Plane Crew Escapes Death In Accident

SHAMROCK — (Special) — A Marine sergeant was recovering late Saturday from a concussion suffered in a crash landing at 9:45 p.m. Friday on the Shamrock airfield of an Army Air Force B-25.

The six occupants narrowly escaped death when the badly crippled plane unable to stop at the end of the East-West runway, crashed through a fence, bounced across a road, went through another fence and skidded 40 yards into a field before coming to rest on its nose after losing a front wheel in a drainage terrace. Although the crew and three passengers were badly shaken, no one was seriously injured.

The plane was enroute to Montgomery, Ala. from Kirkland Air Force Base, Albuquerque, N. M., when, just out of Clarendon, the left engine began to burn.

Unable to land at Amarillo because of low ceilings, the plane was ordered to Wichita Falls. The pilot, Col. Frank E. Sullivan, reports that just after passing over Amarillo the electrical power went out, leaving the plane with no radio and no lights except for a pencil flashlight which he used to read the navigational instruments.

When the remaining engine began to sputter, Col Sullivan brought the plane down to 6,000 feet to enable the men to bail out. It was then he saw the runway lights of the Shamrock airport, (the left engine had stopped burning, he decided to try to land.)

Most Shamrock residents were unaware of the drama taking place. However, County Attorney Guy Hardin and his wife heard the plane pass close overhead and realized it was in trouble. Mrs. Hardin called for an ambulance while Hardin and a neighbor, Ray Reed, rushed to the airport. Following the "skid-marks" of the plane, they met the men emerging from the field.

The Richardson Funeral Home ambulance pushed the plane's occupants to the Shamrock Hospital for examination. It was discovered there that Marine M-Sgt. W. C. Evans had a slight concussion and he was transferred Saturday to an Amarillo hospital by the Amarillo Air Force Base ambulance. Col. Sullivan suffered the only other injury with a "bruised left foot."

Col. E. A. Mason, the copilot, stated this was his first accident in 20 years of flying, and the crew chief, Tech. Sgt. A. E. Rummy, groaned that he was "sore all over. Other passengers, declining comment, were S-N J. W. Tucker and M-Sgt. J. W. Fleming.

Fatheres' Son Calls From Tokyo

After a half day of trying, 2nd Lt. Hobart Fatheree, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde F. Fatheree, got his trans-oceanic phone call through to his parents from Tokyo, Japan, Saturday morning.

Fatheree told The Pampa Daily News he and Mrs. Fatheree completed the call at 10:30 a.m., and talked for the limit—five minutes. On the first call, Friday, the Fatherees were not at home.

"We had a very pleasant conversation," Fatheree said.

Lieutenant Fatheree was graduated from Texas A & M, in June, 1952. He entered the Army in August of that year and went to Korea early this year. He served in the front lines until the armistice was signed. Now in Tokyo, he is on his first furlough since entering the Army.

Motorists Warned Of Highway Parking

Highway Patrolman E. J. Robertson warned motorists on the Amarillo highway that the all-weather shoulders in Gray County are for parking only—and not for driving.

Anyone driving on those shoulders, even though the shoulders are as wide as the highway, is violating the law, Robertson said.

Realizing that the shoulders may be the cause of accidents, Robertson last week conferred several times with Jack McDowell, state highway department section foreman, to try to come up with a solution. Nothing definite, though, has been decided.

Rogers Says Drouth Aid Is Too Late

Rep. Walter Rogers deals with the relief from drouth, the importance of water and American exports in his latest newsletter to the residents of the 18th Congressional District.

Discussing the recent decision of President Eisenhower to allocate from his emergency fund $10 million for winter drouth relief, Rogers states that it comes too late for many who could have been saved during the early summer months.

Quoting Washington weather experts to the effect that "present trends... indicated a continuation of dryness for two or three years" although "much moisture" is expected during the next few months, the congressman maintains that moisture will "not be of any help to the cattle people."

Under the new plan, he continued, the government "proposes to pay a part of the freight rate so that the cost of the hay to the rancher will be reduced sufficiently to permit the rancher to obtain and feed it—I have sought to have hay included in the program since its inception."

On the matter of water, Pampa's representative says that "our efforts should never be relaxed until we obtain facilities for capturing surface water so that it can be utilized for the betterment of mankind rather than permitting it to go unguessed into the sea."

Going into the matter of U. S. exports, Rogers points out that the output per capita in the United States is "about nine times as large as the average of the rest of the world."

From 1946 to 1952, the United States exported in goods $45 billion more than it imported, Rogers stated, adding that $13 billion of it was paid through the International Bank, International Monetary Fund, private dollar sources of investments and hard currency reserves of importing countries.

That left a balance of $32 billion to be paid from other sources, he said, concluding:

"It is interesting to note that during that seven-year period the United States furnished foreign aid in the amount of $36 billion."

Pampan Committed To State Hospital

A 28-year-old Pampa man, previously convicted of charges of disturbing the peace by indecent exposure, Friday afternoon was ordered committed to a state hospital following a six-man jury trial in County Court before Judge J. B. Maguire.

Jethro Clouston Lewis was taken to the State hospital in Wichita Falls Saturday by a Pampa deputy sheriff.

Three persons, including a local physician, testified against Lewis at the trial.

Lewis was arrested on Oct 8 after Pampa police received a report that a prowler had been seen on N. Wynne. The informant gave police the license number of the suspect's car, which the police traced to Lewis. Later, Mrs. Lewis brought her husband to the police station.

On Oct. 10 he was convicted of the charges and was ordered to pay $457 in fines and cost by Justice of the Peace John V. Andrews.

The arrest, conviction and subsequent insanity hearing climaxed seven weeks of "Peeping Tom" reports which had been received by the police.

Speeding Charge Follows Mishap

Bernice A. Derryberry, 42, of 611 S. Barnes had been cited for exceeding the legal speed limit following an automobile collision at Mary Ellen and Louisiana in which her car was damaged an estimated $375 worth.

In addition to the certificate, Derryberry, private dollar sources of investments and hard currency reserves of importing countries. That left a balance of $32 billion to be paid from other sources, he said, concluding:

"It is interesting to note that during that seven-year period the United States furnished foreign aid in the amount of $36 billion."

DIAL PHONE

Not only will the new system be a time saver on local calls, but it also will enable Pampa subscribers to save time in calling certain cities.

For instance, if a Pampa resident wished to place a call to a Dallas number, he will give the long distance operator the number. With the use of keys signifying certain exchanges and numbers, the Pampa operator will be able to connect the Pampan with his party within a very few seconds, Newberry stated.

The switchover marked the end of several months of extensive work on the part of the company and workmen of the Western Electric company, who installed the system here.

Also required was several weeks of training of local personnel in technical aspects of the new system.

Saturday night also marked the exodus of 60 of the company's 110 operators. They had been hired recently with the understanding that, when the new dial system went into operation, their services with the company would be terminated.

Many Pampan were reported to have stayed awake until after midnight to try out the dial system.

A minimum of trouble was anticipated by Newberry under the dial system during the first few days of the new service. "We can naturally expect some trouble after the new system goes into operation, but all of the kinks will be ironed out within a very short time," he stated.

Sixteen executives of the southwestern Bell Telephone Company and Western Electric Company were on hand at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the Hotel Schneider for a social hour and dinner with Pampa city officials.

Sponsored by the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, the affair was held scant hours before the cut-over to the dial system at midnight.

Making brief remarks were Ed Ernest, Northwest division manager; W. H. Melbern, division plant superintendent; Mayor Pro Tem Gene Fatheree; Lynn Boyd, outgoing chamber president and master of ceremonies; and George Newberry, Bell division manager.

Said Ernest, speaking of U. S. industrial expansion in general: "I wish we could get across the Iron Curtain the story of some of the big American companies."

'Back To Church' Move Ends Today

"Will you be in church today?" That is the question being asked of Pampa residents by members of the Pampa Kiwanis club.

Kiwanians are sponsoring "Back To Church Month" here and today is the last Sunday of the month. An attendance goal of 10,000 has been set for the 48 churches of the city.

Clinton Evans, president of the club pointed out that attendance has been climbing steadily during the month, but that of last Sunday fell nearly 3,000 short of the quota set for today. On that day a total of 7,208 persons attended services in Pampa churches.

At least one Pampa church is scheduled to start a revival meeting today and another church was to observe Laymen's Day.

Dr. W. Herschel Ford, pastor of the First Baptist church, El Paso, will conduct a two-weeks revival meeting here at the First Baptist church, beginning this morning. He also is scheduled to speak at luncheon meetings of the Pampa Rotary and Kiwanis clubs this week.

Today will be Laymen's Day at the First Methodist church, with Dr. Ray H. Nichols, Vernon publisher, as the speaker at the 10:35 a.m. service.

Evans made a final plea Saturday night, urging every resident of Pampa to attend services today. "While we are urging Pampan to attend church today," he said, "we don't want it to stop there. People seem to be out of the habit of going to church. It is our sincere hope that through the observance of 'Back To Church Month', church attendance will increase throughout the coming months."

Last Rites Slated For I. T. Kuykendall

I. T. Kuykendall, 74, Gray County farmer, died Saturday at 3:45 p.m. in Highland General Hospital. He had been in ill health for several years.

A resident of this county for the past 20 years, he resided on a farm 14 miles southwest of Pampa. He came to Pampa from Shamrock in 1923 and lived here about one month, before moving to the farm.

Kuykendall, who was a member of the Alton, Okla., Baptist church, is survived by his wife, Mrs. Maggie Jane Kuykendall, White Deer, a son, Clay Kuykendall, White Deer; four brothers, John A. Kuykendall, Dalhart; Calvin Kuykendall, Pampa; M. C. Kuykendall, Amarillo; and Fowler D. Kuykendall, Prairie Grove, Ark.; two sisters, Mrs. Katie Ketchersid, Garvit, Ark., and Mrs. Mable Roberts, Blanchard, Okla.; one granddaughter, Mrs. Earl Looper, Pampa, and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday at 2:30 p.m. in the Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral chapel, with Dr. E. Douglas Carver, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiating. Burial will be in Fairview cemetery.

FORMER FIRE CHIEF RECALLS

Pampans Once Used Pistols To Warn Residents Of Fires

By JANE KADINCO
Pampa News Staff Writer
Many a boy longs to be a fireman as he watches the fire engines race out of the station to excitement and danger.

Fire Chief and marshal from 1926 to his retirement five years ago, Ben White belonged to Pampa's "bucket, ax and fire extinguisher" brigade long before the fire department was organized.

There were no bells or sirens in those days. "People shot off their shotguns to warn everyone of a fire," he stated.

Ben's interest in fires began at the age of 5 when he used to stand outside the fire station in Temple and watch the horse team dash away with the fire truck behind.

"When my mother couldn't find me," he chuckled, "she always looked there first." Pampa was a town of 600 people when Ben moved here from Temple with his parents in 1912.

"They had horses corralled where the old Pampa News office stands," he reminisced. "The Schneider Hotel was across the street (from its present location) and they had a dog house feeding where it is now."

"The biggest fire I ever saw," Ben stated, "was when the W. T. Davis Implement Co. burned. It was located where the Pampa Fur Co. is now."

"I woke up about 4 a.m. when a train started whistling," he related. "Then I heard the six-shooters going off downtown and I knew it was a fire."

"The funny thing about that fire was that the only water tank in town was over the Implement Co. and the well was inside the building. So, we let it burn."

Beside being the biggest fire Ben can remember, it was also the most "freakish." The blaze had spread to a storage shed behind the Implement Co. and was endangering the adjoining buildings.

