U. S., Canada Plan Defense Of Continent

Soviet's Attitude Blamed In Measure For Joint Defense

OTTAWA, Nov. 14 -UP- The United States and Canada announced Saturday they are taking joint action to protect the North American continent from a possible sneak attack by Soviet atom bombers.

WERE PROMOTED - Sen. William E. Jenner (R-Ind.) has charged eight high government officials besides the late Harry Dexter White were promoted during Truman administration despite 'impressive' evidence they were Communist spies.

The announcement was made a joint U. S. - Canadian communique shortly after President Eisenhower told the Canadian parliament the 'troubling' attitude of Soviet Russia has made it necessary for Americans and Canadians to build common defenses.

'Complete Agreement' - There was complete agreement on the vital importance of effective methods for joint defense, especially in the light of evidence of increasing technical capability of direct attack on both countries by weapons of great destructive power,' the communique said.

The specific steps to be taken were not disclosed.

The communique echoed the sentiments of Mr. Eisenhower's carefully worded speech.

'Canada and the United States are equal partners and neither dreads to waste time,' Mr. Eisenhower said.

'There is a time to rest. These days demand ceaseless vigilance. We must be ready and prepared. The threat is present.'

The President sounded this warning in a speech before Canada's parliament during a two-day good-will visit to the United States' northern neighbor.

He spoke in the wall of the oak-paneled house and his words were carried over Canadian and United States radio and television networks.

Borger Man Injured In Auto Crash

A Borger man suffered a compound fracture of the right leg early Saturday morning when his car swerved from one side of the road to the other, skidded sideways for 200 feet and overturned twice, before coming to a stop.

Kenneth Eubanks, 24, was headed toward Pampa on the Borger highway at 1:25 a. m. Saturday when the mishap occurred some seven miles west of Pampa.

Highland General Hospital officials late Saturday night reported his condition as 'fair.'

Eubanks told patrolmen that he must have gone asleep, then awoken just in time to see himself going off the pavement on the right.

The car, patrolmen reported Saturday night, crossed the highway pavement to the left, then spun around and skidded sideways, coming to a stop on its wheels, headed south.

Two Skellytown youths, Dale Hunt and Paul Roessner, came by shortly afterward, patrolmen continued, and stopped when they saw the vehicle. They took Eubanks to the hospital, and notified Pampa police who in turn called the highway patrol.

Absentees Cast In Dam Proposal

With just 10 days to go, 11 Pampans had cast absentee ballots for the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority confirmation election.

City Secretary Ed Vickers made the announcement shortly before noon Saturday when his office closed for the weekend.

Elections will be held Nov. 24 in Pampa and the 11 other Panhandle Plains communities included in the dam and reservoir project for the purpose of determining whether each community remains in the project.

No money issue is involved. A vote on whether to spend the money will be taken at a later date, probably late in 1954.

Make Just One More Move . . .

And be sure that one is into a "Home of your Own." Why shouldn't you get into the home you have wanted, in the location you have wanted, a home that will fit your family needs.

Under provisions of the federal Lindbergh Law, the government may extract its "eye for eye" from the defendants only upon recommendation of a jury, despite guilty pleas.

Judge Albert L. Reeves, who will hear the case and who presided at the Nov. 3 arraignment, could not have sentenced the kidnapkillers to more than life imprisonment. Confronted with that point of law, he immediately impaneled a jury and set Monday's trial date.

Death for the pair would come in Missouri's penitentiary at Jefferson City, where hissing pellets of potassium cyanide combined with sulphuric acid in the stone chamber take a human life quickly.

DA Will Try for Death - U. S. District Attorney Edward L. Scheufler said he was prepared to go to whatever lengths may be necessary to prove "premeditation of murder" and convince the jury that the two men "planned their crime."

He said, however, that the cut-back has affected only "support" units and "combat strength" in Europe has not been changed.

The United States now has five divisions, and the equivalent of a sixth in smaller combat units, stationed in Europe. They include about 120,000 men.

Support Force Pared - In addition the Army has about 100,000 others—engineers, communication experts and the like—assigned to European support units. Officials said this support force has been pared down by the Pentagon economy axe.

Administration leaders acted about three weeks ago to quiet fears in European capitals that the U. S. was planning large scale reductions in its troop strength. The apprehension resulted from a statement by Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson that "new weapons" might eventually reduce manpower needs.

No Planned Withdrawal - Later, Wilson, President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, all said the United States would keep up its strength. Wilson himself said there was "no immediate plans for taking any troops out of Europe."

At a news conference on Friday, Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens stated that there has been no change in the copious strength of the Seventh Army in Germany. He said that some troops have been withdrawn from Europe, but described them as support forces and construction units which have completed their given job.

THE 'EARLY BIRD' Senterfitt Pushes Gubernatorial Bid

AUSTIN, Nov. 14-UP-Speaker Reuben Senterfitt, stepping up the race of his "early-bird" preparations for the governor's race next year, believes his name would be a prime asset in a campaign for the state's highest office.

Senterfitt, who flaunted political tradition last month by announcing his "present intention" to be a candidate, says his name should excite the curiosity of Texans. "It's a name," he said, "that when they start discussing, they'll want to know what it is."

The speaker has intensified organization plans and speech-making, with a view toward the January kickoff of the political year.

However, he has consistently declined to state what course he would take in the event Gov. Allan Shivers should announce for reelection.

Truman To Broadcast 'Facts' On Spy Case

Atom Expert Warns Of Path To 'Death Of Civilization'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 -UP- A man who knows all of his country's atomic secrets and many of Russia's says the world is on a path that can lead only to the "death of civilization."

This planet, he said, "may soon become an annex of hell" unless man chooses "the road to survival."

"I am certain," he added, "that we are not on this road yet." The man was Thomas E. Murray, a member of the Atomic Energy Commission. He made a speech on Wednesday—Arms Day—at Duquesne University in Pittsburgh.

Words Lost In Din - What Murray said was all but drowned out in the tumult over revival of the Harry Dexter White "spy" case.

In any event Murray was unable to document his warnings. He did not back them up with any data. He could not. The data are secret.

Murray's speech illustrated the security dilemma with which, an informed source said, the Atomic Energy Commission is wrestling more earnestly than ever before.

All members apparently wish to maintain the public all the atomic facts it needs for what Murray bluntly calls "survival" in the age of the "so-called hydrogen" or thermonuclear-fusion bomb.

Experts Divided - They appear divided, however, on just what and how many facts should safely be made public. Commissioner Eugene M. Zuckert has said he believes the people already have the basic facts they need.

AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss has suggested that the choice often is between too much and too little security. He feels too much security is better than too little.

Murray, however, noted in this week's speech that U. S. security policy had not kept Russia from making nuclear weapons. He said the policy "needs modification."

"When the other team knows your signals," he said, "it is senseless to maintain the pretense of their secrecy."

But Murray cannot, on his own, change the rules. It stands to reason that his hearers in Pittsburgh could take what he said on faith. But however, is the only way they could take it.

He could report his conclusion that destruction of civilization is "inevitable" unless Russia and the United States reach an agreement on atomic control.

But he could not report the secret facts on which he bases his conclusion. All he could do was announce that "a force is here that could destroy us all."

Murray was, of course, referring to the force of the atomic nucleus as manifested by exploding A-bombs and H-bombs.

WILLIAM JARREL SMITH, elected unanimously

Lawyer To Lead Gray Democrats

William Jarrel Smith, prominent Pampa attorney, is the new chairman of the Gray County Democratic Executive committee.

Smith was unanimously elected at a meeting Saturday morning of the committee, which is composed of the chairmen of the 18 precincts of the county. The meeting was held in the grand jury room of the courthouse.

He succeeds Aaron Sturgeon, another Pampa lawyer, who submitted his resignation as chairman on Oct. 30 in a letter to Bob Baker, secretary of the committee.

Sturgeon's resignation was formally accepted at the meeting. The group went on record as accepting the resignation "with regret."

In a statement made after the meeting, Smith said that he was "highly honored to be selected for this office."

Smith, who for a number of years has been a member of the committee and has served as its legal advisor, stated that he would do his best in performing the duties of the position.

Sherman and is a graduate of the Georgetown University Law School in Washington, D. C. He began the practice of law in Sherman in 1921 and has practiced here since 1928. He and his wife have two children.

He is a partner in the law firm of Smith, Teed and Wade, who have offices in the Combs-Worley building.

Mr. Truman was just as good-humored and chipper on his departure from New York as he was when he arrived last Monday amid the bitter storm over White.

Promises Answers To All Questions

NEW YORK, Nov. 14 -UP- Former President Harry S. Truman announced Saturday he would tell the American people "all the facts" in the Harry Dexter White case in a nationwide radio and television speech Monday night.

"I'll make an all-out broadcast and answer all pertinent questions," Mr. Truman said. "After I go on the air, I hope there will be no more doubt on the present controversy."

Mr. Truman ended one of the most hectic weeks in his long political career with the promise to go into what he smilingly called the "pending difficulties" in a 30-minute address from Kansas City, Mo.

Then he and Mrs. Truman boarded a train for their home in Independence, Mo.

The former President refused on constitutional grounds this week to obey a House Un-American Activities committee subpoena ordering him to appear to answer charges he knew White was an alleged spy when he promoted him in high public office.

But Mr. Truman was obviously eager to tell the nation's voters about the case.

The National Broadcasting Co. announced it would carry Mr. Truman's speech on both its radio and television networks at 11:30 p. m. on Monday. The American Broadcasting Co. said it would carry the talk on its radio network, and possibly on its television network. Other networks said they would announce their plans later.

Mr. Truman was just as good-humored and chipper on his departure from New York as he was when he arrived last Monday amid the bitter storm over White.

During his stay, the former President visited with his daughter, Margaret, spoke at three banquets, went to the theater and walked newsmen ragged during his pre-broadcast constitutional. They rewarded him for his good company by treating him to breakfast Saturday morning, and he reciprocated with an hour-long discourse (off the record) on life in the White House.

In refusing to obey the House committee's subpoena to appear in Washington Friday, Mr. Truman said it would be a violation of the constitutional separation of the executive and legislative branches of the government. He cited a number of cases in which other Presidents had turned down Congressional requests for information.

Mr. Truman disclosed Saturday he spent most of his time from Tuesday, when he received the subpoena, until his announcement refusing to obey it in documenting the historic precedents.

Army Makes Slash In European Forces

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 -UP- The Army has quietly removed about 20,000 men—the equivalent of an infantry division—from Europe, informed Pentagon sources disclosed Saturday.

They said, however, that the cut-back has affected only "support" units and "combat strength" in Europe has not been changed.

The United States now has five divisions, and the equivalent of a sixth in smaller combat units, stationed in Europe. They include about 120,000 men.

Testimony About Gun Ruled Out

BLOOMFIELD, Ia., Nov. 14 -UP- Attorney Walter M. Mayer lost an attempt Saturday to introduce testimony that John C. Wisdom carried a pearl-handled gun.

District Judge Harold V. Lewis refused to allow defense witnesses to testify to specific instances when they said they saw Wisdom, a Des Moines livestock buyer, with a gun.

The state objected to the testimony.

Mayer, 56, of Santa Fe, N. M., is charged with shooting Wisdom, in a dispute over a sheep deal near Wisdom's 900-acre farm near here May 13.

Mayer Pleads Self Defense - Mayer has pleaded self defense. The 160-pound rancher said he shot 240-pound Wisdom when Wisdom acted like a "wild man" about paying a debt for some sheep and reached for his hip as if trying to pull a gun.

Defense and prosecution attorneys argued for 30 minutes after court opened Saturday over the proposed defense testimony.

Levis then ruled the defense "can show specific instances as to whether Wisdom's character was good or bad, but the questions it proposed to ask witnesses were not in proper form."

R. E. White, Ottumwa, chief defense attorney, told Lewis the defense was not attempting to go into Wisdom's reputation, but was trying to show specific instances of his character and disposition.

Youth Slaughters Three Persons In Wild Shooting Rampage

FLOODWOOD, Minn., Nov. 14 -UP-Edward Godfrey, 17, an orphan, shot and killed his foster parents and another orphan boy early Saturday after a happy "family" party.

The victims were George Snyder, 62, his 56-year-old wife and Richard De Mars, 37. Both youths had lived in the Snyder home for five years.

The shooting awakened Ernest Olbekson, 14, a grandson of the Snyders, and Jean Stipe, 19, Duluth, Minn., who was spending the weekend with the family.

Authorities said it was possible that the slaying were the outgrowth of a teen-age love triangle involving Godfrey, De Mars and Miss Stipe.

No Sign of Trouble - The girl had dated both of the youths. But Mrs. Leonard Snyder, a daughter-in-law of the slain couple, said the two boys "always got along very well."

She said there had been "no sign of trouble," and discounted the possibility of a romantic triangle.

Godfrey himself sobbed remorsefully and said, "I don't know why I did it."

Police believed he might have killed the girl and the grandson if he had not run out of bullets. There were only four rounds in the 30-30 deer rifle he used.

Benson Touring Western Ranges

WENDOVER, Utah, Nov. 14 -UP-Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson's drought inspection tour, which started Saturday through dusty, dried up white sage Western ranges where ranchers "want help."

Benson has found general approval of the drought aid program on his quick five-day, seven-state tour. He's also found that some areas have shown improvement while others have deteriorated.

At each stop of the big military air transport plane he was met by local and state officials, as well as cattlemen and farmers.

Benson has found that farmers have a lot of things on their minds besides drought and are taking this opportunity to tell him of their troubles.

Texas cotton farmers were worried about cutbacks in cotton crops next year. In Albuquerque, N.M., farmers told him they were troubled about elimination of seven offices of the Soil Conservation tion plan. The Albuquerque office is one of those eliminated. Worried shepherds in Nevada said they needed high tariffs on wool.

Maximum temperatures were expected to range between the upper 60s to the mid-70s Sunday afternoon, similar to those of Saturday. Skies were to be generally clear.

