Saturday Set As Straw Hat Day In Pampa

Saturday has been declared Straw Hat Day in the city of Pampa.

So in accordance with a time-honored custom of making official recognition of the season when fashionable males of the community put aside their winter hats and turn to the cooler straw varieties, Pampa's Mayor Tom Rose, today issued the annual mayor's proclamation to designate Saturday as Straw Hat Day.

Following is the proclamation released to the Pampa Daily News:

WHEREAS ye olde felt bonnet for males has weathered the blasts of wintry gales, soaked up what snow and moisture has fallen, and sizzled in unseasonable heat, and

WHEREAS this same covering for the upper extremities has traveled a long, hard, and tiresome trail covering a period of nine months,

WHEREAS it is coming near that time of year when said faithful chapeau will become burdensome to its wearer by nature of its weight and warmth, and

WHEREAS the old must always make way for the new, now

THEREFORE I, Tom Rose Jr., mayor of the City of Pampa, Gray County, Texas, do hereby proclaim Saturday, May 9, as official Straw Hat Day in our community and urge every male between 9 and 108 to don a straw of his favorite choosing and wear it forthwith until such time as it, too, goes into retirement.

Issued this Eighth day of May, Anno Domini, Nineteen-Hundred and Fifty-Three, under my hand and seal in the City of Pampa, County of Gray, State of Texas.

(signed) Tom Rose Jr.
Mayor
City of Pampa

MAYBE HE'S NOT the best-dressed fellow in Pampa today, but he's one of the first to don a straw hat in keeping with Straw Hat Day here Saturday. His name is "Sunday Mule," property of John McCarney, who lives five miles north of Pampa. (News Photo by Fred Ditzian)

Warns U. S. Won't Retreat On Issue

NEW YORK, May 8—UP—President Eisenhower said Thursday night America would never retreat from her "moral" stand against forced repatriation of prisoners to get a cease-fire in Korea.

He demanded a Korean peace settlement that would be "fair" to everyone, including enemy soldiers who have been captured and do not want to return to Communist terror and persecution in their homelands.

The President re-emphasized his position on the prisoner issue in off-the-cuff speeches at two $100-a-plate Republican dinners here. He left at 12:50 a.m. for the four-hour railroad trip back to Washington.

Mr. Eisenhower made no direct reference to the new Communist armistice proposal being studied by United Nations truce negotiators in Korea. This proposal would temporarily by-pass settlement of the thorny prisoner repatriation problem which has blocked a truce for months.

Violate Moral Standards

But he said the U.S. attitude toward peace in Korea must be based on the nation's historic respect for persecuted peoples seeking political asylum.

"People that have become our prisoners cannot by any means be denied the rights on which this country was founded and which indeed has been responsible for the presence of most of the people—or at least a great number of the people—in the United States today," he said.

"Consequently to force those people to go back to a life of terror and persecution is something that would violate every moral standard by which America lives. Therefore it would be unacceptable in the American code and it cannot be done."

The President pledged his administration to a struggle for "true and total" peace throughout the world, based on a policy of free

UN Will Demand Guarantee Against Forced Repatriation

PANMUNJOM, May 8—UP—The United Nations will demand at a truce meeting Saturday that the Communists give a firm guarantee against any attempt to force repatriation of anti-Red war prisoners, it was understood Friday night.

The demand would be made in reply to an eight-point Communist proposal on disposition of the anti-Red prisoners which the Peiping radio hailed as laying the basis for "immediately bringing about an armistice."

It is believed that Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, senior UN truce delegate, will give the Allied reply to chief Communist negotiator Gen. Nam Il at a truce meeting scheduled for 11 a.m. Saturday (8 p.m., est. Friday).

Harrison is expected to fire at Nam a series of searching questions as to the Communists' real intention in proposing that the fate of the anti-Communist prisoners be put up to a political conference.

It was made plain in New York Thursday night by President Eisenhower personally that the UN might not accept any plan which prisoners in danger of accepting forced repatriation or facing endless imprisonment.

The United States stand on the Red proposals was worked out at a meeting in Washington Thursday. Mr. Eisenhower presided, then went to New York and in his speech to Republicans said he would never agree to forced repatriation.

Harrison is expected to meet the Communists at the truce session with a full and explicit statement of the UN stand based on instructions drafted in Washington.

The atmosphere in this truce village is optimistic. But it is indicated that there are enough "bugs"

Public Invited To Make Tour Of Celanese

The Celanese house party got going full swing today.

Members of Pampa service clubs met at the Celanese plant for a barbecue lunch and were later taken on guided tours through the several company units. Celanese employees served as escorts for the visitors.

Meantime, preparations were under way to throw open the company gates tomorrow to the public, according to John Frick, plant manager. Visitors will be welcome between 8:30 a.m. and 7 p.m. and will be shown through the factory, Frick said.

Ample parking space is available on company property and kids under 10 will be shown a motion picture while their parents look around.

Fashion shows open to the public are also on the party program. They are scheduled for 8 and 9 p.m. today and Saturday in High School Field House. Wives of Celanese officials and other employees of the company will model late style trends, including everything from beach wear to formal evening gowns made of fibers containing Celanese. The fashion parades will be staged under the direction of Lois Stevens, assistant manager of the plant community relations department.

Celanese officials last night were hosts to a group of approximately 175 Pampa civic leaders and company suppliers at the Country Club. Frick was master of ceremonies.

Harold Blanche, president of Celanese Corporation of America, New York City, tossed aside a prepared address about petrochemicals and talked briefly on the team work of Celanese employees and contractors that was shown in the construction of the Pampa plant.

An important factor in the splendid job done by Celanese people here was the warm reception given them by Pampans. Blanche continued. He underscored the value of good relations between company (See PUBLIC, Page 3)

County Commission To Enter Tax Work

The new County Commissioners' Court will get its first taste of county tax work Monday when County Judge J. B. Maguire and the commissioners enter the tax work as the Board of Equalization.

Commissioners by state statute act as the Board of Equalization and must be sworn in on the second Monday of each year.

County Judge J. B. Maguire this morning said the rough drafts of all precinct road and bridge budgets for 1954 have been completed, but must now be worked over by the court before they are approved. None of the budgets of county office holders has been completed. Those budgets are usually the last to be handed in, the judge said.

Other than routine business and swearing in of the Board of Equalization, there have been no other definite matters for passage or discussion placed on the Monday agenda, Maguire added.

New Air Leader First In Shakeup

WASHINGTON, May 8—UP—President Eisenhower's choice of Gen. Nathan F. Twining to head the Air Force was the first step in a general shakeup of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Twining, affable 55-year-old bomber pilot who is one of the most popular officers at the Pentagon, will succeed Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, who is retiring June 30.

At least two more changes in the nation's military high command are expected within the next few months.

Gen. Omar N. Bradley, who served under Mr. Eisenhower in the World War II European campaign, will complete four years as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff on Aug. 15, and must by law step out.

One report circulating here is that Mr. Eisenhower may call Gen. Carl Spaatz out of retirement to head the school is designed to train young area farmers on such subjects as safety; applications; air cleaner service; cooling system; wiring, spark plug and battery service; engine and general lubrication; and fuel and carburetion.

Stating the school's motto ("Better Care, Less Repair"), Goldston pointed out that a Texas farmer spends an average of $100 per tractor each year for repairs.

End of the session will come about 4 p.m. All 4-Hers and their fathers are invited to attend, the agent said.

4-H Club Youths To Tractor School

All of Gray County's five boys' 4-H Clubs are expected to be represented at a tractor maintenance school slated to get underway at 8:30 a.m. Saturday in Recreation Park.

Sponsored by the Stanolind Oil Company, the one-day instruction course will be led by Bill Goldston, assistant county farm agent, and J. B. McNeil, adult 4-H Club leader.

First of its kind in Gray County, Goldston said, the school is designed to train young area farmers on such subjects as safety; applications; air cleaner service; cooling system; wiring, spark plug and battery service; engine and general lubrication; and fuel and carburetion.

