

Baruch Calls for High Court of Commerce to Repair Inflationary Damage

14-Point Program Outlined

WASHINGTON, March 25 (AP)—Bernard M. Baruch called today for a "high court of commerce" to repair the inflationary damage he said has been done by hiking wages and prices while cutting taxes. Cautioning that "the race of selfishness is on," the elder statesman of two world wars pleaded for another year of price control coupled with a firm grip on wages. But he said there must be one overriding objective—greater production.

WAGE-PRICE POLICY
In testimony prepared for the house banking committee, the 75-year-old Baruch lashed out at the government's new wage-price policy pegged to the recent 18 1/2 cent an hour steel workers' pay boost. "This will be followed by increases all along the line," he told the committee considering an administration request to keep OPA alive a year beyond its present June 30 expiration date. "Call it a bulge but it is really a break—and a grave one. This is inflationary."

14-POINT PROGRAM
Baruch laid down a 14-point program capped by his emphasis on the necessity for greater industrial output. "Without increased production the rest of my suggestions are meaningless."

Wallace Accused Mixing Politics, Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON, March 25 (AP)—Republicans lashed out today at Secretary of Commerce Wallace for what one of them described as "an effort to tangle American foreign policy in partisan politics." Wallace's declaration that a GOP congressional victory next fall "would have a gravely disturbing effect on the whole international situation" was regarded by minority party lawmakers as setting the pattern of probable democratic attack in the approaching election campaign.

Senator Ball (R-Minn) struck back at the cabinet member's remark—prefacing the annual Jackson Day dinner speech by President Truman here Saturday night—that if the republicans win in November "the traditional isolationist policies would inevitably lead to world disaster."

"Wallace not only is raising a false issue but he is running a very grave danger of tangling American foreign policy in partisan politics—and in my opinion that would be tragic," Ball told a reporter. "But Senator Pepper (D-Fla) said he believed Wallace was 'on sound grounds in his statements on what would be the meaning of the election of a republican congress.'"

"In foreign policy," the Florida senator asserted, "there would be an inevitable retreating of our steps toward power politics and excessive nationalism, which in the last analysis is isolationism."

However, Senator Austin (R-Vt) See WALLACE ACCUSED, Page 6

Italy Has Same Big Food Problem

ROME, March 25 (AP)—Herbert Hoover told reporters here today that the food problem in Italy was the same as in other parts of famine-threatened Europe. "We prevent starvation for the next 120 days until the new harvest is gathered."

"That fate, he said, 'will fall on the lower income groups and children soon after arrivals of overseas food stop.'"

Hoover, chairman of an American commission investigating the European food situation, said that if present Italian rations are lowered as the result of the failure to import food stuffs, "it will be a disaster to the white collar and wage classes."

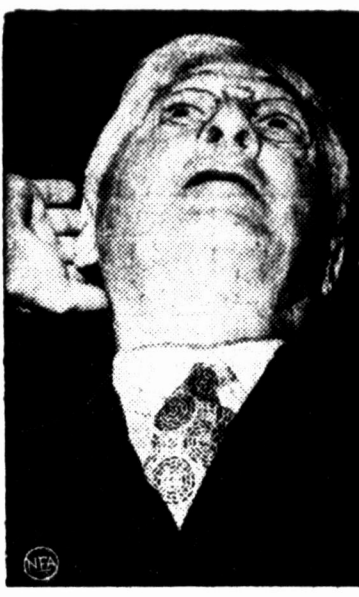

Comparing the situation in France, the only other country which Hoover has thus far visited, he said the average daily French caloric total amounts to 2,000, as compared with 1,650 for Italy.

Hoover said that rationing in one United States could save from one to two million tons of food for export. He added that he hoped to obtain the cooperation of the Latin American countries in the food conservation program.

Independence For India Is Again Pledged

NEW DELHI, March 25 (AP)—Britain's cabinet mission reaffirmed today the London government's pledge of independence for India, if she wants it.

PREPARED STATEMENT
Lord Pethick-Lawrence, flanked by A. V. Alexander and Sir Stafford Cripps, told nearly 300 correspondents in a prepared statement that "discussions now to begin are preliminary to the setting up of machinery whereby the forms under which Indian can realize her full independent status can be determined by Indians."

Pethick-Lawrence, who is secretary of state for India, recalled Prime Minister Attlee's recent speech in the house of commons that Indians can have complete independence if they want it, and added "we believe ourselves that India will find great advantages in remaining within the free association of the British Commonwealth."

MINIMUM DISTURBANCE
The mission aims at making the necessary interim arrangements quickly and with a "minimum of disturbance," he said.

He announced that the Indian states which have a great part to play in India's future must clearly be invited to join "in the present discussions."

Consultations with the already announced list of Indian leaders, including Mohandas K. Gandhi, the congress party, and Mahomed Ali Jinnah, president of the Muslim league, will begin next Monday, he said, and the mission will meet the viceroy's executive council tomorrow.

That the mission has a difficult task before it was indicated by the fact that the mission has noted differences among Indian leaders.

2 Year Suspended Sentence Given

JAMES KYLE, 28-year-old ex-convict, pleaded guilty to the murder of knifing J. P. (Pete) West the night of December 17 in district court this morning.

He was given a two year suspended sentence by Judge W. R. Ewing. The charge was assault to the death in which Kyle drew a knife on West.

Both Kyle and West testified this morning that they had never seen each other before the time the knifing took place in the Town Bar last December.

West's attorney, Curtis Douglas, told the court a suspended sentence would not be objected to by West. West, owner of the Town Bar at the time of the knifing, told the court that he had asked the barmaid not to serve beer to Kyle due to his conduct. A skirmish resulted in which Kyle drew a knife to protect himself, drawing a knife which he had purchased that day.

West was knifed in the back while having a head lock on Kyle. He said he did not know he was knifed until later when he felt blood running down his leg.

Aaron Sturgeon, attorney for Kyle, told the court that Kyle had been honorably discharged from the navy last November after serving 39 months in the South Pacific theater of war. Kyle had preliminary training of five months. The assault on West was his first offense.

