Phone Strike

Thus this is how the dispute started. Last December the national federation of 51 local unions met in Milwaukee and decided to ask for a raise of $2 a day. They met in Memphis in mid-February to see what progress they had made.

They found: Perhaps a dozen local unions had settled their wage demands for increases of 7 1/2 to 20 cents an hour; some were still bargaining with their employers; the negotiations of others had broken down.

It was then that the 17 local unions, which already by law had given the government 30-day notice of intention to strike, decided to strike March 7 at 6 a. m. in each locality if they had not reached a settlement.

Then the remaining 34 agreed to support the strikers. Some of those 34 couldn't go on strike because they hadn't filed 30-day notice, or had reached a settlement, or had unexpired contracts which prevented a strike.

"Here's a number I think would look nice on him, Madam! Would you care to slip your hand in the pocket for size?"

Nip Constitution

The proposed constitution vests sovereignty in the people and strips all governmental powers from the emperor.

It replaces the powerful house of peers with a house of councillors who must be elected by all of the people and who may be overridden by the house of representatives on some major issues.

It enumerates a long list of revolutionary individual rights for the Japanese.

It renounces "war as a sovereign right of the nation and the threat or use of force as a means of settling disputes."

The constitution provides for the election of the premier by the diet, but also specifies that the present officers can remain.

The document was formulated after intensive study and consultation with Allied headquarters of the emperor. It also specifies authorization of the diet before property can be given to the imperial house or disbursements can be made by it.

It abolishes the right of peerage to any Japanese and provides for an end to the peerage upon the death of those now holding titles.

Copening with a preamble, "we the Japanese people" and voicing a desire for "peaceful cooperation with all nations," it proclaims the rights and duties of the people and eliminates discrimination.

MacArthur termed the constitution an enlightened document which "has my full approval" and which was drafted after frequent conferences between the Japanese government and Allied headquarters the last five months.

Training Course For Supervisors Begins Tomorrow

A training course for persons in supervisory capacities in local business will open tomorrow night at 7 o'clock at the chamber of commerce offices.

Miss Gertrude Prince, specialist in retail training at the University of Texas, will be in charge of the five classes, which will last two hours each.

This course has been developed especially for Texas merchants. Miss Prince said. It deals with personnel relationships and is being offered to Pampa merchants, managers, buyers and supervisors of all kinds.

"Personnel administration is constantly strengthening its contribution to business," Miss Prince said. "This course is not aimed at cure but at prevention of mistakes."

The first class is to be held tomorrow night, the second Friday night and the last three Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week.

Further information may be obtained by contacting Miss Prince at the Schneider hotel or the chamber of commerce.

Truman Speech

FAIR EMPLOYMENT The President said that if the people "really believed in the brotherhood of man, it would not be necessary to pass a fair employment practices act" to prevent racial discrimination in job-giving, and added:

"If certain interests were not so greedy for gold there would be less pressure and lobbying to induce congress to allow the price control act to expire, or to keep down minimum wages, or to permit further concentration of economic power."

RELIGIOUS FERVOR "A truly religious fervor among our people would go a long way toward obtaining a national health program, a national housing program, and an extended and improved social security program."

Mr. Truman spoke at a special meeting of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America after his arrival from Fulton, Mo., where he introduced Winston Churchill.

He called upon the forces of "decency and righteousness" to make full use of their war-torn freedom to save a world beset by "threats of new conflicts, new terror and destruction."

"There is no problem on this earth tough enough to withstand the flame of a genuine renewal of religious faith," the President said. "And some of the problems of today will yield to nothing less than that kind of revival."

"If the world is long to survive, the gigantic power which man has acquired through atomic energy, must be matched by spiritual strength of greater magnitude. All mankind now stands in the doorway to destruction—or upon the threshold of the greatest age in history. Only a high moral code can master this new power of the universe, and develop it for the common good."

Mr. Truman included in his address an appeal for food sharing "to save the starving millions in Europe and Asia and Africa."

He said America's churches—Protestant and Catholic and the Jewish synagogue—bound together in the American "unity of brotherhood" must provide the "shock forces" to accomplish the "spiritual awakening" necessary to substitute "decency and reason and brotherhood for the rule of force in the government of man."

The President said that "every possible resource of government would be used to reach our goal of 2,700,000 low-cost homes within the next two years," and added:

"The spiritual welfare of our people of tomorrow is going to depend on the kind of home life which our nation has today."