"I noticed a man next to me with an ax," Ben stated, "so I told him to start pulling that shed down. Just as he raised his ax, the steel legs on the water tower collapsed. The tank fell right next to the shed and put the fire out."

It wasn't long after that Pampa bought a fire truck and "organized" a fire department.

"Some say it was '15 and some '17, but I sort of think it was 1918 that we bought the truck," Ben mused. J. W. Patton was fire chief and Ben can remember that Alex Schneider and Hoag Pipkin, still of Pampa, were with the department then.

"There were about ten of us and we had a little station where the big one is now."

Although Ben retired "a bout five years ago," he is kept busy with his real estate business.

ALTHOUGH BEN T. WHITE — retired as a Pampa fireman about five years ago, he still finds time to wander over to the Fire Department for an occasional game of dominoes with the boys. (News Photo) with his real estate business. "Fires don't excite me a bit anymore," he maintains. "Maybe I look to see where the trucks are going and maybe I don't. However, he still wanders over to the fire station for an occasional game of dominoes. Ben, who lives at 914 S. Nelson with his wife, has one son, Clayton, of Pampa, and two grandchildren.

GOP Leaders Discovering Farm Belt Depression Fear

By VINCENT J. BURKE
WASHINGTON, Oct. 24—UP—A wave of uncertainty is spreading through the "grass roots" of the traditionally Republican farm belt of the Midwest. Some farmers are outspokenly fearful of another depression.

Republican members of the House Agriculture committee, who sampled the unrest on a 1,200-mile midwest tour, found this consolation: The next election to determine control of Congress won't be held for another 12 months.

Before then they are confident the Republican Congress will vote to continue high government price guarantees for the basic crops beyond the 1954 crop year. They believe that will go far toward allaying farmer fears.

Prices Lowest Since June, 1941
The committee, seeking farmer views on new legislation, collected 650,000 words of testimony from 750 witnesses. It showed a sizable bloc of farmers is unhappy about the farm price decline, apprehensive of the future, and insistent upon continuance of high price supports.

Present farm prices—measured against the prices of things that farmers must buy—are lower than at any time since June, 1941, according to the Agriculture Department's parity formula. The part of the farm program which comes up for review in Congress next year assures price support at 90 percent of parity for wheat, corn, cotton, peanuts, tobacco and rice.

Some Midwest farmers spoke out in anger against Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson for criticizing that as "rigid and high." That accounts for the demands from some farm belt Republicans for Benson's resignation. However, President Eisenhower this week said he had full confidence in Benson. And Benson told the United Press he doesn't plan to quit.

Vital Seats in Midwest
Nevertheless, some Midwest Republicans have concluded that before the next election campaign starts Benson must either (1) Do something to enhance his popularity in the farm belt; or (2) Make way for a new secretary.

Republicans now hold only 47 Senate seats. They have been looking to the Midwest farm vote in 1954 to give them more than their present token control of the Senate.

But the hearings demonstrated Benson's views are extremely unpopular with many farmers in Iowa and Minnesota, where two of the Democrats' 48 senate seats will be at stake in 1954.

In Illinois and Ohio—where two other Democratic-held Senate seats will be contested—there was more division of opinion about how far the government should go in proping farm income. Nevertheless, interspersed with the conservative views, there were strong demands from many farmers for continued high supports.

To Speak at Amarillo
AMARILLO, Oct. 23—UP—Mrs. A. J. Korieth of Sherman, a nationally-known church worker and Camp Fire Girls' leader, will speak on "Parent - Educator" at the seventh Southwest Congress of the Fraternity of Christian Doctrine Nov. 3-5.

Name For The Job
MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Oct. 22—UP—Mrs. Kris Krengel has been appointed chairman of a Christmas party planned by the St. Stanislaus Woman's School Guild.

'Man Behind The Glasses' Says 3-D Is Here To Stay

By JACK GAVER
NEW YORK, Oct. 24—UP—Dr. Edwin Land, "the man behind the glasses," believes 3-D movies are here to stay—but bigger and better.

Dr. Land, whose invention of the first sheet polarizing material made three-dimension films possible, doesn't agree with those both in and out of the movie industry who feel 3-D pictures were just a one-year novelty that served as a "quick buck-hypo for Hollywood for a brief time."

"It must be admitted that there has been a reaction from the first rush of interest in 3-D," Dr. Land said. "There have been complaints about the glasses not fitting, about eye-strain, about the quality of the film stories."

Get Rid of Bugs
"There is more production interest right now in the various wide-screen techniques that do not require the use of viewing glasses and which may or may not give an illusion of depth as against the true depth of 3-D."

"As in the case of any product that has some bugs in it, the thing to do is to get rid of them, and I think that will be done. At least the Polaroid Corp. (he's the chairman and president) is working steadily toward this end so far as improving the glasses is concerned."

"The glasses available now are nothing like the first ones you used a few months ago. The lenses are much larger, they fit better, and we will go on improving them."

More Realism in 3-D
"We wouldn't be expending all this effort, of course, if we didn't feel that the 3-D movie has tremendous potentialities. Actually it is a unique form of entertainment. Nowhere can you get the realism that you can in a 3-D film—and when I say that I'm not thinking about the daggers and bodies that seem to fly right off the screen at the audience."

"I'm thinking about the minute definition of characterizations, the details of backgrounds and colors that 3-D makes possible. This certainly is too valuable a technique to be used just for a brief time and then forgotten."

"I do not make movies, and I have no desire to do so, but it doesn't take an expert in this line to know that the 3-D films so far made available to the public leave considerable to be desired simply from the standpoint of story and handling. Hollywood has a few that still haven't been released that I am sure will do a lot toward convincing the public that 3-D is far from dead."

SOUVENIR — Westbrook Pegler, columnist for the The Pampa Daily News presents Gertrude Ederle with a memento of her record-breaking swim 27 years ago. Miss Ederle was the first woman to swim the English channel, and her time, 14 hours and 31 minutes, stood as the record for women channel swimmers from 1926 until last year. The chart in Pegler's hand was made on the spot by his wife, the former Julia Harpman, who accompanied Miss Ederle across the channel in a boat. The presentation was made at the fall All Sports Champions luncheon of the Banquets, a noted New York luncheon club composed of top writers, editors and artists.

The new system of eating in the fire station is new to Pampa but has been common for years over the nation. A U. S. Army cook in 1924, Henshaw cooks for eight men at noon and seven more at night and has yet to hear his first complaint. He's been a cook all his life and bakes biscuits and cornbread, but not lightbread. Just as he does at home, he does all the firemen's baking. (News Photo)

Communist Party Leaders Face Trial

By ROBERT MAY
Detroit, Oct. 24 — UP — Six persons identified by government agents as leaders of Michigan's Communist party will go on trial in federal court next Tuesday on charges of violating the Smith act.
 The six so-called "second-string" Communists are accused of violating the act by teaching and advocating the violent overthrow of the United States government.
 In 1949, 11 top Communists were convicted of that charge in New York. Groups of "second-stringers" likewise were found guilty in six similar cases around the country. Their trials were long and exhaustive.
Long Trial Predicted
 Proceedings here promise to be no exception, for attorneys and court officials predict it will take months to plod through testimony and deal with various motions and legal side-steppings that are bound to develop.
 The defendants are Mrs. Helen Winter, 44; Nathan Kaplan (Nat Ganley), 48; William Allan, 46; Philip Schatz, 39; Saul Wellman, 38, and Thomas DeWitt Dennis Jr.
 Mrs. Winter's husband, Carl, was one of the 11 party bigwigs convicted in New York. He was Michigan state chairman of the Communist party.
Frank A. Picard Is Judge
 The FBI has identified Wellman as a top party leader in this state; Kaplan, former Michigan editor of the Daily Worker; Allan, a correspondent for the Daily Worker; Schatz, former head of the party's Fort Motor Co. section, and Dennis as a ranking party organizer.
 Judge Frank A. Picard, white-haired and in his 60s, will preside at the trial. Picard is known as a stern but affable jurist. An attorney has described him as "aggressive."
 The prosecution will be handled by Fred W. Kaess, U.S. district attorney, with the help of two assistants from the Justice Department, William Hundly and Bernard McCusky.

fendants, Goodman said, will represent themselves.
 A court clerk said 160 persons were prospective jurors, indicating it will take considerable time to seat a panel of 12.
 The small courtroom won't be open to spectators during selection of the jury. There won't be room for anyone except jurors, attorneys, officials and reporters.
 "But we'll turn the crowds in when the trial actually begins," the clerk said. "It's just a matter of waiting until we have room for them."

Wayne's Wife Voices Fear

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 24 — UP — In the soft-espoken tones of her native Mexico, Esperanza (Chanel) Wayne today voiced the insecurity of her future without her husband, movie star John Wayne.
 The former Mexican actress spoke with her head bowed, her fingers nervously fidgeting in her lap.
 "It is a disadvantage to be married to a film star," she said with a slight accent. "It is even worse when a thing like this happens," she added, referring to the tempestuous divorce case with her dashing leading man husband.
 "He is a hero—one of the most popular stars who ever lived. And it is difficult for anyone to believe that Duke (Wayne's nickname) could be anything but 100 per cent right. But it is Duke who wants the divorce. I have never wanted a divorce."
 Mrs. Wayne lifted her eyes from the floor and said she wanted to make sure she wouldn't sound as if she were criticizing the actor.
 "When you are very much in love, it hurts to be in this position. I tried for a long time to keep our problems to myself. I don't want to hurt his career or position. I know how much it means to him," she said softly.
 "The only place I ever said things that might have hurt was in the court room. And I said what I had to say there because it is necessary to stand up for your rights."
 Mrs. Wayne, fashionably dressed in a white skirt and blouse, lowered her eyes again and shook her head unhappily, appearing more a frightened woman than a "fiery Mexican actress."
 "I think if we were plain people our problems would have only been in the divorce columns, not on the front page."
 Mrs. Wayne bit the corner of her full lower lip and her eyes flashed in fleeting anger.
 "It is not all a matter of money," she said. "It is a matter of fairness. If Duke made three million dollars or three cents it would have been the same. I wanted to share it."
 "I washed dishes and did laundry when there was no maid. Anything he wanted was fine. It was right. He was my husband."
 "Because I knew this, and wanted it, I gave up my career. Now there is no career and no security. I feel something lost—and confused and disappointed. My career was making a home and being a wife. It is gone now."
 "I don't want to go back to court next week but it has to be."

Pampa Woman Tells Secret of Her 'Everlasting Yeast'

By ED NASH
Pampa News Staff Writer

What she uses to make bread and rolls each week has been in existence for at least 32 years—and probably more.

Mrs. Marvin Williams, 902 E. Browning, got the "starter" 15 years ago from her daughter-in-law, Mrs. W. C. Williams, Jerome, Idaho, who in turn got it from a Mexican woman who had had it at least 17 years.

'LIKE MOTHER MADE'—Mrs. Marvin Williams, 902 E. Browning, points to the recipe her mother used to make a "sponge," a combination of yeast, flour, sugar and water, that is used to make bread and rolls. The jar at the left contains the "sponge" that has been in existence for a generation and more. From recipe to jar, warm the "sponge" and make it stiff with corn meal. Roll it out, let it dry and break it into little pieces.

"My mother never bought yeast," she said. This reporter never voiced the opinion that, perhaps, it might have been easier to do so.

She almost lost the "everlastin'" material once, though. A foster daughter, Mrs. Allene Horton, then 20, found it in the ice box.

