The Pampa Daily News

WEATHER
WEST TEXAS — Partly cloudy and colder. Snow flurries in the Panhandle Friday night. Lowest 14 to 24 in the Panhandle and South Plains. Saturday fair and cold.

I entered Parliament with what I thought to be the lowest possible opinion of the average member. I came out with one still lower.

BOBO'S FAREWELL — With a face of such brooding sadness, Bobo, two-and-a-half-year-old gorilla, is consoled by his mistress before leaving his Anacortes, Wash., home for a zoo. Bobo, who was raised by Mrs. C. Lowman, doesn't know his own strength and plays too rough to keep at home any longer.

Neutralized Germany Termed USSR Victory

PARIS, Dec. 11 — UP — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer warned Friday any neutralization of Germany "means the victory of the Soviet Union over Western Europe" and transformation of his country into a Russian satellite "in the shortest possible time."

Adenauer said in a speech prepared for delivery here that any Big Four agreement to neutralize a re-united Germany would end in disaster for the free world.

Residual Oil Imports Hit

CHICAGO, Dec. 11 — UP — Sen. Matthew M. Neely (D-W.Va.) called Friday for a restriction on residual oil imports, which he said are hurting the coal and domestic oil industries.

Neely addressed the foreign oil policy committee at a special meeting called to plan strategy in its campaign against unrestricted imports of residual oil.

He demanded that Congress establish a 5 per cent quota on such imports, based on domestic demand.

Neely said American military leaders "know that there is no wartime security in foreign oil, and not even the big oil companies can deny that a flourishing domestic coal industry is indispensable to a sound industrial program in any international emergency."

Residual oil, most of which comes from Venezuela, is the heavy, black oil that is left after crude oil is refined. It has no value as a heating fuel or motor lubricant, but is used on the east coast as an industrial fuel.

Christmas Takes First Fatality

DALLAS, Dec. 11 — UP — Christmas, although two weeks away, had claimed its first victim Friday.

Roy V. Davis, 46, a superintendent for a crane company, fell 35 feet from the lap of Santa Claus Thursday to his death.

Davis, who suffered a heart attack recently, was hoisted to the lap of a 50-foot sitting Santa, so pictures for his Christmas cards could be made. Witnesses said he relaxed while the pictures were being made, then fell to the side.

Houston Raids Stop Supply Of Narcotics To Teenagers

HOUSTON, Dec. 11 — UP — Five persons, four of them teenagers, were arrested in a series of narcotics raids Thursday and early Friday and police said they broke up a major supply ring of narcotics to Houston's teen-age set.

The arrests culminated a two-month undercover investigation by city morals officers, the district attorney's office and the recently formed State Narcotics Bureau.

The district attorney's office also reported it acquired a list of 72 names of Houston teen-agers who allegedly were users of narcotics. The five arrested included 18-year-old Alfred Reyna, a student at Allen Academy in Bryan who

Mother Is Denied Talk With PW Son

TOKYO, Dec. 11 — UP — Mrs. Portia Howe said Friday she still hopes she will be allowed to see her war prisoner son who has remained with communists, despite an Army ruling against her.

"I will wait and pray," the Alden, Minn., housewife said Friday after United Nations commander Gen. John E. Hull denied her permission to go to Korea.

"I have given up hope," the gray-haired, 47-year-old mother said. "I believe it is a policy question to be settled in Washington."

Meets With Hull

Mrs. Howe met with Hull for about 30 minutes in his headquarters Friday afternoon, and the general then issued a statement saying he could not allow her to go to Korea because of a Defense Department policy.

"I can't say what my next move will be," Mrs. Howe told newsmen later at a press conference in her downtown hotel.

"I'm going to stay here for a few more days."

But she said she did not plan to remain until Dec. 23, deadline for explanations to the 22 unrepatriated American war prisoners who indicated through their self-appointed leaders in Panmunjom they might refuse to see U. S. explanation officers.

Asked if Hull's ruling disappointed her, Mrs. Howe said, "I expected a certain amount of opposition. There's been a certain amount of opposition all along."

But she added, "I still hope to see my son."

She would not disclose what type of help she expected from Washington but said she has been "promised the support of some people in the House of Representatives."

She said Minnesota Rep. August H. Andresen has promised to help her see her son, 22-year-old Pfc. Richard R. Tennessee.

