Some of the members of the informal committee calling on the congressman told him that the only way they could keep their doors open to the public would be to serve vegetarian dinners.

Commenting on this Rep. Worley informed the group that a check had been made by the department of agriculture and showed an exact count of 80 million head of cattle the nation today, of which half are dairy cattle and the other half beef cattle.

Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Notebook

By FRANK BRUTTO

ROME—(AP)—We puffed up the Salita Del Grillo (the cricket's climb) and when the Collegio Angelicum—a sudden green Shanghai—unfolded before us, felt like an intruder from a world where headlines shouted of atomic war.

Here, beyond the rumble of Rome's traffic is the international center of the Friars preachers, more commonly known as the Dominicans. In a cool corridor, a solitary priest, whose black and white habit and round black trimmed hat gave him the appearance of a swallow, closed his book and fluttered toward us. We began in Italian.

"But," he interrupted to ask, "you are American?"

"Yes—and you, too?"

"No," he smiled. "I'm Irish." His accent, like a remembered note, sent us spinning back a couple of decades to school days at Spokane, Wash., to the dormitory windows at Gonzaga where we used to watch the sun shine on the roofs of St. Michael's—a forgotten world. Here it was again, quiet, gentle, peaceful and deaf.

The priests walked in twos and threes. Through an archway could be seen the guided angels of Rome's grandest monument—to Vittorio Emanuele II. In another direction was the coliseum and below, Trajan's forum—all very near, yet far away.

"Yes," explained our guide, "it will be our first election in 17 years. The war prevented our gathering here in 1941."

He briefly related the order's history mentioning such names as the scientists doctors, Albert the Great and St. Thomas Aquinas, the order's founding of St. Dominic in the 13th century to kindle the Christian spirit by preaching and corporate poverty the four Dominican popes for ill-fated missions; how the new master general (the Rev. Emanuel Suarez, of Spain, elected Saturday) would be the 80th in the long order of succession.

He told how all 110 delegates to the elective chapter—there are nine from the United States—went a few days ago to Bologna, where, unnoticed by the press, the relics of St. Dominic were unearthed from their secret hiding place where they had lain through the war and carried back in triumph to their ancient tomb in the church of St. Dominic, decorated by Michelangelo in 1494.

"The people of Bologna," said our guide, "promised to guard the relics if their city was spared. And the city was spared.

"Fifty thousand of them joined in the procession. Oh, that was a sight, a grand sight."

Wise Wives Inspire Helpful Husbands

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer
One of the chief complaints wives have against husbands is that they never do anything around the house.

Maybe the husbands whose wives do the most complaining about this matter have wives who don't know:

That a wife should not assume, when her husband surprises her by taking on a household task once, that it should there-

Ruth Millett after he is responsible. This scares a man into a state of mind where he is afraid to be helpful when he does have the urge to be.

That a husband needs an audience—one willing to participate by fetching and carrying—when he sets out to do a repair job around the house or to work in the yard.

That men don't like advice when they are doing a job. Their reaction to feminine advice is: "Well, if you know how to do it, next time you can do it yourself."

That it is better to let the grass grow a foot high than to try to nag a husband into mowing the lawn. Someday it will get to the point where he is ashamed of it, too.

MEN LIKE TO LECTURE
That men like to lecture while they work—and that if a woman wants a job done she had better be willing to learn while her man works, even if it's a job she never intends to do herself.

That you can't over-do your praise and your admiration for a job well done. If you want the help to continue, forget the shelves that fell down after you had filled them with your summer's canning and remember the job that turned out okay.

Long Island is nearly 120 miles long.

Here Is the Latest News about Chevrolet Deliveries

Everybody from factory to dealer is doing everything that can be done to speed deliveries to you

We have been informed by the Chevrolet Motor Division that the past month has witnessed only a slight improvement in the rate of production of new Chevrolet passenger cars. As a result, shipments of new cars to dealers for delivery are still far below the level we and the factory had hoped to obtain by this time.

We know that Chevrolet is doing everything possible to step up its production totals—to ship more and more cars to us and to its thousands of other dealers throughout America...

