Nixon Funds Cast Pall Over Ike Drive

Superforts Sear Commies

For Only $300 . . .

Robots Answer Bombing Woe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy today sees in its "pilotless suicide planes" a possible $300 answer to its level bombing, a special problem that has been costly in lives in Korea.

That $300 is the approximate cost given by the Navy representative for converting a $60,000 obsolete plane — of which the Navy has thousands in mothballs — into a needed weapon in the mountainous terrain of Korea.

Several Navy representatives said in interview, is the reason for Navy enthusiasm over the latest news in air warfare — Navy robot planes equipped with television eyes and a $2,500 pound range of enemy anti-aircraft fire — and the Navy admits this has been effective.

Navy spokesmen now describe the converted Grumman Helicat fighter, such as was catapulted Sept. 1 from the aircraft carrier Boxer, as so efficient that it can be directed into a railway tunnel. They said this was done with one of the pilotless craft.

The Helicat used in the first combat test lambasted a target 150 miles from the carrier. But Navy representatives said its television-guided robots would have a range of about 900 miles — and need not be within sight of a remote control "mother" plane.

At Pearl Harbor, the commander of the carrier task force which launched the first robot attack on North Korea hinted the explosion might have been seen in Soviet Russian territory.

Navy officials, meanwhile, were investigating the use of classified information in the press dispatches about the initial robot strike in Korea. They said that, so far as they could determine, only one disclosure had been made.

Southland Blasts Switch By Byrnes

ATLANTA (AP) — Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina drew sharp criticism from many Southern Democrats by his decision to vote for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for president.

The 73-year-old Byrnes, a former secretary of state and associate justice of the Supreme Court, bolted the party he has supported for a lifetime yesterday with the assertion:

"I shall place loyalty to my country above loyalty to a political party."

Perhaps the strongest rebuke came from Byrnes' own state. At Columbia, S. C. state Democratic campaign headquarters declared the governor "has turned his back on and deserted" South Carolina Democrats.

"Democrats of South Carolina have gladly bestowed upon Gov. Byrnes many offices and honors, but they have not conferred upon him the right to dictate how they shall vote, and they never will."

Some leaders in both parties, however, praised the action and saw in it a great benefit for the GOP standard-bearer in the South.

Claude O. Vardaman, Alabama state Republican chairman, cheered Byrnes for "taking the high road."

John A. Pritchett, a Tennessee Republican leader, termed the Byrnes announcement "a certain indication that South Carolina will be found in the Eisenhower camp in November."

Gov. Robert Kennon of Louisiana, who has already gone to Eisenhower, declared the announcement "means that South Carolina along with Texas and Louisiana, can be considered probable Eisenhower states."

At the same time Chairman Allen Ellender (D-La.) said in New Orleans that the Senate Agriculture Committee will meet here Tuesday to consider a report on an investigation of the shortages, conducted earlier this year.

"It's a pretty good report and the public is entitled to see it," Aiken said. "I would not change more than a dozen words in it and that would be only for clarification."

Aiken, who previously had complained of not being able to get a look at the report, said he received a copy this week marked "confidential" with a request by Chairman Ellender that the document not be made public or even shown to senators' office assistants.

Aiken said most of the losses were in government grain accumulated under farm price support program and stored by Agriculture Department agencies with private warehouse and elevator operators.

U.N. Troops Tackle Reds On Hilltops

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — B-29 Superforts today seared Communist targets on Korea's east coast with 300 tons of fire bombs in their first daylight raid in nearly a year.

Thirty-three B-29s from Jablazing attack on Red installations near the port of Hung-han.

Along the battlefield, U.N. soldiers fought grimly to break a new Chinese foothold on Old Baldy Hill in one of four bloody flareups.

Brig. Gen. Wiley D. Ganey, boss of all B-29s in the Far East, personally led the late afternoon strike against Red barracks and stockpiles along North Korea's main coastal railway. The planes used electronic aiming equipment to drop clusters of fused incendiary bombs through the clouds.

East Sabre jet interceptors flew over the giant bombers. U. N. fighter-bombers hammered at the Reds in support of ground troops in furious Western front battles.

The U. S. Eighth Army said a battalion of screaming Reds about 800 men stormed the crest of Old Baldy hill, a Communist attempt to recapture the Western Front hill.

"Nobody can claim all of Baldy," a frontline U. N. officer said after Allied and Chinese troops grappled through the night and morning. The crest, he said, was a "scene of confusion."

U. N. tanks slogging the south slope raked the crest with shells as Allied soldiers inched up the east and west slopes against withering fire from Red big guns.

The remnants of the attacking battalion clung to the north face. Allied planes lashed at the surrounding area to keep back reinforcements.

The hill west of Chorwon changed hands four times in July and was captured Aug. 1 by the U. S. Second Division.

To the west, northwest of Yonchon, two Chinese companies "attacked from all sides" and overran an Allied outpost hill, the Eighth Army said.

U. N. soldiers called in air-bursting artillery over their own positions when the Chinese charged atop their bunkers.

On the Central Front, the Reds made two fierce but futile attempts to recapture South Korean positions on Finger Ridge.

Polio Grip Expected Worst In History

NEW YORK (AP) — Polio is grimly marching toward its worst year in the nation's history.

The expectation is at least 50,000 cases this year — far above 1949's record 42,366.

Twenty-one states have epidemic rates. Localized outbreaks flare in towns and counties elsewhere. Eight of 57 residents of Prue, Okla., have polio.

Some schools in at least nine states have delayed openings. One or two others cancelled football practice. In Lock Haven, Pa., all churches, movies and bars were closed for a time; schools still are shut.

Tragedies compounded in dozens of families. Polio struck 11 or 12 youngsters in one family, all eight in another with one boy dying; six children in another.

In Milwaukee, Paul Linenmann, 16, complained of shoulder aches after a game on Saturday. His 4-year-old sister died the next night.

Polio is claiming more teenagers than young adults, but the bulk of victims still are the 5-12 age group. Los Angeles General (See POLIO, Page 2)

Adlai Launches New Barrage Of Taunts At Republicans

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Gov. Adlai Stevenson replied today to Republican criticism of his political gibes with a new barrage of quips, taunts, digs and jabs.

He heaped coals of ridicule on the Republicans—but his jokes were designed to prove his basic campaign arguments.

Moving through New England, the Democratic presidential candidate told an audience in a prepared speech at Springfield, that the GOP has not an affirmative campaign

"To my considerable surprise, they are now saying that the central issue of our time is humor."

His GOP presidential opponent, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, recently said a presidential campaign "is no laughing matter," and implied Stevenson is making light of serious matters.

Stevenson said the initials, GOP stand for "Grouchy Old Passimists."

Sen. Robert A. Taft — who Stevenson claims has forced Eisenhower into an "object surrender" — is the only happy man in the Republican ranks now, the governor said.

"Judging by the pictures, Sen. Taft seemed vastly entertained by their recent conversation in New York. I have never seen such a contented smile since the cats swallowed the canary."

Hammering away at that theme, Stevenson said that if the general is elected, "Eisenhower may be in the White House, but Taft will be in Blair House and Gov. Thomas Devey will be in dog house."

Blair House is the alternate base his opinion on the flow of oil men, however, do not feel Stuart Miller of Oil Well Supply felt that the petroleum industry had got back on its feet thought, for he said, little pipe was expected to be channeled back to the cus-

Democrats Demand Californian Pull Out

ABOARD EISENHOWER SPECIAL (AP)— Disclosure of Sen. Richard Nixon's non-official California expense account cast a pall today over Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's campaign drive, as it rolled south through Nebraska.

However, the general, late this morning, abandoned a grim-faced silence about the revelations involving his vice presidential running mate, and declared that he regarded Nixon as an "honest man."

There was no doubt many of the general's associates regarded the matter as a serious political setback. There was some talk — not shared publicly by the Republican presidential nominee's top advisers — that Nixon should be asked to take himself off the ticket. Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell said Nixon should quit the race.

However, Eisenhower, through James Hagerty, press secretary, issued the following statement as the train approached Nebraska City:

"I have long admired and applauded Sen. Nixon's Americanism, and his determination to drive Communist sympathizers from offices of public trust.

There has recently been leveled against him a charge of unethical practices. I believe Dick Nixon to be an honest man. I am confident that he will place all the facts before the American people fairly and squarely.

"I intend to talk with him at the earliest time we can reach each other by telephone."

Previously, in a stop at Plattsmouth, Neb., the stern-faced general had ignored the Nixon incident in addressing a train-side crowd of about 500 persons.

In California where he is campaigning, Nixon denounced as a "political smear" Mitchell's statement that it was "morally wrong" for the GOP senator to draw on a $5,000 to $17,000 expense fund set up by business men in his state.

Dana C. Smith, Pasadena attorney who acted as trustee, said the fund was raised because the $2,500 expense money allowed Senator Nixon was not enough for one from a state as large and populous as California. He said no donor had ever asked Nixon for "special favors."

Nixon said in a statement the money was used for buying extra clerical help, travel expense, printing of speeches and documents and for postage.

It was evident that the Nixon disclosures were embarrassing to Eisenhower, who has been pounding away on his midwestern tour against what he charges is corruption in government and promising that the Republicans would "restore integrity" to federalism if elected.

He was expected to continue these charges in four Nebraska and one Missouri speeches before a major speech on the subject in Kansas City, Mo., tonight.

Through his press secretary, James Flaherty, representatives declined any comment on the Nixon matter.

However, one of his advisers who asked not to be quoted by name, told reporters he regarded the political implications as "murder."

If this news was disappointing, however, the announcement of Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina that he will vote for Eisenhower was heartening.

Byrnes said in a statement in Columbia, S. C. that he believes Eisenhower is the man best qualified to "clean up the mess in Washington" and to bring the country out of another world war.

Area Oil Industry Still Feels Adverse Effects Of Steel Strike

Despite a U. S. Labor Department report that industry has made a rapid recovery from the recent pipe welder strike, some members of the Pampa area oil industry still feel the steel strike, he insisted.

Miller thought that the only pipe that would be delivered this year would be "extra" — was that which had been ordered or last summer or earlier fall.

Only now, he summed up, are companies taking orders for the first quarter of next year.

Martin Lederman, an engineer with West Pampa Reinsuring Association, said the same opinion as Miller did.

"has not let the oil business pick the auto inspection law may be effect the first of this year. License plate numbers may be put in the bank by the operator of the vehicle after he buys the plates.

Activity At Airport Described As Slow

Activity at Perry LeFors Field, the county's new airport, is continuing along slowly but surely, according to Wayland Merriman, county engineer.

The aprons and taxiways asphalt coatings are in the process of being shot, he reports. And he thinks that the work should be completed by Saturday.

The landing lights still have not been connected, he said but they, too, should be in operation sometime Saturday.

Approval of the new field by the government should be accomplished the first of next week, he thought.

The condition of the old field Pampa Municipal Airport can be described as completely inactive. Just a few private planes still remain; Cabot has even moved its plane to Burger for this interim period.

The old field is "just there because it's not somewhere else," he commented.

New Car Inspection Procedure Cited

People buying new cars and trucks need an auto inspection sticker before licenses can be bought, he has been advised to get the car inspected and have the station license space blank for the license number.

