Drivers Urged To Resolve To Avoid Holiday Mishaps

Editor's Note: During the Christmas weekend just finished at least 532 persons died in traffic accidents, a near-record. In a dispatch written for the United Press, National Safety Council President J. Dearborn gives expert advice on how to avoid dying in your own auto in the dangerous New Year's weekend just ahead.

By NED H. DEARBORN
President, National Safety Council
CHICAGO, Dec. 29 —UP—There are many ways to say "Merry Christmas." But, certainly, one of them was not to kill more than 500 men, women and children on the public highways during the sacred holiday season. The cold statistics indicated to us here at the National Safety Council that 510 people might be killed over the Christmas holiday season unless the extra traffic hazards of the season were met with extra care, we couldn't help but believe that the Christmas spirit of "peace on earth, good will toward men" would be translated into friendly courtesy behind the wheel and hold down this traffic toll. We were wrong. The toll exceeded our estimate. More than 500 people were killed in holiday traffic accidents alone.

Ten times that many are injured, many of them for life. More than 700 people killed in all kinds of accidents over the holiday period. Is this the kind of a celebration a Christian nation must give a religious holiday? I refuse to believe it. Now, our statistical studies lead us to believe that 360 persons will be killed on the roads during the New Year's weekend. What can we do about it? Is there any way to pull down this disgraceful traffic record, or must we resign ourselves to wholesale carnage? (See DRIVERS, Page 3)

Soviet Frees 2 Americans

BERLIN, Dec. 29 —UP— Two Americans held in captivity by the Russians for more than two years were released Tuesday by soviet authorities in Berlin. The Americans, Pvt. Homer H. Cox and Leland H. Towers, were handed over at the Soviet Army headquarters at Karlsruh Tuesday afternoon, United States officials announced. Only Monday, the State Department in Washington had announced that the two were to be released. Cox's next of kin is his mother, Mrs. Edith Spencer, of Tulsa. Missing Since 1949 Cox had been missing from his Army military police post in West Berlin since Sept. 22, 1949 and had been listed as absent without leave. Towers, a civilian, disappeared in Finland in 1951. His mother said he came to Europe in 1948 to work his way through several countries. Disclosure that Cox, Towers and other Americans were held in captivity in Russia was made several months ago by German and Austrian prisoners whom the Soviets freed after up to eight years of imprisonment.

of the Soviet government's intention to free Cox and Towers. The first definite word that Cox and Towers were in Russian hands came in mid-October when Austrian World War II prisoners freed from the Soviet Union reported having seen the Americans. They said the pair were being held in a prisoner camp some 150 miles from Moscow. The reports were confirmed a short time later by Dutch prisoners released from the Soviet Union. The State and Defense Departments conducted a thorough surveillance to be sure there was no mistake. Then the United States turned a note to the Russians demanding release of the Americans.

French Pilots Stop March Of Invading Reds

SAIGON, Indo-China, Dec. 29 —UP—French pilots flying American-built warplanes halted the southward march of Communist invaders with tons of bombs Tuesday while loyal ground forces in northern Indo-China reported killing 500 Red rebels and capturing 500 guerrillas. The French struck back in the air and on the ground on two fronts in their first move to erase new gains made by Red-dominated Viet Minh forces which split Indo-China last Saturday by driving to the Mekong river port of Thakhek in Laos on the Thailand border. While F8F Bearcats and B-26 bombers pounded rebel columns moving south from Thakhek to the French defense line at Savannakhet, ground troops mopped up Reds near Hanoi in the north. The Communist radio renewed its peace feelers by broadcasting a speech of Viet Minh leader Ho Chi Minh. "Our principal objective at the present time is to decrease world tension and to settle all international differences by negotiations," Ho said. "The international situation is favorable for us. We know that peace will only be at the cost of a bitter, painful and long struggle."

Dallas Police Hold Suspect In Rape Cases

DALLAS, Dec. 29 —UP— A lie detector test indicated Tuesday that a Negro, whom police seized for two burglaries, is one of the rapists who ravished Eugene Livingston, 34, who has been in the penitentiary twice. Police said he admitted two burglaries Monday night, but denied knowing anything about rapes. A lie detector showed a guilty knowledge in at least five rape cases, all in South Dallas. The lie detector did not indicate any knowledge of the rape and murder of Mrs. H. C. Parker. Mrs. Parker, a pretty shopgirl, was ravished and her throat was cut under a bridge in the Walnut Hill section of Dallas last Sept. 30. She gasped before she died that "A Negro took me under the bridge and cut me."

Workers Achieve Goals In Russia

MOSCOW, Dec. 29 —UP—The Communist organ Pravda said Tuesday Soviet workers fully achieved planned goals throughout the country during 1953, registering production "victories" in several key sectors of industry. Pravda said Russia produced more than 38 million tons of steel, 320 million tons of coal, 52 million tons of oil and 133 billion kilowatt-hours of electricity during the year. (Observers in London noted that the figures reported Tuesday by Pravda are exactly those estimated in August by Premier Georgi Malenkov. Percentage increases over the figures announced for last year — 8.5 per cent for steel, 6.7 per cent for coal, 10.6 per cent for oil and 13.6 per cent for electricity — appear to be lagging behind the announced goals of the current five-year plan, these observers said. A Pravda editorial said industrial production generally averages two and a half times 1940 levels, while chemical production, "according to plan," is three times as high as 13 years ago and machinery and equipment production stands at 380 per cent of the 1940 figure. Soviet consumer goods production this year is 72 per cent over 1940, the Communist organ said, while the price reduction ordered during the year saved the people almost $3 billion rubles (nominally worth more than $13 billion.) Twenty-two per cent more food was sold to the Russian people this year than last, Pravda said.

Youngster Drinks Lighter Fluid

Brian Cowan, small son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Cowan, 1168 Terrace, was reported to be in good condition in Worley Hospital this morning after drinking lighter fluid Monday night. His physician said he was resting well and had only a slight chest infection.

Approaching Cold Front Due To Bring Snow To Panhandle

By UNITED PRESS
A blustery norther raced through the Midwest, and down to Texas Tuesday, and forecasters said it would probably bring snow to the Panhandle and South Plains Wednesday. The new cold front, originating in the Dakotas, was expected to drop temperatures to below freezing in West and North Central Texas by Wednesday and elsewhere in the state by Wednesday night. Forecasters said the front would reach Texas by mid-afternoon Tuesday, and would push its way on down to the coast by sometime Wednesday. However, they said it wasn't as strong as the first blue norther of the year which chilled Texas last week, blanketing the entire state causing damage to the vegetable crop which lay in the fields of the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Rain to Continue Light rain, which has been falling in South Texas and along the coast since Saturday, was expected to continue. Forecasters said the earlier showers were caused by a weak cold front which moved through Texas Sunday. A combination of the norther and moisture rising off the Gulf would be responsible for the continued showers, meteorologists said. The only rainfall recorded in Texas during the 24-hour period ended at 6:30 a.m. Tuesday was along the coast. Houston registered 10 of an inch. Beaumont .08, Galveston .07, Corpus Christi .03, and Brownsville .02. Skies were cloudy along the coast and clear to partly cloudy over the remainder of the state, and temperatures were slightly warmer than those of Monday. However, forecasters said the northern portion of the state was expected to turn colder by mid-afternoon, in the rest of the state by Wednesday. Snow is Forecast Light snow was forecast for the Panhandle and South Plains areas Tuesday night, but was expected to extend any further south. Temperatures of 15 to 25 were predicted Tuesday for the Panhandle and South Plains, 25 to 32 elsewhere in West Texas, 26 to 32 in North Central Texas, and 28 to 32 in the extreme north portion of East Texas. Daytime temperatures Wednesday were predicted to be sub-freezing over most of West and North Central Texas. The mercury plunged to below freezing early Tuesday in the northern sector of the state, but stayed above freezing elsewhere.

'Relief' Overcomes Oklahoma Mother

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 29 —UP—A mother who was overcome with "relief" Tuesday when she learned her son had been released by the Russians in Berlin. "Oh, my goodness," Mrs. Edith Spencer exclaimed again and again when she was informed that Cox had been turned over to Western authorities by his Soviet captors. Then she was unable to talk with newsmen who called her. Mrs. Spencer, who works in a prescription shop, has received a number of reports about her son in recent weeks, mostly from other prisoners freed by the Russians. She gave credit to newsmen for pressing the State Department for Cox's release. "If it weren't for the newspapers I don't think anything would have been done," she said. At Lawton, Okla., Cox' father, Pete Cox, was equally delighted when he heard the news on the radio. "We've been waiting for this a long time," said the father, a Lawton fireman. "We've had some good news and some bad, but this is awfully good."

Aliens Register With Post Office During January

January is an important month for any aliens in Pampa, for the law requires that within 30 days from Jan. 1, they must register at the Post Office. Pampa Postmaster W. B. Weathered advised that the Post Office has forms for the aliens to fill out and return. However, the forms cannot be issued before Jan. 1. If an alien fails to register, the penalty can be deportation, Weathered stated. Last year approximately 25 to 30 aliens registered in Pampa. "However, I know of three that have been naturalized since then," Weathered stated, "and there may be more." Also, more may have moved into Pampa.

Bay State Leader Recognizes Texas After 108 Years

BOSTON, Dec. 29 —UP—Massachusetts now recognizes Texas as an "independent and integral state of the union." Gov. Christian A. Herter wrote to Texas Gov. An Shivers Monday, announcing that he was "moved to offer in the name of Massachusetts, full recognition to the state of Texas." Tuesday is the 108th anniversary of Texas' admission to the union, which never was officially recognized by the Massachusetts legislature. "It has been called to my attention that back in 1845, the Massachusetts general court adopted a resolution, condemning the admission of Texas to the union," Gov. Herter wrote. "This resolve still is on the books." "Since it now appears that Texas no longer is an independent republic, though Massachusetts never has been officially notified of this effect, it is my opinion that the time has arrived when the great commonwealth of Massachusetts should take some action."

