Communist Propaganda Effort Is Written Off As A Failure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia's changes. The initial Soviet proposal to stall West German rearmament by making propaganda on German unity is being written off by American diplomats as a failure.

Authorities summarizing the results of an eight-note exchange between the Western powers and the Soviets on Germany's future said today they were convinced the Soviets have not succeeded in creating any serious new obstacles to plans for adding German forces to the West European defense setup.

The treaty establishing the European Defense Community has still to get parliamentary action at both Bonn and Paris, but there is strong expectation here that the West German Bundestag will approve after sharp debate.

There is optimism about French approval not because of the Soviet diplomatic drive but because of strong French fears about the recreation of German military forces.

The United States, British and French Embassies in Moscow yesterday delivered identical notes to the German issue to the Soviet Foreign office. The exchange was started by the Kremlin last March 10 and in the intervening six months there have been a total of four note exchanges.

Mrs. Ernest Ives of Bloomington Ill., exhibiting the same type of wry humor that the Democratic nominee for president has used in campaign talks, had her own listeners chuckling recently.

She made what she termed "not a speech — just a little talk" in addressing the North Carolina Democratic Club of Washington.

The Stevensons have ancestral roots in the Tazewell State. Mrs. Ives says so many Stevensons are writing her brother at Springfield, Ill., that letters post a problem to secretaries until they figured out that she should be the one to handle them.

Specifications For Overseas Christmas Packages Are Given

Regulations for packages to be sent to servicemen overseas in the Red Cross-sponsored "Christmas on the High Seas" program have been announced by Mrs. Jack Foster, local Red Cross service chairman.

Donations, to measure six inches squared, are to be marked "Christmas on the High Seas" and sent to the local office. They are to be in the area office Oct. 20 ready for overseas shipment.

Gifts that may be included are cigars, handkerchiefs, small cellophane containers or in cans, canned nuts, gum, candy mint-cakes in canned tins, games of 11 kinds and miniature checkers, Chinese checkers, dominoes, books, Bibles, sewing kits, shaving kits, razor blades and writing material.

Because of the size limit on packages, Mrs. Foster stressed that games and books must be bought in miniature sizes. The mid-Western area of Red Cross has been assigned 18,500 gift packages this year.

Officers Seek Clues In Area Burglary

WHITE DEER (Special) — Clarence Williams and other law enforcement officials are still investigating the break-in of the White Deer grade school, which netted the burglars $127 in cash.

The burglary was discovered between 7 and 8 a. m. Tuesday by H. G. Hynds, school custodian. Entrance was made, Williams said, through the east classroom window.

Eighty-five dollars of student insurance money was taken from the principal's desk and $42 more in the activities fund was lifted from a steel file case.

Nothing else was disturbed, although there were typewriters and other articles of value in the office.

Hynds discovered the burglary by tracing some muddy footprints he found on the school floors.

Rancher Is Fined On Driving Charge

A Perryton rancher has been fined $400 and court costs by County Judge Bruce Parker on a charge of driving while intoxicated after a trial jury had brought in a verdict of guilty.

John William Moore Jr. had been arrested on the charge Feb. 7, 1951; but this case had had three continuations. Attorneys for Moore were Don Cain, Pampa, and Jim Crow, Canadian.

Moore's driver's license was suspended for the mandatory six month period.

Two Million Major Crimes Due In U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than two million major crimes will be committed this year, the FBI says in its semi-annual report.

For the first six months of 1952, the report estimated, the nation had 1,022,200 major crimes, a 6.4 per cent increase over the corresponding period a year ago.

A breakdown gave the average rates. One murder, manslaughter, rape or assault to kill every 4.6 minutes; one larceny every 26 seconds; one auto theft every 2.45 minutes; one aggravated assault every 6.23 minutes; one rape every half-hour.

All these crimes except rape increased substantially during the first half of 1952 over the first half of 1951, the FBI said. Rape declined one-tenth of 1 per cent.

Arrests were more frequent among 18-year-olds during the first six months of 1952, the report said. The 23-year-old age group predominated in the 1951 period.

Sheriff Holds Man On Open Charges

The sheriff's department this morning was holding a local man on open charges.

According to Sheriff Rufe Jordan, the man about 11:30 p. m. Tuesday is supposed to have attempted to stop a Ponca City, Okla., man on Hwy. 60.

The Oklahoma man, J. T. Apling, told the sheriff the local man had attempted to stop him with a gun.

Apling was driving his car and the man was on foot when the halting occurred. Apling drove on past the man, brushing the man's leg with his bumper.

Jordan and Deputy Sheriff Buck Haggard later found the man and picked him up for questioning. Jordan said the case is still under investigation.

Testifying last March 20, Levenson brought with him a to-whom-it-may-concern letter from Harvey Matusow, a former Communist who turned informer for the FBI and who is now employed by the Ohio Un-American Commission.

Levenson said he had read an account of testimony by Matusow before the House Un-American Activities Committee last February implying that Levenson had "knowingly accepted bookings from a Communist-dominated organization."

Levenson testified the organization he was referring to was People's Artists.

Matusow wrote that "having been an employee of People's Artists in 1948 and actively engaged in Communist party activities through that organization, I can attest to the fact that no membership nor activities in Communist party fronts have been undertaken by Mr. Levenson during my personal participation in these affairs."

Ives, in his voluntary appearance before the subcommittee, said he had participated in the activities of a number of Communist-front organizations without knowing their true nature.

Loeb, an actor on the New York stage for many years who also has played in motion pictures, was the husband of Mollie in the Goldbergs radio program until, as he put it, he was "thrown off the air."

Oilmen Flay OPS Refusal To Lift Controls On Crude

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — A spokesman for the Independent Petroleum Association of America today condemned as "a threat to the security of the nation" the action of the Office of Price Stabilization in refusing to de-control the price of crude petroleum.

George H. Bruce, president of Ataddin Petroleum Corp. and chairman of Price Advisory Committee of IPAA, on his return from a meeting of that group in Fort Worth, Tex., said "unrealistic and unsound price controls are resulting in increasingly serious problems."

His statement was as follows: "There was no need or justification for the imposition of crude oil price controls. There is even less reason to continue them. Crude petroleum is in ample supply. There is no basis for or great need of unreasonable price increases. The domestic oil industry has a responsibility under the defense program to assure adequate oil supplies at all times. The arbitrary and unnecessary control policy of OPS is defeating the accomplishment of this goal."

"The Congress of the United States passed a defense act de-

"The committee is glad that the Petroleum Administration for Defense has recognized that present price controls can have a detrimental effect upon the supply program. PAD has already insisted that corrective action be taken as to fuel oil prices, so that consumers will not suffer from inadequate supplies. It has taken other positive steps to assure expansion in refining and other branches of the industry. It seems that PAD should and will recognize the need to take similar positive action where un-sound price controls will result in an inadequate crude oil supply endangering the country's welfare and safety."

Dixie Editors See Chance For Split

Editor's Note: This is the third of a series of five stories on the political situation as of now, as seen by newspaper editors and political writers in all 48 states.

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

NEW YORK (AP) — Dixie editors rate it a 50-50 guess at this point whether the South will be solid or split in the 1952 presidential battle.

The consensus of those taking part in an Associated Press survey is that the bulk of Dixie once more will be safe for the Democrats. But newsmen say that if the election were held now Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower might be able to storm the Democratic fortress in the South and border states and snatch three or possibly five states from Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson.

Texas, Louisiana and Florida are the big question marks, Virginia and Kentucky lesser ones. In state after state, even in some of those considered dead sure to go Democratic as usual, editors and correspondents say Eisenhower will receive the biggest vote ever accorded a Republican presidential candidate.

At the moment, the composite opinion of Southern newspapermen is that Democratic nominee Adlai Stevenson is certain to sweep the presidential election in Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Oklahoma and West Virginia. Those nine states have 88 electoral votes.

Kentucky is considered close but fairly sure to go Democratic. Virginia editors think their state is leaning toward Stevenson by such a scant margin as to be highly doubtful. Kentucky has 10 electoral votes, Virginia 12.

Editors are uncertain as to whether Texas, Louisiana and Florida, with 44 electoral votes among them, will remain Democratic.