Truman Enjoys 69th Birthday

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., May 8—UP—Former President Harry S. Truman apparently planned to spend a quiet birthday Friday—his 69th and first out of public office in more than 30 years.

Mr. Truman wasn't available for comment on his birthday plans, but members of his family said they "hadn't been invited to any birthday parties."

Mrs. Ethel Noland, a cousin of the former chief executive, said "he wants to live to be a hundred. And he's got a good chance, too, because he comes from a long line of long-livers."

Mrs. Noland, who prides herself on her genealogical knowledge of the Truman family, noted that Mr. Truman's mother lived to be 94, his grandmother, Mrs. Solomon Young, to the age of 92.

A great-grandmother on the Truman side—Mrs. Nancy Tyler Holmes, whom Mrs. Noland said was related to President Tyler—reached 95. Mrs. Noland said her mother lived just seven months short of 100 years.

The former President was in sparkling health after he returned Tuesday from his month-long Hawaiian vacation. He said his weight was normal and that he was anxious to get to work on his memoirs.

Citizens of Amarillo recently raised a $5,555 "freedom fund" to help get Conley out of jail.

When informed of the judge's action, Conley would not comment. He said his next step will be to consult with his attorney, Samuel P. Sears, president of the Massachusetts Bar Association.

Asked how he was being treated at jail, he replied "well, I'm still alive."

Hemphill County Remodels Old Jail

CANADIAN, May 8—(Special)—Hemphill County's half-century-old jail is being remodeled, a local contractor began work this week. He was awarded the contract, a low bidder at $3,105 according to County Judge E. C. Fisher.

Members of the Commission Court met in special session to open bids and award the contract. Bidding on the job, other than Briggs, were Bert Babitzke and Horace Rivers.

Specifications call for tearing down the high and top-heavy brick fire wall on the ancient structure, lowering the roof line by a foot or ten feet, and construction of a new roof on the jail building.

Commissioners called for bids last month after inspection of the old jail revealed widening cracks in the masonry at the second floor level. The walls have been held together for several years by steel cable and tie-bolts run through the building from side to side beneath the ceiling.

Gaye Nell Carter Wins Girls' State

Miss Gaye Nell Carter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Carter, 1157 N. Starkweather, has been named winner of the Girls' State Award, presented annually to a high school junior by the American Legion Auxiliary.

Bestowal of the award is based on citizenship and leadership qualities. Mrs. Lillian McNutt said in announcing the winner, Miss Carter will be sent to the Citizenship School, slated to be held in Austin June, which is conducted under A.L.A. auspices.

All phases of movement, from precincts on up, are studied during the week. Mrs. McNutt said.

Runner-up for the Girls' State Award was Miss Sue Williams, junior student in Pampa High School.

She will also attend the Citizenship School through sponsorship by the American Legion. The Legion decided to send Miss Williams, too, because of the closeness of the decision in choosing the winner.

Included in Miss Carter's activities in high school were freshman cheerleader; Tri-Hi-Y; Beta Tau president; a Cappella choir junior sextet; title role of "Eileen" (My Sister Eileen); junior play; National Honor Society; National Thespians Society; president of Spanish Club I; and runner-up of class favorite, junior year.

Among the school participations of Miss Williams, daughter of Mr.

Mexico President Visits In Moscow

PARIS, May 8—(Special)—Mexican ex-President Miguel Aleman has been in Moscow for "several days," but he probably will return here Saturday or Sunday, his son said Friday.

Aleman left here late last month on a trip to Communist Poland. He had since been reported in Red Czechoslovakia, but Friday's statement by Miguel Aleman Jr., was the first indication that he had visited the Soviet capital.

Above Target Array . . . Biggest Atomic Test Seen

LAS VEGAS, Nev., May 8—UP—One of the most powerful atomic bombs ever exploded in the United States was set off Friday a half mile above an elaborate array of targets at the Frenchman Flat proving ground.

Targets exposed to the flame, fury and deadly radioactivity of the atomic explosion ranged all the way from a transplanted pine forest and steel bridges, built above the waterless desert, to jet drone airplanes carrying "crews" of monkeys and mice.

The atomic burst came with a blinding flash that momentarily blinded even the bright desert sun at 9:30 a.m. est. and was seen brilliantly even from Las Vegas, 55 miles from the test site.

The blast was felt only lightly in Las Vegas.

A cloud mushrooming up from its explosion soared rapidly to 30,000 feet, lost its shape and began drifting toward the north-east.

The test involved an A-bomb dropped from an Air Force bomber and exploded approximately 2,500 feet above Frenchman Flat, one of the two A-bomb test areas on the desert northwest of here.

The bomb was only medium-sized in terms of the growing family of atomic weapons, but was one of the most powerful ever detonated in the United States.

It was from one and one-half to two times as violent as the A-bombs that devastated Hiroshima and Nagasaki in the waning days of the World War II.

UP Foreign Analyst Weighs Week's Good And Bad News

By PHIL NEWSOM
United Press Foreign Analyst

The week's balance sheet between the good and bad news in the hot and cold wars:

THE GOOD

1. The Communists suddenly abandoned their demand that Korean war prisoners unwilling to go home be transferred to a neutral nation and proposed instead that they remain in Korea in custody of a five-nation commission composed of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Switzerland, Sweden and India. UN negotiators regarded the proposal as so "important" they asked for a recess so that it might be forwarded to Washington for top-level study.
2. As suddenly as they had invaded the little Indo-Chinese kingdom of Laos, the Reds began a withdrawal. The withdrawal apparently was due more to the imminence of the rainy season than to any opposition the Reds had encountered. However, it was a needed breather for hard-pressed French defenders in Indo-China and eased momentarily a mounting threat against Thailand. It was possible the sudden attack was more political than military—designed primarily to stir local Reds in Southeast Asia to revolt.
3. The French home government also received a needed and unexpected breather. In last week's French municipal elections, Gen. Charles De Gaulle's RPF took its worst licking. De Gaulle announced he was disbanding the RPF as a political party and that henceforth its 86 deputies would vote as individuals.

THE BAD

A roadblock on the way to a settlement of the Anglo-Egyptian dispute over the Suez Canal has been the steadily mounting Egyptian nationalism which ignores international complications. Talks deadlocked again this week, and at the root once more was Egyptian nationalism. The Egyptian demand that the British get out of Suez lock, stock and barrel.

2. News and news reporting became primary issues this week in two South American countries. In Argentina, the Peron regime accused the United Press, Associated Press, International News Service and the Christian Science Monitor of "spreading lies" in the guise of news and a government investigation was proposed.
3. Open warfare flared between church and the East German Communist state. Evangelical Bishop Otto Dibelius told Evangelical youths to defy Communist police regulations and wage an underground fight for freedom.

New Pipeline for Andrews
BARTLESVILLE, Okla., May 8—UP—Plans to build a new 44-mile line to transport crude oil in Andrews county, Tex., were announced here by Phillips Pipeline Co. The firm said construction would begin immediately on the 18-mile gathering system, a new eight-inch main line, which would originate at the company's Andrews station, where West Texas crude is taken by truck to a Borger refinery and to Phillips' pipeline system.

He Lost $75, Too

MADISON, Wis., May 8—UP—Joseph Brown, 38, said Friday he "just got mad and lost my head" when two 17-year-old youths cut sharply in front of his automobile.

Brown chased the boys and rammed the rear of their car then cut the radiator hose and the ignition wires of their car.

He was fined $75 for disorderly conduct and reckless driving. The boys were turned over to juvenile authorities.

Just Like Speedway

DETROIT, May 8—UP—Alexander Wilson, 22, said it was just like the Indianapolis speedway as he drove around the circular track.

Unfortunately, he admitted, he had been drinking. The car was stolen and the "track" was the driveway of the Detroit house of correction.