Pampa Cattleman Sees Bright Year

Prospects for the cattle business in 1954 in Gray County are very bright, according to Wade Thomasson, prominent Pampa cattleman. While prices are expected to remain about the same as they were this year, more cattle are expected to be brought in, provided weather conditions are favorable. Many ranchers, who have sold all of their cattle, are expected to restock, he said. "The cattle picture looks much better now than it did this time last year," he stated, but added "we must have the moisture to provide feed for the cattle." Drought conditions played a big part in making 1953 a "rough" year for the cattle industry throughout the entire Panhandle, he declared. Thomasson pointed out that at the present time about 75 per cent of the cattle in the county are being fed hay and cottonseed cake, while the other 25 per cent have been turned into wheatfields for grazing. However, if sufficient moisture is received, many more cattle probably will be turned onto pastures next spring, he added. In regard to prices, Thomasson stated that stocker cattle, which are more predominant in this county, are bringing about half the price they did in 1952 and the 1953

Wants To Drive Communists Out

SEOUL, Korea, Dec. 29 —UP— South Korean President Syngman Rhee urged the United Nations Tuesday to stop talking with the Communists and reopen the Korean war. But the iron-willed ruler reluctantly renewed his pledge that he would allow a peace conference 90 days to unify his country before risking any military action of his own. In New Year's greetings to the people of South and North Korea, the 78-year-old president made it clear he believed that lasting world peace can be achieved only by driving the Reds out of Korea. To assure that the three-year war was not fought in vain, Rhee asked his allies "to conclude further discussions with the Communists, and to rise with us in courage and valor for the last great battle to annihilate the Red forces that seek the destruction of the free world." But Rhee, who has spent most of his life in exile fighting for a free and unified Korea, said he could not press the war alone. Unilateral ROK action "would have seriously affected our relations with friendly nations overseas," he said. Rhee has sometimes threatened to reopen the war on his own if his country is not unified by Jan. 27, reminded his people: "We agreed to a temporary cease-fire and promised to refrain from unilateral action for 90 days after the convening of the political conference." The president, in a New Year's message, urged "every freedom loving individual in the north to join with us in the great fight for this common cause." There was no immediate reaction among South fighting Allies to Rhee's statement which probably will be broadcast to North Korea. Although Rhee has agreed with the United States to observe the Korean armistice, he has reserved the right to take unilateral action if the peninsula has not been unified by Jan. 27. U.S. Asst. Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson said Rhee has kept all his promises and he believed the aged president would continue to co-operate with the Allies.

Fire-Fighters Work To Save Mount Wilson

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 29 —UP— Two major fires, the worst in 30 years, burned out of control through the Angeles National Forest Tuesday as fire-fighters battled to save the world's second largest telescope and other precious scientific equipment. Already almost 17,000 acres of timber were destroyed. High winds drove the larger fire to within 300 yards of the Mt. Wilson Observatory, which houses a 100-inch telescope and other valuable equipment. A dozen scientists and other personnel available possible orders to evacuate the site. Their wives and children already had left. However, the U.S. Forestry Service said the situation at Mt. Wilson was "improving" though still "serious." Mt. Wilson also is the site of the transmitters of all seven Los Angeles television stations. Valuable Watershed Los Angeles county authorities said Angeles forest was the world's most valuable watershed, computed on the heavy population, high land values and factories that lie below it. They warned that if too much timber is lost the rich lowlands will be unprotected against damaging floods. In some areas men fighting the flames were endangered by rock slides. Some of the tumbling boulders were as large as automobiles. Fire-fighting teams manned 14 pumps near the observatory summit to beat down the flames if they crackle closer. Reinforcements in the form of 200 Indian forest fire experts were being flown here from Arizona and New Mexico. More than 1,000 firefighters were maintaining the lines at both blazes, which have caused evacuation of more than 2,000 persons from homes and summer cabins.

Claims Communists Meeting In Texas

AUSTIN, Tex., Dec. 29 —UP— Fulgham announced he has telegraphed police chiefs at Texas City, Corpus Christi and Brownsville that the Distributive Processing and Office Workers Union of America is attempting to organize workers in those cities. The industrial commission recently charged that the DPOWA and two other unions are "Communist-dominated." Fulgham said the DPOWA was notified Saturday that the CIO was severing its connection with the union. "Since DPOWA has been evicted from the CIO," he said, "We believe the union will become even more desperate and irresponsible." "Evidence presented before us at the recent hearing shows us the union of imported goon squads and terroristic tactics in order to intimidate merchants, businessmen and potential union members," he said. He urged police chiefs to notify the industrial commission or Attorney General John Ben Sheppard "so that proper legal action may be taken" if they determine that DPOWA organizers have been in their cities.

Commission Hikes Rent On Palm Room

It'll cost Pampa groups three times as much from now on to rent the Palm Room for an evening. City commissioners this morning agreed to the hike in rentals after hearing reports on the nature of its use in the past. The fee will be $15 for an evening plus $3 for the use of the kitchen. The kitchen rate is unchanged. Commissioners also agreed that the sponsor of the affair, or whoever does the renting, must present the entire time that the room on the second floor of the City Hall is being used. City Manager B. H. Cruce explained to the commissioners that a lot of refuse, scattered pop bottles and the like have been left after some groups have used the room. The Boy Scouts, commissioners were told, have been using the room gratis several times each month. Cruce was directed to find out what their average monthly use has been, to let them have it that much each month free, then charge them for any more use. The Palm Room can be used from 8 to 11 p.m. Nativity Scenes To Be Dismantled Tonight will be the last time this year that Pampa residents will be able to view the Nativity scenes in Central Park. Wednesday morning Jiggs Cook of the city engineer's office and his crew will begin dismantling the scenes. The scenes will be lit tonight from 8 to 11 p.m. Bert A. # Ike Gets Big Role In Coming Session

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 —UP— President Eisenhower has assigned himself a fat part in the role he likes best for the opening of the new session of Congress. He'll be talking and acting next week more as President of the United States than as leader of the Republican party.

But that is good politics, even though the President likes it, and his party leaders in Congress are more apt to applaud than to complain. They and the news chaps are down for the GOP in the second session of the 83rd Congress which convenes at noon, Wednesday, Jan. 6.

Mr. Eisenhower either wins popular support for his second session foreign and domestic program or the prospect of Republican election victories in 1954 and 1956 fades away.

Mr. Eisenhower sought to put a partisan foundation under his program in a series of mid-December conferences with Republican legislative leaders. He will have Democratic and Republican leaders in for bi-partisan program discussion on Jan. 5, the day before the new session convenes. That is merely a courtesy gesture to the Democrats since the program by then will be fixed in print and ready for presentation to Congress. But it is a gesture with crowd appeal.

Mr. Eisenhower's major petition at the beginning of the new session will be to the public, a strategy which was developed to its greatest effectiveness by Franklin D. Roosevelt. The President has scheduled a final all-Republican White House huddle for Jan. 4, after he will appear from day to day and well into the following week as the spokesmen of all the people.

First appearance in that role will be on the evening of Jan. 4 in a TV-radio report such as FDR used to call a fireside chat. The following day he will be meeting with the Republican and Democratic legislative leaders, and what could be less partisan than that, or more appropriate for a President?

Congress will have the headlines on Jan. 5 when it meets briefly and lets the President know it is ready to hear any communication he may care to make.

Mr. Eisenhower is learning that enactment of a legislative program depends very largely on party loyalty and party machinery. But before he learned that he was well aware that the best and strongest support available to any public man was popular support extending far beyond the halls of Congress.

City Purchases Office Machine

City commissioners this morning bought an accounting machine, approved the annual audit and talked over a proposed jitney service and city personnel policies.

The accounting machine, with typewriter included, is a National machine and will cost $4,775. A representative of the winning firm was on hand and told commissioners delivery would be in five to six months.

City Manager E. H. Cruce said that no new personnel would be needed to operate it, though some of them would have to be trained to use it. It will be used in the offices of City Tax Assessor-Collector Aubrey Jones and City Secretary Ed Vicars.

Approval of the annual audit is a cut-and-dried affair and came within a minute or so. Part of it must be published by law.

As for the proposed jitney service, to take the place of the defunct bus service in Pampa, commissioners decided to let the matter rest unless and until an individual presents a plan for a proposed route to the city commission.

"We're not in the transportation business," Mayor Tom Rose said, as he has in times past. And the rest of the commission seemed in agreement. Cruce pointed out that the biggest item for anyone beginning such a service is the cost of the insurance.

Cruce has had several calls on the proposed service, but no one yet has come forth with a definite plan.

A short discussion on city personnel policies, with no changes made in the present policy, concluded the 1 1/2-hour session this morning.

Reading Passed On Explosives Law

Pampa youngsters will still be able to shoot off cap pistols and their adults can still watch controlled fireworks displays — but the general regulation of storing explosives is one-third of the way toward becoming law.

City commissioners this morning passed on its first reading an ordinance that will control explosives within the city limits. Also passed on its first reading was a zoning ordinance concerning the east side of Hobart Street.

City Attorney Bob Gordon prefaced his reading of the detail of the proposed ordinance by stating, "The only way I can tell how much an explosion will be would be to blow it up."

Included in the proposed city ordinance is the prohibiting of certain explosives in the city limits and their manufacture, the prohibiting of larger quantities than 25 pounds for retail sale, the necessity of having a permit from Fire Marshal Ernest Winborne for transportation and handling of explosives and penalties ranging from $25 to $200.

Other non-dangerous items would be permissible under the proposed ordinance.

The proposed zoning ordinance states that no building or other structure can be built within 40 feet of the west property line along Francis Street to the Santa Fe Railroad tracks.

That would be the first step in the construction of the proposed Hobart Street Underpass. A public hearing on the matter was held a week ago in conjunction with the regular city commission meeting.

Both ordinances must be read and approved two more times before they become law.

Funeral Wednesday For Lefors Man

Funeral services for John Marshall Spann of Lefors, who died at 6 p.m. Monday in Panhandle, are scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in the United Pentecostal Holiness Church in Lefors. Rev. P. C. Kirby will officiate. Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home will direct the burial in the Lefors Cemetery, beside Mr. Spann's wife, Mildred, who died in March, 1951.

Mr. Spann, 83 years old, was born in Glasgow, Ky., and moved to Lefors in February 1951 from Addington, Okla. He was a member of the Methodist Church in Addington.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Joe Parks of Lefors; two sons, Earnie Spann of Altus, Okla., and Charlie Spann, Warm Springs, Calif.; two half-brothers, Willie Spann of Glasgow, Ky.; 15 grandchildren; and 21 great-grandchildren. Some of his grandsons will act as pallbearers.

Youth Rally Opens

Pampa's Church of the Living Word is host today and Wednesday to young people from Oklahoma, New Mexico and the Texas Panhandle at an annual district youth rally. Registration began at 1 p.m. with 75 to 100 persons expected to attend.

"Youth Meets Life" is the theme of the rally for high school and college students and the purpose of the get-together is "fun, fellowship and worship," advised Pampa pastor, Rev. Lyle Albright. Rev. L. E. Coppack of Clovis, N. M., will be featured speaker at a banquet at 8:45 tonight and the event will close with a luncheon Wednesday.

Miss Betty Lou Hershberger of McPherson, Kans., regional youth director, is a guest leader and discussion leaders include Rev. Nathan Heffley of Guthrie, Okla., and Rev. James Parks of Billings, Okla. Rev. Albright is adult advisor for the young people in the district.

Engineers Slate Borger Meeting

Pampa area engineering students will be the guests of the Texas Panhandle section of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers at 8 p.m. today in Central School, Borger.

The meeting will feature a panel discussion on the need of vocational guidance for students who are, or soon will be, making their choice of a profession.

Panel members include Clyde Mathis, Phillips Chemical Company; George Perkins, Celanese Corporation of America; Walter Polk, Phillips Chemical Company; Roger Owen, Southwestern Public Service Company; and Ralph Crandall, Phillips Chemical Company.

Police Probing School Burglary

Police today were continuing their investigation into the reported burglary of the Pampa Junior High School.

Chief of Police Jim Conner said that someone broke into the building during last weekend, but at present it has not been determined just what is missing.