CLINTON, Okla., Oct. 24—UP—Flyer W. D. Andrews of Miami, Okla., saw an airport on his map and confidently used it to land his light plane.

METHUEN, Mass., Oct. 24—UP—Town Moderator John J. Griffin feared Saturday all his troubles would be little ones. He discovered the skunk which has moved into his garage is pregnant.

MEMO TO ADVERTISERS

Oh, WHERE is my wandering ad tonight?

That's a fair question and deserves a factual answer. When you buy newspaper advertising you have an investment in every copy of the paper that carries your sales message because the circulation of the newspaper is also the circulation of your advertising. So, what you get in return for your advertising dollars depends on the newspaper's circulation. In order that you may buy space in this newspaper as you would make any sound business investment, we hold membership in the Audit Bureau of Circulations, well known to advertisers and publishers as A.B.C. Only publications with paid circulation—evidence that people want the paper—are eligible for membership.

At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced circulation auditors comes to our office to make a thorough audit of our circulation records. The FACTS that he obtains as a result of the audit are published in A.B.C. reports which tell you: How much circulation we have; Where it goes; How obtained; How much people pay for our paper, and many other FACTS that you need in order to KNOW what you get for your advertising money.

It's never necessary for our advertisers to ask, "Oh, where is my wandering ad?" They get the FACTS from our A.B.C. report and KNOW. Ask for a copy today.

The Audit Bureau of Circulations is a cooperative, nonprofit association of 3,450 advertisers, advertising agencies and publishers. Organized in 1914, A.B.C. established a definition for paid circulation, rules and standards for measuring circulation and methods for auditing and reporting circulation FACTS.

A DULLES FIGURE OF SPEECH—It would probably take a psychiatrist to explain the innermost thoughts of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles doodling at the Big Three Foreign Ministers conference in London. But, to the layman it is quite apparent that the theme of his thoughts centered on peace.

Nixon May Stump For Eisenhower

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 —UP— Vice President Richard M. Nixon may stump the country as a stand-in for President Eisenhower in the 1954 election campaign, Republican politicians said Friday.

They said Nixon is the logical man to carry the campaign load in view of Mr. Eisenhower's firm decision against barnstorming the country for GOP candidates for Congress.

Republican strategists figured it this way:

Nixon has more time and energy for campaigning than chief executive. Nixon is 40 and his only real job is to preside over the Senate when it is in session. Mr. Eisenhower is 63 and has a job which takes 24 hours a day, seven days a week, and no substitutes are accepted.

Nixon could swing through critical districts, giving an administration plug to Republican candidates, without violating Mr. Eisenhower's dictum the prestige of the White House shall not ride on any local race.

It would be in line with the "stand-in" jobs Mr. Eisenhower has already given his young vice president. Nixon has presided at Cabinet and National Security Council meetings. He delivered the President's speech to the American Federation of Labor convention in St. Louis recently. He is now on a world "good will" tour as a White House emissary.

Under present plans, Mr. Eisenhower will remain aloof from individual contests but will make some "general" speeches for continued Republican control of Congress during the next two years of his term.

That is the role outlined for the President by GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall today in a House visit late Thursday—within 24 hours after Mr. Eisenhower told a news conference he would not engage in state of local campaigns.

Hall's statement was seen as a move to placate Republicans who want a more active campaign from the President next year.

The Owls rally in Final Seconds To Down Longhorns, 18-13

UT 'Generosity' Pays Off For Owls

By LLOYD LARRABEE
AUSTIN, Oct. 24—Quarterback Jerry Fenstermaker threw a 21-yard touchdown pass to end Dan Hart with only 56 seconds left in the game Saturday to give Rice an 18 to 13 victory over Texas before 45,000 fans in Memorial Stadium.

The last-minute scoring play brought Rice from behind and kept alive the Houston school's hopes for a Southwest Conference championship after a loss last week to Southern Methodist.

Fenstermaker, a 196-pound senior from Llano, Tex., sparked a fourth-period drive which saw Rice overcome a 13-7 lead held by Texas, and spoiled Texas' strategy in giving the Owls two fourth-quarter safeties.

Rice's passing attack began to click in the final period, with quarterback Buddy Grantham using Hart as his favorite receiver.

With time running out late in the fourth period, Texas elected to give Rice a two-point safety to thwart a Rice surge. Fullback Pat Tolar intentionally grounded the ball.

But Rice drove back a few plays later and Tolar was trapped in the end zone to give Rice a second safety.

Rice's passing attack began to click in the final period, with quarterback Buddy Grantham using Hart as his favorite receiver.

Rice scored in the first and third periods, driving to its first score when substitute halfback George Robinson, filled in for Billy Quinn, who was injured on the first play of the game, drove over from the two in a 52-yard march.

Rice halfback Dicky Moege scored on a wide end sweep from nine yards out late in the second quarter and Fenstermaker converted to put Rice ahead.

Rice scored in the first and third periods, driving to its first score when substitute halfback George Robinson, filled in for Billy Quinn, who was injured on the first play of the game, drove over from the two in a 52-yard march.

Rice struck quickly in the third period with end Manan Schriever taking a 27-yard pass from quarterback Charles Brewer. Guard Phil Branch converted.

Irish Snap Ga. Tech Win Streak, 27-14

UPENDED — Harvester halfback Ed Dudley is pictured knocked from his feet during the first quarter of Friday night's game at Harvester Stadium but not until he had picked up a seven-yard gain to the Harvester 59 yard marker. The Harvester drive, originating on its 13, went to the Abilene 47 before it bogged down and the Pampanas had to punt. Note guard Alton Flynn of the Harvesters blocking out an Eagle defender at right. The two boys in background are Frank Liles, No. 77, and tackle Dan Boyd, No. 76. The Harvesters captured the decision, 7-6. (News Photo by T. D. Ellis)

Leahy Collapses During Halftime

By ED SAINSBURY
SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 24—Notre Dame Coach Frank Leahy in a hospital after falling ill during halftime, scored three touchdowns in the second half Saturday to tumble Georgia Tech from the undefeated ranks by a score of 27 to 14.

Notre Dame, the nation's No. 1 team, cut down Georgia Tech with crisp efficiency in every phase of football before 58,254 fans to end the Yellow Jackets' string of 31 games without defeat.

But it was an unhappy Irish eleven which rallied in the final half to score 20 points and break a tie, as Leahy collapsed in the dressing room during the intermission and was taken to a hospital.

Bill Earley directed the Irish to their sixth straight victory and the first Irish score was on an eighty-yard parade in 10 days as Worden, who carried the ball 27 times for 128 yards, plunged over from the seven yard line.

The last tally, by Lettner, was on a one-yard run which ended a 40-yard drive.

Georgia Tech ranked fourth in the country before Saturday's battle, gave weight to the Irish. Still the Yellow Jackets put up a tremendous show, with their first string center, Larry Morris, a standout on defense.

Shamrock Irish won their second District 1-AA game in three starts here Friday night by edging past the Canyon Eagles, 7-6.

Jack York, who scored the only Shamrock touchdown, also converted the all-important extra point that provided the Irish with the victory.

York scored on a 6-yard run in the second quarter and then booted what proved to be the winning point, giving the Irish a 7-0 halftime lead.

The Eagles fought back in the fourth quarter to dent the scoring column on a 27-yard pass from Jamie Ahrhart to Arlen Rutherford. The point conversion failed, however, and the Irish held on to the final score.

Scorer Aggies Upset By Detroit 18-14

BY LLOYD NORTARD
DETROIT, Oct. 24—Quarterback Dave Kline fired a 26-yard touchdown pass to halfback Bob Burgeimer in the fourth period Saturday night to give Detroit an 18 to 14 upset victory over Oklahoma A&M before 14,500 fans at Detroit Stadium.

The winning touchdown came after Oklahoma A&M had rallied from a 12 to 0 deficit to take the lead early in the fourth period.

It was Oklahoma A&M's first setback in Missouri Valley Conference competition and kept the Aggies from clinching at least a share of the conference crown.

Oklahoma A&M entered the contest with an overall record of four victories against one loss, including two triumphs in the conference. Detroit, winner in two of five previous starts, had lost to Houston in its only Missouri Valley Test.

ACC Rallies To Down Lamar 26-21

BEAUMONT, Tex., Oct. 24—UP—Favored Abilene Christian College scored in the final two minutes Saturday night to whip a determined Lamar Tech eleven 26 to 21.

Tech was leading 21-20 when George Boyd circled end for nine yards and the winning touchdown. ACC scored early on a freak play. On the opening kickoff of the game, Lamar Tech fumbled on its own five-yard line, with ACC recovering. Then ACC fumbled on the first play from scrimmage, but the ball squirmed over the goal line and Von Morgan covered it for the losers.

ACC Rallies To Down Lamar 26-21

But, ACC came back with a Morgan led Campbell touchdown pass, the play covering 85 yards. Leonard Fry converted to bring the score to 14-13.

Carpenter broke away for a 24-yard touchdown scamper and Lamar Tech led 21-13 at halftime.

The winners dominated second half play. Ed Campbell went 27 yards to climax a 94 yard drive and Boyd converted. Then came the touchdown march which ended with Boyd going over for the game-winning marker.

New Mexico Pounds Montana, 41-13

MISSOULA, Mont., Oct. 24—UP—Halfback Bob Lee scored four touchdowns Saturday to lead New Mexico to a 41-13 Skyline Conference football victory over an injury-riddled Montana squad.

New Mexico's powerful line almost completely stifled Montana's running and passing game in the second half although the Grizzlies fought on near even terms until midway in the third period.

Montana got off to a fast start when tackle Paul Westkamp recovered a Lobo fumble on the New Mexico 20-yard line. Six plays later-quarterback Dick Heath went over from the one yard marker, and halfback Dick Imer converted.

New Mexico tied it up soon after his first touchdown. End Ray Guerette added the first one of his four conversions. Late in the first quarter New Mexico went out in front to stay after the Lobos blocked end Dick Anderson's punt on the 11-yard stripe. Three plays later Lee went over Tackle for three yards and a touchdown.

Mustangs Cash In On Breaks To Whip Kansas Jayhawks

LAWRENCE, Kan., Oct. 24—UP—Southern Methodist cashed in on breaks Saturday in a 14-0 inter-sectional victory over game but fumbling Kansas.

Although outscored, the Jayhawks netted 200 yards to 232 for SMU, first-ranked nationally in defense.

SMU played without starting right halfback Frank Eldon, who was injured last Saturday against Rice.

The first period was all defense. Neither team could keep a drive going. The only thing that looked like a scoring threat came when SMU recovered a fumble on the Kansas 29. Two plays later, however, Kansas halfback Don Hess intercepted a pass by quarterback Duane Nutt to stop the SMU threat.

Grabs Kansas Fumble SMU scored early in the second period when tackle Jack Gunlock snatched a Kansas fumble out of the air and ran 40 yards to score. The fumble was by John McFarland. The extra point try by Sam Stollenwerk was good.

Kansas came back for its only score at the end of a 77 yard drive. The Kansasans started on their 23 and went to the SMU 33, where a roughing penalty moved the ball to the 15. Four plays later a pass interference penalty against SMU gave Kansas the ball on the three. Halfbacks Ralph Moody and Hess punched to the two foot line and Hess went over. John Handley missed the point.

SMU led at halftime 7-6. Kansas went to the SMU four after the opening of the third period but fumbled and from then on never threatened.

sets Up Final Score After a punt exchange, Stollenwerk intercepted a McFarland pass on the Kansas 38 to set up the SMU final score.