When results of surveys in five Middle Atlantic and 11 Western states are combined with those in the South, newsmen turn up were brought together into estimates for each state; each county being weighted according to its voting strength. These first estimates reflect the political outlook, as the editors and political writers see it, as of late August and early September.

The Associated Press plans to make another survey in October. In the South, the survey covered 13 states that have voted Democratic in the last five or more presidential elections.

Here's the way things look politically to Southern editors and correspondents:

Texas — 24 electoral votes. Texans want a change at the White House, but editors feel the still undecided independent voter will determine whether the state wants to change to Stevenson or Eisenhower. At the moment, it's a toss-up.

One editor said that "Stevenson's ability to shake off Truman will boost his chances in Texas." Editors say Stevenson's support of the administration stand on tidelands oil sapped some of his strength among state Democratic leaders but didn't hurt him greatly with the ordinary voters.

Louisiana — 10 electoral votes. The consensus of editors is that a majority of Louisiana voters outside of New Orleans would go for Eisenhower if they were marking their ballots today.

But the state must be listed as a political question mark rather than as tipping toward the GOP nominee because New Orleans is a big, vital and unknown factor. The state's biggest city casts one-fourth of the total Louisiana vote and normally turns in a heavy Democratic majority. Three New Orleans dailies did not take part in the survey, and no estimates were obtained for the city.

HEADS "AEC" — Rep. Carl Albert, Durham, above, let North Carolina will succeed the late Sen. Brian McMahon as chairman of the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Comm.

But in the South there also is mention of the civil rights issue and the administration's opposition to state ownership of tidelands oil.

The same survey pattern was followed in the South as elsewhere.

Associated Press members, both newspapers and radio stations, along with other newspapers and local correspondents, were asked to co-operate.

Using the best available yardsticks — polls, if possible, direct contact with voters, past voting records, their own knowledge of political conditions — editors and correspondents were asked to estimate for their own counties or districts the percentages of the popular vote that can be expected to go to Stevenson and Eisenhower.

A majority of the editors are advocating Eisenhower's election. In making estimates they were asked and sought carefully to disassociate personal or professional views. Many turned in estimates contrary to their preferences or the editorial position of their newspapers.

Union Extortion

The third U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals at Philadelphia, in a decision that may have a widespread effect on the activities of organized labor unions, has ruled that a union official who uses violence to compel a non-unionized company to hire a union man is guilty of extortion.

This is the first federal court interpretation of the extortion section under the Hobbs anti-racketeering act of 1946 as it might apply to unions and its representatives.

The original Anti-Racketeering Act excluded unions whose purpose was to get legitimate employment for their members. However, unions were not excepted when the act was rewritten in 1946, and the circuit court held that Congress deliberately intended to include unions as well as any other agency or individual using force or violence in interference with interstate commerce.

The court upheld the conviction of Aaron Kemble of Pemberton, N. J., former business agent for Local 676 of the Truck Drivers and Helpers Union of the AFL International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers. Kemble and the union were convicted in U. S. District Court in Camden on May 23, 1950.

Kemble was given a two year sentence and the union local was placed on probation for three years. Both appealed, and the circuit court upheld Kemble's conviction, but acquitted the local, in a 4-3 vote.

According to the testimony, Kemble stopped a non-union truck driver employed by Doehler-Jarvis Corp. of Pottstown, Pa., manufacturers of aluminum and zinc die castings, when he tried to unload a shipment to the RCA-Victor plant in Camden. Kemble allegedly attempted to use force to get the driver to hire a union helper to unload the truck and demanded $10 in pay for the helper.

Kemble and the union were indicted and convicted in district court, and last April 21, all seven judges of the appeals court heard their appeal.

This case will certainly go to the U. S. Supreme Court and it will be interesting to note what decision that body returns. We may be approaching the day when an employer can call his soul his own — but the whimsy of the high court is still a steep hurdle.

Reward For Service

Members of the Massachusetts Legislature, we gather from reports from Boston, are "amazed" to discover that in their last session which terminated in July they enacted a law which will permit one of the state's distinguished citizens to collect a $12,000 annual pension for life, and pass the gratuity on to his widow for her life.

Said citizen is James M. Curley, ex-mayor of Boston, ex-legislator, ex-governor of Massachusetts and ex-convict. Ex-Politician Curley — we presume he has quit the political field now that he has reached the ripe old age of 77, most of which years he used nibbling or perhaps the word is gorging at the public trough — has spent, by some remarkable turn of fortune, only five months in prison during his life — that for a mail fraud for which he was tossed into the Danbury federal clinic.

It develops that the Bay State Legislature passed into law in the closing days of its 1952 session a new pension bill which forces the city of Boston to pay $1000 a month to Curley. Not that the bill mentions him by name, but the measure was tailor-made to Curley's qualifications.

The law stipulates that any person who has served in the Legislature — Curley did for two years in 1902 and 1903 — and has had at least 25 years of service in any government "unit" may join the retirement system within three years of termination of service, even though over 65 years of age.

Curley was defeated for the Boston mayoralty three years ago, he is over 65 and he has had 25 years in public office. Currently the poor fellow is getting a mere $65 a month pension because of his eight years as a congressman.

There is a touch of mystery about the pension bill. Nobody seems to know who filed the pension amendment. Most of the legislators admit they voted for a lot of bills whose contents they didn't know much about and Governor Dever of Massachusetts signed the bill to make it law.

This is a remarkable commentary on the way government is wrought and public monies distributed. For the type of service Curley has rendered to the city of Boston, the state of Massachusetts and even the United States as a representative, we are sure he is more entitled to many other things other than a pension.

Even Mr. Curley appeared surprised.

"It was very decent of them," he said of the legislators, "to pass a bill of this kind."

And he added, "The bill might be embarrassing to the legislators who passed it."

We imagine he'll lose a lot of sleep over their embarrassment.

Better Jobs

By R. C. MOILES

Am I A Product of Public Schools? A correspondent writes in defense of public schools that:

"Throughout the history of our country, the prevailing percentage of unquestioned leaders in government and the professions have been products of tax-supported schools. This suggests to me that the basic principles of public education, per se, are 'good' rather than 'bad' — if viewed in no other terms than achievement. I rather wonder if you yourself, Mr. Moiles, are not a product of our public schools?"

Now, just what is a product? The dictionary says: "Anything produced, as by generation, growth, labor or thought, by the operation of involuntary causes; as the product of the season, or of the farm; the products of the brain, he is a finished product."

Undoubtedly, many of the present leaders in government and the professions are the products of state "education." That is undoubtedly the reason we are in the mess we are in today — with ever increasing taxes, counterfeit money that buys less and less, discriminatory laws and one war after another. The real leaders of our country — the men who wrote the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution, such as Jefferson, Madison, Hamilton, Franklin and Washington were certainly not the product of state mobile education. They were the product of the thinkers of the Ages. Even Lincoln was not the product of state "education" because he never went to tax supported schools. "They were the product of the will to learn and they learned from the thinkers of the Ages. It is true that when I was a boy I attended public schools and then I attended a private college. But I am anything but a product of public schools or of the private college. I was exposed to the thoughts or ethics expressed in public schools, but sooner or later I unlearned the belief that the majority in each community had a moral right to do things that are immoral for an individual to do."

Product Determined by Beliefs
 If I were a product of public schools, I certainly would be advocating what the public schools are advocating, namely, that might makes right and that the end justifies the means and that men holding government positions have a moral right to do things that are immoral for an individual to do.

Every product of public schools still believes that the end justifies the means — that there are no eternal principles that govern human relations, that there are no absolutes, that the Coveting Commandment does not mean what it says, but that men collectively have a moral right to covet the fruits of other people's labor.

If I am a product of anything, I am a product of trial and error and of thinking out loud and of inviting any and all to point out when I am advocating or opposing anything whether or not I am in violation of the Coveting or Stealing Commandments or the Golden Rule.

I am a product of my father and mother. My father taught me the essence of the Golden Rule when he told me never to ask another man to go behind the thrashing machine stacker, the furthest part of the field and out being willing to go there my share of the time. My mother taught me the same thing through the Golden Rule and the precepts of Jesus.