It is known that some money was taken from a pencil dispenser in the school office, however, Chief of Police Jim Conner stated.

Conner said he was waiting for Knox Kinard, superintendent of schools, to return to Pampa from a holiday trip to learn what had been taken.

Pampan's Relative Dies In Gas Mishap

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Jonas, Don and Carolyn, of 1826 Hamilton, and J. W. Moore, of Pampa, returned Monday from Dallas where they were called to the bedside of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Jones and Danny, three years old. Mrs. Jones is the aunt of the Jones' and Moore is the grandfather.

Wednesday the Jones family was overcome by carbon monoxide gas escaping from a faulty floor furnace in their home in Dallas.

Mr. Jones died Thursday and his wife, unconscious since Thursday, is in critical condition in the Baylor Hospital, Dallas. Baby Danny has recovered and is being cared for by his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Z. D. Moore of Dallas.

Woman Loses Watch On Shopping Tour

Mrs. J. P. Herring, 324 N. Zimmers, reported to Pampa police that she has lost a diamond wrist watch.

She told police that she missed the watch while shopping at Ford's Youth Store, after having been shopping at Zales Jewelry, J. C. Penney and Levine's. It is a Baylor watch, she said.

BILLFOLD FOUND

Chief of Police Jim Conner said today that a billfold, containing money, has been turned into the police station. The owner can have the billfold by calling for it and giving a description of it, he said.

New Mexico Rites Planned For C. Hill

Funeral services for Corydon W. Hill of Pampa, who died Sunday in the Veterans Administration Hospital in Amarillo, will be held in Santa Fe, N. M., and burial will be in the National Cemetery there, according to word received today by Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home.

A former oil well driller, Mr. Hill, 62, had lived in Pampa for 11 years. At the time of his death, he lived at 928 S. Sumner. A funeral home spokesman stated that the only survivor that could be located is a cousin in New York.

slaughter on the highway as a "price of progress".

There certainly is a way to cut the death total. First, every decent man and woman in America who is sick and tired of this senseless and brutal waste of life and limb can make up his or her mind to behave better in traffic. Every one of us can drive more carefully, more courteously and more intelligently than we do if we honestly put our mind to it. If it time we started — even the best of us.

And every one of us can enlist in the war on accidents by teaming up with our friends and neighbors in an organized effort to make our communities safer. Join your local safety campaign. Do your part.

A Resolution Needed

More immediately, make a New Year's resolution right now to drive carefully, sensibly and courteously over the New Year's holiday. Don't mix alcohol and gas. Drive like everybody else on the road has been celebrating. And keep right on driving with extra care and common sense throughout 1954.

If enough people do this — watch the traffic toll come down. Rigid law enforcement, better highways, better traffic engineering — all these are important.

But most important of all is that you and I, as individuals, want to drive better and more carefully. Let's start doing it now!

Firemen Extinguish Trash Blaze Here

Pampa firemen battled a grass fire for 20 minutes Monday afternoon before it was extinguished, a spokesman for the fire department stated. However, little damage was done except to the grass.

The blaze began about 2:30 p.m. behind the home of L. L. Stokes, east of the swimming pool. Stokes was burning trash and "it got away from him," a fireman stated.

"Now will you believe our apartment's cold?"

A BOY'S DESPERATE CRY SENDS CLAY ROGERS AND STEVE JAMESON RACING TOWARD THE POND...

New Debates Seen On PWs Of Korea

By PHIL NEWSOM United Press Foreign Analyst Despite strong United States opposition, it's almost an even money bet that the Korean war prisoner issue will be debated once more by the United Nations before the prisoners finally are set free. It need not, however, delay their release beyond the schedule Jan. 22 date. And it need not be any surrender to the Communists. If a change of tactics is dictated, it will be for two main reasons: 1. To take India off a "spot." 2. To button up a victory over the Reds and to remove any possibility they could make propaganda hay by charging the United States with dictatorial action. Indian Problem Touchy The situation as regards India is particularly touchy.

It doesn't take much to stir up Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru's indignation against the United States and right right now he is indignant for two reasons. One is that the U.S. is discussing a military agreement with India's neighbor Pakistan to which India is utterly opposed. The other is that Nehru is accusing the United States command in Korea of taking an unbending view toward the prisoner issue. With both United States and Communist agreement, India was named chairman of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission which took over custody of some 23,000 United Nations and Communist war prisoners unwilling to go home. The 90-day period for interviewing the prisoners ended last week, and, under terms of the armistice, they are to be released to civilian status within 30 days unless the Korean political conference decides some other disposition of them. 'Should Be Automatic' The U.S. view is that, since there is little likelihood of a political conference in 30 days, the prisoner release is automatic. Nehru wants the whole matter referred back to the UN. He bases his position on the claim that since it is impossible to carry out the original terms of the armistice, a new course of action must be decided. Such a course would remove India from the possibility of a Communist charge either of knocking down to or siding with the United States—a matter of extreme importance to India's continued and determined neutrality.

Controversial Film Back On Marquee

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 28—UP—A controversial Swedish film, called "the most daring picture since Hedy Lamarr's 'Ecstasy,'" was back on the marquee Tuesday, but charges were still standing against a theater official for showing a lewd movie. The film, after showing three days in the Alamo City, was confiscated by police and the charges were filed against the official. However, a court order Monday released the censored film for showing. Judge Eugene Williams granted the release after a suit was filed for possession late Monday by Eph Charninsky, head of the Southern Theater Co., for the film "One Summer of Happiness."

Yankeeland Snow SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 29—UP—Mrs. George J. Welford, the wife of a Fort Sam Houston soldier, wrote a nostalgic letter to a relative in her native Michigan pining about "Christmas without good old Michigan snow." Several days before Christmas she received a jar of water labeled "Michigan snow" with the following instructions: "Four into ice cube tray and freeze thoroughly. When frozen, scrape with spoon or similar instrument. Caution: Use only as directed. Contents if boiled tend to evaporate and become Texas hot air." Diamonds range in color from pure white to coal black. There are apple-green diamonds and brilliant red ones.

"NICE WORK IF..." Director Edward Ludwig doesn't seem to mind his "work" when he has to muddy the legs of beautiful Rhonda Fleming for a scene in "Jivaro," Paramount's new 3-D adventure drama. Fernando Lamas co-stars with Rhonda in the story, which is laid in the wilds of the Amazon among the head-hunting Jivaro Indians.

Peas Or Beans—A Sober Thought

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS WASHINGTON, Dec. 29—UP—Dolichos Sphaerospermus and Vicia Faba have pretty black eyes, but are they beans or peas? According to the volumes of interesting facts on file at the Library of Congress, it all depends. Botanically, according to one authority, the Dolichos Sphaerospermus legume commonly called the black-eyed pea is actually a black-eyed bean. Some of the folks who grow them, he said, call them beans. On the other hand, the European broad bean—called Vicia Faba by its square name—actually is a pea. One thing is certain. In a lot of southern homes remains a belief that eating black-eyed peas or beans spiced with salt pork on New Year Day will fetch a lot of luck for the rest of the year. In 1939, the governor of Texas was so black-eyed-minded that he called for a Black-Eyed Pea Day. The festival was held at Centerville, Tex. I understand it was a spurious hoe-down; that got so exuberant it will never be attempted again. I also did a little research on New Year's celebrating. Old sailors who have read old books tell me that in days gone by it was the fashion aboard ship to have the oldest tar clobber the bell eight times at midnight on Dec. 31. And right after that, the youngest cabin hand batted the bell another eight times to usher in the New Year. On dry land around here, people put on silly hats, toot horns and lift the cup of cheer. A lot of them, too, get clobbered. At our house—we plan to be sensible this year. We are fixing to cook up a batch of those southern black-eyed peas—with some salt pork on the side. It's a sobering thought.

Just in time for the toughest motoring season of the year, Gulf now brings you a new gasoline that just can't be beat for power, efficiency, economy—new Winter-Grade Gulf No-Nox. Here's why:

The most powerful, most efficient fuel in all Gulf history!

- New high in POWER: Highest in Gulf history. You'll notice the difference on the first hill—or when you want a burst of safety-speed to step around trucks on the open road. For new Winter-Grade No-Nox delivers the greatest knock-free power in Gulf's 52-year record of leadership.
- New high in QUALITY: Makes any car run at its best. New Winter-Grade No-Nox gives you "stop-watch" starting no matter how cold it gets... protects against excessive choking which can raise gasoline consumption during warm-up as much as 40%. And Winter-Grade No-Nox protects your engine against uncontrolled combustion—major cause of troublesome, power-wasting knocks and pings.
- New high in VALUE: Gives you today's longest possible mileage. Keep your own records. You'll discover that new Winter-Grade No-Nox is unsurpassed for long mileage. And No-Nox gives you knock-free, engine-saving smoothness that adds so much to the pleasure of driving.

Stomach Cancer May Be Hereditary

BOSTON, Dec. 28—UP—Hereditary meeting here of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, a Texas scientist reported Tuesday.

"The scientist, George W. Hagy, said investigations of stomach cancer (carcinoma) among families still are in progress.

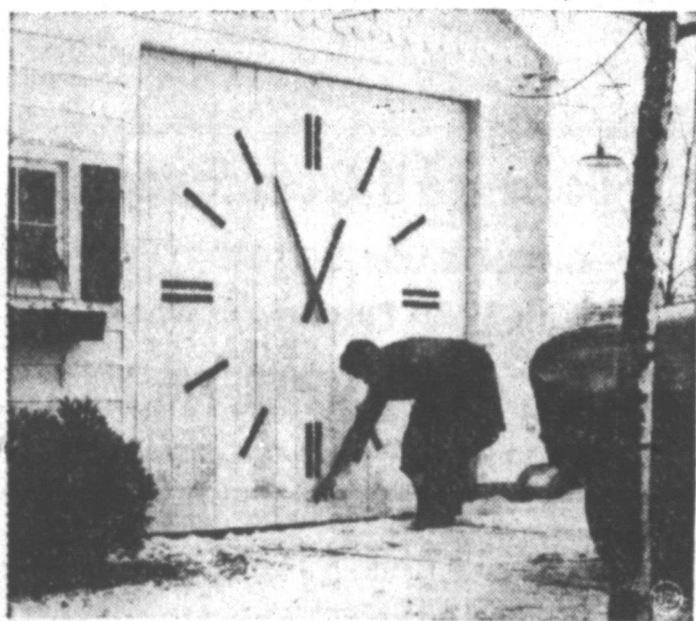

"But, he said, preliminary studies indicate that the incidence of stomach cancer among relatives of stomach cancer patients is more frequent than among relatives of persons who did not have such a cancer.

Hagy, a faculty member of Southwestern Medical School of the University of Texas, submitted a technical paper to the 120th meeting here of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

"An increased frequency of stomach cancer in the relatives of the stomach cancer patients... suggests a hereditary influence," he said.

Hagy said the hereditary effect seemed to be of "slight" significance in most of the families studied. But in others, he said, there appeared to be "a strong localization factor" for stomach cancer.