This announcement was made by Edward Burchell, inspector with the state department of public safety, Amarillo, while in Pampa on tour of inspection stations.

New license plates can not be issued by the county tax office until a vehicle has been officially inspected, Burchell pointed out. This is in compliance with the auto inspection law put into effect the first of this year.

License plate numbers may be put in the bank by the operator of the vehicle after he buys the plates.

Byrnes criticized the position of Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois on civil rights and other issues.

Eisenhower had no comment on Byrnes' stand, but it was hailed with the aid in San Francisco by Republican Govs. Earl Warren of California and Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland.

The Nixon situation, with which his aides already had been acquainted, was credited with contributing to Eisenhower's grim appearance as he delivered a major farm speech here last night.

Band Officers For Lefors Are Elected

LEFORS (Special) - Herbert Wall, junior, was chosen president of the Lefors High School band recently in an organizational meeting.

Genevieve Thurmond, sophomore, was named vice-president; Margaret Cobb, junior, secretary-treasurer; and Jimmy Roberts, freshman, and Triva Still, seventh grade, sergeants-at-arms.

Desmond Brewer is band director.

Stevenson's speech here indicated he believes he has stung the Republicans with his incessant denials.

The governor spoke last night at Hartford, Conn., where 3,800 people filled to capacity the Bushnell Auditorium.

There - and he was not joking - he said: "In recent weeks, my distinguished opponent has adopted the singular theory that a candidate for president should support all state and local candidates on his party ticket - good, bad, indifferent or worse, and regardless of their views and records."

Teed Tells Lions Ordinance Change 'Is Most Important'

A local attorney, Arthur Teed, has told the weekly meeting of the Lions Club that he is in favor of putting Pampa's city government back in the hands of the people.

Teed spoke in favor of the proposed city charter amendment which would, if approved in the election Oct. 4 - take away the ward system of voting for city commissioners and revert to the present 1917 practice of voting for each commissioner by the city-at-large.

Boss Lion Joe Donaldson emphasized that representatives of both sides of the hotly-contested issue had been invited to speak at this week's meeting. An opponent of the measure, however, failed to show up.

Teed maintained that this was "one of the most important issues ever to face Pampa." He related a little of the city's history - how it had adopted his charter in 1927 and had gone along on the principle of city-wide elections for 20 years, and how well things were, even after the charter had been amended in 1947.

"The city was still OK," he said, "when Fred Paronto and Bill Ballard represented Wards 3 and 4 - and only after they were defeated did the issue of sectionalism come to the fore."

The crux of the proposed amendments, he summed up, was to have the mayor and the commissioners elected by staggered terms by all the people.

At next week's meeting, it was announced, the guest speaker would be Howard (Slim) Forbes, whose Washington news bureau serves a number of Southern newspapers.

Officials signed a letter stating the couple deserved cooperation and support. Letters were brought out in an investigation made by

POLIO

Hospital reports at least a dozen healthy babies born to polio-stricken mothers in iron lungs.

March of Dimes aid is flowing out by the millions of dollars to pay bills, to supply iron lungs, to pay for special nurses tending critically ill children and adults.

These are highlights of a national picture of polio, as gathered by Associated Press surveyors, and late-minute reports from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, and U. S. Public Health Service.

By Sept. 13, the nation had 21,391 cases of polio, as against 28,060 at the same time in the "worst year" of 1949.

The big worry is yet unanswered: Has polio reached its peak yet this year?

In 1949, polio reached a peak in mid-August with a decline in new cases each week thereafter.

Usually, there are just as many new cases as were before. Unless something happens to dampen down the spread, the nation could even have 60,000 cases this year.

It looks as though we must anticipate over 60,000 cases for 1952, says before 50,000 cases for 1951, Foundation Medical director. There are 20 cases per 100,000 population.

Louis Armstrong Plays High But Keeps His Thinking Low

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Hepcats today agree that Louis Armstrong has only one rival as a trumpet player — and he's out of this world.

He's an angel named Gabriel, and some Armstrong fans say: "Satchmo can take his horn with him when he goes, he'll blow some notes even old Gabe never heard."

At 52 "Satchmo" — a contraction of Satchel Mouth — shows no interest in making that long vertical journey just to join Gabriel in a jam session. He is a sage, and he's still having the time of his life.

The bugle he started with long ago has turned into a golden horn — the 15 cents he got for his first night's playing has been followed by many a $15,000 week.

And he enjoyed his old honky-tonk days as much as his later years in famous Carnegie Hall. Probably even more.

Wants To Keep On Going
"I got peace of mind," he said. "I'm able to do my work, get my pay, and eat — and all I want to do is keep on going. I been blowing that horn 39 years and I never looked back once. You can live on this earth without putting all the time."

"I bet I made more than a million dollars, but I don't know. I just blow that horn and let my manager count the money. When a man's in love, what else can he want?"

Louie, who is also called "Pope," is in love with what he is doing, and his remark about making a million dollars is the understatement of the year. Besides his band income, Armstrong figures he has made some 2,500 records — "more than any musician alive."

Wrapping a towel around his whale-rivalling abdomen — he weighs nearly one-eighth of a ton now — he sat down in his tuxedo dressing room and recalled how as a skinny boy of 13 he blew chow call on his bugle in a Negro waifs' home in New Orleans.

It those days when a jazz artist really got in the groove, he started "moppin' the brow," and the more handkerchiefs he had to mop the perspiration with the more prosperous he was.

Today Satchmo is the laundryman's best friend — he used 60 to 70 handkerchiefs on a busy day, and he never has to mop his brow with the same one twice in a row. To him that is the great luxury of his success.

Satchmo said a band, like an army, travels on its stomach. "Ead stomachs and not enough sleep have ruined more good bands than bad music," he said. His solicitude for his own vast stomach has a maternal quality, and he can fall asleep "even with the dentist drilling on my teeth."

You Got To Live
Armstrong says there are only two things that make a fine musician — ability and living. "We can all take the book and go 'do-re-me,'" he said, "but you got to find the other notes yourself, and that takes time. You got to live. It takes years."

"The higher I go on that trumpet the lower I think, so's I won't split a high note. I look up with my eyes, but I think low."

Satchmo soon is leaving for his fifth tour of Europe, where, if anything, he is even more popular than in his homeland. On a previous visit to Rome, Satchmo, who is a Baptist, had an audience with the Pope while wearing his favorite good luck charm around his neck — a gold six-pointed star, a Jewish emblem.

"What's wrong with that?" Satchmo demanded, when friends joked about it afterward. "The Pope didn't mind. The Pope is proud of his audience with the Pope, and of one other thing: 'I got credit on Broadway.'"

Officers Named By Classes In McLean High School
McLEAN (Special) — Classes in McLean High School chose officers and managers in recent class meetings, with girls showing a slight favoritism over boys in the selection.

Seniors chose Eddie Reeves as president and serving with him will be Don Smith, vice president; LaVerne Williams, recording secretary; LaJune Chilton, corresponding secretary; Billie Sue Pettit, treasurer; and Bethy Manthorpe, reporter. Vernon Gibson, Vocational Agriculture teacher, and Mrs. Dee Coleman, home-making teacher, were chosen as class sponsors.

David Wilson will guide the activities of the junior class assisted by Christine Hurlie as vice president; Barbara Williams, secretary; Kenneth Wilson, treasurer; and June Stubbfield, reporter. James Bunch, math instructor, and Miss Betty Lynch of the commercial department will sponsor this class.

The sophomore class chose James Jolly as president with Don Trew as vice president; Gene Havens, secretary; and Wayne Woods, treasurer. As sponsors they chose Wayne Hill and Mrs. June Story.

Jackson's Hermitage Shielded

By CLIFTON PAISLEY
AP Newscaster
NASHVILLE, Tenn. — The 150,000 or more persons who have visited Andrew Jackson's familiar home, the Hermitage, this summer saw the place just as Old Hickory left it on June 7, 1845.

For this fact they can thank a determined group of Nashville women. Sixty-three years ago, the Ladies Hermitage Association was formed to fight off a plan to convert the Hermitage into a Confederate home.

From time to time the ladies have sent out flying squadrons to combat other moves to convert the old shrine to practical uses. But their main work has been to rescue the Hermitage from dilapidation and preserve it through the years.

This long-range campaign is now paying off in more financial security for the old estate than it has ever had, even during the occupancy of its famous tenant. Last year there were 157,487 paying guests and this year sponsors expect more. With the admission fee newly doubled from 25 cents the Hermitage is now able to put aside a reserve for lean years.

Vies With Mount Vernon
The heavy attendance making the Hermitage, next to Mount Vernon, the most popular shrine of the sort in the nation — can be traced to an insistence upon authenticity. The old mansion is brick for brick just as Jackson rebuilt it after a fire in 1835.

Visitors therefore will find the Hermitage looking just like the Hermitage did when Sam Houston rode the cedar-lined driveway one Sunday in June, 1845. The interior, too, has the same furniture.

The former president of the Texas Republic arrived just a few minutes too late that day to grasp the hand of his old military chief. He had planned to tell Jackson all about a decision to bring Texas into the Union.

A worry that Texas was going to join Great Britain had been pestering the 77-year-old Jackson as he withered away with sickness. A few months before, he had written a friend: "We cannot bear that Great Britain have a Caneby on our west as she has on our north."

But Houston was told when he pulled up at the gate that Jackson had died only a few minutes before.

Today visitors find few rooms in the Hermitage more entrancing than the one in which Old Hickory died beneath the portrait of his beloved Rachel. The Hermitage caretaker, Andrew J. (three guesses what the "J" is for) Baker, says the coming of the automobile is what made possible the maintenance of the Hermitage. Before the automobile had good roads the old estate, 12 miles from the heart of Nashville, was considered remote and seldom visited.

Baker is the son of a man who was caretaker for 45 years. Born in the Hermitage himself, this 55-year-old man recalls that in the days of the Lugey there was only a trickle of traffic to the Hermitage.

Even before formation of the Ladies Hermitage Association the Hermitage narrowly escaped disaster one or more times. When the state of Tennessee bought the 500-acre property for $48,000 in 1856 it proposed, at the suggestion of Governor Andrew Johnson, that the United States establish a branch of its military academy there.

Congress apparently took a dim view, however, of setting up a branch of West Point in the heart of what soon was to become the Confederacy. Nothing came of the move although a Congressional committee approved it.

Various legal heirs of Jackson remained on the property for years after his death but the property became badly run down. Garden Became Pasture
During the Civil War, Federal Gen. George H. Thomas threw his cavalry guard round the estate to protect it from the swirling tides of battle. That was fine, except that the cavalry animals were let loose to forage in the formal garden where Andrew and Rachel lay buried.

The garden suffered again during the winter of 1961 when a severe ice storm and sub-zero temperatures nipped and destroyed many priceless box plants. After the last of the Jackson heirs left the place in 1887 the proposal came before Tennessee's Legislature that the Hermitage be converted into a Confederate home.

That stirred the Nashville women into action. They sent brigades of lobbyists before the Legislature to protest. The Ladies Hermitage Association was only partly successful. Although it got possession of the Hermitage a part of the property was reserved for a soldiers home which was built and used until 1934.