Meeting of Girl Scout Board Members of the Girl Scout board will meet at 1:30 to 3 p. m. tomorrow at the Girl Scout office to appoint representatives to the area executive meeting to be held in Amarillo Thursday and to make plans for the spring association meeting and the Day camp.

The board includes all officers, chairmen of standing committees and Brownie and Intermediate representatives.

Local Workers

(Continued from page 1) wouldn't be able to be handled as in the past, but all emergency calls would go through. Emergency calls are those necessary to the public health and welfare, he stated. If persons abuse the definition of such calls, take advantage of it in any way, it may be necessary to curtail even "emergency calls."

At 8 o'clock tonight members of the local telephone workers union are to meet at the home of Mrs. Lucille Wilson, operator, 407 1/2 N. Hill, to arrange schedules for picket lines and discuss other matters which may be involved.

Union members voted unanimously at a meeting held last week to support the nationwide strike. Texas voted eight to one in favor of supporting the strike. The returns were sent to Memphis headquarters.

Miss Terrell said she may be notified later today or in the morning concerning whether negotiations have been completed and if so the strike would be called off.

Has China applied to Lussia for assumption of China's right to joint control of the Port Arthur naval base?

Policy of Cluster Well Bonus Stopped

AUSTIN, March 6.—(AP)—Railroad Commission Chairman Olin C. Johnson has announced immediate discontinuance of the commission's extension or cluster well bonus wartime measure designed to stimulate development of new oil fields.

A well marking discovery of a new pool or new horizon will continue to receive a bonus allowable production of 20 barrels a day for each 1,000 feet depth up to a maximum allowable of 220 barrels a day for a period of 18 months or until a sixth well is drilled into the horizon, whichever comes first, Culbertson said.

The wartime measure of extending the bonus to the next four wells "following the discovery well, however, is discontinued, he said.

A special order by the commission authorized the Sinclair Refining company to remove and abandon 57 miles of its eight inch pipe line pipeline from Marlin field to Libbey wells to Pure Oil company's Smith Bluff refinery near Nederland.

Other special orders announced by the commission include the following by counties: Hidalgo—Allowable March production of sweet natural gas in the La Blanca field was set at 15,018,839 cubic feet daily.

Panola—Long Star producing company, Brown Lake and others were granted permission to return pipeline gas produced from processing well gas produced from the upper Pettit horizon in the Carthage field to the formation from which it is produced.

Bandol—Allowable March production of sweet natural gas in the Carthage field was set at 217,151,000 cubic feet daily.

BY PERSONS UNKNOWN

The congressional investigating committee has completed its three-month inquiry into what happened at Pearl Harbor. It has taken some 4,500,000 words of testimony, accumulated some 20 pounds of exhibits. The net result seems to be utter confusion.

There will be a majority report that probably will clear the administration of all blame. There will be a minority report that probably will place much blame in and near the White House.

Upon only one thing can an agreement be anticipated. Presumably both sides will concede that somebody blundered. Without partisanship or prejudice, solely on the committee's record, an objective analyst might well paraphrase the well-known coroner's jury verdict and say that "the American navy was left to its death by a person or persons to us unknown."

The inquiry has been a disappointment. That is not merely because it did not find a scoundrel or even an acceptable goat. So many made such human mistakes, apparently, that even ultimate history may have trouble reaching categorical conclusions. What is hardest to forgive is the atmosphere of cheap partisanship in which the committee functioned from beginning to end.

The one who is at all familiar with political and propaganda methodologies, it was apparent throughout that each party had entered the inquiry with a bill of goods to be sold. Instead of seeking honestly to find out how our fleet came to be surprised and almost annihilated, so that we might guard against any repetition, each side spent its time trying to find or twist evidence to support its preconceptions.

If anybody yet has produced a conclusion that may hope to stand the test of time, perhaps it was Lt. Col. George W. Bicknell, who was General Short's assistant chief of intelligence, who said:

"I feel that we might expect another Pearl Harbor unless we can develop an intelligence service that is co-ordinated and efficient and made available to all agencies through one central point."

To which he added what seems a very fair summary of the 150,000-page hearings:

"It was not a question of personnel. It was the system that was wrong."

Common Ground

By R. C. HOILES

The Question No Union Advocate Can Answer

The question that always stumps everyone who attempts to defend unionism, is the question of seniority. They always evade it or sidestep the question or deliberately tell untruths about it.