The lowest temperature early Saturday was 28 degrees at Salt Flat—the only freezing mark in Texas. Lukitan, Junction and Dabhart had 34.

The highest was 78 at Laredo, with Marta reporting the coolest maximum, 66. There was no rain, and few clouds Saturday.

TEXAS CONSTRUCTION SHOWS BIG INCREASE - DALLAS, Nov. 14-UP-Texas construction awards for the week ending Nov. 11 totaled $39,412,912, a 120 per cent increase over the award total for the preceding week, the Texas Contractor reported Saturday.

It was the second successive week during which construction awards have shown an appreciable gain. The awards showed an 81.8 per cent increase over the week before.

Allied observers said the agreement to turn over various problems to a number of subcommittees contained a lot of loopholes that could tie the preliminary conference up for many days to come.

After a Sunday holiday, UN and Red envoys will meet at 11 a. m. Monday—8 p. m. on Sunday—to arrange the subcommittees which may go to work Tuesday.

The Communists gave no indication there has been any compromise on the Red demand that Asian neutral nations and Russia be invited to attend the conference—the issue that deadlocked the preliminary arrangement talks.

Difficult Questions Lumped - Qualified observers noted that the agenda agreement reached by a subcommittee lumped together the two most difficult questions—what nations will attend and where it will be held. A Red demand that composition be decided first could deadlock the subcommittee.

Vegetable Crops Show Slight Drop - AUSTIN, Nov. 14-UP-Production of fall-crop vegetables for fresh market in Texas is expected to be 5 per cent under last year, but 67 per cent more than the average for the 1949-1951 years, the U.S. Department of Agriculture said Saturday.

Seeks More Gifts To United Fund - As Pampa's United Fund Drive swung into its sixth day, the prospects of its reaching its goal of $45,150 were on the gloomy side.

"People are not giving as they should," stated Paul Brown, drive chairman. "We'd like them to open up their purse strings a little more."

$21,574.25 had been received from the advance drive with an estimated 85 per cent of the returns reported. With about 25 per cent of the returns of the general drive turned in, $3,297.10 had been received. The receipts on both drives total $24,871.35, a little over one-half the amount for which the drive is aiming.

"A number of people are refusing to give, and the others aren't giving as much as they should," Brown advised. "We still have hopes, though."

Truce Negotiations Slated To Resume - PANMUNJOM, Sunday, Nov. 15 -UP- Informed United Nations quarters warned Sunday the Korean peace conference may not be called until after the New Year.

UN sources warned that basic problems deadlocking the two sides remain although negotiators broke a three-week deadlock Saturday with a compromise agreement for simultaneous discussions of time, place and composition of the Korean peace conference.

Arthur H. Dean, special UN envoy, warned himself that "this is just the key that opens the door—the real hard work is just commencing."

Allied observers said the agreement to turn over various problems to a number of subcommittees contained a lot of loopholes that could tie the preliminary conference up for many days to come.

After a Sunday holiday, UN and Red envoys will meet at 11 a. m. Monday—8 p. m. on Sunday—to arrange the subcommittees which may go to work Tuesday.

AMONG MY SOUVENIRS — The Rev. Porter H. Brooks, rector of St. Matthews Episcopal church here, picked up quite a number of souvenirs during the 14 months he served as an Army chaplain in Germany. He is pictured above with several of these. He is holding a crucifix that was made for him at Oberammergau, site of the famous Passion Play. Also shown is a painting of the famous Cathedral of Ulm, where he held services; a candle given him by a German family and a small statuette of Christ, another gift. These are only a few of his souvenirs. (News Photo)

PAMPA MINISTER BELIEVES Present-Day Soldiers Are Less Mature Than In WWII

By WALT SWITZER
Pampa News Staff Writer
The boys serving in the armed forces today are less mature than those who served during World War II.

This observation was made by the Rev. Porter H. Brooks, rector of St. Matthews Episcopal church here, who recently returned from Germany where he served 14 months as an Army chaplain.

"Soldiers are depending more and more on the Red Cross, chaplains, special service officers and other services to make their decisions for them," he said. "Those who served in World War II seemed to be much more self-reliant."

Although it is true that these services are provided for this purpose, the boys are using them too much, he declared. The services are overwhelmed and really have more than they can handle, he added.

TO COUNTERACT this immaturity, the Army has instituted an intensive program in Europe. One encouraging sign, he said, is the apparent turning toward religion on the part of the soldiers.

"People here at home can bear in mind that all of our young men will face separation from their families," the rector asserted. "I don't see anytime in the near future when men won't continue to be drafted. We must live with this tension, uncertainty and separateness for at least another generation."

"Families, schools, churches and civic clubs can do a job here by preparing these young people for this uncertainty."

Rev. Brooks has a letter from a Methodist chaplain in Germany, Capt. Thomas A. Harris, of Dallas, which reads in part: "I wonder if you have many draft age kids in the church. I wonder if you think you could help them, and incidentally the service, by perhaps a preparatory course in what to expect in the Army. On the other hand, you might just scare them to death and put the parents into shock."

HE SAID he is inclined to believe that the soldiers of today are more genuinely religious than during the war. Attendance was very good in his church in Germany, which was a new church built by the German government. Sunday school attendance averaged about 150 each week and church service attendance was about 250, he stated. Attendance at other chapels was comparable, he added.

"One thing I learned during my stay in Germany was that the chaplain is definitely the soldier's best friend, regardless of denomination," the former chaplain said.

The chaplains, also regardless of denomination, worked very well together, he said. "Some of my finest experiences were with Roman Catholic chaplains." he added. "This has greatly helped my attitude toward community life and gives me a greater appreciation of the values of the different churches of the city."

He told of one experience he had with a Catholic chaplain. He and the Catholic chaplain, Martin A. Roche, Scranton, Pa., riding in separate jeeps on maneuvers one Sunday, became separated from their units and became lost. Rev. Brooks' driver was a Lutheran and Father Roche's driver was a Hebrew. The four men were dangerously close to the Czechoslovakian border — Russian held territory — and they were afraid they might get too close. "We began to lose faith in our map reading ability."

COMING TO a small village, they stopped at a Catholic rectory. The priest knocked on the door and the sexton, looking down from an upstairs window, asked what they wanted. The Catholic chaplain told him who they were and that they desired a place to sleep. The sexton was afraid they might be Russians in disguise and did not wish to let them in.

However, the priest finally came down and after satisfying his mind that they were Americans, let them in. Rev. Brooks said they had a very interesting conversation with the priest, who had been imprisoned by the Nazis during the war.

At this point, Rev. Brooks interjected this thought: "In Germany, many people blame the Lutherans and Catholics for Nazism, but this is not true. Both the Catholics and Lutherans fought the Nazis bitterly. The German people were charitable in the political field too long, and before they finally woke up to the dangers of Nazism, the Nazis already were in power."

ONE OF the most interesting towns in which he was stationed was Ulm, on the Danube river, in the state of Wurttemberg. The state itself, he said, is predominantly Protestant, but the town of Ulm is made up of about half Catholic and half Protestant.

It is a medieval town in which one can see parts of the old walls of ruined buildings still standing. There is a restaurant in the town that specializes in sea food. This establishment dates back to the 15th century, he added.

The landmark of the town is Ulmer Munster, the cathedral of Ulm. This cathedral, construction of which was started in medieval times, is one of the few which was completed in modern times. Construction began in 1377 with the construction of the choir, and was finally completed in 1870. It has the tallest church tower in the world.

The young minister said that during the war the Americans repeatedly bombed Ulm since it was the site of 35 German military installations, but that while the Americans were dropping their bombs, they tried to respect the cathedral. In an effort to keep from hitting the church, they dropped flares so that the building could be plainly seen. While many nearby buildings were destroyed, only one bomb hit the choir and a few fire bombs landed on the roof.

"THIS IS INDEED a tribute to the fine marksmanship of the American airmen," Rev. Brooks stated.

He told of an Easter Sunrise service that he held in the cathedral which was attended by about 700 American soldiers. Money contributed by the soldiers — about 1,500 marks — was turned over to the cathedral to help pay for the repairing of the bomb damage.

"In my part of Germany I supplied Episcopal services to the whole area, in addition to my Army duties," Rev. Brooks stated. "For example, I went to Austria once each month. To show their appreciation for this service, the people of Salzburg, Austria, presented him with a beautiful etching, which is now hanging in his study. He also has a beautiful drawing of the cathedral of Ulm."

The Americans have built their own communities and life there is about the same as it is here, he stated. Also, the Americans have reshaped German culture, much against the protest of the older German people. Popular jazz and swing music are being heard on the radios and are beginning to outlast the more dignified styles, he added. "There isn't much advertising on the radio there, but the German stations are beginning to imitate the Americans, with commercials for such companies as Coca Cola and Ford. They also have some singing commercials."

In contrast the American Army radio stations there carry all of the American programs, without the advertising.

REV. BROOKS said that in Germany the telegraph, telephone and railroads are federally operated, like the post office in this country. The railroads, he added, appear to be highly efficient.

"Throughout my stay in Germany, I never saw one train late at any station," he declared. "It is said, and accurately, you can set your watch by holding a time table on a German train."

Returning to the United States last July, he moved to Pampa in September to assume duties as rector of St. Matthews. This is his first full-time church.

Government Researchers See Home Builders' Boon

By NEEL MACNEIL
WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 —UP— Government researchers see a "boon" to home builders, facing a slumping housing market, in the "gigantic game of musical chairs" played by the enormous number of Americans who are constantly moving.

In the four years before April 1951, about 78 million Americans changed home addresses. That is almost half the American people. The Housing and Home Finance Agency, in a recent study, pointed at this population "mobility" as perhaps the key to the home building industry in the years ahead.

Restlessness Is Characteristic
In a published report on its findings, the agency said "an innate restlessness characterizes most of the American people."

"The quest for new and more comfortable climate, or a house more suited to their needs, acts as a powerful magnet drawing people from farms to the cities and from one section of the country to another, as well as from one portion of town to another. Those who live out their married life in the dwelling in which they first set up Homekeepers are the exception rather than the rule."

One in 12 stays put
The agency said a recent study of families in Philadelphia showed only one family out of 12 had stayed throughout the life of the family at the same address.

In 1949, the agency said, 21 million persons moved from one address to another without leaving the same county. In four years before April, 1951, roughly 36 million persons moved from one county to another and more than half of these moved to another state.

Home builders, the HEFA said, have "never adequately" paid attention to this vast movement constantly going on.

Edge Off Housing Market
But today, the agency said, "the edge is off the (housing) market" and new families have dropped to 700,000 a year — and are dropping. The economic future may hold even dire prospects for the builders, it said.

"A darkening of the economic horizon can easily slow down the rate at which established families seek to move about from house to house within a given community. It can also adversely affect the rate of inter-area migration. Similarly, a tightening in the mortgage market, such as has occurred in recent months, may act as a brake upon the output of new homes."

Cultivate Replacement Market
Home builders, the HEFA said, "must" cultivate the replacement market if they are to make the most of their "opportunities" in the years ahead.

"The restless movement of the people in and around all population centers plays a major role in creating the market demand for housing, old and new," the agency said. "In the main, the people making these inter-area moves neither need nor want new housing."

"A major share of them shift from one to another of the dwellings in the vast existing stock of housing."

Arlene Dahl Gets Divorce
HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 14 —UP— Film actress Arlene Dahl Saturday held a final divorce decree from actor Lee Remick, the Tarzan of the movies, and now the fourth husband of actress Lana Turner. Miss Dahl filed for divorce in October, 1952, but under California law, she had to wait a year for the final decree. Barker and Miss Turner, meanwhile, were wed last Sept. 7 in Turin, Italy.

Takes Time

HE'S IN RETIREMENT Ailing Visitation Minister Now Needs Visitors Himself

By ED NASH
Pampa News Staff Writer

For more than three years, a Pampa minister visited the sick, the hospitalized and those shut-in. Now he is home-bound himself and likes to have visitors.

Rev. C. H. Bumpers, 923 S. Hobart, became minister of visitation for the First Methodist Church March 27, 1950, and retired June 1. Sitting back, one day last week in his rocking chair, the sandy-haired 77-year-old figured that he had visited some 5,000 persons in his three years of service.

"As many as 20 in an afternoon, five days a week, at times," he added.

"Falling health" forced his retirement at the beginning of the summer. Specifically, it was his eyes.

Rev. and Mrs. Bumpers, both as cheerful as could be, talked openly of the operations he had had — to remove the cataracts from behind both eyes. "There was pain, that medicine in my eyes," he admitted simply, without going into any detail.

LIKES VISITORS — Rev. C. H. Bumpers, 77, of 923 S. Hobart, reads his Bible in the afternoons but is always happy to lay it down for a while when some visitors come to call. In the three years he was minister of visitation for the First Methodist Church he visited thousands of families. Now that he has retired and had operations on his eyes, he likes to have them reciprocate.

LEAVING PAMPA July 10, they went to Memphis, Tenn., where he had the operations July 13 and July 17. "Had quite a tussle with it," he commented.

Since he arrived back in Pampa Sept. 13 — two months ago — he's had "quite a few" visitors, though "not too many." A "sackful of cards, though," he added brightly. "Just this week," he continued, "there were five ladies of the church who came to see me." Two of them had had husbands who he had visited before they died.

Rev. Bumpers' reason for heading back into the northeast for his hospitalization was quite simple. For 32 years he was a pastor in the Northern Arkansas Methodist Conference, which takes in half of the state. And his son, E. Clay Bumpers, with whom he stayed while he recuperated, lives in Wash. Ark.

Seven years ago — May 1, 1946 — he came to Pampa and the last three of them he was really at work.

"JUST A GENERAL visitation of the membership of the church" is the way he describes his job. Most of his work was conducted under the First Methodist's former pastor, Rev. Oran W. Carter.

Carter came to Bumpers one day and asked him if he'd be willing to take a try at the visitation ministry. He remembers he told him, "I can try it and I think I'd like it."

