Draft Law Is Likely To Become Red-Hot Political Issue in '46 Elections

Extension of Service Act Is Deferred

WASHINGTON (AP)—For the first time since its original enactment in 1940, the draft law is likely to become a red-hot political issue in this year's congressional elections.

That became apparent yesterday as the house military committee indicated a determination to throw into the lap of the new congress the entire matter of peacetime extension of the selective service act. The act expires on May 15.

Should congress go along with the committee, many members believe, the proposition of whether to keep the law on the books through 1947 will be one of the first demanding a decision from the 80th congress when it convenes in January.

And because of intense public interest, they believe, the voters will demand that candidates for election to the 80th congress take a stand in their campaign.

TWO THINGS POSSIBLE

Current indications are the house committee next Tuesday will urge congress to do one of two things.

Keep the law on the books until next February 15, with a ban against practically all new inductions but a requirement for continued registration of draft eligibles.

Or extend the law as it now

Colorado Man Is Robbed of $200 On McLean Road

McLEAN.—(Special)—J. A. Kendrick of Denver, Colo., was robbed at the point of a gun Friday night by one and possibly two unidentified men at the first highway bridge south of McLean. It was announced Saturday by Sheriff G. H. Kyle.

Kendrick said $200 in cash was taken by the men when he handed over his wallet. No trace of the men has been found by county authorities.

The Coloradoan, who was driving from McLean to Lefors, said the men turned their car crossways on the south end of the bridge and waited for him to come up. As he stopped, a man boarded the side of his car and thrust a pistol in his side, demanding his wallet and the keys to his car.

The victim gave his wallet and his keys to the hold-up man and was told that his keys would be left at the opposite end of the bridge. The car then turned around and headed north toward Lefors, leaving Kendrick's keys in the promised position.

Kendrick could give no description of the hold-up men except that the one with the gun was about 40 to 45 years old; about 5' 9" tall and weighed about 165 pounds. He was sure the car was a 1935 Ford Tudor or four-door sedan with chrome fenders and yellow wheels.

According to Police Chief Logie Allen, Kendrick seemed to think the robbery something of a joke.

Chamber Committee Meetings Are Called

Two meetings connected with chamber of commerce committees will be held tomorrow at the C. of C. office.

At 10 a. m. a joint session of the industrial committee and the advertising and publicity committee will be held. Members of the former committee are Chairman A. A. Schumann, R. G. Hughes, Jake Cannon, Joe Key, O. T. Hendrix, Jack Hanna, Jack Johnson, D. M. Dickey and A. J. Beage.

Members of the latter named group are Chairman Leibmann G. Langston, J. L. Swindle, John Michael, Ray Martin, Carl Benefiel, Crawford Atkinson and A. C. Troop.

At 3 p. m. McAnarrow the Special Junior College committee will hold a brief business session.

NEITHER HAS HE PHILADELPHIA.—For six straight evenings, Dominick Guerra's automobile disappeared from in front of his barber shop. He always found it later, abandoned a few blocks away.

Tired of keeping track of the car, Guerra sold it. Two days later he got a package in the mail. It contained five duplicate ignition keys and an unsigned note reading: "Now you've sold your car, we'll have no further use for these."

New Wrapping Planned for Old Wage Bill

WASHINGTON.—Farm state legislators yesterday disclosed a plan to put new wrappings on their controversial proposed boosting farm party prices, in the hope of forcing White House approval.

They told newsmen they will try to put it into the OPA extension bill already loaded with several administration-opposed amendments—when the measure comes before President Truman. Law announced.

Key members of the house banking committee, however, said they believe they can head the plan off.

The senate has included the farm party increase in a minimum wage measure approved yesterday. But President Truman has announced he will veto the legislation if the house retains the party provision.

Several house agricultural leaders, who would not talk for quotation, said their next move will be an attempt to tack the amendment on the OPA bill in the belief that Mr. Truman will not veto that measure. The president must either accept or reject an entire bill.

These sources said they believed that while Mr. Truman undoubtedly would sacrifice his minimum wage legislation, he would not dare risk a possible end to OPA.

The farm congressmen propose to revise prices upward to include costs of agricultural labor. (Paris is a price standard set to insure farmers a return on their products which will keep their purchasing power up to the standards of a past favorite period.)

Administration leaders in the senate denounced the party boost plan as an inflationary move certain to increase the nation's food bill. Sponsors argued that it is needed to insure adequate production of farm products. They said farm income has not kept up with other price rises in recent years.

Meanwhile, some members of the

Unions Postpone 7 Sugar Strikes

WASHINGTON.—AFL and CIO unions postponed last night at least until late Monday a threatened strike of seven east coast sugar refineries which process 70 per cent of the nation's cane sugar.

The postponement was made at the request of government conciliators who proposed submission of the union demands to a fact finding panel. The companies have offered a 13 cent per hour increase.

The union accepted the fact finding panel with the proviso the panel's recommendations be agreed upon before hand as binding upon both sides.

This proved a major stumbling block because the three companies involved—the American, National and Revere sugar refining companies—agreed to the fact finding procedure only if the question of accepting the ultimate recommendations were open to decision after the companies had an opportunity to see the recommendations.

Faced with this impasse, the government conciliators asked the parties to discuss the situation over the week-end and meet back at the labor department Monday at 2 p. m. E. S. T.

Middies and Kaydets Are Going To Exchange Places, Also Girls

ANNAPOLIS, Md.—There can be no doubts about army-navy cooperation any longer—the West Point cadets and Annapolis midshipmen are going to exchange their books, bread, bunks and, most startling of all, maybe even their dates.

The superintendents of the two academies, Vice Adm. Aubrey W. Fitch and Maj. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, announced a plan whereby almost 1,000 cadets and midshipmen would change places for three-day periods this spring.

The exchange will be made in four weekend groups, starting April 19.

Rear Adm. S. H. Ingersoll, Annapolis commandant, said today the plan was aimed at encouraging "enduring friendships between future army and navy officers."

The plan was aimed at encouraging "enduring friendships between and vice versa." The cadets will sleep in the bunks of the midshipmen, and the midshipmen will sleep in the bunks of the cadets.

One of the duties of each escort will be to provide a date, maybe an absent midshipman's (or cadet's) best girl. After all, an order's an order.

Nip Treasure Is Found On Floor of Tokyo Bay

TOKYO.—A geisha girl's tip yesterday discovered two treasure troves of gold and silver valued at $2,000,000 in the mud of Tokyo bay.

An informant said he had been told by Japanese army officers the money was to be used "in building up a greater Japan after things have quieted down."

The ingots were located by Lt. E. V. Nielsen, Stamford, Conn., an officer in the 32nd military government company.

TIP WAS PLANTED.

The original tip came, Nielsen said, from a geisha girl.

Nielsen said developments indicated her story was a planted tip.

Investigation showed the girl's story came from a small social club composed of elderly Japanese small shopkeepers and businessmen.

"Finally," Nielsen said, "one of the social group told me that the cause the militarists had been the ruination of Japan we didn't want them to get hold of the huge supply of precious metals." He said he trusted the Americans and for that reason would tell the whereabouts of a laborer who worked in dumping trash into the bay.

The laborer designated a dock at the Tokyo waterfront now used as a boat slip by U. S. First Cavalry personnel.

Nielsen brought up the first in-

Scout Activities Set for Season

A full season of activities for Boy Scouts of the Gray district was mapped out at a Scouters round table Friday night in the city commission rooms.

First definite activity on the program will be the spring camporee, which will be held at Lake McClellan on May 18 and 19. Activity at the camporee will include all outdoor types of scouting.

On June 2, a four-week session at Camp Ki-oh-wah, located on Lake Marvin in Canadian, will open with scouts from the entire Adobe Walls council participating in four sessions.

On July 19, 20 and 21, district scout leaders will adjourn to the Philmont ranch at Cimarron, N. M., where the national camp is located, for a course in camping.

C. N. Gunn, chairman of the camping and activities committee of the council, will be in charge of the course at Philmont.

Prospects of '46 Wheat Crop Are Estimated

Prospects for a farm fair to good wheat crop are expected in Gray county if moisture arrives in the next week or two, according to County Agent Thomas, local wheat grower and buyer.

However, if strong winds and hot weather continue to prevail as during the last week, considerable damage is expected.

South of Pampa wheat looks better than on the north it is reported, due to more moisture received in that area.

At this time Gray county is rated slightly higher in wheat prospects than surrounding areas. Production indications are that the 1946 crop will be from a 95-96 percent crop.

The regular monthly grain survey made by the Santa Fe railway approximately average abundance in northwestern Texas is less than five percent.

Rumors of green bug activity in some fields have been heard. Wheat growers, buyers and County Agent Thomas believe the green bug has not accounted for more damage than normal.

In order for best results, crops must receive moisture in one or two weeks. As yet high winds and hot weather have not damaged prospects beyond expectations for a normal crop in all areas.

Wheat stored in Gray county is estimated to be about 20 percent of the 1945 crop, which would be approximately 350,000 bushels, reports one grain dealer.

Another estimates about 15 carloads of wheat "cattered around the country, which would be from 30-40,000 bushels. A wheat grower states there is quite a little wheat stored in the county, saving some growers have from 5-6,000 bushels in the bin.

Last wheat shipped from this area went out the first part of March, grain elevator operators report.

Spanish Issue Is U. N. Problem

NEW YORK.—The Spanish issue, raised unexpectedly by Poland, seemed likely last night to be the next problem to plague the United Nations security council just when that infant peace agency hoped for a quiet period to put its rules in order.

The Polish embassy in London announced this morning that the Warsaw government had instructed Dr. Oscar Lange, Polish delegate to the security council, to lay before the council the Polish view that the United Nations should break off relations with the government of Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

"The decision of the Polish government was taken in view of the fact that the present regime in Spain is endangering international peace and that peace is indivisible," the embassy announcement said.

Members of the Polish delegation here said Dr. Lange had not received official notice of his government's decision.

Thus it was not determined here whether Dr. Lange would dump the Spanish question on the council table Tuesday when it convenes at 2 p. m. EST, or would wait until the council had adopted the rules of procedure scheduled to be taken up at that time.

The council's group of experts has virtually completed a draft of rules. There has been no hint in the two weeks that the council has been in New York that Poland would bring up the question of Franco.

Sugar Stamp No. 39 Is Valid Through April 30

Housewives will no doubt be pleased to learn for certain that Sugar Stamp No. 39 is valid through April 30.

The local OPA office received word Friday from the Fort Worth office of the validity of stamp No. 39 after state-wide confusion both on the part of housewives and dealers concerning its worth.

Housewives are also advised that spare stamp No. 9 is good for five pounds of canning sugar through October 30.

U. S. Chief Executive Speaks Before Army Day Gathering

CHICAGO.—(AP)—President Truman, proclaiming a new "universal" foreign policy designed to oppose aggression the world over, called yesterday for strong military forces to back it up.

Speaking before a crowd of 70,000 persons, the President declared America must remain strong to preserve the peace and protect the weak from outside "coercion or penetration."

Mr. Truman called for passage of legislation extending the selective service act another year, armed forces unification and universal training, which have stout opposition in congress, and then departing from his prepared text, declared:

"Nobody should play politics with the national safety. He did not elaborate.

The President was cheered when he concluded his talk and interrupted by applause on other occasions, once when he paid tribute to Franklin D. Roosevelt, his predecessor.

Following the soldier field ceremony, the President and his party of high army officers and their wives departed by special train for Washington at 5:03 p. m. CST.

Mr. Truman reserved for the United States the right to protect itself.

Army Day in Pampa was celebrated by a few Pampa merchants displaying flags from their store buildings, and by workmen and a small group of Legionnaires laying a six-foot square foundation for the 50-foot flag pole to be erected in the future at the new Memorial Legion park south of Pampa.

Construction at Girl Scout Camp Will Begin Soon

Construction of the addition to the Pampa Girl Scout troop camp which is to serve as sleeping quarters, is expected to start within the next week or two, or as soon as materials are available.

Final approval of the addition to the main lodge at Camp Sullivan was given at the meeting of the Girl Scout board Friday.

Mrs. Noel Dorton was elected by the board to act as day camp director after voting to send the director to a day camp training course to be held at Camp Kiwanis, Amarillo, May 20-25. Day camping in Pampa will start in June, with the Little Scout House as headquarters.

An association picnic for all Girl Scout association members and their families was set for April 28, to be held at Camp Sullivan. It will be the annual spring meeting. All adults who are registered in any capacity in Girl Scouting are members of the association. About 150 persons hold memberships.

Delegates to the area association meeting to be held in Amarillo this month were also voted to be sent by the board. Delegates and dates of the meeting are to be announced later.

Miss Marie Stedje, scout executive, said yesterday she would attend the spring meeting of the sectional western division to be held in Amarillo April 18-20.

IT LOOKED AWFUL: SCIENCE LOVERS PEER AT 24-HOUR-OLD KISS

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Science lovers peered at a 24-hour-old kiss today.

It looked awful.

The day old kiss was part of a science display at American University.

Some girl kissed a slab of agar agar, a gelatine-like substance, which provides a cheap thrill at best. Then the agar agar was put in an incubator where the germs in the kiss multiplied for 24 hours, which is no thrill at all.

As Margaret Long, a laboratory assistant, explained it after gazing placidly at the horrible mess:

U. S. Ready to Dump Future of World to U. N.

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—In an effort to break down blocking peace proposals in other European countries, the United States was reported today to dump the future of Italy's on-ear colonies into the lap of the United Nations.

This measure came from resignation of American officials on the part of a London announcement that Britain will back Secretary of State Byrnes' surprise appeal for a spatwork meeting of the council of foreign ministers in Paris April 25.

There were indications, too, that France would endorse the proposal for the meeting—one openly acknowledged by Byrnes as designed to cut through the stalemate surrounding a final wartime accounting for Italy, Finland, Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria.

Russia thus far has remained silent on the plan. Previously the Soviet union had urged postponement of a 21 member nation conference on treaties for the five countries on the ground that insufficient progress has been made by the four western powers toward agreement on the issues involved.

A May 1 deadline for the 21 nation meeting in Paris had been agreed upon by the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain and Russia as their conference in Moscow last fall. Whether that deadline can be met—even if the foreign ministers get together April 25—still remains highly problematical.

American officials, surveying the long list of differences among the major powers and the lack of progress since the London meeting of the council broke up six months ago in an atmosphere of acrimony, were frankly pessimistic.