After a penalty, 37-yard run by SMU halfback Don McElhenny put the ball on the Kansas six. Then McElhenny went around right end to score the touchdown. Stollenwerk added the point.

Kansas moved the kickoff after touchdown back to the SMU 23 in its final bid to stay in the game but the Texans took over on downs and held.

Stanford Shades Huskies, 13-7

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 24—UP—The Stanford Indians poured 0 on 0 in the first half and then staved off a mighty Washington surge to down the Huskies 13 to 7 and remain unbeaten in Pacific Coast Conference football competition.

The result kept Stanford a solid contender for the Rose Bowl, but knocked out Washington's ambitions in that direction.

Halfback Ron Cook scored both off Stanford's touchdowns—first on a 51-yard punt return in the opening period, and the second on a screen pass from quarterback Bob Garrett from 15 yards out in the second period.

Leahy May Have To Give Up Coaching

Notre Dame Coach Frank Leahy probably is suffering from a virus inflammation of the intestines and may have to give up coaching "for awhile," doctor said Saturday night.

There was no indication, however, how long he would be away from football, he said, and at the time, he said, he was in the dressing room during the halftime intermission in the Georgia Tech game. He was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital "for relief of pain and diagnostic tests."

His wife went to the hospital and stayed with him.

Drs. Nicholas Johns and Sherman Eagen said Leahy was "resting comfortably and will be hospitalized and observed for several days." They said he was in no pain.

The doctors said Leahy complained of feeling ill Saturday morning but insisted on attending the game. The illness became more serious, they said, and at the half "the symptoms became incapacitating."

Assistant-coaches Bill Earley and Joe McCardie took over in the second half.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Oct. 24—UP—Dan Pobojewski, who couldn't make the grade at Michigan State, and sophomore quarterback Froncie Gutman led underdog Purdue to a string, 6 to 0 triumph over Michigan State Saturday, clipping the mighty Spartans' 28-game winning streak in one of the season's biggest upsets.

Pobojewski, a sub fullback in the patched-up Purdue lineup rid-dled by injuries and failures throughout the season, crashed over for the killing blow on the third play of the fourth period after a see-saw battle before 35,000 awed fans.

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 23 — UP — The big man with the drawn look — his fans would recognize him instantly as John Wayne — wasn't happy as he said:
 "When I wake up in the morning and see my name all over the front page in black headlines, it makes me sick to my stomach."
 He was talking about his sensational divorce suit with Chata — the dark-eyed Mexican girl he married in 1946.
 "I guess people forget sometimes an actor is just like any other man — with the same ideals and hopes," Wayne said unhappily.
 The six-foot, four-inch actor rubbed his jaw and said the continuation of his divorce was just a delay as far as he is concerned.
 "It just means more time before the whole thing is settled and forgotten," he said. "You have no idea what a strain the whole business is."
 Wayne admitted he dreads taking the stand next week.
 "What I dislike most is talking about her," he said. "It doesn't seem right, but there's nothing else I can do."
 "Sure, I'd like to have settled this out of court. I wanted to. But the price was just too much, more than I could pay. You just can't forget about a thing like this, so there is no other course."
 "I don't think people will blame me for what's happened when all the facts are out. It's what's said before this case is cleared up that hurts.

 "The things said so far have been in the headlines. But by the time I make the denials it'll probably be in small print."
 "It's a tough spot to be in." Another thing that bothered the handsome leading man was the effect the testimony would have on his four children by a former marriage and his close friends.
 "There are things that happen in the life of every man and woman — things they aren't ashamed of — but events and feelings that aren't meant to be known by everyone in the world," he said.
 "It just makes you a little sick to see them in black and white. I'm not cynical about women yet. But they're a little lower on that pedestal."
 Wayne slapped his leg in frustration and admitted he was tired. He looked it as he said:
 "Maybe the worst part of it is that everyone will think there were no good times or laughs during our marriage. But there were."

TEC Forecasts Employment Rise

AUSTIN, Oct. 23 — UP — The Texas Employment Commission, noting a favorable gain in employment from August through September, Friday forecast a similar rise for October and November.
 But, the commission warned, the rate of gain probably will be lower than last year.
 Employment jumped 5,100 from August through September, but failed to match the percentage increase of the same period last year.
 The gain, 2 per cent, compared with .6 per cent for last year. It brought total employment to 2,672,300.
 Non-manufacturing employment increased from 2,178,300 in August to 2,186,200 in September, a gain of .4 per cent. Manufacturing employment dropped 2,800 from August, from a total of 488,900 to 486,100.

An' The Gobble-uns'll Git You
Ef You Don't Watch Out.

Little Orphant Annie
An' Gobble-uns aplenty will be stalking the streets of Pampa during the hours when neither man nor beast would dare tread beyond the front door this week. The danger that lurks after curfew time behind each tree and bush will be seen only by evil spirits, bats, black cats, witches, ghosts and the man in the moon.

AMONG THE WEIRD CHARACTERS positively identified as Pampans are Jack, 11, and Jill Zerker, 7, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Zerker, 311 N. Wynn, who wouldn't consider painting the family cats with black shoe polish — unless they could find the polish.

OUT TO TRICK OR TREAT is Virginia Hopkins, 12, daughter of Mrs. James Hopkins, 1710 N. Russell. The business of tricking or treating looks like a profitable business for this local gypsy.

ROBERT MILLIREN, 11, and his sister, Leslie, 8, decide on a mild costume party where they will be in the crafty company of leery Jack-O-Lanterns, wispy spooks and chuckling witches. The mother is George and Martha Washington are the son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Milliren, west of Pampa.

JIMMIE KAY MACK, 10, helps her sister, Mary Ann, 8, get dressed in a costume that will be sure to skeer the wits out of any normal ghost. These brave girls who will venture out into the cold on Halloween night are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Mack, 1116 S. Barnes.

Peg O' Pampa

WHAT WAS THE VERY FIRST thing YOU did this morning? Before we even brought in the Sunday papers, we lifted the receiver on our telephone and listened to the new dial tone. Did ever such a dreary, monotonous tone sound so good.

HATS OFF TO GEORGE NEWBERRY and all his hardworking crew at Southwestern Bell Telephone Company for their fine piece of work. One of Pampa's most public-spirited citizens, George has been touring the schools and civic clubs lately, demonstrating the dialing method.

ANOTHER NEWCOMER TO PAMPA, Jerry Johnson, the new vice-president and sales manager of Beacon Supply Company, has led a varied and interesting life before coming to Pampa. Formerly of Ft. Worth and Houston, he's been in the oil business for some time. We're hoping he and his family linger long.

WE'RE SORRY TO HEAR that Mrs. F. M. Culbertson's mother is ill. She's been staying with her mother for the past week.

A LOVELY TEA WAS HELD for the brand new Twentieth Century Cotillion Club. The membership consists largely of the younger matrons in Pampa, and though it's still small, it's well on the way to bigger and better things. Mrs. John Campbell is its first president and future presidents will have to go far to match her charm and looks. Wanda is a member of the Panhandle Pen Women and the Beta Sigma Phi and a hard worker in both. She's the mother of two small children and on top of all this, we noticed while out driving, that she and Johnny are adding a new wing to their cute little house east of town.

SPEAKING OF WRITERS, we heard that Mrs. Lillian Snow's son-in-law has sold several stories lately. One to "Today's Woman" and one to "Red Book." We believe he and his wife live in Santa Fe and you can just guess how proud Mrs. Snow is of them.

HERE'S A CUTE IDEA we picked up and it really works wonderfully well. Try using your rubber dish scraper to clean the small panes in your window. And speaking of daffynitions (which no one was here's one dear to the hearts of mothers of small sons. . . . Conscience. . . . What makes a small boy tell his mother before his sister does. Here's another. . . . A New York agency offers to supply trained viewers to watch your favorite TV program when you are unable to see it.

WHICH BRINGS TO MIND the very attractive presentation dance given by the BGK Sorority on Wednesday evening at the Country Club. New pledges were presented through a picture frame window in a pumpkin. . . . a very modernistic pumpkin, complete with TV antenna. Life with Peter-Pumpkin-Eater was never like this. The Fall theme was used throughout. . . . with sheaves of grain and pumpkins scattered about. At the door, grain shocks, pumpkins and clumps of pampas grass were used intertwined with orange crepe paper. Grain and small pumpkins also dotted the tables as center-pieces. Mrs. Jerry Thomas was a pace-setter in pale beige net and lace. Pat is blond (though not the pale type) and with her coloring, nothing could be found more attractive. Mrs. Jim Arndt was another in bright red taffeta. We must admit in fairness to all, though, that each and every gal present supported our belief that American women are really leading the fashion world.

WE NOTICE THAT A GROUP went over to Borger recently to hear Dr. Perr Stensland of Texas Tech speak before the radio listening group of the Adult Education group. We heard Dr. Stensland when he spoke here last spring. . . . he's a very interesting speaker.

HERE'S ANOTHER NAME to add to the list of the many Pampans who went to the State Fair at Dallas. However, Helen Dunlap combined business with pleasure on her trip. The Extension Service booth at the fair is under the direction of different home demonstration agents and these last few days fell to Helen's lot.

THE OKLAHOMA STATE FAIR topped us this year in one of their exhibits. They had a stream well stocked with trout, and not only did they furnish the trout, the bait and the gear, they also furnished an outdoor grill for cooking them, or if you please, they quick froze them for you. . . . enabling you to remember their fair for months to come.

COUNTED AMONG THE LUCKIEST winter vacationers this year are Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Hicks. They are spending this month on the Isle of St. Thomas where they've enrolled their son in school. He's planning to fly back pretty quick now, but she'll linger until Christmas, returning here in time for the holiday festivities.

WE WERE AMONG THOSE who took in the wood block art exhibit in the Pampa Library last week. It was sponsored by the Pampa Art Club. A different block of wood must be used for each different shade on the picture and then when they're applied to the paper, one at a time, each must just match without any overlap. . . . much easier said than done, we think. You could certainly tell that the artist lived and worked in and around Santa Fe and Taos and Tres Ritos and maybe up into Colorado. The mountain aspens and Indian hogans looked very familiar.

MARK THIS DATE ON YOUR CALENDER for next week, Tuesday at 4 and again at 7:30, in the Junior Hi auditorium, the AAUW is sponsoring "Robin Hood" presented by the players of Frank Phillips College. We have it on the best authority that it will be well worth seeing with lots of new scenery and costumes and some really good acting.

THERE'S SOME GOOD in the worst of things, and Trick-or-Treat, which has for several years past, slowly slid down into a "gimme" game, is getting a face lifting this year by the local troops of the Girl Scouts. They're asking for donations for Girlstown, USA, located at Whiteface. So dig deep, both into your closets and pockets, and give what you feel is right. How much better than the usual Trick-or-Treat. . . . more power to you, Girl Scouts.

HERE'S A CUTE IDEA some other clubs and organizations may want to copy. The ladies of the First Christian church are pooling their coupons and trading stamps and things to get a set of silverware for their church.

WE'VE JUST RECEIVED our season tickets for the Community Concert this year. It's to begin next Friday night with a presentation of the Ballet Russe. We're not sure of this, but perhaps Mrs. A. A. Shuneman still has a few season tickets for the benefit of those newcomers to Pampa who couldn't take advantage of last spring's membership drive.

ONE OF THE MOST ATTRACTIVE WOMEN we've met is Mrs. Fred Neslage. She's charming, poised and seemingly never ill-at-ease in any situation. Her children always look neat, happy and full of life. We wonder what her secret is, she's bound to have one. No one else we know could handle nine sturdy children and still manage as she does.

