Drouth Extent Considered By Area Leaders

The area drouth problem was nearing possible relief Saturday night with developments in Pampa, Lubbock and Washington, D. C.

Just three days later — Saturday — three or four Pampans will be on hand in Lubbock with other representatives of Panhandle cities for a conference with U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson.

In Washington, Rogers met Friday with Benson, Frank Ikard and George Mahon, the latter two members of the U.S. Farmers Home Administration Bureau of the Budget.

The local meeting is being sponsored by the extension service and the agriculture committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, the agent continued.

Wilson Bitterly Criticized For Air Force Budget Cut

WASHINGTON, June 20 — Gen. Omar N. Bradley has informed senators that Russia is steadily increasing its atomic bomb stockpile and now is shipping jet aircraft to Soviet satellite states.

Bradley's views were made public by the Senate Foreign Relations committee in an 803-page volume of testimony taken on its $5,318,000,000 version of the foreign aid bill.

The testimony was censored for military security reasons. Bradley disclosed that the United States is stockpiling arms and ammunition somewhere in West Germany with which to arm the Germans if and when the six-nation European Defense Community unified army treaty is ratified.

The tanks kept their guns trained on three sides of the Sang-Mudai camp as the escapees boarded the trucks. The Saturday night escapes brought to 27,092 the number of North Koreans who have escaped since they ordered their release against United Nations order June 17.

He's Not Man For The Job, Yorty Claims

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 20 — UP — Rep. Sam Yorty (D-Calif.), a bitter foe of all Air Force budget cuts, said Saturday night that Defense Secretary Charles Wilson is partially blinded to the Soviet menace by dollar-sign astigmatism.

Speaking at a meeting of the Oklahoma League of Young Democrats, Yorty suggested that Wilson resign and be replaced by "phony figures, cover ups, evasion and half-truths" in his campaign to reduce Air Force funds.

Yorty said he has no personal feeling about Wilson and is sure Wilson means well. But he added: "He simply is not the man for the job. Security is too important to be risked on the judgment of a secretary partially blinded to the Soviet menace by dollar-sign astigmatism."

Told For WWII

WASHINGTON, June 20—UP—The final official toll of American battle losses in World War II was announced Saturday — 1,081,896 casualties, including 394,993 dead.

The total was completed with Army announcement of its final accounting, showing 936,259 casualties for the Army and Army Air Force including 254,874 deaths.

The Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard all have previously announced their final casualty tolls.

The World War II list is nearly three times the World War I casualty reckoning of 364,800.

The Korean war casualty toll in three years of war, by latest official accounting, is 136,029.

Takes 118 Pages

The final Army report—a 118-page document giving a detailed breakdown of World War II casualties—covers a period from Dec. 7, 1941, to Dec. 31, 1946, when hostilities were declared ended by presidential proclamation. It shows that about 9 per cent of the 10,200,000 men and women who served in the Army during this period became battle casualties.

The 936,259 total of Army casualties covers 189,696 killed in action, 92,170 wounded or injured in action, 124,079 captured and 30,311 missing in action.

The Army, with 661,059 casualties in the infantry alone, accounted for 820,877 of the total. What was then the Army Air Force (now the U.S. Air Force) had 118,382 casualties.

254,874 Casualty Deaths

Deaths among battle casualties totaled 254,874. In addition to those killed in action, this includes 3,102 killed while captured, 26,762 who died of battle wounds, 6,083 of the missing who have been declared dead and 9,258 other deaths incurred while in a battle casualty status but not of battle causes. The figure does not include 8,347 deaths of persons who died while not in a battle casualty status.

Of the 592,170 wounded, 383,196 were returned to duty in the theater in which they were wounded. Of the 124,079 captured, 111,428 were returned to military control and the remainder died. Of the 30,311 missing in action, 24,098 returned to duty.

