Leslynn Webb, Canadian, took "hard luck" honors for the entire four performances and won a Dan Roy hat from Joe Decker, San Angelo. That honor goes to the cowgirl who has the toughest time with her horse during the barrel races.
Coming in second in the cowgirls' barrel race was Helen Harrison, Woodward, Okla., with a total time of 31.5 seconds for the two go-rounds. She won a riding costume from Paul Hawthorne.

Coming in second was Freddy Newsome, Lefors, with a time of 31.2 seconds. Once he got the steer, he did a quick job, but it was the question of chasing it that took so long.
Third was Glenn Green, McLean, with 70.1. The other eight cowpokes entered in the event had "no time."

Office Shifting Plans Completed

Judge Maguire said the plan has been verbally okayed by all of the commissioners and it will be presented to those affected Monday during the regular commissioners' court meeting.
County Treasurer Ola Gregory, the judge said, will move from the county attorney's waiting room to the office used by County Agent Ralph Thomas. Thomas will be moved into county school superintendent B. R. Nuckols' offices on the first floor. Nuckols, in turn, will be moved into the office now used by the Highway Patrol and driver's license examiner. The highway people will then be moved into Justice of the Peace D. R. Henry's office. Judge Henry will move across the corridor into the office once used by the county welfare worker.
"We want to see if these moves will be agreeable before we start effecting them," the judge said Saturday.

Blood Program Discontinued Here

Pampa will not continue its defense blood program this year, as the office of defense mobilization has cancelled all defense blood center operations effective Aug. 31.

PREPARING A PROGRAM is just part of a busy rodeo announcer's life. In order to have at least half an idea of what comes next on his show, the announcer has to work ahead and type up his events in their proper order so he won't call the wrong part at the right time, or vice versa. Nat Fleming, youthful rodeo announcing veteran, is pictured above as he worked over his line-up of events in the Chamber of Commerce offices just before the final performance last night. Young Rodeo Announcer Left Career At Baseball Mike On Mayo's Advice

By HENRY S. GORDON
Pampa News Staff Writer

The clear, distinct voice of the 22-year-old announcer at the baseball game came bounding over the loudspeakers at Wichita Falls in 1947, telling spectators who were coming up next and what the calls were.

Seated somewhere in the stands was a baseball fan who that day was destined to alter the young announcer's life, taking him away from the sparkle of the diamond for a diamond to follow the dusty rodeo trails.

Military Bands Busy In Capital

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 — UP — There's music in the air almost every day of the year in the capital.

Right now, we're in the midst of the "under-the-stars" season. All summer long, lovers of good music can hear a concert every day, of the week, except Saturday. They hear four fine bands—the Army Band, the Navy Band, the Air Force band, and the Marine Band.

The enlisted men in these musical outfits perform on the steps of the Capitol and at the Watergate Open-air Amphitheatre on the Potomac River, back of the Lincoln Memorial.

Marine Band Is Oldest
The organizations do not confine their performances to marching music. They can strike a hot lick on St. Louis Blues or Sweet Georgia Brown with just as much harmony as when they play the selections of John Philip Sousa.

Music doesn't end with the falling leaves and frost. In the winter there are free indoor concerts at various auditoriums around Washington.

The famed Marine Band was authorized by Congress and President John Adams in 1798, and marched into Washington two years later before the city was the capital, Washington. In those days was cooped up in wooden buildings and the people found their way around by following the cow paths. The first concert was on Aug. 21, 1800.

Music in the Navy goes back a piece, too. Unofficially, Navy bands date back to the 1800's. Informal groups were organized to tinkle on special occasions and to hype the morale in those men-of-war days. Officially, the Navy traces its history back to the days before World War I, when a 21-piece band performed here at official affairs.

Air Force Band Gets Around
The present Army Band is a stepchild of the outfit created by Gen. John J. Pershing on January 25, 1922. The talent was drawn from the Army Music School.

Youngest of the service bands is the U. S. Air Force group of talented musicians. It was formed in 1942, but in a little over a decade it has risen to match French horns and tubas with the other service bands.

The Air Force band may be young in years but it has been around. It is the only American band to have played for a royal garden party at Buckingham Palace.

Encouragement Sent To Victim Of Polio
DECATUR, Ill., Aug. 8 — UP — A newspaper picture of nine-year-old Diane Bond, wearing leg braces, brought her a letter from another Diane Bond.

Diane, photographed while taking a gamma globulin shot during a mass inoculation here, was stricken with polio two years ago.