To Fool The Dogs

MALVERNE, N. Y., May 8—UP—When a householder complained to Mayor Frank Wenzel that dogs were ruining a lot of lawns, Wenzel said "it might be helpful if the village bought some land, planted trees, installed 40 imitation fire hydrants and called them dog parks."

He said he may suggest it to the village trustees.

TV Permit Granted

WASHINGTON, May 8—UP—A commercial television station permit on Channel 5 was granted the Plains Radio Broadcasting Co. of Lubbock, Tex., Thursday by the Federal Communications Commission. However, the FCC refused a request by the Jefferson Amusement Co. of Beaumont to hold up hearings on applications by Port Arthur College and the Smith Radio Co. for a Channel 4 TV station at Port Arthur.

Barrister Picks Wrong Bar

PETALUMA, Calif., May 8—UP—Justice was at an impasse here Friday while the towns only judge, Roland C. Webb, tried to figure out how he could try himself. Webb was arrested in a bar Thursday and charged with being drunk.

TV Script Writer Decides It Helps To Know Acting

NEW YORK, May 8—UP—So you necessary, pick up a script cold and make it sound good on the mike.

Comedian—big money, prestige, and fashionable ulcers.

What do you need besides a stack of scratch paper, a bundle of sharp pencils and a few ideas? Well, as in any phase of the writing game, it helps if you're a mite "tetched in the head," and, according to Harry Crane, it's money in the bank if you also are a bit of an actor.

Crane is the head writer of a five man staff that ministers to the needs of Jackie Gleason, an omnivorous comic who eats up material for an hour each week on the CBS-TV network as though it grew on trees.

Tougher Than Radio

"We thought we had it tough when we were writing for radio comedians," Crane said, "but these were the good old easy days. All you had to worry about was getting enough bright cracks down on paper. The skilled comic could, if

15 Million Bales In '52 Cotton Crop

WASHINGTON, May 8 (UP)—The Agriculture Department in an end-of-the-season report fixed the size of last year's cotton crop at 15,136,000 bales.

It said the value of the crop, based on the season average price to May 1 of 34.6 cents a pound, is about $2,817,000,000 below last year's record value of $2.9 billion.

The 1952 crop estimate, based on actual ginnings, compares with production of 15,144,000 bales in 1951 and 10-year average output of 11,775,000 500-pound bales. In its report last December, based on crop estimates, the department figured last year's crop totaled 15,088,000 bales.

Compared With 1951 Crop

The value of the 1952 crop compares with the record high $2.9 billion value of the 1951 crop which brought an average price of 37.95 cents a pound.

The department estimated 6,176,000 tons of cottonseed were separated from the lint in 1952-crop ginnings, compared with 6,325,000 tons in 1951. It said the average season price for cottonseed is indicated at $69.60 a ton, with production valued at $430 million.

In 1951 cotton seed prices averaged $69.30 a ton and production was valued at a record $439 million.

The report said acreage in cultivation last July 1, the start of the 1952 season, is now estimated at 26,922,000 acres with 25,664,000 being harvested. Yield per acre on the 1952 harvested acreage is now estimated at 282.7 pounds.

27,917,000 Acres Planted

In 1951, there were 27,917,000 acres in cultivation at the start of the cotton year and 26,687,000 acres were harvested with yields averaging 259.9 pounds an acre. Ten-year average yields were 262.4 pounds an acre.

Last August the department estimated 25,493,000 acres of cotton were planted at the start of the 1952 season. That figure was the base of the following monthly crop predictions. Last December the planted acreage was revised to 26,490,000 acres and harvested acreage was pegged at 24,895,000 acres with the indication yield of 288.4 pounds an acre.

Traveled by Train

Mr. Eisenhower came by train from Washington with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles Thursday night after bad weather forced cancellation of plans for a flight by chartered plane. The President spoke first to a gathering of New York state Republicans at the Astor Hotel and then to another group at the Waldorf Astoria.

He used the same set of notes for both speeches, which were nearly identical except for some changes in form and phrasing.

Dulles, who also addressed the GOP meetings, said the United Nations would not allow the Korean armistice talks to drag on indefinitely while the Reds build up military strength for new aggression.

He said the free world was wary of the "art of deception" practiced by the Communists to gain political and military advantages.

Pampa Youngsters Have Three Days To Enter Soap Box Derby

Hey kids! Only three days are left for you to become a contestant in the 1953 running of the Pampa Soap Box Derby.

Entry deadline has been set for Monday. But in the intervening three days, any boy between the ages of 11 and 16 may enter by registering with Dick Stowers at Culberson Chevrolet. Boys must be accompanied by a parent or guardian to register.

A total of 74 boys has entered up to date, according to Stowers, most of them from Pampa.

The derby will be run July 12 and each and every boy entered, regardless of whether a winner, will be given a prize.

Sponsors of the annual derby run are The Pampa Daily News, Jaycees and Culberson Chevrolet. Winner of the Pampa derby will be taken to Akron, Ohio, where he will be given a chance to compete with boys from all over the nation in the National Soap Box Derby for well over $15,000 worth of prizes.

Some new rule changes have been stipulated this year and boys are urged to pick up rule books at Culberson Chevrolet to insure that their car will pass inspection.

Jack Lee, Jaycee general derby chairman, said any boy may contact him for questions concerning the derby.

Steering gear and wheels are now available at Culbersons.

New Leader (Continued from page one) succeeded Bradley Spatz, now military columnist for Newsweek magazine, was Air Force chief of staff before Vandenberg and like Bradley served under Mr. Eisenhower in World War II.

Adm. Arthur W. Radford, commander in chief of the Pacific Fleet, also has been mentioned as a possible successor to Bradley.

Also scheduled for retirement on Aug. 15 is Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff. Front-runners in speculation about his successor are Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme allied commander in Europe; Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, chief of staff to Ridgway, and Gen. Mark W. Clark, United Nations commander in the Far East.

Adm. William M. Fecteler's term as chief of naval operations runs until 1955, and he is not expected to be replaced unless Mr. Eisenhower decides he wants a brand new slate of joint chiefs.

Senate Republican Leader Robert A. Taft has argued that there should be such a new slate, in order that U. S. strategic policies may be reviewed by men who are not "committed" to the present plans.

But the selection of Twining did not indicate that Mr. Eisenhower shares that view.

Military circles noted that Twining has been closely identified with present strategic plans as Air Force vice chief of staff. Last year, when Vandenberg underwent a major abdominal operation, Twining was an acting member of the joint chiefs for four months.

Another speaker was John D. Fennebregue, Celanese vice president, also of New York City. He expressed appreciation to Hugh (Buck) Burdette, Cabot Co. general manager, and E. L. (Gene) Green Jr., executive assistant of the Cabot Co., for their efforts in aiding the Celanese people to locate here.

There are many things to be considered when a corporation is on the lookout for a suitable place to establish a plant, Fennebregue explained. In the case of Celanese, he added, the company needed ample labor, water, gas raw materials, and a community of people that wanted its employees as neighbors.

"The people we brought here to work at Celanese are in love with Pampa," Fennebregue said. "You have accepted them as friends and they have joined you in local projects and have become one of you. We regard this fact as one of the most important factors in the successful operation of the Pampa plant."

Fennebregue said the Pampa plant progressed from the test-tube stage to full-scale operation in three years. The statement was given added significance when he said that the average time for completion of a similar project is at least seven years.

"Such good work is possible only in a community where men are happy at home and in their relations with their fellow citizens," he said. Pampa has helped us to Fennebregue went on. "The people bring out the best in Celanese employees by their friendly and cordial reception."

Rotation of tires, including the spare, can add 20 per cent to their safety mileage, according to automotive engineers. Tires should be rotated every 5,000 miles to equalize wear on front and rear tires. Relocation of engines forward has eased the problem somewhat, also.

Mass Firing Within Bureau

WASHINGTON, May 8 (UP)—The Interior Department has ordered 1,322 persons fired from the reclamation bureau "to meet the demands" of an economy-minded Congress.