I am a product of the thousands and thousands of good things I have read by men who appear to me to be logical and consistent and advocating human relations that are in harmony with eternal principles.

I am a product of reading the Prophets and the writings of such individuals as Frederic Bastiat, Herbert Spencer, Matthew Tindall, Rose Wilder Lane, Henry Link, Isabel Paterson, Ludwig von Mises, Thomas James Norton and Andrew White, first president of Cornell University and who wrote A History of the Warfare of Science with Theology. White is the only college president I ever knew or read his writings who was a real educator — a close reasoner.

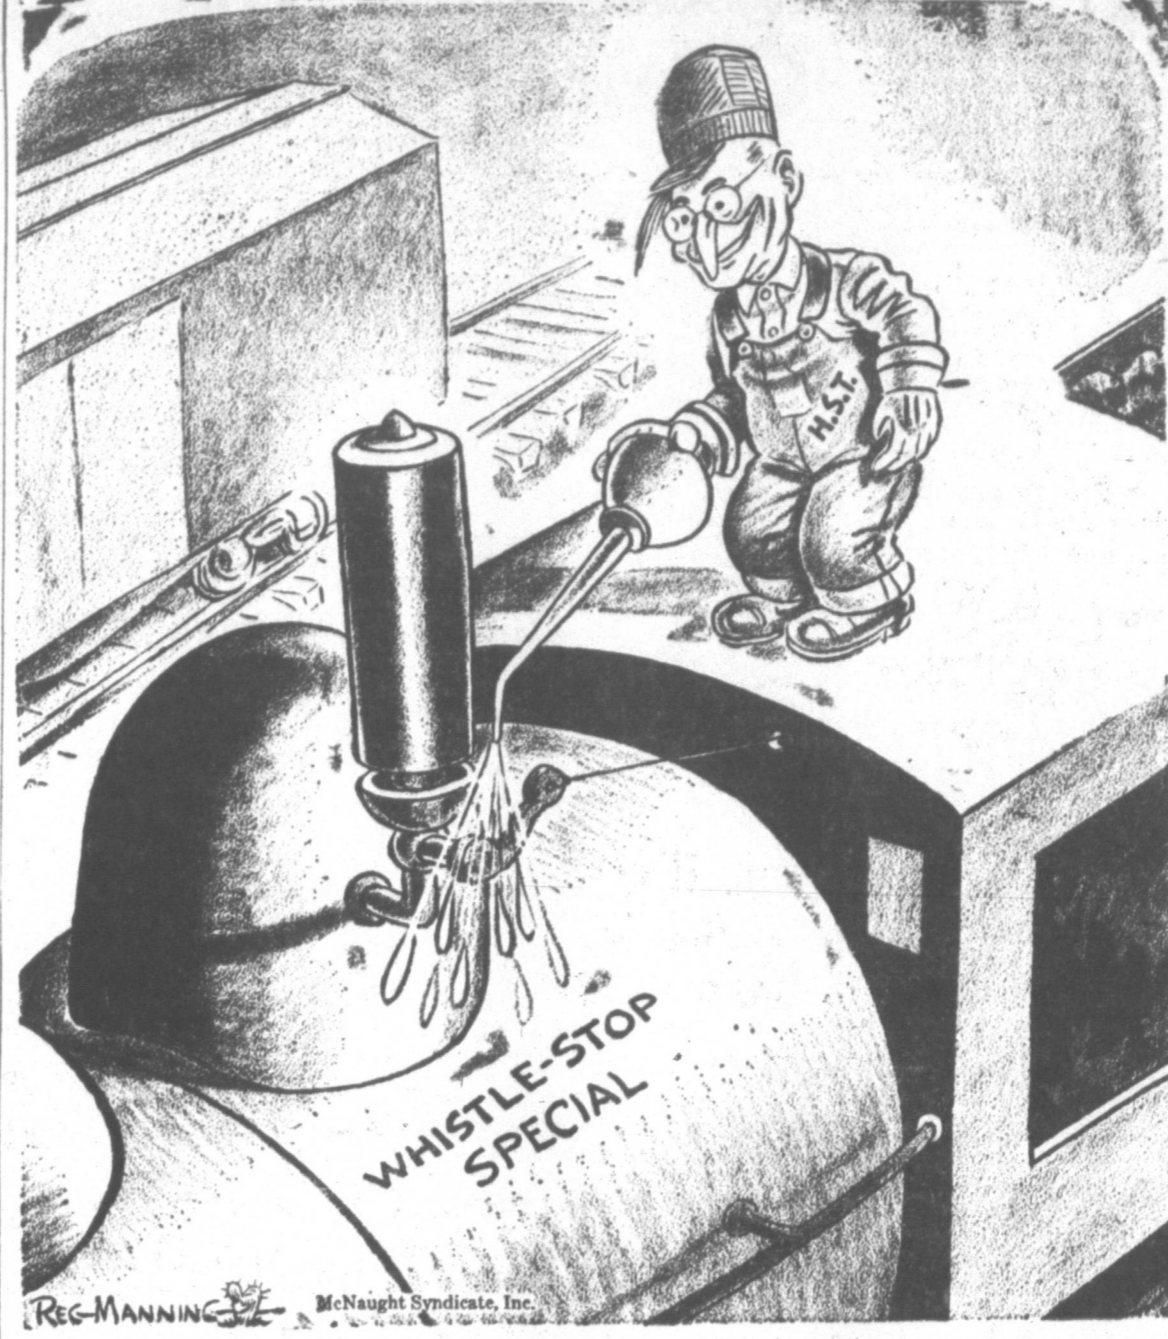

These people whom I am a product of did not believe in the ethics that are back of compulsory state education. If there is anything that I am not a product of it is compulsory state education. I am a product of the desire for understanding — the first part of any education.

One can tell whether a man is a product of public schools from an ethical standpoint by finding out whether he will answer certain questions, or if he attempts to answer them, whether he believes that there is no absolute moral standard that should govern man's actions in all circumstances, but that there is one standard for a man as an individual and another standard for a man when he is acting as an agent for the state. Most people who believe in tax supported schools do not want to admit that they believe there must be a double standard, which they are obliged to do if they attempt to answer certain questions, so they thus refuse to undertake to answer certain questions.

A man might be a product of tax supported schools without ever attending them. He might absorb their dualistic standard of ethics from men who have absorbed it in some state schools.

The test is whether a man will answer questions, and if he attempts to, whether he uses a double standard of ethics. If he will not answer certain questions, or uses a double standard of ethics, he is most certainly a product of state schools because state schools are based on one standard of morals for an individual and another standard when the individual is an agent for the state.

Wetting His Whistle

Fair Enough.... Run-Down On Chaplin Record Does Not Make Pretty Reading

By WESTBROOK PEGLER (Copyright, 1952, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

The decision of the attorney general, James McGranery, to prevent the return of Charlie Chaplin to the United States if he should be found guilty of "subversive tendencies" is the first honest show of initiative against the Red front of Hollywood by the Department of Justice in the entire campaign against the treason.

I take some pleasure in the timing of my pastoral on the subject of this fellow's rotten career which appeared just before McGranery's announcement of his intentions.

I would like to say that I have met Chaplin only once, and that nothing ever has occurred to create any personal malice to complicate my objective detestation of a filthy character who is a menace to young girls and whose attitude toward the enemies of the United States is no matter of mere suspicion.

Chaplin's brutality to a pregnant young woman whom he had lured to his mansion in Beverly Hills after he had observed her weakness from hunger and her frightened expression is a classic worthy of that art which is imputed to him by a cult of propagandists who find beauty in the sordid.

Hedda Hopper, the Hollywood gossip, told us in her recent book, "From Under My Hat," that Chaplin recounted with gusto the three days that he spent with the girl and then complained peevishly of her impudence in returning to his home, although he was hungry again by then, for Chaplin is notoriously stingy and probably gave her no money to go on with. This young woman later was sentenced to 90 days in jail for bothering Chaplin, the sentence being suspended on condition that she stay away from Beverly Hills. When she violated that condition by calling again, Chaplin called the police and this time she got an actual jail term of 30 days and went to jail where a prison doctor determined that she was pregnant.