The report also gave the following statistical breakdowns:

1. The most costly year of World War II was 1944, when 521,390 battle casualties were recorded. December of that year was the bloodiest month, with a total of 87,535 casualties.
2. The most costly Army campaign of the war was the Rhineland Campaign from Sept. 15, 1944, to March 21, 1945, in which 240,082 casualties were recorded including 50,410 deaths.
3. The Normandy campaign which opened with the invasion of Europe on D-Day, June 6, 1944, and ended July 24, 1944, cost the Army 65,990 casualties.
4. The 3rd Infantry Division, which served in the European and Mediterranean Theaters, suffered the most casualties of any Army combat division with 25,877. The 101st Airborne Division lost 9,328 troops. The 3rd Armored Division paid the highest price among armored divisions with a total of 9,243 casualties.
5. Casualty rates in various states closely followed population figures. New York, the most heavily populated state, had the most battle casualties with 89,153, of which 23,322 were deaths. Nevada, the least populated, had 880 battle casualties, with deaths numbering 238.

DOCTORS HELD NO HOPE Minister Carves Successful Career Despite Lung Trouble

BY RO ELLISON
Pampa News Staff Writer

A man who came to the Southwest from Virginia 38 years ago to die, according to the doctors, has just completed a successful 6½-year ministry at a local church and is planning to move to a new field soon.

J. P. Crenshaw will preach his final sermon June 28 as minister of the Mary Ellen and Harvester Church of Christ which has seen its membership almost double in the completion of a $200,000 church building and a three-bedroom brick preacher's home during his ministry here.

With a marked Southern drawl which his wife claims to have improved "some," this preacher says his age has been determined as 50 ever since he was 35 "several years ago."

HE ACCREDITED this to his bald head, which he learned "long time ago was public property — everybody is free to talk about it."

During his service in Pampa his congregation has learned to appreciate his background on a daily routine set up by the minister and his wife includes Bible study each morning, visits to the hospital while his wife does her housework and calls together on church members and friends in the afternoon.

IT IS SO HARD to leave a field of service which has been so pleasant, Mr. and Mrs. Crenshaw concur. "A preacher never knows exactly when he has completed a service in one location," Crenshaw pointed out.

He remarked how much he appreciated his work with his congregation here as well as local doctors and townspeople. "But," he said, "another personality might reach people I have failed to reach and perhaps I can be of more help right now in a new field."

Crenshaw says he didn't quite live up to his old "nigger mammy's" expectations — she always called him "Massa President" and thought sure he'd make it. "But," he declares, "I'd rather preach the gospel than be president."

The Crenshaws will move to Plainview July 1 to accept the ministry of the Church of Christ, 9th and Columbia.

ROKS May Lose Ammunition

UNITED NATIONS, June 20—UP—The United Nations Command may cut off the South Korean army's supply of ammunition if a truce, diplomatic sources here indicated Saturday. BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., June 20—UP—Silent screen star Dolores Costello Barrymore, 49, forfeited $25 bail Friday when she failed to appear in Municipal Court to answer a drunk charge.

Dies Suddenly

SAN ANTONIO, June 20—UP—Mrs. Agnes Hamilton, 53, appeared uninjured when the automobile in which she was riding was side-swiped by a hit-and-run oil truck 20 miles east of Luling a week ago.

But Mrs. Hamilton complained later of leg and arm injuries. She dropped a glass of ice water Thursday afternoon and said she "couldn't hold onto it."

She was rushed to a hospital and was dead on arrival.

Police said Saturday an autopsy would be performed to determine cause of death.

HEAR WEDDING BELLS—Looking very happy about it, screen star Ann Blyth and her fiance, Dr. James Vincent McNulty, are shown at the Santa Monica, Calif., Record Office, where they applied for a marriage license. They plan to be married June 27 by Cardinal McIntyre at St. Charles Church, North Hollywood.

CRENSHAW BEGAN his career as a gospel preacher shortly after 1917 when he moved to Denver, Colo. Before that, he says, "I made an honest living" first with a wholesale plumbing company and later with a fire insurance agency.

That first sermon, he remarked, was "something!" He was called from the congregation to fill-in for the regular minister who was ill, and "to save my life, I couldn't find Galatians in that Bible — and I knew it had been there the night before."