I recently attended a forum at which a representative of the Merchants and Manufacturers Assn. was a speaker and a representative of the United States Steel Workers CIO organization was also a speaker. Neither the representative of the Merchants and Manufacturers or the labor union really understood or believed in free enterprise. It was rather a sad discussion, when free enterprise was defended by a man who believed in labor unions collective monopoly.

The steel representative was Mr. Ed Hollingshead. He was asked whether the CIO practiced seniority and if it did not practice seniority, then how could the slow worker compete with the fast worker. Of course, he had no answer for this. He brazenly and untruthfully claimed the employer was permitted to be the judge of efficiency. The facts of the matter are that if the employer is privileged to select his help, the higher the union forces wages the more difficult it is for the slow and inefficient man to get a job. In fact as the wages go up the more workers are unable to get or hold a job. Every worker who cannot produce an amount equivalent to his wage, becomes unemployed. Then, of course, he goes on the dole and those who are working have to be taxed to support him so that in the long run the union does not even help the efficient worker who can get a job because of his efficiency.

On the other hand, if the labor union does the selecting, then the judgment of the man with superior competence who had to stand the loss of bad promotions, is practically lost to the organization and to society. Society suffers a great loss by having men promoted or selected who will promote the labor unions' ideas of efficiency rather than those of the employer who has demonstrated his efficiency by the fact of the accumulation of his capital.

And this Mr. Hollingshead had the nerve to tell the audience that the CIO let the employer be the judge of efficiency. He did this at the very time the CIO representatives in Detroit were demanding that a union instead of the General Motors should have the final say as to promotions and transfers and selection of help.

And this selecting of help and being able to reward or promote the workers that the proprietor believes are efficient will largely determine the cost of goods. When the proprietor has the right to promote, if he promotes wrongly, he loses, as well as the public. When the CIO, or the union, determines who can be promoted, the union leaders gain for the time being as long as they keep control and can collect dues. But the public and the stockholders pay the bills for the mistakes the union labor leaders who do the promoting. It is a case of power without being penalized for mistakes when the labor union selects and promotes. But when the employer selects and promotes, the man who makes the mistakes is the principal sufferer. That is the

YOU OWE $2,678!

(New Haven, Conn.) Register
The figures of the Citizens' National Committee, Inc., showing that each citizen of Connecticut carries a burden of $2,678 as his per capita share of the United States federal debt, offer food for sober thought. The per capita share of the citizens of this state is the fifth highest among the 48 states and District of Columbia. The total debt burden upon Connecticut is one of $4,682,000,000. This is a tremendous amount of money, a burden which will be felt for many years to come.

It is well to realize, in consideration of the mortgaged future which each citizen faces, that this individual debt figure is computed upon the basis of the $238,682,600,000 federal debt as of June 30, 1945. That debt has since soared to even higher proportions. Its peak has not as yet been reached. It is not debatable, we owe to ourselves. It is one which must be paid, by the citizens of today and by their children and their children. It should bring home to every citizen the imperative need for insistence upon federal economy.

Reduction of this debt burden can only be accomplished on the day that a balanced national budget is achieved. Even then, it will take a long, hard pull. There must be no delay permitted.

Texan Says Why Not Just Produce More

AUSTIN, March 6.—(AP)—Why not ask farmers to produce 25 percent more food instead of asking Americans to consume 25 percent less, state commissioner of agriculture J. E. McDonald today asked President Truman in a telegram.

In order for the farmers to produce 25 percent more food, McDonald said, the OPA would have to abolish or lift its price ceilings lifted; or there would be no profit in increasing farm production.

way it should be. He thus will use his best judgment. He will be very careful. If we are to attempt to harmonize our human relations with the teachings that man repeats what he sows, he must permit the owner of tools to select the men who will use them to the best advantage. The labor unions are attempting to discard this rule and let men reap power without having demonstrated their ability to use power.

When The Tenant Moves Out

news behind the news

By RAY TUCKER
HEAD—Two weeks ago tomorrow President Truman gave his top-notch economic advisers a valentine they will not soon forget. He told them, quietly but firmly, that he was the head man in the Washington lot and that he intended to act in that capacity for the next two years at least. He warned them that they must stop squabbling and go back to work.

Mr. Truman had summoned his aides to the cabinet room to give them his final word on the wage-price program for which the nation had been waiting many weeks during the steel strike. He also called them to announce changes in his economic stabilization household.

Among those on hand for the mid lecture were Fred M. Vinson, secretary of the treasury; Reorganization Director John W. Snyder; Price Administrator Paul Porter; former Stabilization Director John C. Collet; Clinton P. Anderson, secretary of agriculture, and a few other key figures.

