Community Chest Directors Slate First Meeting

The board of directors, Pampa Community Chest, will hold its first meeting of the new fiscal year at the chamber of commerce office next Monday at 10 a. m. It was announced at a meeting today.

At that time the five directors from the participating agencies—the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Salvation Army, American Legion, and Hi-Y—will name five delegates-at-large. Lieb Langston, chairman said.

The six members present today voted to have the books for last year's activities audited, so that the new board can start anew. The audited report will be published.

The members extended a vote of thanks to Langston for his leadership during last year, when the Chest gathered funds in conjunction with the National War Chest. There will be no drive for national funds this year, it was stated. The local drive will be organized subsequent to the meeting next Monday.

Eighty percent of last year's quota was raised, a total of $27,749.58. The national fund was met in full, while the local funds were allocated on the basis of 75.0756 percent, of budget requests, Langston reported.

Boy Scouts received $4,129.16; Girl Scouts, $3,378.40; Salvation Army, $3,720; American Legion, $4,204.23; and Hi-Y, $75.08. Organization budgets will be submitted within a few weeks.

Cabinet Break Is Seen Forthcoming

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Secretary of Commerce Wallace today reaffirmed his stand for the softer U. S. policy toward Russia which President Truman disavowed as administration policy, and said he will continue to fight publicly for his views.

Wallace's announcement apparently heralded a wide-open split in Mr. Truman's cabinet between the commerce secretary and Secretary of State Byrnes, whose aides here and in Paris have made no secret of his bitter opposition to Wallace's idea.

Wallace talked with President Truman by telephone immediately before he issued his statement, aides said. They reported he would see the President probably tomorrow, but by Wednesday at the latest.

Wallace's statement given to reporters shortly after he returned to his office from New York said: "I stand upon my New York speech. It was interesting to find that both the extreme right and the extreme left disagreed with the views I expressed. Feeling as I do however, that most Americans are concerned about, and willing to work for, peace, I intend to continue my efforts for a just and lasting peace and I shall, within the near future, speak on this subject again."

Aides at the commerce department told reporters before the statement was issued that Wallace had talked by telephone with the White House and probably would see Mr. Truman sometime tomorrow.

They said Wallace would have nothing further to say about his New York speech today.

At the state department, officials said they hoped that Wallace would decide against making any more speeches on foreign policy unless he first cleared them with state.

At the commerce department Wallace aides said Wallace had no immediate comment on the reaction to his speech — including President Truman's repudiation of his ap-

Solon Would Make Trieste Peace Symbol

PARIS—(AP)—Senator Tom Connally, replying to Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, today demanded that the peace conference establish Trieste as a truly free state, independent of both Yugoslavia and Italy.

Clinging to the principles on Trieste agreed upon by the foreign ministers council, Connally asserted that these agreements should be honored for the sake of peace.

"Let us make Trieste the symbol of peace and security in the world," the Texas senator urged.

Connally, who is chairman of the U. S. senate's foreign relations committee, addressed the Italian political commission. He said Trieste must not be "merely a paper state. It must be a real state, with its own character, its own strength, its own independence and its own dignity."

"The free territory must not be a satellite of Yugoslavia on one hand nor of Italy on the other. Both Yugoslavia and Italy must accept our settlement in good faith. There must be no mental reservation," he declared, glancing around the table as if to warn both nations.

The senator made no reference to the controversy arising from last week's speech by Secretary of Commerce Wallace on American foreign policy. Instead, he devoted nearly all his speech to comment on the Trieste proposals made Saturday by Molotov and echoed this morning by the Yugoslav Deputy Premier, Edvard Kardelj.

WAGE NEGOTIATIONS BROKEN

Conservation Conference Is Being Asked

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y.—(AP)—President Truman today called on the United Nations to summon a world scientific conference on conservation to study global resources, including the possible peaceful uses of atomic energy within the next few decades.

The presidential request, submitted to the economic and social council through Delegate John G. Winant, asked the council to summon a world scientific conference on resources conservation and utilization in the last six months of 1947 somewhere in the United States.

Declaring that conservation "can become a major basis of peace," the President said: "Warfare has taken a heavy toll of many natural resources; the rebuilding of the nations and the industrialization of underdeveloped areas will require an additional large depletion of them. Waste, destruction and uneconomic use of resources anywhere damage mankind's common estate or exaggerated fear of resource shortages and declining standards of living has in the past involved nations in warfare. Every member of the United Nations is interested in preventing a recurrence of that fear and of those consequences."

President Truman's request reached the council as the United States delegate drafted a strong appeal to the council for full financial support of the proposed refugee program which has been tentatively rejected by Russia and other countries.

The appeal was prepared for delivery by George L. Warren, state department adviser on refugees and displaced persons, to meet a flurry of opposition which arose last week. The set-up and financial requirements mapped out for the international refugee organization.

The proposed IRO has a draft constitution and budget in preparation for its intended handling of $30,000,000 in displaced persons camps in Europe, which it is expected to take over from the UNRRA some time next year.

The economic and social council is faced with the task of preparing a blue-printed refugee organization for presentation to the general assembly at its Oct. 23 meeting in New York. The assembly probably will be asked to approve the interim commission to handle the receiving UNRRA functions and effect their transfer to the proposed IRO.

However, the scheme met a snag last week when the Russian representative, Nikolai Peonov, declared his country would not participate in any refugee program calling for voluntary contributions for the resettlement of persons outside their native countries, and several others also raised objections.

India backed on compulsory contributions, pointing out that she had given $32,000,000 to UNRRA at a time when many Indians were giving up families without receiving UNRRA aid.

Report Denied By White House

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Presidential Secretary Charles C. Ross said today there is "absolutely nothing" to a published report that President Truman had ordered the induction of football stars who have left West Point and Annapolis.

A copy of the letter in the Memphis Commercial Appeal said that Mr. Truman had become irked at the many departures from the academies, and had ordered his military aide, Maj. Gen. Harry N. Vaughn, to do something about it.

