NEW YORK—The United Nations Atomic Energy Commission today voted for a world conference to outlaw atomic weapons, if admitted to the United States within three months.

The Russian plan, as a substitute for an American proposal under which the United States has conditionally offered to share her atomic secrets and destroy the bombs, would put into force by ratification of half the nations of the world.

Atomic know-how was drastically curtailed under the conditions which were laid down last Friday by the United States when it rejected the Russian plan.

The Russian plan, which would forbid the United States from providing for their destruction three months after the convention is held, and require each signatory nation within six months after the convention to provide its own atomic secrets, would severely punish the United States.

It would set up two committees to handle exchange of scientific information for peaceful use and to provide international controls against the use of atomic energy for military purposes.

The primary difference between the American and Russian proposals is that the Russian plan offers to yield the atomic secrets and destroy the American bombs only after international control is assured, while the American proposal demands the control out of American hands.

A-Energy Control

WASHINGTON—Three points of sharp disagreement between Russian and American plans for solving atomic energy problems led to a new controversy.

The three major differences immediately appeared in the American proposal, submitted by Bernard M. Baruch last week and the Russian plan, made yesterday.

A major difference is the question of whether the right to use atomic energy should be limited to peaceful purposes.

The Russian plan demands that none of the great powers should have the right to use atomic energy in future years.

Baruch had down the part that once the atomic energy is used for peaceful purposes, it should be available to all nations.

The Russian plan demands that the United States should be required to dispose of its atomic energy.

Baruch's proposal is the idea of outlawing these weapons. But many of the advisers who helped develop the American plan have pointed out that this is an impractical proposal.

Bowles Hints He May Resign Federal Post

WASHINGTON—Economic Stabilizer Chester Bowles left open today the question whether he will resign if price control bills he regards as inflationary "booby traps" should become law.

He dropped hints aptly that he is prepared to, but a direct news conference question on the point brought this reply:

"President Roosevelt had a good rule for handling that kind of question. He never would comment. That's a pretty good rule."

Asked whether there would be worse inflation with no price control than under the bills approved by the house and senate, Bowles replied:

"That's a hard question to answer. It amounts to the like death by hanging or by having my throat cut?"

Bowles said "none—literally none, of the O.A. changes now being considered by a house-senate conference committee."

He said he would like to see a commission set up to study the four Allied ambassadors in Rome.

The commission will supervise the carrying out of the terms of the treaty. The Russians previously had refused to approve the idea of such a commission, declaring it would be an infringement on Italian sovereignty.

On the last item of business today, however, the question of the French-Italian frontier, the Russians requested more time to study a report by a commission of hydrographic experts.

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin agreed to the principle of withdrawing British troops from Italy within 90 days after the treaty goes into effect on condition that Soviet troops be withdrawn from Bulgaria within a similar period.

Big Four Make Agreement as To Evacuation

PARIS—A British informant said the foreign ministers council agreed today that British and American troops in Italy and Russian troops in Bulgaria should be evacuated within 30 days after peace treaties with those two countries go into effect.

The British source said the representatives of Britain, Russia, the United States and France, working at an unusually cordial atmosphere, also broke a deadlock that has existed for several months over the question of an Allied treaty inspection commission for Italy by adopting a Soviet counter-proposal for a commission to be composed of the four Allied ambassadors in Rome.

The commission will supervise the carrying out of the terms of the treaty. The Russians previously had refused to approve the idea of such a commission, declaring it would be an infringement on Italian sovereignty.

Far-Reaching City Sanitation Plan Begins in Pampa

Preliminary work on a far-reaching city health and sanitation program is beginning immediately and the actual anti-typhus campaign, which includes rat-proofing of all downtown stores, will begin June 27, City Manager Garland Franks said today.

Franks has outlined a full program which, he said, will require the cooperation of every resident of the city if it is to be successful.

A city ordinance has already been passed which will require merchants to have their places of business rat-proofed. This work will be done by a state unit operated by a representative of the state department of public health, with specially trained city employees assisting him.

Among the points in the program outlined by Franks are:

1. Spraying of all garbage cans, both in the downtown and residential districts at the city's expense.

2. Complete spraying of the city dump grounds and the use of backfill ditches in which to dispose of wet garbage.

3. The possible passage of a city ordinance which would require that each garbage barrel and that all garbage barrels be kept covered.

4. The purchase of an additional city garbage truck. (The city now has two of the packer type trucks and almost 300 are being added to the city in the past year.)