Assistant Secretary Fred G. Aandahl announced late Thursday he has ordered the bureau's regional offices and headquarters here to make the 10 per cent personnel cut by June 30.

Aandahl wrote directors of the regional offices that "analysis of the funds expected to be available" for fiscal 1954 show that the reductions "must be made before the end of this fiscal year."

Aandahl said the slash was necessary "in accordance with congressional expression" and "to meet the demands" of the pared-down $408,130,343 appropriation bill approved by the House for the Interior Department in the coming fiscal year.

This amount compared with $607,261,400 recommended by former President Truman and $484,363,200 proposed by Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay. The House voted $135,148,675 for the reclamation bureau. McKay had recommended $177,350,000, a 23.2 per cent cut in the proposed Truman budget of $231,188,000.

The breakdown includes a personnel cut of 54 in Region 5, Amarillo, Tex.

Oklahoma Governor Three Killed

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 8 (UP)—Oklahoma Gov. Johnston Murray Friday rapped Esquire Magazine, although only gently, for making fun of the neighboring state of Texas.

Murray wrote to the magazine's editors concerning an article, "Should We Secede from Texas." The article attempted to deflate Texas pride.

"The recent Esquire article calling Texas to your journalistic cross left me cold, then caused me, in retrospect, to become slightly hot under the collar," Murray said.

Murray conceded that Texans "make some pretty big boasts," but added, "Texas accomplishments are on the same level as Texas bragging."

"These Texans simply cannot be outdone," Murray continued. "When drought reduces the water level 10 feet on the Oklahoma side of Lake Texoma, Texans claim their side of the lake between the two states is down 15 feet."

Just across the Iron Curtain which partitions off the western third of Germany, the Communists run, Soviet occupied eastern zone is rapidly emerging as Soviet Russia's No. 1 satellite state.

Economically, the east zone is trailing years behind the west. But while the Western nations hesitate to ratify the European army pact Russia has raised an East German armed force already numbering 120,000 men. This force, uniformed in Russia-type outfits, is the harbinger of a force soon to be expanded into 12 divisions.

No one who stood in Red Army headquarters that warm May night when Keitel scrawled his name could have dreamed of this race to rearm the vanquished enemy or its consequences to all of post-war Europe.

U. S. Population Increases

RUTH MILLETT

Six months ago Mrs. Brown was telling all of her friends about everything that was wrong with the young man her daughter "thought" she was in love with.

But, as so often happens in such cases, the marriage took place anyway. And now Mrs. Brown is busily trying to take back all the things she said about the young man who is now her daughter's husband.

Of course she can't ever really take them back and she looks a little silly trying.

She wouldn't be in such an unenviable position if she had used a little discretion in the first place.

Parents who are convinced that the young man their daughter "thinks" she is in love with isn't good enough for her, or even feels that the marriage would be a tragedy, have a perfect right to try to make their daughter see the light.

Daily Care Saves Garments, Work

By ALICIA HART NEA Beauty Editor

There's an old wives' tale, left over from the days when foundation garments were "corsets" and resembled a knight's armor, to the effect that girdles and all-in-ones are difficult to wash. Anything is hard to wash if soil is left in it too long. Frequent, even daily, sudings are good for girdles, for they bring the shape back and remove perspiration which destroys fabric and rubber. And these frequent sudings take so much less time than the weekly, violent, scrubbing type of laundering. Certainly they are much less hard on the garments.

Simply prepare rich, warm soapsuds and allow your foundation garment to soak a few minutes. Never allow your girdle to soak until the water has turned cold, because this causes the soil to go right back into the garment.

Use a soft-bristled brush if it's necessary to scrub away dark soil from shoulder straps of all-in-ones or waistbands of girdles. For the remainder of the garments, simply dunk and squeeze. Rinse your foundation garment thoroughly in heavy Turkish towel. Pull seams straight and shape brassiere cups of all-in-ones.

The Sapling

The strong, vigorous but loving hand of protection will see this sapling through. Every sapling needs such care if it becomes a mighty tree. It must grow straight if it grows tall. It must be shielded from the blight of insects... it must have food and light.

Father, Mother, are you your sapling's guiding hand? Remember, as the sapling is bent, the tree will grow. You have a responsibility... you are accountable to God. Do not provoke your children to anger, but train them in the discipline and instruction of the Lord. Are you doing that? Juvenile Court records show few church and Sunday school children go wrong. Be your sapling's guiding hand.

You In The Church... The Church In You

Form a combination for good. We should attend Church regularly. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the CHURCH. Be faithful. Be a Churchman!

Hollywood Abuzz With Talk On Identity Of Book's Hero

By ALINE MOSBY
 HOLLYWOOD, May 8—UP—The author of a best-selling satirical book about Hollywood, Prince Bart, said Friday not only are movietowners not mad at him—but many happily believe the book is about them.

Jay Richard Kennedy, a former screenwriter and producer, penned the controversial novel that has kept readers guessing as to what real-life actor was the model for Prince Bart.

Kennedy arrived in Hollywood on a visit this week, and he didn't have to sneak in, he insisted.

"Many movie stars have told me they like it—and some think they were Bart," he said. "Not just actors, either, but agents and producers, which is interesting to me."

"And wives! Four women whose husbands are very big in the movie industry said to me, 'I didn't know you knew my husband well enough to have written about him!'"

And who, anyway, is Prince Bart, the movie tough guy who in the book loved too many women, found too much success, made too much money?

"That question has been asked of me 500 times, on the street, in the mall, at parties, on radio and television shows," the author said patiently.

"Bart is a composite of 18 guys, 17 of whom have nothing to do with show business. He's not a Hollywood phenomenon, but any man

Senate Hastens To Repeal Law On Army Buy-Out

WASHINGTON, May 7—UP—The Senate made haste Wednesday to repeal an 1890 law under which two GIs recently tried to buy their way out of the Army.

The provision permits the President to establish regulations under which servicemen can buy their way out of uniform. The repealer approved unanimously by the Senate now goes to the House for final congressional action.

Two soldiers from Fort Sill, Okla., tried to use the buy-out provision early last month. They discovered that the provision is suspended and has been since 1940.

At that time a member of the armed services, after a year in uniform, was eligible to buy out for $120. The rate decreased in proportion to length of service.

Cpl. George C. Noonan Jr., Santa Barbara, Calif., and Pfc. Hugh Lucas, Dallas, Tex., read at Fort Sill that the suspension was to expire last month. They were ready to do business. The suspension had been extended, however, in a catch-all continuation of various war powers.

Steel Executive Dies
 ROCKPORT, Tex., May 7—UP—Ed Peden, 52, executive vice president of the Peden Iron and Steel Co. of Houston, died Wednesday night. He maintained a summer home here. Funeral arrangements were to be announced later.

Homemaking In The Dark

Using a hot iron isn't easy when you can't see. Here Mrs. Elizabeth Palmer instructs a student in the proper technique. The temperature control is noticed for the sensitive fingers of the students.

One Million Chinese Suffer From Famine

HONG KONG, May 7—UP—More than a million persons are suffering from a widespread famine in southwest China, a Chinese Communist newspaper reported Thursday.

Combatist newspaper reaching here Thursday reported.

The Chungking newspaper, Hsin

Plus New Life, said the famine had assumed considerable proportions in the provinces of Szechuan, Sikang, Kwangchow and Yunnan.

Separating the yolk from the white of an egg is tough. Some let the white sift through their fingers and retain the yolk.

Learning to eat by the clock-wise system is important. With the plate as the dial they learn to find the drink at one o'clock.

After finishing the course these two blind students find they can cook easily and safely on this specially built electric range. The controls are set away from the heat zone and the utensils.

Redhead Held To Be Last One With Shooting Victim

LAMAR, Colo., May 8—UP—Mrs. Sandra Delane Burns, 20, of Spokane, Wash., will be confronted with witnesses Friday in an attempt to determine if she is the same red-haired woman last seen with the youth found shot to death near here Tuesday.