A selective service official here, asked to comment on the story, told a reporter that no orders specifically aimed at football stars, ever have been issued.

House-Numbering Is Under Way in Pampa

Public utilities, law enforcement officials, the fire department, the police department and the United States post office were joining forces today to back the city's current house-numbering campaign.

W. B. Weathered, postmaster and president of the chamber of commerce, issued the first appeal to the city's residents to do their part by purchasing new numbers for their homes.

City Manager Garland Franks said the city has hired an employe to post stickers bearing correct numbers on every mis-numbered house in the city and households are especially urged to do their part by purchasing new numbers for their homes.

Those houses which bear correct numbers will be left out of the campaign.

Weathered said this morning that an incorrect house number can cause a great deal of inconvenience especially in cases of mail delivery, emergency work by fire and police departments, doctor's calls, ambulance calls and business delivery services.

In the case of mail, Weathered said delivery service at a residence incorrectly numbered can be halted at any time at the discretion of the carrier but added that he hoped this would not become necessary.

Also to be benefited by the new system of number correction will be the Hindsouth Directory company, whose staff is in Pampa at the present time compiling the new city directory.

Weathered also reminded Pampans that the Southwestern Bell Telephone company, which issued its new directory this month, maintains a policy that the addresses listed in the book are not guaranteed as usable as a house number directory, due to the changes now being made.

It is expected that completion of the house-numbering program will take from three to four weeks.

By the Associated Press
The twelfth day of the nationwide maritime strike found New York City's waterfront tense today with threats of clashes between thousands of picketing CIO seamen and AFL longshoremen under instructions not to "respect any commy picket line."

CIO National Maritime union leaders hauled out their most formidable weapon—the massed picket line with marchers so closely linked it is virtually impossible to squeeze through—as negotiations to end the walk-out collapsed.

Police strength was bolstered throughout the sprawling docks area. CIO leaders said last night there might be trouble if the AFL longshoremen attempt to breach picket lines as they did Saturday to help unload the U. S. George Washington.

Fourteen liners with more than 6,000 passengers—half of them army or navy personnel—were due in New York port during the day.

Many Longshoremen were on the job along the waterfront but they had not passed picket lines to get there. Some men, anxious to return to work after 11 days of idleness, reported for work early, before the CIO pickets were dispatched for duty.

Joseph P. Ryan, president of AFL Longshoremen, was covering the waterfront in hot black immoderate, urging his men to go to work where steam was up and winches could be operated.

"We don't respect any commy picket lines," he said. "If the AFL seamen will give us steam, well work."

There was no indication that AFL seamen, who had the support of CIO seamen in the early days of the strike, would return to work until members of the rival union, too, had won a pay raise.

NMU bosses, declared that more than 20,000 of their men in New York port alone would be marshaled for the greatest show of strength ever seen in a maritime labor dispute.

More than 5,000 were expected to go on the march today.

Conferees between officials of the national maritime union (CIO) and East and Gulf Coast ship operators were broken off last night.

Truman Will Attend Army-Oklahoma Game
WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman completed plans today to visit the military academy at West Point, N. Y., Sept. 28. Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said the chief executive would fly there, review the cadet corps, attend the Army-Oklahoma football game, and fly back.

Ross also announced that for the first time in a dozen years Mr. Truman will not attend a fair at Caruthersville, Mo., early next month for the American Royal Cattle Show in Kansas City on October 19. Ross said there was no particular reason for the decision not to attend these events and that they never definitely were on the presidential schedule.

Most Butchers Are Pessimistic Over Meat Situation

Fresh meat virtually disappeared from markets throughout the nation today and in some localities discouraged housewives had trouble buying even luncheon meats to bolster their vegetable menus.

Fish and poultry were the price do resistance on many tables, and some poultry dealers warned that because of the rush their chicken supply would be gone in about two weeks.

Packers reported they could obtain only a fraction of the animals they normally purchase for slaughter, and most butchers were pessimistic over the possibility of an early improvement in the situation.

In St. Louis, a few retail meat markets were closed. Others were selling mostly meat substitutes. Poultry brought 80 cents a pound and up, dressed; cheese was at a record high of 44 1/2 cents a pound for standard brand, and eggs sold at 44 to 46 cents a dozen, wholesale the highest price there since 1929.

St. Louis national stockyards, which normally was light receipts on Saturday, had none at all that day for the first time in its history.

Hospitals in Pittsburgh were swarming out of meat, and doctors worried about the health of patients suffering from metabolic disorders such as diabetes, who would be seriously affected by lack of meat.

In New York, butcher shops shelves were virtually bare, and 5,000 kosher butchers were closed for lack of supplies.

The company announced will follow behind the city employe and take the correct numbers from the stickers. These correct numbers will be published in the city directory.

Hotel Fire Death Toll Reaches Two

HOT SPRINGS, Ark.—(AP)—Death toll in the Great Northern hotel fire here Saturday stood at two today as a search of the ruins was planned to determine if there were others perished.

Seventeen-year-old Martha Adams of Amity, Ark., a bride of two weeks, died yesterday of burns suffered in the fire which destroyed the 50-year-old three-story hotel.

John Maimi, 51, of Detroit, fell from a third story window ledge during the fire and died shortly afterward.

Mrs. Adam's husband, Jimmy, was reported in a critical condition.

Violent Deaths in State Total Ten During Week End

(By The Associated Press)
Accidents killed ten persons in Texas this week end.

Three of the deaths occurred in airplane crashes, six in highway accidents and one as the result of an explosion in a tourist court cabin.

Charles Sears Hutchison, 14, of Monahan, Texas, died Sunday night in injuries suffered in a truck-trailer collision about two miles north of Fairbanks. He was enroute to Maybank, Kaufman county, to visit his parents.

Six-year-old Nancy Nell LaGrone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jake LaGrone of Donley county, died Saturday night from injuries received in an automobile-train collision at a crossing near the Amarillo city limits.