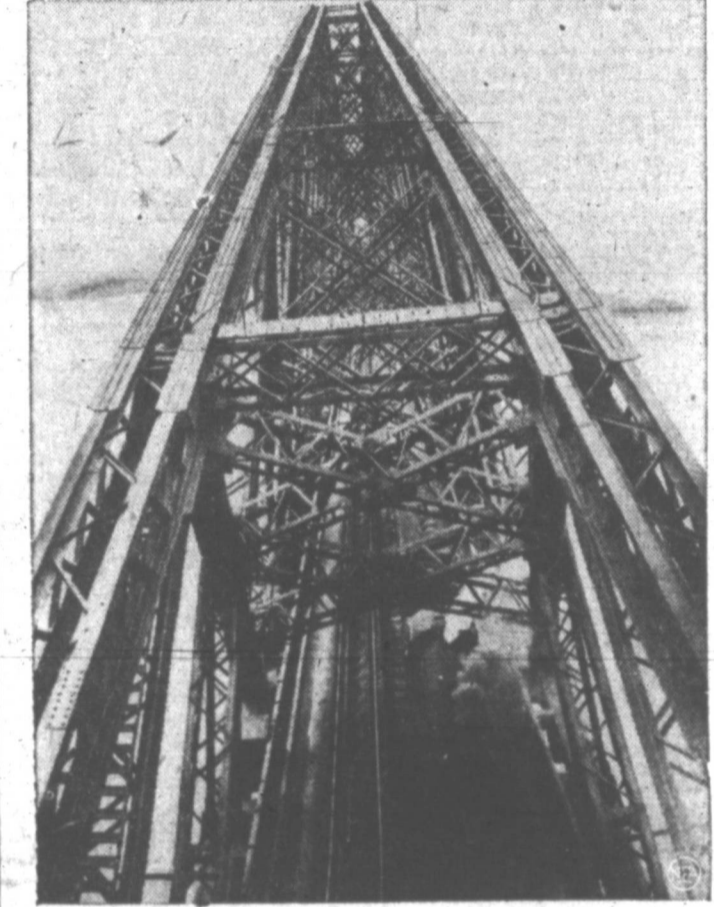

Friday she received a letter from seven-year-old Diane Bond of Temple, Tex.

"I was born with a crooked leg," wrote the Texas Diane. "I had to wear leg braces and even learned to crawl in them."

"My leg is all right now," she said. "I hope your leg will soon be all right again, too."

BAREBACK BRONC BUSTER Rex Drake, Sayre, Okla., stayed aboard Bob McCoy till the whistle blew in Friday night's show of the Top o' Texas Rodeo. But it took all he had to keep that one hand free as he slid to the side of the bronc the latter half of this wild ride. (News Photo)

VERTICAL RAILROAD—They haven't started running trains up and down the Eiffel Tower, appearances to the contrary. The fast passenger train streaking down the impossible-looking grade is a British express, crossing London's mighty Fourth Bridge, as seen from an unusual angle. The House of Commons is at present discussing the possibility of adding a toll-road deck to the structure, which now carries only railroad traffic.

When the last man struck out, the fan approached the young announcer, introduced himself as Goat Mayo of Petrolia, Texas, and asked him if he wouldn't rather be a rodeo announcer.

And, so Nat Fleming deserted the sparkle of the diamond for the opaque dust of the arena, but not all at once.

His first year, Nat announced five shows with Mayo, mixing them up with his baseball announcing. The next summer found him doing solid rodeo announcing.

He has put more than 900 performances between himself and that first rodeo back in 1947. Most of these he has worked with Mayo, but Nat considers himself a free agent.

This is his sixth year in rodeo work and his third straight for the Top o' Texas Rodeo.

"It looked so easy, but now I find it's the hardest job I ever had," Nat said, looking back over the 100-odd shows and close to 500 separate performances he has announced.

"You get to where you think you know what will happen next, but it is nothing for just the opposite to happen."

Although he is situated on a high spot and away from the charging bulls and bucking broncs, the announcer must be on his toes for anything can happen at a rodeo, and usually does.

Several years ago, at Snyder, Mayo and Fleming were running the rodeo. They sent their only program to the printer and when it came time for the show to open—no programs. Mayo had to relay the cowboys' names and events up to Fleming's booth from the chutes.

"It was a miracle, the way the show worked; it was the fastest show ever put on in Snyder. I'll never tell how we did it."

Some of Nat's best friends are cowboys who follow the rodeo trails and when they come riding out on some snorting heaving bull, he gets just as tense as the crowd. But, he has to swallow the personal feeling so the "show can go on."

He has seen many accidents, including area fatalities which he doesn't like to talk about.

But, unlike the majority who feel bull riding is the most dangerous, Nat has his own opinion of which is the most dangerous stunt for the cowboys—saddle bronc riding.

"I have seen so many cowboys get tossed, and then get hung up in a stirrup. Their heads take an awful beating from those kicking hooves."

The rodeo has its humorous side for an announcer's recollections.

President Endorses Bracero Program

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 — UP — President Eisenhower Saturday signed legislation to continue for another two years the government's program of importing Mexicans for seasonal work on American farms.

Farmers To Vote On Wheat Quotas

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 —UP—The nation's wheat farmers decide next week whether to throw federal marketing quotas overboard along with the high wheat price supports first voted in the days of the Roosevelt New Deal.

