PROTECTOR OF OUR PEACE

This is the soldier of today. He is Thomas S. Harbert, 23, of Cleveland, Ohio. He fought the enemies of his country, saw victory, returned to civilian life. But he realized the need for protection of our peace and security, at least until security can be guaranteed by negotiation and peaceful arbitration. He, and thousands of others like him, re-enlisted. The army is building force of 1,600,000 men, for occupation duties, for maintaining the security garrisons of our outlying bases, for manning our posts at home. The army needs men.

Congress Argues Pro and Con on Byrnes' Policy

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Congressional friends and foes of Secretary of State Byrnes feared fuel today on a foreign policy debate touched off by Senator Pepper's contention that this country is guaranteeing "British imperialism."

Challenging the Florida democrat's assertion that the United States and Britain have "gauged up against Russia," Senator Hatch (D-NM) told a reporter he believes Byrnes is "following a firm course that is calculated to strengthen the United Nations, where a lesser course would destroy it."

Hatch also took issue with Pepper's charge—made in the course of a lambasting of British foreign policies yesterday—that other nations have sought to "put Russia in a hole" in the U. N. security council.

Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers (R-Mass.), a veteran member of the house foreign affairs committee, similarly professed herself "deeply disturbed" over the department's operation and advocated "far greater liaison" with Capitol Hill.

But Senator Byrnes (D-SC), representing Byrnes' home state, joined with Hatch in criticizing Pepper.

"Secretary Byrnes is carrying out a cautious policy that is designed to strengthen the U. N.," Byrnes said. "He called Russia's bluff on some points, but he did it in the interest of the little nations. He certainly is not playing the British game."

School Election Slated Tomorrow

An election to choose two new members of the Pampa school district board of trustees is to be held at the Junior high school tomorrow. Hours of the election are from 8 o'clock in the morning until 7 o'clock in the evening.

Three candidates are in the race for the two positions. R. G. Wilson, incumbent, is asking reelection and H. W. Waters and George Scott are also in the race for the positions. V. L. Boyles, the other board member whose term expired this year, is not seeking the office.

Group Okays Extension of Price Control

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The house banking committee today approved a year's extension of price control, as recommended by President Truman. It defeated 13 to 9 a republican effort to limit OPA's new lease on life to nine months.

However, the committee aimed a blow at OPA pricing policy, voting 15 to 6 to prohibit the agency from requiring retailers for a period of six months to absorb larger cost of manufactured products, such as automobiles, refrigerators and radios.

Moreover, the group by a 15 to 5 ballot, approved—subject to house and senate action—a gradual termination of the government's $2,000,000,000 annual subsidy program.

The latter amendment would require the government to reduce subsidy payments by 25 percent over the year beginning July 1 and get out of the subsidy business by June 30, 1947. The subsidies include payments to hold down food costs.

A proposal by Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich.) to give manufacturers prices reflecting production cost and a reasonable profit on all items, was defeated on a 11 to 11 tie vote.

The committee ran into a deadlock yesterday on the subsidy-end amendment and put off a showdown until today.

Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American farm bureau federation, and Albin S. Goss, master of the national grange, both urged the committee to get rid of subsidies.

Wolcott's amendment proposes a 25 percent reduction in subsidy payments on agricultural commodities each 45 days after July 1, with corresponding price increases. This would wipe out the program by January 1.

Rep. Monroney (D-Okla.) offered a substitute to trim payments by 25 percent in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

OPA contends that elimination of subsidies would result in an eight percent boost in food prices and a 3 1/2 percent hike in the general cost of living.

Local Lawyers Invited to Meet

Pampa lawyers, as well as those from other Panhandle cities, have been invited to attend a luncheon meeting at noon tomorrow at the Amarillo hotel, it was announced today by Harwood Beville, chairman of the Amarillo Bar association.

The principal speaker will be Judge John H. Bickett, president of the state bar association, Dallas. His subject will probably be "Some Historical Features of the Community Property System," it was disclosed.

Petiot Is Given Death Sentence In Murder Trial

PARIS—Dr. Marcel Petiot, accused of operating a "bluebeard" murder mill within the forbidding walls of his residence on the Rue de Sauer, was condemned to death late last night after a three-week trial held in a series of public sessions.

The hollow-eyed little physician was shocked into silence when the verdict was read, but within a few minutes recovered sufficiently to his brother, Maurice, in the crowded Palais de Justice.

"I must be avenged," the "legendary figure in Paris" is described by the prosecution as "the monster of the Rue de Sauer," said he would appeal.

New Store Hours Are Suggested

Unanimous opposition to a proposed amendment to the Fair Wages and Standards Act of 1938 which would provide for higher wages to inexperienced laborers, was voiced yesterday by retail merchants meeting with and as the Retail Trade committee of the Pampa chamber of commerce.

Telegrams stating disapproval of the proposed amendment were sent to Senators Tom Connally and W. C. O'Daniel and Representative Gene Worley.

Three-Point Pact Made Known Today

NEW YORK—(AP)—Word of the new Russo-Iranian agreement announced at Tehran today was received with obvious caution by diplomats in the United Nations, although first reactions were generally favorable. Some suggested the pact actually strengthened and broadened Russia's assurances of troop removals from Iran which the security council yesterday formally accepted.

However, the speed with which the agreement followed upon the security council's action evidently caught the experts by surprise. The reserve with which they greeted it was explained by some as reflecting a determination to make doubly sure that Russia had not exerted any new pressures on Iran.

Authoritative interpretations of the three points of the pact brought out these angles:

1. Iran's commitment to submit to parliament in seven months oil concessions for Russia undoubtedly means the Russians will get substantially what they want in the way of oil rights. American officials had expected this and expressed only the reservation that they hoped it would be a strictly commercial agreement with no political clauses.

2. The new self-proclaimed autonomous government of Azerbaijan may be on its way out. The Russians appear to have agreed that the status of Azerbaijan is a purely internal affair to be worked out in a "benevolent spirit toward the people of Azerbaijan."

3. The provision for removal of all Iranian troops from Iran by March 24 merely formalizes the assurance already given by Russia to the security council and upon which the council acted yesterday when it voted to defer the Iranian case until May 6. It now appears quite likely with good faith on all sides, the Iranian complaints may not have to be brought up again.

Minimum Wage Hike Bill Is Virtually Dead

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Sen. Pepper (D-Fla.), author of the administration's minimum industrial wage bill, abandoned it for dead today because the senate insisted on expanding it to hike the income of farmers' wives.

BILL TWICE MODIFIED
The senate twice modified the bill in the face of a veto threat by voting an amendment designed to raise farm prices.

The amendment was written in 46 to 38 early last night, shortly before the senate recessed until noon today. The action clinched an earlier test vote on the same proposal last Friday, when the count was 43 to 31. All administration efforts to gain a reversal failed in the face of a well-organized coalition which included Southern democrats, republicans and some Westerners of both parties.

FARM FAMILY AMPLA
The farm amendment, by tall Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), would revise the farm parity formula to include the cost of farm labor, taking in the farmer and his family as well as hired hands.

As the measure now stands, which would send it to the house, the present minimum wage of 40 cents an hour for workers covered by the federal wage-hour law would be boosted to 60 cents.

Pepper and his group originally had proposed an immediate increase to 65 cents and on up to 75 within four years. But the Florida senator finally agreed to the compromise when it became evident he could not get a higher figure.

Damage of Tidal Wave Still Rising

HONOLULU—(AP)—Latest reports today placed the probable death toll of Monday's tidal wave in Easter Pacific areas at 100 and increased the estimated damage to $50,000,000 in the Hawaiian Islands alone.

Eight more bodies were found at the Island of Hawaii, most of them in Hilo Bay, that revised to 89 dead and 60 missing the toll in the Hawaiian Islands.

The commander of the Alaska sea frontiers said that five men—instead of 10 previously reported—were rescued at Scotch Cap on Unimak Island in the Aleutians. The higher figure had been given earlier because the Scotch Cap lighthouse staff until recently had been in California.

Ane drowning each in California and Peru completed the total of 100 bodies. Observers estimated the total damage would reach $50,000,000.

USES Office Goes On 40-Hour Week
Effective tomorrow the United States employment service will be closed on Saturdays in order to provide for a 40-hour week for all employees, it was reported this morning by L. P. Fort, manager of the local USES.

No explanation other than the above was given, said Fort, who stated he had received a telegram with orders to close the office on Saturdays until further notice.