Chief witness to confront Mrs. Burns will be Mrs. Harold Fast, operator of a motel at Steamboat, Colo. Mrs. Fast has already identified the slain youth as the man who stayed in her motel Sunday night.

Mrs. Fast reported to police that the young man and a young red-haired woman registered as Mr. and Mrs. Merl McDonald of Spokane. They left before five o'clock Monday morning, she said.

Monday afternoon Mrs. Burns was detained in Salida, Colo., jail after wrecking her car—the same gray car described by Mrs. Fast as the one the couple drove near there. Mrs. Burns was arrested in Salida.

The still unidentified youth's body was discovered in a deserted barn near here by a passing motorist. The young man, shot through the heart, was found wrapped in a blood-stained pillow case, mattress cover, pad and two blankets.

Police reported they found an address book in Mrs. Burns' car with the name of Raymond L. Johnson, airman third class, Great Falls, Mont., air base.

Missouri To Repay Innocent Convict

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., May 7—UP—A $15,000 appropriation for a Kansas City Negro who served more than five years in prison for a crime he did not commit had the approval Thursday of the Missouri House of Representatives.

An amendment was tacked on the proposed budget bill awarding Edward Oscar of Kansas City the $15,000 to repay him during his time in a state penitentiary from November, 1948, to March, 1953, on a rape charge.

He was released when a young girl told a Catholic sister she had lied when she identified Oscar as her attacker. The girl said her twin brother had a grudge against the elderly Negro and told her to point out Oscar as the man who had committed the crime.

Oscar said since leaving prison, he was unable to get back his $300-a-month job as a butcher, and had lost his insurance, seniority and retirement benefits.

Refusal To Pay Keeps Him Off TV

HOLLYWOOD, May 7—UP—Producer Cecil B. DeMille's refusal to pay a $1 union assessment fee eight years ago prevented him Thursday from appearing on one of Ed Sullivan's New York television shows.

Disclosure that the movie producer was not allowed on Sullivan's show was made by Claude McCue, executive secretary of the West Coast branch of the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists.

DeMille lost a $2,800-a-year radio job in 1946 rather than pay a $1 assessment fee levied by the union, which he called "political."

Argentina Expels Newsmen
 BUENOS AIRES, May 7—UP—American radio correspondent George Natanson was ordered to get out of Argentina Thursday. No reason was given for the expulsion of Natanson. He had not been a specific target of the week-old campaign against American newsmen in the semi-official press here.

Packard Invitation Month
 MAY 9th TO JUNE 9th

You are invited to take an important part in the great New Packard Program

Here is an unusual opportunity to see for yourself the fine new cars that make the New Packard Program the news story of this automotive year. 25 beautiful new cars will be awarded, including a glamorous Packard Caribbean. We hope you will join us. Please read on—

LAST December the people of this country gave a typical, enthusiastic welcome to the announcement that Packard was returning to the fine-car field. Once again America had a new choice in fine cars!

At the same time, the Packard CLIPPER was announced as the only medium-priced car in America built in the fine-car tradition. The big type of car, priced just a few hundred dollars more than the low-priced lines.

These announcements were the first step in the revitalized Packard Program! Now you are invited to participate in step number two with 12 new Packards and 12 new Packard CLIPPERS to be awarded those who follow the simple rules for participating in Packard Invitation Month.

May 9th to June 9th is the time. Just visit your dealer then. See the new Packard or CLIPPER and, on an official participation form (which your dealer will provide), write 25 words or less about the feature that impresses you most. Tell us what we should say about that feature in future advertising.

Send in as many suggestions as you wish. Just be sure that each one is written on an official participation form and is in the mail before midnight on June 9th, 1953. See your Packard dealer soon.

Grand Award. The Packard Caribbean—America's most glamorous sports car.

White House Sidelights . . .

Colorado Governor Blisters Golf Course Ahead Of Ike

By MERRIMAN SMITH
WASHINGTON, May 7—UP—Backstairs at the White House, President Eisenhower got a golf lesson at Burning Tree last weekend from Gov. Dan Thornton of Colorado. Thornton shot a 73 and then made his foursome twice by protesting, "Gosh, I didn't do well at all today."

Thornton wasn't oversteering it. He is a par-busting golfer and if he keeps shooting in the low 70's, he'll probably end up in the cabinet.

Playing with the President and the governor was Bob Hope of Hollywood and the road to just about everywhere. Hope is here to entertain for the President and the White House correspondents annual banquet Friday night.

The other main in the foursome was Sen. Freasott Bush (R-Conn.). The President apparently is trying to play with all the congressional members at Burning Tree. There are new senators and congressmen in his foursomes every week.

The President and Thornton already are making plans to play together this summer in Colorado. If the President's game improves in the Rockies, he can credit to the mountain air—or watching Thornton.

Cabinet officers now are being encouraged by the White House to make outside, public appearances. This is no attempt to launch them in society, but a plan to have them, their work, and their departments better understood by the average man.

This was not true at the start of the administration. The change stems from the fact the administration now feels that its policies are fairly well established and cabinet members can talk more freely than they could a few weeks earlier.

This has been a busy spring with sightseers at the White House. The public at large is admitted to the public rooms of the house daily between 10 a. m. and noon except on Sunday and Monday.

Pressure from Capitol Hill and good friends of the administration elsewhere was so great that it became necessary to start a special deluxe tour at 9:30 a. m. The original plan was to hold this "VIP" tour to 50 persons a day, but a few weeks ago, the 9:30 tour grew to more than 200 visitors a morning.

Sightseeing business in front of the White House got so heavy recently that the big rubberneck limousines had to quit selling tickets late in the day for their tours of the city. It has been necessary on some peak days to run sightseeing motor tours well into the night.

Genial Jim Hagerty, Mr. Eisenhower's press secretary, wasn't so genial after the widespread publicity about a hatching brood of robins in the shrubbery by the front door of his home.

Mother Robin finally produced four small ones, but not until after Jim had been swamped with mail and telephone calls from birdlovers advising him what to do, plus the offer of several tons of birdseed.

Hagerty's real love in the pet world is raising hamsters.

Role Of Dr. Christian A Jekyll-Hyde Change

By ALINE MOSBY
HOLLYWOOD, May 7—UP—Jean Hersholt said today he wants to go back to playing occasional villains in the movies—but the public accepts him only as radio's famed "Dr. Christian."

Hersholt first gained fame as the bad man of the cinema, but this week, in a Jekyll-Hyde switch, he celebrates 16 years as a kindly medic of the airwaves. By now, he said, his transformation is so complete that even real-life doctors treat him as a colleague.

"I used to portray mean villains," chuckled the actor. "But I never could do that again. The public never would accept me."

The crowning glory to Hersholt's "medical" career comes next month when the American Medical Association officially recognizes the show at its New York convention. He already owns honorary memberships in the Washington Medical Association, the Cancer Society and many other groups.

"When I went through Beverly Hills clinic for a checkup recently, the doctors talked to me as if I were a doctor, too," he said.

"Fans often write me for medical advice. It's very embarrassing; I never give advice to anybody, though."

The one-time villain of the celluloid turned doctor when he played the medical man in a movie about the Dionne quintuplets.

"I got so much fan mail I thought people would like more about such a character," he said. "The radio show was my own idea. Because I had an accent, we put the doctor in Minnesota. We wrote to the Swedish consul for a list of Scandinavian names, and chose Paul Christian."

In 16 years Hersholt never has missed a performance, an unsurpassed record in radio. Once he was so sick the show had to be broadcast from his house.

"They brought along another actor, Francis X. Bushman, just in case," he recalled. "The doctor said it was amazing what a sick person could do. I didn't tell him what gave me strength was seeing Francis X. Bushman!"

Now medical societies invite Hersholt to speak at their meetings. He receives many fan letters from doctors, but not one complaint about medical mistakes. He has two doctors on hand as technical advisers for the CBS program.

"Dr. Christian," which also may move to television, is the only program written entirely by the audience. Every script is selected during an annual contest.

