Communism Is Hit by Solid British Front

LONDON—(AP)—Winston Churchill and Prime Minister Attlee captured Britain's headlines today with almost simultaneous verbal blasts against Russia in what appeared to be shaping up as a solid British front against communism.

Churchill told his constituents in a suburban Loughborough that he has "facts and evidence" to support his suggestion—made in the form of a question before the house of commons Wednesday—that the Soviet Union now has 200 divisions—more than 2,000,000 men—on a full war footing in Russian-occupied Eastern Europe.

He lauded Attlee's speech before the Trades Union congress at Brighton early in the day in which the Prime Minister bluntly accused Soviet leaders of erecting a "wall of ignorance and suspicion" between the Russian people and the rest of the world.

"The fact that the British government have decisively broken with the communists and are fronted with them, although it does not immediately affect the course of affairs in this island," said Churchill, "is an important and beneficial result abroad, because there are countries on the continent—like France—outraging under the communist attack."

Attlee, in his Brighton speech sharply accused "communists, their dupes and fellow travelers" of practicing "misrepresentation" and said he "deeply regretted" the policy by which the Soviet government has deliberately tried to prevent intercourse between the Russian people and the rest of the world.

According to the Russians, he declared, whoever was not a communist was necessarily a fascist.

State School Funds Discussed by WTCC

A heated discussion of methods by which funds for state colleges would be raised dominated the District One referendum meeting of the West Texas chamber of commerce here yesterday with educators taking the one stand and the WTCC taking the other.

A college president, past-president and two members of boards of regents of Texas colleges went against a WTCC proposal that the University of Texas land fund be divided among the 16 state-supported colleges.

Entering into the discussion on the side of the colleges were Dr. J. A. Hill, president of West Texas State; J. Thomas Davis, dean emeritus of John Tarleton college; David M. Warren, member of the regency board of Texas U., and S. B. Whittenburg, Texas State College for Women, regent.

The WTCC proposal states that the Texas U. land fund made up of income from over two million acres of West Texas land be divided on a ratio of 40 per cent for Texas and Texas A. and M. with the remaining 60 percent going to the other 14 schools.

A recent agreement among the 16 college heads favors the leaving of the 40-percent Confederated Veterans tax, with 10 cents of that amount going to the colleges and the other two cents being left for the 16 Confederate Veterans of the state. The amount is based on each $100 valuation.

D. A. Bandeen, general manager of the WTCC, led a discussion in behalf of his organization.

Dr. Hill, dean of all Texas college heads and first speaker for the collegiate side, told those attending the meeting that the state either through lack of funds or information, has never adequately supported its school.

"Texas must come to the point of view that education is not an expense but an investment," he said. "Since 1927, the state has given West Texas State only $189,000 for plant improvements, while the enrollment has more than doubled."

"The boys and girls of the Panhandle and the federal government have given more to the school than has the state," he added.

Dr. Hill said his school is issuing two million dollars in bonds for which the students themselves will pay, "making an unwholesome, unfair, unjust and impossible situation."

The West Texas college head pointed out that the WTCC proposal could not pass because Texas U. and A. and M. have too much power in the legislature (21 of the 31 members of the senate are Texas U. graduates).

Warren pointed out that the state constitution does not allow any money to be appropriated to the university for building, as all building funds must come from bonds which the university is to issue.

Siding with Warren in his opposition to the WTCC issue were S. B. Whittenburg, chairman of the board of regents of TSCW and editor of the Amarillo Times, and R. L. Templeton, youthful legislator-elect from Wellington.

U. S., Britain In Clash With Reds on Veto

NEW YORK—(AP)—The United States and Great Britain clashed with Russia today over a Soviet attempt to block a veto proposed by the United Nations assembly.

While making it clear that they were not committing themselves on the issue of whether the veto provisions of the charter should be amended, the two big western powers intimated that the assembly must not be denied the right to discuss the question.

The clash occurred at an open meeting of the general committee after the Soviet representative formally demanded that the items dealing with the veto be stricken from the assembly's provisional agenda.

Warren R. Austin, chief U. S. delegate declared the American delegation felt that the assembly had a right to discuss any matter within the scope of the charter and that it was clear that the veto rights of the five permanent members of the security council came within the charter.

Austin declared, however, that in opposing the Soviet proposal the United States "does not express any attitude with regard to the substance of the items" dealing with the veto.

He said that he felt a complete airing would help to "explain and clarify" the veto provisions and clear up "apparent misunderstandings."

Austin was backed by Sir Hartley Shawcross, British representative, who said the British delegation was in agreement with some of the observations raised by the Soviet Union but that this committee was not the place to accept or reject such items.

Shawcross urged that the committee pass it on without making any recommendations.

He added that Great Britain should be likely to oppose any amendment to the charter but that this committee has no right to delete such items or take positive action.

Paul Hasluck of Australia, invited to the table said the Soviet objections were "without substance."

Andre Y. Vishinsky, Soviet deputy foreign minister, declared that any change in the veto provisions of the U. N. charter would be a "heavy blow" to the new world organization.

In a brief statement before the 14-nation committee, the Soviet representative said:

"Soviet Russia will reserve its right to express its opinion more in detail at the right time. I will now see UNITED NATIONS, Page 8

Clark's Office Is 'Analyzing' Coal Contract

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The threatened coal crisis was brought up at President Truman's cabinet meeting today and Attorney General Clark later said his office is "analyzing" the government's contract with John L. Lewis's United Mine Workers.

Clark told reporters that while he had been asked to study the contract, "we always analyze those things so we will be ready if called upon."

The contract was negotiated last May after the government seized the idle soft coal mines.

Secretary of War Patterson said in response to questions merely that the coal situation had been "mentioned" at the 40-minute cabinet session.

Later Clark was asked how much time was devoted to the subject of coal.

He replied that about the only discussion of the matter was that it is in the hands of Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug and Reconversion Director John R. Steeiman.