What did he do when he visited a home? "Well, I go in, say I'm representing the pastor, I'm an extension of the pastor, then I talk about the family — and generally end up with a prayer with them." Average visit lasted five to 10 minutes.

They couldn't last much longer, not if he were going to make 15-20

Kiwanians See Motion Picture

The motion picture, "The Canadian River Project," was shown at the meeting of the Pampa Kiwanis club Friday in the basement of the First Methodist church.

Fred Thompson made a few introductory remarks in regard to the election on Nov. 24 on the confirmation of the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority. He was introduced by Mack Hiatt, program chairman.

Wives of Kiwanians, who have wedding anniversaries during November and December, were special guests. They were Misses Ben Ogden, Clarence Qualls, John Skelly, Jay Mitchell, Lloyd Hayes, Roy Kay, Joe Gordon, Aubrey Steele, Clyde Carruth, Shelby Gantz, Tom Johnston, Robert Ladd, W. F. Dean, Art Aftergut, George Fannon.

Other guests were J. D. Pevelard, C. E. Lindgren and Jim Morgan, all of Amarillo; Fred Lockwood, Kansas City, Mo.; T. J. Kennedy, Oklahoma City, and Harold Wright, Pampa.

President Clinton Evans presided.

Terre Haute Not Alarmed About Juvenile Delinquency

This is the last in a series of juvenile delinquency. The following dispatch reports that Terre Haute, Ind., despite an old reputation for being "steeped in sin," has no serious juvenile delinquency problem.

By KEITH L. MARTIN
TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Nov. 14—UP—This Midwestern city of 70,000 is not alarmed about juvenile delinquency.

Its youths occasionally run astray but their elders — recalling their own teen-age capers in the "Roaring 20's"—consider the situation under control.

Juvenile Court Judge Lenhardt E. Bauer, father of three children, believes the city is "blessed" in not having the teen-age gang wars, narcotics, prostitution, or property destruction reported by other cities.

The extent of juvenile delinquency here—according to law enforcement, school and probation officials—is occasional immorality, beer parties, pilfering, and reckless driving.

Last year Terre Haute had 242 recorded juvenile crimes as follows: 41 burglary, 14 auto theft, 42 miscellaneous theft, two robbery, 32 sex offenses, 21 runaway, 17 truancy, 24 ungovernable, 11 mischief, two traffic, and 36 delinquent behavior. The record shows no juvenile offenses involving drinking or narcotics.

Principal Vane R. Rutherford of Wiley high school calls Terre Haute a "hybrid country town and metropolitan area." While he is not greatly concerned, he is "afraid delinquency will spread."

"I'm just keeping my fingers crossed for fear something will blow—not that I expect it," he said.

Terre Haute, chiefly an industrial town lying in the heart of a soft coal mining area along Indiana's western border, has had for many years a reputation for being "rough and tough." Tradition has it that Terre Haute was "steeped in sin," with more than its share of gambling and prostitution.

But shoe concerned with juvenile problems say Terre Haute's reputation isn't as black as it often has been painted. They explain the attitudes of its people are different.

"People Are Loser"

"People are loser. They're not as startle-faced as they are in neighboring Clay county, for instance," said Deputy Prosecutor John K. Feaster, who handles Vigo county juvenile cases. "It's always been a wet town. Kids see their parents drink and are inclined to follow in their footsteps."

Police Chief Riddle says a higher I. Q. is a key toward explaining why local juveniles aren't so wayward.

"I like to compare them with my generation," he said. "Look at the mess the generation to the Roaring '20's got us into—a depression and two wars. This generation has to get us out of that mess. They're very capable and they're more educated."

Honesty Stressed

DALLAS, Nov. 14—UP—A former city councilman was introducing Dallas Police Chief Carl Hanson to the Optimist Club and wanted to stress the honesty of Hanson's force.

"The last time I was in New Orleans," he said, "the man I was with circled around a three-block line of cars waiting for the ferry, gave the policeman at the gate $1 and was taken aboard first."

"I defy you to get any Dallas policeman to do anything for you for a dollar," he said.

SOMETIME soon—like this week— you ought to try a Buick with Twin-Turbine Dynaflo.*

You ought to try it just to be familiar with the great advance in this fully automatic transmission that Buick engineers have accomplished.

You ought to try it just for the fun of bossing a drive where you don't do a blessed thing but steer and press the gas or the brake pedal as you go.

But, pure and simple, you ought to try it for thrills.

We mean the thrill of instant getaway response—with two turbines doing the job that one did before.

We mean the thrill of whisper-quiet acceleration—where you barely hear the sound of power build-up, or of fowling oil at work.

And, most emphatically, we mean the thrill of perfect and sublime smoothness from start to stop—the thrill of moving from standstill to and through all travel ranges in one, progressive, infinitely smooth forward "carry" without a gear ever shifting or a clutch-pedal pushed—the thrill, rarely found elsewhere, of silky smoothness in deceleration, too.

Will you be our guest at a sampling of a Buick with TT Dynaflo?

Will you try the sweetest, the smoothest and the simplest-to-operate automatic transmission yet devised—and powered by the highest-compression engines in Buick history, including the world's newest V8 in SUPER and ROADMASTER models?

Drop in on us this week and we'll be happy to accommodate you.

It's Trade-In Time for a Better Deal

You'll be thrilled with the top allowance we will make on your present car. Come in and see us for the happy news—now. We can give you immediate delivery.

Pampa Odds-n'-Ends Trader Gets Kick Out Of Business

By JANE KADINCO
Pampa News Staff Writer

Many a Pampa housewife, browsing through the local used furniture shops for antiques or a bargain on a needed household item, has run into the inimitable W. O. Davis of the Davis Trading Post, 614 S. Cuyler.

At the "uninitiated" customer begins to succumb to dismay at the sight of the seemingly endless, unorganized array of merchandise, he is bound to spot the blue placard opposite the entrance, stating: "If you don't see what you want, ask for it." Among articles ranging in variety from old string to a 100-year-old clock to "fairly new" refrigerators and stoves, it is unlikely that anyone couldn't find what he wants. However, he may have to "ask for it."

It's very doubtful if Davis knows all the things he has in his shop. However, one customer stated: "I don't know about that. No matter what you ask for, I bet he could dig it up from somewhere here."

The "bunch of old odds and ends," as Davis calls some of his merchandise, include a hand saw, a mill, several antique treadle sewing machines, some chains from a combine, cast iron pipes, a metal bicycle-type wheel (without a tire), an old walnut table top, a door and frame, a box full of string, a wheelbarrow, and some ancient picture frames.

Among the more distinctive items is a wheel-shaped clock with the figure of a man at the tiler, engraved with: Roosevelt — At the Wheel for a New Deal. Hanging in an obscure corner is an odd piece of metal which Davis explained was "a hand-pumped kerosene lamp."

Rated among the Post's antiques is a picture of a little girl leading a cow, entitled "Jersey." "It's at least 75 years old," Davis exclaimed. "It ain't worth a quarter to me, but I like it."

ON THE OPPOSITE wall are two mammoth wooden wall clocks, both of which are "probably 100 years old." A customer, browsing through the shop, stopped in front of the clocks and scrutinized them closely.

"I'll give you two dollars for that clock," he offered, pointing at one of them.

"Two dollars?" Davis gasped. "I've been offered two hundred for it, but I don't want to part with it."

Village Buys Jail It Sold

HARVARD, Neb., Nov. 14—P—The village of Harvard has paid $3,000 to buy back the jail it sold for $1.50 by mistake a decade ago.

The jail building was repurchased because the city "believes it should have a jail again," Mayor Edward Hoppens said.

In 1943, the jail property was mistakenly listed among real-estate sold by the city at auction. Robert Pinckney, 16-year-old high school youth, purchased it. After a month of wrangling, city fathers concluded it was a legal sale.

During the war, the jail was "sold" for $10,000 during a war bond rally. The bidder was Edgar Bergens' radio dummy, Charley McCarthy, who decided it back to Pinckney after the rally.

Pinckney sold it to O. E. Hunt, who offered to sell it back to the village. When the village showed no interest, he sold it to a brother-in-law, Walter Gallentine.

Gallentine used the oil jail building as an ice house and soft drink stand.

Hoppens explained a new housing project had doubled the town's population, now 1,400, and said "there were times we wished we had a jail."

Prisoners have been taken to nearby Clay Center jail.

TANK ADDS PUNCH TO BRITISH FORCES — The "Centurion," which the British War Ministry describes as "probably the most powerful tank in the world," rolls by in London, with two crewmen observing from the top turret. It is slated for exhaustive tests at home and abroad. British officials claim it has better armor and a more powerful engine than the Centurion, which has won high praise from the Allies in Korea.

Calm Atmosphere In Bermuda Perfect For Big Three Meeting

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following dispatch describes life in the British colony of Bermuda as it will affect the Big Three Western chiefs of state when they hold their conference there next month. The writer resided in Bermuda for 21 years and formerly was editor of the Mid-Ocean News, one of the island's two daily newspapers.

By TERENCE E. CHALK
NEW YORK, Nov. 14—UP—The Western Big Three couldn't have picked a better spot than Bermuda for their conference. It combines a quiet, peaceful atmosphere and pleasant climate with ample opportunity for relaxation and entertainment.

The British resort island of Bermuda is less than three hours flying time from New York. The warm currents of the Gulf Stream, flowing between the 19-mile-square island and the mainland of the American continent, keep winter away.

Never snows in Bermuda. It never snows in Bermuda, and December is one of the most pleasant months for a visit, with a temperature averaging around 70 degrees.

The ultra-exclusive Mid-Ocean Club, where the conference will be held, is located in one of the most delightful parts of the island—Tucker's Town, in Bermuda's eastern end. The club is a vast estate which includes the famous Mid-Ocean golf course—rated one of the 10 best in the world.

The low, rambling clubhouse is built of Bermuda limestone. Like all Bermuda houses, it has a white-washed limestone roof which is used as a catch for rain—the island's only source of drinking water. The water is stored in huge, underground reservoirs, and in all likelihood the Big Three will find in their bathrooms neatly printed notices urging them not to waste water.

Challenging Golf Course President Eisenhower will find the Mid-Ocean golf course one of the most beautiful and the most challenging he has ever played. It is almost completely surrounded by incredibly blue-green water—the Atlantic on the south, Castle Harbour on the east, and Harrington Sound on the north.

The Mid-Ocean club has a private beach, a broad expanse of pink and white sand. Though Bermudians consider December too cold for swimming, visitors find the 70-plus temperature of the water ideal.

Sailing, game-fishing, spear-fishing, tennis and cycling all are popular sports, and there are endless seascapes for amateur artists such as Sir Winston and Mr. Eisenhower.

The island will be well prepared to receive the Big Three, because Great Britain's Queen Elizabeth II will have visited Bermuda only a week before their arrival. The local Parliament voted a large sum to decorate government buildings in her honor, and Hamilton's municipal government and each of nine parishes added substantial appropriations to beautify the island.

New Auto Gadget

NEW YORK, Nov. 14—UP—Alfonso Siedenhaus of Munich, Germany, has invented a new automobile gadget designed to cut down on drunken driving.

Before a driver can start his automobile he must breathe into an alcohol meter attached to the dashboard. If his breath registers the "danger" mark, the car will not start. If the driver's breath is "moderately alcoholic" the gadget permits him to proceed at no more than 35 miles an hour.

W. O. DAVIS — "about 70", gets ready to be "soaped up" by his bride of a month. He is holding a shaving mug dating back to 1851 and a razor that has been in his family for four or five generations. Davis owns the Trading Post at 614 S. Cuyler. (News Photo) claims he "just came tramping up Cuyler street" one day in 1929. He began working in Bob and Al Eldridge's used furniture shop.

"For anything I repaired that sold for a dollar, I got 10 cents," he related. "If something sold for $4.00, I got 40 cents. But he finally bought out their stock and established his 'trading post.'"

"I JUST BUY or trade anything," he stated. "I get a big kick out of it," and almost any hour of the day, he can be found bagging over a deal with a customer.

"Some people like me and some don't," he giggled.

Davis lives in a little house behind his shop with his bride of a month.

"I'm 67 and he's about 70," Mrs. Davis stated. "I may be getting old, but not in ways."

Davis' only comment on his recent marriage was, "You know us old fellows — a woman goes by and drops her handkerchief over her shoulder and off we go. I try to have as much fun as anybody."

THE DAVIS' HOME is a near-replica of an antique shop. An old wooden pendulum clock hangs on the kitchen wall and the living room walls are covered with pictures and tapestry which Davis says are so ancient they might fall apart if taken down. However, since Mrs. Davis has threatened to replace them with her own pictures, he may just be protecting his treasures.

Displaying a beautiful cutglass fruit bowl of a bygone period, Mrs. Davis gasped, "he just had this messing around on the kitchen table. So I cleaned it and put it away."

Davis' prize possession is a shaving mug that has been in his family for nine generations. "It's the tenth," he declared proudly.

"He's got so much stuff," Mrs. Davis added, "and he just keeps bringing more things in."

NEW CHURCH — The recently completed First Methodist church in Wheeler will be dedicated during Golden anniversary and Homecoming programs throughout this week, starting today. The interior of the church, built at a cost of $32,000, is shown in the above picture. A feature of the design of the church is the cove indirect lighting, which furnishes illumination for the sanctuary.

Wheeler Methodist Church Slates Homecoming Plans

WHEELER—(Special)—A homecoming and Golden anniversary program will be held at the First Methodist Church here, starting today and continuing through next Sunday, according to the Rev. O. A. McBrayer, pastor.

The program will feature preaching by several former pastors and will be concluded next Sunday with a sermon by Bishop William C. Martin, Dallas.

The celebration also signifies the conclusion of a building program started last April under the leadership of a former pastor, the Rev. J. W. Griffin, who, moved to Albany last June. Since last April a new church building has been built at a cost of $32,000, including building and equipment, and the old church building has been completely remodeled into adequate educational facilities at a cost of $6,000, he said.