When someone in the congregation reminded him it was behind Corinthians, he proceeded with his talk.

From this part-time duty as a minister, Crenshaw moved to Abilene where he studied Bible at Abilene Christian College and again preached in area churches "on the side."

In 1929 he accepted the position as minister of the Northside Church of Christ in Abilene "until they could get a new minister. A n.d., it took them 9½ years to find one."

Since Abilene, Crenshaw has served churches in Sweetwater and San Angelo and in Pampa since November, 1946.

CRENSHAW WENT to Roswell, N. M., after doctors told him a tubercular condition in both lungs was sure death. They expected him to return in a baggage car to be buried, but he says, "I knew I wasn't going to die."

Shortly after he went to Roswell he met and married Miss Leora Jones, a public stenographer there. He says he saw her going to the Church of Christ and followed her there.

Born and reared in a family of the Quaker religion Crenshaw became a member of the Church of Christ about the same time he married and has devoted his time to teachings of the church—ever since.

He and Mrs. Crenshaw are the parents of a son, Pleasant, who lives in Brady and preaches in area churches when needed, and grandparents of three boys, Joe, Pleasant II, Tim and Robert Ray.

AMONG OTHER services to the local church, Crenshaw has initiated work with deaf people in the area. He has become "fairly" proficient in the sign language of the deaf and works with Gordon Crocker of Pampa who directs and teaches.

Concern Seen Over Shortage In Mortgage Money On Homes

WASHINGTON, June 20—UP—Despite the administration's determination to weather the present shortage of money for home mortgages, informed sources predicted Saturday that Congress will approve a "stand-by" relief program for the nation's builders. Administration leaders turned a cold shoulder this week on pleas to soften their "hard-money" policy at least a little for the housing market.

Federal housing chief Albert M. Cole said he saw no need "to pump up the balloon and start it upward again." The mortgage shortage, he said, may be only "temporary" and he hoped it would be back to normal "within a reasonably short time."

But the National Association of Home Builders bluntly called the administration's housing program "anemic" and NAHB President Emanuel M. Spiegel said the government may be taking "an unwarranted gamble with the future."

Bills Expected Soon
The exchange took place as the Senate and House Banking committees opened hearings on an administration bill to extend several of the government's present housing programs. Committee staff members hoped to be able to report bills to the Senate and House floors by next week.

Spiegel told the committees that present down payment requirements on FHA-insured homes are too high to maintain the volume of production "appropriate to a prosperous economy." He urged that the down payments be cut and that mortgage terms be extended to 30 year periods.

Cole replied, however, that "the time is not ripe for it." Cole said the administration considered asking Congress to lower FHA down payments but decided against it. He conceded that housing starts dropped in May but he said housing starts for the first five months of 1953 were still ahead of the 1952 level.

Decline Believed Tip-off
The NAHB saw the May decline, however, as a sure "tip-off" of trouble ahead. The drop from April's 110,000 starts to May's 107,000 was the first time such a decrease was reported in 11 years.

The National Association of Real Estate Boards meanwhile reported that the next six months will be a "favorable period to buy a home." The end of the critical housing shortage after World War II, the NAREB said, has resulted in "a queezing out of inflationary prices for existing homes."

Rep. Wright Patman (D-Tex.) added his voice to the many congressmen who report that home builders in their districts are "screaming" they cannot sell housing. He urged that the government resume mortgage buying through the Federal National Mortgage Association.

Cole said, however, that the administration does not intend to ask Congress for authority to purchase more VA and FHA mortgages. FNMA's holdings now total about $2.5 billion.

Theatrical Hall, Boonville, Mo., is said to be the oldest theater in continuous operation west of the Alleghenies.

'53 Yanks Best On Road -- Stengel Says

NEW YORK, June 20—UP—Casey Stengel won't rate his current runaway Yankees as consistently as good as at home. The other teams didn't win on the road as his best until they clinch the American League pennant, but he rates them superior to his four previous champions in one respect. "It's the best road team," Stengel says. "It's geared to win on the road."