These were the major difficulties:

1. Despite a Potsdam agreement that Italy should be given priority for a peace treaty among the ex-Axis satellites, Russia has taken the position that all five treaties must be signed simultaneously.

2. The French stand blocks such a central control, and the current makeshift from one zone to another are providing an insignificant trickle of goods.

France points out that she was not at the Potsdam conference where Russia, Britain and America worked out the Allied occupation policy for Germany; therefore she is not bound by its decisions. Many Americans believe the omission of France from the meeting was a major diplomatic mistake.

Law Would Curb Petrillo's Power

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—The senate passed yesterday and sent to the White House legislation designed to curb the powers of James C. Petrillo, head of the AFL Musicians union, over radio broadcasting.

By a 47 to 3 vote, it approved a redraft of the original bill, already cleared by the house 186 to 16.

The measure provides penalties of up to a year's imprisonment and a $1,000 fine for use of force, threats or intimidation intended to compel broadcaster to do as he is told.

It fine money to a union or person for services not performed.

3. Halt foreign programs or any type of non-commercial, educational or cultural program.

4. Pay unions for using phonograph records, or pay again for sending out a transcription of a program previously broadcast.

About 3,100,000 Veterans, Civilians Drawing Unemployment Pay Weekly

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON—(AP)—About 3,100,000 people, veterans and civilians, are drawing unemployment pay weekly but—

1. The number of veterans getting the money weekly—1,500,000—may keep climbing for at least another month.
2. The number of civilians getting jobless pay—1,600,000—may be starting to drop from the high points reached in strike-bound months.

When reconversion started the number of people thrown out of jobs and seeking unemployment pay started to rise.

Factors causing the rise were: plant shutdowns, reconversion and thus some layoffs, and civilians displaced by returning veterans.

Since the March weekly average figure of people drawing jobless pay may be close to the February peak, how can it be said that the number of people drawing unemployment pay may be declining?

For this reason: Before a person can draw unemployment pay, he must file a claim—called an initial claim—and then wait several weeks before beginning to draw the pay.

There has been a decline in initial claims, which will mean a drop in people drawing pay.

For the week ending February 2, about 352,000 people filed claims. But for the week ending March 23 only 175,000 filed.

Here's what veterans get and how: They get $20 a week for a maximum of 52 weeks, if they've served 9 months and 16 days in the armed services.

The government, through the veterans administration, pays this money. Since Japan quit, it has paid out $425,000,000.

A veteran goes to a U. S. employment service office in his own state, reports himself jobless but available for suitable work. If he qualifies for unemployment pay, he gets it. And he's referred to a job.

The pay to unemployed civilian workers differently.

Employers—usually of 8 or more persons—are taxed a certain percentage of their payroll—generally 2.7 percent or less—and this money goes to their state.

The state turns the money in to the government which acts as sort of guardian for it. When the state needs to draw on it to pay out unemployment compensation, it does so.

The money in the national fund now is approximately $6,939,000,000. The weekly benefit payments are averaging somewhere around $19.21.

How long does the average person drawing unemployment pay keep on getting it? The national average is 26 weeks.

Since jobless people are supposed to be referred to "suitable" jobs, the state unemployment offices, many of the latter are letting people shop around for a month, job-seeking, while they draw unemployment pay.

Unemployment pay to civilians since August totals—with March figures not available—$567,930,623.

SHAMROCK—(Special)—A projection machine has been ordered, on a 30-day approval plan, for North Ward school, according to announcement made by Supt. Elmer J. Moore this week.

The machine is scheduled to arrive about April 15. Plans are being made to purchase other machines and visual aid supplies.

Malnutrition in U.S. Wide-Spread

A need for expanded nutrition service in the Pampa Red Cross chapter area was pointed out last week by Mrs. Quentin Williams, nutrition chairman when she met with Huevyn Laycock, chapter chairman and Mrs. J. B. White, chapter executive secretary to review and plan the work for the present year. Reminding residents of Pampa that in both world war selective service physical examinations have shown high rates of malnutrition, Mrs. Williams stated that there still are large numbers of persons not reached by the dissemination of nutrition information.

"Surveys of the National Research Council over a ten-year period indicate that, among persons of all ages in many localities, inadequate diets are wide-spread," the nutrition chairman said. "The studies indicate clearly the need for nutrition classes, food demonstrations, exhibits, and tray-scoring projects in cafeterias that Red Cross can conduct."

In addition, it was explained, demonstrations of canning and preserving methods will be continued.

Expanding standard nutrition courses will be offered by the Pampa Red Cross chapter during the coming year, the chairman said.

Coal Center of Manchuria Said Heavily Denuded

(Editor's Note:—Associated Press Correspondent Tom Masterson has reported Fushun, one of the first American newsmen to visit that Manchuria coal producing center in years. He reports that Fushun, like Mukden, was heavily denuded of equipment by the Russians before they withdrew.)

By TOM MASTERSON

FUSHUN, Manchuria—(AP)—Russians turned this coal mining city into another Mukden by stripping from its huge collieries and plants essential machinery and equipment and leaving this key to industrial southern-Manchuria virtually dormant.

After the Russians seized the mines of this "Scranton of the Orient" from surrendered Japanese, the output of vital bituminous coal from four mines—two of them open pit caverns—dropped from 10,000 tons daily to 1,000 tons a day.

Some evidence of the Russian stripping was observed by five American correspondents, the first to visit this large mining community in many years.

The Russians added a new twist in denuding Fushun. After evacuating the city at a time Chinese communists could come in, the Soviets left a key group of Russians in the city to continue operating mines, creating a peculiar situation for government forces.

Correspondents saw the world's largest open pit coal mine. Only a few power shovels and coal cars—all often idle—could be seen in the huge ditch.

At the Fushun power plant, workmen showed correspondents where five of 12 mammoth boilers had been removed. Also taken were eight generators, including two of 50,000 kilowatts.

Escaped Naval Officer Captured in Oakland

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—Navy headquarters said today that a regular navy officer, Lieut. Jennings B. Ray of Dallas, Texas, escaped from this disciplinary barracks at Treasure Island before dawn, and was captured in Oakland several hours later.

The announcement said Lieut. Ray was awaiting sentence after having been convicted by court martial on a charge of misconduct.

In a subsequent statement the navy said Lieut. Ray, 37, had been tried on six charges filed since July 23, last, including being AWOL, breaking arrest, drunkenness, and conduct unbecoming an officer.

The district attorney said Ray "flooded his guard" and escaped, but was picked up by officers of the navy's security office and returned to barracks.

All unemployed veterans who filed claims on April 4 or 5 need not file claims until April 25. Unemployed veterans drawing readjustment pay should file their claims every other week.

Veterans desiring to place their claims with the TUCC for the first time may do so next Thursday. All veterans must present the original copy of their honorable discharge papers at the time of filing claims.

Alteration of the usual every-other-Thursday program of recording claims is due to the large number of persons who filed claims at the local office last Thursday. It took the four-man TUCC staff two days in which to file the 405 claims processed, whereas the business is usually accomplished in one day.

Friday morning it was generally reported that persons coming in to Pampa to file unemployment compensation claims were a bit disturbed with the idea of having to return the next day in order to file their claims.

OPPOSES PROPOSAL. Meanwhile President Truman said that he is opposed to a pending congressional proposal to extend the draft for only nine months. He told a news conference in Chicago that he considered it necessary to call men for another year so that men who have been overseas an undue length of time can be brought home.

In any event, the draft law will come before congress again early next year, assuming that the present congress follows the committee's recommendations.

The administration, notably the army, has asked congress for a straightway one-year extension and has agreed to accept an 18-months service limit.

Only by an extension, Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson told the committee, can the army be sure of getting the 1,070,000 officers and enlisted men it wants on July 1, 1947.

With the draft law off the books, he said, enlistments may drop sharply because many short-term enlistments have been of men who would be drafted anyhow. Without the draft, he said, the army may face a shortage of 170,000 men in mid-1947. The army says the 1,070,000 men figure is "rock bottom" for its needs.

The principal argument of opponents is that a draft in time of peace is not democratic, is a threat to the peace of the world, and amounts to an expression of doubt of the efficiency of the United Nations organization.

Explaining America's interest in outside rivalries all over the globe, the President said simply: "Remember that the First World War began in Serbia, that the peace of Versailles was first broken in Manchuria and that the Second World War began in Poland."

Control and reform of Japan, he said, "is only a beginning of American policy in the Orient. In that connection he mentioned: The U. S. working in Korea with Korean leaders and Soviet Russian allies "to create a provisional democratic government."

Chinese leaders, through "wise counsel" of special envoy Gen. George C. Marshall, "on the road to achieve political unity by peaceful democratic processes."

The Philippine commonwealth on July 4 becoming "a full sovereign and independent nation."

Mr. Truman said: "We seek to encourage a quick revival of economic activity and international trade in the far east. To do that, we stand ready to extend credits and technical assistance to help build the peace."

The President recognized "important interests" of Great Britain, Russia and other nations in the far east, but asserted: "In return we expect recognition by them that we also have an interest in maintaining peace and security in that area."

3. Reparations—Russia has demanded reparations from Italy, suggesting that they could be paid over a period of years in the form of goods. Against this position, the United States has taken an unambiguous stand, arguing that Italy is dependent upon relief—a vast part of which comes from this country—and is in no position to pay.

of this month however, regardless of whether the 25-cent per bushel increase is set as expected, according to Associated Press dispatches. As about half of Gray county wheat growers have their crops under government loans, which expire the last of April wheat is expected to be released from storage at that time.

On expiration of the loan period farmers may either sell their wheat at market price or if they have paid higher prices for their wheat under loan conditions they may sell it directly to the government for loan payment provisions.

With wheat now at $1.55 a bushel for the No. 1 grade, prices are the highest in years. An all-time record market price for wheat would be set if the 25-cent increase is given.

UNJUST AGGRESSION
"We cannot one day proclaim our intention to prevent unjust aggression and oppression in the world and the next day call for immediate scrapping of our military might."

He saw some of the night earlier when 14,000 troops of the famous Fifth (Red Diamond) infantry passed by a Michigan Avenue reviewing stand in which he stood with Gov. Dwight H. Green. Mayor Edward J. Kelly, Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) and its commander, Major General Albert E. Brown.

PEACEFUL OBJECTIVES
Naming names, he declared that the United States would expect Great Britain, Soviet Russia and other countries to pursue peaceful objectives in the Orient in return for United States recognition of their "important" economic interests in that area.

"The United States will have to be dealt with in the Orient, he emphasized, because of its own interest in peace and security there."

"The United Nations, which he said the United States would back "to the utmost," have a right, he declared flatly, to insist that the sovereignty and integrity of the near and middle east countries must not be threatened "by coercion and penetration."

Mining no words, he expressed the hope of his country "for the peaceful settlement of differences which have arisen between colonial

LET THEM KNOW HOW YOU FEEL ABOUT IT!

"Pre-paid health insurance"
That's one of the glittering phrases the administration and some of the congressmen are using these days to wave before the health-hungry and somewhat gullible people of this land. If we had but one statement to make in describing the trend of America at this time, we would say "America is heading toward socialism." As a matter of fact, there is but about one group, small business, standing between us and socialism. If we had but one to tell the people who believe in the form of society which they have been living—if we had but one thing to tell them, we would say "Write your congressman and representatives. Write them in plain-spoken English just how you feel. Pull no punches, because the punches you deliver are the real thing, they are the true expression of America. They come from the people who have no special axes to grind. They come from the people, who rightly or wrongly, are not charged with special lobbying.

"Write them," we would say, "something like this on the compulsory health program: I am opposed to the Wagner-Murray-Dingell bill. I petition you, as my representative, to vote against it at all times."

We would like the reader to know that Sen. B. F. Wagner of New York was born in Germany at a time when Bismarck was offering the people what seemed to be an attractive avenue to sure and easy health. We would tell the reader, parenthetically, that program finally led to socialism and fascism in Germany.

This health bill—which is a more euphonious name for socialized medicine—would set up a stupendous bureaucracy, levying a 4 percent tax on all incomes. One's doctor would be the one whose number came up, or to whom one had been assigned by the district bureau. If one had an attack of appendicitis, he would not be rushed to his favorite doctor, but "assigned" to a doctor. Each doctor would be given a quota of 300 patients; so, if your favorite doctor had his 300, you would be literally out of luck, so far as he was concerned.

This proposed program is being peddled with such arguments that 38 percent of the draftees in the recent war had physical defects, and, consequently, were rejected. But they don't go so far as to tell the "customers" that 50 percent of England's draftees were rejected for physical defects—and England had socialized medicine for some 35 years. Germany had socialized medicine, and the number of rejects in that country will run just as high as that of England.

Space is running out, or we would add some more of the "attributes" of this system, which would vest more power in the politician.

How do you feel about this system? Let your representatives in Washington know how you feel.

OUR DEBTS ARE HUGE

America's next chance to have a balanced budget will be in the fiscal year of 1947. It starts July 1, 1946 and ends June 30, 1947. The United States is already in debt for everything it has. This does not mean all the country is worth, but it does mean an amount equivalent to the value of everything the people of this nation have saved since their ancestors started saving.

STARTING OVER AGAIN

The United States stands now where some financial series of colonial days might have stood. A log cabin had burned with everything of food and clothing inside. Bringing an illustration closer to home: The energetic young family man with two children, who has just finished paying for an $8000 home can depend on starting now to buy it all over again in taxes, paying no more than his rightful share of the national debt which is $2000 per man, woman and child.

FIGHTING HAS CEASED

There are ways to start balancing the national budget and the sooner it starts the better. The war is over and war bureaus can be reduced in size and cost. The number of federal employees can be cut more than most of us imagine. Deficit spending, spending what we do not have, can be stopped if we really set our heads to do it. By doing this we can save what we do have left.

Federal wage-price poo-bahs recently conceded the cumbersome and wholly inadequate nature of the administration's formula for stabilizing postwar economic conditions for industry, labor and the consumer. To prevent a strike in a small but key industry, they tossed their own rule book out the window in an explosive. "Ah! To hell with it!"

Then, through quiet and unofficial collusion with OPA, the NWSB-ers simultaneously promised the employers that they would receive a commensurate boost in the price of their product, which, will, of course, increase production costs still more for the factories they supply.