Hagy said cancer in other parts of the body occurred with about the same frequency of stomach cancer patients and those of non-cancer persons.

Cleavage Cited In Scholar-Politician

BOSTON, Dec. 29—UP—Harvard biologist Kirtley F. Mather said Tuesday a "cleavage" between scientists and politicians is endangering national security.

Mather said the scientists' inventive genius is widely appreciated but there is "great popular skepticism concerning the ability of the scientist in the areas of economics, politics and social organization."

In a paper submitted to the 120th meeting here of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, Mather said:

"This low appraisal of the scientist-as-citizen is an important aspect of the anti-intellectualism that today appears all too commonly in the climate of public opinion.

"It has been encouraged and strengthened by conservative politicians and demagogues..." Mather said.

Sometimes, he said, the scientist's "deeply imbedded sense of fraternity among those who seek knowledge in the same field... is almost certain to expose him to the charge that he is 'soft' in his thinking about the United States vis-a-vis other nations."

Mather said the "age-old cleavage between the idealistic scholar and the hard-fisted man of affairs has not been effectively healed by all the expenditures for universal education..."

He said a chasm also is widening between a so-called "elite" and a non-scientific "herd."

This breach, he said, has occurred despite "the valiant efforts of those engaged in education at all levels from the kindergarten to the adult education center."

"The danger to the unity and therefore the welfare and security of our nation is obvious," Mather said.

Sub Deb Pledges Honored At Annual Presentation Ball At Country Club

Misses Carol Carnes, JohnAnna Cormas, Mary Young, Mary Kennedy, Carol Miller, Micky Lester, Jerry Shelton, June Smith, Deanne Shirley, and Mary Pippen were formally admitted into the Sub Deb Sorority at the annual presentation ball at the Country Club Saturday night in a "Winter Wonderland" atmosphere.

Angel hair and glitter added glamour to wintry moonlit mountain snow scene at one end of the ballroom. Each pledge made her entry from the double doors at one end of the ballroom and along a "snow" covered path, to the big sleigh which was done in white and blue, the club's colors. A blue spotlight followed her from the time she entered until she sat in the sleigh where her escort presented her with a Christmas ball and ribbon corsage. Miss Mary Pippen received special recognition as the best pledge of the year.

The Mello-Aires furnished music for the dance which was chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kolb and Mrs. John Bonner. Refreshments were served members and their guests. Officers of the club are Marcheta Hall, president; Barbara Frye, vice president; Barbara Smith, secretary; Marlene Kolb, historian; Marilyn McDunnell, historian; and Ruth Abernathy, parliamentarian.

New Drug Relieves Travel Sickness

For centuries man has been trying to find remedies for one of his oldest ills — motion sickness. From raw pork or a soup made from horseradish to the more modern expedient of sucking on a lemon, the recipes have offered little comfort to queasy stomachs.

Now a new recipe — a product of chemical research called Bonamine — is reported to have great success in taking the sickness out of motion.

The early cooks who tried to find a stomach tonic were off on the wrong track. Sickness — due to travel by plane, auto, boat, or camel-back — is caused by the effect of unaccustomed motion on the central portion of the inner ear — know as the organ of balance. Disturbances in visual orientation, which might occur from watching scenery out of windows of fast moving cars or trains, are often a contributing factor.

Somach or ear, the culprit has always been motion. A century ago, Sir Henry Bessemer, the pioneer steelmaker, built an English Channel steamer using the first engineering device to combat motion. In his ship, the passenger cabins were hung on brackets, and through a remarkable mechanism — which was manipulated by a member of the crew — the cabins were swung so as to offset the roll of the vessel.

But from Bessemer's bracketed cabins to the gyro-stabilizer — a much advertised mechanism of the 1930's designed to counteract the side-to-side rolling motion of sea-going vessels — the engineers have been as much a failure as the cooks.

Few people realize how extensive susceptibility to motion sickness is. Really rough travel will make nine out of ten persons ill; moderately turbulent motion upsets 10 to 30 per cent; and a very unlucky 3 to 5 per cent are disposed by even mild turbulence.

Science hasn't yet come up with the answer as to why a reaction of the organ of balance should panic the stomach. They do know, however, that the first symptoms usually are drowsiness, pallor, and cold sweating. Salivation and swallowing — the "spit and no return" — come next. Once a case of motion sickness goes this far, it usually goes all the way — the awful nausea follows.

The "green sickness" can spoil a vacation, a business trip by plane, or even a motoring holiday. More serious, motion sickness can be a large contributor to the success or failure in the missions of our armed forces. For this reason, World War II provided incentive for intensive research to find drugs to relieve motion sickness symptoms. Many compounds have been found. All have one thing in common. They have a depressive effect on the excitability of the organs causing this discomfort.

Recently, Air Force, Army and Navy researchers have conducted exhaustive tests on several anti-motion sickness drugs. Their reports show a new drug called Bonamine gives quick, efficient relief for the symptoms of motion sickness. This drug's protective effect was apparent in as little as a half hour after it was taken, and no drowsiness or other side effects were noticed.

Perhaps of more interest to families planning long holiday jaunts, is the latest effect of the new compound, Bonamine was the only drug tested which provided protection from motion sickness for a whole day. The best of the other drugs had to be taken at least three times daily to provide complete protection.

Thus, where the cooks of old and engineers have failed, chemists have come up with a true recipe for comfort. One or two tablets — a half dose for the children — can be the recipe for a whole day's travel comfort.

RUTH MILLET

"I'm firmly convinced that teaching their own children to drive is just one more of the things parents aren't capable of doing." Mary, a mother of a boy 15 and a girl 14, told me. She had just read a magazine article on the subject.

Then she started listing the things that she and her husband had gotten outsiders to teach their kids, because they had been sold on the idea that parents can't teach their own children anything.

First, there was swimming. She said, she and Bob are both good swimmers, but everyone told them that their children would be better swimmers if they were put in a swimming class. For several summers Mary and Bob paid for swimming lessons.

Then when it was time to think about piano lessons Mary toyed with the idea of teaching them the first two years herself. But she was talked out of that in a hurry by friends who assured her that if she tried to teach her children, herself, it would be a losing battle.

Then it was ballroom dancing lessons. For even though Mary and Bob love to dance and felt capable of teaching their own children the mysteries of the fox trot and the rumba, all the other kids were going to a "real" teacher.

Now Mary has read the magazine article, "Don't Let Your Parents Teach You to Drive," with the frightening subtitle, "It's murder!" says America's foremost authority on safety behind the wheel. "And Mary is willing to concede that the "foremost authority" is right.

"But what bothers me," she says, "is this: Is there anything we parents are capable of teaching our children today?"

It's a good question.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Peter, eight years old, lacks initiative. So his 13-year-old friend Frank bosses him.

"Peter is growing so dependent on this older boy," his mother writes, "that when he's alone, he's so afraid of falling that he attempts nothing. He depends on Frank to plan everything and tell him what to do. Don't you think that I should break up this bad friendship?"

No, I do not think that.

The fact that his mother could consider destroying Peter's friendship to inspire him with initiative tells me that her overprotection, not the friendship, is Peter's problem.

For I see his friendship as the only evidence of initiative reported of him. It seems to be the single structure Peter has built without direction. Now to encourage him to build some more, she wants to destroy what he's built.

Why doesn't Peter's mother also see initiative in this friendship? Why does she choose to see evil in it instead of its positive elements?

When Peter climbs trees, what does she see? Broken legs? — or initiative? I bet she sees broken legs.

Just as she's seen dependency instead of the initiative in Peter's relationship to Frank, I bet that for years she's seen evil in his relationships to everything from rain puddles to scouting knives.

So that Peter has decided to preserve himself from disaster by refusing to move unless someone else assures him that moving is safe.

We really can't be surprised that he lacks initiative. If I am repeatedly told that I'll be run over if I cross a street, I will dither on curbs for the rest of my life. Unless I catch on to what's been done to me.

Overprotective parents are always destructive people. Because they have evil on their minds, they cannot see good anywhere. So all Peter's activities appear threatening.

His happy, three-year-old splashing in a rain puddle fills them with terror, for they cannot see his happiness. All they can see are a sore throat and fever. So instead of removing him quietly from the puddle, they snatch him from it with cries of doom that begin to associate doom with all effort, exploration and initiative.

Such pessimism is hate. It maintains us in a constantly hating state of a hateful world. So that like Peter's mother, we can see only evil in a friendship that contains good.

Since Peter's mother is sick of living so anxiously, she is in revolt against her own pessimism. Or she'd never have written to me.

Who knows more about love than anyone?

She has held millions spell-bound with her loveliness, husky voice and some elusive, personal quality. Now for the first time she reveals what that quality is — womanliness and rare understanding. There's a surprise in every line of Marlene Dietrich's charmingly wise and quaintly practical "How to Be Loved" in the January Ladies' Home Journal. On newsstands today.

Play Apron For Your Busy Body

By SUE BURNETT
Less than a yard of chintz and scraps from your piece bag makes this cute "carryall" apron. Look at the many pockets. It's like a game, putting each crayon into its own little pocket and a big apple pocket for the snub-nosed kindergarten scissors.

Step 1. If you are making this apron of chintz or a similar firm fabric and have pinkish shears, cut out the apple and leaf design and simply stitch in place one-eighth inch from the edge.

Step 2. For a finer finish turn edges in one-fourth inch all around, baste and applique in place, using a button-hole stitch. Begin at left and sew toward the right, looping thread below needle on each stitch.

Step 3. Or you can slip stitch the pieces on, as in making a quilt, using the same color thread. Sew as in a hemming stitch, taking stitches less than one-eighth inch, thread through top piece showing as little as possible.

Pattern No. 1412 is in sizes 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 years. Size 4, 1 1/2 yards of 35 inch.

Send 30 cents in coins for this pattern to SUE BURNETT, Pamphlet Daily News, 372 W. Quincy Street, Chicago 6, Illinois.

Miss Fideia Fonce has taken new methods of Christian education to Chile after a year's study at Scarritt College in Nashville, Tenn. She is secretary of religious education for the Methodist Board of Education in her native Chile and has served as a supply pastor, Miss Fonce is a graduate of Union Theological Seminary in Buenos Aires, Argentina. She is particularly interested in youth work and says Methodist youth have been "pioneers" of the ecumenical movement in Chile.

Designers Produce Dietless "Starved Look" For 1954

By GAY PAULEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK — UP — The year 1954 will be the one of "the emaciated look" for the American woman.

But looks are deceiving. A woman needn't rush to the nearest diet foods counter. Wily designers say they plan to make a woman look sleek and buxom, without too much figure alteration, by the cut of the clothes.

Clothes will be slinkier than they've been since the 1920's, but, unlike the flapper era, there'll be plenty of bosom in 1954.

"Clothes will have that all-in-one suppleness," said a spokesman for the 34 designers of the New York Dress Institute's couture group. "The princess silhouette will be predominant. Bosoms will be high, the torso long, the waistline almost nothing."

EMACIATED — NOT STARVED
"It'll be the emaciated look, without the starvation which goes with it."