Krug is now on a western tour that is not scheduled to end until Nov. 6, the day after election.

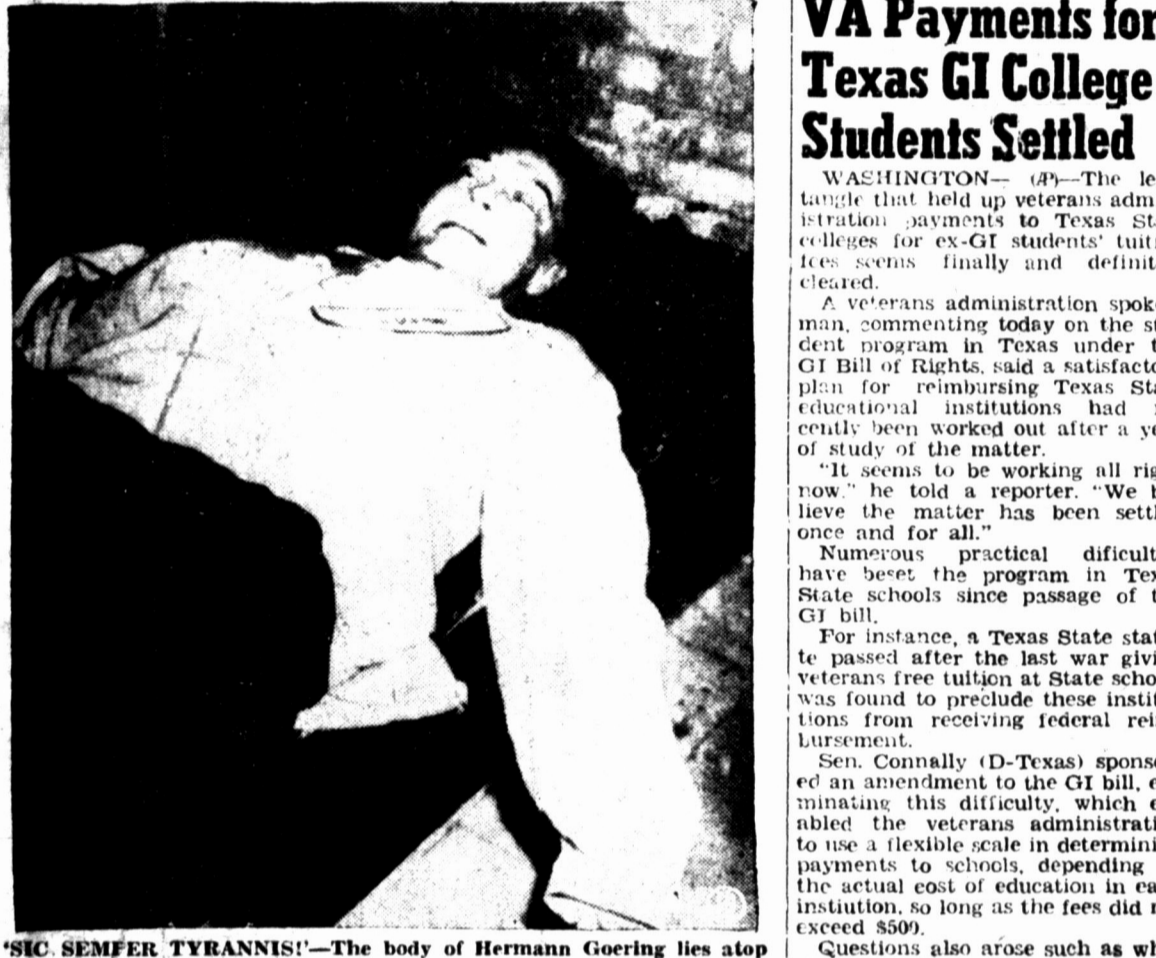

Lewis has demanded revamping of the existing wage agreement and has served notice that the fact will be "void" unless the negotiations begin Nov. 1. The federal coal mines administration has taken the stand that the contract is good for the duration of government operation of the mines.

When a reporter asked if Mr. Truman was optimistic about the outlook of coal, Clark said that the President had not indicated whether

23 Nazi Doctors Are Indicted on Charges They 'Murdered Hundreds of Thousands'

NUERNBERG, Germany—(AP)—Twenty-three Nazi doctors were indicted today on charges that they "murdered hundreds of thousands of human beings" in Germany's wartime program of medical killings and brutal experiments with living prisoners.

A woman, Herla Oberhauser, and Dr. Karl Brandt, one of Hitler's personal physicians, were among the 23, who will be tried next month in the first of a series of war crimes trials by special American military courts.

Brig. Gen. Telford Taylor, chief counsel for the courts, said between 250 and 500 former Nazi military, industrial, financial and governmental leaders would be arraigned during the trials, which are expected to last through 1947.

The doctors were charged on three counts—conspiracy to commit atrocities, participation in war crimes against enemy nationals, participation in crimes against humanity involving German civilians and the nationals of occupied countries.

Ten also are accused of membership in the SS (Elite Guard) which was a criminal organization.

An 18-page indictment describes such experiments performed by the Nazi physicians as:

Deliberately inflicting wounds and injecting them, then forcing ground glass or wood shavings into the wounds to aggravate the infection in order to test the effectiveness of sulfanilamide.

Immersing the victims in ice water or making them stand naked outdoors, then experimenting with various means of reviving them.

Transplanting bones, muscles and nerves from one living victim to another to study regeneration.

Infection with such diseases as malaria, spotted fever or epidemic jaundice to test remedies.

Mass sterilization by X-ray, surgery or drugs.

Burning with incendiary bombs or mustard gas.

Administration of experimental poisons, including shooting prisoners with poison bullets.

Kellerville P-TA Announces Projects

KELLERVILLE—More than eighty attended the P-TA meeting at the school auditorium this week.

Rev. Rufus Strickland spoke on "Laying the Cornerstone." The first and second grade put on a play.