5. Emphasis on the necessity of public cooperation, both in voluntary measures and in compliance with health and sanitation ordinances.

In line with the fifth point, Franks said residents could help in the anti-typhus campaign by keeping their garbage barrels covered at all times and would avoid leaving wet garbage exposed.

Jewish City Is Out of Bounds To British Men

JERUSALEM—The Jewish city of Tel Aviv was proclaimed out of bounds today for all British troops, even military police and military police, in a new outbreak of violence which resulted in the death of a 55-year-old Jew.

The killing brought the three-day death toll in Palestine to 22 Jews and three Britons.

Palestine Arabs celebrated the return of the Mufti, Haj Amin Al Husseini, to the middle east in an atmosphere of military preparations against further violence in the week-long revolt of Jewish illegal organizations.

Heavily armed British troops guarded all rail junctions and main roads. Reinforced police and military patrols guarded all streets in Jerusalem and barred wire barricades were thrown around all public buildings.

Throughout the night searchlights swept the highways, focusing on every passing automobile.

Pamphlets attributed to underground Jewish organizations were pasted in profusion on Jerusalem's walls last night and three unexploded bombs were reported found in the capital city.

The strict curfew on Tel Aviv was lifted after an unsuccessful all-day search yesterday of the coastal Jewish metropolis for five kidnapped British officers held hostage by the Jewish underground group, Irgun Zvai Leumi. A sixth officer, Maj. H. B. Chadwick of the British headquarters staff in Jerusalem, and a British nurse in Tel Aviv also were still missing and believed kidnapped.

Gracie Reports

By GRACIE ALLEN
YANKEE STADIUM, New York—My gracious, I've never been so excited in my whole life as I was at the Joe Louis-Billy Conn fight—the women in front of me was wearing an absolutely divine hat and she actually told me where I could get one like it. Isn't that thrilling?
The fight was kind of cute, too. Billy Conn looked awfully sweet in his white robe with a Kelly-green trim, and Joe Louis was very chic in red and blue. He came in at 10:08 and that was where he made his first mistake of the evening. He should have gone home at 10:06.
A minute later the champion appeared and received a tremendous ovation.

The Yankee stadium was simply jammed. I sat down front with the press and on a clear day I could probably have seen the cheerleaders in the fifty-dollar seats. But of course it wasn't a clear day.

Water Wimbull sat next to me, and Leroy Ryan a row in back. We made quite a group of talkative housewives. Just before the fight began Bernard Baruch came in at in a big group of United Nations delegates. For a minute I thought they were going to insist on settling the Conn-Louis dispute peacefully. But they must have decided to let them fight anyway. And then the fight began.

Billy Conn looked awfully fast. He seemed fast, he looked fast, and he was fast. Of course, later, he fell fast, but this was only the first round. It was then that I discovered the normal hit in front of me so I didn't see a single thing in the rest of the fight.

Everyone told me they were very interested in the fight. During the fight I heard a woman about Joe Louis. I had read that statement in the paper who said the champion had high blood pressure and all sorts of other ailments. As the fight started I began to see the most of it. I thought I'd never see a fight through such a thick and thin—all of a sudden he hit Billy on his jaw and Billy fell down.

Tommy Starnard sat next to me. He said the fight was over, Mr. Wimbull. Billy looks Joe didn't have his head?

New! KC BRINGS EXTRA FOOD VALUE TO BAKINGS!

GREATEST BAKING POWDER IMPROVEMENT IN 50 YEARS!

BETTERS BAKINGS 3WAYS!

1. BAKINGS LOOK BETTER... THE FOOD CALCIUM in the new KC permits more even distribution of the fine, active ingredients throughout the baking powder. This promotes more uniform action—gives bakings the light, smooth texture and inviting rich appearance everyone enjoys.

2. BAKINGS TASTE BETTER... FOOD CALCIUM in the new KC lets the flavor of your bakings come to "full bloom" while it prevents bitterness or "Soda Taste."

3. BETTER FOR YOU, TOO... KC makes everything you bake with it a valuable source of FOOD CALCIUM—adding 2 to 5 times more FOOD CALCIUM than the fresh milk used in a baking, depending on the recipe. Thus KC joins milk as a fine source of this vital food element.

More Exploration May Develop New Fields

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Results of a recent survey of potential gas production areas show that new gas fields may be found in approximately half of the nation, Hugh D. Miser, division chief of the Bureau of Mines, reported.