General Hull gave Mrs. Howe the bad news less than four hours after she arrived here by air.

Final Report Due On United Fund

United Fund officials will be on hand at 10 a.m. Saturday in the Palm Room of City Hall for what they hope will be the final announcement on the drive totals.

Late this morning the grand total stood at $44,453.08 — just $696.94 less than the goal set up last summer.

Paul Brown, drive chairman, urges all potential contributors who have not done so to send in their donations immediately, "so that we can get the whole thing wrapped up tomorrow." The address is United Fund, Pampa, Tex.

All fund officials and campaign leaders are expected to be on hand for Saturday's get-together, Brown said.

The United Fund — which includes Pampa, Lefors and surrounding oil camps — has for participants the Red Cross, Boy Scouts, Milk Fund, Girl Scouts, Heart Fund, United Service Organization and the Salvation Army.

Ex-Clerk Charged With Embezzlement

FALGOUTHIAE, Tex., Dec. 11 — UP — Andres Lopez, former clerk of the 79th Judicial district, will be tried Feb. 1 on a charge he embezzled $989.85, court attaches said Friday.

Oscar Hinojosa, who succeeded Lopez as clerk Nov. 9, revealed Lopez was indicted by a Brooks county grand jury. Hinojosa said Lopez was free on $500 bond.

'GIVE-AND-TAKE SPIRIT' Governor Opposes Party 'Extremism'

CHICAGO, Dec. 11 — UP — A rejection of extreme views by both major political parties was asked Friday by Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas.

"Extreme views — even if they are mine or yours — must not prevail," Shivers told a lunch meeting of the Executives Club of Chicago.

He said the voters before the 1952 presidential campaign faced the "prospect of extremism in party politics — when to be a Democrat, one would have to follow radical leaders into the shady fringes of socialism, or, to be a Republican, one would have to line up with forces which want to repeal the 20th Century."

"Should Find Common Ground"

So far as his own party is concerned, Shivers said the Democrats should find a common meeting ground, "with the old spirit of give-and-take substituted for the Trumanistic doctrine of 'give-me-hell-and-take-the-whole-pot.'"

He said voters had been driven to splinter parties in the past by "extremism" in the major parties, but movements to establish a third dominant party had failed.

"I hope they continue to fail," Shivers added. "I hope our two major parties will be strong enough to prevent the formation of a real third party."

"I believe firmly in the two-party system. I hope both parties will be able to save themselves from their own extremists," the Texas governor said.

"When the American voter finds his present party untenable, he should seek relief in the other major party — not in a third, fourth or seventeenth party," Shivers said.

"Texans Still Democrats"

That was what happened in Texas last year, he said, although he pointed out "Texans voted Eisenhower — not Republican — and they did it for reasons that seemed, and still seem, valid."

"But the fact remains that Texans, in the vast majority, are Democrats, they always have been, and they will continue to be as long as they can."

"People don't do things to political parties. Parties do things to people — enough things to enough people that eventually the party in power is overthrown," Shivers told the executives club.

Dean Expected In Washington By Christmas

PANMUNJOM, Dec. 11 — UP — Envoy Arthur H. Dean said Friday the possibility he may return to Washington before Christmas did not mean talks on holding a Korean peace conference would be abandoned.

The Wall Street lawyer said he represented "so many governments" in negotiating with the Communists that it was necessary for him to go to Washington to report "from time to time."

Dean repeated he had received instructions from Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, with whom he has practiced law, to remain in Korea and do everything possible to get the conference started.

Officials in Washington who announced Dean has been authorized to return "as soon as he wishes" said United Nations never would terminate the negotiations which have been conducted since Oct. 26.

The Washington reports said Kenneth T. Young, State Department expert on Far Eastern affairs who is now in Panmunjom, would assume Dean's duties at the negotiating table if the chief delegate returned to the United States.

"I hope the reports are true," Dean said. "I have heard nothing direct about it. I would not exclude that as a possibility."

Dean, following another futile session with the Communists, flew to Seoul for a conference with South Korean President Syngman Rhee. He did not deny to newsmen he would make another attempt to end Rhee's adamant opposition to neutral nations' attendance at the conference.

During Friday's session, his 38th draft submitted his "final" draft on convening the conference for the fourth time and again the Communists rejected it.