Lawyers Torture English Language Says AP Writer

By JAMES MARLOW
 WASHINGTON—(AP)—Lawyers, when they write professionally probably do more than any other group to torture the English language.
 A simple sentence in many a legal document is as rare as hair on an egg.
 A good illustration of what's meant here is the way criminal cases have been handled in federal courts.
 For years U. S. attorneys, in writing a murder indictment, said: "And the said John Doe from the effect of said bullets and the mortal wounds inflicted thereby did languish, and languishing did die."
 And if the victim was killed in a U. S. postoffice, the indictment became a literary tour de force.
 No one just deliberately killed anyone. He did "then and there knowingly, wilfully, unlawfully, purposefully, deliberately, premeditatedly, and with intent to do so, kill and murder John Doe, a human being."
 The U. S. attorneys weren't compelled to write this. They looked at the way other attorneys had written indictments down through the years and did the same.
 This explanation comes from an attorney in the justice department. His job now is to help clear up some of the mess.
 Hereafter, U. S. attorneys will write murder indictments this way, even though the killing happened in a postoffice and the victim took a while to die:
 "John Doe, on lands acquired for use of the United States and under the jurisdiction of the United States, with premeditation shot and murdered John Roe."
 It happened this way:
 About 30 years ago the American Bar association thought it would be a good idea to have uniform rules for handling criminal cases in federal courts.
 In 1949 congress passed a law authorizing the supreme court to lay down uniform rules for handling cases in the federal court in one state often was virtually unable to try a case in a federal court in another state.
 The bar association's idea for improvement kicked around for a quarter of a century. The U. S. justice department and lawyers thought it was good.
 In 1949 congress passed a law authorizing the supreme court to lay down uniform rules for handling

President Proclaims Army Day, April 6

Saturday, April 6, will be observed throughout the country and in American zones of occupation overseas as Army Day. In his proclamation President Truman points out that the Army still has a duty to perform in preserving the victory which has been won in defense of freedom in the most terrible war in history. He says:
 "I also remind our citizens that our Army, charged with responsibility for defending the United States and our territorial possessions, can carry out its duty only with the full support of our people. I urge my fellow citizens to be mindful of the Army's needs, to the end that our soldiers overseas do not lack the means of performing effectively their continuing duties, and in order that the hardship of their separation from home and loved ones may be alleviated in every possible way. I know that our people will always remember the soldiers who have suffered that we might remain free, and the families of those who have sacrificed their lives for our cause."
 Released by U. S. War Department, Bureau of Public Relations.

Doak Department Store Purchased

C. C. Boles, who has been operating a large department store in Pratt, Kas., announced today he had purchased the Doak's department store at 215 North Cuyler.
 Boles, who operated a store here from 1923 to 1931, said: "I plan to run a real department store here. I have a lot of goods on the way, and readers are urged to watch the newspaper for my ads when they arrive."
 Prior to going into the service for seven months, he had been in business at Enid, Okla. He was in service for seven months.
 The concern here will be known as Boles Dry Goods. It is now open for business.
 Merle Goddard of Enid will be the assistant manager. Goddard will bring his wife and two children to Pampa to live after school is out there.

State Highway Plans Blocked by Attorney

AUSTIN—(AP)—State highway department plans to acquire right-of-way within a home-rule city were blocked today by an attorney general's opinion.
 The ruling was that the highway department may not, legally, acquire such right-of-way, the country may not purchase it for the highway department, nor may the governor do so under his special powers to buy land.
 The city in question was not named by the highway department.

 are coming to town
 On The Atchison, Topeka and The Santa Fe

You've been humming, singing and whistling "On the Atchison, Topeka and The Santa Fe."
 Now hear it sung as only Judy Garland can sing it in MGM's "The Harvey Girls."
 Bound to be one of the smash hits of the year, "The Harvey Girls" is the story of what happens when the girls come to serve coffee and beefsteak to a rip-roarin', gun-totin', wide-open Western town back in the 1890's, with its roughs, crooks and the dance hall girls across the street.
 The West was young, Santa Fe was young, and the famous Fred Harvey restaurants were just beginning to build their reputation of good food and service "Along the Santa Fe."
 Historically, the Harvey Houses grew up with the Santa Fe.
 Today, the 70-year-old Fred Harvey company—which has been under the management of the same Harvey family for three generations—operates the dining cars on the Santa Fe and the Fred Harvey hotels and restaurants located along the railroad.
 "The Harvey Girls" is a delightful and wholesome entertainment the entire family will enjoy. Watch your newspapers for announcement on when "The Harvey Girls" will be in town.

Headquarters Announced for Concert Drive

Mrs. Carl J. Wright, secretary of the Pampa Community Concert association, announced today that the campaign headquarters for the annual membership drive, which will be held the week of April 8, will be established at the Southwestern Public Service building, telephone 1527. Beginning the morning of April 9, Mrs. Wright and her corps of assistants will be at headquarters daily, to receive telephone applications for memberships, to receive daily reports from the active campaign committee, and to answer any questions concerning next season's Pampa Community Concert series.

"We anticipate a highly successful campaign this year," said Mrs. Wright, "not only because the concerts presented by our association last season were particularly outstanding and popular, but because everyone appreciates, I think, that music will play an increasingly important and significant part in our lives during this history making period."

Assisting Mrs. Wright at the headquarters next week will be Mrs. John B. McCreary, Mrs. Charles I. Hughes, Mrs. Bill Money and Miss Erdine Cobb. Surrounding towns have workers who will report to this group each day, among them are Mrs. E. R. Reeves, Lefors; Mrs. Don Dilley and Mrs. W. W. Brooks, Borger and Phillips.

Renewal memberships were taken during the month of March and new memberships will be received this coming week closing at noon Saturday, April 13. Early subscriptions are appreciated by the committee because all the book work is to be done before the close of the membership campaign, when the artists meeting will be held to select the numbers for next year's series.

"Call at headquarters next week to leave your subscription and learn how this association works throughout the year. It is all an interesting story which you as a member should know," Mrs. Wright concluded.

'These Moving Times' Is Subject Of W. S. C. S. Current Study Book

Mrs. W. R. Campbell, president of the Women's Society of Christian Service, presided when four circles met in the intermediate department of the First Methodist church Wednesday to study the first chapter of "These Moving Times" by Hermann N. Morse.

Thirty-nine women were present, including Mrs. A. F. Johnston, a new member, and one guest, Mrs. F. P. Reid.

The group sang "In Christ There Is No East Nor West," preceding the lesson which was taught by Mrs. Knox Kinard, program chairman.

Mrs. Joe Shelton gave the devotional, choosing as her subject, "People in Motion." She read scriptures from Matthew and Luke.

Mrs. E. B. Bowen dismissed with prayer.

Members of Circle Five met in the Ladies parlor with Mrs. J. C. McWilliams and Mrs. H. M. Munson as hostesses. Ten members were present.

Mrs. H. C. Hudson gave the devotional which was followed by the lesson study taught by Mrs. E. W. Erwin. The circle voted to meet with the other circles for the study course.

An announcement was made that the District conference will be held in Shamrock, April 11.

Ladies' Golf Club Holds First Event For This Season

Mrs. Haskell Maguire was elected vice-president when the members of the Ladies Golf association met Wednesday morning at the Country club at 10 o'clock for a business session. Miss Betty Moonie was named secretary to fill that office when Mrs. Howard Buckingham resigned.

The first event of the season was a nine hole putting contest, with Mrs. Marvin Harris winning first with 19 putts and Mrs. Mickey Prigmore second with 20.

The tournament committee will announce next week's event at a later date.

New members were: Mrs. Maguire, Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Mildred Bell, Mrs. Prigmore, Mrs. Hugh Burdette and Mrs. George Cash.

Mrs. Charles Duenkel and Mrs. John Hutchens served coffee and doughnuts.

Attending the business session were: Mrs. R. M. Bellamy, Mrs. W. L. Campbell, Mrs. Ben Lockhart, Mrs. F. A. Howard, Mrs. Duenkel, Mrs. A. J. Beagle, Mrs. Hutchens, Mrs. Maguire, Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Prigmore, Mrs. Peg Whittle, Mary J. Cornelius and Mildred Bell.

Luncheon-Shower Is Given by Methodists

LEFORS, (Special)—The Women's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist church, met at the church yesterday, for a covered dish luncheon and a church shower. This concluded the series of Bible studies.

Attending the meeting were: Mesdames Bernard Johnson, Dan Johnson, N. S. Daniel, Harry Ward, W. R. Combs, L. R. Spence, N. C. Jordan, Vernon Northcott, A. H. Brewer, Lawrence Horne, Arlie Carpenter, and Ray Jordan.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. N. C. Jordan April 16.

Lefors Senior Class Has Annual 'Kid Day'

LEFORS, (Special)—The Senior class held its annual "Kid Day" on Monday with a full schedule of activities. The first period in the morning was given for an assembly program by the class.

The stage was arranged as two "backyards" with a fence between. The program was introduced by a song, "Playmates," by the entire class, following which they played "Pleased or Displeased" a game for all ages, led by Ernestine Black. When a student was displeased, others of the class were called upon to perform. Noel Clemmons and Jackie Patterson were asked to sing "Reuben and Rachel."

Margie Bewley gave a reading after which the boys' quartet composed of Raymond Vanderlinden, Noel Clemmons, Bob Turner and Lovel Hughes, sang "Sweet Genevieve." Helen Cobb followed with a short reading, and all the girls joined to sing "Raggy Ann." Joyce Bagley gave a reading entitled, "Moo Cow Moo."

The boys quartet sang, "When You Wore a Tulip," followed by "Chickery Chick" by the entire class. Lovel Hughes and Mary Joyce McDonald sang and enacted "Little Annie Rooney" assisted by J. D. Fongberg.

In conclusion the girls decided to go home and left the stage singing, "I Don't Want to Play in Your Yard."

To complete the program, Lu Ella Ayers read the class will.

At the noon hour the "kids" ate lunch on the lawn in front of the school building and took pictures. After school, they went for a picnic in Danziger Park west of town and that night, attended a theater party in Pampa.

Lefors Fine Arts Hears Speaker

R. B. Johnston gave "Side Lights of Texas Personalities and Scenery" to the Lefors Fine Arts club which met on Tuesday with Miss Zona May.

The romances of Sam Huston, the unusual characteristics of Elizabeth Ney, sculptress, whose home, Liendo, is a picturesque and historic spot near Hempstead, and interesting bits of the life of Prince Salm, who established a colony near New Braunfels, were discussed by Mr. Johnston.

The speakers took club members on a "tour" of interesting "spots" in Texas—San Antonio, city of gaiety and charm; Fredericksburg, where the best food in Texas is found; San Felipe, Navasota, and Old Independence.