The occasion will be a national referendum on Aug. 14 in which 800,000 of the nation's two million wheat farmers will be eligible to vote. A decisive approval of the marketing plan, which requires a two-thirds majority, could help convince the 83rd Congress the farmers want mandatory high price support for all 1954 basic farm products.

A rejection — and farm state congressmen are betting against it — would be regarded as a proclamation the farmers are fed up with government "interference" and want to return to a system of "free enterprise."

In advance of the vote, Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson has taken a neutral attitude but his department has gone all out to inform the farmers of the probable results of an affirmative or negative vote. Many millions of crop dollars hinge upon the outcome and also the probable course President Eisenhower's farm policies will take next year.

A rejection of the quota system could encourage political groups which favor flexible and moderate price support legislation. It also could ease congressional pressure on Benson who came into the government advocating less federal control of the farmer.

The referendum is intended to check the wheat surplus which, for next year, is estimated at 50 per cent above the theoretically normal level — a record total of 1,760,000,000 bushels. Because of the surplus crisis, Benson faced the prospect of cutting next year's plantings to 55,000,000 acres but congress stepped in and fixed the total at 62,000,000 acres.

Air National Guard Gets Jet Aircraft

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 —UP—The long-range program of equipping the Air National Guard with jet aircraft has begun with the delivery of 18 jet trainers and fighters.

The jets are the first of 200 to be delivered by the Air Force before the end of September. All tactical Air National Guard squadrons eventually will be equipped with jet-powered aircraft under the program.

At the outbreak of the Korean war, 16 jet-equipped Air Guard squadrons were ordered to active duty. When these units were turned to state control, their jet aircraft were retained by the air force.

Fighter-bomber squadrons in Dallas, Tex., and Oklahoma City, Okla., are among those who will receive the initial aircraft.

Alaskan Statehood to Bring Need For Eskimo Cook Book

By HENRY MOLEMORE — I'm quite sure that not long from now Alaska will be either the 49th or 50th star in our flag, and since I am sure that after Alaska becomes a state Eskimos will be popping in to visit me all the time, I sent for an Eskimo cook book.

I didn't feel, even after Mary said they would, that Eskimos would care for the steady diet of our table, which calls for such things as Persian melons and cavaliar for breakfast, trussed grouse and raisin pudding for lunch, and hamburger steak and truffles (in apple) for dinner.

I surely am glad that I sent for the cook book for several reasons. In the first place, it cost only 60 cents to get it here from Anchorage. In the second place, it is such a sweet little book, being no more than 5 x 8 inches, with 40 mimeographed pages.

Thirdly, it was prepared by the students of Shishmaref Day School, Shishmaref, Alaska, and is published by the Alaska Crippled Children's Association, and all the money goes to help the needy children.

And, fourthly, it has some of the darndest recipes I ever read. I can hardly wait to slip into the kitchen and try Eskimo ice cream. The first Eskimo who visits me is going to get it — get all of it, in fact. Here is how you make it.

Grate reindeer tallow into small pieces. Add seal oil slowly, while beating by hand. After some seal oil has been used, then add a little water while whipping. Continue adding seal oil and water until it is white and fluffy. Add berries can be added to it.

That's ordinary, everyday ice cream. But when guests are present, and the Eskimos want to be a little fancy, they make lingcod ice cream. Listen to this recipe and see if it doesn't make your hair curl.

First cook and boil the lingcod with water in the pot and no salt. Remove all the bones from the fish and break the fish into small pieces. Dry the pieces for a while and mix these with Eskimo ice cream. Add seal oil once in a while and as much water as you need.

This is a perfect dessert for a meal whose main courses were bear feet and soured seal liver. This is Miss Nellie Okpownik's recipe for bear feet, in her own words. "Most of the people like the bear feet better than the meat. We cook them well, add salt. Four feet would take about one teaspoon salt. Take them out of the pot and let them cool. Eat them with seal oil."

And here is how Agnes Kiyutalik prepares soured seal liver. "Soured seal liver is made in the summertime. Place liver in enamel pot or dish and cover with blubber. Put in warm place for a few days until sour. Most of the boys and girls don't like it, except the grown-ups and old people. I don't like it either."

Brown eggs sell best in some American cities, while white ones are preferred in others.

Good for you, Agnes! As soon as the moon is dark, and I can operate around the zoo without anyone seeing me, I am going to try Raymond Sestomani's method of cooking cogruk (seal) flippers. It is called cogruk, and most certainly would be what I would ask the warden to serve me for my last meal. By eating it, I'm sure I'd save the state an electric bill. This is the way Raymond prepares it.

Cut the flippers from the cogruk. Put the flippers in fresh blubber. Let them stay there for about two weeks. Take the loose fur off the flippers, and then cut them into small pieces and eat the meat.

Christine Barr tells how to prepare pick'nick. "Some people dig pick'nick. They wash them first. We eat them with seal oil. They are good. They taste like sugar. They are very good with seal oil. Maybe the white men don't like them."