Red Troops Withdraw

SEOUL, Dec. 11 — UP — The South Korean Department of Defense said Friday a part of the Communist Chinese army in North Korea has been withdrawn across the Yalu River into Red China.

Gen. Shin Kyun, chief of the army department of the defense ministry, said less than half of the Chinese force had been withdrawn, which would not affect Communist ability to launch an all-out offensive.

He said more than half the Chinese expeditionary force would have to be pulled out before it could be considered to be a major withdrawal.

Two Armies Withdrawn

Shin said South Korean intelligence sources reported two Chinese field armies were involved in the movement back to Red China.

An Eighth Army intelligence officer said, however, that there was no evidence of any mass exodus by the Chinese from North Korea.

The highly placed American source said the situation has not changed since Nov. 29 when Gen. Maxwell Taylor, the Eighth Army commander, announced that the Chinese were neither adding to nor decreasing the size of their force in North Korea.

Taylor also said during his press conference there was no evidence the Communists were building up preparatory to an attack. He said he assumed that North Korea was attempting to rebuild its shattered army.

Face Chinese Troops

United Nations forces along the former 155-mile battlefield report they are still facing Chinese troops in many sectors.

President Syngman Rhee has repeatedly stated that as far as the question would settle itself and there would be no need for a political conference if foreign troops were withdrawn from the divided peninsula.

Cold Front Hits Texas

By UNITED PRESS

A massive cold front with winds of up to 65 miles an hour drove across Texas Friday, bringing light snow to the Panhandle and a promise of temperatures as low as 15 degrees Friday night.

Rain fell in the eastern part of the state.

Amarillo and Dalhart reported snow driven by high winds.

Winds of up to 65 miles an hour were reported at Dalhart with temperature 28 degrees. Amarillo had 30 degrees and winds powering the snow there ranged up to 53 miles an hour.

Blowing dust was stirred up by the winds — reducing visibility to three-fourth mile at Wink, two and a half miles at Lubbock, and to a half-mile at Carlsbad, N.M., and one mile at Hobbs, N.M.

The cold front reached as far east as Abilene, and Wichita Falls by mid-morning, and forecasters said it will cover the entire state by night. Temperatures of 15 to 25 degrees were predicted in the Panhandle.

Rain came up from the Gulf ahead of the cold front and dumped .40 inch of rain at Victoria and .38 inch at Houston by 6:30 a.m. Rain continued to fall as far north and west as Fort Worth at mid-morning and forecasters said it probably would continue through the day.

Other rainfall included .43 inch at Corpus Christi, .41 at Brownsville, .35 at Waco, .31 at Galveston, .26 at Austin, .20 at Beaumont and Dallas, .14 at Tyler and .07 at Fort Worth.

Texas To Resume Teenager Draft

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 — UP — Texas will have to resume drafting 19-year-olds in the last half of 1954, Texas Selective Service director Paul L. Wakefield said.

Other states will have to do the same, he said.

Wakefield issued a statement Thursday after attending a four-day conference of Selective Service directors at national headquarters with Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service chief.

Wakefield said next year's draft calls will have to be bigger than this year's because replacements will be needed for many men completing two year terms of service.

He also said that deferments and rejections will remove about half of the 1 million men reaching the age of service liability. With the services needing 1 million replacements another 500,000 men will have to be found, Wakefield said.

"Even if the armed forces are able to cut their strength another 10 per cent during fiscal year 1955, in carrying out orders of Secretary of Defense (Charles E.) Wilson, calls will still be larger than they were this year," he said.

Insinuation Of 'Has-Been' Goads Actress Into Anger

SANTA ANA, Calif., Dec. 11 — UP — A defense attorney's reference to film star Dorothy Lamour as a "former actress" goaded her into anger during testimony at the assault trial of Adolph B. Speckel II.

The clash occurred Thursday when the sarong girl of the movies appeared as a witness for Speckel's ex-wife Kay Williams, who charges the millionaire star beat her into unconsciousness with her own shoe last Aug. 30 when she went to his Balboa Island home to see their two children.

Chief defense attorney Daniel Schnabel asked Miss Lamour, wife of oilman William Howard III:

"You were known as Dorothy Lamour at one time?"

"I still am," she replied.

"You are a former actress, is that not correct?" Schnabel continued.

"If you wish to put it that way," Miss Lamour snapped. "I belong to the screen actors' guild, for your information."