Both Douglas and Sturgeon stated the offense was due to nervousness from service. Rogers did not object.

Kyle was working in the oil fields at the time of the assault. He came to Pampa to visit a sister after his discharge, and obtained work. West is an oil well drilling contractor.

Correction on Cost Of Hospital Noted

Due to a mechanical error in the Sunday edition of the Pampa Daily News, we are carrying a correction on paragraph 2 in the ad regarding the proposed hospital project. A correction ad will appear in tomorrow's issue of the News.

Paragraph 2 should have read as follows: The maximum cost of building, equipment and site cannot exceed $50,000 to be covered by bonds not to exceed 50 cents with an interest rate of not over 2 1/2 percent. The county commissioners have the authority to sell these bonds at the best possible market.

UNO Security Council Convenes Today; Byrnes Conveys Message From Truman

NEW YORK, March 25 (AP)—Following is the text of James F. Byrnes, conveying a message from President Truman, at the first meeting of the United Nations security council in the United States:

This is a moment of great importance in the history of the world. With this meeting the security council begins, as required by the charter, to function continuously. For this purpose the members of the council are obligated to be represented at all times at the seat of the organization.

This is essential because it is the function of the council to guard at all times the peace of the world. The President of the United States has requested me to read to you the following message:

TRUMAN'S MESSAGE
"On behalf of the people of the United States I welcome the members of the security council and the secretary-general of the United Nations and their staffs to our country."

"We are greatly honored that the United Nations has chosen a site in our country for its home. We will do our best to make you feel at home."

FOR PEACE, FREEDOM
"But there can be no home anywhere for the United Nations unless the United Nations remain united and continue to work together, as they have fought together, for peace and for freedom."

"The people of the United States not only wish you success, but they pledge to you their wholehearted cooperation to give to the United Nations the strength and the will to maintain peace and freedom in this interdependent world."

TEMPORARY HEADQUARTERS
"I am sure that the governor of the state of New York and the mayor of this city will join with President Truman and me in welcoming you to our country and to your temporary headquarters in the City of New York."

It is less than 160 years ago that our thirteen sovereign states entered into a union for their common defense.

Winant Named to UNO Economic, Social Council

WASHINGTON, March 25 (AP)—President Truman carried out a two-day diplomatic shift today which placed new stress on the importance this country attaches to the United Nations organization.

The chief executive designated John G. Winant to be American representative on the UNO economic and social council and W. Averell Harriman to succeed Winant as ambassador to Britain.

Meanwhile, Lt. Gen. Walter Bedell Smith headed for Moscow when he resigned as Ambassador to Russia.

Government officials and diplomats cited Winant's long-remembered appointment as evidence that the United States has hopes for the economic and social council as great as those for the better advertised UNO general assembly and the all-powerful security council.

The economic and social council—which will seek such goals as rising worldwide living standards and high employment levels—is scheduled to hold its first meeting in New York in May.

Harriman's appointment, announced by the White House late Saturday along with that of Winant, came as more of a surprise because of Harriman's frequently expressed desire to return to private business and live in this country.

The 54-year-old multi-millionaire railroad executive spent several years in London as lend-lease expeditor before going to Moscow as ambassador.

Murray Steps Into Hotbed of UAW Trouble

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 25 (AP)—CIO President Philip Murray stepped into a hotbed of United Auto workers family trouble today and found himself in the middle of the political free-for-all between R. J. Thomas and Walter Reuther for the UAW-CIO presidency.

Murray, who will address the UAW convention here today, found that the campaign had hauled into the open a bitter cleavage within the union over the strategy and philosophy of the General Motors strike.

Not only that, but Murray's name was being bounced around freely by the two opponents in their statements and speeches.

SEEKS SEVENTH TERM
Thomas, who is seeking his seventh term as UAW president, said Reuther really was "running against Phil Murray" for the presidency of the CIO and is opposing CIO policies.

He said the fiery, 38-year-old leader of the General Motors strike was a "dupe" of AFL leaders in a movement to draw the auto union into the AFL.

In his speech today, Murray was expected to denounce a rumor that he persuaded the General Motors fact-finding board last January to reduce its recommended wage increase from 24 to 19 1/2 cents.

THOMAS AND REUTHER
Thomas in a new conference and Reuther in a speech—both have mentioned this rumor. They said it was originated by C. E. Wilson, president of General Motors.

Last night, Thomas told reporters jammed into his hotel room that Reuther took up Wilson's story and spread it around.

Reuther, at a news conference of his own, said this was a "contemptible lie." He also denied hotly any ill feeling between himself and Murray, stating: "I think Phil Murray and I enjoy a very decent friendship."

As Reuther and Thomas lunged forward in their election campaign, their undercover disagreement over the handling of the General Motors strike emerged.

At his news conference, Thomas attacked the "ability-to-pay theory" See UAW CONVENTION, Page 6

Theater Wrecked By Big Explosion

SEGUIN, March 25 (AP)—A mysterious explosion followed by fire completely destroyed Seguin's largest theater last night, a few minutes after a big Sunday night crowd filed out of the building.

The picture was a mystery film, "The Spiral Staircase."

The Palace theater, located in midtown Seguin, was a total loss. It is owned by H. H. Daniels.

Eyewitnesses today said there was a sudden explosion, about 11:30 p. m. then a "terrible thud." Flames immediately swept the building. The flash of the explosion was seen all over town, witnesses said. Bricks were hurled across the street.

No one was injured.

New Problems Arise In Atom Bomb Tests

WASHINGTON, March 25 (AP)—When and if the atom bomb tests are held, two of them may be run off within a single month to meet problems posed by President Truman's delay order.

WHITE HOUSE DIRECTIVE
The high command of the joint army-navy task force met today to consider these among other situations created by the suddenly issued White House directive setting back the first test date from May 15 to July 1.

Two factors, of widely different nature, are among the reasons for tightening the schedule for the weather and the opening dates for college semesters.

WEATHER IMPORTANT
Experts say the weather is important in both the first (air drop) and second (surface explosion) tests because of the necessity for forecasting the drift of the deadly radioactive cloud formed by the atomic blast.