The beneficiaries of this most laughable loosening of bureaucratic theories and methods were members of the united construction workers, an auxiliary of John L. Lewis's united mine workers. They manufacture refractory brick, which lines the walls of every furnace and boiler subjected to extremely high pressure. They are as essential to steel as sailors are to a ship.

MACKENZIE'S Column

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
There is a hidden threat in the world food shortage which is misleading a good many folk in the western hemisphere as they endeavor to estimate the danger involved.

We know that thousands are dying in the Orient from hunger. But the fact that there hasn't been mass starvation in Europe yet is having a tendency to give the impression that the situation there isn't desperate.

Having just returned from several months' tour of Europe, there's no question in my mind about the threat of the all-but-empty grain bins in many areas. Director La Guardia of the UNRRA says 200,000,000 people face starvation in Europe alone.

What we have to recognize is that starvation in cumulative. Folks don't die of hunger in a day. In some parts of Europe people are existing on resistance. They're piled up in easier times—like hibernating woodchucks living on their "fat." But daily that resistance is decreasing and moving more rapidly towards the point of death by starvation.

Actually, of course, there have been innumerable deaths already due to malnutrition. And Mr. La Guardia tells us that "unless we can ship large supplies of wheat for delivery this month in Europe, there will be mass starvation deaths in Poland, Yugoslavia, Greece and Italy." The position is bad, too, in Austria, Germany, France and Holland.

There is, of course, one unnecessary evil which is contributing to Europe's hunger. That is the black-market which makes profits on food while babies starve.

Austria has had a streak of luck in the Soviet Union's withdrawal of most of its demands for land which the Austrians needed for food growing. The Muscovites had claimed some 125,000 acres and this has now been cut to 50,000. That will be a Godsend to Austria, because when I was there three weeks ago many people in that zone were living on "700 calories a day—about one third the minimum nourishment needed to maintain health."

Perhaps He Is Shocking Us to Seeing Dangers

The statement of Mr. Bernard Baruch should jar us awake on the subject of what time it is in this Republic of United States of America, and how much further we have to go unless we stop some trends right now, and back away from the precipice.

Until recently Baruch has always been an optimist about the United States. Always a gay optimist. His own life experience should have made him optimistic. His is the typical success story of this republic as we knew it until the statisticians and pseudo-reformers got ahold of it.

He began life as a poor boy, a member of a community that too often has complained of discrimination against its members and yet his own success in material matters and social standing show that there is either no discrimination of this sort, or none that cannot be overcome by the strengthening and greater success of the individual.

Young Baruch was a boxer who had the capacity to make friends with important and successful friends among the friends of boxing. He made himself as educated as they. When his active boxing days were over he established a health and athletic institution, not an unusual sequence. His personality and penchant for listening and making the right response made customers of his former fans, and his sympathy and his wisdom, kept them about him.

Soon he was able to make most lucrative investments and business connections through the tips some of these men gladly gave him in return for his friendship. Baruch, the health institute manager, became Baruch the financier. In his earlier careers, Baruch Baruch had met many men influential in politics and had numbered among his fans even a few statesmen. When Woodrow Wilson faced the dilemma of neutrality or intervention in the first British-German war, and his choice involved the risk of an American financial panic, because the American capitalist structure had been built upon British imperial prestige throughout the world, Bernard M. Baruch was called upon as adviser to the President of the United States.

Since that time Bernard M. Baruch has consistently and thoroughly administered, both democratic and republican, been one of the directors of American and world fate. His personal fortune has increased by leaps and bounds and his philanthropies have kept pace. He has been of aid to more than one top statesman who was better at directing the destinies of the nation than taking care of his own estate. He couldn't help but know the great opportunities for money-making in shifting exchange values of the money of various countries, and much of his great earnings are rumored, at least, to have come from good use of such anticipations. Woodrow Churchill early learned the value of Bernard M. Baruch, both in matters personal and in matters of state. Baruch remains today Churchill's number one American friend.

Yet this outstanding optimistic American now says, "Go easy on forcing loans." He now says, "Forbid strikes for a year." He now says, "Stop increasing money" — which would include stopping printing bonds, which pass for money, too cover deficit financing by the treasury. He says, "Stop bunking the public by increasing wages while prices do not increase." He says, "Let loose of the military surpluses."

Barney Baruch is not so gaily optimistic any longer that everything is going to come out beautifully while we finance foreign empires and send expedition after expedition abroad and print paper that

In Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
HOLLYWOOD, (NEA)—The Pat Man of the movies—Sydney Greenstreet—said he didn't consider himself fat. "I've got a pretty good shape, even if I do say so myself," he said. And to prove it he let us measure the Greenstreet frame.

"A slyish stout," he chuckled. "My hips are smaller than my chest." They were, too. The tape measure didn't lie. His chest was 57, his hips only 55. And all of Greenstreet, he said, weighed only 260 pounds.

Then Sydney confessed that Hollywood, by a little trick, made him look fatter than he was after his hit as the Pat Man in the movie, "The Maltese Falcon."

"They always have the camera on passes for money under the pretense that we are going to pay ourselves back."

Organized labor won't like Barney Baruch's suggestion to arbitrarily stop strikes—that is, the labor chiefs won't like it. I surmise many a common working man who weeks and weeks without work does like it. But there's another and final suggestion made by the older statesman who rose from the ranks (that, I think, none of us like. It is his suggestion for what he calls a "High court of commerce" which is apparently intended to have the powers of a supreme economic council. If it is to be just a court of equity, that is one thing. If Mr. Baruch really means a supreme economic council which shall dictate wages, prices, production and distribution, it is a step far beyond the powers of American free enterprise, to the complete regimentation which is properly called statism. Russia is the supreme example of the economy directed by a supreme economic council. Mr. Baruch knows this. Perhaps he is muddled, now that things he so largely directed have come out so badly. Perhaps he is trying to shock us into seeing how near we are to the precipice.

It is up to us to change our course. Mr. Baruch, full of years and honor, and crowned with wealth, has run his course.

the floor, shooting up at me, to make me look fatter. There's a standing gag out at Warner Bros. that every cameraman who has to photograph Greenstreet gets a stiff neck. That darn camera puts 50 pounds on me."

A FILM COMIC AT LAST

For the first time in his film career, Sydney is discarding his ill-fate as Hollywood's No. 1 merchant of menace for a comedy role in "A Certain Rich Man." He plays a tired auto magnate who retires to run a gas station incidentally. He even gets comically tight in one scene, singing "Who Put the Overalls in Mrs. Murphy's Chowder?"

"It's funny," Sydney mused, "I've been on the stage most of my life—40 of my 67 years. Eighty per cent of my roles there were comedy. But Hollywood types me as a menace, and I've had a h— of a time getting out of it."

Sydney said he might retire before long, either that or else arrange to make only one picture a year. "And when I do retire," he said, "I'll have the deodonest auction you ever did see."

NO MORE SCARED KIDS?

Sydney hopes that after his first film comedy role he won't be frightened little children and ladies wherever he goes.

Case might be sent to a late showing of "The Mack of Dimitrios." As the theater lights went up after the show, a lady sitting next to him glanced amiably in his direction. She recognized him, turned white, yelled "Help!" and fled, screaming, from the theater.

No one in Hollywood takes the job of acting more seriously than Greenstreet. His contract specifies that he must have every script he does four weeks in advance so that he can study it part.

"I like to take a role," he said. "I never just act. I've never looked in a mirror to study acting. That's why I enjoy making motion pictures. I can see what I'm thinking, something I could never do on the stage." But the stage, he insisted, will always be his favorite.

The Heart To Find

by Hazel Heidergott

IT took three days to complete Susie's wardrobe, and get her hair wadded into shape with an expensive haircut and permanent wave. Ann regarded the finished product proudly. Susie still wasn't pretty—nothing on earth could give beauty to Susie's impish features—but she had personality, which was infinitely better.

Now after parking the car in the driveway, they made several trips to the house, taking all the packages into Susie's room. Then Ann left her to her unpacking, and murmured something about going for a walk. She exchanged her coat for a suede jacket, and the sun warm on her bare head, started up the road toward the home. There was a big orchard behind the house, where Ann loved to go to think. She wanted to do some heavy thinking and luxuriate in a new idea. She wanted to see Colin and share it, but as he wasn't in evidence, that would have to wait.

The orchard was deserted, as she had hoped, and she walked to the far end and flung herself down in the soft grass, basking in the sunlight. Beside her there was a comfortable hammock, slung between two trees, but Ann wanted to get close to earth. Presently Lord Peter came and frisked around her head, wanting to play. "Be still, imp," she ordered. "I'm not in the mood." He curled up beside her, and yawned widely. Ann yawned, too. "Oh, Peter, darling, I'm so happy," she confided to him. He opened one eye, looked at her briefly, then went back to sleep. "Not interested, huh? Well, I am!" she declared.

Ann didn't realize that her privacy had been invaded until the newsmen was almost upon her. Then she sat up, and smoothed her disheveled hair instinctively, for this was such a very neat lady. She decided to forget her resentment at being intruded upon, and be friendly. "Hallo," she said. "You're new in town, aren't you? I'm Ann Drake—Mrs. Colin Drake." She eyed her appraisingly. She was a rather lovely lady—authentic silver hair, beautifully arranged, small, clearly-chiseled features, milk-and-roses skin, and large bright blue eyes.

"The simple arrogance with which one says that in Port Drake, I know, my dear, from experience. I'm Millicent Roberts."

MILlicent was looking at Ann in frank appraisal. "You're not at all what I expected, Ann. You don't mind my calling you Ann, do you? I actually can't call you Mrs. Drake. I'd expected you to be—forgive me—a rather giddy girl, that Colin should have adopted rather than married."

"I'm sure they do. Let's be friends, Ann," Millicent said, holding out a slender, well-tended hand.

Ann took it, feeling unaccountably embarrassed. "I'd like to be," she said.

Millicent sat down in the hammock and took off her hat. Ann took a packet of cigarettes out of her pocket, and proffered it. As Millicent took one, she smiled a little. "We'll sit down and smoke the pipe of peace," she murmured.

AS Ann lit her own cigarette, she wondered a little what one talked about with her hat. Ann's first wife. But she needn't have worried, as Millicent had no intention of letting the conversation get out of the direction of her own capable tongue. She made no explanation of what she was doing lightly and casually of various topics of general interest that occurred to her. When she finally dropped her verbal bombshell, it was so long exploding that it was quite a while before Ann recognized it for what it was.

"How do you like Colin's last book?"

"I always like Colin's books," Ann dodged the question neatly. "Well, you needn't be so nonchalant about it! Personally, I think it is the first bit of fiction that he's written that's been worth a boot. Colin isn't a fiction writer, you know—he's a reporter, or an essayist. A biographer—or an historian, if you like. His novels have been pretty bad. No one on earth could believe for a minute in his heroines. They give you the impression that Colin never knew any girls. But Julie—ah, Julie—"

"She continued to talk, but Ann didn't hear her. Julie Julie was the heroine of Colin's new book—the bit that wasn't out yet. The one that Colin wouldn't show her—the brief little book that Colin had thought the best thing he'd ever done. Colin had refused to show it to her, and here was Millicent, talking of it nonchalantly, naturally believing Ann knew it as well as she did.

"I don't cultivate people!" Ann exploded. "If they don't like me, they needn't."

"My dear child, take my advice. When you married the leading citizen of a small town, you incurred certain obligations, along with your rights and privileges. You can learn that the hard way if you really want to, but I'd advise against it."

"Everyone else likes me all right," Ann said rebelliously.

He has returned to his home at Amarillo, where another store is being established—on Washington street. Simultaneously, it was announced that Clyde Oswald has returned to Pampa as manager of the store here, the original Cretney store. Oswald left Pampa two years ago to manage the Clovis store. All the Cretney stores are now being re-modeled, Oswald said. The store here will be completely finished within a month. It is still open for business. Other Cretney stores are located at Tucumcari, N. M., and Borger and Plainview, in Texas.

You Can't Keep 'Em Down on The Farm--That's the Trouble

My MARTHA COLE

TEMPLE.—(AP)—They've seen Berlin, Tokyo and Calcutta—besides Pamp— and you can't keep 'em down on the farm.
 The farmers' sons returning from war are stopping in the city. And the farmers still labor from sunrise to sundown, with little help.

The manpower shortage is the worst of their troubles, said H. O. Hill, superintendent of the blackland experiment station of central Texas at Temple. The cities are their worst competition.
 "We've got to have city conveniences on the farm," Hill said. "That means comparable working hours which can come only with increased mechanization, increased electrification, farm-to-market roads and improved farm buildings."

The electrification and improved roads generally are still in post-war plans. The mechanization has to wait while cars, refrigerators and washing machines make the market. The manufacturer makes less profit on agricultural implements, Hill explained, and is in no hurry to get them produced.

So the farmers' worn-out implements are still wearing out with few replacements.
 "What they want now is a chance at the surplus property earth moving equipment that built the airfields in Normandy and Okinawa. They need it to terrace their land in soil conservation, to build dams for watering their stock and to dig ditches for irrigation."

"They aren't complaining right now about not getting any," Hill said. "They don't mind government agencies and veterans getting preference, but they're looking out for their chance."

Not that the day is coming when there'll be a bulldozer in every barnyard. Forty-six states have been divided into soil conservation districts by act of their state legislatures under a federally-sponsored program. A bill to sell surplus earth-moving equipment to these districts has been introduced in the house by Rep. Robert Poage (D-Texas). The equipment then would be available to farmers on an operation basis.

There's very little else the farmers can use from the left-overs of war, Hill said. Pickups they always want. But the jeep they can take or leave.

"It's a highly overrated farm help," Hill said, "because of its lightweight disadvantage. The farmer already has the power he wants in his tractor. This is based not on personal tests but my own observation."

The flame throwers, often mentioned as good for killing weeds, have proved impractical because their flames are too long. Farmers of the southwest had their own flame throwers before the war to burn stickers off prickly pears so cattle could eat the pear leaves. Now they have combined that and the army's flame thrower on a smaller scale to destroy weed seedlings, using crude oil or kerosene with four or six burners. An improvement is to cover crop seedlings with cups and burn the area.

Dusting cotton, potato and citrus crops with DDT is still in the experimental stage. However, the farmer already is using DDT on his swampland to destroy mosquito larvae. Another war-developed chemical, 34D, kills only the board-leaved weeds and leaves narrow-leaved crops unscathed, but is limited in its use.

