

THE EVENING NEWS.

4TH QUARTER
NO 72

Amarillo, Texas, Oct. 2, 1900.

25c PER MONTH

The Stock meeting opened today at 2 p m, with a welcome address by Judge Penry, extemporaneous.

Hon Temple Houston, 8 minutes, cheered; next Mr Groom, Jr, the best paper ever before a panhandle audience in defense of the short horns. Next the Stockmen's Band. Next was president Bugbee's address, is given as spoken, by Evening News graphophone corps. Go to press. More tomorrow.

Franklin holds down the secretaryship all right.

How much borrowed money from the building and loan companies are being expended in town. You had better keep an "eye out" and not spend too much that way, or the loan companies may own too much for your good in a shorter time than you may expect.

Hon. Temple Houston, here today, is nearing the age of his father when first seen and heard by this reporter, forty-five years ago, and in stature, expression, demeanor and intellect is easily recognizable as a scion of the distinguished father of Texas.

The up-bound Denver passenger ran off the track yesterday at 12 o'clock one mile above Decatur. The engine tore loose and ran a third of a mile farther, the tender wrecked and miraculously not a person injured. It was going at a 40 mile speed.

Dr C. N. Harrell came in this morning from Georgia, his old home, from a two months' visit. He was in yesterday's wreck, and though no one was hurt, it was an experience that he does not wish to have duplicated.

Shirt Waist Patterns in silk that cannot be surpassed for beauty, at Smith, Walker & Co's.

O. F. Dana, representing Parke Davis & Co., Detroit, Mich., is in the city, and is a friend of our P. W. Hunt, the Blackleg vaccine man.

The constant stream of pretty women today at the stores of Smith & Walker and Connally's have run the reporter beside himself—old as he is. Sure, but do not tell Mrs. Evening News—and keep down a riot.

Stockmen and visitors will find a cordial welcome at the Mercantile Co. They are giving a cut of 25 per cent on clothing and hats. New goods arriving daily.

Dr. Harrell says he is mighty glad the Evening News kept up with him during his two months' absence, as it was the only news he could get from home.

It is a history-making period in the world's existence just now. Wars, cyclones, strikes, plagues, famines and floods prevail to greater excess than ever, and growing rapidly worse, or shall we call it better, in view of a hope, after so severe a travail, for a birth of universal freedom, which must precede the millennium. A great many thinking men believe the world is already well into the distressing conflict preceding "the good time coming," predicted in the Bible. The Bible prophecy is that wars and strifes will prevail, and father and son, neighbor and neighbor, will turn against each other, and trials such as have never been before. It looks, indeed, like something of the kind is indicated. It is well enough to give a thought to the matter.

Powell saw our green tomatoes and thinking they were persimmons, wanted to borrow some to draw his stomach up to fit his rations.

Landis says it is currently reported and generally believed that the school house lake has been stolen, and that Dee Tucker may have had a hand in it. Gowin wouldn't believe it at first.

Friend, (peeping in through the screen door.) Flores, (inside): "Keep on, keep on!"

Friend: "Keep on? Why, yes, whenever I find you I always keep on!"

Among the cattlemen who arrived up to 9:30 was noticed the following: Capt. Harry Ingerton, Hutchinson county; H C Harding, L X; J R Roberts, A P Murchison, J C Cox and G A Sachse, Hereford; H T Groom, J C Paul and Wm Winters and wife, Panhandle; W C and Sam Isaacs and E H Brainard, Canadian; L C Hare, T M Cunningham, Miami; Temple Houston, Woodward; C R Bricker, Harry Bennett, Tuck Cornelius, John Arnot, G Lee.

If you see a pea green covered new cottage, it's Mr. Witsel's, if dark bronze, it is Mr. Seawald's, and for connoption bronze see Mr. Beck's.

PRESIDENT THOS. S. BUGBEE'S ADDRESS,

To the Panhandle Stockmen's Association, at Amarillo, Texas, Oct. 2nd, 1900.