Disappointing as the total figures have been—and despite the fact that Chevrolet was out of production entirely during the first three months of the year—it is nevertheless true that Chevrolet led all other manufacturers in production of passenger cars during June 1946, and has continued to maintain its lead in total production from that day to this.

We shall continue to make deliveries of new Chevrolets to our customers just as fast as we receive them; we regret delays as deeply as you do; we thank you for your friendly patience and understanding; and we promise you a new high motoring experience when you take delivery of your new Chevrolet, giving BIG-CAR QUALITY AT LOWEST COST!

Blind Man Given 20-Year Sentence

OKLAHOMA CITY—(AP)—District Judge Lucius Babeok today sentenced Orbie T. Guthrie, 42-year-old blind second hand store dealer, to 20 years in the penitentiary for the slaying of his former mother-in-law.

Guthrie was convicted Sept. 17 by a district court jury of first degree manslaughter in the shooting of Mrs. Elizabeth Hinds last March. The state's principal witness was Guthrie's divorced wife—Katherine Hickman—also blind.

At his trial, Guthrie pleaded self-defense.

Most Washingtonians Know Very Little About How Country Is Run

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON—(AP)—If you don't know much about how the country is run, you have plenty of company.

But if you think that surely the people in Washington must be up on things like that, you're wrong. Many people here—top officials and others—have a broad knowledge of the workings of government.

But the majority of Washingtonians—and that would be government clerks and those in business—seem to be like people elsewhere.

They have a single job to do. They do it. It's not their job to know how the whole thing runs. For example:

The Washington Post recently took a poll of people living in Washington, D. C., is run by a board of three commissioners appointed by the President. The Post polltakers asked:

"Do you know the title of the official or officials who are at the head of the district government?"

Only 46 percent of those asked could say they were living under a commission form of government. Fewer knew the commissioners' names.

Then the polltakers moved over into nearby Virginia and found that only 45 percent of those they questioned knew the name of their congressman.

If you want to spend some nights getting a good fill-in on the government—ranging from the Constitution, political parties, laws, courts and labor to social security—Henry Holt and company of New York has just published a book which may help.

It's a 1,000-page book—price $3.95—put together by A. N. Christensen and E. M. Kirkpatrick, both professors of political science at the University of Minnesota.

It is a collection of pieces written in recent years on various phases of government by outstanding men, some still living, some dead.

The book is not an ABC on government. It is written for adults, thoughtful adults because the authors' views vary, you will have a varied reaction to some of the chapters, depending on your own view.

But the book is informative and will make you think.

PHOSPHATE SHIPMENTS AID NEW ZEALAND FARMS
AUCKLAND, N. Z.—(AP)—New Zealand's production of dairy produce will be greatly assisted by the resumption of phosphate shipments from Nauru and Ocean Islands, two rich phosphate islands near the equator, which were captured by the Japanese during their advance in the Pacific.

From the enormous deposits of phosphate on the two islands about 1,250,000 tons were shipped every year before the war. Farming economy in both Australia and New Zealand rests very largely on extensive use of phosphate as fertilizer to keep the pastures in good condition.

More than two dozen airlines have been set up in the United States exclusively for cargo-carrying.

Weakness in oats spread to other pits toward the close and final prices were lower. Wheat closed down 1/4, January $2.92, corn was off 1/4, January $1.41 1/2, and oats dropped 1/8-1/4, November 80 1/2-54.

Pampan Dies While On California Visit

Mrs. Lewis Holmes, 49, died at 11:47 p.m. yesterday in Long Beach, Calif., following a brief illness. Mrs. Holmes had been in California for the past two months visiting in the home of her daughter.

Mrs. Holmes had been a resident of Pampa and the Panhandle for many years. The family home is located about four miles south of Pampa.

She is survived by her husband; daughter, Mrs. Jimmie Guttery of Long Beach; son, Cecil Holmes of Pampa; brothers, C. L. Morris of Pampa and Everett Morris of Dewey, Okla.; sisters, Mrs. Norman Walberg and Mrs. E. A. Jones of Pampa and Mrs. Frances Oliver of Los Angeles, and one granddaughter.

The body will be returned to Pampa. Other funeral arrangements are pending.