You should get this book. It is fascinating, and the children up there will be helped by your sixty cents. Just write to Mrs. Marshall Hoppin, Anchorage, Alaska.

Lefors Rodeo Partners Plan To Buy Horse With Winnings

By BO ELLISON
Pampa News Staff Writer

Two Lefors part-time cowboys are $175 nearer to co-ownership of a bulldoggin' horse as result of the teamwork conquest of a wild Brahma bull in the Gold Rush event of the Top of Texas Rodeo, just concluded.

Gordon Rutledge who nabbed the ticket from the bull's horn two night's running in the show was assisted by Freddie Newsome, last year's gold rush winner.

The cowboys were determined for one of the other to "strike gold" this year to buy a sorrel borrowed from Bill Shipley, Phillips, which both ride in rodeos throughout the area.

Rutledge, a 4-foot, 165-pound former Lefors football star, copped the prize Thursday and Friday nights, a total of $175 and was going after it again Saturday.

Rutledge, who started his career as an amateur rodeo performer just last year at the Mangum, Okla., show, was also entered in the bulldogging, bareback and saddlebronc riding events of the rodeo.

He didn't win any purses in other events, but he isn't giving up rodeoing. Second and third-place prizes in the Clearston and Claude shows this season is spurring him on to try again at Dimmitt when the rodeo is held there.

Other rodeos this cowboy has entered this year were at Dumas, Gruver and Sunray.

Rutledge lived on a farm near Shamrock for nearly all of his 20 years until his father, R. C. Rutledge, became associated with the Collexo Gas Company and moved to the plant camp near Lefors seven years ago.

Since then this cowboy has worked on the Lefors ranch — of Billy Davis between school terms at Lefors High School where he

At present he is associated with V. R. Colville, a local contractor. There's no "special" girl yet, the cowboy says, and regardless of what profession he follows, rodeo season will always find him right there braving area Brahms and broncs.

Disillusioned Joan Barry Ends Up In Mental Hospital

By ALINE MORBY
HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 8 — UP — Joan Barry, the kid from Brooklyn who wanted to be a movie star and live in a mansion, took up residence Friday in a mental hospital instead.

Joan Barry was typical of the beautiful young girls with shapely bodies and eager faces who daily join the hopefuls under the palm trees and sunshine, praying they'll be the next star to be born.

The convent-reared girl got to Hollywood via Mexico City where she met some millionaires at a party. That's one way of getting started. Somebody sent her to an agent in Hollywood. They were lurching at a fancy restaurant when she met Charlie Chaplin, the comedian. He put her on his payroll at $75 a week and taught her dramatics, only the love scenes were real.

Joan got a $1,000 mink coat and other things a young girl thinks mean happiness. When Chaplin rejected her, she put on the coat and tried to kill herself. She refused to go back to Brooklyn; she cried she couldn't face her friends without getting into the movies.

The girl who wanted to be a star found out she would be a mother instead. Then came one of the most lurid court trials in Hollywood history. Blood tests proved Chaplin wasn't the father, but she won her paternity suit against him, anyway.

Monogram Studio decided to star her in a picture. After a screen test, the bosses changed their minds. She became a singer in small Mid-Western night clubs, billed as Chaplin's ex-protégée. Later she married a railroad brakeman in Pittsburgh and had two more children. But the marriage ended.

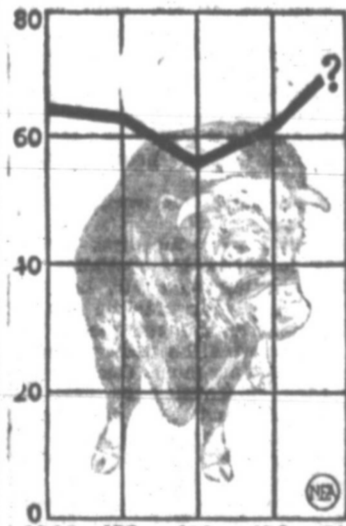

Joan wound up, nearly broke, in Hollywood again. A week ago officers found her walking the streets barefoot and coatless. She was carrying a pair of baby's sandals and a child's ring.

"This is magic," she whispered to the officers.

In the psychopathic ward of the county hospital her arms were strapped to the bed. The doctors said she was "delusional, vague, perplexed." She agreed she needed hospital care and was calm and pleasant when they took her away.

As she walked down the hall, one of the nurses said:

"She should stay in Brooklyn and married the guy next door."

MORE BEEF—The U. S. Department of Agriculture predicts that Americans will eat more beef this year than ever before because of the record-high cattle slaughter in the southwest. Beef consumption might go over 73 pounds per person, which would top the 1909 mark, highest of this century. Above Newschart shows per capita beef consumption from 1949 to the present.

Mission AF Base To Be Reactivated

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 — UP—Moore Air Force Base at Mission, Tex., will be reactivated during the first six months of 1956, the Air Force has announced.

Reactivation cost was estimated at $5,048,000. The Air Force said the base will be under supervision of the Air Training Command and will be used to train jet fighter pilots.