"Even our maid at home calls me doctor," smiled the veteran actor. "Yet my wife tells me I don't know how to take an aspirin."

It's Your Deal . . .

ALFRED SHEINWOLD
Writes for NEA Service

"How much is it proper to talk to your opponent in a gin game?" asks a Chicago correspondent. "Most of the people that play gin with are in the habit of talking a blue streak. We rib each other, lie about how good our hands are, and sometimes tell the truth—just for a change of pace."

"Recently a new fellow joined us. He says that a game should be silent, and that if a player says anything at all about his hand, the statement should be true rather than deliberately misleading. This is a new man isn't a scoundrel; in fact he's usually jovial and amusing. So we can't laugh him down."

"Is he right, or is our old talkative policy acceptable?"

This sort of problem is settled more by tradition than by any rule. The only rule that makes much sense is that you have to keep pretty quiet in a partnership game. You're not supposed to talk across the table to your partner.

There is no such restriction in a two-handed game like ordinary gin rummy.

As a matter of tradition, the silent gin player is almost as rare as the talking dog. Many players would be ready to give up the game if they couldn't carry on a running fire of true and false comment while they play.

Any adult opponent with a little experience in the game knows that you are unlikely to tell him all about your hand. He expects you to hand him a "line," and he will usually hand one right back.

The remarks made in a gin game are usually funny only to gin players, and sometimes only to the particular two players who are hagering each other. No deal is less wit is wasted in such games. Nevertheless, it's all fun, and all part of the game. We suggest that our correspondent show this article to the new player, inject him with a victrola needle, and let nature take its course.

Q—Are you allowed to suggest a new deal at any point of a hand of gin rummy?

A—Many players follow such a rule. This is a matter of agreement between the players. If your regular practice is to allow new deals, you must avoid comments on the nature of your hand that sound like an offer of a new deal—unless you really intend to ask for a new deal.

Even more important, don't ask how your opponent likes his hand, unless you want a new deal. Such a question is usually understood as an offer.

No Tenderness

The Communist Party in the United States has been ordered to register with the Department of Justice as a foreign agent, hostile to the U. S. Government. The order was issued by the Subversive Activities Control Board, and the required registration includes annual filing of the party officials' and members' names, plus a financial accounting.

Enforcement of the order is in the hands of Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr., who says it is a weapon of great assistance to the Department of Justice in its drive to halt and defeat the conspiracy to overthrow our government by force and violence.

Brownell has branded 12 alleged subversive groups as "tools of the Communist Party" and asked the Subversive Activities Control Board to act promptly against each one.

His action was a quick follow-up to the board's decision that the Communist Party must register as a "subsidiary and puppet" of the Soviet Union.

Brownell demanded that the alleged front organizations should also be required to register by listing their officers and their financial activities.

At hearings before the board, department lawyers plan to amplify Brownell's charge that the groups are under the Communist Party's "direction, domination and control."

The groups listed by Brownell as Communist directed are:

- Labor Youth League, the International Workers Order, Civil Rights Congress, American Committee for Protection of the Foreign Born, the National Council of Soviet-American Friendship, the Joint Anti-Fascists Refugee Committee, the Jefferson School of Social Science.

Also, the United May Day Committee, Veterans of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade, Council on African Affairs, the Committee for a Democratic Far Eastern Policy and the American Slav Congress.

Brownell also announced he has sent to the U. S. Communist Party headquarters in New York copies of the registration statements required under the findings.

However, attorneys for the party left little doubt that the statements would be ignored while they fought the board's order through the courts — a process expected to take one to two years.

It all means that a long court battle is in prospect before the order can be carried out. The Reds say they will fight it in every way they can. Their first move is expected to be an attempt to have the courts declare unconstitutional the 1950 Internal Security (McCarran) Act, under which the order is registered.

We don't know how far Mr. Brownell can get in this pursuit of the domestic Red traitors, but we wish him good hunting. At least he can keep a powerful publicity spotlight focused on the rats.

We use the term "rats" advisedly. These American Communists are soul-mates — brothers and sisters in attitude and intentions — of the Chinese and North Korean Reds whose atrocities against U. S. prisoners of war were told by some of our ex-captured POW's. Among the reported atrocities were Bataan-style "death marches" on which hundreds of prisoners died.

A death march for the entire American way-of-life is on the program of the U. S. Communist Party, as manipulated from Moscow. That death march will be promptly performed if the Reds ever get control of this country.

Why any American should feel any tenderness toward a Communist, we wouldn't know.

Disturbing Idea

Retail clerks in a New England state don't want to work after six at night. So their union asked the legislature to pass a law making it illegal for any store in a town of more than 5,000 and with over nine employees to keep open after that hour.

The Wall Street Journal made this the subject of an editorial. It said that it could understand and sympathize with the positions of all involved — the clerks, the storekeepers, and the consumers. It then pointed to some of the absurd complexities that would crop up in an attempt to draft the demanded law, saying, "A rational argument could be made for both sides of every position and so, no matter what the result, the law would be arbitrary, capricious and confusing."

Then the paper made this significant observation: "Yet what is disturbing goes deeper than the difficulties of draftsmanship. For this little squabble is a reflection of a general philosophy that the government's role is to jump in as arbiter and judge in every labor matter. It must take sides."

That goes to the heart of the matter. There are all kinds of conflicting arguments as to the merits and demerits of retail stores staying open at night. But these arguments are dwarfed by the incontrovertible fact that when we run to the government to solve every problem, we are undermining the basic responsibilities, rights, and freedoms of individuals, businesses and organizations.

BETTER JOBS

Motive For Backing The National Citizens Commission For The Public Schools

The National Education Association has a way of making the people believe that it is an institution really promoting our American way of life. One of its schemes has been to use busy men and have them become members of a committee called the National Citizens Commission for the Public Schools. The strategy of forming this committee was to try to get the public to think that men of understanding really believe in tax supported, majority-rule schooling.

Support And Motive

Keeping in mind that the National Citizens Commission first of all was the brain child of the NEA, it might be well, then, to look a little longer at this commission. What the commission says, and what it stands for, could easily be influenced by the source of the support of the commission.

In this respect, the commission gets a $200,000 grant from the Carnegie Foundation, which is a tax-free institution. The NEA also gets funds from the Carnegie Foundation. It is also important to know that Albert Hiss, convicted perjurer, before he went to jail was president of the Carnegie Foundation.

The commission is composed of men from different parts of the United States—some 28 of them. Some of these men are more interested in appearances than reality or they would be investigating what they are endorsing. Some of them are men who evidently believe they have arrived at such perfect understanding that they need not have their ideas checked to determine whether they are in agreement with the Golden Rule.

They recently had a convention at Denver, Colorado, where they could spend some of the $200,000 that Hiss' organization supplied them, to let some of the members who love publicity talk and satisfy their pride. The fact that Hiss was running the organization that made this grant ought to cause every member to wonder whether or not he is being used to promote the kind of a government Hiss was trying to promote.

One editor read three or four of the speeches made at this convention and he said he never read any set of speeches excepting one that used more words and said less.

False Statements

There was one speech, however, made by Palmer Hoyt, manager of the Denver Post, that had some statements that were not factual. He said that there are 10,000,000 loyal Americans who think that tax supported schools are right to one man who believes the idea that public schooling is wrong. Thus, according to the mathematics of Mr. Hoyt, there are only 15 people in the United States who believe that tax supported schools are wrong out of the 160,000,000 people in the United States. Hoyt is absolutely wrong in that statement.

Majority Determining Right

He seems, however, to determine right from wrong by the number of people who believe in a certain thing. According to the manager of the Denver Post, the world was flat at one time because practically everyone believed that the world was flat; and that slavery was right at one time because most people believed that slavery was right. And because Manager Hoyt thinks so many more people believe in government schools than do not, he thinks any debate on the subject of whether government schooling is right or wrong is a silly waste of time before this or any other audience. By the same line of reasoning it would have been silly years ago to debate whether the world was flat or slavery moral.