Miser said additional exploration might develop new fields in the northern Iliano Estacado of Northwest-Central Texas and Northeastern New Mexico, the trans-Pecos region of West Texas, and the Anadarko basin in Western Oklahoma and of the Texas Panhandle.

The walkout of AFL craftsmen was ordered last Thursday by the building and construction trades council to force contractors to recognize common labor unions.

Approximately $50,000,000 worth of construction had been affected by last night.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy.

When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's gives happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

hands by international convention. OFFERED BY GROMYKO

The Russian proposals were presented to the commission yesterday by Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko. Gromyko did not refer to the Baruch program as he offered his plan.

Observers said that Russia's presentation of a "counter-plan" came as a surprise at this early stage of discussions. They believed it would greatly prolong the long-range preliminary for ultimate disposal of atomic energy as an instrument of warfare. The delegates are in recess until next Tuesday afternoon.

In contrast to Baruch's proposal for setting up an international atomic development authority completely free of the Big Five veto power in the security council, Gromyko argued for full retention of control by the council and the United Nations and a surrender of the atomic bomb by what would amount to a vote of the "have-not" nations.

Salmon, who was honorably discharged from the army Jan. 16, attended Indiana public schools and is a graduate of the University of Indiana.

Bowles

Secretary of Labor Schwelienbach. Bowles reiterated that "if the bill which finally comes from the congress is clearly inadequate to deal with the inflationary forces we are facing, the only remaining hope is a firm and unequivocal veto" by President Truman.

A veto, he added, might then be followed by house and senate action allowing "effective price and rent controls to continue as they are for another year." The present legislation expires June 30.

Bowles expressed the opinion that with "a good bill, free of dangerous compromise and corner cutting, we can maintain relatively stable prices and rents during coming months."

With a "weakened" bill, he said, "the cost of living is bound to move upward at an increasing tempo," and "we could only look forward to renewed labor unrest, further strikes, further delays in production, prolonged shortages and sharply increased tension between farmers, white collar workers and factory workers."

Bowles said his greatest concern is that the public's "confidence" over the various proposed amendments "will result in a price control act which may look innocent enough but which would inevitably blow up in our faces two or three months from now."

He said an amendment which would remove ceilings June 30 on meat, dairy products, poultry and eggs is "so obviously disastrous" that he is confident the conference committee will eliminate it.

His fear, Bowles declared, is that "less dramatic but equally dangerous" amendments may go unnoticed. These, he added, "are the booby trap amendments," the "delayed action bombs," and the "amendments in sheep's clothing."

He classified these as follows:
1. Price-raising proposals for manufacturers which he said would "begin to explode in an unending stream of higher prices all across the board."

2. Elimination of wholesaler and retailer cost absorption.
3. Restrictions on textile and clothing controls and elimination of the requirement that manufacturers produce inexpensive garments.

4. Amendments which set up procedures for removal of price controls. He cited cigarettes as an example, and said that coffee, after removal of ceilings, might go up as much as 15 cents a pound.

5. Amendments which would divide the responsibility for stabilizing the cost of living between OPA and the agriculture department. "Neither the secretary of agriculture nor the price administrator would be able to protect the American people with this kind of half-authority and half-responsibility," Bowles said.

6. An amendment requiring the consent of the local federal district attorney before OPA can start any enforcement proceedings. "This," said Bowles, "would bog down the enforcement of price regulations hopelessly."

Nutt Trial

member what he had done during that time.
Nutt's discharge papers were submitted as Defense Exhibit A. He was a member of the 255th anti-aircraft battalion, was discharged from the service at Camp Chase, Ark., June 1, 1945. He had served as a corporal.

Nutt took the stand at 2:44 p. m. yesterday. Twenty-eight years old, he was born at Fordyce, Ark. He had quit school at 17, stayed in that area until he was almost 19. During that time, he testified, he did a good deal of drinking. On one occasion which he cited, he stated he had driven a car for 85 miles from a dance with a girl friend. He did not know it until he was told by the girl the next day that he had driven. He went into the service when he was almost 19.

At North American Aircraft Corp., plant in California, he said, he had mounted a catwalk and had gone to his gun position while so drunk that he did not remember the incident. He had been on leave, he said, and had been drinking heavily.

Nutt declared he did not know what happened from 9:30 on the night of the alleged attack until about 6:30 the next morning when he was woke up in county jail here. He stated he and friends had consumed 3 "fifths" of whiskey and that he then took a taxi, returned to town by himself for two more pints. He returned to the Killarney night club with the two extra pints and recalled only pouring out a drink.