She told reporters later she had made three pictures this year.

Bohlen Plans To Meet Heads Of Kremlin

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 — UP — The State Department has instructed Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen to tell Russian leaders that President Eisenhower's atomic-for-peace plan is a "dead serious" effort to avoid the holocaust of atomic war, it was disclosed Friday.

Diplomatic sources said Bohlen will stress, in face-to-face talks with Kremlin officials, that Mr. Eisenhower's UN speech Tuesday was not a propaganda move but was a "completely sincere" invitation to Russia to cooperate in saving civilization from destruction by H-bombs and A-bombs.

White House and State Department officials are hopeful that Bohlen's personal message will persuade Soviet leaders at least to explore the Eisenhower plan in secret diplomatic talks at the UN headquarters in New York. Authorities said the United States is prepared to give the most careful consideration to any "constructive" proposals.

Proposes International Agency

Mr. Eisenhower proposed that the United States, Russia, Britain and Canada — the world's four atomic powers — each contribute a portion of its uranium stockpile to a new international agency which would develop peacetime uses of atomic energy for the benefit of all the world. He suggested that successful co-operation in this undertaking might inspire enough mutual confidence for the big powers to go on to international control of atomic weapons.

A Moscow radio commentary denounced the plan as a "Soviet circle received President Eisenhower's atomic pool speech with deep interest and considered that it requires careful study."

Shoulders Expects To Resist Hearing

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 11 — UP — Lt. Louis Shoulders, the detective who led the arrest of big game car thief Austin Hall, indicated Friday he may resist a plan by the St. Louis police board to try him on "formal charges."

Police Chief Jeremiah O'Connell said Thursday that Shoulders and Patrolman Elmer Dolan would be named in police board charges to be filed at a later date, and that Dolan had been suspended.

The charges, which are not criminal in nature, "will concern violation of department regulations," O'Connell said. "But we are sure they would touch upon the $303,000 Greenlease ransom money."

The police board can punish officers for dereliction of duty and other reasons, but Shoulders hinted that he did not consider himself a police officer any more.

"When I resigned Oct. 24 and I was ruled by the city council that I could do so, and I collected all the money I had coming to me and was invited to come back every other time and refused, how could I consider myself a police officer?" he asked.

Shoulders has submitted his resignation and collected money from the department welfare fund, but O'Connell has not accepted the resignation.

Cotton Controls Election Looms

Cotton farmers in Gray County will go to the polls in the McLain City Hall Tuesday to decide whether federal controls will be applied to the 1954 cotton crop.

To be eligible to vote in the Agriculture Department referendum a farmer must have planted cotton in 1953, according to M. Evelyn Mason, manager of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office here, formerly the Production and Marketing Administration office.

The polls will be opened at 7 a.m. and will be closed at 7 p.m., she said. Members of the county election committee are John Dwyer, chairman; Boyd Reeves and Frank Howard.

A Wheelbarrow in Love... Hank Had Cousin Who Wanted To Marry A Popcorn Popper

By HENRY McLEMORE
The most intriguing news story of the week, if not the century, deals with Salvatore Dali, the surrealist painter, most of whose canvases are just three jumps ahead of a straitjacket, and not big jumps at that.

Dali announced that early in 1954 he will produce a motion picture named "The Wheelbarrow of Fish" in which the leading lady will play a woman in love with a wheelbarrow.

"We will film in that object," Dali explained, "all the qualities and charms of a human being."

How would you like to be the casting director for that show, with the responsibility of finding a talented wheelbarrow? Not just a good-looking wheelbarrow, with a Barymore profile, the build of a John Wayne or Burt Lancaster, but one that can also run the gamut of emotions from laughter to tears, hope to despair.

And think of the job it will be to find satisfactory supporting players for the wheelbarrow. A sprinkling that is that is saucy, but at the same time has depth and dignity. A lawnmower with enough feeling to hold up its end in the tragic scenes. A threshing machine that can memorize its lines. A garden hose that is tender when it has to be tender, and tough when the script calls for toughness. A bag of fertilizer that can fence, and a seed distributor with 3-D appeal. I wouldn't care for the director's job, either.

Human stars are difficult enough, but imagine having to deal with a wheelbarrow that was temperamental, wore a polo coat, every glasses, and screamed for the best booth at Chase's or Romanoff's, drank Chianti, drove a Jaguar, and was trying to get a divorce from its wife, a home-loving barrow.