Truck accidents were fatal to S. L. Hobbs, 15, of Navarro county, and Blair Howell, 50, of near Maud, Texas.

Hobbs was killed when his pickup truck overturned while Howell was thrown from the rear of a pickup truck on a highway near Maud.

Elvis Brister, 23, died at San Antonio Saturday of injuries received Wednesday in a motorcycle accident. Brister had formerly resided at Abilene.

Two people were killed when a small plane crashed on a Longview highway Saturday. The pilot was Rancher W. H. Anderson, and his brother, Edward V. Morris of Longview.

Hugh Gillespie, 22, Texas A. and M. student, died in a plane crash near the Corsicana airport Saturday night. A passenger, L. R. Stoube, Jr., was seriously injured.

William Thomas McDowell, of New Orleans died in a Houston hospital Saturday from injuries received in a tourist court explosion. Deputy Sheriff Tom Bonds said the blast occurred as the truck a match while sitting on a bed.

Man Reported Killed During World War I Is Reunited With Daughters
OAKLAND, Calif.—(AP)—William H. Houghton, tragically separated from his family because of a report he had been killed on a French battlefield in World War I, has been reunited with his two daughters.

Today Houghton met one of the daughters—Mrs. Georgia Kraeber of Oakland—who had not seen since he sailed overseas in 1915 to fight for his native England.

Next the 68-year-old veteran will go to Dallas, Texas, to visit his other daughter, Mrs. T. J. Stribling.

This is the story he told at the home of Mrs. Kraeber. Some time after the erroneous report that he had been blown to bits reached his wife, she died. The daughters, supposed orphans, were adopted.

When Houghton returned from the war he could find no trace of his family. He searched for years, finally moving to Vancouver, B. C. Three years ago the daughters learned from their "mother" what they had never suspected—that they were adopted. They began a search for Houghton that never ended until they traced him to Vancouver.

Texas Schoolboys Turn on Pressure With 57 Clashes

By MAX B. SKELTON
AP Staff Writer

Like their collegiate neighbors of the outthrust conference, Texas Class AA schoolboy gridsters don't like to start a campaign with breathers.

After a curtain-raiser last weekend of 30 games, high school teams will open up full force this week with all but about six of the 102 Class AA schools participating in a total of 57 clashes.

All sixteen districts will see action and the first conference game of the year will be unreeled at Corpus Christi on Friday night with the invasion of the San Antonio Tech team.

Tag Dance

By SCOTT RAFFERTY

Charlie Laffoon, who performed so brilliantly for the Harvesters in their win over Electra Friday, may be considerably slowed this week by a knee injury suffered during the game. Charlie is one of those backs, which coaches like to have. He's small, fast and shifty and is tough as a boot.

Of course, the main trouble is that practically all other Harvesters backs are of the same variety. Only three of the 16 backs on the south weigh as much as 160 pounds or more. Carl "Red" Maves is the biggest of the lot at about 168 pounds while Laddie Maves, Carl's brother, weighs about two pounds less. Paul Simpson, at 161, is the other "big boy."

This Friday, the Harvesters will be up against one of the top-ranking teams in the state when they play at the home of the Sweetwater Mustangs. We look for a merry fight in District Three, of which Sweetwater is a member. Odessa, one of the top half-dozen in Class AA football, lived up to expectations by beating Lubbock Friday, 13-0.

Still, we are inclined to believe that things aren't as dark as they seemed prior to the opening of the season. Coach Ovis Coffey and Jimmy Whitington can send a big line out there, one that has a lot of talent that just needs hanging out.

Among the grunt and groan boys, Richard Seberg, Keith Payne, Dan Elson and Bob Boyles seem to be capable of providing the Harvesters with plenty of strength at guard. Seberg and Payne are used on offense while Elson and Boyles play on the defensive side.

The tackle situation is pretty well taken care of, also. Zeke Griffin, tall, rangy Gorrilla from last year, played a great game Friday while Glen Cray, Gary Cooper and Tiny Russell did more than their share, too. Russell, 231-pounder and heaviest man on the squad, had another year to go and should develop into one of the best in the district. Reserves Charlie Thornborough and Leroy Troop, two husky youngsters, didn't see much action Friday night, but both have another year to go and give the line needed strength.

Bill Bain and Kelly Anderson, soundmen from last year, are two fine ends but the Harvesters are woefully short on reserve strength at the wing positions. Bill Bond, 172-pound newcomer, is the only reserve end listed on the current roster.

Captain Maurice Lockhart, sole returning regular from last year's team, is slated to be one of the best centers in recent Harvesters' history. Lockhart is able to lead his team both on the practice field and in the game and should go a long way toward building a smooth working forward wall.

Good as the 25 Lockhart has some outstanding competition at center, something few fans know about. Harold Kennedy is out for Lockhart's job and is making no bones about it. In Kennedy, the Harvesters have one of the finest young prospects in the district. This is Lockhart's last year, so Kennedy is almost a cinch to take over first string pivot duties next year.

AA Teams Play Semi-Final Series

By The Associated Press

Minneapolis and Indianapolis resume their semi-final playoff series tonight and with the Indians needing one more victory to advance to the American association finals against Louisville.

The Millers prolonged the series yesterday by beating the tribe 4-1 with sensational fielding by Bill Lillard and effective pitching by Bob Joyce. The Millers were out 5-3.

The four-game series now stands 3 to 2 in favor of Indianapolis.

Louisville moved into the final round by eliminating St. Paul, four games to one. The Colonels won the final game 8-4 on 14 hits and a six-run fourth inning.

Dallas Team Takes TAAF Baseball Title

DALLAS—(AP)—Drive-in package store of Dallas is the new baseball champion of the Texas Amateur Athletic Federation.

Drive-in won the title here yesterday by defeating the Fred's Place team from San Antonio, South Texas, as champions, 12-9.

The Dallas team had won on Saturday, 13-0.