Nation Slips From Under War Controls

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP) — The nation is fast wriggling out from under the controls imposed after the Korean War started a big defense build-up.

Price controls have disappeared from most items in common use because increased output brought their prices below the ceilings. Wage ceilings have been pierced several times. And many businessmen regard wage controls as no longer effective.

Bureaucrats Caught

There erupted onto page one of the nation's newspapers the other day two stories which never should have gotten that big a play.

The fact that they did is due to one thing — secrecy. In one story the Federal Trade Commission charged that an international oil cartel — five American and two foreign companies — controlled the amount of production and the prices of most of the world's oil.

In the other a Senate subcommittee accused the Army of holding back information on this country's scandalously expensive air base program in North Africa.

The 189,000-word report on the oil business had originally been labeled secret by the government. Some of it was finally shaken loose after pressure by members of Congress. But a lot was blue-penciled and will forever remain secret as far as the public is concerned.

The air base story, which has been smoldering and sputtering for some time, hit page one the other day because the subcommittee said the Army hadn't been telling the public everything there was to know about the fantastic costs of the North African job.

If in both cases — oil and air bases — the public had been kept regularly and adequately informed of the situation, there wouldn't have been enough news left in the stories to warrant putting them on page one.

This secrecy business — as far as government is concerned — is not a new thing, but is a growing thing. And it's getting a little frightening.

The bureaucrat's dream — a government which can function free from the annoying light of publicity and consequent public reaction — came a bit closer to reality recently when the President, by executive order, extended military security to all federal departments.

A certain amount of security is, of course, necessary. But a blanket arrangement covering all departments can make it awfully tough for people to find out what's going on in Washington, where even expert fact-finders can easily get bogged down.

Some of the biggest government scandals in recent years have occurred under the thick, protective blanket of official secrecy that had nothing whatsoever to do with military security.

In the corruption-ridden Reconstruction Finance Corporation, for instance, the public was not allowed to know who was applying for how much of a loan, what the terms of the loan were, and how the RFC members voted on it.

Only after the deal had been made was a brief announcement issued that such-and-such a firm had gotten a loan for so much. The RFC has since taken certain remedial steps, but things there are still hardly an open book.

The Internal Revenue Bureau, also rocked by recent revelations of corruption, has its own special secrecy blanket. Under its protection occurred shenanigans which rocked the country.

Why farming should be secret is a little hard to figure, but even the Agriculture Department was recently hauled up for allowing some loan frauds to operate in its bailiwick. And a department official had the gall to say it was an administrative matter in which the public was not interested.

Not interested, our eye!

The public is completely interested in what its government is up to.

It's only when government operations are so secluded by secrecy that people can't make head or tail of them that they're liable to lose interest.

And while we're on the subject, let's not forget for one minute whose government this is.

It belongs to the people and no one else.

And every aspect of it — short of really top-secret military matters — should be on open display for all the people all the time.

Declining Profits

Recent statistical studies show that the profits earned by retailers, which are modest in the best of times, have in many cases declined to an alarming extent and come close to the point of non-existence. This is true of both chains and independents, and of small stores and large. And it has happened during periods when dollar sales were increasing. In other words, many retailers have done more business — but there has been less and less money left in the till after the bills and wages and taxes are paid.

Various causes have been responsible — rising wage and material costs, unjust price regulations and interpretations of regulations, and so on. The net result is that the retailer's ability to do the best possible job of serving the consumer is threatened.

Neither the consumer nor anyone else is benefited when essential business operates at a near-profitless level. It is profit which makes for initiative, enterprise and the taking of risks. It is profit which makes for growth and progress. It is profit which keeps the whole complex economic machine, from the biggest factory to the smallest store, operating.

No one defends excessive profits — and in a free, competitive economy that is taken care of automatically. We see that every day at the retail level — price is the major inducement to most consumers and they go where they get the best break. The merchant who tries to work on the "all the traffic will bear" principle soon sees his customers going past his doors. So retail profits are always quite small. But the consumer should realize that when they become too small damage is done to the interest of us all.

"The Christian's Political Responsibility"

In the last issue I was quoting from an article in the magazine Faith and Freedom under the heading "The Christian's Political Responsibility." Today I want to continue to quote from this article starting under the sub-heading of "The Nature of Government." I quote:

"Why have governments of every kind — monarchies, dictatorships, aristocracies, democracies, oligarchies, republics — why have they always enslaved people? Why have people never found a formula for government that would permanently guarantee their freedom? The answer lies in the nature of man and the nature of government which follows from it.

"The necessary evil for government is the weakness of men. This weakness, as we have seen, produces evil. And evil cannot be made to produce good — a good tree cannot bring forth evil fruit, neither can a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit. Therefore, man, always imperfect, can never create a perfect government. Moreover, government in action is usually permanent, wielding power over other men. And there is no way, ever, to insure that men employed by government will be any less imperfect or sinful than other men for whom they govern. The corruption in our governments today — city, state and federal — bears witness to this truth.

"Since government is a creation of man, and is operated by men, it contains all the potential for evil that is in man — multiplied by power. As Lord Acton said, 'Power tends to corrupt and absolute power corrupts absolutely.'

"This, then, is the third principle of politics for the Christian: Government inherently possesses potential for evil and this evil potential grows as the government's power increases.

The Function of Government

"When thinking of government, simply think of a policeman. It is the duty of a policeman to protect you and your neighbors from murderers and thieves, to enforce contracts, to keep peace in society (and in a large sense, to provide protection against the marauders of foreign nations). That is why you and other taxpayers have 'hired' the policeman, why you supply him with money to buy his gun and uniform.

"Now think what will happen to you if you send your policeman off somewhere to build roads, apartment houses, bridges, parks and recreational areas; or if you ask him to deliver the mail, serve school lunches, practice medicine, run subway systems, or if you ask him to operate railroads, operate steamship lines, manage rubber factories, coal mines or steel mills. How safe would your home be if you sent your policeman off to run a power company, to buy and sell potatoes, eggs, corn and cotton; or if you asked your policeman to set up a bank, to run a utility, to buy and sell real estate, to run a newspaper, and so on. As each succeeding officer stopped policing you would be adding to your tax.

"(1) Have to hire another policeman to walk the beat and guard you from murderers and thieves. And if this second policeman were sent off as was the first, you would have to find still another, and as the third was sent off, another, and so on. As each succeeding officer stopped policing you would be adding to your tax.

"(2) As each policeman turned to buying and selling, to running a bank or selling electric power, his status would change completely. Instead of being an impartial overseer of the public safety he would quickly acquire a money interest in and a power over the business of you and your neighbors. Having a chance to make a profit for himself by manipulating your money, he could be tempted easily. And that is exactly what has happened. The policeman — government — becomes corrupted.

"(3) What is worse, you and your neighbors, having treated so many policemen armed with guns, would no longer have your freedom. The policemen, finding their power and positions profitable would refuse to relinquish either.

"You and your fellow citizens would never have been in danger of one policeman gone berserk. One man with a gun cannot stand off a whole contingent of policemen to keep his freedom. But multiply the men whose directives are enforced by guns and the citizens are soon left powerless.

"In your free country, as people have assigned more 'duties' to their policemen — their governments — the process described above has taken place. The corruption in our government in America today is evidence that the same process is taking place here, government preying on its own citizens.

"From all this follows the fourth principle of politics for the Christian: In proportion as government is given duties other than policing, the police power itself may be exercised against the citizen instead of in his behalf.

"No wonder Christ despised of man-made law redeeming men and giving them liberty! How well he knew the evil in government! To the Pharisees and Scribes of Jerusalem, who questioned His disciples' ignoring the governmental directives of that day, he replied: 'Howbeit in vain do they worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men.'

"Christ knew that God, not government was the Author of liberty. And He knew that men would never find 'perfect freedom' until they fully obeyed God's law, no matter how ingenious their constitutions or how 'good' their governments. Christ voiced his knowledge this way: 'If ye continue in my work, then are ye my disciples indeed and ye shall know the truth.

National Whirligig... Republicans Hope Demos Will Permit Acheson To Campaign

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON — President Truman and Governor Stevenson have postponed a key decision on the embarrassing question of whether Secretary Dean Acheson should be permitted to participate in the presidential campaign. This state of suspended political animation is, perhaps, the most awkward position ever occupied by the dignified, urbane Maryland squire. While future developments may determine the answer, the candidate's advisers believe it would be inadvisable for Acheson to play any prominent part, although Stevenson defends his foreign policies.

The mere appearance of the secretary of state would exhumate several incipient ghosts. Inevitably, GOP strategists are praying that the cabinet member will step out of his diplomatic shell. The issues which Achesonian participation would raise concern such loaded questions as the Alger Hiss episode and Communist infiltration in government generally, and the administration's alleged inattention to the loss of China to the Reds.

Although Stevenson's philosophical dissertation in the Far Eastern problem is generally commended by Asian students and historians, it did not differ in essentials from General MacArthur's analysis. It alarmed Democratic politicians because it seemed to envisage a go-nothing attitude, save for the "police action" in Korea. It corresponds in many respects to Acheson's explanation of the administration's attitude toward the tragic aftermath of the Ta-seung seizure of power.

"We shall wait until the dust settles," remarked Dean Unsworth for him. It was "red dust" that descended over China. There was also his unhappy National Press Club address in which he proclaimed that the United States had no military interest in Korea. Six months after this invitation, North Korean Communist forces invaded.

Governor Stevenson has disposed rather effectively of attempts to besmirch him because of his deposition on behalf of Hiss's character and integrity. In response to a court request, he simply reported on the convicted perjurer's general reputation. Only the rarest partisans insist on holding it against the Democratic nominee.

But the Republicans could hardly resist revival of this issue. If Hiss's former friend and superior took to the stump, they would recall Acheson's unfortunate remark that "I will not turn my back on Alger Hiss." It was as well to remember that the original characterization of the Hiss investigation as a "red herring."

Senator McCarthy's astonishing victory in the Wisconsin primary suggests that it would be wise to keep the loudly Dean in political hiding.

UNDEPENDABLE — Secretary Acheson, obviously, is not a politically minded individual, or especially felicitous in his use of language, although he prides himself on his verbal talents. It is a praiseworthy trait, except in a political camp, that one would be undependable on the stump. Moreover, Acheson has recently engaged in several non-publicized activities which were not deemed him to Congress or to normally heavy contributors to the Democratic campaign fund. It did not occur to him that he would embarrass the party in the midst of its struggle to retain control of the White House.

AGREEMENT — With Great Britain and France, the Administration has concluded an agreement under which the $3,000,000,000 government advanced for post-war German restoration, will be subordinated to payment of the $2,000,000,000 of private debt incurred by Berlin in pre-Hitler days. These earlier obligations were derelict by New York and Boston financial houses. A Congressional investigation in 1931 should have tremendous profits to the bankers on these frozen loans and defaulted advances to many South American countries.

Senator Gillette, Iowa Democrat has pledged his agreement as a "swindle on the taxpayers" because of its provision that Treasury money shall remain un-aided for many years — it may never be liquidated — while the private interests are taken care of. Gillette felt he had pledged from Acheson that any settlement would be submitted by Congress.