An Air Force spokesman said no more information regarding reactivation of the base was available at this time.

WINS FUNDS TO FIGHT RARE DISEASE—Les Henry, II, of New York, victim of the rare blood disease, hemophilia, made a heart-touching appeal to aid blood victims when he appeared on Dennis James' "Turn to a Friend" radio show. So as a reward, Dennis and film star Lenore Ulric planned this surprise dinner for him at New York's Belmont Plaza Hotel. The Hemophilia Foundation supervises distribution of funds for the fight against the rare condition, in which failure of the blood to clot causes excessive, sometimes fatal, bleeding.

Medical Students Pursuing Careers At Pampa Hospital

By ED NASH
Pampa News Staff Writer
"Doctor Bob."

"Two men dressed in hospital white jumped up at the sound of their names, went over to the main desk to check, then hurried down the halls of Highland General Hospital."

It might be a stretcher case brought in by ambulance from an accident. Or a resident physician who needed help with a patient in or out of the operating room. An X-ray to be taken. Even a pint of blood to be handled.

Whatever it was, the only two externs—doctors-to-be—in Pampa this summer were ready. Both R. N. (Bob) Baker, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Baker Jr., 883 E. Kingmill, and Paul Mathews Jr., 24, son of Dr. and Mrs. Paul Mathews, Dallas, are medical students at the University of Texas and are spending the summer—June 1 to Sept. 1—getting practical experience.

QUITE DIFFERENT in personality, "Doctor Bob" and "Doctor Paul"—as all hospital personnel call them—are alike in their desire to become doctors. And each is convinced that being an extern is the best way to help along his career.

"Everybody wanted to be cops and robbers; but me, I didn't even want to be a fire chief—just a doctor," Paul said of his youth. And Bob echoed his view: "I just wanted to be a doctor, that's all."

A quiet, unassuming, slender man, Bob this fall begins his third year in Texas' medical branch in Galveston and thinks that he'll go into general surgery. He majored in biology at Rice Institute, Houston. A senior this fall in Texas' Southwestern Medical School in Dallas, Paul intends to take up radiology, what he calls "X-ray therapy interpretation." His major was chemistry at Southern Methodist University, Dallas.

EACH OF THE externs, though, is quick to point out that his mind can change on what he plans to do. But they're sure of the type of community they want to live in. Paul wants a larger town, though he's considering coming back to Pampa. For Bob, it'll be a small town not too far from a big city.

They're in Pampa now, however. And the duties in Highland General Hospital really keep them on the go.

Everything from removing a toenail to performing a major like gastric resection is the way they put it. And that includes holding a retractor for a doctor in the operating room and tying a blood vessel. One of the two is on hand for every operation in the hospital.

Both youthful externs—they don't become interns till they are graduated from medical school—work each day from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. (most operations are performed in the morning); then one of them is on call for the next 16 hours. The next afternoon, the other works the late shift. They live in the hospital, on the maternity ward floor.

Assisting doctors and taking care of emergencies comprise the majority of their duties. But they are always on tap: "If a patient is seriously ill, they call one of us out—we check, and if it's critical, we call the doctor." Just a question of "anything that comes along."

ASK ANY NURSE in the hospital about the worth of these two potential doctors and she'll wonder how they ever got along without them—and what they'll do when they're gone.

Bob and Paul are among the estimated 20 per cent of medical school students who do extern work each summer, which can only be practiced between sophomore and junior, junior and senior years.

PAMPA'S EXTERNS — R. N. (Bob) Baker (left) and Paul Mathews Jr., the only two externs in Pampa this summer, check over a patient's progress on his chart. Connected with Highland General Hospital, the two potential doctors will finish up Sept. 1 and head back to University of Texas medical school about Sept. 10. (News Photo)

Each doctor-to-be said his salary ($100 a month plus room and board) was much higher than anywhere else for the same type of work. Usually it's $25 or $50, almost never what it is here.

Following graduation from medical school, the pair plan to take their state board examinations (both figure they'll stay in Texas), take a year of internship, then begin work as a full-fledged doctor.

THESE DAYS, though, they do much of the work of that full-fledged doctor. Just as they finished talking about how "a man isn't learning much till he sees stuff and knows how to handle people," each of them got a call. Paul went off to help on a major operation; Bob, on a minor one.

Low Farm Income Hurting Industry

CHICAGO, Aug. 8—UP—Slumping farm income has struck a blow at the farm equipment industry, forcing some large firms to lay off workers and cut back production sharply, a survey showed Saturday.

Big International Harvester Co. has been in the process of laying off men since May and expects to send a total of 7,500 to 8,000 into idleness by Sept. 1.

Tractor output at Harvester's big Farmall works at Rock Island, Ill., has been slashed by more than half.

Oliver Corp. has cut production wheel tractors by 45 per cent and expects an overall decline of 15 to 18 per cent in its farm equipment business this year.