Meat Situation

lapse of ceilings for the current lack of meat.

He also laid a share of the blame squarely at the door of congress, declaring in his news conference statement yesterday:

"If, as I had urged upon the congress, the price control legislation had been re-enacted in the early spring, many of these difficulties would have been avoided."

This direct slap at the lawmakers, apparently applying to many democrats as well as republicans, was not the only political overtone of Mr. Truman's declaration for sticking with ceilings.

Even while the President's news conference was in progress, Mayor Kelly of Chicago was calling for a two-month moratorium on meat price controls. Kelly is a member of democratic party's executive committee, which met here yesterday.

Earlier, House Majority Leader McCormack of Massachusetts had demanded that meat controls be lifted for 60 days.

On top of this, the party's executive committee directed Democratic Chairman Robert E. Hannegan to discuss with the price decontrol board "and any other proper authorities ways and means of increasing the meat supply available to the American people."

Mr. Truman was informed of this resolution by a reporter who said he regarded it as an instruction to seek the removal of ceilings.

When the president replied that he stood on his statement, the reporter asked whether Mr. Truman disagreed with Hannegan.

Waving the paper from which he had been reading, the President said the facts were in there and that if Hannegan differs with them, then the two men do not agree. Later Hannegan told newsmen there is no disagreement between him and the President, that he is not working for meat decontrol.

In discussing the meat situation, Mr. Truman stressed that he knew his subject, since he is from the meat-producing state of Missouri and had lived in the Kansas City stock market area, and as a boy had fed cattle and hogs.

He drew a roar of laughter from reporters when he looked up from his prepared text to remark that he knew what he was talking about on this. Fresh in newsmen's minds was the Henry Wallace episode.

Mr. Truman stated flatly that "dire predictions of a meat famine are without basis." Then, asserting that present ceilings are "fair and equitable," he added:

"An increase in prices or the abandonment of price control on meat now would, in the long run, add to rather than solve our difficulties."

Texas Flood

to dwellers downstream.

Concern was felt for residents near Falls City and Kennedy, 40 and 60 miles southwest of San Antonio. The crest was expected at Falls City tomorrow night.

Property damage was estimated at millions of dollars and thousands of residents were made homeless by the flood waters.

Those reported dead were: Rudy Tomayo, 111 Barnes alley; Patricia Painter, 10, of La Verne.

One unidentified girl about 18. Tamayo was drowned when his car was swept into Alazan creek near the 400 block of Comal street.

A companion of Tamayo, Nick Ollivares, 21, was rescued by a police detail under Police Sgt. Joe Morales. Alazan creek inundated much of the southwestern portion of the city. Woodlawn lake overflowing for the second time this month, marooned many residents.

At the height of the flood transportation in many portions of the city was halted and hundreds of automobiles were stalled while their occupants waded to safety across streets where water was running with dangerous swiftness.

Early today police broadcast appeals for boats and outboard motors after army authorities had placed a number of amphibious vehicles and rafts into service.

In response to frantic calls for help from the San Jose area off Roosevelt road, where more than 50 persons were reported clinging to rooftops shortly before 7 a. m., Capt. C. L. Scott and a detail of city and military police were dispatched to the scene.

Red Cross authorities about the same time reported 20 persons were marooned in the 500 block of South Fresa street and were desperately in need of help. Officers were sent to their assistance.

A military police searching party was making an effort to locate two military policemen who have not been heard from since their government truck stalled in almost six feet of swirling water in the 5300 block of South Fresa street at 5 a. m.

During the night Sgt. Charles Burrara and members of the homicide detail rescued more than 20 persons, many of them clad in shorts and underclothing and some of whom were stranded on roof tops and in trees.

Detectives E. E. Kelly and L. W. Jackson reported the rescue of ten persons from rooftops on the south side of the city during the night.

Almost every highway leading into the Alamo city was impassable or dangerous.

The highway leading to Corpus Christi and south Texas was closed by flooded Salado creek, which today was one mile wide. Usually it is a slow trickle of water a few feet in width.