They assembled in an atmosphere of uneasiness and tension because of growing popular dissatisfaction with the administration's wavering policies, mounting criticism from prominent democrats on Capitol Hill and reports that some present might be demoted or even fired.

PROGRAM—President Truman explained his new wage-price program—a bulge but not a break through the line he characterized it—and then announced the reshuffling of his economic cabinet. He quieted all humors by shifting Chester Bowles to the office of stabilization and Mr. Porter to the post of price administrator. He made clear Mr. Snyder would remain his principal advisor as reconversion director.

"That is the plan," continued Mr. Truman. "I expect everybody to pitch in and make it work. I know you can make it work. Now it's up to you to do it."

AP World Traveler

BERN, March 6.—Switzerland's fixed policy of absolute neutrality which has existed in principle for some four and a half centuries, raises a tough problem in her relations with the United Nations organization, which thus far hasn't announced a new method whereby membership can be accorded to neutrals, as such that is, states that claim special exemptions.

We are likely to hear a good deal about this before long because the questions seem bound to arise whether Switzerland is to be given preferential treatment. But they would about as soon give up one of their beloved Alps as their neutrality, and if you will glance at your maps of Europe you will begin to see why.

Switzerland lies in the heart of the continent and it is the crossroads of the shortest routes from north to south and from west to east. That puts this little country of some 16,000 square miles decidedly on the spot, perched as it is on its mountain peaks among Germany, France and Italy. Trouble among the major powers always meant grave danger for invasion for Switzerland.

But that's not the whole story. The population of the Swiss federation of 22 cantons is drawn chiefly from three races—German, French, and Italian. German is spoken by about two millions, French by close to a million and Italian by the balance.

Now one can see with half an eye that if Switzerland had abandoned her neutrality in a war involving France, Germany or Italy, she would not have invited invasion but heartburnings among her own people. Indeed, internal troubles might have resulted.

As the Swiss put their case, they have full confidence in the allied leaders who fought for the liberty of the world. They would gladly accept an invitation to join the United Nations if they were not involved, but as things now stand the question would have to be submitted to the Swiss people in a plebiscite. The consensus here is that the answer would be "no."

COACH—He talked, as one of those present describes it, like a football coach between the halves when his team needs an injection of pep to make it do its best. He asked for and obtained individual pledges of cooperation. It was a unique meeting for a President and his family.

The program was promulgated immediately and the steel strike ended soon thereafter. Mr. Snyder hopped a train for Detroit, where he delivered a back-to-work address that was a paraphrase of the chief executive's earlier talk. Mr. Bowles trudged to Capitol Hill to try to persuade legislators to extend anti-inflation controls.

Wall Street, which had been buying and betting on a sharp inflationary trend, reacted with a fall in the prices of stocks.

ANSWER—Numerous critics, including former Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia, have asked why it took so long for Mr. Truman to make up his mind about a general wage-price program. They want to know why manufacturers were not given their $5-a-ton increase many weeks ago, sparing the nation the strike that crippled heavy industry.

Mr. Truman has given the answers many times. He repeated it to the latter saw him a week or so ago. "I am no Superman and I know it. I am just going to do the very best I can. I know that I can't do it all. I expect to pick good men to help me.

"If they do a good job, I'll fire them alone. If they don't, I'll fire them."

He fired nobly on St. Valentine's day. But he told them to go to work and make the new program work—or else.

SAVINGS—Federal and private statisticians' studies tend to refute the theory that millions of normally low-paid Americans possess a vast store of savings as constructive purchasing power or as a hoard against economic reverses. It appears from these surveys that the bulk of the rainy day money or securities is held by the banks, life insurance companies, investment corporations and the higher bracketed.

It has been established that about thirty billion dollars' worth of the treasury's E bonds, the most popular issue with the ordinary buyer, has been sold to the folks with incomes below $5,000 a year. In the aggregate that is a large amount. But the breakdown presents an entirely different picture to the practical economist.

VAULTS—Folks earning $2,000 or less a year have an average holding of approximately $250. Those with incomes below $1,500 or $4,000 have salted away an average of about

Attorney General Rules on Payment
AUSTIN, March 6.—(AP)—Money to pay an extra deputy in the district clerk's office at Victoria may be taken from the county officers salary fund, the attorney general ruled.

Victoria asked for the opinion because a clerk who was injured in an automobile accident had to be temporarily replaced by the extra deputy.