Hoyt Wilhelm Headed For New Major League Endurance Mark

MILWAUKEE, June 21—UP—Hoyt Wilhelm and the Giants' pitching staff were under close study, balling relief marv, will set a new major league standard of 84 pitched games this season if he continues his present pace. Wilhelm, who appeared in 71 games as a rookie last season, again pitched for the 31st time in 52 games Thursday as the Giants' ace, felled the Cincinnati Redlegs 6-0 to mark the 18th time he has been the finishing pitcher in a winning game for the Giants this year. The Hoyt has retired the last batter in 57 per cent of their victories. Manager Leo Durocher insists that Wilhelm won't tire despite his quarters for the next five years, almost superhuman pace but Leo said he was talking with his tongue in his cheek. Hoyt tired in August last season although he did yeoman work in service down the stretch at the GEAT Lopez Field, now under construction.

Fishing On Gulf Coast Best In Years

AUSTIN, June 20—UP—Sportsmen, including Texas Gov. Allan Shivers, have been enjoying what some enthusiasts are hailing as the best Gulf Coast fishing in 10 years. Reports have been good in Texas as from the Sabine River south. The only exception was the lower portion of Laguna Madre where a Texas Game and Fish Commission spokesman said the waters were getting pretty salty.

It's No Disgrace To Work In Bullpen — Say Top Pitchers

NEW YORK, June 20—UP—Robert Roberts, Billy Pierce, Allie Reynolds and several other pitchers are unapologetically agreeing today that it is "no disgrace" to be sent down to work in the bullpen. Roberts, Pierce and Reynolds are only three of the top-notchers who willingly did stints in the bullpen recently despite the fact that all are considered regular and winning starters. Other "big name" starters who have worked in the bullpen during the past few weeks are: Gerry Staley of the Cardinals, Bob Lemon of the Indians, Virgil Trucks of the White Sox and Bob Porterfield of the Senators. "I don't have the slightest reluctance about going to the bullpen any time I can help the ball club," says Roberts, who took his first relief turn of the season for the Phillies against Milwaukee last Tuesday. There is a tendency among fans to regard the bullpen as "baseball's Siberia" but Roberts doesn't look at it that way. "Maybe the fans don't think there is much glory connected with the bullpen," says the Phillie star, "but they'd be surprised how many games are won and lost right there. As a matter of fact, I feel some time spent in the bullpen would help any pitcher, even if he was a regular starter." Like Roberts, Pierce, the White Sox ace, took his first relief turn last Tuesday and was rewarded with his eighth victory. "I enjoyed the experience," declared the Chicago southpaw, "it doesn't matter to me whether I

Father's Day

BOYS, GIRLS, MEN AND WOMEN are honoring great Americans today — their fathers. Today, Father's Day, climaxes the month dedicated to closer father-child relationships. The National Father's Day Committee points out that the purpose of this month is to shape a harmonious citizenry through a child's appreciation of fair play and lists the following commandments for fathers: A wise father takes time to guide his child's spiritual growth; he teaches good sportsmanship regardless of the outcome; he stresses equal rights of all peoples; he encourages independence and self-reliance; he stresses self-respect; he teaches his child's obedience of his country's laws and ideals; he sets an example of responsible citizenship by active interest in civic affairs.

GENE FATHEREE and son, RICHARD, 6, who reside at 502 W. Kingsmill, prepare for a fishing trip, a favorite pastime for fathers and sons for many generations. Richard, who hopes to become a basketball player, has his father who is a city commissioner as an example of the responsibility of citizenship.

many rousing song fests with Ann at the piano and "Sheriff," as she affectionately calls him, doing the crooning honors. They make every moment count at their home in the Court House because Sheriff Jordan spends most of his time on his job of enforcing the law.