Governor Beauford Jester gets set to attend the State Fair of Texas by receiving an opening day key from William (Bill) Thompson of the Dallas Junior Chamber of Commerce. State fair officials expect 125,000 to flood fair park on opening day, Oct. 5, when the first post-war exposition is opened.

Paper Shortage Hits Safety Department

Paper shortage has hit the Texas Department of Public Safety as well as newspapers according to a letter received by the Gray county sheriff's office today.

The letter notified the department that due to current shortages of paper the October issue of the "Roundup" would not be published. The letter further advised that it may be possible to publish the bulletin at some later date, but in all probability it will be in a more condensed form.

Legionnaires Hear Address by Worley

Members of the Kerley-Crossman Post, American Legion last night were addressed by Representative Eugene Worley (18th dist.) at their semi-monthly meeting held in the Legion home 123 West Post.

Worley described in detail his experience at Bikini atoll during the atom bomb test held there. He also spoke to them on his trip through Europe some time ago.

After the meeting an executive committee meeting was held. Post commander Jim Turner presided at the meeting.

available B-17s in the Philippines—the only heavy bombers based there—were destroyed on the ground at Clark field. We in the Philippines (Clark field) was an Associated Press correspondent in Manila at the time) were informed of this fatal assault at 1:30 p. m. on Dec. 8, 1941 (Manila time)—the first day of the war—when U. S. planes returned for refueling after once having been in the air.

MacArthur, who commanded U. S. defense forces in the Philippines, said he attached "no blame to General Brereton or other members of the command for incidents of the battle. Nothing could have saved the day for them. They lost, but with no discredit."

He said the Japanese struck the Philippines five months before sufficient reinforcements to make a defense possible could have reached the islands.

FELTON, Minn.—(AP)—Mrs. Jessie M. Jung made a hurried trip to nearby Moorhead in the hopes she could purchase a few hard-to-get items—meat, sugar, soap, etc.

When she got back home she discovered thieves had broken into her house. They, too, were looking for scarce articles. Mrs. Jung said. They stole her supply of sugar, raisins, coffee—and a 15-pound roast from the oven.

Possible Dynamite Blast Wrecks Store

ATLANTA—(AP)—A terrific blast which police said they believed was caused by dynamite, early today ripped off the fronts of four business establishments located on the edge of the downtown section. No one was injured.

The explosion tore open the front of a laundry pickup station near the state capitol and blew windows and doors from two delicatessens and a beauty shop.

Windows were broken in several houses and residents were awakened.

Streets were littered with glass. Radio Patrolmen L. O. Davis and J. B. Evans said they believed the blast was caused by dynamite.

Police began a search for several men who were reported seen examining the wreckage with flashlights shortly after the explosion. Police said a black fuse was discovered in the wreckage.

A REPORT on telephone progress in Texas

The first postwar year was the busiest year we've ever known, filled with work to give telephone service to those who are waiting and to improve service for everyone.

We have put in 240,000 telephones in Texas—nearly twice as many as in any prewar year. We are handling more calls per telephone now than in the rushed days of the war. And even this record-breaking performance has not been enough.

But we're glad to say we've been able to take care of most customers whose applications were held up by lack of facilities on V-J Day—and in most places, most of the time, service is fast and good. Operators are answering 9 out of 10 calls within 10 seconds.

Demand Up
On the other hand, more people than ever are applying for telephones—24,000 a month for the last six months. Prewar months averaged 11,000. Thus, as we go ahead on one front, there are increasing demands on another.

We want all those waiting for telephone service to know we are doing our best to get it to them. It is just as much an emergency to us as a hurricane—but this is country-wide.

Bell System factories today are working around the clock, three shifts a day. And—despite scarcities—are even breaking some records set in boom days years ago.

In Texas we're putting the new equipment to work as fast as we get it, and putting up new buildings to house it when necessary.

People Are Telephoning More
This first postwar year has also brought an extraordinary increase in telephone use. Local calls are now 7 1/2 million a day in Texas—nearly 1 1/2 million a day over last year. That rise would have taken several years in normal times. Toll and long distance calls are also at all-time highs.

We have increased our forces to handle your rising telephone needs. Now we have 48,000 employees in the Southwest—more than ever before. This is an increase of 11,000 since the war ended. About 6,000 are returned veterans.