OF COURSE LOTS OF THINGS had to be postponed or slugged through the rain. . . . but there's always next week. . . . and that's what we'll see you again.

las League. As the wife of the editor of the Dallas News and in her own right, she has extensive knowledge of contemporary affairs and international relations. Turn Unused Room Into Real Play Spot For Children; No Decorations Necessary

By KAY SHERWOOD
EA Staff Writer
With stormy weather ahead, indoor play space for the young ones can be one of the major headaches in a busy household. All that jet-propelled energy must be expended somewhere. . . . If it isn't channeled, the destruction to property, temper bursts and wild disorder can make hash of a living room. Ideally, a well-equipped playroom should come with every child, but such is seldom the case. Beautiful recreation rooms are usually planned for the people who need them least — the grownups. As a smart, young couple (parents of three) pointed out to me, the time you most need extra play space is the time you can least afford elaborate equipment — when kids are little. With young, popular youngsters, they solved their play space problem, and inevitably that of their neighbors', simply and inexpensively. Guided by their understanding of what small children need and enjoy, they turned one large dry basement room into a true recreation room. Boiled to one of the beams are two rope and wood climbing ladders and one low homemade swing. A heavy rope knotted around the beam provides more climbing tests for would-be acrobats. An old, inexpensive cotton mattress on the floor under the ladders cushioned any bumps. Closet cast-offs, gathered together in an old steamer trunk, provide exciting dress-up material for girls and boys alike. Three miniature household appliances equip a "housekeeping corner." Catering to the scribbler is a blackboard and an old desk which holds crayons and water colors. This leaves plenty of floor space for the madly riding tricyclists to work the cramps out of their muscles, too. A coat of bright yellow paint on the walls and a red-painted concrete floor are cheerful but indestructible decoration. Although the neighbors' kids flock to play here, too, the noise and hubbub are confined. Best of all, in the young mother's opinion, she can keep an eye on the children without sacrificing her neatly ordered upstairs to their normal, vigorous play.

Delicious is a much too bland word to describe this extra special chicken loaf. Make it for that special occasion when you really want to make an impression and don't mind splurging a bit. Mushrooms cooked gently in butter, and nutmeg, onion, and garlic salt, enhance the chicken flavor. Parsley and pimiento add color. Double-rich evaporated milk makes this dish nutritious as well as ultra-delicious.

MATURE PARENT Business Women Will Hold Party

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
Once upon a time, says the storybook, there was a little orphaned prince whose uncle coveted his throne. So the prince was carried away to become a solitary prisoner in a desolate tower. His fairy godmother felt sorry for him. She told him to sit in the middle of a certain rug, say "Abracadabra dum dum dum," and arranged things so that rug with the prince would sail right out the window for joyrides over the surrounding countryside. . . . Before we get too enthusiastic about this fairy godmother, let's note that while her magic formula released the little prince from punishment, it did not tell him how to deal with greedy people. It was a ticket to a joyride—and that's all. . . . Yesterday, Henry's mother gave him a ticket like that. Sorry because she'd sent him to his room for slapping his little cousin, Ellen, she went to him and said, "Tell Aunt Alice you're sorry you slapped Ellen, and you can come downstairs." Like the little prince, Henry caused upon this device for erasing painful loneliness and muttered the formula obediently. Whereupon he was restored to grace and everyone felt fine. However, the problem of little cousin Ellen remained unsolved. She is the bane of Henry's life. Last week she overheard his beloved mechanical clown, Bobbo, so that Bobbo no longer can turn somersaults. Yesterday when he slap-

Dear Miss Friend
I am just starting my sophomore year in high school. In our town that is the first year of high school. I notice that the girls all use makeup but my mother says I am still too young. She says ask Grace Friend what is the proper age to start using makeup. If she thinks you are old enough, I will see what can be done. So I am asking you to do a column on makeup. Also will you suggest the right age to start wearing stockings to school? And what about high heels? Thanking you in advance, M. F.
Dear M. F.
Most girls start to use lipstick when they enter high school and of course you don't want to be different. Take pains in choosing the right shade for you and learn to use it correctly. A much neater effect will be gained if you apply it with a lipstick brush. Be sure not to put it on too thickly. Try it out at home and have your mother help you in learning how much to use so that you will really look your best. Very few high school girls use rouge or powder. They look nicer without it. So I doubt if you would want to for a year or two. Most girls in high school wear socks and flat heeled shoes. They look better with the skirts, sweaters etc. that girls like to wear at school. Many girls even wear dressy flat heeled shoes with their uniforms. If you want to wear high heels when you are dressed up for a dance or an important date make sure that you have practiced in them before making your first public appearance as you will be inclined to teeter on them until you learn to balance correctly. Perhaps, if you have always worn flat heeled shoes you should make the change to high heels gradually with a pair of Cuban heeled shoes in between. Make sure that your dress is the kind which calls for high heels. It just looks silly for a girl to wear high heels with sporty clothes, as they are a discordant note when worn with the wrong things, no matter how pretty they may be with party clothes. HOME FOR A HORSE Dear Grace Friend I enjoy your column so much and your sound advice for those who need it. Now we have a problem. It probably sounds very small but to us it is quite a problem. Our son has a horse which is a very gentle horse. Just right for youngsters. Our problem is that living in town we haven't any place to keep it.

Sound Off By A Leaguer

We've been queried several times lately about some of the things people heard on the panel discussion of the Bricker Amendment to the League of Women Voters' Imcheon, First and foremost, the local League cannot instigate any action on a local level... all we may do is send in our ideas as a local league to the National League office. The National League of Women Voters asked us for our opinion, if we felt we understood the issue and had done some study on it. Since several of our units have done some extensive study on this, we voted and the vote was unanimous except for three abstentions. Of course, this vote is on the amendment as it now stands. We'll have to take it again if there are any changes.

Next Thursday, the 29th, Miss Betty Goetz, a National staff member, and Mrs. W. Ruggles of Dallas, a state board member, will address a meeting of the League of Women Voters and any other interested persons in the City Club Room at 10 o'clock. Then at 12, there's to be a luncheon for board members and their guests. There's only seating room for 40... so anyone interested had better make reservations now with Mrs. Hahn. Tuesday is the deadline. The luncheon will be held in the Pine Room of the Schneider Hotel, and reservations are $1.

Our vote of thanks for the week goes to a hard-working woman, Mrs. H. L. Baker, whose job it is to place the League "Know Your Community" booklet in the offices around town. She's almost completed the work of giving one to every dentist and doctor, every school library, the churches and some of the public offices such as the Chamber of Commerce and the City Business office. The next job, and one which will really take some doing, is the job of distributing them to the home of every poll tax payer in this area. Be sure you look for yours.

Something else we want to plug early is the November general meeting of the League of Women Voters. The exact date is not definite as yet... either the 9th or the 16th... but Mr. Meredith of Berger will be the guest speaker. He also will show a film of the Canadian River Dam site. Make your plans to attend now. Remember... the 24th of November is the voting date to decide whether we remain in the Canadian River region. Let's all be sure to vote.

RUTH MILLET

"Self-pity is perhaps the most destructive of all human disorders," says a prominent physician in a current magazine article.

That is certainly borne out by many of the letters that come to this column. Especially those from housewives.

As a group, housewives must be especially susceptible to self-pity.

They have such a variety of reasons for feeling sorry for themselves. A feels sorry for herself because she has to put up with "impossible" in-laws.

Mrs. B is wallowing in self-pity because her husband doesn't show any appreciation for all that she has done to help him.

Mrs. C feels sorry for herself because she is bogged down by housework and tied down by family responsibilities that she feels dull and uninteresting.

Mrs. D feels like a failure and blames it on her husband's taking no interest in his home and children.

The list could go on and on for there are dozens of complaints that crop up in letter after letter from housewives who are weighed down with self-pity.

Though the complaints vary, the letters usually have two things in common. The writer blames her unhappiness on another person or on an intolerable situation. And she always wants to know what she can do to change the person or the situation, never what she can do to change herself.

So if you think someone, or some situation, is making you miserable, the thing that is actually licking you is just plain self-pity.

If you'll stop feeling sorry for yourself long enough to get a good clear look at your problem, you can probably work out a solution yourself.

But you'll never work one out if you would rather feel sorry for yourself than be happy.

'Robin Hood' Costumes Designed, Made By Students Of Frank Phillips College

ALLAN-A-DALE, a role in the coming production of "Robin Hood," is played by Bobby Nix, tenor. The presentation of the Frank Phillips Players is sponsored by the local branch of the American Association of University Women and will be given at the Pampa Junior High School Auditorium Tuesday afternoon and evening.

Ballet Russe De Monte Carlo Concert Company Due Here For First Community Concert Presentation

Five major ballet companies have toured the large American cities from coast to coast in recent seasons. Films featuring dance like "Red Shoes," "Tales of Hoffman," "An American in Paris" and "Lovely to Look at" have drawn long lines at the box-office of movie-houses everywhere. Ballet and dance numbers are a familiar feature of most big TV shows. But until this season, no major company has been organized to bring "in the flesh" production of major dance numbers to cities and towns in America which have never before seen an important ballet company in action.

This need will be met here at 8:00 o'clock Friday with the appearance of the Concert Company of the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, organized to bring ballet from Monte Carlo, Paris, London and New York to America's own doorstep. Fresh costumes and scenery, new musical arrangements for two pianos, and new faces among the dancers themselves are characteristic of the new troupe, which will be seen in four favorites from the big repertoire of America's most widely travelled company, the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo.

The dancers of the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo Concert Company — 15 in all, represent 12 of the 48 United States as well as Canada, Mexico and Europe. Premier Dancer and Maitre de Ballet Roman Jasinsky, Moscelyne Larkin and Nina Novak head the company.

Jasinsky, born in Warsaw, Poland, is a graduate of the famous Polish State Ballet School, which has produced more than its share of the world's great dancers. He joined the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo in 1938 after leaving the Original Ballet Russe with which he toured all over Europe and South America as well as the premier dancer. He returned from Argentina, where he appeared this past summer with the world-famous Alicia Markova, just in time to join the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo Concert Company.

Moscelyne Larkin is Mrs. Roman Jasinsky in private life. In her tours as leading soloist with the Original Ballet Russe and the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo she journeyed far from her native Oklahoma. In the past few years Miss Larkin has made frequent appearances as prima ballerina at the Radio City Music Hall in New York City.

Miss Nina Novak joined the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo as a soloist in 1948 and rose to first ballerina with the mother company more quickly than any other young dancer in America. Miss Novak first appeared in the United States with the Polish Ballet at the New York World's Fair. She then returned to her native Poland where she shortly became one of the leading dancers of the Warsaw Ballet. During the war Miss Novak was interned by the Germans in a concentration camp and finally came back to this country to resume her ballet career.

On the bill is the world's most popular ballet, "Gaiete Parisienne" — to the music of Jacques Offenbach, with costumes and period props by Count Etienne de Beaumont. The action takes place in the gay Cafe Tortoni in Paris in the 1860s, when a dazzling uniforms and billowing crinolines and daring décolletage were the order of the day. From the moment the charwomen begin cleaning up for the evening's festivities, until after the ladies of the evening have demonstrated the once-shocking "Can-Can," the guests drift away to the haunting strains of the "Barcarolle," this light-hearted spoof of the vanished splendors of Napoleon II's Second Empire has always captivated audiences everywhere.