HARVEY WATERS, 629 N. Frost, watches his son, BILL, saddle "Toy." This father and son spend as much time as their work will allow together at their farm east of Pampa. Their work — Bill as county attorney and Harvey in a private business — requires their attention long after usual office hours. They also enjoy playing with Bill's 2-year-old son, Leland, who is ruler of the house, 1805 Hamilton, when his father is gone.

SHEILA, 11, and NORA, 10, turn tables on their father, DR. DOUGLAS NELSON, 515 N. Gray, when it comes to buying Father's Day gifts. They encourage him to buy them gay summer shirts that are just the right thing for their vacation to the East. Fathers the world over would try to buy the moon for their daughters after a pleading look such as Nora, center, gives her father, E. J. ROBERTSON, 708 Sloan, shows his son, DAVID, 4, some of the problems he deals with in his job as Texas Highway patrolman. He illustrates the lesson of obedience of laws with toys which a child can understand.

Peg O' Pampa

When mother races daughter, To see who's first to buy A different gift for father, It ends up in a tie. - S. J. Dobrenak

HAPPY FATHER'S DAY to all you fathers, and Peg hopes the day proves restful and relaxing to you breadwinners.

PEG MAY BE SILLY, but when night time comes around and it's time to go to bed, in goes a wad of cotton in each ear.

WITH VACATION TIME in progress, and trips planned around the country, it's a good time to take a minute and review a few safety tips before starting out for that vacation:

- 1. Always drive at a safe and sane speed. 2. Follow other cars at a safe distance. 3. Keep constantly alert to other cars on the road. 4. Be prepared for driving emergencies. 5. Have your car's condition checked regularly.

Remember you can't be too safe. Keep these "rules" in mind and don't be surprised to find motoring most pleasant when it is safest.

Miss Phoebe Ann Osborne Becomes Bride Of Karl Stephenson In Formal Ceremony

Miss Phoebe Ann Osborne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Osborne, 1218 Charles, became the bride of Karl Stephenson in a formal ceremony in the First Baptist Church Saturday evening at 8.

Dr. Douglas Carver read the double ring ceremony before an altar setting of lacy fans. An arrangement of Woodwardia ferns in fan shapes highlighted the white and blue draped fan centering the sanctuary.

The bride wore a gown of white silk organza fashioned with fitted bodice embroidered in white braid pattern accented with pearls and rhinestones. Her costume was completed by a blue satin belt, blue accessories and a coronation crown fashioned of tiny blue flowers and studded with brilliant.

Miss Betty Osborne and Miss Pat Reynolds, bridesmaids, wore identical ballerina-length dresses of blue sheer nylon net over tulle and made with delicate bodices and long sleeves forming a ruffled train.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephenson are graduates of Pampa High School. They are junior students in Baylor University, Waco, where the bridegroom is majoring in business law.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white slipper satin overlaid with lace tulle. The neckline of lace and net embroidered with pearls and rhinestones emphasized the moulded bodice and long sleeves forming a ruffled train.

Her bouquet was an imported French ivory fan trimmed in Alencon lace and beaded in pearls and rhinestones, and created with a white orchid and lilies of the valley.

Hour Glass Figure Impossible Says Co. Researchers

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY NEW YORK, June 20 - UP - Women are getting bigger in the middle, broader in the shoulders and narrower in the hips, a recent survey reports.

That hour glass silhouette of Lillian Russell's day isn't only out of fashion, it's downright impossible for most of today's healthy, athletic young women.

This is due partly to evolution, partly to living habits, according to the researchers at the H. W. Goswami Co., which released the survey. A Harvard professor reported in 1920 that American college women were four pounds heavier, an inch taller and one and one-half inches bigger around the waist than the girls of 1890.

Now this survey comes up with the news that the average measurements are bust 35 inches; waist 29 inches and hips 35 inches. Shades of the perfect 36!

"Height is increasing about an inch and a half every 50 years, hips are narrowing and shoulders are getting broader," reports the Goswami survey. (They note parenthetically that while the width between hip bones is decreasing, the modern woman's derriere is somewhat larger than 50 years ago, so overall hip measurements are about the same.)