Now, Acheson has agreed, according to final pact terms, that "legislation is not essential to the successful functioning of the Settlement Plan." Congress will again be by-passed on a major question, as it was when the White House embarked on the Korean "police action."

Below — The nation's biggest oil operators, who usually give generously to national and senatorial candidates, are on the warpath — again. Although complying with State's requirements in their overseas operations, they have been indicted for alleged monopolistic practices by Justice. But Dean, supposedly their friend, has hit them a hard blow. The largest firms have refused to handle Iranian Oil at Acheson's request so as to reinforce the Anglo-American boycott, taking a chance on losing this production. But apparently with State's sanction, W. Alton Jones of Cities Service has been given access to Iranian oil. Jones wants to buy and market 100,000 barrels a day if he can buy at a low figure.

Instead of forcing him to subscribe to the hands-off program, especially as Cities Service has never operated in the foreign field, Acheson has facilitated Jones's progress. It looks like favoritism to prospective party contributors.

Joe — I'm tired. I was out with a nurse last night. Jack — Chew up. Maybe your mother will let you go out without one, sometime.

It is a great misfortune neither to have enough wit to talk well nor enough judgment to be silent.

Bill — That guy Jones is the most scottish fellow I ever saw. I was standing on the street, talking peacefully to him, when all of a sudden he up and socked me, for no reason at all.

Will — Well, what were you talking about?

Bill — Nothing much. He mentioned that he bugs and kills his girl every time he sees her, and I just added that I'll no longer discuss the same thing.

When such symptoms as those mentioned appear they should not be neglected, since they frequently mean that some serious condition is present which should be promptly diagnosed and properly treated.

With modern methods and especially by treatment with some of the newer antibiotic preparations, most cases of cystitis can be brought under control.

Fair Enough... Chaplin Says He Won't Come Back To U. S. If Ike Is Elected

By WESTBROOK FEGLER
(Copyright, 1952, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)
Charlie Chaplin has been in New York on his way back to his native England. He was reported to have said that if Eisenhower and Nixon were elected he would never come back. Chaplin is not a citizen of this nation although he has lived among us and imposed upon us by flouting our ideals and degrading our morals and standards in entertainment for almost half a century.

If he ever should apply for citizenship during my life I will intervene to oppose his naturalization on grounds of moral turpitude. I am afraid it would be impossible to prove that he ever was a member of the Communist Party and I realize that in such case evidence of guilt by association and sympathy would be inadmissible.

One day recently, Chaplin entered the luxurious old-time speakeasy called "21," a resort (frequently) by rich and regardful Americans of impeccable patriotism who nevertheless seem at ease in the company of naturalized citizens of low moral turpitude. A beautiful young woman, an attorney at a table in the entrance way invited him to contribute to a charity called the Heart Fund and he refused. Later, he peeled two one-dollar bills off a roll and handed them to her.

His conduct here may be construed to signify strong, independent character or a mean character, as you prefer. However, his treatment of a desperate, pregnant young American girl and an attempt by her officials to rally her out of California because she appealed to Chaplin for help may be weighed in the other pan of the scales.

Upon inquiry I have been told that Chaplin probably has a right to re-enter our country. But I am given to understand also that Great Britain's government could detain him there for the rest of his life simply by refusing to give him an exit visa. I believe other Americans will join me in hoping that the British will do this. In that case, he probably would have to spend the rest of his government, accepting deplorable conditions in return, and would have to live on the dismal diet of the British austerity program and make do with the small ration of coal in winter, except, of course, that his wealth enables him to enrich his material life in the black market. The British professionals of the theatre and movies would treat him about as well as our "Reds." Some would treat him as a pariah, but others would find him amusing. The same must be said of that portion of British "society," including even members of the Royal set, who frequent the Mayfair equivalent of "21."

Mrs. B. writes that every spring she gets an infection of the bladder, and it often does, for a discussion of this subject.
This is not easy since it is hard to explain why the difficulty should come in the spring and not at other times of the year. Therefore all that can be said in this column is a general discussion of infections of the urinary bladder, leaving the tracking down of a peculiar seasonal distribution in Mrs. B.'s case to her own doctors.

Inflammation of the urinary bladder is known as cystitis. Its most common symptoms include the presence of pus in the urine, pain and frequent urination.
If the condition comes on suddenly, as it often does, chills and fever are likely to be present. The victim may suffer from sleeplessness and loss of weight.
That which comes suddenly is known as acute cystitis, and the difficulty usually starts near the base of the bladder, but shows a tendency to spread to other parts of the lining membrane of the organ. The wall of the bladder becomes inflamed and is swollen and bright red in color.

Regardless of whether it is caused by germs or by chemicals, the best treatment for acute cystitis is to try to find out the exact cause and remove or treat it.
Chronic cystitis, a condition in which there is long-lasting inflammation of the wall of the bladder with perhaps pain at intervals and pus either constantly or off and on, is another common problem. Of course, this can follow acute cystitis.
In such cases, expert study not only of the bladder itself, but of the surrounding tissues, including the kidney, must be carried out. One important study can be made by using an instrument with lights and mirrors called a cystoscope. This can be passed into the bladder so that the physician can look directly at the bladder wall.

Miss Hedda Hopper is one of a number of Hollywood characters who have written reminiscences of long acquaintance with Charlie Chaplin. In a biography entitled, "Out From Under My Hat," she wrote that one night as Chaplin was driving her and certain other prominent persons home from a party in his Hollywood home, she recounted his affair with the young woman whom he later tried to railroad out of California, pregnant, with a railroad ticket and a box-lunch. His responsibility for the girl's pregnancy later was proved in court when he was ordered to pay.

In Hedda's version of his narrative, Charlie said: "Not long ago I walked down Hollywood Boulevard one evening. My car was following me as usual. A few steps ahead I saw a forlorn little girl from the slums. She looked so tired that I walked on ahead of her, looked back. Something in her face appealed to me. I turned around, walked back and said: 'You're hungry, aren't you?' 'I haven't eaten for two days,' she said simply, like a child. I said 'would you allow me to buy you dinner?' She was so grateful she nearly fainted into my arms. I drove her to my house and fed her."

Chaplin gave a bored sigh and a shrug. He stayed with me for three days. She was delightful. Speaking softly, rolling a remembered morsel on his tongue like the taste of good wine, "I experienced a new kind of thrill. I had never met anyone quite like her. Then I had the chance to drive her back to Hollywood Boulevard, and let her out. Would you believe it, the following night she found her way back to my home and begged to be let in? Of course, I had the servants turn her out."

"He gave another sigh and when I asked him to tell me when the girls learn to know when I am through?" he said peevishly.
The campaign to revive and continue the career of this repulsive character that has been going on since the late 1930s can press in the years of his decline has had almost the aspects of a conspiracy. The Communists always have promoted him as a genius and, for a time, 25 years ago, he enjoyed a vogue whipped up by a few party commentators of the precious type. However, he never was more than a custard pie comedian and the dismal revivals of his old flickering masterpieces have aroused only nostalgia in his contemporaries and disdain in the younger generation who had heard so much of his name.

His one big oop in the high-art mood was a spectacular turkey and now he is upon us with another. It is significant to note that China - Boy Luce's "Life" Magazine gave him almost 10 pages, mostly of big pictures, in the issue of last March 17, including shots of this rotten little rake with his third child - bride and of their four children. The New York Herald Tribune's Sunday book section also ballyhooed a special book called, "The Chaplin's Life" which said he is a "Great God Pan," dealing with "Half God, half man and always vagabond, brother to St. Francis and the moon." This publicity was consistent with the A-T's usual line.

Chaplin once remarked that he had been a paying guest of our country. He certainly got his money's worth in safe asylum through two wars in which he never turned a trick to entertain American troops or otherwise serve the cause.

Success Secrets
By ELMER WHEELER
Are you a twitchee, a shifter, flooder, pumper, or back slapper? Well, listen to this, mister!
Psychologists tell us real "gestures" are of value when used to emphasize a point or to illustrate. However, if you're any one of the first mentioned offenders, brother, you're just downright rude... or thoughtless. Unconscious, meaningless, distracting movement can be a direct hindrance in business dealings. It can destroy the kind of favorable concentration that you get if you're trying to induce toward yourself, your product and your firm.

Imagine this situation. A customer comes into your office. You greet him with your habitual hearty slap on the back. He doesn't respond. So you take his hand... shake it vigorously... up and down... up and down... all the time talking. That's right, make him feel completely at home... and miserable.
Ah, at last, you finally both sit down. He's exhausted, but he's a guy who "bounces back" quickly. So now down to real business. You're the intent type... so intent that you talk best when you doodle. It's a habit with you. You're thinking, you so barely notice, but your customer becomes completely fascinated with the weird scribbles and signs. The meaningless action has caught his attention, and your most profound selling points are lost in a jumble of doodling.
Relax... take it easy. Remember, unconscious distracting action can readily destroy an otherwise successful business relationship.
To drive home a point... to subtly underscore a thought... to give thoughtful gestures... but use them sparingly.

Borger Bulldogs Swamp Irish, 37-6

By GEORGE BURRIS
Pampa News Correspondent

BORGER (Special) — Borger's beefy Bulldogs rolled over the Shamrock Irish 37-6 here Thursday night in a game that saw the outclassed Irish fire a touchdown pass in the final two seconds.

Celebrating their new stadium, the Canines plowed five touchdowns, added four extra points and two safeties, powered by a slippy quarterback, named Bubba Hillman. The Scarlet and White Borger rolled up 381 yards on the ground and 59 in the air as they systematically reduced the Irish crew.

But the Irish had their day as Dwayne Beatty, sub halfback, fired a pass to Kenneth Woods, another sub halfback and Woods sped 45 more yards down the left sidelines to the only Irish touchdown. The little speedster caught the looping pass on the run and never broke stride as he pulled away from his pursuers. Two seconds remained, time for only one kickoff and the TD pass play covered 81 yards.

Shamrock started fast after taking the opening kickoff as Jimmy Pennington broke loose for 34 yards to the Borger 26 on the first play from scrimmage, racing ahead of the Bulldogs but being caught from behind by Arnold, 206-pound Borger tackle. Pennington had broken through the Bulldogs line on a handoff from quarterback Jack York.

Fumble Costly
Borger recovered an Irish fumble on the Borger 30 and began a smashing 70-yard drive. Hillman spurted left end for 11, and three plays the Borger halfback, Dean May, ripped off 37 yards to the Irish two. May cracked over on the next play and Eddie Ward converted to give Borger a 7-0 lead.

Shamrock could not drive forward and Beatty's fourth down punt went dead on the Irish 40. Borger instantly drove but took 13 plays to cover the 40 yards. The Irish held the Bulldogs for three downs from the Shamrock seven, but on fourth down Beatty handed off to Raymond White who slipped around right end for the second Bulldog counter. Ward converted and the Bulldogs led 14-0.

Shamrock took the kickoff and registered a first down on a 12-yard run by Carlton but was forced to punt. The Bulldogs pushed to the Irish 15 where they fumbled and the Irish recovered. Four plays later, backed up to the Irish seven, Beatty attempted to punt, but the pass from center rolled completely over the end zone and Borger led 16-0.