J. I. Case Co. admitted to some production slashes and layoffs but did not give specific figures. John Deere Co. said production and sales have been "declining moderately," forcing some layoffs and "adjustments in manufacturing schedules."

Only Allis-Chalmers among the major firms surveyed said it has experienced no production cutbacks or layoffs and anticipates none.

Most industry spokesmen agreed a decline in 1953 farm income had put a crimp in business. They also cited such other factors as the Southwestern drought and high manufacturing inventories.

According to U. S. Department of Agriculture figures, the income of farmers for the first six months of 1953 was down five per cent from last year.

Prices farmers received for their products actually are down about 10 per cent, but the volume of marketing is up. By the end of 1953, federal officials estimate, net farm income will be $1 billion less than in 1952, or lower than in any postwar year except 1950.

Little Change Seen In City Valuation
Little change in the total city valuation figure of $20,947,500 worked up by the Board of Equalization when it finished work on July 9, will appear as a result of the hearing completed Friday afternoon.

That was the opinion of City Tax Assessor-Collector Aubrey Jones Saturday morning as his department started work on rechecks and refiguring of values as first handed down by the board and changed during the hearings.

Altogether, 75 persons appeared before the city and school boards of equalization last week to discuss changes in valuations.

Jones said the boards will meet again in about two or three weeks to "mop up" and review the rechecked figures. He said the true valuation figures would be ready by that time.

DWI Defendants Plead Not Guilty

Bonds of $750 each were set on two Pampans Saturday in County Court by Judge J. B. Maguire Jr., when both pleaded not guilty to charges of driving while intoxicated.

William E. McNeely, 28, of 837 E. Campbell, was arrested by city police at 10:35 p.m. Friday after he was involved in a collision with two other cars at the Francis and Cuyler intersection.

According to police, McNeely plowed into the rear of a car driven by John M. King, 24, of 1008 S. Hobart who had stopped for the red light. The impact pushed King's car into the rear of a car driven by Giles Steve Burdette, 17, of 1616 Mary Ellen.

McNeely was charged with driving while intoxicated and held in the city jail overnight.

The other not guilty plea came from William H. Miller, 37, of 615 E. Browning, who was picked up on U.S. Highway 60 near the rodeo grounds by State Highway patrolmen at 7 p.m. Friday.

Pampa Newcomers

PAMPA HAS OPENED ITS DOORS TO MANY NEWCOMERS RECENTLY. That famous Texas hospitality is paying off in that many newcomers agree Pampa is one of the friendliest places they know. Largely responsible for this characteristic of neighborliness are the churches. Through church activities, newcomers meet other Pampans and join many groups for various activities. These couples who have moved here with their families consider Pampa a paradise for young married couples.

MR. AND MRS. ROGER FARROW, 1136 Varnon Drive, are other candidates for the Pampa Newcomers Club. Mr. and Mrs. Farrow who are pictured with their children, Richard, 19 months, Diana, 5, center, and Roger Jr., 8, right, are from Nederland, Texas.

FROM EL PASO — Mrs. Al Metz, 1200 N. Garland, and her two sons, Stephen, 8, seated on the floor, and Jimmy, 6, have moved to Pampa to join their husband and father who came to Pampa a few days earlier to find them a home. Both boys will be students at Sam Houston School this fall, with Jimmy entering school for the first time.

PAMPA NEWCOMERS — Mr. and Mrs. Emil C. Wilson have moved to Pampa from Sunray where they made their home for three years. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson who have been in Pampa for several weeks are living in their new home at 1177 Prairie Drive.

MRS. ROBERT S. MEYER, 1025 S. Farley, has help from her daughter, Christie, 3, at decorating their home. Mr. and Mrs. Meyer, Christie, and another daughter, Janet, 1½ months old, moved to Pampa from Cheyenne, Wyo., two weeks ago.

MRS. GERALD COPELAND, 701 N. Zimmers, listens to her son, Gene, 19 months old, describe that b-e-e-g dog next door. Mr. and Mrs. Copeland moved to Pampa from Memphis. They have been in their home at 701 N. Zimmers about two weeks. Before living in Memphis they made their home in Wellington.

Wear a sardonyx, or for thee
No conjugal felicity,
The August-born without this stone
Th' said must live unloved and lone.

RODEO SIDELIGHTS: It was a great Rodeo. . . and already the young'uns are asking about when the next one is gonna' be. Almost every youngster and quite a few grownups were garbed in colorful western attire during the past week. . . and of course the day of the big parade was somethin' to see. Don't guess we have ever seen so many horses in a parade. . . from riding clubs in Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas. Wonder if they will have mules in the parade next year? Got tickled at the W. D. Price entry (But Peg bets he was really unhappy) a wagon drawn by mules or donkeys (off hand, Peg can't tell the difference) carrying a load of the Price grandchildren, and Frank Dial. . . They had gotten to the first stop light and the mules balked. . . they just wouldn't move. Willis Price Jr., riding along-side the wagon, tried to pull them out of the way, as did a spectator, but no soap. Finally, they managed to get them out of the way and let the other entries go by. . . they were still over at Dials quite a while after the parade.