In another opinion the Wharton county attorney was informed that school district applying for transportation aid only, and not complying with other provisions of the 4th legislative rural aid law concerning salary and tuition aid are not entitled to transportation aid.

In the district in question, teachers' salaries paid out of local funds are higher than the scale set in the rural aid act.

Horse traders: sell age by counting teeth.
So does a valley bus driver, says the Valley Morning Star of Harrison.
He got the idea when he asked an elderly woman the age of her little girl. The woman silently grasped the child's chin, forced open the girl's mouth, and mumbled driver James Bullington to take a look.
"She had a full set of teeth, so I charged her full fare," he said.

Peter Edson's Column:

ABOUT THIS WAGE-PRICE INTERPRETATION

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON.— Interpretations and regulations governing the administration of Executive Order 9597 will be coming out any day now, but it will take two or three months of actual experience to tell what the wage-price policy means and how it's going to work.

That's always the way it is with these economic controls. The top guys issue a broad directive in sweeping generalities. Then the men who have to carry it out worry for a week or so, rewriting the order in more specific language which the leaders of labor and management can understand. Then the prescription gets tried on the dog—meaning the public—to see whether it kills him, cures him, or leaves him no better off than he was before.

E. O. 9597 looks innocent enough on paper. The orders says it is intended to "promote the continued stabilization of the economy." But the order also makes it a lot easier for labor to get wage increases and for business to get price increases. And how stabilization can be continued while prices are permitted to rise on the one hand and wages on the other, is something that will require some awfully fancy language to interpret.

The brake which the government is now authorized to apply in achieving stabilization is the limitation of profits to the 1936-39 levels. That might well prove to be a completely worthless brake. Suppose a gadget cost one dollar to produce in 1936-39, and suppose it sold for two dollars. Suppose now, through the granting of wage increases, it costs a dollar and a half to make this same gadget. With the same profit margin, it would have to sell for two dollars and a half. That may be stabilizing profits, but it certainly isn't stabilizing wages or prices.

ENDAGERS ENTIRE PRICE-CONTROL STRUCTURE
Nevertheless, Stabilization Administrator Chester Bowles seems satisfied that the new order will accomplish the desired objective. Bowles apparently thinks the "bulge" will be only in manufactured goods, which will affect a mere 10 per cent of the cost of living. It is his opinion that the controls will act on food, rent and clothing, the three principal items in the index of prices.

But the pressures to break these controls are now greater than ever before. A new minimum wage law would increase the costs of both foods and textiles. Furthermore, food and textile increases are being granted to secure more production of the items still in short supply. Incentive increases are also being given the producers of building materials to get greater production. And farm-bloc congressmen are talking loudly about changing the party formula so as to include the cost of the farmers' own labor in determining so as to include cost of farm products.

Even with the price control and stabilization acts renewed until June 30, 1947—in spite of all the pressures against them—Executive Order 9597 has made it much easier to get both wage and price increases and there are many people who do not share the Bowles confidence that everything is going to be dandy.

AFI BRANDS POLICY
MISTAKEN RETREAT
The suspicion grows that the new wage-price policy will merely legalize creeping inflation. If that suspicion is correct, the soundest unofficial interpretation yet made is that of the American Federation of Labor, which thinks the new policy is a retreat from stabilization and a horrible mistake. The A. F. L. argument is simply that grant price increases to pay for wage increases merely raises the wage-earners' cost of living and leaves them no better off than they were before.

The first few weeks after the new regulations and interpretations of E. O. 9597 are issued will probably be a period in which everyone will be feeling his way. Few employers will be willing to take a chance on granting a wage increase unless they know in advance price increases will be forthcoming. And either the wage stabilization law or the office of price administration will be making many hasty decisions on the first few appeals submitted. For these first few decisions will set the precedents for the hundreds of thousands of cases that are sure to follow.

IPAA President Outlines Four-Point Program Essential to Oil Production

WICHITA FALLS, March 6—In an address by Major B. A. Hardey, president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, before the North Texas Oil and Gas association in annual meeting at Wichita Falls, Tex., Friday, a four-point program was outlined as prerequisite to a healthy and solvent producing industry.

Hardey, independent operator of Shreveport, asserted that the adoption of the whole program is necessary if the producing branch of the oil industry is to remain in business. Under presently existing conditions, he pointed out, the independent producers are threatened with total and absolute extinction. The entire question, Hardey affirmed, is not the sole consideration of the oil operator, but is equally vital to the public which relies upon the oil produced from all the nation's wells.