For those who admit to a few extra pounds, the corset and brassiere industry promises "better figure molding" with lighter-weight materials and more elastic.

Shoe manufacturers say 1954 clothes will be higher.

"Heels will be very, very high and almost needle-like in shape," said one source. "A woman will have to develop a whole new gait."

Hats will continue to be small, and the Millinery Fashion Bureau, representing the bulk of the industry, said they will be worn at a forward pitch.

"And there'll be plenty of trimming," the bureau added. "With tight skirts so popular, some women will have to draw attention away from the hips."

Hair will continue short and less tousled than the 1953 versions of the Italian boy cut. Matter of fact, some hair stylists say this casual cut is as out-moded as the rats and buns of grandma's day.

Women in Church

Friday, March 5, 1954 will be the 6th "World Day of Prayer" for peace observed by women all over the world. This year a total of 113 countries will participate in the World Day of Prayer, as contrasted with 90 five years ago. Among the new countries participating this March will be Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, Australia, the Carolina Islands, Yugoslavia, Portugal, Germany, the Philippines, the Fiji Islands, Haiti, Korea, the Netherlands.

Rev. & Mrs. Crews Hold Open House

Soft Christmas music played in the background during an open house Sunday afternoon in the home of Rev. and Mrs. Dick Crews, 121 N. Starkweather. Guests were members of the First Christian Church and college and university students and service men were especially honored.

Hors d'oeuvres, mints and cranberry punch were served from the table which was covered with green net over white linen. A crystal bird rose from an arrangement of white carnations in the center. Mrs. R. J. Sailor and Mrs. Russell Neef presided at the punch bowl. Mrs. H. L. Ladrick and Mrs. D. V. Burton assisted with the serving.

Lefors Baptist Church Entertains Elderly Folk With Party
LEFORS — (Special) — The First Baptist Church Women's Missionary Union sponsored a Christmas party for the elderly folk of Lefors recently. Mrs. Claude Nichols gave "It Takes a Heap of Living to Make a Home," and Rev. Thurman Uphaw gave the prayer. Freddie Brister, Joe David Martin, Caron Nan Graves, and Sylvia Bradford entertained with songs.

Gifts and sacks of candy were given to each one attending and refreshments of coffee and cookies were served to those attending as follows: Mmes. G. O. Carruth, H. M. Guthrie, Jennie White, Emily Smith, R. M. Holley, Grace Darnall, Sally Hughes, A. D. Baker, Abbie Izard, Mary Florence, Sara Jane Smith, Angie Butrum, Mary Porterfield, Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Hext, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Parker, Mr. Bill Kennedy, Mr. Henry Randeau, Mr. Walter Hendricks, Mr. Ace Michael, Mrs. O. J. Carpenter, and Mrs. Alice Nalley.

Lefors Art And Civic Club Has Social Meet

LEFORS — (Special) — The Lefors Art and Civic Club had its annual Christmas party at the Colton Carbon Community Hall recently which was gaily decorated. Gifts were exchanged around the tree and pie and coffee were served to the 27 attending.

Those attending were Messrs and Mmes. Archie Roberts, James Gotcher, Bob Brown, Erari Atkinson, Howard Archer, L. W. McGlothlin, R. H. Barron, L. R. Spence, Earnie Trum, J. E. Carter, H. W. Callan, H. Arledge, Bud Cumberland, and Mrs. Raymond Jordan.

The group went caroling one night before Christmas and met at Mrs. Iris Barrons'.

Manners Make Friends

It's possible to overdo your deference to those who are older than you are. For instance, no woman of 40 wants a girl in her twenties to jump up and give her a seat, answer her questions with "Yes ma'am" and in other such ways make her feel 80 instead of 40.

In such cases it is more gratifying to ignore a difference in ages than to emphasize it.

Pouring hot water down the drain of your kitchen sink after each dishwashing can decrease plumbing bills. The hot water tends to cut grease from the pipes and prevents clogging of the drain.

Used, empty salt boxes with metal pouring spouts need not be thrown away. Just brush on a coat of latex-base paint, use a funnel to fill the containers, label them, and they'll be valuable pantry additions.

SOCIAL CALENDAR

Army Economy
 Dec. 28—UP—Hand grenades are labeled "Schlitz" and "Pabst" over here.
 When the fighting ceased the Army was faced with the problem of storing 25,000 unused hand grenades. With military dispatch they investigated the situation and discovered the grenades fit perfectly into empty beer cans.
 The beer can packaging reportedly saved the Army $200,000.

Bored Patient

 Ambulances should be equipped with comic books, said Dennis.

Precious Image—Standing in a glass case in the Church of Ara Coeli, in Rome, Italy, is a life-sized figurine of the Christ child, considered one of the most priceless items in the Eternal City. Carved from an olive tree taken from the Mount of Olives in Jerusalem, the age-blackened statue is covered with jewelry and precious stones from all over the world, which have been donated by people who have had requests granted. The figure is placed in the center of the church for the holiday season.

Laughlin Facing Office Removal

AUSTIN, Dec. 29—UP—District Judge C. Woodrow Laughlin, a central figure in four politically turbulent South Texas counties, Tuesday faced removal from office on the recommendation of a specially appointed Supreme Court master.
 District Judge D. B. Wood of Georgetown recommended that the portly Alice jurist be removed in a 65-page report to the Texas Supreme Court Monday.
 He sustained five causes for his removal, at the same time dismissing three other causes cited against Laughlin by 11 South Texas attorneys.
 He said Laughlin was guilty of oppressing the citizens of Duval County, that he showed "partiality" toward George B. Parr, a Rio Grande Valley political boss, and showed partiality toward those persons having guilty connections with the murder of young Jacob Lloyd Jr., 15 months ago.
Causes Sustained
 Wood sustained these "causes" against Laughlin:
 1. That Laughlin on Jan. 1, 1953, illegally discharged the grand jury of Jim Wells County for "no just cause," motivated by the fear that they might indict his brother, W.M. Laughlin, for the illegal sale to the county of certain personal property.
 2. That Laughlin on Jan. 5 entered the order for destruction of ballots in Duval County. Wood said Laughlin was "motivated solely by a desire to favor" Parr, and pointed out Parr's party had favored the election of Laughlin and Raeburn Norris, district attorney.
 3. That Laughlin illegally exchanged benches with District Judge E. D. Salinas of Laredo on Jan. 10. Wood said Laughlin was not "qualified" to perform any judicial act in connection with two criminal cases set for that day, involving charges against Laughlin in connection with the sale of his law library to Jim Wells County.
 4. That Laughlin wilfully obstructed the Jim Wells County grand jury's investigation of the Floyd case.
 5. That Laughlin permitted O.P. Carrillo, assistant district attorney, to represent the state in a murder case, with the knowledge that Carrillo "would not seek a conviction with imposition of a penitentiary sentence..." but would recommend a suspended sentence.
 Wood said Laughlin's actions were "official misconduct" such as to "render him unfit to hold the office of district judge."
Guilty of Oppression
 On the second count, Wood said Laughlin was guilty of oppression on the citizens of Duval County, "particularly on those citizens of that county who were members and who dared to vote against candidates supported by said Parr such as respondent and Raeburn Norris, who were his principal candidates in the 1952 elections."
 "By that act," Wood said, "he showed a complete disregard of and a lack of interest in the establishment and maintenance of the secrecy of the ballot in Duval County."
 The three charges not sustained by Wood included: That Laughlin illegally dismissed 68 indictments in Starr County, that he instructed a jury commission in Starr County not to elect a grand jury, and that he was guilty of misconduct in extending the term of court in Jim Wells County.
 Laughlin's 79th judicial district is composed of Starr, Brooks, Duval and Jim Wells counties.

Model T Travelers Racing To Beat Clock To Detroit

TEXARKANA, Tex., Dec. 29—UP—Jose and Ramon Fernandez, who have been two and a half years driving from southern Argentina in their 1914 model-T, raced against the clock Tuesday in their effort to get to Detroit before the end of the year.
 Jose, 73, and his son, Ramon, 29, want to pay homage at the grave of Henry Ford, the man who built their car, before the Ford company ends its 50th anniversary celebration Thursday.
 They entered the United States last Thursday at Laredo, Tex., but they've been plagued by mechanical trouble ever since. It took them three days to make the 500 miles to Dallas.
Without Spare Parts
 They waited nearly a day in Dallas for spare parts to arrive, but they finally decided to go on without them at 3 p.m. Monday. So they put-puddled out of the No. 2 fire station and onto the road to Detroit.
 Their 40-year-old car will only average 30 miles an hour, so it's doubtful if they'll be able to get to Detroit by midnight Thursday. They plan to go through Little Rock, Ark., and St. Louis, Mo.
 After they reach Detroit, they want to go on to Washington to pay tribute to George Washington, and they hope they'll be allowed to visit with President Eisenhower, as they have with the presidents of several other republics.
 The old Ford has no self-starter, and still has its original motor. Fernandez, who wears an Army-type uniform, hopes eventually to offer it to the Ford Motor Company as a tribute to their reputation as an automobile manufacturer.
Named for Daughter
 The Fernandezes have named the car "Perita," after Perla, one of Fernandez' two daughters. The old car proudly flies the flags of both Argentina and the United States.
 They've spent $13,000 and 30 months on the road because of a joke in Rio Negro, Argentina, where the two did run an exporting and importing business. Ramon had just repaired the old car for a hunting trip. His father asked: "What you say we drive it to New York?"
 Ramon thought his father was joking, and on an impulse Jose dared Ramon to get the car in condition for the trip. Within 15 days they'd sold their business and started on the 20,000-mile trip.

MAN OF STEEL—According to Berlin Communist sources one of the chief "Iron Hands" behind the Iron Curtain in Czechoslovakia belongs to Václav Nosek, minister of labor. He is a member of the secret cabinet, the central committee of the Communist Party, and is in charge of all slave labor camps in the country.

POLIO CASES SKYROCKET—The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis is asking for $75 million to fight polio during 1954, and above Newschart explains why. The five year period (1948-52) was only 1676 cases short of the total set in the previous 20 years. The estimated polio cases for 1953 total 35,000 making it one of the high years in U. S. history.

The Profit System

You've undoubtedly heard people say that it would be a fine thing if we did away with profits, and used the money to reduce the prices of goods or to pay higher wages.

A leading oil company recently did a good job of pointing out just what would happen if that were done. First of all, it observed, we Americans can't produce any more with our bare hands than can other people. Yet we enjoy the highest standard on earth. The reason is that we have more and better tools to work with.

In its own case, the oil company said, each man who works for it has $70,691 worth of "tools" at his disposal. Because of these costly "tools" his productivity of goods has increased 2 1/2 times in the past 25 years. His wage and related benefits have risen from an average of $168 a month to $484. And he works for shorter hours than he did a quarter-century ago.

The "tools" which are responsible for all this were bought by the company's shareholders. And the one and only reason they put their savings into the company was in the hope of making some profit. If that hope is ever blasted, there will be no more investment in "tools" and our productivity and our living standards will go downhill fast.

Profits creates progress, and a full life for all.