GENTLEMEN OF THE PANHANDLE STOCKMEN'S ASSOCIATION:

Six months ago this Association held its last meeting in this house. Since that time we have received many new members and the Association, though small, is in a condition of healthy growth. So long as the cattle industry continues to grow as it has in the last few years, we cannot do otherwise than prosper under prudent management. Grass has been good, the market has been steady and nothing has occurred to shake the confidence of the business world in the success and development of the cattle industry. Rain has been abundant, forage crops have made wonderful yield and we go into the winter with the hope that we will have few losses and that with the coming of the grass in the spring cattle will be in fairly good condition. The value of well bred cattle is becoming more and more apparent and every year finds a better grade of cattle in the Panhandle than ever before, and well bred beef cattle thrive here as nowhere else in the world. Our water, our climate, and our native grass seem peculiarly adapted to the best breeds, and so long as we give our herds the care and attention they deserve, success will stand ever knocking at our door. "It is an ill wind that blows nobody good," and while the proverbial "norther" freezes a few of them, it kills the disease germs so that the survivors will grow and fatten in the springtime. But I am digressing. This meeting is called to bring together the buyer and the seller. We wish our members to personally meet and know the buyers of their cattle—to literally walk and talk with them. We want you to buy and sell face to face. Be not strangers—be acquaintances and friends. Cordial relations between men give an impetus to their business transactions and inspires them with confidence, each in the other. In conclusion, I wish to say that there are too many mouths to be fed for the price of beef to go down permanently. There may be, and will be, fluctuations in the market, as there is in the price of every other necessity, but the world must be fed. Our interest must not wane. Let us be active in our efforts to increase our membership and never neglect an opportunity to aid in the usefulness and upbuilding of our Association.

The spirit of militarism develops an unconscious hypocrisy, tending to obscure the real distinction of the rights of the weaker. We prate about "our rights" in the Philippines—"our right" to govern the Filipinos. Now it must be admitted that however little amenable men are to reason they are even less so to force. Then why not send 65,000 missionaries instead of soldiers to persuade the Filipinos that it is our "right" to govern them and that it is right for them to yield? The only reason we do not do so is because our talk of rights in such connection is shameless cant.

Corrupting to the individual, and therefore corrupting to the nation, is the spirit of militarism at all times and everywhere. Let it rule among a people, and, however the forms of republicanism persist, the republic itself is moribund. However institutions preserve the outward garb of democracy, the Republic is slowly shaping itself to empire and is all purple within. Militarism is the Tarpeian rock that lies ever near the capitol; it makes and unmakes nations, molding to strange uses the arms of liberty-loving people; debauches republican ideals and makes national heroes of Bardolphs who, if possessing physical courage are morally as pusillanimous; engenders hatreds of people, and upon the altars of force make offerings of the first born of conscience. It gives us strange notions of heroism, and blinds us to the true nobility of civic valor, in this day fallen so low, and without which we shall perish of an inward cancer, though we number our military heroes by the score; that valor which dares to face all for principle, and which has given us our Lovejoys and Garrisons, heroes of a kind who are alone worthy of the consummate flower of the world's eulogy.—Joseph Dana Miller, New York, in October Arena.

Rev. J. A. Whitehurst is worth more than a passing notice. Coming to Amarillo an orphan, as it were, he thought the church building ought to be removed and in a more accessible place. But goodness! Never would get the money. But he and faith hung together, and now the Evening News can report that there will be a new modern style M. E. Church, South, on the south end of Polk street, just in reach of everybody. Much credit is due the pastor—and with so little noise, too.

Harrison Groom, of the firm of B. B. Groom & Co., is in the city with his cattle. He has some excellent specimens to show you—of the Short-horn persuasion. Sale begins at auction today at 3 o'clock.

The attendance today at the Stockmen's meeting is not large but very respectable.

Our Lace Curtains will please the ladies. Smith, Walker & Co.

Among the cattle men arriving on the delayed up Denver, are Thos. S. Bugbee, the president of the association; J. T. Claybrook, N. M. S. H. Vaughan, Goodnight.

Stockmen and their families must be sure to call at Connelly's Dry Good Store, where they can get the best goods for the money.

A citizens' meeting was held at the Commercial Club yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, and a committee of entertainment—reception—was appointed. They are wearing the badges today.

The Stockman's band has kept the city in "harmony" today, sure—with itself and all the crowds. At 11 o'clock they reappeared on the street as a "shore enough" nigger outlay that would be hard to beat in Africa or "Souf Carliny."

Our Millinery department is now open. Mail orders from our out-of-town customers will receive the best of attention. Smith, Walker & Co.

Amarillous will be pleased to know that J. G. Vallandigham and family are again citizens resident with them.

It will do you good to see White's immense stock of goods, and from the price you would think he had stolen some of them.

Attention, all union soldiers, who have homesteaded 40 or 80 acres of land before June 22d, 1874, can sell the balance, enough to make 160 acres. I will pay the highest cash price for same. Address,