On her first arraignment, the time she got 90 days, she turned away from the bar to leave the courtroom, broke, dazed and pregnant, a Beverly Hills policeman sidled up to her and gave her $100 and a tourist ticket to New York. She asked the cop whether Chaplin had sent him the money and the ticket. He wouldn't answer.

Later, in a trial, Chaplin's paternity was established and he was ordered by the court to pay a small alimony, for his baby's support.

The late Haldeman-Julius, a pro-Communist pamphleteer, who poured forth a stream of obscenity and anti-Christian propaganda from Girard, Kan., for many years, was an intimate friend of Chaplin at one stage of their sympathetic careers.

In one of his essays describing a visit to Chaplin's home during his brief dalliance with one of the three children whom Chaplin married, Haldeman-Julius made merry over a spectacle of the disgusting nature of which, of course, was not apparent to a fellow of his low character. Haldeman-Julius eventually was convicted of cheating on his income tax and sentenced to prison. He was found dead in his swimming pool soon afterward.

As to Chaplin's record of association with Communists which may be held against him on his attempt to re-enter the United States, there is abundant material. This includes a radio message sent from Chaplin's home, 1085 Summit Drive, Beverly Hills, on Nov. 17, 1947, well after the war, he it noted, to Pablo Picasso, a notorious Spanish Communist and exile from Spain, living in Paris. The message read:

"Can you head committee of French artists to protest to American embassy in Paris, the outrageous deportation proceedings against Hans Eisler, and simultaneously send me copy of program for use here. Greetings."

Eisler was the Communist musician who was sneaked into the United States, thanks to the persistent, repeated intervention of Eleanor Roosevelt with Sumner Welles and others in the State Department. He was coddled by the so-called new School of Social Research, a Rockefeller Foundation project in New York, but finally exhausted his privileges and went back to Czechoslovakia where he became a functionary of the Kremlin's puppet government. Chaplin was a close friend and associate of Eisler in Hollywood. The Rockefeller Foundation gave a specific grant of $25,000 for Eisler's "project" which was falsely represented as a class in music.

Chaplin was listed as a "sponsor" in the propaganda of the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, the Peoples' Radio Foundation, and the American Continental Congress for World Peace which was held in Mexico City. The first two of these were named in the attorney-general's list of subversive organizations and the so-called Continental Congress was condemned as a straight Communist front by the State Department and the House Committee.

Chaplin's name also showed up on the court brief filed by a group of Hollywood personalities in 1949 in favor of the notorious "Hollywood Ten." This was a group of writers and other movie hacks who went to prison for contempt of Congress in refusing to give information.

In October, 1942, the Daily Worker said Chaplin addressed as "Comrades" a rally at Carnegie Hall, New York, to demand a second front to save Russian lives by the sacrifice of American lives. In this address, Chaplin praised Franklin D. Roosevelt because Roosevelt had released Earl Browder from prison and directly on the subject of Communism said:

"They say Communism may spread all over the world. And isn't that ordinary people like I say, 'So what?' The Communists, who love unity and love life."

He also praised Harry Bridges, the Communist commissar of the ports of the American west coast, now under order of deportation. The sponsors of this rally included Lillian Hellman, Carl Van Doren, I. F. Stone, a New York propagandist, and Rockwell Kent, all notorious figures. Van Doren's widow for years has been the editor of the New York Herald-Tribune Sunday book section and she was an intimate friend of Wendell Wilkie during the period when he went haywire over Russia.

On the journey to New York for this Communist rally, Chaplin brought along the young woman who later bore him the illegitimate baby. For this, he was indicted under the White Slave Act, but was acquitted.

Although Chaplin once remarked that he had been a "paying guest" of the United States during his 40 years here and made a point of his claim that he paid American income tax on money derived from other countries, the fact is nevertheless that he did try to swindle the Treasury and, in 1952, in President Hoover's term, he was forced to pay a "tax deficiency" of $1,174,000.

The late Elmer Irey, who was coordinator of all the Treasury investigating agencies, disclosed that Chaplin devised a trick of paying large amounts to a rela-

National Whirligig... Abrogation Of Controls Seen As Move To Retain — Controls!

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The current wholesale abrogation of federal controls over prices and goods by such emergency agencies as the National Production Authority and the Defense Production Act administration does not represent a change of heart at Washington on the question of federal overlordship.

On the contrary, it is a definite step in the direction of retaining these controls for the fairly long period when the United States, due to failure of truce talks in Korea and Russia's menacing moves in other areas, will have to remain in a semi-state of war, with abnormal expenditures on the production of arms.

PRESSURE — The military experts warn that they see no hope of a sharp reduction of this outlay for many years. Although General Eisenhower holds out the prospect of a $63,000,000,000 budget for 1953, it will be several years after that date before funds already appropriated have been transformed into weapons.

The pressure on prices and the supply of materials for civilians and government consumption will continue during that period, or long after the congressional grant of authority to impose these controls expires on June 30, 1953.

REBUKED — This generally misunderstood situation explains why Pentagon spokesmen emphatically rebuked Robert C. Turner, new member of the White House Economic Advisory Council, for his recent statement that the defense outlay had already reached its "peak," and would soon start to decline.

It is significant that Leon H. Keyserling, the Council chairman, and an advocate of extensive federal authority, and not come to the rescue of his associate.

Both the White House and the Pentagon think that the public should be prepared for a more extended period of hardship, sacrifice and privation.

The Doctor Says
 By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M.D.

Unpleasant sensations for which it may be difficult to find a cause or cure are among the most distressing things which can afflict mankind.

Q — For the past several months I have been suffering at intervals from burning tongue. I have been treated by several dentists with no appreciable results. My general health otherwise is quite good. What do you advise? — H. S....

A — The cause of a sensation of burning of the tongue may be difficult to find. Irritation from rough or unclean teeth can be responsible. Electric currents from unlike fillings of the teeth may also cause this condition.

Slight infection which does not show much of anything on the tongue is another possibility. Smoking, or irritating foodstuffs, may also be considered. Vitamin deficiencies are sometimes responsible.

The tongue reflects the condition of the digestive tract to some extent, and so this is another possibility. In fact, there are several other possible causes and it may be necessary to try one kind of treatment after another before this unpleasant sensation can be banished.

Q — I should like to know if a low forehead indicates a low I. Q. It seems that in any description of a stupid character in literature there is mention of a low hairline. Is there any basis for this? — D. K.

A — I do not know of any basis by which one can relate a low hairline to low intelligence. Of course, it is true that if the skull does not contain room enough for the brain, the intelligence would be limited. Any connection, however, would be considered literary rather than scientific.

Q — I would like to know if hair with electricity in it grows faster than hair without. — R. A. L.

A — No.
 Q — Can shingle ever recur? — G. E. M.
 A — So far as I know, herpes can recur, but does not very often.

Q — If a person plucks her eyebrows and eyelids as fast as they come in and pencils them, is it a nervous habit? Will it affect the eyesight? — Worried.
 A — It is a nervous habit, but it will probably not affect the eyesight.

Q — If one breaks a rib or two, how long does it take for complete healing, and how soon can one go about his business? — Mrs. D. K.
 A — The answer depends on the nature of the break, the location, the age and physical condition of the patient, and other factors, but it will usually take from five to six weeks.

refices and federal interference with their affairs than they had anticipated.

DESIGN — In fact, political considerations also lie behind the recent rash of release of controls over goods and prices. They were apparently made at this time with the design of persuading the next President, whether he be Stevenson or Eisenhower, to ask a renewal of this authority, and of influencing the next Congress to act favorably on such a request.

By their present exercise of restraint in the use of their existing power, the planners and stabilizers and bureaucrats seek to demonstrate that they can be trusted not to abuse it, if their authority is renewed more or less permanently.

TIMED — Certain cynical Republicans, however, insist that the removal of price ceilings on many articles, as well as materials from the controls list, has been timed to improve the chances of the Democratic presidential nominee.

In every section of the country, and especially in the populous, industrial areas of the North East and the Middle West, the government's interference in everyday activities has been one of the chief complaints against the Truman Administration.

SUSPECT — Senator Taft has been the principal opponent of federal bureaucracy, and Eisenhower sympathize with that attitude. Although Governor Stevenson says that he opposes unnecessary and unwise extension of federal authority, he is naturally suspect because of his stand on ownership of oil fields.