Shamrock freckleeked and then held the Dogs. The Irish clicked on four built passes as York hit Pennington and Noel Perkins but an interception stopped the Irish just before the half ended. In desperation the Green and White had shifted from the air to the double wing to give York more passing time.

Score On Pass
Borger could not gain for a time in the third period but began a drive from the Shamrock 35 after Beatty's wobbly punt went out after travelling 10 yards. Borger drove to the 10, lost five, and then circled end to Irish four, as White took a lateral from Hillman but was stopped by John Hartwick.

Hillman shot an over-the-line pass to Dean May for the touchdown. Ward kicked goal and Borger led, 23-0, ending a 35-

Inept Defense Is Nearly Costly; Offense Sparkles

By WARREN HASSE
Pampa News Sports Editor

MCKEE STADIUM, El Paso — The Pampa Harvesters, in turning in a hard played 37-27 victory over the El Paso Austin High Panthers here last night, proved two things.

1. They have a good offense.
2. They are inexperienced.

And the latter almost cost them the ballgame after they had jumped off to a 19-0 lead in the first eight minutes of the ball game. It appeared at that time as if the visitors from I-AAAA school, The Green and Gold could do no wrong, defensively and offensively, while the Panthers were finding everything going amiss.

But then the 'Cats changed from their straight formation to a split T formation beautifully executed by quarterback Dave Bourland. The new offense stymied the inexperienced Pampa line, and by the middle of the second quarter the Harvesters' lead was cut to one touchdown.

The new drive did not solve the mystery of how to stop Bourland from running up and down and the line and using his option of pitching out, pass or running. But they did manage to outscore the Panthers to pick up their initial victory over the El Paso school.

The defense looked fine in the first quarter. Buddy Cockrell, Bill Phippen, Alton Flynn, Tommy Sells and the rest of the starting linemen had things apparently under control as the home club failed to reach the 50-yard line until there were less than three minutes left in the first quarter.

Three Quick Scores
Meanwhile, the offense, sparked by Ed Dudley, Harold Lewis, David Enloe, John Darby and engineered by quarterback J. M. Wright, who did a fine job, was taking advantage of three early breaks, a poor punt, a recovered fumble and an intercepted pass.

The Harvesters won the toss and elected to kick off. Held to two yards gain on the first try, the Panthers punted. Hugh Harman's 10-yard wobbler going out of bounds on the Austin 1. Dudley racked up 22 yards over right tackle on the first play, carried to the two on the next play and then Enloe cracked center for the first score. Dudley split the uprights, 13-0, only successful conversion for the Harvesters all night. The first touchdown took but 2:40.

On the third play after the ensuing kickoff, Flynn recovered a fumble on the Austin 26. Enloe and Dudley made it a first down on the six. Lewis, making his first start after jumping into the first string Harvesters squad from the Junior High Reapers, went right up the middle for the touchdown, with some beautiful sidestep running. Dudley's try for point was no good, the Harvesters leading 15-0 after 8:15 minutes.

Panthers Go To Work
On the third play after the next kickoff, Wright intercepted a pass and returned it 15 yards to the Austin 33. Four plays later, with Reggie Mayo doing the engineering of the T, Dudley ripped over left guard for nine yards and another score, his conversion again missing, leaving the score 19-0.

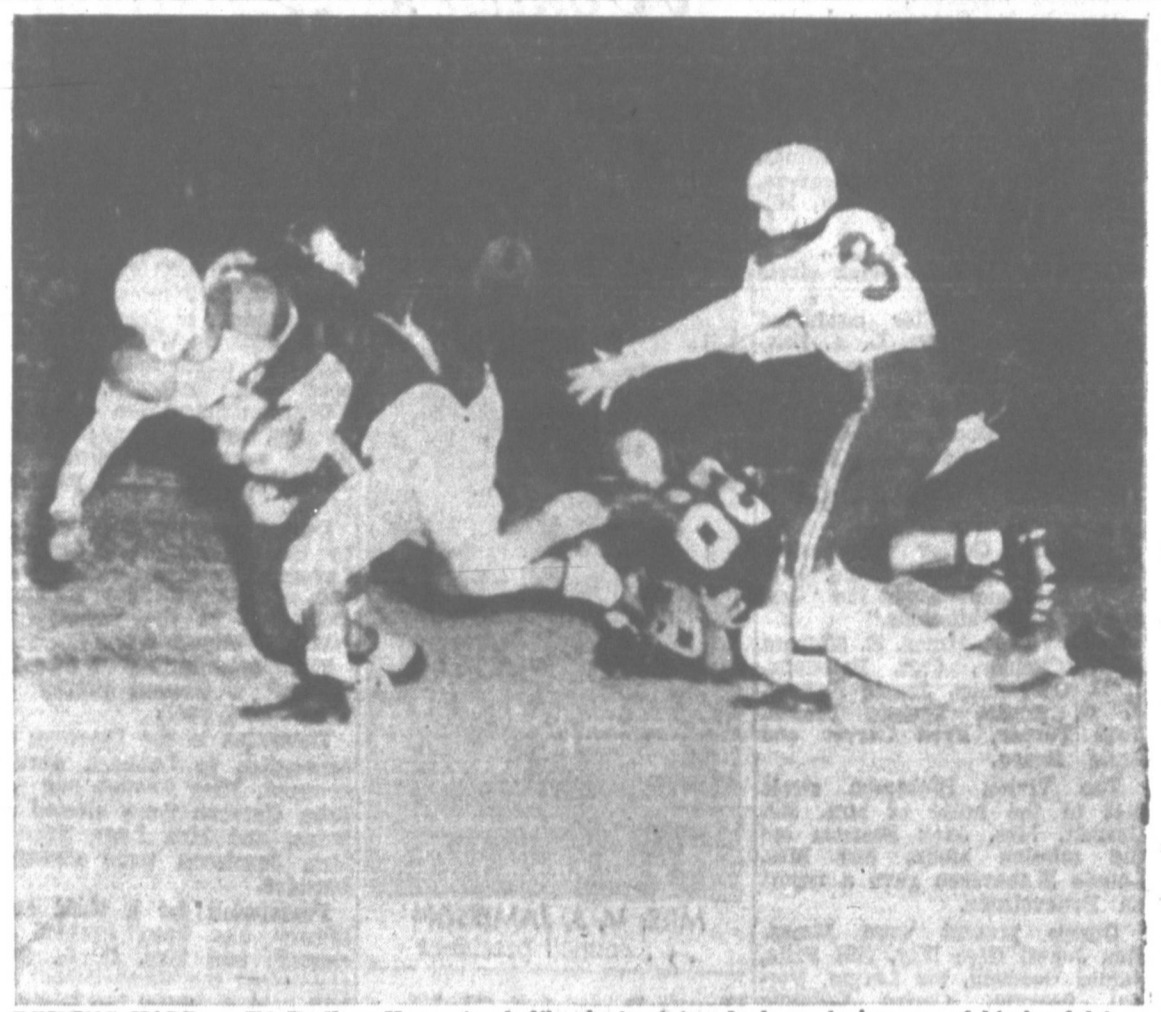

Then the Panthers went to work. Eight plays after the kickoff the Panthers had scored, with Fred Kris going the final ten yards, but missing the try for point to make the score 19-6 at the end of the quarter.

A beautiful 52-yard punt returned midway through the second quarter by Hugh Harman set up the second Panther touchdown. It returned the ball to the Harvesters' 28. Enloe, who had pitched out to Kris again, who returned the 28 yards, almost untouched and followed by booting the point to make minutes score 19-13 with four minutes left.

Dudley initiated the final scoring drive of the first half, returning the next kickoff 52 yards to the Panthers 48. Enloe and Lewis took turns moving the ball to the 30. Then Wright passed to Dudley who carried to the nine. On the last play of the next series of downs Dudley slammed five yards off right tackle to score, and Enloe missed the extra point to make the halftime score 25-13.

Second Half
Halftime wasn't long enough for the Pampa defense to learn the intricacies involved with stopping the split T. On the first play of the second half Bourland faked the pitchout but kept the ball and carried 39 yards to the Pampa 49. A pitchout to Harman gained one and then on the next-down the same play netted 48 yards and a touchdown. Kris converted and Pampa led by a narrow five points, 25-20.

But they quickly picked up another touchdown on two fine passes by Wright. The first hit

Collegiate Elevens Rip Lid Off New Season This Weekend

By WIL BRIMSLEY
NEW YORK (AP) — Southern California and Washington State, two West Coast powers with open Rose Bowl ambitions, collide in Los Angeles tonight to set off a burst of activity officially launching the college football season.

Before the week end is spent four of the top 10 teams in the Associated Press season poll — Maryland, Georgia Tech, California and Texas Christian — will have tested their biceps against respected opposition.

Most of the spotlight action is centered in the Pacific Coast. Southwest and Deep South areas, with the Los Angeles conflict an unusually strong lid-raiser.

Southern California's Jrojan, with a 7-4 record last year that almost landed them in the Rose Bowl, return to the field equipped with a newly adopted single wing attack built around tailbacks Jimmy Sears and Al Carmichael.

Coast observers admit they threaten to be major factor in the race for conference honors, ranking perhaps with California and UCLA.

Washington State, with Al Kirchner moving up to the head coaching job, is said to boast the best material since the Rose Bowl team in built around Texas Cane battery consisting of passer Bob Burkhardt and receiver Ed Barker.

Other football activity tonight is a bit on the light side with Alabama playing host to Mississippi Southern and Mississippi State. Alabama and Ole Miss are heavily favored.

The boys get really serious tomorrow with nearly half a hundred games involving major teams from coast to coast.

The headliner is the intersection game between Texas Christian, a hot favorite for the Southwest championship rated ninth in the pre-season poll, and Kansas, a strong contender to upset Oklahoma's dynasty in the Missouri Valley.

The game at Lawrence, Kan., will be the first of the season to be televised on a national hookup under the NCAA restricted TV program. The battle will be beamed across the country by NBC, starting at 3 p.m. EST.

Maryland, the Southern Conference stepchild which was suspended a year after accepting the Sugar Bowl bid, takes its No. 2

Gassers And Gold Sox Battle In WT-NM Playoff Finals

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — A seven-hour outburst in the eighth inning highlighted by three gaudy Duke errors handed Borger a 9-2 win over Albuquerque last night.

The win gave the Gassers the right to meet Amarillo Saturday night in the opening game of the West-Texas-New Mexico League championship finals.

Joe Borrego, who downed the Dukes 6-1 in the series opener, again performed the trick last night before 2,015 disappointed fans.

The sole time Albuquerque was able to break through his south-paw delivery came in the seventh when Art Cullti blasted a 390-foot homer to tie the score 2-2.

Then came the complete disintegration of the Dukes in the eighth and the Gassers were assured the final berth. The victory was the fourth in six games of the semi-final series.

Borger Manager Lloyd Brown nominated himself to pitch the opener of the seven-game series at Amarillo Tuesday.

Albuquerque's elimination follows that of pennant-winning Clovis, knocked out by Amarillo Tuesday. Oddly enough, it paces the two clubs which deadlocked their third place 1-2 games behind Clovis in regular play in the finals.