In reporting on Federation activities, Mrs. L. B. Penick gave the life, education and personality of Mrs. Florence Johnson Scott, president of Texas Federation of Women's clubs.

Mrs. E. R. Reeves, in discussing parliamentary procedure, said, "It is a standardized code of everyday good manners applied to the special situation arising when a large number of people gather to consider common problems. The four fundamental principles of parliamentary procedure are: justice and courtesy to all, one thing at a time,

Roosevelt Club Has Study of Gardening

An interesting program on gardening was enjoyed by members of the Eleanor Roosevelt Study club, when they met in the home of Mrs. A. D. Parsons in Skellytown, Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Jarvis presided at the business session, and Mrs. E. J. Haslam was program leader for the occasion.

Roll call was answered by giving helpful hints on gardening.

A paper was read concerning "Soldier Gardening," which was followed by a discussion of flowers.

After the program, refreshments were served by the hostess to thirteen members.

WORDS ARE NOT ENOUGH

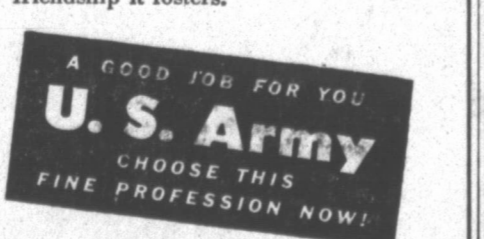

ARMY DAY, APRIL 6, 1946, finds this nation at peace. The long war years are behind us and now, in company with other peace-loving nations, we look forward to a new era of international friendship and security.

And on this day we would do well to think for one moment of the men who have made this possible. Their graves are scattered throughout the world . . . on lonely beaches, desert sands, beside quiet streams, in silent jungles. Theirs was a heavy price to pay. Our debt can never be erased. But we can make sure that the mistakes of the past are never repeated.

We cannot close our eyes to the future. We cannot escape the dreadful admonitions of the past. We are irrevocably dedicated to world peace. We have pledged our word. But words are not enough. We must maintain an efficient Regular Army if the sacrifice that bought Victory is not to have been in vain. Above all, there will be no time for mobilization if war should strike in the future. We must maintain this Army if we are to make sure that no group of men or nations can ever again plunge the world into war.

And on other Army Days in years to come, the citizens of this great and peaceful nation will listen to the measured tread of the Regular Army and be thankful for its protection and proud of the ideals of good-will and friendship it fosters.

April 6th is Army Day—a day set aside annually by Presidents, Governors and Mayors, as an occasion on which the civilian population may accord the United States Army the recognition it so justly deserves. During the past four years our soldiers have been too busy winning the war to participate in this colorful event. But now that peace is here, once again Army Day, 1946 affords us the opportunity to pay honor to our fighting men individually as heroes, collectively, as the backbone of our national defense. On this peacetime Army Day, first honors go to the Veterans of World War II. Many have laid aside their uniforms. More have yet to do so. This day on which we honor our fighting army, groups of men and boys who fought and those who have chosen to remain in America's peace time Army, will parade before us to receive the plaudits they so richly deserve.

The Army is ours. Let's keep it strong. A free education with pay awaits veterans who re-enlist; young men of 17 and over who join now. Make Army Day 1946 your personal Army Day.

FUNNY BUSINESS BY HERSHBERGER

Church Women Work In Many Countries By MARY FOWLER The Congregational Union of England and Wales has opened a training center in St. Paul's House, Liverpool, for the schooling of women church workers to carry on tasks that have hitherto been largely in the hands of men: repairing churches damaged by bombing, campaigning for new church edifices, and conducting religious services in the slum sections of the cities.

GREEN SOLUTION

GREEN BAY, Wis.—(AP)—Police men Bob King and Ray Petrosky were in municipal court yesterday when Francis X. Dugan, 37, alias Weismiller, was sentenced to state prison for one to four years for stealing an automobile.

"The officers said they spotted the stolen car in front of a tavern, went in the saloon and arrested Dugan. "How did you happen to pick Dugan out of the crowd in the tavern?" the officers were asked. "He was the only person who didn't look up when we entered," King explained.

Army Day

of Army day are being made by numerous West Texas towns, said Lieutenant Colonel Hardy, commanding officer of West Texas recruiting district.

General Kieser will be guest of honor at the celebration held in San Angelo. A mass parade will include mechanized cavalry, American Legion, troops of Goodfellow field, Veterans of Foreign Wars, WAC detachment, cadets, student officers, Chinese cadets, Boy Scouts, sheriff's posse, commercial floats, and the Hillbilly Land. Open house will be conducted at Goodfellow field at 2 in the afternoon.

The Texas State guard is staging a big parade in Lubbock which will include many army vehicles and air crafts of the civil air patrol and the army air forces. The parade will wind its way through town and on out to South Plains army air field where open house is to be held.

Parades are also being planned in many West Texas towns, including Abilene, Amarillo, Fairview, Lamesa, Midland, and Snyder. The American Legion and Rotary club of Seagraves are planning a special program for April 6.

At Seminole, the Lions and Rotary clubs will combine efforts to make the public conscious of the day.

Littlefield will stage a four-county celebration that will include dedication of its modern municipal airport, and the Texas State guard will give a demonstration on the town square. An estimated 15,000 persons will be on hand for the dedication.

16 Gray County Men Enlist in Regular Army

Sixteen Gray county men have enlisted in the new regular army within the past three weeks according to M/Sgt. Fred G. Dargatz, local recruiting officer. Veteran enlistments include Staff Sergeant Ralph C. Gray who has completed over four years services with 30 months in Canada and six months in the China-Burma-India theater. Gray is the holder of the distinguished flying cross, the air medal, the Pacific theater ribbon with 2 battle stars and the good conduct medal. Sgt. Gray, formerly employed by Cabot, Inc., is the husband of Kathleen Gray who is now residing in Wellington.

Private H. E. Patton, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Patton of Mobeetie is a veteran of two years five months service, with 17 months in Europe with the 66th armored division. Patton is the holder of the purple heart, the ETO ribbon with 4 battle stars and the good conduct medal. Patton has reenlisted with the army air forces and has again chosen the European theater.

Former Technical Sergeant John C. Alexander, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover F. Alexander of Box 124, Pampa, has reenlisted in the grade of sergeant and has chosen the army air forces in the European theater. Alexander is a veteran of 49 months service with 41 months overseas.

Sergeant Thomas J. Holland, son of Mrs. Meddie Lee Holland, Box 1140, Pampa, has reenlisted for three years with the army air forces and has also chosen the European theater. Holland is a veteran of 3 years and 7 months with 2 years and 11 months in the Pacific theater. He holds the distinguished unit badge, and the Pacific theater ribbon with 2 battle stars.

Private Arthur J. Patterson, husband of Mayne Alice Patterson, Mobeetie, a veteran of 37 months with 26 months in the European area. Patterson has reenlisted in the army air forces for three years unassigned. Patterson is the father of three children and is sold on the security offered by the new regular army.

Original three year enlistments include George E. Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Robinson, Skellytown, has chosen the transportation corps in the Pacific theater.

Richard L. Kysar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Kysar of Pampa selected the signal corps in the European theater.

Leonard W. Clayton, husband of Claudy Pearl Clayton, Le Ponda Courts, Pampa, has chosen the transportation corps in the Southwest Pacific.

Max H. Henry of Pampa has decided on the army air forces in the European theater. Max is the son of Mrs. Goldie Bell Cowan of Pampa.

Choosing the cavalry for three years was Earl D. Looper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Looper of Pampa. Earl also chose the European theater.

Joe Ted Stone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse T. Stone, 407 East Scott street, Pampa, has also chosen the cavalry in the European theater.

Original eighteen months enlistments include Louis Lindy Mason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Boyd Mason of Mobeetie; Lawrence S. Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Jones of 323 S. Russell; Dean H. Burger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray G. Burger, Star Route 3, Pampa. All men were enlisted for branch and theater unassigned.

Parking Meters

stalled on a nine-months trial basis. Meters will be placed on the following blocks, in all cases on both sides of the street:

From the corner of Francis and Cuyler south to the corner of Cuyler and Craven, one block south of the underpass;

On Foster from the alley west of the post office to the corner of Foster and Somerville, eliminating the area directly in front of the fire station;

(No meters will be installed directly in front of the post office on Foster street as a 15-minute parking limit is already being enforced there.)

On Kingsmill from Ballard to Frost street, with possible parallel parking in this section;

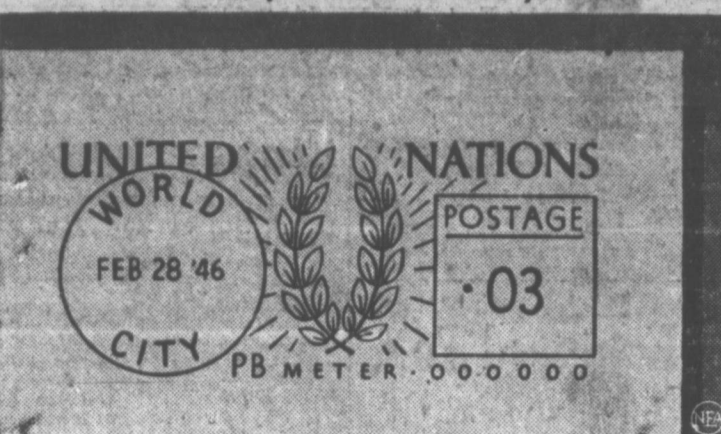

On Russell from Foster to Francis and on Frost from Foster to Francis. All theater safety zones will be marked off and no parking will be allowed. Filling station ramps, of course, will be left open.