The new sanctuary is a pulpited, centered place of worship with the communion-ratable in front of it at the open chancel. The altar is complete with brass altar ware, crosses, candlestick, vases, communion set and offering plates. The furniture is finished in dark oak and the walls are of pale green plaster. The pulpit and choir area is backed with oak paneling and red velvet dossal. It will seat 325 persons.

Simulated Ammunition Saves Money

PORT WORTH, Nov. 14—UP—A sprawling but little-known manufacturing plant near Fort Worth has been producing key national defense items that saved taxpayers millions of dollars and probably saved the lives of many soldiers, it was learned Saturday.

The Monarch Manufacturing Co., located in 51 separate buildings scattered over a 60-acre tract west of the huge Convair aircraft plant has been making simulated war ammunition, which was also credited with breaking up a Communist attack in Korea.

The ammunition is used primarily in training troops. The company uses layers of paper around an explosive composed primarily of photoflash powder. The finished product, whether it be a hand grenade or an artillery shell, makes the noise and smoke the attackers expect, but doesn't cause casualties.

It was developed as an inexpensive, and safer, method of giving troops simulated combat training. When live ammunition was used, there were often casualties, the procedure was costly, and in some cases, the ammunition also was needed in a combat area.

Monarch officials said the company had made some four million simulators at a saving of from $12 to $80 each over the real ammunition. Savings to taxpayers run as little as $48 million to as high as $320 million.

"While the simulators expose the troops to no shrapnel, the product produces the same noise, flash and shock effect as the real thing. The company says, although unverified by Army or Marine Corps officials, it had been reported from Korea the simulators once stopped a Communist attack. The outnumbered defenders hit upon the idea of setting off simulated artillery barrages to scare the attackers.

The report said the simulated ammunition was kept behind the lines in Korea to give the U.S. troops realistic training. The defenders set off a number of charges and the Communists fell back, evidently fooled into believing they were attacking a vastly superior force.

Princess Has Broken Rule In Lone Walk

LONDON, Nov. 14—UP—Princess Margaret has just broken one of the strictest rules of Britain's Royal household and plans to flout more traditions in the future, palace intimates revealed Saturday.

The Princess went out for a walk in London last week unescorted, sauntering along bare headed as millions of other girls do every day. But it was the first time in her 23 years that Margaret has done it.

Royal etiquette, laid down in Queen Victoria's days, insists that members of the Royal family do their walking in the spacious wooded grounds of Buckingham Palace, protected from the public by high iron-spiked walls.

For years, Margaret dutifully did. With her pet dogs she took her morning stroll along the gravel paths near the little ornamental lake. The dogs romped happily by her side and inspected the trees.

But the Princess has moved to the Clarence House of St. James Palace, where the walled garden is small, just a patch of lawn with a flower border and a narrow walk. Margaret complains she is "walking positively dizzy" walking around and around this patch of lawn.

"And Johnny has to be considered," the Princess adds. Johnny is her white Sealyham. A single tree and the little lawn aren't enough for him.

So one morning Margaret came home from an official function with her mind made up. She changed into a tweed suit and flat shoes and put the leash on Johnny.

Off they went through the back door of Clarence House and through the quiet streets to the park. Margaret exchanged smiles with the children at play and looked at the ducks on the lake. She hadn't done that since she was an infant in her baby carriage, wheeled by a nurse and followed by a Scotland Yard detective.

On this occasion nobody took any particular notice of a the slim, brown-haired girl, Princess Margaret, who was an infant in her baby carriage, wheeled by a nurse and followed by a Scotland Yard detective.

Officials at the home office and the police at Scotland Yard are now wondering how past records of usual strict security guard over the determined princess. They have a strong suspicion she plans many more "first time ever" expeditions and they are probably right.

Stock Producers Can Seek Loans

More than $11,689,000 in special livestock loans have been granted to approximately 1,190 farmers and ranchers throughout the United States and nearly 600 other applications are being considered, James Goudy, Farmers Home Administration supervisor for Gray and Donley counties, reported Saturday.

The special livestock loan program, authorized last July, helps established producers of cattle, sheep and goats to maintain their herds, Goudy said.

Producers who can borrow are those with good past records of livestock production, but who are temporarily unable to get adequate credit from commercial banks, cooperative lending agencies or other responsible sources to enable them to go ahead with normal livestock operations, he said, adding that they must have reasonable prospects of success with the help of a loan.

Applications can be made at the county Farmers Home Administration office in Clarendon. The loans will be approved by committees authorized by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson.

Weekly Grain Market Report

PORT WORTH, Nov. 14—UP—(Special)—Weekly grain:

Some strength appeared in cash grain markets this week, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reported Saturday.

Wheat went up 3 1/2c a bushel and yellow corn 1 1/2c a bushel. White corn and barley held steady. Milo lost a cent per 100 pounds. The changes were based on Nov. 13 quotations compared with a week ago, wholesale carlots, Texas common rate points.

Higher wheat prices resulted from improved demand for smaller supplies on the open market. No. 1 hard wheat closed at $2.50 to $2.68 per bushel.

Receipts of wheat at the primary markets dropped sharply this week. They totaled only 6.5 million bushels compared with 8.8 million the previous week. Inspections for export were slightly higher at 2.8 million bushels.

No. 2 yellow corn was quoted at $1.42 to $1.47.

Milo showed slow demand and closed at $2.72 to $2.77 per 100 pounds.

Barley was influenced by the strength in corn and held steady at $1.42 to $1.47.

Local ginners estimated that from 50 to 60 per cent of the crop has been ginned.

Shamrock Cotton Hurt By Weather

SHAMROCK—(Special)—The four gins in Shamrock and Twitty have processed 1,124 bales of cotton during the past two weeks, even though damp frosty weather has kept pullers out of the field until late morning or early afternoon.

The south side of the county toled 2,544 bales of cotton ginned up to two weeks ago, the total on Thursday of this week had climbed to 3,678 bales.

John Woolly, manager of Traders Compress in Shamrock, said he had received 7,500 bales. Some of this has come from McLean, Dozier and Texola, Okla. and the other gins in this county, two at Wheeler one at Kelton, and one at Allison.

Local ginners estimated that from 50 to 60 per cent of the crop has been ginned.

Corn receipts decreased at the primary markets. They amounted to 13.4 million bushels compared with 16 million the previous week. Inspections for export reached 2.2 million bushels, bringing the total since Oct. 1 to 10.5 million compared with 7.9 million for the same period last year.

Barley was influenced by the strength in corn and held steady at $1.42 to $1.47.

Shamrock Cotton Hurt By Weather

SHAMROCK—(Special)—The four gins in Shamrock and Twitty have processed 1,124 bales of cotton during the past two weeks, even though damp frosty weather has kept pullers out of the field until late morning or early afternoon.

The south side of the county toled 2,544 bales of cotton ginned up to two weeks ago, the total on Thursday of this week had climbed to 3,678 bales.

John Woolly, manager of Traders Compress in Shamrock, said he had received 7,500 bales. Some of this has come from McLean, Dozier and Texola, Okla. and the other gins in this county, two at Wheeler one at Kelton, and one at Allison.

Local ginners estimated that from 50 to 60 per cent of the crop has been ginned.

Odessa Broncs Daily To Down Fighting Harvesters, 34-15

PHS Holds 9-0 1st Quarter Lead

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

Odessa's rollicking Broncs, led by ace passer, Carl Schlemeyer, spoiled all championship hopes of the Fighting Harvesters yesterday afternoon at Harvester Stadium by defeating the Green and Golders, 34-15, before a howling throng of 10,000 fans.

In capturing the decision, the Broncs thus assured themselves of a spot in the Class AAAA playoffs. The worst the Broncs can do now is end in a tie for the title with Pampa and Abilene and since the Odessans hold wins over both, they would gain the right to represent the district in the state playoffs.

The Harvesters got off to a rousing start in yesterday's contest, jumping into a 9-0 lead after eight minutes of play. It had the near capacity crowd sensing an upset as the Harvesters checked the vaunted attack of the Broncs throughout the first quarter.

But Carl Schlemeyer and Co. got their offensive works going in high gear in the second quarter at which time they erased the Harvester lead and went to rest at halftime holding tenaciously to a 14-0 lead.

Both teams scored once apiece in the third to leave the count reading 21-15 at the three-quarter stage. The visitors then led the decision with a pair of TDs in the fourth.

Schlemeyer was at his best in the passing department. He completed eight out of 11 for 149 yards. One of his completions was a TD toss and another was a 22-yarded that put the Broncs on the Harvester one-yard line.

Before Schlemeyer got his throwing arm warmed up though the Harvesters were enjoying a good first quarter in which they dominated play throughout.

Harvesters Take Lead
A blocked punt that was recovered by Odessa in their own end zone gave the Harvesters a 9-0 lead after only two minutes of play. The Odessans were punting from deep in their own end of the field after failing to gain on their first series of downs following the opening kickoff. Bobby Ghorner, standing on about his own 15, attempted a punt but was blocked by Jim Pippet. The ball bounced into the end zone and Ghorner recovered, giving the Harvesters a safety and two points.

TULSA, Nov. 14—UP—Texas Techs strengthened its bowl possibilities Saturday by routing fumbling Tulsa, 49-7, before a crowd of 12,000.

Red Raider quarterback Jack Kirpatrick set the pace with a 100-yard touchdown return of Tulsa's opening kickoff. Kirpatrick also passed 35 yards to left end Paul Erwin for another score and engineered a third Tech tally in the second period, though Bobby Cavazos blocked it across.

Tulsa's only score came after a 64-yard drive in the third period when quarterback Bobby Decker connected with halfback Dick Kercher from 17 yards out.

Draws Blood Twice
Red Raider second string quarterback Jerry Johnson's passes to end Dean White drew Tulsa blood twice in the third period. One play covered 30 yards to close a 64-yard Tech drive, and another was good for 36 yards to cap a brutal 91 yard surge.

Tech halfback Norman Janes scooted 52 yards with a lateral to rack up the day's longest scoring jaunt from scrimmage midway in the final period. And an eight-yard pass from quarterback Charles Hill to halfback Elmer Wilson finished the rout.

Tulsa drove within the Tech 10-yard stripe three times during the last half, but each time fumbled away the chance. Kirpatrick and fullback Rick Spinks each converted three times for Texas Tech. Left end Tom Miner kicked the goal on his only try for Tulsa.

Knock Starch Out of Tulsa
Kirpatrick's opening kickoff return knocked the starch out of Tulsa's defense. Kirpatrick also passed 35 yards to left end Paul Erwin for another score and engineered a third Tech tally in the second period, though Bobby Cavazos blocked it across.

Golden Hurricane for the remainder of the first half. The Tulsa offense started moving late in the third and early in the fourth periods, but the bugaboo of fumbles blunted the attack before it could produce points.

Texas Tech's grinding ground game netted them 270 yards in Tulsa's 124, but Decker's tossing kept the Hurricane almost even with the Raiders in passing yardage, 186 to the Texans' 193.

OU Clinches Bowl Berth

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 14—UP—Oklahoma won its eighth straight Big Seven Conference championship and an Orange Bowl berth Saturday by shredding hapless Iowa State 47-0.

Oklahoma gained the conference peak despite its remaining game with Nebraska next Saturday when Kansas State, the only other contender, lost its second league game to Missouri, 16 to 6.

The Big Seven leader, with a 5-0 record in the conference, will meet the Atlantic Coast Conference selection in the Miami, Fla., New Year's game.

Every Conceivable Fashion
The Sooners made yardage against Iowa State in every conceivable fashion with the approval of 44,000 spectators, including 8,500 non-paying high school bandmen.

Six Oklahoma players scored touchdowns. Halfback Larry Grigg plunged for two in the third period, and sophomore quarterback Pat O'Neal passed 24 yards to end Kenneth Arms and 43 yards to end Jerry Cross for two fourth period touchdowns.

Iowa State's passing attack misfired frequently with no penetration inside Oklahoma's 22. In contrast, Oklahoma's offensive sparked consistently.

The scoring started in the first period. Quarterback Gene Calame went over from five yards out after a 40-yard drive of 62 yards, and end Max Boydston set up another with a jarring tackle which caused Iowa State's Gary Lutz to fumble on the Iowa State 17. Four plays later, halfback Bob Herndon went four yards to score.

Boydston, performing like an All-America contender, galloped 72 yards on an end-around to set up Oklahoma's third touchdown in the first minute of the second half. This was followed by the first of Grigg's two scoring thrusts.

Oklahoma's sensational reserve halfback, Merrill Green, returned a punt 68 yards for the first of three final period touchdowns engineered by Oklahoma's bench brigade.

Iowa State's league-leading pass-er, quarterback Bill Clanton, completed 15 of 26 throws for 70 yards while his team's ground gains tallied only 81 yards. Clanton's most successful receiver, end Bob Rohwedder, suffered a possible shoulder fracture when he crashed into the Oklahoma bench in the final minutes.

King Ranch Horse Wins
LAUREL, Md., Nov. 13—UP—King Ranch's Script scored her second straight victory Thursday when she defeated six other three-year-old fillies in the $4,500 Virginia Horse Breeders Purse at Laurel Park.

Illini Upset By Wisconsin
MADISON, Wis., Nov. 14—UP—Wisconsin threw the Big Ten football and Rose Bowl race into a triple deadlock Saturday with a convincing 34-7 upset of previously unbeaten Illinois, even though J.C. Caroline of the losers crashed to a new conference season rushing record.

The Badger victory left Michigan State, winner of five of six Big Ten games, alone in first place in the league and both Illinois and Wisconsin, with identical records of four wins in five league affairs, had a chance to tie with victories next week.

Wisconsin won by thoroughly smashing Illinois' vaunted defensive line with crashing rushes by Alan Ameche and Harlan Carl and smart signal-calling by Jim Miller.

Twice Wisconsin recovered Illinois' fumbles and after the first interception by Wisconsin, Wisconsin intercepted passes by Illinois' Elroy Falkenstein and after the second of these, Jerry Witt ran 41 yards to score.