The dusting calls for airplanes, which are in the bulldozer class as far as availability and cost are concerned. It is done now by private companies.

Still in the experimental stage is planting seed, especially grass seed, from airplanes. The method calls for the seed to be molder in brick form with clay and water. The bricks then are forced through tiny perforations from the plane and scattered on the land. The clay dissolves and leaves the seed to germinate.

Farmers have their reconversion worries, too. The man who planted acres of peanuts because peanut butter rose from 37 cents to 70 cents for two pounds during the war now has to change over to normal production. Giving the armed services the peanut oil they wanted depleted his land, for peanuts take and give nothing back to the soil.

In the midwest, the farmers turned to raising flax to produce linseed oil, but now that the emergency is over, the flax crop is more often a headache because of the trouble and the manpower shortage again, Hill said.

But while farm tractors wait on the new cars and inventors iron the kinks from the mechanical cotton picker, the farmers get by on their "make-do" basis.
 "They make what they have do," Hill explained.

OPA Observes April Fool Day With Oil Raise

TULSA, Okla.—In view of the proved necessity of at least a 35-cent per barrel raise in crude oil prices, perhaps OPA is merely observing the April 1 tradition with a 10 cent raise," states Russell B. Brown, general counsel, Independent Petroleum Assn. of America, as he

Texas Congressman Calls on OPA Head To Lift Oil Control

TULSA, Okla.—Con. Wright Patman of Texas, chairman of the House small business committee, has called on Paul Porter, head of OPA, to immediately lift price controls on crude oil and petroleum products. Patman, in his letter to the OPA administrator, reiterates the views independent operators have expressed many times, that now that supply and demand are in balance in the oil industry there is no reason for further price control and that its continuation would only lead to increasing the depression into which the industry has been forced. Patman stated, "In my opinion, continuation of price control on crude oil can only serve to encourage the trend toward monopoly in crude petroleum production which became so apparent during war. That, I know is something that your agency does not wish to encourage."

'Firechief' Opposition Given Mexico Pipeline

Firechief Torvie, they call him. A while back fire broke out on one of The Texas'Co. wells on the Earrett lease about four miles south of town. Three fellows at The Texas Co. office, Phil McGrath, Harvey Longren and Jerry Torvie, made a run for a fire extinguisher over on the Harrah lease, intending to help put the fire out.

Torvie was put in charge of the extinguisher in the back seat of the car. Going around a curve over to the Barrett lease, the extinguisher rolled over, completely "extinguishing" Torvie until he got his thumb over the nozzle.

He then sat with his thumb over the nozzle of the extinguisher until they got to the location. Torvie got out to do his duty with the extinguisher. An estimated three drops of fluid trickled out of the extinguisher.

Fortunately the Pampa fire department was on hand to give assistance to Firechief Torvie.

Bernard J. Morrow of the board's sanitary division reported that conditions were dangerous. The board ordered two inoculation stations set up in the Hilo area and urged even residents who have been inoculated against typhoid fever to take booster shots.

News of Interest To Oil Men

Six Oil, Nine Gas Wells Completed in Panhandle

Six oil producers with a total production potential of 808 barrels of oil and nine gas wells with total open flow potential of 68,630,000 cubic feet of gas were added to the Panhandle oil and gas field during the week.

Largest oil producer was brought in by the Pure Oil Co. in Cimarron county, Okla., hitting with a 292-barrel well with the No. 1 J. Jernyn, Sec. 18, 5-N, 8-E.

The well was drilled to 4906 feet and plugged back to 4892 feet. Lime pay was from 4865-92 feet. The well was not shot.

Official railroad commission rating of the Humble Oil & Refining Co. No. 20 Bateman in King county which flowed 50 barrels an hour through a 3/4-inch choke for nine hours has not been announced. Storage tanks did not allow for a 24-hour test. The test was made last Monday.

CARSON
In the Borger pool the J. M. Huber Corp. No. 1 Poling "B," Sec. 30, Y-2, TT RR, tested 2.08 million cubic feet of gas after being acidized with 9500 gallons. The well was drilled to a total depth of 3012 feet with lime pay from 2750-3008 feet. Rock pressure was 333 pounds.

The J. M. Huber Corp. No. 1 Poling "D" gauged 17.2 million cubic feet of gas on a railroad commission test.

The R. A. Burnett No. 1 Poling "A" tested 20 million cubic feet of gas.

GRAY
Pumping 213 barrels of oil in 24 hours on a railroad commission test the Gulf Oil Corp. No. 32 Faulkner "A," Sec. 27, B-2, H&GN was drilled to a total depth of 2995 feet with granite wash pay from 2865-2995 feet. The well was not shot.

Two Failures by Pure and Superior

Two wildcat holes in the Panhandle field found dry this week were the Pure Oil Co. No. 1 E. R. Robinson, Sec. 152, 48, H&TC, Hartley county, which was drilled to 3918 feet, and the Superior Oil Co. No. 2 Pitchfork Land and Cattle Co., 15 miles northwest of Guthrie in King Co., which was abandoned in solid granite at 7045 feet.

Granite wash was from 7010-43 feet.

NEW CAMP
In Cimarron county, Okla., the Pure Oil Co. has purchased 80-acres as a site for their camp seven miles northeast of Keyes. Foundations for several buildings have been started. Prefabricated houses are to be moved in from Tulsa, reports H. O. Simmons, local engineering contractor. Arrangements have been made to install a phone line to Keyes. Four wells are producing in limited quantity, mainly for testing, as no large storage tanks have been erected to take care of the production of which the wells are capable.

MARTIN LUDEMAN
Martin Ludeman, engineer for 13 years with the Cities Service production office, accepted a position as assistant engineer with the West Pampa Repressuring Assn., as effective April 1.

OIL FIELD SUPPLIES
Local oil field equipment suppliers estimate that an overall increase of prices of oil field equipment has jumped to 10 per cent March 14 when the first OPA raise in price was allowed.

The average includes increases from one per cent to as high as 25 per cent. All increases are based on price listings received from supply houses from manufacturers.

GASSERS RETESTED
The Shamrock Oil and Gas Co. No. 1 Wilson, Sec. 198, 3-T, T&NO, Moore county was retested after being acidized, gauging 138 million cubic feet of gas with rock pressure at 282 pounds. The well formerly had a potential of 74.3 million cubic feet of gas with rock pressure at 289 pounds.

Two oil wells of the Panhandle Producing Co. in Hutchinson county were retested, both on the Herring "A," lease. No. 3 ran 47 barrels of oil in 24 hours; No. 4, 56 barrels.

WPRA INPUT WELLS
Fifty-three of the input wells involved in the repressuring of the West Pampa reservoir by the West Pampa Repressuring Assn. are now on. Things are working satisfactorily.

Amarillo Sandies Capture Area Track, Field Meet

Randall Clay Is High-Pointer; Williams Breaks Two Records

AMARILLO—Winning seven first places, six seconds, five thirds and four fourths, the Amarillo Sandies won the area track and field meet here yesterday with a total of 68½ points.

The Pampa Harvesters, headed by Randall Clay and Lonnie Williams, came in second with 48½ points. Children had 24½ and Borger 2½.

Clay, state champion discus thrower, was high point man of the meet with 14 1/2 points, but Pampa's Lonnie Williams was the real sensation, breaking two records.

Clay broke his own discus record from the meet last year and also bettered his state discus mark of 138'3" as he heaved the platter 152 feet.

Williams, in the 120-yard high hurdles, beat the 17-second record set by Gene Robbins of Pampa in 1944 as he ran it in 16.3 seconds. Williams also beat the shot put mark.

Carl Mayes, who was favored to win the 100-yard dash, failed to do so when the finish judge ruled an Amarillo man first, and put Mayes in a tie for second, over the criticism of both players and fans of all towns.

Summaries:
100-yard dash — MacIntyre, Amarillo; Plankin, Amarillo and Mayes, Pampa; Hunter, Childress. Time 10.4 seconds.

22-yard dash — MacIntyre, Amarillo; Mayes, Pampa; Barry, Childress; Hunter, Childress. Time 22.2 seconds. Broke record of 22.9 set by Latson of Amarillo in 1944.

44-yard dash — Barry, Childress; Batman, Amarillo; Jackson, Amarillo; Oliphant, Pampa. Time 52.9 seconds.

80-yard dash — Winningham, Amarillo; Rogers, Childress; Redfern, Amarillo; Hill, Borger. 2:02.6. Broke record of 2:11.2 set by Winningham in 1945.

1 mile run — Vaughn, Amarillo; Wilson, Pampa; Ward, Childress; Fagan, Pampa. 5:10.

120-yard high hurdles — Williams, Pampa; Hudgins, Amarillo; Brown, Amarillo; Smith, Childress. Time 16.3. Broke record of 17 seconds set by Robbins of Pampa in 1944.

200-yard low hurdles — Seale, Amarillo; Williams, Pampa; Word, Amarillo; Brown, Pampa. Time 24 seconds. Broke record of 24.1 set by Seale of Amarillo in 1944.

440-yard relay — Pampa (Clay, Troop, Gooch, Mayes); Amarillo (Childress, Time 45.4. Tied record set by Amarillo in 1944).

1 mile relay — Amarillo (Pyeatt, Jackson, Winningham and Bauman); Childress, Time 3:37. Broke record of 3:42.9 set by Amarillo in 1945.

Shot put — Williams, Pampa. 42' 1/4"; Seale, Amarillo. 41' 2 3/4"; Boyles, Pampa. 39' 9 1/2"; Rusk, Amarillo. 39' 1 3/4"; Broke record of 41'1" set by Kitchens of Childress in 1941.

Discus — Clay, Pampa. 152 feet; Speer, Pampa. 129'8"; Spann, Amarillo. 129'5"; Brown, Amarillo. 126'10"; Broke record of 130'9" set by Clay in 1945.

Pole vault — Kitchens, Childress. 10'3"; Word and Buchanan, Amarillo. 10 feet; Jones, Childress. 9 feet.

'Unknown' Holds Lead in Masters

Keiser Falter, Recovers, Holds 5-Stroke Margin

By GAYLE TALBOT
AUGUSTA, Ga. — (AP) Herman Keiser wavered and wobbled yesterday, and then the ex-sailor pulled himself together on the tough finishing holes of the Augusta national course and fought off the challenge of the country's greatest golfer in the third round of the Masters tournament.

Shooting an eagle, a birdie and three pars on the last five holes, the Cinderella figure from Akron, O., who never before even threatened to win a major event, blazed home with a one-under-par 71 to maintain his five-stroke lead. Keiser virtually clinched first money of $2,500.

With his great opening round of 69-68, Keiser boasted a 54-hole total of 208. He was five blows in front of that famed little fighter, Ben Hogan, who grimly toured the Masters course in 69 shots to jump into second position at 213.

A 70 on his final round would give the blue-eyed, slow-moving Keiser a new tournament record, breaking the present mark of 279 set by Ralph Guldahl in 1939.

None of the other could be conceded even an outside chance, even if Keiser should treat himself to a regular Bikini or an explosion.

A stroke behind Hogan and six behind the amazing leader were Clayton Heafner, Jim Ferrier and Fred Hays, each with 214. Ferrier and Hays each scored 69 today.

At 215 was Bob Hamilton of Chicago, former PGA champion, who added a 71. Byron Nelson and Jimmy Demaret also turned in 71's to tie at 216 for 54 holes.

The day's lowest score, and the lowest of the tournament, was credited to the big ex-soldier, Vic Ghezzi of Knoxville, Tenn., who had a 34-33-67. It placed him in a three-way tie at 217 with Jim Foulis of Chicago and Ky Laffoon of Orlando, Fla. George Schneider of Salt Lake City was alone at 218. Sammy Snead was deadlocked with the leading amateur, Carey Middlecoff of Memphis at 219.

Bobby Jones soared to 77 on his third round for a 224 total. Lawson Little blew himself clear out of it with a 78-226.

Jimmy Thompson of Los Angeles, runner-up to Keiser when the third round began, was out of the contention after posting a 79. Tony Penna, another of Keiser's pursuers for two rounds, ballooned to an 80.

Iba Wants Czar For Grid Game

STILLWATER, Okla. — (AP) Hank Iba, Oklahoma Aggies sports chief, pressed his national basketball and wrestling champions and his undefeated football lads Saturday and asked for a uniform collegiate athletic scholarship program controlled by a "czar."

"The whole thing," the "Iron Duke," said, "should be formed and carried out by the National Collegiate Athletic Association."

That said his idea of such a program took the following shape:
"Equal scholarships should be established in all conferences.

"The heads of the various conferences, under the direction of the NCAA, should get together and agree on standards. Then a national director with absolute power should be chosen by the conference chiefs.

"All conferences should work with him."

Iba, whose personally coached basketball team recently became the first to win the NCAA championship two successive years, said the return of the GI "hungry for sports" made the program doubly necessary at this time.

Mexico City To Get Electricity Rations

MEXICO CITY — (AP) — The Canadian-owned Mexican light and power company today announced that Mexico City will go on short electricity rations. The company said inefficient operation of the Mexican railroads was to blame for the shortage.

National Economy Secretary Gustavo P. Serrano was notified by the electric company that the reserve of fuel oil is so low that further reduction of electricity is necessary unless the liquid is delivered quickly.

American troops and heavy equipment paraded through the streets of Tokyo and Yokohama for the first time in the more than seven months of occupation. Japanese silently watched as they passed the imperial palace in Tokyo.

SCOTT'S SCRAPBOOK

By SCOTT RAFFERTY
Don Martin of the McClellan Lake Rod and Gun club has forwarded to us the copy of a very interesting talk made at the recent meeting of the Texas Wildlife Federation by R. E. Callender, extension game management specialist of Texas A. & M. We'd like to quote some from that talk.

"We have all come to know that wildlife is essentially a crop of the land and that those who operate Texas farms have a lot to do with its production and welfare.

"Today, Texas farmers and ranchers are giving game birds, animals and fish a more definite plan in the picture. Since game management is very little more than just good land management, it is evident that these men are key figures in any program affecting wildlife.

"I like to think of the operators of the land as the producing sportsmen of this state and that they are producing a crop, with our help, that is worth several million dollars annually through hunting and fishing leases and sale of these products.