The Albuquerque fans came to life with cheers in the Duke seventh but the cheers turned to groans the next inning.

Jim Wright's single scored Pat Lorenzo from second to beat the exit with a pair of walks. The Pampa then laid down a sacrifice bunt to third, but Borrego's wild throw to first allowed another tally to score.

First baseman Jerry Folkman committed the first of his two miscues in the frame on a pop-up. This loaded the hosocoats and set the stage for Joe Dudley's rightful double steal and a long fly netted the remaining four after Jesse Priest had relieved a tired Panagard.

In all, 11 men paraded to the plate in the 28-minute half-inning.

Champs Open Card Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Important games dot the schedule from Pampa to Gulf tonight in Texas schoolboy football with the biggest ones in the top divisions.

Baytown and Lamar of Houston clash in a duel of AAAA powers.

Featuring Class AAA will be Ker-ville at Brownwood, Paris at Sulphur Springs, Lufkin at Longview, Bryan at Conroe and the grudge game at Waco, AAAA team and Corsicana, always a top outfit in AAA, at Corsicana.

Arlington, the champion of Class AA, opens the campaign at home against Garland. Pecos, AA power of the West, takes on McCamey.

Wink, top-ranked outfit in Class A, engages Kermit, strong one in AA. Wink last week was noted out by Monarchs of AA 21-20.

All in all it's one of the biggest week ends of the season with better than 250 games in the four classes that fight to state championships.

Almost a dozen games were played on widely scattered fields last night with mighty Ray of Corpus Christi, one of the favored teams in Class AAAA making its start. Ray beat South Park of Beaumont, 34-7. Pampa and Corsicana, always a sensation scoring melee, Pampa won, 37-27. Borger crushed Shamrock, 33-7. Orth Side (Fort Worth) whammed Snyder, 39-0. John Reagan Houston whipped Lake Charles, La., 38-14.

Haualande Sa Antonio staged a mild upset, moving up from Class AA to beat Bracketridge San Antonio, 19-7. Tyler showed well in a 21-7 conquest of Forest Dallas.

In other games St. Thomas Houston beat French Beaumont, 30-13. Granger downed Fort Hood 29-7, and La Feria beat Port Isabel B, 32-0.

Aggie - University of Houston game appears a tossup. It will show quickly enough whether the A&M seventh-place rating is justified.

Southwest Conference Clubs Swing Into Action Tomorrow

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

Texas Christian rolls against Kansas Saturday in the feature game of opening week in Southwest Conference football. It also will be the major game of the nation.

The Horned Frogs, pre-season favorites to repeat with the conference championship, will line out with jarring suddenness if they're as tough as cracked up to be. Kansas is loaded with veterans and feeling its oats over a 27-13 victory last year.

Four other conference teams will be starting the campaign with Baylor taking on Wake Forest at Waco, Texas A&M playing University of Houston at Houston, Texas battling Louisiana State at Baton Rouge and Arkansas engaging Oklahoma A&M at Little Rock.

Only Kansas - TCU and Baylor - Wake Forest are daytime affairs. Rice and Southern Methodist start for the Progs.

Baylor is a strong favorite over Wake Forest, which, however, should do better than last season when it was clubbed by the Oklahoma A&M respectively with 14-0. The Longhorns probably due for more trouble than Arkansas. The

Guerrillas Rally To Gain 18-18 Tie

The Pampa "B" team Guerrillas rallied for a touchdown in the final two seconds at Harvester Park last night to gain an 18-18 tie with the Amarillo Yanigans in the Guerrillas' season opener.

The Guerrillas saw a 12-0 half-time lead fritter away in the second half until they trailed 18-12. Billy Fulewider, who plays fine ball for the Reapers last season, sparked the Guerrillas all evening. But it was in the final minutes that he produced at his best.

Fulewider returned the last kickoff 32 yards to midfield and then, along with Billy Edwards, drove to the Amarillo 38. Dean Franklin, working at quarterback for the Guerrillas after work with the Harvesters most of the season, whipped a pass to Edwards to move to the 15. Fulewider, three plays later, scampered down low ground left for the touchdown to tie the game. Fulewider then attempted to run what would have been the winning point across, but was stopped.

The Guerrillas' first touchdown was set up by a 72-yard run by Fulewider, capped by a six-yard plunge by Edwards.

Next Thursday night the Guerrillas host the Borger Bullpups in a 7:30 game.

Reapers In Win Over Pirate B's

LEFORS — The Junior High School Reapers, defending champions of their league, opened their season last night with a wild 13-8 victory over the Lefors B team here.

It took a touchdown in the last thirty seconds of the game to win it for Pampa. Jackie Edwards scaphered 30 yards to bring the win.

Pampa struck first in the second quarter when Gene Emerson drove 15 yards to score. But the Pirate B squadders took the lead in the fourth period when Benzell Rippy intercepted a Reaper pass to give the Bucos possession and an eventual touchdown with Earl Wise-guard driving over from the six.

In the third period the Lefors Bucas had picked up two points on a safety when Emerson was caught behind the goal line while trying to pass.

KPDN Airs Tech Game Tomorrow

LUBBOCK Sept. 19 (AP) — Texas Tech launches a quest for its fifth title in the 18 years the Border Conference has been granting football championships when the Red Raiders tackle West Texas State here tomorrow night.

Actually the Raiders already have a better batting average than 500, for they entered the loop a year after its 1931 founding and on five occasions were not eligible for the title. Tech minimum number of games—now four.

Coach De Witt Weaver's main worry seems to be the fact that the Raiders must meet tough Arizona on the road. And even if the Raiders get past their schedule unscathed, chances are that they must be content with half a title, Arizona State at Temple, not met by Tech, is heavily

James Phippen for 21 yards and the second was handled by Dudley, who raced untouched down the sideline on a 44-yard touchdown play. Dudley again failed to convert and the score was 31-20.

Pampa iced in with 6:30 left in the game as a May-to-Lewis pass covered 18 yards to climax a 69-yard drive with a touchdown. This time Lewis tried to convert, but also failed.

The Panthers scored once more within three minutes left as Bourland whipped a pitchout to Kris on a 16-yard scoring play. Kris again converted to end the scoring.

OUR TOWN

by Wanda Campbell

When Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Douglass moved from El Paso to Pampa, their friends were happy to have them back home. And Mary Lou, returned to Pampa with a Master's Degree in Religious Education from Southwestern Seminary in Fort Worth. Everyone shared their pride in Mary Lou. She has established a preschool nursery and named the nursery school the Busy Bee kindergarten. Children attend from 10 a. m. to 12 noon each week day. They play the first 30 minutes, then they have a worship period during which they learn a Bible story and a song. Then there's a recess, followed by handwork including coloring and clay modeling. Before they go home, the children hear a character story. Special things happen to the five-year-olds who go to Mary Lou's kindergarten. Yesterday, Carolyn Jones celebrated a birthday and Mrs. Douglass assisted Mary Lou with a party. Others who were there for the celebration were Erma Hinson, Gary Lee Parks, Rodney Winborne, Gary Ray McLaughy, Patricia Lee McClellan, Vickie Lynn Wilde, Dennis Hackler, Dwayne Heaton.

Miami Class Has Book Review At Meet
MIAMI (Special) — Mrs. Loran Gramham was hostess to a recent meeting of the Glensiers' Class, with Mrs. Frank Craig and Lloyd Wilkins assisting her. The vice-president, Mrs. Robert Howard, presided, and appointed Mrs. J. T. Webb, Jim McCormick, and Loran Gramham as the nominating committee for new officers. Mrs. Charles Lyons had charge of the program and gave a review of Agnes Sleight Turnbull's book, "Gown of Glory." In addition to the hostesses, these present for the social hour, which followed the review were Mrs. J. T. Enoch, Junior Ratliff, Robert Howard, Charles Lyons, Jack Simmons, and Ray Manning. Goals are used for pack animals in some sections of the Himalaya Mountains.

Merten Club Has Meeting In Home Of Mrs. John Brandon

Mrs. John Brandon was hostess to the Merten Home Demonstration club this week with Mrs. J. C. Steward and Mrs. A. M. Nash in charge of a presentation on Christmas gift ideas. Mrs. Steward, president, requested members to take a year's rummage for the 4H club sale to the agent's office by Oct. 2. A date is to be announced later for the glove-making program. Mrs. Archie Maness conducted recreation following the business meeting. Attending the meeting were Mrs. P. J. Boyd, William T. Cass, Jr., Maness, T. G. Groves, D. A. Rife, V. Day, Steward, Jack Prather, V. Smith, Mrs. Frank Bailey and Mrs. Bob Brandon, guests.

Glimpses Of Yesteryear

FIVE YEARS AGO
Pfc. Charles Snow arrived from Honolulu for a visit with his mother, Mrs. Lillian Snow. AAWU honored new members at a tea in the City Club room, with Mrs. Perry Gaut and Mrs. J. E. Hood as hostesses.

TEN YEARS AGO
Mrs. Roy Key was hostess at the Presbyterian church auxiliary meeting. Mrs. Jim Nation was leader of the program. Among the new teachers at Pampa High were Miss Mary Gordon, Miss Virginia Vaughn, and Aubrey Jones.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO
Mrs. Raymond Harrah spoke on "Duties of the Hostess" at a Beta Sigma Phi meeting. Civic Culture Club members held a pioneer luncheon in the city club room. Members of the social committee dressed in pioneer costumes.

THOUGHTS
My brethren have dealt deceitfully as a brook, and as the stream of brooks they pass away. Job 6:15. It is as easy to deceive one's self without perceiving it as it is difficult to deceive others without their finding it out. — Rochefoucauld.

First Baptist WMU Has Bible Study

First Baptist WMU circles met this week for mission study in homes of members. Mrs. L. H. Green was hostess to the Lela Lair circle and Mrs. Rufe Jordan reviewed "Crusade of Home Mission." Mrs. R. J. Home Progress Club Holds Fall Luncheon

MIAMI (Special) — The Home Progress Club lunched the new year's work with a recent luncheon in the home of Mrs. C. W. Bowers. Arrangements were directed by the social committee, headed by Mrs. R. E. Webster. The invocation was given by Mrs. W. F. Locke. The new president, Mrs. A. H. Gordon, presided over a short business session, following the luncheon. Mrs. The Jenkins, Mrs. H. J. McCuiston, and Mrs. C. Carmichael were welcomed as new members. Mrs. J. V. Coffee, leader for the afternoon, arranged tables for forty-two. At the conclusion of eight games, Mrs. W. D. Allen and Mrs. Howard Muley held high scores and were presented prizes. Mrs. R. B. Mathers was awarded consolation. Present were Mrs. Allen, Bowers, Carmichael, Coffee, Gordon, Jenkins, Locke, Mathers, McCuiston, Muley, Webster, J. K. McKenzie, W. L. Russell, Hettie V. Feiber and R. E. Thompson, and one guest Mrs. Grady Adcock.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

That spiritual not material things afford lasting security and satisfaction will be brought out at Christian Science services next Sunday. The subject of the Lesson Sermon is "Matter." The Golden Text is from Jeremiah: "Truly in vain is salvation hoped for from the hills, and from the multitude of mountains: truly in the Lord our God is the salvation of Israel!" (3:23). Selections from the King James Version of the Bible will include this verse from Matthew: "Lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal" (6:20). This correlative citation from the Christian Science Science text book will also be read: "We cannot (altho' the nature and quality of God's creation by diving into the shallows of mortal belief. We must reverse our feeble flatterings — our efforts to find life and truth in matter — and rise above the testimony of the material senses, above the mortal to the immortal idea of God' (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy, page 262).