UH Upsets Baylor, 37-7

By PRESTON MCGRAW
WACO, Tex., Nov. 14—UP—The University of Houston beat Baylor for the nation's eighth ranked football team, 37 to 7 Saturday by a formula as old as football itself.

Houston's line simply muscled the Baylor line out of the way and the Houston backs darted through the holes.

The 15,000 persons who saw the game in clear, cool weather found almost no guide in the Houston formula. About the only consolation left for Baylor—unbeaten until it played Texas a week ago—was that it was a non-conference game.

Houston is the defending champion of the Missouri Valley Conference and Baylor was tied with Texas for the Southwest Conference lead. The distillation that set in after Baylor's first defeat a week ago might have had something to do with its second defeat of the season Saturday.

Scores Twice in First Period
In any case, Houston scored two touchdowns in the first period and added another touchdown and a field goal in the third period and scored its final touchdowns in the fourth period.

Right halfback Don Hargrove scored the first Houston touchdown as the seventh play in a drive that went 67 yards. He hopped five yards around left end and scored standing up six minutes after the game started.

The second Houston drive carried 90 yards in 11 plays. Lethal Ken Stegall rolled up 45 yards of it in one play, and fullback Jack Patterson scored from the two.

Kicks Field Goal
Guard Verle Gray kicked the Houston field goal from the 10 in the third period. It took Houston only two plays after that to get the ball again. End George Hynes intercepted a Baylor pass on his own 40 and Houston was off again. Halfback S. M. Meeks scored Houston's third touchdown from the four. It was the first time he has carried the ball this season.

Baylor scored its only touchdown in a drive from the Houston 48. At the end, Baylor got a 15-yard lift to the one-yard line from a penalty on Houston.

Even so, it took Baylor's left half Jerry Coody two tries to make it. Houston drove from the Baylor 44 for its fourth touchdown. Patterson went over from the one-yard line for the score.

Blocks Baylor Kick
End Marvin Durrenburger, one of the leading examples of Houston's aggressiveness, blocked a Baylor kick on the 50-yard line. The ball sailed high in the air. Ben Wilson fielded it and ran over for the score.

Left tackle Bob Choupe of Houston was another top Houston line-man. He dropped Baylor runners for losses totaling 25 yards three times in a row. Other top Houston linemen were guard Wayne Shoemaker and tackle Buddy Gillior.

It was the first time since 1946 that Baylor had been beaten by 30 points. Southern Methodist turned the trick that time, 38 to 6, in the last game of the season.

Memphis Cinches Playoff Berth

MEMPHIS, Nov. 14—UP—The Memphis Cyclones assured themselves of a spot in the Class A playoffs here Friday night with a resounding 31-12 win over the Panhandle Panthers in a District 1-A encounter.

The Cyclone win, coupled with McLean's upset defeat at the hands of Memphis, Memphis can do no worse than tie with Canadian for the title. And since Memphis defeats Memphis, Memphis would then be awarded the 1-A representative.

Duke Friable led Memphis' attack with two touchdowns. Clyde Tampion, Dean Sustaier and Jim Walker each scored once for the Cyclones.

Dale Roselius scored both Panhandle one and one yards.

UCLA Splashes To 22-6 Win

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14—UP—A mud-larking UCLA football team led by halfback Paul Cameron and fullback Pete Dalley splashed to a 22 to 6 victory over the University of Washington Saturday before 15,302 rain-soaked fans in Memorial Coliseum.

UCLA's running game, slow to unfold, finally resulted in the Bruins' victory while Washington's Sandy Lederman, although passing to one score, was kept in check for most of the muddy game. His occasional passes, however, were accurate and he capped a 90-yard drive with a 17-yard touchdown pass to end Jim Houston in the game's fading moments.

Only one real march was unceremonious in the first half when Dalley found the going to his liking in the second period. Breaking through center, Dalley kept on his feet and scooped 45 yards before being brought down.

From the Washington 28-yard line Cameron broke off right end for 17 yards, and two plays later he shot through a hole at left tackle for eight yards and a score.

The Bruins put the game away in the third period by scoring two touchdowns in 35 seconds and adding a safety for good measure.

Score by periods:
UCLA 0 0 0 6—6
Washington 6 6 0 0—12
UCLA scoring: Touchdowns, Cameron 2, Still, Conversions, Dalley 2. Safety, DeWay blocked Washington punt in end zone.

Washington scoring: Touchdown, Houston.

Bond was downed on the Odessa 29. It was one of the highlights in the first touchdown drive of the Harvesters that sent the Pampans ahead, 9-0.

STOPPED COLD — Dale Sherrerd, the leading ground gainer for the Odessa Broncs in yesterday's battle at Harvester Park, is shown being hit hard by Ed Dudley of the Harvesters after a two-yard gain in the fourth quarter of play. Shown coming in on the play are Bob Frigmore, No. 78, and Ronnie Elliott, No. 74, of the Harvesters.

Doyle Mix, a grasping end, in the third period and a 20-yarder from Nutt to Mix in the fourth to salvage the game.

Moments For McKahn

Lamar McKahn, Arkansas' great triple-threat, had a few sparkling moments as he tossed his two touchdowns underdog team to a first quarter lead with a 46-yard aerial from Nutt to halfback Don McIlheny the key play, and moved 46 yards for its second and winning marker with the payoff pass that Nix took away from an Arkansas defender the only pass of the drive.

But, SMU had given an indication of its superiority in the second quarter when it moved the ball on all but two plays of the period, yet fumbled away one scoring chance on the one yard line and had another drive bog down on the one-foot line.

First Downs	SMU	Arkansas
Rushing	15	52

Penalties	12	13
Passes Completed	2	2
Passes Intercepted	2	2
Punting Average	21	40
Fumbles Lost	1	2

SMU's defense, one of the stingiest in the country, yielded only 52 yards rushing and 88 passing to Arkansas with tackles Jerry Clem, Jack Gunlock and Don Goss standing out up front and Nutt and Edmond starting in the secondary. Arkansas had one touchdown multiplied a few minutes prior to its only six-pointer when end Floyd Sagely snagged one of McKahn's passes in the clear in the end zone only to land out of bounds on the end zone line.

Score by periods: SMU 0 0 7 6-13 Arkansas 7 0 0 0-7 SMU scoring: Touchdowns, Nix 2. Conversion, Stollenwerk. Arkansas scoring: Touchdown, Carpenter. Conversion, McKahn.

Frogs Lead At Half On McKown's Field Goal

By LLOYD LARRABEE
AUSTIN, Nov. 14.—UP—Texas came from behind with two fourth-period touchdowns, one a 48-yard pass from Bunny Andrews to Men-A-Schriewer, to down Stubbhorn Texas Christian 13 to 3 Saturday before 42,000 fans. The Longhorns in victory clung to a tie for the Southwest Conference lead.

Andrews lofted the aerial to Schriewer early in the final quarter, and fullback Doug Cameron plunged over from the one with only 35 seconds left. That erased a 3-0 margin posted by Texas Christian on a second-period field goal by Ray McKown.

Texas fumbled away two scoring opportunities in the second and third periods, but second-string quarterback Andrews and Charles Brewer, first-team signal-caller, meshed Texas' offensive machine to strike for the two last-quarter scores over the pass-conscious Christians.

Attempts 32 Aerials TCU attempted 32 aerials but connected only nine times. After moving to Texas' six late in the second period, the SMU Colts, halfback Delbert Shogter scored three TCU touchdowns, including one on a 98-yard kickoff return. Bobby Jones tossed two touchdown passes and returned an intercepted Colt pass 36 yards for another score.

The Colts' touchdown came on a short pass from Bert Keys to Leigh-Steward after Buzz Kemble had raced 42 yards.

Baylor Cubs Rout SMU Fish

WACO, Tex., Nov. 13.—UP—The Baylor Cubs made it four in a row Thursday night when they beat the SMU freshman football team 45 to 7.

It was the fourth consecutive victory for the Cubs, the fourth consecutive loss for the SMU Colts. Halfback Delbert Shogter scored three Cub touchdowns, including one on a 98-yard kickoff return. Bobby Jones tossed two touchdown passes and returned an intercepted Colt pass 36 yards for another score.

The Colts' touchdown came on a short pass from Bert Keys to Leigh-Steward after Buzz Kemble had raced 42 yards.

Sooner Aggies Roll Past Kansas, 41-14

LAWRENCE, Kan., Nov. 14.—UP—The Oklahoma A&M Cowpokes broke a seven-year Kansas winning streak as they rolled over a confused Kansas team, 41-14, before 17,000 spectators Saturday. Oklahoma A&M took the initial kickoff and moved to a score in 17 plays. Bob Green's conversion attempt was blocked, and Kansas' Jayhawks looked like they might make a game of it as they came back to score and take a 7-0 lead on John Handley's conversion.

But that lead was short-lived. Early in the second quarter, Oklahoma A&M got a safety when Kansas Quarterback John McFarland fumbled in the end zone. Then A&M added two more scores as Kansas couldn't get its offense to function.

Aggies Add Two More The halftime score was 22-7. The Aggies added two more touchdowns in the third period, the first coming when A&M center Jim Lutes intercepted a pass on the Kansas 25 and returned it to the one-yard line.

Halfback Dorsey Green scored on the next play. Green's conversion was good. The next A&M score came midway in the third quarter when the Aggies again intercepted a Kansas pass on the 43-yard line.

An end run by halfback Bill Bredder moved the ball to the three where Gibson again went over. Green's kick was wide. The final Aggie score came early in the last period when halfback Clyne Jones ran right end for 11 yards and a score.

Kansas Scores On Pass Kansas got its only other score midway in that period when McFarland, passing from the Cowpokes' 40, hit end Larry Carrier on the three and he went over Allison converted.

Score by periods: Kansas 7 0 0 7-14 Okla. A&M 6 16 13 6-41 Kansas scoring: Touchdowns: Anderson and Carrier. Conversion: Allison and Handley. Oklahoma A&M scoring: Touchdowns: Lunaford 2, Gibson 2, Green and Jones. Conversion: Green 3. Safety: Hess recovered McFarland's fumble in the end zone.

Tide Upsets Ga. Tech 13-6

By WILLIAM TUCKER
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 14.—UP—Alabama, the November nemesis of Dixie Football, rose in late-blooming glory to crumple Georgia Tech 13 to 6 Saturday with two irresistible touchdown drives started by pass interceptions.

A crowd of 42,500 screamed as Bill Oliver and Albert Elmore, a couple of substitutes playing like they had never sat on the bench, cracked the Tech line for scores. Charley Eckery, a 215-pound guard from Oak Park, Ill., and Bobby Luma, a star halfback on both offense and defense, collared Tech's running and passing game most of the way.

Tech scored in the third period on Glenn Turner's three-yard plunge, capping a 55-yard drive of which 30 yards was delit out in penalties to Alabama.

But Ralph Carrigan burst through to block Pepper Rodgers' extra point try and Alabama drove 48-yards for another touchdown early in the fourth period to take the lead.

With the extra point try blocked, Rogers passed desperately to try to bring about a tie and completed one to Charley Brannon on the Alabama 10 yard line as the game ended.

Score by periods: Alabama 7 0 0 6-13 Alabama scoring: Touchdowns, Oliver, Elmore, Conversions, Luma. Georgia Tech scoring: Touchdown, Turner.

TOO HIGH Ed Dudley, Harvester halfback, reaches high for a pass from J. N. Wright in the first quarter of play in yesterday's game against the Odessa Broncs. The pass, however, was just out of Dudley's reach and it fell to the ground incomplete. The Odessa player coming in on the play is Larry Mason. Odessa won the all-important 1-A AAAA III, 34-15. Fordham 28, Temple 9
NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—UP—Fordham's football opportunists capitalized on a 58-yard run by fullback John Griffin and a fumble and a poor punt by Temple to score three first-half touchdowns Saturday as they rolled to an easy 28-9 victory.

By DOUGLAS GRAHAM
EAST LANSING, Mich., Nov. 14.—UP—Michigan State aged two smashing touchdown drives of 89 and 6 yards Saturday to beat Michigan, 14 to 6, and keep Big Ten title hopes alive before 52,324 Macklin Stadium fans and millions more who watched by television.

Coupled with Wisconsin's upset of Illinois, Michigan State's victory gave Coach Biggie Munn's Spartans at least temporary leadership in Big Ten standings with five wins and one loss as they completed their first conference season.

The Illinois win gave four wins and one loss while Wisconsin had the same record. Both Wisconsin and Illinois, however, have one more conference game to play.

Zagers Is Game Hero Junior halfback Bert zagers, who stepped into a starting role when pneumonia benched Willy Wells, was the game hero.

A pass interception by zagers started one Michigan State Touchdown march and it was his left handed pass, the first in his collegiate career, which scored the Spartans' vital second touchdown from four yards out on the fourth down.

Not expecting zagers to pass Michigan was caught flat-footed and end Ellis Duckett caught the ball untouched. Earlier, zagers' interception halted Michigan's first drive on the Michigan State 30.

Michigan's only score in the 4th quarter was a straight Irish victory. South Carolina's quarterback Johnny Gramling scored two touchdowns and passed to a third before 31,000 fans.

The Gamecocks, amassing 189 yards rushing while holding West Virginia to only 149, battered the vaunted West Virginia ground team. Gramling's almost flawless quarterbacking.

Gramling was expected to do a lot of passing but tricked the Mountaineers by sending a corps of hard-charging backs to do the job for him.

A West Virginia victory Saturday probably would have clinched a berth in either the Sugar or Cotton Bowl for the Mountaineers. But the defeat probably killed all chances for a post season bid.

Score by periods: West Virginia 0 7 7 0-14 South Carolina 7 6 7 0-20 West Virginia scoring: Touchdowns: Papetti, Marconi. Conversion, Stone 2. South Carolina scoring: Touchdowns: Gramling 2, G. Wilson. Conversions, Jarrett, Kincaid.