Their predictions can give a girl pause, especially when a certain clothes designer just got through predicting a barrel silhouette for fall. However, the researchers are convinced that women will always have an inward curve at the waistline, if for no other reason than that it appeals to men.

Disheveled made from a mixture of cotton and rayon are said to dry faster, have greater strength, and become less dingy-looking.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a dress of white organdy. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a yoke of embroidered organdy and pleated cap sleeves. It was buttoned with rhinestone centered buttons. Her finger length illusion veil was caught with a cap of embroidered organdy. Her flowers were gardenias with white ribbon streamers.

The bride's mother wore a street length dress of aqua linen. Her corsage was of white gardenias. The bridegroom's mother wore a white linen dress with a corsage of white gardenias also.

A reception followed the ceremony in the Church Parlor. Members of the house party included Mrs. Vernon Hall, Mrs. Norell Wilson of Spearman, Mrs. Davy Bargar of Lubbock, Mrs. Orville Brummett of Perryton and Mrs. H. L. Meers.

It seems to her that if she is ever going to quit working, now is the time. But the few times she has suggested to her husband that she would like to quit, he has argued with her. He thinks that if she quits her job they won't be able to have as much, or save as much, as they can with two pay checks.

She says that she is worn out trying to be both homemaker and wage earner; and wants to know if she should be expected to go on working year after year.

Texas Manufacturers Will Parade Fashions At 1953 State Fair In Dallas

DALLAS (Special)—Texas-made fashions will be paraded at the 1953 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 10-25, in a salute to the state's increasingly important fashion industry. Two spectacular fashion shows will be presented free at the fair, James H. Stewart, executive vice president and general manager, has announced.

MATURE PARENT

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
A playmate of Gail Rankin owns a toy watch. One afternoon, Gail walks off with it without asking. When playmate's mother phones to complain, Gail is furious at having to return the watch. Her Aunt Ella, who has dropped in for lunch, advises her mother to spank her for taking someone else's property.

Mrs. Rankin performs the recommended action. Later, she comes upstairs to find Gail trying to pry loose a pearl in one of her best earrings. As Gail throws it down and runs down the hall to lock herself in the bathroom, helplessness and frustration overwhelm her mother. She feels a flash of hate for the child who has made her feel them.

"What do I do next?" she thinks and runs downstairs to phone Aunt Ella for more advice.

"Though you stimulate me to do this," writes a reader to me, "you seldom follow through on telling parents what to do with a misbehaving child."

I am not anyone's Aunt Ella. I do not approve of her. I consider her a selfish person. She is not interested in us at all but in acquiring prestige for herself by keeping us dependent on her.

If she were interested in us, she would try to stimulate ideas in us that would produce action—of our own. Because she is a selfish person, she has obstructed relationship between us and Gail by intruding between two people who should be expressing themselves to each other. She has created more resentment and alienation between us and our little girl.

If I were to advise readers on action to take toward misbehaving children, I would have the relationship with the children instead of my readers. I would be stealing from them far more seriously than Gail has stolen.

That's why this column limits its suggestions to ideas which I believe and in good action.

The one that would produce "good action" for Gail is protecting the dignity she has momentarily lost. To protect it, we have to see that by taking the toy watch, she has exposed herself to disrespectful criticism by her playmate, the playmate's family and her Aunt Ella.

We have to see that her defiance and renegefulness are her reactions to the discomfort she already feels under attack by so much disapproval.

Stimulated by these ideas, we are ready to take our action by opening Gail's eyes to the staff that is coming at her and say, "The watch doesn't seem worth it, darling. We cannot permit all these people to push their ugly thoughts upon us."

Thus, the idea of protection of Gail's dignity enables us to reach her without the interfering action of that arrogant Aunt Ella.