What Standard

The members of the commission say that they are in favor of government-controlled schools. Isabel Paterson says that the practice of tax-supported schools is "tyranny-making" and Rose Wilder Lane says that it is "the primary tyranny." Which side is right?

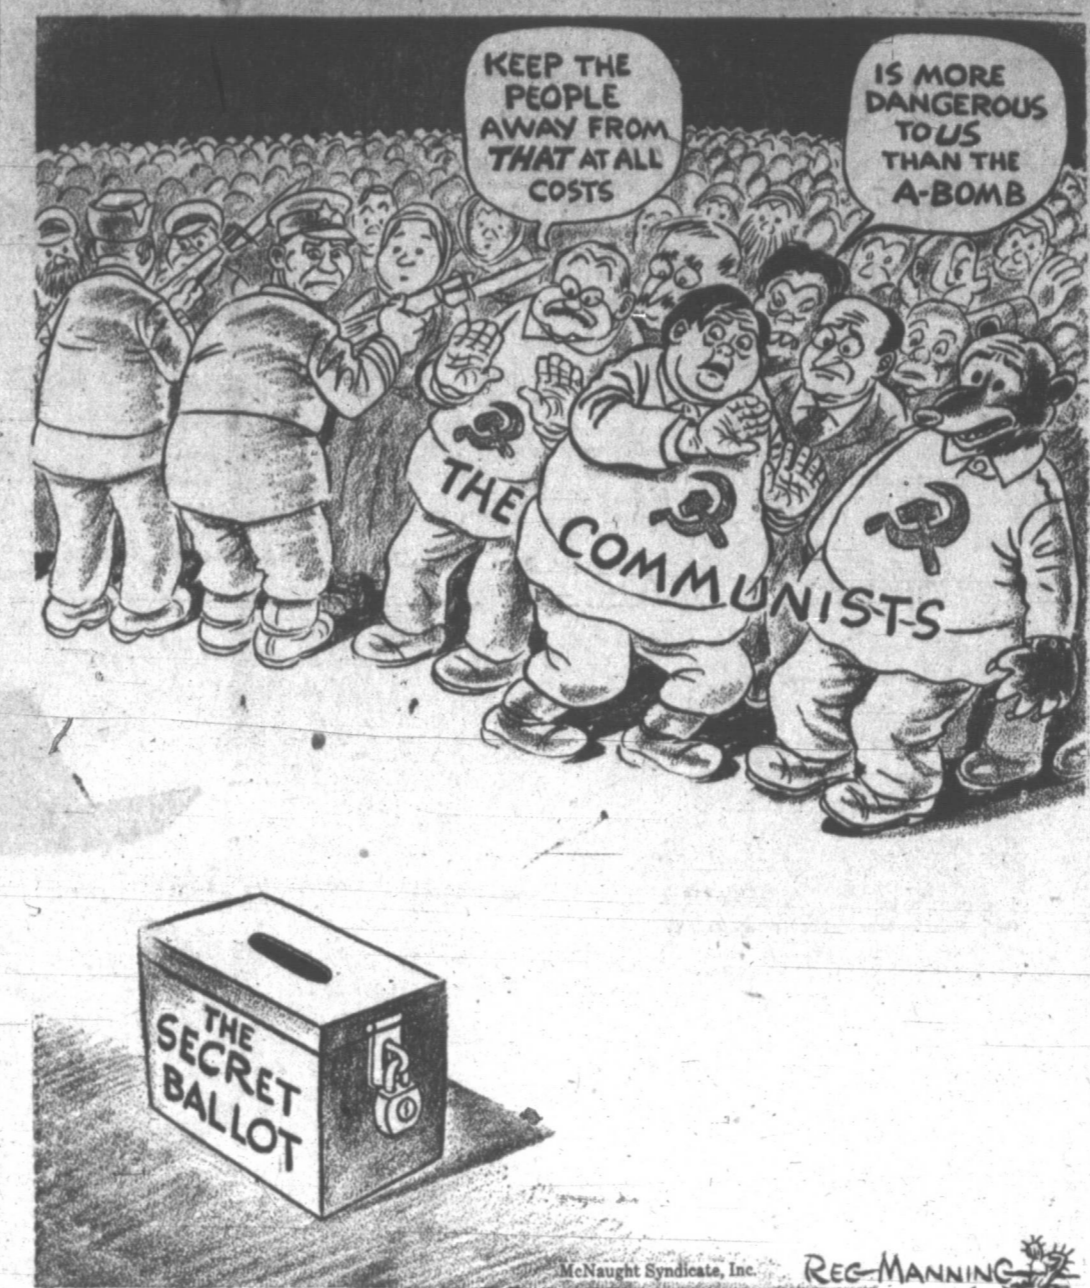

To determine right and wrong, we use the Golden Rule as a guide. We have never had objection to the Golden Rule from any of the members of the commission nor from Mrs. Paterson or Mrs. Lane.

Thus, if the right or wrong is to be determined by the yardstick of the Golden Rule, all we have to determine is whether tax supported schools are compatible with, are in agreement with, are in harmony with the Golden Rule. If the theory of support for the government-controlled schools is a violation of the Golden Rule then we may logically conclude that a belief in tax-supported schools carries with it a belief in tyranny.

Would any of the members of this Citizens Commission, contend that he as an individual would not be violating the Golden Rule if he conscripted the children of another man and trained them in a manner different from what the parent wanted them trained and compelled the parent to help pay for this training?

That is the question they do not like to answer because they know that the next question would be then if it is a violation of this great moral law for one man to do it, how many more would have to do it so that it would not be a violation of this great moral law? If they say "the majority," then they are in a dilemma; they are determining moral laws by counting noses or majorities and then they are repudiating the moral laws of every religion down

Secret Weapon They Fear Most

National Whirligig... U.S.-Britain Split Threatened Over International Wheat Pool

By RAY TUCKER WASHINGTON — The most serious and threatening wrangle between the United States and Great Britain in many years does not involve high foreign policy or conduct of the wars in Korea and China. This dangerous dispute has attracted hardly any notice because it has been hidden under millions of bushels of international wheat. What it has been the first quarrel between the two mainstays of anti-Russian defense since he outbreak of World War II. It has led to sharp exchanges in private but formal discussions between the negotiators. It has inspired accusations in the British press that the United States is behaving like an "Uncle Shlyok," an echo of European charges hurled against us after World War I. It may be the break that Stalin and Malenkov predicted at the 19th Communist Congress last October, when they declared that economic rivalries among the capitalist countries would strain relations between Washington and London. Indeed, certain British spokesmen hint that their government should enter into large-scale barter with the Soviet as a result of pragmatists themselves, and see nothing wrong with pragmatism, they should read Edna Lonigan's review of this book as published by the National Economic Council. A citizens commission that was really promoting education would be performing a wonderful service, but one that is being used to promote a monopoly of state education and pragmatism is doing untold harm.