The organization voted to buy skates to be used on the gymnasium floor. This will be one of the projects to raise funds. The school gym will be used one night each week for skating. Mrs. Mildred Scruggs will have charge of a play that will be put on by the P-TA.

During the business session the group voted to send Mrs. Byron L. Holley, their president to the state convention at Amarillo November 20-22.

HIDE AND SEEK—BEDFORD, Ind.—(AP)—Sheriff Lester W. Hayes started out with a warrant for William Blanton, 45, of Mitchell. The search was long and futile. Blanton was not to be found.

The sheriff gave up and returned to the county jail, only to find Blanton in a cell. The man had been arrested by Mitchell police on another charge and had been brought to the jail a short time after the sheriff left.

VA Payments for Texas GI College Students Settled

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The legal tangle that held up veterans administration payments to Texas State colleges for ex-GI students' tuition fees finally and definitely cleared.

Veterans administration spokesmen, commenting today on the settlement program in Texas under the GI Bill of Rights, said a satisfactory plan for reimbursing Texas State educational institutions had recently been worked out after a year of study of the matter.

"It seems to be working all right now," he told a reporter. "We believe the matter has been settled once and for all."

Numerous practical difficulties have beset the program in Texas State schools since passage of the GI bill.

For instance, a Texas State statute passed after the last war giving veterans free tuition at State schools was found to preclude these institutions from receiving federal reimbursement.

Sen. Connally (D-Texas) sponsored an amendment to the GI bill, eliminating this difficulty, which enabled the veterans administration to use a flexible scale in determining payments to schools, depending on the actual cost of education in each institution, so long as the fees did not exceed $500.

Questions also arose such as whether the federal government would pay various fees in Texas State colleges which are optional with the student, such as outside activities and athletic tickets and travel.

Under the plan which has finally been approved, the amounts paid each State institution are only for the estimated cost of teaching personnel and supplies for instruction.

The amount will vary from school to school, and while generally in excess of the customary tuition charged non-veteran residents, it is still less than the tuition paid at such privately-operated schools in Texas as Baylor and Southern Methodist universities, the VA official added.

The exact amount paid to all Texas schools, both State and private, is recorded with the veterans administration headquarters in Dallas. It was added, eventually the payment figures reach here for auditing.

The veterans spokesman said that arrangements are being made to make prompt monthly payments to all colleges for veterans tuition fees, because many of them have experienced financial difficulties in meeting their regular monthly budget expenditures when the federal reimbursement is made on a semester basis. This has been found particularly true where veterans comprise a large portion of the student body.

Amarillo Man Is Held in Shooting Of City Fireman

AMARILLO—Lawrence Henry Boyd, 37, was held without bond last night following the fatal shooting of C. M. Westberry, 33, Amarillo city fireman, shortly after one o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Boyd, who works for the E. J. Lutz Corp. of Chicago, next is $11,000,000 for New Orleans boatbuilder Andrew J. Higgins, seven other cities are represented.

Boyd, who wants a guaranteed market for his products, is now in a pre-fab campaign which apparently will provide only 40,000 sets this year instead of the 250,000 sets as the original 1946 goal.

The NHA official said that if the 11 concerns seeking federal aid come through along with other pre-fab producers, the chances are good for meeting the 1947 goal of 600,000 factory-built dwellings. This is twofifths of the entire 1947 housing target of 1,500,000 homes slated.

Boyd's aides are confident that the RFC will approve the bulk of the requests. The loan agency itself was non-committal, but a spokesman said action is possible within a matter of days if sufficient data accompanied the loan requests.

Legion Offers Teacher Support

Members of the Kerley-Crossman post of the American Legion voted unanimously last night to support public school teachers in their request for higher salaries.

A copy of the Legion's resolution is being mailed to each member of the school board.

The resolution was adopted after a four-point discussion, which included:

1. The schedule of pay for all types of common laborers is considerably higher than that of Pampa teachers.
2. No explanation has been given as to how the $44,000 state appropriation for higher salaries was spent.
3. School teachers are not receiving a living wage during this period of inflation.
4. The ranks of school teachers are rapidly becoming depleted due to the low salary schedule.

According to Ray Gunn, Legion commander, the local post now has over 650 members.

Also discussed at the meeting was the district convention, which is to be held in Amarillo November 16 and 17. The next regular meeting of the local post will be held November 14.

Breaks Indicated in Several Halls Throughout U.S.

The threat of a shutdown of the nation's soft coal mines remained today but there were a few bright spots on the labor front.

Outbreaks in the six months old involving 900 workers at the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company plant at La Crosse, Wis., was ended and there were indications of breaks in the national maritime walkout, the work stoppage by Trans World Airline pilots and in the AFL jurisdictional dispute in the Hollywood movie studios.

The ending of the walkout at the Allis-Chalmers plant at La Crosse left only two of the company's factories still strike-bound, in Milwaukee, the firm's largest, and Boston. Strikes at the company's plants in La Porte, Ind., Springfield, Ill., Norwood, O., and Pittsburgh already have been settled. The CIO industrial union at La Crosse ratified a contract providing a 13 1/2-cent wage increase and other changes.

Servants under the Atlantic and Gulf Coast's of the strike of deck officers hinged upon acceptance of a new proposal made to ship operators by the AFL masters, mates and pilot unions. A spokesman in the negotiations in New York did not disclose the proposal but said its acceptance would settle the 25-day old walkout. Wages and preferential hiring were the chief issues in the dispute.

The CIO marine engineers, the second union involved in the shipping strike, awaited results of voting on ratification of an agreement reached earlier this week to settle their dispute. However, they pledged to respect AFL picket lines even if they ratify their own pact. Both unions also are on strike on the Pacific coast, but negotiations are not being pressed until settlement of the East and Gulf Coast dispute.

In the five-day old strike by 1,600 TWA pilots, which has made idle some 15,000 company employees, company and officials of the AFL, air line pilots' association, resulted in discussion in Washington before the national mediation board. The pilots are demanding wage increases and revised working rules.