An Inside Job

So an American POW whose Communist education was completed writes his praying mother that "it is impossible for me to live in the United States because I want to live as I wish."

Let's hold on to that statement as we ask, amidst hand-wringing and vet-eyed wonder, how an American youth could alienate himself from his family, his friends and his country.

The incident fairly well focuses the case of American prisoners of war who have shocked the nation with their refusal to return home. The refusal has usually been accompanied by a parrot-like mouthing of Communist blather about U. S. "imperialism" and the rest of it.

But let's don't jump to the conclusion that these boys, jerked from the drug store corner into a hopeless war, have been doped by the Reds. The frightful fact is that they were doped before they ever heard of Korea.

Who first watered down their natural and normal patriotism with one-world propaganda? Who taught them socialistic economics? Who got the classic disciplines thrown out of the schools and substituted cafeteria education? Who instilled in these youths the monstrous delusion that collectivism would bring a paradise of personal liberty plus security from the cradle to the grave? Who made mockery of America by deriding the free enterprise which has made America the envy of the world? Who made a religion of materialistic science and dismissed religious faith as a figment? Who seeks relentlessly to steamroller education into a state pattern?

The wonder is not that some 22 American youths became confirmed Communists under the Korean ordeal. The number must have been a great disappointment to the Kremlin, which counts heavily on America's Trojan Horse.

But the Kremlin is patient, and unless there is a return to first principles in our schooling the defeat of this nation may yet be an inside job.

A Simple Answer

An oil company executive recently made a speech in Montana, in which he said that the discovery of oil here and the development of the great Williston Basin may be the most important economic event the region has known this century. Then he went on to describe just what finding and developing oil resources involves.

In the two and a half years since Williston Basin oil was discovered, the industry has spent close to $200,000,000 for exploration, leases, drilling, etc. Yet to date it has recovered only $16,000,000 worth of oil.

A seismograph crew hunting drilling spots costs about $100,000 to equip and $350,000 to keep in the field for one year. Some 70 such crews are now operating in Montana.

By the time a single project is ready for drilling, $100,000 and often much more has been spent. Yet only one wildcat well in five results in paying quantities. There are about 60,000 acres in Montana and the Dakotas which are potentially oil productive. It staggers the imagination to try to estimate how much time and how much money it will take to explore that territory adequately.

How can we make sure that the oil industry will carry on these vast jobs? The answer is simple — through reasonable laws and reasonable taxes that will provide men and companies with the hope of profit and so encourage them to take risks.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

What is This Thing Called Free Enterprise?

Most everyone in America gives lip service, at least, to free enterprise. Most people think they believe in it, but very, very few people actually believe in free enterprise if it is properly defined.

Free enterprise is something that we have never had in this country or in any other country. We, of course, more nearly have had free enterprise in the United States than in any other country in the world, and we more nearly had it in the United States between 1865, when we freed the slaves and passed the 14th Amendment, and 1913, when we passed the graduated income tax. Between these two dates we had less government interference with free enterprise than at any other time in our history.

Definition of Free Enterprise. Real free enterprise is nothing more than where both parties to a transaction believe they are benefited by the transaction and neither party attempts to defraud the other. Free enterprise also means that each individual gets all he produces and the only way to measure what each man produces is to let each individual in the world help establish values by freely exchanging goods and services.

Free enterprise also means that each person has the greatest possible choice in exchanging what he produces without interference from the state, or any other group, such as labor unions, whose sole means of bringing about their purpose of higher wages for their own members is to take away from some individual his God-given right to trade without interference with the person who will give him the most for his services. And this means of the labor unions is a complete violation of free enterprise where the individual is free to trade with any person in the world who will give him the best trade.

So long as we have labor unions, whose means is to interfere with free enterprise, and tariffs and immigration quotas, and tax supported schools, subsidies, drafted soldiers, have irredeemable paper money and minimum wages and a 40-hour week and Fair Employment Acts — and all government laws that restrict individuals from voluntarily exchanging goods and services, we cannot completely have free enterprise.

Why We Want Free Enterprise. Now why do we want free enterprise? The reason we want free enterprise is that it releases the energy of all the people to find the jobs that they are best qualified to do and thus greatly increase production and thus greatly increase the standard of living. It is only because the United States has been more nearly a free enterprise nation than any other nation in the world that we have a standard of living so much higher than any other nation. And people who believe in and understand free enterprise know that whatever is produced will be distributed because it does not benefit the owner without using it for his own enjoyment or using it to supply a service to others with the idea of making a profit. And this profit will also have to be distributed indefinitely. So the greater the production, the greater the distribution. Hence will be and the more each person will get in real wages for what he produces.

Even if we never expect to have complete free enterprise, we should pose every thought and act that interferes with free enterprise and make a continuous effort to better understand free enterprise ourselves, and thus enable others to better understand the blessings of both spiritual and material, that come from free enterprise. To summarize, free enterprise is nothing but respecting other people's equal rights. It is an essential part of Jewish and Christian ethics.

L. P. Bennett, rancher and oil man, donates many thousands of dollars to Christian education. He himself never had one day of formal schooling. He learned to read by listening and following as his wife read the Bible. He and his wife sacrificed to save enough money to invest in cattle and land. Then bad times came. L. P. lost everything. He persuaded oil companies to drill on his land, but they brought only dry holes.

He pleaded with his creditors to give him more time, but finally they foreclosed. You can imagine his emotions as he went to the courthouse to watch the sale of everything he owned. Only thirty minutes before the auctioneer's hammer was ready to hit the block, two of his sons drove into town with the news, "We have struck oil!"

Today L. P. Bennett will tell you that this good fortune, which came late in life, came through no particular effort on his part. He says, "I merely tried to keep things going. The only possible credit anyone can give me is that I have tried to use my good fortune right."

Police — Sorry, kids, but there's a law against swimming in that reservoir. That's the water supply for this district. Well, why didn't you tell me that before I got pulled out? Police — Oh, there ain't no law against that!

National Whirligig... Democratic Leaders Disousted With Divisive Tactics Of ADA

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON Several prominent Democratic leaders have finally broken down and voiced the clubhouse politicians' general disgust with the disruptive and divisive tactics of the Americans for Democratic Action.

Since this organization represents the Eleanor Roosevelt-Franklin Roosevelt, Jr. Harry Truman faction of the party, the warning that it should disband in the interest of party unity represents an attempt to weaken their continued influence and control.

The virtual ultimatum was delivered by Foster Furcolo at a recent convention of the Massachusetts branch of A.D.A. Furcolo is a former representative, and is now Bay State treasurer. He is expected to be the Democrats' candidate for governor next year. His remarks were endorsed by State Sen. John E. Powers, an influential Democrat and probable nominee for mayor of Boston in 1955.

"Furcolo," declares, Powers, "simply made a public expression of the way straight-line Democrats feel about A.D.A. He did himself a lot of good with regular party members by speaking so frankly."

A.D.A.'s emphasis on F.D.R.'s more extreme principles has kept the party in a turmoil. Led by young Roosevelt, Lehman and Harriman, it was this bloc which tried to force adoption of an anti-Southern "loyalty oath" at the 1952 Chicago convention. Their stand on such questions as Taft-Hartley and FEPC has alienated Democratic conservatives generally.

In their devotion to F.D.R. and Truman, they permitted themselves to be maneuvered into the position of defending or whitewashing the Harry Dexter White espionage ring and questionable decisions on foreign policy.

TO STEVENSON'S ADVANTAGE. Any diminution of A.D.A.'s political power would give advantage to Adlai E. Stevenson in his all but admitted campaign for a re-nomination in 1956. A.D.A. originally opposed to him at Chicago, favoring Harriman or Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee ahead of Stevenson. In fact, they tried unsuccessfully to make a Harriman-

THE U.S. IS THE ISSUE. By RICHARD LLOYD JONES, Publisher (The Tulsa Tribune)

The United Nations is our greatest national issue. And it is not a trivial matter. It is a builder of Communism.

President Eisenhower does not seem to comprehend the appalling picture of Communism, intrigue and espionage. The Harry Dexter White case is just a starter. It is the beginning of the performance which the Republicans promised last year. Now Eisenhower expresses the hope that these spies will all be cleaned up and out of the way before the Congressional elections.

A year from now these Communist cases will choke the calendars of our federal courts and our Congressional Committees of Inquiry. These revelations will compel every candidate for Congress to insist on the full and prompt prosecution of every traitor in the country.

No, Mr. President, you must think more clearly. You must realize that the issue of Communism cannot be eliminated in a year. The United Nations is the issue. We are not going to be rid of the Communists so long as we allow that infamous enterprise to do business in our country.

Four Presidents of the United States had the patriotism, the wisdom and the courage to refuse to recognize the Russian Communists. The Russians were not fit to be recognized, and they are not fit now. Their word is worthless. They are LIARS, the whole lot of them. And their whole scheme of operation is built upon treachery and falsehoods. They have violated every agreement they ever made with the United States.

We are a productive nation. We grow more things, make more things, refine more things and use more conveniences than any people on earth. We are the greatest wealth-producing nation. Are our smart business men not smart enough to keep us that way? We have allowed ourselves to be

Henry's Worthy Of Trust...

Henry Sizes Up Eisenhower And Concludes He's Fine Man

By HENRY McLEMORE. Right in between Christmas and New Year's day I'd like to sing a song of my country.

A sweet and/or sour song, like the sauce you get in a Chinese restaurant. Burns you here and there, but for me, I might add that it is the all-over taste of the country is good.

We blew it in Korea. We blew it good, too. I say we blew it because we lost our first war. The Chinese and Russians beat us. We settled for a truce, and it went against all of us.

But by the truce, by the losing of face in the Orient, we saved lives. We can always make a big cross mark on our credit side of the ledger for that. Henry will, for sure, and I am sure God will.

As our President starts the new year, I have a feeling that the biggest thing he did was put up with the Reds of Russia. Mr. Eisenhower is a soldier, first and last. How he must have ached, with the power he holds, to have turned the country he leads loose on the enemy. Not many men, even in a friendly game of poker, could have held as many aces as Mr. Eisenhower, and let the pot go to someone else.

So let us thank Mr. Eisenhower, for swallowing his insinuat as a soldier, which teaches to strike when you have it. By doing this he saved the lives of boys and men who would not be living today had he not put those he led above himself.

Why not make this a column about Mr. Eisenhower? Forget the lead, and write about Ike.

There are thousands — perhaps hundreds of thousands — who don't like him. That's all right, but I wonder if they have ever tried themselves if they have asked as hard for their country as he has. Would they say that a country full of Eisenhower would be a bad country? Have they proved themselves as willing to go all-out for America as Ike has?

I had the same feeling when Mr. Truman recalled General MacArthur. As President, Mr. Truman had the right to do what he did, but when the full lives of the men are sometimes completely laid bare who is going to prove to have been the staunchest backer of this country? The man from Missouri? Or the man he said was a menace to this country and the world?