Ralph Marshall allowed the San Antonio club only three hits and helped in his own team's scoring by connecting for a seventh inning homer with two aboard.

Hopeful Oilers Play Amarillo Here Tonight in Sixth Game

By SCOTT RAFFERTY
News Sports Editor

Their comfortable series lead washed away like the Rock Creek bridge after a rainstorm, the Pampa Oilers, reeling from two straight setbacks, return home tonight to try to salvage the sixth game of their playoff series with the Amarillo Gold Sox.

The Gold Sox shellacked the Oilers 3-0 behind Wild Bill Evans Saturday night and jumped all over Grover Seitz' proteges for a 9-1 walkaway yesterday afternoon at Gold Sox park.

Lefty Bill Garland, Pampa's ace southpaw, will try to put a stop to the Gold Sox foolishness when the two nines play here tonight at eight o'clock in what Pampa hopes will be the final game of the series and what Bob Seitz, Inc., expects to be the next to the last. Joe Budny will get the nod for the Sox.

The winner of the Pampa-Amarillo series is scheduled to meet the Lubbock Hubbers in the final playoff game of the double header, after losing to Abilene 7-5 Saturday night and took a 6-1 decision yesterday to take the wind out of the sails of the Blue Sox, who finished first in the league in the regular season.

Lubbock finished fourth in the season standings but immediately forgot about that fact while taking the "blue" Blue Sox, four games to one.

Still possessed with a leaning toward southpaws, Manager Seitz sent dependable Lefty Jim Carithers against the Gold Sox yesterday afternoon and the veteran flinger was shelled all over the park for six runs in the third inning.

Figuring that something might yet be done, Seitz sent in Utility Al Johnston who limited the Sox to three runs and seven hits to go the rest of the night.

Meanwhile, Lefty Wayne Lonergan (this could get old) was being very stung by the base blows, wild pitches and bunts of them with Tony Range collecting a homer in the seventh.

Lonergan, who was beaten by the Oilers here last week, were effective in the eighth inning, which was all nine innings of the game and had to face more than three men in only two innings.

Saturday night, Warren Hacker gave the Sox two runs in three innings before retiring in the fourth in favor of Foster White, who pitched himself a very nice six innings, but the Oilers could solve Bill Evans for only seven hits, nothing to compare with Amarillo's 13.

If a seventh game is necessary (but not wanted), it will be played here tomorrow night.

Texarkana Wins From Tyler for Series Triumph

(By The Associated Press)

Texarkana's Bears, second place finishers in the full-season standings, are marking time today to learn the name of their opponent in the final round of the East Texas league playoff.

The Bears completed semi-final play yesterday, by a four-games-to-one advantage, in defeating the Tyler Trojans, 6-3.

Texarkana will meet the winner of the Greenville-Henderson series, which Greenville leads, three games to two.

Greenville and Henderson, first place leader in the regular season, will meet in their sixth game tonight at Henderson. Should the Oilers win, the deciding game will be unreeled tomorrow at Henderson.

Greenville fought an up-hill battle to get back in their sixth game to-night, losing the last three games after dropping the two openers at Henderson.

Veteran left-hander Jim Poindexter allowed the Tyler club only three hits and one earned run in taking the deciding game. Catcher Joe Rossi of the Trojans turned in his club's only earned run by connecting for a homer.

Two Texarkana rookies, second baseman Johnny Berry and third baseman Bob Cullins, each took three hits off the Tyler hurler, Jim Scott.

Texas Conference Football Begins

It's almost a month until Southwestern university and Abilene Christian collide on the first Texas conference game of 1946.

However, members of the five-club circuit have lots of non-conference arguments to settle between now and then. One was settled last weekend in Abilene when the AGC Wildcats came out on the long end of a 28-0 game with Southwestern (Oklahoma) Tech.

Five more non-conference games are on this week's card.

The Wildcats bid for their second straight victory of the young campaign in a Saturday game at Commerce against East Texas State.

This is the first of an interesting series of games to be played between Texas and Lone Star members.

Howard Payne opens its season Saturday in a Brownwood home game against Texas A & I. The Jayvets will need to have a potent outfit to stay up with the Yellow Jackets, who have come up with some prize packages from high schools, not to mention a couple of talented boys from Southwest conference schools.

Austin college of Sherman, not considered quite as strong as the other Southwestern members, Southeastern (Okla.) Teachers in Durant Friday night.

McMurry plays city rival Hardin Simmons in Abilene, and Southwestern, which gained considerable prestige with its wartime teams, opens against Baylor at Waco.

Bums, Cards Staging Closest Battle In National's History

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

For the first time in major league baseball, two teams—Brooklyn and St. Louis—may wind the complete season in a dead heat for the flag.

With exactly two weeks of the campaign remaining, the Cardinals possess a game and a half lead over the Dodgers in one of the tightest pennant races the National league has ever known. However, both teams are all even in the lost ledger. The Cards' advantage is all in the win column since they've played and won three more games than Brooklyn.

Unless rain interferes, the Dodgers should make up those three games by Friday at which time each contender will have played 146 games with eight to go. The Dodgers' 19-inning tie with the Cincinnati Reds is slated to be played off Friday.

The Cardinals gained a full game on the Brooks yesterday when they defeated the Giants twice 3-0 and 7-0 while the Dodgers were held to a split by the Cubs.

After dropping a thrilling 4-3, 10-inning decision to the Cubs, the Dodgers, behind Kirby Higbe's one-hit pitching, bounced back to win the afternoon of the double header 2-0. The game was halted after five innings by a combination of semi-darkness and a swarm of gnats which infested Ebbets' Field, but to capacity by 32,264 cash customers.

Dave Ferriss, Boston's brilliant sophomore, won his 25th game as Sox pitcher in the Chicago White Sox split with the Chicago White Sox. Ferriss allowed eight hits in winning the opener 4-1 but Chicago came back to blank the Red Sox 6-0, behind Johnny Rigney.

League leader tied the American League record set by Fred Fox in 1904 when he won 46 games in his first two complete seasons for the Cleveland Indians.