PROGRAM OUTLINED

The program as outlined calls for: immediate removal of price restrictions and controls by the office of price administration; 2, a national oil policy on importation of cheap crude oil produced in foreign countries should be adopted by the congress, and imports should be restricted to the point where they will not stagnate the domestic industry which is already burdened with high production costs; 3, the different oil producing states through their regulatory bodies should maintain production quotas that are not in excess of consumptive demand. Any production above market requirements induces physical and economic waste; 4, the continuation of an equitable tax policy by the congress recognizing the hazards peculiar to the business of finding and producing petroleum.

LAW OF SUPPLY AND DEMAND

"There is no reason to continue price controls in any industry where no scarcity exists," Major Hardey pointed out, "and today the petroleum industry is producing more oil than the market can absorb. Stocks of gasoline have reached an all-time peak, and in many parts of the United States gasoline is now selling below OPA price ceilings. Thus we see that economic forces within the industry are again working to relieve us of war time restrictions and let us again live under the law of supply and demand. Until this is done we are hampered in our efforts to properly serve the consuming public."

NEED IMPORT QUOTAS

Hardey stated that imports of foreign oil during recent weeks have reached an all-time high, and unless import quotas are set by congress to protect the domestic producer, this country will be glutted with cheap foreign oil which will benefit only a few importers, will not benefit the consuming public, but instead will put thousands of crude oil producers out of business and seriously stagnate the entire petroleum industry in this country. In concluding, Hardey stated that the present is possibly the most crucial time in the history of the industry, and that the problem is the direct responsibility of all who are interested in the welfare of the domestic industry, and is of vital concern to the society of the entire nation.

Landmark For Peace

WAR-BOOM PRICES FOR CATTLE ALTER FEEDING PROCESS

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON, March 6—(AP)—War-boom prices for lower grades of beef may have altered somewhat the long-established feeding operations of cattlemen, say agriculture department officials, but the change is considered spotty and temporary.

Reviewing the past and citing figures on feeding activities, they declare the normal pattern of shipping western feeder cattle into corn belt lots still is followed by most growers. Noting some reported soval exceptions, where heavy steers have brought almost as much as well fed beef, they declared that on the whole there has been a premium paid for better grades.

Trading on the Chicago market during the week ended Feb. 9 was cited. The average price paid for common beef steers there in that period was $11.92 per 100 pounds, while the average price for choice and prime steers was $17.53. In early 1919, just after the last war, the range for these grades was from $11.25 to $19.10.

Consumer preference has run toward animals of good finish, with a consequent spread of considerable degree in normal times in the price between animals grading choice and those grading common. This differential has been less marked during the war years, principally because of the price ceiling structure and the extremely heavy demand for meat.

The over-riding ceiling of $18 per hundred pounds on live cattle allows the packer to pay only so much for the stock he buys and make it possible to sell the beef at the price ceilings established on the finished product. The heavy demand pushed up prices on the lower grades, thus narrowing the spread between prices paid for the two qualities.

The number of cattle on feed for market on Jan. 1, 1946, was 4 percent smaller than a year earlier. The estimated number on feed in all important feeding states was 4,157,000 head, compared with 4,324,000 head on Jan. 1, 1945, and 4,051,000 average for the five-year period of 1940 to 1945. In the twelve north central states, which include the corn belt, there was a decrease this year of 5 percent from Jan. 1, 1945; the estimates were 3,310,000 and 3,473,000 head.

The number of cattle and calves estimated on feed in Texas as of Jan. 1, 1946, was 115,000 head, as compared with 150,000 a year earlier. The number on feed on Jan. 1 for each of the years in the 1940 to 1945 period: 1940—144,000; 1941—168,000; 1942—135,000; 1943—194,000; 1944—130,000. The average for the five years was 164,000.

These estimates included only cattle being fattened for market as a more or less distinct agricultural enterprise, and excludes small operations incidental to dairy and general farming. These are the cattle the producer the "commercial" or better grades.

The Whole Year Through

Connie Mack Laboring Hard with 54 Players

By GAYLE TALBOT WEST PALM BEACH, March 6.—(AP)—Baseball's most remarkable specimen, the 83-year-old Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics, is laboring mightily with 54 assorted athletes here, and about the best he found to say was: "It isn't as bad as I expected it to be."

What the venerable president and manager had expected must have been horrible, for it is difficult to see wherein he detects a gleam of light in connection with the coming American league race.

His team was a solid last in 1945, and it figures to finish there again this year.