Vertical parking will be at a 60 degree angle in all cases. Franks said. Lanes will be marked out defining the space covered by each meter and cars must be parked within these lanes.

No meters will be put into use until all installation and incidental work has been completed.

He said that he had asked Captain B. B. Biggs, deputy executive officer of the army-navy petroleum board, if the present situation would have any effect on troop movements destined for home.

"His answer was emphatically no," the commissioner said. "The misrepresentation to the newspapers and over the radio, in the effort to create the impression that the navy's lack of fuel oil is causing delay in returning our soldiers home, is pure political claptrap of the falsest kind and is utterly without foundation," Culberson asserted.

BERN.—(AP)—A series of earth tremors in Switzerland left various repercussions. City engineers of Sitten (Sion) reported that the Lienne brook had doubled its flow of water, increasing the stream's capacity to produce sorely-needed electricity.

At Lausanne, residents were not so pleased. The source of the city drinking water was in springs situated where there were vast amounts of lime sulphates. After the quake the water took on a milky hue from the lime deposits.

Terms of the proposals for oil concessions to Russia "will be submitted to the 15th Majlis (parliament) for its approval within seven months after March 24," the Iranian government said.

The other points were that red army troops would evacuate Iran unconditionally within six weeks from March 24 and that Iran's problem with Azerbaijan province, which has proclaimed autonomy, would be recognized as "a purely internal affair."

Premier Ahmed Qavam of Iran and Soviet Ambassador I. V. Sadchikov signed the accord. The Moscow radio commented that there was "complete agreement on all questions."

The immediate controversy over evacuation of the troops appeared reasonably well settled by Russia's promise, which the council accepted yesterday, that her forces would be withdrawn by early next month. The case may come up again a month from tomorrow but if the red army is out by then any council action probably would be little more than a formality.

With the crisis thus passed and their docket clear of political issues for the moment, security council members swung over today to the task of building up the machinery of their organization. Legal experts were polishing up a new set of rules of procedure for the council and its next meeting on Tuesday afternoon probably will be devoted entirely to debating the rules.

The only business scheduled today was a visit of council members—including Soviet Ambassador Andrei Gromyko, who walked out on the Iranian discussions—to a huge factory at Lake Success, Long Island, which is being considered as a new U.N. headquarters. Present headquarters at Hunter college in the Bronx are considered as lacking in space.

Records Appear Fairly Safe in All Divisions of Texas Relays

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

AUSTIN—(AP)—Records appear reasonably safe in all divisions but competition is due to be keen, with winners well-scattered, as the vanguard of a track and field army of 978 moves into action today in the nineteenth Texas relays.

The schoolboys, comprising half the field and all from Texas, start the big carnival as they hold preliminaries in five events this afternoon. Tomorrow morning, the college, university and service performers go through trials in four events. Finals in everything will be Saturday afternoon with a crowd of 10,000 forecast for memorial stadium.

It is unlikely any records will be even approached in the high school class despite the fact that most of the standouts of the current campaign will be in the 22 teams that have been entered. But some good marks are due, just the same.

Francis Meyers of Thomas Jefferson (San Antonio), who has gone over 50 feet in the shot put; the Abilene sprint relay team, which has been closed at well under 45 seconds, and mile relay teams from Austin (Houston), Adamson (Dallas) and Austin, each hovering around 3:35 consistently, appear the top performers of this division. Relays records however, are 59 feet 1 1/2 inches in the shot, 43.2 in the 440-yard relay, and 3:27.5 in the mile relay.

Neither of the state's top quarter-milers will be in this event. They are J. R. Tucker of Adamson and Edwin Parks of Woodrow Wilson (Dallas). Tucker is running in several relays and will not compete in the 440-yard dash. Parks is not an entry. Each has made the quarter in '39 this season.

Feature individual events of the university-college service division are the 120-yard high hurdles, in which August Erfurth, Rice star, will again race Ralph Tate, the Oklahoma A. and M. ace, and the high jump in which Henry Coffman of Rice, Harry Haws of Texas A. and M., and David Rowe of Texas, each capable of 6 feet 4 will contest. Andy Shaur and Allen Lawler, top cashmen from Texas, will go against little Bill Martinson, Baylor's current sensation, in the 100. Fred Feller of Drake, 1945 3,000 meters champion, is back, and so is Cesar Guerrero of the University of Mexico. Javelin throw winners last year were: There are 16 universities, a dozen colleges and five service teams from nine states and the Republic of Mexico. In the individual events there will be two divisions—university-college-service and high school but in relay events there will be three classes—university-service, college-service and high school.

Oilers Battle Berger Sunday

In their first exhibition game of the season, the Pampa Oilers are scheduled to play the Berger Gassers at Elk City, Oklahoma, at 2:50 Sunday afternoon.

Manager Grover Seitz could not be reached by long-distance telephone this morning so it is not known what kind of line-up he will send against the strong Berger nine.

Other exhibition games on the Oilers schedule are at Amarillo April 11, at Berger April 15, Amarillo at Elk City April 17, Enid at Elk City April 21 and at Enid April 23.

Following the final game, the Oilers will go to Lubbock where they open the official West Texas-New Mexico league season with the Hubbers April 26.

Aggies, Steers Open With Wins

(By The Associated Press) Texas A. and M. and Texas opened the Southwest conference baseball race yesterday by beating Texas Christian and Baylor and the same teams will be trading base hits this afternoon.

At College Station, the Aggies downed T. C. U. 9-0 behind the one-hit pitching of Earl Beesley, and at Austin Texas edged Baylor 7-6 with football star Bobby Layne twirling an eight-hitter.

Another of the six conference teams playing baseball this year will swing into action tomorrow when Rice meets Texas Christian at Houston. Southern Methodist does not open the conference race until next week.

The Continental Congress tried to raise money by a lottery in 1777.

District Track, Field Meet Set Tomorrow

Local Trackmen Have Beaten All Schools Entered

Preliminaries in five track events will open the Conference I-AA track and field meet at Butler field in Amarillo tomorrow morning at 10:30.

Twenty Pampa athletes are entered in the district meet in addition to teams from Amarillo, Berger and Childress.

The preliminaries will be in the 120-yard high hurdles, 100-yard dash, 440-yard dash, 200-yard low hurdles, 220-yard dash in that order.

Saturday afternoon's finals will start at 1:30 with the 120-yard high hurdles, shot put, pole vault and high jump. At 1:45 the finals in the 100-yard dash will be held, the 440 at 2 o'clock, the 200-yard low hurdles at 2:15 and at 2:30 the 440-yard relay, discus and broad jump.

The meet will conclude with the 800-yard dash at 2:45, the 220-yard dash at 3 o'clock, the mile run at 3:15 and the mile relay at 3:30.

All of the schools entered in the district meet were in the Lubbock invitation tournament which Pampa won but most of the teams were not at full strength.

Randall Clay is expected to easily break his own discus record of 200 feet the meet last year. Clay has thrown the platter nearly 180 feet to break the state record and will encounter little opposition tomorrow.

In the other events, Carl Mayes has been clocked at 10.2 seconds in the 100-yard dash and has also run the 230 in good time.

Mayes and Clay in the broad jump are strong Pampa entries and Lonnie Williams' marks in the shot put have also been good.

Pampa entries by event: 120-yard high hurdles—Lonnie Williams, Bernie Brown and Russell Neel.

100-yard dash—Carl Mayes, Bob Troop and Randall Clay. 440-yard dash—Leon Gooch, Jack Oliphant and Mike Allaway. 220-yard low hurdles—Williams, Brown and Neel. 440-yard relay—Clay, Gooch, Mayes and Troop.

800-yard dash—Jack Williams, Kelly Anderson and Brown. 220-yard dash—Mayes and Troop. Mile—Malcolm Fagan, Jim Wilson, and Billy Davis.

Mile relay—Ronald Bump, Oliphant, Gooch and Allaway. Pole vault—Kelly Anderson, Charles Lockhart and Hansel Kennedy. High jump—Randall Clay, Kelly Anderson and Bill Spear.

Shot put—Lonnie Williams, Zeke Griffin and Bob Boyles. Broad jump—Mayes, Clay and Oliphant. Discus—Clay, Williams and Spear.

HOUSTON—(AP)—Orval Grove will pitch today for the Chicago White Sox against Fritz Ostermuller of the Pittsburgh Pirates in the 21st game of their spring exhibition series. The Pirates won their 11th game of the series yesterday, 3-2, aided by Sox third baseman Gene Nace's five errors.

SAN ANTONIO—(AP)—Emmett O'Neill, pitcher claimed from the Boston Red Sox on waivers, reported to the Chicago Cubs yesterday. Biram Bithorn is slated to pitch for the Cubs against Sam Zoldak of the St. Louis Browns today. The Browns won yesterday's game 10-7 for their eighth victory in 13 meetings with the Cubs.

PENSACOLA, Fla.—(AP)—Pitcher Ted Wilks' first workout since his tendons were removed last week led the St. Louis Cardinals' righthander to comment that his pitching arm seemed okay and that the operation may have eliminated the trouble he has had all spring.

DALLAS—(AP)—The New York Yankees were cheered today by the return of Bill Dickey, who is expected to do the bulk of the catching again for the Bronx Bombers. The veteran received caught six innings yesterday in the 11-3 shelling of the Dallas Rebels. It was only the second game he had worked this spring, an injury has sidelined him for several weeks.

Pampa Fighter Wins In Shamrock Tourney

Only one of four local boxers entered won his first round fight in the Shamrock invitation boxing tournament last night.