That, he stated, was sometime after 9:30 and before 10:00. The state charges that he had talked with the little girl after that time, had subsequently taken her from the building and committed the crime. State witnesses testified that they had seen the child go from the building in the company of the man.

Nutt, in reply to the defense lawyer, Simpson, said his mind was a "mental blank" until sometime the next morning.

Officers called to the stand by the district attorney, said the accused appeared to be a normal drunk when they apprehended him and subsequently questioned him at the courthouse where he was committed to jail.

The judge's charge to the jury, by which the 12 men will make their decision, in the light of the testimony, says the jury can find the man guilty of rape as charged by the state, or find him not guilty; may find him guilty of assault with intent to rape; or with aggravated assault. A verdict of guilty of the state's charge could carry the death penalty, or any number of years' imprisonment not less than five years. Assault with intent to rape could carry any number of years' imprisonment not less than two. Aggravated assault would call for "not less than 25 nor more than 100, or x x x imprisonment in the county jail of not less than one month nor more than two years; or by both such fine and imprisonment, as you may determine and state in your verdict."

Section 11 of the judge's charge has the following to say about temporary insanity from intoxication, upon which the defense bases its case principally:
"You (the jury) are instructed that neither intoxication nor temporary insanity of mind produced by voluntary recent use of intoxicating liquor, constitutes any excuse for the commission of an offense, but evidence of temporary insanity produced by such recent use of intoxicating liquor, may be considered by the jury in mitigation of the punishment attached to the offense for which the defendant is on trial, in the event of his conviction.

"To be considered at all, however, the use of intoxicating liquor must have been indulged to the extent of producing temporary insanity, which is that degree of insanity that deprives the person of the capacity of power to distinguish between right and wrong as to the particular act charged against him. In other words, temporary insanity, caused by drunkenness, is that condition of the mind directly produced by the use of intoxicating liquor, and where the state of intoxication reaches such degree that the person becomes incapable of knowing that the act he is doing is wrong and criminal. Where such is the case, he is in a condition of temporary insanity within the meaning of the law."

Fi. Worth Scores In Ninth to Win From Buffs, 1-0

(By The Associated Press)
Last inning scores told the story in the only two games played in the Texas league last night.
The Fort Worth Cats, in first place, edged out the Houston Buffs, with a 1-0 win in the ninth inning. Shreveport scored in an overtime inning to beat Oklahoma City 5-4. Beaumont at Tulsa was postponed, rain.

John Van Cuyk, Fort Worth's left-hander, pitched a one-hit game and his third shutout of the season. The Cats, held to two hits in the first eight innings, finally punched three blows in the ninth for the one and winning tally.

Dyer, Durocher Singing Hopeful 'Little Melody'

(By JOE REICHLER)
AP Sports Writer
Managers Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers and Eddie Dyer of the St. Louis Cardinals, whose singing talents are confined mainly to the bathtub, were humming the same tune today—and it sounded suspiciously like the song entitled "Coming in on a Wing and a Prayer."
Searching frantically for another starting moundman to ease the pitching burden of his overworked staff, each perspiring pilot received a much needed lifeline yesterday when Joe (Brooklyn) Hatten and Ted (St. Louis) Wilks, a pair of pitching problems all season, came through with handsome hurling exhibitions to bring victory to the Dodgers and Cards, respectively.

Hatten, highly touted ex-sailor, whose stylish left wing was counted on to notch at least 15 victories for the Dodgers in this, his freshman year, finally flashed the form expected of him as he blanked the Pittsburgh Pirates 7-0 yesterday on seven rallies in the ninth inning, enabling the Dodgers to retain their game and a half national league bubble over the runner-up Redbirds.

Dyer's sigh of relief resulted from the gill-edged performance turned in by Wilks, whose sore-arm had been a source of constant worry to the freshman mentor. The pint-sized Wilks, relegated to relief chores after failing to finish in each of his three starting assignments earlier this season, replaced faltering Red Barrett in the third frame of last night's tussle with the Boston Braves and held the tribe scoreless the rest of the way while the Cards went on to win 8-3.

Detroit's Tigers continued to crawl up close to the leaders in the American league by clawing the Philadelphia Athletics 3-0.

Held hitless for six innings by Cincinnati's Ewell Blackwell, the New York Giants turned upon the Reds' freshman sensation in the seventh to win 4-3.