The men behind the movement for continuing controls are Truman appointees. Besides Keyserling and John R. Steelman, White House adviser on labor and other matters, they consist of veteran Roosevelt-Truman officials who have been transferred to DPA and NPA since the Eisenhower inauguration. They have thrived on what they call "emergencies" since 1933.

WARNING — A warning of this movement was recently conveyed to both Governor Stevenson and General Eisenhower by Roland E. Jones, who represents the nation's retail interests at Washington. He made a special trip to Denver and Springfield to explain the plans afoot, and to urge a return to a system of free enterprise as soon as conditions permit.

To the surprise of both of the candidates, Jones pointed out that 10,000,000 people are engaged in retail operations of one kind or another. He submitted figures which, in his opinion, showed that prices would fall if left uncontrolled, in view of the nation's apparent ability to manufacture a sufficient amount of civilian and military goods. He said that the candidates, said Jones in explaining his visit. "I thought it was time — and perhaps it was the first time — that somebody speak for the retailers and their customers against permanent imposition of a straight jacket system."

The Nation's Press

LEARN DOCTOR PRESCRIPTION (Christian Economics)
 The widespread misunderstanding of economic law is one of the gravest perils facing our country. A highly-placed leader has just predicted a depression within the next 18 months and called on labor to push for a six hour day, five day work week with no cut in pay.

In effect this gentleman proposes to keep monetary payrolls at the present level and to reduce output by something like one-fourth, resulting in rising prices and less for all. The remedy is as wrong as the old leech doctor's bleeding of his patient.

It is difficult to see how anyone can believe that by producing less we can have more or even the same amount. If we are to have depression what we need is greater production and not less.

If hourly wage rates were made flexible so that the prices of various kinds of goods and services could come into reciprocal relationships with each other, the market places would be cleared and every man would have a job. Moreover he could work as hard as he wished and receive the full reward of his efforts.

Government intervention and rigidity preventing the necessary adjustments to changing conditions are the causes of unemployment and depressions. These two evils can never be cured until flexibility and freedom are restored.

Sports Capture Texas Pennant

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The Shreveport Sports, a club that never won the Texas League regular season pennant, now owns the 1952 play-off crown and its right to compete in the Dixie Series.

A brash, young club that hasn't succumbed to afflicting with the major leagues, Shreveport finished off their play-off triumph last night, winning 7-2 over Oklahoma City in the fifth series game.

"Oddly enough, Shreveport spent half this season on the cellar floor yet suffered the fewest play-off setbacks in Texas League Shreveport play-off history. Oklahoma City earned the Sports' nine-game play-off mark. They mowed down Fort Worth in four games to reach the finals.

Jim Willis, Joe Szekely and Grant Dunlap teamed up to give the Sports last night's win, their third championship and first since 1942.

Willis held the Indians at bay on his six-hit hurling. Szekely and Dunlap thumped homers and drove in all seven runs in the 11-hit Shreveport attack.

Szekely's home run, with two men on, started Pitcher Bill Greason down to defeat and Grant Dunlap applied a note-of-homer in the fourth to run the count to 4-0.

Reliever Vern Kennedy took over for Greason in the fifth only to be routed. Szekely drove in another run and Dunlap two more as the Sports concluded scoring with a three-run spree.

Willis, with a 7-0 lead, gave up single runs in the sixth and ninth innings. He fanned eight and walked five in his second victory of this series.

Shreveport now will meet either the Mobile or Memphis of the Southern Association in the Dixie Series.

Carlton Pacing Irish Scorers

SHAMROCK — Coach McCall's Irish have scored 33 points against three opponents since the 1952 grid campaign started. They racked up 20 in the 20-7 victory over Dalhart, seven more in the 19-7 loss to Quanah, and six more in the 37-6 loss to Borger.

Don Carlton still heads the Irish scoring parade with 15 points. Carlton made a sharp 12 yard gain at Borger and almost broke into the clear, but did not score. He missed the chance for a six-pointer. On the first scrimmage play of the game, Jimmy broke through the canine line, swished past the secondary and pulled up with a 34 yard gain. He was ahead of the canine pack, but big Arentall, 206 pound tackle, caught him from behind 29 yards short of pay dirt.

Only other points on the green and white record are the six scored by Woods in the pass sensation as seconds ticked off at Borger.

Shamrock is expected to return to the scoring column next Friday in the combat with the sensational Dumas Demons. Carlton and Pennington are both likely to score and the Irish should add one or two in the sky lanes. They hope they will be able to stop the Demon jack-rabbit, Joe Mowery.

Shamrock scored 27 points in its first two games this year, and last fall they had racked up 33 in the opening two combats. As the year progressed, so did the Irish scoring totals. It's expected to be true again this fall, too.

White Resigns At San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — San Antonio of the Texas League apparently will have a new manager next season no matter who owns the club.

Joyner Jo-Jo White said he had asked for and been given his outright release. This time, he added, it will be "for good."

Last season White was released as manager when the St. Louis Browns owner of the franchise, were talking about selling the club. The sale wasn't made and White was called back and signed for 1952.

He said he wouldn't come back next year even if the club stays in the St. Louis Browns chain.

The San Antonio Light says there are rumors that at least three groups are interested in buying the club from the Browns.

Paschal Athlete Inks Dodger Pact

HOUSTON (AP) — Mickey Pillow, former star athlete at Baytown High school, has signed a professional baseball contract with the Brooklyn Dodgers for a reported $18,000.

Pillow played with the Baytown Humble Oilers last summer, starting at third base and shortstop. He entered Baylor on an athletic scholarship but withdrew to accept the Brooklyn offer.

He will report to the Brooklyn spring training camp at Vero Beach, Fla., next February. He has been assigned to Newport News, Va., of the Piedmont League.

Construction of the big apartment houses in New Mexico by the Pueblo Indians began about 800 A.D.

MARICANO LOOKS AROUND FOR FOES

By MURRAY ROSE
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Rocky Marciano, the guy Jersey Joe Walcott and many others said "can't fight," is the new world heavyweight champion.

"They'll probably say he still can't fight," said trainer Charley Goldman shortly after the dynamic, 25-year-old flattened Walcott in 43 seconds of the 13th round with one perfect right and sent him into retirement.

"But who's going to beat him?" Marciano's manager, Al Weill, said early today that the fighter, said early today that Rocky's next opponent might be Rex Layne, Roland La Starza or Ezzard Charles.

A Wonderful Time
"Maybe it will be Walcott again," added the portly manager. "Who knows? Maybe he'll change his mind and not quit. All I know is that I signed a contract to meet Walcott again in 90 days and if he wants that fight he can have it. Only it's got to be where I say — maybe Miami and maybe Chicago.

"If Walcott is really through, He's gonna be a fighting champ then we'll see about the others. Walcott and many others said "can't fight," is the new world heavyweight champion.

"Sure," said Rocky as he held a wet towel to a mouse under his left eye while blood trickled from a cut on his scalp and from a gash between his eyes. It took eight stitches to sew up an ugly inch and a quarter cut on his head and six to patch up the cut on his forehead.

"But first my wife and I are going to have a wonderful time," said Rocky. "We're going to go in town. We're going to have a wonderful time."

All the while Rocky was in training for the climactic fight of his career, his wife Barbara was barred from camp. Although she expects a child in November, Barbara watched the thrilling slugfest along with 40,379 paying fans in mammoth Municipal Stadium.

She saw her husband, battered and bleeding, knocked down for the first time in his career, come back to end one of the most exciting battles of modern times with one perfectly executed right hand blow to Walcott's jaw.

Rocky followed with a left that grazed the stricken champion's head as the 38-year-old Walcott slowly fell to the deck. But it was the right that turned the tables just as it was Jersey Joe's one left hook that enabled him to knock the crown off Charles' head in the steaming heat of Pittsburgh on July 18, 1951.

Walcott's eyes went blank. The old guy, who put up one of the greatest fights of his long career, sank slowly to the canvas. One knee was twisted under him and his forehead rested on the floor as Referee Charley Daggert tolled the fatal 10. Then Walcott stretched out on his back. Up until then it had gone mostly Walcott's way. Jersey Joe floored Marciano in the first round, had ever gone down. But he had the first time the Rock was up at the fourth count.