Ell McCahan, making his first start in the major leagues, bested Bob Feller in a hard-fought duel as the Philadelphia Athletics split with the Indians. After Bob Lemon had pitched the Tribe to a 3-1 victory, McCahan limited the Indians to seven hits with a 3-0 win. The game was halted after seven innings because of darkness.

The St. Louis Browns won twice from the New York Yankees 1-0 and 2-1. Rookie Jack Sanford, making his major league debut, limited the Yankees to five hits in their first game.

Sandy Lewis and Cecil Travis collected nine hits between them and Pitcher Early Wynn hit a grand slam home run to help Washington outpace the Detroit Tigers 15-3.

The Boston Braves advanced to within two games of the third place Cubs by whipping the Reds twice 2-1 and 6-1.

The Phillies offset a single tally by Pittsburgh in the top half of the 11th inning with two hits, their half to defeat the Pirates 6-5.

Rain Halts Rebs, Missions Again; Fort Worth Waits

(By The Associated Press)

Rain and more rain is stealing the show from the Texas league playoffs.

With Fort Worth's Cats sitting around impatiently after having sewed up one-half of the semi-final round last Friday against Tulsa, the Dallas Rebels and San Antonio Missions have been displaying their impatience with rain.

The fifth clash of the seven-game series between the Missions and the Rebels was postponed for a second straight day yesterday as the San Antonio area was drenched with a five-inch rain.

Dallas is leading the series, three games to one.

At Vincent, Dallas manager, is sticking with his Saturday nomination of big Hank Oana, the league's leading hurler, to take the mound for Dallas in the fifth game, but the rains have caused indecision on the part of the Padre skipper, Jimmy Adair.

The rainy rest days have caused Adair to announce he will wait until the skies clear before making a decision.

After taking three games in a row from the Missions, the Rebels dropped the Friday night encounter, 4-1, as the Dallas club was unable to break loose with its home run clouts that had won the first games.

Should San Antonio take the next game, the series will be returned to Dallas for the sixth clash, and a seventh, if necessary.

Tonight's schedule: Dallas at San Antonio.

Favored Arizona Whips Williams

By The Associated Press

The Lumberjacks from the Arizona State college at Flagstaff today sharpened their axes for their clash next Saturday night with the University of New Mexico Lobos at Albuquerque in a Border conference football contest.

The Lumberjacks tried out their weapons Saturday at Flagstaff against the Williams Field Fliers, and found them sharp enough to score a 6-1 victory in the first game of the season for both clubs.

They were held scoreless in the first half of the game, played in a steady rain, and Head Coach Frank Brickey says he thinks something should be done about that. Wayne Seis finally carted the ball across the Flies' goal line early in the third quarter with the only score of the game after he took an 18-yard pass from George Henry of Laguna Beach, Calif.

The Saturday game is one of two conference meetings on tap. West Texas State and Texas Technological college play at Lubbock, Texas, in the other game.

Hardin-Simmons university, New Mexico A & M, and Arizona State at Temple also start their seasons Saturday. The Fliers go to Temple to try their luck against the Bulldogs. Hardin-Simmons and McMurry play at Abilene, Texas, and the Aggies meet the New Mexico Teachers from Silver City, N. M., at Las Cruces, N. M.

The other conference teams—the University of Arizona, Tucson, and the Texas College of Mines, El Paso—open the following week.

WE, THE WOMEN Shoppers Are Rude, Clerks Charge

By RUTH MILLETT NEA Staff Writer Working girls have themselves answered my charge that "the deadpan in the business world is here to stay."

They say that if a clerk is a deadpan, chances are she has become one through having to serve a fast, demanding, inconsiderate public.

THEATRICAL FORECAST

We aren't familiar with the Russian theater, but we feel safe in predicting that Russian playgoers are in for a dreary season. For the top propaganda command is riding herd again on the playwrights and producers.

These propagandists, though politicians and not artists, not only criticize plays, books, music, paintings, etc., but even lay down rules for the production of those artistic commodities.

Their latest order accuses playwrights of being "apolitical," of condoning or emphasizing bourgeois standards, and of insufficiently glorifying Soviet aims, accomplishments and culture. It also takes the producers to task for presenting unworthy dramatic fare.

This last is a little surprising. For the group of English and American plays singled out for special condemnation includes two comparatively recent and familiar works which could scarcely be said to glorify capitalism.

One of them, Somerset Maugham's "The Circle," is a bitter and brilliant denunciation of the wealthy, idle, snobbish, superficial branch of England's upper classes. And Marx himself could hardly have been more contemptuous of the middle-class life, philosophy and virtues of capitalistic society than is the principal character of the other, George Kaufman and Moss Hart's "The Man Who Came to Dinner."

But be that as it may, Messrs. Maugham, Kaufman and Hart, plus any Russian admirers and imitators, have now joined the illustrious and growing Anglo-American group in the Soviet doghouse.

The government censorship that put them there is invoked in the name of education. But it clearly stems from fear of competition and truth. Thus anything that pictures capitalistic life for Russians as anything pleasanter than hell on earth is the object of official scrutiny and action.

This makes it tough on the Russian playwright. The rules which govern his creative action are so vague and so political that he can scarcely know what offends until he gets the official word on his completed product. A natural consequence of such restriction is stiffness, self-consciousness and fear, which in turn produces bad writing.

Likewise, his choice of subject matter almost guarantees a dull and temporary drama. Any play which pits shining virtue against sable villainy is almost sure to be either boring or silly—whether the heroes and villains be human beings or political systems. And the Russian playwright apparently has no choice but to show communism as perfection and capitalism as evil.

The plays of such men as Euripides, Aristophanes, Shakespeare and Moliere have endured because, among other reasons, the complexities and conflicts of human beings remain interesting and understandable in spite of passing time and changing political systems. But the Soviet government seems to insist that citizens of the western democracies be presented to the Russian people not only as unhappy but unnatural.