Rain and wet grounds cancelled other major league games.

Sox Score in Second Frame For 1-0 Win

(By GAYLE TALBOT)
NEW YORK—(AP)—Joe Louis still has it.
Billy Conn knows. Knocked out by one of the greatest of champions, bleeding from cuts across his forehead and nose, Conn sat smiling on a rubbering table deep under Yankee Stadium last night and declared with solemn finality that he would never fight again.
"The kid from Pittsburgh is putting his cue stick in the rack," said the gamesteer who had gone down under an eighth-round barrage from the fists of Louis. "You've seen the Kid take a fight. It's not there any more."

Tears glistening in his eyes, little Johnny Ray, who raised Billy from a pup in the boxing game, added his own sad words to Conn's valedictory. "There's no use going on if he's gone. We're not kidding ourselves."

In every respect, except for those who had their hearts bent upon Joe Louis retaining his crown, it was a lugubrious ending to what had given bright promise of being one of the memorable events of boxing history.

Up to the last few seconds, when the dynamite in the big Negro's fists suddenly went off and left Conn wrapped in darkness on the floor, the great crowd banked in the Yankee ball park had witnessed as a dull fight as the ring game ever spawned.

Afraid to mix it with the grim, determined Louis, Billy had for seven and a fraction rounds done almost nothing except dance around and elude with desperate purpose the blows that he seemed to realize would come sooner or later.

He was a far different Conn from the cocky, aggressive youngster who just five years ago thrilled a similar crowd by fighting Louis for all he was worth down to the bitter end in the 13th round. Last night the spark was gone.

"I knew I was making a stinking fight," he said apologetically to State Athletic Commissioner Eddie Egan, who visited him in his dressing room. "I thought I could keep away from Joe for 15 rounds." He added with a rueful grin, "I know better now."

In Conn's defense, probably no fighter in today could have done any better than he did against the Joe Louis who stalked him and finally brought him down last night. Possibly none could have eluded the Negro with the fearsome fists even as long as Billy did.

The 45,296 fans who paid $1,925,564 to witness the one-sided spectacle at least can tell their grandchildren they saw a great champion at near to his best.

Conn, at least, said it was a more terrible Louis he faced last night than in 1941.

Trim and sharp as a bushel of razor blades of 207 pounds, the Brown Brave must have appeared an awesome customer even to Conn when he shed his white bathrobe just before the opening bell. And there was no particle of doubt on the going changed that Joe was going after his man with a tenacity that would be difficult to deny for long.

Joe didn't hurry things. He just shuffled eternally forward, waiting almost patiently for the opening he was certain would come. Billy must have felt the futility of his retreat long before the two terrific rights and a left to the jaw smashed him down after 2:19 of the eighth round.

The early stages were boring. With Louis holding his first and Billy operating with extreme caution, not a half-dozen blows were exchanged in the opening round. Most of those were light lefts flicked to the champion's emotionless path. That was until the third round, the only ones that could have been awarded the Pittsburgh Kid.

Gradually Louis increased the pressure, until, by the fourth chapter, he was dealing Conn considerable punishment with his stinging left jabs, and occasionally was crowding his lighter opponent close to ropes and whanging him to the head and body with hard left and right hooks. At this stage the champs' body blows appeared to be taking a trace of speed out of Billy's nimble feet.

As Louis won the fifth, sixth and seventh rounds by increasingly wider margins the crowd, as well as Conn, must have sensed that the play was approaching its climax. Billy tried fewer and fewer punches. Once in the sixth, he slipped to one knee after taking a jolting Louis jab on the chin, but he bounced up without a count and tried to grimace cheerfully at his pursuer.

Apparently sensing the kill, Louis went out to finish it in the eighth.

Early in the round Joe caught Billy in a corner and gave him a rough going-over. In the midst of the flurry of punches, Conn gave a little laugh and said something inaudible to Joe. He couldn't recall later what it was he said, but it appeared to have a powerful effect on Joe.

Seconds later Louis launched a terrific right in mid-ring that caught Billy flush in the face and opened a cut under his left eye that sent blood cascading down to his chin.

As they came together in a neutral corner the big Negro whipped a right cross to the head that buckled Conn's knees. Then, the great finisher that he has always been, he whanged another right to the jaw that started Billy down, and brought across a left that dumped him on the canvas.

There was never a chance that he would gain his feet by the count of ten. He struggled as Referee Eddie Joseph took up the count with the official time-keeper, but at the final sweep of the official's right arm, the Pittsburgh Kid had only succeeded in propping up one elbow. His eyes were glazed and unseeing as his handlers rushed across and helped him to his stool.