An unexpected drift of the poisonous cloud might carry it back over the observation fleet or waft it toward inhabited islands.

The college semester situation enters the picture in this fashion: A large number of the task force scientists are civilians with contracts.

City Slickers Fined During Rodeo Week

EL PASO, March 25 (AP)—A sheriff's posse and ranchers roamed El Paso streets today with instruction to rope persons not wearing western garb and take them to one of three corrals in downtown El Paso. Fines for offenders were fixed at the price of a western scarf or bandana.

It was all a part of rodeo week held in connection with the 17th annual El Paso southwestern livestock show and championship rodeo opening tomorrow.

Officials of the exposition estimated that livestock valued at $1,000,000 will be exhibited. National cattle breeding organizations for the first time are participating in this year's show.

Mihailovic Is Captured by Tito's Troops

BELGRADE, March 25 (AP)—Gen. Draza Mihailovic, once hailed as a guerrilla hero in the fight against the Nazis, was officially reported under arrest as a traitor and war criminal today following his capture by Yugoslav authorities.

TWO-YEAR HUNT
Alexander Rankovic, minister of the interior, announced to a cheering parliament yesterday that the war-time leader of the Chetniks, who had been hunted for nearly two years in the Yugoslav hills by Marshal Tito's forces, had been seized March 13.

An official radio broadcast said the general was captured in a mountain cave guarded by only 11 men of his forces, which once were estimated to total as many as 200,000.

'WILL BE SHOT'
Dr. Ivan Subasic, former foreign minister, said last May that Mihailovic "will be shot" when captured. He added that the Chetnik leader would be given a "fair trial, but we have enough legal evidence to convict him."

The 52-year-old, bespectacled Serbian guerrilla leader organized the first Yugoslav resistance bands in the hills after the Germans streamed into Yugoslavia in April, 1941. He was promoted to general in December, 1941, and a month later, King Peter appointed him minister of war, navy and air force.

The Soviet union accused him in February, 1943, of collaborating with the Axis. Later, Tito, leftist partisan and now Yugoslav premier, accused him of collaboration and of inciting Bulgarians to fight the partisans.

Chinese To Make Truce Inspection Of All Manchuria

CHUNGKING, March 25 (AP)—"Pitched battles" between central government and communist troops near Mukden were described here today as the government and communists were reported on the verge of agreeing to send truce-inspection teams into Manchuria.

Dispatches from Mukden said that four regiments of communist reinforcements under Gen. Lin Piao had hotly contested government entry into Fushun, important coal center 30 miles east of Mukden.

The communist forces now are withdrawing to the northeast under the pressure of government forces, which are continuing to advance, the report declared.

Ho Ping Pao, Chinese army newspaper, reported the occupation of Fushun and said another central government column driving up the Dairen-Mukden railroad from the south and occupied the rail center of Liaoyang, 20 miles south of Mukden. Liaoyang is approximately halfway between Mukden and the great steel center of Anshan, where the column was reported yesterday.

The Fushun battle report was the first indication of any serious clash between the two forces in the area, where observers have feared that such an agreement might provide the spark needed to rekindle the smoldering civil war.

Big Repressuring Program Begins

Opening of the huge repressuring system in the West Pampa pool this afternoon was to be attended by a short ceremony at the Skelly Kingsmill plant with Mayor Ferris Oden giving a baptismal address.

Repressuring of the local reservoir was initiated by the largest secondary recovery project of its kind in dolomite formation.

It is by far the biggest and most modern development that Pampa and her vicinity has seen since the Panhandle gas and oil field was first discovered.

The project has taken about two years to reach today's point of completion. Plans are underway for the installation of another booster station at the Cities Service station to the south of the field.

Counsel for Hess Fails to Submit Secret Treaty

NUERNBERG, Germany, March 25 (AP)—An objection by the Russian prosecutor prevented counsel for Rudolf Hess from reading into the court record today excerpts from what he called a secret treaty concluded by Germany and Russia three days before the Nazi attack on Poland.

The lawyer asserted before the international tribunal that the alleged treaty fixed spheres of influence in Eastern Europe and that details were contained in an affidavit submitted by Dr. Friedrich Gaus, former German ambassador to Moscow.

Soviet Prosecutor R. A. Rudenko jumped up to object to the reading of "surprise documents" before they were translated and submitted to the prosecution.

When Chief Justice Sir Geoffrey Lawrence sustained the objection, Hess' lawyer, the German lawyer, said that he must ask permission to call Soviet Foreign Commissar Molotov to establish if this agreement was not actually concluded.

One provision of the alleged secret agreement, the attorney said, was that Germany "declared itself uninterested in three Baltic states—Latvia, Lithuania and Estonia—and Finland."

The tribunal ignored that request and the galleries tittered.

Earlier, a document introduced by Hess' counsel claimed that the former deputy Fuehrer had warned the British government, a month after he parachuted into Scotland, that the Nazis planned to establish concentration camps and to starve the British population if an attempt were made to continue the war after an invasion of the British Isles.

NEW YORK, March 25 (AP)—United Nations leaders decided to limit today's security council meeting today to formalities, including a message from President Truman, and delay until tomorrow all discussion of the Iranian issue.

The agreement came after the American group, headed by Secretary of State Byrnes and Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., received word that delay of one day was agreeable to the Russian delegation under Ambassador Andrei Gromyko.

The development gave additional time for the American, British, Iranian and Russian delegations here to receive official information on the reported soviet agreement to pull the Red army out of Iran.

RUSSIA AND IRAN
The one sure move thus far seen by official news is that the United States definitely would insist on a report from both Russia and Iran on whatever an agreement has been made, and attempt to put behind any agreement assuming it is approved here, the full prestige of the council to assure its enforcement.

The break in the Iranian issue, announced by Moscow radio, came on the eve of the council's opening at Hunter college here (1:30 p.m. CST) and was immediately hailed by officials as a victory for the United Nations system.