This artistic insulation of the Soviet people is only another section of the iron curtain. But it is particularly regrettable because the direct, forceful channel of emotional expression through the arts could be a powerful stimulant to mutual understanding, if it were only given the chance.

When cottonseed cake went up to $120 a ton, John Arnot of Amarillo predicted woe for the state that it was going to be a long, cold winter.

Arnot is what is known as an old timer. He's been in Amarillo since 1884 and he said when feed is scarce and highest, "one north after another clouts us on the nose."

"I cannot conceive a cottonseed cake selling for $125 a ton and a mild winter," he told the tactless Texan of the Amarillo Globe.

Old Tack didn't like anyone else hording in on his winter predictions. One trouble with our weather is old timers," old Tack wrote. "They forget old winter and our rainy spells. Fixing in the back of their minds are searing pictures of the blizzards they bucked and the drouths they sweated. They forget the good winters."

He said he would appreciate it if the amateurs would leave next winter to him. He promised his forecast by October.

Mission, down in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, is getting tired of having the highest temperature reading in the state every day.

So a couple of civic minded individuals named Joe T. Cook, editor of the paper, and Jack Drake, chamber of commerce manager, investigated.

They reported that it really wasn't the weather that was to blame. It was the thermometer. It had been placed in the sun behind a brick ornament wall that cut off the prevailing east breeze.

So they put it in the shade. The mercury promptly dropped seven degrees.

MACKENZIE'S Column

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

British officials heaved a mighty sigh of relief on learning that Secretary of Commerce Wallace's foreign affairs pronouncement—which was widely interpreted in England as "anti-British" and dangerously pro-Russian—didn't represent a change in American foreign policy.

Downing Street was "very pleased" to use the phrase of a foreign office spokesman, at President Truman's statement that he didn't endorse Wallace's speech but rather the right to make it. The spokesman might have added with equal truth that the average Briton would be vastly astonished that a cabinet minister should have such freedom of unilateral action.

In Britain—and in most, if not all, European countries—a statement by a member of cabinet is binding on the whole cabinet, from the Prime Minister down. For this reason no member of cabinet ever makes a statement which might be construed as a statement of government policy without having discussed it with the premier and his colleagues.

If approval is given, then the entire cabinet stands back of it. If a cabinet minister disapproves of the statement, he cannot make it—or if by any chance it was made, then the Minister who had violated the code would be forced to resign and his statement would forthwith be disavowed by the government.

There's no such thing as a Prime Minister emulating Colaire and telling one of his cabinet: "I disapprove of what you say, but I will defend to the death your right to say it."

In Britain this cabinet tradition is followed so closely that a cabinet Minister won't give an interview to the press regarding cabinet affairs unless the matter is submitted to the cabinet for approval. I have encountered that many times during my reporting abroad.

Prime Ministers of course can speak for themselves if they want to, because as heads of government they are responsible for policies. However, I have had a premier say to me after he had given me a statement: "I should like to discuss this with my colleagues before publication."

Speaking of interviews, I've had them with a lot of heads of state during more than thirty years in the AP foreign service, and they offer interesting variations. For instance, I had the unusual experience of getting an interview over the phone from the late David Lloyd George, England's famous premier during the first world war.

When he had finished I asked if he would like me to submit the interview to see if the direct quotes were correct.

"Oh, no," he replied. "You will handle it all right."

During my recent trip abroad I had a long conversation with Prime Minister De Valera in Dublin. He talked "Turkey" but wouldn't be quoted. In London I had a private chat with Prime Minister Attlee, and he also preferred not to be quoted.

But I was permitted to give my "personal impressions" of what his beliefs were.

I am afraid that if we haven't a show of strength, a force strong enough to impress the ideas of freedom on the world, that we will take the darndest licking any country ever took. The reparations that Germany and Japan are paying will drop in the bucket to what we will pay—Maj.-Gen. Charles F. Born, 15th AAF Commander.

job that some might envy—he worked in 18-below-zero weather. It takes an ice cream plant. It takes a good man to do it, Tony said. He kept going on a heavy protein diet of meat, potatoes and beans.

Even so, he worked only in three four weeks. The 129 degree change in temperature from the normal outside to the 18-below inside was just too much even for Tony.

"I freeze all day and try all night," he said.

They're different versions of the shooting down of two American planes by Marshal Tito's fighters, which caused the death of five Americans. They have obtained this information from returning diplomats, military men and others cognizant of some of the terms under which we gave Stalin, Tito and minor dictators full sway over territory in eastern Europe and the Balkans.

REGULATIONS. These agreements do not rank with the major Potsdam pact, for they are not concerned with postwar government of defeated nations, redistribution of territory or reparations. They are more in the nature of protocols or ordinances that provide for the actual policing and block-by-block control of the various occupied zones.

They were not negotiated by the heads of states or foreign ministers, but by minor military, diplomatic and economic officials attached to the several principal missions. They establish strict regulations against the encroachment by one nation on another's district, whether by land, sea or air.

DANGER. These arrangements drastically prohibit us from flying over our former Allies' territory, and it is by virtue of one of these supplementary agreements that Tito's men shot down the American aviators.

It is under these same protocols that shots have been exchanged among British, American and Yugoslavian forces separated from each other by a shadowy boundary at Trieste and elsewhere.

These are hard-and-fast contracts; they contain no "ifs and or buts." They were not framed in the spirit of the Atlantic Charter. But the unfortunate fact is that too many American fliers and infantrymen do not know their terms, and do not realize the dangers they face if they violate them accidentally.

EPISODES. The Tito incident precipitated international repercussions and strained relations only because of its extremely tragic and dramatic nature. But there have been innumerable episodes of the same kind where the Americans and Russians operate at close quarters in Berlin, Austria and elsewhere.

The front pages would be cluttered with stories of similar mishaps if the Russian, American and British commanders in Berlin had not worked out a gentleman's agreement among themselves, and without consulting the diplomats. When a soldier strays into a wrong zone, he is picked up for the night and allowed to return to his own organization the next morning. A similar settlement has been negotiated in Austria.