It was a dilly rest of the way.

In the sixth, when they fought from nothing," said Jersey Joe. "If he says I'm through, I'm through. We expect to go into business together. I don't know what, kind of a business yet."

Probably millions of dollars traded hands on the one punch. It was one of the biggest betting fights in years with Rocky winding up the 9 to 5 favorite.

Walcott, oldest champion ever to defend his crown, outweighed Rocky 196 to 154.

The fight grossed $504,645 at the gate and theater - television probably will add another $125,000. On his 40 per cent, Walcott earned approximately $188,000. Rocky, cut in for 20 per cent, reaped about $94,035.

Walcott Ahead
The old gent was well ahead on the scorecards of all three officials at the end. Referee Charley Daggert had it 7-4-1; Judge Pete Tomasco scored it 7-5 and Judge Zach Taylor saw it 8-4.

The AP scorecard had Walcott in front 7-4-1. There was hardly a dissent in the house, Jersey Joe lost it — with one blow.

"He's through," said Walcott's manager, Felix Bocchicchio. "Whatever Felix says I'll do," said the heart-broken ex-champion. "He looks pathetic against the ropes and I don't want him to get hurt," said Bocchicchio. "He still has all his faculties and has a million dollars in the ring. He's retiring. Joe has been a great champ."

"Felix brought me this far

Gold Sox Seeking One More Victory

AMARILLO (AP) — A smashing triple in the eighth inning by Merv Conners, the Sox first baseman, which started a 11-7 win, was the big gun. He cracked a two-run homer in the first and a three-run circuit in the fourth.

A crowd of 2,379 witnessed the tilt which was Amarillo's third straight win in the best of seven series for the championship of the West Texas - New Mexico League. If the Amarillo club can win when the two meet here again Wednesday night, the Gold Sox will be the 1952 champs.

Amarillo squandered two leads before they finally bounced Bor-

Dodgers Ease Minds Of Flatbush Fans By Clinching Flag; Yanks Idle, But Gain

By RALPH RÖDEN
AP Sports Writer

The prospect of New York's "subway" World Series since 1921 is extremely bright today with the Brooklyn Dodgers' already "in" and the New York Yankees pounding on the door.

Brooklyn provided the long suffering fans of Flatbush their first restful sleep in three years last night as they clinched the 1952 National League pennant, their ninth since 1940.

Truc, the Brooks won the bunting only three years ago but many a member of the faithful experienced countless nightmares the past two seasons. In 1950 the Brooks missed tying Philadelphia for the pennant by bowing to the Phils on the last day of the season. Last year the Dodgers blew a 13-1-2 game lead and were beaten out for the blue ribbon by the New York Giants in a three-game play-off.

Split Twin Bill
The Brooks nailed it up as Johnny Rutherford pitched Dresseden to a 5-4 victory over Philadelphia in the first game of the two-night double-header. The Phils won the anticlimactic game, 1-0, in 12 innings.

Rutherford's seven-hit triumph gave Brooklyn 96 victories and made it impossible for the second-place New York Giants to pull another miracle. The Giants have 88 victories and only six games remaining.

The Yanks, meanwhile, moved 1-1-2 games ahead of Cleveland in the waning American League struggle without flexing their muscles. While the Bombers loafed in Boston, the Indians were ambushed 10-1, by the Chicago White Sox. The Yanks' game with the Red Sox was rained out.

The Situation
New York can assure itself of no worse than a tie for the flag by winning only three of its remaining six games. Both the Yanks and Indians have each won 90 games but the crafty Indians have lost three more.

Joe Dobson, a member of the Indians many moons ago, choked off his former associates on six hits while the White Sox flayed Mike Garcia and three firemen for 14 assorted blows.

By GAYLE TALBOT
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — This was one that will go down in the history of great heavyweight fights. There hasn't been a greater one in the past 21 years to our certain knowledge.

Going into the 13th round last night at Philadelphia Stadium, we didn't think Rocky Marciano had an earthly chance of winning the title from Jersey Joe Walcott. The boy from Brockton was behind, 7 rounds to 5, on our scorecard, and he appeared to be fading.

Then the Rock shot his right, and it landed flush on Walcott's jaw — almost the first punch of the round. It carried behind it every ounce in the sturdy frame of the shoe-maker's son, and from the instant of its sickening impact there was never a doubt of what had happened.

Jersey Joe, an admirable old fighter in his final defense, went down as though he had been pole-axed. A left hook caught him as he fell, but it meant nothing. He was insensible as his head struck the floor, and there was never a chance he would get up again.

But as long as he was in there throwing those six-ounce gloves, the Pappy Guy from Camden gave the roaring throng as great a thrill as it is ever likely to get at a sports event. Marciano won the championship; Walcott won a respect he had never known before. He fought with a heart and a fury which were at times astonishing.

Several times, even toward the end, Walcott ripped into Marciano with lethal left hooks to the body and head which almost sent the new champion down. Only a wonderful constitution kept Rocky on his feet. That is, of course, one of the requisites of a champion.

over, Charles was champion until he was knocked out by Jersey Joe Walcott July 18, 1951. Walcott, in turn, was knocked out by Marciano last night.

Harlingen Moves Into Gulf Finals

PORT ARTHUR (AP) — The Gulf Coast League, where Texas baseball of 1952 will make its last stand, opened its championship play-off series here Tuesday night and Harlingen kept on winning.

Harlingen put down Port Arthur, the regular season champion, 8-7, in the best-of-seven series' opener, the Capitol's fifth straight victory.

The teams meet here Wednesday, then move to Harlingen for three games, skipping Friday night and return to Port Arthur if more games are necessary after Saturday.

Both clubs kept up the big-inning tenor of the regular season for the opener. And Harlingen got the best of that, a five-run fourth inning to shade a first-inning, four-run spree by the Seahawks.

At the end, Reliever Bill Guthrie was rushed in with one run across the series and winning runs on base to save Harlingen's victory for Starter Roger Powell. Guthrie fanned the only ninth-inning batter he faced, Gene Depperschmidt, to put out the three singles, two walks and a sacrifice, pushed Port Arthur ahead 4-0 in the opening stanza. Then Harlingen roared back on Jim Bynon's solo homer in the second and a five-run outburst that routed Bart DiMaggio in the fourth.

Powell's two-run double was the big blow of five hits of DiMaggio and Les Kash in the frame.

After Harlingen led, 6-5 through four innings, the clubs traded five runs in the seventh and ninth frames to retain that margin.

Dinty Moore's pitcher in the second game against Manny Rodriguez 12-4 of Harlingen.

First Caucasian Champ Since '37

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Rocky Marciano is the first member of the Caucasian race to hold the world heavyweight boxing title since June 22, 1937. Joe Louis ascended the throne then by knocking out James J. Braddock in the eighth round of their bout in Chicago.

Louis held the title until 1949, when he announced his retirement and Ezzard Charles took

Save Time and Effort With Easy-to-Handle Dodge Trucks!

Dodge "Job-Rated" trucks are engineered for greater maneuverability, easier parking, less driver fatigue.

- Turn in tighter circles, thanks to short wheelbase and wide front tread.
- For ease of handling, there's the improved steering wheel position, easy-acting worm-and-roller steering gear on most models.
- Driving convenience is increased by steering column gearshift on low-tonnage models with 3-speed transmission.
- Try famous Dodge handling ease for yourself. Come in today for a demonstration.

Smaller turning circles! Drive a Dodge "Job-Rated" truck and find out how sharp it turns—how much easier it is to maneuver—how much time and trouble you save when you park. Take the wheel and learn about real handling ease!

Local Writers' Club Names New Leaders

New leaders of the Pampa Writers' Club were announced at a meeting of the group Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Ben Ogden.

Mrs. John Campbell is chairman for the coming year, and Miss Helene Huff vice-chairman.

Mrs. Otis Nace, 1951-52 chairman, introduced the club's constitution preceding the workshop.

Present were Meses, Kenneth Baumgartner, Bill Ledbetter, Fern Stover, O. L. Brummett, Forrest Taylor, Campbell, Nace, Ogden, and one guest, Mrs. Winifred Almond of McLean.