REPORTS EXPECTED
The Iranian question remained the most important for the council to take up however, and this seemed likely to be done on a motion by the United States to have Russia and Iran make a report on their agreement. In this way officials hoped to get the pact registered with the council and assuming the council approves, give it the effective backing of that agency to assure that it is promptly and fully carried out.

Wichita Falls Invited To Track, Field Meet

Coach Elmer Brown's Wichita Falls high track team has been invited to participate in a dual track meet with the Pampa Harvesters here Saturday afternoon.

Brown told Pampa Coach Oil Coffey this morning that he was agreeable to coming here and would notify Coffey later today if it was definite.

Coffey said that he did not plan to stage a big meet with several entries here because it was too hard on the boys and too near the district meets.

The Wichita Falls coach, himself a great runner, was a member of the famed North Texas college team on which the Rideout twins — Blaine and Wayne — ran. Brown is a well-known distance runner.

Brown told Coffey this morning that he would bring about 15 boys here in cars and would spend Saturday night after the meet here. Coffey said he hoped to arrange with local business men to have an informal banquet for both the Pampa and Wichita Falls boys.

The local track team Saturday won the Lubbock district invitation track and field meet, the Pampans breaking three Lubbock records and tying one.

Randall Clay broke the discus and broad jump records, Lonnie Williams passed the mark in the short put and Carl Mayes, 15-year-old first-year star, tied the 100-yard dash mark.

The Harvesters placed ahead of Lubbock, Amarillo, Childress, Plainview and Borger, in that order, in the Lubbock meet.

Whitey Kurowski Key to Success, Failure of Cards

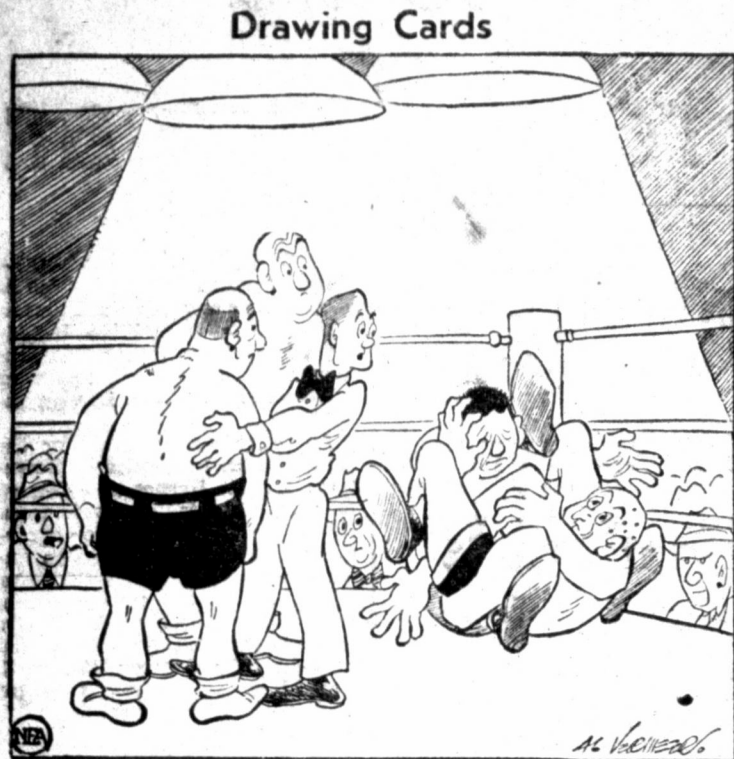

By GAYLE TALBOT
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 25.—(AP)—As most of the Florida-based clubs went into their final full week of training today before breaking camp and heading north, this question was being asked with increasing interest: "Can the St. Louis Cardinals do it without Whitey Kurowski?"

Earlier there was almost unanimity of opinion among baseball men in Florida, at least, that the St. Louis club would romp to the national league title behind its superb pitching.

But many of the boys have begun to waver since it has become apparent that Kurowski, the star-third baseman who hit .323 and drove in 102 runs last season, has no intention of reporting to the Cards at the salary President Sam Breadon is willing to pay him.

They are saying now that unless Breadon can obtain a run-producer in exchange for Kurowski, it is likely to be a very close race, with the Chicago Cubs fully capable of winning out if their pitching stands up.

Unless Kurowski finally reports, or a suitable replacement is obtained, the Cards will enter the race with all their real punch wrapped up in their outfield trio of Stan Musial, Terry Moore and Enos Slaughter. All three can powder a ball—Musial hit a resounding .347 in his last season, 1944—but the club could find itself badly in need of another hitter or two.

"Who, them? That's last week's main event."

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, March 25.—(AP)—They're giving the old Indian game of Lacrosse back to the Indians this year. Vic Starzenski, former Rensselaer coach, is taking steps to introduce the game at the Albuquerque, N. M., Indian school. When he heard that Elroy Hirsch finally has admitted signing with John Keesling's Chicago Rockets, the football giant's Jack Marx commented: "He'll be awfully lonely out there in soldiers field at night." The Boston Braves owners are reported to be thinking seriously about putting a weather proof canopy over their ball park.

WHAT'S THAT AGAIN?

END OF THE LINE

After three Louisiana state coaches were hurt when their car struck a dead mule and turned over, one of them, Red Swanson, received a letter from a Missouri man saying: "If it had been a good Missouri mule, sir, you would never have left the road." And with White Mule they'd never even touch the road.

Snead Captures Greensboro Open

GREENSBORO, N. C., March 25.—(AP)—Professional golfer's touring stars headed for the Charlotte open tournament today on the next-to-last leg of the winter tour with Sam Snead still hotter than a firecracker.

The Greensboro victory, coming on the heels of Jacksonville, Fla. triumph has lifted him into third place among the year's money winners. Yesterday's 270, 10-under par performance over Sedgwick's Country club's 6,720 yard course brought with it a $1,500 top prize in the $7,500 event and boosted his 1946 total to $6,736.38.

The leaders are Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., with $12,619.25 and Egon Nelson of Toledo, Ohio, with $7,602.50. Both are resting until the April 4-7 Augusta Masters' final winter event.

Snead came up with 67 and 66 rounds yesterday to equal the tournament record of 270 set by Hogan. His 66 tied the course record.