When I hear people knocking Mr. Eisenhower I either ask them, or am tempted to ask them, several questions, and these are among the questions:

- 1. Could you have carried the burden he did for me, for you, for your sons, your daughters, in World War II?
- 2. Have you got enough sense, character, and dignity, to have done what he did when all the world was looking at you?
- 3. What sort of a man would you have been if the load he carried had been settled on your shoulders?
- 4. Do you think that a man who has the respect of the world is just a lucky fellow? A fellow who owes it all to one big break?
- 5. Is there anything in his life, as deep as you wish, that would prove him unworthy of trust in the toughest spot?
- 6. As an individual citizen, do you think he would ever use his authority until we are no longer equal to the school needs of this country. We have given away the people's money until all our educational and philanthropic institutions are begging for help. We have destroyed the sources of income of our great benevolent enterprises. Our great benevolent Foundations, like the Ford, Guggenheim, the Rockefeller, Carnegie and others have been taken over by the smart students of the Kremlin. They have betrayed us.

The issue before us today is the United Nations. It has become the supreme law-maker of our land. Senator John Bricker, of Ohio has urged the passage of a Bill which would amend the Constitution so that our Constitution would be the law of the land unimpaired by the United Nations. It is incredible that any Representative of the American people can sit in the legislative hall of the nation and be completely without the presumptions of foreigners moving onto our soil and legislating our lives. But that is what is. And it is not a little matter that is going to be erased by the expose of a few Communist cases between now and next November. The issue is going to be the United Nations.

We are confronted with peril. President Eisenhower must face the hideous facts. If he has surrounded himself with smart men, let them alert their leaders to the catastrophe that confronts us. Let them herd him for he is not leading.

In two years the United Nations charter is to be rewritten. And the Communists have the votes. We will not have a chance to say about the new charter. If we have smart men around the White House, if in and around the White House we have patriots with penetrating intelligence and courage, we will get out of that infamous United Nations mess before we permit our representatives to sit helplessly outwitted and betrayed.

The new charter, when it is written, will make it impossible for any patriotic nation to withdraw from the United Nations organization. If America permits herself to sit through these proceedings, acquiescent, helpless, we are going to be bound to yield to a taxation raid that will rob every American citizen of all his labor and ingenuities can earn.

ity to hurt you — deliberately, and with scheming afterthought. Wouldn't he try to help you if you were down? I happen to think we have a Man at the head of our country and that's enough for me. I might add that it is time we did.

Before The Dishes Are Done

By BETTY KNOWLES HUNT

"FRIENDS" AND "AIJAES"? Senator McCarthy makes a very convenient target for the Eisenhower Administration to "repudiate", without too seriously endangering its own political popularity. But the basic issues involved are something else again. For the outspoken Wisconsin Senator is by no means alone in his feelings toward our "allies", the U.N., Korea, and many aspects of our foreign policy. Ever since England rushed to recognize Red China, there has been widespread suspicion and opposition in America about this strangely-soft attitude toward Mao-tse-tung's gang. The Korean War, the Chinese aggression there, the atrocities, and the whole unsavory record of this Chinese regime at home — all have served to increase and swell this American feeling of outrage that a "friend and ally" such as Britain, should continue to treat such barbarians as if they were "respectable" members of a decent human society.

Nor is the problem solved by merely proclaiming, as Secretary of State Dulles recently did, that "other nations have a right to be sovereign and independent", and that America has neither the right nor the desire to "coerce" them. For the real issue lies in that big question of "why" such nations as England, which are supposedly devoted to the same ideals of "peace" and "human rights" as the U.S., are so unwilling to see and admit the true facts about Red China, and to act accordingly. The heart of our foreign policy in recent years has been based upon the presumption that there is a "community of the free", a "natural bond between democratic peoples", a "Western world" which has common traditions of "belief about a "moral order", and which unanimously and wholeheartedly opposes such brutal tyrannies as Fascism and Communism. It is not Senator McCarthy who has cast doubts upon the validity of this "common bond". On the contrary, he has merely pointed his finger at England's peculiar abandonment of this "moral unity" in the case of Red China, whose proven crimes against humanity have never seemed to bother our British colleagues in the slightest. Indeed, they seem highly annoyed and indignant whenever the truth about Red China is even mentioned! It is this fact which creates the American-British cleavage, — and no amount of silence or censorship or even sweet talk — makes this fact disappear.

Harvesters Make It 36 Straight; Whip Altus Quint, 90-38

TWO HEADS — This fourth period action in last night's Harvester-Altus cage clash at Harvester Fieldhouse shows Ken Seeburger, No. 99, of the Sooner five juggling the ball on his shoulder with Harvester Harold Lewis, No. 44, contesting for possession of the bouncing ball. Immediately behind Lewis is Bill Culppepper of the Harvesters and to the rear of Crossland is Bill Hensley of the Altus team. The Harvesters raced to a 90-38 win for their 36th straight triumph. ## Bond, Griffin Lead Green And Golders

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

The Hustlin' Harvesters had little trouble in extending their winning streak to 36 straight last night when they completely overwhelmed the Altus, Okla., Bulldogs at Harvester Fieldhouse, 90-38.

The victory, eighth of the year for the Green and Golders, was the easiest of the season. Oddly enough, though, the visitors held the lead at one time in last night's contest, Jimmy Carder put the Bulldogs ahead in the first minute with a free shot to open the night's scoring.

But the lead lasted only a few seconds as E. Jay McIlvain dropped in two free tosses to put the locals ahead, 2-1. The Harvesters were never headed from this point on but Altus did tie the count at 2-2 before the Harvesters pulled away.

Coach Clifton McNeely's charges moved out front for good at the 2:35 mark on Gary Griffin's field goal from short range. The Harvesters then started their run-away at this point with George Depe, Jimmy Bond, McIlvain and Griffin each connecting from the floor and McIlvain adding a free shot to give the Harvesters a 13-2 lead at the six minute mark.

Paul Flowers, who led the visitor's scoring, hit the first field goal for the Bulldogs after 6:15 minutes of play. The Harvesters held a 16-6 lead at the first quarter and then outpointed the Bulldogs, 28-4, in the second quarter to lead at halftime, 44-10.

It was 75-21 at the third quarter mark. With reserves taking over for the final quarter, Altus closed the gap two points but it wasn't near enough. Altus hit 17 in the final period to 15 for the Pampa five.

Bond High Scorer
Bond edged Griffin for scoring honors with 20 points. Griffin dunked in 18. McIlvain wasn't far behind with 16 for the winners. Ken Hinzny also hit the double figure column, collecting 11 points. Flowers banged in six field goals for 12 points to lead the Altus attack.

The Harvesters enjoyed a good night on their field goal attempts. The PHSians fired at 60 times and ran the ball 37 times for a 59.3 percentage. Altus made good on only 16 of 53 attempts for 30.1.

Neither team fared very well from the free throw line. The Harvesters made 10 of 20 gratis tosses for 50.0. Altus made 10 of 20 for 50.0.

Bucs Release Ron Necciai

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 29 —UP— Ron Necciai, the stringbean right-hander who struck out 27 batters in a minor league no-hitter two seasons ago, was back in the minors Tuesday following his outright release by the Pittsburgh Pirates.

He was one of three players paroled out of the Pittsburgh rotation by a National League playoff limitation. He became the property of Waco, Tex., of the Class B State League.

Outfielders Bobby Deigreco and Felipe Montemayor were released conditionally to New Orleans of the Southern Association.

Necciai was considered one of the brightest young pitching prospects in Pirate annual after making professional baseball history with the Class D Bristol, Tenn., farm club.

It was on May 13, 1952, that the six-foot, five fireballer speared the nucleus in a regulation nine-inning game. His no-hitter defeated the Welch, W.Va., Miners 7 to 0 and caused one unbelieving baseball writer to quip:

"That game must have been played in a mine shaft at night."

But the 21-year-old Monongahela, Pa. youth's fling in the big time was cut short by stomach ulcers. It was for that reason he was discharged from the Army last summer after less than three-months service. The ailment later spread to the nucleus in his pitching arm and caused him to lose nearly 30 pounds in weight.

Unbeaten LSU, Fordham Meet

By CHARLES OHL
NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 29 —UP— Fordham's sleek Rams, who can play just about any brand of basketball known, place their unbeaten record on the line here Tuesday night against glory-hunting Louisiana State in the opening round of the Sugar Bowl basketball tournament.

The Tigers, ranked 12th in the nation, and led by brilliant Bob Pettit, meet the ninth-ranked Rams in the second game of the opening round of the two-night tournament which features some of the games' brightest stars. Holy Cross meets DePaul in the opening contest.

Despite Fordham's unbeaten record of six victories, the once-beaten Tigers, who will be defending their Sugar Bowl title, were favored, while Holy Cross was not expected to meet much trouble from DePaul.

The highlight of the tournament was expected to be the scoring battle between the towering 6-5 Pettit, the nation's top scorer, and Fordham's lanky Eddie Conlin, a 6-5 forward with a sharp shooting eye.

Pettit, in hitting 52 per cent of his attempts in five games this season, has clicked for 176 points and a 35.2 per game average, while Conlin has rolled up 152 points in six games for a 25.3 average.

The Tigers have been rolling along at an 83.6 point scoring clip per game, losing only to Wisconsin this season.

Togo Palazzi is the top performer for the Holy Cross Crusaders, ranked 16th in the nation. He averaged 32 points a game this season and is expected to be the big gun in the attack against DePaul.

Boys Club Trip Borger, 5 To 2

By WALT SWITZER
Pampa News Staff Writer

BORGER, Dec. 29 — Pampa Boys Club boxers scored another victory over Borger in team matches here Monday night, taking the measure of the Hutchinson County lads, 5 to 2.

However, in the entire 15-bout card witnessed by about 400 fans, Pampa and Borger had six victories each, while Pampa sustained four losses to Borger's 5. Dumas fighters took three of their seven matches and Lefors lost its only match.

The closest thing to a knockout came in the second round of the final match, when J. N. Wright, Pampa, threw a right to the jaw of Gus Carlile, Borger. Carlile fell to the canvas but came up at the count of eight, but Referee Bobby Wilhelm refused to let the fight continue when he saw that Carlile was still groggy. The official awarded the fight to Wright on a technical knockout after 32 seconds of the second round.

In the bout preceding that one, Tommy Richardson, Pampa, was announced as the winner on a foul, Wilhelm warned Earl Young, Borger, twice for low blows, but when the Borger lad swung another one too low, Wilhelm stepped between the fighters and raised Richardson's hand in victory.

Only one of the Pampa-Borger fights was a return match. This was in the 140-pound class with Otis White, Pampa, losing to Jerry Argovitz on a decision.

Results of the bouts were as follows:

65-pound class: Jimmy Brooks, Borger, won over Bill Fesler, Dumas, decision.

70-pound class: Carson Watts, Pampa, defeated Durwood Williams, Borger, decision.

100-pound class: Charles McPherson, Borger, defeated Jimmy Middleton, Dumas, TKO.

135-pound class: Glenn Crawford, Dumas, defeated Gary Watts, Pampa, decision.