Bill Campbell, brother of Johnny Campbell, Pampa athlete now in the navy, defeated White of Shamrock in the 75-pound class. Other local fighters entered were Jerry Gillis, in the 125-pound class, Bill West in the 118, and Jim Bill Windsor in the 112.

Campbell meets McCutcheon tonight. The "Irish" potato, a product of South America, reached North America via Europe.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR. NEW YORK—(AP)—James J. Johnston, who was talking his way out of trouble a week ago because his light-heavyweight, Archie Moore, failed to show up for a fight in Baltimore, is now turning loose one of his best verbal blasts against Gus Lesnevich, is taking the 175-pound title to London instead of rising it against Moore.

TIME MARCHES ON DEPT. The Atlanta Crackers will present the 1942 Spalding trophy to first baseman Jimmy Blair on April 14. Blair won it 10 1/2 years ago as the leading first-year batter in organized baseball—before it could be presented. Jimmy went away to the Pacific wars and was only discharged last fall. So when the new season opens, the star rookie of 1942 will be hailed as a returned veteran.

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE The DuQuoin, Ill., harness-racing track has a waterway running around just inside the mile oval. The promoters insist that there have been no "boat races" there—Bob Pastor, former heavyweight contender, opens a sporting goods shop in Saratoga Springs, N. Y., today—classic remark of the spring is attributed to South Carolina's Rex Enright when he heard that Charley Justice, the highly-regarded football lugger, had entered North Carolina.

Whitney Martin Says Prices Will Be Hardest Blow

NEW YORK—(AP)—Probably the hardest blow of the next Joe Louis-Billy Conn fight June 19 will be the ticket prices, which are going to keep a lot of old-timers, tired and tired, sometimes and true ring fans sitting in front of their radios. The $19 to $100 scale won't send any shudders through the big dough boys. In fact, these walking mints probably will brag a little about paying their $100 for a seat.

A great many will be once-a-year fight fans who follow boxing only casually except when a big fight comes around. Then they suddenly become enthusiastic supporters of the game.

Boxing would give a sad little wheeze and expire if it were forced to rely on the once-a-year fans for support, for the fight game isn't just a heavyweight championship bout any more than a world series is baseball. There were a lot of spectators who thought the 1945 world series wasn't baseball, at that.

Boxing is the 1,000 and one little clubs which make up the fight game, and it's the 30-called little men who by their faithful attendance keep the clubs going. They go to fights because they like the action, not because there is anything in particu-

Association Seeks Accident Reduction

AUSTIN—(AP)—Reduction by 50 per cent of traffic accidents involving teen-age drivers is sought in a program to be presented at the Texas Safety association's annual conference in Galveston April 22-24.

"One generation of properly trained drivers can reverse the whole trend of traffic accidents," said R. B. Rooper of Houston, vice president of the association and head of the school safety section. The association recommended driver education and safety programs in all of the 1,400 senior and junior high schools of the state.

First Tomatoes Leave Valley

EDINBURG—(AP)—The Rio Grande valley's first railway carload of new spring tomatoes has left the valley for market. This year's tomato crop is expected to reach 10,000 cars.

As we have mentioned before, we think Mike Jacobs is within his rights in charging what the traffic will bear, as a merchant isn't going to take 10 cents for a tricket he can sell for a dollar.

Personally, we don't think it would be worth $100 to see a dozen Louises and a dozen Conns fighting in the ring at the same time, but that's purely an opinion and we realize there are hundreds, if not thousands, willing to pay the $100 fee to see one Louis and one Conn.

Sir Walter Raleigh is credited with introducing mahogany into England, and presenting Queen Elizabeth with a table made of the wood he found in the new world.

SELLERS AT 17 ALMOST QUIT FIFTH GRADE; NOW HE PREPARES MOMENTOUS ANNOUNCEMENT

By HUGH WILLIAMSON
Associated Press Staff

Attorney General Grover Sellers is preparing an announcement on whether he will run for governor. It's a momentous decision for a man who, at the age of 17, almost quit the fifth grade so he could get a job and make money to go courting.

Sellers was born on a farm in Louisiana, and his schooling got off to a start that was sketchy at best. After his parents died he moved to Sulphur Springs, Texas, to live with a brother and attend the private school of Professor Sam J. King.

The other boys had an occasional fifty cents to show the girls a good time. Sellers didn't. He made up his mind to start driving a team to make a dollar and a half a day. But he hadn't figured on the persuasive powers of his teacher.

Professor King apparently saw the look of discouragement on Sellers' face and guessed what he was thinking. Anyway, he didn't touch on the regular class work that day.

Instead, he took for his text the value of an education. He told how George Washington had studied, and how Abraham Lincoln had pored over his books. By the time this lecture was over, Sellers had changed his mind. He stayed in school until he got a teacher's certificate.

Grover Sellers today is big and buoyant. His voice is soft and his accent is of the old South. He likes bow ties and brown clothes. Not many people know it, but he is a little deaf in his left ear; if you visit him in his office you have to sit on his right because of the way his desk and chairs are placed.

His lawyer friends say he thinks logically. They like him personally because of his good humor and sagacity. He is in demand as a public speaker because of his down-to-earth way of putting across his ideas.

Sellers was appointed attorney general upon the resignation of Gerald C. Mann.

Married since 1916, Sellers' family includes two daughters, both of whom live in Dallas.

The youngest of nine children, Sellers was born in Union Parish, Louisiana, in 1892. His father, a farmer, served four years in the confederate army, 16 years in the Louisiana legislature and was a member of the Louisiana constitutional convention in 1898.

Before coming to Texas, Sellers lived for a while in Calhoun, La.

Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Notebook

ATHENS — (AP) — War-bowed Greece faces one of the greatest disasters that can befall any nation.

Many of her ablest and most ambitious young men are soberly asking themselves whether they should remain in this age-weary little country that has become a Balkan fulcrum between Russia and Britain or emigrate to newer nations where they believe their abilities will have freer play.

They are tired of power politics and living always on the brink of fear and feel they can build elsewhere better careers for themselves and a larger life for their families.

Particularly many are impatient of Greece's preoccupation with political problems at a time when she is still bleeding from unhealed war wounds. Some doubt whether it is worthwhile to invest their youth and brains in a tormented small country which for geographical reasons they feel can never be more than a football between major powers seeking control of the Mediterranean.

For this reason they welcome the presence of British troops. Above all the upper and middle-classes of the country are aghast at the prospect of a further Greek civil war.

Whether the current national preoccupation over these political questions will drive these idealistic men to abandon their homeland remains to be seen. In their impatience they perhaps fail to see that Greece cannot rebuild without first achieving some measure of political stability.

Middle aged and middle class Greeks realize this. They deplore the incessant political activity within Greece but feel that at this time it is unavoidable. They fear the war-born swing to communism among the minority of this country's poorly fed, poorly clothed and poorly used urban masses. They want at almost any cost — even at the price of further armed internal strife — to keep Greece in the old pattern of capitalistic enterprise.

Polish Matches Tortoise Frames

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

At last eye-glasses have made the grade as a beauty accessory. The proof—offered to girls who think aids to good vision are a bight to good looks—is a new nail polish shade keyed to the color of tortoise shell frames.

Among the first to recognize the possibilities of chic in making a match between shining nails and tortoise-shell glasses were top-flight fashion models. Now, it's any girl's formula for smartness who wants to use it for making either corrective glasses or eye-antiglare shields qualify as beauty accessories.

What's more, say the models who have added this new trick to their repertoire, you can ring in a lipstick in a tortoise-shell shade and keep any discordant note out of your color scheme.

Tips for Teens

By ELINOR WILLIAMS
"I think it's high time that you save us guys a helpful hand with blackheads," writes a reader from the stag line. Here it comes:

Frankly, blackheads are dirt-filled pore openings. They're a sign that your daily face-dunkings aren't frequent enough or thorough enough. Keep your skin clean, clean, clean and there'll be no dirt, dust or excess oil to clog those tiny pore openings, causing ugly blackheads and perhaps pimples, too.

During the teens, glandular changes speed up the flow of oil from layers of the skin. This oil—an excessive flow of it—oozes through the pore openings and helps to clog them if it isn't removed several times a day with soap and water. That's why meticulous cleansing is more important than ever during the teens.

To remove blackheads, rinse your face with warm—never hot—water. Dry it. Covering clean fingers with a soft cleansing tissue, gently press fingertips at each side of the blackhead. Never squeeze blackheads, for this injures and scars the skin. Apply an antiseptic afterward to prevent infection.

To prevent blackheads, use mild facial soap and a shaving brush, complexion brush or small, soft sponge to clean the skin thoroughly. With warm water and soapsuds, use the soft brush in a light, circular motion. Never scrub hard enough to redden or irritate your skin.

Pay special attention to your forehead, nose and chin, for the center of the face is the oiliest area where blackheads are most likely to appear. Rinse with clear, warm water followed by several cool rinses.

For tips on the care of pimples, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elinor Williams, care Pampa News.

THE ORGANIZATION IS STILL INTACT

Perhaps the gentleman from Florida, Claude Pepper, is like the proverbial soldier who thought everybody was out of step except him, when he declares that the United States is joining with other nations in "ganging up on Russia."
With disparaging the man, we gather that impression from what he said yesterday in the senate. At the same time, he shouted that, consequently, he would not vote for continuance of selective service or for military appropriations "to use our forces to protect the rotten status quo in the world today."
That is one side of the argument on the matter of Russia. The other one runs something like this:
"Russia has won another victory over the United Nations. When Secretary Byrnes of the U. S. petitioned the council yesterday to pigeonhole the Iranian issue on the basis of Russia's statement that her troops were being withdrawn from that country, Russia got what she wanted—more delay."
There might be some truth in both of these contentions—that of Sen. Pepper and that of those who literally hate Russia. But we feel better to take the middle ground—which, incidentally, is too often taken by many of us as the easiest way out.