In Hollywood, a spokesman for the AFL screen actors guild said leaders of the two rival AFL groups promised to arbitrate their month long dispute by telephone with members of the 15-man AFL executive council in Chicago. The two unions have been at odds periodically for 18 months over which has jurisdiction in building film sets.

WE HOPE YOU WILL BE LISTENING!
SERMON SUBJECTS FOR SUNDAY, Oct. 27:
11:00 A. M.—"Walking With Christ or With Moses?"
7:30 P. M.—"The Figure of Him."

All who "WORSHIP ON THE SEVENTH-DAY SABBATH" are turning their back on Christ and walking with Moses. "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy" is the fourth of the ten commandments which God gave to Moses on Mount Sinai. Ex. 20:8. This law was to guide God's people until the New Law was given. Jesus was born under Moses' law, lived under it, fulfilled it, then took it out of the way, nailing it to the cross. Col. 2:14. This side of the cross there is no command to "Worship on the seventh-day Sabbath." Neither is there any example of CHRISTIANS worshipping on that day, nor is it even inferred that CHRISTIANS met to worship on the last day of the week. But we do have an example of CHRISTIANS gathering together to break bread, or WORSHIP ON THE FIRST DAY OF THE WEEK, Acts 20:7; 1 Cor. 16:12. These people had heard the gospel of Christ, believed the gospel, confessed Christ before men, and had been baptized for the remission of their sins, therefore they were CHRISTIANS and were worshipping on the FIRST DAY OF THE WEEK in memory of the resurrection of Christ. THEREFORE, ALL WHO KEEP THE SABBATH ARE DENYING CHRIST AND WALKING WITH MOSES!

The Church of Christ Would Love to Debate This Question Anywhere at Any Time!

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON
PAUL'S WIDENING FIELD OF SERVICE
Scripture: Acts 13:1-5, 13-14, 14:16-18, 19, 22-27
By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.
When Paul saw the light the way to Damascus, we are told that "he was not disoriented into the heavenly vision." God's call may come to us in heavenly visions or in very human, inward impulses, but in whatever way it comes it is to obedience only that we find the pathway to our highest and best.

Paul the persecutor could but little have realized in the hour of his conversion the greatness of the mission that had been laid for him. His conversion meant that he was breaking with old associations. His future was uncertain. He was accepting all the dangers and risks of a new way. But there was no uncertainty in Paul himself. He threw himself into the business of being a Christian with all the intensity he had put into his persecuting.

Not was there any incompleteness in Paul's conversion. In his Jewish prejudices he had been bigoted and narrow-minded. Now, as if to atone for all his past sins, he ardently took upon himself a mission to Gentiles as well as Jews. And his mission was directed more and more to Gentiles as the opposition of his former comrades, the Jewish persecutors, increased.

It was from the pagan city of Antioch, where the disciples were first called "Christians," that Paul began his missionary journey; and the first journey was slight in comparison with Paul's later travels. His companion on that first journey was Barnabas, who had spoken up for him when the disciples of Jerusalem were inclined to fear and distrust him. Accompanying them was a young man named John, whose surname was Mark. This companion later caused a sharp contention between Paul and Barnabas (Acts 15:37-39).

He left them on their first journey under circumstances that Paul evidently considered not to his credit, and Paul refused to take him with them when they proposed a second trip. So Paul took Silas as his companion on the second missionary journey, while Barnabas and John Mark went their own way.

In defense of John Mark it may be said that Paul, for whom no danger was too great and no task too formidable, may have been too exacting a leader. In any event, the world owes a great debt to this John Mark, for he was later the author of the Gospel of Mark, the simplest and most direct of the Gospels in its portrayal of the Master's life and work.

The peacock does not have a long tail. Its display feathers are formed by the upper tail coverts, and form what is properly known as a train.

Halloween Season Is Seen in Events
Shades of Halloween, the holiday season of spooks, are evident here already, what with a series of school eating and playing events scheduled. The first one in fact was held last night at itchy Souls.

Two more are scheduled for tonight—one at the Sam Houston school and one at the Woodrow Wilson school. Parents and other school patrons will have a chance to mix with the kiddies. The P-TA is sponsoring the event in both cases, it was said.

The other two ward schools will have similar socials next week, it was said.

Cornstalks, wheat straw and sugar cane stalks are made into paper, corrugated fiber-board and building boards.

Randall Clay Scores Shorthorn Touchdown In Tie With Owlets

YOAKUM—(AP)—The Rice Owlets and the Texas Shorthorns battled to a 7-7 deadlock here last night before a capacity crowd of 2,500. The Owlets fought off three Texas scoring threats that saw the Shorthorns move within the 10-yard line in the final period. Texas had the ball on the 11-yard line as the game ended.

Texas scored in the first period on a pass from Paul Campbell to Randall Clay. Clay added the extra point.

The Owlets tied the score in the third period when Barron Ellis scored after a 50-yard drive and then converted the extra point.

Claassen Takes Irish, Army, Texas, Penn In This Week's Top Meetings

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK—(AP)—Notre Dame customarily has no more luck visiting Iowa City on a football mission than this forecaster has with his weekly predictions. This time, however, the Irish should chalk up their first triumph in the Hawkeye State.

Two times in the past the Irish have invaded Iowa City with unbeaten teams, as they will again this weekend. And two times an underdog Iowa eleven has triumphed.

The starting teams probably will be close to even but Iowa hasn't the reserve power to outlast the Irish.

Other selections: Army over Duke; Duke is the team Coach Earl Blaik of Army feared above all others as the season started. Last week's 41 to 0 victory by the Southerners over previously unbeaten Richmond has done nothing to ease his worries. However, all of Army's regulars, including Arnold Tucker, are healed.