Third place went to Lloyd Mangrum, Los Angeles, who had 69-80 yesterday for 279, three strokes ahead of Jimmy Demaret, Houston, Texas.

After three Louisiana state coaches were hurt when their car struck a dead mule and turned over, one of them, Red Swanson, received a letter from a Missouri man saying: "If it had been a good Missouri mule, sir, you would never have left the road." Mild Cream Aids Dry Young Skin

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

There are teen-agers whose skins are dry. These are the exceptions to the rule that the adolescent skin-plaint is over-activity; skin flooded by oil which invites blackheads and dismaying pimples.

We refer to those dry-skinned little girls who after searching probes in mirrors for more entrancing images write to ask if they can, like their mothers, use creams. If so, what kind?

If that's your case you use creams. There are creams so safe that they can be used on babes-in-arms. Where a sensitive skin hasn't taken gracefully to the rigors of winter, my advice to its young owner is to use the same types of bland creams that are prescribed for infants. There are such creams formulated for teen-age users.

These cosmetics keep you safe from the risks of loading a young, active skin with heavy oils. Mother's pet creams and lotions may be the wrong kind, since they're apt to be adult preparations, geared to older, less-active skins.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui, many women say, has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion, thus help build resistance for the "time" to come. Started 5 days before "your time," it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes. TRY IT!

McLean Junior Class Presents Annual Play

McLEAN, March 25.—(Special)—The Junior class of McLean high school presented their annual play Friday night. Their selection this year was "The Cannibal Queen", which was a comedy mix-up in three acts. These students performed before a group of school children Friday afternoon, and in the evening, they repeated the performance before a very large audience.

Between the first and second acts, the third year homemaking girls modeled dresses that they had just completed. Between the second and third acts, Miss Dorothy Clark entertained the audience with two vocal solos, "Symphony" and "Doctor, Lawyer, and Indian Chief."

The play was under the direction of Mrs. Maurine Lacey. The proceeds from this presentation will go into a fund for the Junior-Senior banquet.

New circuits to carry the load on Long Distance...

5 1/2 MILLION CALLS A DAY

In 1938 there were a little less than 3 million long distance calls every day in the United States. In 1942 there were 4 million. Now, more than 5 1/2 million calls crowd the wires every 24 hours.

Some of these calls are delayed, but building and installation of new circuits and equipment (held up by the war) is beginning now to catch up with the increased volume of calls.

Delayed calls will become fewer as this new equipment begins its job of bringing you better and faster long distance service.

ACTION STILL SPEAKS LOUDER THAN WORDS

It would be difficult, we believe, to make an accurate assessment as to the value of the three answers Prime Minister Stalin gave to questions submitted by AP Correspondent Eddy Gilmore. On the surface, they would appear to be just what the peace-loving peoples of the world are looking for from Moscow.

However, the press of America has spent a good deal of overtime within the past few weeks, during the indirect sabre-rattling, seeking to "reason" ourselves into perpetual peace with the Russian people. Our analysts used logic and rhetoric that would be the envy of Demosthenes and Cato, to show that we had never fought with the Russians, our interests did not clash, etc., etc.—but that did not prevent the spurring of a good deal of alarming bad blood.

Conditions have grown progressively worse—and at a time when there was no Russian ambassador in Washington, nor an American ambassador in Moscow. Things could get into a pretty serious predicament under such circumstances. Russian vituperative against "capitalism" has been quite outspoken—against the capitalism that helped save Leningrad and Moscow from the Germans.

Nonetheless, Stalin did answer some questions. Among other things he said "I attribute great significance to the United Nations organization, since it is a serious instrument for the preservation of peace and international security."

But beyond that Mr. Stalin has not been so very convincing. Action, as we so often hear, speaks a good deal louder than words. The only security that we have seen Russia working for so assiduously of late is that which will make Russia safe—if that is possible. Avowedly, Moscow has sought to place the "right" kind of government in power throughout her bordering states.

While Stalin was telling the AP these things, Canada was releasing some information. A former Russian code clerk in the Soviet embassy at Ottawa testified in police court that Fred Rose, under arrest for espionage in Canada, was a "recruiting agent" in Canada.

The clerk said he was exposing the Moscow-directed espionage ring because he had become convinced that Canadian democracy was better than the Russian way of life.

"Stalin answered AP on how to keep world peace: 'It is necessary that the public and ruling circles of the powers organize a worldwide counter-propaganda against the propagandists of a new war, and for the insuring of peace xxx'"

These too are high-sounding words, but, as we said before, they do not speak as loudly as actions.

It is our first responsibility, morally, to expect peace with Russia; but we don't think our nation should sink all our ships, demobilize our armed forces and junk all our planes.

Common Ground

By R. C. HOILES

A Conscience Not Governed By Impersonal Rules

What the world is suffering from most is that too many people are using their consciences that are not governed by any impersonal rules. Most of these people like to use the Golden Rule as a guide and say, "Do unto others as you would have others do unto you."

And yet these people will turn around and advocate plain collective robbery under this personal rule. They have not anchored their consciences to any eternal principle. Theirs might be called a conscience governed by anarchy.

Of course it gives them lots of power. They can always be right according to their consciences. But the trouble is they never learn. They are not anchored to truth. Their will, rather than Divine will, controls.

As Jesus said, "They will, not mine, be done." That simply means that the individual is anchored to a principle; that his conscience is governed by an impersonal, eternal rule or law of nature.

The Most Important Gift

There is one gift that everyone can give to society. It is the gift of the utmost importance, but very few people attempt to give society this gift.

Most people think the giving of some material result is important. It is a great humanitarian act; that it stamps the giver as a wise, benevolent and altruistic person. But gifts of this nature have very temporary benefits; they do not help much or for long.

The real gift that everyone can give to society is the best use of his energy in improving himself; to learn to understand the laws that govern human relations.