Russia may be the object of some for a smear campaign. Russia may not be intent on unilateral action in Europe and Asia. Russia may not have intended to stay in Iran indefinitely. We might reverse all these observations and be partly right . . . no one seems to know the answers to all these speculative thoughts.
In answer to the second thought, that submitted by the Russia-haters, it is possible the Soviet did win a battle. She did get more time, and seems to have done a pretty good job at saving her face. On the other hand, the searching beam of world opinion—an opinion motivated above all else by the desire for peace—has been focused uncomfortably close on Moscow's actions. It would seem to us that the world won a sort of victory—at least the United Nations is still intact, and Russia is getting out—or so she says. If she doesn't, then that will be another issue.

RIGHT BACK WHERE WE STARTED

UNO is out. That is the latest word from the United Nations department of information, released yesterday. From now on we're to call it U. N. (with the periods) and not UNO.
Well, we knew this would come up sooner or later. Now here it is. We've been having a good deal of fun calling the name of this fledgling organization UNO (pronounced 'You-Know'). What we need now is a suggestion as to what sort of pronunciation to give "U.N."
We always have troubles—like the security council with Russia. We're afraid we'll end up like the little boy who didn't know how to describe anything; he always said: "Ah, you know!"

Common Ground

By R. C. HOLLES
"Releasing the Controls"
In a preceding issue I quoted from an address by Henry Hazlitt, member of the editorial board of the New York Times, before the National Industrial Conference Board, on the subject "Releasing the Controls." After explaining how price control depresses supply, Mr. Hazlitt goes on to say:

"To promise to raise wages and to keep down prices would no doubt be the ideal political formula—if it could be made to work. To prove that this could be done, William H. Davis (former director of Economic Stabilization) pointed triumphantly to an increase of average hourly wages from 47 cents to $1.62 from 1919 to 1944. But this improvement required twenty-five years. It reflected the increase in labor productivity in the meantime. We can continue to raise wages in relation to prices only by a continued increase in labor productivity, brought about by a progressive market economy. A hasty effort, however, to raise wages and keep down prices by government edict, faster than this increase in productivity can take place, can only work to wipe out profit margins, to create uncertainty, to reduce production and to bring about the very unemployment that the government most wishes to prevent.

"We have heard a great deal of talk of the need of emerging from price control 'gradually.' I confess that I am a little suspicious myself when I hear this word. It can too easily become an excuse for harmful delay. I do think there was a good deal to be said in favor of an orderly and properly synchronized release of price controls. The virtual removal of price controls over wages, however, this orderly and synchronized removal of price controls is no longer possible. By encouraging wages to rise while stalling on prices, we can only reduce production and create unemployment. The government's wage policy, in short, has made it necessary to get rid of price-fixing with the least possible delay.

WHAT GOVERNMENT SHOULD DO

"The government should immediately, therefore, abandon completely any attempt at over-all price-fixing. It should not attempt for a day longer to fix the price of any article that was out of production during the war. The OPA's reconversion price-fixing formulas are complicated, unrealistic and unfair. They can only have the effect of holding up reconversion of delaying, by reducing production. But I do not believe these formulas should be revised; I think they should be abandoned altogether. If they are applied to a multitude of small companies they cannot be enforced, and in the case of really large companies they are altogether unnecessary.

"Companies like Ford and General Motors, like Westinghouse and others, depend utterly upon public good will. They cannot afford to exploit shortages. They must price as closely as they can in any case, but they ought to be made to make their own decisions in the light of their own intimate and immediate knowledge of what the market is. The whole plan of

AGRICULTURAL ECONOMICS INDEXED!
(New York Sun)
Excerpts from hearings on the Department of Agriculture appropriation bill reveal Howard R. Tolley, chief of the department's Bureau of Agricultural Economics, as possible champion of a profound change in the American farmer's way of life. The excerpts printed in the Congressional Record are brief, but they make out Mr. Tolley as advocate of a plan to make American farmers accept a world price for all their crops. In exchange, they would receive assurance of a subsidy from the Federal Treasury to bring their earnings up to subsistence level. It is clear that any government that made such an arrangement would have to make collateral arrangements to regulate virtually everything the farmer did.

It is difficult to believe that the responsible head of an important bureau in the Department of Agriculture would even consider such a plan, but members of the House who listened to his testimony, and quoted parts of it, took it seriously enough to insist on a reduction in appropriations for the bureau. If agricultural economics, as understood at Washington, means making every farmer a dependent of the Federal government, then a mere cut in the appropriation would seem to be insufficient.

HORSE MEASUREMENTS

Horses have been measured by "hands" from very ancient times. The measurement from the top of the shoulder to the ground, the "hand" is four inches.

HOW SHALL WE FIGHT INFLATION?

"The answer to this is that there is no safe or workable way to fight inflation except to stop the basic cause of inflation. That cause is government deficit financing. This deficit financing leads to heavy government borrowing from the banks. This government borrowing from the banks puts into circulation added bank deposits and added currency. It means, in other words, a constant increase in the supply of money in relation to the supply of goods. That must inevitably reduce the value of money in relation to the value of goods."

"We can put the matter in another way by saying that the government is increasing the volume of monetary purchasing power in relation to the volume of goods. It is the government's own policy, in short, that is forcing up prices.
"During the war it could be argued that this whole process was in large part beyond the government's control. But how at last we are in a position to start bringing the Federal budget into balance. The sooner we do it the sooner we can solve the problem of inflation. And there is no other way."

To Cast Our Bread On The Waters

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON

RESTLESS—The big city bosses who ousted Henry A. Wallace from the vice presidential rostrum at the Chicago convention in 1944 are now his principal political backers. The wily Iowan will never become a back-room buddy of such robust fellows as Ed Kelly, Ed Flynn, Bob Hannagan and Frank Hague, who are uncomfortable in his ascetic presence. But they have to come to the belated conclusion that they will need him on the ticket and hustings.

This quartet, who warned the late F. D. R. that Mr. Wallace's renomination would mean the loss of millions of votes in their bailiwicks, have now discovered that he makes a greater appeal to the metropolitan masses than does their 1944 preference for second place, Harry S. Truman. They count on his rabble-rousing speeches to hold the bloc which gave the Roosevelt-Truman ticket its 3,000,000-odd margin over the Dewey-Bricker slate.

These groups have shown signs of restlessness over the administration's policies and White House failures. They are being kept in the democratic column to insure a 1948 triumph. Even if they did not desert to the G. O. P., whose legislative record rings no bells with them, their failure to register and to vote would harm the democrats in a tight contest.

"TECHED"—Odly enough, the former secretary of agriculture and champion of the farmers is reported to be far less popular in rural states, and becoming more disliked every day for the very reasons which endear him to the machine politicians. His state is one of the first agricultural commonwealths to return to the G. O. P., and the republicans have been gaining rapidly in the wide open spaces at each succeeding election. Conservative rural dwellers look on Mr. Wallace as a "wild-eyed radical" who is slightly "teched in the head" on certain subjects.

The democrats, however, have virtually conceded the loss of these states, anyway, but believe that they can roll up the necessary number of electoral votes by winning in about twelve large cities, which was a winning formula in 1940 and 1944.

PROTESTS—The more farsighted representatives of the liquor interest at Washington, including such wets as Capitol Hill, have tipped their distilling and brewing friends that they may play into the hands of professional drys—again, unless they agree to abandon all operations pending the food crises in Europe and other sections of the world.

The administration seems unwilling to issue orders to this effect for fear of the possible adverse political effect in a congressional year. But members report that their mail is heavy with protests against the consumption of cereals for the alcoholic trade.

And the communications do not come together from the white-ribboners of from areas where prohibition sentiment has always been strong. They are sent in by folks who admit they like a drop now and then, but express willingness to give up a few beers, cocktails and highballs for the sake of the world's starving.

DRINKLESS—The industry's spokesmen insist that the amount of potential food they use is negligible. But the fact is that they are expending 225,000 tons of corn, rice, barley and rice monthly, which is 25 percent of Europe's current requirements, at a time when our shipments are falling behind by 100,000 tons per month.

Secretary Clinton P. Anderson has reduced the number of days for "mashing" from ten to five days a month. The cut was designed to lower the amount of bushels to the distillers from 4,000,000 to 2,000,000 a month. But insiders in the business say that as much grain is being used in the shorter period as was consumed before.

Liquor supplies would permit a moratorium, according to government figures. Production at the present rate comes to about 25,000,000 gallons a month, whereas consumption approximates from 12,000,000 to 15,000,000. Current stocks total 350,000,000 proof gallons, and yearly withdrawals amount to only 150,000,000 gallons.

"What we need for our own good," said a liquor lobbyist who lived through the last prohibition battle, "are a few drinkless nights as well as meatless days."

BOOST—The rival attempts of the rural and urban blocs on Capitol Hill to fatten the pie by raising their respective constituents' contribution the chief factor in preventing the shipment of the full American quota of wheat to the hungry of the world. Domestic politics as well as agricultural economics underlie the shortage.

In off-the-record talks the spokesmen of the two factions admit that they are playing for votes even though it delays the humanitarian effort. The Truman-Snyder-Bowles wage-price policy, which benefits only a comparatively small percentage of the various classes of workers but will impose higher living costs on everyone, necessitates passage of the minimum wage act raising the scale from forty-five to sixty-five and eventually to seventy-five cents. Otherwise, the lower-paid employees would suffer and resent the discrimination.