"All through the years, Texas sportsmen have served as the spark plugs that have kept alive the spirit of game and fish conservation. These sportsmen are no longer alone in this field for they have aroused a sense of duty in peoples all over the state.

"Landowners are the major factor in this group as they are giving emphasis to conserving desirable wildlife and regarding it as a crop of the land.

"Their objectives in this program can be summed up in this way: to raise such as a crop for food, for sport, for their otherwise economic value, plus the joy and satisfaction of living with them in their natural state.

"Lots of team-work on the part of all is needed in order that Texas can produce an abundant wildlife crop.

"The sportsmen need to adequately organize themselves. Game laws need to be digested into simple terms and made available to big, little, old and young.

"PUBLIC NECESSITY DEMANDS THAT ALL OUR FORCES BE COMBINED AND THAT WE COOPERATE IN THIS TASK, FOR THE JOB IS SO BIG IT WILL REQUIRE THE EFFORTS OF ALL."

Remember this, Mr. and Mrs. Sportsman. You can help by finding out what you, and you can do to carry out Mr. Callender's ideals—and we mean ideals, not ideas.

Boys at Mexican Embassy Say Game Can Help International Relations

By BUS HAM
WASHINGTON — (AP) — The boys at the Mexican embassy got into the hubbub over the Mexican league signing up some American baseball players.

With a quick oral delivery—a person close to Ambassador Antonio Espinosa de Los Monteros suggested that big league owners were missing the international pitch of a lifetime.

Asserting the ambassador is "very interested and sympathetic" toward baseball to go to bat in furthering the exchange of international ideals.

"Here we are with the United Nations meeting in New York and baseball finds in its lap this rare opportunity for a practical demonstration of spreading ideas from one country to another."

"We exclaim students, professors, artists, workers and so on, so why not ball players? After all, we learned baseball from Americans."

"We even borrowed American coaches to teach our youngsters to play your game. Now that we're coming of age in the sport, are we to be cut off from this relationship?"

"In the past, Mexican players have played in American leagues, so why not the other way around?"

Softball Team Gets Under Way at Skelly

A softball team is being organized at the Skelly-Shaefer gasoline plant and the first practice is to be held at 2:30 this afternoon at the plant diamond.

Bill Searle has been named manager of the team. Games will be matched with other company teams and with local teams that may be organized.

John Wilson, one of the organizers of the team, said other clubs were welcome to use the company's field at any time. New lighting equipment has been installed.

Methodists Having Revival Meetings

CANADIAN (Special) — A series of revival meetings is in progress at the First Methodist church with Rev. Joe E. Boyd delivering the messages. The meetings will continue through April 14.

Ants are said to have the most powerful jaw grip, proportionately, among insects or animals.

Stephens Happy To Be Back in United States

HOUSTON — (AP) — Vern Stephens, who jumped from the American league to the Mexican league and then back to the American league, said here Saturday he was happy to get back into the United States.

The ace shortstop of the St. Louis Browns who joined his old teammates in San Antonio without warning last night, still has his troubles, however.

When he made up his mind to return to his native land, he did it in a hurry. It was in such a hurry that he was afraid to take time to pack his clothes. He just wandered into San Antonio, with his wardrobe on his back, a pair of pants, a shirt, some shoes and socks.

"I was afraid they might do something to stop me," he said, "so I just hustled out of Monterrey and got to moving."

He didn't take time to talk to Pasquel brothers, the men who are pouring millions of dollars into an effort to build up the Mexican league, he said.

"I'm calling them today, and telling them that I am returning the $5,000 bonus they gave me when I signed a three-year contract," he said.

HOUSTON — (AP) — Shortstop Vern Stephens, who rejoined the St. Louis Browns after playing briefly with the Mexican baseball league, said he rejected last Saturday a new telephone offer from Jorge Pasquel to play in Mexico for $25,000 a year for five years, with $50,000 for the money to be placed in a New York bank as a guarantee.

Stephens told of receiving the new bid in a conversation when he called Pasquel, president of the Mexican league, to inform him he was "as of now resigning from your league, under the provisions of our contract." The star shortstop said his Mexican contract provided that it could be terminated at any time by either party.

Pasquel told him, Stephens said, that he planned to see the American ambassador to Mexico to make a formal complaint over Stephens' walkout and that he would file suit to enforce it.

"You have damaged me and my league," Stephens quoted Pasquel. "I also can damage you."

Stephens wouldn't say outright, but he did indicate that he and the Browns had reached a compromise on their salary difficulties which resulted in his jump to the Mexican league. Early season reports were that he was asking for $17,500 and being offered $13,500.

The reason for his sudden change? "The Mexican league looks too unsettled to me—too much of a gamble," he said after looking over the situation and playing two games there. "I'm only 25 years old, and I should have lots of baseball ahead of me. I decided to stick to the surest thing, to big league baseball in the United States."

"Also, I have a wife and a three-year-old boy living in Long Beach, Calif. It would be a lot better for me if I stayed in our country."

Meanwhile, Stephens was wearing a suit belonging to his manager, Luke Sewell, a suit that is a few sizes too large for him, but which Luke is very, very happy to lend.

"Naturally we are tickled to death," Luke said here today.

The Browns were to play the Chicago Cubs here today, but Stephens will not play for a couple of days. He will work out first, on instructions from Sewell.

Exhibition Ball

ATLANTA, Ga. — (AP) — For the third exhibition in a row the New York Yankees had a pitcher go the nine full innings successfully when rookie Lefty Bill Wright held the Atlanta Crawlers to four hits as the big leaguers won 7 to 1.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — (AP) — A three-run circuit clot by catcher Al Lakeman in the seventh inning gave the Cincinnati Reds reserves a 7-5 victory over the Boston Red Sox Yankees in the nightcap of an exhibition doubleheader. The American leaguers slugged out a 10-0 decision in the opener between first-line squads behind Tex Hughson's brilliant two-hit pitching.

NEW ORLEANS — (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals scored their third decisive victory in as many days over minor league clubs by walloping the New Orleans Pelicans, 16 to 2, for their 16th victory in their last 20 starts.

GREENVILLE, S. C. — (AP) — A five-run fifth inning enabled the Brooklyn "B" team to defeat the New York Yankees "B" squad 7-2 in an exhibition baseball game.

Ralph Tate of Oklahoma Aggies Is Star Athlete in Huge Event

AUSTIN — (AP) — The University of Texas led the university-college-service class of the Nineteenth Texas relays yesterday but bowed to Oklahoma A. & M. in producing the outstanding performer of the big track and field carnival.

Rangy Ralph Tate, the Aggies' versatile star, won both the high hurdles, in which he upset August Erforth of Rice, in 14 seconds flat, and the broad jump, in which he beat out Texas' John Robertson with a leap of 24 feet 9½ inches, to be named the outstanding athlete of the meet.

There were some record-nearing performances but it again fell to the high school division to produce the only mark to go into the books when Vernon McGrew of Lamar (Houston) took the high jump with 6 feet 5 inches—three inches better than the record set in 1937 by Ted Haese, of Laveria, McGrew, who also was second in the 120-yard high hurdles was named outstanding athlete of the high school class.

Texas, which won the 100-yard dash in which Allen Lawler of Texas upset Baylor's Bill Martinson, the favorite, and the half-mile relay rolled up 24 1/4 points as the leader of the university-college-service division. There are no official point totals in the relays but based on five for first, three for second, two for third and one for fourth, Texas was 8 1/4 points ahead of Kansas at the finish.

Kansas won only one first place—the high jump, in which Tom Scofield leaped 6 feet 6—but had one second and four thirds. Next in line was Texas A. & M. with 14 points. The Aggies' only first place was the mile relay which they won in 3:22 although the brilliant Desmond Kidd of Texas came from fifth place to almost nip Arthur Hardinen, the A. & M. anchor man.

Baylor won the sprint relay, Drake the distance medley, Kansas state the two-mile relay, Ward Island naval air technical training center the sprint medley. Abilene Christian college the 800-yard relay of the college-service division. North Texas as state and the sprint medley of this division and George Pepperdine of Los Angeles took the mile relay of the college-service class.

Abilene Christian also won the 400-yard shuttle football relay, beating Texas, the favorite. Texas lost because a team member dropped the ball while leading the race.

Fred Feller of Drake university repeated with the 3,000 meters title.

Byrl Thompson of Camp Grant, Ill., captured the shot put, Bobby Lowther of Louisiana State was first in the javelin throw, Dick Miller of Nebraska and Ted Wench of Michigan State tied for first in the pole vault and George Kadena of Randolph field took the discus throw.

The pole vault was expected to produce a new record but Miller and Wench stopped at 13 feet, more than a foot short of the relays mark. Texas' chances of beating the football shuttle relay record went with dropping the ball. Abilene Christian college took it in 44.8, well over the record.

API SPRING MEETING

The spring meeting of the Mid-Continent district of the API division of production will be held in Oklahoma City, Okla., in the Skirvin Tower hotel on June 6-7.

The program committee under the chairmanship of Harold S. Kelly, is preparing a program of unusual interest and timeliness, according to advance announcements.

These district meetings are a part of the open forum facilities that are provided by the Institute's division of production to encourage the presentation of papers and discussions on subjects that pertain and contribute to the welfare of all those interested in the production of crude oil and natural gas.

CITIES SERVICE OFFICIALS

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. — The board of directors of Cities Service Oil Co. (Del.) Wednesday elected H. R. Straight as chairman of the board and A. W. Ambrose as president. Similar action was taken by the board of directors of Empire Pipeline Co. Straight has headed these companies since their organization. Ambrose has been serving as executive vice president of both companies.

Under their direction, the Cities Service Oil Co. (Del.) operating in 25 states, produced last year approximately 24 million barrels of crude oil, 73 million gallons of natural gasoline, and 700 million gallons of refined products. The Empire Pipeline Co., transporting crude oil and petroleum products in the states of Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and Louisiana, delivered a total of 26 million barrels in 1945.

OPA Observes

questions the OPA policy in the delay in making the 10 cent crude price effective.

Brown calls attention to the differences between industry practice and OPA dictates:

"The office of price administration on April 1 announced that the 10 cent increase in crude oil price ceilings would be effective April 1. The OPA on March 5, first announced this increase and said it would be effective sometime during the last of March."

"On Monday 19, at the beginning of hearings by the senate special committee investigating petroleum resources, an OPA representative authorized the verbal announcement that the increase would become effective March 29th. No explanation was given for needing 24 days to carry out the March 5 decisions, or for the assigned reason that it would aid the purchasers of crude oil in keeping their books. OPA is making the increase effective on April 1. The reason is a 'phony' one. It has no support in industry custom or practice."

"Oil producers throughout the nation would like to know who, or what influence brought about this further delay. We are going to keep asking the question. The effect has been to deprive the oil producers of the United States of $440,000,000 per day.

"Increases in prices of petroleum products, kerosene, distillate, and fuel oil have already been made and are in effect and the consumers of these products were already absorbing the ten cent crude oil advance before it was in effect. Purchasers of crude oil themselves throughout the three OPA years, never fitted the effective dates of crude oil price changes to the first of the month, or to any other particular date."

"The OPA tells us that the first of April was more suited to the convenience of the purchasers.

SIDE GLANCES

BY GALBRAITH

"Now what does your blasted decorate-your-own-home book say to do in a case like this?"

There are few of them compared with the number of producers. The convenience, and especially the necessities of the producers are not being considered. They never have been in the nearly five years that OPA has controlled prices. The producer was put in the middle of the deep freeze in the middle of 1941.

"The producers and the American people are entitled to know which purchasers, if any, had the superior weight with OPA to beat the price advance—calculating from March 29 when OPA said the increase would be effective. No more perfect illustration of the arbitrary, inconsiderate and repressive attitude of OPA on crude oil prices can be found than this decision to hold back three days of the price increase."

Truman Seeking Swift Action on Service Merger
WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Contending "delay itself is a process of decay," President Truman yesterday sought swifter congressional action on his recommendation for unification of the armed forces.

He used an Army Day address at Chicago to put across anew the idea he first outlined to congress Dec. 19.

Unification, as well as temporary extension of the draft act and universal military training are necessary, he said, if this country is to maintain its strength and leadership.

Taking cognizance of the fears of both the army and the navy that one might be subordinated to the other in event of a merger, the President said:

"Unification does not mean subordination of any branch of the service. It does not mean a loss of identity. It means just what the words say—unification.

"It means a concentration and cohesion of our best military resources geared to maximum efficiency. It means using our experience in World War II for the peace of the world."

Mr. Truman has called for a new department of national defense, headed by a single cabinet member, with a civilian secretary and several civilian assistant secretaries.

The three coordinated branches of the service—army, navy and air—each would be under an assistant secretary, with an over-all chief of staff and military commanders for each of the branches.

The proposal has been a point of bitter argument between the navy on the one hand and the army and the army air forces on the other.

Congress has held extensive hearings on the merger idea, and mulled over the proposal at length.

Wedding Date for Couple Is Told at Pre-Nuptial Tea

Announcement of the approaching marriage of Miss Vontell Alexander and Cenas G. Carruth was made when a tea was given recently by the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. G. F. Alexander, at their home, west of the city. Date of the wedding has been set as April 28.

Miss Thomasine Carruth, sister of the prospective bridegroom, presided at the bride's book, which was signed by the guests as they arrived. Punch and angel food squares topped with orange blossoms were served to the guests from a table laid out with an Irish linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of spring flowers.

The honoree's chosen colors of green and white were further carried out in the lighted tapers and the engraved napkins. Presiding at the tea service were Mrs. Ernest Frank and Mrs. Clyde Frank, aunts of the honoree, and Miss Ila Mae Hassell. Mrs. O'Neal Is Hostess to Bell Club Members

"One of the most important things to remember when sewing is to press seams open as the work progresses on the garment," Mrs. J. B. Jones told members of the Bell Home Demonstration club, when they met in the home of Mrs. Connor O'Neal Friday afternoon.

"All seams should be at least one half an inch wide, and hems should be two and one half inches deep to meet standard specifications," Mrs. Jones said.

Mrs. Emmett Osborn discussed new sewing equipment, and she stated that each woman should check the sewing attachments for the machine and learn to use them in order to receive full benefit.

Plans were made to assist with the garden exhibit which is to be held, April 27, in this city.

Mrs. O'Neal will represent the Bell club when presentations of awards is made to the 4-H club girls, April 20.