It will take a great deal of money and some time to do all the things we have planned for your telephone service, but our 250-million-dollar 5-year expansion program in the Southwest is well under way. During the first postwar year alone we spent about 50 million dollars providing telephone equipment.

It all adds up to our desire to serve well everyone who uses the telephone. And to do it always with courtesy and understanding.

GETTING THE RECORDS STRAIGHT

Perhaps the world is not going to rot after all. For the Book of Knowledge sets us straight on such fact as the tallest plant is not a tree at all as many of us had thought. You see, it's like this: California sequoias; 400 feet; Australian eucalyptus tree, 500 feet. But giant seaweeds grow 600 feet tall!

SITTIN' WAITIN'

If you miss us one of these days and can't imagine where to look, try the most sensitive shortwave receiver anywhere around. Probably we'll be in front of it, listening for a broadcast from the moon.

We can hardly wait until the army gets that transmitter by rocket to the sister planet. We hope that security will not require the return broadcast to be in code. We want a first-hand reaction to that bright new world into which the rocket is to be sent. And we are hoping that the man in the moon, with brutal candor, will say into the army's microphone exactly what he thinks of what he has been watching on this earth during the past few years. It might be deflating, but such an objective opinion should do us good.

LANGE IS RIGHT

Polish Ambassador Oscar Lange is entirely correct in saying that co-operation among Great Britain, Russia and the United States is absolutely vital to success of the United Nations.

Unfortunately, that co-operation has been lacking up to now. The two Anglo-Saxon nations, on the one hand, and Russia on the other, have entirely different ideas on every step of the way toward the goal which all three, undoubtedly, sincerely are seeking—universal, permanent peace.

When something must be done, and those who must do it can't agree on method, there has to be compromise upon some middle-of-the-road way that neither prefers but both can accept. We have compromised to the point of searing our democratic conscience. Now what?

In Hollywood

By ESKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—Vic Mature is living in his dressing-room at the 20th Century-Fox studio because of the housing shortage. But he has not endeared himself to the studio janitors.

He not only sleeps in his dressing-room, but he cooks the food. Various savory stews frequently find a fine boarding-house stretch into the other plush dressing-rooms, occupied by such famous names as Betty Grable, Linda Darnell and Gene Tierney.

They didn't complain, but one janitor did. Tired of finding Vic's dirty dishes on the mahogany furniture, he left a neatly-learned sign reading: "The management frowns on cooking in the dressing-rooms."

Vic continued his cooking, appended a postscript to the janitor's note: "So do I. But, brother, times are tough."

Crooner David Street will enter the national handball tournament this winter. They're now calling Rudy Wallace "professor." He's lecturing each week at USC on radio.

There's good human interest in Lew Parker's smash hit in the revival of "The Front Page" on Broadway.

Hollywood turned him down because he didn't look too much like Bob Hope. He deliberately took a hard-boiled dramatic role in the hope of smashing the jinx.

Gracie Reports

By GRACIE ALLEN
Well, girls, the lady president of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists association says the siren and the sirens are on their way out and the sweet demure girl is coming back into favor. Lipstick and pacemaker make-up will be scrapped as obsolete weapons, and we'll go into the battle of life.

My opinion, maidenly blushes are fine if you just skirmish around with college boys, but it takes a burst of powder and salvo of paint to bring down bigger game. And I've noticed that carefully aimed false eyelashes will make most any butcher surrender a pork roast.

So my advise is, give the demure stuff a fair try but keep a stock pile of atomic rouge and perfume in your purse. Then, a gentle approach gets you nowhere you can always switch back to a "get tough" policy.

What we need is less government control in fixing prices. We want to be free men who can sell their labor under their terms and not be compelled to work for wages fixed by the government.—William Green, president of A. F. of L.

WRITER SAYS NO DIVORCE, BUT IT'S OVER

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—The 1944 wedding of the democratic party and the Political Action committee is now busted up. There has been no formal divorce, no agreement on who gets the children or the property, no statement from either side. But the separation is complete. Kicking Henry Wallace out of the White House cabinet did the trick.