Baptist Circle Has Luncheon-Meeting

SKELLYTOWN (Special) — First Baptist Church Business Women's Circle met for a luncheon recently with the Kazzie Mae circle in charge of the program, "Religion in Japan." Participating in the program were the following women who wore costumes to carry out the program theme: Mrs. M. C. Satterwhite, Buddy Biggers, Dave Dickinson, Sadie Durning, J. L. Purdue, and W. L. Aulbert. Others present were Mrs. A. L. Lee, Ed Harmon, Curtis Huckaby, Pearl Genett, Everett Huffines, and Clyde Hoover. It is estimated that two out of five school children are handicapped by inadequate, but almost always correctable, eyesight.

Mrs. Jamieson Elected Parish Council President

MRS. V. J. JAMIESON, council president

Mrs. V. J. Jamieson was elected president of the Parish Council of Catholic Women at a meeting this week following a covered-dish luncheon. Other officers are Miss Ellen Keough, vice president; Mrs. Tom Wade, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. R. W. Laycock, parliamentarian. During the meeting, conducted by the out-going president, Mrs. Laycock, the group voted to sponsor a float with the Knights of Columbus in the County's 50th birthday celebration. The organization voted to "adopt" a Korean family for the coming year. Delegates to the Diocesan CCW convention in Lubbock were announced. Miss Keough and Mrs. John Garman were elected delegates, and Mrs. Lynn Boyd and Mrs. Jamieson were chosen alternates. Permission for a shelf at the library has been granted to Mrs. Jamieson in charge. Mrs. Jamieson announced the Home School Assn. will hold a dinner the latter part of the month in observance of its 15th anniversary. A rummage sale is to be held on South Cuyler Oct. 30 with Mrs. Jamieson in charge. Following the business session, Mrs. Garman discussed highlights of her trip to Europe this summer.

Royal Rose Border

By MRS. ANNE CABOT

Full blown roses silhouettes in popular cross stitch make an unusual border for household linens and wearables. The designs will stand out as if by magic when the background is filled in with cross stitch. Pattern No. 2928 contains hot iron transfer for 3 1/2 yards of 2 1/2 inch wide pattern; color suggestions and material requirements. Send 35 cents in COINS, your name, address and the PATTERN NUMBER to ANNE CABOT (The Pampa News), 1150 Ave. Americas, New York 26, N. Y. Anne Cabot's New Album of Needlework is chock-full of grand designs, plus exciting features and a gift pattern printed in the book, 25 cents. In these realistic terms. You are a partner and you have a partner's rights. The other woman can't take your place, unless you let her. Sit tight and let her do the worrying. The world "lunatic" derives from the Latin "Luna" or moon and refers to an ancient belief that the rays of the moon can drive men insane.

RUTH MILLETT

"I am a mother with small children. A few years ago my husband had an affair with another woman. I was about to get over that. But just recently I found out that he is having an affair. This time, the woman is married and you think there is hope for me and my children or would it be best just to let the other woman have him and try to forget him altogether? What do you mean by "hope"? Hope that this affair will be the last one? Hope that he really loves you, and will someday realize it? Hope that you will someday have the kind of marriage you expected to have? If these are the things you imply in that word "hope," it would be foolish to encourage you to hope. For you may only find repeated heartbreak in that kind of hoping. Instead I'll tell you what I recently heard a wise and hard-thinking man say about a situation like yours. It was: "A wife is weak and foolish if she lets another woman force her to get a divorce. "A wife, faced by the 'other woman' problem, ought above all else to look at her marriage as a partnership. She has a partner's share in it. "If she sits tight, no other woman can budge her. If she is determined that she and her children are going to stay in their own home, there isn't anything the other woman can do to get them out of the way. "That's hard-headed thinking. There is no sentimentality in it, no costly pride, no weak-minded despair. Forget about hope and think

Grace Friend:

Readers of The News are invited to send their problems to Grace Friend. Letters not published will be answered personally if stamped self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Writers must sign their names although they will not be printed without the writer's permission. I read the letter about the little young bride who is so terribly lonely and I want to tell her about my experience. I am an old lady now but when I was a young bride my husband took me to new territory where we built our farm out of the wilderness. There weren't any neighbors. There wasn't even a town within miles. Twelve a year was about as often as we got into the town and sometimes I would be too busy to make the trip with my husband. I had six children and never saw a doctor or a hospital; I never had time to feel lonely or bored. When I wasn't taking care of the baby I was running after one of the older children and in between I did all of the washing, ironing and cooking. I heated water or irons on the stove and often cut the wood for the stove myself if my husband were busy in the fields, I had to eat in the summer so that we could eat in the winter. I made bread, I took care of the vegetable garden. I made the children's clothes as well as mine and most of my husbands. I can't begin to tell you all of the things I did. When the children were old enough it was up to me to teach them reading, writing and arithmetic. Without any of these new-fangled aids to education which teachers think are important nowadays, I prepared my children for high school and college. All of our boys graduated from college with distinction. They didn't need a fancy school house and supervising teachers with progressive books to prepare them either. They got in and learned in the winter because they worked hard on the farm with their father in the spring, summer and fall. They are all good, smart men and women today with a successful life and nice families of their own. Believe me, Grace, I don't hold much with this fussing and crying of today's girls. They have so much help that they have time to feel sorry for themselves and thus become unhappy. I was so busy for 25 years that I didn't even have time to consider whether I were happy or adjusted or in harmony with my husband. But when I finally could slow up and my children were raised and we moved to town I realized that I was a fortunate and happy woman and that my life had made me wise and deeply satisfied. I hope that that girl will realize her blessings and settle down to being a contented wife and mother. Dear Grandma: You sound like a true pioneer, courageous, independent, resourceful. You are the product of a period in American life almost over. Would that something would inspire us to face life as realistically today as you did in your youth. Thank you for your letter.

Soviet Resides In U. S. Mansion

MINEOLA, N. Y. (AP) — A 38-room mansion built at a cost of a million dollars for a former governor of New York will be the home of Valerian Zorin, newly named chief Soviet delegate to the United Nations. The Long Island estate at Upper Brookville was bought by the Soviet government for $80,000, according to the deed recorded in the Nassau County clerk's office. It was revealed Tuesday. The two-story red brick Georgian type mansion once was owned by Nathan L. Miller, who was New York governor from 1921 to 1923. Fourteen men have died on the upper slopes of Mt. Everest and many on lower trails trying to climb the mountain, says the National Geographic Society.

"LET YOUR LIGHT SO SHINE"

St. MATTHEW said, "Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in Heaven." Men must ever marvel at the wondrous light which beams from the cross on which He died. It is aglow today with the light of forgiving grace. It challenges the weak to walk by faith and offers pardon to those who fall at its foot.

In MILLIONS of churches this week men of God will read from His guide book and offer from His word, ways to "let your light shine." In His Temples of Worship we may learn to pray the most gracious prayer, "Father, forgive them; they know not what they do." May the light of Jesus illumine your soul as it lights up the Cross on which he died.

Buzz Sawyer

NOT FOR A FRIEND, BUZ, YOU'RE THE KIND OF FOREIGNER I LIKE. YOU DON'T CRITICIZE MY COUNTRY, YOU PITCH IN AND HELP.

A LOT HAS HAPPENED SINCE YOU ARRIVED... RIOTS, REVOLTS, AND COMMUNIST HOBBS TRYING TO DRIVE OUT THE AMERICAN TECHNICAL ADVISORS LIKE YOU. I'M SORRY YOUR VISIT HASN'T BEEN MORE PLEASANT.

OH, WELL, I DIDN'T COME FOR PLEASURE.

REMEMBER THIS, ALL. ANOTHER COUNTRY, NOT THE U.S., HAS GORIBLED UP TEN OR MORE HUNDRED AND SOO MILLION PEOPLE IN THE PAST SEVEN YEARS. IN AMERICA WE LOVE FREEDOM, AND WE RESPECT IT IN OTHER PEOPLE.

I'LL REMEMBER THAT, BUZ.

Jackson Twins

WHAT WENT ON IN THERE THIS MORNING, TWENS? YOU WERE ON THE CASSETT FOR HOURS!

QUESTIONS, POSIE!... DID ANY HARPER EVER TALK ABOUT ANY CANDIDATES? YES, BUT HE ONLY SAID WHAT THEY STOOD FOR. DID HE EVER MENTION JOSEPH R SWIGG?

NO, HE NEVER TALKED ABOUT LOCAL POLITICS!... IT WAS A REAL THIRD DEGREE STUFF, BUT WHY?? EVERYONE ASKED QUESTIONS BUT US?

MAYBE 'HS UL EXPLAIN PART OF IT?

"SWIGG CLAIMS PREJUDICE IN HIGH SCHOOL TEACHING!" SAYS PRINCIPAL, COVERING FOR TEACHER!"

"SAYS STUDENTS' MINDS ARE BEING TURNED AGAINST HIM!"... IF I EXPECTED HE'LL FIGHT FOR THE OUSTER OF PRINCIPAL TOME!"

AN' WE'RE GONNA FIGHT TO KEEP HIM! ARE YOU WITH US?

ALL THE WAY!

Blondie

GOODBYE, DEAD!

SMACK!

BYE, COOKIE!

SMACK!

I'D BETTER STAND TO ONE SIDE... HE'S DUE ANY SECOND.

THAT'S THE LAST STRAW!

PHOOEY!

Alley Oop

WHAT'S TH' IDEA, PULLIN' TH' MAGIC CARPET OUT FROM UNDER ME? I WAS ONLY TAKIN' A LITTLE RIDE!

THE IDEA IS WE'RE ALL THROUGH WITH THIS SILLY OLD ARABIAN MUMBO JUMBO... THIS RAG GOES BACK TO THE GENIE AS FAST AS WE CAN STUFF IT INTO THE TIME-MACHINE AND THROW A SWITCH!

HEY, HOLD ON NOW! THAT WON'T WORK! TH' GENIE AINT EXACTLY HUMAN. HE'S A SPOOK, SORT OF...

...YOU JUST DON'T SEND STUFF TO SPOOKS, YOU'VE GOT TO TAKE IT TO EM!

Bo

LUNCH BOXES... AND DO THESE CONSTRUCTION GUYS EAT GOOD... START LICKING YOUR CHOPS, BO.

THAT LUNCH IN THE PAPER SACK IS THE EASIEST...

BOY, THAT WAS GOOD... NOW IT'S YOUR TURN TO SWIPE ONE, BO. GRAB THAT METAL ONE BY THE HANDLE!

HOLD IT A MINUTE, I HEARD SOMEBODY DOWNSTAIRS!