No evening at the ballet would be complete without a classic or "white" number, and for almost a century the most popular of these has been "Swan Lake" to the brooding music of the most romantic of all the Russians, Peter Ilitch Tschalkowsky. The same composer celebrated "Bluebird," Pas de Deux from the full-length production "The Sleeping Beauty" reveals the composer in a more dramatic mood and gives the dancers a superb chance to demonstrate their bravura technique. After watching the "Bluebird" duet, those to whom ballet remains a novelty will see for themselves why the dancers must be young and as physically alert and able as the best athletes.

"CIRQUE DE DEUX" or Circus for Two will complete the ballet program scheduled for Pampans by the Community Concert Association Friday evening. The Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo Concert Company will give the program in the Pampa Junior High School Auditorium.

Completing the varied program is the newest note in the ballet world, one with an American accent. This is supplied by the "Cirque de Deux" or Circus for Two, to the familiar Ballet Music from Charles Gounod's opera "Faust," which was designed by Ruthanna Boris, Brooklyn-born dancer who began dancing as a member of the Metropolitan Opera corps de ballet in New York and graduated from the ranks of the chorus to the position of ballerina at America's first opera house. After several Broadway appearances in musical comedy, and an engagement with the American Ballet Co., she joined the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, for which she created "Cirque" in 1947. An immediate hit with press and public alike, it has been performed by the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo in the course of its coast-to-coast tours of this country and Europe for the past five seasons.

Director of the Concert Company is an impresario linked by legend and his own experience with the fabulous Serge Diaghileff, who brought the Russian Ballet from St. Petersburg to Paris in 1911. This impresario is Sergei Denham, who says: "Judging from the hundreds of letters we have received from communities all over the continent, the public thirst for entertainment by a ballet company which would offer full productions drawn from the classic repertory at a cost commensurate with limited budgets and small halls has never been greater."

Overseas Gift Quota Reached

Although there is still a definite need for more Christmas gifts for the servicemen on the high seas, Pampa's quota has been reached, according to an announcement by Mrs. F. W. Shotwell, executive secretary of Pampa's Red Cross chapter.

Thirty-three packages containing three to four gifts each have been received this week. Twenty of those packages were presented by the 20th Century Club, Mrs. Shotwell advised.

Grey Ladies, Mrs. Wade Thomason, Mrs. Dick Hughes and Mrs. Harry Hoyer have volunteered to wrap the gifts.

Anyone who still wishes to contribute to the drive must have the gifts at the Red Cross office in the City Hall by Nov. 1, Mrs. Shotwell stated.

Each year the Pampa branch of American Association of University Women brings to Pampa a play for the entertainment of Pampa children and adults. This year they are sponsoring the Frank Phillips College Players in their production of "Robin Hood." There will be an afternoon performance at 4 o'clock and an evening one at 7:30 o'clock. Tickets will be sold at the door.

Outfitting an entire cast with costumes is the job of Mrs. Willeta Olds, Anne Rittenhouse and Janis Williamson. The trio, under the direction of Mrs. V. A. Miculka, has designed the costumes for the forthcoming production.

Mrs. Olds, a student from Pampa, said, "It has been an inspiration as well as a challenge to do this work." Although she has had no formal training in her field, she sells paintings and finds this hobby "more pleasure than work."

Anne Rittenhouse, who worked on the "Snow White" and the "Key" sets last year, has done the costume design for this production also. For "Robin Hood," she has been head of patterning, cutting, and distribution of costumes.

A native of Athens, Tex., Janis Williamson plans to attend either the Kansas City Art Institute or the University of Texas. Her major in art has presented many jobs for Janis, she makes posters for the school and for her church. By way of experience in the costume field, she has worked on several high school and college productions.

Costumes are being executed by Jerry Pool, Pat Wallace, Joy Dickey and Barbara Meek who serve as the crew.

The leading characters' costumes emphasize the richer colors, while the less important characters are dressed in bright, bold colors. Mrs. Miculka said, "The costumes are very colorful and dashing."

Robin Hood and his merry men, beautiful Maid Marian, and Sir Guy are top roles in this presentation.

Never ignore that little R.S.V.P. at the end of a written invitation. It's the hostess' plea: "Please, please let me know how many guests to count on."

And the more promptly you reply — the better.

When you are riding in someone else's car, lean back, relax and let the other person do the driving and make the decisions. Your help won't be appreciated in "putting on the brakes," "watching traffic lights," suggesting the best route to take, or the best place to park, etc.

If his birthday rolls around before he has ever had an occasion to give you a gift — go easy. Get him a small remembrance, such as a book or a record you think he'd like. But don't get him an expensive present. If you do it may look as though it's you who are pursuing him.

It's always better to have it look the other way 'round.

Gray County Boys Show More Interest In Swine Program

By WALT SWITZER
Pampa News Staff Writer

The population of swine owned by present and former 4-H Club boys in Gray county has increased considerably during the past several years.

Jerry Mobly, assistant county agricultural agent, said this is due to the increased interest shown each year in the Sears swine program, which has been in existence in this county for the past seven or eight years.

"Boys who have participated in this program during those years are continuing to raise pigs," he said, adding that there are nearly 200 animals now being raised in this county for breeding purposes as a direct result of this program.

WINS RIBBON — Another prize winning gift exhibited in the recent county show is the one pictured above with its owner, Bobby Weaver, McLean 4-H club boy. The pig placed second in the show. It was one of eight gilts in the Sears swine program in Gray county this year. (News Photo)

THIS IS only one of the many activities in which 4-H Club boys take part. Other activities include beef and dairy cattle raising, raising of various crops and judging contests, among many others.

In explaining how the Sears swine program works, Mobly stated that each year eight boys in the county are awarded a pig each. These pigs are distributed between May 15 and May 31 usually, he said, adding that they must not be distributed later than June 15. They should be farrowed on or after Feb. 15 up to and including April 15.

The selection of boys to receive the pigs is made through an essay contest and it is the plan of the program that each of the eight essay winners is to receive a reasonable good pig in good health at the time of delivery, Mobly said.

IN VIEW OF the fact that a boar is needed to further the program, one is awarded to a ninth boy in the county.

Each fall a county show is held in each county in which all sow pigs distributed in the spring will be exhibited. The county show not only includes sow pigs distributed that year, but also includes a pen of three market hogs, products of the show pigs distributed the previous year.

Shortly after the county show is held, a similar district show is held. In addition to the showing of the first place sows and the pen of three hogs, the boars of each county are shown.

Five prizes were awarded in Gray County's recent swine show. First prize went to Paul Eakin, Pampa, for his gilt. Other county winners were Bobby Weaver, McLean, second; David Crockett, McLean, third; Jerry Goldston, Alameda, fourth; and Jimmy Eakin, Pampa, fifth.

EAKIN, in winning first place in the county exhibition, took his animal to the district show held several weeks ago in Amarillo. Reuben Baggettman, Groom, who had the county boar, also showed his animal there. The boar won sixth place, while Eakin's gilt placed eighth.

Others participating in the Sears program in this county are Kenneth Taylor, Pampa; Tommy Arshington, Hoover; and Danny Shields, Alameda.

Interest in 4-H Club work in this county is steadily increasing, Mobly asserted. He said there are now 138 boys participating in the 4-H program. This number is expected to increase within the next few months, he added.

Mobly, who was born in the Washita community near Canadian, is a newcomer to the Texas A&M College extension service, having joined the service last July.

DALLAS, Oct. 24 —UP— Attendance at the State Fair of Texas exceeded 2 million this weekend, as the big show neared completion of another successful season.

The total number of admissions by Friday night included 2,068,672, or 17,161 over the total for the same period last year.

Dallas's neighbor city was honored Friday at the fair, as "Fort Worth Day" was observed. The second annual Texas state baton twirling championships were a special feature, as eight boys and 97 girls from all parts of the state took part.

First place winners in all divisions will become the Texas champions at the State Fair of Texas for 1953. Two high school football games in the Cotton Bowl also appeared on the day's agenda.

The lively crowds of teen-agers swarming the Fair grounds Friday for "high school day" pushed the day's attendance to 141,650.

November Draft Quota Decreases

Pampa's November draft quota is somewhat smaller than for October with only five men slated to leave for induction on Nov. 19.

The Chamber of Commerce goodwill committee will hold another farewell party for the men, similar to the one given for Thursday's inductees, stated Jimmy McCune, chairman of the coffee and doughnut sessions.

As yet the draft board has not received a case to send men for physical examinations. However, if it does, the men will be sent along with the inductees, a spokesman stated.

Committee Due OIIC Citation

A special citation for work done by the Oil and Gas committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce in promoting Oil Progress week will be awarded to the committee at the annual membership banquet of the chamber next Thursday night.

E. O. Wedgeworth, manager of the chamber, said Thursday that he had received word from W. T. Lynde, state director and executive secretary of the Oil Industry Information committee of the American Petroleum Institute, that the citation is being prepared for presentation here at that time.

Disastrous Drouth Worst In History

By ROY CALVIN
WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 —UP— The drouth of 1953 will go down in history as one of the nation's worst.

But its disastrous effect will not be the equal of the great national drouths of 1928 and 1934, a U. S. Weather Bureau analysis indicated Saturday.

This year's big dry spell developed too late as a coast-to-coast menace to do as much damage as either of those two. Nonetheless, it has plunged cattlemen in distress and cut a big slice out of grain, cotton, corn and other crops.

'53, '56 Drouths Started Early

Ivan R. Tannehill, chief of the Weather Bureau's forecast service, said, "Things are certainly tragic enough as it is, but we would have been in a bad way if this thing had clamped down (nationwide) last June."

The 1938 drouth, worst in American history, and the 1934 dry siege, which ran it a close second, were early starters. They covered the principal farm areas throughout the critical growing season. The 1953 drouth was a hop-skip thing until it came to its July-August-September climax.

A prodigious analytical chore by the Weather Bureau's climatological services division traces the origin of this drouth back to the Southwestern states two years ago. The analysis portrays it as a full-grown creeper which started as a "little" drouth affecting only a small portion of the country in 1951, considerably more in 1952, and, finally in these past few weeks of 1953, most of the nation.

When Will It End?

The questions arise: Is the United States in a drouth cycle? If so, when is it likely to end?

Tannehill, author of a book called "Drouth," said he will not be surprised if 1954 and 1955 bring average national rainfall followed by two or three more "dry years."

The key word in his statement is "average." Tannehill said, "We have had periods of wet years, with higher than average rainfall. But don't forget there have been losses of dry spots even in those years. And we've had dry years with plenty of wet spots."

Tannehill admitted his off-the-cuff look into the future was "unscientific, only a guess based on what has happened in the past."

Namias: No Cycle

Jerome Namias, in charge of the Weather Bureau's long-range (30 day) forecast service, objects to use of the phrase "drouth cycle."

"All we know is that we frequently have a series of dry years and then a repetition some years later," Namias said. But he stressed there is no scientific basis for calling this part of a drouth cycle.

In a cycle, a fixed sequence of events repeats themselves at specific intervals. Namias said there is no evidence of any such pattern in drouth.

Southwest Hit in Winter

Here is how the weather bureau pictures development of the 1953 drouth:

Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado and New Mexico were the first to suffer, during the winter months.

Next were the Great Plains states, but then spring rains came along to soak pastures and farms in the Southwest and through the Midlands. By this time, however, the South began to suffer. From May 19 to July 6, drouth gripped most of the country south of a line that extended from northwestern Georgia through central Tennessee into southwestern Missouri and thence to Southern California.