Even before the Wallace incident arose, Democratic National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan was on record to the effect that PAC leaders carry no weight in White House, congressional, or democratic party policy-making.

That in itself amounts to a dissolution of any democratic-PAC alliance. Dropping Wallace, who was the acknowledged leader of the leftish elements in the party, makes the break permanent.

Hannegan's views on the past relationship between the democratic party and the PAC is that the party was on the side first. The PAC came along later and just happened to have a program which supported the democratic platform. It's the party that is going to go on, regardless of what happens to PAC. CONSERVATIVE DEMS SEE A STRONGER PARTY NOW

Conservative democrats will even go so far as to say that the removal of Wallace from the cabinet strengthens the party's chances in November. The reasoning isn't too hard to follow.

WASHINGTON

By EUGENE STIRLING
JOLT—There is a little group of serious thinkers in and out of government who look with quiet satisfaction upon the prospect of an increasingly difficult to conduct business in large cities and that freight and other transport rates are showing an irresistible tendency to go up.

The recent New York City truck strike caused an estimated loss of $400,000,000 to business in that city. These serious thinkers believe that this jolt may be worth four hundred million to the country itself.

They have an eye on the atomic bomb.

Centralization—One of the chief defenses against the atomic bomb, they feel is decentralization of industry. While American industry is fairly well spread out, compared with some European countries, a dozen atomic bombs are currently placed could render the United States almost powerless to wage war.

Centralization is even a defense against old-fashioned block-busters, as the Chicago show set up by the spent billions in funds and billions in man hours to disperse and put underground their arsenals. Germany might have been knocked out earlier had the United States been able to do this.

When the first edition of Stars and Stripes was planned for Germany, the warrior-journalists picked out the tiny town of Pflugstadt for printing operations because it had been untouched by bombs. After they had been there some time, these warrior-journalists, searching through the town brewery for goodness knows what, discovered a secret entrance to a motor factory that underlay a large part of the town. Hundreds of other plants had been kept safe by dispersion and concealment.

The writer, wandering through London, stumbled into what appeared to be a closed-up petrol station. Inside, men were turning out boat parts by the hundreds. No more than the neighbors, the writer kept mum.

IMPOSSIBLE—Now if we are to take the atomic bomb seriously—and if there are two things in the world to be taken seriously they are women and the atomic bomb—it is obvious that we ought to have the widest dispersal of our fabricating facilities.

Army and other government and private experts who have studied the matter have concluded that it is impossible for the government to decentralize our major industries without a new war, and then it would be too late.

The cost would be prohibitive, both in dollars spent and in the disruption of business. It would take twenty years to complete. And even if the federal government would commit itself to that much time and money, it would have to reckon with the American tradition of living and doing business where one pleased. It would do no good to hide an industrial empire in the Rockies if people could not be persuaded to go there and work.

SATISFACTION—Therefore, it is

Common Ground

By E. C. HOLLES

Reader Asks Hard Question Concerning Churches

A reader of Common Ground asks a difficult question to answer. I quote his letter: "In your recent article in 'Common Ground' you write of a letter written by one Verne P. Kaub to Norman Thomas, a former preacher and now a Unitarian minister. You have chosen to preach the gospel of Karl Marx in preference to the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ. Now I was in many states in America and in a few provinces in Canada, and I visited many churches of all denominations in the Christian faith and as yet I never found any preacher to preach on the gospel of Jesus Christ. So if you do know any preacher that preaches the gospel of Jesus Christ, lead me to him or tell me the church that allows a preacher to preach the gospel of Jesus Christ.

"Now as long as you are in favor of Mr. Kaub's letter, I believe that you like to see that a preacher should preach the gospel of Jesus Christ. Now I was in many states in America and in a few provinces in Canada, and I visited many churches of all denominations in the Christian faith and as yet I never found any preacher to preach on the gospel of Jesus Christ. So if you do know any preacher that preaches the gospel of Jesus Christ, lead me to him or tell me the church that allows a preacher to preach the gospel of Jesus Christ.

"The preachers that I heard, their sermons were neither horror nor cold, neither sweet nor sour. What they spoke about I did not know. But I know this much, it was not the gospel of Jesus Christ.