Ozark Ike

A POP-UP TO END TH' NINTH FRAME!

IT'S ALL TIED UP AS THEY GO INTO EXTRA INNINGS!

JUST ONE RUN CAN WIN TH' FLAG FOR EITHER CLUB!

—AND THE FIRST EAGLE BATTER IN THE TENTH PULLS ONE HIGH AND DEEP TOWARD THE LEFT FIELD CORNER...

(GULD) PLUM INTO TH' SEATS—LESS AN HIM FISH IT OUT!

WOW!—OZARK ROBBED HIM OF A HOMER... BUT IT'S FALLING FOR EXTRA BASES!

Chris Welkin

YOU'RE ON THE EARTH-MARS ORBIT, AMAIZA. CUT THE JETS FOR FREE FLIGHT!

NICE ASTROGATION, MR. VANE!

MEANWHILE, CHRIS CHECKS THE PLANET-ER STATION WHERE FREIGHTERS ARE INSPECTED AND CLEARED FOR FLIGHT.

SORRY, WELKIN, EVERYTHING WAS IN ORDER. I COULDN'T STOP THEM!

HEAVENS! WHAT CAN WE DO?

WE CAN STOP WASTING TIME AND FOLLOW THEM, DOC. LET'S GET A SHIP READY.

Mutt & Jeff

YEH, DOC, MY LITTLE PAL, JEFF, HAS BEEN ACTING STRANGE OF LATE. I'LL SEND HIM OVER!

NOW JUST LIE DOWN ON TH' COUCH, LITTLE BOY! RELAX!

YOU ARE A LITTLE BOY, AREN'T YOU OR ARE YOU A BIG MAN?

I'M A BABY DOLL!

A BABY DOLL, EH? WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO BE WHEN YOU GROW UP?

I'M GOING TO BE AN ELEPHANT!

DO YOU KNOW WHAT YOU ARE SAYING TO ME? SURE! IF YOU'RE GOING TO ASK ME FOOLISH QUESTIONS, I'M GONNA GIVE YOU FOOLISH ANSWERS!

Bugs Bunny

MY MASTERPIECE!

BUGS! COME HERE! I WANT TO SHOW YOU A WORK OF ART!

WHERE IS THAT BUM, LOAFER, NO GOOD CLERK?

CHUH, WHASTIS UP DOC?

IT'S GETTIN' SO THERE AINT NO QUIET PLACE AROUND HERE ANY MORE!

Priscilla's

MR. BOTTS SAYS SOME CRACK-POTS SHOULD'NT BE ALLOWED TO VOTE!

OH, HE DID?!!

HE'S GOT HIS NERVE!

I'LL SHOW HIM!

BUT, DEAR! HE SAID SOME CRACK-POTS!! HE DIDN'T SAY YOU!

WHO ELSE WOULD HE MEAN?

THE RAZZ BERRIES

WE HEARD YOU WERE COMIN' AND GOT READY—THERE'S THE MACHINE YOU'RE TO REPAIR, RIGHT THERE!

OWOOH— HOW A HUMAN BEIN' CAN GET SO DIRTY—THEY MUST ROLL IN IT!

M-M—THEY GOT TIME TO BE HUMORISTS, TOO? ARE WE IN TH' TOOL ROOM OR TH' CLINIC?

AND TH' READIN' THEY MUST DO—LOOK AT TH' NEWSPAPERS! IS THAT A TELEVISION SET OR A SLOT MACHINE?

MARTHA, OLD GIRL, JUST TO SHOW YOU OLD JAKE NEVER FORGITS A FAVOR, HERE'S A PRESENT I BRUNG YOU—GENUINE EUCALYPTUS BEADS! SMELL HOW NATURAL AN STOUT THE PERFUME IS!

I'VE SNIFFED SOMETHING LIKE THAT IN THE BACK END OF A DRUGSTORE, JAKE! BUT THANKS! NOW I CAN EAT GARLIC AND NOT BE DETECTED!—HOWEVER, YOU KNOW, OF COURSE, WHAT INTERESTS US AS FAR AS STEADY VISITORS ARE CONCERNED IS DOLLARS, NOT SCENTS!

YOU'RE SUPPOSED TO SPEAK STRAIGHT LINES, MARTHA!

Vic Flint

SO RACK MURDERED ORGIN TRIP! THIS TIME I'LL KNOW HOW TO DEAL WITH HIM!

TRAP, EH? YOU STOOOL PIGEON!

RACK! DON'T!

I'M MAKING TRACKS OUT OF HERE, AND YOU'RE COMING WITH ME!

Little Doc

OH, MY, THAT DROWN LOOKS REAL, LA, DOC!

YA REALLY THINK SO, CINDY?

SURE! IT MAKES MY MOUTH WATER!

WHAT? A SUNSET MAKES YOUR MOUTH WATER?

OH! IS IT A SUNSET?

I THOUGHT IT WAS A FRIED EGG!

Wash Tubbs

LEMME HAVE THAT DOUGH YOU WAS GONNA DEPOSIT!

WATCH OUT, EASY! THAT'S THAT GUYS PLENTY TOUGH!

CRIMINY! EASY'S TAKLIN' PASTY SLAUGHTER HIMSELF!

GET BACK, MISTER, OR I'LL PLUG YOU!

Boots

OH, GREAT! WELL—THIS WAY, IF MY DIET DOESN'T WORK, PERHAPS I CAN WORRY SOME WEIGHT OFF!

ROO, WAKE UP!

IT'S FIVE O'CLOCK—AND A PERFECTLY MISERABLE MORNING! YOU'LL HAVE TO DELIVER DAVEY'S PAPERS FOR HIM, TODAY!

DAVEY COLLECTS THE MONEY AND I DO THE WORK! A SMART KID!

Mickey Finn

GILDOOLEY IS WORKING FOR THE OPPOSITION PARTY, AND JUST TO HELP THEM TONIGHT!

THAT'S RIGHT! LICK ME! CLANCY HEARD IT THIS MORNING!

GOSH—HE MIGHT TRY TO START SOME TROUBLE AT THE RALLY TONIGHT!

THAT'S WHAT CLANCY SAID, TOO—BUT I DOUBT IT! GILDOOLEY IS A CONWART, MICHAEL—AND HE KNOWS I'D HAVE TOO MANY FRIENDS THERE!

I HOPE YOU'RE RIGHT!

I'M SURE I AM! THEY'VE JUST HIRED HIM TO GO AROUND SHOOTING OFF HIS MOUTH AGAINST ME—AND HE'S BEEN DOING THAT FOR YEARS ANYWAY! I'M NOT WORRIED ABOUT HIM AT ALL!

GILDOOLEY WOULDN'T HAVE TO BE THERE HIMSELF, SERGEANT! HE COULD SEND GUYS OVER TO START THE TROUBLE!

YES—AND I HAVE A FEELING THAT'S WHAT HE'LL DO! WE'D ALL BETTER BE ON HAND!

Penny

THERE'S NOTHING SERIOUSLY WRONG WITH YOU, PRINGLE.

OKAY, DOC.

A LITTLE HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE, NERVOUS HYPERTENSION...

YOU NEED A REST, CALM AND QUIET...

TRY TO SPEND A LITTLE LESS TIME AT HOME.

Americans Pride Themselves On Nervousness, Says Doctor

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — Are you nervous? Most people probably think they are, says Dr. G. Margery Allen of New York.

Some even pride themselves on being high-strung, sort of superior, like race horses over work horses.

But actually nervousness or neuroticism of the high-strung feeling really comes from acting pretty much like a baby, she writes. You can do better, she says in a report to the New York County Medical Society.

Every relatively normal person is nervous, and Americans are perhaps more nervous than other people, always being in a hurry, on their toes, keyed-up.

By a nervous person, we mean "an ambitious, tense person, in a hurry to get what he wants. Or an ambitious, tense person, in a rage because he didn't get what he wants. Or an ambitious, tense person afraid to move in a hurry or in anger, a person who stands pat, complaining that he can't get what he wants."

We consider people normal if they act so they conceivably could get what they want, Dr. Allen says. But if they use methods that are pretty useless, they're not well adjusted, and are ineffectual or "nervous."

Nervousness is not caused by an underlying disease of the nerves of brain, she says.

Nervousness is based mainly on attitudes of fear or anger, toward people, our jobs, our houses or towns, or even against ourselves.

These attitudes usually date back to childhood.

A baby, she explains, has only one way of getting what he wants — by crying. He soon learns that crying worked well in getting attention. Later the baby may have to develop better ways of putting things over on his parents.

The baby may try holding his breath, kicking, banging his head on the floor. Or try to control his parents through weakness, such as not eating, refusing to sleep alone, hissing, or other tactics.

"It's normal for an intelligent child to use childish means of getting what he wants," Dr. Allen continues.

He grows up in a world that looks awfully big and forbidding. He's told constantly about the dangers in the world — warned not to catch cold, not to get hit by an auto, not to get sick.

If the world looks too tough, he loses hope of controlling the world and getting what he wants. He keeps using childish methods.

If he hears his parents say that he has a terrible temper

JACOBY On Bridge

Learn How To Bid From A Poor Hand

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

I am almost ashamed to show today's hand because North's bidding was so outrageously ambitious. I cannot resist showing it, however, because South's play at this apparently hopeless contract, is worth looking at.

West opened the deuce of clubs, and South gulped when he saw the dummy. He then played a low club from dummy, hoping for the best. East properly finessed the eight of clubs, and South won the first trick with the queen.

South saw no sense in giving up, so he boldly finessed the queen of hearts at the second trick. When this held, he continued by cashing the ace of hearts, discarding a club from his own hand. A heart ruff now established dummy's long suit.

With a normal trump break, South was now out of danger. He therefore led a low trump from his hand and won with dummy's jack. East's nine of spades looked ominous to South, and he therefore searched for a way to make his contract even against a 4-1 trump break.

After some thought, he led a heart from the dummy and discarded the last club from his own hand. West ruffed with the six of spades, and wondered what to do next. He couldn't afford to lead out his two remaining trumps, since dummy would win and run the rest of the hearts. West therefore returned the jack of clubs.

South now had to abandon the trumps and also had to abandon dummy's established hearts. He cashed the ace of diamonds, ruffed fed a diamond with dummy's low trump, and ruffed another club in his own hand. At this point South had nine tricks safely tucked away and was bound to make his tenth trick with dummy's king of spades or his own queen.

Note that South would lose his contract if he led a trump towards dummy after ruffing the jack of clubs. West would step up with the ace of spades and lead his last club. South would have to ruff with his last trump, and would have no convenient way of getting to dummy to draw West's trump and run the hearts.

like his father, or that he is delicate and nervous, he accepts the words as gospel and becomes all the more set in his ways and attitudes.

He may keep on doing it as an adult. Then he becomes the kind of person who is unhappy, discontented, often a poor eater, a poor sleeper, never feeling vital, usually vaguely uneasy about things in general, often feeling physically low with vague aches and pains.

He's grown up in every way except in feelings. He feels insecure, and uses childish reactions when he meets difficulties of adult life.

The only answer, says Dr. Allen, is that he must grow up emotionally, and realize he has the ability to direct his own actions.