The main Corn Belt states had June rains just in time to put most of their crops in good enough condition to survive the long rainless sleigh that was to come.

The southern interior got some rain after the first week in July, enough to bring general relief. At this point, most North Central states had favorable temperatures and received enough rain to maintain soil moisture for satisfactory crop growth.

Maryland, Virginia and the Carolinas turned tinder dry. And soon the Ohio and Mississippi Valley states began suffering as pastures

Look 'em up before you call

Every telephone number in Pampa — 8,300 of them — changed at midnight last night, when the city's new dial system went in service.

Numbers you called yesterday — numbers you have been calling from memory, or have jotted down — are WRONG numbers now!

The correct numbers are listed in your new GREEN directory. Be correct — look up the number in your new directory before you call.

If you do not have a copy of the GREEN directory, just call the telephone business office. We'll be glad to send you one.

George Newberry, Manager

How to Telephone

Suppose you want to call 4-7499:

- Place the receiver to your ear and listen for the steady hum of the dial tone.
- Place your finger in the dial opening over the figure "4." Pull the dial around until your finger strikes the finger stop.
- Remove your finger and let the dial spin back freely.
- In the same way, dial the other figures in order — 7-4-9-9.

When you have finished dialing, you should hear a "burring" sound if the called telephone is ringing. If the line is busy, you will hear a fast buzz-buzz. Hang up, and try again after a short wait.

Free Press Loses

The Founding Fathers of our nation must be spinning in their graves as they view the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States to refuse to rule on the validity of a section of a city ordinance which requires newspapers to obtain a license and pay a tax before conducting their business.

The case is that of the Corona, Calif. Independent, a paper that has been watched with great interest by the press of the nation for it contains the germs of a disease that can be spread until our heritage of a free press succumbs.

The appeal of the Independent held that the Corona ordinance was a tax on privileges guaranteed by the First Amendment to the Constitution which deals with a free press.

In making the appeal the newspaper said that the tax requirement of the city was "void on its face as a direct violation of the freedom of the press guaranteed by the First Amendment" to the Constitution. The ordinance is a general one applying to all businesses and not just to the rate of taxation. In the Corona instance, the newspaper tax was $32 a year which the newspaper refused to pay.

As the Independent pointed out, "the use of the business license tax has greatly increased throughout the United States. In California 90 per cent of the incorporated cities now have such ordinances, a substantial number of which presently attempt to impose their requirements upon newspapers and others exercising the freedom of the press."

The high court voted 6-2 in favor of denying the appeal. Justices Black and Douglas dissenting. Their comment the two justices said that the "license involved here is a privilege tax in fact as well as in name" on activities guaranteed by the First Amendment.

"There is no reason why we should shut our eyes to the nature of the tax and its destructive influence," they said. "No government can exact a price for the exercise of a privilege which the Constitution guarantees."

It is obvious that such an ordinance, being adopted by a city council, is subject to the whim of the city's electors. If the city has a right to set the annual tax on the paper at $32, it has the right to increase or decrease the tax. Thus the tax could be moved to $320 a year, $3,200, $32,000 or $320,000 etc., until the newspaper was forced out of business and silenced. By expanding the thought behind the Supreme Court ruling, the city, state or federal governments could get into the act and all of them or any one alone could set up a tax that would be prohibitive and thus remove a possible threat to the free press.

Truly we have gone a long way down the road to a totalitarian government when we have a Supreme Court decision such as this that is so obvious a blow at traditional American liberty. As the Corona Independent writes:

"We mourn for the loss of freedom of the press."

Eternal Vigilance

Electrical World recently ran a thoughtful editorial which it said that many now seem to feel that the "root of further socialization of the power industry has been largely eliminated, because of the friendlier attitude of the present administration toward private, taxing enterprise."

The magazine then pointed out how dangerous a complacent attitude of this nature could be, and concluded: "those who guide and hold the destinies of private enterprise . . . must look not to the Republicans or to the Democrats for support. They must look to the people. They must keep all Americans informed of the stake they have in private enterprise in all industries."

Despite the changes that are appearing in the federal electric power policy, powerful socialist groups still exist — both inside and outside the government. They aren't going out of business. They are still waiting their chance — and they are still working with full vigor to bring about a socialist state in which the government will either own almost everything or, at least, boss everything.

The socialists have only to win once — and then it takes a revolution or something close to it to unseat them. Here is an outstanding case where eternal vigilance is the price of liberty. There's no room for complacency now, and it's not likely there ever will be.

— LOVE IN POLAND
The latest story out of Poland concerns a rejected lover who decided to stroll along the railroad tracks and brood over his fate. The suitor sat on a tree trunk which was across the tracks and pondered.

Suddenly he heard the wail of a train whistle, and ran back down the track, stopped the train and prevented a serious wreck.

For his efforts he was fined 150 zloty, with an alternate sentence of three days in jail. Seems that walking railroad tracks in Russian-controlled Poland is against the law.

Inflation Follows Belief In Pensions

Inflation is nothing but a greater increase in the supply of money or credit than in goods. Inflation causes great injustices and leads to very, very serious end results. It completely wipes out many people who had planned to take care of themselves in their declining years.

When inflation is started, it cannot be stopped by artificial methods. The roots of the seeds that are bound to result in inflation must be discovered and eradicated.

I think history will show that when people have certain beliefs, inflation is inevitable. Inflation then becomes a matter of self-preservation for those who are exploited by inflation.

Now what are these beliefs that are bound to result in inflation? I believe the cause of inflation is too many people believing in pensions or collective bargaining, and by collective bargaining I do not mean only labor union bargaining, but collective bargaining where the individual is coerced.

"Social Security" is a form of collective bargaining. "Social Security" is a nice name, but in reality it is nothing but a form of pension. When people come to believe that they can violate natural and moral laws and that they do not need to live by the sweat of their brow, but can live on the fruits of others, then the only defense for those who are being plundered is inflation. When collective bargaining groups, whether they be labor groups or farmers who want to establish the price of wheat, cotton and corn through collective bargaining agents through the government, get pensions and subsidies, then the only protection for those being plundered is to issue irredeemable paper money that does not enable these collective bargainers or pensioners to buy very much with the irredeemable paper money that they receive.

Other forms of a pension are tariffs and subsidies of all kinds. And tariffs and subsidies are also a form of collective bargaining because they take away from an individual his right to sell his service or buy production on an unhampered market.

Pensions and collective bargaining are a violation of the Covenants Commandments. They are a violation of the admonition that men should live by the sweat of their brow. They are a form of collectivism or socialism or communism.

Set Bad Example
And when judges and teachers and heads of corporations and Congressmen and our President, let alone day laborers, all want a pension when they are through serving humanity, then the inevitable result is to give them irredeemable paper money so they cannot buy so much and will leave more wealth for those who are actually producing what they consume. If it were not for inflation, the pensioners and the collective bargainers would take almost all of the wealth that was produced, leaving only a small amount for the younger generation and the real creators could hardly subsist. Inflation is the natural sequence that is as inevitable as death.

Remember Jesus said: "Resist not evil." And of course he meant resist the real causes of evil, which are the real evil. It is foolish to resist inflation by price and rent controls and subsidies because they only continue the abuse. If we would combat inflation, we must combat beliefs that violate such moral laws as The Commandments.

And these beliefs that cause inflation are being indoctrinated into the youth of the land in our coercive educational institutions. We must combat the belief in pensions; the belief that man need not live by the sweat of his brow. We must realize that each man should get all he produces, and that he cannot get more than he produces by way of pensions. He must live that when he gets in trouble that there are people who voluntarily want to give him assistance. He must not expect to be supported by pensions, by collective bargaining of various kinds, but must expect to be supported by his own production or savings or by the voluntary assistance of others.

Remember David said: "I have been young, and now I am old, yet have I not seen the righteous forsaken nor his seed begging bread."

And yet we have the President of the United States insisting on 10 million more people being put under "Social Security" or pensions — 10 million more people to be supported not by their own efforts or by the voluntary assistance of others, but by collective bargaining where the individual is helpless to protect the accumulation of tools, which is the best form of security.

Some think the sooner we completely wreck our irredeemable paper currency, so as to stop this attempt to make people secure by pensions and collective bargaining, the better off we will be. Then men will believe that they must learn to be useful to their fellow man so that they can live and enjoy the gratuities of God and the fruits of their own labor.

Yes, we are reaping exactly what we are sowing — inflation — when we believe in pensions and "Social Security" and collective bargaining.

They're Always Good Sellers . . . Best Place To Get Dope For A Good Book Is The White House

By HENRY McLEMORE
It has been almost a year since I finished writing my first book, and a few kind people have already asked me when I plan to do another.

They don't seem to realize that the first one took me nearly 46 years to write, and left me in need of another full 46 years to recover. I belong to the century plant family as an author. Still, I might blossom again before my audience if I could do one thing — get a job in the White House.

That is the quickest way I know of to get a book on paper and between covers.
Almost any kind of job will do, just so you can truthfully say that the President is or was your boss. And that is all I need, because it is a cinch the President has the power to fire anyone around the place, from the fellow who waters the flowers in the Blue Room, to the top adviser.

The list of books that have flowed from the pens of those in the White House is a most impressive one, and their total sales are in the millions.
The first one, if memory serves correctly, was "I Washes For The President," done by John Adams' laundryman. Incidentally, it is out of print, so there's no use looking for a copy.

I have the only — I repeat, the only — copy of another early book written by an employee of the White House, or President's Palace. And that is all I need, because it is entitled "Egg Rolling and Four-Alarm Fires," and is the work of an upstairs maid who jumped out of the window when the British burned the place in 1814.

Since then there has been a steady stream of books from the pens of the President's payroll, and there are no signs of a let-up. What about "Through A White House Keyhole" for a title?

Q—I have had a tumor called a lipoma for five years, located above the waist. Is this kind of tumor cancerous? Mrs. F. R.
A—This is a tumor made up of fatty tissue which is not cancerous. People often have more than one.

Q—Please comment on the statement made recently to me that smoking could cause more abundant growth of hair on the arms, legs and face.
A—Smoking cannot do that.

Q—Would you please comment on the new treatment of stomach ulcers by way of pills described at the American Medical Association's meeting? Mrs. J.L.M.
A—I saw the exhibit and it was very interesting. It was described as an experiment, and whether it will replace other forms of treatment to any great degree remains to be seen.

Q—Is there any tangible evidence of the new treatment of stomach ulcers by way of pills described at the American Medical Association's meeting? Mrs. J.L.M.
A—I saw the exhibit and it was very interesting. It was described as an experiment, and whether it will replace other forms of treatment to any great degree remains to be seen.

Q—My heart beats about 120 times a minute, even when I am resting. Is this likely to cause me any trouble when I have a baby? Mrs. W.
A—Certainly, you should have your heart examined before you become pregnant since this rapid rate is not normal. It is caused, of course, come from an overactive thyroid gland (toxic goiter), or something else, but in any event, the precaution of having an examination is certainly indicated.

NOTE ON QUESTIONS
Dr. Jordan is unable to answer directly individual questions from readers. However, once a week in this "Q & A" column he will answer the most interesting and the most frequently asked questions received during the week.

It seems as though the problems faced by parents with their children are almost unlimited and today several of them will be discussed together. One mother writes that her two-year-old daughter insists on always rocking herself. Another lady writes that her seven-year-old granddaughter picks at her nose continuously.

Both of these must be considered to all a matter of "Bad habits" which children seem to pick up so easily. Ordinarily, these are best handled by not paying too much attention to them, by not punishing, and by other things which keep up their interest.