Notre Dame Is Seeking First Iowa Triumph

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

NEW YORK—(AP)—Racing with surprising rapidity toward the day when sectional champions and bowl opponents will be determined, the college football season reaches the halfway mark this week-end with the more important attractions distributed equitably throughout the land.

In the east, midwest and southwest the three outstanding candidates for national honors—Army, Notre Dame and Texas—will be risking their perfect records tomorrow against what easily could be the toughest opposition any of them has been called upon to face this year.

Army's Black Knights, bent on running their three-year victory string to an even two dozen, collide in the Polo Grounds here with a Duke team that while battling only 300 in four games, now is clicking with power and pointing for an upset.

Notre Dame, meanwhile, moves into Iowa City, where the Irish never have won, to battle Iowa's Hawkeyes, the team that slipped to a 13-0 stranglehold on Indiana last week while Notre Dame was taking a rest.

At Houston, a Rice team rated as the only outfit in the South Conference capable of spoiling Texas' bid for the league crown will challenge the invading Longhorns.

In the South, Tennessee, rated the fourth best eleven in the land after its defeat of Alabama, tangles at Knoxville with Wake Forest, which only last week suffered its first loss. Georgia, ranked seventh, visits Furman and Florida will be at North Carolina, which holds the No. 10 spot.

WGLA, top team on the Pacific coast and fifth in the nation, will step out of conference play to entertain Santa Clara, but within the loop Southern California will go to Stanford, to see which remains the outstanding challenger of the Bruins.

At Philadelphia, powerful Pennsylvania, the country No. 6 team, meets a Navy crew that has been beaten three times running but still has ideas of knocking off some of the big boys.

Elsewhere in the east it will be Cornell at Princeton, Coast Guard at Yale, Columbia at Dartmouth, Holy Cross at Harvard, Syracuse at West Virginia, Boston at Brown and George Washington at Rutgers.

Two big nine tilts designed to share the spotlight with the Notre Dame-tow tussle in the midwest will find Illinois at Michigan and Minnesota at Ohio State. Three other big nine teams have non-conference dates, Indiana at Nebraska, Purdue at Pittsburgh and Northwestern at home against the College of the Pacific.

Oklahoma will be at Iowa State in the only Big Six encounter. Other midwest highlights will have Southern Methodist at Missouri, Arizona at Marquette, Cincinnati at Michigan State and Kansas at Tulsa.

In the Southeastern Conference it will be Kentucky at Alabama, Auburn at Georgia Tech, Louisiana State at Vanderbilt and Mississippi State at Tulane, with Southern Conference games sending North Carolina to Virginia Tech, Richmond to Washington and Lee and William and Mary to VMI.

Arkansas goes to Mississippi for a non-league battle and Texas A. and M. will be at Baylor for another Southwest Conference go.

In the Rocky Mountain region Wyoming will be at Utah and New Mexico at Colorado, while Denver goes to Texas Tech for a night game.

Topping tonight's program, Texas Christian will be at Oklahoma A. and M., Vilanova at Boston college, Drake at Detroit and Chattanooga at Miami (Fla.).

Borger-Westerner Battle Rates Tops

By SCOTT RAFFERTY

Despite a pre-season rating as one of the top five teams of the state, Amarillo's Sandies take a back seat tonight as District One watches to see the outcome of the Borger-Lubbock fracas.

While Amarillo is playing a rebounding team at Vernon, Borger gets its second conference test at Tech stadium tonight, battling the strong Lubbock Westerners.

Borger is unbeaten in four straight games and only one opponent—Pampa's Harvesters—have scored against the Bulldogs, although Borger took an easy 34-7 decision.

The Sandies may have more trouble than they expect at Vernon. The Lions lost to two strong teams in their openers and have come back for two straight wins.

In the only other game, Plainview goes to Childress, Pampa and Brownfield are idle.

The writer's weekly selections again to refresh your memory: Borger at Lubbock—The Westerners might surprise somebody but we do not see where Borger is going to be stopped for a while yet. Borger by three touchdowns.

Amarillo at Vernon—Common sense says to take the Sandies but our fingers are crossed. Amarillo by six or seven points.

Plainview at Childress—Not given much attention but an important test, to say the least. Plainview by a couple of touch-me-downs.

Reapers Battle To 0-0 Deadlock

Meeting for the second time this season, the Pampa Junior High Reapers and the Borger Junior High Poodles repeated their first game performance, and fought to a scoreless deadlock again, in a Panhandle Junior High conference game at Harvester park last night.

Both teams played excellent ball, both defensively and offensively, but neither had the power to score on the other. Offensive drives that piled up 8 first downs each, rolled well while each team was in its own territory, but bogged down repeatedly after crossing the midfield stripe.

In the Reaper backfield, Jimmy Packer played his best game to date while Marvin Harvel did some nice blocking and ball-carrying.

Hoff was outstanding for the Bulldogs. The big quarterback scored in the third period but the play was called back on a clipping penalty.

The Reapers sustained injuries to two of their outstanding men in last night's game. Richardson, who is the Reapers' number one ground gainer, was taken from the game with a fractured collar bone. Runyon, the Reapers' heaviest man, who has been an outstanding tackle all season, received a knee injury late in the ball game.

Aggies, Frogs Meet Tonight

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—The Oklahoma Aggies are expected to get back on the winning road tonight at the expense of Texas Christian's Horned Frogs who also would like to taste a little of the sweet for a change.

The Aggies and Frogs meet here in Taft Stadium at 8 o'clock with the Cowpokes boasting full strength for the first time since early season when they got battered up playing Arkansas. Included in the starters will be All-America Bob Fenimore.

The crippled Frog, minus passing star Jim Lucas, will be outweighed eleven pounds to the man and will give away a lot in experience. T. C. U. has won one game and tied one this season; Oklahoma A. and M. has a similar record but tied Arkansas, which walloped the Frogs 34-14.