ODE TO A MULE?

If you strike a thorn or rose,
Keep a-go-in!
If it hails or if it snows,
Keep a-go-in!
Tain't no use to sit and whine
'Cause the fish ain't on your line,
Bait your hook an' keep on tryin',
Keep a-go-in!
. . . Frank L. Stanton's "Keep a-go-in!"

MR. PEG, THE YOUNG'UNS, AND PEG jumped in the car a little after seven one of the nights of the Rodeo and knowing that it started at eight, we wanted to be sure and get a good seat. Well, they said there were around 4,000 persons attending, and Peg believes they were all on that highway going out to the Recreation Park. . . but it took us nearly an hour, well, it seemed that long, anyway. Understand that the Boy Scouts cooked about 100 pounds of hamburger meat at one of their stands first night. Some of the Scouts' parents took time about to help them out during the rodeo nights, and those parents and the boys really worked hard selling hamburgers, hot dogs, cokes, etc. Of course what ever they make goes to their troops. The kids got a big kick out of the clown, "Black Jack" Fletcher, who did everything from fighting bulls to playing "Annie Over" with his pet mule, "Hundred Dollars." . . and you couldn't have asked for any wilder horses or wilder bulls. . . whooooo! glad we were on the outside lookin' in. On the way home we ran into quite a lot of dust. Guess those horses kicked up more dirt than we thought.

PAMPA PANORAMA: The rodeo, the big news in Pampa the past week. . . the JOHN FRICKS due back from Denver and Colorado Springs, Colorado after spending a few days there. . . the ARCHIE ROBERTS moving to Lefors, where he has accepted a position as superintendent in the Lefors school. . . Received a note from MRS. The recipe is one her cousin, MRS. JOHN COCHRAN, sent her. By-the-way, BETTY, MYRON AND BOBBY are planning to visit the COCHRANS at their home in Artesia, New Mexico, the last of August. . . Congratulations to WINNIE and JOHN CAVILLA of Reno, Nevada, who are parents of a girl born recently. WALT WANNER, his daughter, JOYCE, his daughter-in-law and son, CHARLOTTE and JIM WANNER of Dallas, and BOB GOFF are all planning to vacation the last two weeks in August in Yellowstone Park. . . WAYNE (LORETTA) ROBINSON looking very attractive in a gray dress with black "sort of pyramidal" stripes and red shoes. . . She is such a sweet person with always a friendly smile and a friendly "hello". . . ROSEMARY and ED MYATT and children, vacationing at Red River. . . MRS. CARROLL ("BOB") WOOD convalescing. . . BILL BALDWIN and son, SCOTT, planning to leave Pampa this week on their return trip to England where her husband is stationed with the Air Force. . . They have been visiting in the home of her parents, the JESS KIRCHMANS, for the past two months. . . Bet FLETCHER KENNEDY is certainly proud of his daughter, BUE, who has grown up, it seems to Peg, in no time at all, graduated from high school and now in the fall will attend college. . . Think she is the image of her mother, CHARLOTTE, who actually looks more like a sister. . .

BEEN MEANING TO MENTION those beautiful simias at the City Hall. They've been blooming for weeks and are very colorful. . . Speaking of the City Hall reminds me that MRS. ROY (FERN) DAWSON of the Girl Scout office in that building has three part-Persian kittens that she would like for some little girl or boy to have.

MRS. DALE RICHERSON

Miss Venita Rae Cowan, Dale Richerson Are Married In Home Of Bride's Parents

Nuptial vows were solemnized on Saturday evening for Venita Rae Cowan and Dale Richerson, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Cowan, 1327 Williston. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Byars, 1035 E. Francis. . .

Attending the bride as matron of honor, Mrs. Karl Stephenson wore a yellow waist length dress with a matching headband of yellow flowers. She carried a seasonal bouquet of white mums. . .

Don Byars was his brother's best man. Richard Cowan, brother of the bride, performed ushering duties. . .

Decorated to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of traditional white sheer nylon net skirt, heavily gathered at the waist. A white satin underskirt added fullness and texture to the net. Dainty lace bouquets were scattered at random on the skirt and fitted bodice. The sleeves tapered gracefully, ending in fitted V-tips. The sweetheart neckline was bordered in narrow lace. She carried out the tradition of something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue in her costume. Her bouquet was a fan created with white orchids and stephanotis, accented atop a bold Bible given by her parents when she was ten years old. . .

Her fingertip veil of imported French illusion fell from a snug fitting cap of latticed white satin bands studded with pearls. . .

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Cowan chose a gown of organza in a pure amythest shade, in cocktail length, with a full skirt pleated at the waistline. The bodice, fashioned with a V-neck, tapered to a moulded band of soft folds where it joined the skirt. Her shoes were of matching shade in brocade shantung. Her corsage was pink cymbidium orchids. . .