So tell me what preacher and in which church the gospel of Jesus Christ is the main topic. Please let me know where it is and who the preacher is.

Truly yours,
Aaron N. Sadoff,
23 N. Prospect,
Colorado Springs, Colo."

I remember one year ago hearing a sermon by the late Everett Dean Martin that I thought complied with this gentleman's request. It was in an Unitarian church. I am sorry to say, however, that the Unitarians have drifted far afield from the kind of a sermon the late Everett Dean Martin delivered.

Of living preachers I have heard or read their writing I would say that Carl McIntire of Bible Presbyterian Church of Collinswood, N.J., comes as near preaching the gospel of Christ as any one I know.

It seems to me the leaders of organized religion should be very much interested in this question. They now have a larger percentage of the population as members than at any other time in history. Yet we are having more and more delinquency, more and more crime, more and more unemployment and wars and the reputation of our word. These results together with the large church membership, all seem, should seem, to cause the leaders of the churches to wonder if they were really preaching what Jesus Christ taught.

But organized religion seems to be more interested in numbers than in preaching Christianity. It will be remembered that such a Christian as Lincoln, Madison, Thoreau, Jefferson, Madison and Tom Paine (all of whom were advocates of the principles taught by Jesus) were not members of any church. They were men who caused the leaders of organized religion to take stock as to why men like these were not in the church.

How is what Abraham Lincoln said: "If the church would simply for assent to the Savior's statement of the substance of the law: 'Thou shalt love thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength, and with all thy soul, and with all thy neighbor as thyself,—that church would I gladly unite with.'"

Would any preacher claim that Lincoln was not a Christian; that he did not stand for Christian principles? Certainly if Lincoln loved the churches were preaching true Christian doctrine he would, as he said, gladly have united with them.

If we are to judge the churches by the fruits we see the deplorable condition our nation is in today (and remember they have a larger percentage of members than ever before), we would be obliged to conclude with Mr. Sadoff that few of them if any are preaching the gospel of Jesus Christ. If they were, and if they had this percentage of members, the fruits would be entirely different from what we are reaping today.

LOOK BELOW
KANSAS CITY—(A)—Someone pitched a beer bottle from a window, and bystander Phillip J. Coughlan, 60, walked into the street to pick up the fragments and prevent damage to automobiles.

As he was bending over, a second bottle glanced off his head, sending him to a hospital for seven stitches to close the laceration.

Police arrested two men on the fifteenth floor of the hotel. They said they were here for a soft drink convention.

I am certain we can live in peace with Russia, but we must let her know that as much as we desire peace we are ready to fight.

So They Say

The black marketers, both sellers and buyers have been more interested in profiteering than in providing shelter for those who fled from the war for them and us.—Housing Expediter Wilson W. Wyatt.

With the same basic objectives and agreement upon a common purpose, labor and business cannot separate themselves from responsibility for human health, education and general well-being. This is a part of regular union business today, as important as part of labor as wages and hours.—Harold J. Seymour, executive director of national war fund.

What we need is less government control in fixing prices. We want to be free men who can sell their labor under their terms and not be compelled to work for wages fixed by the government.—William Green, president of A. F. of L.

It is analyzed as towards conservatism. The strongest, almost the only, argument which the republicans have in the present campaign is that the democratic party has been dominated by radical, new dealish elements. Overcoming this argument and convincing the independent voters that it is not true is the biggest campaign problem the democratic face.

Conservative democrats therefore feel they have nothing to lose by a break with the left at this time. They have no fear that organized labor members will vote republican no matter what the provocation.

The democratic politician's argument is that organized labor knows it has made all its gains under the democratic administrations of the last 34 years. Labor stands to gain nothing additional from the republicans and, in fact, can only lose ground if the republicans win in November, or in 1948.

From this point of view, what the democratic have to do to hold their own is overcome the usual apathy in off-year elections and get the voters out to the polls. Admittedly, that is not easy. There is no Roosevelt to rally behind this time—merely what's left of his program, as interpreted by Harry Truman.