Calinness of the grownups around the child, normal activity, and the passage of time, generally end-worries of this sort. They are almost always "outgrown," though new habits often come to plague the parents later.

Another mother writes that her three-month-old boy is constantly coughing and sneezing, and the doctor thinks this is the result of an allergy to milk.

Presumably the doctor has reason for his suspicions, and this is a difficult problem because milk is such a good food, and the things which it contains must be supplied to the youngster in some other form is he is unable to take milk products without causing him trouble. For this he will need careful and detailed advice so that the parents can make sure that his nutrition does not suffer.

EARLY AID BEST
Mrs. A. writes that her eleven-year-old son has undescended testicles and wants to know of the relative values of injection or operation. In this case it is unfortunate that the diagnosis was not made earlier since the boy could have been treated by injections with a strong likelihood that this would have remedied the difficulty.

Hoiles Editor Substitutes For Tucker; Writes About Freedom

Ray Tucker has been on vacation, during which there have been guest columns contributed by prominent newspaper editors. In the last of which follows. In it, Mr. Ashby, who is the editor of the editorial page of The Colorado Springs Gazette Telegraph, sister paper of The Pampa Daily News, writes on "What Is A Free Institution?" Mr. Tucker resumes his own column Monday.

By THADDEUS ASHBY
How do free newspapers compare to "free institutions" such as free schools?

What do we mean when we say, "such and such is a free newspaper?" Do we mean that it's a throw-away sheet, delivered without charge? No.

We mean that it's free of government censorship, free from interference, free from all restraint except that exercised voluntarily by the publisher and his observance of the libel laws.

Every so often somebody in a speech expresses this idea: "We must preserve our free institutions: our free churches, schools, newspapers"—thus free newspapers are supposed to be in the same category as free schools.

Isn't that word "free" used in a completely opposite sense when we speak of "free schools"?

Do we mean that public schools are free from government censorship. Obviously not. Everything taught in schools is under state government direction.

The government, local or state, has a right to interfere with what it owns. The state board of education decides what shall be taught as well as who shall teach.

When we say "free" public schools there is only one meaning: we mean that education is provided free of charge. Anything which is tax-supported raises the price of everything else we buy. Thus, even the child who is admitted to school without tuition nevertheless is paying.

All Pay School Taxes
Most people believe it's only the property owner who pays the tax. But property owners pass the tax along to renters. Everybody is either a renter or a property owner. So everybody pays school taxes.

Say it costs $200 per year to send each child to school. To pay that tax the taxpayer can do one of two things: Go without something he wants, or raise the price of his services to others.

If the taxpayer owns a grocery store he will raise the price of groceries to pay his taxes. Competition won't prevent prices being increased to cover taxes, because all storekeepers are in the same boat.

that a person with high blood pressure is made worse by drinking milk? B.T.
A—Nothing very definite that I know of. A person with high blood pressure who is on special dietary treatment with low salt content would not be permitted to drink much milk.

Q—My heart beats about 120 times a minute, even when I am resting. Is this likely to cause me any trouble when I have a baby? Mrs. W.
A—Certainly, you should have your heart examined before you become pregnant since this rapid rate is not normal. It is caused, of course, come from an overactive thyroid gland (toxic goiter), or something else, but in any event, the precaution of having an examination is certainly indicated.

This slick operator had just requested deferment from the Army on the grounds of bad eyesight. Even with his thick thick glasses he had difficulty finding the chart let alone reading it. Told to come back later for the verdict, he went to a nearby theater to pass the time. At the completion of the feature film, the house lights went on. Much to the potential deceiver's dismay who should be occupying the next seat but the doctor who had just administered his eye examination had caught him. He turned to the doctor forgetting, inquiring, "Does this bus go to Yonkers?"

Supreme Court to Rule F.P.C. Gas Rate Role

By WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—A decision on whether the Federal Energy Commission is obliged to regulate natural gas rates from wellhead to consumer is expected shortly from the Supreme Court. It could come Monday, the high court's next opinion day.

The test case involves these principals:

- The Phillips Petroleum Co. of Bartlesville, Okla., which objects to FPC regulation on its gas products. (An estimated 2,300 producers and small-area distributors will be affected by the outcome.)
- The state of Wisconsin and some major cities—Kansas City, Detroit and Milwaukee among them—which insist the FPC exercise regulatory powers and fix rates on gas at the point of production.
- The FPC itself, which does not want to fix rates on gas until it is in the District of Columbia, where it has been operating clearly in interstate commerce.

Next Word From Court

The next, but not necessarily last, word on the case will come from the court.

Briefly, the background is this: The FPC voted 4 to 1 in 1951 that it has no authority to regulate prices producers receive for gas in the well. The District of Columbia Circuit Court of Appeals held on May 22, in a 2 to 1 decision, the FPC did possess such power and, more over, should exercise it.

Phillips appealed to the Supreme court. In the interim, the FPC has set hands off, leaving Phillips and other gas producers and distributors to operate as before.

Court Has Two Options

The Supreme Court has two options. It may refuse to disturb the circuit court's ruling, thus forcing an unwilling FPC the responsibility for overseeing rates from the time gas is pumped out of the ground until it reaches the homes and factories of more than 60 million consumers. Or the court may take a further look at the FPC's responsibilities and decide for itself. In that event, it will schedule oral arguments later, after which it will issue a written decision.

Interested spectators in the case are the states of Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico. They side with Phillips, arguing FPC regulation would invade their rights. All three have their own regulatory bodies.

Congress Is Last Resort

Wisconsin and the cities argued, without federal regulation, their consumers were exposed to rate gouging because producers would be more or less free to charge whatever price they pleased for gas.

The FPC membership has changed since 1951. President Eisenhower has appointed two members since he took office last January. There is no evidence the commission's sentiment has changed at the FPC's behest, the Justice Department recently asked the Supreme Court to uphold the commission's original position.

If the Supreme Court rules against Phillips and the FPC, a rigorous campaign is expected in Congress to try to upset the decision. The high court was "reversed" his way in the tidelands matter.

Pampan Receives Service Award

Richard F. Hankins of Pampa received a service award from Phillips Petroleum Company this month, upon his completion of 25 years of service on Oct. 4.

Hankins joined Phillips' natural gasoline department as a laborer in Panhandle construction and worked as boiler fireman, boiler repairman and engine repairman. His present position is repairman at the company's Gray natural gasoline.

Perryton Man Gets Gray County Well

Paul Heywood, Perryton, is slated to kick off the operation of a Gray County oil well by Dec. 7.

According to informed oil sources, the acreage of the Eddie Fisher No. 1, O. M. Franklin, located 19 miles southeast of Perryton, has been farmed out to Heywood.

The location is supposed to be the same that was before, the sources said. That was Sec. 43, Blk. A-6, H&G Survey, 660 feet from the North and East lines of the Southeast quarter.

U.S., Canada Rigs Up 50

DALLAS — A total of 2830 rigs were active in oilfields of the United States and Canada for the week of October 19, 1953, according to a report to American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors by Hughes Tool Company. This compares with 2880 reported a week ago, 2799 a month ago, and with 2764 in the comparable week of 1952.

The Pampa Daily News OIL PAGE

When Pampa's Oil Progress Week dropped from sight, so did the wildcat locations throughout the Panhandle.

For there was only one wildcat among 24 drill-intentions listed last week by the area office of the Texas Railroad Commission—and that was an amended location.

It was the Gulf Oil Corporation's No. 12 John Haggard, staked out 11 miles west of Miami in Roberts County. Its potential depth is 4,100 feet.

Seventeen of the 24 intentions to drill were located in Hutchinson County.

In the completion line, there were nine oilers and six gassers tabulated on the T. R. C. list.

Weekly Grain Market Report

FORT WORTH, Oct. 24 (UP)—Weekly grain prices strengthened this week, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reported Saturday. Final prices, Friday, compared with a week ago, based on wholesale carlots, Texas common rate points, were:

Wheat advanced 3% to 4 1/2% a bushel, largely because of limited offerings of free wheat. Supplies of wheat on Oct. 4 for milling, export or carry-over totaled 1,332,000 bushels compared with 1,157,000 a year ago and 1,008,000 bushels for the 1947-51 average.

Larger wheat supplies are due to an increase of more than 20 million bushels in the July 1 carry-over which more than offset a reduction in the estimated production. Exports and millings of wheat were about eight million bushels below last year.

No. 2 yellow corn advanced a quarter to three-quarters of a cent per bushel while No. 1 white declined a cent.

Corn receipts increased seasonally at the primary markets. They totaled 15.1 million bushels compared with 9.5 million a week ago and 12.9 a year ago. Barley was down a cent to 95¢ a bushel and up a cent on the high.

Fort Worth quoted No. 2 white oats a quarter of a cent higher at 95¢ to 97 1/2¢ a bushel Friday. Market receipts totaled 1.5 million bushels against 1.3 million a year ago.

Wheeler Gets Wheeler C. James Attorney

WHEELER (Special)—An announcement of the definite date when the modern dial telephone system will begin operating in Wheeler was made this week by H. E. Craig, Memphis, District Attorney, who is installing a dial telephone Co. That date has been set as Thursday, Oct. 29.

"For a split second," Craig said, "All telephones in Wheeler will be silent as the switchboard men disconnect the old switchboard and put the new system into operation."

New directories will be delivered the early part of next week and it will be important, Craig pointed out, that all subscribers look up the number they are calling as every telephone number has been changed with the installation of the new dial system.

The new building which houses the dial equipment in Wheeler was started in June of this year and completed in August. Employees of the telephone company started immediately upon completion of the new building to install equipment which will be used in the new system.

Living, like the one who lives me, life is meant to be shared. Busy of sight, at desk or school book, BUSY IN ANOTHER ROOM.

Never, then, the youth from fortune seeks when the hand falls from the loom; Just behind the hanging curtain, SERVING IN ANOTHER ROOM.

Shall I doubt my Father's mercy? Shall I think death a doom? Or the stripping off the threads? To a bigger, brighter room?

Shall I blame my Father's wisdom? Shall I wonder why the threads? When I know our loved one is happy, WAITING IN THE OTHER ROOM?

Program Complete For C-C Banquet

The program for the annual membership banquet of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, to be held Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Pampa High School cafeteria, is now complete, according to Lynn Boyd, chamber president.

Guest speaker for the occasion will be William J. Bird, manager of the Southwestern Division of the United States Chamber of Commerce, Dallas. He will be introduced by Clinton Evans, who is now vice president of the chamber and who is president-elect.

The Rev. Richard Crews, pastor of the First Christian church, will give the invocation, after which Floyd Watson, vice president-elect of the chamber, will introduce out-of-town guests.

Presenting a special musical feature on the program will be Miss Vivian Walls, Amarillo television star, who will sing, "Songs from the Heart," from her program by the same name.

Boyd will serve as master of ceremonies. He will introduce Evans as the new president.

Dinner music will be provided by Irving Akst, Pampa organist, at the Hammond electric organ.

As a special added feature, a citation for work done by the Oil and Gas committee of the chamber in promotion of Oil Progress week activities, will be presented by a representative of the state organization of the Oil Industry Information Committee of the American Petroleum Institute. The citation will be presented to George Cree, Jr., chairman of the committee, and Clayton Husted, area supervisor of the OIC.

Les Spears, former manager of the Schneider Hotel, will leave Pampa Monday for Wichita Falls where he will take over the management of the Holt Hotel.

Spears managed the Schneider Hotel for Southern Hotels Inc. for six years until its lease was purchased recently by the Pampa Hotel Corporation.