An authoritative and nationally known jury will judge the entries on August 14, immediately preceding the mid-winter and holiday market week which attracts thousands of retail store buyers and hundreds of manufacturers' collections to Dallas and Fort Worth. The fashion shows will be presented in the Theatre Building on the fairgrounds. GRACE FRIEND

Dear Grace
I hope you can help me with my problem. I started a white wool baby sweater over two years ago and never completely finished it until recently. Now the yarn is that awful dingy yellow color and I don't know what to do to get it white again.

I tried bleaching it with the powdered bleach recommended for wool and I used it two or three different times. I did it outside in the sun once or twice thinking the sun might help but now I'm wondering if that was a mistake. Anyway it didn't seem to bleach.

I hate to dye the sweater because there is pink edging on it and also some embroidered flowers and I should think they would have to come off before being dyed.

Can you tell me what would be the best thing to do?

Or if I should decide to dye it what method should I use to keep it looking fresh and nice and also from losing its shape.

Thank you for your advice, it is appreciated.

Mrs. G. E.

Dear Mrs. E.
Often times white wool can be restored to its original freshness by adding two teaspoons of peroxide to one gallon of water as a final rinse.

So that it will keep its shape, it should be measured before washing. Lay it flat on a plain piece of paper and draw the outline carefully. After it is washed lay it on the paper to dry, making sure that it fits the pattern you have made. When it is dry it will be exactly the size it was before you washed it.

When you press it dampen a cloth in a quart of water to which 1 tablespoon of vinegar has been added. Wring the cloth out first then place over the sweater and press with warm iron. It will come out looking like new.

If you decide to dye the sweater follow the directions on the package of dye as various dyes differ. It might be worth while to have the cleaners dye it for you.

Italian Fashions For American Woman Is Based On Color, Drama, Carefree Air

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
NEA Staff Correspondent
ROME—(NEA)—The appeal of Italian fashion for the American woman is based on color, a sense of the drama and a certain carefree air. These qualities stem chiefly from the fact that fashion here is dominated by the aristocracy. After the war, both men and women of noble birth found themselves with depleted incomes and an outlook for the future that could be described only as bleak. They found a solution to their personal Christian Society Meets at Weslaco, Tex.

WESLACO, Tex., June 19—UP—Mary Moffitt of Dallas was elected president Thursday night of the Texas Christian Endeavor Society, succeeding Ed Milling of Houston, at the close of its two-day convention at Weslaco's First Christian Church. Martha Roan of Dallas was named secretary, Mary Holton of Dallas treasurer, and the Rev. Francis Smith of Houston pastor-counselor.

problems in fashion. Some of them even conduct their businesses today from the traditional luxury of their ancestral homes. More and more American clients (many of them movie stars) are being outfitted by Italian dressmakers. The Italians offer beautiful fabrics, lavish embroideries and good workmanship at a third of the price of their Paris equals. And neither fabric nor embroideries could be duplicated in the United States except at a nearly prohibitive cost.

Leading designers in Rome are Fabiani, Simonetta, Antonelli, Fontana, Schubert and Schiavari. Through cooperation with the textile people here, these designers now have fabrics (made from silk, cotton, wool, rayon, acetate, nylon, hemp, flax, and straw fibers) as unusual in appearance that they cannot be easily defined, even by touch.

Italy's beautiful and skillfully designed playclothes have earned this country a reputation in this field. Top creator is Emilio (Marquesse Pucci).

Emilio is a stacks-and-shorts specialist. He turns out models in six sizes, guaranteed to fit 80 per cent of his clients. He also claims that, provided cut and fit are right, every type of woman can look well in them.

For women with a little poundage, he has slacks with length-giving, contrasting panels. He places patch pockets over the hips to camouflage width. He feels that shorts should be incurved, never flared; and sweaters always easy-fitting, never moulded to the body.

For the coming season, Emilio is showing rainbow sweaters in horizontal stripes. Then there are his meticulously tailored shirts. He designs his own unusual prints, working them out on cotton and velvet. And he uses two basic color schemes for summer. For daytime, there are Capri gold, Capri blue and mocha; for evening, turquoise, black and lavender.