It is not as if the first citizen of Philadelphia were not trying. In his desire to build just "one more" great club before he hands over the job to his son, Earl Mack, Connie is driving himself harder than in many years and he is spending his available money with a lavish hand.

"We will be stronger than last season," he has said. "We have some great men coming back, and we have some splendid young prospects, especially a half-dozen young pitchers."

"But my young men probably are at least a year away, and the other teams also are going to be much stronger than they were."

It is easier to say what the Athletics do not have than to portray their gifts. Their pitching is extremely uncertain, and their catching only moderately promising.

They do not have a double play combination in sight, and they have only one outfielder of proved big league caliber—Sam Champam, who has been in the service four years.

New Mexico Star Still Leads Cage Scorers With 591

By TED MEIER NEW YORK, March 6.—(AP)—If he gets "hot" in his last two games against Bradley Tech and Beloit this week, Big George Mikan of DePaul has a chance to return to first place in the national collegiate individual high scoring basketball race.

The Associated Press weekly tabulations today showed Elmore Morgenthaler of New Mexico Mines leads the scoring at 591 points, followed by Bill Hall of Marshall at 572 and Fred Lewis of Eastern Kentucky at 516.

Mikan, the No. 1 shooter on an average-per-game basis at 23.1, ranks fourth at 509 points and apparently has only an outside chance of catching Morgenthaler and Hall.

Table with 5 columns: Name, School, Pts, Fg, Ft, Pts Ave. Lists top scorers like Mikan, Depaul, and Mikan, Depaul.

Tracksters To Try For AAU Entry at Texas Meet June 28

SAN ANTONIO, March 6.—(AP)—Texas track and field stars will have to qualify in order to enter the National A. A. U. outdoor track and field meet here in Alamo stadium June 28 and 29.

Ralph Hammonds, president of the South Texas A. A. U. sponsor of the national meet, stated that a Texas state-wide track and field meet will be held here Friday afternoon and night, June 14, in order to keep the national event from being flooded with entries from Texas points.

The elimination meet will be staged by the South Texas A. A. U. It will be underwritten by that organization and the San Antonio Express-Evening News Athletic association.

Follett Girl Cage Team Rated Tops in State Tournament

HILLSBORO, Tex., March 6.—(AP)—Eight games will open the annual high school girls basketball tournament here tonight with top-seeded Follett and Aquila playing in the same bracket.

Follett, winner of 40 straight games, met Dialville and Aquila, defending champion and winner of 31 consecutive contests, will play Sweeney. Should Follett and Aquila both win they will meet each other in the quarter-finals.

Other top-rated sextets are Cooper, winner of 33 out of 35 games; Union, (Lamesa), winner of 33 out of 35; and Seagoville, victor in 33 of 35.

May tonight will be on three courts at Abbott, Bynum and Hillsboro. Quarter-finals tomorrow night, semi-finals Friday night and finals Saturday all will be played here.

Browns Sell Sigmund Jakucki To Missions

ANAHEIM, Calif., March 6.—(AP)—Sigmund (Jack) Jakucki, St. Louis Browns pitcher who had several disagreements with Manager Luke Sewell last year, has been sold to San Antonio of the Texas league.

General Manager Bill DeWitt announced today. DeWitt said he had tried to make a deal with other major league clubs for the eccentric right-hander but was unsuccessful, and that he decided to put Jakucki with one of the Browns' farm clubs.

Death of Negro May Cause Bill Eck To Quit Ring for Good

ALLENTOWN, Pa., March 6.—(AP)—Heavyweight Bill Eck of Allentown "doughts" if he'll "ever box again" because his last opponent died without regaining consciousness after Eck knocked him out.

The victim of the fight tragedy was Nat Hines, a Philadelphia Negro. He died last Monday morning, 59 hours after he was kayoed in the sixth round of a Philadelphia Cambria club match Friday.

"I'll gladly box any opponent they secure for me in a benefit for the Nat Hines' family," Eck said last night, "but otherwise I doubt if I'll ever box again."

IONORABLY DISCHARGED Letors Donette, CY. USN, son of A. H. Doucette, 211 N. Ford, was discharged Feb. 23 from the U. S. naval service at Terminal Island, San Pedro, Calif., after over four years of service.

A salesman with the Pampa Wholesale Co., at the time of his enlistment, Jan. 27, 1942, Letors plans to return to his former job. He was overseas five months, serving at Yokosuka, Japan, and was last stationed at the Norfolk navy yard, Portsmouth, Va. He is eligible to wear the American and Asiatic-Pacific ribbons and Good Conduct and Victory medals.