As for writing the script, that would be easy, and if Dali hasn't one prepared he couldn't find a better man for the job than myself.

You see, one of the many skeletons that hang amongst the overalls and aprons in the McLEMORE closet is a third cousin who fell in love with a popcorn machine he met in a movie theater. It took the combined efforts of a hundred relatives to prevent him from running away to Niagara Falls with that girl popcorn popper.

"Look at the money I'll save," he said, when we were attempting to convince him that he should marry Mary Brown, who had sat next to him for three years in the fourth grade. "She pops, and I eat for free. With double butter, too."

He had a pretty good argument, at that.

In many ways a girl popcorn machine has it all over a girl human being. They have to be buttered, of course, but so does a girl. They need repairs every so often, but so do girls — and if you don't think so just get married to one and see how quickly they start falling apart once they do an about face at the front of the church.

There is something about saying "I do" that causes a girl's teeth to start aching, her appendix to start acting up, her back to slip a vertebra or two, and her general condition to head downhill with a rush.

As far as I know, popcorn machines don't tear up nylon, wear

"I won't tell you whether Santa's going to bring you a bike till you tell me whether you found a doll hidden around the house!"

THE RECORD SHOP

By RICHARD KLEENER
NEA Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK — (NEA) — Robert Russell Bennett is a fine musician, but he'd much rather talk about baseball or horse racing than music. I wanted to discuss "Victory at Sea," the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical which Bennett arranged and conducted.

"It's hard to catalog the piece," Bennett said. "I've been hailing the Brooklyn Dodgers for 45 years and I'm not going to stop now."

The music was originally 2 1/2 hours long, but was written to accompany NBC-TV's film history of the Navy in World War II.

"It wasn't too hard to cut it down to 45 minutes," Bennett said. "After all these years, I've got three systems for beating the record."

We talked about the main theme that runs through the work.

It's used like Wagner's leitmotif theme," he said. "I think the biggest thrill in baseball is the inside-the-park homer. The foul line should run along the top of the fence and everything over the fence should be foul."

Would he say that "Victory at Sea" is symphonic?

"It's more rhapsodic than symphonic," he said. "The only Dodger I like is Pete Rose. The first time I saw Furillo I disliked him."

Bennett is the man who suggested that Rodgers write a tango, to background the chapter on naval action in the South Atlantic. Rodgers obliged and in the suite it's called "Beneath the Southern Cross."

The Popular Side: A 15-minute radio program, to be used next February for the Heart Fund, has been taped by Robert Merrill and Rita Stevens. It's based on their "Cavalcade of Musical Comedy" album. . . . After one year and seven records, MGM's Joni James has 5,000,000 records sold — already. . . . Cleveland, Cincinnati, Detroit, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and St. Louis are looking for a "hitmaker" cities — if a song goes well there, it's a hit.

On The Classics: Silken is the word for an hour of delightful selections just recorded by Andre Kostelanetz and his orchestra for Columbia. It features Debussy, Focsi, Ravel, Villa-Lobos and Strauss among others. Our favorite was the "Little Train" number by the Brazilian, Villa-Lobos, perhaps because we'd once seen the train in Brazil, huffing and puffing through its towering smokestack, all nickel and brass.

AVIATION PROGRESS ON DISPLAY—Exactly 41 years of aviation progress flies by as a jet-powered B-47 zips past a 1912 pusher-type plane over Washington, D. C. The small plane, piloted by its owner, Billy Parker, can stay in the air for an hour and a half, has a ceiling between 6000-8000 feet, with a top speed of 65 miles per hour. The B-47, in contrast, has a range of more than 3000 miles and can operate at altitudes above 40,000 feet.

Odd Greetings
MILWAUKEE, Wis., Dec. 10 — UP — Anton Wermes, 44, tried to convince a judge that he had said "hi, chump," rather than "hi, chump," when he greeted Joseph W. Luczyk, 38, in a restaurant.

Luczyk, who charged Wermes with attacking him, insisted the word was "chump."
The judge ruled in favor of Luczyk and fined Wermes $10 when he learned that Wermes had rounded out his greeting by throwing a bowl of soup at Luczyk.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE At Times It's Best Not To Finesse

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
Bridge players of all qualities, both high and low, will welcome the "Second Book of Bridge" by Freddy Sheinwald. He wrote his "First Book" a year ago for teenagers and other beginners, and it proved so popular that he wrote this follow-up.