Miss Millicent Schaub, agent, concluded the program with a demonstration on making tailored buttons and bias tape. She also told how to finish garments in order to achieve the professional touch.

Refreshments were served to two guests, Mrs. George Seitz, and Mrs. Cyrus McKnight, and to the following members: Mrs. T. D. Anderwald, Mrs. Fred Haiduk, Mrs. Charles Warminski, Mrs. Roland Dauer, Mrs. J. B. Jones, Mrs. Clifford Arrington, Mrs. Vern Wyatt, Mrs. Weber, Mrs. Carl Smith, Mrs. Keel, Mrs. Emmett Osborn, Miss Millicent Schaub and Mrs. O'Neal.

Mrs. Floyd Ward will discuss "Health and Finance," Miss Donna Pursley, "Automobile Finance," Mrs. Gee, "The Changing Picture in Agriculture Finance," and Mrs. Frank Lard will give a summary of the B. and P. W. club finances.

In connection with the April drive for Cancer Control funds, the club has adopted the plan of each member contributing the amount of her age, which it is hoped will prove to be quite successful, it was stated.

Mrs. Luther Roberts will review two brief books, "Lovely Is the Lee" by Giddings, and "The Egg and I" by McDonald, when the Pampa Book club holds its meeting in the City club room Monday evening at 7:30.

"The Egg and I" is a humorous story of a woman unused to farm life, and the other book is described as a delightful mixture of anecdote, story and "good talk." Mrs. Roberts is an experienced book reviewer.

Mrs. H. Y. Cornelius, president, will conduct a short business meeting preceding the review, it was announced.

There will be no admission charge, and the public is urged to attend.

Chapel Ceremony Unites Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Troy L. Boyles

Mary Jane Kerbow Becomes Bride of Jack H. Benton

The marriage of Mary Jane Kerbow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Guy Kerbow, and Jack H. Benton, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Benton, all of this city, was solemnized Saturday afternoon, March 30, in the Presbyterian chapel at 4 o'clock.

The chapel was decorated with potted palms and a sunburst arrangement of Picardi gladioli. Dr. Douglas Nelson, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Morton Mathis of Amarillo, organist, played "Because," "Liebestraum" and "Intermezzo," as well as the traditional wedding march and recessional.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, H. Guy Kerbow, wore a gown of ivory jersey, softly tailored with a high neckline and braided length sleeves. Her halo hat was of the same material and veiled in ice blue illusion. Her only ornament was a double strand of pearls. The bridal bouquet was an orchid bound with streamers of white satin on a white prayer book. For "something old," she carried an heirloom point-lace handkerchief borrowed from an aunt, Mrs. H. Ralph Kerbow of Dallas.

Matron of honor was Mrs. M. C. Field, jr., who wore a coffee-with-cream tailored gown with a touch of white at collar and cuffs. Her hat was a tiny white Miamil sailor and she carried a bouquet of Tailsman roses.

The bridegroom chose his brother, Gus Benton, as best man. Ushers were Messrs. Dick Walker, Wayne Phelps, N. B. Ellis and H. Guy Kerbow, jr. Candles were lighted by Messrs. Phelps and Walker.

Immediately following the ceremony, the couple left on a short wedding trip, and upon their return will reside at the Benton home east of Pampa.

Mr. and Mrs. Benton are both native Texans and the bride received her education in schools in Dallas and Clarendon, while the bridegroom was educated in Pampa schools. The bride is the present vice-president of the Beta Gamma Kappa sorority.

The bridegroom served five years in the armed forces, spending three and one-half years in the China-Burma-India theater of operations. He received his discharge in February, 1945, as a sergeant, and at present is engaged in farming and ranching with his father east of Pampa. He is a member of the Pampa chapters of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

A series of showers and parties complimented the bride-elect the week preceding the wedding. Misses Elizabeth Mullinax and Adalen Brazil and Mrs. M. C. Floyd, jr., were co-hostesses at a shower in the Mullinax home.

The honoree was presented with a corsage of blue iris. Floral arrangements of purple and white snapdragons and baby iris decorated the rooms, while a miniature Easter costume picture was presented.

Some thing new and different, however, was added during the Middle Ages: the superstition that the girl who wore a new hat on Easter morning was a girl who would be lucky in love during the year to come. Which may or may not be completely true. But our designers nevertheless do know that the combination of hat and girl and Easter sunshine produces rather combustible material when viewed by masculine eyes!

A similar romantic awareness also seizes part of the working knowledge of hairdressers, and there is more than coincidence in the close teaming-up of hair and hat art. Each needs the other's skill and artistry to complement his own. Indeed, no hat really shows off to advantage unless the hair upon which it is worn is so styled that the lines of the hat are given proper emphasis.

When Easter Sunday comes, and birds on tree-tops and flowers on hat-tops officially welcome the holiday, the Easter parade in every town will be a festive meeting and greeting occasion. Probably no parade will give a backward thought to the Emperor Constantine. And probably no person will recall the charming superstition of the new bonnet that brings luck in love. But unquestionably, all eyes will turn toward the woman's hat and hair-dresser in the spring sunshine of the Easter parade.

The double ring ceremony was solemnized, April 2, at the Methodist parsonage in Lefors, with the Rev. N. S. Daniels, pastor reading the rites.

The bride was attractively dressed in an aqua blue street dress with black accessories. Her corsage was of gardenias. Carrying out the traditional custom, the bride wore a pin which had belonged to her grandmother for "something old." Her dress was new and blue, and she carried an Irish linen handkerchief belonging to her mother, for "something borrowed."

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. McBee of Electra, and before entering the army, he was employed by the Texas Pipeline company of Lefors. He has been stationed at Camp Roberts and Fort Ord, Calif., and will report to Fort Sam Houston for reassignment.

The couple left immediately following the ceremony for a short honeymoon, and they will also visit with his parents at Electra.

For traveling, the bride chose a dusty rose suit, trimmed in black with black accessories.

Mrs. McBee is employed at the Post Office in Lefors and for the present, she will make her home with her parents.

Only members of the immediate family and the Rev. and Mrs. Daniels attended the ceremony.

Improvement Made in Downtown Sidewalk

The sidewalk space running alongside the Smith Studio at the corner of Russell and Foster street has been improved to the effect that now there is no dirt portion which always gets muddy when there is rain.

The space was filled in with concrete this past week. For a number of years, that walk has been one of the sore spots in the downtown district.

The first signs of starvation—yellow faces and dejection—are apparent among many people on the streets. They are getting just like the Dutch were, and I think it will be worse here.—British medical officer at Hamburg, Germany.

Mrs. Bessie Finley will be program leader with Mrs. Walter Furviance assisting.

Teen Talk

Dear Judy, Hi, butterbrain. Hear tell that somebody has said something super about teen agers. Yep, Dr. Joseph Jarman, president of Farmville, Va. State Teachers College for the past 44 years, says that today's girls have more poise than those of yesterday. Isn't he sweet?

One of the reasons the kids are so far advanced, I guess, is because they pay more attention to their personal grooming and are more conscious of themselves. Now, for instance, you can learn about make-up and grooming via television.

Mary Stuyvesant, beauty consultant, took some of the kids of the Schenectady, N. Y., high school and experimented with them over the ether waves so that any of the kids who wanted to could see what was going on. She says a little attention to grooming will pay dividends when Saturday evening's rug-cutting session begins.

The kids did designs for rooms they would like themselves. Beatrice's dream room was in brilliant green, brown and tan with windows that would open on a terrace. Marian's is the kind of room every girl should have. It is blue and white with low white bookcases along two walls forming continuous units including a chest unit in each. Both the units curve in at the wall to form a dressing-table space for two girls occupants of the room. A window chest covered in blue chintz gives storage room for hobbies. Wallpaper is striped in blue and white.

Grover Sellers Announces for Governor's Post

By DAVE CHEAVENS Associated Press Staff
Announcement of Attorney General Grover Sellers that he would be a candidate for governor cleared the political atmosphere somewhat, but there was still some fog.

It confirmed the belief of some that Gov. Coke R. Stevenson would not be a candidate, but Stevenson himself had nothing to add to his past statements on the subject.

These summer down to the fact he has said several times he does not want to run; that he told Sellers and his close friend, Board of Control Chairman Weaver Baker to "go ahead and run if you want to." But Stevenson has not flatly said yes or no.

Sellers two months ago said he would not run for governor if Stevenson got in the race. Saturday at a press conference Sellers said he did not wish to renew that statement.

This could be taken to mean that he felt it was getting time for all potential candidates to declare their intentions, wiping out what he had said before. His announcement included a paragraph of praise for Stevenson's administration as governor.

It also included an affirmation that Sellers was a life-long democrat, one who has always voted for and supported nominees of the party. Asked if he would bear down on the subject of party harmony in his campaign, Sellers said that he would, adding:

"Party rifts have happened before. I have no feud with anybody."

At his press conference, Stevenson indicated he knew that Sellers was going to announce, but said he had no comment beyond what he had said previously.

Sellers' announcement brought the total candidates for governor thus far 11. This includes all who have formally filed for a place on the ballot, those for whom filing has been made by petition, and those who have said they are going to run.

These were:
W. J. Minton of Sherman, John Lee Smith of Throckmorton, Walter Scott McNutt of Jefferson, Jerry Sadler of Longview, Caso March of Waco, Beauford H. Jester of Corsicana, William V. Brown of Texarkana, A. J. Burke of Odessa, Dr. Homer P. Rainey of Austin, Robert W. Calvert of Hillsboro, Sellers. Still mentioned as possibilities: Stevenson, former governor James V. Allred of Houston, Senator W. Lee O'Daniel.

The past week brought these ma-

for developments:
Filing of a petition for a place on the ballot in behalf of Calvert, a leader in the pro-Roosevelt camp in 1944's battle of the electors.
Announcement that Texas' voting strength in 1946 would be something in excess of 1,800,000 — a record high.
A sharp exchange between Rainey and Stevenson over Rainey's statement that the governor and regents were responsible for the probation having been imposed on the University of Texas after Rainey's row with the regents that led to his discharge.
The Fort Worth Star Telegram said that a statewide drive was underway to draft Stevenson for a third term, with petitions being circulated to put his name on the ballot. Stevenson had no comment.

Rites Held for Former Pampan

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at the First Baptist church, McAlester, Okla., for a former resident of Pampa, L. H. "Doc" Buzbee, who died Monday at a hospital there.

A former employe of the Texas company here, he had moved with his family to McAlester last year. The rites were conducted by the Rev. E. M. Dunsforth, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church here. Dr. Augie Henry, pastor of the McAlester church, assisted. Burial was at a cemetery there.

Mrs. C. A. Pixler and Mrs. Earl Ekroast, of Pampa, and John Knox or Borger, accompanied the minister to McAlester.
Surviving Mr. Buzbee are his wife; one son, C. A. of Texhoma, Okla.; a daughter, Mrs. Gerdes Schmidt, Texhoma; three grandchildren, three sisters, Mrs. J. H. Johnson, Tuscola, Texas, Mrs. S. W. Woodruff, Rising Star, Texas, and Mrs. Hattie Berry, Pasadena, Calif.; two brothers, Mack, Merkel, Texas, and Earl, whose address is unknown.

Union Against Public Employes Association

AUSTIN—(AP)—An effort to revoke the charter of the recently-organized Texas public employes association initiated by an American federation of labor officials, was under way today.

The secretary of state has asked the attorney general for an opinion on the matter, it was reliably reported.

Spokesmen for the association said they believed their charter was alright, that it did not wish to be regarded as a labor union, and that it was chartered as an organization similar to the state teachers association. They could not understand why any labor organization should oppose their association.

The AP of L several years ago made an unsuccessful effort to organize state employes.

Under state law, a labor organization may be chartered only after a hearing and favorable recommendation by the labor commissioner.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat
It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your drugstore and ask for four ounces of liquid Burocristin (formerly called Buroel Concentrate). Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way, endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

WALL STREET
NEW YORK—(AP)—Mail orders, buoyed by reports of continued record sales, led a selective advance in today's stock market although many leaders were indifferent. Dealings picked up at intervals after the opening but slowdowns were frequent. Steels, rails, motors and utilities failed to get anywhere in particular. A few oils and "blue chips" did fairly well. Gains of fractions 1/2 or more points were well distributed near the close but the losing side was well populated. Transfers for the two hours ran to around 700,000 shares.

Spurring the merchandisers was the Sears Roebuck statement showing March income of $128,600,000, largest for this month in the company's history and 38.3 per cent above the like 1945 period.

In front of the greater part of the proceedings were Sears, Montgomery Ward, Woolworth, Texas Co., Standard Oil (IN), Electric Power & Light, Columbia Gas, Philip Morris, Allied Chemical, Du Pont,

Wellington Men Visit Club Here

A delegation of Kiwanians from the Wellington club was guest of the local club at the regular noon luncheon on Friday at the First Methodist church basement.

Kiwanian Henry Kinkaid, pastor of the Baptist church at Wellington, was the guest speaker. He treated the subject "Land of Palestine." He discussed the country's world significance, its people, climate, resources, and the area. He discussed briefly the political and racial issues of the land.

Other Wellington Kiwanians present were Horace Clark, who introduced the speaker, James Sullivan, John Holton, J. W. Holder, Ernest Lewis, Joe Terry, Morris Reed, and Howard Riggs, who is district lieutenant governor.

Mrs. Doris Hess, Amarillo and Pfc. James L. Berry, Miami, were also out-of-town guests.

Governor Riggs presented Ed Weiss a Certificate of Recognition from Kiwanis International "in recognition of leadership" as 1945 president of the club.

Shamrock Voting Dull; Only 90 Votes Cast

SHAMROCK.—(Special)—Only 90 votes were cast in the city election held at the City Hall Tuesday.

With the death of Jasper Isaacs, candidate for city marshal, opposing the present peace officer, C. P. Velvin, there was not a contested office.

Three of the city officials received a full 90 votes, Ode Cain, secretary; Thurman Adkins, attorney; and W. C. Mayfield, recorder, battling a 103 peqr cast with local voters.

Votes received by aldermen were: Gerald Mayfield, 87; R. C. Lewis, 86; Euell Bradley, 84. Mayor Bill Walker polled 88 votes out of the 90, and Dr. Howard Y. Sigler, health officer, scored 89.

For the city marshal post, Velvin received 76 votes. Isaacs, whose untimely death had probably not been learned by some, polled 8 votes, while the name of Derwood Boland was written in on two ballots.