WALLACE'S IMPORTANCE WILL VANISH WITH HIS JOB
Henry Wallace is said to feel that his firing may be the first step in the break-up of that strange mixture of liberals and conservatives which has made up the democratic party in recent years. Some of the liberals like to talk that way, predicting that Wallace may head a new political movement in this country.

The record is all to the contrary. No political figure who has been leader of an important faction in this country has ever been dropped by one of the major political parties and survived. That is true of William Jennings Bryan, Theodore Roosevelt, old Bob LaFollette.

As soon as a man loses his official position, he loses his importance. It's the position that makes the man important, not the other way around.

The party always goes first. That's why Truman could afford to drop Wallace. In the Franklin D. Roosevelt administrations alone, Summer Welles, Jesse Jones, and Donald Nelson all lost their importance when they lost their jobs. That goes, too, for Harold Ickes under Truman's administration.

As a private citizen, Henry Wallace may make a lot of speeches, write a lot of articles, and even become head of the PAC or an American liberal party built on the somewhat insecure steppingstones of communist, American labor, socialist, and other minorities. The chances of any such movement's getting any place are extremely slim. Some of the young enthusiasts think that realignment of parties in the United States is inevitable. Maybe so. But Jack Kroll, Phil Murray, Claude Pepper, and even Wallace himself have all said that a third party wasn't in the cards.

'Dreamboat' Flight Reset for Tomorrow

HONOLULU—(AP)—Col. C. S. Irvine, commander of the army's distance record seeking B-29, "Pacusan Dreamboat," today tentatively set 5:30 a. m. tomorrow, Honolulu time (10 a. m. CST) for the start of his top-of-the-world hop to Cairo, Egypt.

Irvine said, after checking the early weather report, that the 10,000-mile flight across the Arctic regions would begin then, "weather permitting."

The weather report indicated poor flying conditions over Iceland, and he wishes to give it "24 hours to get out of my way."

Meteorologists said they expected the weather to clear up within the next 24 hours to give the Dreamboat clear sailing on its long hop.

ALARMING

HAMMOND, Ind.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Sharp, caretakers at the Black Oak Fire Station, are shopping around for a new bed.

After housecleaning the Sharps parked their bedstead on the rear of a fire truck. A few minutes later the truck went out on an alarm—with the bed—and came back without it.

Sharp retraced the route but couldn't find it.

HELPING—Rise in railroad rates, too, is helping this tendency toward decentralization.

The railroad cutting rates is helping this tendency toward decentralization. The railroad cutting rates is helping this tendency toward decentralization. The railroad cutting rates is helping this tendency toward decentralization.

Other cities, especially the industrial cities of Detroit and Pittsburgh, have had similar troubles. If the conviction grows that our cities are getting too big for comfort, enough industry may be spread out to give us some sort of a chance in the case of an atomic attack.

Many of the larger industrial organizations are building their new plants in the South and West. West indeed, are on blueprints for the bigger cities.

There are quite a few planners who think we ought to have ample steel facilities in all sections of the country and some of them are high enough up to give Kaiser some behind-the-scenes assistance if necessary.

The totalitarian regimes of our times, which pretend to have established a modern streamlined communism, and with their regimentation and dull mediocrity demonstrated the gross inefficiency of state management.—Spruille Braden, assistant secretary of state.

Shop your HOME TOWN SHOPS First

Pampa is your community center for shopping, for schools, for churches, for recreation and for amusements. Every dollar spent with your local business men means that some percentage of this dollar will go to further the growth of these institutions that make for a better community.

I shop in Pampa because I have found that my merchants buy from the same markets that his competitor in the larger city buys from and that his prices are always lower.

My children attend Pampa schools and I know that my Pampa merchant pays a great deal of taxes to support these schools. It is my duty to trade in Pampa.

We own our property in Pampa and are proud of our home. We have faith in the Pampa fire department to protect us from a great fire loss. Our Pampa merchant is also taxed to pay for this protection. I buy from my Pampa merchant.

I suggest to every other woman that she follow my example and spend where her dollars build her own community.

When you are assured of the latest in styles, equipment, appliances, vehicles and machinery in your home town and prices just as low as the other fellow's---why not buy it from your hometown merchant?

IN ALL PURCHASES TRY PAMPA FIRST!