Until consummation of this arrangement, and sometimes in spite of it even now, the Reds fired at an American or Britisher if he straggled into the wrong block or yard.

When U.S. representatives protest, they justify themselves by the litigious wording of these secret agreements.

Incidentally, the Soviet invaders do not find it difficult to live up to the pact's provisions for the simple reason that the Russians out-traded us in their negotiation.

TALK. Almost every traveler from Europe, the Middle East and the Orient, whether he be a Britisher or an American, a military man or a civilian, reports that there is far more talk and fear—of a World War III on this side of the water than anywhere else on the globe.

Several acute observers have gained the impression after a few weeks in the United States that certain forces in this country, and perhaps abroad, want to precipitate a conflict with Russia. This kind of talk falls strangely on military ears, for they report that the Russian and American officers overseas seem to get along better than do the diplomats of the two nations.

It is their deep conviction that the Russian people could not endure another conflict, that Red army leaders are averse to another struggle and that the Kremlin is desperately afraid of a battlefield showdown. With respect to every resource required for a prolonged and large-scale struggle, Moscow is known to be in desperate straits.

OUTCLASSED. American military men also deprecate the constant talk of war with Russia in view of the comparative strength of the two countries at strategic points in Europe. The U. S. is hopelessly outclassed except for the Eighty-ninth division at Trieste, and replacements have shattered the ranks of this renowned fighting force.

Moscow has kept its toughest and most experienced soldiers in Europe. They lack initiative, education and mechanical savvy, but they are fine troops, well-disciplined, well-organized and hard.

Our units consist largely of high school youngsters rushed across to permit veteran warriors to return after V-E and V-J days, and, according to one of their commanders, "They would be candidates for another Dunkirk if anybody started anything."

"So," he asks, "why so much talk of war—now?"

In my opinion there is no doubt that this bomb is powerful enough to flatten completely all buildings within a radius of a half mile, even if the buildings are of high-quality steel and concrete.—Dr. William G. Penney, British physicist at Bikini.

English should become the second language of all nations. In fact, English today is the Esperanto of 1946. It has become the universal language of the world.—Dr. Thyra Andren of Norway, world teachers conference delegate.

THE BATTLE OF THE TWO DOLLAR BILLS

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Washington Correspondent
(Peter Edson is on vacation)

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Periodically the Treasury Department rears up and launches a campaign to encourage the greater use of two-dollar bills. Simultaneously the American public turns a deaf ear to the Treasury's pleading, continues to shun the bills as though they were infected, and tears corners off with new vigor.

Why the Treasury keeps printing two-dollar bills when nobody likes them is somewhat of a mystery. There's no law or regulation fixing how much of this denomination should be printed in proportion to any other denomination. It's merely tenacity on the part of the Treasury in holding to its conviction that the two-dollar bill is a good idea.

Here are the two main reasons I give for printing them: In making up cash payrolls, the use of two-dollar bills means less counting and less chance for error; and, obviously, it costs just half as much to print the same amount of money in two-dollar bills as it does printing it in one-dollar bills.

According to Treasury's records, there are $25,340 million in circulation. There's approximately $27,000,000,000 worth of paper currency in circulation, and this proportion is maintained all the time.

The Treasury Department is too pure to come right out and say that it also prints two-dollar bills for the convenience of race-track bettors—two dollars being the most popular bet. It puts it this way: "We try to satisfy the requests of banks which we know are in the vicinity of race tracks for a higher percentage of two-dollar bills."

with them. It's the bettors who are largely responsible for tearing off the corners. There is the superstition that tearing off the corner takes the "curse" off the bill.

NO ONE KNOWS WHENCE CAME THE $2-BILL "CURSE" IDEA.

Where the idea that there is a curse on a two-dollar bill started, nobody appears to know. The Treasury Department would like to get its hands on the individual responsible. And where the idea that tearing off their corners would remove the curse from the bills got started is just as much of a mystery. Both beliefs seem to have become widespread about the same time.

But wherever the "curse" idea and its antidote came from, it's an expensive headache to the Treasury. Two-dollar bills come back to the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, mutilated, faster than any other denomination of bills. And practically all of them have their corners gone.

Just a little bit of the corner gone doesn't constitute "mutilation" as far as the Treasury is concerned. So, although the Treasury doesn't officially recognize the "curse" belief, one of its experts who has studied the thing thoroughly claims that the tiniest bit off the corner would be just as effective in combatting the curse as would a large piece.

In spreading this idea, the Treasury hopes to cut down the turnover on two-dollar bills.

The American antipathy to the two-dollar bill. None of it was in this denomination.

Thus the regulation permitting only two-dollar bills to be carried back and forth across the Mexican border was placed in effect. Treasury reports that this device succeeded in keeping axis-held American paper money out of the U. S.

$2 BILL DOESN'T CIRCULATE AS A "HOT" BILL.

The Treasury denies charges that the two-dollar bill is kept in circulation under pressure from the chamber of commerce of Charlottesville, Va. The face of Thomas Jefferson is on one side of the bill, with a picture of his historic home, Monticello, on the back. Monticello is one of the show-places of Charlottesville for tourists, and it has been charged that the two-dollar bill constituted an advertising circular for that town.

In connection with a discussion of the two-dollar bill, the Treasury also gives an account of how the sign came into being.

"The origin of the $ sign has been variously accounted for, with perhaps the most widely accepted explanation being that it is the result of evolution, independently in different places, of the Mexican or Spanish "Ps" for pesos, or plasters, or pieces of eight. The theory, derived from a study of old manuscripts, is that the "P" gradually came to be written over the "S" developing a close equivalent of the $ mark which eventually evolved. It was widely used before the adoption of the United States dollar in 1785.

It seems the cops been gone an awful long time. Suppose he's havin' trouble findin' coolat.

These are troubled days with alley cops old home-land being on the strange ruthless cro-manson men.