April 1 Hottest Since April, 1941

SHAMROCK. (Special) — It was a hot day in April—the first day of the month, that is. Burl Golsen, who modestly admits that so far he is the best weather prognosticator in Shamrock, says that the little red line of mercury climbed to the 99 degree mark at 2:45 p.m. on the first day of the fourth month of 1946.

This, according to Golsen, is the hottest April day as far back as he checked his records, which was 1941. A recording of 96 degrees was made on March 31, the hottest March day in five years.

Golsen extended his head handle again this week with this prediction, which he says is made in response to many requests:

"Between April 15 and 18, the temperature is likely to drop to a point just above freezing. We should receive moisture on the above date, however, therefore the fruit crop stands a good chance to escape damage—providing."

In business, in labor, in agriculture, many of the old familiar forces of selfishness are again in the march. And to make matters worse, we find government allying itself first with this pressure group, and then with that, for political advantage.—Former Gov. John W. Ericker of Ohio, 1944 nominee for vice president.

Disabled Vets Are Promised Better Service

A plan to save disabled veterans an average of three to four months in time now required to obtain repairs on artificial limbs has been recommended to the Veterans Administration by a special prosthetic advisory committee, the Disabled American Veterans said today.

That information was received here today by Glen Hubbard, commander of Pampa chapter from Sgt. Harold Dixon, first junior national vice commander of the DAV, who is a member of the advisory committee.

"Sgt. Dixon, who lost both legs in Germany in World War II," Commander Hubbard said, "has informed us that the special prosthetic advisory committee has recommended the issuance of service cards by the Veterans Administration to all veterans using artificial limbs.

"This card would enable the disabled veterans to go to any licensed manufacturer and obtain repairs. The card will identify the veteran and indicate the type of appliance service to which he is entitled. The manufacturer, without further authorization, will make the repairs and forward the bill to the Veterans Administration.

Sgt. Dixon further informs us that this plan will save the disabled veteran an average of three to four months in time required to obtain repairs on prosthetic devices."

The DAV commander said the Veterans Administration has tentatively approved the plan.

In addition to St. Dixon, other members of the advisory committee include Col. Robert S. Allen, newspaper columnist; Col. John Haskell, vice president of New York Stock Exchange; John H. Pratt, attorney; Aaron L. Danzig, attorney; Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers; and Congressman Augustine B. Kelly.

Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

ATHENS—(P)—A man knocked on my hotel door and for a half hour gave me back my faraway childhood.

When he first came in, he stood there staring with me that lost, helpless feeling two people have when they meet and feel they should know one another.

In his hands he held a cable from his son in Missouri saying I was in Athens and was an old acquaintance and he should look me up.

"I lived almost 25 years in America," he said hesitantly.

"Where Charley?"

"In Kansas City—I had a restaurant with my partner at 31st street and Woodland."

"That broke the dike of memory. Each city boy's life is built around a street corner and for more than a decade in springtime of my life 31st and Woodland in Kansas City, Mo., was the capital of my world.

Mike is still in Kansas City. Charley who emigrated to America from arcaid in 1907 at the age of 15 returned to Greece in 1921.

"Business was slow, and I thought it was the best time to come back for a visit," he said.

His wife fell ill, and he has been in Athens ever since. When the Germans came in they took over Charley's small restaurant here, and since then he has traveled a rocky road.

His savings have melted slowly. Charley wants, if his wife's health permits, to come this summer to Kansas City where his son, Aristides, is studying English and teaching Greek at the Greek Orthodox church. He wants to renew his old neighborhood acquaintances with Mr. Hammer, the Jewish shoemaker, and "Pop" Hudson, the druggist, still doing business at the old stands.

"America is the only land," he said when I took him out to lunch two days later. During the war he used to risk the death penalty by tuning his radio to the American station at Alectra to listen to big league baseball scores and speeches by President Roosevelt, often staying up until 3 a. m. to get programs.

"What has happened to Will Rogers lately?" he asked. "I used to like to read his stuff. He was a real funny man."

Hoover Comments On Food Situation

LONDON—(P)—Herbert Hoover said today that if the under-fed peoples of Europe could survive until the autumn harvest there would be a general improvement in the world food situation.

The former president, head of President Truman's touring food commission, said that by present indications the wheat crop appeared "extremely good" in the northern hemisphere.

America's first transcontinental railway was built in Panama, spanning the 50-mile isthmus.

Relation Between Red Cross and Emergency Furloughs Is Explained

Why does the Red Cross refuse to grant some men furloughs and grant them to others?

The Red Cross does not, by any interpretation of the facts, "grant furloughs". Such authority rests with army and navy commanding officers. The Red Cross does not even request furloughs. Sole function of the Red Cross in connection with emergency furloughs is to provide factual verifying supplemental information as to the home conditions upon which the serviceman has his request for furlough. No recommendation for or against the furlough is ever made by the Red Cross.

In the case of army personnel overseas, the Red Cross is merely the channel through which flow requests for emergency furloughs, the channel beginning with the serviceman's family which makes the request and ending at the adjutant general's office in Washington.

In case of army personnel stationed in this country, Red Cross is again the channel through which or other emergency conditions which have caused the serviceman or his family to ask for a furlough are verified by the chapter by means of a physician's diagnosis and prognosis stating the need or lack of need for the serviceman's presence; a lawyer's statement that the serviceman is or is not needed at home in death cases to settle an estate or transact business in connection with family deaths that require the serviceman's actual presence; or other emergency home situations, upon which the chapter reports only the facts as furnished by competent and impartial sources as to whether the situation will be solved if the serviceman comes home.

Organizations of Navy Changed

NEW ORLEANS—(P)—Names of the naval organizations that are being established throughout the eighth naval district as part of the navy's program for peacetime preparedness have been changed, Cap. Arthur A. Ageton, USN, director of naval reserve for the eighth naval district, announced today.

The "ready reserve" will be henceforth known as the "organized reserve" and the "standby reserve" will be known as the "volunteer reserve."

The navy intends to establish 22 divisions and 22 battalions of the "organized reserve" in the eighth naval district, the director stated. These divisions will have a strength of 1,000 officers and 16,400 enlisted men. No quota has been set on the number of men who may belong to the "volunteer reserve."

Cities in the eighth naval district which have been designated by the navy for naval armories and divisions or battalions of the organized reserve are:

Public Response to New Sleeping Car Service Encourages Operators

By T. E. APPLIGATE
 NEW YORK.—(AP)—Initial public response to the week-old through-transcontinental sleeping car service has encouraged some rail officials' hopes for establishment of coast-to-coast trains.
 They concede such a development will take some time. First, the existence of a sustained public demand must be determined.
 But they pointed to the quick acceptance of the through service which a number of railroads started March 31 from New York and Washington to Los Angeles and San Francisco.
 Already discussions are under way for similar service by way of St. Louis.
 A definite increase over pre-war transcontinental travel must come before it will be possible for the railroads to institute through coast-to-coast trains. A survey by the roads indicated that before the war from 150 to 300 persons were starting coast-to-coast trips daily. This would fill one to two trains, but the figure was a composite for all railroads.

 There are numerous skeptics in railroad circles about the future of the through service.
 These pessimists point out that railroad ticket office reports showed the majority of travelers buying transcontinental accommodations in recent years have requested a stop-over en route.
 Further, they doubt if the new service will pay its share of a return on the cost of equipment used. It takes eight cars to place one sleeping unit in operation across the continent, since the car that starts tonight from New York won't return, ready for a second round trip, until the eighth day.
 Through trains could be operated on a faster schedule than the present time tables, although the railroads' advertisements do not stress the speed of the service. This feature is left to the airlines.
 The railroads do stress convenient departure and arrival times, and the luxurious comfort and convenience of the modern train. They assert the varied facilities for food, drink and recreation, and the cushioned privacy of individual rooms, make the streamliner an interesting and completely-equipped "home" for the traveler while he aboard.

Britain Bases Budget On Loan From U. S.

LONDON.—(AP)—Britain's next budget has been written on the assumption that she will get the $3,750,000,000 loan from the United States, a government source said today.

Hugh Dalton, chancellor of the exchequer, will present the budget (for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1947) to the house of commons Tuesday. Under it Britain is expected to balance her overseas accounts by the middle of 1947, due to the unusual success of the drive to increase exports. If the U. S. con-

 Kyoto said all would be affected by General MacArthur's January political purge directive. The princes, who are members of the house of peers, would be hit by the fact that they were officers in the armed forces in the war.

LITTLE HARVESTER

Anna Reports

By ANNA MERLE COX
Miss Virginia Vaughan, Miss LaNelle Scheibgen and Mr. G. L. Allison accompanied the band students to Enid last week.

No assembly or home room periods were held last week because it was the dreaded week of exams.

The Amarillo Sandstorm and the Abilene Battery tied for the Class A award of distinguished merit in the state-wide newspaper contest sponsored by the University of Texas. The Canyon Eagle's Tale also won the award in the Class B papers. These papers are classified by the attendance in each school.

Emory Menefee represented PHS in the number sense and slide rule contests in Amarillo yesterday.

Our deepest sympathy goes to Bryce Lively who is seriously ill in the hospital. Get well quickly, Bryce.

In case this doesn't sound like Anna Merle's column the reason is obvious. She went to Enid with the band last week.

Home Ec Girls To Give Assembly

The Home Economics department will present a play entitled "Fashion Parade" in assembly Wednesday. Mrs. Leslie Hart and Miss Edith Kral are sponsoring the play, and Mr. J. H. Flathers is in charge of the stage directions.

Richard Hughes will portray the hero. The heroine will be played by Erma Lee Kennedy, and Delores Davis will play the little sister. The little sister entertains big sister's beau by showing him the family's picture album and in so doing she gives away many of the family's secrets, much to the embarrassment of the older sister.

Stage props are being constructed by Mr. Morgan and his classes.

Students making up the pictures in the album will be Nelda Davis, Mary Beth Wells, Glenda Hoggatt, Betty Green, Marie Taylor, Rosemary Hamilton and Lonnie Williams and Lilith Martin and Avis Kelley. Committees for the program are script, Erma Lee Kennedy; wardrobe, Betty Crocker and June Richy; stage, Alberta Williams and Joyce Stone; and program, Irene Hoggatt.

April Fool Day Quiet For All But Seniors

Although April Fool for the freshmen, sophomores and juniors of PHS was fairly quiet, certain observances of the day were made.

Many queer reactions were shown as a result of the April Fool edition of the Little Harvester and a few pranks were played.

The biggest reaction of the stories in the paper followed the story of Mr. Winston Savage's murder. The parents seemed to be as disturbed as the students. One worried person even called the Pampa News to see if it were true.

Next was the reaction to Sane, Bob Keller believed Mildred Grooms and Charles Rignin were married and Jere Hancock reported that her parents woke her early Sunday morning to verify her marriage.

Seniors Bill Nellis and James Harrah cut off Mr. J. H. Flathers tie but returned it with two new ties and a tie clip. A fair exchange, Mr. Flathers reported. Before leaving for Lake McClellan, Randall Clay squirted everyone with a fire extinguisher.

Firecrackers and torpedoes were thrown under everybody's feet in the halls Monday morning, but the barrage let up the rest of the day.

Teachers Are Human, Too

The teachers of PHS are really just as human as everybody else. They have their good points and their faults; and, just as you have headaches, toe-aches and the blues, so do they. Nine chances out of ten, if they got half a chance to skip a class or two, they would; but they have to be there, just in case you decide to attend classes.

If you treat the teachers fairly, usually they treat you the very same way.

So come on, kids, get on the ball, and treat the teachers as human beings. —J.H.

Pride, Curiosity Needed

Pride and curiosity are two qualities which can work hand in hand in bringing about the student's development. If the student studies diligently with a desire to learn and with a curiosity that must be satisfied, he will have a true sense of pride. If the student is inclined to be negligent with his work and becomes curious at test time only, then he either has no pride or if he has it is only in disguise.

The students will find after they leave school that pride and curiosity will work together for their good in many other things besides their studies. Therefore, the student should learn how to properly associate the two now, during the last six-weeks of this school year. —P. K.

Prairie Gold To Be Sent To Printer

Copy for Prairie Gold, the English literary magazine will be sent to the printer this week, Miss Anne Louise Jones has announced. The Pampa News is doing the printing. The school magazine is to encourage writing among students, she said, and added that it will include poetry, short stories, essays and snapshots. It will contain 48 pages and be published some time before school is out.

Cost to students will be 30 cents and the magazine must be ordered through the English teachers. The magazine will cost the school 40 cents, Miss Jones said; so it is not a money-making project.

Bernie Brown is the editor and Erma Lee Kennedy is designing the cover. Bobbie McClendon and Doris Shackelford are doing the typing. The title was suggested by Martha Lou Hogan.

Pepettes Win In Games with Groom

The PHS Pepettes avenged an earlier defeat from the Groom volleyball girls by winning three out of five games played Thursday afternoon. Scores for the games were 17-15, 9-15, 15-10, 1-15 and 15-9.

Groom is recognized by competitors as one of the best volleyball clubs in the Panhandle, and from unofficial reports this is the first time Pampa team has defeated it in four years.

Erma Lee Kennedy was excellent on both serves and spikes, and tall Norma Russell also showed up well at the net. Evelyn Quirk and Pae Whately were outstanding as spikers for the Groom team.

Line-up for Groom were Walter, captain, Whately, Quirk, McLaughlin, Koeter, Blain and Spangler. The girls are coached by Miss Long.

Tuesday afternoon Lefors was defeated by the Pepettes 15-12, 15-12, 15-7, 15-2 and 5-15. Lefors players were Roth, Patterson, Herrin, Upham, McConnell, Maples, Johnson, Johnston, M. Wall, Gross, B. Wall, Davis and Gutherie. Girls coach is Mrs. John Hogue.

The Pepettes A-team defeated Amarillo 15-2, 17-19, and 15-13 in a game played here Monday night. The B-team won one and lost two with scores of 11-15, 15-12 and 2-15.

Players for the Amarillo A team were Waggoner, captain, Allen, Yesteb, Webb, Reese and Hall. The B-team is composed of Brown, Tucker, Hayhurst, Trimble, Parker, Fundy, Rigidan, Rapp, Schwallen, and Vieux. These girls are coached by Miss Jane Williams and Mrs. Darrin Forman.