It is entirely on the play of the cards, for those who have played the game a little and want to know when to play which card and why. Today's hand, and its analysis, is quoted from Sheinwald's book.

"West opens the three of hearts, and you can count your tricks. You will make at least one heart, one spade, three diamonds and one fast club trick. Since the total is only six tricks you must look for a way to develop three additional tricks.

"The spade suit is good, but the club suit is still better. You must develop your additional tricks by taking club fineszes, and by es-

Establishing your long clubs. Having made your plan you play a low heart from the dummy. East plays the jack, and you take the queen.

"You lead the deuce of clubs from your hand, West plays low, and you follow up your plan by finessing dummy's jack. East naturally plays his three of clubs, and your finesse succeeds.

"You are going to need entries to your hand, so you lead the nine of diamonds from the dummy and win with the ten of diamonds in your own hand. This puts you in position to lead another club from your hand. You finesse dummy's queen, and East discards a diamond.

"When all other methods of suit establishment fail, you must simply lead the suit and let the enemy take their tricks. In this case you must give West his king of clubs in order to establish your last club.

"West returns the eight of spades, and you hastily put up dummy's ace. You must not risk the finesse. If you allowed East to win a spade trick, he would return a heart through you, and West would immediately take four heavy tricks (or defeat) the contract.

"This is a new principle. Sometimes you must not take a finesse. It is foolish to endanger your contract by finessing when you can make sure of your contract by refusing the finesse."

JOHNSON IN HOLLYWOOD

By ERMAINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Exclusively Yours: Lana Turner's two-day disappearance in London after arriving there to complete scenes in MGM's "The True and the Brave" is the talk of the transatlantic grapevine. British reporters, tipped off to her Houdini act, checked with Lex Barker, her husband, who informed she was in a British nursing home.

But the big eyebrow-raising buzz is that even Lex didn't know her whereabouts. There were no explanations for either Lana or Lex when she did return.

Anita Ellis finally is cashing in on her movie-ghost singing. Ads for her latest recording bill her as "the screen voice of Rita Hayworth and Vera-Ellen."

Marjorie Reynolds and her ex-husband, Film Director Jack Reynold, are having some private bitterness about their seven-year-old daughter, Jack, who was given visitation rights at the time of their divorce, hasn't been permitted to see his youngster in months.

Television financial note: Jon Hall, as the home screen's "Sammy" in "The Jungle," says he earns more in three months now than he made during a full year of movie making.

The blonds doing the commercials on the Dragnet show is Margaret Barstow, former cigaret girl at Ciro's.

Alexis Smith is tearing herself away from Craig Stevens mere weeks after the big reconciliation to be Alexander Knox's costar in the British movie, "The Sleeping Guman."

Divorce is Expensive
Alan Campbell shrugged when I asked him if he and Dorothy Parker, separated for more than two years, would get a divorce. "It costs too much," Alan said. "I'm still paying for the last divorce."

Whether her Fox bosses or her attorneys like it, a new magazine for males just out on the newsstands has that full-page calendar picture of Marilyn Monroe smack in the middle of the content.

Rex Allen, Red Skelton, Fred McMurray and John Wayne are partners in the remodeled Los Flamingos Hotel, opening Jan. 15 in Acapulco, Mexico.

Don Taylor brought Betty Clark, whom he introduced as "just a nice girl," to the opening of Sascha Braastoff's new ceramic plant. On the subject of reconciliation with Phyllis Avery, Don said: "It's up to her. It may work out in time between us. You can't tell about these things."

Milton Blackstone, who's Guy Mitchell's manager is guiding the career of Arthur Godfrey's sister, Big New Title

Vanessa Brown is bug-eyed over the French title of "The Seven-Year Itch," her big Broadway flick. In Gav Paree it's translated this way: "Demeure Chaste et Pure."

It's filmed television shows and four-figure salary checks they pay that's making it possible for Hollywood stars to say "No thanks" to offers for feature movies with doubtful box-office glitter. As Wanda Hendrix sees it:

"The public will forgive you for only two bad TV pictures, but three days you aren't forgiven for a bad feature. It's a big break for us. You can turn down a bad picture and do three television films instead."