Sun Bowl Official Sets Ticket Date

EL PASO—(AP)—Ticket Chairman Nate Knittle has announced Dec. 1 as the deadline for the claiming of reserved seat tickets to the New Year's Day Sun Bowl football game.

The early deadline was mandatory so unclaimed seats could be channeled to out-of-town residents who otherwise would be disappointed at no reservations because of a complete sell-out. Knittle said. Tickets now reserved can be claimed starting Nov. 15.

Leveling Off of Cattle Prices Seen by Buyers
 MOBEETIE — (Special) — Cattle traders who frequent the Mobette Sales company barn here are of the opinion that, with the return to the free market in cattle prices will settle down to normal within a few days.
 Runs here are expected to be heavy until frost, as there is a good demand for anything that will go out on wheat and make a gain. About 950 cattle were sold last Saturday at the local auction, most of the offerings were stockers. Good and choice fat cattle brought a record price. J. M. Brannon bought eight fat steer calves that would weigh around 640 pounds for $129 per head. Ted Cunningham bought one of the highest cows to ever go through the ring here, at $189.
 Walter Jones of Laketon bought a string of fat heifer calves at $83 per head. L. A. Decker bought a string of stocker heifer calves at $82.50 per head. Mr. McKnight of south of Pampa bought a large string of mixed red and roan stockers at from $40 to $60 per head to go on wheat range.
 Chicken feathers have been made into an experimental yarn.

SCHOLARSHIP AND FRIENDSHIP

Two events of last week, while relatively unimportant, nevertheless offer some slight encouragement in the field of international relations. Needless to say, any encouragement along that line is welcome.

The Kosciuszko Foundation launched a Books for Poland campaign from its New York headquarters. At the same time, a young American professor was en route to Poland to teach English at the University of Cracow. While two Polish students were on their way to this country, where the girl will enroll at Vassar and the young man at the University of Wisconsin.

These journeys marked the resumption of the Kosciuszko Foundation's exchange scholarships. The book collection drive, which had sent contributions to the Polish university-in-exile at the University of Edinburgh during the war, will now seek to help replenish the war-devastated libraries of Poland.

There is a temptation to enlarge upon the importance of this small beginning. These scholars, or more that will follow them to both countries, will not affect the problems of the moment. They will settle no boundary disputes, nor will the reconcile differences of ideology.

But surely there is hope in the very spirit that prompted this movement of scholars and books. It cannot be said that scholarship has no politics. Science and the arts are somewhat colored by their surroundings. Yet there is an understanding and sympathy among their practitioners which is quite apart from the quarrels of diplomats and statesmen.

Those who go to study or teach in foreign countries are above the average in intelligence. They are likely to be alert and observant, and less susceptible to the abiding prejudices of ignorance. Their stay in foreign lands is long enough to permit them to become part of their new surroundings, to appreciate new problems and accomplishments, and to become friends with new acquaintances and the new country.

The world today needs this type of understanding more than ever. It needs a free and frequent exchange of scholars between many more countries than Poland and the United States.

These exchanges are instigated by people, not governments; people who are interested and eager to understand one another and be friendly. Perhaps among the young scholars of today are some of the national leaders of tomorrow. Perhaps they will bring to their future tasks of leadership the fruits of that interest and eagerness. At least the possibility is worth encouragement and assistance.

In Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA) —Louis Calhern tells it on himself. His agent once took Calhern to see Darryl Zanuck.

"Before long," chuckles Louis, "he felt like a hog, they were bidding for. They talked about my tech. my mane, my ears—even my eyes. They bounced my head from one of them to the other like a rubber ball."

Zanuck remained completely unimpressed. Finally my agent got desperate.

"Darryl," he shouted, "I've got it! We'll cut down Calhern's nose and make a romantic lead out of him!"

"Are you crazy?" retorted Zanuck. "Gutzon Borglum is the only man I'd trust to tackle a nose that size, and he's busy down in Georgia, carving out Stone Mountain."

A few months ago she was just another actress. Ruth Warkwick, after landing the role of Kate in "Arch of Triumph," is asking, and getting, $65,000 per picture.

Universal-International is plotting a film starring Desi Arnaz and Carmen Miranda.

Told that he had been named a "star of tomorrow" in a nationwide exhibitor's poll, my eyes—of course, Jenkins commented: "Gosh, does that mean I'm gonna have to go around kissing girls in pictures like Mickey Rooney does?"

RECORD RAFFLE
"Two Years Before the Mast," filmed three years ago finally is getting its release. It was Alan Ladd's first picture after checking out of the army.

POTPOURRI OF NEWS ABOUT WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Henry Wallace has a new job, but he isn't saying what it is. The argument between Wallace and his new employer is over whether to announce the new connection now or wait till after election.

How bitterly Wallace feels about U. S. foreign policy is revealed in this observation to one of his former aids: "We haven't got a democratic foreign policy now. What we have is a republican foreign policy."

New appraisal on Wallace: Fifty or 100 years from now, people will be reading his speeches, declarations and writings, studying them in school as great philosophy, great literature. We will take rank with Emerson and Thoreau as one of the great American thinkers. But no one has ever suggested that Emerson or Thoreau would have made a good president.

OPA Administrator Paul Porter came back from a swing through the West pretty tired. The Sunday after his return he played a misanthropic round of golf at his Washington club and came into the locker room disgusted.

"Either I give this game or I cut my throat," he exclaimed to the 19th-hole gallery at large. From the showers came an eager cry of "Would you like to have us put that question to a vote?"

WILSON MEETS THE PRESS
General Motors President G. E. Wilson took a rather rough introductory golfer when he came to Washington to address the National Press Club.

First question asked him was, "Why are mitts and bats and mismeasuring hardware left inside

ers this bit of philosophy: "When you are down and out in Hollywood, something always turns up—usually the noses of your friends."

Those New York clubwomen who don't like the nasty things George Sanders says about the ladies in "The Private Affairs of Bel Am" can find consolation in one of Ann Dvorak's lines in the same film.