"He hits terribly hard," Billy said later. "It was the right cross that ruined me. I heard the count, all right, but I couldn't do anything about it."

The three officials had the champion far in front when he landed his lethal punches. Referee Joseph gave Conn the second and third rounds. The two judges, Jack O'Sullivan and Frank Forbes, each called the first round even and gave the third to Conn. Otherwise it was a clean-sweep for Louis, the boxer, rather than Louis the puncher.

For defending his title successfully for the 22nd time, Louis figured to draw approximately $577,000 as his end of the purse. Conn's share was approximately $289,000.

Fortunately for Billy, he is supposed to be sufficiently well fixed financially to quit the ring at 28 if he feels like it—and there is no doubt he was serious in his intention last night. It is said on good authority that he is worth $200,000.

As for Louis, the money he made last night is not expected to do much more than pay off his debts to Promoter Mike Jacobs and the government, to whom he is far in arrears on his income tax. He has said he will not fight again this year. Even if he wanted to, there scarcely is a heavyweight in sight at this time who figures to give him a real argument.

Louis weighed 207, Conn 182.

Sports Round-Up

(By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.)
NEW YORK—(AP)—Strictly as a second guess, it seems the army made a bad guess when it only gave Joe Louis a sergeant's stripes. He should have been at least a two star general—Joe gave a masterful exhibition of tactical warfare against Billy Conn last night and if his legs are slower than they were five years ago it didn't make any difference—Louis let Conn do all the bouncing and running, while he merely shuffled in the right direction, and he had Billy at a disadvantage all the time. Eventually Joe worked his man into just the right position and in three punches it was all over—Referee Eddie Joseph had the easiest job you could imagine. He didn't have to break a clench and about all he had to do at the finish was signal the end of the count and help Billy Conn to his feet. What's more, Eddie got paid for it and was some 40 feet nearer what action there was than the $100 cash customers.

Money on the Wrong Nag?

If there is anything we can see clearly as coming out of the confusion of our country today, it is the trend toward a change in our political and social thinking. Things which would have seemed diametrically out of place a few years ago are being taken for granted, or accepted as they arrive. This is understandable when one considers that even in this nation, where there is relative freedom, the people are far from satisfied with the direction in which we are moving. It is gratifying to find a member of the Pampa Toastmasters club a few nights ago said, quite frankly, that he had never voted republican in his life, but he was going to do so next time, hoping to elect someone who would be a little closer to the old-line American policy—free enterprise, freedom of the individual to bargain with his neighbor for better or for worse, a policy of less "security" and more hard and honest work.

Proof of a change in our thinking is demonstrated in the recent endorsement of Gov. Warren, republican governor of California, for another term. He walked away with the republican AND DEMOCRATIC primaries—defeating the Hillman-Murray-PAC-CIO coalition. This is remarkable when one considers California an ideology hotbed, foreignism nursery. That is a land crisscrossed with emotions and passions born of the war.

Most of the Southerners who have not been tainted by the "pink" affliction resent the CIO-PAC campaign to "move south." They have always considered the South as their own territory, and they are taking orders from somewhere outside the United States. They think they are also capable.

Of course this is only speculation on our part. If they permit this coalition to succeed in this unification campaign, then we shall have been wrong in our conclusions. We shall have been correct in our observation that there is a new movement of thought, but wrong in that we shall have placed our money on the wrong nag?

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON
By RAY TUCKER

THREAT—Party bigwigs have committed between Capitol Hill and the White House in recent days to convince President Truman that the Democrats will lose both houses of Congress unless he can devise some strategy to win back the labor vote by next November.

It was not news to the White House that the party faces the threat of a lower chamber dominated by the G. O. P. The only real news is that the minority need gain only twenty-seven seats for control of that body.

What did unnerv President Truman and National Chairman Robert H. Hannegan, who are not familiar with local conditions and sentiment in the disaffected areas, was to learn from experts on politics in western states that several progressive commonwealths may easily fall into the enemy column unless he finds some way to appease the rank and file of workmen.

INFLUENCE—Save for a few spots, the vast stretch between the Mississippi river and the Pacific coast is not generally regarded as an industrialized section. It is only from their discussion of 1946 and 1948 possibilities that Messrs. Truman and Hannegan do not view it in that light—or did not until recently.