Mrs. Byars, mother of the bridegroom, wore a teal blue antique tulle dress with a full skirt graduated in corded tiers to afternoon length, with a fitted V-neck bodice and short sleeves. Her corsage was of white catalpa orchids. . .

Immediately following the ceremony a reception feasted the couple. Mrs. Joe Hutchins, aunt of the bride, presided at the registration desk, which was centered with candlelit yellow gladioli. . .

The bride's table, covered with an imported white linen cloth was centered with a bouquet of yellow and whitenumma with lovebirds incrustated and was appointed with crystal and silver. Both the cake and the punch carried out the bride's chosen colors of white and yellow. The bride's bouquet was placed on the table. . .

Miss Jeannette Smith, cousin of the bride, presided at the punch bowl, and Mrs. Don Byars served the cake. Others in the house party were Mrs. R. J. Bean, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Bill Finsterwald, aunt of the bridegroom, Mrs. Orvil Thornbury, Misses Nancy Patterson and Sammie Friserson. . .

For the wedding trip to South Texas, the bride traveled in a suit of gold Tiberghin sheer wool with pencil skirt and tailored jacket with soft self-trim on pockets and shoulders. Her accessories were of gold and forest green. She wore a cloche type hat of green velour, gold pearls, and an orchid corsage. . .

Mrs. Richerson graduated from Pampa High School with the class of 1951, and will be a junior at the University of Texas the coming year, where she is a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority. . .

The bridegroom is also a graduate of Pampa High School. He attended Texas A&M College for one and one half years, then transferred to the University of Texas, where he will be a senior next year. He is a member of Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity. . .

The couple plan to return to school, at Austin, where the bridegroom plans to enroll in a pre-law course upon his graduation. . .

Know a good blanket by handling it and holding it up to the light. Quality reveals itself in a firm but supple weave and a feeling of lightness, softness and springiness as you hold the blanket. There's a deep nap on fine wools. . .

Individual knickknacks in a room look cluttered and trashy, but brought together in an important-looking collection, they lend distinction. . .

To get fruit stains out of dresses, stretch the stained portion over a bowl and pour on boiling water from a height of two or three feet. Do this while stain is fresh. Cloth books are the most practical for ages six months to three years. It's been recommended that they be put into the washing machine for laundering. . .

WEDDING PLANNED — Mrs. Norma Chesson, 111 N. West, announces the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Gay Hamilton, to Bob L. Gage of Wichita Falls, son of Mrs. Allie Gage, 736 E. Brunow. The wedding is planned for Sept. 4 in Wichita Falls at the First Christian Church.

Roberts-Criner Vows Are Exchanged In Recent Double-Ring Ceremony

Miss Betty Jean Roberts became the bride of Jerry Dwayne Criner, son of Mrs. Cynthia Taylor, 842 Tignor, recently in the home of the bride's parents, Rev. and Mrs. A. G. Roberts of Lefors. The double-ring ceremony was read by the bride's father.

The bride wore a street-length dress of pale rose lace over taffeta. The lace bolero had a Peter Pan collar. She carried a bouquet of white split carnations centered with white gardenias on a white Bible. Her headdress was of white carnations. She carried out the something new, something borrowed and something blue theme.

Mrs. Charles L. Carter was her sister's matron of honor. She wore a powder blue nylon dress. Her headdress was white carnations and she also carried white carnations.

Charles L. Carter was best man. Miss Fryda Howell of Lefors assisted at the reception which was held following the ceremony. A pink and white tiered wedding cake was served. The table was centered with pink carnations on a cream colored lace table cloth. Punch and mints were also served.

The bride's mother chose a lavender nylon dress with a white carnation corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a navy blue two-piece corded taffeta dress. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

The couple will be at home in San Antonio where the bridegroom is serving with the United States Air Forces.

GOD SENDS THE SUNRISE! God sends the Dove! May she light on the cross atop the steeple of our church. May she drop her message of "Peace on earth, goodwill to men." May this symbol of the Holy Spirit eliminate rivalries of Methodists, Presbyterians, Baptists, Catholics and all the other religious groups. May we give the "Prince of Peace" a chance in our lives, in our families and with our neighbors. May we care more for progress of soul than in progress of things. The ways of Peace are more difficult than the ways of strife. They bear the mark of culture, of civilization, of deep piety and of genuine religion. May we be faithful to God and to His church. May we be Peacemakers for they shall be called the children of God.

We Have Got to Feature Typewriters Today!

Man I'll tell you things is rough. It's a tough campaign. We stuck our necked neck out a while ago and bought some new Remington Standard Typewriters, more than we have any business buying, and bro. they have got to go. If you are anything like in the market for a new typewriter, we will give you a deal that will stop the clock. We'd like to make 4 or 5 deals by the third of this month to pay the rent. It's already due, and our landlord, Mr. Taylor, is giving us a bad time. If you're too busy to come by our place... we ain't too busy to come by yours. Telephone 3830. Something has got to be did, and did quick!