The man who does this can help others by teaching them by example; by calling attention to their errors; by teaching them how to help themselves. The whole thought of the most important gift was summed up years ago by Ella Wheeler Wilcox when she wrote: "I gave a beggar from my little store of well-earned gold. He spent the shining ore and came again, and yet again, still cold and hungry, as before. I gave a thought and through that thought of mine He found himself, the man I never saw before. Fed, clothed and crowned with blessings manifold. And now he begs no more."

Entirely too few people are interested in giving this most important gift. Too many of them want to feel that they have done something to have the government take from one to give to another that is going their part for society.

One cannot make a gift of something he does not have. The first thing is to get understanding and that will be the greatest gift that any man can make to society.

In a fundamental way mathematics is responsible for the atom bomb—Dr. Marshall Stone of Harvard University.

More books have been written on Abraham Lincoln than any other man. Napoleon held the record prior to 1910.

THANKS TOM

(The Fort Wayne News-Sentinel)
The fatherly interest which Tom Stokes is taking in the Republican Party and its probable Presidential candidate is enough to touch one's heart.

Tom is afraid that the Republicans are going to be "reactionary," instead of "liberal," and so in order to avoid that he respectfully outlines the great advantages of their selecting a man like good Prince Hal Stassen, of Minnesota, as the GOP stalwart for 1948.

The stunt hadn't been worn through in the past by the Democratic strategists, it would not now be so transparent. It is not likely, however, that Tom and his friends will fool the Republicans for a third time, and then laugh behind their hands at how they put over a fast one on the dupes.

Tom Stokes is no more interested in seeing the Republican win an election than Bob Hannegan. Tom is a New Dealer from any back, and one of the principal syndicated propagandists for the New Deal, left-of-center party line.

Tom is interested only in seeing another New Dealer elected, and to that end he will bend his efforts toward selling to an opposition candidate who has no chance of winning.

Wendell Willkie was the Trojan Horse of 1940, and Dewey, who was an understudy that year, took over the role in 1944. With one of their own candidates in the opposing camp, the New Dealers didn't have a chance to lose.

You will notice, also, that Tom Stokes isn't the only one—far from it—who is praising the qualities of Harold Stassen. And if you look closely enough at those who love Stassen you will find someone who is interested in another New Deal victory.

One of the most striking things about the Stassen build-up is that it comes closely by the Willie pattern. Stassen champions rarely lay down any facts about the Stassen achievements mainly because there have been so few of note. They find, however, that he is a "liberal," and a "progressive," and not an "isolationist."

He believes in everybody's having a job and he can recite on request all the known platitudes about production and employment and human freedom and the hard-won rights of labor and the sanctity of the American home.

Prince Hal's chief claim to fame is that he was once the youngest Governor in the United States, an achievement of highly dubious value, since youth is certainly no yardstick of brain power, and also since it happened in Minnesota which is nationally famous for its erratic experiments in the field of politics. Anyway, nobody ever claimed that he was the best Governor Minnesota ever had, which would be more to the point.

But meanwhile, the Stassen bandwagon, slightly rickety and held together with a spot of glue and a New Deal prayer, hobbles merrily along, as the driver scans the horizon for a new batch of Republican suckers.

QUESTION—The off-again-on-again policy toward Russia pursued by the Truman administration since V-J day has moved fearful and inquisitive members of congress to ask a question which the White House, the state department and army-navy experts cannot answer at the moment. They hope that they will never be forced to make a reply.

In view of Secretary Byrnes' flat declaration that the United States will stand behind the United Nations to block further Soviet aggression and continued violation of wartime and postwar agreements, the M. Cs asked him:

"What are you going to do about it if Stalin vetoes your protests at the next meeting of the security council (March 25, today) or if he keeps on the way he has been going?"

PERTINENT—Mr. Byrnes threw up his hands with a flourish that was both pertinent and funny. In ordinary times it is probable that his answer would be that the U. S., together with Britain and other nations involved in local disputes, would use their armed forces if pressed to that resort.

But the President and the secretary of state know that we do not possess the military might, even in alliance with Britain, to block a Russian invasion of countries in the Middle East or her march toward the oil fields she covets. They are also realistic enough to realize that neither the American nor British peoples (or their legislative bodies) would sanction another conflict.

Washington's secret expectation of a peaceful settlement or compromise in the advent of another American military experts that Moscow likewise is in no position to wage a major war at this time.

SHIFT—Mr. La Follette's analysis of the two parties' more recent trends surprised the republicans who had not thought that their party had grown sufficiently liberal to attract the heir of the famous Wisconsin rebel. But when his statement led them to take inventory, they sensed for the first time that they had shifted from far right toward center since the Harding-Coolidge-Hoover era.

About fifteen of the thirty-five minority men in the senate can be depended on to adopt a broad-minded view of many domestic and foreign questions. None are "professional liberals," but neither are they "bored" reactionaries. They might be called middle-of-the-roaders. There is a similar nucleus in the house.

In this category could be included—though no generalizations can be made—Senators from Vermont, Ball of Minnesota, Brewster and White of Maine, Vandenberg and Ferguson of Michigan, Knowland of California, Morse of Oregon, Smith of New Jersey, Saltonstall of South Carolina, and the G. O. P.'s 1940 and 1944 presidential nominees—Wendell Willkie and Thomas E. Dewey—accepted the basic reforms of the new deal, as did their labor and South Carolina. Nationality for 1948—Messrs. Stassen, Vandenberg, Bricker, etc.—are not regarded as the Hanna Penrose-Hays type of old guardmen.

Nobody in Washington seems to know what our foreign policy is if any, and where we are going, if we are going anywhere—Rep. Alvin E. O'Konski of Wisconsin.

U. S. CRIME--BLACKEST READING ON RECORD

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON—Every 20 seconds last year, somebody in the United States committed a crime, and for that reason FBI's report on U. S. crime for 1945 makes some of the blackest reading on record.

The average day of crime in the United States adds up to 12 accidental killings, 18 murders, 31 rapes, and 163 aggravated assaults. These are the crimes against persons.

In crimes against property, the score card for an average day shows 149 robberies, 662 cars stolen, 811 places burglarized and 2371 other thefts.

