and wheels, found a stolen bike with better tires and wheels, swapped theirs for the ones they found—and got caught.

As pieced-together by H.A. Doggett, county juvenile officer, this is the way it went. Two youngsters, 14 and 15, bought two tires and two wheels for $2.75. They happened upon a stolen bike behind the O. K. Tire shop, 918 Alcock. It had the same light green, 26-inch wheels and tires that they had just bought—only they were better. So they swapped.

Meanwhile, Jimmy Roland, 12, of 317 N. Davis, was riding around town in a car with his brother, trying to find his stolen bike. He found it behind Wilson's Drug Store, 300 S. Cuyler. But a quick check convinced him the wheels and tires were not his. So he notified Doggett.

Is Fined For Assault

A man sentenced Saturday to 30 days in county jail on a charge of aggravated assault has been released.

Wm. Dickerson, 43, of W. Wilks, had a fine of $50 and costs paid for him by his employer, according to the sheriff's office. And he has been released under a 30-day suspended sentence.

Pampan Is Charged In Berger Accident

A Pampa man has been charged reports Highway Patrol, with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor and with recklessly driving as an aftermath to a flaming two-car collision Monday night on Hwy. 152, about two miles east of Berger.

James Patrick Brown, Pampa, collided with the rear of a car driven by Van Hamilton Foster, Skitex Camp, Berger, resulting in a broken leg for Foster's daughter, Judy Lynn Foster, 9. Foster's car caught fire and the flames were extinguished by members of the Berger Fire Department.

Neither Brown nor his passengers suffered injuries.

Pays Two Fines Here

Mary Collier Sailor, Pampa, paid two fines of $14 each Tuesday in justice of the peace court on charges of operating a motor vehicle without a valid driver's license and failing to stop at a state-maintained stop sign.

According to Highway Patrol, Mrs. Sailor had failed to come to a halt at the stop sign marking the intersection of a county road with Hwy. 273, which is 1.9 miles southeast of Pampa's south limits. The offense occurred July 30. Officers found that she did not possess a driver's license.

Wife Solves Baffling Problem

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — University of New Mexico scientists got out their Geiger counters, their laboratory equipment and their microscopes.

For days they studied the mass of black, porous material sent to them as the possible remains of one of the mysterious green fireballs. It was sent to them by a Macon, Ga., school teacher who said it apparently landed on her sidewalk in liquid form.

Finally, desperate, Dr. Lincoln

La Paz, head of the university's Institute of Meteorites, showed the stuff to his wife. Mrs. La Paz looked and sniffed and then proved: You can puzzle a scientist but you can't fool a housewife when it comes to burned toast. Read The News Classified.

THANK YOU

I wish to thank not only my many friends who voted for me in the first primary but also those who have called me since then and assured me of their support in the run-off on August 23.

To all of you I am sincerely thankful and will appreciate your continued support for County Judge.