But the prospect of an advance all along the line has led the well-organized farm bloc—cotton, corn, wheat, tobacco—to demand a gain for the farmers through an increase

MACKENZIE'S Column

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
The security council of our new The capable handling of the dan- its first major crisis well—encourag- ing the belief that at last we have a league of nations which will work.
The capable handling of the dan- gerous Russo-Transian (Persian) situation has demonstrated that the United Nations security council not only is a competent intermediary but—what is important—that the organization has the respect of the countries of the world.
We've made a fair start. However we should recognize this for what it is—just a beginning.

The Persian difficulty has not been settled, and we shouldn't overlook that.
That's not the main point. What has happened is that a tiny country has been able to get hearing of DEWITT MACKENZIE a grievance against a major power, the competence of the council to deal with the issue has been recognized, and the dispute has been guided onto a highway which may lead to ultimate settlement or which in any event may by-pass the use of force.

One of the most gratifying aspects of the case is that while the authority and dignity of the United Nations were maintained, the council didn't get tough in trying to force a settlement.

It's perhaps fortunate that this first test case should involve the rights of small nations as against those of the great powers. The fact that justice was evenly balanced between little Persia and mighty Russia will do much to encourage confidence in the peace organization.

The interests of Russia and England in Persia go back for generations, and are complicated. Persia's oil of course enters into the picture and that isn't without concern to Uncle Sam as well. However, as I see it the main point is that Persia is strategically important to Russia and to the United States. We must be sure that her vital frontier in the Caspian sea is secure, and England can't forget that Persia provides a land highway into India. Last but not least, Russia long has had an eye on a warm water port at the head of the Persian gulf. So you see there are momentous issues to be dealt with.

Gracie Reports

By GRACIE ALLEN
My goodness, President Truman caused quite a furor among style experts when he appeared at the Jackson day dinner wearing a silver-streaked bow tie with his dinner jacket.
The president, who can recognize a national trend as well as the next man, said that his streaked tie was really five years old. Whereupon there were rumors that the republicans would try to stop him, by showing up for their next Lincoln day dinner with no ties at all.

I know how the president feels. All you can find in men's shops nowadays are collars for shirts that expect next month, and suspenders for trousers they never expect to see.

And it's nearly as bad for us girls. We go out and buy a permanent and a pair of shoes and then have to hunt all over town for something to go in between.

In the parity level. The proposed best, for instance, would raise the price of wheat from $1.57 to $2.10 a bushel, with other crops benefiting proportionately.
Naturally, the producers are holding back supplies until they learn whether the more advantageous scale becomes law. By the same token, an increase in parity would raise the ceiling structure as it applies to grain fed to livestock, and necessary revisions all along the line will again act to withhold exports during the worst months of the food crisis.

Peter Edson's Column ABOUT DENATURING ATOMIC ENERGY

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON—(NEA)—The best official advice on the new Acheson report for international control of atomic energy is to take it easy.
In the first stories that leaked out from members of the senate atomic energy committee, the impression may have arisen that all of a sudden a good fairy had waved its magic wand, so that now, by golly, the work of the gremlins who first invented the atomic bomb could be overcome. The idea put out was that through a new process of "denaturing" fissionable materials, atomic energy could be released for peaceful purposes like generating power or curing cancer, but not for nasty purposes like making bombs.

Unfortunately, the news isn't quite that good.
How the denaturing is done is not revealed, but the process is not new. It is explained that material already made for use in bombs can be denatured, as well as fissionable materials still in their original form. Denaturing of fissionable materials could be released for peaceful purposes. This has been proved. A bomb made out of denatured material is a dud. Otherwise, the importance of denaturing atomic energy materials is decidedly limited.

DENATURED MATERIALS CAN BE REPRODUCED
It is now explained that it is possible to "undenature" the de-

Denaturing is just one step by which materials can be made relatively safe for licensed use in the production of power, in research, and in medicine. What happens next is that the Acheson report will be studied by congress and by the state, war and navy departments. They may throw it in the wastebasket and come up with something better.

On the other hand, the Acheson report may be used as a basis for determining the U. S. policy. The report is not a declaration of policy in itself. It requires no legislation to make it effective, though it may influence legislation now being considered by the senate atomic energy committee.

When the U. S. policy is determined, it will be submitted to the United Nations energy commission, on which Bernard Baruch is the U. S. representative. The UNO commission may accept, or it may reject, the Acheson report recommendations.

Whatever action the UNO commission takes will have to be referred to the United Nations assembly and security council. Whatever action the UNO adopts will then be passed on to the member nations, with the recommendation that they enter into a treaty to put the plan into effect.
Obviously, it's going to be a long time before the Acheson report becomes world policy.

In Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD—It happened on the set of "Anna and the King of Siam." The stars of the piece, English actor Rex Harrison, Irene Dunne, and Linda Darnell, are required to speak some Siamese in the picture.

After one scene requiring a great deal of Siamese from Harrison, Irene, and Linda, Director John Cromwell turned to his technical adviser and asked, "Well, how was their Siamese?"
The technical director smiled and said, "Fine. In the United States the movie audiences will think they're speaking Siamese and in Siem people will think they're speaking English."

BOON TO SOCIETY
There's a real answer to the juvenile delinquency problem in Providence. Herb Lamb's first visual education short, "Play Ball, Son," based on the book by former sportswriter Bert Dunne. The stars are all youngsters under years of age, members of the San Mateo, Calif., high school baseball squad. The film teaches all the fundamentals of the game. Every youngster in the country should see it, as an antidote for those "what-should-I-do-this-afternoon?" blues.

Mark Stevens, the lad who jumped into stardom overnight, deserves an Oscar for keeping his feet on the ground. Someone asked him on the set of "The Dark Corner," in which he stars with Lucille Ball, the reason for his sudden success. "Reason," said Mark, "That's simple. The Ty Powers, the Jimmy Stewarts, and the Henry Fondas were in the service."

Jack Carson, on a personal appearance tour in the east, writes that a fellow back there is now psychoanalyzing dogs, and has found one with a "movie frustration." The dog, says Jack, is worried because everyone compares him to Lassie.

MITT A LA CARTE
Most precious "prop" on the set of "A Certain Rich Man" the other day was a huge filet mignon for Sydney Greenstreet to devour. As he put the steak on ice, Prop Man George Sweeney was reminded of an emergency he once met in the days of silent films.

"We were shooting at night on location when the director suddenly called for a steak. I couldn't find any stores open. I ducked into the prop wagon and looked around. Suddenly I saw a first baseman's mitt. I garnered it with some canned vegetables and parsley and brought it out. As a steak it was a big success—until the director tried to carve it for sandwiches."

When John Eldredge was cast as the heavy in Universal's "Little Miss Big," it was his suggestion, and altogether logical, that his brother, George, also an actor, should play his brother in the film. The suggestion, however, was nixed by the studio because George didn't look enough like John to be his brother.

It's Bill Schiller's story about the producer who fired one of his veteran directors. "What's the reason?" demanded the director. "Nothing personal," explained the producer. "It's just that you've outlived your usefulness."

"SOURDOUGH"
The pioneer of Alaska was known as a "sourdough" because of his habit of keeping a batch of sour dough on hand as a "starter" for his flapjacks. At night, he kept the crock of dough in his bed, so that his body heat would keep the mixture warm.
Tea has been cultivated in China for more than 2,000 years.

Today's Schedule Of Redeployment

(By The Associated Press)
Five transports, carrying 2,331 service personnel, are scheduled to arrive today at two East coast ports while 4,779 veterans are due to embark from four ships at San Francisco.
Ships and units arriving:
At New York—Hagerlund Victory from Bremerhaven. 975 troops, including regimental headquarters, service company, anti-tank company, cannon company and medical detachments of 399th infantry regiment; 359th and 356th quarter-master truck companies.
Miscellaneous of following vessels: Adabelle Lykes from Casablanca, Bret Harte from Antwerp, Abraham Lincoln from Antwerp.
At Norfolk—Duncan Fletcher.
At San Francisco—Miscellaneous on following: Thomas Jefferson from Pearl Harbor, Knight from Pearl Harbor, Marine Robin from Yokohama, Santa Monica from Subic Bay.

An antique pocket watch made by the Highmore company, London, England in 1770 was received by F. O. Babcock of Denison—still ticking precisely. It came in a waterproof container and a flower-ornamented case. It is about the size of a 50-cent piece. Its face is ivory, the hands thin, and instead of figures one through 12, it has arabic numbers on the watch counted in minutes.

Texas Today

By JACK RUTLEDGE

Accumulated clippings from a parking file:
Abilene had a bargain day on parking meters. Originally the meters allowed a motorist to park two hours for a nickel. In an effort to make more space for shoppers, the city cut this in half, charged a nickel an hour. But the day before the change was made the Abilene Reporter-News carried a two-column box with a headline "close out sale today" urging motorists to take advantage of the last bargain day on downtown parking.