It reads: "A man in love is not only idiotic but dangerous. He is like a mad dog which may have a fit of biting."

Betty Hutton wants Paramount to buy the film rights to Eibei Merzman's New York hit "Annie Get Your Gun." . . . Marjorie Main is to Las Vegas in a chartered plane—and packed a lunch for herself and the pilot.

"LONG" TENURE
Although states in his biography, written by an over-enthusiastic press agent that Burgess Meredith was once a star reporter for a Cleveland newspaper, Meredith says the real truth is that he sold warrants for the paper.

And I only lasted two days on the job. After that I got out of the newspaper business and started making real money—selling vacuum cleaners.

The Hollywood touch: Phil Rafkin's newly decorated bank restaurant, the Somerset House, will feature a barter shop with mirrored walls and ceiling. . . . If it's a girl, Ann Miller will name her expected baby Linda Ann, in honor of her old friend, Linda Darnell.

Every second of night and day, 7,000 persons board a trackless trolley coach, street car or bus in the United States and Canada.

JET-PROFELLED FISH
Jet propulsion was used by fish long before man ever hit upon the idea. Fast-swimming ocean species increase their speed by ejecting water, rocket-fashion, through the gill openings.

when generators are assembled? Next question was: "Why do you leave lubrication out of distributors?" Third was, "Are wheels on new cars supposed to be in alignment?"

Wilson took the kidding very well, explaining that nuts and bolts were so scarce he didn't see why anyone would waste them, and that the basic trouble was a lack of interest in the job by individual workmen.

But after a couple more tough questions, Wilson cracked back, "I don't understand how the dealers down here got such a big allotment of cars."

The political campaign is warming up, judging by the rash of new slogans in the whispering underground.

Congressman Charles Halleck of Indiana, chairman of the GOP congressional election committee, says the democratic campaign slogan should be, "Let 'em eat horsemeat."

In Missouri, where a toilet paper shortage developed, the slogan is, "The issue is tissue."

In New England it's just "Had enough?"

And in Kansas they're saying, "We're just mild about Harry."

Secretary of the Interior J. A. Krug is coming out in full support of the Columbia River Valley Authority development. When the schedule for his present trip through the West was being worked out, Westerners sent word they didn't want him to come unless he was willing to endorse their pet project.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

WASHINGTON
By RAY TUCKER

GRIVENANCES—Political observers at the Capitol, including both democratic and republican leaders, believe that the most effective speeches of the current congressional campaign have been delivered by individuals not ordinarily classed as professional spellbinders.

The public reception of these addresses convinces national poets that November 5 will witness a sensation of the election, a sensation that the electorate will vote on the basis of principles—or grievances.

Now, a year and a half later, we find the labor Prime Minister speaking bitterly of Russia's isolationism and propaganda warfare against every system except her own. Attlee, as the London dispatches point out, has taken a view very similar to that of Churchill in his famous speech at Fulton, Mo.

This cannot properly be termed a turn of events, since there never was any official indication that the laborites would depart from traditional British foreign policy. But it does serve to emphasize how far Russia has gone within a few years to antagonize noncommunist elements abroad with whom she might have been able to establish at least a modicum of cooperation.

This also is evident in the vociferous campaign now being waged for elimination or modification of the veto right in the U. N. Security Council, where Russia's veto has weakened the support originally given the veto idea by Britain and, particularly, the United States. The latter has the best reasons for desiring to retain the veto. She does not wish to have outsiders vote her, willy nilly, into positions at violent variance with her interests, no matter how whole-hearted her support of the U. N.

But to have one country use the veto help establish half a world of its own was never envisioned. It is intemperance which has produced the strange picture of the United States withholding economic aid from Czechoslovakia, a country which she godfathered; of Bevin and Churchill lining up together against the policies of British laborite and conservative leaders equally exasperated over Russia.

It indicates that the veto will eventually be eliminated, unless modified, perhaps depriving the great powers of a really needed device.

Careful observers discount the possibility that, in this event, Russia would pull out of the U. N. That would cause the fear already engendered by her foreign policy to become dynamically anti-Russian.

Lip Service
If there is any man in the country who is doing lip service to the subject of retarding price increases, it is President Truman. He is doing it because there is no possible way of keeping prices down and getting the goods so long as the government does on creating labor credits, new laws that permit union labor groups to receive increased wages without increased production.

Probably the very reason Truman decided to take off meat rationing is because the American Federation of Labor about-faced and advocated taking off meat rationing.

If the principle the President was advocating was right and proper and sound, why did he not stick by his guns? Of course, if it was wrong, why was he advocating just a form of economic dictatorship, just a form similar to Russian control, differing only in degrees. It was not a free market price for what he wanted to control, by the force of man made laws, the price others could get as the President is trying to do.

"Long and Careful Consideration"
As evidence that Truman is either a demagogue or completely ignorant of economic laws and the American way of life, note his remark about the government seizing of cattle. He said that some even suggested that the government go out onto the farms and ranges and seize the cattle for long and careful consideration. But he indeed he a drastic remedy. "But we gave it long and serious consideration."

In other words, there was nothing wrong with the principle, and they gave it long and careful consideration. But they finally decided that the cattle were spread too much throughout the country to make it practicable. That means, he was perfectly willing to sacrifice the Russian system of confiscating the fruits of labor but he did not want to do it because livestock were too scattered.

Beasts
And why did not the President name these "selfish groups" he talked about? Why did he cast reflection on whole groups? The evidently was referring to the farmers when he said selfish men sent their cattle to market before they were fattened during the time there were no price ceilings and now were holding them back in order to get a better price.

But why did he not mention the farmers? The reason, of course, he did not dare mention the farmers is that it would cost him votes.

He was willing, however, to take away from the farmers their right to hold back as individuals in order to get a better price, and at the same time he is perfectly willing to keep the laws in force that permit labor unions to conspire together to make monopoly to get a higher price.