Are 'Out' For Feminine Look

BY ALICIA HART
Long, claw-type nails have been "out" for years, although some girls still persist in having them. It's a well-known fact that few men like them. They're unfeminine-looking, giving a sharp, aggressive aspect to hands whose outstanding qualities should be roundness, gentleness and softness.

Nails reaching only a fraction beyond the end of the fingertips and filed into ovals can give this latter look. If your hands look better with more rounded than oval nails, have these instead. Even when filed almost straight across, nails are far more feminine-looking than when they compete with daggers.

Men like hands that look as if they could do things. The clawed hand looks as if it could only scratch.

Red nail polish gives smartness to hands with the gentle ovals. The overlong red nail, on the contrary, provides too much red — one is overdoing a good thing with them.

Cheese Output Is Up For Consumer

Consumers like cheese. The records show it. And to meet this increased consumer demand, production continues high this year.

During April, for instance, production continues high this year, a year ago and 28 per cent higher for the first four months of this year, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Highest in popularity is American cheese, which last year totaled 870 million pounds. About half of this was processed cheese.

Swiss cheese production at 104 million pounds was the largest on record while production of brick and Munster at 28 million pounds was the highest since 1936.

Consumers like their cream and blue mold cheese, too. Production of these last year totaled 75 million and 11 million pounds, respectively, highest ever recorded. And Italian cheeses at 63 million pounds were the third highest on record.

Output of limburger at 6 million for 1 minute or till lightly browned. Remove immediately with 2 wide spatulas to platter.

YIELD: 9 to 12 servings.

FOR SUMMER DESSERT FUN SERVE PEACH ALASKA

Ice cream and cake at its very most elegant comes in a Baked Alaska. An Alaska is considered complicated because it requires that the ice cream go into the oven and not melt during the time the meringue which covers it is browning. Actually, this dessert is not nearly as difficult as it appears. The important things are to put the cake on a baking sheet, chill both cake and sheet in the refrigerator before making the Alaska, add ice cream and meringue at the last minute. Whisk the Alaska into a pre-heated oven and leave it there just long enough for the meringue to brown. Just follow directions and you'll have as fancy an Alaska as can be made, and a dessert to delight all who eat it.

In summer Peach Alaska is an especially good one to serve. Peach ice cream is available everywhere during the fresh peach season of July and August. This year it has been named the Ice Cream Festival flavor for those two months and will be conveniently pre-packaged in pints or half gallons for your enjoyment. A party-sized Peach Alaska uses two pre-packaged pints, easy to buy at self-service cabinets in drug stores and super markets.

PEACH ALASKA

- 1/2 cup plus 2 tablespoons sifted cake flour
- 6 tablespoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon double acting baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons salad oil
- 2 egg yolks
- 3 tablespoons water
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 egg whites
- 1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar

Sift flour, sugar, baking powder and salt into a mixing bowl. Make a "well" in the middle and add salad oil, egg yolks, water and vanilla. Beat until smooth. Beat egg whites with cream of tartar until very stiff, do not underbeat. Fold in egg yolk mixture until blended. Turn into a waxed paper lined 8x8x2-inch pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 F.) 25 minutes. Turn upside-down on rack to cool; remove from pan. Place on cookie sheet and chill in refrigerator at least an hour before making Alaska.

MERINGUE

- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 4 egg whites
- 1. teaspoon vanilla
- 1/2 cup sugar

Pre-heat oven to 550 F. Add salt to egg whites and beat until stiff; add vanilla. Add sugar gradually and continue beating until very stiff. Reserve. Remove cake from refrigerator. BUT, MARTIN, IF SHE HAD A FEAR OF HORSES EVER SINCE, WOULD SHE HAVE GONE TO THAT HORSE SHOW?
SHE PROBABLY CONQUERED THE FEAR AS THE YEARS PASSED-- BUT THIS ACCIDENT HAS BROUGHT IT ALL BACK!
YOU MAY HAVE A HARD TIME SO! IM SURE CONVINCING HER RIGHT AWAY!
I DONT THINK SHE'LL AGREE!