The San Angelo-Tom Green county health unit prepared to welcome its new health director, Dr. George A. Gray.
But Dr. Gray had to postpone all but the most necessary of his first day's business activities. He had a bad case of laryngitis.

and a woman's voice said, "May I give you a lift, Mr. Drake? I'm going out to see my wife."
"Ann isn't home, Mrs. Warren. How are you and all the little Warrens?"
Joan Warren frowned, and looked troubled. "I wanted to see Ann. Well, get in, anyway—I might as well take you home. Where is she?"
"Seattle. She took Susie in to get her outfit for school. It starts next month, and Ann's pretty much starting from scratch with her wardrobe."
Joan started the car, and they drove for a few minutes in silence. "Maybe it's just as well Ann isn't home—I was so mad, I had to come tell her, but it probably wouldn't help any."
"What do you mean?"
"Well—of course you know that charmin' lady Beulah Bedelle?"
"I know her slightly. Her husband of course is an old friend. Ann doesn't like her."
"I know. And what is perhaps more important, she doesn't like Ann. Of course, you know I don't get around much, and naturally I'm the last person in town to hear gossip—next to you and Ann, of course—but—well, do you want me to tell you this?"
"Please do," Colin said. "If it concerns Ann, I'm the most interested person. I won't have that woman hurting Ann!"
"She's poisonous!" Joan said fervently. "Well—it isn't easy to understand. I don't believe a word of it, nor an implication. I'm simply telling you what Beulah is spreading around the town. It's all very insidious, but her innuendoes are worse than plain statements would be. The general idea is that you didn't prosecute Pete Carpell, but got him out of town because the accident was fortunate for Ann and she made it worth his while."

of Clem and Kluge, now-famous mythical characters.
A new one is appearing. It's Smoo. The Amarillo Globe-News says Smoo was born at a radio school at Sioux Falls, S. D., and derived his name from a meaningless letter scramble used on code practice. Officially he was transferred from Sioux Falls late in 1943 but never arrived at his new station. He has been AWOL ever since. He belongs to the second air force, and his name appears on lamp posts, dusty windows, rest room walls.

So They Say

It will not be many days before commercial as well as military air- craft will be grounded, or landing fields closed to approaching aircraft, because of weather conditions. Flight schedules will be maintained safely.—Col. Ben S. Kelsey, ATIS all-weather flying division chief, Wright Field, O.

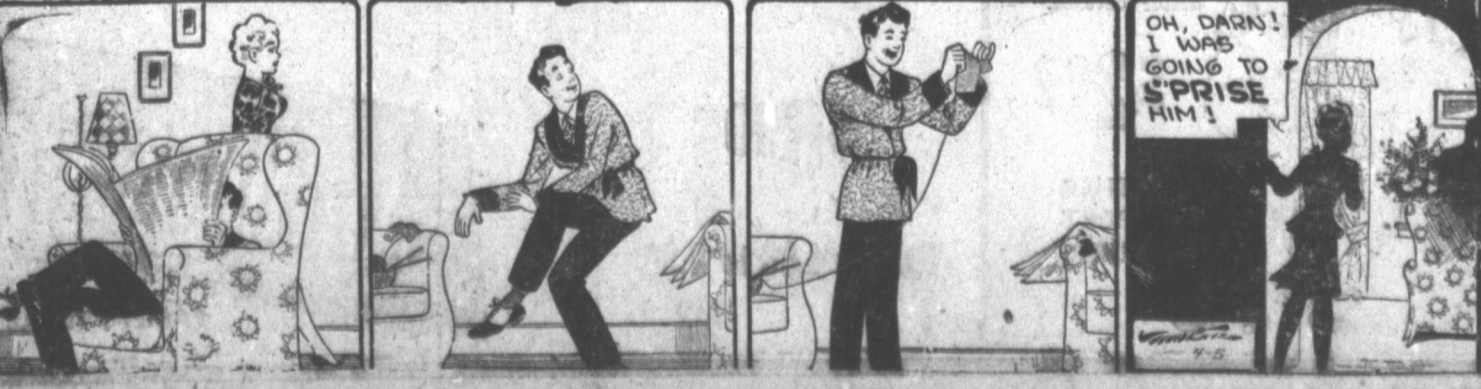

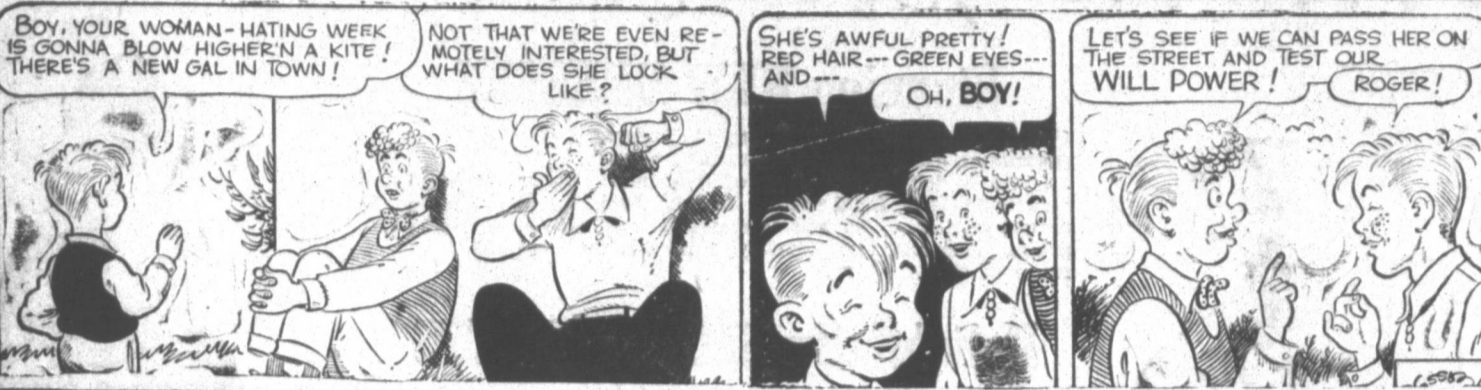

There is a great difference between a world government that represents the peoples of the world and one that represents the nations of the world. To obtain the former will require a long, slow process of education.—Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

The concentration of power in any segment of our society—be it labor or management or government—is a perversion of democracy and a denial of the Christian faith.—Former Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, 1944 nominee for vice president.

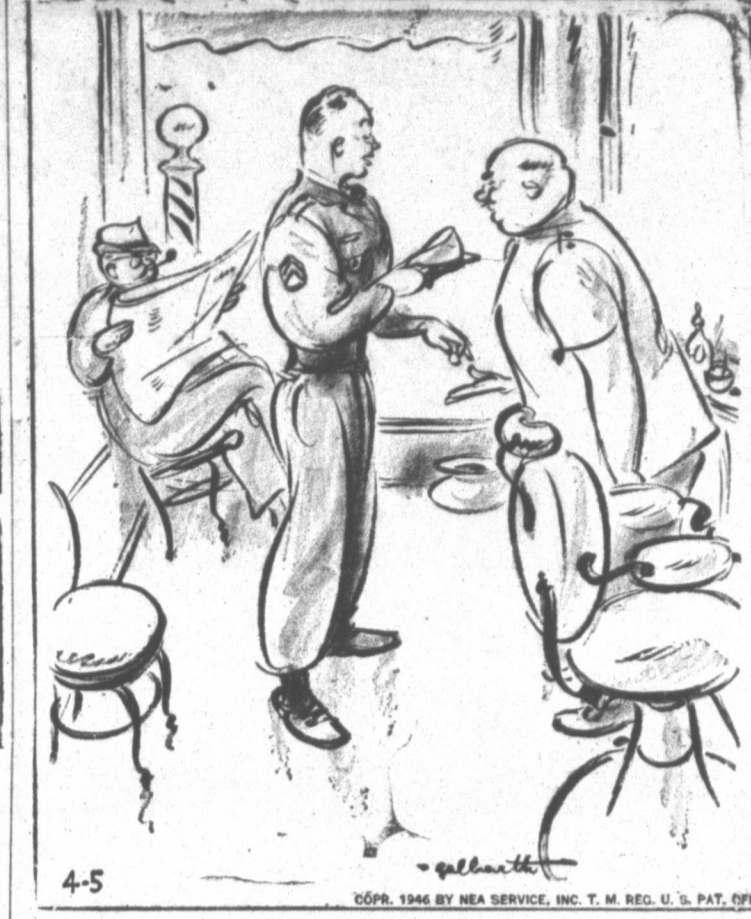

Answer to Previous Puzzles

A crossword puzzle grid with numbers and some filled-in letters. The grid is 10x10. The numbers correspond to the clues in the 'U. S. Senator' section.

"I'm afraid I don't understand what you mean. Ann wouldn't prosecute because she was sorry for Helga. He left town because there never would be a job for him here, after what happened."
"I know that, and of course everyone else should, too. But Beulah is insinuating that it was a very convenient accident—oh hell, I can't tell you. It's obviously absurd, but people will believe anything!"
"Please tell me the rest of it," Colin said, between set teeth.
Joan flushed. She was silent while she swung the car into the driveway, and stopped the engine. Then she faced Colin squarely. "The implication is that the child Ann lost wasn't yours." She caught her breath, then burst out, "It's all so hellishly, damnably rotten, and there's no sense in stopping her. Oh God, why didn't somebody strangle that woman years ago?"
"I'd rather enjoy doing it myself," Colin said grimly. "Her little story certainly puts us both in a pretty light, doesn't it? Ann I supposed to be a moron, or didn't she say?—never mind. Do you have any suggestions?"
Joan shook her head. "I was hoping Ann could think of some way to shut her mouth."
"No," Colin said violently. "Ann not to know she has now or ever. God God, what Ann had enough to bear these last few months? I'd hate to see Skippy fired, though I'd hate to—but then they'd leave town."
Joan shook her head. "Don't blame Skippy. I'm sure he doesn't even know about it. Beulah chooses her audience with discrimination. And that would make it worse, don't you see?"
"Yes," Colin said reflectively. "I guess you're right. Do you suppose if I saw her—no, that would not do any good. She doesn't seem to know about it. Beulah doesn't know a lot—years ago, good friend to Ann, bless you."