The average of the year's 298,000 reported thefts yielded the criminal a $54 haul. The 129,000 burglaries averaged $118 worth of loot, the 22,000 robberies netted the stick-up man $146. There were 241,991 cars stolen—682 a day, 27.6 an hour, right around the clock. But a little over two-thirds of the stolen property was recovered by the police.

In reports from nearly 300 cities of more than 25,000 population, the total value of property stolen is put at $88,000,000. This is a 27 per cent increase over last year and a nice commentary on the nation's increased prosperity.

DON'T BLAME YETS FOR CRIME WAVE
Pointing to some of the high-lights of the annual crime statistics

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover declares that the increase in crime last year is the greatest in 15-year period that his organization has been tabulating figures. It makes a 124 per cent increase in cities and an 84 per cent increase in rural areas, for a total of 1,365,541 major offenses reported by the nation's police.

All these figures do is make good every prediction on the trend towards a postwar crime wave. Only two states last year showed decreases in crime rates. They were North Dakota and South Carolina. Nationally, rape increased five per cent, murders were up to 10 per cent, burglaries 17, and robberies 23.

The increase is in no sense attributed to returning veterans. That is the easy assumption in any post-war year, but it is not borne out by the figures.

"A substantial portion of major crimes," says the report, "is attributable to persons under voting age. Age 17 stood out as the predominating age among arrested persons and age 18 was second. Over half of the arrests represented persons who already had fingerprint arrest records on file in the FBI."

Fifteen per cent of both the boy and girl criminals had previous fingerprint records at age 18. And this figure rose steadily to 42 per cent at age 20. The indicator that the bulk of problem comes from the habitual criminal, who learns to

In Hollywood

NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—The Hollywood Daily press put Eric Johnston on the spot at his first press conference as movie czar, with questions ranging all the way from "Will we have war with Russia?" to "Since you have 'Scarlet Street' fever, what is your temperature?"

"It was pretty tense for a while," Johnston later told a friend. "I don't know what Eric thought when we cornered him alone after the conference. We asked him questions like 'Do you own a sweater?' and 'Do you eat popcorn when you go to the movies?'"

Anyway, he answered them all, confessing that it was the first time anyone in Hollywood had expressed an interest in such things about him. It is about time someone did, though because Johnston is now as much of a movie person as Lana Turner or Clark Gable or Margaret O'Brien or Donald Duck.

But his 16-year-old daughter, Elizabeth, of the Washington, D. C. bobby-sox set, still prefers Van Johnson as a Hollywood favorite.

"REAL" FILM FAN
Eric who is taking up his job as president of the United States chamber of commerce for Will Hays' $100,000-a-year film czar post, said he was a "real" movie fan, going two or three times a month.

He prefers dramatic pictures, he said, and cries from the movies. He dislikes double features—like most of us.

He owns dozens of sweaters, mostly blue, which his wife knits for him. He has special sweaters for skiing and badminton, his favorite sports.

He seemed quite happy about meeting Ginger Rogers backstage at the Academy Award presentation ceremony. Ginger was wearing an unusual dress. "She let me feel it. It felt like oilcloth."

PARIS, March 25.—(AP)—Whenever two or more serious-minded folk get together these days the conversation inevitably arrives at a discussion of whether this war-torn Europe is headed for another conflict.

The danger of a further upheaval does exist. However, war not only isn't inevitable, but the balance is on the side of peace at this writing.

And what has created such a threat does exist. However, war is not only inevitable but the balance is on the side of peace at this writing.

CAIRO, March 25.—(AP)—Divorce is easy for men in Egypt. They just call in the wife, say "go" to her three times and they are free men again.

But for the ladies it is no such simple matter.

"Here a woman not only can't say 'go' one girl told me. 'She can't even say 'come'."

For getting married to a man of her choice is of much more concern to the average educated young Egyptian girl than how she will dispose of him later, if she decides to change her mind.

Gracie Reports

Gracious, I never saw so many people worried about the international situation and our vexing domestic problems. All they talk about is whether we are drifting? My goodness, don't they realize that this week is national doughnut week? When I say that, I knew at least America is back on the road to normalcy.

And personally, I think it's only right that doughnuts should have a week set aside in their honor.

George claims that a doughnut is just a cruller that made both ends meet, but I love them. If you want to make me really happy, just give me a cup of coffee, a doughnut, and a pair of rubber gloves.

Well, now that the doughnut makers are about to have their annual convention, I realize they haven't a very big supply on hand, but couldn't they at least hold a national nylon minute?

The nylon is playing a major role in breaking down these old standards, but a young man embarked on phone courting can't simply ring up his girl at her home. I realize they haven't a very big supply on hand, but couldn't they at least hold a national nylon minute?

In 1930 the Egyptian government helped to make up a financial deficit by putting an overtime charge on phone conversations lasting more than three minutes. Love balanced the budget.

Elopement is practically unknown here. A few upper class fathers would force their daughters into marriage against their will, but virtually no girl would marry against her parent's wishes. It all works out in some sort of family compromise, but a remarkable number of young men seem to get caught.

The girls themselves feel that they have been born in an unhappy time for young love, when the old strict ways are bending under the impact of modernity but haven't broken out. They are freer than their mothers were, less free than their daughters will be.

Texas Today

By JACK RUTLEDGE Associated Press Staff Tens of thousand young men of the southwest will be pleased to hear that James P. Fitch of Dallas has been promoted.

Fitch had been closely connected with Boy Scout work in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and parts of Arkansas and Arizona for 36 years. He has been executive of the Ninth Region since 1919.

On April 1 he will become managing director of the Phillips properties, owned by the Boy Scouts of America. He will move from Dallas to Tulsa, Okla.

When he came to the Ninth Region there were only 12,126 scouts and 14 councils. Today there are more than 90,818 scouts and cubs and over 200 full-time trained professional leaders in the area.

But it wasn't an easy job. Fitch studied his territory in 1919 and found there were at least 7,000 towns capable of supporting one or more troops.

But, if he visited each town bucking the unproved and unmarked maps of the era, he figured it would take approximately 19 years even if he spent just one night per town.

So he worked a system to organize and train local men to serve their own boys. The system worked.

