Good Lighting In Sewing Center Eases Tasks And Saves Eyesight

This homemaker is using her head—and good lighting—in her sewing center.

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

Illuminating facts to shed more light on avoiding eye strain are required reading when long autumn evenings and an overflowing sewing basket conspire to keep our eyes pinned on the fine seam.

And if you have an eager beginner young seamstress in the family, it's more important to protect her young eyes from squints than it is to guide her hand on tailor tacks and darts.

Lighting experts of the Lamp and Shade Institute consider the type of lamp, placement and amount of wattage in their recommendations for lighting a sewing corner.

You can check your own sewing nook to see how it compares with their recommendations. Similar lighting is advised for other close work such as reading or studying.

1. Does the lamp provide general illumination plus concentrated glareless light on the work area? Critical work area in machine sewing, for example, is the small area around the needle, but you need plenty of light to the left of the machine for handling material, making adjustments and so on. Deep shadows invite eye fatigue.

2. Is your lamp practical as well as decorative? Reflectors made of plastic or glass eliminate glare. Shades may be translucent or opaque, but they should be lined in white and broad enough to cast a wide spread of light downward. On a floor lamp, for example, the shade should have a bottom diameter of at least 16 inches, say the experts.

3. Where do you put your lamp? For machine sewing, recommended placement of a floor lamp is determined by measuring 18 inches to the left of the needle and 12 inches to the right of the needle toward the sewer. Center of the shade should be directly above this point. Pin-up lamps should be secured so that the bottom of the shade is 12 inches above the machine and centered about 12 inches to the left of the needle.

4. When you pick up some handwork, where do you sit? The table lamps should be 15 inches to the left of right-hand sewers (to the right of southpaws) measuring from the center of the fabric and six inches toward the rear. Bottom edge of shade should be moved about six inches further back.

5. What about wattage? A 300-watt bulb is advised for floor lamps; 150-watt for table lamps and 100 watts for pin-up lamps for the best seeing while sewing.

The group sang, "We've a Story to Tell to the Nations" and "Something for Jesus."

Officers for the Guild this year are president, Selma Northcott; vice president, Norma Lantz; secretary, Jessie Thurmond; treasurer, Dahlia Hunt; spiritual life, Ruth Bennett; local church activities, Pearl Daugherty; status of women, Helen Letts, and co-ordinator, Mrs. Mable Huckabee.

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Grace

I am always running into trouble when I start to buy new fall clothes or new spring as the case may be.

I always say I must not spend more than a certain sum. Then I am dressed which I don't realize he really needed a new suit.

He is really a swell guy and I feel I have let him down.

I am determined it won't happen again. In fact I made up my mind to write you if you know of where I can get some good sound advice on how to plan my clothes budget and then to stick with it.

I would be most awfully grateful if you could teach me how to manage better.

Wanda

Many women waste money on clothing. It is usually due to buying things on impulse or in failing to have a plan to start with. Wise buying must be based on careful planning if you want a becoming, long-lasting wardrobe which is suitable for your particular activities.

There is a little booklet which costs ten cents which will help you make a plan for your clothes buying. It might help your husband also. It is "Money Management — Your Clothing Dollars." You may order it from Consumer Education Dept., Household Finance Corporation, 919 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago 11, Ill.

CORRECT QUOTATION

Dear Miss Friend

Will you give the correct quotation of the line about the Arabs folding their tents and quietly stealing away? Who wrote it and what is the name of the poem?

L

Dear L

Longfellow wrote it in "The Day Is Done."

It goes like this:

And the night shall be filled with music,
And the cares that infest the day
Shall fold their tents like the Arabs,
And as silently steal away.

Lower prices for bacon, ham and fresh pork—that's what the recent sharp break in hog prices means to homemakers.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture reports that prices of pork have dropped 7 to 12 cents per pound at the major wholesale dressed meat markets since late September.

Although pork prices usually begin to decline this time of year when more hogs start to market, the recent break was largely due to the unseasonably hot weather throughout the country. As a result, heavy holdings of pork accumulated at the major wholesale dressed meat markets and prices had to be cut to move them.

This pressure on wholesale meat markets forced prices of live hogs down to the lowest point since last August. Prices to farmers have dropped as much as $3 to $4 per 100 pounds since a month ago.

However, USDA points out that prices of pork will likely remain higher this fall than last year because the spring pig crop, which is now coming to market, was about 10 per cent smaller than the previous year. This means that production of pork will likewise be smaller. On the other hand, with employment high and wages stable, demand is expected to remain as strong as ever for pork products.

You are buying either town or country property another item to keep in mind is roads or streets. If you are taking into consideration the idea of buying farm or ranch land, be sure to consider the water factor.

Introduction Boosts Ike's Assistant

By MERRIMAN SMITH
ON THE RIO GRANDE, Oct. 19 (AP)—Backstairs at the traveling White House (known in these parts as Casa Blanca): Sherman Adams, the assistant to the President, is the most maligned man of Mr. Eisenhower's current tour.

Adams, former governor of New Hampshire, was introduced last week in Kansas as "the governor of Massachusetts." This accolade was bestowed on him by Harry Darby, Kansas GOP national committeeman.

As the day wore on, Darby's accuracy of introduction did not improve.

At the American Royal livestock and horse show, Darby hailed Adams as "the assistant President of the United States."

JACOBY ON BRIDGE Break Rules, But Give It Thought

By OSWALD JACOBY
Bridge would be a very easy game if you could just rely on following the "rules." Anybody with a good memory would then be an expert.

Let's see where that gets South. West gives the jack of clubs, dummy covers with the king, and East wins with the ace. East continues with the queen of clubs, and South ruffs. Following the old rule, South tries to draw trumps by laying down the ace and the king.

the ace of diamonds and leads a spade. South must lose a spade. This is one trick more than he can afford.

Hence South ruffs the second trick, giving up a trick in hearts. When the finesse succeeds, the rest is easy. South can draw the last trump, knock out the ace of diamonds, and discard two spades on dummy's extra diamonds, making 11 tricks.

Vocalist Of Hollywood To South America

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 19 (UP)—Washington diplomats may need striped trousers, but Hollywood's version of a protocol peddler is a shapely flame-haired night club singer with a low-cut gown.

Wanda Curtis, green eyed and sultry voiced, leaves this month for an eight week tour of seven South American countries to spread goodwill among our neighbors to the south.

She already has left for New York on a diplomatic mission from the film capital and will present her credentials to Mayor Vincent Impellitteri. She will purvey greetings from Hollywood and an invitation to stop out this way when he finds time.

Thereafter Wanda will travel to Paraguay, Peru, Cuba, Chile, Brazil and Uruguay.

"I'll be singing my way through those countries in night clubs and theaters," Wanda said. "But my first assignment in each place is to call on our ambassador to let him know that I'm in town and that Hollywood would like to get a look at him when he gets back to the states."

Wanda will be acting as a sort of ambassador without portfolio on behalf of the Hollywood junior chamber of commerce—the organization which provided her with the letters of introduction.

"All the diplomatic meetings in the world can't do half as much to cement international goodwill as a song—and the right kind of gown," she smiled. "Here's an idea of some of the things I'll be wearing."

The sexy redhead whipped half a dozen colorful evening dresses from her wardrobe, all of which had plunging necklines and spilt skirts.

"I'd try them on for you," she said, "but it's sort of embarrassing unless there's a hand and a spotlight around. You know what I mean—it's too personal when there isn't a big crowd."

She winked prettily and said her songs would be strictly Americana—North American. Her repertoire includes "St. Louis Blues," "Making Whoopee" and "Mississippi Mud."