Remember Reri, the Tahitian beauty who starred in "Tabu"? She was brought to the U. S. for personal appearances with South Sea Island film, was started in a Ziegfeld revue and eventually became the toast of Paris as a nightclub entertainer. When she developed tuberculosis, doctors advised her to return to her native Tahiti.

Federal Control Vote By Farmers

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 — UP—states on the basis of acreage planted in 1947-48 and 1950-52. This year's cotton crop totaled 16,437,000 bales, and was grown on 25,276,000 acres. It is the fourth largest crop on record and the biggest in 15 years.

When cotton farmers last voted on controls, in 1949, 89.4 per cent voted yes.

Department economists, who say the figure is "lumpy," estimate that 7.5 million acres of cotton taken out of production this year would yield about $660 million worth of cotton lint and seed with average yields and at current prices.

Here are cotton acreage allotments currently assigned for 1954 compared with acreage in cultivation on July 1 this year in South-west cotton states:

Arkansas	1,862,894	2,112,000
Louisiana	634,906	854,000
Missouri	391,396	570,000
New Mexico	391,243	321,000
Oklahoma	929,202	1,058,000
Texas	7,376,858	9,686,000

But in view of the cotton surplus he has no authority in present law for him to relax the reduction. He has said he will urge Congress to make a "reasonable increase in the quota."

Op of First Items
Congressional leaders have promised that an increase in the cotton quota will be one of the first items of business when Congress meets Jan. 6.

The House passed a bill last session which would have resulted in cotton allotments under the quota totaling 22.5 million acres. But disagreement between eastern and western interests blocked similar action in the Senate.

Western growers, who have skyrocketed production the past few years, stand to take a bigger percentage acreage cut than do eastern growers, where production has remained fairly stable. The quota allotments are divided among

Debate Rages Over Fate Of G.I.s Broken By Red Torture

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Debate gets hotter and hotter on what to do with the 36 American soldiers, Marines and airmen who, while held as prisoners of war in North Korea, were tortured into giving the Communists false statements that the U. S. had used germ warfare.

Each case is now being considered on an individual basis by the service concerned. Most are in the Air Force, but Army and Marine Corps have a few. The question for each man is whether he should be allowed to remain in service, resign, be given a discharge other than honorable, or a more severe disciplinary sentence.

From this it is apparent that no blanket sentence will be handed down. The assumption is that if the man signed a false statement just to get better food for himself, he would be treated differently than a man who broke only after he had undergone extreme torture.

It was at first thought that there was no section of the 1949 Uniform Code of Military Justice covering all the armed services that fit this situation. Judges advocate now believe that two sections of the code might apply.

Section 104 provides that any person who aids or attempts to aid the enemy, gives intelligence to or holds direct or indirect intercourse with the enemy shall suffer death or other punishment as a court-martial may direct.

This section was probably intended to cover only traitorous communication across battle lines or the giving of information to enemy spies. But the language is broad enough to apply also to prisoners of war held by an enemy.

Section 105 of the Uniform Code covers specifically prisoners of war. It provides that anyone who, while a prisoner in the hands of an enemy during wartime, acts in a manner contrary to law or custom to secure favorable treatment for himself, or acts to the detriment of others held prisoner, shall be punished as a court-martial shall direct.

If these two sections are applied, each of the 36 men who made the false statements that the U. S. had used germ warfare faces a court-martial. The punishment could be anything up to and including a death sentence.

A random questioning of a number of uniformed enlisted men, noncoms and officers in the Washington area indicates a majority would favor severe disciplinary sentences. This opinion is more prevalent among men who have served in Korea and in World War II than it is among noncombat servicemen.

Top Lawyer Flunked In Eighth Grade

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 — UP—A paragraph in the papers about a character who was denied his high school diploma 22 years ago because he forgot to make out a friend of mine.

I hope I don't get Attorney Robert M. Wolfe of Norwalk, Conn., in any serious trouble, but he tells me that he has been running around practicing law these many years without ever getting legal release from the eighth grade.

Bob has practiced before the State Supreme Court in Connecticut, he has helped to win a number of cases for the Maritime Administration, and he has prepared briefs for the highest tribunal in the land — the U. S. Supreme Court.

A Failure
But he still turns a little red when he stops to think of a trick he pulled once. To be honest about it, Bob flunked the eighth grade.