Sooner 5 To S-Finals In Big 7 Tourney

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 29 —UP— Kansas meets Missouri and Nebraska plays Oklahoma in semi-final games Tuesday night in the Big Seven Conference pre-season basketball tournament.

Consolation play was to start at 2 p.m. Tuesday with Iowa State meeting Colorado and Kansas State playing Washington University of Seattle.

Nebraska's Cornhuskers manufactured a stunning upset in beating defending champion Kansas State 78 to 74 Monday night while Oklahoma outlasted Washington of Seattle 87 to 77 before an estimated 8,900 fans.

K-State actually fouled its way out of the tournament as the Wildcats committed 27 fouls that the Cornhuskers converted 22 of them.

The Cornhuskers wiped out a 13-point halftime deficit to win with a great closing rally. Don Weber, a 6-3 forward from Estherville, Iowa, poured 13 points through the meshes to pace a brilliant third period Nebraska attack that erased a 45 to 32 Kansas State lead.

Oklahoma waited until the final half before establishing its superiority over Washington. In the first two periods, the score was tied eight times and the lead changed 11 times. The score was 42-41 at halftime.

Kansas State and Kansas were rated co-favorites in the tournament and in the conference race which opens early in January.

But the K-State defeat may have been a good omen in disguise. No team ever has won this pre-season tourney and gone on to win the Big Seven title.

Kansas and Missouri advanced into the semifinals with victories in opening round games Saturday night.

Kansas defeated Colorado 79 to 62 and Missouri was a 75 to 64 winner over Iowa State.

Brake Sets 'Hot' Pace In City Loop

Stan Brake set a torrid pace in the City Bowling League last night at Pampa Bowl.

The veteran knogler put together three games for 606 to capture individual series honors and had a single game of 223 to rank highest in this department.

Brake's efforts, however, earned him an even break in team play. The Cabot team and Your Laundry each got two points in team competition.

In other team matches, Celene swept all four points from Friendly Men's wear, Noblitt-Coffey defeated Borger Lanes, 3-1, and Bert A. Howell won over Duennel-Carmichael, 3-1.

Bert A. Howell bowled the high team game with 898 while Cabot Office had the high series, 2,504.

Sugar Bowl Net Tourney Resumes

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 29 —UP— The delayed 17th annual Sugar Bowl tennis semi-finals and opening rounds of doubles play were scheduled to resume Tuesday, after being postponed by rain Monday.

Two quarter-finals upset winners, Fred Kovaleski of Washington, D.C., and Archie Henderson of New Orleans, meet in one semi-final. Second-seeded Tom Brown Jr. of San Francisco meets Grant Golden of Chicago in the other.

Doubles pairings were Golden and Hal Burrows of Charlottesville, Va., second seeded in doubles, against Tony Vincent of New York and Gil Shea of Los Angeles.

Lorne, Main of Toronto, Canada, and Robert Bedard of Montreal, Canada, against Allen Morris of Atlanta, Ga., and Malcolm Fox of Baltimore, Md.

HOUSTON, Dec. 29 —UP— A surprisingly brilliant performance by Texas University and an equally surprising poor one by Texas Christian highlighted opening round play in the annual Southwest Conference basketball tournament in semi-final games Tuesday.

Texas A&M Baylor and TCU-Alabama matches make up the afternoon losers bracket games. Arkansas plays Texas at 7:30 p.m. and Rice meets Southern Methodist in the feature attraction at 9 p.m.

The Longhorns, led by guard Billy Powell and forward Fred Saunders, set a new tournament record for the most field goals in one game by a single team as they trounced a hustling Alabama guest team 72 to 52 Monday night.

The Steers simply couldn't miss as they hit 30 of 62 field goal attempts — almost 50 per cent — to break the old mark of 29 set by Rice in the tournament last year.

Rice, the pre-tournament favorite, had little trouble moving past the Wildcats, who had won all six of their games through Saturday, Dec. 26, shot into the lead after Indiana, which was the pre-season selections and which had led in the first two weekly ratings of the season, was defeated by Oregon State.

The 35 outstanding coaches who make up the United Press rating board gave Coach Adolph Rupp's sharp shooting quintet 19 first place votes and a total of 325 points while Indiana, with only six first place votes, dropped to second place with 277 points. Both Kentucky and Indiana appeared on each of the 35 ballots.

Duquesne is third

Undeafed Duquesne, although receiving more first place votes than Indiana — seven to six — failed to move up, retaining third place with 259 points.

Oregon State, making the biggest jump of the week, moved into the fourth spot with an even 200 points, getting two first place votes. It marked the West Coast team's first appearance in the select 10 this season. Last week, Oregon State ranked 11th.

K'lucky Takes No. 1 Spot

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 —UP— Kentucky, which was barred from the sport last season because of recruiting irregularities, Tuesday took over the No. 1 spot in the United Press basketball ratings.

The Wildcats, who had won all six of their games through Saturday, Dec. 26, shot into the lead after Indiana, which was the pre-season selections and which had led in the first two weekly ratings of the season, was defeated by Oregon State.

LONG JAB — Gary Braden of the Borger Jaycee boxing team connects with a long left jab to Boys Club's Russell Morrow's chin during last night's match at Borger. In one of the most action-packed bouts of the 15-match program, Braden landed a close decision. The two weighed in at 146 pounds. The Boys Club, however, won the team matches, 5-2. (News-Photo)

Terms of Will Disclosed

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y., Dec. 29 —UP— The late Edward G. Barrow left an estate estimated at "over $20,000" to his widow and two grandchildren, it was disclosed Monday when the will of the former general manager of the New York Yankees was filed in surrogate's court.

TWO-TIME CHAMPS — With minutes to go, Donk Walker, left, kicked the extra point that gave the Detroit Lions their second world professional football championship Sunday. Bobby Layne's pass to Dorne Dribble tied up the score against the Cleveland Browns and Donk's kick split the uprights to give Lions a 17-16 victory. ### Texas Death Toll Grows

By UNITED PRESS
 A total of 106 persons had lost their lives in Texas, a United Press survey showed Tuesday, as the Christmas-New Year death list continued to grow.
 The largest number of persons had been killed in highway smash-ups since the Department of Public Safety holiday count started Dec. 23, and now totals 53.
 Thirty-two had died accidentally in fires, suffocation and drownings. One man was frozen to death. And, at least 21 persons had taken their own lives.
 The DPS had predicted that 100 persons would die in traffic accidents during the 10-day period, and with four more days to go, this prediction threatens to be exceeded. The department also forecast 50 accidental deaths and 40 would die by their own hands.
 In a survey conducted from 6 p.m. Thursday to midnight Sunday night, California was the only state exceeding Texas in traffic deaths over the Christmas holiday period, with 48 highway deaths. Texas had 32, New York 31, Ohio 30, and Illinois 28.
 The DPS predicted that 190 persons would die violently in Texas during the holiday period.

ARMY'S NEW HOME-AWAY-FROM-HOME—It may not look like it, but this is the Army's new all-purpose cold-weather sled-room, to be used for quarters and office space. Called the Wanigan, it is heated by an oil stove, can house four people and is designed to be pulled around on ski runners. Developed by the Detroit Arsenal, it will soon be contracted out to private industry.

Experts Present Hangover Menus

NEW YORK—UP—Key New Year's day menus to the condition of guests from New Year's eve revelry, if you're to be known as the perfect hostess.
 Some famous hostesses of Manhattan have developed special menus for the day after. The range is from cold buttermilk to a Bloody Mary. The one rule seems to be—don't serve fats and creamy dishes to delicate appetites.
Munsel Recommends Broth
 Patrice Munsel, coloratura star of the Metropolitan Opera Co., starts New Year's day guests "who are in awful condition" with a clear hot broth, followed by a simple menu including sliced turkey and ham.
 "Or sometimes I serve a cheese soufflé," said the dark-haired singer. "It's light and easy to take."
 Rise Stevens, mezzo-soprano at the Met, believes in warding off January first woes with a solid meal before the evening celebration ends.
 "Around four or five in the morning I make scrambled eggs—just gobs of them—and pots of coffee," she said. "But before everybody eats, I serve champagne or Bloody Marys—four parts tomato juice, one part brandy."

Cool Milk Soothing
 Some food authorities plug cold sweet or buttermilk, or vanilla ice cream as first item on New Year's Day menus. The cold is soothing, and in the case of buttermilk, the lactic acid is supposed to counteract the damage from the night before.
 "Tea and toast are a good eye opener for house guests," said Florence Brobeck, a food authority. "The major meal of the day might feature sliced ham and turkey, with plain biscuits, honey or jam. Stay away from the creamed dishes and rich gravies. Egg nog is too rich for those on the recuperating list."
 "I think the best thing you can do for house guests on New Year's day is let 'em sleep," said Ilika Chase, author and television star.

Urges "Divorce out of Court"
CAIRO, Dec. 28—UP—Former Queen Narriman's lawyer proposed Monday that former King Farouk divorce her out of court to avoid "driving" into the scandals surrounding the exiled monarch.
Khan to Be Weighed
NICE, France, Dec. 28—UP—The Aga Khan left here Monday for Karachi where he will be weighed in platinum on the 67th anniversary of his birth, but the ceremony will be symbolic and he will receive only a token gift of the precious metal.

Bagels Are Back
NEW YORK, Dec. 28—UP—Bagel lovers, starved of the crusty delicacy for 32 days, had good news Saturday—bagels are back. The 45 truck drivers who deliver bagels to neighborhood stores and restaurants agreed to make deliveries following settlement of their strike for higher wages.

HONG KONG, Dec. 28—UP—Chinese Communist troops have killed or wounded more than 100 persons as the result of food riots in two southeast China towns and more than 100 others have been executed for taking part, it was reported today.

FARM INCOME STARTS DIP—Above Newschart traces farm income from 1941 to the present. After reaching an all-time high of some $33 billion in 1951, the income dropped slightly in the following years. Despite the drop to an estimated $31 billion for 1953, it is still the third largest total in U. S. history. Data from U. S. Department of Agriculture.

McCarthy Invited To Texas Event

DALLAS, Dec. 29—UP—An informed Republican source in North Texas said Tuesday Sen. Joseph McCarthy's acceptance of an invitation to address a $100-a-plate dinner Feb. 8 was regarded as "certain."
 However, McCarthy, in Washington, was withholding acceptance of the invitation pending a review of the situation after Congress reconvenes.
 The dinner was set to raise funds for the party and as a North Texas celebration of Lincoln Day. However, invitations had been sent to all sections of the state, and about 500 persons were expected to attend.
 A committee composed of Sam Gladney, John D. Murchison and Karl Hoblitzelle of Dallas and Webb Maddox of Fort Worth were making arrangements for the dinner. One more committee member will be named.
 James A. Garfield, born in Cuyahoga County, Ohio, on Nov. 19, 1831, was the last President to have been born in a log cabin.

BUBBLE BLOWER—Heinz Kuhn is one of the few craftsmen left in Germany who scorns modern machinery to blow Christmas balls in his small shop in the British sector of Berlin. During the holiday rush he has taken on additional help to cope with a flood of orders to make multicolored tree decorations.