IN THE GOOD OLE DAYS women got dressed up just like Mrs. A. L. Jaynes, above, and went to community basket suppers with husbands in tow. Underneath the whiskers in the picture above is Mrs. G. E. Tinnin. Both were dressed for the old-fashioned "back-to-club" party B&PW members staged Tuesday night in the City Club Room. With their 1902 costumes, guests wore bonnets and derbies which the club is to sell during Pampa's 50th birthday celebration. (News Photo)

At the Varietas Study Club. Members are beginning their 25th club year. (Is there an older women's club in Pampa?)

Quality, not quantity, is my measure.

Varietas Club Observes 25th Anniversary Here

Varietas Study Club members observed the 25th anniversary of the organization at a colorful fall luncheon Tuesday in the home of Mrs. J. E. Kirckman. Mrs. Lee Harrah and Mrs. Otis Nace were hostesses.

Mrs. J. C. Vollmert, 1952 president, gave a history of the organization and recognized Mrs. Harrah, the only active member of the 28 charter members. The group was known as the Mother's Self Culture club in 1927. The name was changed to Child Study Club in 1932, and in 1940 the group assumed its present name. During the first five years, Mrs. Vollmert explained, programs were planned by the 20th Century Self Culture Assn., but since, all programs have been arranged by members.

Past presidents include Meses, C. T. Hunkapillar, Harry Barnard, S. A. Hurst, Joe M. Smith, A. H. Doucette, H. W. Johns, A. B. Thompson, Robert Gilchrist, Roy Tinsley, Harrah, N. F. Maddux, W. C. Hutchinson, C. L. McKinney, Sherman White, Luther Pierson, Horace McBee, S. C. Evans, Walter Foster, R. W. Lane, J. E. Kirckman, Felix Stalls, E. J. Haslam, F. E. Imel, J. G. Doggett, Ralph Thomas, and H. P. Dosier.

Present officers include Mrs. Vollmert, Mrs. J. G. Cargile, vice-president; Mrs. H. H. Butler, secretary; Mrs. H. T. Hampton, treasurer; Mrs. Ralph Thomas, parliamentarian; Mrs. Dosier, council of clubs; and Mrs. Dow King, reporter.

Program study for the year is "The World As A Woman Sees It." Meses, Kirckman, Nace and Harrah designed yearbooks and silver to carry out the anniversary motif.

The serving table for the luncheon was centered with an arrangement of fall flowers, and shows of Pampa and Pvt. and Mrs. Pleasant Meadows.

Picnic Compliments Pvt. Pleasant Meadows

Pvt. Pleasant E. Meadows, who is here on a 21-day furlough was honored recently in Miami Park with a family picnic. Pvt. Meadows is to report Sept. 29 in New Jersey for further orders.

Attending the picnic were Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Black, Viet, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Melton and children, Memphis, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. Alvis Melton and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Lesley and children, and Mr. and Mrs. W. K. ### OUR TOWN

by Wanda Campbell

Now is the time clubs are appointing committees to find projects for the year. We don't know what special project the Council of Negro Women plans this year, but more than likely they plan more work on their nursery founded in January, 1949. The nursery building is located at 401 Oklahoma and includes one long recreation room, a kitchen, bath, and a large bedroom. The day nursery was opened for the convenience of mothers who had to work and leave their children. As one mother pointed out, "impressions of youth are the making of an adult," and that's why they appreciate the nursery so much. They know the children have a hot lunch, a long nap, and a play time, and they know, too, that Mrs. Ella Marie Ray, the nursery matron, divides her attention and affection among all the children. This summer, the attendance was down, but this month enrollment jumped to 30, and Mrs. Ray won't be able to handle the children alone. However, for the last few weeks she has cared for the children and prepared lunch for the older group and had bottles ready for the youngest three months old. We've visited the nursery on special holidays when they were expecting guests for a party. There's a large round table in the center of the recreation room, and the youngsters were always seated about it, hands folded and faces scrubbed and shining. But we've made some unexpected visits, too, and we've found that children at Carver nursery don't save their party manners for company. When they are called all to lunch, they pick up their toys, line up to wash their faces and hands, and after lunch they take a nap. Some of the sleepy heads sleep until after 3, but most of the children are up by 2:30. Then they sit around in their special chairs and look at books or maybe color a picture when they have crayons. Sometimes after naps, there's peanut butter and jelly sandwiches, and everyone loves those days. Officers of the Negro Women's Council were to visit the nursery yesterday. Mrs. Oscar Reed is president and founder, and other leaders are Mrs. E. A. Duke and Mrs. Betty Kerr. The purpose of the council, one of many scattered all through the United States, is to raise home standards, better interracial understanding, improve citizenship, and work for the improvement of social, economical and religious welfare of their people. They have done excellent work with the nursery, but they are always quick to express their appreciation for assistance from other organizations in Pampa. The Salvation Army supplies milk for the nursery school, the American Legion sent little desks over recently, and several women's clubs provide treats for the children. Mrs. Ray seems to keep things running smoothly, but there are probably a number of things the nursery could use. Some of the children are "doubling up" during nap time, and there's room for more beds in the bedroom. Dishes and glasses are always in demand, we know, and probably large cooking vessels are needed in preparing the big meals. Sheets, towels, wash cloths, soap — any of these things could be used. All kinds of books and small toys should appeal to the youngsters. Occasionally some organization sends a big basket of food which includes special things that don't come under the nursery budget. And they deserve them because the Carver nursery is full of special little people.

Mrs. H. W. Waters Is Civic Culture Program Leader

Mrs. H. W. Waters presented a program on "Austria and Democracy" at a meeting of Civic Culture Club Tuesday. Mrs. Katie Vincent was hostess in the home of her daughter, Mrs. N. D. Steele.

Mrs. Waters explained in her talk that Austria is an outpost fighting valiantly against Communism, and built her program around that point.

Refreshments were served to Meses, Irvin Cole, Lloyd Rinehart, M. M. Moyer, E. A. Shackleton, J. B. Townsend, Leo Paris, A. J. Hills, Lloyd Kuntz, W. C. Scott, Waters, Willis White and Rogena Thompson.

Hank's Ma And Mexican Cook Have Trouble In The Kitchen

By HENRY McLEMORE
CUERNAVACA, Mexico — Minnie McLemore and Dolores Hernandez have been combining their cooking skills in our kitchen for the last two weeks and the results have been every bit as startling as a sun that persistently rises in the west and a kitchen who has to take lessons to learn to purr.

Minnie McLemore is my mother who is visiting us and Dolores Hernandez is our cook. That is, Dolores was our cook until Mama arrived in Mexico. Since then we've had two cooks because you could no more keep Mama out of a kitchen than you could keep a teen-ager off a telephone.

Mama's been cooking for more than half a century and was saying the other day while mixing biscuits that if all the biscuits she has cooked were thrown in the Atlantic Ocean you could walk across it.

The dishes that Mama and Dolores have concocted would have to be eaten to be believed. Mama is originally from Georgetown, South Carolina and is an unreconstructed rebel both in thought and cooking. Dolores is a Tzotzil Indian from Zinacantan and cooks just as the Tzotzies have been cooking for centuries.

Between them they have achieved a cuisine as if one were cooking to kill Sherman and the other were cooking to kill Cortez. Harmony in the kitchen is not disturbed by the fact that Mama does not speak one word of Spanish and Dolores' English is limited to an infectious laugh that would be understood the world over.

They talk with one another incessantly. We can't help but laugh to hear Mama say "Dolores measure me out a cup of sugar and sift it with two cups of flour and a pinch of salt."

"Si Senora" answers Dolores and she takes out her lava stone mortar and pestle and starts grinding away at chili peppers, green tomatoes and a fistful of strange and mysterious herbs.

One of the confoundest dishes that ever came out of any kitchen came out of ours yesterday when Mama who loves to shop in the big market came home with some squash. She fixed it just the way she liked it but forgot to watch Dolores.

It came to the table soaked with brown sugar which is the way many Indians prefer squash. With sugar added it becomes a luxurious dessert.