Dumas kept their unbeaten slate clean here Friday night with a 25-0 win over the Shamrock Irish in a District 1-AA game. It was the 8th straight win for the Demons and 6th in 1-AA play. The Demons are now tied with Phillips for the 1-AA lead and the championship will be at stake week a Phillips.

Dumas did all its scoring in the first three quarters here Friday night, leading 13-0 at the first quarter stage, 19-0 at halftime and then finishing their scoring in the third with six more points.

Donnie Lanier and Joel Lummas shared scoring honors for the Demons, each scoring two touchdowns. Lanier opened the scoring in the first quarter with a 19-yard run. Later in the first, Lummas took a 24-yard pass from Keith Mixon in the end zone.

Lummas blasted over from the five in the second quarter to make it 19-0 at halftime. Lanier clinched the Dumas scoring with a 41-yard scamper in the third.

Despite the passing and running efforts of Quarterback Jack York, the Irish were never able to penetrate the Dumas 20-yard marker. Score by quarters: Dumas 13 6 6 0-25 Shamrock 0 0 0 0-0

Scoring: Touchdowns: Dumas Lanier 2, Lummas 2. PAT — Dumas — Mixon.

Rice Overpowers Texas Ags, 34-7

By W. J. MOGLASSON
HOUSTON, Nov. 14.—UP—Rice's sharp defenders picked seven Texas A&M passes out of the air, turned three of them into touchdowns and added two more on their own to swarm over the Aggies, 34 to 7, before a homecoming crowd of 87,500 Saturday.

Fullback David (Kosse) Johnson, the Southwest Conference's leading ground gainer, scored one touchdown, set up two with a pass interception and with a great catch of his own and picked up a total of 78 yards on 13 carries. He also caught another pass to set up one counter, to continue as Rice's big offensive gun.

Johnson scored first after he picked off a Nisbet pass and carried it to the one on a 36-yard play. About five minutes later Johnson intercepted an Ellis pass and six plays later Horton Neastra went over from the nine.

In the third period, quarterback Leroy Fenstermaker intercepted a pass on the Aggies 22, lateraled to Rucka on the 13 and Rucka was over.

Intercepts Pass Johnson intercepted an Ellis pass and six plays later Horton Neastra went over from the nine.

Johnson had more than ample help from center Leo Rucka, who scored once on a 13-yard gallop when he was tossed a lateral, and by substitute quarterback John (Finky) Nisbet, who snagged three Aggie passes, passed for one Rice counter and set up one with a 37-yard heave to Johnson.

Becomes Near Rout After the first quarter, which saw A&M score its lone touchdown, the Aggies began to fade and by midway the third period Rice began turning the conference game into a near rout.

Quarterback Don Ellis, as usual, was the Aggies' one and only of fence hope and he was no match for Rice's dozens of stars.

Rice fumbled four times, in the first period and after halfback Connie Magouirk scored first for the Aggies, it looked as if an upset might be in prospect.

But the Owls recovered their poise midway in the second period, once to Michigan State's 45 only to have a pass intercepted by zagers on the 30.

Michigan State offensive almost cold on two occasions, but then the Spartans broke through with an 89-yard march.

Score by Periods: Michigan State 0 7 7 0-14 Michigan 0 0 0 6-6

Michigan State scoring: Touchdowns, Ellis, Duckett. Conversions, Sloan 2. Michigan scoring: Touchdown, Neastra.

CHAPLAIN, W. Va., Nov. 14.—UP—Fullback Neil Worden and his determined sub, Tom McHugh, scored two touchdowns each Saturday to power a ruthless Notre Dame running attack that battered North Carolina, 34 to 14, for the ninth straight Irish victory.

Notre Dame, the nation's first-ranked football team, used straight power and a flood of reserves to run over North Carolina's out-charged line for a walloping total of 489 yards rushing.

Coach Frank Leahy, taking advantage of the breather against the outclassed Tar Heels, kept his regulars and razzle-dazzle cloaked most of the way. The Irish did all of their scoring on relentless back Congle Graville with less than three minutes to play in the game. Edie Tom Adler converted twice.

All-American candidate Johnny Letner of the Irish was a forgotten man, getting in for only a few plays in each half.

Had All They Needed But the Irish had all they needed in Worden, who blasted for 151 yards in 15 attempts. When Worden was out, McHugh was on the loose.

Score by periods: Notre Carolina 0 7 0 7-14 Notre Dame 7 14 7 6-34 North Carolina scoring: Touchdowns, Newton 2. Conversion, Adler 2. Notre Dame scoring: Touchdowns, Worden 2, McHugh 2, Schaefer. Conversions, Mavrides 2, Schaefer 2.

McMurry College power finally asserted itself in the second half Saturday as the Indians dumped Howard Payne 21 to 6 in a Texas Conference battle.

The victory came despite a 102-yard kickoff return by halfback Frank Ruthledge in the second quarter, which gave HPC its only score in the game.

The long run came seconds after McMurry's fullback Elroy Payne cracked left guard for 13 yards and a score late in the second period.

McMurry's second tally came in the third period, when quarterback Joe Bill Fox sneaked over from the one. The second score came after an 87-yard Indian drive.

The final McMurry score was on a pass from Fox to Wingback Bill Ratliff for 30 yards in the fourth period. Payne kicked all three conversions.

The win gave McMurry a two-one record in the conference and eliminates Howard Payne from the race.

Canadian 11 Rolls Past Broncos, 33-13

By WALT SWITZER
Pampa News Staff Writer
CLARENDON — The hard-charging Canadian Wildcats rolled up an amazing total of 433 yards on the ground and in the air here Friday night to score a 33-13 victory over a stubborn Clarendon team.

Of the total yards gained by the Wildcats, 391 were made on the ground, while only 42 yards came from passing.

The game started just as though it would be a runaway for the Wildcats, with Canadian making two touchdowns on their first three offensive plays. However, the Broncos fought back and at one point in the first half had narrowed the Wildcat's lead to one point, 14-13.

The game had barely started when the Wildcats scored their first touchdown. Canadian recovered a Bronco fumble on the Clarendon 29. On the first play, Eugene Schoenhals took a handoff from Ray Ramirez and skirted left end for a touchdown, after which Pat Tipps placekicked the extra point.

Just before the half ended the Wildcats staged an 81-yard march, climaxed by a 42-yard touchdown pass from Ramirez to Clyde Cain, with Cain running the remaining 15 yards. Tipps' try for point failed and the half ended with the Wildcats leading, 20-13.

The visitors scored two more times in the third period, with Ramirez going around left end for 57 yards for the first score and then went through center and broke loose on a 73-yard gallop for the second. Tipps' kick was no good on the first, but his boot was good for the second.

There was no scoring in the fourth period, with the Wildcats using their second string throughout the period.

Canadian led in first down, 15-11. On ground plays, the Wildcats gained 291 yards to the Bronco's 33.

Bucks Score 20-6 Win Over Guerrillas

By RAUL (Rabbit) RAMIREZ
WHITE DEER, Nov. 14 — The White Deer Bucks, after a scoreless first quarter, struck for two touchdowns in the second period and then went on to a 20-6 win over the Pampa B team Guerrillas here Friday night.

Ronald Mills, out for most of the season with a broken leg, led his teammates to victory over the future Harvesters. Mills scored two of the White Deer touchdowns, one on a 87-yard scamper.

White Deer moved ahead 20-0 in the third quarter on the strength of Mills' 87-yard TD gallop. Moments before Mills' long run, the Guerrillas had been stopped on the White Deer two via a fumble. Ray Eller converted to complete the Buck scoring and giving the locals a 20-0 lead.

A White Deer fumble paved the way for the lone Guerrilla touchdown. The Bucks fumbled on their own 15 late in the fourth and the Guerrillas scored in two plays with Russell Morrow carrying both times for 13 and two yards.

Lefors Bucs Upset M'Lean Tigers 12-7

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa News Sports Editor
LEFORS, Nov. 14 — The Lefors Pirates rose up here Friday night to upset the McLean Tigers, 12-7, and thus knock the Bengals out of the running for the District 1-A title.

It was the second loss in district play for the Tigers with only one game to play. The Tigers meet Memphis next week in their final game but regardless of the outcome that game, Memphis will emerge as the champion. Memphis is unbeaten in district play and the worst she can do in the conference race is wind up in a tie with Canadian for the pennant.

And since Memphis defeated Canadian during the regular season, the Cyclones would represent the district in the playoffs. Memphis defeated Panhandle Friday night but to keep its slate clean.

Lefors built up a 12-0 lead through the first three quarters here Friday and then staged off a desperate bid by the Pirates in the final minutes to preserve their lead.

McLean, after scoring once and kicking the point midway through the fourth quarter, later drove to the Lefors seven yard line where they lost the ball on downs. The Tigers lacked line of mauling a first down on that point. The officials took time out to measure for the first down but when the measurement showed the ball was a little shy of the mark, that was the ball game.

Lefors took over and held possession of the ball the remaining time.

Little Joe David Martin, diminutive scabbard for the Lefors attack, Martin streaked 57 yards on the first play of the second quarter to score the first Pirate touchdown and then followed up in the third period to score the other Buc tally on a one-yard smash.

McLean drove 77 yards for its lone tally in the fourth period. The touchdown march was set up by a Lefors fumble that was recovered by the Tigers on their own 23. Although the drive started in the third, it was in the fourth when the Tigers scored.

Rickey Mantooth, who sparked the drive with his passing, climaxed the march by scoring from the Lefors five. Mantooth completed two long passes on the drive, hitting James Smith with both tosses that netted gains of 24 and 22 yards.

After Mantooth powered his way across from the five, Don Haslam hooted the extra point to cut the Lefors margin to 12-7. That is the way it ended but the Tigers threw a scare into the Pirates in those waning minutes of play.

The first quarter of the game was scoreless with Lefors making the only serious scoring threat. The Pirates drove to the Tiger 16 in the first period where a fumble stopped the march.

Lefors jumped into the lead in the second quarter and held on to the finish. When the two teams changed ends of the field for the second quarter, Lefors had possession of the ball on their own 47 and Martin broke loose on the first play in the second canio to go all the way and send the Pirates ahead. The passing try for the conversion was knocked down, leaving the Pirates still leading 6-0. That ended the first half scoring.

The Pirates drove 48 yards for their game winning tally. Eddie Clemmons connected on two passes on the 48-yard touchdown mar hitting Martin for a 9-yarder and Phil Earhart for 17, the latter placing the ball on the McLean 14.

Sandies Clip Bobcats, 20-7; Borger Upsets Midland, 21-14

Amarillo and Borger chalked up District 1-AAAA victories Friday night on foreign soil, the Sandies surging to a 20-7 win over the unpredictable San Angelo Bobcats at San Angelo, and Borger surprising the Midland Bulldogs at Midland, 21-14.

It was the second 1-4A win for Amarillo and the first for Borger. San Angelo's flickering title hopes went out the window in the Amarillo game. The Bobcats thus suffered their second conference loss, which is too many losses to stay in the pennant chase. The Bobcats also have a tie on their conference record.

The Sandies had little trouble in subduing the Bobcats. They built up a 13-0 lead before the Bobcats scored and after San Angelo struck for their only touchdown in the third, the Sandies put the game on ice with their final score in the fourth.

Amarillo led 13-0 at halftime. Bobby Graham scored two of the Sandie touchdowns with Spooky Canova scoring the other. Graham scored on runs of 14 and two yards while Canova scored on a night scamper in the third period. At Midland, the Borger Bulldogs scored twice in the last two minutes of play to win. The clincher was set up on a pass interception that saw Gary Braden intercept a Midland aerial on the Midland 45 and returned it to the two. With three seconds remaining in the game, Jim Wiseman drove over on a quarterback sneak to give the Borgans their first 1-4A win.

Midland scored on an end zone pass, Willie Brooks to John Crowley, and a 47-yard scamper by Russell Rutledge.

McKay Spells Out Ike's Oil Policies

By COMPTON S. JONES WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 — UP — Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay spelled out in candid detail this week the Eisenhower administration's position on some current problems. The key passages: The present production squeeze, he said, is a temporary dislocation. "It is not our job to do anything at all about any temporary dislocations in the market." He is aware of the import problem but "We cannot afford in these troubled times to be isolationists." On this same point: "We could not possibly discourage imports of (free-world) oil to this country with the result of weakening the economies of other free nations, when we already have spent so much time and so much money in strengthening them. Such a move would defeat our own aspirations and the objectives for lasting peace and economic security."

Aroused No Cheering It was not a statement calculated to cause cheering among small independent oil producers who feel they are being squeezed hardest by heavy imports. But it was straightforward and now there can be no doubt about where the administration stands. Its position is that the petroleum problem, for the time being at least, is not something the industry cannot work out satisfactorily for itself. McKay said oilmen "as a group...believe firmly in the principles of self-reliance and initiative that have made our country great."

From there, he proceeded to tell them, in effect, to reassert this faith and, beyond that, why they must do it. He chose as his platform the annual meeting of the American Petroleum Institute at Chicago, the biggest industry group. McKay said the Eisenhower administration has been giving encouragement and reasonable incentive for proper domestic oil expansion and promised these will continue, but he offered no more—not for the present, anyway. "Do not misunderstand me," he said at one point. "I am not saying that I think there should never be a point to which imports might be reduced in order to prevent serious danger to the domestic industry." "What I am saying is that I see no need, no excuse for any government dictation to the industry on this pressing problem—or on any other."

Scout Roundtable Training Slated A Boy Scout roundtable training course on patrol and troop meetings will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the City Hall. The course will be under the direction of H. H. Hahn, all scoutmasters, committeemen, and other Scout leaders should attend. Fraternity Elects Brown ST. LOUIS, Nov. 14 — UP — Robert U. McKay Spells Out Ike's Oil Policies

By COMPTON S. JONES WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 — UP — Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay spelled out in candid detail this week the Eisenhower administration's position on some current problems. The key passages: The present production squeeze, he said, is a temporary dislocation. "It is not our job to do anything at all about any temporary dislocations in the market." He is aware of the import problem but "We cannot afford in these troubled times to be isolationists." On this same point: "We could not possibly discourage imports of (free-world) oil to this country with the result of weakening the economies of other free nations, when we already have spent so much time and so much money in strengthening them. Such a move would defeat our own aspirations and the objectives for lasting peace and economic security."