Fair Enough... New South Throbbing With A Vigor That Startles Natives

By WESTBROOK PEGLER (Copyright, 1953, King Features Syndicate, Inc.) NEW ORLEANS — It is a grand coincidence that 1953, the 150th anniversary of the greatest real estate bargain in history, finds the New South positively throbbing with a vigor that startles even the Southern people themselves and surely portends a new balance between South and North. The South was persecuted by the so-called radicals of non-union politics in the years after the Civil War and in the South is called the War Between the States. No Marshall Plan ever was offered the South at the expense of Northern taxpayers. The best Southern men, who had fought with enormous bravery and knowledge the personal danger to their women and children, were suspended from citizenship even in their own states by a hot-eyed, hateful Northern Congress. Robbed, exploited, lied about and subjected to extortion and to violation of the hands of bewildered freedmen instigated by Northern brigades, the South never surrendered in spirit although it lived largely in color and was not the first world war. Then the climate and expanses appealed to the war-makers in Washington and military camps were spotted here and there. A new generation of Southern men and women, who the old score was, to some extent, washed away, as the saying went, in blood. It seems to me appropriate to review this brief outline of the old situation in approaching estimates of the estimate of the South certainly is aroused now and, barring atomic disaster of mighty proportions, will assume a new status and character in the national economy and politics. As to the political change it was plain that the South wanted a semi-Republican but not an entire Republican and for that reason supported Eisenhower. As of today, however, Eisenhower already is too Democratic for the New South. He is too soft to the union rackets, possibly because he is ignorant of union practices. It should be observed that two of the most spectacular personal rebellions against the bar-sitters and housemaids Social Security deduction and the Social Security tax on self-employed persons have been kicked up by Southern citizens and women at that. These are the so-called Marshall Girls, of Marshall, Tex., and Mrs. Mary Cain, of Summit, Miss., who edits the Summit Sun, a brisk, impudent weekly. Mrs. Cain is an attractive young woman with a second-degree magna lae, somewhat milder than the cloying Hollywood version. She actually got a hack-saw, personally sawed from the door of her publishing plant a padlock put there by the U. S. Marshal, mailed it to him with a challenge to come and arrest her and it was as a wet hen because the marshal doesn't dare lock her up in jail. She has divested herself of attachable assets and refuses to buy Social Security as a self-employed person. The Port of New Orleans and the great building activity are suffering from the same predatory unionism which not only disgraced the great Far Eastern conflict, the world price of wheat skyrocketed to 62 cents above the maximum selling price of $1.80 a bushel more than twice the minimum figure of $1.20. Meanwhile, the U. S. paid American farmers far higher prices for the grain sold under the scheme. As of today, this form of foreign aid has meant a loss of $500,000,000 to us. In the talks recently concluded, the administration sought to cut down this expenditure, it insisted that the maximum selling price be fixed at $2.05 a bushel, with a floor level of $1.55, as against the 1949-53 figures of $1.80 and $1.20.

Success Secrets

By ELMER WHEELER Here is a story sent in by C. E. McCormick of Terre Haute, Indiana. Ralph Poynter liked to putter around his home. He especially liked mowing the lawn, but he wasn't content with hand mowers. He thought there must be an easier way. He invented a rotary mower, which he patented in 1935. People watched his machine in operation and liked what they saw. The young inventor, several years later, began making the mowers in his small plant where previously he had made clutch discs and replacement parts for autos. After World War II, Poynter's business really improved. But he thought it was moving too fast, and he feared a recession. He dreamed of stocked warehouses filled with mowers that could not be sold. He promised himself that to get out of the situation all right, he'd stay clear of it from then on. He got out all right, and with a good profit. But he kept his promise, and sold parts and rights to a big mower manufacturer. Poynter retained his plant and machinery, and bought bonds. He made up his mind to retire. After traveling for some time, Poynter went back to mowing his lawn. Then he got tired of tussling with his machine so he made a small tractor that would pull a bunch of mowers. When people found out about his new idea, the demand was good enough to get him back to his factory. Now he is producing these mid-get mowers and he is so busy that he doesn't have time to cut his lawn anymore. Puttering with new ideas has paid off for Poynter. Look around you. Maybe success for you is right in your own home. Send in your stories to me in care of this newspaper. ENGLAND HOPES FOR PRICE KNOCKDOWN — The political and diplomatic reasons behind British recalcitrance are even more significant than economic factors. They suggest that Malenkov's peace offensive has made a deeper impression on Downing Street than it has on the White House. London expects, or hopes, — that any easing of world tensions, even though only temporary and meaningless in the long run, will knock down the world price of wheat below the $2.05 figure in the agreement. If that happens, the British will save many millions. If not, the gamble will cost them heavily. It is possible, too, that England may negotiate a barter arrangement with Russia, exchanging manufactures for this basic foodstuff. Ironically, the British note that, if we had agreed to sell them wheat on more favorable terms, we would not need to lend or to give John Bull so many millions annually in economic aid military help, that appears to be their idea of the "trade, not aid" program.

Memory Goes Blank . . . Hank Muffs Lines And Doesn't Think Option Will Be Renewed

By HENRY McEMORE
HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — Put down the paper you are reading right now, put on a pair of gray flannel slacks, a Tattersall vest, a blue shirt, a red tie, a blue and gray sports jacket, a black-and-white checkered cap, and say out loud, "This is the last steepchase I'll ever judge. My heart won't stand it."

Much obliged. That wasn't much trouble, was it? Especially saying, "This is the last steepchase I'll ever judge," etc. Yet those two simple sentences, which wouldn't stump the average six-year-old child, might well have cost me a fortune in money, world-wide fame, and popularity that spreads from one end of the earth to the other.

Allow me to explain. I was enjoying a few days of sun, golf, swimming, and loafing at the Apple Valley Inn when Paramount Studios called me and said that the time had come for the shooting of my scenes in the Martin and Lewis picture, "Money From Home." Bill Barris, who once set the world's endurance record by staying aloft six weeks and one minute in an airplane. On the way over I told him that I was on the threshold of a career that offered all the things that most of us mortals crave. All I had to do to become a famous movie star was do a bang-up job in the picture.

Let us skip to stage 8 at Paramount. Director George Marshall and producer Hal Wallis explained my big scene to me. I am a track judge and at the end of the race, which finds both Martin and Lewis riding the same horse, I am to lower my glasses, show much distress, and say, "This is the last steepchase I'll ever judge," etc. Director Marshall asks me if I know my lines. I don't tell him so, but who wouldn't be ready after studying them for a month.

Oklahoma Governor Says Motorists Want Toll Roads

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 7 (UP)—Gov. Johnston Murray Thursday said Americans are living in a turnpike era "whether they like it or not."

Murray, who is pushing a proposal to build three new Oklahoma turnpikes, wrote in his weekly column in newspapers he believes the average motorist wants toll roads.

"Millions of motorists are eager to pay a fee for modern transportation facilities," Murray said. "They are doing so wherever they have a chance."

Murray pointed out that at the end of World War II the only turnpike in operation was a 165-mile novelty in Pennsylvania. Now more than 2,000 miles are complete or under construction, he said.

He added that motorists soon will be able to join the Ohio Turnpike at the Indiana state line and follow the system to any big center in the East.

"We even have an Oklahoma turnpike," he said. "Kansas, trying to catch up and perhaps go ahead of us, has passed a general turnpike commission bill."

Murray said the willingness of bondholders to invest in toll roads was proof that they are practical.

The governor said drivers were tired of narrow highways, sharp curves, heavy traffic worsened by giant trucks, and hills.

"Small wonder the average motorist is anxious to pay a toll of slightly more than a cent a mile if he can avoid the worst highway perils, can save time, and can reduce wear and tear on both himself and his car," Murray said.

Police Hold One Bathroom
HOUSTON, May 8 (UP)—Houston police had one abandoned bathroom — complete with fixtures — on their hands Friday. Investigator L. W. Bolton found the bathroom and half a bedroom parked in the middle of busy Cullen Boulevard Thursday. He said somebody was moving a frame house, and didn't stop when the bathroom and part of the bedroom dropped off.

Hope for New Oil Field
HOUSTON, May 8 (UP)—Continental Oil Co. reported that earlier beliefs that a new West Texas oil field has been discovered apparently are confirmed by the company's McCollum and Wiebush No. 1 well in Andrews county. The well, perforated at 8,924 to 8,960 feet some five miles southeast of Andrews, Tex., flowed 10 barrels of oil through an open, two-inch pipe in a three-hour test.

Use for Goats
ROBINSON, Ill., May 8 (UP)—The Ohio Oil Co. refinery has hired a crew of 700 to keep its huge lawn clipped this summer. The firm shipped in 700 Texas goats for the job.

In And Out
CONNERSVILLE, Ind. (UP)—Three-year-old Beth Luking swallowed herpet gofish alive, coughed it up as her frantic mother telephoned for a doctor, plopped it back in its bowl. Neither child nor fish, was any the worse for the experience.