I'll fix this clown when he unties my hands! I'll shoot him so full of holes he'll look like a sieve!

Good heavens, what's this do to my ammunition?

Two Escapees From Reformatory Caught

DALLAS—(AP)—Detective Lieutenant John Daniel has reported that two escapees from the Illinois state reformatory for women were arrested here when they appeared at a telegraph office to claim a money order. They were identified as Mrs. Norma Jean Brooks, 31, Elizabethtown, Tenn., and Maude Fay McDaniels, 28, Danville, Ill., who escaped from the reformatory at Dwight, Ill., Sept. 8. The women made their escape by throwing a mattress from a third story window of their cell. The mattress broke their fall after sliding down a bedsheet rope a distance equivalent to two floors of the building. Police said Mrs. Brooks was serving a 30 year term for the pistol slaying of Felix Shannon, a wealthy Mt. Erie, Ill. farmer. Maude McDaniels was serving a one year term on a dependency charge for failure to support a child, Daniel said.

Wallace (Continued from page 1) provol of it. They might issue a statement later in the day. There was some talk, too, that he might try to see the President and clear up the situation resulting from Mr. Truman's speech, which he had not approved what Wallace said, he did approve his right to say it.

The White House disclosed Undersecretary of State Clayton, spearheading the state department's counter-moves to Wallace's attack on Byrnes policies, would see Mr. Truman at 11:30 p.m. (CST), but did not divulge the purpose of the visit. Ross, said he did not know why Clayton was coming.

All signs pointed today to a red hot dispute between Henry A. Wallace and the state department over future foreign policy speeches by the secretary of commerce.

Whether a full-scale cabinet crisis would develop remained to be seen. It appeared to hinge on whether President Truman's stated approval of Wallace's right last Thursday cleared the way for Wallace to carry on his fight for what he considers a "more realistic" attitude toward Russia.

If so, a showdown is in the making over the current "tough" policy of Secretary of State Byrnes. No one in either the Wallace camp or at the state department appears to consider that Mr. Truman's statement on Saturday resolved the basic policy differences between the two cabinet officers.

According to Deputy Sheriff V. J. Donnelly, the escape had been on a constant run for 28 miles, and the dogs had been following him. The dogs closed in on him and the convict ran onto the porch, screaming for the officers to call off the approaching dogs.

An official at Harlem said two of the 11 escapees from his farm are still at large. He said the escape was made while a movie was being shown to 200 convicts.

He said bars were sawed off a rear window and 11 men crept out of the building before the break was discovered by an outside guard.

Sheriff Zwahr of Fort Bend county and Capt. O. E. Kelly of the Harlem farm called out posses and started after the fugitives.

Houston officers were called into the hunt when it was learned one of the prisoners was heading toward Houston. The spokesman at Harlem said all the prisoners that escaped from there were Latin-Americans. One prisoner, shot as he attempted to join the 11 who made their dash for freedom, died this morning in the hospital at the Harlem prison farm, Sheriff Fred Zwahr of Fort Bend county, said.

Six of the 11 men who made the break at the Darrington farm were apprehended near the farm by guards with the aid of bloodhounds. Capt. Glenn H. Rose of the State Highway patrol said.

Captain Rose said the convicts still at large are Floyd W. Evans, 27, serving two years for burglary from Howard county; Jack Hunter, 21, serving a two year theft term from Denton county; William Earl Russell, 22, serving a six year burglary sentence from McLennan county; Carlos R. Montague, 21, serving seven years for burglary from Matagorda county; and Charles E. Sparks, 22, serving a five year robbery sentence from Mitchell and Howard counties.

Solon (Continued from Page 1) jevo," a reference to the assassination in Bosnia which sparked World War I.

Italy and Yugoslavia, the senator emphasized, were both subordinate to world peace. All nations were involved, including the United States, and the senator declared, his voice rising to push home the point, "they want peace."

Connally referred to an article of the Italian peace treaty, giving the United Nations security council responsibility for maintaining the integrity and independence of Trieste, along with the right to name Trieste's governor and to supervise its government.

He recalled the Soviet Union had agreed to these provisions, despite Molotov's statement Saturday that the Trieste assembly should be all-powerful, and that "foreign troops" should evacuate the city 30 days after the treaty is effective.

"The United Nations security council has the primary responsibility to preserve and maintain the peace of the world," Connally said. "That is in harmony with our objective here."

Answering criticism that the American proposal on Trieste's government was "undemocratic," Connally said that under the United States plan the assembly, elected by a universal secret ballot, would in turn elect the government council.

Referring to Molotov's expression of fear that "foreign governments" might establish a military base in Trieste, Connally said that no armed forces except those of the security council would be permitted in the territory and then only in case of an incident requiring international action.

"There could be no military or naval bases established," he declared.

With Connally's statement the commission closed its discussion of statute for Trieste, which will now go before a special sub-committee. The commission will take up various proposals on the Trieste area's boundaries at its next session.

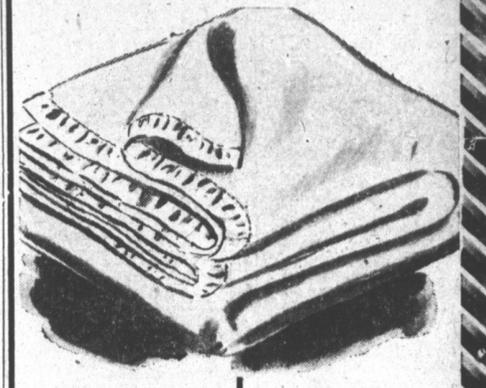

Continuing the Slav bloc campaign for a dominant Yugoslav position in the projected free territory of Trieste, Eardley said the United States and Britain were opposing Slav demands simply to protect their rights and privileges in the Mediterranean.

"They are inspired neither by concern for the population of Trieste, nor for the peoples of the interior, nor for the people of Italy," said the stocky Yugoslav spokesman.