None of our American stomachs was quite ready for this combination as only a day or so before Mama had cooked fried chicken only to have Dolores bring it to the table covered with a rich chocolate sauce.

She stood by until we praised it, too. Turkey with chocolate sauce is the most festive of Mexican dishes. Dolores did not see why it wouldn't be just as good on fried chicken as on roast turkey.

Mama took one look at the chicken and said "Dolores what in heaven's name have you done?" "Gracias, Senora, gracias," Dolores said grinning from ear to ear. "Bueno, bueno, bueno."

Mama, like most Southerners, likes her beans cooked with a chunk of salt pork. Dolores likes her frijoles cooked plain. They almost came to blows over the bean situation before they somehow came to an agreement to have both kinds.

Every time Mama cooks biscuits Dolores puts a platter of her tortillas on the table beside the biscuits and peeks through the kitchen door to see which we are eating.

To keep things peaceful we eat a biscuit and then a tortilla.

"Why be ashamed to wear a four-year-old coat, dear? Some day you can brag about it when you write your memoirs!"

Texas Conference In Clean Sweep

By the Associated Press
Texas Conference teams made it a clean sweep—in defeats—last week as the circuit opened the football season full blast. In fact, only one team has been able to post a victory this far. That was Abilene Christian College, which started the campaign Sept. 13 with a 20-7 win over Southwest Texas State.

But Abilene Christian couldn't keep up the good work; last week it succumbed to East Texas State 21-0.

McMurry was dropping its second straight game tumbling to Midwestern 26-14.

Austin College lost to Southeastern State of Durant at Denison in the Texoma Bowl 7-6.

Howard Payne fell before New Mexico A&M, 20-7, at State College N.M.

Fumbles played a major part in each team's defeat. A bad snapback from center robbed Austin College of a tie with Southeastern, which won its first game in four bowl contests.

Non-conference play continues this week with one Friday night game and three Saturday night contests.

Abilene Christian opens the week of play Friday night with University of Chattanooga at Chattanooga in the fourth meeting between the schools.

Saturday's slate matches McMurry against West Texas State at Amarillo; Texas A&I against Southwest Texas at San Marcos, and Austin College entertains Midwestern University, while Howard Payne is host to Sam Houston State at Brownwood.

Extra Income Should Be Reported By Congressmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Nixon might not be in his present situation—having to explain the $18,000 fund donated by fellow Californians—if Congress had listened to President Truman and Sen. Morse, Oregon Republican, more than a year ago.

They suggested Congress pass a law requiring members of Congress and all other government employees receiving a salary of at least $9,000 a year to list in a public record any other income or financial help.

If Nixon had had to list the $18,000 collected for him for political purposes, there would be no news or surprise now in the fact that the fund existed. This public record at same time, would have provided Gen. Eisenhower with more information about the man he picked as his running mate.

Truman had his suggestion Sept. 27, 1951, in a message to Congress. Morse has been introducing a bill for the same purpose since, 1947.

Congress gave Truman the same treatment it has been giving Morse for five years: a good chill. Although they spend a sizable amount of time investigating other people's financial dealings and disclosing them publicly, members of Congress have shown small enthusiasm for disclosing their own.

The President said the legislation he suggested would prevent "improper conduct" and "unfounded suspicions."

He sent his message to Congress at the time a Senate subcommittee of which Nixon was a member, was investigating charges of political influence in government loans. At that moment the chairman of Truman's Democratic party, William M. Boyle

Seeing America ... Hitch-Hiking Danish Girl Learns All About America

DENVER (AP) — A slender, brown-haired Danish girl is spending these fine fall days hitchhiking through the West on a seeing America tour that already has taken her through more of the United States than many Americans see in a lifetime.

Anette Brodsgaard, 25, packs 60 pounds of belongings in a ruck sack on her back and says she has no trouble getting automobile rides.

"Sometimes they make how you call, a pass," she said in Denver. "But they treat me with respect when I tell them no go."

Anette left Denver Sept. 10, heading for San Francisco.

She is from Roskilde, a small town near Copenhagen, where her father is a doctor. She declined to give his name.

Anette, who speaks English creditably, worked as a secretary for an export business back home until a year ago when she drew her savings, gathered up her belongings and sailed for New York.

She worked there for an import firm until last December when she decided on a warmer setting — Florida. Later she moved on to Texas, then decided on her hitch-hiking tour as the best way of seeing lots of the United States.

By the time she reached Denver, she figured she had covered 8,000 miles, taking in such points as El Paso, Carlsbad, N. M.; Oklahoma City, Kansas City, Little Rock, Memphis, Detroit, Chicago, Minneapolis, Omaha, Bismarck, N. D., and Cheyenne, Wyo.

Anette, who has had plenty of time and opportunity to study the American woman, says they "spend too much time on their looks. They want attention and are very spoiled by the men. The women are much skinnier here and dress with more care."

The watermelon grows in numerous varieties and when mature may weigh as little as 8 or more than 80 pounds.

Medical Science May Find Anti-Cancer Hormone Soon

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE AP Science Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — There may be an anti-cancer hormone. It could explain why one particular human organ almost never develops cancer, suggests Dr. Andre B. Carney, Tulsa, Okla.

This organ is the duodenum (dew-odee-num), the first part of the small intestine, leading from the stomach.

Why it is so highly immune to cancer is a mystery and challenge. Does it secrete an anti-cancer hormone? The answer could provide clues to prevention of cancer generally, Dr. Carney told the International College of Surgeons.

Offhand, there are lots of reasons for expecting that the duodenum would be a frequent site of cancer.

Ulcers often develop in the duodenum, but don't carry a cancer risk like ulcers elsewhere in the body.

Ulcers of the lower end of the stomach may often turn into cancer.

Jr., was before the committee.

The President said the public record on income and financial help should be made not only by members of Congress and employees of the executive agencies, but also by judges, admirals, generals and even national party officials which would have included Boyle.

But Sen. Millikin, Colorado Republican, called the message "hog wash" and a "cheap political trick."

Medical Science May Find Anti-Cancer Hormone Soon

cer, but the same kind of ulcer half an inch away in the duodenum "is spared the tendency toward malignant development."

Cancer is fairly common in nearby organs. Primary cancer of the stomach accounts for more than 25 per cent of all cases of cancer. The liver accounts for 5.1 per cent, the bile ducts for 3.5 per cent, the pancreas and pancreatic ducts for about 3 per cent.

All these organs empty into the duodenum.

"Is there an anti-cancer horone in the walls of the duodenum which stops so abruptly this malignant invasion?" Dr. Carney asks.

"Is there some substance liberated in the liver which when mixed with duodenal enzymes and juices prevents cancer growth?"

"Is there some enzyme or hormone coming from the pancreas which when mixed with duodenal contents prevents the formation or developments of cancer cells? Does the admixture of bile, pancreatic and duodenal juices combine to prevent the formation of cancer cells?"

A hormone called secretin is produced in the duodenum. Little is known about what secretin does, except that it goes into the bloodstream and starts the flow of bile and pancreatic juices into the duodenum.

Secretin may possibly be the anti-cancer hormone, says Dr. Carney. The rewards for solving the secret of the duodenum could be great.

BENEATH that big broad bonnet is the reason for this headline. It's a four-barreled automatic carburetor—Airpower by name—which has a way of gulping in what the dictionary defines as "a sudden blast of wind" when extra power is needed.

And the way this gorgeous performer can step out as this occurs is something you'll always remember.

For ordinary driving, two barrels are all you need—and two barrels are all that are working. They give you an extra thrifty flow of fuel for round-town cruising.

When extra power is wanted in a hurry—the "reserves" swing into action—feeding extra fuel and extra air in an ever-thrifty mixture, which delivers the greatest horsepower in Buick history.

This is one of many distinctions that endear ROADMASTERS to fine-car owners.

It's a car as rich in finish as it is in power—a car of expansive room—restful silence—level in gait—beautifully responsive to your mood and will.

And it offers the effortless ease of Power Steering* especially engineered by Buick to save your strength in parking and slow-motion maneuvers, and still let you feel a proud sense of command and a sure sense of control on the highway.

There's just one question we'd like to ask: When are you going to come in and enjoy the ride of your life?

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Optional at extra cost on ROADMASTER and SUPER only.