Pepettes playing in these games were Tubbs, Myatt, Nelson, Parker, Robinson, White, Jones, Davis, Bain, Russell, Avis Kelley, Fagan, Peggy Kelly and Pierson.

James Harrah Elected April Junior Rotarian

James Harrah will serve as Junior Rotarian during the month of April. He will attend the Rotary luncheon which are held each Wednesday noon in the Palm Room of the City Hall.

James takes part in many school activities. He has been a member of the band throughout high school, the halls Monday morning, but the barrage let up the rest of the day.

ROGER LONG is shown above with the portrait he painted which won first place in the Interscholastic Art contest at Fort Worth recently. The portrait is being sent to the National High School Exhibition, Fine Art Galleries, Carnegie Institute, Pittsburg, Pa., for another contest.

'Kid Day' Is Fun For Seniors, But After Effects Produce Untouchables

By MARTHA KELLEY
"Man the buckets; full speed ahead!"

"There's an unsuspecting row boat—pounce on her fore she has time to get away!"

Warfare waged with oars, buckets of water, roman candles, and firecrackers were the main attractions besides food, at Lake McClellan Monday when the seniors had their annual Kid Day picnic.

If you've never played war in the middle of a lake, your life is not complete. There's simply nothing like it!

Water fights were going on ashore as well as in the briny deep. The only difference was a change of weapons. Fire extinguishers, cans and pop bottles filled with water were used; and if this didn't thoroughly drench an unsuspecting politer, he was roughly, but oh, so politely, thrown in the lake—clothing and all, as one particular on-looker can verify.

Water fights were going on ashore as well as in the briny deep. The only difference was a change of weapons. Fire extinguishers, cans and pop bottles filled with water were used; and if this didn't thoroughly drench an unsuspecting politer, he was roughly, but oh, so politely, thrown in the lake—clothing and all, as one particular on-looker can verify.

One "mean little kid" was soaked well by six of his buddies with Mr. Gordon at the pump, while his partner in crime was saved only by some kind-hearted soul from Alameda.

This foolishness was carried on by all "kiddies" until Mr. Savage also rather damped, waved the white flag, declared peace, and stated that the buses were waiting.

Tuesday morning there were no tell-tale signs of wetness, but there was hardly a senior or sponsor, who was without a rather sunburned face was without a battle scar of his own invention or withstood.

However, there were no regrets. All had a wonderful time acting silly for the last time—legally.

It is also the expressed feeling of all who went that Mr. Savage, Miss Scheibgen, Miss Jones, Mr. Berg, Miss Sullivan, Miss Hogle and Mr. Gordon—the sponsors—are simply swell eggs.

Spanish Class To Give Radio Program Friday

The PHS radio program this week will be given by Miss Virginia Vaughan's Spanish classes in honor of San Jacinto Day, April 21. The program is presented at 4:45 p.m. over KFDN each Friday.

Spoken from the Junior play, "The Bat," by Mary Roberts Rinehart, were presented on last week's program. The "punch" for the play were written by Mr. J. H. Flathers radio speech class.

The girls' trio sang, and Beverly Baker acted as master of ceremonies.

Many 'Pals' Roam PHS Halls Daily

Swell guy, wonderful pal, nice person to know are a few of the expressions used to describe "bosom pals" of PHS.

Athletes intertwined in the public mind so that one can rarely be thought of without the other include Randall Clay and Leon Gooch, Lonnie Williams and Bob Troop, and Charles Thornbrow and Malcolm Fagan.

Clay and Gooch played basketball and football together, and now Gooch is Clay's cheering section at the track meets. Since Kid Day the words "fire extinguisher" automatically recalls the names of both.

"Pin-up boy" Troop and "All-school favorite" Williams played football together, skipped basketball and are now both making up for it in track. According to Lonnie, their favorite diversion is plain loafing.

Fagan and Thornbrow helped pull the Gorilla squads through this year. Sophomores—this Jonathan and David friendship still has years to go.

Among the teachers, Mr. Jack Nichols and Mr. J. H. Flathers are the best known—where there's one there's the other. According to some students, they never miss their nightly ice cream at Borden's, which has now been renamed "Flather's Tavern."

Interscholastic League Meet Held Yesterday

Pampa High contestants competed in reading, Spanish, typing, shorthand, tennis and track and field events at the district interscholastic meet yesterday.

Alvina Miller, junior, entered the essay contest, and Dick McCune was the alternate. Don Lane, sophomore, competed in the Spanish grammar contest; and other Spanish entrants were Joyce Pratt, senior, in Spanish composition; and Frankie Studer, sophomore, Spanish poetry.

Beverly Candler and Elva Jean Anderson, both seniors, entered the shorthand division and Doris Shackelford and Bobbie McClendon were alternates.

Harold Anderson and Beverly Baker, juniors, and Lois Crawford, Joelyn Jones, Virginia Kelley, and Irma Lee Perkins, sophomores, competed in the typing contest.

Alice Robinson, sophomore, was the entrant in tennis singles, and juniors Reba Fagan and Pat Pierson played doubles. Frankie Studer was singles substitute. Charles Lafoon played singles for the boys, with Ronald Lewter and Horace Saunders competing in doubles. Malcolm Fagan was tennis substitute.

Boys entering high and low hurdles in track were Bernie Brown, Lonnie Williams and Rusty Neef. Entered in the 100-yard dash were Carl Mayer, Leon Gooch, and Bob Troop. Jack Olinphant entered the 440-yard run. Carl Mayer, Bob Troop, Randall Clay and Leon Gooch made up the 440-yard relay team.

Jack Williams and Bernie Brown entered the 880-yard run. Mayer and Troop also ran the 220-yard dash. Sophomores Malcolm Fagan, Charles E. Allen of Little Rock is the sponsor.

During the afternoons of April 11 and 12 discussion groups will be held. From these discussions ideas to better student governments are to be taken.

Logging for the delegates is being provided in the private homes in Little Rock. Entertainment during the two nights there has also been provided.

11 Students Get Sales Certificates

Eleven students last week received certificates for completion of the course "Fundamentals of Retail Selling" taught by Miss Gertrude Prince of the Extension Department of the University of Texas.

It was a 10-hour course offered for one and one-half hours after school each day. The course began Thursday, March 2, and ended Friday, March 29. The seven students who received perfect attendance certificates were Aubrey Joe Carlton, Bill Cole, Charles Lee Hamrick, Harry Scott, Juanita Dittmeyer, Elizabeth LaFerty and Annis Miller.

The four receiving 90 percent attendance certificates were Mildred McClendon, Le Von Eubanks, Irene Hoggatt and Fay Trader.

Miss Lee Sullivan, head of the Commercial department, received a certificate for taking the course. "How To Train Employees," that was offered in town.

Boys To Start Spring Grid Training Monday

Football enthusiasts will be glad to know that spring training will begin tomorrow and last for thirty calendar days.

Coach Otis Coffey has received a shipment of reconditioned shoulder pads and other equipment and he reports that as many as 125 boys can be supplied with equipment.

Junior High boys are already working out at the school. Nearly 100 high school boys have already expressed a desire to go out for spring training and more are expected, Coach said last week.

Nelson Gee Is Pampa High Chinese-American Student

Small, quiet, top-ranking student Nelson Gee is Pampa High's Chinese American student.

Nelson, a sophomore, is one of the best liked students in Pampa High. He always has a big smile for everyone he meets. He has received several honors in high school, being the president of his home room during his freshman year and president of 103 this year, thus a member of the student council.

Nelson first came to the United States in the first part of 1940. He was already an American citizen; since his father was born over here. He said he couldn't explain it, but he was a citizen. Nelson's "home town" is Canton, China. He attended school in Canton before coming to the United States.

If you can pronounce it, the name Nelson Gee in Chinese is Chee Wah Fong. He has attended Woodrow Wilson, Pampa Junior High and Pampa High. He attended the first grade but skipped several grades into junior high. When asked if he found the English language hard to learn, he said that he finds the language hard at times.

"The English teachers in school helped me immensely in learning it," said Nelson.

Nelson is a top student, carrying five solids—typing, English II, History III, Algebra I and biology.

Nelson came to the United States to get an education. He doesn't know whether or not he will return to China when he finishes high school. "It depends on how things look if I stay here or return," stated Nelson.

Falling each day, To lose your fat? Then come see the junior play, "THE BAT."

Be with the screaming mass. See the play by the junior class, "THE BAT."

Weston, Anderson, Love Hold Leads In Mary Roberts Rinehart Thriller

"The Bat," mystery drama, will be presented by the junior class Thursday and Friday nights in the Junior High auditorium. The skillful sequence of baffling incidents is guaranteed to keep the audience guessing throughout the entire performance.

Early in the play the untimely murder of Richard Fleming, portrayed by Calvin McAdams, starts things rolling. The accusing finger then points from one character to another until the real criminal is revealed.

Miss Cornelia Van Gorder, the spinster aunt, is played by Gwen Weston; Miss Gorder's niece, Dale Odden—the young, beautiful girl—is depicted by Billie Don Crowson.

The aging maid, who is continually frightened by the least thing unusual and begs to leave the "haunted house" is played by Patsy Pierson.

Suspicion is swiftly switched among the male characters with Doctor Wells as the main suspect. Floyd Brandt plays the doctor who is generally thinking fast for an alibi.

Brooks, or Bill Speer, supplies the love interest as he vainly flees the police.

Anderson, the detective who leaves no stone unturned to discover the murderer, is portrayed by Harold Anderson.

Reginald Beresford, the banker's friend, plays a lively change and is played by Lawrence Baines. Floyd Brandt plays the doctor who is generally thinking fast for an alibi.

The natural suspect is the unknown man, who creeps around and finds more facts than is deemed possible. Bob Love carries this part.

"The Bat," which was first published in 1920, was written by Mary Roberts Rinehart. Miss Ruth Stapleton is the director of the play.

Bob Love is stage manager; Eleanor Carruth and Joan Sawyer are property managers; and Jeanette Thompson and Zita Kennedy are prompters.

Miss Loraine Bruce and Mr. Ray Robbins are in charge of the ushers, while Mrs. Mable Torvie and Miss Violet Durrett head the publicity committee.

Alvina Miller's Poem Wins Mention in Contest

Alvina Miller received honorable mention for her poem, "Panhandle Nocturne," which was ranked among the top ten in the recent high school poetry contest sponsored by the Mary Hardin-Baylor college at Belton. The poem will appear in the Pampa High Literary magazine, Prairie Gold.

A collection of poems by students in the English department received second place in the contest for the Terry Cup, a special award given for the best collection of high school poetry.

Judges in the contest were Mrs. Lexie Dean Robertson, former Texas poet laureate; Dr. Thomas McNeal of East Texas State Teachers college; and Miss Frances Alexander of Kingsville.

Professor William H. Vann of Mary Hardin-Baylor sponsored the contest.

Other Pampa poems sent to Belton were written by Patsy Bolin, Patricia King, Elva Jean Anderson, Drusilla Boyd, Freddie Brock, Marian Wenger, Ramona Matheny, Betty Joyce Scott, Mary Jo White, Bobby Joyce I. Davis, Barbara Norris, Charlie Beard, Patsy Miller, Pat Fisher, Bob Parkinson, Patricia Kelley, Bobbie McClendon and Donald Noel.

Come let me take you by the arm. "The Bat" will scare! "The Bat" will charm! The best play anywhere!

Sagebrush—by the Sage

Not not not! Last weeks edition of Sage was not true! Did you ever hear of April Fool?

Cecil Link and Margaret Jones have been going together quite often. Nice going, Cecil.

The seniors have been pretty touchy this last week. Lucille Smith seems to have gotten the worst of it. Juniors, let this be a fair warning to you for next year.

Boys! Joan Collin is not going with anyone particularly at the present. Now is your chance.

Mary Lou Mazey and Patsy Cox can't get over the Wichita Falls boys who were at the dance last week. Those of you who didn't go really missed something.

Sage would like to see Richard Schleg get "hooked." This will be up to you, girls.

Johnnie Campbell and Wanda Jay were visitors in Pampa last week. It seems like old times with them.

A reward is offered by Libby Sturgeon for the return of her billfold or the papers which are in it. No questions will be asked, so won't someone please return the papers as they are of definite value to Libby.

Porky Parkinson and Pat Miller are going steady. This was rather sudden, but we hope it is for keeps.

'The Harvey Girls', in Technicolor, Opens 4-Day Run at LaNora Today

John Hodiak, Judy Garland and Angela Lansbury take shown here in a scene from the latest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film "The Harvey Girls".

By SCOTT RAFFERTY

Skyrocketing upwards in the production of fine pictures, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has come up with another smash hit in "The Harvey Girls," showing at the LaNora Sunday through Wednesday.

Just take a look at the cast. There's Judy Garland, as grand as ever, John Hodiak, Ray Bolger, Angela Lansbury, Preston Foster, Marguerite Main, Virginia O'Brien, Kenny Baker, Chill Wills and a host of others including featured players Selena Royle and Horace McNally.

The story, as most of us well know, is about a railroad, a little line called the "Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe." On the route of this railroad are the world-famous hostleries called Harvey houses, where, in 1880, you could buy a feast for six bits.

We won't go into the plot but it's a good one, sprinkled with laughs, songs and tears. We'd heartily recommend it for the entire family.

Herald "Cus" Goodman, well-known Southwest performer, makes a personal appearance with his company at the Rex Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

A star of popular "Hillbilly Hit Parade" program over Station KRLL in Dallas, Goodman has a new company this year but we hear they're very popular.

Featured are Richard Bills, a really versatile guy with the electric guitar, Veda Warren, who gives out with the Western ballads, Sally Simpkins, who makes the bass viol do everything but wash dishes, and Judy Campbell, another fine Western singer.

The feature movie at the Rex Sunday through Tuesday is a little pic called "Danny Boy," which the

Gracie Reports

By GRACIE ALLEN

My goodness, what terrible problems there are in the world these days: Labor, the international situation, production, prices, inflation—and now I've been reading about the trouble they've had moving a giraffe from the San Diego zoo to the one in San Francisco.

You see, they took it on a truck, and the giraffe is over 15 feet high, so every time they went through an underpass, they had to make it take a bow, or a curtsy—depending on whether it's a giraffe or a giraffette. And they tried to make it understand that it was going to San Francisco to get married to another giraffe, thinking that ought to make it hang its head