His daddy, Robert M. Wolfe Sr., who later became mayor of Norwalk, Conn., was a prominent physician in the town. And a stern father he was. He would have taken a dim view, indeed, of his offspring running around without a pass from eighth to ninth grade.

Well, along came the eighth grade graduation ceremony. His father, luckily, was out on a case and could not attend. So Bob marched up with the rest and stuck out a fat little fist for his "diploma." They were, of course, dummies, which were to be turned in later for real ones. Bob created the dummy.

When it came time to register for high school, he signed in just as if he belonged there. Nobody asked him for his credentials and he breezed through high school with reasonably good marks and earned a real diploma.

Switch To Law
He went on to pre-medical school and did all right there, but decided law was more to his liking. So he enrolled at Georgetown University here.

He did well. Finished fourth in his class, in fact. All of which doesn't prove much, except that diplomas, no matter at what level, do not really prove very much. I've got a bunch of them laying around in trunks, but nobody ever asked me to produce one.

Lucky Woman
WINDSOR, Ont., Dec. 11 — UP—Police investigated threats against Mrs. Stephen Skrabko, a waitress and housewife who won three automobiles playing bingo in the last six months.

Mrs. Skrabko said that since she won the third car last week she has received threatening mail and telephone calls. One man warned her not to show up at the bingo game Thursday night.

"I wasn't planning to go this week," she said, "but I'm going now."

FOR BETTER RECEPTION—This strange location for a television antenna on a farm near Burley, Idaho, is not an attempt to be funny. The farmer claims that by placing his antenna atop the privy he gets better reception.

Rural Population Shift Is Revealed

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Dec. 10 — UP—The number of Texas farms has decreased a third while the farms were almost doubling in size, a Texas A&M College scientist reported.

John G. McHaney, assistant economist, spoke this week at the third annual Texas Farm and Ranch Credit School.

McHaney said the average Texas farm was 274 acres in 1930, but had grown to about 438 acres, or an increase of 74 per cent, by this year. A "tremendous shift in population" away from farms accounted for the change, he said.

While the state's population increased 32 per cent in the 23 years, he said, the city and urban population more than doubled, but the percentage of rural residents fell from 59 per cent to only 27 per cent.

McHaney said other significant changes were in farm ownership and the number of farmers who worked more than 100 days on their own places.

...And how important! When the way is up the future holds hope. One secret in climbing is obedience. If you are willing and obedient you shall eat the good of the land (Isa. 1:19). But first there is "The Hour of Decision." By Faith she decided to climb. By Faith she is determined to travel upward to God. With the Bible and the church as our guide, and with resolute determination, every climb is crowned with victory.

New Comedy Team Fills Shoes Of Abbott And Costello Duo

By ALINE MOBBY
 HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 11 —UP—
 The first new movie comedy team in 10 years is in the movies, but its two members admit it was cooked up out of necessity.
 Buddy Hackett and Hugh O'Brian are being billed as the new Abbott and Costello, mainly because the original versions couldn't get to work.

Lou Costello was ailing and down to 168 pounds when Universal-International Studio was ready to begin a slapstick comedy, "Fireman Save My Child." But the picture couldn't be postponed because Spike Jones and his hectic music-makers, also in the film, had to be paid, anyway.
 The studio rounded up two of its newcomers, Hackett, a nightclub comic who'd been in only one picture before, and O'Brian, a youthful actor of mainly dramatic roles.

 Hackett and O'Brian with two days notice got the job of filling the shoes of two of the top box-office stars in movietown.
 So far the boys, the first comic duo since Martin and Lewis hit the screen, aren't staggered by the job.

"When I came to the studio for my test I didn't have a pair of dress shoes, so I went to wardrobe and they gave me a pair. They were Lou Costello's. They fit," said Hackett.
 "This is a dream come true.
 I've been in the nightclub business eight years, and now this!"
 Hackett said he visited Costello to get some pointers for the movie.

Drunken Wheeling

COLUMBUS, Dec. 10 —UP—Police told Rosie Brown, 48, and her husband, Dewey, 42, they were lic-kly to get off with an ordinary drunk charge instead of the more serious offense of drunken driving.
 Officers found Rosie in a wheelchair with a cast on her leg and her husband pushing her down the sidewalk on an irregular course.
 Police said if the wheelchair had been motorized they would have been charged with drunken driving.