AUTUMN VERSE

When Autumn comes and leaves fly down,
They touch the ground without a sound,
And when the wind comes whistling by,
It blows the leaves into the sky,
Quietly the leaves flutter down
And cover over the frosted ground.

Barbara Hayes

THE PAST WEEK HAS BEEN one of activity and excitement. Activity in connection with the United Fund Drive in which many Pampans participated and excitement over the Harvester-Odesa football game played, of course, out at Harvester Park yesterday afternoon. Driving around town Friday night, noticed more houses aglow with candle light.

PAMPA PANORAMA: Noticed the moving van in front of the RAYMOND REIDS Thursday so guess that by now they are busy unpacking in their new home in Abilene. . . the J. T. RICHARDSONS bought their house on Williston. . . Heard the BILL DAVISES and the CHILI HILLS entertained the Reids and a group of their friends last Saturday night. . . Have seen more pretty flowers and shrubs around town. . . guess cause we haven't had one of those "killin'" frosts yet. . . the STORMY JORDANS and the G. B. CREES vacationing in Hot Springs, Ark. . . that bug is loose again. . . lots of colds about. . . 'tis that time of year with that on-again-off-again weather. . . MRS. CLIFFORD (Maybelle) BRALY enjoying an extended vacation in the north and northeastern part of the States. . . Heard she reunited with former classmates in New York recently. . . MRS. HENRY (VENUS) SPEER visiting her sister in New Mexico. . . JOHN BRADLEY, WARREN HASSE, and ED CLEVELAND with those familiar brown envelopes, working on the UF Drive. . . Ditto MMES. CARLTON (Jewell) NANCE, HAROLD (Betty) WRIGHT, and JACK (Adrain) FOSTER. . . MRS. CREEL (Mary) GRADY back from Brownwood where she and son, Stevie, have been visiting her family. . . the ED DUNIGANS redecorating their kitchen. . . the Dunigans, by the way, certainly have four handsome sons and their names are so Irish. . . Michael, Timothy, Dennis, and Terence. . . And speaking of Irish, you would have thought that it was Saint Patrick's Day yesterday afternoon at the football game. . . that is with all the wearin' o' the green. . . that's keepin' in with the spirit of things. . . Saw BOB BOWERS, former Pampan, in town on business. . . Think he's with Humble Oil Co. in Winters now. . . Like the new fad of short haircuts. . . specially MRS. VENUS (DENA) COLLUM'S and MRS. F. L. STONE'S. . . most attractive. . . JANE AND BITZ HOOVER over from Amarillo Wednesday. . . Bet ELEANOR BRALY can hardly wait 'til her mother, MRS. R. W. ADAMS, of Amarillo returns home. . . She'll have lots to tell as he's been in Europe. . . Saw MRS. ALVIN (MILDRED) BELL the other day. . . she looks wonderful. . . says she lost 26 pounds. . . The Country Club supper dance was held last night out at the CC with the JOHN FRISBYS, PRICE DOSIERS JR., JOE CREES, HAROLD RHINEHARTS, and WARREN FATHEREES host and hostesses for the affair. The buffet was decorated with a beehive horn of plenty with lots of apples, oranges, grapes and nuts. . . and fall leaves around. . . the food was wonderful as was the dance. . . Heard the AL MILLS home is up for sale. . . Friday the 13th is supposed to be an unlucky day, but not for DAVID CAIN, son of the DON CAINS who celebrated a birthday that day. . . PEARLIE MITCHELL, back from spending three weeks visiting daughter RUTH ANN in Dallas. . .

Marcia Monahan, member of the sub-deb set, celebrated her 15th birthday Friday, the 13th! Marcia and 12 of her friends took in a double feature at a local movie house and then went to the home of her aunt, Mrs. Rex Rose, for a slumber party. (In Peg's youth slumber parties added up to all-night gab-fests!) Breakfast was served to party inman, Jan Dyer, Nancy Moore, Rhonda Finkelstein, Cynthia Duncan, Wadene Thomason, Judy Ellis, Ruth Robinson, Vicki Whatley, Joann Prescott, Marilyn Moore and Gaynell Grundy. Sam Pruitt left for Temple the other day to be at the bedside of his wife (Lanier) while she underwent a minor operation in Scott and White Sanitarium. Mrs. Pruitt is expected home the latter part of this week. Sam is an attorney for Dick Hughes. . . Lewis Chamberlain, the insurance man, also was on last week's ailing list: a slight case of flu. Mrs. Price Dosier and her mother, Mrs. J. L. Wheatley, spent Thursday in Amarillo on a shopping spree. Came back with a lot of pretty things.

Theresa and Ralph McKinney had guests—40 or so—after the Beeg Game. Snacks and coffee; hospitality and hilarity's a good mixture.

Marie and Raymond Harrah's after-the-game party was a big success too, Peg hears. Gold and green theme-night, Marie's table was a small football field—her green cloth had gold stripes, gold goal posts at each end and a gilded helmet brimming with yellow mums. Very clever. Everything was there but Ed Dudley himself! Marie must have labored long over the favors, green felt covered match boxes with tiny gold footballs attached. The guest list read almost like a medical convention!

Heard that there was a bevy of cute Pampa High School girls visiting with the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce last week. And the Jaycees were appreciative, too, as they eyed the gals all dressed alike in white sweaters, dark skirts and pumps. Six of them were in the "Stardusters," a group formed from last year's Junior Sextet. They were Sandra Cartwright, Christine Pierce, Janice Baker, Leta Inman, Koell Gilpatrick and Gaye Nell Carter. Carol Paxson accompanied them on piano. In another part of the program, Jerry Sloan sang two duets with Jimmy Bond, known for his basketball ability. They made a fetching sight, Jerry being rather shortish and Jimmy so tall.

The Pampa Lions Club, we hear, last week also had some lady guests, too. They were the members' wives who have had birthdays in the last several months. Understand those on hand included Mmes. Dale Miller, Lee Franks, Earl McConnell, Price Dosier, A. B. Whitten, Lee Harrah, Mac McDaniel, Harold Payne, E. O. Wedgeworth, Malcolm Brown and Homer Deck. Pampa's sheriff, Rufe Jordan, long-time Lion, read off the names of each "Lioness" which was followed by applause. Those Lions, we understand, certainly seem to have a good time down there in the basement of the First Methodist Church each Thursday.

MAINLY ABOUT SPORTS — Harvester Coach Tom Tipps took advantage of the open date on the Harvester schedule last week to see a couple of football games. On Friday night he attended the Shamrock-Phillips game at Shamrock and then journeyed on down to Lubbock the following afternoon to witness the Texas Tech-Arizona game. At Shamrock, Tipps got in a little visit with his good friend, Chesty Walker, coach of the Phillips Blackhawks. . . Also attending the Phillips-Shamrock game from Pampa were Bubba Hill and Henry Sharp, two ardent grid fans here. . . Hear a lot of Pampa fans saw games at White Deer and Lefors Friday night while awaiting the kickoff of the Harvester-Odesa game yesterday. Lefors met McLean while White Deer was taking on our own Pampa B team Guerillas.

These chilly fall mornings, many a girl who works in the Gray County Court House manages to find time to slip across the street for a quick cuppa java in one of the neighboring coffee houses. Among those we saw last week were Cleta Husted, Janice Stratford and Wanda Carter, from County Clerk Charlie Thut's office (he's the county tax assessor-collector); Fern Dunaney and Faye Burns, of the home demonstration office; Frances Gann of the district clerk's office; and Jackie Cary and Christine Cullison from the county attorney's and county judge's offices.

ENGAGED — Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Howard, 416 Louisiana, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Betty Lou, to James Frederic Everett, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Everett Sr. of Stephenville, Texas. The wedding will take place December 29, at St. Matthews Episcopal Church.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS, under the direction of the president, Mrs. H. H. Hahn, are mailing a "Know Your Town" survey this week. Members want to remind citizens to save the wrapping paper in which the survey is sent. The inside contains information about the Canadian River Dam. Above Mrs. Earl O'Brien and Mrs. Rusty Ward prepare surveys for mailing. (News Photo)

McLEAN — (Special) — The women of the Goldie Sunday School Class entertained their husbands with a Thanksgiving dinner recently in the parlors of the Kellerville Baptist Church. The tables were decorated with mums and cedar with tiny turkey place cards. After the dinner, there was a short business meeting and the 1953-54 year books were distributed.

The chairman, introduced the speaker, Mrs. Walsh, school nurse, explained the Health Program in the schools and asked cooperation, in following through with the project.

Canadian River Dam

The problem of an abundant water supply is plaguing most every community in the Southwest and Pampa is no exception.

In an effort to explore the avenues for obtaining more water, the people of Pampa will be asked to vote November 24 to decide whether or not the city will join with eleven communities in the Panhandle and South Plains area in the creation of the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority.

Voters should remember, however, that the upcoming election is merely to decide whether Pampa will enter the authority as a participating city. Legal formation of the authority is required by law so that member cities can act as an entity in financing the project, distributing the water and all other incidental business.

How the dam will be financed will be decided by voters of the twelve cities after the authority has studied various plans and submits a proposition to the people on a ballot. The vote on how the project will be paid for is not expected to be held for many months to come. However, it is our sincere hope that when the decision is made the money will be borrowed from a private lending agency. We don't believe in this business of running to Washington for a handout of money the government takes from other taxpayers across the country to finance our pet project.

Whether or not money obtained from the federal government is on the basis of a long-term loan really makes no difference in principle for it directly competes with private capital which is for hire if those loaning think a project is a good risk. We know of no better way to measure the value of anything than the law of supply and demand in the open market.

But the problem now is to lend every effort toward the creation of the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority, so let's ask to be "dealt in" come November 24 by voting "yes."

The American Way

The socialists, and those who follow socialist doctrines under camouflaged names, are trying hard to convince the country that the Interior Department is hell-bent on giving invaluable natural resources to selfish private interests which will exploit them unmercifully. The principal reason for this charge is that Interior is no longer attempting to socialize the electric power facilities of the nation and to establish federal power monopoly.

Unfortunately, relatively few people have had the opportunity to read Interior's recent statements of policy, and many are undoubtedly being misled by half-truths and untruths. Here is what Interior had to say a short time ago, in an official explanation of its position: "It is recognized that the primary responsibility for supplying power needs of an area rests with the people locally. The responsibility of the Department of the Interior is to give leadership and assistance in the conservation and wise utilization of natural resources. The department does not assume that it has the exclusive right or responsibility for the construction of dams or the generation, transmission and sale of electric energy in any area, basin, or region. In general, it will not oppose the construction of facilities which local interests, either public or private, are willing and able to provide in accordance with licenses and other controls of the Federal Power Commission or other appropriate regulatory bodies..."

What Interior is saying, in other words, is that it will not stand in the way of needed power development by private enterprise or by states and municipalities — so long as it is carried on under public regulation which will see that the interests of all concerned are protected. It is saying, in effect, that it will not force socialism down the throats of the people. And that policy is in line with every American tradition and principle.

The Door Is Open

Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill, who has been so determined in his efforts to bring about a four-power meeting with the Russians, has conceded in a speech to the House of Commons that such a conference could result "in a still worse deadlock than there is at present." It is not likely, he said, that the problems of Asia and the West, of Germany and the satellite countries can be "satisfactorily dealt with and laid to rest as great dangers and evils in the world by personal meetings, however friendly."

In Washington, President Eisenhower, in the first of his comment on the Soviet note replying to the joint U. S., British and French invitation for a meeting at Lugano, said the Reds had indicated "no intention to get together, but an intention to create as many difficulties as possible."

It hardly seems necessary to name more than one of these "difficulties" at this point, such as the demand that Red China be seated at any meeting on East-West issues, or that we drop the idea of rearming Germany, or that Germany can only be unified according to Russian blueprint.

But no one can say the Western allies haven't tried — especially Sir Winston and President Eisenhower, both of whom have emphasized that the door still remains open... if Russia wants to lift the latch.

"The Economic Trials Of Our Day"

II

Here is the second installment of an article by Paul De Hevesy on the subject of "The Economic Trials of Our Day," as published in the Free Trade magazine.

I continue to quote:

Our Phoenician Policy of Barter "I should prefer here to abstain from any remarks on the question of sterling, on which some policy must have been devised at the recent Commonwealth Economic Conference. I should like, however, to make a brief comment on the question of trading without any money at all. Barter, the most ancient form of trading, which was practiced by the Phoenicians as long ago as the eighth century B.C., is now widely regarded as a practical expedient for overcoming the difficulties occasioned by scarcity of foreign exchange. And its Consequences

"Yet it is not generally understood that barter necessarily lowers the standard of living of both buyer and seller; for he who trades by barter excludes himself from buying in the cheapest market, and the incapable consequences are: that the consumer buys goods in the smaller quantities and of lower quality than he could buy in an open world market; that the freedom of the consumer's choice in the field of foreign trade is greatly impaired; that price and quality lose much of their significance; and often that political considerations reign supreme. It was the growing complexity of barter that made the use of money inevitable. In 'The Greek Commonwealth,' Sir Alfred Zimmern gives a fascinating account of the economic revolution and its far-reaching social consequences, that sprang from the adoption of money in ancient Greece.

"The recent Moscow economic conference could not solve the problem of international trade with its offers of plain barter. Nor should the prosperity of the free world depend upon the whims of totalitarian governments that have it in their power to turn trade on and off at will. A prosperous growth of multilateral international trade under conditions of freedom and private enterprise and an equitable distribution of the national income are the most enlightened and constructive answers to the challenge of communism.