Training Camp

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 6.—(AP)—Louis Cardinals manager Eddie Dyer says he plans to open the regular season with Terry Moore, Enos Slaughter and Stan Musial as his first-line outfield trio.

ANAHEIM, Calif., March 6.—(AP)—General manager Bill Dewitt of the St. Louis Browns has sent another contract to holdout shortstop Vernon Stephens at Stephens' nearby Long Beach home. Dewitt wouldn't comment as to the changes from the contract Stephens had rejected.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 6.—(AP)—The 1946 Philadelphia Athletics team will be good, even excellent, on the field—but they can't hit. Manager Connie Mack says he's convinced of that.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 6.—(AP)—There are too many ball players at the Philadelphia Phillies training camp. Manager Ben Chapman says he hopes to open the Blue Jays farm-club at Rock Hill, N. C. on March 15 instead of April 1. "There aren't enough coaches to go around," he said.

LAKELAND, Fla., March 6.—(AP)—Pat Mullin, speedy Detroit Tiger rightfielder who hasn't played a baseball game in the last four seasons, was optimistic today over possibilities of picking up his interrupted career. Mullin forced out of the 1941 campaign with a shoulder injury after hitting .345 for 54 games, reported after some hard throwing practice yesterday his arm "feels fine and isn't nearly as stiff as expected to be."

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 6.—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians were cheered today by a report from Mrs. Ken Keltner that her navy husband is on his way back from duty in Hawaii.

AVAILON, Calif., March 6.—(AP)—Manager Charley Grimm began a thorough study of Bill Nicholson's batting style today as the former national league home run and run-batted-in champion returned to the Chicago Cubs' camp. Nicholson batted only .243 in a disappointing 1945 season.

PASADENA, Calif., March 6.—(AP)—Catcher Mike Tresh, who has been a holdout, arrived in the Chicago White Sox camp yesterday in time to watch coach Bing Miller's team beat, 8-7, the club coached by Mike Haas.

Whole Town Follows Eula Basketball To State Tournament

ABILENE, Texas, March 6.—(AP)—The Eula high school basketball squad of 10 left today with Coach W. T. Gassiot for Austin to compete in the state schoolboy basketball tournament.

Tomorrow some 40 fans will journey to Austin by school bus to root for their favorites in the big meet. Since Eula has a population of 50; it can be seen that there won't be many folks in the little Callahan county community at home to visitors for the next three or four days.

Eula, smallest town in the tournament and perhaps the smallest in the history of the event, was the surprise winner of the tough Region 2 Class B tournament here last week, beating Sonora, Lingville and Priddy in that order.

Gassiot's team has played 46 games over a stretch of four months—losing only eight.

Two of the Eula athletes—forward Van Dean Reitherford and center Keith Somers—Lingville and Priddy in that order.

Gassiot's team has played 46 games over a stretch of four months—losing only eight.

Put-ting About

By GOLFF CLUBS Had another big turn out of golfers Sunday in spite of the high wind. It takes more than a high wind to stop the lads and lassies. Looks like another big year.

Emmett Gee really is an artist on that putting green. Ain't he, boys?

DeLea Vicars had a nice game Saturday afternoon. He was top man in the group.

Don't look now but Hagen and Howard both played golf Saturday. Harry Coombs will attest to this. Harry says the boys didn't do bad.

The lefthanders were really out in bunches over the week end. One of them flew out to left field twice Sunday; but so did the Pro, so what.

Saw Dan Gribbon and his son-in-law, Bill Lank, playing a hot game. Nice to have you back, Bill.

The road from the end of the pavement in Browning to the Country club lane and beyond should be named Avenue 'la Garbage. Or perhaps Refuse boulevard would be more fitting.

A genuine motorman's glove will be awarded the first player making a hole-in-one on the course this year.

GOVERNOR TO SHOW FORT WORTH, March 6.—(AP)—Gov. Coke R. Stevenson will take part in the official opening of the 50th annual southwestern exposition and fat stock show Friday officials of the event have announced.

There are some grounds to feel that Russia is holding back from (UNO) cooperation. But this is also true of other nations—Harold E. Stassen, former Governor of Minnesota.

Do "Plate-Sores" Bother You? If your "GUMS" itch, burn, or cause you discomfort, drugs will return money if the first bottle of "LETOS" fails to satisfy. Cretney's, adv.