But many of these states have fairly large quotas of railroad workers, factory employes and miners. The construction of numerous small plants during the war increased the number of people with union sympathies. The influence of these groups is large because of the comparatively small total vote in Wyoming, Montana, Utah, New Mexico and Washington.

JEOPARDY—The senate can be tipped over if the opposition captures only eight chairs now occupied by democrats. Until lately National Chairman Hannegan had conceded a G. O. P. maximum increase of only five, including losses in the East and the West. That outcome would leave the democrats in fairly good shape.

General Duty Nurse

By Lucy Agnes Hancock

THE STORY: Sally tells Dr. Wiloughby that she hasn't enough patients to keep her busy and suggests that some be transferred from other overcrowded wards. "Now I have heard everything," says Dr. Wiloughby.

XIV
SALLY thought no more about her talk with Dr. Wiloughby and when the three patients from B were brought into the ward she was quite ready for them. It was strange or, perhaps, not so strange that all three were glad of the change. K had the reputation of being a convalescent ward—no one ever died in that ward.

"Why it was actually like a shot in the arm to me," one newcomer said as she submitted to the nurse's ministrations. "I had grown discouraged. Two months I had lain in that bed with slim prospects of getting out very soon and then this—I feel better already. Now, I am absolutely confident of getting my head straight again."

The other voiced much the same sentiment. Margaret Adams met Sally when she left the ward at eight that night and told her that she had certainly started something.

"Sunderlin doesn't seem to be too pleased; but Wiloughby and the chief are jubilant. K has always been Sunderlin's pet ward. She started it—interested the Board in it and so on. This sort of knocks her ideas into a cocked hat. The other doctors are crowing as if the idea was their own—they've been complaining of the crowded conditions and hinted of poor management. Personally, I never could see the reason for that ward. The face of our crowded condition. And another thing—most of the women in that ward are here because their friends or spouses have fled from them."

MACKENZIE'S Column

By DEWITT MACKENZIE AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

France's political crisis—the conflict between left and right—is developing in a manner which suggests that General Charles de Gaulle may be maneuvering to resume the leadership of his country. The general's dramatic reappearance after six months of silence makes it clear that he has not abandoned the struggle. Three times within the past few days he has made important speeches, the most notable being one in which he warned that there is danger of dictatorship in France and urged that political powers—legislative, executive and judicial—be clearly separated and strongly balanced. He also advocated a strong executive and a two chamber legislature.

His latest speech coincided with the election of a new president who will serve six months while the constituent assembly frames another constitution to replace the one rejected by the recent referendum because the voters felt it leaned too far to the left. De Gaulle's appearance once more on the speaker's platform brought him much acclaim, but there was no indication that he expected to take an active hand in the political show at this precise moment.

There is excellent reason why the general should prefer to remain on the sidelines until after the new constitution has been drafted and approved by the country. Small credit and great blame can come to the government in power during the interim period, because no long term policies can be inaugurated until the revised constitution is effective—and meantime the distressed country is crying for much needed reforms.

So De Gaulle's best strategy would seem to be to work as a free agent and be prepared to take himself for the presidency when the fourth republic is inaugurated half a year hence.

Dallas WSA Office Has New Director

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harry L. Holley has been appointed director of the Dallas, Texas, regional office of the war assets administration.

Holley previously served as deputy assistant to the President of WAA in Washington and prior to that time was with the reconstruction finance corporation in Dallas and Washington.

The number of mules on farms of the United States was 3,196,000 head on January 1, 1946.

Against illegal entry will not be broken openly, but they will be worked at by officialdom.

In fact, immigration authorities concede that several hundred thousand are now in the United States without legal permission. The large number consists of important refugees who were admitted because of the political situation in their home countries.

ENTRY—Canada has only recently agreed in secret negotiations to accept most of the Polish army which fought with the Allies but who dare not return home for fear of arrest and prosecution by the Russians. They number at least 175,000.

It is believed by immigration officials here that the majority of these soldiers of fortune will eventually wind up in the United States—legally or illegally. Our border guards have found it almost impossible to prevent illicit entry along the extended and unprotected Canadian boundary.

EXCEPTION—Note to President Truman: Every state in the union except one has an avenue or a street or a drive in the District of Columbia. The only exception is Missouri!

Sally turned away and mounted a step but Margaret pulled her back. "That isn't true, Sally. You tell them that!"

But Sally shook her head. "It isn't worth it," she said. "I doubt if I could convince Holden and, anyway, it really doesn't matter what anyone thinks."