Truman Message

ense and to promote the general welfare and to secure the blessings of liberty for themselves and their posterity. That was then as untried experiment and many doubted whether such a union of free states could long endure. It is fitting to recall that that union also chose as its temporary abode the City of New York.

Although it was later to go through dark days of trial, that union did survive. It grew in strength and has played its part in preserving the blessings of liberty for all mankind. Let us hope that the new and broader union of states which has also chosen New York City as its temporary abode will likewise grow in strength and survive every crisis.

It is, I am sure, the firm resolve of the American people to uphold the charter. I am sure this is the equally firm resolve of all the people of the United Nations who have joined together to preserve the peace under law.

The charter does not sanctify ancient privilege. It does not attempt to outlaw change in an ever changing world. It does, however, obligate all the states, large and small alike, to refrain from the use of force or threat of force, except in the defense of law.

Nations like individuals should do their best to adjust their disputes without resort to litigation. But no nation has the right to take the law into its own hands. It disputes cannot be settled by friendly negotiations, they must be brought before the security council.

That is why the security council must at all times be prepared to act promptly. That is why the security council must be prepared to function continuously. If the United Nations is to endure there must be no excuse or need for any nation to take the law into its own hands.

Upon the security council rests the gravest responsibility for the maintenance of peace and security. It must of necessity deal with problems about which nations in the past have been prepared to fight.

Upon all the members of the United Nations rests the duty to cooperate with the council to enable it to meet its responsibility. They must be willing freely and frankly to discuss their grievances before the council.

Questions affecting the peace of the world must not be treated as questions of honor which cannot be discussed. Questions of honor belong to individuals are no longer left to the ordeal of battle.

We must live by the charter. That is the road to peace. And the road to peace is the road of the peoples of the world want to travel.

We are here to carry out our mandate. We must not let them down.

15-Point Program

are meaningless," the witness declared as he listed these other recommendations:

1. Stop increasing the money supply.
2. Stop decreasing taxes until the budget is balanced.
3. "Stop bunting the public by saying wage increases can be granted without increase in price levels."
4. "Do not fear to increase prices or wages where necessary to get and stimulate production."
5. "Continue price controls, subject to indicated modifications for a year. Allow profit but no profiteering."
6. "Avoid favoritism to any particular group."
7. "Take care of those between the millstones—clerks, government employes, pensioners, et al."
8. "Make surpluses of goods in military hands available to compensate for shortages."
9. "Stimulate x x x small business."
10. "Take stock before blindly lending—make inventories of our goods, our cash, our credit before we increase the pressure on these."
11. "Cut government costs, including federal, state, county and city, x x x."
12. "Eliminate all strikes or lockouts for a year, x x x."
13. "Set up a high court of commerce—a sort of supreme economic counsel which can decide questions involved in the above points and related aspects."

"While we setting up a machinery to stop wars between nations," Baruch said, "we have not solved it within our own gates."

Unless such a step is taken to iron out disputes and work out a program "on the basis of the principles which made this country great," the witness cautioned.

"We shall soon find ourselves in the morass of confusion that will bring us either to fascism or communism and x x x our form of government will have been lost."

On the other hand, he said, an economy of abundance "should guarantee a return to free enterprise in a year."

Declaring that "tragic mistakes" have been made "too many makeshifts," Baruch added that "we will either have to go back and do it right, or, having accepted the mistakes of the past, increase prices to put everyone on a higher plateau."

In calling for a one-year ban on strikes or lockouts, Baruch said this should be "by agreement preferably."

On the subject of foreign loans, the witness said "I am not opposed to helping foreign nations. But until production warrants it, I am opposed to lending them money or assisting them except for direct needs to make purchases when he know they cannot be made here or elsewhere. At this time that would be to increase demand."

UNO Meeting

late yesterday to represent the United States in the Iranian debate. He brought a message of welcome to the United Nations from President Truman and was briefed speech of his own soon after Dr. Quo Tai-chi of China, president of the council, calls the first session to order.

The opening marks the beginning of United Nations as a permanent world peace organization in the United States. Simultaneously the council's military staff committee, high command of the armies destined to carry out the council's orders, arranged to meet secretly at a Manhattan hotel.

Military members said the staff committee would get to work immediately on plans for having each of the United Nations place land, sea and air forces at the disposal of the organization.

Meanwhile the 11-nation atomic commission, made up of the same governments that comprise the security council probably will meet later in the spring, and the security council itself will function in almost continuous session from now on, being forbidden by UNO rules to adjourn at any time for more than two weeks.

The chief issue for the council was the continued presence of Russian troops in Iran beyond the treaty limit of March 2. The big question was how to get them out. This is the question to which Moscow radio seems to have given the answer with its announcement that Russia has started withdrawing them and that the evacuation would be completed in five to six weeks if no trouble developed to stop the operation meantime.

The soviet government thus appeared to have left itself a loophole for a further stay in Iran, and that was one point on which officials hung their reluctance to comment on the agreement in advance of its full official announcement. That announcement was expected here to be made in 24 to 48 hours.

Another point of uncertainty was the state of affairs which might be left in Iran even after the Russians get out in view of the creation of a semi-autonomous state in the Iranian province of Azerbaijan, under soviet protection, and frequent recent reports of a strong independence movement among Kurdish tribesmen in Iran, Turkey and Iraq.

On the bright side of the ledger is an addition to the latest developments in Iran, the Russian withdrawal from the Danish island of Bornholm and the steady red army troop movements out of the Chinese territory of Manchuria.

Birds cannot see blues or violets very well, but they see reds better than do human beings.

OUT OF THE WAR came a new kind of rubber—butyl. Because of its special properties, it makes the finest inner tubes you've ever known. It's tough and strong. It resists splits and tears. And it holds air far longer than ordinary rubber.
United States Rubber Company scientists pioneered in developing butyl inner tubes for the Armed Forces. On every front, in every service, they dramatically surpassed all previous standards of tube performance. Now, U.S. Royal Butyl Tubes are ready for you—to bring you better, safer motoring.
Holds air many times longer... Fights punctures... Makes driving safer.