Holding back as individuals is perfectly in harmony with a free economy. But holding back to injure another, as the labor unions do, is a truly selfish interest. It is a form of robbery. The right to hold back for a better price as an individual is necessary in order to insure a continuous supply to the consumer. The one is the American way and the other is the dictator, collectivists way.

Yes, that was the demagogic somersault attempting to capture votes in the November election. It certainly is evidence that the United States is far from being educated when the President of the United States can make such a speech as he made, absolutely repudiating his previous statements.

When generators are assembled? Next question was: "Why do you leave lubrication out of distributors?" Third was, "Are wheels on new cars supposed to be in alignment?"

Wilson took the kidding very well, explaining that nuts and bolts were so scarce he didn't see why anyone would waste them, and that the basic trouble was a lack of interest in the job by individual workmen.

But after a couple more tough questions, Wilson cracked back, "I don't understand how the dealers down here got such a big allotment of cars."

The political campaign is warming up, judging by the rash of new slogans in the whispering underground.

Congressman Charles Halleck of Indiana, chairman of the GOP congressional election committee, says the democratic campaign slogan should be, "Let 'em eat horsemeat."

In Missouri, where a toilet paper shortage developed, the slogan is, "The issue is tissue."

In New England it's just "Had enough?"

And in Kansas they're saying, "We're just mild about Harry."

Secretary of the Interior J. A. Krug is coming out in full support of the Columbia River Valley Authority development. When the schedule for his present trip through the West was being worked out, Westerners sent word they didn't want him to come unless he was willing to endorse their pet project.

SPELLBINDER—The most impressive utterance, according to these old campaigners, was J. The FBI boss transmitted this issue of the "Red menace" more vividly than any rival orator.

As head of the federal police, who has extraordinary facilities for spotting and ferreting out dangerous characters, Mr. Hoover is generally regarded by the people as an authority on this subject.

Many people had thought that the charges of communist influence in political, economic, class and labor groups were mere red-baiting or partisan propaganda. But every report on the reactions to Mr. Hoover's speech suggests that he has disillusioned the skeptical.

Indeed, the republican speakers' bureau now regards J. Edgar as its best unpaid spellbinder, and they are giving it publicity and national distribution to his remarks.

BREAKS—President Truman and Secretary Byrnes have striven to allay this feeling. By his recent speeches and his behavior at Paris, Mr. Byrnes has shown his utter disagreement with the former secretary of commerce.

But politicians of both parties question whether he has been able to repair the damage done by the Hoover and Wallace talks. It appears to be just another of the many bad breaks which poor Mr. Truman has suffered in the last few months.

REVERSED—Two other nonpolitical headlines were men from diametrically different groups of the economic family—a fact which added weight to their words on the political scales.

The first was a former spokesman for American business and industry—Eric A. Johnson, ex-president of the chamber of commerce of the United States. The second was William Green, head of the American federation of labor. Both were close friends of Franklin D. Roosevelt, and they have kept on good terms with President Truman.

Although their interests clash on many points, both reversed their earlier stand at the height of the meat shortage crisis. They demanded the immediate termination of all government controls over prices, wages and commodities.

Each gave the impression that he had arrived at this decision reluctantly, without thought of political considerations, and only after a decade of trial and error in the field of federal regimentation.

Well, I see that railroads are planning to run motion pictures for passengers on their trains and I think it gives them a much better break than the average moviegoer gets. Many times I'd have been very happy if I'd had the chance of looking out a window at part of Kansas instead of at the picture on the screen.

Of course, movies on trains may lead to cutthroat competition. The Alaska and Alabama railroad may try to take all the traveling salesmen away from the Memphis and St. Joe by showing nothing but Jane Russell pictures.

And I'd like to add a word of warning to the people in charge of transcontinental trains. Don't keep too many Charles Boyer pictures in stock or when you get to the end of the trip you'll need a special strong-arm squad to make the women passengers get out.

Show and Sale Plans Progress

Cattlemen, both members and non-members of the Top of Texas Hereford Breeders' association, are being queried by letter as to their plans in the spring show.

In addition to information about the number of cattle they plan to consign to the show and sale, the association is asking voice on the desirability of conducting a sale of pens of three bulls—that is the sale of three bulls at a time.

L. A. Maddox, president, of Miami, signed the letter, which is asking replies to the queries.

The association board of directors will hold an executive meeting on Nov. 22, according to the statement sent out.

The sale and show, which will be held Feb. 24-25, will be held by Col. Earl Gartin, Greensboro, Ind. He has become quite popular among cattlemen here.

The junior livestock show will be held simultaneously with the senior show, Walter Britten, of College Station, will sell.

Vishinsky said that unanimity was "the basis of solidarity" in the security council. He then said "in the spirit of solidarity" Russia called on the committee to join in eliminating the veto question from the discussions.

The committee held its first session on approving the program of 53 issues, plus a supplemental list last night, but became involved in a legalistic snarl over a row between India and South Africa and failed to get to the veto dispute.

The Indian-South Africa fight was settled only after Britain's Sir Hartley Shawcross asserted that "we are in danger of reducing this committee to a laughingstock" by failing to decide a relatively minor question. Committee Chairman Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium said he was not quite sure about the meaning of two votes taken on the issue, but added that the assembly could figure things out for itself.

ber of commerce meeting here last year, told WTCC members that the "building situation at Texas' small colleges is deplorable and he saw the college proposal as a remedy."

Bandeen stated in his remarks that, although all of the Texas U. land is in West Texas, the 132 counties of the area must run their government without benefit of taxes from this land.

He also pointed out that seven of the 14 smaller state schools are in West Texas and his organization wanted to see these schools get their share of educational funds.

Bandeen expressed fear that the Confederate tax proposal favored by the colleges would not pass the legislature, thus leaving the 14 smaller schools out of the picture.

The controversial issue will come before the general meeting of the WTCC at Abilene in November, along with eight other policy planks. The chamber membership will vote on the resolution at that time.