"THERE!" Norma cried triumphantly.

"What particular case have you got to grind?" the young intern asked Norma curiously.

"No axe," the girl answered. "I'm thinking of the rest of us nurses who are putting in overtime and wearing ourselves out only to have Maynard here complain that she hasn't enough to do and will they please combine it with K so that she can take care of them all."

Doctor Hallock laughed. "Gosh! Did you do that, Maynard? Have you asked for more work?"

In Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—Introducing Hollywood's latest and hottest song-writing team—Doris Fisher and Alan Roberts. A couple of hep characters.

A pair of maniacs who wrote a hit in an hour to win a $10 bet, turned a restaurant menu into a song and insisted on sitting beneath a palm tree sipping rum and coke before writing tunes for a new South American musical, "Thrill of Brazil."

Their hits: "Put the Blame on Mame" and "Amado Mio" from "Gilda," "Angelina," "Good, Good, Good," "I Wish," "Tampico," "Tired," "You Always Hurt the One You Love," and "Into Each Life Some Rain Must Fall."

"We're wacky," said Doris. "We're nuts," said Alan. "They're terrific!" says Hollywood.

58 MINUTES FOR $10
They wrote "Amado Mio" in an hour, on that $10 bet.

"We didn't know a word of Spanish," Doris said.

"So we called up the research department and asked them to reel off some Spanish words," Alan said. "We liked 'Amado' and 'Mio,' which mean 'My love' and 'My darling,' so we wrote it in 58 minutes."

It's a system," Doris said. "One night we wrote down all the odd-sounding Italian dishes from an Italian cafe menu, and put them together into the kind of Italian everyone thinks is Italian."

"We got a hit," Alan said. "Angelina."

Twenty-eight-year-old Doris Fisher comes naturally by her song-writing talent. Her father, the late Fred Fisher, was the author of such hits as "Dardanella," "Peg of My Heart," and "Ireland Must Be Heaven."

At 15, Doris collaborated with her dad on "Whispering Grass." At 21, she sang with Eddie Duchin, then changed her name to Penny Wise and sang for a year on the radio.

Alan Roberts is a New Yorker, who kept books, served as a bellhop, and later played the piano in speakeasies during prohibition.

NIGHT-CLUB EYE-OPENING
He met Doris in a New York night-club one night while he was giving some songs and patter to Joe E. Lewis, the comedian.

"Hey, dope," said Fisher to Roberts. "Why should you give that stuff away? Let's sell it." And sell it they did.

At first it was a struggle.

"We were too hep," Doris said. "Musicians swooned over our tunes, but nobody ever bought any of them. Then we wrote singing radio commercials."

After that "Gilda" songs clicked, Columbia asked them to write the musical score for "Thrill of Brazil" in 20 minutes.

Doris is about to divorce Paul Wald, a New York businessman and father of her four-year-old daughter.

"I discovered," she said, "that a career and marriage didn't work out."

Drop Is Reported in Tuberculosis Deaths

AUSTIN—(AP)—For the first time since 1914 Texas deaths from tuberculosis have dropped below 3,000 according to Dr. Howard E. Smith, tuberculosis division director of the state health department.

The Texas death rate of 43.1 per 100,000 people is still above the national average of 39.7, he said.

Dr. Smith attributed the decrease to a combination of the following: An improvement in economic standards during the war years, more effort directed at detecting early cases, more intensive education during the past decade, and more chest surgeons coming to Texas and giving people treatment that reduced mortality.

Firearm Importation Halted in Mexico

MEXICO CITY—(AP)—President Avila Camacho has ordered the United States and Guatemalan borders closed to the importation of all firearms of any type. Seaport custom houses also have been instructed to halt shipments as the nation nears the July 7 presidential and congressional elections.

At the same time the president cancelled all civilian permits to carry sidearms and authorities were told to start patting hips for loose weapons.

Woodworkers Reject International Union

The International Woodworkers of America (IWO) was rejected as bargaining agent of the employees of the Temple Lumber company in the company's plants at Homphill and Pineand, Texas, in an election conducted on June 4 by the National Labor Relations Board. The vote was 329 to 224 against the IWO, or 59.5 per cent to 40.5 per cent.

Three separate elections were held one for the logging operators and two for the men in the two plants. Logging operators voted 73 for and 119 against, and the plant workers voted 151 for and 210 against. This was the first election held among Temple Lumber company employees for determination of a bargaining agency.