Open Trade Markets "If Great Britain and the rest of the Western world are to flourish economically, it is necessary — say, indispensable — that the market of the United States with its immense potentialities, should be opened wider to foreign goods than at present. It is true that the United States cannot close their domestic market to foreign goods, without, at the same time and to the same extent, closing foreign markets to American goods. In its turn, Europe — including Great Britain, and indeed the entire free world — should spare no effort to reduce its own trade barriers, such as tariffs and exchange controls, and to abolish the most pernicious of all obstacles to international trade: quantitative import licenses. It is curious but true that business men, farmers, and labor leaders all favor the reduction of trade barriers on every product — except their own! Yet, in the long run, an economy cannot prosper by protection or by any other kind of subterfuge; it can prosper only by fair national and international competition. Moreover, protection — and incidentally also subsidization, price-fixing and private or public monopoly — breed slowness, complacency, and reluctance to alter the methods of the past.

Currency Transferability "One of the main prior conditions of general prosperity is the free convertibility and transferability of all currencies. Without these freedoms, international specialization — that is, international division of labor and of resources — is impossible, people are denied the opportunity of obtaining the best and cheapest goods, and that they cannot secure that steady improvement in their standard of living which worldwide progress in production and transport has rendered possible.

"The first half of the present century has been distinguished by its zeal for scientific research and, thanks to this, by an unprecedented widening of the boundaries of knowledge. What this means to the present generation in efficiency, culture, health and comfort, is daily demonstrated in the life of everyone who can avail himself of their advantages. At the same time there have been great improvements in methods of production and marketing. These include not only sales-promotion, advertising, and selling, but also distribution and transport, the kind of services required by competitive conditions, and many other kindred matters."

National Whirligig.. Panmunjom Parley May Aim Three Neutrals In U. S. Camp

WASHINGTON — Three strategically important neutral nations are apparently shifting to the American viewpoint on the Russian threat to world peace after having persevered in a "plague of both your houses" posture since World War II. Although truce negotiations at Panmunjom may worsen rather than improve relations between East and West, this potential realignment of forces may mark a great gain for the democracies in a long-range struggle.

The three neutral governments whose eyes have been opened on the Red menace by their barbarous behavior in the prisoner exchange operation are India, Sweden and Switzerland. Lately, the Neutral Nations Reparation Commission have castigated the Communist interviewees' treatment of Korean and Chinese prisoners as "torture." Even satellite agents from Poland and Czechoslovakia, other Commission members, have winced at the cruel spectacle.

Duplicity Of Communists This is the first and only time that these outsiders — and the world, for that matter — have had a close-up of Communist duplicity and brutality, as well as a credible picture of the degrading existence behind the Iron Curtain. Each cringing but rebellious soldier is a witness against the totalitarian state.

The prisoners' reasons for not returning home have disabused neutral observers of any belief that Russia is a "proletarian paradise." In response to Red suggestions that they should reunite with their families, they shriek that all their kinsmen have been murdered. They spurn the idea that they will enjoy a measure of freedom, respecting instances of suppression of speech, thought, education, religion, etc.

The reaction of Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya of India, the snappy and likable commission chairman, has amazed western observers, for he arrived on the truce stage with distinct prejudice toward the United States.

Apparant West Convert Largely because he is a graduate of Sandhurst, Britain's West Point, he had been charged by Prime Minister Nehru to show no partiality toward us. But he as associated almost exclusively with Americans in off-duty moments, even singing barracks ballads in convivial interludes. Like him, several thousand Indian guards — Army officers and privates — may return to India as anti-Kremlin propagandists.

Thimayya also assumed his current responsibilities while under the spell of Nehru's mistaken analysis of Kremlin aims. Nehru has persisted in a hands-off policy in order to keep out of a possible war.

He refused to credit Washington's suspicions of Soviet aggression and expansion. Finally, he saw our overseas military operations as the American counterpart of England's assumption of the "white man's burden" during the 19th century, when Clive conquered and ruled India.

Policies May Be Revised To a certain extent, Swiss and Swedish statesmen have shared these prejudices. Both managed to preserve their neutrality through two world wars. Now, in view of the Red's noncooperation and recalcitrancy at Panmunjom, there may be a revision of policy toward Moscow at New Delhi, Stockholm and Bern.

Washington believes, too, that this exhibition of Malenkov intransigence will not be lost on Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Minister Bidault. Both President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles hope it will still the clamor from press and politicians that they make for a four-power talk on German unification. Both provoked only hostile and scornful response from Moscow.

These rebuffs, in White House opinion, should combine with the Panmunjom force to convince all neutrals that they may be the next victims on Russia's timetable of terror.

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M. D.

Few people are fortunate enough not to have sore throats. Some sore throats follow or are a part of an ordinary cold. Others are simply tonsillitis or are infections which act on the throat without spreading up to the nose or down to the voice box and lower breathing tubes.

In a few cases sore throat is associated with diseases elsewhere in the body. Like digestive upsets or soot.

Before the throat becomes thoroughly "sore" there may be a little feeling of uneasiness or difficulty in swallowing or tickling or dryness in the throat with a desire to cough and hawk. The person who has such symptoms could well stay home in bed. This may shorten the course of the sore throat, and would avoid infecting others.

Probably most cases of sore throat are caught from other people. Germs, particularly streptococci, are usually responsible.

In a severe sore throat chill feelings and slight fever are common. Occasionally the body temperature may rise quite high, especially if the tonsils are involved. The usual variety of acute sore throat does not require much more than a few days' rest in bed.

Spraying the nose and throat with simple solutions helps some people and sometimes prevents the throat, if it does not seem to clear up, promptly, speeds recovery.

ICE BAG COMFORTABLE Comfort is greatly increased by the use of hot compresses or an ice bag applied to the neck. The use of powdered sulfa preparations or of penicillin or other antibiotics may be of value. The discomfort can often be relieved and the fever brought down by the use of aspirin or some of its relatives of the salicylate family.

Fair Enough... Pegler Presents The Case Of Another Suspicious Character

By WESTBROOK PEGLER (Copyright, 1953, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

NEW YORK — Apropos of the Harry Dexter White revelations by Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell, I present the case of Robert Wohlforth, who was secretary to the Nye and La Follette committees of the Senate when they were loaded with Communists, has been suspended from the Anti-trust division of the Department of Justice in December, 1952.

Wohlforth is a West Pointer of the class of 1927. He served a short time as an officer of the 18th Infantry and after his resignation from the Army, wrote a book described by Whitaker Chambers in his autobiography, "Witness," as "a fictional attack on West Point popular in leftist circles in the 1930's."

The title of Wohlforth's book was "Tin Soldiers." He insists many constructive criticisms of West Point contained therein have been adopted.

Dr. J. B. Matthews, the most informative apostate in a large group of penitents from the Communist front, says he often met Wohlforth around the offices of the Committee on Militarism in Education, which was "only a little bit Red," however. Matthews says the committee's purpose was to hold up to scorn the ROTC and military training as infiltration of militarists and reactionaries into education. This has been the Communist line except during the period when the United States was fighting to save Russia from her historic enemies, but it is not exclusively this line. Wohlforth says he never joined this committee.

Wohlforth's boss at the anti-trust division, Richard E. O'Donnell, refused to say any more about his status than "he is not with us." "I am afraid this sounds pretty stuffy," Mr. O'Donnell said, "but he hasn't been around since last December. The rule of silence is imposed on me by Le Roy McCauley, the security officer of the anti-trust division in Washington."

Wohlforth himself went further. He said he had been under "charge" since 1948 and had been clear "on loyalty" but that "security" seems extremely nervous over the cloud on his name and the uncertainty after five years of suspicion and 31 months of idleness without pay. He said he had had a lot of "unfortunate associations," including professional relations with the Senate committees with Alger Hiss, John Abt and Charles Krivitsky, alias Kramer, named in sworn testimony by Elizabeth Bentley and others as Soviet agents, and in the anti-trust division with Judith Coplon, whose conviction was reversed by a legalistic fluke. The evidence against her was left unimpaired except on the ground that some of it had been obtained by the FBI without a search warrant. Wohlforth hired Judith Coplon and was her supervisor in the anti-trust division. He insists that he made an adverse report on her, but that she was transferred to the department in Washington notwithstanding.

"I gave her an unsatisfactory rating," he said, "but somehow, and I never knew how, this was waived, she got permanent employment. I had hired her for straight research work and did not suspect her."

Wohlforth lives at Ridgely, Conn., formerly an "exclusive" Christmas-card type of New England village which, of recent years, in common with Salem and other scattered Connecticut communities, has become heavily infested with open and covert Reds. He recognizes this situation. There are three newspapers in the region between the New York line and Bridgeport which follow the Red line in most political matters. One is suspected of receiving Soviet money.

Wohlforth is registered as a Republican. As a member of a zoning body he opposed the establishment in Ridgely of an institution subsidiary to the International Workers' Order, which was labeled "subversive and Communist" by Attorneys General Biddle and Clark. He was a personal friend of the Henry Wallaces who have a farm at South Salem. Bruce Bledsoe has been trying to breed a Rhode Island Red to a French fried potato, but Wohlforth insists he dropped Wallace, even socially, before he got the nominee of the Communist Party. However, they both are Episcopalians and sometimes meet in church.

Another of the "unfortunate associations" which Wohlforth regrets was a dinner given by one Shepard Traube, then of Ridgely, for Paul Draper and his wife. However, he says this event antedated the trial of the libel suit of Draper and Larry Adler against Mrs. Heister McCullough, of Greenwich, in which they undertook to prove that they were not Reds but failed to do so when the jury disagreed. Mrs. McCullough's ordeal and the jeopardy of the McCullough home, which was attached under a quirk of Connecticut law long before the trial, aroused strong feeling against Draper and Adler, particularly in the legion. They have been under wide boycott ever since.

Wohlforth also "associated" with George Seides, another of the same category, but only at cocktail parties. His social preference might be surmised from the presence of Draper and Seides, but Wohlforth, for all his experience among some of the most sinister proven traitors in the grand conspiracy, insists that in all instances his heart was pure.

There has been strife among the employees of the anti-trust division in New York over the persecution, possibly imaginary or exaggerated, of anti-Reds on the staff. One anti-Red was killed when he jumped or fell or was thrown from a sixth-floor height and one of his pro-American friends has expressed suspicions. Of course, there is no suggestion that Wohlforth threw the man out the window.

The La Follette Committee, which Wohlforth served as secretary, with Abt and Kramer running the show, was a flagrant Communist exploit whereby Soviet agents used the Senate power of subpoena to acquire masses of confidential records of many of the most important American business firms. Sen. Bob La Follette, Jr., finally killed himself. He had been regarded and discredited in favor of Joe McCarthy and all that McCarthy symbolizes by contrast with the record of the La Follette Committee. The earlier Nye Committee also was a Red ruse with Hiss as counsel and Wohlforth as secretary. Congressman Martin Dies charged that Wohlforth tried to plant Communist agents on him as investigators of un-American activities when he was chairman of the old special committee. He wrote that he spotted these candidates and rejected them. Wohlforth, however, insists that he did not know they were Reds and sent them over to Dies as an act of cooperation when the Dies Committee, with an appropriation of only $25,000, was advised by the Roosevelt administration to borrow confidential investigators from other committees.

PRESERVING FREEDOM (Pensacola, Fla.)

Cattlelog (Live Stock)

A young man who was feeding cattle in Arizona when World War Two broke out, sold his cattle and went into the army. About five years ago he was released and started feeding cattle again, on a small scale since cattle then were considerably higher than when he sold out.

However, cattle kept going up, so like many another, when prices started dropping this ex-soldier was caught with the largest bunch of cattle he'd ever had the nerve to borrow money on. Cattle kept going down — he finally sold them all but the proceeds fell far short of paying what he owed the bank, so he wound up with a long I O U on his hands.

He found a day-time job but the pay isn't sufficient to keep his family, cover current bills and pay something each month on his debt at the bank, so from 6 p.m. to 3 a.m., five nights a week, he fries hamburgers at one of the new and modern hamburger places about town. One Sunday night he told us they'd tried and sold 5,000 New York City hamburgers between 6 and 8:30 that evening. We asked if he thought the government should step in and put a support price under cattle.

He said, "That wasn't what we fought for in World War Two. We fought to preserve freedom, and freedom means my right to make money, or my right to lose money when conditions and circumstances prove my judgment faulty. The Government has no money with which to help us, or to spend for any purpose except it take it first from the pockets of the American people. Raising and feeding cattle is a business and there is no more reason to support us than to support all other businesses."

There are just two ways for this country to go. One is the freedom road and sometimes it gets a little rocky, like right now in the cattle business. The other road leads to socialism, and it's an easy road to follow, until you run into the dead end. Once you get there, there is no returning.

Government help — any kind of help — is easy to take when you are hard pressed, but there'll always be a day of reckoning. If the government places supports under cattle prices, it won't be long until it will have to place controls over cattle production, and that's where we'll find the dead end. That's the day we'll wake up to find our country — not a democracy but a dictatorship — fascism, communism, whatever its name! We may not have to worry about losing money after that — we won't have any to lose since our freedom to make money will be gone.

Every war this nation has fought since 1776 was fought to preserve freedom for the American people. Millions of American boys lie in unmarked graves — in America, in Europe, in Asia; they gave their lives fighting for freedom.

Do we want to give away that freedom now for "a mess of pottage?"

MUTE AND BEAM (The Chicago Tribune)

Mme. Pandit of India, president of the United Nations general assembly, delivered herself of some specious observations on the opportunities afforded U.N. to improve and elevate the world when she spoke on the organization's anniversary. She envisioned U.N. as an agency to enlarge human freedoms "thru international treaties" and said that more must be done by way of financial aid to underdeveloped nations to erase the gap between "haves" and "have-nots."

CRAZY MIXED-UP TREE—An utterly confused pear tree on the B. W. Baker farm, near Ardmore, Okla., can't decide whether it is now spring or autumn. It recently busted out with ripe fruit and blossoms on the branches at the same time, as seen above. The pears were harvested for use in the Baker home. Mrs. Baker says that this tree got all mixed up once before, about three years ago, and put out a full crop of blossoms along with the ripe pears.
